With a series of four home break-ins reported this week in the south-west section of town, Springfield police issued a warning to residents to be on guard against attempted entries at their homes.

Police advised residents to report to them immediately information on any suspicious person loitering in their neighborhoods. A spokesman pointed out that the police have patrol cars cruising through town 24 hours a day and said that a car can respond to a call within a matter of moments.

Police also advised residents to lock their doors when they leave home — even if they are

GROUP IS FLYING TO MONTGOMERY TO BE MARCHERS

Several members of Springfield's Temple Shalom are flying to Montgomery, Ala. with Rabbi Israel Dresner this morning to join in the last stage of the civil rights march from Selma. They include Mrs. Philip Yellin, Yale Manoff, Harold Bruff, Mrs. Jean Abramowitz and Donald Lewis. Student Council President at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

The Springfield marchers are part of a group from northern New Jersey which has chartered two planes for the round trip, leaving from Newark Airport at 8:30 this morning. They plan to return late tonight.

The group from Springfield volunteered to go on the trip South in response to an appeal by Rabbi Dresner at the Sabbath service last Friday evening. Congregants at Shalom have donated money which will be used either to aid in meeting expenses for the trip or as a contribution to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Slippery Streets Play Their Parts In 3 Car Crashes

Snow-covered roadways this past Saturday contributed to three auto accidents in Springfield, including one in which a Summit motorist was injured.

According to Springfield police, the first accident Saturday occurred at 10:55 a.m. when a car driven by Anthony Majewski, 65, of 256 Baltusrol way, Springfield, collided with one driven by Velus K. Metz, 54, of Summit on snow-covered Mountain ave. Police said the Majewski auto was entering Mountain ave. from Wabeno ave. and the Metz auto was traveling on Mountain ave. when the accident occurred.

The second accident of the day took place on Morris ave. when a car driven by Mike Bapio, 21, of Summit, was cut off by an unidentified auto, jumped the curb in front of 80 Morris ave. and crashed into a utility pole, authorities reported.

Papio was taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, by the Springfield First Aid Squad, and he was treated for minor injuries suffered in the crash, police said.

According to police, the final accident of the day occurred when a car driven by Constance R. Corcione, 19, of Kenilworth, skidded on snow-covered Spunpike rd. and crashed into a utility pole. Only minor damage was done to the car and the police reported.

Town PTAs, St. James Moms To Offer Talk By Psychologist

Dr. Bertram Vogel, clinical psychologist, will be the guest speaker at a community-wide public meeting to be held on Monday at 8:15 p.m. at the Edward Walton School. His topic will be "The Modern Child and His Environment."

This event is under the joint sponsorship of all of the Springfield Parent-Teacher Association and St. James Mothers Guild. It is being presented as a service to the general public in conjunction with the parent and family life education programs of the various schools.

Mrs. Morris Resberg, the general chairman, serves with her are Mrs. Stanley Krueger of James Catholic school, Mrs. Howard Levitt of Raymond Chisholm School, Mrs. Bernard Kurkof and Mrs. Philip Menel.

The town meeting was held at the town hall on Friday night. Mayor Robert W. Wolfe of Newark, for Helmut Pasch of the Springfield, Braunhaus, and Malcolm Bohrod of Springfield, for Socrates Hero of Hero's Liquor Store. Both the Braunhaus and the liquor store are across Morris ave. from the site for the projected new tavern.

Swimming Pool

Committee member Arthur M. Falkin introduced an ordinance to expend $15,000 for capital improvements at the municipal swimming pool. The funds would be used to expand the snack bar, add new handball and volleyball courts and improve the inside of the main building.

The committee approved the hiring of Raymond Rieger of 51 Caldwell pl. as a probationary fireman. He was top man in a recent competitive examination for the post.

Koonz reported that the members of the governing body met last week with officials of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss continuing plans for a United Fund drive in Springfield. He said that the Chamber was studying the problem intensively in an effort to reduce the number of campaigns which vie for the residents' dollars.

In the public discussion period Malcolm Bohrod asked about the many hazardous conditions which he said existed on the sidewalks in the Morris ave. business area. The State Highway Department has been widening and repaving the roadway there. Koonz assured him that the township is acting on the matter, and that the state will alleviate or eliminate all hazards before the work is completed.

John Grifo of 33 Mountain ave. cited the "Incidence of Peeping Toms" in the township's garden apartments, and particularly in Ger. Greene Village, where he lives. Committee member Robert G. Planer and Jay B. Bloom stressed the importance of seating police at once if anyone notices anything suspicious.

Thirteen workers, led by Mrs. R. W. Nye, worked a total of 86 hours feeding volunteers and blood donors. They included Mrs. William Casgrove, Mrs. Alex Ferguson, Mrs. Samuel A. Cill, Mrs. Lestlie B. Joyner, Mrs. Harman Kravis, Mrs. Norbert Kuffner, Mrs. Frederick Puntigam, Mrs. W. S. Quinlan, Mrs. M. D. Renniger, Nancy Smith and Marilyn Brownie.

Mrs. Nathan Lizerman was in charge of 11 volunteer-registered nurses, many of whom gave up a day's work to aid in the blood bank.

They included Mrs. Ormond W. Meeker, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. P. J. Pardiucci, Mrs. Vincent Polcarpio, Mrs. Harry Astley, Mrs. Charles Dawziger, Mrs. Irvington Epstein, Mrs. David Feldman, Patricia Green and Mrs. Elliot Kaplan.

Three Red Cross motor corps drivers were on duty at the blood bank for a total of 12 hours. They were David Weinstein, the chairman, Mrs. Theodore Heyman and Mrs. Hal Rose.

Offering Scheduled For Poor Overseas

A special offering will be received Sunday in both services in the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield for the United Appeal for relief, rehabilitation and inter-church aid. The church's young people will share in the giving by returning banks distributed for the fund.

The offering, known as "one great hour of sharing," has been given to emergencies growing out of war, earthquake, floods, refugee and migration settlement. Ministry to service personnel is also provided in part from this fund.

Sunday's offering will be the 17th annual observance of "one great hour of sharing." The plan is participated in by major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations. This year, the churches seek to collect more than $15 million.

Tuning Fork Set For New Voices In Choral Group

The Springfield Choral Society, an adult singing group under the auspices of the Springfield Recreation Department, is looking for new members. The choral society is a member of township's official family of civic organizations. The group, however, meets primarily for its own particular enjoyment.

This is the same organization which entertained last summer in the New Jersey Pavilion at the New York World's Fair. The group will also perform at regular township functions as well as private civic affairs. The group meets every Monday evening at the Raymond Chisholm School. The meeting hours are from 7 to 10.

The only thing required for membership in this organization is the interest in there a place if the interest is there a place will be found among the voices of the group, it is stressed.

Anyone who may be interested in participating with this group should contact the Choral Society's secretary, Mrs. Betty Kunize, at DR 6-1824.

Masterwork Unit Will Give Choral For Rotary Fund

The Rotary Club of Springfield will hold its fifth annual fund raising event on Saturday evening, May 8, with a performance by the Masterwork Chorus of Morristown at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, one of the country's outstanding choral groups.

Jay Bloom is general chairman of arrangements, assisted by John Maris.

Numbering between 150 and 200 members, the chorus will feature Bach's "Magnificat," Vivaldi's "Gloria" and contemporary Israeli works, first performed in this country by the Masterwork Chorus early this month at the New York Philharmonic Hall.

David Randolph, regular conductor of the Masterwork Chorus and Orchestra, also serves as music director for the Masterwork Foundation. His award-winning radio program, "Music For the Connoisseur" is heard every Sunday afternoon at 5 on station WNYC.

Members of the chorus come from more than 70 communities in northern New Jersey, some traveling as many as 50 miles one way to attend rehearsals in Morristown. The group was formed in 1955 with a nucleus of 28 members and has appeared in concerts at Carnegie Hall, Philadelphia's Hall, Cooper Union and the Mosque Theatre, Newark, with the New Jersey Symphony and Philadelphia orchestras.

Proceeds of the concert will be used for the Rotary Club's scholarship fund and youth activities. Tickets are available from club members.

The theme "the other 20th century man." A spokesman for the Presbyterian church said that through the offering, the churches participating minister to the needs of impoverished people overseas.

LT. OTTO STURM

"I've always said," declared Springfield Police Lieutenant Otto Sturm, "that police departments should put aside a special pension for the wives of police officers."

The 58-year-old police officer, who has been on the Springfield force for 33 years, is getting ready to retire this August.

In a gruff, authoritative voice (his stern, weather-worn face—contrasting some of that toughness with a wide, friendly grin), the tall, husky lieutenant, announced: "I've often said a wife should also get a pension. The way she puts up with the shift work, night hours (midnight to 8 a.m.) and all the little and big anxieties, she should be rewarded in some way."

"Seriously, though," he said, "a cop's wife is just about the most courageous woman in the world."

"And believe me," he added with a husky tenderness in his voice, "my wife has weathered more bad storms at night alone, without a word of complaint."

