Political Parties Pick New Chiefs

Springfield's two political parties selected new municipal chairmen at their annual organization meetings this week. Taking part in the meetings were county committeemen and committeewomen for the town's 13 voting districts who were named in the June 1 primary election.

Bultman Will Direct GOP Organization

Henry Bultman was elected as leader of the Republican Party organization in Springfield this week. He succeeds Philip Del Vecchio, Township Committeeman now seeking election to the State Assembly. Bultman, who lives at 86 Fielstone dr., is county committeeman in the ninth district and has been active in campaigns for the past several years. Leonard Garner of 80 Garden oval was named vice-chairman of the municipal county committee. Also elected were Amy Bandomer of 541 S. Springfield ave., executive member to the county committee; Betty Barrett of 6 Cypress ter., secretary, and Henry Guenther of 33 Twin Oaks oval, treasurer. Bultman's election followed a contest for the municipal leadership. Other contenders were Garner, John A. Grifo and James Barrett.

Callen Is Selected Democratic Leader

Wallace Callen was elected Springfield Democratic Party chairman at the annual meeting of the township's county committeemen Monday evening. Callen, who lives at 10 Mohawk dr., succeeds Mrs. Ruth Hillard. She has been acting chairman since the resignation of Alex Blackman as party leader last fall because of business obligations which kept him out of town much of the time. Callen was named in an election contest with Mrs. Hillard. Also chosen were Anne Olesky of 57 Garden oval, vice-chairman; Robert Weitzel of 14 Mohawk dr., secretary, and Donald Mantel of 27 Tudor ct., treasurer.

Statement By Callen

He declared, "I firmly believe that the prospects for the Democratic Party in Springfield this election year are excellent. Our candidates, Henry Grabarz and George Merrill for Township Committeemen and Marie Smith for tax collector, are the best qualified candidates for the offices they seek. "The Springfield Democratic organization this year has the largest active and broad-based support it has had in many years. We have a vital organization, with many new enthusiastic workers, and a firm foundation of party regulars. "Springfield will gain and prosper as a result of a Democratic victory in November. Our candidates and I say, 'We are proud to live in Springfield.'"

Hospital Asks Aid Of Pollen Victims In Allergy Studies

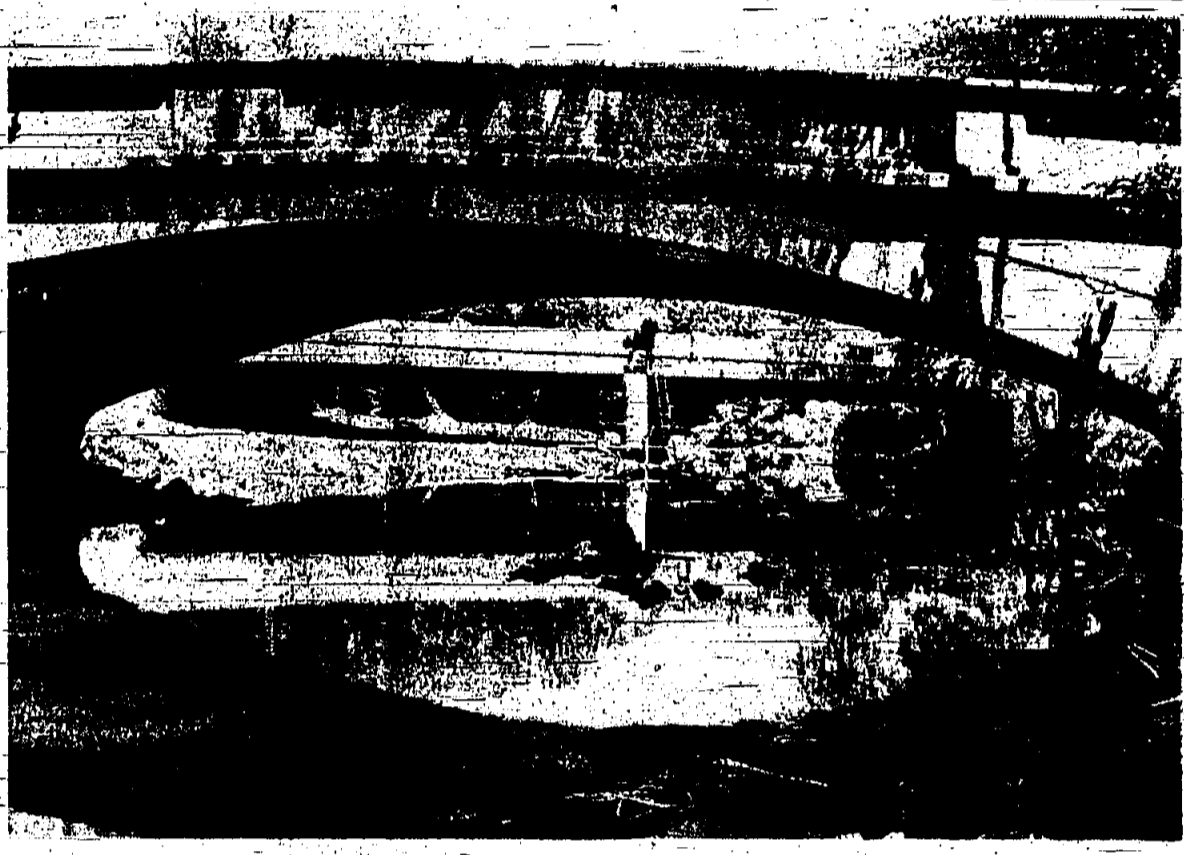

Hay Fever Sufferers Will List Symptoms To Assist Research

Readers of the Springfield Leader who suffer from hay fever, asthma, chronic bronchitis and pulmonary emphysema are being asked to volunteer to report their symptoms in an 18-community study of the effects of air pollution, pollen and weather on these chronic ailments. This was announced this week by Dr. William Weiss, director of the allergy research department of Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston. The State Department of Health and Saint Barnabas are co-sponsoring the study, which will take place from Aug. 1 to Nov. 1. Dr. Weiss asked that volunteers telephone the Medical Center at 992-5500, extension 264, to register to take part in the study. The allergy patients will send each volunteer a card of forms on which the person can check off symptoms and discomforts. Another way of joining in the study, Dr. Weiss explained, is to ask for a form at pharmacies in the community. Local pharmacists are helping in the project by making information and forms available to customers who buy proprietary or prescription drugs designed to alleviate one of the four subject ailments. Dr. Weiss noted that this is the first medical research program ever conducted in which communications media, the profession of pharmacy and the general public have been invited to participate. He added that the "success achieved in this effort could lead to new techniques in epidemiological studies of other ailments."

Municipal Study

The announcement from Saint Barnabas comes while the Springfield Township Committee is engaged in a study leading to a possible municipal air pollution study.

LOOKING FORWARD — The new bridge over the Rahway River at Milltown rd. will open the latter part of next week for traffic between Springfield and Union, according to Joseph Komleh, county engineer. The new bridge, at rear above, was constructed jointly by the county, the two townships and the Union County Park Commission. It will eliminate a major traffic hazard caused by narrow, twisting approach roads on both sides of the river. The old bridge, in foreground, will be demolished in the near future to facilitate the flow of water and alleviate flood conditions. This project will not affect traffic across the river, Komleh declared.

