Town Seeks To Stop Highway Construction Smoke

Library Board Outlines Problems In Present Overcrowded Building

SHORTAGE OF SPACE in the library building on Main st. is illustrated by this scene in the office, where four or five staff members process some 8,000 books each year, in quarters originally intended for no more than two people.

The following is the second of a series of articles issued by the Springfield Public Library reviewing inadequacies of the present facilities. Although the library board has announced no decision, all indications are that it will seek a new site with more room and a more central location than the present library building.

The Springfield Public Library is located in a single family home built in the 1880's, adapted in 1943, added to in 1957—and at the present time overcrowded on all of its four floors, from cellar to attic.

The cramped condition of the library is due to several factors: First, the population of Springfield has quadrupled since 1943, and library usage has increased proportionately. Second, the people of Springfield read extensively, and the book collections have expanded to keep pace with the demand. Third, changes in educational philosophy have brought about a need for additional space to provide for informational reading and research.

Fourth, publication in all fields of knowledge has increased astronomically in the past two decades, resulting in increased reader interest, thus placing further demands on the limited space.

Fifth, there is greater use of periodicals, and the library does not have space to make them readily accessible to the public. Periodicals are now stored on four different floors in the library.

Finally, inadequate space and poor location of the women's room makes efficient administration of the library extremely difficult.

One of the most readily apparent indications of inadequate space is the book shelves. Good library practice sets aside one-third of the shelf space for additions to its collection. The library has virtually no space for new books. For this reason, it has been compelled to place books on the unfinished top of bookcases, and they are difficult to reach. Also, furniture and stacks are located too close together, restricting the flow and movement of people in the library.

Because of space limitations, there are times when normal library functions must be curtailed. For example, during children's story hours, the children's room must be closed to borrowers. Book discussion groups may meet only when the library is closed for normal use.

On the second floor of the library, five staff members work in an area 16 by 22 feet where book-ordering, cataloging, shipping, receiving, typing, book-binding and other essential library functions are performed. (Continued on Page 4)

Republican Candidates Confer On Road Link To Baltusrol Top

Robert Planer and Robert Hardgrove, Republican candidates for the Township Committee, and Committeeman Philip Del Vecchio, candidate for the N.-J. State Assembly, conferred recently with Senator Nelson F. Stamler on the proposed road from Shunpike rd. to Baltusrol Top.

Co-ed's Condition Declines Further, Hospital Reports

The condition of Theresa Gargolowitz, the 20-year-old Fairleigh Dickinson co-ed who was critically injured in an auto accident in April, 1964, has further weakened, an Overlook Hospital spokesman said this week. Medical personnel are not optimistic about the case, the spokesman added.

Sen. Stamler promised to do everything possible to make this road a reality, the local candidates reported, but he was not too optimistic that state aid could be obtained, since the proposed road does not connect two state or county roads.

After the meeting, Planer, Hardgrove and Del Vecchio cited Sen. Stamler's "invaluable assistance in the past in solving the problems concerning the construction of Rt. 78 and the removal of the car tracks and the widening of Morris ave."

Early in 1964, together with Committeemen Planer and Hardgrove, Sen. Stamler was instrumental in arranging the series of meetings with Dwight Palmer, state highway commissioner, that led to the rejuvenation of Morris ave. They declared: "The improvement was necessary to make Morris ave. a safer thoroughfare."

Planer, Hardgrove and Del Vecchio concluded by saying: "This is a part of our 'all out' safety program to make Springfield a safer place to live and work."

"We expect to use all our efforts to establish in Springfield the best possible safety program which will be the envy of other communities. Thus it becomes increasingly important to the voters to keep in office the candidates best qualified to serve them and the candidates who have achieved and planned a program to make Springfield a town in which everyone can be proud to live."

Sen. Stamler concluded by mentioning the necessity of returning to office "those elected representatives who have given previous service to the community and who have the ability to provide the type of leadership that the people desire in this era of progress and advancement."

Rat Extermination Is Campaign Issue

Henry Grabarz and Donald Mantel, Democratic candidates for the Springfield Township Committee, this week called for "immediate action" on the part of the Republican administration to stop the growing menace of a rat invasion into residential neighborhoods.

"It may seem incredible," the candidates said in a statement, "but the truth of the matter is that the east end of Springfield is being overrun with rats."

The candidates said illegal dumping is supplying food and shelter for the vermin, adding that highway construction has caused the rats to seek new shelter and migrate across Morris ave.

They urged the administration to employ professional exterminators to rid the community of the menace.

"Must we wait until some child is bitten before the township committee takes some positive action about the rat population explosion going on in our midst?" the candidates said.

They urged the administration to employ professional exterminators to rid the community of the menace.

Entrance Blanks For Exhibit Of Art Being Distributed

Exhibitors' applications for the Oct. 10 art show of the Springfield Association of Creative Arts, Inc. are now available at many locations in town, it was announced by Mrs. Sidney Singer and Erwin May, chairman and co-chairman, respectively.

The art show will be held in the Township Hall Oct. 10 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission will be free to the public. See feature story on Page 5.

Fire Department Schedules Week Of Special Events

All residents are invited to visit Springfield Fire Department headquarters at Town Hall for an open house program and party Wednesday from 7 to 10 p.m. in observance of Fire Prevention Week, according to Fire Chief Ormond W. Mesker.

In outlining plans for Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 3-9, Chief Mesker said there will also be a display of fire fighting equipment next Friday evening, Oct. 8, at the Gen. Greene shopping center.

Visitors at the Fire House on Wednesday will be able to look over all the equipment, the chief added, and firemen will be on hand to explain the fire trucks and other devices and to answer all questions.

Films on fire fighting and fire prevention techniques will be screened several times during the evening and refreshments of the cider and doughnut variety will be served.

Nomination Given To Miss Kaufhold For Merit Award

Patricia Kaufhold of Springfield was named last week as the nominee for the National Merit Scholarship program.

An honor student at the Springfield High School, Miss Kaufhold is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Kaufhold of 88 Kaw dr.

Other semifinalists include Gretchen Pancher of Springfield and Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Miss Kaufhold is among the top 14,000 high school seniors across the country, on the basis of NMCS qualifying tests given last March. Winners of the Merit Scholarships will be announced next April, following further examinations.

Last year's awards went to some 2,000 young men and women.

The Holy Trinity Merit Seminalist is a staff member of Trinity, her school newspaper, and she has been awarded a letter for intramural sports.

Miss Kaufhold is also active in the Glee Club, Future Scientists of America and Political Discussion Group.

A volunteer worker at John E. Rinnells Hospital in Berkeley Heights, she is in her third year as an assistant at the Springfield Public Library.

Miss Kaufhold was graduated from St. James School, Springfield, where she now assists with the Sunday classes in Christian doctrine. She took part in the six-week chemistry institute this summer at the Pingry School, Hillsdale, and she intends to study chemistry at college.

Collections Seen As Barring Rise In Rate Of Taxes

Tax collector Fred Braun stated this week that "the record of achievements in the tax collector's office is proof positive that my re-election will insure continued positive programs responsive to the needs of our community and will further insure that your taxes for municipal purposes will not be increased in 1966."

Braun declared that "the more money the tax collector collects, the more money the township can invest in short-term, interest-bearing securities, thus saving the taxpayer money in the long run. In fact, over $42,000 interest has been obtained to date, thus reducing the burden on the taxpayer by approximately $42,000."

The candidate also stated that through his efforts a system was established for collection of delinquent taxes, bringing over $200,000 in back taxes into the township treasury since he took office in 1962. These accomplishments, he went on, have contributed to sounder fiscal programs for the township and have enabled the town to keep the taxes for municipal purposes from increasing since 1962.

In conclusion, Braun said, "The efficient handling of tax collections insures a stable tax rate which business and industry desire, thus attracting new industrial and commercial enterprises which further help to keep taxes from increasing."

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Davenport of New Providence became the parents of son, Peter Mason, Sept. 17 at Overlook Hospital, Mrs. Davenport is the former Diane P. Mason. They also have a daughter, Elizabeth A. P. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Davenport of 42 Edgewood ave., Springfield.

Kol Nidre--An Ancient Formula

Still Has Meaning For Jews Today

By CANTOR ISRAEL J. WEISMAN
Temple Beth Ahm

This article, contributed by Cantor Weisman of Springfield's Temple Beth Ahm, deals with the Kol Nidre service which ushers in Yom Kippur, Day of Atonement, most solemn of all the Jewish Holy Days. Kol Nidre this year will be observed Tuesday evening.

It's Yom Kippur—Eve. Wherever Jews are, they're rushing, hurrying, running—“We must not be late for Kol Nidre!” What is Kol Nidre? What is this mystic combination of word and melody that is so inspiring? At first glance, Kol Nidre is simply a legal formula renouncing vows and promises, written not in Hebrew, but in Aramaic, a language strange to all but the well-studied scholar. Yet the Jew stands in awe as he hears this prayer; and feels the strings of his soul vibrate in harmony with the plaintive chant.

During certain periods in Jewish history, Kol Nidre was said with the threat of death hanging over the worshipper, but that did not matter, for life meant nothing if the soul was tormented.

Picture a Yom Kippur Eve in Spain 500 years ago, while the terrible Inquisition was taking place. In the Jewish ghetto, the Jews are gathered in the synagogue. The rabbi waits, though it's almost dark. All heads turn to the door.

Suddenly, men in dark cloaks covering doublets, extravagant fabrics, jeweled medallions, are stealthily entering the synagogue. They're crushed and ashamed; they sit in the rear and look about fearfully.

They are the marriage of the secret Jews—some of them the most powerful leaders of Spain outwardly Gentiles, even baptized into another faith, yet they are drawn in spite of the danger of spies and informers who might bring about their death.