"NOW THAT I'm about to retire, we're going to take a month-long vacation trip to Florida and, for a while, we're just going to forget all about the tensions and anxieties of the past 33 years."

Lt. Sturm, who was born in Brooklyn, came to Vauxhall "when I was about eight years old. I was educated in Vauxhall School. There were only four rooms in that schoolhouse," he chuckled.

"Then I was transferred to Unionville—which is actually Union, right now. Back in those days, all we had around here were farms. But that's a different story. The changes are really terrific!"

"I met my wife, Gladys, on Maple Hill in Union. She was visiting here and was originally from Kingston, N.Y. Two New Yorkers—a real coincidence."

The Sturms were married in 1927. "I was in the construction business in Springfield prior to that. But things were really rough in all businesses at that particular time. I had also been a member of the Volunteer Fire Co. of Vauxhall."

LT. STURM DECIDED to get out of the waning construction business. He joined the police department "as a specialist" in Sept. 1931.

"When I first joined the force," he recalled with amusement, "they had only eight men. With the depression, they couldn't put on regular men, so I worked as a special throughout the entire depression years."

"We had one day a month off. And in my spare time, I would substitute as an ambulance driver... the American Legion contributed the ambulance. There were about 3,200 people in Springfield at the time. Now, of course, there are close to 17,000."

Lt. Sturm was appointed to the regular Springfield Police Department on Aug. 1, 1936.

"I made an awful lot of friends during that time," he said in pleasant recollection. "It kind of grew with the town. We had only two public schools then, the Chieholm School and the James Caldwell School. And I think I got to know all the kids who attended both schools."

"I BUMP INTO some of them every once in a while," he said, "and they say something like this: 'Meet my daughter. Remember when you used to take me across the street?'—I find myself staring, deep-in-thought about an entire generation revolving."

The police officer took a brief reprieve from his duties in 1942, when he enlisted in the U. S. Army Engineers.

"I took my basic training at Camp Clayborn, La., then I was shipped to England. From England, I went to France, then Belgium. I was discharged at Fort Dix in 1945 after three years of service, and went back on the Police Department staff."

On March 23, 1955, Sturm was promoted to sergeant. And on Jan. 1, 1956, he was made a lieutenant.

"You know," he sighed, "when you're on a desk, you kind of lose close relationship with the town people. When you get inside, you just lose contact."

Lt. Sturm mentioned with infinite pride that he had the distinction of working under four chiefs.

THERE WERE Chief Chase Runyon, Chief William Thompson Sr., Chief Albert Sorge and now, of course, Chief Wilbur C. Selander.

"The irony of it all," he remarked, "was that I had served in the National Guard with Selander before either of us joined the force. We worked together in Battery C, 112th Field Artillery, 44th Division of the National Guard."

"Just goes to show you what a small world this is," he smiled.

MINUTEMEN LOSE TO CEDAR KNOLLS IN TOURNEY PLAY

Last Saturday morning, the Springfield Minutemen made their second appearance in as many years in the annual Florham Park Invitational Basketball Tournament. Springfield met a team from Cedar Knolls in the quarter-final round and was defeated by the final score of 41 to 36.

This contest saw the Minutemen show their poorest play of the season. This was the first game this year that the Springfield team failed to hit over 50 points.

Only Joel Schwartz, Springfield co-captain and back court star, played a good game. Schwartz was outstanding in defeat as his exploits kept the Springfield team close throughout.

Schwartz hit a game total of 10 points, which was high for the Springfield team. Ralph Losanno of Springfield hit for nine points, while Frank Bocci scored eight points for the Minutemen.

Scouting officials in Springfield were guests of the Springfield Lions Club last Friday at a banquet in the Mountainside Inn.

Den mothers of Cub Pack 172 and their husbands and leaders of Troop 66 and their wives were honored for the work they have done in the past year for the scouting activities sponsored by the Lions.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Leon Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gold, Mrs. Bernice Ogintz, Mrs. Ruth Force, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kaufman and Mr. and Mrs. Selwyn Seichter representing Pack 172, and Mr. and Mrs. William Jayne and Mr. and Mrs. Sid Sklar representing Troop 66.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Was-Slifer of the North-East District Council and Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt McGarrath of the Springfield Scouting Commission.

"Faxon, the Memory Marvel," entertained after the dinner.

HISTORY TEACHER Evelyn Reisky, of 149 Milltown rd., Springfield, has joined the faculty of Westfield High School as a student teacher in history. She is a senior at Douglass College.

Jewish Unit Names Lesser To N. J. Post

Bernard Lesser of 77 Garden oval, Springfield, has been named chairman of the New Jersey Council of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations youth activities committee.

The appointment was announced last week by Charles J. Rothschild, Jr., president of the council. Lesser will be assisted by Jack Lerner, vice president of the state council, tomorrow evening at Temple Israel, South Orange.

Lesser has been for some time youth director at the temple and an instructor in the religious school.

Responsibilities of the state youth committee include supervision of the youth activities in the 35 member congregations and the stimulation of youth activities within the individual congregations.

Lesser, a World War II veteran of the 15th Air Force, is an Internal Revenue Service auditor and is serving as field audit branch chief in the Newark office.

He was founder and supervisor of the Temple Israel Teachers' Training Institute, a high school level branch of the temple school. He was the first youth advisor and athletic coach at the temple. He was a youth leader at the Newark Y Suburban Services Department and was athletic supervisor at the former Reservation Y.

Lesser was the first chairman of the religious school board of Temple Shalom, Shiloh, Springfield, and organized the religious school. He was a member of the adult advisory committee of the Jewish Youth Council of the Oranges, Maplewood and Millburn.

Fine, Suspension Given For Speed On Mountain Ave.

A 41-year-old Springfield motorist was fined $50 and had his driver's license revoked for 30 days by Magistrate Max Sherman Monday night after he was found guilty of driving 60 miles per hour on Mountain ave. Magistrate Sherman imposed the fine and license suspension on Thomas E. Carroll Jr., of 33 Troy dr., Springfield, during this week's regular session of Municipal Court. Carroll had been stopped March 9 on Mountain ave. by Patrolman Samuel Calabrese.

Five other motorists were found guilty of speeding. They are: Roy Binson, 64, Mountain side, 51 mph in a 25 mile zone, $30; Edward A. Okienik, 17, Irvington, 55 mph in a 40 mile zone, $25; Harold Foeder, 20, Irvington, 55 mph in a 40 mile zone, $30; Wallace J. Rodrigues, 22, Orange, 45 mph in a 25 mile zone, $15; and Sergio D. Leone, 22, Frenchtown, 55 mph in a 40 mile zone, $25.

In other action in Monday's court session, Archie Lotton, 25, of Westfield, paid a fine of $75 after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a car with no driver's license in his possession.

GOP Clubs Link, Will Meet Jointly

The Springfield Young Republic Club and the Republican Club in Springfield, recently affiliated, will hold a joint meeting at Legion Hall Monday at 8:30 p.m.

Residents who wish to join either club have been asked to attend the meeting or call Martin Applebaum, chairman of the young GOP club, at DR 6-5959.

Letters To The Editor

Letters to the Editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 300 words in length. All letters must be signed. Writer's name will NOT be withheld if the letter is of political nature. Name will be withheld upon request from non-political letters. The Leader reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

COMMENT ON SELMA Sympathy marching in Selma, not a bad idea. Outsiders from outside Selma and from outside the United States have not treated the Southern town benignly. Selma needs our sympathy and our understanding.

Which industries are going to flock to Selma now to provide jobs for her unemployed, thanks to outsiders? Which tourists are going to invade her taxable shops, restaurants and exhibits now, thanks to outsiders? What agency is going to reimburse her for the high cost, thanks to outsiders, of keeping the streets clean and clear for her citizens and working people?

How will she ever amass enough Northern money to neutralize the effect of thousands of dollars of free "bad publicity," thanks to outsiders? Selma, with all your faults, there are some who still love you.

But is it enough to sympathize with Selma? Ought we not to take a stand against her tormentors and to expose them in their treachery and malice?

After all, the journalists, the NAACP organizers and the various church groups have presumed to judge Selma; her elected and appointed officials, and the very governor of her state. Does not Holy Scripture itself give us leave, therefore, to judge them—and to mete them for the harm in their eyes what they have measured unto Selma—for the mote that is in her eye?

I believe so. Therefore, ministers, reporters, agitators and, yes, you martyrs as well, you are all pathetically guilty of the same crime, the same basic immorality of those who waged the War of Northern Aggression in 1861 and of those who infiltrate and attack societies such as South Viet Nam and Malaysia today.

Until you cease to put your personal or collective opinion above that of societies and communities to which you do not belong and to have further boldness to implement those opinions, then you share the damnation of the worst of history's warmongers, not the beautification of the meek.

JOSEPH SLIPKA JR. University of Virginia Charlottesville, Va.

TEENAGE "DELINQUENTS" For years the police tracks in Springfield's Morris ave. were a traffic hazard. Highway safety apparently being of little concern to the State Highway Commissioner Dwight Palmer, I required years of effort by the Township Committee to move the highway commissioner to Albany, in 1964, have these tracks covered.