Alleged Violation By Builder Cited At Town Meeting

Playground Buses Slated For Children From Baltusrol Top

By ANNER GOLD

Traffic problems, alleged delay in correcting building code violations and a dispute over bus transportation for playground-bound youngsters shared top billing at the Township Committee meeting Tuesday night at Town Hall. A group of Henshaw ave. residents entered on the governing body to halt the use of Franklyn pl. and Henshaw ave. as a speedway by drivers avoiding the traffic light at Mountain ave. and Shunpike rd. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Glueck of 5 Outlook way told the committee that a builder had dug a 10-foot-deep trench adjoining their property unfilled for more than a month, and that the building inspector had not acted to have the ditch filled. Plans were unveiled to clarify for children from the Baltusrol area twice a day in Sandy meier playground this summer, rather than construct temporary playground facilities on Skylark rd. Committeeman Jay Blum, elected with his colleagues over this proposal, attacking the possibility of a bus line which will depend on the number of children wanting to ride. James W. Reine, Mayor William F. Feany announced the retirement of William W. Lavin as secretary of the Board of Assessors, effective Dec. 1. The committee approved hiring of Jay Longfield, of 27 Colfax rd., as a full-time member of the Board of Assessors, at an annual salary of $7,000 per year. He will serve as an "understudy" to Lavin until the latter retires, it was stated. Police Promotions. On the recommendation of Police Commissioner Robert G. Planer, the committee approved two promotions to the rank of police lieutenant. Detective Thomas Kennedy will replace Lt. Otto Sturm, who has retired. Sgt. Leslie Bell, head of the detective bureau, will serve in the same function in his new rank. Also approved were promotions of Patrolmen Lowell Hardy and Robert Kellerman to the rank of patrolman-first class. A contract for fencing playground property was awarded to the low bidder, Duragard Fence Co. of Newark, for $7,100. Henshaw Traffic. The case for making Franklyn pl. one way to reduce traffic hazards on Henshaw ave. was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fielding of 50 Henshaw ave. They and other neighbors criticized delay in dealing with the problem since their first intrusion a month ago, and they presented a petition calling for prompt action. They announced a meeting with residents of Henshaw ave., Warwick circle and other streets in the area, to be held at 6:30 p.m. June 23, before the next township committee meeting. He directed Ennis Bennett, traffic consultant, and Police Chief Wilbur C. Selander to take a traffic count on the streets in question and to tighten up on speeders. Bennett commented that, (Continued on Page 3) TOWN MEETING

CHU LAI, SOUTH-VIETNAM. Builder—Third Class John Buckley, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Buckley of 112 S. Maple Ave., Springfield, N. J., participated in the largest combat amphibious operation since Inchon, Korea, in 1950, last month while serving with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 10 (Seabees). Buckley is a 1960 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, where he was a member of the varsity football and track teams. In his four years with the Seabees, he has served in California, the Philippines, Guam and Okinawa. He is married to the former Jean Birch of Mountainside, and they have two daughters, Lisa Anne and Kelly Jean. Initial elements of the Fourth Regiment and Third Reconnaissance Battalion were landed at Chu Lai, Republic of Viet Nam, on May 7. This was the first completely "over the beach" landing in the four American amphibious landings that have been made in South Viet Nam. Without the harbor landing ramps of Da Nang to rely on, all the Marines' equipment and supplies were landed over the Seabee-installed causeways or flown in by Marine helicopters from the ships anchored off Chu Lai, to the south of Da Nang. The landing also incorporated the initial combat use of Americans of vertical assault with the landing of combat troops by helicopter from the amphibious assault ship USS Princeton. The Marines were quickly followed ashore by Navy Seabees, who immediately began construction of an airfield behind the Chu Lai beaches. The Marines were landed at the request of the Republic of Viet Nam government and are to provide security for the airfield, similar to their mission at Da Nang, relieving South Vietnamese Army troops presently in the area.

Fund Shortage Seen As Threat To Future Baseball Leagues

Plans to limit the number of teams in the Springfield Youth Baseball League next year, if additional funds are not obtained this spring, are under consideration by league officials, it was disclosed this week. Jack Williams, director of business administration, stated that this would be the first time in its 11 years of operation that the Springfield Baseball organization could not find a place for every boy who wanted to play. The league now provides competition and instruction for more than 400 boys, aged nine to 15, through its Babe Ruth major and minor leagues, Youth major and minor leagues and farm clubs for boys starting out in the sport. "As of this week," Williams declared, "the league does not have enough funds to meet this year's obligations. This is the third year in a row that this has occurred. "It appears that boys may have to be turned away next year. Participation in 1966 will have to be limited by the amount of the funds that we receive." He added that this year's fund drive, "although slightly more successful than it was last year, was nowhere near what is required to support a league of this nature. More important, the drive for funds among the business community has been disappointing. Williams also stated that some organizations in Springfield "have been extremely generous" and that the baseball league and its officials are grateful for the help, but that "in general, the response from the business community was poor."

Speaking on behalf of the youth of Springfield, Williams called on all residents of Springfield and business leaders in the township to send additional contributions to Springfield Junior Baseball League, Inc., PO Box 312, Springfield, or to the treasurer, Robert Fielding, 50 Henshaw ave., Springfield. Stressing again that "the league has never in its 11-year history turned away a boy who wanted to play baseball," Williams said, "The plight of the league in not gaining sufficient contributions for its operations makes it necessary for us to consider this necessity. We hope that this appeal to the community will make this course of action unnecessary."

Irwin Tennis Show Is Talbert-McKinley

Billy Talbert and Chuck McKinley, two of the country's top tennis stars over the past two decades, will present an exhibition tennis program at the Irwin Playground courts. They will also assist in a tennis clinic to be conducted by Charley Lundgren, former intercollegiate doubles champion and now varsity coach at Upsala College. Special bleachers will be put up to accommodate the crowd expected for the program, according to the Springfield Recreation Department. Admission will be free. In the event of rain, the program will be held indoors at the Florence Gaudineer School. The new tennis court to be in use by July 1 at the Sandmeier Playground will be the sixth in the township, the Recreation Department stated, outlining plans for an accelerated tennis program this summer. There will be two courts at Sandmeier, two at Irwin, one at Henshaw and one at Woodside. This summer's tennis program will be conducted by John Swedish, faculty member at Jonathan Daton Regional High School. The emphasis will be on instruction in fundamentals for boys and girls and men and women. Also planned are formal matches, tournaments at the various playgrounds and then municipal championship tournaments in all categories. Talbert, one of the featured stars this Tuesday, has won 26 national championships in 20 years of national and international amateur competition. He was captain of the U.S. Davis Cup team for five years. One of the top doubles players in the history of tennis, Talbert teamed with Gardner Mulry to gain permanent possession of the national championship trophy and to achieve considerable success in Davis Cup and other international competition. Talbert is also noted as one of the first top athletes to compete successfully although suffering from diabetes. Despite his physical handicap, he has long been a top competitor in a particularly grueling sport. McKinley was ranked first in the nation in 1962 and 1963 and has been in the top five times. He has also received first ranking in doubles. Winner of the British championship in 1963 at Wimbledon, McKinley has also been a Davis Cup standout. The exhibition and clinic on Tuesday were arranged in cooperation of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

Report to the People

From Your Congresswoman
FLORENCE P. DWYER (6th District N.J.)
It sometimes happens that a perfectly sound, completely desirable public policy is presented in such a hurried-up and surreptitious way that it unnecessarily arouses public suspicion and threatens to become self-defeating.

Public Understanding

Beyond the obvious need for action to reduce the squeeze on silver, however, the question of public acceptance of the new coins is vital. Coins are one commodity which everyone in the population uses — from tiny-tot with his piggy bank to department store owners and big city bankers.

It sometimes happens that a perfectly sound, completely desirable public policy is presented in such a hurried-up and surreptitious way that it unnecessarily arouses public suspicion and threatens to become self-defeating. Such, it seems to me, is the case with the Administration's proposal to have our shinking silver supply by reducing the silver content of the half-dollar piece — and eliminating silver completely from dimes and quarters.

The Springfield Lodge of the Order of Elks will hold a salute to the flag ceremony at the Lodge Home at 80 Springfield ave. at 8 p.m. Monday. The public is invited to attend.

The American Legion Continental Post will also participate in the service, and Robert D. Hardgrove will address the group.

The Springfield lodge will be one of more than 2,000 Elks groups across the nation which will conduct Flag Day programs.

