School Board Votes Walton-Chisholm Redistricting

Shift Is Approved Despite Protests Aired By Parents

Members Of Board, Superintendent Hit Personal Criticism

The Board of Education voted 7-1, to implement its previously announced redistricting of some 42 children from the Edward Walton School to the Raymond Chisholm School.

The children affected live on Richland dr., Shelley rd., Pitt rd. and Mountain ave. south to numbers 441 and 469.

Action by the school board came following more than an hour of persistent questioning, disagreement and at times personal attack from members of the audience. Mrs. Sonya Bortz, who cast the only negative vote, commented that she approved the plan as a whole but would have preferred letting fifth graders remain for their final year at the Walton School.

John Berwick, superintendent of schools, who had been the primary target of parents opposed to the redistricting, spoke at some length on the necessity for the change.

He stressed that the shift was overdue and was caused largely by overcrowding at Walton, while classes at Chisholm were below normal size.

If there were no change this coming year, he noted, Walton would have 53 children in two fourth grades, 67 in two third grades, and 56 in two kindergarten classes.

At the same time, Berwick declared, Chisholm would have 26 youngsters in two kindergarten classes and 34 in two first grades, to illustrate the disparity.

Davega Property Is Slated For Use As Federal Office

The former Davega store property on Rt. 22 in Springfield has been rented to a U. S. Defense Department agency which will begin operations here in October, it was disclosed this week.

The building will be used by the Defense Supply Agency as a district office to handle contract administration for the state of New Jersey. The agency is the procurement arm of the Defense Department.

The working force in the building is expected to exceed 140 women and 280 men. The lease on the property was signed by the General Services Administration.

It will run for five years, with three-year renewal periods, according to a government spokesman. The annual rent is $181,392, which will include all utilities and other services. A 5,000-square-foot addition is to be constructed, bringing the net-usable square footage to 41,920. The building at Rt. 22 and Hillside ave. has remained vacant since the bankruptcy of the Davega chain, some two years ago. Efforts to sell or rent it previously were unsuccessful. An auction sale this winter drew no acceptable bid.

The property is owned by the Wainwright Realty Co. of Newark, a subsidiary of Channel Lumber Co. of Louisville, president of the Wainwright firm.

RAINS CALL GAME; TEAMS WILL MEET SUNDAY AT 1 P.M.

The Springfield-Union Police and Fire Department softball doubleheader that was postponed Sunday because of rain, is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. this Sunday at Bier-sumpfel Park, Union.

The proceeds will be donated to the Theresa Gargalowitz Fund to meet the hospital expenses for Miss Gargalowitz, a college co-ed from Union who has remained in a coma in Overlook Hospital, Summit, since her car crashed on Morris ave., Springfield, in April 1964.

The two police teams will meet in the final game at 1. Refreshments will be on sale during both games. Tickets priced at $1, are available from police and firemen in both towns and will also be sold at the gate.

New Consignment Shop Offers 'Incomplete Line Of Everything'

"An incomplete line of just about anything" is the way the Springfield Chapter of Hadassah describes the stock at its new Consignment Shop, opened last week at 785 Mountain ave. Designed to "provide bargains for homemakers, bargain hunters, antique-lovers and hobbyists," the shop features useful items which have outlived their usefulness to their original owners. The owners bring the items to the shop, which earns a commission on each sale.

Many of the items are still in their original wrappings. Others include a graduation outfit worn just once. Everything is checked by the Hadassah volunteer workers to ensure good condition and a fair price.

Stock on sale at the present time includes a selection of "bavely" just children's clothing, pressed glass from a grandmother's attic, sterling silver holloware, dishes, lamps, rocks and imperials, as well as shifts and shorts for summer wear.

Other special offerings are described as in excellent condition and reasonably priced, even for the Hadassah shop. (Continued on Page 2)

Bowman Elected County Chairman By GOP Teeners

Lee Bowman of Springfield was elected chairman of the Union County Teen-Age Republicans at the semi-annual convention held on Saturday at the Scotch Plains YMCA. He succeeds Robert Britts of Summit.

The convention session will resume this Saturday evening at the Fanwood Branch of the Elmhurst Trust Co. The first order of business will be consideration of the platform.

State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., GOP candidate for governor, was principal speaker at the opening session. Declaring that the Teen-Age Republicans can provide needed "initiative and new blood" for the party, he spoke on a wide range of topics, from the water shortage and highway problems to aid to higher education.

Gem Shoe Store Robbed Monday

The Gem Shoe Store on Rt. 22, Springfield, was the scene of a burglary on Monday night, it was reported by Acting Police Chief Leslie Joyner. Patrolman Dan Halsey, investigating the case, reported that entry was gained by breaking a window on the left side of the building.

The store management disclosed that an "undetermined amount" of cash had been taken. Because of the large size of the stock and the many different categories of merchandise, it was difficult to determine immediately if any merchandise had been taken.

1st Aid Course

An American Red Cross standard first aid course will be presented at the Springfield Municipal Pool, with the opening session scheduled for tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the rear of the refreshment area. Mrs. Michael Herzlinger will be in charge.

Grown-Ups Use Library, Too Favorites Include Beat And Off-Beat

Anyone driving past the Springfield Public Library the other day, five minutes before it was scheduled to open, might have noticed three housewives waiting on the front porch. They were young and attractive, as all Springfield housewives undoubtedly are, and they were each holding an armful of books.

In themselves, they were not particularly noteworthy, but they symbolized a fact that many citizens of Springfield tend to overlook in a child-centered culture—more than half of the 6,000 library patrons last year were adults.

Mrs. Helen Francis, librarian, notes that 3,572 adult borrowers read 84,000 of the 115,000 books lent by the library in 1964.

"Our regular pattern," she says, "has the library used primarily by women in the morning, children and teenagers in the afternoon and men in the evening."

"She goes on to say, 'The people of Springfield are well above the national average in education, and this is reflected in their high level of sophistication, as indicated by the books they read.

"OUR WOMEN are very often interested in serious fictional accounts of the emotional and psychological problems of modern life. They also read a great deal about children's development and education—how to score well in College Board and other tests, how to get into a good college.

"Springfield readers also maintain a consistent interest in books devoted to Jewish culture—fact, fiction and humor.

"Another popular item with our borrowers is contemporary biography, particularly when the subjects led spec-

Swimming Classes Have 400 Students

More than 400 boys and girls are now taking part in Red Cross swimming classes being conducted by Pat Cawley and Deborah Powers, water safety instructors, at the Springfield Municipal Pool.

The courses are offered for all Springfield residents, whether pool members or not. In addition to the courses for children and teenagers, John Hoffman and George Falak provide instruction for adults every Friday evening at 8:30.

A second series of classes is being planned for August, particularly for those who did not register in time for the instruction now being offered. All prospective class members may register at the pool before Aug. 5.

Red Cross courses are now being offered in the following categories: beginner, advanced beginner, intermediate, swimmer, advanced swimmer and junior and senior life saver.

Classes for beginners are given Mondays and Wednesdays at noon for youngsters whose last names begin with A to L. Those in the last half of the alphabet meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at noon.

Advanced beginners swim Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10 a.m. Intermediates in the first half of the alphabet meet Mondays and Wednesdays at 11; the others, Tuesdays and Thursdays at the same hour.

The class for swimmers is held Mondays and Wednesdays at 10 a.m. Junior and senior lifesaving instruction is given Mondays and Wednesdays from 9 to 11 a.m.

at Waller was the 84 children based in from Baltusrol. Top last year, with the total to increase to 90 or more next year. No added that this number was too great to transfer to Chisholm and that, after lengthy study, the board could not find a satisfactory way to divide this number.
"The previous situation," he declared, "was unfair to children at Walton School in classes too large for their best education. They should get every possible chance to learn."
He selected this redistricting measure in fairness to the child in our schools, as what is best for all. This affects the smallest possible number of children.
In an obvious reference to previous personal attacks directed at him, Berwick said, "For the record, the board went through this entire process, three separate times, and I move on an issue like this only when the

Adult School Begins Speakers' Service

The Union County Regional Adult School this week announced the establishment of a speakers bureau which will aid civic and service clubs in cultural and entertainment programs for meetings. Subjects of the speakers range from "Kitchens of the World" to "Today vs Art Yesterday" to "Film As An Art Form."
The speakers bureau, according to school officials, was established as a public service to Union County by the adult schools which are located at Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights; Jonathan Dayton, Springfield; and Arthur L. Johnson, Clark.
The bureau's speakers, who are instructors at the adult schools, will include demonstrations in their talks. The instructors are experts in their professions and in many cases teachers and lecturers in area high schools and universities. Other bureau topics include, "You Can Sculpture Too," "Anybody Can Paint," "Stock Market, A Barometer For???", "The Art of Canopy Capers" and "Bridge Made Easy."
Many of the topics chosen by the speakers bureau are offered in courses form at the adult schools which serve Union County residents. Each year, about 3,500 adults attend classes offered at the schools.
Presidents and program chairmen for organizations, clubs, PTA's, etc. can contact Dr. M. L. Spletak of 1 Schmidt Lane, Clark to arrange for a speaker for their meeting program.

lectures or scandalous lives."
On the whole, however, Mrs. Francis comments, "Most of our women prefer fiction, except when it comes to books devoted to the problems of raising and educating children."
"We do have a select minority of women who read a great deal in serious literature and drama. They are often members of women's study groups, civic-minded women and those with a great interest in the welfare and improvement of the community."
MANY OF THE MEN, the librarian notes, "come in on Friday night to get books for the whole week. They get a lot of time for reading on buses or trains."
"A substantial number, perhaps a third, read all sorts of avant-grade literature—books that are challenging, controversial and off-beat. Men are more adventurous in their reading than are women."
She comments that men are the only ones who read history, adding, "They also like fiction dealing with the business world, as well as popularized comments on business, and on suburban life and social status. Men like to read studies on how they compare with other people."
Both men and women enjoy mystery stories for escape reading, Mrs. Francis discloses but, again, they often prefer different types even within the same general category.
Men usually prefer mysteries written by men; women usually read those written by women. Some people, men and women, want primarily mysteries written in England. Others prefer American mysteries.
"Women also often like doctor-and-nurse books for escape reading," the librarian has discovered. "Men are much more likely to read true story books than are women."
"THERE IS NOT much adult demand for science fiction any more. There used to be considerably more, but it has diminished as so much of the science fiction has become fact."
The most popular books among adult readers in the past year, Mrs. Francis reports, have been "The Grapes" by Mary McCarthy; "The Spy Who Came in from the Cold" by John Le Carré; "The Rector of Justini" by Ayn Rand; and "Armageddon" by Leon Uris.
She goes on to say that "poetry apparently attracts mostly younger people. High school and college students are extremely interested in the Beat poets and the Japanese haiku poems. It's a shame our children get so little of the flavor of poetry in the schools."
Adult reading tastes, Mrs. Francis adds, "tend very largely to reflect the tension of our times."
"Whatever the literary fashion might be, people continue to read about controversial philosophy and religious controversy — and about how to keep our equilibrium in this complicated world."

National State Bank Announces $6 Million Rise In Resources

Resources of the National State Bank, Elizabeth, increased nearly six million dollars from $180,544,615 to $196,506,115 in the period from Dec. 31, 1964 to June 30, 1965.

Loans and discounts for the same period displayed an increase of $2,194,376 from $85,449,259 to $87,643,635.

Mortgage loans also increased more than $2,000 from $26,020,918 to $28,103,761.

Demand deposits (checking accounts) grew more than six million dollars from $133,717,321 to $140,035,847.

Time deposits (savings accounts) continued their downward trend by $355,376 from $31,797,631 to $31,442,254.

Two drive-in facilities, each seating 100,000 cars, being opened this month by the National State Bank, Elizabeth.

They are in W. Milton ave. at Jaques ave., Rahway, and in E. Westfield ave., Roselle Park near the Roselle Park Office.

Both structures feature two driveways from the rear of the buildings to two red brick, concrete block and steel-tube booths for the drive-in customers. They also have walk-up windows for pedestrians.

The drive-in in Rahway is the second expansion of the bank's services in Rahway this year. Last April it the enlarged and remodeled facilities of the Rahway Office were opened to the public.

The Roselle Park Office represents the first improvement on that side of E. Westfield ave. in recent years.

Scheduled to participate in the opening are Clair C. Bradley, assistant vice-president and office manager; Mayor Henry W. Dugler or his representative; Roosevelt and Kathy Parker, Miss Roselle Park, as well as other bank officials.

The Roselle Park drive-in will be opened from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays to Fridays and from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Mondays. The Rahway drive-in will be opened from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Program At Pool: Checkers, Jacks And Aching Backs

Last week started out on a sour note at Springfield's Municipal Pool with Sunday's unswimmable rain.

Headlining the events for the week were Monday's jacks and checkers tournaments. Both tournaments involved boys and girls of all ages.

Doug Hedstrom, 12 years old, is the checkers champion, after a final match with Julie Beaton. Nine-year-old Merle Niemen, who competed against boys and girls ranging from ages six to 16, is the reigning jacks champion.

Tuesday's arts and crafts program featured pictures made with crushed gravel of assorted colors for the seven- and eight-year-old children. Members of the nine-through-11-year-old group tried their skills on pictures of looted aluminum. Those who created outstanding projects were Laurie Strum, Tony Cipriotti and Cindy Powers.

If anyone saw children very quietly entering the pool last Thursday, it was no cause for alarm. They were sick or being tortured. The children were working on lanyards, which were Thursday's arts and crafts projects.

The climactic class is continuously growing, while the ladies of Springfield are keeping trim and fit. Classes are held every day at three o'clock under the direction of Ron Fuoro.

Pool officials hope to have the swim and field events this Sunday after several rain-outs.

An added attraction for this coming Sunday will be a live band, Johnny and the Rumbles, for dancing and entertainment.

For the home: "Audel's Registration and Air Conditioning Guide." This is a practical book for servicing, operating and repairing household and commercial units.