Too late for Theresa Gangulowitz, whose car slipped on the tracks and smashed into a pole. Since then Theresa has been in the hospital. This, of course, is of no concern to Mr. Palmer.

It is of concern to a group of teenagers who banded together and organized a fund drive to aid Theresa's parents with the medical expenses. I wonder whether drivers for the Red Cross, cancer funds, etc., are also told that soliciting is prohibited in Troy Village.

A small notice of this teenagers' drive appeared tucked away somewhere in your paper. Why is it that when a teenager kicks somebody or is caught with liquor or narcotics, it is told to all on the front-page of your paper?

But when these "delinquents" spend time, effort and money for a good deed, it is hidden away. These boys and girls deserve our encouragement and applause. The towns deserve to know that there are plenty of fine young people around.

Answers Questions On Veterans GI Insurance Eligibility

With several million veterans flooded with inquiries, the potentially eligible to buy new following Questions and Answers GI Insurance, VA offices are were prepared by the Information Service of the Veterans Administration.

obtain medical examinations from private physicians at their own expense.

increased as experience justifies in the case of policyholders with service-connected disabilities who are in good health for insurance purposes, such changes will be made not often than at two-year intervals.

compensation would be payable if they became more disabled although they are not now receiving compensation. These veterans are eligible.

A - No, the nonservice-connected disability must have been in existence and made that veteran uninsurable on or before October 13, 1964.

HALF-PAST-TEEN

Know Your Government

INTER-GOVERNMENT KINKS
The old, familiar school book picture of America's federal system as a neat pyramid of national, state and local governments, each doing efficiently its assigned job in the federal system, may be somewhat out of focus against the background of today's world.

Reports showing that total spending by all levels of government has almost tripled in the past 15 years to $202 billion reflect a picture of mushrooming governmental functions and responsibilities, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

The division of responsibility between the states and the national government has been a continuing, sometimes painful, point of debate since establishment of the Republic. After World War II, Congress moved to probe the jungle-like growth of government nurtured by succeeding international and domestic crises. Recommendations of the First Hoover Commission led to the "Kestnbaum Commission" which conducted the most comprehensive review of intergovernmental relations since adoption of the Constitution.

Following extended study of the reports, Congress in 1959 established the permanent "Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations," comprising 26 members representing the public, the Congress and the Executive branch of the Federal Government, the states, counties and municipalities. The Advisory Commission has issued more than 30 comprehensive reports. These covered many phases of governmental operation and finance and have recommended numerous improvements designed to strengthen the state and local government role in the federal system.

The most recent Sixth Annual Report of the Commission shows, among other areas of intergovernmental relationships, continued attention to the effects of Federal grants-in-aid. These have tripled in the past ten years covering many new areas of governmental activity. The Commission's proposals are being translated into legislation before Congress designed to "strengthen intergovernmental relations by improving cooperation and the coordination of federally aided activities between the federal, state and local levels of government," according to its sponsors.

Q - Is GI Insurance once more available to veterans?

A - Yes, a new type of GI Insurance is to be made available to certain veterans who were eligible for the original NSLI insurance, principally those with service-connected disabilities.

Q - What veterans were eligible for the original NSLI insurance?

A - Most of those who served between October 8, 1940, and January 1, 1957.

Q - Are there eligibility requirements besides dates of service?

A - Yes, the veteran must be in one of the following three groups:

a. Veterans with service-connected disabilities who meet insurance standards of good health.

b. Veterans whose service-connected disabilities alone prevent them from meeting insurance standards of good health.

c. Veterans whose nonservice-connected disabilities as of October 13, 1964, had prevented them or would have prevented them from buying commercial insurance at the highest rates.

Q - How much NSLI insurance may a veteran purchase?

A - The full $10,000 coverage if he never had NSLI insurance or if he had it and allowed it to lapse. Or he can purchase sufficient insurance to bring his total NSLI insurance back to the $10,000 level, if he wishes.

Q - Does he have to bring it back to the $10,000 level?

A - No. He can purchase lesser amounts but not less than $1,000 worth.

Q - Where can this NSLI insurance be purchased?

A - Service-connected veterans generally should apply to the office having their claim file. Veterans who have only nonservice-connected disabilities and who cannot obtain commercial insurance should apply to the insurance offices at either 3000 Wisconsin Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., 19101, or at Fort Snelling, St. Paul, Minn., 55111.

Q - When can the veteran apply to purchase this insurance?

A - Beginning Saturday, May 1, 1965, and from then until midnight, Monday, May 2, 1965.

Q - Does the VA plan to notify all eligible veterans?

A - The VA would like to but cannot. Nearly two million veterans receive monthly compensation payments for their service-connected disabilities. Information is being mailed to these veterans. But there are almost as many other veterans with service-connected disabilities rated as such a low percent that they do not receive compensation. And there are other veterans who have service-connected disabilities but who have never applied for a rating. These veterans, together with the severely disabled nonservice-connected veterans, must contact the VA on their own as there is no way of reaching them.

Q - What is the VA doing to inform these veterans of this opportunity?

A - The VA, with the cooperation of the press and the radio/TV networks, has had the news carried throughout the nation. In addition, a printed information sheet is available at all VA offices to any veteran who visits, telephones or writes. Moreover, official state and county veterans departments and service organizations, like the American Legion, the VFW, etc., are helping to spread the news to veterans everywhere.

Q - Are persons now on active duty with the Armed Forces eligible to purchase this insurance?

A - No, unless they are separated from active duty before May 3, 1965, and make application before that date while they are so separated.

Q - Are there other veterans in the general group to whom this insurance law applies who were not eligible for some special reason?

A - Yes, veterans who first entered the service on or after April 25, 1951, are not eligible unless they were discharged for at least one day before January 1, 1957. Another group not eligible are certain Philippine veterans. These later can get information in the VA office in Manila.

Q - Will the new GI insurance policies be term insurance?

A - No. All of the new GI policies will be a permanent form of insurance.

Q - Will the new policies carry dividends?

A - No. The rates that will be charged for the service-connected veterans in particular are low not premiums which are comparable to the old high rates after dividends.

Q - Will all disabled veterans pay the same premiums?

A - No. Those who are insurable despite their service-connected disabilities will pay low premiums. (A sample rate table will be found in the answer to the next question.) Those who are uninsurable solely because of service-connected disabilities and those who are commercially uninsurable because of non-service-connected disabilities will pay higher premiums based on degree of impairment.

Q - Will medical examinations be required?

A - Yes, for those commercially uninsurable and for all others over 50 years of age. Veterans with service-connected disabilities who are 50 years of age and under need not submit medical examinations initially but may be requested to submit medical evidence if they have questionable health conditions.

Q - Will the VA give medical examinations?

A - No. Applicants must obtain medical examinations from private physicians at their own expense.

Q - Will the government pay the cost of conducting this program?

A - No. Those veterans who obtain policies will pay an extra premium of about 12 cents monthly per policy to defray the cost of administering the program. This extra premium may be increased or decreased not often than every five years.

Q - May the premiums change in the future?

A - Yes. The law provides that premiums may be decreased if they became more disabled although they are not now receiving compensation. These veterans are eligible.

There are also veterans with a disability arising in service which would make them eligible but they have not applied to have the disability rated as service-connected. These veterans are eligible to apply for service connection. If it is granted they may be eligible for insurance.

Q - Does any kind of service-connected injury qualify?

A - No. It must be a type of disability for which compensation is payable when the disability reaches ten percent or more. Certain disabilities such as dental disabilities are not in this category.

Q - Does any nonservice-connected disability which commercial companies will not insure make a veteran eligible?

A - No, the nonservice-connected disability must have been in existence and made that veteran uninsurable on or before October 13, 1964.

Q - Where can additional information be obtained?

A - Information can be obtained at any VA office.

Accordion Winners Named

A Union South captured first place in the virtuoso solo division and a number of students from Irvington's Major Music School won a variety of honors in the N. J. State Accordion Contest held Sunday at Barringer High School, Newark.

Eddie Monteiro, winner of the virtuoso crown, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Monteiro of 2741 Hickory rd. and a junior at Union High School. He will compete for the U. S. title at the World's Fair in August.

Eddie, 16, has been playing the accordion since he was six and studied under Charles Nundo of Nutley. He enjoys playing all types of music but is particularly fond of jazz-accordion.

Students from the Major Music School who were winners in the contest are: Rita Weinback of Springfield, 1st place, intermediate solo group; Cathy Silbermangel of Lincoln Park, 2nd place, both virtuoso and intermediate solo; Susan Figler of 878 Strayssant ave., Irvington, 3rd place, intermediate solo group; Ruth Havyryluk of East Orange, 3rd place, junior solo group; and Sheila Stuckey of 427 Kerrigan Blvd., Valleyburg, 2nd place, intermediate solo.

The Sans Symphony of the Major Music School won 1st place in the Senior Band group and the Major Symphonette was 1st place winner in an Intermediate Band classification. Major's Senior Combo was 3rd place winner in their division. Major Combo won 2nd place in both the Intermediate A and Intermediate C groupings and 1st place in the Intermediate B classification.