George King, exalted ruler, has said. The Elks organization has honored Flag Day since 1907. This year marks the 18th anniversary of the adoption by the Continental Congress in 1777 of the resolution prescribing the design of the United States flag.

local slates this year.

Del Vecchio said he had retired from the chairmanship because "you should not try to be all things to all people. I will be on the Township Committee until the end of the year, and I am trying to campaign, very intensively, for the Assembly."

"I don't know just how hard it is to ring every doorbell in the county, but I intend to try. I have started already, in the areas of Roselle Park and Union. Everyone I have visited has been quite cordial; people are pleased to be visited by a candidate."

Party Approach

Del Vecchio commented that he "absolutely will ring just as many doorbells in Democratic neighborhoods as in Republican areas. No one can win in Union County with a strictly partisan approach."

Referring to what is expected to be a central issue of the campaign, Del Vecchio said he had not yet taken a final stand on proposals for a broad-based state tax, usually thought of in terms of a levy on either sales or income.

"Our first need," he stressed, "is for a thorough review of the present tax structure. I certainly agree on the need for added support of educational institutions."

"First, however, I wonder if maybe the issue is not broad enough. Perhaps some of the present taxes could be dropped. If we adopt a broad-based tax, such as the business-personal property tax:

"There are certainly pros and cons concerning both a sales tax and a state income tax. I would like to see a nonpartisan convention called to examine New Jersey's entire tax structure."

LICENSE REVOKED

Eddie G. Stewart, 18, 202 Oswald pl., Union, was fined $55 Monday in Springfield Municipal Court and had his driver's license revoked for 90 days after pleading guilty to a charge of driving 80 miles per hour in 30-mile-zoned Morris ave. in May 14. In addition, Magistrate Max Sherman fined Stewart $10 for contempt after the motorist failed to appear in court on an originally scheduled date.

Patricia Mytrowitz Conzolo of 92 Linden ave. will receive a B. A. degree in general elementary education.

A bachelor's degree in early childhood education will be awarded to Susan Lea Mattoon of 18 Forest dr.

LEADER PROFILE

MRS. JENNY KING

Mrs. Jenny King of 63 Tooker ave., Springfield, has told four generations of her children about the very beginnings of the Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church. And when her great-grand-son is old enough to sit down and listen to the fascinating stories on how Sunday School was conducted in a small kitchen 75 years ago — and how all of Springfield was nothing but farms and dirt roads, she'll fill him in on the histories of her church and her town.

She'll tell him about the trials and tribulations of the 85½ years of her life, her 75-year membership in what is now Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church, and how "the good Lord brought me through . . . two near deaths and some of the worse kind of sorrow and tragedy that one woman could ever be burdened with."

Mrs. King, who looks astoundingly like a woman in her early sixties rather than a woman who will see 86 on her next birthday — came January 27 — welcomed a reporter into her comfortable home, and sat down for an amiable enlightening chat. "Yes," the attractive white-haired Mrs. King sighed nostalgically, "in 75 years, I've seen that church grow . . . from the first when they conducted Sunday School in the small kitchen, to a time the church was enlarged. I had a candy table there at that time. They've added to the building twice since."

"They had no sidewalks then — and we walked to church in the rain and the mud up to here . . ." she indicated, a knee, "but when I say 'we' I mean most of the old timers — but most all of them are gone now. Yes, ma'am, most of the old timers are gone."

"I REMEMBER so many of our pastors — who have come and gone . . . but I can't remember their names. I have a poor memory for names . . . but I do remember Mr. Miller and Dr. Gilbert and Mr. Neff."

"We've had some wonderful ministers," Mrs. King said, "but I guess the most wonderful of all is the minister we have now . . . Mr. Dewart. He's the nicest one we've ever had. Everybody seems to like him. He's so pleasant, and he visits the congregation in their homes."

"I remember, and it wasn't very long ago, the second time I nearly died, when I had a very serious operation. Pastor Dewart came to visit me in the hospital, and then he came every other day to my home until I was able to go back to church."

Mrs. King, a deeply religious woman, has always found comfort in her church and in her Bible and prayer books. Once, years ago when she was a child in her home town in Cranford, and there was a fire in her house, she proved her devotion.

"EVERYONE in the family took an armful of clothes and ran out of the house," she recalled. "I grabbed these Bibles and ran out into the street. My mother and father laughed at me—I had no clothes with me or anything . . . except these two Bibles . . ."

Mrs. King displayed the two worn, much-used Bibles. One was a German Bible and had the year 1846 printed in gold on its faded cover.

Mrs. King said she moved to Springfield when she was seven years old. "I attended a school which was near the Methodist church, but it was torn down a long time ago. Then I went part time to a school in Newark. (Names she indicated, elude her, and she couldn't remember the name of either school.) We lived on Millburn ave. then. It was a farm at that time."

Mrs. King's first husband, Charles Parcell, was a carpenter-contractor who built the house she lives in 51 years ago. "He also built the house next door. In fact, he built that one first and we lived there for seven years before moving to this address."

Mrs. King had three children with her first husband, two daughters and a son — Irmgard, Lillian and AJTON Douglas. Lillian is the only surviving daughter and she lives with Mrs. King on Tooker ave. "I had an awful rough time with my last baby," she recalled sadly. "I never forget the day my youngest baby was born. The doctor had told me that I wouldn't live and that he didn't think the baby would live either." Mrs. King said.

"THAT WAS the day — nearly at the last minute, when the minister came to see me to tell me that my husband had died and that he was to be buried that same day. I went to the church services but they wouldn't let me go to the cemetery."

"I turned to my sister and said 'Could I come to your house?' I came home, gathered my feather bed, pillows and blankets . . . I had my two children to take with me, too. In the meantime a

THE PUBLIC COLLEGE CRUSH: 6

No N.J. Commitment To Break Up Logjam

EDITOR'S NOTE: New Jersey's public colleges have sent 25,000 letters of rejection to qualified high school seniors seeking admission in September. This six-part series from the New Jersey Education Association discusses the space crisis at the public colleges.

What lies ahead for New Jersey's public colleges? Report has followed Report. All predicted the existing logjam in college admissions. But none, so far, has written from the State a long-range commitment to expand New Jersey's public colleges.

The most recent — the Newsom Report — came last fall from the Governor's Committee on N.J. Higher Education. It said: "Public higher education in New Jersey is operating under an intolerable ceiling of service and effectiveness" and complained that the State institutions are unable to make essential increases in the size of their freshman classes for the fall of 1965, "the very year when the most dramatic upturn of the century will take place in the number of students wanting to go to college."

The committee recommended that the six State Colleges — now exclusively for teachers — increase their enrollments 10 or 15 per cent a year and "expand their bases" to provide other undergraduate liberal arts curricula within five years.

Rutgers — the State University — should be expanded primarily at the graduate and professional level, the committee recommended. At Newark College of Engineering, the other New Jersey college heavily subsidized by the State, both undergraduate and graduate programs should be expanded. Of estimates by the 1962 Strayer Study that the State should spend $135 million to expand N.J. public colleges before 1970, the Newsom Report said: "Much too low."

No official action has been taken on the report. No legislative hearings have been held, and there are only a few signs that the note of urgency in the report is being heard.

Despite the Newsom Report, Rutgers plans to build three new undergraduate colleges in the next 15 years on land from the federal government at Camp Kilmer. Each would be coeducational and accommodate 3,000 students and 500 commuters.

But $16 million that Rutgers got from the 1964 College Bond Issue will build only half of the first new school. The rest isn't scheduled for completion until 1970.

George F. Smith of Metuchen, president of the State Board of Education, is proposing a $60 million State bond issue to complete the expansion recommended in the 1962 Strayer Report. Included in his recommendation are two new State Colleges, at undetermined locations. Some sources expect two-year county colleges to relieve admissions pressure on the public four-year colleges. Although no county college is yet built, many freeholder boards are thinking about establishing one. The Strayer Study expects them to relieve pressures, but only slightly, because many county college places will be for two-year technical programs and for adult education. And, the number of students preparing to transfer to the third and fourth year in another school will include many youths who never would have sought higher education if the county college had not been available. Indeed, some educators predict that county colleges will increase — not decrease — the demand for four years of higher education, thus escalating the pressures on the four-year public colleges.