For collectors: "Louis C. Tiffany, Rebel in Glass," by Robert Koch, contains "beautiful color plates and copious black and white illustrations. Not only is this about a versatile not only a versatile but describes the beauty and opulence of the stained glass designs." Tiffany died in 1933.

Biography: "The Man They Wouldn't Let Die," by Alexander Dorozynski. "An incredible story of the great Soviet scientist, Lev Landau, who was considered dead and brought back to life four times. Do Russian scientists understand more about death than do other medical specialists?"

For small fry: "Trouble at Tempell," by Henry Winterfeld, is an unusual story about a rowdy gang of boys in a small town. As a last resort, the adults decide to leave the town to the young people, who wake up one morning to find themselves in control of everything.

"Benjamin Franklin's New Book," "The Army," is a "brief pictorial account of the U.S. Army from 1776 to the present day. The pictures and text are nicely balanced."

Taxpayers Have Additional Period To Avoid Interest

Springfield taxpayers now have an additional 10 days for payment of quarterly property taxes without having to pay added interest, according to a statement issued this week by Fred L. Braun, municipal tax collector.

The additional, interest-free period of 10 calendar days was authorized by a vote of the State Legislature. The Township Committee last week voted to institute the change locally.

Braun added that, as before, interest at the rate of eight percent per year will be charged on late payments. The difference is that the interest will be charged on the 11th day after the payment is due.

Under the new system, payments due on Aug. 1 should be paid on or before Aug. 10 to escape the additional interest charge, Braun said.

He requested that each taxpayer enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope or a five-cent stamp to facilitate the return of a receipt.

Fire Department Units Assist At Brush Fire In Mountainside

The Springfield Fire Department assisted Mountainside firemen last Friday afternoon in extinguishing a brush fire in Mountainside off Rolling Road in Springfield, according to Springfield Fire Chief Ormond W. Mesker.

The local Fire Department responded to an alarm Sunday at the Edward Walton School. Investigation determined that lightning had hit a power line in the vicinity, and that the sudden surge of electricity had set off the fire alarm at the school. There was no damage.

Firemen made two visits Sunday after a tree at 10 Vista way, in the Baltusrol Top area, was struck by lightning. The first trip, at 4:50 p.m., was to extinguish the fire. The second, shortly after midnight, was as a precaution because the tree was still smoldering.

Chief Mesker this week also reported that Commonwealth Water Co. had completed installation of a new water line to hydrants in Baltusrol Top. He said this would be of great help in case of a major blaze in the area.

Bank President Lists Increased Deposits

Frank M. Pitt, president of the State Bank of Union, this week announced that deposits since June 30, 1964, have grown $2,300,000 and loans have increased by $1,500,000.

Earnings for the first six months of 1965 are running 20 per cent ahead of those in 1964.

Loans in excess of $11.5 million.

New Books Offer Summer Variety At Town Library

The Springfield Public Library offers the following new books this week:

For parents: "Nobody Said It's Easy," by Sally Liberman Smith.

"Can the years between 13 and 19 be the best years of your child's life? This book is intended as a practical guide to the feelings and relationships of young people and their parents."

Careers: "The Professional Cook — His Training, Duties, and Rewards," by chef Camille Klein. "For those interested in an exceptionally well-paid career. Lists of schools and apprenticeship programs are provided."

For the home: "Audel's Registration and Air Conditioning Guide." "This is a practical book for servicing, operating and repairing household and commercial units."

For collectors: "Louis C. Tiffany, Rebel in Glass," by Robert Koch, contains "beautiful color plates and copious black and white illustrations. Not only is this about a versatile not only a versatile but describes the beauty and opulence of the stained glass designs." Tiffany died in 1933.

Biography: "The Man They Wouldn't Let Die," by Alexander Dorozynski. "An incredible story of the great Soviet scientist, Lev Landau, who was considered dead and brought back to life four times. Do Russian scientists understand more about death than do other medical specialists?"

For small fry: "Trouble at Tempell," by Henry Winterfeld, is an unusual story about a rowdy gang of boys in a small town. As a last resort, the adults decide to leave the town to the young people, who wake up one morning to find themselves in control of everything.

"Benjamin Franklin's New Book," "The Army," is a "brief pictorial account of the U.S. Army from 1776 to the present day. The pictures and text are nicely balanced."

LEADER PROFILE

ROBERT E. DAY

Robert E. Day, Springfield's deputy fire chief, an extremely versatile, handsome young man, had numerous aspirations before he became a member of the Fire Department. But he declined to pursue several other vocations in favor of a position that would bring security to his family and to his home. And, he explained last week during an interview, he has never regretted it.

Day, who was born in Minneapolis, was brought to East Orange by his parents when he was four years old. His father, Herbert R. Day, who originally came from Springfield and who worked in a laboratory in a color manufacturing plant in Paterson, soon brought his family to his native community — Springfield. And his youngster was educated in Springfield schools; James Caldwell School and Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

In 1944, Day became a U.S. Army combat engineer and for the next two years he served in the Philippine Islands and in the occupation of Japan. He was discharged as a corporal.

"It was at that time," he recalled, "that I met a family friend who was a superintendent of a cemetery in Linden — the Rosedale-Linden Cemetery. I became interested, and worked for a while in the cemetery, but I wanted a more responsible position. I went to a specialized school for cemetery administration, in Pittsburgh, for one year. The school incidentally, is now defunct.

"I CAME BACK to work for the cemetery, diploma in hand. But it didn't take long until the cemetery people decided to cut the staff, and to fire the last three employees who had come to work there. Well," he laughed, "I was among the last three employees."

"So I went to work for a cousin of mine in the building trade in November of 1948. And I had started to go to ICS School for architecture. But I never finished that course, and my job became shaky.

"So, in May, 1949, although I had never had any aspirations of becoming a fireman, another cousin of mine, who had quit as a fireman after 13 years in Springfield, suddenly gave me the incentive to become a member.

"Well," he sighed, "it was here I found a secure job. Not just security, mind you," Day said, "but a good pension which promised that I didn't have to work all my life, that I would be able to get out at a fairly young age — 55. Well, that suited me just fine."

At that particular time — it was in 1950 — Day had married Catherine Revok of Hillside. "It was time to settle down and have a family," Day said. (The Days have three children, Patricia, 12, Robert J., 10, and Margaret, 4.) Seven years ago, Day became deputy chief in position he now maintains with a great amount of dignity.

"I TAKE CARE of a lot of the administration work — schedule tours, vacations, and perform general duties when Chief Ormond Mesker is absent. I inspect work on buildings, see to it that the work gets done — that's really one of my big responsibilities.

The best part about working in the Springfield Fire-House is that we have 15 men, including officers, who are a nice, clean-cut bunch of fellows.

"We have no personnel problems — no bad eggs. Everybody gets along very well with everyone else."

The deputy chief, who has had a variety of experiences in fires of all sorts, points to one in particular as "one of the oddest experiences in my life.

"I was off one particular day, and I took my wife and my son shopping at the Safeway. We were walking around, kind of leisurely, and I didn't realize that the whole roof was going. I felt the manager of the store that it fell particularly hot, and he said that the air-conditioning was out of sorts and had to be fixed.

"SUDDENLY, there was an announcement that everyone should leave the store, and I looked up and saw a fire coming down from the ceiling. The whole attack was involved. That, incidentally, was the largest fire in my career.

"I was in civilian clothes, and I hurried my wife and my son to our car — we'd been all the way at the end of the store, and we were among the last to get out. In the meantime, I checked to see that everybody else got out.

"Then I waited for the truck to get there. The truck arrived in a matter of minutes, but to me it seemed like forever. Tons of water couldn't help. The building was lost. But what was so amazing was the fact that no one was hurt."

Despite the Electron, the new radio device, which Day says is excellent — "They indicate exactly where the fire is" — being a fireman has its pitfalls.

ROBERT E. DAY

Senator Williams Reports

WASHINGTON — The family farmer, in order to keep his prices competitive with the big corporate farms, has been forced to value his labor at the same low wages paid to migrant farm workers.

That, according to U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-NJ), is one of the salient conclusions to be drawn from a package of five bills aimed at improving the wages and working conditions of hired farm workers.

Senator Williams is chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Migratory Labor, which held the hearings, and sponsor of the five bills.

And, he said this week, following a study of the transcript of the hearing, that three days of testimony established "by any objective standard" that the bills will help the vast majority of farmers, as well as farm workers.

"In fact," Senator Williams said, "87 percent of all commercial farms depend on virtually no outside labor. But the other 13 percent — the larger corporate type farms — devalue the return per hour of the farm family by depressing the wages paid to hired laborers."

"Placed at this competitive disadvantage, the small farmer has had two choices — lower his own return per hour in order to compete with the low wages paid hired labor, or leave the land."

"An AFL-CIO witness at the hearings summed up the case for the minimum wage, proposed by Senator Williams by saying: 'The impact of the minimum wage rates for farm labor under the limitations imposed in 1964 would fall almost exclusively on the larger or corporate type farms, whose output depends on hired labor.'

"For farms dependent on the labor of farm owners and operators, returns would increase in line with the rise in the wages of hired workers."

Senator Williams said today that for the more than two million small farmers, an increase in wages and improvements in working conditions for migrant workers will be translated into more money for the family farmer."

In addition to establishing a minimum wage for farm workers, the five measures proposed by Senator Williams would:

- Prohibit harmful agricultural child labor;
- Give farm workers the same right to organize and bargain collectively as industrial workers now have;
- Provide improved methods of recruiting and transporting farm labor;
- Establish a National Advisory Council on Farm Labor.

Support for these bills came not only from organized labor but also from a number of groups including the clergy, American Friends Service Committee and the National Farmers Union.

"We heard strong language endorsing these bills from Blue Carstenon, Executive Director of the National Farmers Union," said Senator Williams.

The Farmers Union told the Migratory Labor Subcommittee: "We believe that the standards set for farm laborers influence the standards under which the individual farmer and his family work in order to compete with the Agri-business empire and their masses of farm labor."

"The Corporate farm and the Agri-business man have exploited the poor. . . . They were gradually squeezing out the small family farmer, using cheap migrant labor. . . .

"The corporate farm has been gaining, not by efficiency but by economic manipulations and from the grinding poverty of the farm laborers. If you are a supporter of the family farm concept for America, you will help curtail the low wage practices of the Agri-barons."

Testimony ranged from these strong statements supporting the legislation to flat and unequivocal opposition to all the bills.

Employment Increase, Factory Workweek Up

TRENTON — Nonfarm wage and salary employment in New Jersey expanded sharply in June, reaching another record high, according to estimates prepared by the N. J. Department of Labor and Industry on the basis of its monthly employer survey.

The Department estimates that 2,248,400 were employed in mid-June, exclusive of farm, domestic, self-employed, and unpaid family workers. This represented an increase of 30,600 from May and an expansion of 57,900 since a year ago June.

Seasonal hiring between May and June was indicated in nearly all industries, both in manufacturing and in nonmanufacturing. Jobholding expanded by 7,600 in wholesale and retail trade, with eating and drinking places accounting for a substantial portion of the gain. Employment in service establishments rose by 5,100 and construction contractors added 3,700 to their payrolls. Summer hiring by state and local government agencies and institutions raised employment in the government sector by 3,000.

Gains in manufacturing were heaviest in apparel, food, and chemicals. A 1,000 job increase in miscellaneous manufacturing reflected termination of a strike involving a major toy manufacturer.

Earnings of factory production workers climbed to an all-time high of $113.18 during the June survey week, as the average factory workweek increased to 41.3 hours, the longest it has been since October, 1955. Average weekly earnings were $1.22, or nearly four percent, higher than in June, 1964.

Highly confidential sources have discovered that the Federal Government last week did not release all the space-probe photographs of Mars. Certain pictures, definitely proving the existence of intelligent life on our neighbor planet, were suppressed in the interests of national morale.

One photo clearly indicated the presence of a superhighway, with even the roadside signs legible.

Among them were:
"Patronize Mars Bars — 50 beautiful barmmaids."
"Litterbugs are no better than Earthlings."

"Detour ahead. We are doing our best to speed travel to the canal shore area, so please be patient."

"Welcome to South Marsville. Populated by 8,324 members of 12 friendly, intelligent species. Speed laws strictly enforced."

"Leaving South Marsville. If you can't drive any better than that, don't come back."

"Government property. Top secret projects. Spies enter by west gate."

"Drive-In Movie. Two big features about oxygen-breathing bipeds from Earth. Horrors! Thrills! You'll never believe it!"

"Teen Canteen. You bring the switch-blades. We provide the rest."

There was also one other sign, frequently repeated, which scholars cite as proof of the cultural unity of our two planets.

It was made up of two lines:

"Kilroy was here."
"Yankee go home."

Adlai E. Stevenson

Adlai E. Stevenson was a part of the local community, even as he was part of the world.

His death will remove Mr. Stevenson as much from our area as it does from the thousands of other communities of men of good will who have listened, inspired, to his words of quiet dignity and intellect.

He will be mourned with sadness — as the deaths of great and noble men should be — and he will be remembered with love, for his articulation of kindness and decency.

Even in political defeat, Mr. Stevenson raised the stature and the sights of the political visionary.

He has left a legacy of wit, wisdom and sound thinking.

We are the poorer for his loss, but are the benefactors of his legacy.

CAP Cadet Group Completes Week Of Summer Duty

Eleven cadets from Millburn Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol have completed a week-long program at McGuire Air Force Base. While at the base, the cadets, along with about 170 other cadets, were given the opportunity to sample Air Force life, living in Air Force barracks and visiting various installations on the base.

The summer encampment was ended with graduation ceremonies including a dance and parade. The encampment is a required part of the cadet training program.

Members of Millburn Composite Squadron who participated in the 1965 Encampment were as follows: Linda Burns, 331 Millburn ave., Millburn; Carolyn Conroe, 60 Milton st., Millburn; Salvatore DiBiano, 17 Crestwood dr., West Orange; Stephen Dizio, 247 E. 4th pkwy., Iselin.

