Koonz Expected To Assume Office As New Mayor

Response Buoy New Charter Unit

A "tremendous response" was reported this week by the group of five men who last week announced plans to petition for a change in Springfield's municipal charter from the present Township Committee system, probably to some sort of mayor-council set-up.

Pope Paul Names Local Clergyman Domestic Prelate

The Rev. Francis X. Coyle, pastor of St. James Roman Catholic Church in Springfield, was formally invested in robes of his new office as a domestic prelate by Archbishop Thomas A. Baimonte at ceremonies Sunday at Sacred Heart Cathedral, Newark.

Msgr. Coyle was one of 36 priests in the Newark Archdiocese on whom papal honors were conferred by Pope Paul VI. He was one of 23 to be named domestic prelates with the title of right reverend Monsignor. He was appointed pastor of St. James on April 13, 1963. Msgr. Coyle was named provincial judge of the Archdiocese Ecclesiastical Tribunal last May 29.

Ordained a priest in St. Patrick's pro-Cathedral, Newark, in 1937, Msgr. Coyle spent 26 years in the diocese.

WHITE CHRISTMASSES may be rare events in Springfield now, but in years gone by winter was really winter. Above, Postmaster George McDonald surveys snow drifts following a blizzard in 1899. The old Post Office was on the north side of Morris ave., next to the present Stry and Sup Restaurant. It was later used as a home by the Steve Woodruff family and was torn down in 1936. ### Cookies, Milk For Santa Claus Reindeer Can Have Snack Of Carrots

The old tradition of writing letters to Santa Claus has strong adherents among the junior set, and so has the custom of Christmas hospitality, according to a sampling of letters directed to the North Pole but intercepted at the Springfield Post Office.

"I will leave cookies and milk for you," wrote Ellen in a typical message, "and carrots for your reindeer." Her shopping list, incidentally, was headed by a "reindeer set," and Santa Claus will have to figure out for himself whether it comes with needles or mallets.

Another invitation came from Kathy Ann, who urged Santa, "When you stop at our house, please don't forget to drink your milk and eat your cookies which we will leave for you."

IN AT LEAST one instance, family-desires varied according to the writer. Jo-Anne told Santa-Claus, "My mommy wants two good little girls. My daddy wants a new baby girl."

Civil-Defense Unit Has 1st Teletype In Radio Network

A new "first" for Springfield took place on Dec. 13, when the initial radio-teletype transmission was broadcast from Union County Civil Defense Headquarters in Elizabeth to the Springfield Civil Defense Control Center.

This new system is the first in the state to use radio-teletype for civil defense, and Springfield is the first community in Union County to have this system operative.

The procurement of this system is due to the county civil defense deputy coordinator, Dr. Jack Karel, whose action in adopting this system put Union County civil defense ahead in the state.

John Vitale, radio communications officer for the county, has worked to bring the system to Springfield.

Registration of young men and women, aged 14 to 20, for part-time jobs will continue next Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 29 and 30, from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Youth Employment Service office at Springfield Town Hall.

Applicants must register in person, the YES group stated. The group also seeks responses from employers who want part-time help. Details are available at the YES office, which can be reached through the Town Hall telephone number, DR 6-5800.

Governing Body Will Meet Jan. 1

Springfield's new mayor will be Township Committee member William Koonz, it was learned authoritatively this week. He will take office at the Committee's annual organization meeting at Town Hall at noon on New Year's Day.

WILLIAM KOONZ

Koonz was elected over Democrat Alex Blackman for a three-year term a year ago. Now only 32, he is the youngest member of the Republican administration forces. His title as youngest Committeeman has been taken, however, by Jay Bloom, Democrat who defeated Hardgrove in the November elections. Bloom is 4 1/2 months younger.

The mayoralty under Springfield's Township Committee is primarily an honorary title. The five Committeemen have equal authority, and each year they elect one of their number to serve as Township Committee chairman. He is popularly known as the mayor.

In contrast to some neighboring communities, such as Union, where F. Edward Bierstumpfel has held the office for 23 years, Springfield under the current Republican regime has rotated the mayoralty.

Philip Del Vecchio and Arthur M. Falkin each served in this capacity for a year before Hardgrove. In 1965, both Del Vecchio and Falkin will operate under the leadership of Koonz.

At preliminary meetings last week, tentative assignments for the coming year were discussed for the Township Committee members. With the possibility of changes still existing, the 1965 (Continued on Page 3) NEW MAYOR

EARLY BIRDS GET STORIES PRINTED IN DEC. 31 ISSUE

News contributors to the Leader face a special problem in submitting material for the Dec. 31 issue because the normal Friday deadline falls on Christmas Day. In addition, mail service will be sharply curtailed on Saturday, Dec. 26. Since the publication schedule has been moved forward for the New Year's issue, it will be impossible to use any items received on Monday.

Items mailed on Thursday, Dec. 24, or on Christmas Day, may not be received in time. The Leader strongly advises that material be brought directly to the Leader office at 16 Center st., Springfield, or to the offices of Suburban Publishing Corp., 1291 Stuyvesant ave., Union.

Executive Of Regional Schools Leaves On Trip To Egypt, India

Pauline Keith, coordinator of the social studies department of the Union County Regional High School District No. One, left for a six-week tour of Egypt, India and several other countries Saturday as a member of the second India Seminar. Miss Keith received a fellowship from New York University to become a member of this seminar. It is financed by a grant from the U. S. Department of State. It is hoped that the resulting curricula will be "interdisciplinary in nature and introduce study of the total fabric of society for better understanding." The group is starting with six days in Egypt. There they will have a conference with the Ministry of Education and visit Cairo, Luxor and Thebes. On Saturday, the group will arrive in Bombay to begin a month of conferences, teaching and visiting. Miss Keith will be scheduled for Surat, where the group will have a conference with the Ministry of Education and visit Ahmedabad, Bombay, Madras, Madurai and Kanchipuram. Miss Keith will take two days to visit Literacy Village in Lucknow to renew acquaintances with the founder of the village, Dr. Welthy Honsinger, who was a childhood acquaintance of Miss Keith's mother. Dr. Fisher's program has trained more than 6,000 teachers in 12 years so that they could teach the illiterate Indian villagers to read and write. Miss Keith stated that the visit to the village of this 84-year old educator will be one of the highlights of her trip.

GOP Teenagers Urged To Follow The Wright Path

Henry S. Wright of 53 Colfax rd., Springfield, has announced that he will help form and organize a new Teenage Republican group in the township. In concert with most other Union County Junior GOP units, the present Springfield group is not affiliated with the State Federation of Young Republicans. Wright has been an all-out supporter of the views of Sen. Barry Goldwater, national standard-bearer in the recent Presidential elections. Local Republican teenagers, led by Craig Matfice, Springfield TAR president, and Paul Penard, former local and county president, have declined to follow the Wright path on various occasions. In another announcement, Wright disclosed that he was an "insurgent" nominee for the board of directors of the Thomas G. Dunn Association of Union County. He added that he is the only Springfield member of the association. It supports the aspirations of Thomas G. Dunn, newly elected mayor of Elizabethtown, a Union County freeholder and a leader of the Democratic Party within the county. The directors will be elected Jan. 11.

Points Cost License

Harry M. Lewis, 42, of 106 Pitt St., Springfield, has forfeited his driver's license for one month, effective Nov. 28, under the New Jersey Point System, the Division of Motor Vehicles announced this week.

Library Receives Several Presents From Its Patrons

The Springfield Public Library has received a number of varied gifts from interested patrons in the month. The League of Women Voters presented the library with copy of "Choosing the President," published by its national organization. This is a very succinct account of the process of electing a president. The PTA executive board of Gaudin School sent the library a year's subscription to the PTA Bulletin and the PTA national magazine. These subscriptions are being kept in the library alongside the special shelf of books set aside for PTA use. A beautiful copper tea kettle that hung in an open fireplace 100 years ago was given to the library by Mrs. Anne Deuca of Troy Village. It will sit on the library's historic mantelpiece, filled with ivy and poinsettias. Mrs. Louis Wirsching of Rye, N. Y., the former Janice Hastings, a long-time resident of Springfield has for the past 20 years renewed her interest in the library by giving an appropriate book to the children's department. She attended Springfield schools and, while here, was a personal friend of Phoebe Briggs, former librarian, who is now assisting in the children's department. Mrs. Wirsching's selection this year was the beloved "Poems of Childhood" by Eugene Field.