How do you think Johnny will react to such an order? He may increase his determination to be Bill's friend and make the friendship an issue between himself and his mother.

Johnny's mother has not given any reason for her dislike of Bill. Perhaps she thinks Bill's family is not as good as hers. Or she may be prejudiced against Bill because his family is of a different religion or nationality.

Suppose she truly believes that Bill, not his family background is a bad influence on Johnny. Even in this case, she should study the situation very carefully before trying to break up the friendship. Children usually select a playmate to satisfy a need within themselves. A

Team Of Experts Unravels Youngsters' Emotional Tangles

By BEA SMITH
 "People may laugh at that old saying: 'More heads are better than one,' but let's face it. It's true."
 Dr. Robert Micali, psychologist, leaned back in his swivel chair behind a modern desk in his private office at the James Caldwell School in Springfield, and puffed thoughtfully on his pipe.
 "That is why," he said, during a recent interview, "it is so necessary for the state of New Jersey to continue to maintain child study teams.
 "In terms of understanding human behavior and reasoning, it is felt that no one special person has all of the answers to what causes psychological problems and how best to treat them. It is vital to have a multi-disciplinary approach, where a team can jointly, cooperatively work together to make a reasonable and appropriate analysis of a problem."

 Dr. Micali explained that in 1959, the Beagleton Law was passed. "This was the second of two laws. The first one was passed in 1954 and dealt primarily with physically handicapped and mentally retarded children. The 1954 bill made it mandatory for school districts to establish educational services for the mentally retarded."
 "THE STATE SOON realized," he continued, "that all emotionally disturbed children were not covered by the act. So, in 1959, a second segment of the law was passed, called the Emotional Health Education Act. This was legislation for school districts in the state to provide special educational facilities for emotionally maladjusted pupils."
 "It provided for the establishment of child study teams within school systems, each of which consists of a school psychologist, a school social worker, two remedial instructors and a consulting psychiatrist. In effect, these are multi-disciplinary teams of professionals in the field of mental health."

 An amendment, called the Gross Amendment, Dr. Micali indicated, was added to the original law, which established the basis for state financial reimbursements to local districts for the establishments of these teams.
 "In other words," the psychologist explained, "the state computes one half of the cost to schools for the team members, and thus reimburses the school. The state also reimburses the expenses for transportation, secretarial service (we have a full-time secretary here). Materials used in diagnosis are also paid for on a shared basis."
 "Each school district," Dr. Micali said, "is required by law to submit if there is an operating team—its own local district program. There is a team functioning in all New Jersey public schools."

"THERE ARE MANY schools, however, that do not have all five members. They may have a social worker and psychologist, or a remedial instructor and a social worker—they may have one or two of the required members on a team."
 "Fortunately for this town, Springfield has all five members of the required child study team."
 He indicated himself as one of the team members. "I am a psychologist, plus two remedial instructors, Mrs. Lillian Hayward and Mrs. Loreta O'Brien; a social worker, Miss Helen Shephard; and a psychiatrist, Dr. Jay Fidler."

 "There is no special reason for having my office here at the Caldwell School," he said, "except for the fact that there happens to be ample space here for an office of this kind. But I constantly travel from one school to the other in the Springfield system."
 "There are seven aims in the development of the mental health program, which encompasses the total school population," Dr. Micali said.

"Let us attempt to prevent casualties."
 "A considerable amount of our work concentrates on the early grades," he said. "We have the results of research that we hope will give us some clues or symptoms of maladjustment before the youngsters begin to drop out of school. We try to determine the underlying factors before the maladjusted get to a point where we can't do anything to help them."
 "The mechanics of the child study team are regulated by requests for service, initiated by the school personnel or by the parent through the school principal. Regular forms are filled out," Dr. Micali said, "which are completed by a teacher and countersigned by the principal. The referrals are submitted to me. Then there are the screening and rotating of the referrals within the child study team staff conferences."
 "We handle new referrals, review their problems as a team and concentrate on their educational or mental health."

"MY JOB, as a psychologist, is the specialization of testing and understanding, in depth, a child's learning problem. When referrals are made to us, we forward them to the school nurse for her to look at and she must indicate any typical physical condition. She makes appropriate comments, and we

 Mrs. Rebecca Doroson, 74, of 85 Glenview dr., Springfield, who died Sunday night, was the widow of Louis Doroson, one of the developers of Springfield from 1940 until 1955. Mr. Doroson had his home in the Glenview dr., Twin Oaks, Woodside rd. and Meisel ave. areas.
 Mrs. Doroson had been a Springfield resident since 1951. She came from Russia to Newark as a child. She was a member of the Senior League at Temple Beth Ahm.
 She leaves three daughters, Mrs. William Kappastatter, Mrs. Selma Nagel and Mrs. Gladys May, all of Springfield; two brothers, Maxwell Huckman of Maplewood, Dr. Louis F. Huckman of Maplewood; a sister, Mrs. Mary Sohner of South Orange, and six grandchildren.
 Rabbi Reuben R. Levin conducted services Tuesday at the Apter Funeral Home, Maplewood. Burial was in Mt. Lebanon Cemetery, Iselin. The family is observing the period of mourning at the Kappastatter home, 39 Glenview dr.

EASTER PICTURE SET FOR SHOWING NEXT WEDNESDAY
 A semi-scriptural drama of Simon Peter, from the days prior to the crucifixion through the birth of the church on Pentecost, will be portrayed in the film "Power of the Resurrection," in the Parish House of the Springfield Presbyterian Church Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. This film and its discussion will be the concluding service in this year's mid-week Lenten Services held by the Presbyterian Church.
 Veteran actor Richard Kiley plays the part of Peter. His performance is one of a human being who passes through the many stages in becoming a true disciple. Peter's weaknesses and strengths are etched, and the physical miracles revealed in the historical span are portrayed. The ministers of the church, the Rev. Bruce W. Evans and the Rev. Donald C. Weber, will lead the discussion following the showing of the film.

Programs On Exploration of Space Presented To Young People, Adults
 A series of lectures on space exploration was presented for Springfield young people and adults last week at the Raymond Chisholm School, sponsored by the Chisholm PTA. Programs were presented during school hours for youngsters at Chisholm and for selected students from other schools. An evening lecture was presented for adults and teenagers.
 The guest speakers were John R. Bannister and Richard N. Crane, both affiliated with the Goddard Space Flight Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.
 Their illustrated talks outlined the origin and development of rockets, discussed recent developments in projects Gemini and Apollo and explained problems of exploring space. The NASA exhibit and lectures were termed an "unqualified success" by Mrs. Alfred Silverstein, PTA program chairman.

The conversion of baptism of Saul of Tarsus, as told in the Acts of the Apostle, plays an important part in the Bible Lesson on "Reality" which will be heard at Christian Science services this Sunday.
Also included will be these lines from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by MARY BAKER EDDY (pp. 324-5):
"When the truth first appeared to him in Science, Paul was made blind, and his blindness was felt; but spiritual light soon enabled him to follow the example and teachings of Jesus, healing the sick and preaching
Christianity throughout Asia
Minor, Greece, and even in imperial Rome... He who has the true idea of good loves all things of evil; and by reason of this is being ushered into the undying realities of Spirit."

SCHOLARSHIP SET TO MEMORIALIZE BOARD ATTORNEY

The Union County Regional Board of Education has accepted custody of a memorial scholarship fund in the name of the late Bernard Steiner, attorney for the board for the past 15 years. Mr. Steiner, a resident of Mr. Steiner, requested that contributions be made to the fund in lieu of flowers or other remembrances.
The scholarship will be made available to a student from any of the six communities of the Regional district. Contributors are asked to send their contributions to the Steiner Memorial Fund, c/o Dr. Minor C. K.
Jones, Governor-Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights.
During his years with the Regional schools, Mr. Steiner saw the schools increase almost five-fold in enrollment. He assisted the board with every building program except the building of the original Jonathan Dayton structure.

Film On Smoking To Have Showing

Three world premieres of a new film on smoking, "Who, Me?" have been scheduled by the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society for Wednesday evening. The movie will be shown in East Orange, New Brunswick and Cherry Hill. The East Orange showing will be held in the Hotel Suburban.

The movie will also be shown in the New Brunswick Inn, New Brunswick, and in the Cherry Hill Inn. All three programs will start at 8 p.m. The film was made to alert adults to risk of smoking. It plays on the theme that parents who do not wish their children to smoke should stop the habit themselves.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION BULLETIN

N. J. Body Supports 3-Year Junior High School Pattern

The State Department of Education this week reaffirmed its faith in the junior high school.

At the same time, it cautioned against attacking the junior high school pattern to justify some other grade organization "because of a variety of purely local reasons."

The pattern which includes the junior high school is known as 6-3-3. This means that pupils spend six years in elementary school, three in junior high school, and three in senior high school.

"As seen from the numbers," the Bulletin noted, "much of the discussion centers around the particular arrangements for the junior high school years."

"In some instances these proposals reach well into the elementary grades as in the case of the 4-4-4 plan," the Bulletin added.

