'Responsible Administration' Or 'Political Clique'?

Wright Loses Bid To Enter Contest; Petition Rejected

Decision Halts Effort To Run For Position On Town Committee

Henry S. Wright's efforts to place himself on the ballot next month as an independent candidate for a seat on the Township Committee came to an abrupt end yesterday when Henry Nulton, Union County clerk, rejected his petition.

Following an objection from a local Republican, Nulton ruled that the signatures on the petition had not been witnessed properly. The key phrase in the state law says that the candidate must produce five witnesses to the petition who "saw all the signatures made thereto."

The county clerk cited a decision by the State Appellate Division, in the case of McCaskey vs. Kitchoff, to support his ruling that Wright's petitioners were not witnesses properly. Nulton stated that all five witnesses must watch the actual signing of each signature, and not just testify as to the fact that the names had been signed properly.

The objection had been filed by Leonard Garner of 80 Garden oval, a Republican district leader. Wright's attorney, Myron J. Bromberg of Morristown, had no comment immediately as to whether he would appeal the decision. Garner was represented by Harding Brown of Elizabeth.

Wright, a frequent participant at many governmental meetings and also a Republican district leader, has been sharply critical of the township administration for a number of reasons. As a strong supporter of the Presidential candidacy of Sen. Barry Goldwater, he has attacked local leaders for declining to express support for Goldwater.

RAGER HANDS — Mrs. Henry Huneke, seated, left, leader of Girl Scout Troop 81, hands out material on the coming elections, prepared by the Springfield League of Women Voters, to members of the troop, who will distribute the nonpartisan background information to voters throughout the township. Looking on at left, rear, is Mrs. William Geoghegan, assistant leader of the troop. The girls meet at the Edward Walton School.

Opposing Candidates Differ On Evaluation Of Township

The Leader this week prints the first two sets of answers to a brief series of questions directed to all candidates for the Township Committee. Answers by the other candidates will appear in subsequent issues. The questions were: "What do you regard as the basic issues of the campaign? What are the strong points of the current administration? What are the weak points of the current administration? Specifically, why do you regard your election as in the best interests of the community?"

Hardgrove Cites 'Positive' Record Of Town Officials

In his reply to the questions, Robert D. Hardgrove, Republican mayor seeking re-election to the Township Committee, declared:

"1. The basic issue of the campaign revolves about the election of the present Republican candidates who have acted with positive programs and accomplishments, who have demonstrated their ability, who have proven their dedication to the concept of a community in which we can be proud to live, as opposed to those who are attempting to destroy confidence in our community, who offer nothing of a constructive nature and who have no program for the future of Springfield.

"2. Of the many strong points of the present administration, the outstanding successes were the establishment of the community swimming pool, the institution of sound fiscal policies which were recognized by the State and the elimination of the dangerous trolley tracks on Morris ave. These are indicative of the strongest point of the present Township Committee — the ability to get things accomplished.

"3. This answer is best left to the voters of Springfield, for obviously if 'weak points' were observed, this administration would have proceeded with immediate remedial action. There is one area, however, that indicates administration inability that all municipal governments must face. That stems from state and county statutes and regulations that often do not permit action which, in the eyes of the community, is necessary.

Bloom Criticizes One-Party Group Controlling Town

In answering the series of questions, Jay Bloom, Democrat seeking election to the Township Committee, stated:

"1. Members of the present administration have by their behavior in office, made the fact that they are all of one political party a very important and basic issue. This situation is not ever a good thing for a town, but it is especially bad when it causes the town government to degenerate into a political clique dominated by one or two men, all of whose decisions and efforts are directed toward the political benefit of the clique. I believe that all the real issues of this campaign have this common origin.

"2. Some of the individuals on the Township Committee have come up with, or recognized, some good ideas, but the committee as a whole has failed, unfortunately, to follow through and properly execute them, in the few instances when the attempt to do so was made.

"3. Poor zoning and town planning, economic policy designed only for votes, failure to publish the master plan (beginning over three years ago), favoritism toward certain individuals and groups, poor judgment in business transactions, disregard for homeowners, lack of foresight and poor management, for example the complete bungling of the service road north of Morris ave.

"4. If the voters of Springfield elect me, they will have the benefit of one whose prime purpose will be to do the best job he can for the benefit of the entire town, and to exercise judgment on the town's behalf.

Township Official Installed As Head Of County Society

Wilbert W. Layng of Springfield was installed as president of the Association of Municipal Assessors of Union County at a recent meeting at the Old Heidelberg, Scotch Plains.

11. Roy Wheeler, president of the Union County Board of Taxation, also installed Sam Katz of Hillside, vice-president; Max Berzih of Kenilworth, treasurer, and Gordon Pitt of Summit, secretary. Of 21 municipalities in Union County, 10 were represented at the dinner meeting.

Layng is a member of the State Association of Municipal Assessors and the International Association of Assessing Officers. Principal speaker at the dinner was Alan Hart, state supervisor of the Local Property Tax Bureau, Division of Taxation. Guests included Thomas C. Mahon and Roger S. Payne, commissioners of the Union County Board of Taxation.

KNIGHTS' COUNCIL CITED BY MAYOR IN PROCLAMATION

The week of October 11 through 17 has been designated "Knights of Columbus Week" by Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove. The proclamation notes the charitable services performed by the Knights and urges all citizens to engage in a year-round brotherhood program. The week has been set aside by the organization to pay tribute to their patron, Christopher Columbus.

The Springfield Council No. 556 is celebrating the week by holding an open house at its meeting at St. James School on Wednesday.

Town Candidates To Debate Issues At Annual Forum

All candidates seeking election to the Springfield Township Committee have accepted the League of Women Voters' invitation to speak on "Candidates' Night."

Mrs. Henry Huneke, voter service chairman, this week announced that the annual candidates' night program will take place on Oct. 20 at 8 at the Edward V. Walton School, 661 Mountain ave. The moderator for the evening will be Mrs. Henry Dearborn of Summit. Mrs. Stephen Beno is league president.

The program, as agreed upon by the two major parties, will consist of short prepared statements given by each of the candidates.

GOP Survey Results Reported; Democrats Hit Administration

Henry Grabarz, Jay Bloom and Douglas M. Mattice, Democratic candidates for the Springfield Township Committee, this week stated, "One of the key functions of candidates running for public office is to be critical of their opponents."

"There is, unfortunately, a great deal to be critical of in Town Hall right now. Healthy criticism brought to the attention of the voters helps them to make their final decision for Election Day."

Attacking a list of "accomplishments" cited last week by the Republican incumbents, Grabarz, Bloom and Mattice declared:

WITCHES, GHOSTS WILL BE PAINTED IN SHOP WINDOWS

The Springfield Recreation Department, in conjunction with the Springfield Chamber of Commerce, is sponsoring a Halloween window decoration program this year. Plans are now being made to have many of the local merchants' store display windows painted in varying scenes depicting the Halloween season.

Students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School will create the scenes under the supervision of David Brodman, high-school art director.

Scout Fund Drive Begins Saturday

Saturday is the opening day in the Springfield Boy Scout campaign for funds. It was announced by Arthur H. Yall, community chairman. The annual fund drive will continue until Oct. 17, he declared, urging all local business firms to make their contributions immediately.

Robert Bunnell Jr., special gifts chairman, reported that many contributions had been received in advance. Others aiding in the drive include James Lawley, Arthur Yall, Oscar Banoff, Jack Chis, Robert Bogren and Ronald Bell.

EXPERT ADVICE — Mrs. Henry Bulfinch of 66 Fieldstone dr. receives a full supply of expert, if somewhat conflicting, advice at the card party held by Springfield Republican last week at the American Legion Hall. The three advisors are, from left, Township Committee member Arthur M. Falkin, Mayor Robert Hardgrove and Committeeman Robert G. Phlips. They have a large stake in another type of game, to be decided Nov. 3. The name of that one is politics.

Traynor To Have 'Springfield Day'

Richard Traynor, Democratic candidate for Congress, has designated tomorrow as "Springfield Day" on his campaign calendar, according to a statement by Malcolm Boland, area chairman for the Traynor campaign. Traynor is the first Democrat ever elected in municipal office in New Providence.

His brightly decorated trailer, which has symbolized his grass-roots campaign, will be in Springfield all day tomorrow.

DOOR-TO-DOOR DRIVE — Jay Bloom, right, Democratic candidate for the Springfield Township Committee, chats with Nick Mantano of 10 Warwick circle during his door-to-door campaign to reach township voters.

High School Teachers' Salaries Kept Pace With Times

By WARREN W. HALSEY
Last of a series

The facts contained in this history have been taken from the most part from official source interpretations are the property of the author, who was superintendent of the Union County Regional High School District from its inception until he retired in June, 1956.

POST-WAR GROWTH of teachers' salaries: The pay increase in teachers' salaries, beginning with the post-war period, was unprecedented in the experience of Board members and schoolmen. For the period between 1945 and 1953 the United States had been in the grip of the most depression in its history, with the result that the salary range set for teachers during the first year of Regional High School was $1,400 to $2,000 for women and $1,400 to $2,000 for men, with an average of $1,500 provided in the budget. For a number of years the Board of Education was depressed and, as the following indicator:

1. In 1947, the policy was adopted that married women were not to be employed unless the circumstances are unusual.
2. For 1949-1950 no employee received a salary increase.
3. During the school year 1953-54 the inflationary spiral was beginning, with wage freezes and the cost of living rising so that the Board of Education granted bonuses ranging from $50 to $100.
4. This Board of Education, in common with other boards, thought of the bonus as a means of taking care of rising living costs which might be temporary. It was an apparent that wage and salary levels would rise for many years and that the increased purchasing power in the hands of all workers not only raised living standards but made it possible for workers to buy the products which industry produced.

5. The first salary guide, with a salary range of $1,400 to $2,000 on the bachelor's level, was a very nominal increase at the first step from the original salary policy in 1947.
6. With the adoption of the first salary guide on April 14, 1946, the influence of the Teachers' Association as a negotiating agent with the Board of Education first began to be felt and continued to increase in importance over the years.

THE FIRST SALARY guide stated that new teachers were to be placed at the appropriate place on the guide; but Rule 10 contained this provision: "This guide is not retroactive. Therefore, it is not concerned with adjustments." As soon as the guide was adopted, the protest of the Teachers' Association caused the Board to defer this rule and provide for credit up to five years' experience.

The Board of Education grew rapidly in its understanding of the need for large salary increases, as this preliminary statement in the 1948-1949 guide indicates:
1. The guide should attract competent teachers.
2. The guide provides incentive for teachers with the necessary financial incentive for professional growth.
3. The receipt of a just and equitable salary by a teacher will obviate the necessity of his having to work after school hours to earn additional income. It will improve his morale and efficiency and give him added time for his school duties.
4. A liberal salary policy makes it possible for the Board of Education, through administrators and supervisors, to be more exacting of teachers in the matter of educational background, teaching efficiency and competency.