CHURCH SERVICES TO HONOR YOUTH OF CONGREGATION

George E. Rupp, Yale Divinity School student and a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield, will deliver the sermon at the Springfield Church for both Sunday Recognition services on Sunday, at 9:30 and 11 a. m. In addition to the ministers, assisting in the services will be college students Linda Kuehn, Bruce Ledig, Joan Mentzer and Arthur Buchner. Rupp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Rupp of Outlook dr., Mountainside. He and his wife, the former Nancy Farrar of Berkeley Heights, are now residents of New Haven. Rupp is an alumnus of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, where he was a top student scholastically as well as being a member of the varsity wrestling team. In June, 1964, he was graduated from Princeton University as a member of Phi Beta Kappa and was one of three students to receive a Danforth Fellowship to continue his work at Yale Divinity School. His junior year in college was spent abroad as an exchange student at the University of Munich in Germany. At the present time, Rupp is a student under care of the Elizabeth Presbytery studying for a ministerial career. His two brothers, Peter and Herbert, are graduate students at Chicago University and Syracuse University, respectively.

Holy Cross Pastor In Holiday Message

The following annual Christmas message was issued by the Rev. Lester P. Messerschmidt, pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 630 Mountain ave., Springfield: "The tree and the lights, the gifts and the good wishes — all these may put some sparkle into an otherwise drab existence. But by no means is Christmas dependent upon them. They do no more than brush life's surface. Christmas, properly understood, goes down to basic and eternal realities. "Christmas commemorates an amazing act of divine condescension. God becomes a man. He who is timeless enters time, and He who is spirit takes on flesh and blood. The mind of man is incapable of comprehending the miracle that the manger of Bethlehem reveals. "It remains what Saint Paul called it, a great mystery of godliness. But a glorious truth! It is holy night, long, long ago, there was born unto us in Bethlehem of Judea a Savior which is Christ the Lord. "Grip these good things of great joy and Christmas not only will mean something, it will mean everything!" and faith, stepping in where reason stops, rejoices in the salvation which God has so prepared before the face of all people, a

New Mayor

(Continued from page 1) bating order appears to be as follows: Kozak will have authority for buildings and grounds and for recreation; Falkin will be in charge of township finances; Robert G. Planer will supervise activities of the police and fire departments; and in charge of administration, the activities of the township clerk's office and the legal department; Dei Vecchio will have authority for public works. Another major decision facing the new Township Committee by New Year's Day will be the selection of appointees to several municipal boards and committees. Terms of office are expiring for Robert C. Miller, chairman of the Zoning Board of Adjustment, and another board member, Raymond Schramm. Also reaching the end of their terms are Francis Keane, on the Planning Board, and Mrs. Patricia Helmbuch, on the Welfare Board. All four, Miller, Schramm, Keane and Mrs. Helmbuch, are expected to be reappointed. Three vacancies remain to be filled for lay positions on the Board of Health, which was reorganized under a recent ordinance. In addition, members of the industrial and swimming pool committee serve from year to year. Membership of these two bodies is expected to remain substantially the same.

(Continued from page 1) of some advance preparation, each girl asked for a record player, some records and exactly three books. An unselfish attitude was displayed by a young lady named Norell. After a brief list which included two dolls and "a pocketbook," she requested "something for the rest of the family." IF ANYONE is looking for a prom queen for about 1975, it could very well be Ann Marie. She asked for a beauty salon, a model's suitcase, a hair glamor set, a "pair of play high heels around a large size" and a "play mink stole around a 6X." The warmest greeting came from David after he presented a very brief list featuring a bazooka and a mortar. "I have been a good boy," David wrote. "I wish you luck on Christmas Day. But most of all I love you and your elves." Virtually all the letters showed clearly the power of the television commercial, with item after item listed by brand name. Spelling was better than might have been anticipated, the result of obvious parental proofreading. The most practical system of the season came from John and his little brother, Jeffery. Each presented a list of 24 neatly numbered gift suggestions. At the top of each page was the same request, "Pick out 10 toys."

LEADER PROFILE

Who will be sleeping the most soundly when Santa Claus flies by? No one can be sure, but there's a postman in Springfield who doesn't mind ringing twice — or even three times, as long as he gets the mail delivered on time.

Weather doesn't faze him — he loves the great outdoors. Snow or sleet neither discourages nor depresses him; the colder the better — as he strolls along his route with his two-part cart (one part for letter-mail, the other for magazines).

Such a man should be well qualified to serve as president of the Springfield letter carriers.

In fact, such a man is president of the Springfield letter carriers. He is Dave Macdonald, a 31-year-old agile, friendly postal worker, who is quick to smile and ever ready with answers to all sorts of questions.

Macdonald, who has been with the Springfield Post Office for about eight and a half years, was elected secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Letter Carriers, Branch No. 3795, five years ago. The following year he was elected secretary. (They changed the secretary-treasurer office to two offices), and he served in that capacity for two years. The last two years, he has been president.

AS PRESIDENT, Macdonald indicated, "my main local job is to represent men in a case of grievance or discipline. You see, because we work for the Federal Government, we can't strike; we just negotiate. We try to get along as best we can. When President Kennedy was in office, he signed an order for us to negotiate for contracts. Before that, we just had verbal agreements.

"Kennedy's way, of course, is better because each side knows better how to abide by contracts. My main job, actually, is handling contracts, grievances, disciplinary action; I assist the state and national organizations in their legislative work. Occasionally, the state group will help us solve our problems if we can't do it alone.

"Take a salary drive, for example. There are lots of things that have to be attended to. First and foremost is legislation in Washington to get passage for our bills.

"WE'VE HAD TWO salary raises in the past three years. Now that really took some doing. We had to get the majority on our side. And naturally, there was some controversy about the national raises. ('You know,' he grinned, 'a lot of people in town think we're paid by the town. I'd like to make it very clear that we're paid by the Federal government.)

"And when a Springfield postman gets a raise, so does a postman in California or New York or a small town out west. It's a national raise.

"The problem there was that perhaps the men from the South or from Maine can get along on lower salaries, because in small towns the cost of living isn't so very high. A fairly well-provided city wardrobe isn't as necessary to them as it would be to people from New York or California — who would be pretty hard-pressed on low salaries.

"Another one of my main jobs," Macdonald continued, "is to keep working conditions in line with certain factors that have to be changed — as rules have to change. We also get a great deal of help from our local Ladies' Auxiliary.

"Years ago, we had to buy our own uniform. Today, we are provided by the government with money to purchase the uniform. But few people may know," he said, "that it took 10 years of work by our national organization to get this bill passed."

Macdonald, by this time, had married carriers' goals for the future include trying to find a way to get credit for some of the sick-leave hours accumulated by the Macdonald, who was born in Cranford.

"IF YOU HAVE 1,000 hours, for example, that haven't been used by the time you retire, you should be able to get at least some credit for them upon retirement. Right now, if a postman has hours coming to him — after he retires, he loses them."

Macdonald explained that the letter was authored in Cranford schools.

"When I was graduated from Cranford High School in 1951, I wasn't sure what I wanted to do. I went to work for an insurance office, and in 1953, I went into the U.S. Army.

"I got my discharge in 1955; I came out a sergeant. Then I went back to the insurance company, but enrolled in Union Junior College, night sessions, majoring in electrical engineering."

Macdonald, who was born in Cranford, Joan Mueller of Springfield. They settled in a house at 66 Wentz ave.

"My job at the insurance company did not pay well at all, so I took a test for a letter carrier job at the post office, and passed it. The year I started here — that is — in the old post office on Morris ave., I had the intention of not staying too long.

DAYTON SPANISH CLUB MEMBERS FEATURE FIESTA

El Circulo Espanol, the Spanish Club of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, scheduled its monthly meeting for Tuesday, Dec. 22, in the school hall. Theme of the meeting was a Christmas Fiesta, according to Marie Capatosta, faculty advisor.

Christmas carols were sung in Spanish, and Robert Freda, a professional musician and member of the language department, entertained the 75 students with Spanish folk songs, on the guitar.

Highlight of the fiesta was breaking of the "pinata," a paper mache container filled with candy, gifts and coins. The pinata is broken by a student who is blindfolded and must swing a stick through the air to locate the bag. Ken Max, Sandy Neubarth and Susan Blackman were in charge of the arrangements for the party.

THANKS TO CADETTE

An incident occurred recently which so epitomized the true meaning of scouting that I felt more people should be aware of it than the few involved.