Several recent proposals have been made on the medical front. Last year, the State bought Seton Hall's medical school in Jersey City for $4 million. It also promised $6 million to Rutgers to qualify for $8.5 million in federal aid to begin its own medical school, which may ultimately cost about $50 million. A study committee last summer proposed a long-range $32 million development program for the former Seton Hall school. And, at one point, Gov. Richard J. Hughes promised a third medical school, of undetermined cost, for South Jersey by 1970.

The State has other plans on paper, but little money for implementing them. In January, the Interdepartmental Committee for State Planning submitted a six-year proposed capital improvements program to the Governor. It recommended allocations of $155.5 million for the public colleges by 1971.

However, these were recommendations, not appropriations. Of the $5.3 million proposed for the coming fiscal year, only $1 million is actually being appropriated — to begin construction of the Rutgers medical school.

Should the full amount actually be appropriated, the entire program would just barely carry out the original recommendations of the Strayer Report, now viewed as conservative, but do nothing about the more ambitious demands of the Newsom Report. It would build only one of Rutgers' three proposed new campuses and give Rutgers medical school only $1 million already pledged. Also missing from the capital program are any buildings for the other medical schools. So, the State is still not fulfilling its obligations in higher education. In the past, the necessary appropriations were not made. In the present, they are not being made. The alternative — doing nothing — is keeping the State Budget balanced. But, it is also dead-ending careers of thousands of New Jersey's most able young people.

PART-TIME PRINCIPAL
It has come to our attention, as parents of children attending the Edward V. Walton and Raymond Chisholm public schools, that our children will again have a part-time principal for the coming school year.

Some of us feel that our children need a principal full time and would be at a great disadvantage having a principal there half the time. The Board of Education has decided to hire a principal for the School System to handle both schools.

We would like the board to know how we feel on this matter and we would like everyone who is concerned and interested in

by State Senator Nelson F. Steiner (R-Union)

The present law involving the political re-organization of both the Republican and Democratic party county committees and municipal committees calls for a re-organization of the municipal committees within seven days after the primary, and of the county committees within eight days after the primary.

While most people have little or no interest in the municipal committees and county committees of both political parties, these bodies are an essential part of the structure of the political life of our State.

This year, with the primary being on June 1st, the municipal committees must have met on Monday, June 7th, and the county committees on Tuesday, June 8th.

In each instance, according to statute, they must pick officers, including a chairman. I have discussed this law with our Republican County Chairman, Jay Stemmer of Clark, and Democratic County Chairman, James Kinneally of Rahway, and both agree that a change in the law is essential.

The shortness of time in a large County such as ours gives these two Chairmen little or no information as to the membership of these committees within the time allowed by law, and they both agree that some legislation should be introduced extending the time within which the committees should meet for the choice of officers.

It is interesting to know that both of these Chairmen agreed that while seven days was too short a time, 21 days would be too long a time — and they have asked me to introduce legislation when the legislature reconvenes, setting up a 14-day and 15-day lapse after primary election day. This will give each of the County Chairmen sufficient time to give notice to the eight hundred members of the county pollen count and measure the smoke content of the air. The U. S. Weather Bureau will provide information on wind direction, wind velocity, temperature, humidity, thermal inversions, solar radiation and precipitation.

By Nov. 1, when the study period will end, Dr. Weiss, project director, expects to have 250,000 to 300,000 patient observations to use in his evaluations. The reporting forms have been designed for processing by computer.

Dayton Students Cited For Work During Seminar

Steven Freeman of 64 Kew dr. and Alan Katz of 26 Richmond dr., both of Springfield, are among 137 students from 42 high schools in northern and central New Jersey who will receive certificates for their active participation in the Union Junior College-Rutgers University science seminar for academically talented high school students.

Freeman and Katz are students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

The science seminar was conducted last fall and winter at Union Junior College, Cranford, under a grant of $1,700 from the National Science Foundation. It was the fourth consecutive year that Rutgers and UJC sponsored the seminar under the National Science Foundation's Cooperative College-School Science Program.

Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, UJC dean and seminar director, said the seminar is designed to challenge high school students of superior ability in the fields of science and mathematics, and to attract them to these fields.

"The seminar aims to help in the identification of high-ability high school students who have excellent potential for becoming scientists, to accelerate the scholarly development of participating students by providing the opportunity for instruction in scientific content and methods of scientists of stature, and to help develop cooperation between colleges and high schools in efforts to increase the quality of secondary education in the sciences," Dr. Iversen said.

Bank Is Honored On Mortgage Aid

The National State Bank, Elizabeth, mortgage loan correspondent in Northern New Jersey for the Aetna Life Insurance Company, has been honored in connection with Aetna Life's having passed the $2 billion mark in mortgage investments outstanding.

J. Kenneth Boyles, vice-president of the National State Bank, presented a $2 billion certificate by J. N. Diernan, Aetna Life general agent in recognition of the firm's contribution to the record total.

The National State Bank has represented Aetna Life since 1959 in making mortgage loans on residential and commercial properties. Aetna Life, the largest stock life insurance company in terms of assets, had more than $5 billion assets at the end of 1964, of which 37 per cent was in mortgage loans.

Boyles noted that the National State Bank's participation in the insurance program enables the bank to be of maximum help in the economy of Union County area by aiding residents and businessmen to obtain mortgages for residences, businesses and industries.

she came to take care me, without pay.

"Well, when we got to my sister's house, I said: 'Get the bed ready and call the doctor. My baby was born that night.'"

The Parcells were married for 17 years. Their only son Aulton Douglas, died at the age of 17. "He had a record at the Methodist Church of attending church every Sunday for 13 straight years."

Mrs. King brought out the Bible which had been presented to Aulton. It was inscribed: "To Aulton Parcell, for perfect attendance in Sunday School. The year, 1912. His teacher, Russell D. Roberts."

Mrs. King, who is a member of the Springfield church's Ladies' Aid, also is a member of the National Sunshine Society.

"We do good work, we help the needy, we do cancer dressings, etc.," she admitted to be too active of late because of her recent serious illness.

SHE MANAGES, however, to go to church. "The doctor doesn't want me to climb all those stairs and when she has an off day, she says, 'Pastor Dewart comes to her. (He's so pleasant!)"

This Sunday, Mrs. King indicated, nothing not even those steps will keep her away from church. "We are celebrating the first anniversary of our new pastor and the first year the Germans have joined with us. People who have been a member over 50 years are going to be awarded a pin."

And what, we inquired, are people who have been members for more than 75 years going to get?

Mrs. King chuckled. There was a twinkle in her eye as she raised herself from her chair and mentioned that she'd like to get out in the garden, which blooms with a variety of flowers, to dig up some flowers which I promised a neighbor of mine."

300 Senior Students Apply For Program

More than 300 applications for the summer scholarship program of U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr. are currently being processed. Three winners will be selected, one each from the northern, central and southern section of New Jersey. They will spend two weeks in Sen. Williams' office.

The applicants, high school seniors throughout the state, have submitted a 500 word essay on "The Student's Role in Government and Politics," plus a resume which includes their academic records and a summary of community and extracurricular activities.

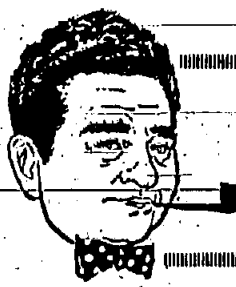

The three winners will view the operations of the Senate and House and will tour several government agencies. They will meet the New Jersey Congressional delegation and a number of administration officials. Some past scholarship winners have attended a Presidential press conference.

