County To Begin Building Bridge Late In Spring Test Borings OKd At Milltown Rd. Site But Not Yet Started

Plan Includes Rebuilding Of Football Area Falkin Makes Plea; Seek Support From Park Commission

Construction of a bridge over the Rahway River which will lead to the widening of Milltown rd. in Springfield and Union will not begin before late spring 1964, according to a spokesman for the county engineer's office.

Test borings authorized by the Board of Freeholders in June have not begun and the bridge cannot be designed until the type of soil in the area is determined. It is to be done by the New Jersey Testing Laboratories of 134 Wright st., Newark. However, no schedule for testing has been made. The company has promised to go ahead with the work, according to the spokesman, when its schedule is clear.

Contracts for the bridge work will be let following an agreement with the municipalities. He sees who is going to do what, the spokesman said.

Engineer Disappointed Springfield Township Engineer Walter Kozub expressed disappointment that bridge work would not be started until spring. He said he had hoped it would go forward before that time and said that Springfield would go ahead with the project in the fall. Kozub said that all projects should get underway as the school year opens over the winter.

He said he would seek $100,000 to let fill and drainage contracts this summer or early fall. The township engineer said that bridge work would have to be done before the start of the school year which would mean the work would have to be completed before the roadway can progress.

When the roadway is completed in Springfield it will be a 36-foot wide from curb to curb, Kozub said, and will run from the river to Cottler ave.

He said the agreement of the county is seeking from the municipalities is assurance that the roadway will be done. The county wouldn't want to do the bridge work without assurance that roadway will follow. Springfield appropriated $40,000 last month for completion of road work in the township, Kozub said. A small portion, roughly about $2,000, had been used for purchase of land. The balance, he said, is slated for the next year.

He said the bridge, which is a 36-foot wide roadway, will be completed in Springfield in five to six years. The government's include Springfield, Union County, Union County Park Commission and the state.

Students' Incentive Discussed By Board

The academic question of incentive for students was discussed by the Regional Board of Education Tuesday night by a group of parents, mostly from Mountainside.

Dr. Warren M. Davis, regional superintendent of schools, said the school system was geared to provide incentives in many ways throughout the school year, but that academic achievement was recognized at the end of the school year in many ways through the awards of civic and service organizations.

Later Dr. Davis explained to the board that overemphasis on comparative grading leads to many problems. For example, a child will take easy courses in order to receive high grades and become the class valedictorian.

He likened it to emphasis once put on perfect attendance records. This has been de-emphasized in recent years, he said, because children would begin to leave over when sick in order to earn perfect attendance.

Dr. Benjamin H. Josephson asked that the finance committee investigate the possibility of social security coverage for certain professional personnel who are not covered in private practice.

MOVING - Mrs. Josephson moved to the West Ave. Section.

Board Accepts No-Prayer Rule 'Law Is Law'

While it may seem New Jersey school systems were adopting a means of eliminating the United States Supreme Court ruling declaring prayer in public schools unconstitutional, the Springfield Board of Education Tuesday night accepted the rule by saying "the law is the law."

Board Chairman Howard J. Caporaso said that while AF, the National Education Association, and the National Education Association, New Jersey, states, from public education practices and that no one has had to be taken by the board.

Frank Orange, Milltown, and Saddle Brook Township have taken action to continue public reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

Dr. Benjamin H. Josephson said he would like to see the board send through the offices of Frederick M. Reubliker, state superintendent of education.

Ask Highway Body: Maintain Property

Mayor Arthur M. Falkin requested that the Township of Springfield be taken into consideration with the other municipalities in the State Highway Authority. He said that the Township of Springfield has been in the position of property in the State Highway Authority for the last several years.

Mrs. Dorsky explained that if no progress is forthcoming from the negotiations, the township may have to take action. He did not say what the action would be.

Some progress was made Tuesday in negotiating with the highway department. It was known yesterday morning what the result of the talks had been. Acquisition of property by the state has been confined to the area between Shunpike rd. and Main st. The first purchase was of a large apartment house on West Street in 1950. It has since been razed.

The first private residence, the Morrison property on Morristown rd., was purchased in 1961. According to Falkin, nothing has been done to remedy any of the property since purchase.

The state is nowhere through its purchase of property in the township, Falkin said. No land has been acquired west of Shunpike rd. or east of Main st. It was explained that this property is some of the most valuable as it contains a quarry and industry.

Committee Board Meeting Sought On School Guards

Another letter is on the way from the Board of Education to the Township Committee requesting a meeting of the township board to discuss the school guard problem.

The letter is one of many letters sent by the board since its last meeting, with the exception of last November, according to Mrs. Sonya Dorsky, board member.

Mrs. Dorsky, who proposed sending another at Tuesday's meeting of the school board, took the same action at last month's meeting and has since the other members complained that they had never received a reply from the committee and said that the meeting is impossible before school opens in the fall.

The main request, according to Mrs. Dorsky, is for a bonding guard at the intersection of Main st. and Cottler ave. and at the intersection of Main st. and Cottler ave.

Four better trained guards and a dog are being sought by the board for the school. The board must be granted by the Township Committee.

School Board Tells Schwartz Architect Will Answer Queries

Friedrick A. Ebneser, architect for the new school building program, has been authorized by the Board of Education to answer a series of questions regarding school construction plans, presented by Edward Schwartz, a critic of school planning.

In a letter to the board, read at Tuesday's meeting, Schwartz made it clear that, in his opinion, the school board was not interested in any suggestions for school expansion.

Joseph A. Bender, chairman of the planning committee, took issue with Schwartz's statement, pointing out that meetings had been held at the North's Hearing Aid Center, 429 Morris Ave., Springfield, OR 9-3382; Union Co. Auth. Dealer, Clinton & Qualtrough, hearing aids; Complete facilities.

Nine-year-old Tommy Sutton of 88 Shunpike rd., Springfield, was shaken but otherwise uninjured Saturday when his red bike hit the side of a car on Mountain ave. and Caldwell well rd., according to police.

The motorist, Albert J. Regal of Garwood was making a turn into Caldwell well at the time police said.

He said the accident, which is a 36-foot wide roadway, will be completed in Springfield in five to six years. The government's include Springfield, Union County, Union County Park Commission and the state.