My husband had been confined in Overlook Hospital for several weeks. Nina Urban, a Cadette Scout in the troop I lead, volunteered to baby sit for me on Saturday afternoon, so that I could visit my husband in the hospital. My daughter Jewel, who is 10, had done a great deal to help me by baby sitting with her brothers, ages 7½, 5 and 2½,

Letter To The Editor

and so I thought Nina would be a wonderful help for her. When I went to pick up Nina, another Cadette in my troop, Joanne Latta, was with her. I dropped them off at my house and went on to the hospital. When I came home several hours later, these girls had cleaned up my house as well as cared excellently for my children.

I remarked how I wished I had time to paint my bedroom before my husband was discharged from the hospital, and Nina and Joanne immediately volunteered to do it for me.

To make a long story short, these girls and Diane Morgese and Lisa Mags returned Sunday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons and helped me decorate my bedroom. Not only did they do this, but Joanne cooked a delicious lunch with homemade macaroni. Diane fixed dinner and cleaned the kitchen Sunday night.

They changed diapers, cleaned the rest of the house and helped me in every way possible. Lisa and Joanne baby sat on Thursday when I brought my husband home from the hospital.

They volunteered without any thought of reward or payment, simply as a gesture of helpfulness and friendship. They worked willingly and enthusiastically. I feel sincerely that these girls have absorbed the true meaning behind the sometimes merely recited objectives of Girl Scouting: a Girl Scout's duty is to be useful and to help others.

They have learned the wonderful feeling of satisfaction when you give of yourself, and to help someone else when help is needed.

I owe them a debt of gratitude and would like the community to know of their wonderful deed.

UPLIFTED

The front page Leader article of Dec. 17 headlined, "Group Seeks New Town Charter," gave me a lift!

That such respected leaders in the community as Tom Argyris, Vince Bonadies, Ed Rall, Ivy Rosen, and Russ Sibole have taken the time and effort to study the Optional Municipal Charter Law of 1950 is a healthy sign for Springfield. They are doing their homework!

Whether the "strong" mayor-council plan is best for Springfield, which is "big business" with a total budget of about $3.8 million, brings up other questions.

Which of the six alternates is best? How much extra would it cost annually to hold separate, non-partisan elections on the second Tuesday in May? How large should the council be, five, seven or nine members? Should the terms be staggered? And how much would a new charter study cost?

Springfield taxpayers, present at the time, should remember the attempt to have council-manager (alternate E, one of

Message For Christmas

By Rev. Donald C. Weber, Associate Minister
First Presbyterian Church Of Springfield

We are accustomed to hearing a great deal of talk about the need for getting back to a Christian observance of Christmas. The commercialization of Christmas in advertising and merchandising, the incessant repetition of carols in stores and over the radio and television, the gaudy tinsel and lights in towns and cities, all are indicative of our observance of this holy day.

In contrast to this shrill clamor and neon brightness of our celebration are the words of Phillips Brooks' carol: "How silently, how silently, The wondrous gift is given! So God imparts to human hearts The blessings of His heaven. No ear may hear His coming, But in this world of sin, Where meek souls will receive Him still, The dear Christ enters in."

Christmas is the yearly remembrance of God's mighty act of the Incarnation. Surely anyone might expect that if the great Creator of heaven and earth were to appear to His people He would come in might and majesty. There would be angels and trumpets, great choruses resounding from the heavens. Surely He would appear in a temple, or a palace, even the market place of a great city, where He would be seen of men.

But He did not do this. The keynote of His coming was simplicity. Quietly, in the night, in a stable in an unimportant little town, God appeared among His people, bringing forth in human form His love as a gift to all mankind. This same note of simplicity continues through the rest of the story of Jesus of Nazareth, His boyhood, His teaching and preaching, even to the day of His death and resurrection.

The world has seldom understood or appreciated simplicity, and this seems to be especially true of the world of the 20th Century. Bigger and better and louder and brighter seems to be the aim of almost everything we do. Christmas offers to us an unparalleled occasion, once each year, to bring ourselves back to the simplicity of eternal truths. As individuals, we may not be able to effect great changes in our society, but at least we can be witnesses to the true meaning and message of this great day.

As the great day draws near, we shall have to discipline ourselves lest we be caught up in the frantic whirl of shopping, decorating and party-giving. In our homes and families we have begun preparations for Christmas in our Advent traditions. The prophecies of Isaiah, Micah and Malachi are being read again for a better understanding of the first Christmas. The ancient custom of Advent wreaths and candles continues to provide effective devotional centers for family worship and prayer.

This year, may our Advent traditions extend into our observance of Christmas Day. Simple, thoughtful gifts and a tree laden with traditional family decorations can be the center of a happy home celebration. Attendance at church services Christmas Eve or Christmas Day — the whole family together — can enable us to take our places with the shepherds of old and worship at the manger. A visit to an elderly or sick or lonely friend — what could be a more fitting inclusion in our celebration of the day. God's love was revealed in the person of His Son, Jesus Christ.

It is only as we understand the real significance of Christmas, and seek to extend and share this love, that we will be able to celebrate the holy day. Let us make opportunities on this day to be silent, to give thanks for the utter simplicity of God's revelation of Himself. Let us pray that our hearts and souls may be purged of self-seeking and pride, and may become meek enough that the dear Christ might enter in.

Town Charter

"The most important thing is to find people who are capable and willing to do a good job. It all boils down to the quality of the people, rather than the form of government."

Although the new group pressing for a charter change has stressed both its non-partisan nature and the non-partisan government it seeks, complexion of the committee is primarily Democratic.

Bonadies is a former Democratic mayor; Sibole, a former Democratic Township Committeeman; and Argyris, a Democratic appointee as municipal magistrate even though he is a Republican. Both Rall and Rosen are political independents.

Early Copy, Please

Proponents of the change have outlined plans for an intensive campaign to gain public support. They will organize on the voting district level, and possibly on the block level, and they will schedule a least one "public forum" to discuss their proposals.

Early Copy, Please

Because mail services will be curtailed over the Christmas weekend, it is suggested that all copy for next week's early edition be brought to our office. The usual Friday deadline will apply.

system to perfection, and Dr. Karel and Vitale-transmitted the first messages over the air. Vitale's message read, "God is Springfield."

That plan called for partisan elections in November with staggered terms (four-year). I believe some form of mayor-council would be an improvement reflecting our growth. One thing is certain... Springfield is no longer a "small municipality."

I would sign a petition to that effect if only to get it on the ballot for a township referendum so that the people could decide which option they prefer. The people of Springfield deserve to have a "real" choice.

CUP DRY STARCH NOT DRY WATER

A story which appeared in last week's paper entitled "Do It Yourself" ornaments," contained a confusing line. It said: "Combine one cup of dry cool water in a mixing bowl." The line should have read: "Combine one cup of dry starch and one-fourth cup cool water in a mixing bowl." We agree that it would be a good trick to come up with a cup of dry cool water.

Former Reservists Can Fill Flying Slots

To fill a continuing need for pilots and navigators, the Air Force has authorized acceptance of former Navy and Marine Corps Reservists for flying slots in the Air Force Reserve, it was announced this week by Brigadier General Royal Hatch, commander of the First Air Force Reserve Region.

To be considered for appointment, men must not have held a permanent Reserve appointment in a grade higher than a Navy lieutenant or Marine Corps captain and must have been on flying status when their appointments were terminated. An applicant must agree to participate in a Ready Reserve air crew position for at least four years. His age may exceed the normal maximum by the number of years of prior commissioned service.

FROM THE GREENHOUSE TO YOUR HOUSE—The poinsettia plants decorating so many homes today came to life last July as softwood cuttings (center) from "mother" plants in a florist's greenhouse. The transfer (left) of small potted plants to larger shallow pots or "pans," each holding many blooms, was made in early fall. The result (right) is a cheerful array of Christmas color.

Christmas Plant Introduced By Poinsett Was First United States Ambassador To Mexico

You may not find the name of Joel Robert Poinsett in your history book, but reminders of what he did for Christmas are all around. Regardless of his contributions to diplomacy as this country's first ambassador to Mexico, Poinsett did more than he knew when, 140 years ago, he returned from that post with a collection of flamboyant jungle plants that have given him a sort of immortality in the flower world.

For one thing, he added a popular item to the stock in trade of florists. The wholesale volume of poinsettia business now amounts to as much as a half-million dollars a year in New Jersey and about $2 million in the nation.

But today's poinsettia is a far better plant than the one Ambassador Poinsett proudly distributed among his friends in 1825. The poinsettia has had to be educated to northern ways, and much of the credit for its upbringing has been won right here in the Garden State.