Also, Arthur Herold, 16 Parkview dr., Millburn; Philip Lutz, 12 Lancer dr., Short Hills; Rosewell Roper, 431 Parsonage Hill rd., Short Hills; Christine Tully and Diana Tully, both of 42 Woodfield dr., Short Hills; John Aiken, 1046 Cranbrook rd., Union; and Donald McVay of 281 Forest dr., Short Hills.

MILDEW grows at 70%. Leather, furs, books and stored valuables are frequently spoiled.

RUST starts at 40%. Tools, furnaces, toys, etc. are often damaged at high Relative Humidity.

WOOD SWELLING starts at 40%. Fibers and panels warp. Doors, drawers and windows stick.

An electric dehumidifier will wring the air dry and protect your property against dampness damage. If you have excess moisture in your basement, recreation room, laundry, workshop, library or storage room, then you need a dehumidifier for a full use of these areas without musty odors, danger to health or loss due to rust, mildew and warping. An electric dehumidifier will cut home maintenance cost by stopping the warping of floors and woodwork, the peeling of painted walls and the rotting of stairs and beam supports.

Union, Springfield Youths Win In Annual Hole In One Tourney

Chris Ball of 724 Arnold pl., Union, has been named first place winner in the recent Hole In One Tournament held at the Arnold Palmer Putting Course at the Atlantic Thrift Center, Rt. 22, Union.

Ball scored three holes in one and received a television set.

Second place was taken by John Lellis of 1280 Grandview ave., Union, who scored three holes in one and received a clock radio.

The third place winner was Allan Karp of 10 New Brooklane, Springfield, who scored two holes in one and received a transistor radio.

A sudden death playoff between Ball and Lellis decided first place, a spokesman said.

The object of the tournament was to score the greatest number of holes in one in an 18 hole round of play. The first prize winner is also eligible for an additional prize in the national tournament. His score on the local course will be matched against other players scores who were competing on other Arnold Palmer Courses throughout the country.

The prizes were presented by William Fiore of 315 Burnet ave., Union. Fiore is executive director of the PAL Boys Club, Union.

Rt. 278 Project Bids Received By Highway Dept.

The New Jersey State Highway Department this week announced a low bid of $1,258,778.20 was received from Schiavone Construction Co. Inc., Secaucus, on an Interstate Rt. 278 project in Union County.

Work on the 0.012 mile project will consist of construction of a bridge to carry the freeway over Park ave. in the City of Linden and a bridge to carry relocated Brunswick ave. over the roadway of the superhighway.

All work is aimed toward the eventual construction of a 1.5 mile long freeway curving west and south from the approaches to the Goethals Bridge to a junction with Rt. 1 just south of the Staten Island Rapid Transit Lines in the area of the Bayway Refinery of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

The bridges to be built under this project will enable traffic on Park ave. and on Brunswick ave. to move without interference during future work on the roadways of Rt. 278.

Union County Cut Into Seven Zones

The formation of a Coordinating Committee to work in connection with the coming campaign was announced this week by James J. Kinneally, Union County Democratic County Chairman. The purpose of the committee will be to work closely with all Democratic candidates, the Democratic municipal chairmen of Union County, clubs and Democratic organizations, said Kinneally. Barry Left of 302 Foxwood rd., Union, will be the County Coordinator and the county will be divided into seven zones, he said.

Zone B will consist of the city of Linden and the Linden coordinator will be H. Roy Wheeler of 305 W. Henry st., Linden, and assisting Wheeler will be the ten ward coordinators consisting of the Democratic councilmen or Democratic candidates for council as follows: John T. Gregorio in the first ward; William Daxtel in the second ward, also Emil Varga who will run in his place; Alex Lee in the third ward; Edward Murawski in the fourth ward; Henry Barrar in the fifth ward; Steve Morris in the sixth ward; Edward Flanagan in the seventh ward; also George Hudak Jr. who will run in his place; Michael Smigelsky in the eighth ward; Paul Werkmeister in the ninth ward; and Paul A. Velsley in the tenth ward. Assisting Wheeler will be councilman-at-large Dennis J. Lyons. Zone F will comprise James Garwood, Roselle, Roselle Park and Union, Freeholder John V. Rep. Dwyer Urges President To Deal With Water Shortage

WASHINGTON—Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-8th Dist.-N.J.) has urged President Johnson to call a White House conference of Federal, State and local officials to deal directly with the emergency water shortage in the northeastern States.

In a letter released this week, Mrs. Dwyer suggested that the President summon the conference immediately and convene it as soon as the report of the Federal Ad Hoc Water Resources Council has been received. The President on Wednesday directed Interior Secretary Udall to call the Council together and report to him within a week on how the Government can help alleviate the water emergency in the New England and Middle Atlantic States.

Calling on the President to "increase the pace and scope of assistance to the maximum," Congressman Dwyer proposed that the conference "deal directly with the priority problem of organizing a cooperative Federal-State-Local effort to mobilize information, funds, and other resources to meet immediate requirements."

She suggested that Governors, Mayors, County officials and State and local water experts be invited to the conference as well as Federal officials and ranking Members of Congressional committees handling water resource matters.

Such a conference, she wrote the President, would avoid loss of time, permit personal contact between responsible officials dealing with the water crisis, and provide an opportunity to make preliminary, on-the-spot plans and put them into immediate operation.

Mrs. Dwyer advanced 10 proposals which such an "action conference" could profitably address, including:

Assess Federal assistance which is immediately available; reallocate funds in existing Federal water supply and sewerage control programs to areas of greatest need; devise a program of effective water conservation techniques; survey areas having plentiful water supplies and study means of transferring such water to shortage areas; construct emergency pipelines, pumping stations and filtration plants to make maximum use of existing water supplies; mobilize area civil defense agencies to identify and test wells and provide emergency transport facilities, and redirect existing Federal water research efforts to those projects having most immediate potential.

Also increase support for the Government's water desalination program and consider immediate construction of plants for desalting water at points of critical shortage along the East Coast, and provide technical advice to State and local governments and encourage them to make greater use of existing resources, increase investment in water supply and sewage control facilities, and join in area-wide sharing and planning of resources.

Bicyclist, 10, Injured In Collision With Auto

Joseph Ludovico, 10, of 2808 Allen ave., Union, was admitted to Overlook Hospital last week for a fracture of his left leg following an accident in Audrey ter, when he was struck by an auto as he was riding a bicycle according to police.

Mervin Fainot, 30, of 2808 Kathleen ter, of the car, told police the youth suddenly appeared on a bicycle in the path of his vehicle. Police reported 30 feet of skid marks from the wheels of the auto.

The hospital reported the boy in good condition.

NJ Youth Council Forms Committee

This announcement of a new committee of the New Jersey Youth Council was made this week by Dr. Harold A. Murray, chairman of the commission. The new committee on Youth Accident Prevention will be headed by Fred Rosenberg, a member of the commission. The new committee will concentrate on seven areas of involvement. Sub-committees will be formed to study (1) compulsory driver education as a prerequisite for a New Jersey drivers license, (2) the problems of teenage drinking, (3) adult guidance in the area of drugs and narcotics as it relates to driving and (4) a program of public information relating to the problem of car thefts by youngsters who, in turn, injure themselves and innocent people.

George Stumpf

George Stumpf of 734 Nesbitt, Irvington, died Sunday in Irvington General Hospital. He was 84. Born in Newark, he lived in Cranford six years before moving to Irvington 32 years ago. Mr. Stumpf manufactured musical instrument cases and operated his own company in Newark around the turn of the century. Before his retirement 14 years ago, he was an agent with the former Sothers Real Estate Inc. of Irvington. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ida Barton Stumpf, and a daughter, Miss May Stumpf, at home. Private services were held at Terrell's Home for Funerals, Irvington.

HAVE A SAFE AND PLEASANT VACATION

Going Away? -- You'd Better Take Three Precautions First

Family conferences with maps and touring literature spread across the living room floor are half the fun of a vacation, but it is important to follow certain precautions to insure a safe and pleasant summer journey, according to the Allstate Motor Club.

Lahr Goes Far In Funny Fare

Burlesque Veteran Is Sexy Past 60

BY DR. WILLIAM BRUCKER

There is a potato chipy tightness to Bert Lahr as Harry Lambert, blustering sexy gonorrhea in "Never Too Late" as he won his audience at the Paper Mill Playhouse opening night this week. His steps far beyond the play and makes it a comfortable receptacle for his potato-head type of ogling and mugging. Everyone is happier for this non-cerebral summer fare.

There is a roasted, toasted, candy-coated rightness to his performance, too. For this is just an old burlesque skill developed for all it could hold into a three-act embryo that subverts the double entendre into another genre play of our time.

This is the Summer Arthur Long play that chalked up over 1,000 performances in New York. While it does generate a strong parody of laughs, it is a one-act play that hogs down so badly in the third act that its final development is as inventive and exciting as the one in my senior class play in 1932.

By this time everyone knows that "Never Too Late" is the bromide prescribed to panic out of unpredicted motoring situations. Without warning, problems can arise when a family is away from home and could spoil your long awaited trip. Proper planning to avoid them begins with packing.

The most important single item to pack is a complete first aid kit, freshly stocked, and including any special medicines for individual members of the family. Also needed as equipment for the family are a good flashlight, accurate maps and flares to use in warmish other cases if the family is stranded on a highway at night.

Of course, a complete check of the condition of the auto should be made prior to your departure to avoid delays while on the road. Planning a vacation also should include some important details involving the family home. Here are some suggestions from ABC's safety specialists:

Notify local police that your home will be away and ask that your home be checked periodically. Arrange with a neighbor to keep a key to your house and leave a day-by-day route plan of your trip so you may be called in case of trouble. The same neighbor may be willing to watch for delivery men or strangers who may come to your empty house.

Discontinue mail and newspaper service and all home deliveries while away.

Do not draw drapes or shades. This is a tip to burglars that a house is empty. Consider using automatic timer to turn lights on and off.

Make a careful inspection of your house just before leaving to avoid fire hazards such as lighted cigarettes or "on" appliances.

Other helpful vacation tips are: Confirm all overnight accommodations well in advance or stop early in the afternoon to avoid that last minute rush for limited motel facilities in a strange area.

Know how to change a tire or make emergency repairs to a car to avoid being stranded in remote areas.

Travel with at least a minimum amount of cash plus travelers' checks for normal and emergency expenses.

Insurance is an important precaution. Check into do you need special coverage for your auto? Should you obtain the new travel accident and baggage insurance for travel in the United States—and abroad? What does your homeowners policy cover while you are away from home? These points should be checked with your insurance agent.

Seek emergency medical or hospital or police station where dental assistance from a nearby office may have first aid facilities and know how to reach doctors without delay.

Keep complete notification papers on all members of the family, including vehicle registration and insurance certificates. Accident and health insurance cards also should be kept handy while traveling.

And when you finally get to the road on your vacation drive defensively to insure a pleasant journey and safe return.

Small Fry Dress Up For Costume Parades At All Playgrounds

The Springfield playground season moved past its third week last Friday. Last week it was like Halloween in July, as each playground held its annual costume parade.

Arts and Crafts activities at the playgrounds continue to retain their popularity with the children. Each week the two craft leaders, "Miss Judy" and "Miss Karen," visit each playground twice. The children anxiously await their visits.

DENHAM PLAYGROUND
Denham Playground began a busy week with a sand castle contest. The winners of this event were Steve Kubish and Marty Flynn. Michael Monaco was tops in tetherball, and Peter Jacques won a Candyland event.

Tuesday afternoon saw Tim Wilson as the winner in a turtle race, while Ricky Belliveau was the best in tetherball. Cindy Powers' team won a kickball game, and John Gacos won the Candyland championship.

Wednesday afternoon was the time of the big annual costume parade. Peter Jacques and Pat Cardone were judged to be the funniest. Maxine Lipkin was the most talented. Chris and Jamie Gacos and Mike Popillo were the most original in the parade.

On this same day, Jamie Gacos won the tetherball contest, and Jeffrey and Christopher Root were the best in coloring. Tommy Jacques completed the best work in the arts and crafts activities.

Thursday and Friday saw many field games played at the playground. Tom Jacques' team won the baseball game, while Steven Flynn's team was victorious in a kickball game. Other participants included: Diane Jacques, Matty Flynn, Timmy Wilson, John Wachtel, Joey Campanella and Joanie Jacques.

WOODSIDE PLAYGROUND
Woodside Playground, located on Laurel dr., has become one of Springfield's busiest playgrounds this season. The children of the Woodside area turn out at the playground to participate in the many games and activities.

Last week started with varied games. Cindy Patino was the winner of catch and stick, while Danny Mariani, Peter May and Paul Wasserman were tops in the Japanese tag. Danny Mariani's team was victorious in ball tri-pod. Gail Wilson won a game of Chinese wall, while Charles Adickman won posing circle.

"Steal the Bacon" is always a popular game at Woodside Playground. Those who were outstanding last week included: Gail Wilson, Peter May, Danny Mariani, Charles Adickman, Kathy McGowan and Ricky Cohn.

Caribou stalking is also very popular with the children at Woodside. Julie and Sandra Blaustein were tops in this activity last week. Todd Herman won a game of bombardment, while Gail Wilson won at spud. Lisa Cole was the winner of catch the stick.

The children also participated in a morning-long scavenger hunt. The winners were Danny Mariani, Todd Herman, Julie Blaustein, Warren Schleppner, Cindy Patino and M.J. McGowan.

SANDMEIER PLAYGROUND
Knock-hockey continues to be the most popular game on the Sandmeier Playground. Last week Robert Garner, Larry Breeden, Janice Marshall, and Vincent Davis were the best in the playground.

Ella Goforth won a packs tournament. Larry Breeden and Mary Garner seem to be a sure bet to repeat as the playground's tetherball champions. Both are playing very well this season.

Raymond Jones and Janice Marshall are tops in checkers this year. Drawing and coloring were highlighted during the art session last week. Ella Goforth, Cathy Seymour, Rosella McClain, Michael McClain, Donna Seymour and Eric Goforth did the best work.