The salary on the bachelor's level rose to $2,200 - $4,000 in 1948-49, and to $3,500 - $6,000 in 1956.
The Board of Education's relations with the Teachers' Association were always most cordial. While the board did not always grant the increase which the teachers requested, the salary scale was considerably better than the average for the county. In addition, the board adopted and then liberalized from time to time the provision for sick leave. The sick leave provisions of the Board of Education were well above those required by the legislation passed by the State.

SOME EDUCATIONAL AD-

VANCES: From the very beginning, it was the practice at Regional High School for the principal and director of guidance to visit the elementary schools each spring to administer an intelligence test, to talk with eighth grade pupils regarding the selection of a curriculum in high school and to answer students' questions. The test gave the first of two IQ's for the students' record in high school.
From the start, it seemed desirable to give an achievement test also, but the local administrators were not receptive to this suggestion. After a number of years, the local administrators were informed that a standardized achievement test would be given to all ninth grade students shortly after the opening of school in the fall. Median scores in achievement were compared with median IQ's.

It was apparent that some districts with above average IQ's were not above average in achievement, while other districts with below average IQ's ranked high in achievement. Also comparison in achievement could be made with national norms. As a result, the local districts at once instituted courses for teacher training in various fields.
With the opening of the addition to Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, the additional facilities made it possible to make educational progress by offering additional courses such as arts and crafts, German, homemaking, speech and dramatics, improved course in metal working, general shop and expansion of driver education.

In addition, the separate laboratories in chemistry, and physics as well as general science made for better equipment and better instructional procedures. The addition of two separate classrooms for teaching health information to a small group of girls and boys was most desirable.

THE ADOPTION of the rotation time schedule whereby a seven-period time schedule operates in a six-period day, although not wholly satisfactory to every teacher, has many advantages. This plan retains the 50-minute period and allows a great flexibility in scheduling. It also makes it possible for a teacher to have a "free" period six of every seven days.

After much experimenting with the time schedule for the club program, the one which seemed most satisfactory was the after-noon program with attendance voluntary on the part of students. The scope of activities in the club program ranged from math, science and language to ham radio and typing.
Interested faculty members guided students in these activities. Through the school-wide cooperation of administration, faculty and students, new clubs were formed when interest warranted it, and other clubs were dropped when interest waned.
Although there was always a need for a reading specialist and a psychologist in the high school, it was not until 1953 that a person was employed to fill these positions. At the end of the year the positions were separated and a person employed to fill each.

It is now realized that reading is not taught once and for all at any level. Reading is a dynamic, changing process which needs to be reviewed, encouraged, and refined all the time. Programs in reading are needed for the slow learner, for the bright student who is not reading up to capacity, and for the special case who needs clinical help. This is an age of ideas, and printed words are the tools of thinking. The student who cannot read the word cannot understand the thought.
Several first place awards to both the Region and the Dayton News, awards in chemistry, mathematics, foreign language and debate are indicative of the progress and growth of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. In the field of athletics the school has had a high rank, at times, in many sports.

The Union County Regional High School District had some very unusual problems to face in the first 10 years of its existence. The progressive attitude of the Board of Education and the splendid cooperation of the entire staff made it possible to lay a solid foundation for the tremendous growth to follow. In many respects this school district has been unique in the state of New Jersey.

In addition to new cubs and den mothers, Leo Newman, council chairman, introduced the 1964-1965 cub committee: Ralph Farnoff, neighborhood commissioner; Richard Colandrea, institutional representative; Stanley Gold, cub master; Alfred Stadler, assistant cub master; Mrs. Miriam Davis, secretary; Robert Klein, treasurer; Selwyn Scherter, activities chairman; Cliff Barker, publicity director; Harold Kaufman, advancement chairman; and Mrs. Lorraine Seidel, telephone squad chairman.

HIGH SCHOOL PTA PLANS VISITATION FOR ALL PARENTS

Some 500 parents are expected to report to classes at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School next Thursday at 8:15 p.m. for the annual "Back to School Night." Robert F. La Ventura, principal, said that the parents would run through an abbreviated seven-period typical day schedule so that they could meet the teachers, get an idea of the objectives, assignments and motivations of each subject their children are taking.
Michael Paoline, president of the PTA, which is sponsoring the program, stated that a brief business meeting will be held in Halsey Hall at 7:30. All parents will then be sent to the classrooms where their sons and daughters are assigned.

All items other than spot news, submitted to this newspaper, should be in our office by Friday to insure publication in the next issue.

LEADER PROFILE

HENRY S. WRIGHT

Springfield's Don Quixote last week served notice that for the next month, at least, he planned to be tilting at the Township Committee in earnest. Henry S. Wright, the most faithful participant to be found for the past several years at meetings of the Township Committee, the Union County Board of Freeholders and assorted other official bodies, last week filed his petitions and became an official candidate for a one-year, unexpired term on the municipal governing body. His petition, however, was rejected yesterday. See details on Page One.

HENRY S. WRIGHT

Wright, who has expressed himself forcefully and at considerable length in regard to topics ranging from the threat of "creeping socialism" to the lack of toilet facilities at Danham Playground, rarely fails to deliver pointed criticism of some facet of local government at each meeting of the Township Committee. Rarely, too, does he fail to stir the anger of at least one member of that body.

He was a native of the Oranges, and his earliest political memory involves wearing a Hoover button on his lapel at the age of seven, in 1932. Wright continued his education with diplomas from Columbia High School and Yale University, where he majored in industrial administration. He also has an Army degree in electrical engineering, gained during World War II.

Springfield's newest candidate is married to the former Marsha Lee Earley—of Mansfield, Pa., and they are raising three very young Republicans, Karen, 5; Betty, 4; and Steven, 1.

Wright has worked as an engineer for Du Pont, Westinghouse, the Edison Electric Institute of New York and the N. J. Bell Telephone Co., and he is now a dealer for American Graphic, Inc., printers and lithographers of Irvington.

HIS LIFELONG INTEREST in politics took concrete form a decade ago when he became active in the Essex County Young Republicans, serving as treasurer for the Young GOP in South Orange. His mentors at that time, Wright notes, were former Rep. Robert Kean and Bernard Shanley, then a major figure in the Eisenhower administration and now running for the U. S. Senate from New Jersey.

When he moved five years ago to his home here at 53 Colfax rd., Wright recalls, he helped revive and reorganize the Springfield Young Republicans, "working with Walter Baldwin and several others."

Three years ago, on his second attempt, Wright was elected to the Springfield Republican County Committee as district committeeman for the fourth district. His area lies north of Morris ave. bounded by Main st., Morris ave., Short Hills ave. and the Millburn line. "My first duty as a district leader," he comments, "is to file a petition each year and retain my continuity in office."

Beyond that, Wright notes, "I have built up the Republican majority steadily each year. The fourth is the most heavily Republican district in town. It used to go Republican by margins of 3-1, and now the ratio is approaching 4-1."

IF HE IS NOT elected to the Township Committee, and as an independent he realizes that the odds against him are long indeed, Wright plans to run again next April to retain his post as district leader. "If opposition to me develops," he pledges, "I will find a female running mate, someone who wants to work with me, and we will run as a team."

A major responsibility as district leader, he adds, "is to get new people in the district to register and vote, particularly as Republicans. This is a bigger job for me than it is in some other districts. The Short Hills Village apartments on Forest dr. have a heavier turnover of residents than there is in neighborhoods of private homes, and most of them are Republicans. On the other hand, there is no Democratic leader competing against me. The last figure I saw had only 87 Democrats registered among 700 voters in the district."

Another task as district leader, Wright stresses, "is to serve as liaison with the township committee through the municipal Republican committee, for residents with problems concerning garbage collection, street lights, Board of Adjustment variance, business and problems concerning the building inspector and other town officials and agencies."

"If the leader is of the same party as the local administration, he should have a pretty good channel to channel his requests, but this hasn't worked too well under the present administration."

WRIGHT'S DIFFERENCES with the municipal leaders came to a head last month, when he charged an official with hanging up the telephone in the middle of a conversation. At the last several meetings, he has been bringing his remarks to a close, or at least a semi-colon, with quotations from the Bible — presumably learned neither at Yale nor during

PRESIDENTIAL RACE

I would like to comment on the front page article in last week's Leader, where Mr. Wright criticizes my leadership for not being "in the loyal party mainstream of real Republicans" and challenges the motto "openly declare their stripes."

The word loyalty in a democratic election is not to be loyal to one's ideals and principles. If we forget this, and substitute for it loyalty to a man or group of men, loyalty then means the abandonment of one's ideals and the voluntary submission to a foreign yoke of slavery or servitude. This is not the American concept of loyalty. I believe in the two-party system when each of the parties reflects the ideology of democracy.

How can you ask us, as American citizens, to give the highest office of our land a man who has not even been a good Senator? His voting record shows no comprehension of the country's problems — at home or abroad — and he in fact declares "I will not to pass laws, but to veto them."

How can you ask us to elect a man for the Presidency whose diplomatic ability is so low that he is apparently frightening our allies rather than our enemies?

How can you ask us to support a man who has a record of the word freedom implies freedom to destroy, freedom to disregard men's constitutional rights, freedom to grow old in fear and illness, freedom to live in poverty, freedom to be abused by the vast majority who are not the vast majority?

Whether we be Republican, Democrat or independent voters, we are not afraid to declare the nature of our stripes. They are red and white stripes on a blue background.

POOL CHAIRMAN

In July, 1958, I had the distinction of being given a "bat" at our municipal swim pool, culminating an effort that started some two years earlier.

I say pleasure because it was just that. Through the efforts of some 30 citizens of our community, the pool was officially opened.

In the entire time that the pool was being planned and built, there was a gentlemen's agreement that the pool was to remain out of politics. This was not broken for this gentleman's agreement you, the citizens of Springfield, would not have this facility today. Everyone who served as a member of the pool committee will verify this.

Now, in the heat of a new political campaign, the controversy that makes for good headlines has suddenly centered on the pool. The proof of my effort is the end result. You have now enjoyed two seasons of swimming.

Look around you and study the annual fees. Springfield was the only municipality in the State of New Jersey that:

- 1. Opened on time.
- 2. Was built and completed within the money allocated and actually had more available for that money than any other community.
- 3. Operated without the problems inherent in all the other pools.
- 4. Opened as a completed facility, with grass, not mud.

Since I have been chairman of the swim pool committee, I think I am qualified to tell you why this happened:

- 1. It was not the effort of any individual. It was the combined efforts of an entire pool committee, the Township Committee and a group of architects, engineers and recreation consultants hired by the Township Committee. That is the main reason it opened in time.
- 2. Every contract came in under the usual amount because the specifications and plans were complete, without frills that add excessive costs.
- 3. It operated without problems because the equipment used was right and the personnel hired were screened to get the best available.
- 4. It opened as a completed facility, with grass, not mud, for a very simple reason. By installing a sprinkler system and seeding the area, instead of

Vocational School

For A 'Yes' Vote

At long last the voters will have the opportunity to get the county moving on the establishment of a vocational high school and the expansion of the present post-high school technical institute.

It has taken a long time. Past Freeholder Boards have failed to face up to the obvious need. But come Nov. 3 a referendum question will be presented for a bond issue "not exceeding the sum of $3,750,000" covering capital construction costs of four buildings on a 48-acre site in Scotch Plains. Ratification by the freeholders would be necessary after the electorate, hopefully, expresses its approval.