At the beginning of this century, cuttings from descendants of Poinsett's plants were pretty well distributed around this country, but the showy bracts, commonly called flowers, were cut from the plants and used in arrangements.

Among New Jersey poinsettia growers in the early 20's was the late Lizzie K. Entemann of Jersey City. During the growing season of 1923 her trained eye came upon a plant with such distinct characteristics that she set it apart and called it Oak Leaf.

Poinsettia historians say that all the red varieties offered for sale today are descendants of Mrs. Entemann's Oak Leaf. Another significant impact on the poinsettia world took place a few years later, not far away, in Wood-Ridge, Bergen County. The late Knud Christensen found among his Oak Leaf plants a poinsettia of a notably different growth habit and able to retain its red color longer than others.

He released his plant to the Ecke family which has a wide-spreading poinsettia farm near Hollywood, Calif. The Christensen selection was named Ruth Ecke, of which the most distinguished descendant is the variety called Barbara Ecke Supreme. Most poinsettias you see today are of this variety.

But this was not Mr. Christensen's greatest achievement. He was the first to grow poinsettia plants that he could sell to his customers for enjoyment at Christmas. His method, now a standard operation, was to start plants in midsummer from softwood cuttings taken from a mother plant.

Considering the roundabout routine and the many steps involved in making the poinsettia feel at home outside the tropics, it's a wonder any New Jersey or other northern florist bothers to make the attempt.

First he receives from California in April what looks like a bundle of dry sticks with roots. These are stock plants—the lower parts of large plants with all but a few roots removed. They grow in open fields, probably around Hollywood.

A stock plant miraculously comes to life when planted, bringing Christmas to the greenhouse in late summer. Such a plant is allowed to grow as big as it will, and a florist may take as many as 100 softwood cuttings from it.

From every cutting the florist hopes to grow a plant ready to bloom at Christmas. And, thanks to the art and skill residing in a professional green thumb, and the application of the results of research, he usually does.

From Sept. 20 to Oct. 5, precisely, this grower and others like him set their times to turn on greenhouse lights for an hour in the middle of every night. This prevents premature formation of flower buds. In doing this, Garden State growers follow the recommendation of the Rutgers College of Agriculture, based on the research of Dr. O. Wesley Davidson.

Among Dr. Davidson's contribution to poinsettia culture is a timetable of light control. From Oct. 3 on, a florist who wants to have his poinsettias in bloom for Christmas must switch on the lights to lengthen the day. Otherwise, his plants would come into bloom around Dec. 10 and be gone by Christmas.

So exact is the recommended light and dark cycle that a florist who follows the schedule—and other research-based principles—can practically guarantee to bring loral candidate at the College of Agriculture, who once regulated traffic around the Rutgers' ends as a member of the varsity football team.

If he could see the modern descendants of his lucky find, Ambassador Poinsett might well be amazed at what has happened to it as the result of team efforts, research and hard work, with more than a dash of the florist's art and intuition.

Working with growers in testing the growth regulators is Alfred W. Mittleher, a doctor of New York, according to Arthur Garson, director of Newark Prep.

The program is open to both high school and college students and will also cover basic mathematics and problem solving and English grammar and composition. The courses will be directed by Jack Younman and Allan Saek.

Because mail services will be curtailed over the Christmas weekend, it is suggested that all copy for next week's early edition be brought to our office. The usual Friday deadline will apply.

New Tax Benefits For The Elderly

Taxpayers 65 years of age and over will find additional tax savings in several provisions of the 1964 Revenue Act, the Internal Revenue Service points out. These benefits are in addition to the rate reductions that will reduce the tax bills of all taxpayers.
For the elderly, tax savings from the new law are estimated to be over $500 million a year. Of these benefits, particularly to taxpayers 65 years of age or older are these provisions in the 1964 tax law:
1. The minimum standard deduction.
2. Removal of the 1 percent floor on medicine and drug expenses.
3. Tax free treatment in certain cases for gains from the sale of residence.
4. An election increasing the computation base on retirement income credit for certain taxpayers.

Time Table For Local Budgets
Despite distractions of year-end holiday season football games, family dinners and glitter of pre-Christmas displays, budget makers already are engaged in the task of preparing 1965 spending plans in many of New Jersey's 21 counties, 587 municipalities and 579 school districts.
Spending of these 1167 units of government last year totaled $1,583,033,894.
Serving notice of the official appearance of 1965 budgets shortly after the beginning of the new year is the annual "Local Budget Timetable" published by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.
This reports the schedules set forth by law for initial approval, publication, public hearing and final adoption must be by February 1. In the case of school districts governed by elected school boards, final approval is by the citizens.
The official procedure can begin as early as January 1 with budget introduction by the governing bodies in the counties and municipalities and somewhat later in the school districts. Final adoption must be by February 25 by boards of county free holders and by March 20 by municipal governing bodies. Dependent upon the type of district, school budgets are scheduled for adoption on various dates in late February.
While New Jersey's local budget law specifies uniform requirements for all counties and municipalities, the State's Optional Municipal Charter Law of 1950 spells out several additional steps for the 30 municipalities currently operating under its mayor-council and council-manager plans. These include public hearings by the mayor, manager or business administrator during November on spending requests of department heads for the annual budget year and submission of a recommended budget to the council by January 15. After this the general budget law applies.

Ask Amy
BY AMY ADAMS
Dear Amy: Always enjoy reading your column and now I would appreciate receiving your advice as to what would be the correct thing to do under the following circumstances:
I work in a large office which is divided into departments. In our department there is a department manager and three of us girls. It has been the custom at Christmas time to contribute toward a gift for our department manager. This year, however, a young man (younger than I) was employed by the Home Office to be an assistant to our boss, i.e., manager-trainee. (The company doesn't believe in promoting women.)
The question is: Should we girls purchase a separate gift for him, or should we ask him if he would like to join us girls in buying a gift for our boss?
Wanda
Dear Wanda: Consider you have done in the past. Let your plans be known but don't ask the boss' assistant to join you. If he wants in he'll ask you. He may have plans of his own.
If it would be thoughtful, however, if you girls so desire, to remember the young man with a token gift.

State Police Officer To Retire In January

Colonel D. R. Capello, State Police Superintendent, this week announced his retirement, effective January 1, 1965, after more than twenty-six years of service.
The sixth member of the Division to have served as Superintendent, he was nominated for the post by Governor Richard J. Hughes to replace Colonel Joseph D. Butler at the close of 1962.
In making the announcement Colonel Capello said: "I step down, secure in the knowledge that the New Jersey State Police has become a recognized leader in the field of professional law enforcement throughout the world."

Dear Amy: In our town, the daughter of a prominent family became pregnant while in college, and the family made the man responsible marry her. She only lived with him a short time, then came home, and her family started divorce proceedings.
In an effort to find their daughter another husband, the parents, with the aid of other looked up a quiet, old teenage boyfriend. The father and mother took their pregnant daughter and the said young man on fishing trips, fine restaurants and even furnished him with a car to drive their daughter around.
I am accused of wanting to stir up trouble because I object to the conduct of the parents (and all who participated) in the downfall of this decent, respectable, young man in his teens. This young man doesn't smoke, nor drink, and was chosen with three other young boys as outstanding school students.
The irresponsibility of these parents created the daughter. Now with their money, they are awaying and buying a good boy who will eventually be dragged down to their level—a boy who was chosen the most likely to succeed and who probably would have if this family didn't get their claws into him.
I am tired of people condemning all of our youth while the real villains are the parents.
A Person Who Looks On In Horror
Dear Person: I, too, look on in horror. But unless either the daughter or the young man in question is personally related to you, if would be best to keep out of it. Since he is a minor, I'm curious to know where the boy's parents are while he is being taken... for a ride!

Dear Amy: I am a young girl and go to a private school. There are five girls in my classroom—and they go around in two groups. Two in each group—and I'm left out. The only chance I have to get in the group is when someone is gone. I try to be what but I just don't make it. Would you please give me some advice?

Dear Lonely: Gladly. Invent yourself an older brother (if you don't already have one) who has four boyfriends!

EVENTUALLY IT ENDS

Hangover: Everyone Claiming A Cure

In Ancient China if you saw a man popping a diamond or ruby into his mouth, you could assume that he had been "blasted" the night before. A jewel under the tongue was supposed to bring instant relief from a hangover!