The annual costume parade was held at Sandmeier last Wednesday. Among the winners were: Gregory McClain, dressed as a girl; Melvin McClain, dressed as an old man; Rosella McClain, dressed as a lady maldador; Donna Seymour, as a ballet dancer; Robert Garner, as a tap dancer; Raymond Jones, as a cowboy; Cathy Seymour, as an angel; Janice Marshall, as an 18th Century lady; Nancy Marshall, as Cleopatra; Billy Nevius, as a Western sheriff; and Jerry Jones, Derek Goforth, Vincent Davis, and Arthur James as beach boys.

Horseshoes came to the playground last week, and the following teams were outstanding in competition: Robert Garner and Vincent Davis, Jerry Garner and Larry Stewart, Billy Nevius and Mary Garner, Derek Goforth and Arthur James, Michael Davis and Larry Breeden, and Rene Nevius and Mark Seymour.

ALVIN PLAYGROUND
The children participated in a drawing contest last week. Some of the best projects were completed by: Carol Roesner, Joanne McGrody, Kathy Gartling, Frank and Tommy Ruseinello, Kathy DeFino and John Gartling. The winners were: Edward McGrody, dressed as a clown; Steven Gartling, dressed as a bunny, and John Gartling, dressed as a hood.

Cut paper drawings were also completed during an arts and crafts session. The top projects were made by: Joey and Kathy DeFino, Lina Pepe, John Benesse, Joanne Truncelo, and Carol Roesner.

RIVERSIDE PLAYGROUND
The Riverside Playground is always an active area. Riverside is located on Washington ave. Last Monday, there were many activities at the playground. Patrick Smith was the winner in pick-up-sticks, while Joe Bukowski and Kirk Libby were tops in horseshoes.

Nancy Smith, Kathy Turcott, Patrick Smith and Toni Reucci made the best free-hand pictures in a drawing contest. Monday was also a "clean-up" day at the playground. The most helpful were: Joyce Martini, Nancy Smith, Steve Merkelbach and Pat Smith.

The annual costume parade was held last Wednesday at the playground. The entrants were numerous, and among the winners were: Patrick Smith, as a baseball player; Brian Smith, as a sailor; Nancy Smith, as a princess; Toni Ragucci, as Miss America; Kirk Libby, as a Hawaiian dancer; Ania Ragucci, as a witch; Susan Aquilino, as a bathing beauty; Donna Heady, as a hillbilly; Frankie Aquilino, as a muscle man, and Christopher Smith, as an old woman.

Judges in the contest were Barbara Heady and Joyce Martini. Arts and Crafts is always a top activity at Riverside. Last week many of the children made pillows. The best projects were completed by: Kirk Libby, Susan Caffery, Toni Ragucci and Susan Aquilino. Wayne Rutz, Pat Smith and Kirk Libby completed top-notch sand castles in a contest. Sand villages were made by Donna Heady, and Steve Merkelbach.

IRWIN PLAYGROUND
Soccer games always dot the area at Irwin Playground. Top participants in this sport last week were: Bob Arnold, Eugene Shute, Mitchell Seidel, David Casillas, Steve DiBenedetto and Ed Gerstein.

Those who were outstanding at kickball were: Lorena Shute, Eugene Shute, David Arnold, Kathy O'Dair, Sally O'Dair, Valerie Gurrera, Ellen Sherman, Barbara Owens, Arlene Janjikian, Brian Baumrind, and Michael Baumrind.

Those who won a sand castle contest were: Jonathan Fisher, Loren Shute, David Arnold, and Phillip Cohen. A drawing contest testing the imagination was held last week. The top participants were: Kathy O'Dair, Jack Barry, David Arnold, Kimberly Pease, Joyce Gurrera and Mitchell Seidel.

A bubble gum blowing contest was held at Irwin last Tuesday. David Casillas blew the bubble with the loudest pop. Lorena Shute blew the bubble with the softest pop. Kim Pease won the top prize for blowing the largest bubble, while Cathy Worwick was a close second.

Sal Pacifico blew the smallest bubble, with Eugene Shute second. David Arnold was awarded a prize as the one who tried the hardest, but couldn't blow a bubble.

A baseball game also took the spotlight last Tuesday at Irwin. The top players this day were: Eugene Shute, Michael Rosalter, David Casillas, Donald Casillas, Cathy Worwick, Tommy Rosalter and Randy Panckeri.

Arts and Crafts is always a top activity at Irwin. Outstanding paper-looms were made by Lorena Shute, Joyce Gurrera, Ralph Goulden, Melissa Purkiser, John O'Dair, Anne Angleton, Lorraine Ick and Roberts Murphy. The best mosaic pictures were completed by: Cathy Worwick, Elyse Decker, Patty Sheehan, Valerie Gurrera, Joanne Deutch, Arlene Janjikian, Debbie Sherman and Holly Morrison.

The Irwin Playground costume parade was a big success. The entrants were many at this, the largest of all Springfield playgrounds.

Among the winners were: Cathy Worwick, as a hobo; Pat Quinn, as a wounded soldier; Gloria Fernandez, as a canary girl; Kim Pease, as a country girl; Randy Fenton, as Frankenstein; Eugene Fernandez, as a Spanish girl; Lisa Schmidt, as a ballerina; Pat Brennan, as James Bond-007; Kathy O'Dair, as a Chinese girl; and Sally O'Dair as a sophisticated lady.

The awards for the prettiest costumes went to Victoria, Alicia, and Juana Fernandez, who dressed as Spanish girls.

CALDWELL PLAYGROUND
Table games are very popular at the Caldwell Playground, as are arts and crafts activities. Joe Visotaki, a top participant on the playground, won a huckle-buckle-beanstalk contest last week, as did Joey Pepe.

The children at the playground were also treated to a tour of the polls and the department last week. This was very educational and much fun. "Miss Judy" and "Miss Karen," the art teachers, took the children on this tour.

Joe Visotaki was the winner in a running bases contest. Cynthia Kight won a checker tournament held at Caldwell Playground last week.

The Caldwell costume parade was very popular with the children. The most beautiful costumes were worn by Susan Murphy and Pat Schwerdt. Jimmy Scario's costume was the most colorful, while Cindy Scario was the most original in the parade. Steve Pepe wore the most frightening costume.

The top prize in the show was awarded to Danny Halsey. Danny dressed as Ringo Starr of the Beatles and carried his drumsticks.

REGIONAL PLAYGROUND
Regional Playground began their activities last week with a poster making contest. Malori Sklar won this contest. Lucille Hardgrove placed second in the contest.

Sand-box construction is very popular. The best in a contest were: Steve Dusart, Frank Geller, Steven and Alan Phillip, Jeff Krikzens, Michael Palmer, and Jim Fitzgerald.

The top arts and crafts projects last week were completed by: Arthur Straus, Malori Sklar, Marcy Fink, Gail Lawrence, Sandy, Wendy, Jackie, and Jill Szpara, Paul Latak, Michael and Debbie Palmer and Sally Geiger.

Those who enjoyed table games on Monday included: Lisa Olesky, John Olesky, Kathie Smith and Joanne Smith.

A checker tournament held forth last Tuesday at the playground. Steve Dusart was the winner, while Jeff Krikzen placed second in the tournament. Others in the tournament were: Arthur Straus, Jill Denburg, Sally Geiger, John Olesky, Wendy, Bobby, and Jackie Szpara, Malori Sklar, Gail Lawrence, Gary Burrett, Jim Spiesbach and David Pierson.

Arts and Crafts were also held on Tuesday. The children made pillows.

The best projects were completed by: Malori Sklar, Gail Lawrence, Robert and Lucille Hardgrove, Arthur Straus, Hollie and Jill Denburg, Michael and Peggy Palmer, Linda Foley, Wendy, Jackie, Bobby, and Jill Szpara. Following arts and crafts, the children made a visit to the fire house, accompanied by their leader, Miss Eileen Wagner.

Regional Playground held its annual costume parade last week. Arthur Straus was the top winner in this event for his portrayal of the original Tarleton smoker, who would rather fight than switch.

Honorable mention awards were presented to the following children: Halle Denburg, as a ballerina; Jill Denburg, as a Hawaiian dancer; Michael Palmer, as a big game hunter; Peggy Palmer as a monkey; Lucille Hardgrove, as a beatnik; and Malori Sklar.

A washer contest was also held last week. The winner was Gary Burrett. Others in the contest included: Jim and Jerry Spiesbach, Jim Fitzgerald, Henry Trevino, Arthur Straus, Jill Denburg and Wendy Szpara. Jim Spiesbach won a horseshoe contest with Albert Brevine, Steve and Alan Krikzens.

Regional Playground concluded its week last Friday with a freckle contest and a clean-up campaign. Jim and Jerry Spiesbach were judged to have the most freckles, while Gary Burrett, Lucille Hardgrove, Arthur Straus and Karen Pfeiffer had the least.

Those helping most during the clean-up campaign on the playground were: Arthur Straus, Gail Lawrence, Jill Denburg, Steve Dusart, Jill Szpara, Jeff, Steve, Phillip, and Alan Krikzens, Jim Fitzgerald, Jerry and Jim Spiesbach, and Karen Pfeiffer.

HENSHAW PLAYGROUND
Henshaw Playground began its activities last week with an all-playground kickball game. Bonnie Miller was captain of the winning team. Other top players for the winners were: Jackie Benjamin, Keith Prussing, Bryan

Mercer, Kevin Mercer and Marty Walsh. Debbie Baldwin also played a top game for the winners.

Henshaw held its costume parade last week. The winning entries were: Robin Stein, Ginny Weis and Diane Wendland.

An important checker tournament was also held last week. The winner of this event was Craig Hall. Craig defeated all comers time and again to prove his championship. Debbie Baldwin and Lisa Hall were the chief runners-up.

There was also a tetherball tournament played last week. The winners were Bonnie Miller, Gail Hummel, Gregg Prussing and Scott Prussing.

The week concluded with another all-playground kickball game. Diane Wendland captured the winning team. Playing on Diane's team were: Scott Prussing, Kevin Mercer, Bryan Mercer, Lisa Hall and Simon Kirsbaum.

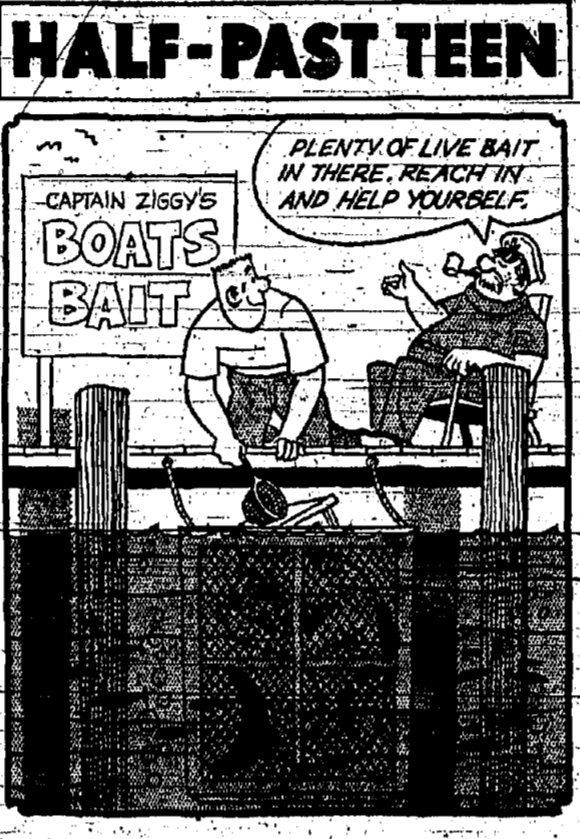

SMITHFIELD PLAYGROUND
Table games are popular with the younger children at the Smithfield Playground. Joan Tarrantula and Cindy Magella enjoyed Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, while Candyland was enjoyed by Diane Tarrantula and Paul Kiesel.

Kenny Fingerhut and Barbara Gan played Usable Wiggles. Others enjoying the many table games included: Richard Minster, Randi Kessler, Sidney Shlein, Mark Smitee and Larry Ogden. LEADER PROFILE

"It can be very aggravating at times for the wife of a fireman," he admitted. "Yet, at other times, a wife will share her husband's gratitude for a job where there's no fear of layoff."

"SHE'LL SAY she doesn't mind, but know damn deep she does. Especially, when you're on a shift at 14 hours at a stretch—and most of those hours are night hours. It's hard on a woman, all right."

"I remember one night, I think it was back in 1962, I had been at a fire and was burned by a flashback with an oil burner. It was the first of my face from top to bottom, really burned. When I came home, my wife prissy-near died right there and then when she saw me."

"But I guess firemen's wives, generally speaking, are among the bravest women in the world." Day said some of the worse fires are caused by sheer neglect. "Carelessness is the prime suspect," he declared. "Last year, we had two deaths—a man and his wife—through carelessness with burning cigarets."

"And another problem, especially at this time of the year, is the fire caused by short circuits. People tend to overload the circuits in their houses with television and air-conditioning. People are not rewiring their houses to suit the conditions of today."

Day, who belongs to the American Legion and to the Volunteer Fire Department, said that a lot of the firemen "came from volunteer work, although I came directly from civilian life. I started my 17th year in May, and I've got 17 more years to go."

"AMONG HIS HOBBIES, he said, are drawing and carpentry. "I do carpentry around my own house (at 182 Tooker ave.)"

After some probing, he modestly mentioned that he designed the town's seal in 1957.

"I also designed the fire house that we have hopes of building some day," the smiling fireman said. "And one of my sons likes to draw, too. He would like to become a civil engineer or an architect... both of which I once dreamed of becoming."

"And I'm giving him all the encouragement I can at this point."

36-YEAR GAP IS CLOSED

'I Came To You, Son,' Says 87-Year-Old Surprise Visitor From Italy

By BEA SMITH
'You couldn't come to me, I came to you,' declared 87-year-old Mrs. Angela De Nicolò, as she left the customs office at Kennedy Airport last Thursday, accompanied by her son, Anthony De Nicolò of 1220 Lincoln St., Union, whom she hadn't seen for 36 years.

and nephews, and her youngest American grandchild, Johnny, 7, with kisses and hugs and exclamations of joy and pride.
Two of the other De Nicolò children, Mildred, 21, and Anthony, 18, were anxiously waiting at home in Union for their grandmother's arrival, in rather a state of excitement and confusion, still clutching the express air mail letter from the Province of ter-in-law said, 'she was so Udine, Corderoni in northern Italy.