Funds for paying off the bond issue would come from:

1. The local school district which would pay a fixed tuition for each of its students attending the vocational high school.
2. The post-high school students in the technical institute who would pay a fixed tuition as they do now under the smaller program conducted in Mountainside and Scotch Plains.
3. Federal and state aid.

The per capita tuition basis established for students attending the vocational high school runs contrary, in our opinion, to the principle of public education being paid for by the general public — as a responsibility of everyone to support this bulwark of our democratic system.

Just as all taxpayers in a school district support all public schools in the district, so should all taxpayers in the county support a county vocational and technical school. But the realities are that this referendum might not pass without the per-capita payment provision, with or without this provision we believe the question deserves your "yes" vote.

Where the technical institute is concerned, the experience in the existing school points to a critical need for expansion. Three graduating classes have placed students in positions for which they were prepared and the school cannot keep up with the employer's needs. When jobs go begging because of lack of training, expansion of post-high school programs like this one should not be blocked.

Establishment of the high school program would provide as good a means of attacking the "dropout" problem as there is. Motivation is the key word here. The student who drops out of the conventional high school may be willing — even anxious — to stay in a vocational high school.

Then there are the "drop-ins" those who go to school because it is the easiest thing to do. They are as much a waste of manpower as "dropouts."

Your vote favoring the bond issue can help make some "stay-ins."

DAYTON SCHOOL COMMENDS FIVE FOR MERIT TEST

Five seniors at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School have been commended for their high performance in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test administered last spring. The students are Ned B. Einstein, Denise M. Ford, Robert L. Garner, David T. Gersten and Allen P. Katz. The announcement was made by Robert F. LaVanture, the school principal.

The five seniors are among 38,000 students throughout the country who received a formal letter of commendation in recognition of outstanding performance in the qualifying test. With the semifinalists, the commended students represent about two percent of all high school seniors.

Report From Trenton

By State Senator Nelson F. Stamler (R-N.J.)

The recent report of the continuing problem of air pollution raised some interesting questions, and the report itself seems to put emphasis on the use of the vital automobile, which unquestionably helps in the polluting of what is left of our clean air — but there are many other sources which are more obvious, and I find to be even more destructive than automobiles.

Not long ago, I had to fly down to Washington to do some research on the transportation problem in our state — we State Senators have no research staffs — and I parked my car at the Newark Airport in what is known as "Parking Lot No. 1." I left Newark at about 8 a.m. and I returned at about 6:30 p.m. Across the full length of my car was a foot which appeared to be oily and rather slimy. I noticed that all of the other cars parked nearby had the same layer of dirt so that this could only mean that either the pollution was coming from factories in the area, or from the jet airplanes which take off at Newark for all parts of the country. In asking a few questions, I learned that it is from the jets — and nobody is supposed to talk about it at the Authority terminal. I do not know how much of this is distributed around the landscape of New Jersey, but there must be a lot of it.

The same type of soot appears when you are driving in any of our main highways behind a diesel truck.

On my way to Trenton the other day I was behind a diesel equipped truck which emitted heavy clouds of black smoke for several miles, and when the weather is heavy this smoke lays back and causes a great deal of physical hazard.

In this highly industrialized area that we live in, it probably is going to be impossible to clear up all of the problems of pollution. The two I have mentioned are practically impossible to cure unless they find a new way to fly jets and a new way to drive diesels.

During this season one of the most constant pollutions is the burning of leaves — it smells good and makes a bright light in the evening — but it can become almost smothering to the neighborhood. Most of our towns have strict laws regarding laws and they are enforced stringently, but the cooperation of the public is needed so that this problem should be more easily solved than it is.

We all kind of long for the day when all of the air will be clear and all of the problems will be solved. As of now, a great deal of money is being spent by the Federal and State Government on air pollution, and a great deal of money is being spent on the planning of the control of air pollution — if less money was spent on the planning and more on the enforcement of present laws we would have less problems.

GROUP CONVENES FOR DISCUSSIONS AT TOWN LIBRARY

The next session of the adult book discussion group at the Springfield Public Library, scheduled for Oct. 20 at 8 p.m., will feature a discussion of a Shakespearean play. It will be led by Alex Kropnick, English teacher at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

The group held its first meeting last week to map plans for discussion sessions twice a month until next May. Kropnick led a discussion of Shakespeare's sonnets this past Tuesday.

2 Cadette Scouts Radio Contestants

Denise Easter and Donna Sadowal of Troop 224-273 Cadette Girl Scouts were contestants in a radio show which was presented last Wednesday over station WABC. The troop was led by Mrs. Lee L. Andrews Jr.

The program, "Get the Message," was taped with the two contestants and several other troop members interviewed.

The Scouts visited and toured another radio station while in New York before having lunch at an Automat cafeteria. On their way home the Cadettes heard of their trip via a radio broadcast. The day was planned by Marlon Jacques and Mary Beth Brennan.

Johnson Backers Plan To Contact All Local Voters

A person to person campaign to acquaint voters with the presidential candidates and the vital issues has been announced as the aim of the newly formed Independent Citizens for Johnson, a Springfield based organization.

At a recent meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Starr, a resolution was drawn to wage a "vigorous campaign to teach every registered voter in Springfield."

Mrs. Lawrence Armour, membership chairman, said she was gratified at the initial response of workers and the campaign contributions that have been coming in, but she added that many more workers are needed if the drive is to be a total success.

Those citizens interested in working are asked to call Mrs. Armour at DR 6-7616 or, if they wish to "have their contribution work for them," to make their checks payable to Independent Citizens for Johnson and mail them to Mr. Irwin Genzer, finance chairman, 70 Adams ter., Springfield.

Electrical Device At Overlook For 'Runaway' Heart Therapy

In less than one second a new electrical device at Overlook Hospital in Summit can regulate a "runaway" heart contrast to the former need for weeks and frequently months of drug therapy and hospitalization, which even then was not always successful.

Called a cardioverter, the instrument administers a high voltage shock at a precise moment in the heartbeat cycle, a moment calculated carefully to be absolutely safe, the hospital declares.

Considered one of the greatest advances in modern cardiac treatment, the cardioverter was developed by Dr. Bernard Lown of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Harvard Medical School, Cambridge, Mass. It has been carefully tested for two years there and in major metropolitan medical centers on over 500 patients with outstanding success. Its use is still comparatively rare in community hospitals, but heart specialists foresee a new era in the treatment of this type of rhythmic disorder, heart disease.

The cardioverter works on direct current, in contrast to the alternating current of former defibrillator instruments, which had certain hazards for the patient and were used only in emergency situations — where the patient was already clinically deceased and there was no other means of help.

"The heart, which has its own natural "pacemaker," in cases of cardiac arrhythmia loses its own control, resulting in ineffective pumping of the heart. The cardioverter's direct current shock is simply administered through electrodes placed externally on the front and back of the chest. The timing of the shock is the key factor; it must come at a pre-set time in the electrical cycle of the heart — at the exact moment to reach the specialized muscle and nerve fibers of the area only (the upper part of the heart), which then resumes its normal beat.

Legion Ticket Sale To Start On Sunday

Springfield Continental Post of the American Legion will hold its annual dance the evening of Friday, Nov. 6, at Evergreen Lodge, it was announced by Donald Schwerdt and Robert Dougherty, co-chairmen for the evening. William Weber is the new post commander. Door-to-door ticket sales will begin Sunday.

Proceeds from the dance will be used to support a variety of projects conducted by the Legionnaires. They include donating American flags to various civic, fraternal, church and youth organizations; sponsoring Springfield boys in Boys' State activities, oratory contests, safety essay competitions and Forensic Society programs, and honoring high school baseball stars as well as holding a program for the entire team.

The Continental Post also sponsors a baseball team in the township Youth Major League and contributes to local charities. Among these are the First Aid Squad, Fourth of July Committee and the Boy Scouts.

Local Legionnaires visit and take gifts to patients in Veterans Hospitals at Lyons and East Orange. The post's color guard takes part in parades and other civic programs.

Sale Of Pumpkins Is Coming Event For Local Scouts

Boy Scout Troop 70 will cover the township in its annual pumpkin sale, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 17. Proceeds will finance this year's scout activities for the troop.

Parents are asked to help with the sale by providing transportation for the pumpkin-toting scouts.

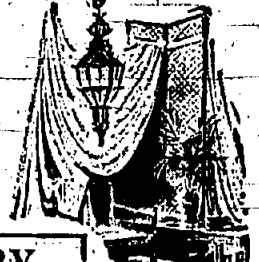

The troop will compete in scouting skills at the Northern District Camporee at Lake Surprise tomorrow through Sunday. As a community service activity they participated in last Sunday's Civil Defense exercises. A weekend camping trip is planned for next month.

CLUB PLANS TEA FOR NEWCOMERS

Mrs. Robert Hannon, membership chairman of the Springfield Women's Club, announced a tea will be held Saturday in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Millburn, to honor new members. The regular meeting of the club was held yesterday.

At the meeting yesterday, Mrs. Brainerd F. Swain, former president of the Greystone Park Association, discussed the state hospital and presented slides and samples of the work done there.

Mrs. Louis Cathami, president, announced that $150 was presented to the Springfield Board of Education for the purchase of an overhead projector. Another $150 for a tape recorder was given St. James School. Plans are underway for the harvest card party to be held Thursday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m. in Evergreen Lodge.

DRIVE SAFELY

Long Lauded By Betsy Palmer For Assist In Yule Seal Drive

Tom Long of Kenilworth, honorary chairman of the 1964 Christmas Seal Campaign in Union County, has received a letter from the National Honorary Chairman Betsy Palmer, congratulating him on accepting this assignment.

Tom, a young actor with more than ten years of experience in the entertainment field, will lead the fund raising campaign of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League, which opens in November with the mailing of Christmas Seals to residents of the county. He will assist Newton J. Rodgers of Clark, who is chairman of the Christmas Seal Committee of the League.

Miss Palmer, well-known on television, stage and screen, will lead the nation-wide campaign of more than 2,500 local associations to obtain the means to combat tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

In her letter Miss Palmer urged Tom to learn the important statistics about tuberculosis and respiratory diseases and to be a crusader for his tuberculosis association. She cited the halt in the long-term decline in TB in this country, and the high TB risk group of 810,000 Americans, which includes 110,000 known active cases, the 250,000 recently turned inactive ones and the contacts of new respiratory diseases.

She also pointed out that about 35 million Americans have tuberculosis germs in their bodies and thus are susceptible to breakdown with the disease in their lifetime. The broad category of respiratory diseases are now the fourth leading cause of death, preceded only by heart, cancer, and stroke.

"Your role as a 1964 Honorary Christmas Seal Chairman in your community is a task that will take a great deal of your time and energy," Miss Palmer's letter said, "but it will prove a most rewarding assignment. We share a community of interest in working together as volunteers for this great organization."