Sen. Williams has announced the names of the contest judges who will make their selections next week. Winners will be notified in mid-June.

Judges for the northern section is Dr. Frank Condaso, a sociologist who is a professor of education at Montclair State College. Entrants in the central section will be judged by Dr. Ardath Burks, chairman of the Political Science Department at Rutgers University. Judges for the southern section is Dr. Thomas Robinson, president of Glassboro State College.

Gov. Hughes Slated For Dedication Rites

Gov. Richard J. Hughes will dedicate the 400,000 kilowatt turbine generator at the new Hudson Generating Station of Public Service Electric and Gas Company on June 16. He will also take part that day in ground-breaking ceremonies for a second generating unit.

STATION BREAKS

By MILY HAMMER

Our many thanks to artist Steve Tafaro, Jr., one of New Jersey's better illustrators, for his superb pen and ink impression of your reporter that is now a part of the column heading.

"Knock-On Wood" and eight more just as good. We think you'll be spinning this one aplenty. (PHILIPS PFM 300-180).

BEST OF THE NEW LP ALBUM RELEASES — "The Pawnbroker," by Quincy Jones and His Orchestra with dialogue by Rod Steiger. This one features the musical score from the motion picture of the same name. The story centers around a pawnbroker in Harlem, Rod Steiger, who went the entire route of concentration camps in Nazi Germany and finally landed in America. Another goodie to add to your collection of this film music. Incidentally, Mr. Jones composed and arranged the music. (MERCURY-MG 2101) — "We Belong Together," by The Serendipity Singers. Selections include "Run Chicken-Run," "Tobacco

Also on the PHILIPS label, "LET'S DANCE LET'S DANCE" by the Scandinavian Let's Dance Band, conducted by Hal Waldoff. "The Let's Dance" is a new Scandinavian-origined dance craze.

It involves dancing and listening at the same time and has become the No. 1 dance craze in the Scandinavian countries. So pick yourself a gal and dance and kiss to numbers like "Let's Kiss Kiss Kiss," "Doin' The Jenks," "Sugar Call Jenks," "Tropical Let's Dance" and "Yankee Jenks" and seven more polka-flavored numbers. (PFM 300-178). If it's folk singing you like, then give a listen to "Jin's a Jeen" singing their first LP with numbers like "My Yambin' Boy," "Relax Your Mind," "The Belle," "Take It Slow And Easy," "Sadie Brown" and seven more by these two very talented people. (PFM 300-182).

HALF-PAST TEEN

For And About Teens:

Girls Say Boys Pick On Them

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a real problem for you. My problem is boys. A couple of boys in my room are always getting after my girlfriend and me. We hate these boys and have told them so, yet they still keep picking on us. We tell them to pick on someone else, but they say they are allergic to other girls. How can we get them off our minds? We hate them all!"

OUR REPLY: Many of your schoolmates would probably be happy to exchange places with you. More often the complaint of teenage girls is that they get no attention at all from boys. Actually, the boys are not really "picking on you." They are just trying for attention and, because they are just boys, they get this attention by teasing you and your girlfriends. You shouldn't hate them for it. They probably don't tease you because they dislike you; instead it is because they do like you. . . otherwise they would pay you no attention. If they "picked on" girls just for the fun of it, they would give their attention to other girls as well. You and your girlfriend can adjust to their teasing. Begin by recognizing that it is done good-naturedly. Do not let them know that it annoys you so much. Ignore them if you wish — but don't tell them that you hate them. This only brings on more teasing, whatever their purpose. The best way to stop their attentions, if you want to stop them, is to convince them that they are just wasting their time.

Union Girl Will Be Piano Soloist At Town Hall Concert Saturday

Barbara Ellen Ozol of 625 Duquesne ter., Union, will make her third appearance as a piano soloist at Town Hall, New York City, Saturday.

She was chosen by the Piano Teachers Congress of New York City to perform at Saturday's event, the 30th Annual Young Musicians' Concert, sponsored by the Associated Music Teachers' League. She will play "Prelude 21" by Bach and "Tocatta 2" by Poulenc.

Barbara has been a high honor winner in the auditions of the Music Educators Association of New Jersey for six years. She has been invited to play in their master piano class June 17, which will be conducted by Seymour Borstein, concert pianist. A student of Mrs. Edna Mason for seven years, Barbara has also played on the Young Artists program on radio station WNYC. Barbara is completing her senior year at the Vall-Deane School, where she has been president of her class for two years, a member of the Student Council for three years and a member of the Glee Club, French Club, Modern Dance Club and basketball team. She plans to enter Smith College in the fall.

A voice for the silent

This artificial electronic larynx, when held against the side of the throat, transmits sound waves. These waves are passed up the throat and formed into words by movements of the lips and tongue, as in normal conversation. For people who cannot talk because something has happened to their vocal cords, it's a godsend.

There's also a telephone for the hard-of-hearing that has a special volume control built into the receiver. Amplifying equipment, special bells, lights and other signaling devices, school-to-home service for bedridden students—all these things are available to meet the needs of the handicapped. And we are now studying other possibilities that could be very meaningful. For example: changes in telephone instruments to enable a deaf person to feel in his fingers letters or words transmitted to him in code, or see them reproduced in front of him.

Designing and producing items like these serve the special needs of our customers. We believe in providing the best possible service to meet these special needs.

Congresswoman Pushes For Top Level Coordinating Staff

Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-5th Dist., N. J.) said the House Republican Policy Committee has voted to support her bill to establish in the Executive Office of the President a small staff to coordinate "the dozens of Federal programs affecting urban areas which frequently operate at cross purposes."

She said last week the House Republicans plan to offer the bill as a substitute for the Administration proposal to create a cabinet-level Department of Housing and Urban Development when the Department bill is considered on the House floor.

A special rule, making such a substitute in order, will first have to be obtained from the Rules Committee, Mrs. Dwyer advised.

The top-level coordinating staff, she said, would be called the Office of Urban Affairs or the Office of Community Development and would function with the authority and at the direction of the President.

"Urban area programs in general," Congresswoman Dwyer declared, "are marked by too much waste, duplication, confusion and conflict. The more than 60 Federal programs having a significant impact on urban areas are administered by dozens of different departments, agencies and bureaus, and there is no effective mechanism today to assure that policies are consistent and programs are coordinated."

"She told the Republican Policy Committee that policy and program coordination is the urgent need today and that creation of a new Department would meet this need."

"The Department," she explained, "would simply be the old Housing and Home Finance Agency with a new name and higher status. The bill creating the Department would add no new programs or functions of any substance to those already possessed by the Administrator of HHPA and its subordinate agencies, nor would it enable the new Secretary to coordinate urban programs of other agencies outside his Department."

"The purpose of my bill is to provide ways of assuring that Federal agencies administering such urban programs as mass transportation, highways, urban renewal, air and water pollution, and the like are following compatible policies, that one agency or program is not needlessly interfering with or duplicating another, and that, in the event of conflict or disagreement between agencies, adequate procedures and authority exist to resolve it expeditiously."

"My bill, unlike the Department bill, would help make the programs we now have work more effectively and efficiently without additional bureaucratic personnel and controls, and with a maximum of services to State and local governments."

Sponsor of the bill during the past three Congresses, Mrs. Dwyer also told the committee that scholars and government officials in the field of urban affairs widely recognize the need for the kind of coordinating staff she has proposed.

"But the best testimonial to the usefulness and importance of a White House Office of Urban Affairs," she added, "was President Kennedy's 1962 message to Congress proposing an Office of Science and Technology in the Executive Office of the President. By substituting urban affairs for science, the President's message would be a most persuasive case for our proposal."

She said Administration failure to support her bill or something like it was due to fear that passage of such legislation would take much of the steam out of their effort to establish a new cabinet-level Department.

Minister Calls For Life Geared To Concerns Of All

Dr. Edler G. Hawkins, immediate past moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA, said Saturday, the so-called Negro problem will only be solved "within the context of a way of life geared to the concerns of all people."