The letter, Mrs. Anthony De Nicolò explained, 'was actually a short note, sent by Anthony's sister, Rosa, who lives with the mother, Rosa's husband, and twin children in the small province in Italy.
'THE NOTE merely said that mother was coming to visit us on such and such a plane at such and such a time at Kennedy Airport, and will be sure to meet her there 'since she doesn't speak a word of English.

'Oh, my goodness!' was the first thing I said, 'suppose she gets sick coming over on the plane. She'd never been on a plane before! Of course, the next thing that entered our minds was the rearrangement of sleeping facilities.
'The most exciting part of this whole thing,' Mrs. De Nicolò exclaimed, 'is a voice that still seemed to carry a tremor of disbelief, 'was the fact that never in her letters had she given us any inclination of coming over here! She wanted to surprise us, and so she got a six-month visa, and all of a sudden, here she is.'
During the entire flight, the elder Mrs. De Nicolò kept repeating to a fellow passenger, the fact that she 'wants to see her son only once more' before she dies. This statement was repeated to the Union family by the passenger, after all the confusion, language barrier, and customs duties, were left behind at the airport.
'At the airport' her daughter didn't see us. And when she was brought into the customs office, she kept telling the people there that she wanted to see so and so, but they had a hard time understanding her. We finally got one of the officers' attention, and he said, 'there they are!' She turned, saw and recognized us — and her face lighted up, with happiness and tears.

EN ROUTE from New York to New Jersey, Mrs. De Nicolò kept looking and looking at her son... all the way home. She told him in Italian how she had gotten a little sick the first couple of hours on the plane, but she was all right now that she was with her family. She looked out of the car, the younger Mrs. De Nicolò said, 'all the while sitting on the edge of the car seat... and stared wide-eyed at all the cars... all the heavy traffic... never know there were so many cars in America... Of course, she stared at the traffic in between staring at my husband.'
This was the elder Mrs. De Nicolò's second visit to the United States. The first one was in the late 1920s, when, accompanied by two sons, she had joined her husband in New York. He had a fairly good job in New York, she said, but the idea that it really has to go to work, or he'll be late...

'WE'VE PUT HER in Johnny's room — and Johnny's doubling up with another family member, so all last night — her first night here... Johnny said he could hear her walking around, examining and even experimenting a little with all of his toys.'
The elder Mrs. De Nicolò came laden with gifts for all the members of the family. 'She brought my grandson (her great-grandson), Donald, a gold identification bracelet, and another for Johnny.
'For my married daughter, Angela (Williams of Linden), and for Mildred, who will be married in November, she brought Italian linens,' Mrs. De Nicolò said. 'Mama had sent a jacket from Italy to my husband, and she brought one for me.'
Mrs. De Nicolò reiterated how wonderful it is to have her home with the family. 'She hasn't complained about my cooking... yet... she laughed, 'but she hasn't stopped conversing with my husband she's still at it... at this moment... and he really has to go to work, or he'll be late.'

(De Nicolò, who had been a tile contractor for 17 years, had injured his back seven years ago. Since then, he has been working as a salesman, and delivery man for Products of the Blind Workers in Woodside, Long Island. Mrs. De Nicolò takes orders for the products on a bus-like phone in the home the family has owned for 19 years. 'The products are colorful... and we have lots of records,' Mrs. De Nicolò said, 'especially the, both of us.'
Mrs. De Nicolò, a native Unionite, expressed the happiness she felt in being able to have her 87-year-old mother-in-law as an honored guest when Mr. and Mrs. Anthony De Nicolò celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary on August 4.
'Her timing was perfect,' she mused. 'And we couldn't have had a more precious gift in the whole world... for our anniversary.'

STRIPES FASHION CURRENT SEASON FABRIC PATTERN

Sewing a striped dress is the current fashion craze, says Carolyn F. Yunkus, County Home Economist. To achieve this fashion-right image, a little forethought and planning is needed.
It is easier to pick a pattern before selecting any apparel. A striped fabric should be a pattern that is recommended for stripes. Such a pattern will be relatively simple in design with comparatively few pattern pieces. A creative touch may then be added with the design of the stripes.

The type of stripe depends on personal taste and figure type. Small scale stripes are good for the petite figure; larger scale stripes are best suited for taller women. Vertical stripes add to the illusion of height and slenderness, while horizontal stripes make the figure appear shorter and wider.

Stripe material should be studied before purchasing. Is it a balanced or unbalanced stripe? A balanced stripe has the same color and width stripe on either side of the predominant stripe. An unbalanced stripe has a different colored or width stripe on either side of a predominant stripe.

Stripe fabrics must be matched. Therefore, more material is needed than for a solid fabric. It is suggested that an extra eighth-of-a-yard for a narrow stripe should be obtained, an extra quarter-of-a-yard for medium width stripes, and an extra half-yard or more for a large scale stripe.

Balanced stripes are easier to work with because the stripes are evenly spaced and can be folded lengthwise or crosswise when laying out the pattern. It is necessary to match corresponding notches on identical portions of the stripe design.

To place a pattern on an unbalanced fabric, lay the pattern pieces so that the tops of the pieces point in the same direction.
It is more time consuming but it is easier to match unbalanced stripes if the pattern pieces are cut out on a single thickness of fabric. Cut the first piece with the pattern printing up, then cut the second piece with the pattern printing turned down.

Illustrations of pattern layout and tips on sewing stripes are illustrated in a free booklet called, 'Plaids and Stripes,' available from the Home Economics office, 1106, Elizabeth ave., Elizabeth.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
I'm 19 years old and I have been going steady with a boy for over a year. Lately I've been hearing things about him and one of his ex-girlfriends. He is supposed to have had two children with this girl.

He tells me these things aren't true, but I know that they are. I'm sure he's in love with both of us, and I don't want it this way. I love him too much to break up with him. What do you think I should do? Callie

Dear Callie:
If the stories you hear about this boy are in fact true, stop seeing him immediately. It's not important how much you love him; what's important is how much he loves you!

If he has fathered two chilchildren with another, sans marriage license, it sounds to me like you are his next conquest. Drop him before he drops you!

Dear Amy:
Regarding "Almost Pinched," I think it's high time that Mr. Badge No. 1 and Mr. Discount Manager scrutinize their clerks and cashiers . . . instead of their customers. I say this because of an experience I had not long ago.

I went into a store and an old gray haired woman clerk walked on me. Then I went to the cashier (also a woman) and paid for my purchases and left the store. But I forgot to pick up my receipt. When I returned an hour later for the receipt, they sure took advantage of my forgetfulness.

This woman clerk pounced all over me and accused me of not paying for the purchase I had made earlier. I confronted the cashier and demanded my receipt. After a lot of arguing, she finally went to the waste basket, picked out my receipt and gave it to me. The clerk, who stood right next to me all this time, turned and dashed away from there.

I was puzzled. So I inquired about them and to my surprise, different people told me that this is their game: When they find a sucker, they stick the money in their pockets.

You would be surprised how many people are taken in by this scheme.

Almost Taken

Dear Almost:
Management of retail establishments is equally concerned with the problem of Internal Security. While many of my readers expressed the opinion that only the public is watched for possible embezzlements, management has its other eye on its own personnel.

Dear Amy:
In answer to "Most Sincerely," P.S. 16 8," the flintstones who might work for some girl but I wouldn't advise it for all because I started going steady at the age of 16 and the boy was 18.

I know for a fact that some girls at such a tender age cannot control their emotions, and it's not all the boy's fault either.

I was one of them, I couldn't resist temptation. But fortunately, my father kept a close watch on me or else only God knows what I might have gotten into from the first boyfriend (whom my father stopped) to now . . . and I'm 18.

Benefit Ball Games Slated For Sunday

A softball double-header between Police and Fire Departments from Union and Springfield, which was rained out last Sunday, is scheduled to be held this Sunday at 1 p.m. in Blertuempel Park, Union.

Proceeds will benefit the Theresa Gargalowitz fund, which has passed the $14,000 mark since its inception a year ago last April, when Theresa, a college coed from Union, was critically injured in an automobile crash in Morris ave., Springfield. She has remained in a coma at Overlook Hospital since the accident, when her car skidded on since-removed trolley tracks and struck an oncoming bus. She was driv-

Given Jail Term For Theft, Default

Willard R. Edwards, 33, of Cross Keys Motel, Rahway, pleaded guilty before Union Magistrate George Lombardi last week to police charges of belonging to a motor vehicle long to John Daly of East Orange and was committed to the Union County jail in default of a $180 fine to serve one day for each $5 of the fine.

Edwards was apprehended by Linden police Sunday and brought to Union on a warrant from the local court. Union police had reported the car stolen May 22.

Lighting At Springfield's New Field Installed By Union Township Firm

The lighting installation at the new Springfield municipal softball field, behind the municipal pool, was introduced to the town by the Robert Company of Union.

Daniel W. Greenfield, 25, Mapes ave., Springfield, lighting consultant, is an associate of Robert Company.

Infranor of North America, the manufacturer of the specialized floodlights, has utilized this same system in lighting the Eiffel Tower, The Sphinx, the Barcelona Stadium, the Space Needle at the Seattle World's Fair, the towers of the George Washington Bridge, the Verazano-Narrows Bridge—and now claims Springfield's softball field as its first sporting field installation in the United States. Many similar fields throughout Europe have been lighted with these same units, aside from the Barcelona Stadium, which is the largest in the world. This summer, the Newark Schools Stadium and several other fields in California and the mid-west will have joined the list.

The planning and installation were by E. J. White Company, electrical contractors of Newark.

MORRIS AVE. SPEEDER
Robert Ackerman, 23, of Parsippany, was fined $15 by Magistrate Max Sherman Monday night in Springfield Municipal Court. He was charged with speeding 45 miles per hour in a 35-mph zone on Morris ave.

Linda Joyce Iacona Is Married Sunday To Richard M. DeFuria, Sales Engineer

MRS. RICHARD MICHAEL DEFURIA

Miss Linda Joyce Iacona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Iacona of 873 Carteret ave., Union, was married Sunday afternoon to Richard Michael DeFuria, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick DeFuria of Millburn.

Rev. Henry Nicholas officiated at the ceremony at 4 p.m. in St. Rose of Lima Church, Short Hills. A reception followed at Dan Dowd's Restaurant, West Orange.

The bride's father escorted his daughter. Miss Christina Beth Iacona of Union, served as maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Miss Joanne Iacona of Union, cousin of the bride; Miss Anita DeFuria of Union, sister of the groom; Miss Carolyn Morton of Union and Miss Iris Feldman of Short Hills.

John Voelminck of Roselle Park served as best man. Ushers included Robert Feldman of Short Hills, Charles Zephanus of East Orange, Joseph Colitz of Seltzer City, Pa., and William Koels of Trenton.

Mrs. Mary Kennay of Short Hills served as organist. Mrs. DeFuria, who was graduated from Union High School and the Clara Mass Memorial Hospital, School of Nursing, is a registered nurse on the Clara Mass Memorial Hospital staff.

Her husband, an alumnus of Millburn High School and Villanova University, where he received a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering, is attending Temple University to study toward a master's degree in business administration. He is a sales engineer with Public Service in Camden.

Following an eight day honeymoon trip to Bermuda, the couple will reside in Collingswood.

Pennsylvania Dutch Fair Features Unusual Foods

Summer is the season for fairs and many have a special emphasis and interest. For example, says Mary Armstrong, senior county home economist, the "Kutztown" Pennsylvania Folk Festival, annually presented, keyed to the way of life of the "Pennsylvania Dutch" folk, recently concluded demonstrated customs, activities, handicrafts, and especially foods of the people in that area.

Most eating places at the fair offered one or more Pennsylvania Dutch specialties such as apple dumplings and corn pie. Corn pie could provide a thrifty substitute for meat at one meal of the day. A standard rich pastry crust is filled with whole kernel corn, chopped hard cooked eggs, milk and very little seasoning.

Corn, an important food item in the Dutch country, features such dishes as chicken corn soup, corn relish and dried corn. "Funnel Cakes" which were demonstrated at the fair, were made by pouring batter into an aluminum funnel and dropping it into hot fat in a circular motion that resulted in a form like a curled snake. It was then drizzled with syrup. A whole funnel cake of doughnut is almost equal, calorie-wise, says Miss Armstrong.

Breads of various kinds were featured such as lemon bread, blueberry bread, nut bread and apple bread.

Around one exhibit, she says, the air was "redolent with the characteristic aroma of the rich, dark, spicy apple butter" being prepared in a huge outdoor oven over an open fire. But in a shop nearby, the shelves were stocked with a modern version, clearly labeled, "pure natural apple butter" - sugar or spices. "What a find for those who for medical reasons are forbidden either sugar or highly seasoned foods," says Miss Armstrong.

Stanley Schwartz of 1923 Manor dr., Union, has been named to the dean's list at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., where he is a junior.

MRS. DENNIS SIARA

PATRICIA DUDONIS IS WED SATURDAY TO J. A. WOOLEY

Miss Patricia Dudonis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dudonis of 161 Montgomery ave., Irvington, formerly of Union, was married Saturday, to John Arthur Wooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wooley Sr. of Mayfair rd., Union.

The Rev. George Macho performed the ceremony in St. Paul the Apostle Church, Irvington. A reception followed in Snuffy's Steak House, Scotch Plains.

Mrs. Dolores Johnson served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ellen Wooley, sister of the groom; and Miss Anne DeMarco. Miss Sandra Stankus served as flower girl.

Thomas Wooley served as best man for his brother. Ushers included Ronald Dubonis, brother of the bride; and Donald Lauer. Ring bearer was Richard Stankus.