"We feel it is more than chance that the 100,000 pupils enrolled in grade nine during the 1963-64 school year, the failure rate for pupils enrolled in the junior high schools was significantly lower than the rate of failure in other organizational patterns."

"Under such circumstances the district must necessarily consider the full range of educational experiences it is able to provide and to do the best job it can with the dollars available."

THE FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Editorial Association Study Mission Around South America

Fourth of a Series INTO BRASIL

It looked like we were approaching Manhattan. There were the big skyscrapers, there was the skyline!

But it was Sao Paulo, Brazil. I had known that Sao Paulo was a big city, but I did not expect that skyline. It is, however, a metropolis with a reputation for being one of the world's fastest growing cities, and it has millions of people—3.3 million by a 1964 estimate, and 6 or 7 million by the public officials who talk to you in 1965—so it has a right to have a skyline.

Anyway, Sao Paulo, pronounced as "song" without the "g" and "Pow-lo", and Brazil spelled with an S in Brazil and not with a Z, was the first stop in the National Editorial Association Study Mission in South America and the first of three Brazilian cities we were to visit. (Brasilia and Rio de Janeiro to follow.)

It was a seven-hour flight by jet from Panama City with an extra hour stop-over in Lima, Peru. Sao Paulo does not have a jet port near the city. It is 80 or 70 miles out to a smaller plane taxiway into the city airport, but they don't seem to care how much they heap into those little planes. On the particular day of our arrival, our group of six, plus a guide escort cluster of six, plus a crew of four, plus baggage spilling over into the passenger cabin, plus people in the woodwork, plus a super, were piled into the plane which holds 48. On top of that it began to rain. I figured if we made that one, we'd make them all.

Well, we did make it. In 15 minutes at that, and then we were taken to a hotel whose first seven floors were a newspaper plant. (In case you gain the impression that Brazil generally is confused, or that it needs the space so badly that it has to crowd its planes and double its hotel use, it is not true. It just sounds that way.) Really, there are an awful lot of airplanes in Brazil. As a matter of fact, Brazil has more planes than it knows what to do with, or knows how to make money with, and some airlines which are not profit-making lines, have been grounded recently by order of the president.

BESIDES THE CITY, there is also a state by the name of Sao Paulo, and it too has a large population. It also has a large government.

Dr. Adhemar de Barros is large both politically and physically. He is a medical doctor, schooled in the U. S., and is responsible for the building of a 2,000-bed hospital in the city. He has had considerable experience in politics and has been governor since January 1963 serving a four-year term. He is considered a likely candidate for the presidential election which occurs in November, 1968.

Anyway, in a Brazilian city, with a Portuguese descended head, we had Russian beef Stroganoff for dinner. There was also wild duck, turkey, chicken, rice and candied fruits. I complimented him on the surprise and deliciousness of the Stroganoff for it is a favorite of mine, and he beamed with pleasure and told me he had the best French cook in Sao Paulo! And we both laughed.

THE PAULISTAS, as the folks who live there are called, say that Sao Paulo grows everything and makes everything there. It is a big agricultural center, and there are approximately 30,000 industrial plants and installations in the Sao Paulo metropolitan area alone.

INFLATION, the nasty word in South America, which is Brazil's, and many another country's big headache, is a real threat to Sao Paulo. Naturally the fluctuating cruzeiro creates a problem to business both forod things like hotels with printing plants under them.

Some say the cure is called "Castello Branco," the president of Brazil since last April when Joao Goulart fell. Castello means "white," so perhaps it will be a "good omen." Goulart, who accomplished little more at times than survival in office, was deposed in the revolution of last March 30-April 1 and was followed by Marshall Humberto Castello Branco. The new president is considered to be able, strong and cooperative to the West. He has enacted several economic reforms and holds new hope for Brazilians. It is said in Sao Paulo that Brazilians "feel discouraged now, but hopeful for the future." Brazil is in a delicate political state, of disturbance and unrest, but for a change it has honest and hard working government and there is hope.

AT THE BRIEFING with "Senor Consul" (as the localities fondly call Mr. Bond, the Consul-General), we heard again of inadequate newspaper coverage of South America in the United States. Brazilians feel, we were told, that the U. S. press handled the revolution of last year very poorly. The understanding is better now, but Brazilians resent the U. S. press. There were some good reports by resident correspondents but not by those sent down generally. The problem mainly was "pre-sets." Some reporters came down with their minds set up as to the situation and would never change their minds. Readers Digest and Time magazine articles were praised, but the New York Times was both praised and criticized.

BRASIL is handicapped in that it does not have an information and news service abroad, but the city of Sao Paulo has 28 newspapers, 17 radio stations, five TV stations, 16 legitimate theatres, 175 movie houses, 12 museums and three universities. And if you think that is good, the state of Sao Paulo has 174 broadcasting stations and 688 newspapers!

MR. BOND reminded us that Brazil was different than the rest of South America in that it was one of the largest countries representing about half the territory of the continent and about half the population; two that it had a different history; it went from colonialism to independence like many others, but it had a monarchical interlude from 1822 to 1889; a ruling family of Portugal ruled the country; and third: that it was Portuguese in language and culture, while the rest of South America was Spanish.

But, it added, "those who have worked with pupils in this grade under various organizational patterns generally agree that the ninth grade experience in a junior high school is most productive."

"The Bulletin pointed to a recent state-wide survey of the failure rate in secondary schools and came to this conclusion:

"We do not wish to appear so defensive of the junior high school as to close our minds to research and experimentation with other patterns of organization."

"At the same time, our pride in a school of proven educational worth leads us to caution those who, because of a variety of purely local reasons, would seek to justify their shifting of grades by attacking the junior high school."

"The motives of those responsible for the adoption of one plan over the other vary from a deep concern over the quality of educational experiences for junior school youth to expedient, but temporary, solutions to a variety of local social and economic pressures."

"Local conditions, chief among which is the housing of pupils around into what-seen buildings they would fit."

"Hence we see all kinds of grade combinations developing with doubtful concern for the age levels, the programs, the suitability of facilities or even the qualification of teachers."

"There are of course many instances in which the devel-

3 Area High School Students Get DAR Citizenship Awards

Three area high school seniors, two from the Roselle and one from Union, have been chosen as recipients of the annual Good Citizen Award by the Abraham Clark Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Roselle.

The three girls were selected by fellow students "for qualities of dependability, service, leadership and patriotism."

Named were: Carol Ann Brantley of Abraham Clark High School, Roselle; Veronica Jean Ham of Roselle Park High School, Roselle; and Leslie Moss, Union High School.

Miss Brantley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brantley of 715 Spruce St., Roselle, is a member of the Athletic Council, Service Club, Dramatics Club, Acapella Choir, Student Council and is secretary of the senior class. She is a Sunday School member, pianist and a Sunday School teacher. Miss Brantley is also a member of her church choir.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ham of 235 E. Colfax Ave., Roselle Park, Miss Ham has been President of her class for two years, a member of the Student Council for four years, a variety show leader for two years and a member of the Merit Society for two years.

Contributor to two school publications, Miss Ham is also a member of the Student Service Club, French Club and Future Teachers. She received the Good Citizenship Medal from the DAR chapter upon graduation from Roselle Park Junior High School. A teacher of Assumption Church religious classes, Miss Ham is also a member of the Washington French Girl Scout Council and has taught junior life-saving at the Westfield, YWCA.

Miss Moss is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Moss of 868 Carteret Ave., Union. She is the first girl in the history of the Student Council of Union High School to become its president. She was Vice President of the Council and also President of the sophomore class. Also, she was president of the Student Council while a ninth grader at Kawameeh Junior High School where she was presented an award for the student making the most outstanding contribution to the school. Miss Moss is a member of the National Thespian Society and Secretary of the Union High School branch. She is a member of the school band.

The three will be presented their awards, in the form of pins, at a luncheon of the State Society of the DAR on April 1 in Fremont. The girls will be accompanied by the Chapter Regent, Mrs. George H. Bart and Mrs. C. Lefroy Storms, good citizens chairman.

All three girls will compete in the state contest. The state winner will receive a $100 bond or a $75 scholarship. The girl selected as the national winner will be awarded a $1,000 scholarship to the college of their choice and will be presented with a Reverse-type bronze engraved "National DAR Good Citizen."

Author Will Lecture On Greek Language

Nikos Spanias a Greek poet and playwright will give a lecture on the topic, "Performance and Vitality of the Greek Language," at the Little Theater, Student Union Building, Newark State College, Union, at 8 p.m. next Thursday.

Born in Greece, Spanias holds degrees in Greek and English literature from the University of Athens, Ohio University and the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. He has published several literary translations and is the author of four books of poetry.

He is presently collaborating on a play which he hopes will open soon in New York. Spanias has directed classic Greek dramas at several universities in the country and has lectured often on Greek literature and writers.

The lecture next week is sponsored by Mrs. John Gacos, Mrs. Richard Frigerio and Mrs. Frank Angleton as a benefit for the building fund of the Union County Greek Orthodox Community. Tickets will cost $1.