Dr. Hawkins, who established and is pastor of the multi-racial and multilingual St. Augustine Presbyterian Church in Harlem, spoke at the 32nd annual commencement of Union Junior College, Cranford.

"For whether people are in the ghettos of race, or the terrible landscapes of an urban or Appalachian poverty—beyond race—the psychological effect is the same. They are people who for inadequate reasons are forced to live their lives outside the main stream of contact and affiliation with other people where alone they can have real fulfillment," Dr. Hawkins said.

"The Negro minister called upon the academic community to play a more vital role in making the benefits of civilization available to the whole human race.

"We must all admit to the very central place that the college and university centers of our world occupy, and I, for one, would be very willing to say that if we still have time it is in these centers that we will have one of the last opportunities to shape the destiny of our world," Dr. Hawkins said.

The former moderator of the United Presbyterian Church paid tribute to "young junior colleges that provide us with the hope of equipping so many more with the educational skills that alone make for survival in this highly technical age.

"Another area that must be lifted up as the responsibility of our educational centers is the preservation and exaltation of the meaning of freedom, a concern that is so deep in the conscience of both our nation and the world. We do

days for an emphasis on race, because it has been placed so completely in the center of our concerns, and we have no choice but to speak of it day and night, if perchance, some advances might be made in greater clarity and understanding.

"All of us are aware of the road that is still ahead, but it may be that we have come to one of the great turning points in this struggle for freedom, as it is beginning to dawn on many who had not realized it before that the whole of our way of life and our fundamental guarantees are at stake.

"For this is the meaning of the dream that America set herself to accomplish: that as a nation it will overcome every barrier—close every gap, build every bridge that must be built until we had people together in the one human family. And no community has a greater responsibility for helping to do this than the academic community, for in a real sense, you are what the late President Kennedy so aptly described as 'watchmen on the walls of freedom,'" Dr. Hawkins said.

Sylvan Pool Treat dissolves instantly in swimming-pool water to kill bacteria, can be used just before swimming, never leaves a color or odor, doesn't irritate eyes or skin, is harmless to pool finish and equipment, and comes in break-proof containers. So do many other pool chemicals.

BUT, Sylvan Pool Treat, a lithium base chlorine, doesn't leave a sticky residue that other chlorine base chlorines leave. That's what makes it the most important thing you put in your pool. Besides yourself.

THE FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Editorial Association Study Mission Around South America

By TRUDINA HOWARD

11th of a series

Cuzco, the "City of the Sun," is a high-altitude city in the Andes mountains of Peru. It is a city of 100,000 people and is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. The city is built on a high plateau and is surrounded by steep mountains. The city is a mix of old and new, with many ancient Inca ruins and modern buildings. The city is a popular tourist destination and is known for its beautiful architecture and rich history.

... Indian markets in the cities, there is a small airport and there are also llamas grazing on the mountainside. In the mountains near it, there is a small town of seven-story, modern-looking buildings, but a large way there are Indian huts that do not even have electricity.

THE CATHEDRALS of Cuzco are famous and fabulous, the "Cuzco school" of oil painting is famous, the ornate doors are famous—but so are the llama wool ponchos of the Indians, the llamas themselves, grazing in the mountains, "working" around Cuzco, and the "hieroglyphs" of the Indians. The llamas and the alpacas, which are domesticated, and the vicuñas and guanacos, the smallest which are wild, are all members of the same family but have no humps. They all can be found here and elsewhere in Peru where it is 12 to 15 thousand feet. Machu Picchu was too high—was "only" 8,000 to 9,000 feet.

In Cuzco you can purchase an old-size Kodak film or you can buy an Inca figure, also odd size. You can go down a paved Inca street as narrow as an arrow or as the bridge at the base of Machu Picchu so narrow that the hand-carved balconies of the "Spanish" era stretch overhead and almost make a bridge. Or you can walk across a street that is so wide the Indians pitch a market—and also a kitchen—right down the middle. They apparently stay all day and cook while they sell.

You can walk into a cathedral that is huge, elaborate and luxurious of silver, or perhaps of gold plate, or with a pulpit of wood carvings that took 20 years to make. There will be oil paintings literally lining the walls and one massive one will be a painting of the "Last Supper" similar in arrangement to the famous one in Venice. But in the Cuzco painting, there is a notable difference. On the platter before Christ and the Apostles there is a whole cooked guinea pig ready for serving. Instead of the familiar bread and wine, it is not strange to the Indians of the area, however, for they have long considered it a delicacy and the local artist who did the picture quite naturally.

There will be other paintings, most of them twice or three or four times the size of a man, yet they will be hard to see for the churches are unacceptably dark. There will be statues adorned with gold and silver and jewels—but there will also be Indian practicing music for a mass that evening in a home-spun. They will be using a portable, ancient, dusty organ and an equally dusty violin. Women will be singing in brass voices that are so shrill (purposely) that you can barely stand it. The women will be in long dresses with the derby hats by their side. If the hat is black the woman speaks only Indian, if it is white she also speaks Spanish. The men will be in western-style unpressed, pale color trousers and jackets or sweaters. In the outdoors they will be in the "punchos" and wear a chullo (a knitted cap with ear flaps) with felt-derby-style hat on top. In the cold the women wear the ponchos too. And it is frequently cold or cool in Cuzco.

But strangely, Cuzco (the city itself) at the towering elevation of 11,200 feet, and in the remoteness of the Andes, never has snow. But even stranger—it HAS television!

THE EASIEST WAY to get out of Cuzco is by plane if you can call that easy. The planes are non-pressurized DC-3's and passengers must breathe through oxygen tanks.

... one and a half hours or so to feel healthy while flying 25,000 feet over the Andes. To return to Lima, that is what our National Editorial Association Study Mission Group members have had to do. It was a very air-boring, and tube-tight, the flight was memorable.

I was seated by the wing, and as I was adjusting my seat-belt the motion of my right leg began to flame. "Burn!" said the better word. Just then the stewardess came by and I hastily tugged at her sleeve, and pointing to the flame, suggested, "Oh—she said, 'that's all right. It will go out.'"

It did! But I didn't like that flight. Except I had no choice. While Peru is more than three times the size of California and while the Incas, without benefit of wheels, iron or a written language, engineered and built 10,000 miles of roads through the Andes with suspension bridges and tunnels, the country today has little highway and railway mileage. The current president is improving this condition, but as of 1963 figures, Peru had only 2,547 miles of railroad and only 2,259 miles of paved road, 1,600 of which went along the coast from north to south at that. Two major railroads, link the coast with the interior, primarily to mining communities, but operation costs are so high in the difficult terrain that traffic is principally heavy or bulky freight.

The world's highest standard gauge railroad runs here, grades as high as 16,000 feet at times. Several years ago a friend took the plane to the town of Arequipa, 8,000 feet into the Andes, and then took the train to Cuzco—and that's what I wish I was on when that motor began to burn.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

By PHYLIS GREER of Rutgers... the State University

"LIVING FOR THE CHILDREN"
Have you ever heard a parent—probably the mother—say, "I haven't time to belong to any clubs. I always stay home with the children" or, "My life is devoted to my children?"

If this attitude prevails in parents, when the children get older they sigh, "I wish my mother would just stop worrying about me. I don't mean to be ungrateful, but sometimes I just can't breathe." This attitude of "living for the children" is a very poor standard for parental responsibility. It means that the parent is not really living as an individual, and it means that a terrific burden is heaped on the child—that of living his own life and having the responsibility of living the parent's life too. In a situation of this kind, it is impossible for a youngster to have a normal childhood. And it is unlikely the child will grow into a happy and mature adult.