March Of Dimes Names McGowan Union County Leader Of '65 Drive

Edward L. Whelan, chairman of the Union County Chapter of The National Foundation — March of Dimes, this week announced the appointment of James M. McGowan, of Elizabeth as Union County chairman of the 1965 March of Dimes Drive.

In making this appointment, Whelan noted that through McGowan's leadership during the 1963 and 1964 campaigns significant strides were made to diminish the problems of arthritis and birth defects.

McGowan, president of the printing firm of Colby and McGowan, Elizabeth, served as assemblyman from Union County for six years and has long been associated with local civic and philanthropic endeavors.

The March of Dimes program, which succeeded in virtually eliminating the dread disease of polio, is directing all its resources to curb the effects of birth defects.

McGowan's mother is the executive director of a local tuberculosis association. Her husband is a physician. They make their home in Englewood.

The league's program to combat tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, focuses on public and professional education, tuberculosis clinic services, case finding projects and support of medical research.

$4,000 Gift To UJC By Bristol-Myers Is Corporate Aid

Orlan Johnson, 1031 Sunny Slope rd., Mountainside, Vice President of Bristol-Myers Products Division and a member of the Board of Trustees of Union Junior College, today announced on behalf of the employees at the Hillside facility a $4,000 gift to the Junior College in Cranford.

Johnson, in announcing the gift, stated that it was in addition to the expanded corporate aid to education program that the company has had in force for the past two years.

Johnson pointed out, "The employees of our division are most cognizant of the continuing financial needs of schools of higher learning throughout the country and the particular financial problems of institutions in the communities around our facility. We feel that this is a most tangible way of expressing our understanding of its needs and is also an expression of our faith in its ability to educate the young people of the community."

Johnson is former mayor of Mountainside.

Dwyer Leadership Rapped By Traynor

Richard J. Traynor, Democratic candidate for U.S. Congress from Union County, last week struck out at his GOP opponent for her failure to state a position on the national Goldwater-Miller ticket.

"Traynor said that his opponent, Congresswoman Mrs. Florence P. Dwyer, seems more interested in getting herself elected than in offering the leadership the county needs in this area," he continued.

"Her continued silence regarding her feelings on the Goldwater-Miller ticket is another example of her attempt to gain votes by making an appeal to everyone, no matter what is involved."

Speaking Friday at the Hotel Suburban in Summit, Traynor pointed to "the unprecedented and continuing rise in the American economy" as what his party has done for the country. He contrasted the rosy national picture with the local Union County labor market, which has averaged a full percentage point above the county's unemployment rate — 6.3 to 5.3 percent — according to the speaker.

Traynor stressed the need for a technical vocational school in Union County to "train and retrain our people to fill the jobs created by the Space Age in which we live." He continued:

"New Jersey is last among the 50 states receiving money back from the Federal Government. I think we ought to get back some of the money we sent to Washington in the form of help for Union County in the areas we need it most."

Pharmacists Will Check Old Drugs

Local residents are invited to bring old drugs and medicines to their pharmacist during this week's observance of National Pharmacy Week to receive expert advice on their efficacy.

The invitation has been extended by Benjamin S. Ellenport, president of the Union County Pharmaceutical Society. Warning that out-dated medicines can make children and even adults ill, President Ellenport stressed the importance of checking the contents of the home medicine chest periodically.

"Your local pharmacist will be glad to review the drugs you bring to his store and advise you on their use. Some may still be usable; others might be better discarded for your own health and the health of your family," he said.

BY BEA SMITH
 "It's one thing to see a slide or a picture of a Colonial inn in one's studies—it's another actually to be in it."
 This has been the idea behind the teaching technique administered by Stewart Mulvihill, a science teacher at the Florence Gaudinier School in Springfield. As a result, Mulvihill has taken students for the past four years on extended "serendipity" trips.
 And this is the reason 98 seventh graders from Gaudinier, accompanied by 10 adults, will take a four-day study tour to Colonial Williamsburg, Va., from Nov. 15 to Nov. 18.

Mulvihill explained that "although this sort of thing is still in its pilot stage, it has increased 300 percent in the past four years."
 "In 1960," he said, "two eighth grade classes took a weekend trip as a part of 'The Experimental Living' project. Since that time, our classes have taken eight trips."
 "THE SOCIAL STUDIES department felt that Williamsburg, Va., was ideal for students to study Colonial history, since that is a part of seventh grade education."
 Last year, Mulvihill indicated, "a single seventh grade class went to Williamsburg with William B. Pfeiffer, then a Gaudinier teacher. When they returned, plans were made to take another trip this year. Pfeiffer, in the meantime, left our school to take the position of director of the information center in Williamsburg."
 "The trip is being continued by the social studies department. Last year, 26 students took the trip. This year, we'll have about 98—an increase of 300 percent."

Mulvihill, a youthful, energetic man with a quick flashing smile and an enthusiastic bounce to his walk, chatted excitedly about this planned trip. Nearly breathless with the anticipation of "getting the show on the road," he admitted he had been planning glasses and explained why he was placed in charge of planning.
 "I had had the experience of moving large groups of students to and from destinations—over the top of a bus—and get the same number off—without losing any on the way."

"BUT THE TRIP has been planned and executed by the history department."
 The trip will not involve the entire seventh grade. There will be four seventh grade classes, led by Mulvihill and two social science teachers, Paul Maguire and Theresa De Lauro, (the latter, Mulvihill explained, is in her first year at Gaudinier); Mrs. Mulvihill, Mrs. Maguire and Dr. Edna Troop, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Sarokin and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Marcus, parents of students.
 "This will not be a run-of-the-mill tour of the place. Much planning has gone into the tour—meetings have been held with parents here at the school about it."
 Mulvihill described the trip in its entirety.
 On Sunday, Nov. 15, two chartered buses will leave at 8 a.m. We will travel down the Turnpike and our first stop will be in Delaware about 9 or 10 a.m. for a quick break.
 "We will go on to Maryland, where we will stop for lunch."

Arrival time in Williamsburg is 2 p.m.
 "ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHT individuals will be taking over the entire York House, which is a part of a big hotel in Williamsburg. Two or three children will be assigned to a room. Adults will be placed strategically," Mulvihill declared.
 "About four p.m. on Sunday," he went on, "we will meet at the Reception Center for map orientation, and to see a film called 'Story of the Patriot.' At five, we will return to have dinner in the dining room. That evening we will return to the Reception Center for a discussion with Pfeiffer, who, incidentally, has been very instrumental in aiding our tour."
 "At eight p.m., we will have a private candle-light tour of the capitol. Students will be able to see and feel the old voices. They will do such things as sit in Patrick Henry's seat, and so on. Then we'll return to the hotel for a lights-out—early. We have no doubt," he grinned, "that the 12-year-old travelers will welcome the early retirement on this evening."

Breakfast on Monday morning will be at 7:30, Mulvihill indicated. "with a big day before us. Ninety-eight youngsters will be broken into four groups. Each group will work on a field problem in Colonial history, guided by hosts and hostesses."
 "Actually, there will be four different field problems in crafts or community organization in Colonial history. Each will take about two-and-a-half hours to complete. Every child will rotate, until he has had all four projects completed."

"WITH FOUR SEPARATE groups, each working on one of the projects, there will be just enough time to pause for lunch. Then, in the afternoon, each group will work on its second project."
 "Following dinner, there will be a lecture at the Reception Center by Ivor Noel Hume, one of the most noted archeological authorities in the United States. He is the chief archeologist of the Smithsonian Institute. After an hour's lecture, the students will return to their rooms for a 10 p.m. lights out.

 "Tuesday, breakfast will be at 7:30, then on to the Reception Center at 8:30, where the students will continue to work on their field problems before lunch and after lunch. That evening, we will have dinner in a beautiful restored inn called the King's Arms. We have taken over the entire place for the evening. This sort of thing isn't done very often," Mulvihill said.
 "After dinner, there will be an evaluation of what everyone has done. At 8:30, there will be a reception in the Talbot House. Elizabeth Kelly, who has lived in that house for 60 to 70 years, will take the youngsters on a private tour. Then the students will return to the lodge."

HERE'S A POINT OF INTEREST — Paul Maguire, social science teacher, indicates to Mrs. Terry DeLauro, another social science teacher, and Stewart Mulvihill, science teacher, all at Gaudinier School in Springfield, a historical landmark of Williamsburg, Va., which will be covered by 28 seventh-grade students, who will take a four-day tour (Nov. 15 to 18) of the colonial city.

WRINKLES
 By Marie Davant
 New York—Chemical science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders on wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all! "Old-age" (weathered brown spots on hands and arms — brown "age" darkness on surface of face) neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and scars, outing his Army engineering training.

 "I was secretary of the campaign committee three years ago," he recalls, "when the Republicans took over Town Hall from a 5-0 Democratic Township Committee. I was chief cook and bottle-washer that year."
 "I spread campaign material in some of the strongest Democratic areas. People tried to throw me off their property, and once they even sent a group of youngsters behind me to pick up the material I had distributed."

When the new administration took the helm, Wright served on the bipartisan committee which planned and built the municipal swimming pool. "Since the pool is in my district," he notes, "I had the job of helping to deal with complaints from the neighbors."
 During this time, Wright recalls, "I would go to meetings of the Township Committee, compliment them for the good things they did and try to cooperate in any way I could." He also became a regular spectator and speaker at meetings of the Board of Freeholders and the regional and Springfield boards of education.

"ONE QUESTION he plans to ask both school boards this fall, Wright reveals, "is regarding the types of books used for our children. I am opposed to UNESCO volumes and other propaganda for the United Nations."
 "I don't feel that our country should leave the UN, but I do think it should be reorganized so the burden of housing its activities is shared with other nations. There would be less risk from all the subversives coming to our shores under UN diplomatic protection."

 Last year, Wright expanded his political activities into a larger arena. He explains, "Webster Todd, state Republican chairman, had said he would welcome hearing from all Presidential aspirants who wanted to gain exposure in New Jersey."
 "I wrote that I wanted to offer myself as a possible alternative to the other candidates. He never did reply to me directly. I got no exposure at all from Todd; but I did get some from various newspapers."

ALSO LAST YEAR, Wright went a step further, secured petitions, secured signatures and became an official candidate for the Republican nomination to a post on the Union County Board of Freeholders. "There were three spots open," he states, "and I ran fourth, thus becoming high man-of-those not endorsed by the county screening committee."
 "The feeling that the Springfield party organization had failed to support him in the county race, he comments, was one of the factors in his initial decision to run for municipal office. Besides his specific criticism of the local government," Wright emphasizes, "he wants to express his opposition to 'middle-of-the-road policies in the face of the threat of socialism.'"
 "The softening-up process in this country as elsewhere takes the same three steps. The first is liberalism, followed by socialism, which 'inevitably' leads to communism."
 Wright is sharply critical of much of the nation's foreign policy, as well as such domestic practices as "government competition with private industry, in the power-generating facilities of the TVA, for example, and the confiscatory, graduated income tax, which saps initiative and tends to destroy our economic system."

An Living project—a Monday through Friday experiment. But that's another story.
 "If this Williamsburg pilot project turns out as successfully as we anticipate, we would think that perhaps next year, all the seventh graders will take a more extended trip to Williamsburg."
 "At least, I hope so," Mulvihill beamed. "It sounds like an absolutely great idea."