Gargalowitz Fund Now Wiped Out By Hospital Bill

The Theresa Gargalowitz Fund has been wiped out. An audit of the fund reveals $8,019 is in the bank.

The family has received a $9,022 bill from Overlook Hospital for care given to the 20-year-old college coed who has been in a coma ever since an auto accident last April in Springfield.

This leaves $1,003 that has to be found to help the family pay the bill. Still to come, are several doctor bills.

"There has been a dramatic drop in contributions to the fund," said Philip Portnoy of Union, the fund's chairman. "We can't account for this drop. The people of Union and Springfield have been so very generous all year that we dislike even mentioning it, but..."

Portnoy said a $10 money order was the only contribution to the fund received during the past week. He made a strong appeal for additional contributions.

The dramatic drop of contributions comes almost a year to the day that the accident occurred. Theresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gargalowitz of 2500 Hawthorne Ave., Union, was heading home from evening classes at Fairleigh Dickinson University in Madison on a rainy April 8 when her small foreign car skidded on the unused trolley tracks on Morris Ave. and crashed head on into an oncoming Public Service bus.

Theresa suffered several broken bones, which have healed, and brain damage. She has been in a coma ever since the accident, however. She has been moved from the intensive care unit at Overlook to a private room.

The family's health insurance ran out shortly after the accident. Efforts to provide the family with an emergency policy have been unsuccessful.

Commonwealth Signs Contract For Increasing Water Supply

In a joint statement this week the Commonwealth Water Company and the Elizabethtown Water Company announced the signing of a 30-year contract, whereby the Commonwealth Water Company will obtain initially more than 100 million gallons of water monthly from the Elizabethtown Water Company.

The water will be used to augment Commonwealth's water supply in the entire service area, including Springfield, but principally in the Irvington, Maplewood, Berkeley Heights, New Providence and Stirling areas. The contract between the two investor-owned water companies will permit the use of water from the Raritan River watershed in the Commonwealth service area for the first time. Part of the water will come from the Round Valley-Spruce Run Reservoir project, thus fulfilling one of the original intents of the state reservoirs to supply water to communities outside the Raritan watershed area.

Commonwealth's manager, J. H. King, said that construction of connecting mains and related facilities costing $725,000 in the Commonwealth system alone, will begin immediately so that the additional supply will be available to Commonwealth by this summer.

Both Commonwealth and Elizabethtown officials called the contract an important step forward in assuring adequate water supplies for the entire area. The signing of the contracts by the utilities was the end result of an extensive engineering study by the Commonwealth Water Company.

Commonwealth manager J. H. King said, "We are now assured that our water resources will be substantially improved and we will have no alternate water source to supplement our Passaic Valley watershed supplies. Through this advanced planning we can provide our customers with better service and assure them of adequate water even during periods of sustained peak demand and drought conditions."

Robert W. Kean, Jr., president of Elizabethtown Water, said "The contract is another important step in making available Raritan River water to communities outside the watershed area. This means a better balanced and more flexible supply for areas of the state that previously were unable to draw on more than one water source."

Johnson Named To Do Research In Honor Project

Cadet first class Richard Johnson, of 147 Pitt rd., Springfield, and a 1961 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, has been awarded a position in the Academy's scholars' program at the Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn.

This program allows qualified cadets to perform approved research projects in lieu of regular classes in their final semester at the Academy.

Cadet Johnson's project involves a study of water injection in gas turbine exhaust systems. The goal of this project is to reduce the temperature, noise and back pressure of the exhaust by varying the amount of water injected.

An optimum amount of injection will be found which sometimes the reduction of these three parameters in the most useful manner. Experimentation will be carried out after a mathematical analysis, on the Academy's gas turbines.

Cadet Johnson presently holds the position of Platoon petty officer in the cadet regiment and is on the Superintendent's List, signifying a high academic and conduct achievement. He will be graduated this June, receiving a bachelor of science degree and be commissioned as an ensign, U.S. Coast Guard.

TEMPLE YOUTH OF NEW JERSEY TO STUDY TORAH

The Jersey Federation of Temple Youth will hold a Kallah Saturday at Temple Sinai, Summit. It has been announced by Irving Wallock, director of the group.

About 100 young people from 31 New Jersey reform Jewish congregations, including Temple Shalom of Springfield, will take part. Michael Kraemer of Springfield is state president.

A Kallah in ancient times was an annual gathering to study Jewish law. The topic Saturday will be "A New Look at Torah." Rabbi Morrison D. Bial of Temple Sinai and Rabbi Bernard Honan of Temple Emanuel, Westfield, will lead seminar discussions on the Bible.

The semi-finals of the JETV sermonette contest will be held at services Saturday morning. The evening program will include a performance of stories by Shalom Aleichem.

WATER for BETTER LIVING

Ever get a hankering for the "good old days"? Of course. The trouble is we like to recall only those things that made us happy. And the "good old days" of outdoor plumbing was not one of them. Many of the conveniences of modern living were science fiction in grand-father's day. Hot and cold running water, automatic washing machines, dish washers, sparkling bath rooms. They are yours to enjoy without a second thought thanks to your modern water system.

HADASSAH-GROUP HIGHLIGHTS WORK SERVING YOUTH

Youth services are being highlighted this month by the Springfield Chapter of Hadassah.

Mrs. Jules Kazin, Blue Box chairman, has reminded members to bring their Blue Boxes to this meeting.

A luncheon and card party benefiting the Youth Aliyah (child welfare) program was held at E. Altman's, Short Hills last Thursday. Mrs. Aaron Ratner was chairman of this project.

Spring Tag Week is currently being held. Local merchants are cooperating with the chapter. Mrs. David Schwartz, president, urged the public to contribute to this cause and respond to the women wearing the tag, "Can Clinckers." All funds realized will support the Hadassah child care program.

At a regular meeting tonight at 8:30 at Temple Beth Ahim, Mrs. Melvin Bloomfield, program chairman, will present the Young Judas Dancers, who will perform for members and guests.

WORK BY CHAYAT TO BE DISPLAYED AT SHOW IN N.Y.

Maxwell M. Chayat, Springfield artist and silversmith, will display a bronze candelabra in the annual exhibition of Artists-Craftsmen of New York today to May 23 at the National Design Center, 415 E. 53rd St., New York City.

Nationally known artists will display a variety of work, with emphasis on items that "are both decorative and functional for use in the home or by the individual." It was announced. Categories will include book-binding, ceramics, enamel, glass, jewelry, metal smithing, sculpture, textiles and wood.

Chayat, who has his studio at 530 Morris ave., Springfield, recently completed a one-man show at the Summit Art Center. He currently has works on display at Seton Hall University in South Orange.

Methodists Plan Voting On Budget For Coming Year

The members of Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church will be asked to pledge their "loyalty to Christ and His Church" this coming Sunday at the German and English services, 9:30 and 10:45 a.m., through underwriting the largest budget in the history of the local church. It amounts to $39,707.

David W. Brown and Ferdinand Harbeger, co-chairmen, of the commission on stewardship and finance, stated that the budget had been approved by the official board on Feb. 2. They anticipate that the budget will be met through the weekly contributions of the church members and constituents, and through special offerings.

Special attention will be given at the 10:45 a.m. service to the meaning of Christian stewardship, as Pastor Dewart entitles his message, "On Being Partners With God" using the familiar story of the boy Jesus in the Temple at Jerusalem as his text.

Weekly offering envelopes covering the period from May 1, 1965, through April 31, 1966, will be available in the narthex following the service.

At the same service, the 1965 congregation will participate in the interfaith "One Great Hour Of Sharing" through which aid will be given to needy persons throughout the world. The appeal offering will benefit the world mission of the Methodist Church, and provide for Methodists in the various services.

Parents' Evening For Youth Group

The Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowship of Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church will hold a parents' night this Sunday at 7 in the Trivett Room, according to Joyce Maier, youth advisor.