HERE AND THERE an obstinate Jew murmurs under his breath, “What are they doing here?” But the cantor rises with officials, or gabboim of the synagogue and proclaims, “Yishuv shel ma'alah—By the authority of the Heavenly Tribunal and of the court below, with Divine sanction and with the sanction of this holy congregation, we declare it lawful to pray together with those who have transgressed.”

All Jews are equal as they pray for forgiveness; there are no sinners on that white night of the Lord's majesty and man's humility. Now the words of Kol Nidre— even though in Aramaic, and even though a legal formula—spring forth with fiery meaning.

“On Lord, we know that every vow and promise must be kept, but if we Yom Kippurim zeh... if during this coming year, through terror of the sword, through fear of the Inquisition, we should promise to abandon our faith and deny Thee in our weakness, then know, Almighty One, we do not intend such vows and we here and now annul them in advance.”

CANTOR ISRAEL WEISMAN
And so we see that the Kol Nidre is not a formula to break any vow between one man and another. There is nothing as sacred as a promise made to another. This must be kept unless rescinded by the parties involved.

Books Are Listed About Big Dough, Pickles, Chutney

“Tinely books now in the Springfield Public Library for borrowers to read are listed below, with comments by the library staff.

For men: “How to Earn a Five-Figure Income during Your Early Business Years,” by James J. Sheeran. “Written by a young business man, this offers the wisdom of becoming Number Two Man on the job and many other suggestions gleaned from top young executives.”

For the housewife: “Preserves, Jams, Marmalades and Jellies, Bottling and Canning Pickles and Chutneys, Canned Fruits,” by Isabella Mary Boston. “A well-illustrated book for those who prefer the home-made flavor.”

Art lovers: “Art Guide/New York” by A.L. Chamin, noted lecturer on art at the Museum of Modern Art. This book is the only picture-by-picture tour of the key works of art in the many museums of New York City. It could serve both as a unique guide to museums in the city and as an illustrated course in art appreciation.

Biography: “Kennedy,” by Theodore C. Sorenson. Freshman Sen. John F. Kennedy in 1953 engaged the 24-year-old Unitarian from Nebraska as his legislative assistant. He knew Kennedy—the man, the senator, the candidate and the President as no other associate did. In Washington, Sorenson was known as President Kennedy's “intellectual blood-bank, top policy aide and scribe.”

For young adults: “Mother of a Bachelor Buy It Myself!” by Geraldine Frank. “A complete guide to what's right in fashion and what's right for you—styled to fit young tastes, need and budgets.”

Small fry: “The Bus Trip,” by Eleanor Frances Lattimore. “Tells the story of nine-year-old Bettina, who accepted the responsibility of taking her little brother on a visit to their grandparents.”

The Alligator Case, with story and pictures by William Pennings. “What does the detective discover the weekend the circus is in town? Read this gayly illustrated tale and find out.”

Mrs. Sobey, who was graduated from Jonathan Dayton Stratton High School, is majoring in health and physical education.

Methodists Plan Communion Rites For All Services

The congregation at Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church will celebrate the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper Sunday as part of a world-wide Communion observance, along with Christians of all denominations who will participate in the most sacred service of Christendom.

“The Scandal of Holy Communion” will be the title of a sermon at 9:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. by the Rev. James Dewart, pastor. Theodore Reimlinger, lay speaker, will conduct the 9:30 a.m. German language service.

Church school will meet at 9:30 a.m. from the nursery for three-year-olds to the senior high and adult departments.

The young adult fellowship for single and married persons from 18 to 35 will view slides taken by Thelma Schilling, entitled “The Lord's Handwriting,” taken throughout the United States.

Bulldozers Stopped On Cemetery Land

Ground-clearing operations for Routes 78 and 24, which are now under way throughout Springfield, hit a temporary snag on Tuesday, when officials of the First Presbyterian Church notified highway department bulldozers at work on property which still belongs to the Presbyterian Cemetery.

Following conferences on the scene, with participation by church spokesmen, representatives of the contractor and Springfield police officials, work on the cemetery property was suspended.

Construction workers had pushed a pile of trees together on the church property and were starting to burn the dead trees when the activity was halted.

Although the highway route through the church property was first outlined a decade ago, according to an informed source, the state has not yet taken any specific legal steps to acquire title to the property.

A special quarterly conference will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m., after an official board meeting to elect two trustees for unexpired terms.

TEMPLE DONORS ASKED FOR HELP AT BLOODMOBILE

An appeal to members of Springfield's Temple Beth Ahm to take part in the Red Cross bloodmobile session Saturday at St. James Church was issued this week by Wallace Callen, chairman of the Beth Ahm blood bank.

He stressed that the temple blood bank reserve has been greatly depleted because of the policy of providing blood for parents of members. Callen asked members wishing to donate blood to call him at MU 2-9533.

2 Springfield Women Fill Committee Posts

Two Springfield women have been named to head committees for the coming year in the Union County American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Alfred Rutz will head the foreign affairs committee, and Mrs. Robert Hargrove will head the membership committee.

LEADER PROFILE

ROBERT D. HARDGROVE

Robert D. Hardgrove is a man who believes in doing it himself, and he has never been bothered by the amount of work involved, whether it was a case of extensive remodeling in his house or working to "keep Springfield a good town where my children can grow up."

Since he and his wife, Hazel, moved to 125 Saiter st. in 1950, Hardgrove has found the time, and the energy, to add two upstairs bedrooms and an upstairs bathroom, finish off a basement recreation room, tear out a living room wall, plaster the ceiling and complete many less detailed projects.

He has also found the time, and the energy and the interest to serve on virtually every civic organization in the township. This service includes a three-year term on the Township Committee, and a year as mayor, in 1964. He was defeated in his bid for reelection last fall, by a razor-thin margin of 14 votes.

Now Hardgrove is back in the thick of the political tumult once again as a Republican candidate for the Township Committee. Actually, he was never away. This past year out of office has been as busy as the ones before, with official duties as chairman of the Board of Health and with a host of other major interests and activities.

"I'M RUNNING for office now for the same reasons as before," the former mayor declared. "I feel I have something to offer to the community. I'm raising my family here, and I have a responsibility for the community."

"You have to enjoy campaigning and working on all the civic committees, as I have, or you just can't take on these responsibilities."

"I have made more friends than I can count since I first became active in community work about 1955. I can walk through the Morris ave. business district today and say hello to at least half the people."

"My political activities haven't cost me any friends, either. A nodding acquaintance might have stopped nodding here and there, but that's all. I have kept all my friends despite politics, and they are friends on both sides of the political fence."

THE HARDGROVE story began some 41 years ago, when Springfield's future mayor was born in Maplewood. He attended Maplewood schools and Columbia High School, but the major interest of his childhood requires another line — one with a hook and sinker to the end. "You name it," Hardgrove comments, "if you can fish for it with a rod, I like to catch it." When pressed, however, he does express a preference for the delicate art of dry fly fishing.

He first caught fishing fever from his father, and as an adult has continued the endless search for minnows and monsters in Canada, Maine, New Hampshire and other hidden spots that no one else is supposed to know.

His children, Janice, 14, Lucille, 12, and Robert, 6, all have their own fishing tackle. Young Robert made his first catch, a small bass, at the age of three.

THE FAMILY'S star athlete, however, is Janice, who has won the Union County hop-scotch championship three years in a row and is the undefeated township champion. Despite widespread speculation on the value of this experience, Janice has shown no interest in a political career.

Now an electrical engineer with Public Service Electric and Gas Co., Hardgrove went to work for the utility concern when he was graduated from high school. Since then, and attending classes at night, he earned a B.S. degree in electrical engineering, in 1956, and an M.A. in management engineering, in 1961, both from Newark College of Engineering.

His years with Public Service suffered a brief interruption for another sort of service. Hardgrove was a first sergeant in the 304th Infantry Division during World War II, winning four battle stars in the European theater of action.

He married his wife, Hazel, in 1946, and he has a great deal of praise for the understanding and encouragement she provided during the long years of study which followed — as well as assistance in providing a quiet environment for concentration in a house full of small children. Hardgrove, too, has been active in a variety of communal endeavors: a full list would require another article.

Hardgrove's major civic interest over the past year has been as Board of Health chairman, a post he held previously. "Our problems on the board are very similar to those of the Township Committee," he notes, "but on a smaller scale. Our work is less varied, of course, but we try to provide good health legislation and enforce the ordinances for the welfare of

Dayton's Bandsmen Prepare To March

The 65-member Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, marching band is ready to perform at the second game of the Bulldogs' 1965 football season, according to band director Lynn Blecker. The schedule continues Saturday at A. L. Johnson Regional, Clark.

Beginning his third year at Dayton, Blecker is pleased with the spirit and progress of his marching band. He feels that "the marching band is a fixture and tradition at Dayton football games, and their precision marching and synchronized playing inspire the fans and team to greater effort and victory."

Director Blecker has named Paul Neur, a student teacher from Trenton State, as his assistant. He announced the following officers of the 1965-66 band:

Gretchen Parkins, major; Sharon Remlinger, captain; Cathy Carrell and Gerry Kleffer, co-captain and co-captain of the color guard; Jordan Denner, student director; Laurie Jo Frank and Heidi Steigert, librarians; Stephen Squiblock, Fred Goldring, Harold Slapin, and Lawrence Wolosky, band managers.

Slate Glass Blower

Fred Anderson of Summit, a glass blower with the Ciba Pharmaceutical Co. will demonstrate his craft on Monday evening at the monthly meeting of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m. in the Presbyterian Parish House.

Anderson is the creator of specialized glass apparatus used in Ciba's research laboratory. He can draw a glass tube one-tenth the diameter of a human hair and has made an all glass blood pressure recorder.

Pigskin Panorama

Now that the football season has been launched for 1965, a few bits of advice might be in order to spectators unaccustomed to the national fall sport, particularly as it is played on the high school level.

The first and most important warning: sit at the top of the stands. Those who sit in the first five or six rows receive an excellent view of the cheerleaders (attractive if not the chief attraction of the day), small boys looking for their friends, middle-sized girls looking for middle-sized boys and middle-aged men looking for their youth.