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

LIFE WITH BABY CAN BE A JOY
By Mary K. Macdonald, M. N., Professional Baby Counselor
Listening to baby gurgle, seeing the miracle of that first smile, observing baby's response to the marvels of a strange new world—all of these can be sources of wonder and excitement for the young mother.

Too often, however, the new mother in an unfamiliar role, finds she has a fisting baby on her hands. The unnecessary fears and tensions that result are enough to spoil any enjoyment she might otherwise get from her offspring.

Experienced mothers know that a baby who is physically comfortable and receives a full measure of love and tenderness, will be a happy baby. By observing a few simple rules designed to promote baby's physical comfort and provide the sense of security baby needs, the new and inexperienced mother can spare herself many hours of anxiety.

1. Sleep is important to the new infant. The mattress should be firm, bedding smooth and well tucked in, coverings light and loose to allow free movement.

2. Before baby can move about in his bed by himself, change his position frequently.

3. Keep the temperature in baby's room as even as possible, between 70-75 degrees.

4. Baby's room should be well ventilated but never drafty.

5. Diapers should be soft, absorbent and non-irritating. Even carefully laundered diapers may irritate baby's delicate skin unless all soap has been removed by repeated rinsings. Diaper services guard against this by an elaborate washing process and by pre-soaking the diaper with special antiseptics to help lessen the chances of diaper rash.

6. Make sure baby is always in a clean dry diaper. Cleanse the skin carefully with each change.

7. Don't overdress baby. Indoors or out.

8. Try not to take baby outdoors when the weather is windy or damp. In winter, dress baby warmly, covering his hands and ears but not his face.

9. Let your baby feel that everything you do for him is a pleasure to you — never an unpleasant chore.

10. Play with baby when he's fully awake, after his nap or before his bath. Talk to him, fondle him, rock him in your arms. During the first few weeks, you can't spoil him with too-much love.

Since people everywhere have for centuries been enthusiastically celebrating birthdays, weddings, and holidays, there has also been a never-ending search for an efficient hangover remedy. The makers of Bayer Aspirin have uncovered some astounding "cures".

The Assyrians swore by swallow's beak ground with myrrh. The Greeks tried working on the outer man: flagellation, massage, steam baths and binding the temples. A favorite during the Middle Ages was bitter almonds and raw eels smothered in wine, a paralyzing thought for breakfast!

As we moved into modern times, the nutritionists provided such suggestions as yeast and yogurt, aimed at replacing the body's supply of Vitamin B. Some brave people down a glass of sauerkraut juice, while a Japanese doctor prescribes a mixture of brown sugar and soy sauce.

The Germans and Austrians have for centuries been treating their morning-after troubles with a sour herring (called a "rolltop"), or black coffee with juice of half a lemon — tastes terrible, but they swear it works!

And what is the cause of this misery? According to the Montefiore Headache Clinic in New York City, the pain of hangover results when dehydration shrinks the blood vessels surrounding the brain.

Can any preventive measures be taken? Yes, to a certain extent, though moderation is still the best preventive. Drinking milk, eating a steak will help, due to the slow absorption of protein into the system. Drinking a small amount of olive oil can also serve somewhat to retard the absorption of the alcohol.

However, if the "damage" has been done, here are a few tips that may ease the misery. Aspirin taken before going to bed may help, and lukewarm prolonged baths have been found to improve the flow of blood and cause relaxation. Black coffee may make you feel a little better, but don't try a little more of the "hair of the dog". You may temporarily feel better, but the additional alcohol will soon make you feel even worse.

The problem was neatly summed up by a physician who had the following sign in his office: "A hangover is like a cold winter — eventually it comes to an end..."

LEADER PROFILE

"BUT I LIKED" the outdoor work so much that I'm still here after all these years. Guess I'll be staying on," he mused.

Macdonald mentioned that recently he took another test to determine whether or not he was eligible for a supervisor's job.

"I passed that one, too," he said, "and now I'm on the eligibility list — a kind of long waiting list. But I don't mind, because a supervisor has an indoor job."

In any event, Macdonald, with four years of night college completed and four more to go "was getting in a rut. My days were spent working for the post office and my nights either in school or studying at home.

"The house was getting neglected, my family hardly saw me. I finally made my decision. It was more important to me to be with my family, to actually watch my kids grow up, than it was to devote so much of my life to school.

"Since I liked my job so much — I was acclimated to it by now, I decided my career would be in the postal field. And I have much more time for my family." (His family consists of Mrs. Macdonald, Beverly, now 8, Diane, 6, and Edward, 1).

remembers this prior treatment and generally backs away when he sees you coming."

Macdonald said he usually works an eight-hour day, but the holiday rush may cause him to put in as much as nine to 12 hours a day, or 78 hours a week.

"THE OVERTIME," he smiled, "comes in handy for presents for the wife and kids. Getting up at four in the morning for a two-week period once a year must be accepted as part of the job. It has to be done. If you look at it optimistically. Although, I guess it's just as hard on the family as it is on the letter carrier."

What are Macdonald's future plans?

"The post office," he answered readily. "I'm retiring however, from my presidency of the Springfield letter carriers. We've already had elections, and a new man starts in 1965. I prefer it that way. It gives me more time to enjoy the great outdoors."

Changes In Dividend Taxation

Low and middle income taxpayers who own corporate stock will obtain tax savings from changes made in the treatment of dividend income by the Revenue Act of 1964.

The amount of dividend income excluded from taxable income has been doubled. Under the new law individuals may receive the first $100 in dividends tax free. Previously only the first $50 was not subject to tax.

If a husband and wife file a joint return and both have dividend income, each may exclude up to $100 of dividends received but one may not use any portion of the $100 exclusion not used by the other. For example, if the husband received $200 in dividends and the wife $50, only $150 may be excluded on their joint return.

Reside doubling the dividend exclusion amount, the 1964 law eliminated the dividend credit provision. This credit, which had been in effect since 1944 and is eliminated entirely for 1965 and thereafter.

The dividend credit provision allows taxpayers to take a credit of a percentage of their dividend income against their Federal income tax. For most stockholders, the changes in the dividend exclusion and dividend credit provisions will result in a tax saving. Taxpayers with large stock holdings may pay more tax on their dividend income by these changes but this increase should be more than offset by the general rate reductions provided by the 1964 Revenue Act.

Also, even very busy fathers can take the child on a "special" outing once in a while. Children grow and change so fast that a father will not regret the time spent to develop a "quality relationship."

The same index don't apply to all fathers and all children. It sounds fine to tell a father to teach a son carpentry—skills, but some fathers may not have these skills to teach. Others may be impatient, expecting a much higher degree of perfection than the child can attain. It's a good idea for the father to follow along when the child is doing something in which father is really interested. The youngster will ask questions and learn. Many fathers

Raymond Gaskill III will be two years old this month—thanks to Marie Cornew and Harriet Jones.

Nearly two years ago when he was eleven weeks old, Raymond suddenly stopped breathing. Frantically his mother picked up the phone, dialed "Operator," and cried that she needed an ambulance. She then hung up before the operator, Mrs. Marie Cornew could ask for her name and address. The operator had not released the answering cord on the switchboard and called back immediately. She got the name and address—then began telling the mother how to give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the child. The operator then signaled Mrs. Harriet Jones, her supervisor, who called an ambulance. During this frantic time Mrs. Cornew kept repeating instructions on mouth-to-mouth breathing to Raymond's mother. Thanks to this first-aid advice, Mrs. Gaskill succeeded in reviving her son before the arrival of the ambulance, which took him to a hospital. The family doctor said later that the operator's help had saved Raymond's life.

Emergency calls like this are handled by many operators. They are especially trained to give fast, efficient service—and help in a crisis. We know that good phone service depends on more than good equipment. It depends on good people. It's our duty to make certain you are served by both.

TAPED CHRISTMAS MUSIC FOR THERESA

Forego Cards To Aid Gargalowitz Fund

Theresa Gargalowitz remains in a coma at Overlook Hospital, Summit for the ninth straight month this Christmas, and many of her friends and neighbors in Union and Springfield have foregone their customary card and gift exchanges to contribute to the fund that has been established to assist her family with its hospital and medical expenses. She was critically hurt in a car accident in Springfield last April.

Phil Portnoy, who heads the fund drive, said that $200 was added to the fund last week, bringing its total to $8,895. Letters are sent with many of the contributions. Portnoy said, by people who want the Gargalowitz family to know that they are "praying for Theresa."

He said that Theresa's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gar-galowitz, have asked him to express their thanks to all the people who have sent financial help and prayers this Christmas and in the anxious months that have passed.