Follow the Taper of Light to the New Dark Ages

This poster, drawn by thirteen-year-old Karen Chanda, won a grand prize in the "What Electricity Means To Me" contest held for children of JCP&L-NJ&E&L employees.

You and a lot of other people, Karen. Besides keeping all of us in the light, electricity does much of the world's work in industry and at home. Electricity works cheaply. That's one of its endearing qualities. For instance, your mother and dad are paying for electricity at a rate that's 20% lower now than it was back in 1929. We're proud of that fact, Karen. It took a lot of work to make it true.

Youth Found Guilty On Disorderly Count

Ryart Hart, 19, of 236 Milltown rd., Springfield, was found guilty in Springfield Municipal Court Monday night of disorderly conduct at the White Diamond Diner, 592 Morris ave., Sept. 1.

Sentencing was postponed until two other charges against him are resolved in the same court. He is charged with kicking in the window of a Springfield supermarket in plain view of a police officer, and with disorderly conduct shortly afterwards in the police station.

Also found guilty of disorderly conduct on the same date at the White Diamond Diner was James Martin, 18, of 33 Battle Hill ave., Springfield. Sentencing was postponed pending receipt of a parole report. The youth was released from Annandale Reformatory in June. The two youths got into difficulty at the curb service diner because of a rule that requires patrons to remain in their vehicles. Both refused to return to their cars, after the president, Abner L. Bridge, told them to do so. Language became abusive, and Bridge called police. The youths were arrested by Patrolman Donald Schwert.

The hearing on the two other charges against Hart is scheduled for next Monday. He again will appear before Magistrate Max Sherman.

The New Touch-Tone® phone

with push-buttons
The new Touch-Tone push-button phone will be available to customers whose telephone numbers begin with DRexel 6, DRexel 9, MURdock 2, 376, 379, and 682.*

Touch-Tone service has been described as the biggest advance in telephone calling since the dial. It applies the speed of electronics to the placing of a call. With a Touch-Tone push-button phone, you can tap the buttons twice as fast as you now dial. As each button is tapped, a musical note triggers an electronic impulse to speed the connection.

Bell Directory Distribution Begins Next Week; Features Larger Type

The 1964 Suburban Essex Telephone Directory, reset in 20 per cent larger type for easier reading, will be distributed beginning next week. The New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. announced today.

Besides being set in larger type, all listings in the alphabetical section will have the seven-numeral All-Number Calling (ANC) numbers. The 1964 directory marks completion of the Suburban Essex area conversion from the two-letter, five-numeral numbers which began in 1961.

Some 51,500 directories will be delivered in the Summit area starting Wednesday.

Introductory pages have been redesigned to provide more telephone information, including detailed lists of New Jersey Bell central office designations and their area codes.

Postmaster Asks Care In Shipping Parcels Abroad

Springfield Postmaster A. V. De Vecchio, in anticipation of increased mailings of parcels for overseas destinations, this week advised all mailers of such parcels to call at the post office for specific information relative to the mailing of international parcels.

Postmaster De Vecchio stated that each foreign country has specific regulations as to the size and content of parcels. Also, postage rates vary, as well as the number of customs declaration tags required for each parcel. Unless parcels are prepared properly for mailing, they will not be accepted until they are prepared to withstand the distance traveled, he added.

Taking into consideration the normal length of time in transit, customs inspections and other formalities that parcels may be subjected to in the countries of destinations, De Vecchio said that parcels should be mailed not later than the dates listed below to insure delivery before Christmas:

Surface mail should be sent by Oct. 15 for the Far East, Nov. 1 for Africa and the Near East, and Nov. 10 for Europe and South and Central America. Air mail should be on its way by Dec. 10 for the Far East, Africa, the Near East and South and Central America, and by Dec. 15 for Europe.

There Is Still Time To 'Know Your Town'

There is still time to attend the last sessions of "Know Your Town," a course given by the Springfield League of Women Voters in conjunction with the Jonathan Dayton Regional Adult School. The series began last week with a discussion led by Mrs. Leonard Kriegerman and Mrs. Sydney Miller concerning local township government operations and structure.

The remaining sessions will cover (1) zoning, the Planning Board and the Board of Adjustment, led by a League panel; (2) recreation, cultural and physical, conducted by the Recreation Department; (3) public education, local and regional, presented by Mrs. Lawrence Dorsky discussing local schools and Mr. William J. Mellek Jr., who will speak on the regional high school district.

"Know Your Town" is presented as a public service, free to all interested Springfield residents.

Democrats

credit for the swimming pool. Springfield knows that this facility was created by the initiative and hard work of a citizens' committee, appointed by a prior administration, and we think it is inconceivable for them to claim exclusive credit for the work of others.

"2. The present administration claims to have negotiated the reconstruction of Morris ave. In reality, they have negotiated nothing. They dived into an agreement with the state head-first, without looking to the right or left, or even taking tape measures to the sidewalk.

"3. They claim to have created a new road north of Morris ave. They have created nothing. Go look for yourselves. After a year-and-a-half of bickering over what the present administration described as an 'emergency,' the town doesn't even own the land necessary to build the road. The claim of creating this new road is an out-and-out misrepresentation.

Republicans

for their own localized demands, rather than for the best overall interests of the entire community. Destructive criticism, that which offers no constructive alternative, does not require imaginative thinking nor does it display sincere interest in that which is best for Springfield.

Falkin, Hardgrove and Planners, in discussing the accomplishments of the present administration and the "Positive Program" that they have advanced for the future, so they stand ready to be judged by the voters on Nov. 3. The basic issue will be whether Springfield will be served by forward thinking, or by the opposition's backward thinking.

A meeting of Chi Omega Night Owls will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Roland Hecker, 349 Timber dr., Berkeley Heights. Orders will be taken for Christmas gift-wrapping. Most of the proceeds are to be sent to the Kessler Institute. More information may be obtained from Mrs. Hecker (467-1883).

RICHARD F. JOHNSON

President Meets Cadet Who Bears Same Last Name

Const. Guard Academy First Classman Richard F. Johnson of Springfield, regimental commander of the Corps of Cadets in New London, Conn., met the President of the United States, Lyndon B. Johnson, on Saturday, along with a group of other college and university student leaders from across the nation.

Johnson, the 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Johnson of 147 Pitt-rd., was selected by Academy staff officers to represent the Academy at an informal gathering and reception at the White House, in response to a Presidential invitation.

In a letter to Rear Admiral William J. Smith, superintendent of the Const. Guard Academy, President Johnson expressed his interest in the upcoming college graduates, and his wish to meet them, and know of their thinking.

of the informed, should be taken.

"4. Specifically, I feel that my experience for the past three years on the Township Committee, with the last year as mayor, will enable me to accomplish more and better things for Springfield. This experience, coupled with my education and management experience in business, will qualify me to continue to help direct the economic and orderly growth of Springfield that our citizens are entitled to enjoy."

"5. They claim to have started a longevity pay program for township employees. We assume that this is alleged to be a benefit in the township because it keeps our township employees happy. Ask them what they think of the program.

"6. We praise Ed Rihby, our recreation director, for the continued existence of the Senior Citizens Club and we hope with the proper assistance and leadership, that it may turn into a program. This, incidentally, is another of the township's accomplishments we're heated for this year's campaign.

"7. The Republicans claim they have initiated a road building program. This is a poor excuse for not having done anything about a multitude of roads in town that have been obviously in need of repairs for the three years of their administration. What kind of sincere effort to repair and replace roads is begun three weeks before Election Day and at the end of the construction season?

"8. The Republicans say they have instituted automation in Town Hall. Ask them how much it is costing Springfield taxpayers, in addition to the cost of the equipment. Taxpayers were told that this equipment was going to save money. They were promised that it would decrease the tax office payroll. The fact is that the tax office payroll has increased this year in manpower and overtime pay. Could this be considered a solid accomplishment?

"9. We do not know how the Republican accomplishments' possibility," but it is certainly not:

"Buying trucks with five-year life expectancies and paying for them for 12 1/2 years;

"It is not purchasing a builder's white elephant like the Leone tract for $52,000 of taxpayers' money when there is no earthly use for it;

"It is not buying frills like speaker systems for Town Hall;

"It is not handling out contracts, which—by law—require competitive public bidding.

"A careful re-reading of the Republican accomplishments will prove to Springfield voters that a change is called for. It is time to vote for good judgment and responsiveness to the public. It is time for the election of Henry Grabarz, Jay Bloom and Douglas Mattice, Democratic candidates for Township Committee."

Comment by Falkin

Falkin who is presently chairman of the Township finance committee, indicated that: "the strides that have been made in the past three years in developing a sound financial foundation on which to build for the future needs of our community, are an example of what positive programming and positive action can accomplish."

"When the present administration took over the operation of the township government, our financial structure was dangerously inadequate. The previous administration had over-expanded the 1961 municipal budget and had depleted the surplus account to a low of $111,000.

"Since that time, through prudent management of the 1963-64 budget—the surplus account has been built up to $353,000 as of Jan. 1, 1964. This amount conforms with the recommendation of the New Jersey Division of Local Government, that approximately 10 per cent of the annual budget be retained in the operating surplus.

"Because of the present administration's business-like approach to government, this fiscal achievement was accomplished while at the same time we maintained a stabilized municipal tax structure.

"The members of the Township Committee feel sure that the citizens of Springfield approve of integrity in the administration of their government's finances."

Hardgrove Statement

Mayor Hardgrove, who has been chairman of the public safety committee since 1963, stated that "in administering this department, with the close cooperation of both the chief of police and the fire chief, an improved set of rules and regulations which govern the operation of these departments was adopted.

"The new rules were thoroughly discussed with both the members of the Police and Firemen Association, and the Firemen's Mutual-Benevolent Association.

"Hardgrove convened many meetings in order to reach a complete understanding between the members of the departments and the Township Committee and to rectify many controversial administrative procedures.

Further, said Hardgrove, "The traffic ordinance was given a thorough overhauling and the needed revisions were adopted to improve the traffic flow and parking problems within the community."

Planner Prediction

Committeeman Robert G. Planner projected a program that will benefit the future growth of our community, when he recently advocated the adoption of a Youth Employment Service (Y.E.S.) program.

Planner said, "This plan, which has met with success in some of our neighboring communities, will provide a service to both the youth of our community and those who wish to employ temporary or part-time help. A bureau will be established in which the young people of our town can register their names and qualifications for referral to employers. This program will be mutually beneficial to employers and the youth of our community."

The Three Republican Candidates Stress

The three Republican candidates stress that "this is the type of programming the people of Springfield desire. Rejection of Falkin, Hardgrove and Planners will continue this type of program planning for the ultimate welfare of our community."

$4,132 In Clothing Reported Stolen From Weiner's

Louis Weiner Formal Wear Inc. at 1292 Stuyvesant ave. in Union this week listed its total loss from a Sept. 11 burglary at $4,132.75 in clothing.