Once settled in the top row, keep a close eye on the action, but don't watch the ball. Anyone can do that. Keep your eyes on the offensive guards or the defensive linebackers. The guards are supposed to lead the action, and the linebackers are supposed to be the first ones to diagnose each play. If the guards go one way and the linebackers another, have some more popcorn.

Good sportsmanship is the keynote of high school sports, especially football. If a player makes a fumble or misses a tackle, never comment adversely. The boy's father is probably sitting right next to you, and he may not be such a good sport.

The same warning applies if a player should take a punch at someone or try to kick the referee or be guilty of some other minor lapse in etiquette. You can be sure this kid's father is not a good sport.

Most important of all, bring a small dog. No high school game is considered official unless play is interrupted at least once by a small dog which runs on the field. The owner receives much public notice and, often, is permitted to go home early and avoid the traffic jam. Sometimes he can even have a police escort.

Town Meeting

and to appeal to Gov. Richard J. Hughes in an effort to alleviate the threat.

Resignations Asked

The political issue came to the forefront when Henry Grabarz, Democratic candidate for Township Committee, called for the resignation of committeemen who had hired the law firm of Lorenz and Stamler last year to appeal the court decision in the Valco zoning case.

That decision had voided a permit for a nursing home at Shunpike rd. and Mountain ave. because of activities in the case by several municipal officials. It was announced last November.

Grabarz declared that the Township Committee had acknowledged charges in the decision of conflict of interest, that the Township Committee had violated its oath of office, that the legal fees for Lorenz and Stamler for the appeal constituted an improper use of township funds and that, therefore, the Township Committeemen who had approved the legal fees should resign.

The four Republicans on the Township Committee refrained from speaking. Although Mayor William F. Koontz did comment that 10 months had elapsed since the Valco decision was first announced, only Democrat, stated that he, Committeeman Bloom, had not been on the committee when the legal assignment was approved, and that he had opposed payment of the fee.

Garbage Disposal

Although decision on a garbage disposal contract was deferred, Bloom, who has jurisdiction in the matter, said that the town board was looking for a disposal contract with a three-year term of $458,838 per year. The present three-year rate there is $273,000 per year.

A variance was approved permitting the Islander Corp. to erect a sign on its Rt. 22 property, subject to a number of stipulations.

Del Vecchio reported on a survey of Mountain ave. street lights completed by the Jersey Central Power and Light Co. The committee approved his proposal for 50 new lights, at an additional cost to the township of some $600 per year. He noted that one of the new lights is now shining at Richard dr. and Mountain ave.

Planner reported limited progress in meetings with members of the Township Committee in plan on proposals to reduce the flow of truck traffic on Milltown rd. He added that "we hope to reach a successful conclusion" in efforts to create an alternative truck route.

The Thursday-afternoon sessions will be held from 3:30 to 4:45. The Saturday sessions will be from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The first will be this Saturday morning.

The age groups are from five to 13, with the classes divided into groups according to age.

Military Funeral Held Last Week

Karl J. Haselmann, 64, who died Sept. 5 in Karlsruhe, Germany, had been a resident of Springfield from 1921 to 1933, when he joined the U.S. Army. Mr. Haselmann retired from the Air Force as a chief warrant officer in 1950. He was active in the American Legion Club and in the K-Ning Obelisk Club in West Palm Beach, Fla.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ruth Haselmann; a son, T/Sgt. Robert J. Haselmann of Fairfield, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Helen King of W. Palm Beach; three brothers, John and Alex of Springfield and Robert of Freehold; and three grandchildren.

A military burial was held last week at Long Island National Cemetery, Flushing, L.I.

"The fund isn't in any better condition than she is. It is down from $10,000 to $4,000. I have to go in the hospital this week and pay a $5,000 bill. Who knows how long Theresa will live."

"But I can't let the family down. They can't do it alone. They need someone and I guess I was there," Portnoy said.

"The fund was actually started by a former resident, Frank Kenney. When he was transferred to New Orleans he left the fund to me and I took over where he left off.

Ladies Of Church To Open Season

The Ladies' Benevolent Society of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield will open the fall season with a meeting next Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Parish House. The Rev. Donald C. Weber, associate minister, will speak.

The summer medical mission offering will be returned at the meeting. Mrs. Clifford W. Zimmet, president, announced. Plans will be made for the annual turkey dinner scheduled for Nov. 11.

Mrs. Zimmer has appointed the following chairman: Mrs. Charles F. Remlinger, house; Mrs. Howard J. Hoewagen, literature and Mrs. Raymond C. Kolster, and Mrs. Herbert Miller, world service.

Church Bowlers Get High Scores

Salvatore Boetticher led the Springfield Church Bowling League this week with a 662 series. He had 210 and 307 games. Other bowlers in the 200's were Svea Hedstrom, 221, John Mentz, 208, Nicholas Zarrell, 203 and Joseph Telvisco, 200.

The Delquerio team leads the league, followed closely by Zarrell, Lord, Hedstrom, Young and Moreland. All bowling was at the Springfield Bowling Center.

Misfits, Glassen Lead Pin League

The Misfits maintained first place in the Skittles women's bowling league in action at the Springfield Bowl this week.

Those bowling which names were Leona Welles, 174-187; Nancy Burkhardt, 176; Mabel Hennshaw, 170; Jackie Glassen, 168; Nancy Falcone, 168; Helen Baldwin, 165; Verna Anderson, 165; Edna Edwards, 168; Marilyn Alexy, 153 and Madeline Roth, 157. The high series was bowled by Jackie Glassen, 450.

10 Days Of Penitence End With Atonement, Resolve

By RABBI REUBEN E. LEVINE Temple Beth Ahm

The Jewish High Holy Days are usually spoken of as a group, even though the first two days of the New Year precede the culminating Day of Atonement by nine days. In spite of the fact that only the first two and last of this 10-day period are observed as sacred, the whole period is considered as a solemn and penitential time.

There is logic behind this program of observance. The New Year days are designed to start a process that attains its completion on Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

Let us take an example from the field of law. In legislation, a law can be passed, but it is only "on the books" until it is enforced.

So, too, the concern with one's moral standing which is engendered by Rosh Hashanah at the beginning of the penitential period, cannot be considered atonement until it leads to concrete resolve that will change one's behavior.

In this way, Yom Kippur reflects a basic principle in the Jewish religion: namely that it is the act and deed that count.

Fire Department

reel which was used in Springfield as far back as 1892. Chief Mesker disclosed that films will also be presented as part of this program.

Meanwhile, township firemen kept busy with several alarms during the past week. Capt. John Branning headed a detachment that extinguished a rubbish fire last Thursday at 2:30 p.m. behind the Modern Era furniture on Rt. 22. The chief reported that the fire had been started by children playing with matches.

The former Marmon Florist building on Morris ave. opposite the Hutman and Boyce furniture store, was destroyed by a fire reported Friday at 3 a.m. The building had been scheduled for demolition by the state highway department later that same day.

Chief Mesker headed a full complement of 31 men, regulars, volunteers and reserves, who battled the flames until 6:55 a.m. There were no casualties, and the fire was contained within the single building.

Saturday at 2:03 p.m., Deputy Chief Robert E. Day headed units which were called for a fire in a chicken house owned by Nelson Heard at 102 Morris ave. There was extensive damage to three buildings, and the loss was also estimated to include some two dozen chickens and eight rabbits.

Units responded to a call Saturday at 6:23 p.m. for an auto fire in the parking lot of Harmony House on Rt. 22. Extensive damage was sustained by a car owned by Janice Dougherty of Short Hills.

Campaign Is Led By Mrs. Barrett And Mrs. Falkin

Mrs. Arthur Falkin of 92 Jefferson ter., and Mrs. James F. Barrett of Cypress ter., both of Springfield, are among the 24 community coordinators completing plans for the women's division activities for the state general election campaign of Nelson F. Stamler and Peter J. McDonough.

Mrs. Falkin is active in the Springfield Republican Club, Temple Beth Ahm Sisterhood, B'nai B'rith, O.E.T., Hadassah and Deborah. Her husband, elected a Township Committeeman in 1961 and mayor of Springfield in 1963, is associated with Standard Maplewood Plumbing Supply, Maplewood.

The couple has three sons. Mrs. Barrett, bill clerk for the General Assembly in Trenton and current secretary of the Springfield Municipal Committee, has been active in various neighborhood fund drives, the Brownies, PTA and the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield. She and her husband are the parents of two children.

"ON THE WHOLE, our town is in excellent condition health-wise. We get a few minor complaints occasionally, but this is to be expected from time to time."

In his four years on the Board of Health, Hardgrove relates, he has helped prepare a variety of township laws: a modernization of all health ordinances, amended plumbing code, dog ordinance, laundrette code, public health and nuisance code, revised sanitary code, amended private swimming pool ordinance, amended food handling ordinance, two revisions of license fees, a liquor ordinance and measures governing air conditions and noise.

Within the past year also, Hardgrove was recipient of the Springfield community award of the Board of Realtors of the Orange and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield.

He was elected to another three-year term as a board member of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League and was named a member of the engineering staff of the Essex-Union-Somerset Traffic Safety Council. Hardgrove is also active as a trustee of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield.

RIGHT NOW, however, most of his time is devoted to the election campaign. He and his running mate, Robert G. Planer, are well on their way toward their goal of ringing every doorbell in the township, getting to know people and talking over problems and issues.

Many of the questions he is asked, Hardgrove says, may sound odd or unusual, but every one is asked with a serious purpose. People ask questions because they are concerned about something, and they want a serious answer.

"As far as issues go, I don't think there are any this year. We are operating the community very well, particularly in such fields as finances, recreation, services for the community. We have fine police and fire departments, and we have real estate taxes many other Union County communities should envy. The administration has been doing an excellent job. I just don't think our opponents have any real issues."