Mrs. Wooley is employed by the Public Service Company of Irvington. Her husband, an alumnus of Villanova University, is associated with the J. C. Penny Co., New York, N. Y. The couple will reside in Union.

NANCY SCHMIDT, DENNIS E. SIARA, ARE NEWLYWEDS

Miss Nancy Lois Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Schmidt of 1480 Gregory ave., Union, was married June 26 to Dennis Edward Siara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Siara of 10 Arverne ter., Irvington.

Rev. Henry Junczewicz officiated at the ceremony in Sacred Heart Church, Irvington. A reception followed at the College Inn, Hillside.

Miss Marilyn Schofield of Irvington, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Loraine Schofield of Irvington, cousin of the bride; and Miss Jacqueline Baumann of Union. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Laurie Schmidt of Virginia, cousin of the bride.

Joger Siara of Irvington served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Edward Siara Jr., brother of the groom; Walter McIlwold Jr., cousin of the groom; and Edward Gruening. Robert Schmidt, brother of the bride, served as junior usher. Following a honeymoon trip to Puerto Rico, the couple will reside in Irvington.

Hart Kaufman Play Will Be Presented

"Once in a Lifetime," a play by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman satirizing the Hollywood movie industry, will be presented tonight at 8:15 at Montclair State College. Walter J. Buhner of 751 Belsam wdy, Union, will play the role of Jerry Hyland. Buhner teaches English at Hillside High School.

The play, which had its first performance last night, is the second production of the Sixth Annual Summer Theatre Workshop of Montclair State College. It is being staged in the college's Memorial Auditorium.

Joins Summit Firm

Miss Geraldine Sore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sore of 2621 Leslie st., Union, is employed at Chubb & Sons, Underwriters, of Summit, following completion of secretarial training at the Berkeley School in East Orange. She is a graduate of Union High School.

Neil Troutman Set To Sing In Baptist Church Recital

Neil Troutman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Troutman of 2628 Leslie st., Union, will sing tomorrow at 8 p.m. in a recital with Mrs. Geneva Moore in the Second Baptist Church, Rahway.

Troutman, a tenor, and Mrs. Moore, will sing a duet, and both will sing selections backed by a quartet from the First Baptist Church of Union where Troutman is a member.

The quartet will include Mrs. CAPLAIN POTUOK, soprano; Mrs. Ruth Musser, alto; Donald Musser, tenor, and Frank Manley, bass.

Troutman has studied organ and voice with Walter Hewitt of Maplewood, piano with Mrs. Joseph Whitlock of Union, and voice with Madama Bartell of Westfield, where he met Mrs. Moore who arranges music programs for the Rahway Church.

A junior at the University of Michigan, Troutman is a graduate of Union High School where he was a member of the Boys' Glee Club and Madrigal Chorus.

The recital will be staged to raise funds for a projector at the Rahway church's Sunday school.

NOAH, RUTGERS IN SAME BOAT

Use Rinse Water To Give Your Shrubs A Drink

Old Man Noah and a Rutgers weatherman are sort of in the same boat. Both foretold some weather unpleasantness and their predictions came true. Did Noah indulge in a quiet "I-told-you-so" when the big rains came? Possibly. But no such thought has crossed the mind of A. Vaughn Havens, he says.

Havens, chairman of the Department of Meteorology at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science has been too concerned about the consequences of the current drought to get any satisfaction at all from the fact that back in early April he forecast the probability of its continuance. Prof. Havens, of Edison, used the U.S. Weather Bureau's new Palmer Drought Index as a basis for his warning of drier days ahead and possible water rationing for North Jersey before summer's end. At the "extreme" stage on a scale used as a measurement, the drought seemed on its way to establishing a new and dismal record on July 1, with little chance of the 11.20 inches of rain needed to end it.

Meanwhile, the drought has added a new complication, "telephone ear." County agricultural agents—Rutgers staff members in 20 counties of the state—have it, and so have certain specialists at the College.

All are kept busy listening to the questions of farmers and home owners who need advice. Most calls by far come from home owners who foresee losses of trees and shrubs deprived of water. College specialists say to go ahead and irrigate them with water used to wash fruits and vegetables, bath water, rinse water from the rinse cycles of washers.

You can use all water that contains additives such as bleaches, detergents, softeners, bluing and starch if you dilute the mudsiest wash-water-with-rinse water. Chances of injury are slight if you keep raking or cultivating the soil around the plant, letting air into the soil to help bacteria break down the detergent. A possible exception may be dogwood, which is said to be intolerant of borax. Rutgers horticulturists say that a painful of water—about three gallons—around a plant every four or five days will keep it alive. They advise getting the most out of your water by applying three or four inches of mulch such as wood-chips or peatmoss. The story is different when it comes to using waste water on the lawn or ground cover such as ivy or pachysandra that can't be cultivated. And so turf specialists don't advise irrigating with detergent water. They agree that it's better to let the lawn go brown if you can't water the lawn weekly to a depth of six inches. Most Kentucky bluegrass-turf lawns will recover with the return of cool weather, and—hopefully—fall rains. The drought has Rutgers agricultural engineers reminding anyone who will listen that only 60 drops a minute from one leaky faucet add up to a quart an hour or 210 gallons a month. The do-it-yourselfer can fix a leaky faucet with a few basic tools, or a plumber will make all such repairs for a reasonable cost, the engineers say.

FAIL A DAY KEEPS THE DROUGHT AWAY — Use of household waste water, as demonstrated by Miss Nancy Hunter of Piscataway Township, research assistant in environmental science, will keep shrubs and trees from dying in the drought, according to Rutgers agricultural specialists. They recommend a pall-per-shrub every four or five days and warn that soil must be cultivated if water contains detergent.

Water Treatment Equipment Firm Moves General Offices To Union

Graver Water Conditioning Company, Division of Union Tank Car Company, last week moved its general offices, engineering and research facilities from New York City to U. S. Highway 22, Union. Graver is a leading supplier of water treatment equipment for industry and electric generating companies, with 34 sales offices in this country. An affiliated company serves Canada, and a network of franchised licensees and sales representatives cover the overseas market. Graver also supplies equipment for the treatment of industrial wastes and to municipalities for drinking water. The company is an advocate of industry re-use of water, which it believes will be the ultimate answer to the present water shortage. Instead of using water once and then discharging it to waste, Graver maintains industrial waste water can be treated for re-use in the same plant. Industrial water treatment plants prevent stream pollution, and frequently recover heat and valuable materials. Graver plants have been treating sewage plant effluent for industrial re-use for more than ten years.

'Boot-Camp' Life To Be Discussed

What it's like to be a "Boot" in the U.S. Marine Corps will be told to parents of new recruits tonight at the Elks Club in Elizabeth.

Marine recruiters from North Jersey will present an orientation program for parents and friends of Marines at 8:30 p.m. at the club, 17-21 Westfield ave. The program is designed to show the kind of training recruits get at Parris Island, S.C. There will be audio and visual aids, other props and a live narration by Capt. J. M. Updyke, assistant officer in charge of the Marine Corps Recruiting Station in New York.

Training Program Offered To Schools

A special training program under the Manpower Training and Development Act is being offered to schools with the sponsorship of the New Jersey Tool, Die and Precision Machining Association, according to an announcement from the Union County Technical Institute, Mountain side. The program started last week with 10 students enrolled. A spokesman said it is one year in length and will lead directly into a formal four-year apprenticeship for young men who want to become machinists or tool-makers.

Post Office Jobs Open In County

Examinations for Post Office jobs will be held July 27-28 in Plainfield and Aug. 3-7 in Elizabeth. The Civil Service will administer the tests for substitute clerk-carrier positions for post offices in Union County. The Plainfield test will be given at 8:30 a.m. at the Plainfield Post Office and the Elizabeth test at 8:15 a.m. at the Elizabeth Post Office. Prospective employees must file applications by Saturday (July 24) for the Plainfield test and by July 31 for the Elizabeth exam.

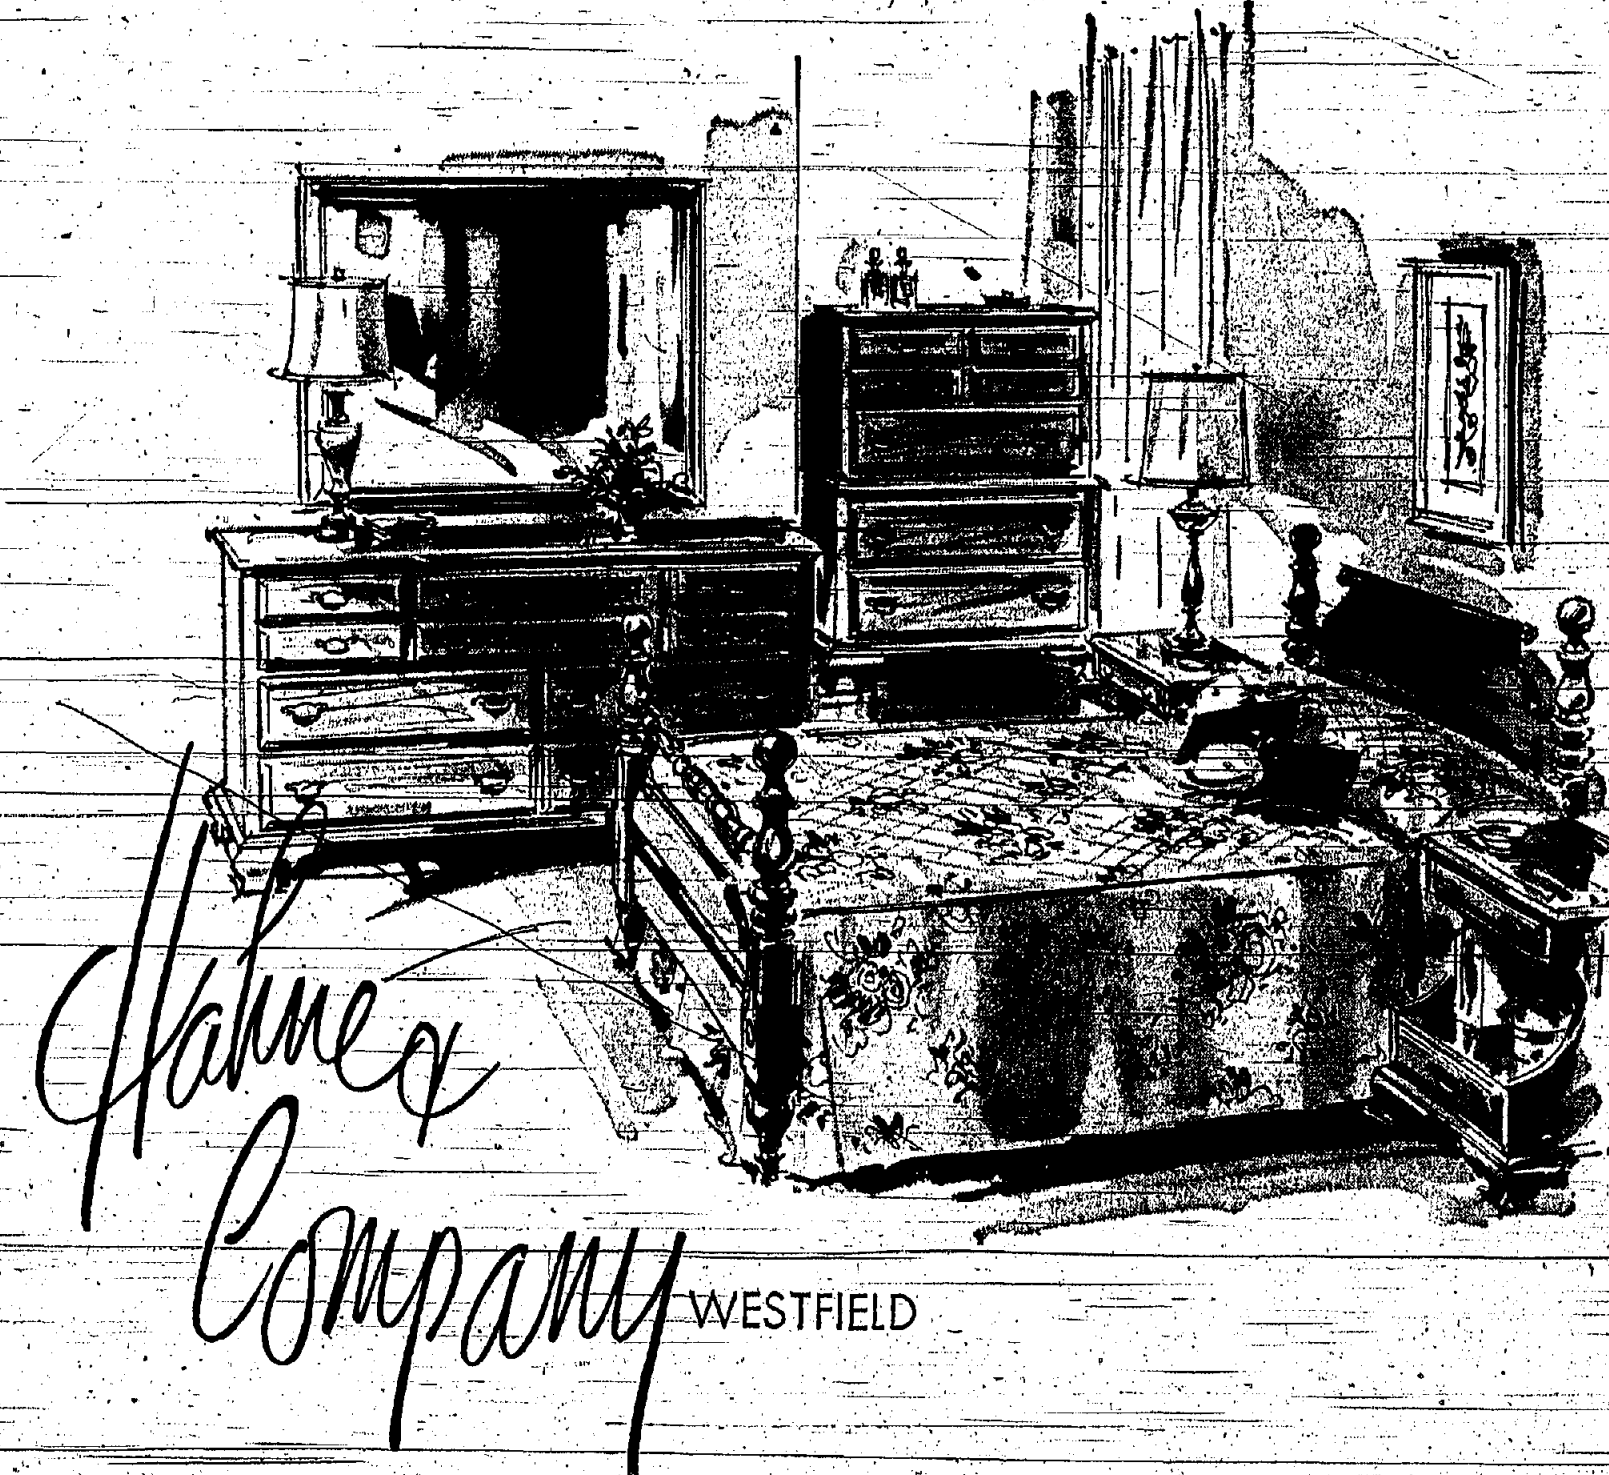

Union Junior College Offers Intersession

A four-week intersession will be offered at Union Junior College, Cranford, from Aug. 9 to Sept. 3. It was announced this week by Prof. Walter B. Mattimore, director of the Summer Session. Courses in chemistry, French, physics, and Spanish will be offered. Classes will be held daily, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 3 p.m. Registration will be conducted on Aug. 9 at 6 p.m. Students regularly enrolled in other colleges and universities must have approval of those institutions to enroll in any of the courses offered in the intersession. Additional information may be obtained from Prof. Mattimore at Union Junior College.