Lodge Case Hearing To Continue Today

Hearing will continue in superior court today on a tax-payers suit brought by a group of five citizens against the Springfield Township Committee and Building Inspector Otto Fowler...

which opened last Thursday is being "bogged down" because of technicalities...

According to Springfield Township Attorney James M. Cawley, the hearing is being carried over because there was not sufficient time last week to complete arguments.

He said that the township is arguing that the procedure to use to review the action of the Board of Adjustment and the Township Committee...

The five residents who have brought action are: Irwin Brosa of 85 Evergreen ave., Frank O. Baroff of 2 Charity lane, Sal Waltman of 21 Charity lane, Mrs. Selma Porter of 21 Twin Oaks Circle and Mrs. Zaida Goodman of 16 Surrey lane.

The group is asking that the court set aside and rescind the variance granted by the Board of Adjustment last month and recalled on June 11 by the Township Committee...

The variance granted is for the addition of a shell for singing groups at Evergreen Lodge on Evergreen ave. The group maintains that the lodge itself was granted a non-conforming use variance and that the addition would be continuation of such a use in a residential zone.

PARKING TICKET MAKES MAN HOT; JUDGE COOLS HIM

A Newark man who was ready to make a federal case out of a parking summons, according to Springfield police, was fined in municipal court Monday night for both the ticket and for refusing to show a policeman his license and registration.

The man arrived at his car, which had been parked at Mountain and Henshaw aves., just as the officer was placing a summons on it for being parked in a restricted zone, Elfin said.

Melton was fined $4 for the parking offense and $5 for refusing to show credentials.

Eclipse Starts 4:41 S Here Next After Y

Saturday afternoon will be your last chance to witness a total solar eclipse in this part of the country until after the year 2,000, Don't wait.

Actually it will not be total for viewers in this area. Only 88.7 per cent of the sun's surface will be eclipsed by the moon in its passage between earth and sun.

The eclipse will begin at 4:41 p.m. for viewers here and reach the middle state at 5:45 p.m. It will end at 6:49 p.m.

The total phase of the eclipse will last 82 seconds. During this time the sun's corona and atmosphere will be visible. Bands of light will be seen on the earth's surface during totality.

The planet's Mercury and Venus and the bright stars Pollux, Castor and Procyon will be visible in the sky as a background for the totally eclipsed sun. The sun will be low in the sky at the time.

While it may seem impossible for the moon, a satellite 2,160 miles in diameter, to cover the entire disc of the sun, a star 864,000 miles in diameter, the sun is 93,000,000 miles away from the earth while the moon is only 238,000 miles away. This ratio of size

But Be Careful Ho

Don't look at Saturday's solar eclipse with the naked eye or through dark glasses. It could blind you permanently or seriously damage your eyes.

This warning comes from the Medical Society of New Jersey and the American Astronomical Society. They say that distance makes the total eclipse possible.

There is about one total solar eclipse a year. The last one took place Feb. 5, 1962. After Saturday's eclipse, there will not be another until 1968.

Although the solar eclipse is a frequent event, it is difficult to observe. The total phase lasts only a few minutes and is visible only from a very small section of the earth's surface. After this one, there will not be another visible

Costume Parades Highlight Activity At Springfield's Four Playgrounds

Reported by The Recreation Department

Costume parades highlighted activities at Springfield playgrounds last week. The children were delighted with these activities, and the attendance for these events was far above average, according to Recreation Dept. officials. Attendance at the Springfield playgrounds had been dropping during the hot spell, officials explained. However, they said, in the past week the attendance has been picked up to where most of the playgrounds are again functioning at capacity.

IRWIN STREET

A theatrical rally was held at Irwin early last week. Those children finishing high in the event were: — Robert Arnold, Nancy and Jean Daunno and Linda Barrett. Tennis Doubles were again highlighted at Irwin. The winners were Val Del Vecchio and Gene Zorn and Jim Cannon and Linda Barrett was particularly well played. Basketball O-U-T was another popular activity. Stu Falkin and Jim Cannon were the winners. Group singing continues to be a popular pastime at Irwin Playground. The leader, Carol Merlo, reports that a Hoop-and-Song Show was presented by the children.

WAGGON BARBECUE GRILL

The Irwin playground costume parade proved to be an overwhelming success. Contestants in this show were 40 in number and all very talented. The judges had a most difficult time in determining winners, but the final results were as follows: — most original — first, Pat Burnard and Kathy Brennan; second, Jonathan Fisher; third, Linda Holt; most talented — first, Debbie Ziegler; second, Lynn Glunbasas, third, Linda Metzler and Kathy Johnson; prettiest — first, Gene Fecko; second, Kathy Ziegler; third, Missy Purkiser and Sharon Johnson; funniest — first, Cindy Sergi and Betty McGovern; second, Nancy and Gene Zorn; third, Gene Zorn and Warren Dazinger.

A Checkers Rally at Irwin saw Nancy Daunno capture the girls' crown, while Robert Arnold won for the boys. Phillip Cohen, Tom McGovern and Ronnie Tall enjoyed an Uncle Wiggly game.

Irwin Playground is a popular area for the smaller children as well as the older boys and girls. This fact is shown by the popularity of table and circle games. Those popular circle games are: spud, dodge, prison ball, iskot-a-laska, and others. Knock-hockey is popular also and is used almost everywhere. Howard Gebler and Edmond Gelstein played a exciting game of knock-hockey last week. Circle game participants were Nancy and Jean Daunno, Betty McGovern, David Arnold, Betty Sheehan, Jeffrey Marshall, Ellen Alexy, Steven Flockhart, Missy Purkiser and Nancy Weinberg.

Other playgrounds with the older children, and everyday sees a game being played. Those boys participating last week were: Brad Smith, Steve Alexy, Rick Wenk, Robert Arnold, Mark Marshall, Jeff Marshall, Gene Zorn, Brad Lichten, Val Del Vecchio, Tom Rosner and Warren Dazinger. Children's Library Draws Record Roll

The Springfield Public Library's Summer reading clubs have drawn a record roll this season according to children's librarian Mrs. Helen Keller.