Creative Arts Group Takes Form Under Skilled Hands

By BEA SMITH

Springfield has become exceptionally culturally-minded—and all the more so these days, thanks to the enthusiasm and hard work of a handful of township residents.

Much confidence is being poured into the success of a newly-organized, energetic organization called the Springfield Association of Creative Arts, and Mrs. Leo Johnson, artist, teacher, mother and resident of Springfield, was on hand the other day to talk about it.

Mrs. Johnson, who is chairman of the organization, is going all-out in the group's preparations for its first art show, to be held Oct. 10 in front of the Town Hall with exhibitions on snow fences (temporary wall for an outdoor show).

"The town has been very cooperative about the whole thing," Mrs. Johnson says. "The association is only a month old, and it was formed under the guidance of Phillip Del Vecchio (township committeeman). Mr. Del Vecchio really was the force behind it; he got together groups of people—and it has mushroomed happily."

THE ASSOCIATION is dedicated to furthering creative arts in Springfield and plans to expand interest in art, drama, music, dancing, poetry, creative writing and sculpture. And among those who are dedicating themselves to its formation and activities are Mrs. Arnold Ritten, Mrs. Leslie Rosenbaum, Mrs. Robert Hardgrove, Mrs. Sidney Frank, Mrs. Arnold Koldoff, Mrs. Sidney Singer and Mrs. Maxwell Chaval. Trustees are Elizabeth Kintze, Audrey Garner, Margaret Gerst, Hazel Hardgrove, Helen Frank and Audrey Bloom.

"There is no official membership list yet," Mrs. Johnson says, "and so far no fee—just enthusiasm!"

At the group's second meeting, Mrs. Johnson said, she discussed a lot of things. She hopes eventually to have art classes, revolving exhibits around town—situated in key places—such as the library, the Town Hall with occasional lectures and demonstrations.

Mrs. Johnson said, "Right now, everything is in a very embryonic state; anything can happen!"

The art show, she says, is "open to anyone who lives or works in Springfield. Entry blanks are placed around town and anyone can participate—pros or amateurs."

"There will be three judges—one for water colors, one for oil painting and one for general purposes—a teacher of art in the elementary schools. These will all be out-of-town people."

"We won't be giving money awards; just ribbons." Judging will be for the work in various categories of adults, teenagers (13-18) and children (7-12).

"WE ALSO PLAN to have the Springfield Community Chorus to give a special performance at the art show in progress. They will sing at the outdoor exhibit, and one of the judges will demonstrate with water colors."

Roselle-born Mrs. Johnson (Lillian Bass), received her primary education in Roselle. She was graduated from the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts (where she was later to return to teach Saturday morning children's classes, and special adult evening sculpture classes).

Mrs. Johnson taught for about three years before she was married, and worked as an assistant to a sculptor. Then she did some free lance work in window displays for department stores in New York.

Mrs. Johnson is married to a native Bostonian, who "runs an art supply store," Johnson's Arts and Crafts, at 447 Springfield ave., Summit. (They have two children: Eugene, 21, who is studying art in Florida, and Susan, 17, a seiyor at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.)

After Mrs. Johnson was married, she accompanied her husband to North Carolina while he was in the U. S. Marine.

"I got into the act—too," Mrs. Johnson muses in retrospect. "I did some art work for the Marine Corps. I made a 13-foot paper mache statue for Christmas—with the aid of a whole crew of Seabees."

PRACTICES WHAT SHE PREACHES—Mrs. Leo Johnson of 143 Baltusrol way, Springfield, chairman of the newly-organized Springfield Association of Creative Arts, a painter, sculptor, teacher, author and housewife, works diligently in her basement studio on a piece of sculpture called "Melting Pot," which is part of a project for a Christmas display in a large department store.

Freeholders Maintain 9 Miles Of County Roads In Township

Nine miles of county roads in Springfield were maintained last year under the direction of the Union County Board of Freeholders, Republican freeholder candidate Matthew Rinaldo, declared today.

Rinaldo, who is seeking to be elected to the Board of Freeholders in November, said that maintenance and improvements in Springfield are "a tangible example of how the Republican Board of Freeholders is seeking to meet the human needs of the county's residents." He is a former Freeholder.

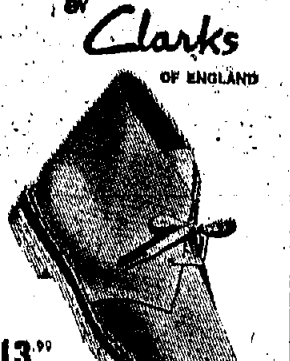

"Few people," Rinaldo continued, "realize the large role played by the county in the construction and up-keep of roads. For example, there are probably few residents who realize that a key part of a freeholder's job is to see to it that the 156 miles of county road are kept in top condition."

Rinaldo, who is running with incumbent Raymond Moore and Jay A. Stenner, also pointed out that the freeholders are responsible for maintaining the 45 bridges in Springfield.

"Since we are pledged to meet the human needs of our citizens," Rinaldo declared, "we must be ever-mindful of our many areas of responsibility. Road and bridge care is an unstung part of our job. But it's an important one. It involves not only repairing chuckholes and repaving certain stretches, but it means keeping the roads open when snow storms hit the county."

"He urged residents to take a 'good look' at county roads in this community and 'use what you see as a yardstick of our performance in office. If we measure up in this important, face of meeting human needs, give us your support at the polls—so that we can continue the job."

THE JOHNSONS came to Springfield "almost 20 years ago" to make their home at 143 Baltusrol way—where they still reside. Mrs. Johnson says she spent "very little time outside of the art world."

She couldn't stay away, so she made art displays at home; took a part-time job teaching at Peck School, Morristown. She participated in the Summit Art Association's children's classes and sculpture programs and in the Morris County Art Association in Morristown.

"And many more," she adds. Then she taught in a summer arts and crafts program in Sumburn in Union County Park near the Tralidge Museum. She also taught arts and crafts at the Baltusrol Swim Club—and she did "volunteer work at the Springfield Municipal Pool last year."

I had started an art program at the swim club. Mrs. Johnson also has written two books: A how-to book called "Paper-Mache" published by the David McKay Co., Inc. ("It had an excellent library sale") and "The Basic Methods and Materials in Sculpture," which she uses during her classes.

"In addition to all my other art work, I have been sculpturing all these years."

CURRENTLY, Mrs. Johnson says, she teaches adult school sculpture classes, locally and in Cranford High School. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights, she teaches out of town, and on Thursday nights, she conducts classes at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

"I find that my evening classes are really quite exciting," Mrs. Johnson exclaimed.

YOUTHS TO OPEN PREDICTION CHEST

The youth of Saint John's Lutheran Church, Summit, will gather Sunday at 4 p.m. to open a "prediction chest" into which the headlines for the New York Times for Saturday have already been placed.

Pastor H. Peter Unks, Saint John's minister of Christian education, claims, "I will predict with 90 percent accuracy the wording of the headlines of the New York Times for that day."

After the ceremonies of opening the "prediction chest," the youths will hold a dance and barbecue in the church parking lot.

This program will be the first in a regular Sunday Night series which will involve the youth from 4 through 9 p.m. every Sunday evening.

Minister Accepts Chapel's Call To Preach Sunday

The Rev. Robert B. Mignard, former pastor of the New Brunswick Bible Church, Somerset, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Mountainside Union Chapel, Rt. 22, Mountainside. He succeeds the Rev. Baden Brown who left the local pulpit last January to assume pastoral duties in a Detroit (Mich.) church.

Mr. Mignard will begin his ministry at the 11 a.m. services this Sunday. On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock he will be the featured speaker on "Metropolitan Pulpit" over Radio Station WFME (94.7 on the FM dial).

The new pastor, his wife and four children will reside in the parsonage at 506 Sherwood pkwy., Mountainside.

Born in Ridgewood in 1927, Mr. Mignard was graduated from Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Ill., and has studied at Rutgers University. He has travelled with the Pocket Testament League and taken two missionary-Bible teaching tours of the West Indies.

He served as pastor of the Beverly Bible Church, Michigan City, Ind., for over three years prior to going to the New Brunswick church 13 years ago. During his pastorate in New Brunswick, Mr. Mignard conducted a weekly Bible study for students from Rutgers University and Douglass College.

He is currently serving as president of the Evangelical Ministers Fellowship and dean of Strickton College Evening Bible School in New York City. He formerly taught at the Newark Evening Bible School.

Trudina Howard Visits 10 Nations

Mrs. Trudina Howard returned last Wednesday from a month-long National Newspaper Association study mission of 10 European countries. She is the writer of "The Feminine Look" column and reports on the "United Nations" for this newspaper.

land. The mission was devoted principally to briefings and interviews with officials of the various states, American ambassadors, business, civic and educational leaders in the countries visited.

The group of 70 represented newspapers from all parts of the United States. Mrs. Howard shortly will begin a series of columns on the trip.

The 'Big Story' In N.J.: Roads, Roads And Roads

TRENTON — Highways, highways and more highways. This is the "big story" in New Jersey today.

As Governor Richard J. Hughes was officially proclaiming the state's participation in National Highway Week last week (Sept. 18-25), state-minded officials in the New Jersey State Highway Department went to their adding machines and came up with a few facts and figures.

What does it all add up to? — To the fact that New Jersey today is involved in constructing new high-speed interstate roads worth upwards of 1 1/2 billion American dollars and stretching — if you were to lay them all end to end — nearly three times as high as the distance at which Major White took his famous "walk in space" earlier this year.

And that's pretty high up. Here's a rundown on the Big Roads, as supplied by the Highway Department's Bureau of Public Information:

INTERSTATE ROUTE 78 — A $458 million freeway running 66.4 miles from the Pennsylvania state line near Phillipsburg to the Holland Tunnel in Jersey City; 36 per cent to traffic, 20 per cent under construction, final engineering for right-of-way acquisition under way on another 40 per cent, and preliminary study in preparation for public hearing completed on the remaining four per cent.