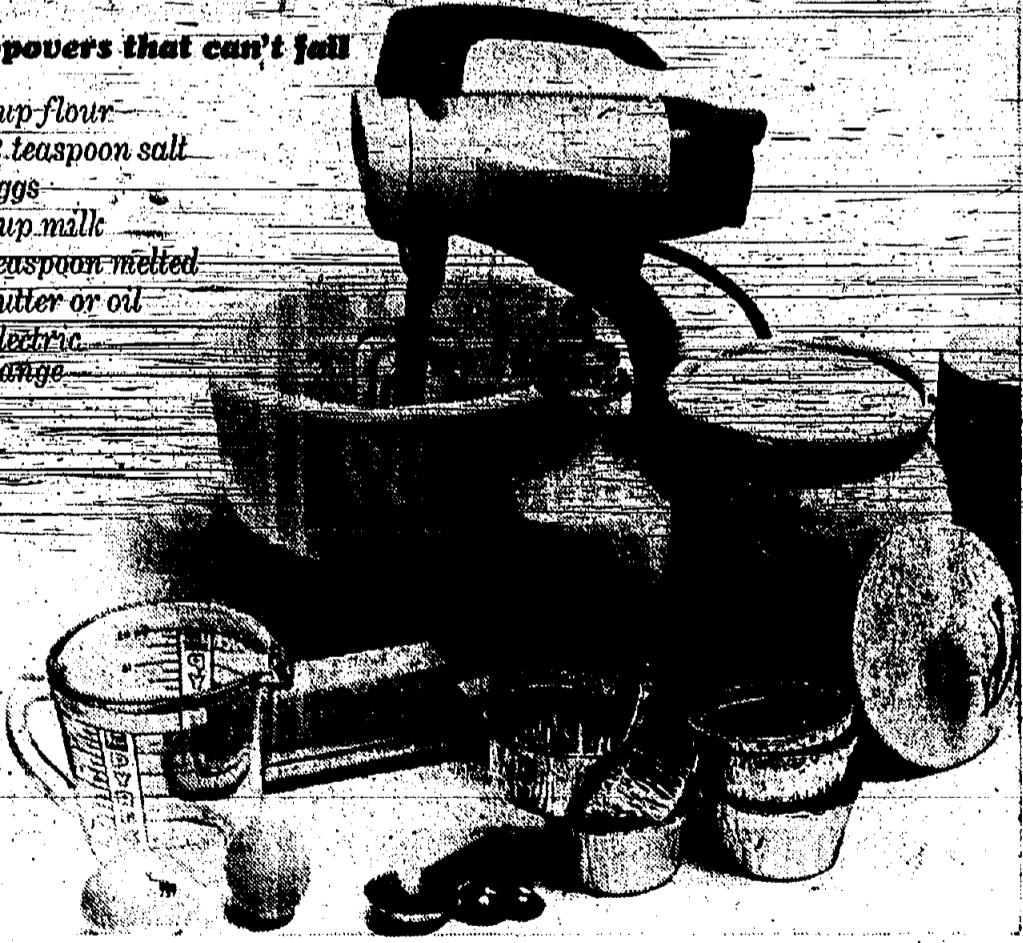

Members of the group have extended an invitation to their parents to attend a typical Sunday evening meeting, led by James Cannon, Robert Gleason and Peter Brunny.

Edward Andrew, president, under whose leadership the program has been planned stated that the theme will be "Songs For A Small Planet," prepared for Youth Week under the direction of the youth department of the National Council of Churches. Following worship and discussion, refreshments will be served in the Mundy Room.

Popovers that can't fail

- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon melted butter or oil
- 1 electric range

WITHOUT A FEAR of failure go right ahead and combine the ingredients in the order given. Then confidently beat them together with an electric beater. Grease six custard cups and fill halfway with the blended ingredients. Now comes the reassuring part. Put in the preheated electric oven and bake at 375° for 45 to 50 minutes. If you've mixed everything correctly, you can't fail. The reason why popovers often don't pop is that the oven temperature is not steady. That can't happen here. Because it's flameless, the electric oven can be sealed-in with insulation all around, top and bottom. Heat won't fluctuate.

PEANUTS MAKE HEALTHY TASTE TREATS

"Peanuts, popcorn and candy," says the Barker at the circus of county fair. This association with machine refreshment no doubt helps to make some people think of peanuts chiefly for snacking enjoyment. Actually, peanuts are a food and a good one worthy of a place on main meal menus.

made with peanuts. Peanut Cheese Loaf is one illustration.

The largest consumption of peanuts is in the form of peanut butter, which takes over 80 percent of the edible crop. Americans eat 210,000 tons of peanut butter a year, an average of more than two pounds per man, woman, child and baby. Over 80 percent of all American homes have a jar of peanut butter on the kitchen shelf at this moment.

Ask Amy BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: My husband is understanding, sweet, and a wonderful guy. But my mother lives 18 miles away from me, which is a toll call. My husband allows me to do whatever I want and buy whatever I choose. My mother insists that I call her every day. She's elderly and these calls comfort her. If I don't call, she worries about the children and me. My dear husband disagrees with this, as I can understand, because the phone bills are so high.

done something about it a long time ago. Some women enjoy being walked on and made a fool of. Don't interfere!

Dear Amy: I'm in the 8th grade and play the drums very well. I must practice, but every night when I attempt to, my parents tell me to be quiet. They once promised me a set of drums, but now say they won't make good on their promise. I love playing the drums and don't want to give them up just because my parents don't like the noise. What can I do?

A Racketeer: Your parents' wishes take precedence over yours. However, parents are not to be taken too far. Perhaps they will compromise - on a quieter instrument which you will enjoy. Do ask them... and good luck!

Dear Amy: The implication of your quoted reply is such that I must take issue with you. If the bride values "her day" above her parents' moral principles, she certainly should not be supported in this. They, not she, "give" the wedding. Even if she likes so many employed young women, that is not her expense. It doesn't give her the right to treat her parents as enemies and scolders as she has done to her daughter in her home. To insult and embarrass them reveals her lack of love and respect.

When she is married, and in her own home, she may then choose her own way, lovingly different from her parents. Rosemary Locke

Dear Amy: I know a lady whose husband, for a year or more, has been going out with another woman. She knows he does. They have grown children and they know it, too. She and the children are respectable. They don't approve of what he is doing even though they act as if nothing is wrong - just hoping that he will change and stay home and take over the responsibilities of the home and pay his debts instead of spending his money on this other woman.

Everyone knows that he is neglecting his good family. Is his wife doing right by going on and living a life like this, hoping that he might change? Should a friend talk to her and try to help her, or just let her go on living this kind of life and lose the respect of her friends and children? Just Concerned

Dear Concerned: It's not a friend's place to talk to her. It's up to her to talk to him! If she didn't want to live this kind of life, she would have

JIRLS OF DAYTON OUTSCORE LINDEN IN 3 OF 4 GAMES

By DIANE SCOBAY

The Dayton Regional senior girls basketball team scored a 15-12 victory over Linden in the first of four games in the final quarter of the season. The seniors won with a 61-point margin, and the juniors, with a three-point edge, in the first quarter of the season. Sheryl Baldwin, Irene and Kathy Wager each scored on foul shots. Kathy Wager also scored two field goals to give Dayton an 8-3 lead. Cathy Evans and Sheryl Baldwin scored in the second half, and Diane Scobay and Kathy Wager scored field goals. Linden proved weak in the first and the Dayton seniors, in 14-6.

Princeton, Harvard Will Meet In Final Of Ivy League Tourney

The semi-finals of the Recreation Department's Ivy League basketball play-offs were conducted last Thursday evening at the Florence Gaudinier School. Princeton and Harvard were the survivors from these elimination games, and the two top squads will face each other tonight in the championship game.

Softball Activities To Be Reviewed; Umpires Needed

Chances for as many as three softball leagues in Springfield this summer will depend on the interest indicated at a meeting to be held next Thursday, April 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation House. It was announced this week by the Springfield Recreation Department.

The championship game will be held tonight at the Gaudinier School. Princeton took the floor against Cornell in the first game last Thursday evening, and the Princeton squad was victorious by the final score of 45 to 31. Cornell had conquered Princeton twice during the regular season. This was a see-saw battle from the outset, as the lead changed hands on numerous occasions. The final quarter of the game was particularly tight as Cornell made a determined charge at the Princeton team, who had forged ahead at this point.

Approximately 400 Springfield boys between the ages of nine and 15 are expected to participate Saturday morning in baseball tryouts of the Springfield Babe Ruth Leagues and Springfield Youth League. Tryouts for Youth League are scheduled for Meinel Field from 9 a.m. to noon. Babe Ruth League aspirants will try out at Sandmeier Field, also from 9 a.m. to noon. In the event of bad weather, all tryouts will be held on Saturday, April 3.

Seasoned Dayton Golfers Include Two Brothers Acts

With a highly experienced squad behind him, Coach Adam LaSota of the Dayton Regional High School golf team hopes to have one of his most successful seasons this year. Last year's Dayton Hawksmen won 18 matches while losing only three.

Coach LaSota feels that these boys will not be seriously mislead, and he hopes to win at least one tournament title this year. The Dayton golfers participate in the Wachung Conference, and the state and county four-able shooters in the low 80's. Both are long ball hitters.

Mike Zdonick and Robert Schubert are called the most developed shooters on the squad by LaSota. Zdonick was the high scorer in last year's state tournament qualifying round. Another brother duo on the team will be Dave and Rich Cohen. LaSota expects these two to become the most improved athletes on the team.

State League Game Decides Champion

Springfield's league champion, Oklahoma and the Cinderella team, Texas, have fought their way into the finals of the State Basketball League play-offs.

Coach LaSota said, "Playing at Ballston gives the boys more satisfaction at playing real golf. The course is a good test of their ability. There is no crowding and no waiting, so the play seems like a real match. We also have the advantage that the greens are unfamiliar to our opponents, but I can't reveal what makes them so difficult."

Coach LaSota finished the golf team at Dayton 14 years ago. The first year two meetings were held, but no candidates appeared. Several years later, Herb Palmer, now athletic director and head football coach, did form a team which was taken over by LaSota the next year.