More than 200 small fry libraries are signed up for "The Bookwork Club" — the vacation reading program for children in the primary grades. The "Trip Around the World Club" for readers in the fourth through seventh grades, has a membership of about 350.

The reading club program began June 24 and will continue through Labor Day. On open days, Mrs. Keller recalls, young borrowers hauled away a total of 831 books from the second floor children's department — far exceeding any previous total for a single day.

Mrs. Keller also notes that young readers are showing more interest in non-fiction this summer, particularly in the fields of science and biographies.

Reading club members are drawn from all five public elementary schools in Springfield, as well as St. James Parochial School. Merit awards to readers who have reached their quotas will be given out by Mrs. Keller when school reopens in September.

Prayer

The statutes removed from the 18 and 19 S.S. 18-14-77 and 78: The first states that at least five verses of the Old Testament shall be read or caused to be read without comment in each public school classroom on the opening of every school day.

The latter stipulates that: "No religious service or exercise, except the reading of the Bible and the recitation of the Lord's Prayer, shall be held in any school recitation any portion of the minutes appropriated for the support of public schools."

These statutes have been dropped. Sills explained under the First Amendment to the Constitution which states that the government maintain strict neutrality, neither aiding or opposing religion.

It was therefore the opinion of the attorney general that the two statutes no longer be enforced under the auspices of the State Department of Education.

Reubinger said that the opinion of the attorney general was so clearly stated "that it is not necessary for me to comment further."

The board took no action at last month's meeting which followed the Supreme Court decision. At that time board members said they were awaiting the directive of the education commissioner and the report of the attorney general.

Prayer

The statutes removed from the 18 and 19 S.S. 18-14-77 and 78: The first states that at least five verses of the Old Testament shall be read or caused to be read without comment in each public school classroom on the opening of every school day.

The latter stipulates that: "No religious service or exercise, except the reading of the Bible and the recitation of the Lord's Prayer, shall be held in any school recitation any portion of the minutes appropriated for the support of public schools."

These statutes have been dropped. Sills explained under the First Amendment to the Constitution which states that the government maintain strict neutrality, neither aiding or opposing religion.

It was therefore the opinion of the attorney general that the two statutes no longer be enforced under the auspices of the State Department of Education.

Reubinger said that the opinion of the attorney general was so clearly stated "that it is not necessary for me to comment further."

The board took no action at last month's meeting which followed the Supreme Court decision. At that time board members said they were awaiting the directive of the education commissioner and the report of the attorney general.

JERSEY TALENT SEARCH

Creative Artists Sought By Gov. Hughes

Artists and neighbors living in New Jersey have been invited by Governor Richard J. Hughes to take part in the state's 100th anniversary celebration, which, among other events, will feature regional art exhibitions from this September through April of next year.

The governor announced there would be nine exhibitions in different parts of the state, which will demonstrate the valuable contributions being made by New Jersey artists to the cultural development of the state.

He invited any artist or sculptor who lives in New Jersey to participate, and congratulated the nine regional art centers and the Newark Museum for organizing these significant exhibitions, the governor said.

The nine centers and the dates of their shows follow:

GLASSBORO: State College, Glassboro, January, 1964; CLARE FOX ART GALLERY: Ltd., The Traymore, Atlantic City, Jan. 26, Feb. 1; GUILD OF CREATIVE ARTISTS: Shrewsbury, Nov. 2-24; TRENTON STATE COLLEGE: Trenton, Dec. 8-12; HUNTERDON COUNTY ART CENTER: Clinton, Sept. 22 and Oct. 11; DOUGLASS COLLEGE: Reclination Hall, New Brunswick, Feb. 3-21; FATELOUGH-DICKINSON UNIVERSITY: Raritan, Nov. 10-Dec. 5; JERSEY CITY MUSEUM ASSOCIATION: Free Public Library Building, Feb. 3-March 1; RIDGEWOOD ART ASSOCIATION: Bergen Mall Shopping Center, Paramus, March 1-15.

Three winners will be selected at the end of the nine exhibitions by a jury of awards. Winning artists will be awarded Tercentenary Medallions.

YOU WANT TO:
 • See a copy of the nine brochures by a jury of awards. Winning artists will be awarded Tercentenary Medallions.
 • Four lines in six papers for only $2.40. Ask for Ad Table, before noon Tuesday.

The works of all artists accepted for the exhibitions will be submitted to the Newark Museum for consideration in its Triennial Exhibition, tentatively scheduled for April 28 through May 28. This will also feature a group of invited works as a tribute to New Jersey on its anniversary.

Artists may obtain entry blanks at the art centers in their regions. They may submit oil or watercolor paintings, prints, drawings and sculpture. Each artist may submit three entries, but only one will be chosen for exhibit.

Mark Twain Once Called Watermelon 'Angel Food'

To learn how to cope best with the heat, turn to the tropics. And among warm weather refreshers, watermelons, native to tropical Africa, are sure to be much in evidence, says Mary W. Armstrong, home agent.

Watermelons have made living easier and more pleasant in warm areas where temperatures soar, and are grown today in most warm temperate countries.

In this country, some years back, Mark Twain said of the watermelon, "Chief of the world's luxuries—when one has tasted it, he knows what the angels eat."

Fortunately for all who like watermelon, this wonderful fruit is among the year's abundant crops.

Watermelons are on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's list of currently plentiful fruits.

During July most of the watermelons in our markets come from Georgia, South Carolina and Texas. New Jersey melons will ripen later in the summer.

Judge a quality in an uncut watermelon is a little difficult even for an experienced buyer. The old "thumping" rule is not always infallible. But now that many markets show melons cut in halves and quarters, selection is easier. If the color is a good red, the seeds dark brown or black, and the texture firm and succulent, you can be pretty sure you've got a fine melon.

Bottoming of melons next to the seeds suggests that the melon is overripe or has been harvested too long.

No one needs to be reminded that melons are best when crisp and cold. The home agent will find when storing a cut watermelon in the refrigerator, it is well to put waxed paper over the cut portion.