INTERSTATE ROUTE 80 — A $287 million freeway that covers 68.4 miles from the Pennsylvania line at the Delaware Water Gap to a connection with Interstate Route 95 at Cranford; 34 per cent open, 15 per cent under construction (a 3.4-mile section of the route, known as the Bergen-Passaic Expressway, from the Garden State Parkway to Beckwith ave. in Paterson, was opened to traffic last Friday).

INTERSTATE ROUTE 95 — A $281 million route stretching 73.4 miles from the Pennsylvania line at the Scudder Falls Bridge north of Trenton to the George Washington Bridge; 85 per cent open to traffic, two per cent under construction, two per cent still in the process of alignment studies.

INTERSTATE ROUTE 280 — A $150 million road connecting I-80 in Parsippany-Troy Hills with I-95 in Kearny; an 18-mile route known locally as the Essex East-West Freeway, it has six per cent of its mileage open to traffic, eight per cent under construction, 88 per cent in engineering and right-of-way stages.

INTERSTATE ROUTE 287 — A circumferential route 54.8 miles long, estimated to cost $197 million, running from Interstate Route 95 in South Bound Brook to the New York State line at Mahwah in Bergen County; 33 per cent open to traffic, nine per cent under construction.

INTERSTATE ROUTE 295 — A $166 million, 72.3-mile road running from the Delaware state line and Deepwater in Salem County to I-95 in Hopewell Township, Mercer County; 35 per cent open to traffic, 10 per cent under construction.

INTERSTATE ROUTE 76 — A 6.3-mile "highway" costing $28 million and running from a connection with Interstate 205 to the Pennsylvania state line at Bollinger in Camden County on the Benjamin Franklin Bridge (Philadelphia); 59 per cent open to traffic.

Also under construction is Interstate Route 208, in the vicinity of the Goethals Bridge and New Jersey Turnpike, with plans for future construction to Route 1 in Linden (no figures on cost and mileage).

The remaining two Interstate Routes are 495, from I-95 to the Lincoln Tunnel, and 676, from Interstate 76 to the Pennsylvania state line at the Walt Whitman Bridge (Philadelphia). Both of these roads are open to traffic.

Report to the People

From Your Congresswoman

FLORENCE P. DWYER (6th District N. J.)

Pollution, according to Webster, is the act of making unclean, of contaminating. Concise as it is, the definition hardly begins to do justice to the reality, for at the rate we are polluting our environment we are rapidly destroying much that our advanced science, technology and society have contributed for the wellbeing of all.

It is fortunate, therefore, that pollution has become a live political issue here in Congress, in general of its aspects, for as an issue attention will be increasingly focused on concrete proposals for dealing with the threat it poses to our health and welfare. This week, the House will consider two of the most important anti-pollution bills in history, one of which would reorganize and strengthen the Federal Government's water pollution control program while the second would, for the first time, require standards for reducing pollution from motor vehicle exhausts, the source of an estimated 50 percent of the country's air pollution.

Costly Delay
Given the critical nature of the water shortage throughout the Northeast, now in its fifth year, and considering the extent to which severe pollution of lakes and streams has reduced the supply of usable water, the lengthy delay in completing action on the water pollution control bill has been extremely costly.

For nearly two years now, this legislation—which would greatly improve the government's fight against pollution—has been under active study in Congress. The major dispute has concerned whether the States or the Federal Government should set standards of water quality for interstate streams, and this issue killed the bill last year. But in late January of this year, the Senate passed the bill—providing for Federal standards—by a vote of 86 to 8. Exactly three months later, the House passed its version of the bill—authorizing State standards—by a 395 to 0 vote. Until last week, however, the stalemate persisted with neither side willing to yield in spite of the general awareness that the pollution control program was a vital part of the all-out effort to increase the supply of clean water.

The break came just in time. The compromise agreed on by House and Senate conferees gives the States the first opportunity to establish water quality standards and related enforcement programs; only if a State fails to come up with an effective plan would the Federal Government be authorized to act, and then only subject to conditions protecting the interests of all affected parties.

The compromise on this key issue should now open the gate to speedy enactment of the bill. Among other things, the bill will establish a new and more efficient system of administering the pollution control program, increase the construction of sewage treatment plants and other facilities, and push ahead with research and demonstration projects—all of which are essential if the country is to slow down the dangerous rate of water pollution.

Slow Progress
Slowly but surely, too, we are moving toward more effective control of the dirt and fumes and filth that make so much of our once-free and formerly fresh air a positive danger to breathe. After much of the same kind of pulling and hauling that characterized handling of water pollution legislation, the House is ready to act on amendments to the 1955 Clean Air Act which will set the stage for mandatory installation of devices on new automobiles to reduce or eliminate the harmful hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide contained in auto-exhaust fumes. The legislation will also help prevent new air pollution before it gets out of hand, improve research and development facilities, and initiate an attempt to find new ways for the sanitary disposal of solid wastes—garbage, rubbish, refuse, debris, etc.—which contribute so heavily to both air and water pollution. Almost unbelievably, less than half of the cities and towns in the U.S. with populations above 2,500 have sanitary solid waste disposal program. Waste disposal, auto exhausts, industrial power plants and similar sources of air pollution have combined to make this probably the greatest single danger to the public health and welfare today. Estimates of annual direct damage to property resulting from air pollution have reached $18 billion. Doctors now consider contaminated air the major source of killing and crippling diseases like cancer, heart and lung disease and other respiratory illnesses.

Growing Danger
We who live in the intensely populated and heavily industrialized northeast corner of New Jersey are especially vulnerable to air pollution. As even the least sensitive nose can detect, we produce an enormous volume of pollutants. When air inversions trap the polluted air under layers of warm air—and this happens about 40 times a year in our Garden State—the entire area becomes a vast aerial garbage heap.

The nature of the danger has been dramatically and tragically illustrated in the smog attacks of recent years in Donora, Pa., London, and New York City, where hundreds of people died and thousands more were seriously ill as a direct result of prolonged exposure to concentrated poisons in the air. Less than three years ago, much of our east coast was caught in a giant air inversion situation. Had it lasted just a few more days, mass death and sickness would have resulted.

Faced with such danger, our efforts to date have been pitifully inadequate. The forthcoming Clean Air Act amendments will help, but much more needs to be done at all levels of government. Federal, State, county and local. The threat is great and growing; it knows no boundaries. An enemy to all, air pollution must be attacked by all.

Aim Of New Youth Group-- To Promote Human Rights

Young people who want to assist and promote civil and human rights within their own communities will have an opportunity to do so by joining the Urban League Youth Community of Union County, according to James S. Wilson Jr., of Roselle, executive director of the Urban League of Eastern Union County.

The new local organization was formed recently when a group of young people representing Roselle, Kenilworth, Cranford and Elizabeth met at the Bayway Community Center.

The meeting was opened by Wilson, and Miss Toye Brown and Miss Sandra Stevenson, state members of the National Urban League, outlined the National Youth Community program.

The organization will function as part of the Urban League of Eastern Union County's Educational and Youth Incentive Program. According to Wilson, local action groups will be formed in each community to provide the means whereby young people can volunteer to add their voices to the goal of bettering civil and human rights within their own communities. "As members of local Youth Community groups, young people will be given an opportunity to participate in conferences, educational drives and other active programs designed to promote better understanding and ease community tensions," Wilson concluded.

Those present at the initial meeting included Elio Hakovitch, Miss Robb Levine, Howard Hudson, James Adkinson and Miss Mary Pierce, all of Roselle and Miss Carol Hodapp and Paul Ten Eyck of Kenilworth.

Besides Wilson, other members of the advisory committee include Mrs. Alice White, Edward Scott, and Hubert Barbour of Elizabeth; Frederick Jackson of Roselle and Dr. Lemuel Leeper of Summit.

Teens To Accompany McDonough On Tour

Shoppers in Union, Hillside and Springfield will have a bit of feminine politeness blended with their politics Saturday when four young ladies from the Westfield TARS (Teen-Age Republicans) join the motorcade of Assemblyman Peter McDonough, candidate for State Senate.

The girls will distribute shopping bags, campaign literature and buttons while McDonough exchanges views with the shoppers.

The girls, wearing skimmers, including McDonough as their candidate, include Patricia Spinner, Linda Wallace, Debbie Shafer and Anne Schmalenberger.

Dance Scheduled By Church Group

The Union County Greek Orthodox Community will sponsor a "Midnight" party for the evening tomorrow at 9:30 p.m. at the Shackamaxon Country Club, Scotch Plains. The event is the first of a series to raise funds for the Union County Greek Orthodox Church and Community Center to be constructed in Westfield.

Music for the evening will be provided by George Mirros and his orchestra. There will be a program of Hellenic music. Refreshments will be served. A drawing will be held for the winner of a Chevrolet Impala Sports Sedan.

Chairmen for the event are Mrs. Nicholas Cremonas, dance; Mrs. Costa Hellig, tickets; Mrs. Frank Angleton, entertainment; Mrs. John Glanis, refreshments; Lou Kralikos, journal; George Karras, car raffle; Mrs. Nicholas Demas and George Skambis, publicity.

Dumont Attacks Democrats On State's Highway Program

TRENTON—Senator Wayne Dumont Jr., Republican candidate for governor, this week made public the first of a series of position papers on New Jersey's highway needs and failures, and detailing a program for their solution.

The paper follows: "The Democratic administration of the past 12 years has failed to provide New Jersey with a highway program to meet modern-day needs.

"New Jersey has the greatest concentration of traffic on its highways of all the states, and being largely an urbanized State, has some of the most complex problems in the nation. To meet these problems and enable New Jersey to develop and grow, and take its rightful place in modern-day America, and to reduce the appalling, senseless deaths by accident on our highways requires dynamic, progressive, efficient highway leadership and administration.