The Union Democratic Club contributed $80, raised at its annual Christmas party in August of an exchange of gifts. The faculty of Connecticut Farms School gave $50 instead of its usual exchange of greeting-cards. Through the same arrangement residents of Galloping Hill gave $8, the accounting department of Engelhard Industries on Rt. 22 gave $21, and the Suburban Publishing Corp. staff gave $42.

Meanwhile, Rev. Richard H. Griffith, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Union, has taped Theresa's favorite Christmas records and the candlelight choir service, performed by the children's and adult choirs, at his own church. The music will be played in Theresa's hospital room during the Christmas season. The Christmas music was the wish of Theresa's mother, who believes the girl will hear it. Although in a coma, tears come to Theresa's eyes, particularly when names of loved ones are mentioned.

The 20-year-old girl was critically injured when her car skidded on unused trolley tracks in Morris ave., Springfield, and crashed into a bus last April. She was driving to Fairleigh Dickinson University, where she is a student.

Contributions to the fund may be sent to: The Theresa Gargalowitz Fund, Box 4, Union, N. J.

Cranberry Dishes Remain Favorites To Give Color To Christmas Tables

"Mother Nature has again bestowed her blessings on the nation's cranberry bogs, creating a bountiful harvest of the tart berries which are so easily transformed into colorful, flavor-packed products everyone enjoys. So, it is no surprise that the United States Department of Agriculture has designated cranberries as a headliner for the United States' Plantiful Foods list this week. Mae W. Armstrong, County Senior Home Economist, said:

"Serving cranberries in a wide variety of ways may be one good way of keeping your family happy. The early settlers established a precedent for this. They so enjoyed the combination that these brilliant red berries made to their meager diet that they thought King Charles the Second would like them, too. They sent him ten barrels of cranberries, and he was so pleased with the gift or not, we do not know. But we are certain his kitchen staff did not know of nearly all the wonderfully good dishes which we make with cranberries today," she said.

Frosted cranberries, cranberry relish, cranberry salad, muffins, nut bread, coffee cake, jelly punch and chiffon pie are just a few. Two cranberry dessert suggestions are especially appropriate at the season:

Steamed Cranberry Pudding
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour, sifted
1 teaspoon double acting baking powder
1/2 cup molasses

Sauce:
1 cup sugar
1 cup butter, melted

6 ounce can (2/3 cup) evaporated milk, chilled
Combine relish, marshmallows, and sugar in a heavy saucepan. Cover and heat slowly, until marshmallows melt. Stir occasionally. Cool. ## Almonds Steal Spotlight

"With 'Almond Egg Nog Cake' as the star attraction, a holiday party is sure to be a culinary hit."

Assuring this dessert's smash success are an almond-and-egg-nog filling between layers of fluffy angel food cake and a complete frosting of whipped cream sprinkled with almond slivers.

Almonds, whether sliced, dried, sliced or whole, easily steal the spotlight on many festive occasions. So crisp, flavorful and attractive, these versatile nuts give "star quality" in roles ranging from the gamut from A to Z—appetizers to zabaglione.

Almond Egg Nog Cake
1 1/2 cup butter or margarine
3 cups sifted powdered sugar
3 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
Dash nutmeg
1/3 cup rum, brandy or Sherry
Ice (tasted) sliced almonds
1 (10-inch) angel food cake
1 pint whipping cream
—Cream butter until light; add sugar gradually and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in egg yolks one at a time. Add vanilla and nutmeg. Gradually beat in rum. Fold in 2/3 cup almonds. Cut cake into 4 horizontal layers and spread creamed mixture between each cup. Whip cream until stiff; sweeten to taste if desired. Frost top and sides of cake with cream. Sprinkle top with remaining almonds. Chill before serving. Makes 12 servings.

For And About Teenagers

Seventh Grader Wants To Go Steady

I am a seventh grade student and my boyfriend and I are very much in love. I was going steady with him five days and we broke up. His parents know he loves me and I love him, but my parents think I am too young for him. What should I do?

OUR REPLY: You are much too young to be concerned about being in love. At this stage of life, you have more important things to be concerned with. You must devote time and energy to your schoolwork. You just can't say that it isn't important because you plan to be a housewife and not a business tycoon. You need an education to get by in this world—and you need a good education to be a good parent.

You are approaching the age when dating will become a part of your activities. If you are wise, you will see that it is only a part of your activities and does not occupy your mind and your attention at all other times. Your parents, of course, will have something to say about how often you date and the boys that you date. Just remember that their primary interest is your welfare. They want to see that you get the best possible start in life and that you are prepared when you go forth to meet the world as an adult.

Science Topics

FUTURE MINING exploration on the moon may have caught the public's fancy, but it is the ocean that will yield the most profitable operations, say scientists who attended an International Mineral Processing Congress meeting in New York. They predict that such minerals as manganese and cobalt eventually will be mined from the sea by processing plants located 50-200 feet under water. The plants would operate by sucking up ocean bottom mud containing metallic nodules for treatment, and dropping the reject to the ocean floor.

SCIENTIFIC occupations are highly honored in the U. S., says the University of Chicago. Only Supreme Court justices are held in higher esteem, according to a recent poll. Physicians, nuclear physicists, scientists and government scientists, in that order, are next in line on peoples' prestige list (after the Supreme Court men).

DUTCH ELM DISEASE can be arrested with a new agent called nitroallyl-benzylthio-alkylamine, according to the American Chemical Society. The ACS says it's too early to tell whether the new compound can cure the disease but says it has stopped the progress of the infection when tested on sick trees.

WRAPPING PAPER may be used to tenderize meat in the future. A paper manufacturer reports encouraging results from tests of an enzyme-treated paper activated by the moisture in the meat. Cuts could be uniformly tenderized during the trip home from the butcher shop.

Children's Play Set At Paper Mill

Three shows will be given for the children at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn during Christmas week. Each will be at 11 a.m.

The first show, on Monday, Dec. 28, will be the Dolphin Productions "Aladdin". The second show, presented by Kay Rockefeller's "Traveling Playhouse," will be "Rumpelstiltskin" on Wednesday, Dec. 30. The third show, on Saturday, Jan. 2, will be "The Magic Toyshop", presented by the Irene Fokine Ballet for Children. "The Magic Toyshop" is based on the ballet "Coppelia".

WEEDER'S DIGEST

BY YOUR RUTGERS GARDEN REPORTER HARMLESS MOULDS
Don't panic if you see mold growing on house plant pots or even on the soil.
Dr. Spencer H. Davis, extension plant disease specialist at Rutgers, offers some reassuring words about molds — or fungi if that's what you want to call them.
A fungus or mold can sometimes be responsible for plant disease but only special ones can harm a plant. The ones you see on composition or clay pots and on flats of seedlings and soil are harmless.
These non-harmful molds come in green, yellow and white, and they grow in organic matter in the soil.

Composition containers and wooden flats are organic material, too. In some potting soils, you may find mold as well as plants to grow.
BE GLAD THEY'RE THERE
Some gardeners like to use ground corn peat moss or other plant material for mulched seed beds or cold frames. These, too, support mold growth.
In short, if you find a moldy surface, be happy. This just shows that you have organic matter in the soil, and that's good.
If you're a microbiologist, you may even discover the source of something like penicillin or streptomycin, says Dr. Davis. These famous drugs — the latter discovered at Rutgers — both come from molds such as you find on your flower pot.
DROOPY PLANT
Mrs. F. E. wonders what's happening to her Dieffenbachia plant. It grows well but then the leaves droop and hang down. She has been fertilizing it once a month and suspects she may be watering it too much.

Malcolm R. Harrison, extension specialist in floriculture at Rutgers, suggests no fertilizer for a while and keeping the soil on the dry side.
Then, too, the plant may be pot-bound, and in need of re-potting. February and March usually is the repotting season.

WHITE BUGS
Mrs. C. H. M. is annoyed by white flying bugs around her rose of Sharon.
Probably white fly, says Mr. Harrison. He recommends a thorough spraying with DDT in a formula intended for plants. Plant leaves don't like the oily kind intended for use against household insects.
DDT in a push-button can is handy to use. Be sure to read the label.

Trying Again On Land Sale Bill

N. J. Assemblyman Nicholas St. John LaCorte will try again to secure passage of a bill that would permit municipalities to seal land, without a public auction, to persons displaced by highway project. The bill, which had been passed by the Assembly, is of particular interest to the Union residents threatened with displacement by Route 78.