Stolen among other things were 31 new suits valued at $35.75 each, or a total of $1,108.25. Also taken were eight suits at a total value of $470, two lady's suits valued at $104, eight pairs of pants at $125, 24 jackets at $396, 30 dozen shirts at $450, five shirts at $22.50, five vests at $30, $1,147 in woollens and two Tony Martin sports shirts at $80.

The Shop-Rite store at 1416 Morris ave. reported a weekend burglary in which $97 was stolen from a first floor office and $125 from the second floor. Police were unable to say how the place was entered, but a locked door was forced open on the second floor. The management also said the keys for a check writing machine were taken.

Another burglary was reported at the residence of William Weitz, 1084 Mountainview ave. He said that the premises had been broken into between 10 a.m. and 8:45 p.m. Monday, and that $7 was taken from a wallet in a drawer. A screen was removed from the side of the building to gain entry, police said.

IHS Teacher's Work In STC Art Exhibition

KENNETH SCHNALL

"Non-objective painting is nothing more than inferior decoration. It's ridiculous to paint squares of color in a real world full of people with real feelings."

Irvington High School art teacher Kenneth Schnall's opinions about modern painting have led him to create art work that is winning critical praise and important exhibitions.

His drawings and ceramic sculptures will be included this month in Newark State College's exhibition "Five Ceramics."

Critic-Michael Lenson called Schnall "an artist of enormous promise" after viewing his current show at the Argus Gallery in Madison.

Though he doesn't consider himself a "pop" artist and has strong reservations about the artistic merit of this development, Schnall called pop art "an important reaction movement. I emphasize 'reaction' because reaction means healthy change — in this case, a movement away from art that doesn't really meet with the issues that affect us. I'll leave carefully arranged, so-called 'scientific' art to textile designers."

Schnall was much more hesitant to his own work. "Let us just say that I'm attempting to describe the society we live in."

The young painter's recent subject matter includes a pushcart vendor, a Salvation Army band, teen-age craphooters and motorcycleists, and a series of sculptures based on Genet's play "The Balcony." The inspiration for one sketch at the Argus show was a history of the London plague and fire in 1666.

At Irvington High, Schnall teaches art appreciation and a course in painting, sculpture and graphics. "Both courses are elective with major credit," he said, "and I couldn't ask for a better group of students."

Schnall spoke enthusiastically of IHS's art history program. "Only three per cent of the high schools in this country have this kind of program. We supplement history and English courses with slides and lectures on the art and architecture of the period a class is discussing. In American history, for example we supplement class work on the Federal period and we recently covered American painting during the depression."

Schnall cited French romanticism and Greek and Roman mythology as other areas in which the school's art department staff assists in French and English courses.

Schnall taught art for grades four to eight at the Grove St. Elementary School in the 1952-53 school year and came to Irvington High a year ago.

A native of New York City, Schnall moved to Newark in 1959. He studied at the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts and received his bachelor's degree from Newark College in 1962, after majoring in fine arts.

He is now completing work for a master's degree at Newark State College's graduate humanities division. His major is art history.

Schnall's master's thesis will cover Newark church architecture from 1800 to 1865. "Newark has some of the finest examples of that architecture of that time in the eastern United States," he said.

Schnall also teaches all painting at Irvington's Adult School.

He lives in Newark with his wife and a German shepherd with a Japanese name. Mrs. Schnall prepares statistical graphs for the Prudential Insurance Co. in Newark.

Heather Mending After Bout With Copperhead

After an almost fatal experience with a copperhead snake in the Morris County woods Sunday, Heather, an eight-year-old beagle owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wintach of 201 Laurel ave., Irvington, is reported doing "very well."

Heather was bitten by the snake in the woods near Deer Lake Park while the Wintachs were hiking. Being a curious beagle, she had tried to sniff the snake, only to be struck just above the eyes.

The couple rushed the dog to the municipal building in Lake Park and then to a Mountainide Lakes veterinarian where Heather was given first aid.

Dr. Samuel Pollock, who operates an animal hospital in South Orange was notified. He ordered an anti-venom serum from St. Barnabas Hospital in Newark and the beagle was rushed to his office while South Orange police picked up the serum.

Heather's head was swollen to four times its normal size from the bite but, according to Wintach, the swelling has gone down and the dog can be taken for a walk again.

Anti-Foam Detergent Debuts
First National Stores Inc. is first among the nation's food companies to introduce a cleaning product designed to overcome the aftereffects of hard detergents which can cause a build-up of excessive foam following household use.

Under its Finest label, the company is now selling detergents which feature the so-called "Soft" characteristics. The products include dish detergents, all-purpose cleaners and dry laundry detergent.

The need for this type of product has been recognized as the effect of foaming in water supplies has become increasingly evident. The new Finest detergents are manufactured in accordance with the objectives of governmental water purification and conservation programs. Under normal conditions they will decompose readily in sewage treatment systems.

A LOOK AT THE UNITED NATIONS with Trudisa Howard

General Assembly Opening Delayed

The United Nations has a new year coming up. Usually the General Assembly, the central body of the UN, opens its yearly meeting in mid-September and closes it in mid-December. But this year it has not yet begun. This year it is going to be different.

The date for the big opening day this year, has been set for Nov. 10, an unusually late beginning, and the closing date consequently is anyone's guess.

The delay has been attributed to several things, depending upon to whom you are listening.

The Conference of Non-Aligned Countries which began Monday in Cairo, for instance, is one. In a spring press conference at the UN, Secretary-General U Thant said: "Some of the sponsors of the projected Second Conference of Non-Aligned Countries have decided to request me to take the necessary steps to postpone the nineteenth session of the General Assembly to a suitable date on the following grounds, among others:—

"First, the projected Second Non-Aligned Conference is scheduled to take place in October of this year.

"Secondly, the heads of state and heads of government of approximately half the membership of the United Nations are expected to participate in that conference.

"Thirdly, these heads of state and heads of government will naturally be accompanied by their foreign ministers and in many cases by their permanent representatives to the United Nations.

"Fourthly, I understand that almost all the substantive items to be taken up at this conference are items before the General Assembly."

There are three African diplomats who are likely candidates for the presidency so far: Alex Quaison-Sackey who is the ambassador and permanent representative to the UN from Ghana, Nathan Barnes who is ambassador and permanent representative to the UN from Liberia and Omar Abdel Hamid Abdeol who is ambassador and permanent representative to the UN from Sudan.

The provisional agenda for the session currently contains 23 items, with hardly a new one added. Old problems crowd it—such as apartheid in South Africa, colonialism in Angola and Mozambique and South West Africa; various aids to developing countries; disarmament, the peaceful uses of outer space, human rights, anti-discrimination of all kinds, reports of committees, the Emergency Force, and most controversial of all—the issue over payment of back dues, particularly the payments for the Congo and the Middle East peace-keeping forces. The USSR and some 13 other states are in excessive arrears and could lose their voting rights unless they pay some of it at least, before the opening. The Soviet Union, however, has let it be known that loss of the vote could lead to a walk-out of the session, or even of the UN itself.

The Russian bill is approximately 49 million rubles—or about $4 million dollars.

Jersey Salute To UN

Governor Richard J. Hughes this week invited all Jerseyans to observe the 19th anniversary of the United Nations during the week of Oct. 18 to 24 with a New Jersey Tercentenary salute to the United Nations.

Governor Hughes extended the invitation in a proclamation that designated Oct. 24 as New Jersey Tercentenary Salute to the United Nations Day by saying, "New Jersey, which this year celebrates three hundred years of government under law, is particularly aware of the United Nations as a symbol of man's eternal quest for enduring peace with justice."

There are three African diplomats who are likely candidates for the presidency so far: Alex Quaison-Sackey who is the ambassador and permanent representative to the UN from Ghana, Nathan Barnes who is ambassador and permanent representative to the UN from Liberia and Omar Abdel Hamid Abdeol who is ambassador and permanent representative to the UN from Sudan.

Medical Assistants Enjoy Meeting, Social

The Essex County Association of Medical Assistants will meet Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Clara Mass Hospital, Belleville. Through the courtesy of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., a film entitled "Thread of Life" will be presented. A Halloween social will follow with Mary Ann Brydon, of Irvington, and Hazel Von Ohlen, of Newark, as hostesses.

Reveal Age-Old Cosmetic Secrets

Cleopatra bleached her hair with peroxide and used polish on her fingernails and toenails, according to Mrs. Dorothy Voss, public relations supervisor for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, who provided a light-hearted look at the use of cosmetics through the ages yesterday for members of the Aka Vita Society of the First Presbyterian Church, Irvington.

Mrs. Voss used slides to illustrate her talk, "Beauty Rings the Bell" according to Mrs. Henry F. Skirbski, society president.

In her historical review of woman's—and man's—efforts at self-adornment, Mrs. Voss discussed the cosmetic techniques used by jungle warriors in New Guinea, the ancient Chinese, Queen Elizabeth and others down to the present day.

She traced the origin of many of today's preparations including cold cream, mascara, eye shadow and perfume. The first permanent wave, administered to London women at the turn of the century, took from 10 to 12 hours and cost $1,000, according to Mrs. Voss.

American women spend almost two billion dollars annually on cosmetics, weight reducing and special soaps and treatments to enhance their personal charm, she said. The next biggest buyer of the chemicals that go into cosmetics is the Bell Telephone System's manufacturing arm, the Western Electric Company.

Western Electric, Mrs. Voss said, buys huge quantities of talcum, peroxide, lanolin, nail polish and face powder.

CARDIAC CLUB PRESENTS FASHION FETE SATURDAY

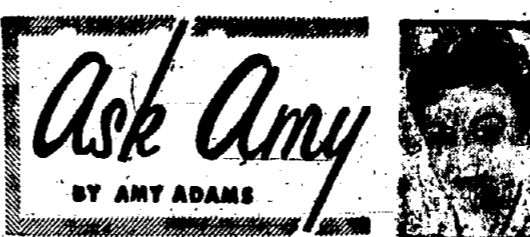

The Cardiac Surgery Club of St. Michael Hospital will hold its third annual Fall carnival of fashion on Saturday evening at 8 p.m. at Mother Schervier Hall, 300 High st., Newark.

Fashions will be presented by Gertrude Levy, Inc., 1006 South Orange ave., Vailsburg and millinery by the Bee Bee Hat Co., 19 South Centre st., Orange. Among prizes will be two day vacations for two persons during the winter season at the New Irvington Hotel, Lakewood, a full length mirror, a three piece set of luggage. Refreshments will be served.

All proceeds will aid cardiac research. The public is welcome. Further information may be obtained from fashion chairman, Mrs. Samuel Martino, PT. 3-4578.

Exhibit in Millburn

Hundreds of old post cards will be on display at the annual exhibit of the Garden State Post Card Club Oct. 24 from 1 to 10 p. m. and Oct. 25 from 1 to 7 p. m. at the American Legion Hall, 200 Main st., Millburn. Cards made of real hair, feathers and leather, old neighborhood scenes and other items of nostalgia will compete for prizes.

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: My husband and I have been married almost four months now and everything was going well until about three weeks ago. Up until that time, we had many enlightening conversations at the breakfast table. We are always on the go and the only time we have to ourselves is in the morning before he goes to work. But now we don't even have that. He gets up, gets dressed, eats breakfast and reads the newspaper not saying one word to me until he leaves.