"The failure of the Democratic administration is best illustrated by the fact that the State funds per capita expenditure on highways in New Jersey is at the bottom of the list of all the states in the nation in highway expenditures.

"A detailed study of the year 1961 showed the New Jersey expenditures for highways was only $22.64 per capita, as compared to the national average of $41.14, and with some states as high as $133.68.

"The last progressive, imaginative highway work accomplished in New Jersey was the construction of the New Jersey Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway, both important milestones in the advancement of highway technology and in providing safe, efficient highway travel.

"Since passage of the Federal Highway Act of 1956 providing for 90 percent Federal financing of the Interstate Highway System, the Democratic Administration has been concentrating on this system. Their ineptness, their inability to produce, their bungling, their failure is best evident in the fact that in 10 years of a 10-year program, only 52 miles (14 percent) of the 374 miles in the State have been completed to full standards.

"Normally it is rather difficult to get a good picture of the situation from statistics, but this isn't so on the lack of progress highwaywise in New Jersey. These figures are from the published data of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads and are objective.

"In the fiscal year ending last June 30, New Jersey completed only six miles of Interstate highways to full interstate standards. This is incredible. Another 10 miles were improved, but not to full standards.

"There are problems to be sure—procurement of right-of-way and construction through urban areas is not easy. But the problems must be solved, or New Jersey will stagnate and retrogress right in the middle of the great eastern seaboard urban and industrial complex—the greatest of all history.

"I propose to aggressively pursue the unsolved problem of adequate highways in New Jersey. We will do the following: 1. Provide fresh, enlightened, dynamic leadership that will give help, advice, and guidance to the citizens of New Jersey concerning their solutions rather than the archaic, dictatorial, inept, derogatory, bungling leadership of the present administration.

Surveys, Tests Are Featured In New Fraud Scheme

One of the most devious schemes which the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York has come across in recent years is hoodwinking Long Island and New Jersey suburbanites into the purchase of outrageously overpriced home appliances and other products, under the guise of giving away "free" gifts in return for cooperation in the company's so-called survey and "test family" program.

The scheme, featuring "bugged" sales rooms, sweepstakes contest, consumer questionnaires, fictitiously priced merchandise, and a shower of "free" gifts for those fortunate enough to become what the firm calls "test families" was revealed today by Hugh R. Jackson, president of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York, after investigations conducted by the Inland BBB and the BBB of Bergen, Passaic and Rockland Counties.

Here's how it works:

1. Housewives are called and requested to cooperate in the firm's market survey, indicating what appliances they have, and how long they've had them.

2. At the conclusion of the phone call, they are informed that they will receive a chance for prizes for their cooperation.

3. A few days later the housewife receives a card which she mails back entitling her to enter the sweepstakes contest, featuring a Cadillac, $5,000 paid vacation, etc.

4. She is subsequently informed by certified mail that her card number has been chosen and she may select a free gift from the company if she or her husband will come to the office by appointment.

5. On their arrival they are ushered into a "bugged" conference room where an hour-long conversation takes place. This begins with the presentation of a gift, normally selling at $1.25 to $3.00, and then proceeds to a description of eight products (including a sewing machine, movie camera, vacuum cleaner, floor polisher, etc.) which the company is allegedly planning to market in this area in the near future either in stores which they propose to establish or in major department stores, under the brand name of Emdeko. The couple is asked if they might be in the market for such types of products in the future, their views of these items are ascribed, and their opinion as to their probable prices. They are then asked to name their first, second and third choices if these products were to be made available to them.

The "survey" then switches to a tale about the high cost of large scale advertising and the alternative plan of the company to get thousands of "test families" to use their products and write testimonial letters about them before opening stores in the area or selling their products to major department stores. The Bureau, however, has no evidence that either will happen.

The hooker, which comes near the close, is that if the couple will become one of the "test families" and write a testimonial they will receive $500 to $1,000 worth of free gifts and a 50 per cent lifetime discount on all future purchases in their stores.

In a typical situation secretly recorded during one of the BBB shoppings the pitch wound up with an offer to give the lucky "test family" a free movie camera, a power mower and a floor polisher with a stated retail price of $750.05. The only "requirement," however, as outlined by the interviewer now turned salesman, was that the couple would have to pay $300.85 for a sewing machine which was their first choice item and for which they were to serve as a "test family." He went on to explain that if the "one product on which the testimonial was written were given to the consumer, the testimonial would be illegal.

A one point during this conversation the "interviewer" excused himself, ostensibly to check with his supervisor. In truth there was an open microphone in the interview room enabling the absent interviewer to eavesdrop on the couple's reaction to date to the sales pitch.

"The most vicious deception in this whole phony deal," Jackson said, "is that the item which the consumer is inveigled into purchasing is unconscionably overpriced as are the alleged 'free' gifts. As an example, the $300.85 sewing machine is one of the cheaper varieties of Japanese imports and comparable manufacturers are selling in this area at $60 or $70. The movie camera, when promoted for sale as the 'testimonial' item is priced at $200.85. The Bureau has established that the identical Japanese camera was sold in this market under a different private brand name for $49.99 and comparable cameras are now selling at from $50 to $80." Jackson labeled this promotion as "a flagrantly deceptive scheme which feeds on the too frequent gullibility of people who think they can get something for nothing. It is essential that the public recognize this for what it is—a sheer phony and a 'come-on'."

He disclosed that the BBB is taking every step available to it to inform the public of the true nature of this scheme. "In addition," he said, "copies of the recorded sales pitches made by Products Reference Corp., 114 Broadway, Hicksville, N. Y., and Products Consultants, 484 Route 17, Paramus, the two companies involved, along with signed statements of similar experiences by consumers who have called the Bureau, are being placed in the hands of the offices of the Attorney General of New York and New Jersey, with a strong recommendation that they take prompt legal action to protect the public."

Because of the interstate involvement and evidence that this and similar franchise operations in other parts of the country are emanating from National Housewares, Inc. in Salt Lake City, Utah, Jackson announced that a representative of the Metropolitan New York BBB is also going to Washington to place copies of the recorded sales pitches and supporting data in the hands of the Federal Trade Commission.

Civic Group Sets Dinner, Bus Trip

The High School Park Improvement Association of Union will hold a dinner at the Hofbrauhaus, Highlands, on Saturday, Oct. 1. A bus will leave the high school parking lot at 6:30 p.m. Persons wishing to attend can contact Edward Kreidler or William Fitzgerald. The event will cost $10 a couple.

Representatives from the local Board of Education spoke at the group's last regular meeting on the proposed conversion of Burnet Junior High School to a high school and plans for expansion of that facility. The plan was outlined by Mrs. Agnes Tull, Board president; Carl Herrold, publicly chairman and Rudolph Bohrer, secretary. A question and answer period followed.

Howard Will Pay Higher Dividends

The Howard Savings Institution, Newark, reported an increase in its dividend accounts to 4 1/2 percent starting with the current quarter which began on Sept. 1 and will be paid on Dec. 1. It was announced this week by John W. Kress, president. In addition a higher rate of 4 1/2 percent can be obtained through a new Investment Savings Account, he said. Under the new plan, an Investment Savings Account may be opened with a minimum deposit of $1,000. Subsequent deposits may be made in multiples of $500 up to $50,000. Savings in these accounts will earn dividends at the regular rate for the first four full quarterly periods, and at the end of that time will receive an additional "special" dividend. The plan is an effective rate of 4 1/2 percent for the first year period, and then the rate will be paid currently on regular quarterly dates, Kress said. Deposits in Investment Accounts will draw interest from the date of deposit, with money withdrawn before the end of the first four quarterly periods receiving dividends at the current rate on regular savings accounts, he stated.

laws of life

Most of us are looking for something to go by—a yardstick, a set of standards, a law—something that will give direction to life. Ultimately, we find our only sure standard in the laws of divine Love. You're invited to hear a one-hour public lecture on this subject by Martin Brookes, member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. Title: "The Standard of Christian Science." All are welcome.

 "Teach me, O Lord, the way of thy statutes; . . . turn away mine eyes from beholding vanity."
 These verses from Psalm 119 form the Golden Text for a Bible
 Lesson on "Integrity" to be read in Christian Science churches this Sunday. Passages from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook will bring out some of the different ways in which men discover the supremacy and power of spiritual reality.
 Included will be these lines from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "EVI is not supreme; good is not helpless; nor are the so-called laws of matter primary, and the law of Spirit secondary . . . The Psalmist saith: 'The Lord on high is mightier than the noise of many waters, yea, than the mighty waves of the sea.'" (pp. 207, 505).

Gymnastics For Junior High Students Offered By Union 'Y'

Young Teen-agers who would like to strengthen the upper parts of their bodies are invited to turn out at the YMCA Program Center in Union this Monday night. The "Y," located at Five Points, is offering a course in gymnastics instruction this year especially for junior high school students. "With the nationwide surge of interest in physical fitness," says YMCA Branch Executive George W. Hoffman, "it has been found that development of the upper body has been inadequate and that gymnastics make a unique contribution toward overcoming this lack." The course will run from 6:30 to 8 p.m. every Monday night. Registration is open now. The instructor, Henry Kratz of Union, will teach exercises on the trampoline, vaulting buck, parallel bars, and uneven parallel bars for girls. The YMCA's popular judo class also will be offered again this season, beginning on Friday, Oct. 8, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The class had a big turnout last season. Joseph Barata of Union will be back to teach the judo course. He is "Jicky" — the highest degree in judo's brown belt, leading to a black belt. Barata is qualified to promote from white to brown belt. The YMCA will also launch a Jack & Jill Cooperative Nursery program for older preschool children, Monday Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 1 to 3:30, beginning on Monday. The afternoon course has been made necessary because the morning classes are completely filled and there is a large waiting list. There are a few openings left in the afternoon program. Many YMCA member families traveled to Forest Valley, the home of Camp Wawayanda in Oleanville, N. Y., on the weekend of Sept. 18-19. On Saturday night, Mrs. Peter Kuehne of Roselle Park led the group in singing and group games around the camp fire. Sunday morning chapel was conducted by James Pinos of Union in the outdoor chapel.