Costume Parades Highlight Springfield Playground Action

A Basketball game played at Sandmeyer last week saw George Gaines, John I. Raughter and Richard Franklin defeat a team composed of Edna, Mary and Claire Franklin, Brenda Wright, Thelma Johnson and Paul "Buddy" Johnson. Droughton won a four-shooting contest, hitting behind John in this event were Larry Kowarski, Detroit, Brooks, and Eugene Johnson. Sandmeyer was built by Adelle, Ruby, and Denise Williams. Other horseshoe enthusiasts were Carl Breeden, Edna Franklin, Judy Baldwin and Sheri Balovich.

Sandmeyer's costume parade was a real success. This was by far one of the best events of the year. Vincent Davis, who was dressed as a "Lady," won the first prize. Raymond Jones, who was a Cowboy, finished second and Trent Hays, who was an "Old Man," finished third. The prize for "most unusual" went to Dawn Robinson, who was dressed as "Lady." Most original was won by Eric Davis for his "Strong-Man" costume. The best "Disguise" of the day was worn by Denise Williams who was a "Train Engineer." Other participants were as follows: Michele McClain a Bride; Kathy Seymour a Witch; Pat Sprague a Black Cat; Janice Smith a Gypsy; Spencer Roane a Fisherman; Adelle Wilburn an Indian; Sharon Thomas a Lady; Huey Cole a Cowboy; Sheila Roane a Gypsy; Rosella McClain who was "Little Red Riding Hood"; Daryl Robinson a "Cool Cat"; Kevin Mitchell a Dancer; and Mark Seymour a Skeleton.

HENSCHAW PLAYGROUND

Henschaw continues to be a popular activity at Henschaw Playground. Mike Lester and Freddy Volbers have played this game with superior ability. A tournament in tether-ball was held for girls last week. Bonnie Miller was victorious in this tournament. Group singing is another very popular activity at Henschaw. Those boys and girls who participated in a group singing last week were: Connie Miller, Bonnie Miller, Nancy Miller, Linda Kozub, Chita Forster, Mary Ann Forster, Bruce Smith, Vincent Davis, and Carol Nevius. Other contestants were Karl Kuehn, Alfred Wilburn, Michele McClain and Jerry O'Neil.

New Cage Loop

Any basketball players or teams interested in joining a municipal league should contact Scott Dunnington at the Municipal Building in Springfield. The league, to be sponsored by the recreation department, will run throughout the month of August, with one complete round to be played each week.

Zorn Triumphant In Tennis Finals At Irwin Courts

Eugene Zorn, a freshman at Jonathan Dayton Regional, won the Junior boys' tennis singles championship played last week at Irwin St. Playground. Zorn won the title by defeating Stanley Yablonsky, 6-2, 6-4. In the final of the tournament, he had previously beaten Jim Cannon and Steve Miller in the elimination tournament.

A ladder tournament will be started and challenge matches accepted, beginning next week, said playground director, Norm Swedish. Anyone interested in competing should call 845 p.m. at the Irwin St. tennis courts.

Tournaments for boys under 17 years of age are also scheduled next week.

pet turtle to the playground. Victor exhibited his turtle and told the many children all about the life of a turtle. His talk was informative and interesting.

Jimmy and David Backenouski both painted many pictures and seem to have a flare for color painting. Pictures of ice cream sodas and fancy colored parrots were drawn by Dianne and Cindy Mazella. Lisa Cole and Lauri Davis are the best drawing players on the playground and they are active in this activity for hours. Trevor Miller and David Backenouski are the outstanding players at Woodside. Randi Melroan and Susan Reikin are in competition for the most creative drawings. Both these children are very creative and have shown a liking for art work.

ARTS & CRAFTS ACTIVITY

Mrs. Maryann Wegman, the arts and crafts director for the Springfield Recreation Department, had a plate painting contest at the Springfield swim pool last week. The contest was a huge success with 50 children in attendance at the pool took part in the contest. Many very pretty decorated plates were completed by the children and the judging was extremely difficult. The completed projects were judged in four categories as follows: most creative, most original, most colorful, and prettiest. The plate painted by Lisa Wasserman won first place as the most creative project. Marilyn Pascer finished second in this category and Frankie Engage was third. Another first place winner was Laurel Sargent who had the most original painting. Sharon Nicholas placed second here, while Dated placed second in the most colorful category. The most colorful project was created by Dawn Deiker. Other colorful pictures were painted by: Cynthia Laurinelle, Nancy Whis, and Helen Victor, all of whom were dressed as Father and Mother. Nancy and Helen were kittens. Cynthia Laurinelle was a witch, Bobbie Laurinelle was a skeleton, Rose Ann Wyalenowski played the part of an actress, Susan Reikin was a pretty Japanese princess, Barbara Reikin played the part of a witch, Elizabeth Hamussen was "Miss America," Eric Rasmussen was a cowboy and John Laucelle was a ghost. All the children won prizes for their costumes. Prizes such as eyeglasses, baseball bobbypins, paddles, balls, and jump-ropes were given as prizes.

A nature expert, Victor Blaufox, who is also a regular playground participant brought his

Fischer Wins, 7-4; Remains Unbeaten

Fischer Brothers continued to dominate the Adult Softball League as they downed Springfield Travel, 7-4, for their seventh consecutive victory without a defeat.

The unbeaten Fischers were dealt a scare last week when the Springfield Travelers held the lead throughout six innings or play. Fischer's last lining uprising was good for four runs and the victory.

In this battle of the Travel Agency team, Springfield Travel took an early lead behind the hitting and pitching of Sam Calabrese. Vin Caprio, Norm Winkler, and Hugo Conroy contributed some timely hitting. Bill Savin pitched a strong game for the victors as he posted his sixth win of the season. Rich Agne and George Allen batted and hit late in the game to provide the margin of victory for Wesley.

Wesley's Joeveler had a change and on the heels of two consecutive defeats, turned back the cellular, dogging, Mackerels. In the second game, Wesley's whole story was that his pitcher, Don Colandrea, both following to the time-up into his early season injury, hit two home runs and a triple during his total of nine runs. As a bonus for his hitting feat, he earned a potential double by a Meeker batter in the last lining and converted the smash into an unassisted double-play. John Simon playing in his first game for Wesley contributed three hits to the winning margin. Joe Topp pitched the game for Wesley and was credited with the victory.