Then he says, "Have dinner ready, dear, we have to go someplace tonight!"

Amy, if I do say something to him, it just goes in one ear and out the other. I have always hated to see a man sit at the breakfast table and read when someone was there. Please tell me what to do.

Stumped
Dear Stumped: Don't assume the honeymoon is over because hubby reads the paper instead of reading you at the breakfast table. If you always keep him on the go, the poor guy obviously has no other time to catch up on current events. Nourishing a man's body and soul is fine, but if he desires to nourish his mind, let him! If the printed word is the only competition you ever have, you've no complaints.

Dear Amy: What do you think of a neighbor who is bothered with hay fever and yet his yard will be weed-free? He has a weedicide, a nuisance to his neighbors, but he is also!

Dear Mrs. E. L.: Your neighbor who is bothered with hay fever is not apt to remove the weeds. So I think it would be a nice gesture on your part (with his permission) to round up a few other neighbors and cut the weeds for him. And whether he is a nuisance in other ways is probably debatable. What do your neighbors think of you?

Dear Amy: I will be a senior this fall and a majority of my friends will be going away to college. I have no problem asking the girls to write, but what about the guys? Should I bring up the subject or should I let them? Should I say that I'll miss them when they go away and hope to hear from them?

Perplexed
Dear Perplexed: It is perfectly permissible for you to ask your male friends to write you while they are away at college (time permitting). They can keep you informed about college work and life. And you can keep them informed about the good old home town.

Dear Amy: My friend's daughter is getting married soon. The problem is: Does the mother of the bride have to wear a blue dress? Is this a tradition or a superstition? My friend would like to wear a rose-colored crepe. She has a light complexion and jet black hair, but her daughter won't hear of any other color but blue!

Mrs. S.
Dear Mrs. S.: The daughter is being stubborn. Why, I don't know. There is no tradition of superstition involved here. Her mother should wear what is most becoming to her. Rose or blue are equally suitable colors for the mother of the bride.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

RAY BARTLETT'S IN '64
In 1789 a favorite fruit made a successful debut in this country. This fruit hailed from Middelex, England, where it was called "Williams" after the nurseryman who first distributed it in the Old Country. But in 1817 Enoch Bartlett took over the production here in New England and gave the fruit we now know as a pear his name. However, even yet in some parts of the world Bartlett pears are still known as Williams or Bon Chretien pears.

"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet," and a Bartlett by any other name would taste as good. These juicy and flavorful pears are popular nationwide as a snack or dessert.

Food shoppers may well prepare to load up their carts now for these buttery smooth beauties are plentiful and reasonably priced.

If the old saying, "A pear year, a dear year," be true, 1964 should endear itself to the nation. The Bartlett pear crop, especially in California, is sensationally good; more than 50 per cent larger than last year's.

Look For Firm Pears
When you shop look for Bartletts that are not wilted, shriveled or misshapen. Beware of those that yield easily to pressure; they may be too ripe to hold for more than a few hours, normally develop to highest quality if picked when mature but still hard and green, and then ripened in transit and in storage. When pears are ripened after picking, their flesh is usually of fine texture, white tree-ripened—pears are often coarse or woody, and in some varieties somewhat gritty.

Wholesale dealers in many large city markets, who specialize in pears ripen the fruit in special facilities having optimum conditions of temperature and humidity that enable the fruit to taste its best at the time of sale to retailers. Pears approaching a desirable stage of ripeness will continue to ripen satisfactorily at home temperatures.

While pears appeal to most everyone, they are a special joy to weight-watchers. A medium-sized fresh pear contains only 60 calories but it still has a sweet taste.

Pears Hawaiian and Saucy Pears are interesting fresh pear recipes.

Pear Salad Hawaiian
Halve and core 4 fresh Bartlett. Combine one 3-ounce package softened cream cheese, 1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple, a few grains powdered ginger and pineapple juice if needed to make mixture spreadable. Spread cheese over cut sides of pears and sprinkle with toasted coconut. Chill. Serve on lettuce as salad or alone for dessert.

Saucy Pears
Halve, core and pare fresh pears. Make a sugar-water syrup, add thin orange slices and pour over pears while hot. Chill. Serve with a topping of slightly sweetened whipped cream and crushed macarons. These make an attractive party dish.

FUN AND WORK
A youngster finds new experiences interesting, and will frequently surprise his parents by enjoying some new activity. Household tasks can fit this situation so that the child will find them fun instead of unpleasant.

The parents' attitude makes the most difference here. Children imitate their parents so that the child will grow and grow if a parent does. Also, if the child discovers the job is expected to be unpleasant, then he will undoubtedly find it so. If the parent wants to get rid of a job and dump it on the child, the youngsters will try to get out of it, too.

Household tasks can be much more interesting and even fun to a child when he's given his choice about the jobs he prefers to do. It doesn't really make so much difference to the parent whether he dusts or runs the vacuum cleaner, but it can make a world of difference to the youngster.

Changes help, too. One week, dishes; dusting—the next, this is a particularly good idea so that one youngster doesn't think he gets all the unpleasant things to do while his brother has the easy pleasant jobs. Working together instead of separately can make the jobs fun.

Williams Lashes Goldwater Visit, Lauds Humphrey

U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams said this week that New Jersey voters this week by Barry Goldwater and Hubert Humphrey are giving the Garden State "a look at the difference between political right and day."

"On one hand," said Williams, "we have the leader of the extremist-faction of the GOP. He's already sowed fear and confusion in this campaign, and he has not offered a single realistic proposal to combat the problems he decries."

"And on the other hand," he said, "we have a responsible leader who has used his years in the Senate to grapple with the hardest problems facing our nation at home and abroad. And he's managed to persuade others to do the same."

Senator Williams made his comment about the national race in a prepared release as his own campaign for re-election gathered momentum.

He said he intends to remain on the job in Washington in spite of campaign commitments.

"Absenteeism has already delayed final decisions on several vital bills. I won't shrink the responsibilities given to me by the people of New Jersey six years ago," he said.

"But I certainly will, whenever possible, fulfill my campaign commitments on weekends and whenever the air line shuttle, chartered plane, helicopter, or automobile can get me to the right place at the right time."

Williams was toured through Hudson, Bergen, and southern New Jersey counties. He has completed two of seven debates with his Republican opponent.

WEEDER'S DIGEST

By YOUR RUTGERS GARDEN-REPORTER

During this evergreen planting season you might like to know how to have success with yours.

Plant your narrow-leaved evergreens in well drained soil, plant them no deeper than they stood in the nursery and put no fertilizer at all on newly-planted trees.

I've been reading a new Rutgers College of Agriculture bulletin in which the authors recommend careful attention to these three points.

If you have any doubt about the quality of your soil, you can get the help of your county agricultural agent in having it tested.

NO FERTILIZER

You can improve your soil by adding organic matter to it, but there's little you can do for a little tree that gets stuck into the ground so deep that you may as well say it's buried.

The ring of soil around the trunk shows you how deep it stood in the nursery, and that's just right.

Fertilizer applied at planting time is sure to do more harm than good.

These hints are fairly well known, but often disregarded. What's unusual about this new bulletin is the profusion of illustrations on slick paper to help prospective buyers decide which kinds of narrow-leaved evergreens they "like." Many textbooks don't do as well in the quality of reproduction and detailed descriptions.

The quality is so high, in fact, that the Extension Service can't afford to give the bulletin away. You may find that the 50-cent price tag is not unreasonable.

Your county agricultural agent has copies of "Narrow-Leaved Evergreens: Selection and Care," and so has the Bulletin Clerk, College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

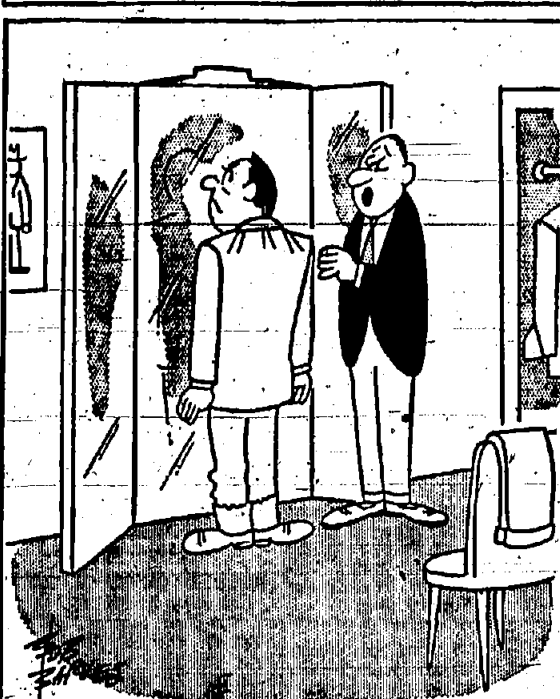

Asks Revelation Of Funeral Costs

Funeral directors were urged to provide more information to the public about prices, products and the services they render by Walter D. Quist of Minneapolis, Minn., president of the National Selected Morticians, in the opening address of the organization's 47th annual meeting at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, last week.

"New ways must be explored to assure that the public receives full and complete information about the prices of funerals," Quist declared. "The public wants, and should have, such information. It shouldn't be hidden from them."

"It does look a little tight in the shoulders... Let's try it without the coat-hanger."

Presbyterians Plan For Conclave Four Days Next Week in Ocean City

Presbyterians from this area will participate Sunday through Wednesday of next week in the 142nd Annual Meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of New Jersey in Ocean City.

Bible lectures and reports from the more than 26 synod committees and boards will highlight the occasion. One evening is earmarked for observance of the New Jersey Tercentenary. National figures will speak on the mission of the Church.

Ministers and lay representatives from the 430 congregations of the synod, in addition to several hundred visitors, are expected to attend the sessions at the Flinders Hotel, the First Presbyterian Church and the Music Pier.

Independent Voters Slate Nuclear Talk

David E. Lillenthal of Princeton and New York City, the first chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, will make a major address on nuclear policy at a meeting of the Independent Voters for Johnson Wednesday. The meeting will be held in the Essex House, Newark. A dinner will precede the meeting at 7-p. m.

An internationally known artist, Ben Shahn, has donated an original piece of art to be auctioned at the dinner. Pete Senger, folksinger, will be among the entertainers.

GERMAN DANCERS TO PERFORM

The Newark Bayern Verein will hold an Oktoberfest and Pilsener Dance at 7 p. m. Sunday in Montgomery Hall, 123 Montgomery ave., Irvington. Program participants include groups from Passaic and White Plains and the Knickerbockers of New York.

Shanley Offers N.J. Taxpayers Tax Relief Plan

Republican Senate candidate Bernard M. Shanley this week in a swing through nine counties, including Union, advanced a proposal for tax relief for New Jersey property owners. He also urged support for legislation that would override the U. S. Supreme Court decision "to take God out of our schools."

The GOP nominee's tax relief proposal it was announced would entail a tax credit of $100 on property taxes paid in support of public schools. This would be in addition to the total tax deductions from gross income now permitted by the U. S. Internal Revenue Department.