Auxiliary Stages Bowling Tourney

The Auxiliary of the Union County Osteopathic Society, this week scheduled a bowling party to be held Nov. 20 at the Hy-Way Bowl, Rt. 22, Union. Mrs. Joel Mayer of Colonia, auxiliary president, is in charge of tickets. The plans for the party were discussed this week in the auxiliary's first monthly meeting of the season held at Memorial General Hospital, Union.

U.S. Public Health Service Warns Of Possible Flu-Outbreak Ahead

A warning of a possible increase in influenza during the coming winter has been received by the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League, it was announced this week by Dr. Charles L. Lomack of Garwood, chairman of the League's medical affairs committee. A report from the U.S. Public Health Service Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices points out the possibility of outbreaks of both types A and B influenza viruses. The committee recommends that influenza vaccine should be given to any persons for whom influenza would constitute an added health hazard. Immunization is not recommended for the entire population. The immunization is recommended for persons suffering from chronic debilitating diseases, including certain types of heart and circulatory disorders, respiratory disease, or diabetes, persons over 45; pregnant women, and nursing home and hospital patients. Dr. Lomack said the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League will offer the influenza immunization to all patients attending the League's tuberculosis clinic.

Boy Scouts Launch Fund Drive In Springfield Neighborhoods

The Boy Scouts' fund drive for 1965 will be held during October. Springfield neighborhood chairmen are James Cawley, Will Salsky, Paul Roman, James Barrett and Township Committee member Arthur Falkin.

The chairmen requested that Boy Scout committee members be welcomed as they seek support for this outstanding organization which has definite programs to combat juvenile delinquency.

The Boy Scouts of America use the term "whole-Scout family" to denote their three programs—Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting and Exploring, each designed to meet the needs of boys in different age groups.

All three are conducted by the Union County Council which in October launches its campaign for $5,000 to maintain and strengthen its work in this community.

Cub Scouting, a program of challenging skills and group activities for boys from eight to 11 years old, is different from the younger boy program anywhere else in the world as it is home-and-neighborhood centered and includes between meeting time activities.

Cub Scouting stimulates a boy's interest so that when he outgrows his Cub Scout pack he joins a Boy Scout troop at 11.

Locally over 150 boys are Cub Scouts in three packs. There are 25 men serving as volunteer leaders, while 15 women are den mothers.

The Cub Scout program is a year-round program of activities to enable parents to help their sons through one of the most vital periods of life.

The Cub Scout learns to become self-reliant and helpful to others. He works with interesting things—handicraft, collections, games, stunts, nature, and hobbies with his parents who work with him on his various achievements. Thus home life is built more solidly and family teamwork is enriched.

Cub Scouts get together in their weekly den meetings under the supervision of their den mother and den chief. This Cub Scout den is a small neighborhood group of boys who like to be together. They learn how to get along with other people and find out more about their world.

Each contribution to the Springfield Council "helps make this worthy program possible," the chairman stated.

Miss Rau Overseas

Helene Rau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Rau of 36 Beverly Rd., Springfield, is one of 60 students from Wagner College, Staten Island, studying in Bregenz, Austria. She sailed with the group on the Queen Elizabeth on Sept. 22 and will return some time in June.

Daudelin, Mrs. Rutz Installed, To Head Legion Post, Auxiliary

Continental American Legion Post 228 and its Ladies Auxiliary of Springfield had a joint ceremonial installation of officers on Sept. 18 at the Post Home.

The Legion officers were installed by County Commander Hank Barret and his staff. The Auxiliary leaders were inducted by Mrs. Betty Waick, county president, and her staff.

The Legion Officers for the 1965-1966 year are: Ray Daudelin, commander; Robert Dougherty, first vice-commander; Donald Schwerdt, second vice-commander; Oliver Owens, third vice-commander; George Baker, adjutant; Francis Sammond, finance officer; Allen Best, service officer; Joseph Natello, sergeant-at-arms; Gene Wuertz, historian, and Anthony Fabrizio, chaplain.

The Auxiliary officers who were installed for the coming year are: Mrs. Bea Rutz, president; Mrs. Rose Daudelin, first vice-president; Mrs. Ruth Wuertz, second vice-president; Ellen Rutz, treasurer; Mrs. Caroline Russell, historian; Mrs. Olga Cohen, chaplain; Mrs. Lou Ellen Rochow, secretary, and Mrs. Catherine Bing, sergeant-at-arms.

After the ceremonies, the members and their guests enjoyed a buffet supper, prepared by the Auxiliary, and entertainment and dance music by the Creations.

Incoming Commander Daudelin praised Past Commander William Weber and Past President Edith Holmberg, their officers and committees for the "outstanding job they did in the past year." He asked for the "cooperation of the incoming officers and committees because of the state and national legion extended programs that will be conducted during my term."

He asked cooperation with his ways and means committee, which is charged with the promotion of the annual dance, the post's primary source of revenue for its civic and Legion activities. This committee will be Domareki of 1482 Fox trail, Mountainside and Monmouth Beach, became the bride of Neil J. Volwieder, the bridegroom. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Volwieder of Princeton and Green Pond. A reception followed in the Somerville Inn, Somerville. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Miss Alanna O'Leary, former resident of Mountainide, was bridesmaid. She was Miss Nancy Carey of Mountainide. Mrs. Michael Dreniak of Lawrenceville, and Marianne Petocki of Trenton. William M. White Jr. served as best man. Ushers were P.L. Spalding, Robert Hubby, Dr. Robert Longnecker and David Teisman. The bride, who was Miss New Jersey in 1959, is a graduate of the class of 1961 of Douglas College, New Brunswick. She received her master's degree the following year from Middlebury College and studied at the Sorbonne in Paris under a Fulbright scholarship. Mr. Volwieder was commissioned an Ensign in the U.S. Navy upon his graduation in 1961 from Yale University. He served aboard the USS Halsey as a missile officer in the Pacific and saw duty in Viet-Nam. He was released to inactive duty last month. He will start graduate work next January at Wharton School of Finance, a division of the University of Pennsylvania.

Hadassah Chapter Plans Contemporary Art Show

Springfield Chapter of Hadassah has announced plans for an art show to be held Oct. 30 through Nov. 2 at the International Art Gallery, 1156 W. Chestnut st., Union. In addition to works by contemporary artists, both European and American, there will be a special exhibition of paintings by young Israeli artists. This is the first such showing in New Jersey by these young people, all of whom have gained recognition in their field. Open night at the show, designated as sponsors' night, will afford visitors the opportunity of meeting many of the exhibiting artists personally. There will be a cocktail party from 8:30 to 11 p.m. for the sponsors and artists. On Oct. 31, the show will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Nov. 1 and 2 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mrs. Donald Stevens is chairman. Plans for the show were announced at the chapter's opening meeting last Wednesday night at Temple Beth Ahm. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Irvin Gershen, president. Mrs. Emanuel Magid, education vice-president, spoke briefly on Hadassah's aims and its program. Maureen Spigel, Junior Hadassah regional vice-chairman, who recently returned from Israel, described highlights of her trip.

Westmount Luncheon Set; Theatre Tickets On Sale

A luncheon and fashion show will be held Oct. 22 at Altman's on the Short Hills Mall under the sponsorship of the Westmount Chapter of Deborah. Tickets are now on sale, the chairman, Mrs. Monroe Brody Brody of Westfield, announced. Plans for the affair were finalized at a "welcome back" luncheon held recently at the home of Mrs. Mauro Chescho of Scotch Plains. Mrs. Charles Haney of Westfield, who underwent an operation in 1957 at the Deborah Hospital in Brown Mills, was guest speaker. She described the "fine medical care and personal attention" given to her during her hospital stay. AAUW Members Hear Talk On Higher Education Crisis

The president, Mrs. Harold Tulchin, and a delegation from the Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women heard Mrs. Zedler Brockelman, director of Women's Affairs of the Citizens Committee on Higher Education in New Jersey, describe the crisis in higher education within the state last Saturday. Mrs. Brockelman was the chief speaker at the board meeting of the State AAUW held at New Brunswick. Her talk outlined the problems New Jersey faces in higher education and gave a preview of the problems the Citizens Committee, headed by

AAUW Members Hear Talk On Higher Education Crisis

Dr. Robert F. Geheen, president of Princeton University, will tackle after the gubernatorial election. Mrs. Brockelman stated that a fact book which will be available in November, will disclose the current over-all financial and educational picture and review the status of potential needs of New Jersey industry for college- and university-trained people. She stressed the fact that in 1960 New Jersey was the seventh in income per capita in the United States yet there was room for less than 50 percent of eligible high school graduates in colleges within the state. Other local AAUW board members at the state meeting were Mrs. John Miller, state board publicity chairman, Mrs. David Hart, Mrs. Alan Rehbeck and Mrs. Donald Straight.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Mary Armstrong, County Home Agent

SHOP THE CABBAGE GLAN FOR NUTRITION, VARIETY, ECONOMY

BY MARY W. ARMSTRONG, Ed. D. Senior County Home Economist
 Mrs. Wiggs and her family enjoyed their cabbage patch with good reason. There they found food economy as well as good eating. Today we know that excellent nutritive value was also provided. Many other members of the cabbage clan are available to us today offering variety with good nutrition, although often at slightly higher cost. These cabbage relatives include broccoli, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, collards, kale, kohlrabi, and of course, red cabbage.

One of the most economical ways to supplement the diet with vitamin C (ascorbic acid) is to serve cabbage. A half-cup serving raw, as in cole slaw, costs less than a penny at current prices and provides around a fourth of the vitamin C recommended for the daily diet of an adult man.