CONTINUING EDUCATION—Miss Margaret Bunnell, second from left, assistant professor of nursing at Rutgers College of Nursing, presents certificates to three nurses who have completed a continuing education program at the State University. Receiving her certificate from Miss Bunnell is Sister Marie DePaul of St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, while Joseph Behar of Cranford, a male nurse at Overbrook Hospital, Cedar Grove, and Miss Rose Marie Littlejohn of Newark, from Newark City Hospital, look on.

Nurses Under Pressure

New Developments In Profession

Medical science's accelerating rate of progress has put the practicing nurse under increasing pressure to keep up with new developments in her profession through continuing education.

That is the opinion of authorities at the Rutgers University College of Nursing and the University Extension Division, who are conducting The Continuing Education Program for Nurses, a recent addition to the State University curriculum.

Underlying the need for the program, which is aimed at the practicing nurse, Miss Margaret Bunnell, assistant professor of nursing at the college and head of the project, pointed out that specific items of information acquired by nurses today are being outdated within five years.

One of the new concepts being stressed in the Rutgers program is preparing the nurse to meet "the complete needs of the patient," Miss Bunnell said.

"This is a change from the older approach of completely technical orientation for the practicing nurse."

Emphasis, therefore, has been put on the psychological aspects of nursing, which are applicable in a general hospital setting as well as the mental ward. Nurses are taught methods of interviewing, teaching and counseling the patient.

"Until now," Miss Bunnell said, "the nurse was unprepared to handle the patient who cried or who insisted he was going to die. These programs will enable the nurse to deal more effectively with the patient and to recognize when the attention of a specialist is needed."

Other courses include leadership and management skills aimed at the head nurse. Here, one aim is to re-orient the function of the head nurse so that it centers on patient care rather than taking in laundry, dispensing food, service and handling other managerial duties. Some hospitals now are setting up a unit manager system to free the head nurse for more involvement in patient care.

The programs at Rutgers are short in duration and consist of conferences, seminars and workshops. A four-day, five-day workshop was held in epidemiology to bring nurses up to date on information on the transmission of diseases from one person to another.

"Throughout the year we will offer programs in public health nursing, and maternal and child care and special

Speakers Offered By Regional School

The Union County Regional Adult School this week announced the establishment of a speakers bureau which will aid civic and service clubs in cultural and entertainment programs for meetings.

Subjects of the speakers of the Union County Regional Adult School range from "Kilchess of the World" to "Art Today vs Art of Yesterday" to "Film As An Art Form."

The speakers bureau, according to school officials, was established as a public service to Union County by the adult schools which are located at Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights; Jonathan Dayton, Springfield; and Arthur L. Johnson, Clark. The bureau's speakers, who are instructors at the adult schools, will include demonstrations in their talks. The instructors are experts in their professions and in many cases teachers and lecturers in area high schools and universities.

Other bureau topics include: "You Can Sculpture, Too"; "Anybody Can Paint"; "Stock Market, A Barometer For 7 1/2"; "The Art of Canvas Papers"; and "Bridges Made Easy."

Many of the topics chosen by the speakers bureau are offered in course form at the adult schools which serve Union County residents. Each year, about 3,500 adults attend classes offered at the schools.

Presidents and program chairmen for organizations may contact Dr. M. L. Dziwak of the School of Education, Clark, for reservations.

Current Drought Reduces Index Of Mosquito-Crop

The current drought was credited this week by a spokesman for the Union County Mosquito-Extermination Commission for the fact that the mosquito crop is smaller than that of last year.

The mosquito control index, which measures the weekly average number of mosquitoes caught in one trap on one night, was 2.0 in Union, Roselle, Roselle Park and Springfield, compared to 4.4 last year—more than 50 per cent lower. Figures up to six are rated as "light."

Mountainside's figure was 3.5 last week, compared to 4.5 a year ago. Linden's index, 8.8, is higher than in the other communities but lower than last year's figure, which was 21.4.

'Y' Asks Parents To Join Program

Mario DiGiovanni, chairman of the Board of Managers of the YMCA Branch of Kenilworth, Roselle Park and Union, announced that he is "very pleased with the overwhelming response for applicants to the Fun Camp which takes place every day" at the Five Points YMCA Building, Union.

"The Fun Camp during the Day and Family Nights keep the YMCA a most active place" he said. "We would like to see more parents out on Family Nights however, which take place every Wednesday evening during the summer."

Family Nights include activities such as bowling, ball games, and other sports with the parents and children participating together. Anyone wishing more information on the YMCA programs and classes for the Summer and coming Fall may phone the office at 687-8570.

UJC Program Ends

A four-week College Readiness Program will conclude next Wednesday for 104 college-bound high school graduates at Union Junior College. The non-credit program is designed to give the recent high school graduate a taste of college life without having to pay any penalty if they are unsuccessful. Prof. Gurnas Salas, director, explained.

'BOTTOMS UP'

Vinegar Fly Loves His Booze

An unwanted, uninvited, and pestiferous insect, the vinegar fly, with its ability to reproduce 2,000 offspring in its three-month life span, is poised for a massive attack upon homes, bars, restaurants, food markets and food processing plants. The annual assault by the vinegar fly takes place throughout America, reaching its peak in the hot months of July and August, warns Dr. Philip J. Spear, technical director of the National Pest Control Association, Elizabeth.

Drosophilla may not rate as Insect Public Enemy No. 1 but according to Dr. Spear, this fly is a king-size nuisance pest and a serious contaminator of food. The vinegar fly has an almost uncanny ability to appear from "out of nowhere." One obvious reason is the fact that the female, having located damaged or overripe fruit, lays about 25 to 35 eggs per day and up to 2,000 in her adult life of two to three months. Normally eggs hatch within 24 hours, but on occasion have been known to hatch within two hours. In eight to 10 days the eggs have hatched and matured to adulthood.

"The yeast growths causing fermentation are known to be a primary attractant, although odors of the fruit itself are also implicated," reports Dr. Spear. By-products of the fermentation process, including alcohol, are also attractants. The flies recently were discovered infesting a printing plant. Alcohol-based ink was the explanation. "Bottoms-up" should be the cry of both male and female householders this summer. The vinegar fly delights in those almost-empty beer cans, soft drink bottles, milk or tomato catsup containers that are discarded with small amounts in the bottom. Unclean mops and cleaning rags, left to sour, are breeding sites.

Employment Increase, Factory Workweek Up

TRENTON — Nonfarm wage and salary employment in New Jersey expanded sharply in June, reaching another record high, according to estimates prepared by the N. J. Department of Labor and Industry on the basis of its monthly employer survey. The Department estimates that 2,246,400 were employed in mid-June, exclusive of farm, domestic, self-employed, and unpaid family workers. This represented an increase of 30,600 from May and an expansion of 37,800 since a year ago June. Seasonal hiring between May and June was indicated in nearly all industries, both in manufacturing and in nonmanufacturing. Jobholding expanded by 7,800 in wholesale and retail trade, with eating and drinking places accounting for a substantial portion of the gain. Employment in service establishments rose by 5,100 and construction contractors added 3,700 to their payrolls. Summer hiring by state and local government agencies and institutions raised employment in the government sector by 3,000. Gains in manufacturing were heaviest in apparel, food, and chemicals. A 1,000 job increase in miscellaneous manufacturing reflected termination of a strike involving a major toy manufacturer.

Weekly earnings were $4.22, or nearly four percent higher than in June, 1964.

SUMMER READING SUGGESTED FOR FRESHMEN AT UJC

All students who will be freshmen in the fall at Union Junior College have a summer assignment: to read five of 50 selected readings in literature and history. The list was prepared by Albert W. Merck of the History Department under the direction of Prof. Walter B. Mattimore, chairman of the English Department, and Prof. Saul Orkin, chairman of the History Department.

In a letter to the incoming freshmen, the two department chairmen suggested that the prospective college students read at least five of the books before the opening of classes in September. "Your summer reading will not result in credits, nor will you be examined on it. The purpose of this reading is to further your education, and that, after all, is the main reason for your coming to Union Junior College," Prof. Mattimore and Prof. Orkin wrote.

UJC Buys Land Adjacent to Campus

Union Junior College has purchased the property at 1039 Springfield Ave., Cranford, next to its present campus from Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. E. Tudor, Dr. Kenneth C. McKay, president, announced this week. The parcel is about a half-acre and contains a one-and-a-half story dwelling, a large garage, and a small storage building. Dr. McKay said the college's tentative plans are to raze the house, garage and storage building. He said the college now has no definite plans at this time to utilize the new property.

Case Urges Funds For Drought Study

Senator Clifford P. Case this week urged a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee to restore $50,000 for drought research which was cut from the Weather Bureau budget by the House of Representatives. Noting that New Jersey is among the northeastern states currently experiencing a severe drought, Senator Case added, "In view of the increasing national concern with this serious problem, I do not believe this is the time to cut back our research."

Reckless Driver Pays $20 In Fine; Others Also Pay

A $20 fine on a reckless driving charge was levied last week in Mountainside's Municipal Court against Samuel Imbrino of Berkeley Heights. The summons was issued to Imbrino June 23 for driving recklessly in the area of Ledgewood rd. and Chalmers Ridge.

Others fined by Magistrate Jacob Bauer were: E. & M. Trucking Co. of Ridgefield Park, $8 for failing to display name and address; Joseph J. Kuchler of Windber, $13 for careless driving; Ed Otto of Maplewood, $10 for failing to have vehicle inspected; Claire L. Reser of Linden, $13 for inattentive driving; John Mathis of Chatham, $10 for operating a vehicle with expired "driving license"; Hudson Tire Co., $8 for improper display of name and address and $10 for contempt.

Donald A. Davanzo of Easton, Pa., paid a total of $18 in fines and $15 in court costs on three charges brought against him on May 14. Davanzo, who was driving a truck owned by Eastern Electric Corp. of Union, was charged with having no driver's license in his possession and with passing on the right. He paid $10 in fines on the first charge and $8 on the second. Sentence was suspended on the third charge, having no registration in his possession.

Christian Relevancy And The 'Triple Revolution'

Christian relevancy in the face of world population problems and the triple revolution of computers, weaponry development, and world human rights demands will be examined by British economist Robert Theobald at the Institute for International Service now in session at Spion Hall University.

Speaking on Friday, 8 p.m., Theobald is a British economic author and consultant specialist on the "Triple Revolution," whose recent work has focused on the implications of computers and automated self-regulation machines for societies and economies of rich and poor world nations. His paper is entitled: "The Triple Revolution: Confronting the Future."

Several hundred priests and ministers and representatives from their congregations have been invited from the Essex-Union County area and many are expected to participate.

The 6-week Institute, conducted by the Association for International Development, is a full-time program, but the evening programs—12 in all—are open to the public and invited guests.

Speakers will address the open-to-the-public evening Institute assemblies will be held by the Association for International Development, an organization of Latin America, AITEX and the U.S. now

Overall theme of this year's Institute is "Christian Commitment—Challenge to Change in the World Revolution Relevancy, the Peace Question, the Triple Revolution, Ecumenism and Civil Rights, and Emerging Christian Vision. The Institute is conducted by the Association for International Development, an organization of Latin America, AITEX and the U.S. now positions around the world. Headquarters and training center of A.I.D. is in Paterson.

Committing on the July 19 to July 23 sessions on World Population and the triple revolution, A.I.D.'s Director, James Lamb said:

"As Christians we must understand and be creatively involved in the triple revolution. A new era of production has begun which will drastically affect the lives of all men. At the same time new forms of weaponry have been developed which cannot win wars but which can obliterate civilization. This coupled with a universal demand for human rights and a world population which has grown by one billion persons since World War II, clearly poses an immense challenge and opportunity for concerned Christians. Next week in our full-day sessions and in our two public discussions we hope to examine these challenges with realism."

Club Sess Film On Social Security The Scotchwood Square Club of Scotchwood will hear a program on the phases of the Social Security system by Francis W. Loughrey, a claims representative of the Social Security Administration.

The club will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Somerset Trust Company building in the Blue Star Shopping Center, Rt. 22 where a film will be presented on "The Social Security Story."