Katz, in the biggest game of the week, dropped the Muller Chevrolet Jaycees out of a tie the second game by defeating them 3-3. Sal D'Angelo led the victors with his lacy hitting. The losing team, the Muller Chevrolet Jaycees, had a lead in the victory. The Jaycees' attack was again led by Gene Perina. Gene's catcher took the loss for the Jaycees.

An upset victory posted by the Publication Printers when they took the measure of the Junior Flyers by the score of 10-5. The Printers, up and down all season, may yet prove to be a strong team as they are starting to feel in their attack. "Mac" Connor and Joe Conacher led the attack for the winning

Minutemen Play Millburn Tonight; Drop Below .500

The Springfield Minutemen, who last Thursday defeated the defending champion Verona squad, lost Monday night to the Summit, 6-2, in the Suburban League, 6-2, giving them a season record of one victory and two losses.

Scoring three runs in the first inning, Summit, behind the never-killed Doyle, who hurled the complete game, picked up the victory, also led the winners at the plate, collecting two hits in four trips.

Springfield threatened in the second lining when, with one out, Stu Falkin received a base on balls; Randy Sarokin singled; Falkin to third and after Brian Fennerty struck out, Kerry Thompsons drew a walk to load the bases. Doyle shuffled the rally by getting Glen Cole to ground out.

In the fifth lining, with the score 6-0, the Minutemen picked up two runs when Harry Hansen got on by virtue of a two-base error; Bob Gartin singled sending Hansen to third; Ted Levitt was safe on an error; Hansen crossing the plate won the Minutemen's first score and Levitt taking second on the throw to the plate. Then after Hansen grounded, Herb Bluhm straddled Levitt home.

Springfield placed runners on base by the sixth and seventh linings, but their score based on a pair of quick double plays.

Gartin, who relieved Herb Bluhm, pitched scoreless baseball for the last three linings. Stu Falkin extended his hitting streak to three games.

The Minutemen, who have nine games remaining on the schedule, look to play more than two games a week, according to Scott Dunnington, coach.

Springfield Nine Takes 15 Straight

The Springfield Die Casting team ran their steam to 15 today night when they defeated Knowles A.C. 5-0 in a Suburban Industrial League game played at Westmont Park.

The Springfielders, who have won their only start in the Suburban County ASA tournament were named by the time two-hit pitching of Tony Hiltz. The Die Casters scored two runs in the second lining and were never headed.

The swimming championships, sponsored by the Union County Park Commission and the New Jersey State Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, will feature a number of events for senior men and a 200-yard butterfly event for the Junior class.

All entries should be submitted to George T. Cova, superintendent of recreation, Union County Park Commission, Box 275, Elizabeth.

Football, Volleyball Organized At Pool

The Giants downed the Pinks 6-2 Monday in the opening game of the Springfield Swim Pool Tough Football League. The league, which was organized by Recreation Department employees Fred and Ron Puoro, consists of six teams. The following teams will play a ten game schedule: Killers, Bull Dogs, Mets, Pinks, Giants and Titans.

Each team has a roster of 13 players, seven starters. All games will be played on a short-ended field at the rear of the pool area. The league, which is made up of boys between the ages of 11 and 14, has games scheduled for every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Commenting on the first game Puoro noted the playing of Bill Murphy, Larry Caffrey, Ken Buchanan and Dennis Loody. Gary Fox, who recovered a fumble and ran 20 yards for the only touchdown was also commended by Puoro.

A trophy will be awarded to the winning team by the Recreation Department.

A volleyball league for girls was organized Monday at the Swimming Pool. The addition of this activity at the pool should, according to Recreation Department Director Ed Ruby, "complete the program scheduled for the pool."

Bee Bugs Driver; Cars Hit Head-On

A woman from Westfield suffered injury Sunday when she swung at a bee that flew into her car, lost control of the car and ran head-on into another car, Springfield police reported.

The woman, Ruth H. Bensley, 45, was taken to Overlook Hospital in Summit with an injury to the face, police said.

The second motorist, Carol J. Robinson, 20, of O. Mohawk dr., Springfield, told police she would see her own doctor.

Police said the Bensley car was traveling west on Milltown rd., Springfield, when she lost control. Both cars had to be towed from the scene.

ONE MORE PINCH

Your chrysanthemums will be all the better for having had one last pinch of the season. You can pinch them any time now, but surely a full crop of flowers on compact plants if pinching is new in your garden vocabulary. It simply means pinching off the tips of green growing tips to encourage a plant to grow sideways instead of up.

"One last pinch" assumes that you have been pinching your plants since April at least. This season and that the side branches are spreading out. For "pinch varieties" that bloom in early September, your final pinch is overdue.

"This advice comes from Dr. and Mrs. Lacey, extension horticulture specialists at Rutgers University, who says that usually height in most chrysanthemums is about 25 inches. The chrysanthemum is one of those interesting plants whose habits are determined by their need for longer nights to bring them into flower.

Many other plants besides chrysanthemums are "pinch" plants. Among these are cosmos, marigolds and petunias. A bushy plant is more attractive and can bear more flowers than one allowed to keep growing upward.

Each "pinch" plant will produce about one generous tablespoonful of 5-10-10 fertilizer, says Lacey.

SPRAY FOR PESTS

Aphids - little green, brown or black plant lice - can suck the life out of many plants. You can control them. They're especially fond of the new growth.

Keep killing them with malathion or D-Dane. A suggested rate is 1/2 ounce per gallon of water. For aphids on chrysanthemums, use a little longer lasting effect like malathion.

Mites have their diseases, too. Mites, and will be fairly common. Mites cause grayish-white powdery patches on the leaves. Later, leaves turn yellow and wither. Spray or dust with phosalone.

Rust causes small, brown blisters on the underside of leaves. Treat the plants with ferbam or zineb.

"But rust makes growing the plant and buds soften and turn brown," the remedy is zinc.

Leaf spot turns leaves brown with or reddish gray or dark with fungus or mildew.

Vermilion will make plants with become stunted and produce poor flowers. Yellow areas appear between the leaves. Pull up infected plants and get rid of them.

These disease recommendations are from Dr. Spencer H. Davis, plant disease specialist at Rutgers.