Lucariello Receives Army Basic Training

Pvt. Ronald A. Lucariello of Springfield is receiving Army basic training at Fort Dix in conjunction with the reserve enlistment program. Following six months of training, he will be transferred to a National Guard unit in Kentucky.

Bullet Bowlers Tie For Boys' Top Spot

After trailing the Rockets all season in Springfield boys bowling, the Bullets pulled themselves into a first place tie last week in the Boys' Bowling League.

The Rockets bounced back to take the second contest behind Mike Rubinfeld and Sal Mucario. Todd Herman paced all bowlers in this match with a 280 series. Mike Rubinfeld and Richy Falcone were the top men for the Rockets, while Falcone topped a 234 series.

4 Strikes Win 2, Take Over Lead

The Four Strikes took the lead last week in the Springfield Recreation Department Girls Bowling League when they took two games from the Wildcats at the Springfield Bowl.

Anderson Bowls 600-Plus Series

Springfield Markel, led by Robert Anderson's 207-215-214, took two games from league-leading Policarpio Atlantic in Springfield-Municipal Bowling last week at Springfield Bowl.

Conte's Bowlers Retain Slim Lead

Conte's Delleatessen won two games from Ehrhardt Television in Springfield-Sports bowling at Springfield Bowl, to maintain a one-game lead over York.

Pussycats Lead; Rat Finks In 2nd

The Pussycats and Rat Finks each won two games to stay ahead of the field in the Smithfield Park Mixed bowling competition at Echo Lanes.

REALTOR OF THE WEEK Future Of Real Estate Market Forecast By Brounell & Kramer Resale Survey

An accurate barometer for judging the new home market for the next five to eight years is the resale purchase market of today, according to Charles Kramer, partner with Lew Brounell in the firm of Brounell and Kramer, Union, one of New Jersey's largest home sales agencies.

CHARLES KRAMER

He bases this opinion on the results of a study-in-depth of Brounell and Kramer's resale customers in Union and Middlesex counties. A sampling of 1,000 families who purchased resale homes in the last three years was sent a five-point questionnaire which asked: 1. Is this the first home you have purchased?

The two features the home buyers found "most appealing" were floor plan and neighborhood. Brounell and Kramer customers in Union County gave the former a 57.1 per cent rating and the latter 25.8 per cent.

In Middlesex, floor plan was most appealing, to 35.8 per cent of the buyers and neighborhood to 48.6 per cent.

The next group consisted of those who had seen 0-10 homes, with 39.3 per cent from Union and 35.5 per cent from Middlesex falling into this category. "I suspect that these figures are more or less valid on a statewide basis," Kramer says.

major share of the new-home market in the next decade. Moreover, since they come from homes and not apartments, they will have a much more definite idea of what they are looking for than the average home-buyer.

According to the survey, location ranks highest as the inducement for the buyer. In Union County, buyers gave it a 33.1 per cent rating; in Middlesex 31.6 per cent.

The next motivating factor was price, with a 23.3 per cent rating in Union and 27.4 per cent in Middlesex.

In both counties, room sizes and floor plan ranked third and fourth, respectively.

Elderly Persons Board

Realtors across the state pledged their support to winning a "house" against New Jersey's leading fog, air and water pollution, David E. Feinstein, president of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards, said this week.

Meeting in executive session, the State Realtor Association approved a resolution pledging the support of its 2,700 members to the adoption of a plan which will curb the air and water pollution of New Jersey air and water resources.

Reporting the action, Feinstein said that "government at all levels, industries big and small and the 'man in the street' must act together to take the necessary steps to insure that New Jersey will remain the Garden State."

"We are at the crossroads and must face the challenge before us or risk the risk of having the Garden State in the not-too-distant future become a smog-shrouded wasteland of contaminated waters."

The Realtors' resolution also foresees New Jersey losing its desirability as a wonderful place to live, work and play unless positive steps are taken immediately through legislation and voluntary restraint to correct the pollution problems.

Union Educator Will Help Direct Business Parley

Miss Margaret Morrison, chairman of business education in Union, is serving as co-chairman of the meeting to be held Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. at Thomas Jefferson High School, Elizabeth, by the New Jersey Business Education Association.

The meeting, for business teachers of Union and Middlesex counties and the cities of Newark, Bayonne and Jersey City, will feature a simulated classroom situation using simulated business equipment.

Students from Union High School and the Elizabeth High School will participate in the classroom demonstrations. A question and answer period will follow these demonstrations. Also, exhibitors will display their equipment before and after the planned program.

Miss Morrison, who was president of the association in 1964, will demonstrate two pieces of equipment. She will show how it is possible to keep students at a predetermined rate of speed in typewriting and will demonstrate how this special equipment can aid teachers in meeting individual student differences.

William Butkus, who will serve as co-chairman, will act as moderator for the program. He is building department chairman of Batlin High School and is on the staff of the education department of Seton Hall University.

Report From Trenton

by State Senator Nelson F. Stamer (R-Union)

And they rode off into the sunset to live happily ever after.

That finale is generally a foregone conclusion in dramatic circles and the recipe from which fantasy and dreams are made. But real life dramas often have other finales in store for us, some not as rewarding. Sure things are usually reserved for fiction, not fact.

Our state government is a fact and there is certainly no such thing as a "sure thing" in Trenton.

None of us who sit in legislative session week after week are naive enough to believe that all proposals we submit are destined to have fitted lives and become law without some argument, opposition and defeat. These are healthy roadblocks and we all expect them.

But as tough-skinned as a legislator might become during his terms of office, there are always those illuminating moments of insight when he is sure he has placed before his fellow lawmakers a piece of legislation that will win unanimous approval on the merits of timing, seriousness of purpose and common sense.

Such was my feeling not long ago when I introduced a bill calling for the establishment of a seven-member State Insurance Commission in the Department of the Treasury to be appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate. The Commission would determine the ways in which New Jersey would purchase insurance to guard against losses. As I saw it, this measure was a sound one. It would have saved taxpayer dollars while placing insurance decisions in the hands of a highly competent group.

The bill got off to a good start. It was passed by the Assembly and Senate and was recently sent to the Governor's office for final approval. Much to my regret the Governor saw fit to veto the bill on the grounds that its passage would force politics into the insurance business. This is far from being true. As the Newark News, in its lead editorial of March 14 put it: "The fact is that Mr. Stamer's bill was designed to do just the opposite—to take politics including politicians, out of the state's insurance business."

My bill into law would also have signed off the salaries of the chairman and five other members of the present Insurance Advisory Committee now at $10,000 and $5,000 per year respectively. It would have placed the functions of a non-salaried group well within the borders of state jurisdiction, eliminating the possibilities of political favoritism at the insurance broker level.

My hobby for a long time has been the "hand-picked" few. In my opinion, disapproval of any bill on grounds similar to those used by the Governor in this particular case only tend to further illustrate the dilemma in Trenton.

New Jersey, the industrial, residential and agricultural giant is flexing its muscles and beginning to grow larger and still more affluent. Standing in the way of this growth is a situation which our state "capital" which allows political favoritism narrow thinking and a total disregard for the public good to run rampant.

There are many names for this disease but the first one to come to mind is "Politics." Perhaps a little less politics and a little more common sense at the executive level would give New Jersey its full chance at growth. As long as common sense and common good are permitted to remain in the shadows while personal gain and expediency are in the spotlight, New Jersey will never realize those happy endings we all keep hoping for.

Stevens Named To Head Panel For Cancer Fund

F. Emery Stevens of Roselle has been named to head the entertainment committee for the American Cancer Society, Union Chapter, fund raising dinner scheduled for April 20 at the Park Hotel in Plainfield.

Albert W. Stender of Plainfield, chairman of the special gifts committee, said the dinner had a goal of $10,000.

Assisting in the dinner arrangements and recruitment of sponsors are Charles V. Carman and Walter Hitzsch, both of Union, and Raymond Donahue and Andrew Klepich, both of Linden.

The committee will meet next Tuesday at the Winfield-Scott Hotel in Elizabeth for reports on sponsors and final plans for the dinner.

YMCA Sets Week For Registration

Joseph Simons, assistant youth director of the YMCA of Eastern Union County, has announced that this week is Youth Registration Week.

All youth activities at the YMCA will stop in order to take in new members for all the classes, he said.

The registration will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today and tomorrow and 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

The spring holiday will begin March 28. At the present time there are still openings in all swimming, instruction classes and in the Sunday morning and afternoon study programs, he said.

Day camp registration will also be accepted at this time. For further additional information, call the Elizabeth YMCA at EL 2-0850, he added.

Registrar Tells UJC Enrollment

An enrollment of 1,224 students for the current Spring Semester of Union Junior College, Cranford, was announced by Miss Dorothea Wiersma, registrar.

The total includes 672 students in the Day Session, and 552 students in the Evening Session. Miss Wiersma reported that 887 men and 337 women enrolled at UJC this semester.

The total includes 113 students who are in college for the first time, including 23 in the Day Session, and 90 in the Evening Session.

Fifty-five per cent of the students reside in Union County, including the student nurses and special students. There are 675 residents of Union County attending UJC this semester, 494 men and 181 women.