According to State Senator Nelson F. Stamler of Union, the measure failed to receive enough support to be voted out of a committee last Thursday. Stamler said other legislators had objected to the lack of a clause spelling out which governmental agencies can condemn land for public projects.

Stamler indicated that LaCorte will re-draft the measure to meet the objections.

The land sales measure was initially proposed by Mayor F. Edward Biertumpfel of Union as a means of aiding families displaced by Rt. 78.

Schletter Elected By Tenney Firm

The election of Martin S. Schletter as a vice president of Tenney Engineering Inc., Union, has been announced by Monroe Seligman, president.

Schletter, who has been with Tenney Engineering since 1952, will continue in charge of sales and engineering of the environmental division. Earlier this year, he became product manager of the environmental division and assumed responsibility of project development and engineering.

A graduate of George Washington University, Schletter is past chairman of the Mid-Atlantic chapter of the Institute of Environmental Sciences and a member of the American Ordnance Association.

Stamler Seeks Ruling On Apportionment Plan

Union County Senator Nelson F. Stamler of Union Township has announced plans to ask the State Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of his plan to resolve New Jersey's legislative reapportionment dilemma.

Stamler's proposal involves an interim unicameral legislature for a two-year period and a 1966 constitutional convention for the drafting of a permanent reapportionment system.

The Union County lawmakers suggested that all 60 members of the General Assembly and 10 of the 21 state senators run two-year terms next November. The assembly members would normally be seeking two-year terms next year, but the members of the upper house would ordinarily be running for four-year terms.

Stamler said the proposed constitutional convention should also take under consideration the problems of land use, zoning and taxes.

Although the Senate, under Stamler's plan, would exercise no legislative function during the caretaker period, it could perform certain non-legislative duties now prescribed by the State Constitution. These would include passing on appointments by the governor.

Last Thursday, the Senate rescinded the weighted voting system it had adopted in an attempt to comply with the United States Supreme Court's "one person, one vote" decision last year. The state senate's action was expected, since the New Jersey Supreme Court had ruled out the weighted voting plan.

Regional Basketball Team Faces Action On Road

Ivy Leaguers Launch Season On Regional High School Court

The Ivy League was the only one of the four boys basketball leagues in Springfield which opened its regular season last Saturday afternoon.

As the Ivy League launched its schedule at Jonathan Dayton High School, six uniformed teams were ready for competition. The six clubs assumed the following names: Yale, Columbia, Princeton, Harvard, Cornell and Dartmouth.

Yale
Yale is coached by Ronnie Mitralisky, who has been associated with many youth teams over the past few years. Gary Haydu was elected as captain of the Yale squad. Other players on the team include Tommy Carroll, Frankie Bucci, Lee Kronert, Denis Dreher, Joseph Frier, Jimmy Kosnett, David Pierson, Larry Kur and Mike Atkin.

Columbia
Columbia, the 1964 defending Ivy League champion, is coached this season by Bill Savarin, a veteran of many years coaching in the youth basketball leagues. Bill has coached now in all three stages of Springfield Basketball. Teddy O'Connell is the captain of the Columbia team. The following boys will make up the remainder of the team: Bobby Jankiewicz, Mike Pomp, Bruce Colandrea, Hal Cooperman, Kelli Singer, Ray Haines, Frank Fiorelli, Michael Davis, Jimmy Savarin and John Giantsas.

Princeton
Princeton is the third team in the Ivy League. Jack Williams, up from the State League coaching ranks last season, will be at the helm. Williams is also active in youth work in baseball and football. Captain of the Princeton team this season will be big Ralph Lissano. Ralph played

Harvard
Harvard is another team in line for a season of victories this year. Phil Kurnos is back again for another year in the Ivy League. Phil coached in this league for the past two seasons. Kurnos is also a very active member of the Youth Football coaching staff. Dennis Lester, veteran of last season, will captain the Harvard squad. Other players representing Harvard this season are: Lee Rothfeld, Kenny Kurnos, Lee Meisel, David May, Alan Dennis, Bruce Gerstein, Ricky Emanuel, Steve Jupa and Mitch Brown.

Cornell
Cornell will enter league competition this season under the direction of Coach Phil Meisel. Meisel, a veteran of the State League coaching ranks, will be heading an Ivy-League team for the first time this season. Joel Schwartz, another veteran of last season's play, will captain this squad. Other members of the Cornell team include: Danny D'Andrea, Jimmy Robinson, Bob Fielding, Gary Mayer, Lou Vasilow, Anthony Cicely, Alan Freeman, Charles Braun and Steve Alexy.

The final team in the 1965 Ivy League make-up is Dartmouth, coached by league veteran Jack Weiner, shows signs of strength this season. Weiner has been long associated with youth basketball in Springfield and has produced many a winning team in the past. A veteran ball-handler and rebounder, David Margulies, will captain the Dartmouth squad this year. Other players on the team include: Burt Kravitz, Alan Friskus, Keith Brownlie, Warren Danzinger, Jerry Velza, Ian Starr, Jeff Ganter, David Cohen and talented newcomer Fred Gold.

The Ivy League director, Scott Donington, and the various coaches have attempted to distribute the talent so as to make the caliber of play as even as possible.

They stated, close games are expected and excitement is anticipated. Fun, however, will be had by all the boys who participate in this basketball program.

"Any resident is invited to take in an afternoon of Ivy League basketball, Springfield style, and Saturday afternoon between 1 and 3:30 p.m. at the Regional High School gymnasium.

Early Copy, Please
Because mail services will be curtailed over the Christmas weekend, it is suggested that all copy for next week's early edition be brought to our office. The usual Friday deadline will apply.

Rockets Win Two To Lead League By Four Games

The Rockets defeated the Bombers in a two-game match last week to increase their lead to a full four games in the Recreation Department league. Mike Rubinfeld, with a 200 series, and Ricky Williams, who rolled a 268 series, paced the Rockets to victory. Evan Wasserman, with a 258 series, was the high scorer for the Bombers.

The Bullets moved into second place in league standings by dividing a pair of games with the Hurricanes. Mark Hollander was the leading Bullets scorer with a 273 series. Bob Shindler rolled a 254 series for the Bullets and Phil Norulak also rolled well for the Bullets. Howie Levine and Robert Gerardo were high scorers for the Hurricanes and played a major part in preventing the Bullets from sweeping both games in league games bowled last Friday. Dave Epstein, with a 279 series, paced the Raiders, while Rich Squitieri, who rolled a 262 series, was high man for the Atoms.

After being sole occupants of the league cellar for three weeks, the Jets dropped the Pirates to the bottom rung by sweeping two games in last Friday's matches. Danny Weiss, with a 299 series, paced the Jets to their two victories. Jeff Slinger and Steve Harris, who came in as a substitute, also rolled high games for the winners; Todd Herman, with a 239 series, and Billy Schwab, who rolled a 233 series, were the high men for the Pirates.

Conte's Wins 3 To Add To Lead

The Conte Delicatessen team swept the Colantone Slice bowlers to increase its lead in the Springfield Sports League over Milton Liquors and Ehrhardt Television teams to three games. The Milton and Ehrhardt bowlers won three from Carroll Slipping to go into a tie for the second slot.

Bulldogs To Play Roselle Athletes, Berkeley Heights

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team will take to the road in the coming week, playing at Roselle Monday evening and at Gov. Livingston in Berkeley Heights next Wednesday evening.

The Bulldogs dropped a close game, 61-59, last Friday night at Caldwell for their third straight defeat. Results of the games against Westfield Monday and the alumni Wednesday will appear next week.

Last Friday night in Caldwell High School's new and modern gymnasium, the Dayton dribblers led most of the way, but lost in the last period, 61-59, on some close play. Dayton took an early lead of 4-0 on Mike Kretzer's jump shot and a driving lay-up by Alan Greenberg. The Dayton defense fell into a tight zone, and yielded only nine points to the Caldwell Chiefs in the first period.

Through the second period, Caldwell pressed hard. The Bulldogs seemed to have trouble moving the ball upcourt, but once in the offensive zone, they were much more accurate than in previous games. At halftime Dayton led, 28-26.

Big 3rd Period
Both Caldwell and Dayton scored more than 20 points in the third period. Caldwell's came on long set and jump shots by Bob McQuilkin and Bob Hawkey. Unable to penetrate Dayton's defense, the Chiefs scored from the outside.

Dayton's scoring was led by Mike Kretzer and Keith Neigel, the two most experienced dribblers on the team. Kretzer and Kerry Tompkins were fighters under the backboards for Dayton.