County Leads Anti-Mosquito War Without Using Dense, Black 'Fog'

By BARBARA GIBBONS
Union County Mosquito Commission Chairman Robert W. Helm isn't in a fog—and he's not going to be either. "Fogging" is exterminator lingo for "broadcasting clouds of black oily smoke in the hope of killing mosquitoes, or at least chasing them away. Most of New Jersey's 21 County Mosquito Commissions depend on fogging trucks as their main artillery in the war against the buzzing pest."

anything over that is heavy. The heaviest index in the county is generally reported in the Elizabeth-Linden-Hawthorne areas. (The current index there is 8.) The County Commission's "Mosquito Index" records date all the way back to 1932 and they indicate that the bugs nearly outnumbered the residents some years ago. The record was set in the summer of 1936 when the index was 43. (Last summer's index was 21.)

The peak weeks for mosquito activity are generally in late August. But the Commission doesn't wait until then to launch an all-out attack. One mother bug swarmed out of existence in mid-July in a literally worth 30,000 in August. The pests proliferate at an alarming rate: a female lays from 50 to 200 eggs per day which in two weeks are ready for biting, buzzing, egg-laying careers of their own. In the far, fascinating "journal of tomorrow" you can all the streets population with ultra-ultra fog—some of which are experiments on the summer months by the Union County Mosquito Commission. For the moment, however, the most effective weapon is fogging—the stagnant centers where the mosquitoes breed. Spraying oil on the surface cuts off the air supply and smothers the eggs before they can hatch. The Commission maintains comprehensive maps of all brooks, streams and drainage ditches, as well as fogging equipment, and even fire ruts where water can collect.

An outspoken opponent of "fogging" Helm claims that science is on his side. Helm is a graduate entomologist who holds a master's degree from Rutgers University. "Fogging is a very effective way of clearing fogging insects from enclosed areas," says, for example, the hold of a ship, adds Helm, but it's a very feeble technique for the out-of-doors. "I won't say that you don't kill any mosquitoes with fogging—the truck probably runs over a few. But sending my men out with flyswatters would be just as good."

The Skeeter Sting Since 1932

The following lists the average "Mosquito Index" for the last 30 seasons, according to the records of the Union County Mosquito Commission. The "Index" is based on the average number of bugs caught per night in traps placed throughout Union County.

1932—5	1948—39	1964—21
1933—16	1949—2	1965—7
1934—21	1950—5	1966—11
1935—20	1951—11	1967—9
1936—43	1952—7	1968—3
1937—23	1953—9	1969—12
1938—39	1954—3	1970—7
1939—9	1955—12	1971—3
1940—35	1956—12	1972—2
1941—23	1957—2	1973—4
1942—10	1958—4	1974—7
1943—35	1959—3	1975—7
1944—7	1960—2	1976—10

1947—10	1963—7

Moreover, adds Helm, flooding residential areas and city streets with dense, black smoke is a safety hazard, obscuring the motorist's view of the road. "The oily fog can also wreak havoc with white houses and clean sheets on the line." "Most experts in this field agree that fogging isn't too effective," Mosquito Commissions use it because of its psychological effect on residents, not mosquitoes. The Union County Mosquito Commission depends instead on a systematic program of "population control"—eliminating breeding places and destroying mosquito eggs before they can hatch. The program pays off, Helm maintains, because Union County has the lowest "Mosquito Index" in the state. "This is particularly significant because we are in a geographic area which usually has the highest index in the state."

THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD is the place to start. This is the advice offered by Rep. Florence C. Starr (R-6th Dist.) to Mrs. Bonnie C. Starr of Springfield. Mrs. Starr began a two-week teacher-internship of the congressman's office in Washington, D.C. last week.

"Shrew" Stage Set For July 26-27 Mrs. Starr 'Interns' In Washington, D.C.

The stage is set for performances by players of the Woodbridge Summer Drama Festival of Shakespeare's romantic comedy "The Taming of the Shrew" in Warinango Park, Roselle and Elizabeth, July 26 and 27. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. There also will be performances Aug. 9 and 10 in Cedar Brook Park, Plainfield. All performances are being sponsored by the B. J. Goerke Co. of Elizabeth and Plainfield in cooperation with the Union County Park Commission. Henry Glass of Westfield is the director.

Mrs. Bonnie C. Starr of Union, N.J., Springfield, last week began a unique teacher-internship program at the office of Congressman Florence C. Starr (R-6th Dist.) in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Starr, a social studies teacher at the Jewish Educational Center in Elizabeth, is one of 17 secondary school teachers in New Jersey participating in a program sponsored jointly by the state's congressional delegation, the New Jersey State Society in Washington and the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University. The teacher-interns are working in the congressional office on a non-paying basis, observing and helping with office activities, attending committee meetings and sessions of the House and Senate. They are also doing research, preparing press releases and interviewing prominent officials in both the legislative and executive branches of government.

The program is designed to provide new insights into the legislative process and the operations of government so that the teachers may communicate a better understanding of the American system to their students, according to Congresswoman Dwyer.

PEPPY THE PARAKEET

... Or The Case Of The Swimming Bird

The Frank Mindnich, who moved from their home at 174 Jean Ter, Union, on July 7, were sure that their parakeet, Peppy, whom they had for five years, was an unusual parakeet but still a parakeet. Now they're not quite sure what he is — a flying fish or a swimming bird.

The Mindnichs, who, after Mr. Mindnich's recent retirement from his position as plant supervisor at White Lake, Mich., drove southward in their station wagon with Peppy and other valuables loaded in their station wagon. Crossing the B'nai B'rith Branch bridge in Florida, their automobile was hit in the rear by another car. Their station wagon, pitched through the guard rail, drove a 10-foot embankment and plunged into the river more than 20 feet from the bank. Mrs. Mindnich managed to squeeze through a window and was rescued by a bystander who swam to her rescue. Mr. Mindnich, who like his wife is not a good swimmer, after some difficulty managed to get on the roof of the sinking car and was lowered in by spectators. Who knew that a parakeet formed by tying two low chains together.

And sure enough there was Peppy, alive and scolding. The police lab's report credited the survival to the fact that his traveling cage was made of a light wood which floated in the water and since, unlike the standard cage, it had no openings, it held air pockets which provided enough oxygen for the bird to survive.