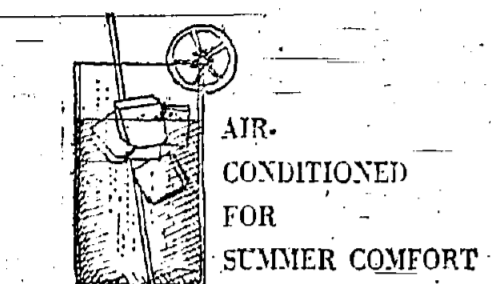

When a parent's whole life is bound by this narrow "duty," she does not see her child as a person. And it is not at all surprising that the child sees the mother more as a part of the household equipment than as an interesting person.

The responsibility of parenthood is serious, yet it need not be stifling. Each person needs to live his own life and to seek his own means of enjoyment. Parenthood is an important part of living, but it is not the whole of life. Living for the children is not a true measure of parental devotion. When parents have a variety of interests, they can bring to their home and family the experiences which enrich living for everyone.

Housing Costs Top Food In Most Homes

Housing costs have replaced food costs in first place in the family budget. This change was noted for the first time in 1961 in consideration of family spending patterns over a 20-year period. Food is now taking a smaller proportion of the average family budget than it ever has, according to Mary W. Armstrong, Senior County Home Economist.

A new U. S. Department of Agriculture report shows that food and beverages together accounted for 31 percent of family living expenses in 1941, but only 26 percent in 1961. Housing costs accounted for 29 percent of all living expenses in 1961. This housing item was up 1 percent from 1941.

Other shifts in the family budget during the 20-year period include a decrease in clothing (12 down to 10 percent) an increase in transportation (12 up to 15 percent), and an increase in medical care (5 up to 7 percent).

These figures, including the 26 percent for food and beverages, are the percentages which families actually spend for living expenses. The 19 percent for food, so widely quoted, is a percentage of take-home pay.

This accounts for some difference. It should also be noted that percentages vary greatly with incomes — perhaps quite as much as with the size of the family. With both a low income and a large family, the percentage spent for food might likely be 50 percent or more of income.

With a high income and a small family, the food expenditures might not need to be more than 12 percent. But those whose incomes have gone up in recent years — and this means the majority — the eating habits have changed greatly.

Today's average American spends more for some foods such as beef, chicken and frozen fruits and vegetables, and less for bread and grain, products, potatoes and other items. This trend reflects the increased funds available for food (not percentages which show a decrease).

It reflects a greater purchase of foods enjoyed more, though not necessarily more valuable nutritively. Examples of eating habit changes reflecting average increases are: beef, 44 percent more; chicken, 65 percent more; cheese, 33 percent more; canned fruit, 23 percent more; and frozen fruits and vegetables, 150-300 percent more than 15 years ago.

And reflecting average decreases: wheat products, 18 percent less; fresh fruits, 40 percent; potatoes, 15 percent; eggs, 10 percent; veal, 48 percent and pork, 5 percent less.

In general, the changes effected in purchasing have contributed to a more nutritious diet for the average American. But there are some who spend more money than needed for foods and beverages than the average, but do not purchase a nutritious diet.

Protein foods, milk and milk products, fruits and vegetables are essential for a good diet supplemented by cereal and grains. Sugar, sweets and fats, except in small amounts to add flavor, or energy if needed, are less essential.

Bea Lillie Opens At Mill June 22

Beatrice Lillie, direct from Broadway, in "High Spirits" is bringing her original role to the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn for a four-week run, opening June 22.

The popular musical is based on "Billie's Spirit," the comedy that had its world premiere in war-shattered London in July, 1941, and ran for nearly five years there for a total of 1,997 performances. Three other companies toured it throughout England simultaneously, to make it the favorite of all Noel Coward's plays.

The American premiere of "Billie's Spirit" occurred later the same year, in November, 1941. It was the New York Critics' Circle award-winning play of the year.

SAPOLIN'S NEW "WOODLIFE" PLUS LATEX HOUSE PAINTING SYSTEM

This modern painting system was developed in Sapolin's own laboratories and has proved effective in numerous test applications. Sapolin research chemists first created a new type wood primer called "Woodlife" Base Coat, an oxidizing solvent-type primer. It has the power to reach chemically with the cedar oils and effectively neutralize the oils which cause the trouble. Chemically compatible Sapolin Latex House Paint is then applied as a finish coat to complete the barrier against "cedar bleed" and provide years of trouble-free beauty and protection for your shingled home.

Recreation Class To Be Held Again During Summer

Ann Romano, assistant principal of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and director of summer school, announced that RATES (recreational activities to enrich students), a program of physical recreation, would again be offered at Dayton for the summer school session which begins June 28.

The program, which will be directed by John Swedlich of the Dayton health and physical education department, will feature emphasis on the fundamentals of the four major recreational activities that are assumed to have the greatest carry-over value in later years: golf, swimming, tennis, and bowling.

The RATES program is a cooperative effort carried on between the school and the Springfield Recreation Department, headed by Ed Ruby. The group will use the Springfield Recreation Department's swimming pool and tennis facilities. Golf and bowling instructions will be given on the school grounds and local establishments.

Enrollment is limited, and interested high school students were asked to contact Miss Romano at the high school office (DR 6-8300).

Undefeated Bankers Win Sixth With Homers By Burns, Levine

National State Bank won its sixth straight game to remain undefeated in the American League division of the Springfield baseball youth minor leagues.

Bob Sachs was the winning pitcher as the Bankers whipped the 15-1 Goldman, who ran his personal record up to 5-0, worked the first three innings, striking out six, walking two and giving up two hits and one unearned run.

Mike Sanders pitched the last two frames. He fanned four and gave no hits or runs. Hitting honors for the Bankers were widely shared. Vincent Burns and Howie Levine clouted home runs.

Goldman and Barry Mitterhoff each had three hits, including a double. Sanders had a single and double. For Reinecke's, Tod McQuaid connected for a double.

Joe Truncalo, drove in four runs. Other key blows for the Bankers were a triple for Joey Gardner, Walt Kefauver, and Steve Zwillman.

For Springfield Travel, Robbie Sachs carried a heavy bat with a home run and a triple for half of his team's four hits. Relief pitcher, Matt Telster, struck out seven, walking four and giving up three hits and one earned run.

Elliot also drove in four runs with a double and a single. The key hit in the losers' rally was a double by Gary Weiner.

Steve Zwillman of Sam's, who handled three hard ground balls flawlessly.

Almost Enough Springfield Travel, rallying for eight runs in the final inning, just fell short as Elky Products hung on to win, 11-10. Neal Elliot worked the first three innings to gain credit for the victory, striking out seven, walking four and giving up three hits and one earned run.

Elliot also drove in four runs with a double and a single. The key hit in the losers' rally was a double by Gary Weiner.

Value Of Sports Emphasized At Dayton Booster Club Dinner

"It takes quite a bit of effort to get a student to be a student and athlete in college today," Vic Fusia, head football coach at the University of Massachusetts, told a gathering of over 100 senior athletes, cheer leaders, boosters and administrators at the annual "All Sports" dinner of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, at Snuffy's Steak House in Scotch Plains on Monday. The dinner was sponsored by the Dayton Booster Club.

"Football and other college sports are more than hit or miss. They aim at the total development of the boy's personality. Football and sports should make a better person out of you — if they don't, you should get out of them," Fusia told the group. He went on to describe the importance of "team spirit" and "discipline" in developing the all-around personality of the athlete student. He stressed the importance of winning — but not "at all costs," and emphasized the need to be an "ungrudging loser."

"Football and sports are a part of our educational system and they act as a complement, to each other," the college mentor asserted. He concluded his talk by reciting his personal ten commandments for a successful and winning football team.

Herb Palmer, head football coach and athletic director at Dayton, acted as toastmaster. Carl Yaras, football and baseball standout, was selected as "Most Representative Athlete" at Dayton for 1965. Marilyn Brownlie and Earl "Cookie" Glasco were awarded "Babe Ruth" honors.