As the final period opened, the score stood tied at 49-49. On a shot by McQuilkin and Hawkey, the Chiefs pulled to a 54-49 lead, which they held until the closing minutes.

With 2:54 left to play, a jumper from the corner tied the score at 55-55. The two teams traded shots, and finally, with 28 seconds remaining, Caldwell scored 61-59 on a lay-up by Al Koelen. The clock ground to a halt before Dayton could score again.

DAYTON GRIDMEN RANKED IN TOP 10 IN STATE RATINGS

Springfield's Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team was ranked as the 10th best team in the state last week by the state Intercollegiate Athletic Association. The Bulldogs, with a record of 6-2-1 and a rating of 524 points, were placed behind Montclair, Phillipsburg, Passaic, Plainfield, Hackensack, Westfield, Seton Hall, Teaneck and Middletown.

Least the underclassmen on the squad forget, Herb Palmer, head coach of the Dayton gridmen, issued a reminder that only 250 days of leave remain until practice starts next Sept. 1.

Bluebirds Retain Number One Spot In League Games

The Bowling Bluebirds made 14 victories in a row last week to increase their lead in the Recreation Department girls' league to five full games. The team, which hasn't lost a game since the second week of the season, is composed of Barbara Owens, Jewel Brands, Jeanine Spangler and Lisa Brown.

In increasing their lead to five games, the Bluebirds rolled over the Lucky Charms in two games. High team scorer was Lisa Brown. Top bowler for the Charms was Susan Silverstein.

The Four Strikes moved into a tie for second place last week by defeating the Bowlettles in two matches. Nancy Morlino, with a high series of 253, paced the strikers to victory. High scorer for the Bowlettles was Jeanne Palmeri.

In other league games, the Wildcats downed the Knockouts in two games. Michelle Widow, with a 205 series, and Debbie Kiebor, who rolled a 188 series, led the way for the Wildcats. Sheri Goldman paced the Knockouts for the afternoon.

Nancy Morlino's fine bowling of the last few weeks has boosted her into first place in the individual averages for the first time this season. Nancy is now rolling a 189 average for the season.

2 Varsities Face Alumni Twin Bill

By JOHN SWEDISH
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School athletic department has scheduled its second annual alumni doubleheader at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 23, in the boys gym with the varsity wrestling and basketball teams facing their graduate counterparts in two events. Herb Palmer, athletic director conducting the program, said that a "sock dance" featuring recordings would be held after the contests.

Faculty reports indicate that the varsity wrestling team and alumni grapplers might be in for some "double trouble" as Dayton's wrestling coaches, Jerry Sachsel and Jerry Virella, both graduates of the Springfield school, have indicated a willingness to perform on the mats against suitable opponents from either the varsity or alumni — if the need should arise to fill the 118-pound and heavy-weight classes, respectively. It should be worth the price of admission (75 cents) to see teacher work against pupil.

Coach Sachsel announced that Richard Basta, 156-pound senior, has been elected team captain for the 1964-65 season. Richie is a three-letter man in wrestling as well as earning letters in baseball and football.

Varsity Wrestlers

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

CANNED AND PREPARED SOUPS A BOON TO BUSY HOSTESSES

"Take It Easy" at any time out particularly during the pre-holiday rush. Nothing is truer than the old saying, "Haste Makes Waste." Don't put yourself in difficulties by tackling more than you can accomplish. This applies especially to food preparation. Plan menus ahead; be sure you use tested and tried recipes and arrange to have as little last minute preparation as possible. Use partially-prepared and convenience foods wherever possible. Consider the labor-saving value of canned soups in a wide variety of prepared dishes. First of all, lean on prepared soups for quick and easy but nutritional lunches and suppers. Soup, a salad and a cookie is an easy but good lunch. Soup, a sandwich and fruit dessert is another busy-day midday meal.

But broth is a good between meal snack, too. A quick pick-up that is wholesome, not only relaxes, but contributes to well being. Canned soup prepared with milk instead of water also provides a vehicle to help provide the daily requirement for milk shy members of the family.

When a recipe calls for meat stock, rely on canned consommé. And get in the habit of using canned cream soups instead of making white sauce. The extra flavor of celery or mushroom soup works magic on vegetables as well as in casserole dishes. Cheese soup is especially good, as well as easy, for serving on vegetables instead of a made-from-scratch sauce. Thin prepared soup with one-quarter cup of water or milk for sauce consistency.

In casseroles of poultry, left over meat or vegetables, creamed chicken, mushroom or cream of vegetable soup are good choices respectively. Condensed soups can play a part in making jellied salads, too. Chicken rice soup gives extra flavor to a clear jellied chicken salad. Clear tomato soup gives preparation time in making tomato aspic salad. And jellied consommé by itself is a refreshing dish, especially in warm weather.

Oriental Tuna Bake

1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 1/2 cup water
1 3-ounce can (2 cups) chow mein noodles
1 1/2 or 1 3/4-ounce can (1 cup) tuna fish
1 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup salted toasted cashews
1/4 cup chopped onion
Dash pepper
Combine soup and water. Add 1 cup chow mein noodles, the tuna, celery, cashews, onion, and pepper; toss lightly. Place in ungreased 10 x 6 x 1 1/2 inch baking dish. Sprinkle remaining noodles over top. Bake in 325 degree F. oven 30 minutes or till thoroughly heated. Garnish with drained canned mushroom-orange sections. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Cranberry Bell Salad

Chicken Layers
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 1/2 cup cold water
2 cans (1 1/2 cups) condensed cream of chicken soup
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 cup cooked or canned chicken or turkey, chopped
1/4 cup chopped blanched almonds or pecans, chopped
Soften gelatin in water. Heat 1/2 can soup; add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Stir dissolved gelatin into remaining soup, cool. Fold in mayonnaise, parsley, chopped chicken or turkey and almonds. Pour salad into a deep 1 1/2 qt. mold which has been rinsed with cold water; chill until firm.
Cranberry Layers
1 pound can jellied cranberry sauce
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup chopped celery
1 small can jellied cranberry sauce
Crush pound can cranberry sauce with fork. Soften gelatin in cold water; set in pan of boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Mix gelatin and cranberry sauce; stir in chopped celery. Pour on top of firm chicken layer; continue to chill until cranberry layer is firm. Unmold; serve on greens. Slice small can cranberry sauce in 1/4-inch slices. Cut a cranberry ball from each slice and use to decorate salad mold. Makes six to eight servings.

CURES FOR CANCER

There are two known ways of saving lives from cancer—surgery and radiation—says the American Cancer Society. No drug has as yet been found that cures the disease.

STATION BREAKS

BY MILT HAMMER

OFF THE RECORD (best of the new platters)—"I Remember Tommy," by Frank Sinatra. In this one Frank turns back the clock 20 years to the days when he was vocalizing with the great Tommy Dorsey Orchestra; and the gals were swooning to such songs like "There Are Such Things," "Imagination," "Daybreak," "Without A Song," "I'll Be Seeing You," "Take Me," "It's Always You," "Bella Dote And Moonbeam," "East of the Sun (And West of the Moon)," "I Started All Over Again," "The One I Love Belongs To Somebody Else," and the Dorsey theme, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You." A "must" for the collection. (REPRISE-R 1083).

songs. To obtain the unusual sound, he recorded each song three times and sometimes four, singing in harmony with himself, recording one vocal part over another. What, in effect, is heard is a small choir. (CAPITOL-T 2166)

Two for the teenagers on the PHILIPS label. "All The Song Hits Of The 4 Seasons," instrumentally performed by the Bob Crewe Orchestra. "Big Girls Don't Cry," "Rag Doll" and 10 more are included in this LP package (PHM 200-150). "Discotheque Dance Party," by The Danes. There's "Go Pa Pa Do," "The Kangaroo" and 10 others that the young 'uns are digging and dancing to. (PHM 200-159)

Aliens Required To List Address During January

Dominick F. Rinaldi of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service stated this week that the period within which aliens must report their addresses is almost at hand. January has been set for the address reporting period. All aliens in the United States, with few exceptions, must report their addresses during that period.

Aliens not required to make this report are diplomats, those accredited to certain international organizations and those who have entered temporarily as agricultural laborers. In addition, aliens who are not in the United States during January must report their addresses to the service within 10 days after their return.

Rinaldi said that forms with which to make the report will be available to all post offices and offices of the service during January.

Willful failure to comply may lead to serious consequences, Rinaldi said.

Early Copy, Please