Mr. Mindnich, now happily settled in their new home, with Peppy alive and busily gabbling, are sure it was a minor miracle. Or then again he could be a flying fish or a swimming bird.

Speicher's Toy Village Brings Joy To Tots As Tranquil Triumphs Follow Turbulent Life

By RUTH WAITKEL

In the basement of 1 Evergreen ave., a population explosion is under way that will never affect the vital statistics on record in the municipal building.

For four years now, in the rockribbed depths of a home that dates back to Revolutionary times, 78-year-old Harry Speicher has been busy making on a wooden miniature skating scene to supplement his already famous miniature toy village. By the time of the next census of toy villages, the population will accordingly rise from 1328 to about 1350.

As is the nature of things, these little people sprang full-grown from their creator's brain in the form of hockey players. They chase a microscopic puck over a lake that's glassy-smooth, as becomes a frozen lake made of mirrors, with real cracks painstakingly traced with a delicate instrument by Springfield's unofficial town planner.

Speicher is probably the only miser, craftsman on record who has the use of only four fingers—the thumb on his left hand, that was almost pulverized by a childhood accident, and three fingers on his right hand, which was partially paralyzed when Speicher had a close shave with death in an accident suffered in later life.

He still winces as he recalls his experience at the age of 15, when he was jumped the sidewalk and crushed his hand against a hydrant with the incredible violence meted out to the "bad guy" in some "combination." He almost died of gangrene in that pre-penicillin era.

In the later-day accident Speicher was "electrocuted" in every sense but the lethal one. He was hit by 2,300 volts of electricity while working as a utility electrician. The U.S. power on the Hoboken docks had fractured his skull when he fell 18 feet to the dock below after being hit, was partially paralyzed on his right side for a while, and so severely burned that he still feels pain in his heel bones.

The tremendous force of the electric charge had simultaneously consumed his shoes and melted the shoe nails so that they burned through his flesh to the heel bones.

After this incident Speicher was something of a so-called wonder in the international press. If the word "miraculous" had been current then the papers might have named it for Speicher had survived an electrical charge double the amount used to electrocute men in the death chamber.

The man who survived the incident was a "miraculous" survivor. He had been in the hospital for two months, and his recovery was a matter of days. He was discharged from the hospital on July 10, 1930, and he was back to work in the utility business in a matter of weeks.

Speicher's "miraculous" recovery was a matter of days. He had been in the hospital for two months, and his recovery was a matter of days. He was discharged from the hospital on July 10, 1930, and he was back to work in the utility business in a matter of weeks.

killed in the ensuing fire storm.

Later, for "continuous service in the construction of the Panama Canal," Speicher was awarded the Bronze Medal with a personal letter from President Theodore Roosevelt.

ALTHOUGH LESS durable than might have weakened under the hand of such incidents, Speicher seems to have become tempered as steel in his life. His face, built of hard, uneven planes, resembles a neomodern sculpture hewn from stone.

But the smile of this man whose early ambition to be an artist was crushed with the crushing of a hand—the smile is soft. And his eyes have a soft look, particularly as he contemplates the lighting effects of the village and watches the wide-eyed expressions of his little visitors. He has intuitively devised a minute lighting system so that with 24 candles he can imitate the sun, imperceptibly cast the spell of dusk over the little churches and houses, the idyllic

HARRY SPEICHER LOOKS OVER CIRCUS AREA IN TOY VILLAGE.

Apparatus each incandescent bulb is a miniature of the real thing, and can be regulated via tiny transformers in the interiors of the miniature buildings, the glow that can be varied by the operation of a tiny concealed lamp. The scene of winter as the lakes freeze to a predetermined depth automatically controlled by parts of a refrigerator—each detail means a reassurance of his own power for a customer's emeritus Speicher.

Perhaps the most incredible aspect of his achievement is his ingenuity and skill in overcoming the handicaps of maimed and crippled hands. To some extent he has overcome his impediment by devising special tools such as pliers and clamps. Unrelenting labor takes up a little more of the glass, like the matter of fitting a nail four times where he would have done it with one blow before.

He is also fond of a spray of "glue" for holding things in place. The sparkling effect of his latest centerpiece, the winter scene—is a product of powdered crystal applied with a spraying device and placed on the same way with a solution of mild soap.

He has infinite patience in working with small units where larger ones might be beyond his strength. The lampposts in the village come from discarded light bulbs made from the glass sprayers. The landscape is made of strips of chrome brass, a manager in a Christmas scene in an adjoining display. It is concocted from the joints of blades. "Trees" are samples from his own yard preserved by a special process. In the circus scene in the interior, the checker is used for the wheels of vehicles in the parade. A Korla is constructed from black wire "fired" from the frame of an old cushion.

and, breaking them later to a hardness that can resist a blow.

An indoor display shows Speicher in a miniature of a street scene, a social musical program for each of the three presentative churches in Springfield. He is rewarded for Speicher's devotion to his young visitors. He enjoys watching them as their eyes wander over wire suspended planes of wires and grids and planes of glass.

pointed Speicher to the church—the Catholic chapel—where he met and to the Episcopal Presbyterian church. with a smile that says, "I was moved by what they say, making a small donation for their visit to the village, the city seminary of an admission charge—each one had to embrace and kiss him. One child so handicapped to receive his other was consoled when Speicher learned that he received his kiss. The number of this children's wonderland is about that his village is also recommended as a "winter" than all the meadows by neurologists for youngsters with mental conflicts of "after" serious brain operations.

He recalls that one day he had a total of 60 children at once visiting the village. "They weren't too many for me," smiled the amiable guide, who never tires of personally conducting tours for his little visitors. "There can never be too many."

drawings which he feels affect the "Fairly" Optional Municipal Charter Law. He does not feel a mayoral form of government would be the solution. Nor would a town manager be desirable either, but he believes, as a business administrator, who would exercise the kind of control needed on a long-term basis.

Actually, he said, the decision of his inner-revered form of government was a compromise. He said he would like to see a form of government that would be a combination of the best of both worlds. He would like to see a form of government that would be a combination of the best of both worlds.

He said that jurisdiction of the committee is to be in his own case, the Department of Administration, including the clerk and other personnel. He expects that the committee form of government left something to be desired on the matter of local responsibilities and centralizing and coordinating activities. Because of this is a junior.