Shanley noted that an estimated 40 million Americans pay local property taxes, and his proposed credit system would provide tax relief to all families, regardless of whether their children attend public, private or parochial schools.

His proposal also would provide the state with "new money" for educational purposes, Shanley said, by releasing to the state certain excise tax funds. Both objectives, he said, can be reached "without bankrupting

'CRITICAL SITUATION'

Colleges Need Help For New Buildings

New Jersey's public colleges must have help now to construct quickly the buildings needed in a "critical situation," Leonard E. Best of Summit, chairman of the 1959 College Bond Issue Committee, said last week in Summit.

Best, a leading advocate of a broad-based tax for New Jersey, said that while he believes that a broad-based tax is necessary to solve New Jersey's long-range money problems, "I recognize that the college need is immediate and must be acted upon at once."

"Our need for college facilities in New Jersey continues at a steady and seemingly unending rate," Best said. "This is primarily due to huge increases in high school graduating classes, which will jump from 82,000 in 1964 to more than 90,000 by 1970. Along with larger graduating classes, more and more of our high school students want to attend college."

"Our public colleges are being forced to reject many fully qualified New Jersey high school graduates, because their facilities are already overcrowded. Unless our state acts quickly, this critical situation will grow worse, and we will fail to provide college opportunities for thousands of qualified New Jersey youth."

Best, who heads the Committee for State Tax Reform, pointed out that the 1959 College Bond Issue, for which he helped to win voters' approval, had already enabled the public colleges to double their enrollment ahead of the target date of 1965.

He also pointed out that construction of the buildings, which would be provided for by the 1964 College Bond Issue, will increase the need for additional state revenues to meet annual operating costs.

"It should be pointed out that the College Bond Issue does not provide funds for the operation of the newly constructed buildings," Best said.

For instance, the buildings are designed to accommodate an additional 10,645 qualified students. To teach this many additional young people will require more than 700 additional college professors. New Jersey will have to increase its expenditures for higher education to provide for them.

"In giving my wholehearted support to the College Bond Issue referendum, I intend to continue my strong support for a broad-based tax in the State of New Jersey. It is my hope that all friends of education will join with me in helping our public colleges meet the critical demand for higher education now facing them and continue efforts to obtain a broad-based tax, which is so desperately needed if our state and communities are going to continue to move forward."

Longer Mercury For '65

The 1965 Mercury, three inches longer and more luxurious in over-all length and features than in 1964, presents the most extensive change in the 28-year suspension, and rigid body consistency of the car.

Conceived, developed and crafted in the Lincoln Continental tradition, the new Mercury goal is to bring to the medium-priced field new standards of comfort and engineering excellence.

Even in its styling, the Mercury for 1965 resembles the Lincoln Continental with its clean, classic look of elegance and formality.

The Mercury will be available in a broad selection of 15 models in three series, Monterey, Montclair and Park Lane. There will be six roof lines, including the Breezeway, four-door sedan, again unique in the industry. Other roof lines are the conventional two-door and four-door sedan, a formal four-door hardtop, plus the convertible and the station wagon.

MERCURY FOR 1965 has three inches more wheelbase and over-all length, and classic style which "imparts a look of elegance and formality," as illustrated by this Park Lane four-door hardtop. Car will be shown at Union Jaycees Auto Show on Saturday.

Maplecrest Lincoln Mercury Agency: Mercury More Luxurious Than 1964

The 1965 Mercury, three inches longer and "more luxurious" than in 1964, presents the most extensive change in the 28-year history of the car, said a spokesman for Maplecrest Lincoln-Mercury Inc. of Maplewood.

Conceived, developed and crafted in the Lincoln Continental tradition, the new Mercury belongs to the "medium-priced field new standards of comfort and engineering excellence."

Even in its styling, the Mercury for 1965 resembles the Lincoln Continental with its "clean, classic look of elegance and formality."

The new Mercury has a 123-inch wheelbase, "a 213 1/2-inch in over-all length and features new frame design, front and rear suspension, and rigid body construction."

"Lincoln-Mercury is the only division offering products in the medium-price field that also has long experience and acceptance in the luxury field," said Paul F. Lorenz, Ford Motor Company vice president and division general manager.

"With the new Mercury, we now are offering the same successful concepts that were developed for the Lincoln Continental in the luxury field."

The Mercury is available in a broad selection of 15 models in three series, Monterey, Montclair and Park Lane. There will be six roof lines, including the Breezeway, four-door sedan, again unique in the industry. Other roof lines are the conventional two-door and four-door sedan, a formal four-door hardtop, a two-door fastback hardtop, plus the convertible and the station wagon.

"The appearance of the Mercury, which is unlike any predecessor model, is dominated by slim blade-like front fenders and a flat, uncluttered side panel, similar to the Continental. Slender parking lights at the extreme edge extend from bumper to fender top. Tall, vertical taillights frame the wide, clean trunk lid, so that the crisp rear appearance complements the frontal styling character," said an agency spokesman.

"Mercury's reputation as an outstanding road car is strengthened for 1965 with important engineering advances in body, frame, suspension and steering. The over-all design nests the body deep into the new torque box frame, increasing the floor space and the body interior height, while the over-all height of the car is decreased. The torque box frame is lighter and absorbs more of the road shocks, preventing them from being transmitted to the passenger.

"Better balanced road stance is obtained by increasing tread to 82 inches, up one inch in front and two inches in rear. New front end rear suspensions improve roadability. The drag strut front suspension permits compliance fore and aft when the front wheels encounter uneven road surfaces. The rear suspension is a new coil spring cushion-link design which gives a softer ride than the leaf springs formerly used in the Mercury," the spokesman added.

Bulldogs Survive Aerial Barrage To Defeat Clark

Regional Eleven To Play Hillside

By DONAD LEWIS
The Dayton Regional High School Bulldogs of Springfield defeated Arthur Johnson Regional of Clark last Saturday in a hard-fought battle that saw much passing by two teams with powerful forward lines.

In winning, 32-25, the Dayton team captured the Union County Regional District championship. The week before, Dayton had beaten the other school in the district, Berkeley Heights. The Bulldogs will play host to Hillside on Saturday.

Dayton Coach Herb Palmer said after the game that it had gone pretty much as expected. After Dayton's success the previous week in stopping the opposing team's ball carriers, he knew Clark would take to the air.

The visitors had one of the strongest passers in the county in quarterback Frank Spaziani. Therefore Palmer had instructed his defensive backs to prevent the long "bomb" that would score a touchdown.

Although there were some tense moments, this plan was successful in the end. Palmer expects to use it again in this week's home game against Hillside. Palmer said that Hillside does not have a passer as good as Clark's Spaziani, but he looks for the same kind of game.

Saturday's game opened with an unexpected on-sides kickoff by Clark. Dayton tackle Dan Etzold fell on the ball on the Dayton 45-yard-line. Three running plays brought the ball down to the Clark 35.

Then a 20-yard pass play from quarterback Bob Ries to halfback Clark Yarus set the first score of the game. Dayton fullback Mike Adickman carried the ball over on a hard drive for the tally. The pass attempt for the extra-point failed.

Later in the first quarter, Clark took the ball on the Dayton 20-yard-line after a punt was dropped. A score was prevented by a hard rush on quarterback Spaziani which caused three incomplete passes in a row.

own 40 after a Clark fumble was recovered by Joe Jupa for Springfield. Despite 30 yards lost in two personal foul violations, Dayton held on to the ball and marched 60 yards in 16 plays for another score.

Given fine protection, Ries completed five of six passes during the drive. Halfback Yarus carried the ball five times for a total of 23 yards, finally taking it over the goal line on an off-tackle run. Ernie Erskine's conversion attempt failed.

Only three plays after they had kicked off to Clark, the Bulldogs again had the ball on its 40 yard line. Hard rushing by forwards Rich Basta and Tom Tonkin had forced Clark to punt.

Third Tally
Six running plays, including a 20 yard sweep around the end by halfback Dan Ginter, brought the ball to the Clark five. Ries carried the ball over center for another score. This time Erskine's kick was good and Dayton led, 19-0.

Clark received the kick from Dayton on its own 28 and moved it to Dayton's 45 with quick passes. On a second down play, defensive back Ginter intercepted the ball back into Clark territory, but the play was called back on a personal foul against Dayton.

On the next play, Clark's Spaziani lofted the ball past defenders and into the arms of his receiver, who galloped easily for a touchdown. A pass was good for the extra point, and the half ended with Clark trailing, 19-7.

Clark's deep man ran back Dayton's second half kickoff to mid-field. The Dayton linemen, who had been playing both ways through the first half, looked tired and permitted Clark to run the ball around the ends for big gain.

Clark Touchdown
Finally halfback Bydros broke free and entered the Dayton end zone for another Clark score. The run for the point after touchdown was stopped at the line of scrimmage.

There was further scoring in the third period. As the fourth began, Dayton held the ball on its own 20 yard line after stopping a long Clark march. With fourth down and about a yard to go, Dayton failed to make the needed yardage, and the visitors took over. They immediately scored six points on a 20-yard pass play, followed by an incomplete extra point pass.

Unbeaten Soccer Team To Face Gov. Livingston

Although Coach John Palfi feels his men are playing below par, the soccer team of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School has remained undefeated through the third week of its 1964 season.

Last Wednesday, the team defeated Linden High School by the score of 3-2 on a muddy field that included part of a wet and slippery Linden baseball diamond. Dayton right wing Mark Muller scored twice and center Fred Reu put in his fourth goal of the season in the victory.

Soccer coach Palfi, though happy at the team's third victory, was somewhat disappointed at the performance. He felt that his athletes were not controlling the ball as they should, nor working together.

He had some praise for the forward line, especially Reu's forward strike. Reu, who said that the backs were not playing the game he thought they could.

The Pingry game took place yesterday, but the outcome was not known at press time. Results will appear in next week's paper, along with results of tomorrow's home game with Gov. Livingston Regional and next Tuesday's game here with Union High School.

Last Wednesday's game at Linden opened poorly for Dayton. The combination of poor playing conditions and the memory of a previous year's game against Linden in which five Dayton athletes were injured contributed to an early score for Linden.

Linden goalie after a pass by Ken Max.

The second and third quarters saw some improved play by the Dayton players. The team booted the ball past the Linden goalie after a pass by Ken Max.

score. Before the half had ended, Dayton led, 2-1, on center Fred Reu's goal. The Linden goalie permitted himself to be lured out of the goal mouth, and Reu had a clear shot.

The third quarter was completely dominated by Dayton. A fine save by Dayton goalie Keith Neigel knocked away the only Linden threat. The Dayton line dribbled and passed the ball up and down the field with little opposition. Finally Mark Muller scored chipping at the open Linden goal. The goalie had again been faked from his position.

The fourth quarter, however, was a complete reversal. Dayton, over-confident with its 3-1 lead, permitted Linden to keep up a constant scoring threat. Finally, after several missed kicks by the Dayton backs, a Linden forward sliced the ball into the goal past Neigel. The game ended, though, before any more scoring could be done, and Dayton won 3-2.