Sweet Shoppe Scores 4 In 7th To Win In Men's Softball Game

The Springfield Recreation Men's Softball League has completed two weeks of its schedule, with several upsets enlivening the action. Last Monday night's games were postponed because of wet grounds, as the welcome rains on Sunday left the new infield in a muddy condition.

Last Tuesday night, the Community Sweet Shoppe surprised Spring Liquors by winning, 7-6, in the bottom half of the seventh inning. Community scored four big runs to overcome Spring Liquors, which was ahead 6-3 and looked like a sure winner.

Spring gained a one-run lead in the fourth on singles by Mark Lies and Johnny Johnson. In the seventh and final innings, four hits produced two tallies, with Lies, Johnson and Erhardt hitting safely in succession. The bottom half of this inning was tense as Art Womland walked, Don Catarelli was safe on an outfield error and Dom Casternovia popped out to Ted Sorlene at third. Billy Giacomo walked to load the bases, setting the stage for a sharp double into right center by Joe Blanda, which cleared the bases and tied the score.

Harry McCann then grounded to short. The throw got away from the first baseman, with Blanda scamparing home with the 7-6 victory.

The Frank Millman team continued its winning ways by trimming Somerset Bus, 16-3, in a high scoring game. Arnie Brucke sparked the winners with four singles. Jim Hansen was the lone getter, two hits in a lost-lop hitter for the Somerseting cause.

Last Thursday night, the PBA walked A. Best Pharmacy to win the first loss of the campaign on the drugstore, 9-2. The winners posted nine runs on 12 hits.

Bob Interdanata and Don

Schwerdt came through with a brace of hits, with the former getting a double and a home run.

The winners scored two runs in the first-inning when Eddie Schnell walked and Charlie Franchose advanced Schnell to second on a neat sacrifice.

Minutemen Divide Two Games, Will Play Summit Here Tonight

The Springfield Minutemen divided two baseball games in Suburban Recreation League play last week. As a result of its first defeat in league play, the Springfield teen-agers' team fell into a tie with Livingston for the league's top spot.

Springfield defeated Summit last week by a score of 6-5 and dropped a ball game to Livingston by a 6-2 count.

The Springfield team will entertain Summit in a home engagement tonight and then travel to Livingston for an all-important game Monday evening. All home games are played at the Sandmeter School Field and all games start at 6.

After four games of the 1965 season, Springfield has compiled a record of three victories against a single loss. Brian Finnerty, Springfield's veteran catcher, is pacing the squad in hitting. Brian is batting at a .484 clip.

Gary Krutz and Johnny Schoch are both hitting .400 for the Minutemen, while Gary Voeuburg is swinging at a .343 clip. Rich Campbell is the only other .300 hitter on the Springfield team to date. Rich is hitting exactly .300.

Springfield turned out to an early five-run lead in the game played at Summit last week. The home club, however, rallied for five big runs in the fifth inning. Springfield then scored again in the sixth inning to pull out the game by a score of 8 to 5.

Joe Bucca started for Springfield but needed help from Ron Azarewicz in the final inning to stave off a determined Summit team.

The Minutemen scored three runs in the second inning when Ernie Roig led off with a single to center, advanced to third on John Schoch's safe hit and scored on Rich Campbell's squeeze bunt.

Schoch and Campbell then scored following squeeze bunts laid down by Gary Voeuburg and Steve Jupp. Springfield tallied two more runs in the fifth inning on a walk and steal by Steve Jupp, followed by an RBI single by Ron Azarewicz. Azarewicz then stole and scored on an error.

Summit's being rally in the bottom of the fifth inning. Springfield tallied its winning run in the top of the sixth frame. With two men out, Campbell and Jupp were on base.

Highway Speeder - James P. Mason, 38, of Newark, was fined $15 for speeding in Springfield Municipal Court for having driven 55 miles per hour in a 45-mph zone on Rt. 22.

Two car accidents took place in Springfield during Sunday rain, according to police records. Martin P. Charneck of Morris Ave. at 7:05 a.m., the police reported, when his car skidded into a "No Littering" sign and a light pole. The front end of the car was completely demolished.

At 7:23 a.m., according to police records, Arthur Pindola, 36, of Tuscoloma, Ala., was stopped on Mountain Ave. at the Morris Ave. traffic light. The report added that the auto was then hit from the rear by a car driven by Phyllis Gaeck, 36, of Scotch Plains. Both cars were damaged.

bell-singled-to-center, stole second and scored when Gary Voeuburg's roller eluded the Summit shortstop. Brian Finnerty boomed two long doubles for Springfield during the game.

Springfield played host to Livingston last Thursday at the Sandmeter School Field. This was a return engagement between the two league leaders. Springfield took the measure of Livingston the previous week by a 5 to 3 count.

This time, however, Livingston was the winner by the score of 9 to 2. This loss dropped Springfield into a tie with Livingston. Each club now has a 3-1 mark.

Livingston scored freely in this game off three Springfield pitchers. Ron Azarewicz started for Springfield but had to retire after four innings. Steve Jupp pitched two innings and finished the game.

The Minutemen scored a lone run in the third inning on John Schoch's single and Brian Finnerty's two-out triple.

Springfield scored its final tally in the fifth inning on hits by Rich Campbell and Gary Krutz. Hits by Mitch Weiser, Krutz and Finnerty provided Springfield with a bases-loaded situation in the final inning, which was checked without a run.

Two Cars Collide In Municipal Lot Cars driven by Mrs. Mildred Galpa, 38, of 30 Lewis Dr., Springfield, and Mrs. Eadythe Krueger, 41, of 227 Lelak Ave., were involved in a collision last Friday at the Municipal Swimming Pool, according to Springfield Police records.

The report stated that Mrs. Galpa was backing her car out of a parking space in the pool parking lot at 7:20 p.m., and that her car was struck from the rear by one driven by Mrs. Krueger. Mrs. Galpa's daughter, Mary Ellen, 11, was injured, the report added, and Mrs. Galpa said she would take the child to the family doctor.

Small-Game Outlook Appears Promising A fine small-game season appears in store for New Jersey hunters this fall, based on early observations by wildlife managers of the Division of Fish and Game in the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Populations of all major upland species at this time are as good or better than last fall, according to Wildlife Management Chief George N. Alburgh. Prospects are particularly bright for rabbit and grouse hunters.

Rabbits are very plentiful in areas of good habitat throughout the State. In southern New Jersey, Salem and Cape May counties are enjoying a bumper crop of cottontail populations are normal in Hunterdon County, the prime area in central New Jersey, and rabbits are profuse in Sussex County in the north.

Grouse populations are described as "exceptionally good." Grouse are found primarily in the wooded areas of Sussex, Morris and Warren counties.

Pheasant prospects appear to be as good or better than last year throughout the State. The farmlands contained in Hunterdon County offer the best pheasant hunting.

Quail populations also compare favorably to last year. Bobwhites are most plentiful in the southern counties of Ocean, Burlington and Cape May.

Squirrels are as numerous as last year, when this species enjoyed a comeback after several off years. Squirrels are found throughout the State in areas with good acorn crops.

Chief Alburgh concluded that weather and habitat conditions continue favorable. Garden State sportsmen can look forward to excellent hunting opportunities after November 7.

A class of instruction in synchronized swimming, taught on Tuesdays from 12 noon to 2 p.m., is open to all girls and women over 10 years of age at the Springfield Municipal Pool. The course requires a practical knowledge (crawl, side, breast, back) of basic swimming strokes and the ability to float.

Diving instruction will be offered on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 11 a.m., with no age limit and only the ability to swim as prerequisite. Hopefully, there will be some inter-club meets in which pupils will participate, the instructors state.

Burglar Benefits During Vacation Mr. and Mrs. Irving Tanner of 10 Essex rd., Springfield, returned home from a brief vacation Monday evening to discover that a burglar had been there before them, according to police reports.

Acting Chief Leslie Joyner disclosed that entry had been gained by forcing a door into the recreation room. He added that $75 in cash had been taken. Responding to the call were Detective Sam Calabrese and Patrolman Harold Seales.

Pool Swim Team Has 75 Active Members

This year the Springfield Municipal Pool swim team is a participating member of the New Jersey Recreation Swim League. The aims and objectives of this organization are:

To foster, perfect and extend the aims and ideals of amateur swimming;

To present a healthful, wholesome recreation to all those interested, either as competitors or spectators;

To facilitate athletic relationships among the member municipalities of the league;

To abide by the principles of sportsmanship and fair play.

The next meet is tomorrow at New Providence at 10 a.m. At present, the team is composed of approximately 75 swimmers, ranging from ages 8 to 17.

Among the nucleus of the team are Ed Grassale, Charles Cawley, Jim Cawley, Ellen-Alexy, Lisa Brown, Peary Creede, Vivian Geiger, Andi Margulies, Steve Alexy, Jim Creede, Neal Neudarth, Brad Smith, Robin Geiger, Larry LaSota, Anita Myhrberg and Alosse Wolf.

While losing the first two meets to Millburn and Florham Park, the team shows great signs of improvement which may lead to a possible winning season, according to Coach George Lelak.

Report to the People

From Your Congresswoman

FLORENCE P. DWYER (6th District N. J.)

ON WATER, DRUGS AND OTHER QUESTIONS

Water—ordinarily the most ignored and least attended to of our indispensable resources—has become, for our part of the country, at least, the Nation's chief domestic crisis.

It has taken a full-fledged emergency, however, to bring home the fact that neither the States and local communities on the one hand, or the Federal Government on the other nor both together have been able to assure our people and our industry an adequate supply of clean water. Our approach to the problem of water supply, sewerage disposal and pollution control has been, for the most part, piecemeal and uncoordinated.

Now, after four years of steadily worsening drought have brought the entire Northeast to the edge of crisis, we have awakened to the fact that we can no longer take this most precious of our natural resources for granted.

Last week, the President directed the Secretary of the Interior to revive the Water Resources Council—composed of officials from Federal agencies having responsibility in the field of water resources—and report to him within a week on ways in which the Federal Government can help alleviate the drought.

A PROPOSAL

The next day, I wrote a long letter to the President welcoming his initiative as a useful first step but suggesting that the water emergency, in both its short- and long-range aspects, required more comprehensive and decisive action. Specifically, I proposed that he summon a Federal-State-Local conference to meet immediately after the Water Resources Council has reported. Such a conference, I indicated, should be composed of the officials directly responsible for acting in this crisis—the Governors, Mayors, County officials and water experts from the drought area together with officials of the responsible Federal agencies and ranking members of the appropriate Congressional committees who, with personal knowledge of the needs and the available resources, could begin immediately to mobilize the information, funds and facilities necessary for an effective, well-coordinated assault against the drought.

In addition, I advanced 10 individual ideas which I believe this conference would find it profitable to explore. They include: the reallocation of funds under existing Federal sewerage disposal and pollution control programs to areas of greatest need; redirection of Federal research projects to those having the most immediate potential for useful results (waste water reclamation and reuse is an example); a survey of areas in and near the Northeast which have plentiful water supplies and a study of ways to transport the water to drought areas; construction of emergency pipelines, pumping stations and filtration plants to make maximum use of available water in the area; adoption of a broad program of water conservation techniques; and increased support for the water desalination program with the objective in mind of building plants for de-salting water along the East Coast as soon as feasible.

AN OPPORTUNITY

As with all problems, our present water emergency can and, in the public interest, must be approached as an opportunity to go beyond the immediate danger and do the long-range planning, organizing, coordinating and financing that will permanently rescue us from the grip of water famine. Toward this end, I have been urging on some of our decision-makers a 1962 report of our Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations on a subject most simply described as "What should be done for water supply and sewage disposal in metropolitan areas?" I believe it's one of the best things that have happened in the past few years as well as much valuable background information.

DRUGS—Several weeks ago, I asked the question in this report "What ever happened to the Drug Control bill?" It's a pleasure, therefore, to tell you now that the bill has become law, and the Federal Government, through the Food and Drug Administration, now possesses an effective set of weapons in the war against the illicit peddling of dangerous drugs like "good balls" and "pop pills" drugs which, when used without a doctor's guidance, can be as addictive as the hard narcotics and which have been a major cause of death, violence, delinquency, highway accidents and ruined lives.

Final passage of the bill came suddenly. As you may recall, the legislation had been pending before the House and Senate for several years. I first introduced the bill in 1962, in the 87th Congress. Last year, in the 88th Congress, the Senate passed it unanimously and early this year, after frequent appeals to the committee to hold hearings, the hearings were held and the House passed the bill over-whelmingly. One of the major actions of the 88th Congress. This was in March, and four months of puzzling silence followed before the Senate once again acted and the bill was sent to the President.

THE TOOLS

Last week, the President signed the Drug Control Act into law. I am happy to report that the President invited me to the White House to witness the signing and present me with one of the pens he used in making the bill a law. With the illegal traffic in dangerous drugs accounting for more than half the total production and netting in excess of $1 billion annually—much of it in the underworld—the Administration will have its hands full bringing it under control. But we have finally provided the tools to do the job.

Since my last report, the House has passed two of this session's major bills—the Housing bill and Voting Rights legislation. Although you've undoubtedly read a great deal about both bills, I'll try to summarize, to minimize a couple of points which I believe deserve more attention.

HOUSING—Passage of the Housing bill has been heralded as the President's closest and most important legislative victory this year. But was it? For the most part, the bill was a product of remarkable bi-parliamentary cooperation, and the controversy which it was heralded to minimize, a couple of points which I believe deserve more attention.

HOUSING—Passage of the Housing bill has been heralded as the President's closest and most important legislative victory this year. But was it? For the most part, the bill was a product of remarkable bi-parliamentary cooperation, and the controversy which it was heralded to minimize, a couple of points which I believe deserve more attention.

VOTING RIGHTS—Major attention was rightly given to the bill's provisions protecting Negroes' rights to register and vote, but the "clean elections" amendment, the only amendment to be adopted, is also highly significant. For the first time in Federal elections, it provides stiff penalties for falsifying voting or registration information or for buying votes—protection of equal value in the rural South and the big-city North.