As more concrete evidence of his interest in sports, he mentioned that he and the rest of the committee were now leading negotiation in the improvement of the football field at Lexington High. The other parties to these negotiations are the Union County Park Commission, which owns the property involved, and the Union County Medical Board of Education. Although a new stadium is included in the plans under discussion, a running track, a base ball diamond, more parking facilities and general beautification of the field are on the agenda.

Falkin's proposed new stadium will cover the grounds in the fall as a result of a referendum on his plan. He said that the stadium would be a combination of the best of both worlds. He would like to see a form of government that would be a combination of the best of both worlds.

PHILIP'S HIS INGENUITY reached its height in the form of an organ in his "Catholic church" in a polka-dot landscape of a boy and girl and a girl and a boy.

He also has had the help of his own hands in the construction of the village. He has been in the hospital for two months, and his recovery was a matter of days. He was discharged from the hospital on July 10, 1930, and he was back to work in the utility business in a matter of weeks.

and level, too. President John F. Kennedy, particularly attracted over the serious problem of unemployment, addressed Congress in July with a program for dealing with the youth unemployment problem.

The Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) and the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) are the two main programs. The YCC is a program for young people between the ages of 16 and 21. The CCC is a program for young people between the ages of 18 and 25.

Other wheels are beginning to turn at the Federal level. The United States Employment Service (USES) is making plans to play a bigger role in wiping out teen-age unemployment. Its counseling and aptitude tests are reaching out to include the thousands of "idle" youth. USES Director William U. Norris said that the USES is now able to do for these young people. One percentage of placement isn't high enough.

Such organizations are common among the youth who have worked with these unskilled, uneducated, unemployed youngsters. A terrible waste of potential is being called for. "Social dynamite" is being called for.

Sam Patch, The Jersey Jumper, Leaps And Bounds Into History

"Fall in the fern, Samuel Patch.
Why know'st not an eagle in jumping, Sam, can find no match.
Among ten million people..."

The track of a hero in 1829 was to be etched in poetry, and Sam Patch of Paterson, knew the satisfaction of being thusly noted in the "Saturday Evening Post" when he jumped for the first time. He had been jumping for the better part of a year, and he was now jumping for the first time in front of a large crowd of on-lookers.

short speech and bowed left and right before he ran forward and leaped from the ledge.

Over the years, Sam Patch's name has become a household word. He is remembered for his leap from the Lionel Lincoln Building in New York City in 1899. His leap was a feat of courage and a landmark in the history of daredevilry.

and descended about a hundred feet in a headlong fall. He had jumped, and he had survived.

They found Sam's body on St. Patrick's Day in 1830, frozen in a block of ice. By then, the once-worshipful "Saturday Evening Post" had taken to calling him a "miserable vagabond" who had "fallen to the mercy of the ice for strange spectacles."

Never again would the Jersey Jumper fall, admitting through that "some things can be done as well as others." As for that slogan about "there is no mistake in Sam Patch," it had to be amended to read "there is only one mistake in Sam Patch: For a man who jumps often falls, one mistake is too many."

Second Session Begins Monday At YWCA Day Camp

Three groups of youngsters enrolled in the Summer YWCA day camp for young children will begin their second session Monday. The groups have two, five- and six-year-olds and girls; seven- and eight-year-old girls; and nine through 11-year-old girls. More than 65 children have participated. A second two-week session for the two younger groups will begin Monday.

Parents and friends of children in the two younger groups have been invited to attend an open house at the YWCA tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. A special program demonstrating the activities in which campers have participated will be presented. The 9 through 11-year-old group will have open house for their families tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. A demonstration of camping skills, a music and drama program and a craft display have been planned.

For further information contact the YWCA at 424-4249. Reservations can be made at the YWCA. Campers meet at the YWCA from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Activities include crafts, music, games, nature study, stories and dramatics, wading for the 5- and 8-year-olds and swimming with instructors for the older group. One bus trip to a picnic of interest has been planned.

Further information can be obtained by phoning Miss Mary Ida Gardner, young-adult program director at the YWCA, CR 3-4249.

Ultra-Violet Aids Mail Sorting

Ultra-violet light has teamed up with photo electric eyes for high-speed mail sorting the Post Office Department reports.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day has announced the beginning of field tests August 1 in Dayton, O., in which envelopes bearing airmail stamps printed with special phosphor ink will be separated from ordinary mail at an average rate of 50,000 per hour. If the tests are successful, eventually all stamps will be phosphor-inked.

A small black box added to the Mark II facer-cancelling machine will "recognize" and separate specially-treated airmail stamps in the field tests. Engineers said the modification is relatively inexpensive. It was conceived and is being developed by department research scientists working in conjunction with the National Cash Register Co. in Dayton, and similar experiments that have been going on for more than three years.

Estimates are that the ultra-violet sensing device will save an average of one-half hour in the dispatch of airmail. It also eliminates at least one manual sorting operation.

Development of a facer-canceller, which went into operation in 1960, eliminated, for major cities, a slow and expensive hand-sorting operation. Heavier mail could be fed into one side, cancelling machines, postal clerks had to "pick" the airmail at mail coming out of pouches so that all envelopes were arranged on trays with stamps in the same position. The facer-canceller uses photo-electric cells to "search-out" stamps in any of four possible combinations of positions of a letter passing the device. Letters can be fed into the facer-canceller with stamps upper-left or upper-right, lower-left or lower-right, lower-left or lower-right, or upper-right or lower-left.

Photo-electric eyes permit all letters with stamps in a common position to be sent into the paper channel. A limit circuit is for rejects—mail without stamps, metered mail which is too tightly inked to activate the photo-electric cells, stamps on colored envelopes that do not provide enough contrast, and for other reasons. About 14 per cent of mail currently going through the facer-canceller ends up in the reject channel. The reject channel is not to be confused with a trash and money barrel.

Cloudy conditions in mail processing will result when all stamps are inked. The facer-canceller machine, the stamp must have a darker tone quality on the lower left, to the ease of last year's Christmas stamp, the bottom of the stamp. Tagged requirement was met by the use of stamps will need any tonal of a red bar extending across emphasis.