Baseball Outlook Depresses Fans At Regional High

By JOEL WILDMAN
Baseball at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield has been gloomy on all levels this season. The freshmen, with an 0-13 record, were no exception.

If this year's squad was an indication of the future, baseball fans at Dayton have little to look forward to.

Coach John Swedlich said the major problem was that 70 freshmen came to the school from Kenton, and of the 16 boys who came out for the team, five quit. The team was left with two pitchers, Stan Yabonski and Tony Gromek.

They were on the mound for 13 games and survived a parade of 129 runs while they watched their mates bobble the ball for 67 errors.

The team was just as weak at the plate. The baby Bulldogs scored 39 runs on 33 hits.

The closest the Daytonians came to a victory was a 5-3 loss to Scotch Plains in April.

Angletons Edge Motors, 1-0 In Tight Babe Ruth Race

The Angletons shut out Morris Motors, 1-0, last week in the Springfield Babe Ruth Major League. Ronnie Azarewicz, the winning pitcher, gave up six hits.

Joe Buccell was charged with the loss although he allowed only three hits. Tom Pozanski tripled in the bottom of the sixth inning and scored on a wild pitch. Azarewicz got behind in the seventh with men on second and third. He then struck out Buccell and Danny DiAndrea to protect his shutout.

In other action Morris Motors and Channel Lumber tied, 8-8. Motors had 12 hits and Lumber 10. DiAndrea started for Motors and Gary Kurtz came on in relief in the third. Big guns at the plate for Motors were Kurtz with two doubles and a single and John Schlock with a triple and a single. Buccell had a triple in the sixth inning. Fred Gold, Gary Haydu, Lee Kronert and DiAndrea starred on defense.

Willis Rutz had a triple and single for Channel and Mith Weiner had a double for Channel. Strong on defense were Fred Volberst, Ronnie Hasselmann, Ernie Rolg and Joe Sarrin. In another game, Morris Motors beat Carter Bell, 6-0, as Stanley Yabonski gave up only one hit. Yabonski and Halgu were hit. Steve Jupa was charged with the loss. He had eight strikeouts and gave up nine hits.

Carter Bell came from behind to defeat Channel Lumber, 9-6. Tony Gromek came on in relief in the third inning, trailing by two runs. He held Channel to two more runs while Bell went on to a three-run fifth and a four-run sixth inning.

Channel Lumber, in another game, lost to Angletons, 6-1. Glenn Wilson was the winning pitcher and Volberst was the loser.

Wilson gave up one hit. Ernie Rolg lofted a single into short left. Don Cubbey singled to drive in two runs in the second inning for the only rally. Pozanski stole five bases.

The Elks had difficulty last week. They lost to the Angletons by a rather large score. But they did get two hits, so that's something.

College Grads Will Hold Dance

The College Graduates' Club will hold a cocktail-dance at The Cornet, 925 Springfield Ave., Irvington, Friday, June 18, at 8:30 p.m.

The club, founded in August, 1944, has members from communities in Northern New Jersey, New York City and Staten Island. In July the club will sponsor a trip to Lake George, N.Y.

Copy Deadline

All organizational and social news items, photographs, and articles other than those of a spot news nature must be in our office by Friday to insure publication in the next issue. Remember to use the columns of your community newspaper to tell your story.

MOTOR VEHICLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: What is the deadline for inspection of a New Jersey registered passenger vehicle?

ANSWER: The expiration of the windshield inspection sticker of each passenger vehicle is the last day of the month in which the vehicle registration expires.

Each such vehicle shall be presented for inspection after the registration has been renewed and prior to the expiration date shown on the windshield inspection sticker. (Official reply from the N.J. Division of Motor Vehicles.)

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: Recently, my husband has been going out every Friday night alone and he doesn't return home until about 6 o'clock in the morning.

When I asked him what he does and where he goes, he replied, "Respectably out." Now I'm no fool, but what does "respectably out" mean? I have no brothers to ask and don't have the nerve to ask another man. Would you ask your husband this question for me? Just sign me

Dear Must Know: I asked my husband and he said he doesn't know what a man can do "respectably" until 6 o'clock in the morning... and I agree with him.

If you're no fool, madam, demand an honest answer!

Dear Amy: There is a girl who is always "hanging around" with us. If we go to the movies, she goes to the center. If we go to the center, she goes to the movies. All this uninvited—she would just "happen" to bump into us (as she says). She is really a nice girl and is really very cute but she just doesn't seem to fit in.

We've tried snubbing her, but couldn't go through with it—there anyway we can quietly dump her?

Dear Ex-Friends: I would say you have done a pretty good job of dumping her already.

What's wrong with you girl? Is your friendship so precious and eldritch that you cannot accept into your midst a girl who is (by your own admission) a really nice girl who is also lonely... shame on you!

With friends like you, who needs enemies!

Dear Amy: A little over a year ago, my husband passed away leaving me with a 17-year old son. Some of my friends and relatives have told me I should no longer wear my wedding ring. Others have told me I should wear it because of my son.

I'm so confused—What is the proper thing for me to do?

Dear Confused: A widow continues to wear her wedding ring until the time she desires the company of the opposite sex, in which case, she removes the ring.

Dear Amy: My husband is not a heavy drinker, just a sociable one. I suppose you're lucky that the only time he does drink is when we are out together. When I tell him he has had enough, he always tells me that he only drinks mixed drinks and they aren't as bad as straight "whis." Amy, not being a drinker myself, I still question the logic of

"HEY MOM, you dropped something!" Nancy, 10, and Peter, 3, check up on mother's shopping spree techniques during event at Good Deal Supermarket, Irvington. Mrs. Florence Washuta collected more than $300 worth of foodstuffs in 10 minutes. (Photo by Bob Baxter)

Free Spree Nets $312 In Foodstuffs

That knight on the white charger who dashes regularly across our television screens hasn't anything on Mrs. Florence Washuta.

The speedy housewife staged her own tornado-like clean-up at the Good Deal Supermarket, 18 Mill rd., Irvington, last week, whisking $312.44 worth of foodstuffs from the shelves in a 10-minute Pepsi Cola Shopping Spree.

As a result, the family pantry at 128 - 40th St., Irvington, is jam-packed and four months supply of most is distributed among their own freezer—relative's and the corner store's.

Mrs. Washuta, who was cheered on by husband Peter and their three children during the timed foray, qualified for the event when one of the bottle caps she had submitted in the Pepsi Cola promotion was picked.

The day before the free-loading "spree" was scheduled, the Washutas "cashed" the layout of the supermarket so that the contestant would waste no steps as she dashed in and out of the aisles with her shopping cart.

"The only thing I missed was the big boxes of soap powder—I was just too tired by that time to get to them. It was the longest 10 minutes I ever spent," said the still breathless speedster.

The Washutas moved to Irvington from Vailsburg 13 years ago. Mrs. Washuta is chaplain of American Legion Auxiliary 80.

The contractor and subcontractor shall be liable to the Township of Union for any wages and penalties so assessed.

The Township Committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to award the contract to any bidder whose proposal in its judgment best serves its interests.

Long interested in government, Mrs. McMullen admits she is "an old campaigner" but is now content to "sit on the political sidelines and cheer."

She is a member of the Board of Realtors of the Orange and Maplewood, vice president of that board's Education Committee and Springfield member of its Neighborhood Relations Committee.

An honorary director of the Springfield Red Cross, she still does service work in that organization. She is also a member of the Springfield League of Women Voters, the D.A.R. and the College Club of the Orange and Maplewood.

Aside from her business, civic and home life, Mrs. McMullen has two other consuming interests - "the preservation of our historical past and the conservation of our natural resources."

She resides in Springfield with her husband, a counselor at law and former Springfield magistrate.

The McMullen daughter, Margaret, lives in nearby Summit with her husband and their two children.

Teacher, housewife, mother, civic leader, careerwoman - Georgia McMullen has born all these titles proudly and done justice to them all.