Next in rank of this vegetable family as a vitamin C source come Brussels sprouts and broccoli, a half-cup serving of either cooked vegetable provides over three-fourths of the recommended daily allowance of vitamin C. A half-cup serving of cooked cauliflower or kale provides around half of the recommended allowance and of cauliflower, fresh and frozen combined, in a year, but far less of Brussels sprouts and kale. Use of these vegetables fresh has been declining over the years with the use of the convenient frozen form increasing.

Shopping Pointers To Consider: At current prices in one metropolitan market, red cabbage cost about 2 1/2 times the green. A pound of cabbage yields about eight half-cup servings raw and four half-cup servings cooked.

Fresh broccoli is frequently sold by the bunch. Bunches generally weigh 1 1/2 to two pounds and provide five to six servings each.

Fresh cauliflower is usually sold by the head; trimmed heads often weigh about two pounds. Count on 2 1/2 servings to a pound or five servings to a head. At current prices in the market surveyed, a serving costs about seven cents.

A 10-ounce package of frozen broccoli, cauliflower or Brussels sprouts makes about three servings. This week, in some stores, frozen chopped broccoli is the economical broccoli choice at five cents a serving, compared with seven cents for a serving of the frozen, whole, and eight cents for the fresh. It is likely that a serving of the fresh will decline in price as supplies increase seasonally.

ance of vitamin C: Cabbage Popular Vegetable We eat a lot of cabbage. On an average, Americans eat about nine pounds of cabbage per person per year; more than of other vegetables, except for potatoes, onions, lettuce, tomatoes, and possibly corn.

We eat on the average about a pound each of broccoli

 1 cup grated cheese
 Dash paprika

Cut one medium head-cabbage into wedges and add them to boiling water. Cook rapidly until tender, eight to 10 minutes. Melt butter in a saucpan or the upper part of a double boiler. Stir in flour and then add milk. Cook the mixture until it thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from flame and stir in grated cheese, blending well. Pour the cheese sauce over the cabbage wedges and garnish it with a dash of paprika. Makes six servings.

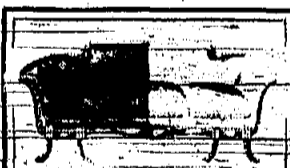

Singers To Perform

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

By PHYLLIS GREER

Specialist in Human Relations at Rutgers

HUMOR AND FUN
 Seeing the funny side of a difficult situation is a good humor helps enormously in maintaining pleasant family relationships. Humor is an asset in any home and is essential in developing a wholesome outlook on life. No one is likely to become tense and anxious and irritable when the humor of the situation can be appreciated.

Having fun at the expense of others is distorted humor. Practical jokes that hurt feelings or possessions aren't really funny. Making fun of someone, teasing, and ridicule can be left out of any discussion of real humor. Fun at the expense of the children should be distinguished from real humor. Do you know parents who laugh at children's confidences, read their letters and joke about them or make fun of their "puppy loves"? Or do you know parents who embarrass their children by repeating amusing mistakes. Some people radiate good humor, and it gives others close to them a sense of relief and freedom from strain. Begin early to develop this attitude in your children. Help them take bumps with a laugh instead of a tear. Later they will learn to take disappointments as well as jokes on themselves. They will be an important asset in the development of a healthy personality. Let your family learn to laugh with each other. Family jokes are important here. But do not make one person the object of a family joke. Laughing with someone is very different than laughing at him.

OUR DEADLINE is noon Friday for organization, social, church news.

LEAGUE'S AUXILIARY PLANS DANCE SATURDAY

An annual barn dance will be sponsored by the Union Little League Women's Auxiliary Saturday at 9 p.m. at the Evergreen Lodge, Springfield. More than 200 people are expected to attend.

The theme of the dance will be "A Good Time For All." Entertainment and dancing will be featured. Proceeds from the dance will be donated to the Union Little League.

Auxiliary co-chairmen, Mrs. Jacob Curnal and Mrs. George Imfeld have announced that the reason for the dance is to acknowledge the work done by the more than 50 coaches who gave of their own time helping the boys of Union.

The auxiliary is composed of mothers of more than 450 boys who competed this year in the Union Little League.

Tickets for the dance will be sold at the door. The public is invited to attend.

Honored Guest

Miss Beverly Shyers of Union was among the seniors attending as honor guests at last Tuesday's annual Kent Place School Senior Class tea at the home of Mrs. Prieth Benedict of Summit, president of the Kent Place Alumnae Association.

MRS. EDWARD PAWLIKOWSKI

Irene Herman Is Married To Edward L. Pawlikowski

Miss Irene Herman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Herman of 108 No. 14th st., Kenilworth, was married Saturday, to Edward L. Pawlikowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Pawlikowski of 8 Christy lane, Springfield.

Rev. Michael A. Hudak officiated at the ceremony in St. Theresa's Church, Kenilworth. A reception followed at the Westwood Lounge, Garwood.

Miss Patricia Ann Nagy of Spring Lake Heights, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Pawlikowski of Springfield, sister of the groom; and Miss Susan Duker of Catasque, Pa., cousin of the bride. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Eileen Kelly and Miss Kathleen Kelly, twin of Kenilworth.

Donald Dziubny of Springfield served as best man. Ushers were Frank Wrublewski of Elizabeth and Stanley Zowalski of Mountlake.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield. Mrs. Pawlikowski, who also was graduated from Newark State College, Union, is a second grade teacher in Piscataway Township.

Her husband is a senior at Seton Hall University.

Following a honeymoon trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pa., the couple will reside in Cranford.

Guest Speaker Set For Ethical Society

Mrs. Donald Garinkel of Springfield will host a coffee hour following a meeting at the Essex County Ethical Society in Maplewood Sunday.

Guest speaker will be Walter Ganz, a member of the Bergen Society, who will discuss "Ethical Culture—A Faith and a National Movement" at 11 a.m. at 516 Prospect st., Maplewood. The public is invited to attend.

25th ANNIVERSARY PARTY-SATURDAY CITES UNIONITES

Mr and Mrs. Michael Furines of 337 Kawameeh dr., Union, were honored Saturday night at a surprise silver anniversary party at the Essex House Hotel, Newark, where cocktails and dinner were served the immediate family and relatives. The Furines' son, Dennis, hosted the party.

Rev. Myron Sozanski, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, Hillside, led the guests in Grace before-and-after-dinner. Leon Kulawa, Mrs. Furines' cousin from Philadelphia, Pa., served as toastmaster and introduced the musical program during dinner.

The youngest Furines son, Michael, played a piano selection, the "Skaters Waltz," and Richard Kulawa sang "Ava Maria" and "The Anniversary Waltz." He is a choral director at Penn State University.

Dennis, a second year scholarship student at Manhattan School of Music, and a pianist, played the Scherzo op 6 by Grieg.

An open house party after the dinner was held at the celebrants' home for 75 guests from Carteret, Iselin, Woodbridge, Linden, Roselle Park, Kenilworth, Hillside, Newark, Freshfield, Parsippany, Pennsylvania, Brooklyn, N.Y., Middle Village, Queens, New Hyde Park, L.I., and Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Furines were married at a nuptial high mass, Sept. 28, 1940 in Holy Family Church, Carteret. They also have a third son, Roger, and a grand son, David.

WOMEN'S GROUPS ATTEND SHOWING OF DOCUMENTARY

Representatives of several women's organizations in Union attended a showing Tuesday night of "Perseverance For Profit," a sound film dealing with the effect of obscene literature on young people. The program, sponsored by Court Immaculate Heart of MARY, G. D. A., was held in the auditorium of St. Michael's School, Union.

A question and answer period, conducted by George Emery of the Knights of Columbus, followed the program.

The grand regent, Mrs. Edward Kocal, stated that the 300 members of our court are behind the efforts of all those who are working to drive out the flood of obscene literature which is flooding our country.

Mrs. Kocal appealed to the guests in the audience to join in the attempt to control the type of literature which she described as "cancerous decay" and which she stated is "leading to a moral breakdown in our country."

She urged responsible citizens, particularly parents, to "search their conscience and come up with an answer to this problem."

Organizations invited to attend the program were: the Junior and Senior Women's Club of Connecticut Farms; Woman's Club of Townley; the Suburban Woman's Club; Business and Professional Women's Club; Opt-Mrs. Club; Little League's Mothers Auxiliary; Rosary Confraternities of St. Michael's and Holy Spirit Church; R'nan B'rith Women; Sisterhood of Congregation Beth Shalom; League of Women Voters; Mothers Auxiliary Club Pack 169.

SCHOOL'S IN... KIDS ARE OUT... DRIVE SAFELY!

ALERT motorists everywhere, drive a bit more carefully at all-times, watch the roads and curbs a bit more closely, in order to protect the precious lives of children, going to and from school!

HERE ARE SOME WAYS YOU CAN HELP

1. Be sure that your car is mechanically safe. Check brakes, steering, light, wheel balance and alignment, tires at frequent intervals.
2. Watch out for School Zone signs and adhere strictly to the speed restrictions in these areas.
3. Watch out for and obey school safety patrolmen.
4. Never pass a school bus loading or discharging passengers.
5. Watch for children darting out into the street. In fact, watch out for children EVERYWHERE and ALL the time!
6. Remember: children are unpredictable. Their safety is YOUR responsibility. When in doubt... STOP!

'How To Succeed' Is Rip-Snorting Musical

By WILLIAM H. BRUCKER

The happiest times have returned to the Paper Mill Playhouse this week in the form of the beautifully titled, rip-snorting musical "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying." Retaining the same brilliant staging by Bob Fosse and most of the New York cast to give it zed, it provides a first class lesson in what a Pulitzer-Prize musical comedy should be. Having originated the "hot ticket" syndrome in New York, it should suffer the same robust fate here. Don't even read the rest of this review, but go to the phone and buy, buy, and may be you will be lucky.

The Frank Loesser and Abe Burrows production brings a sleek expert spoof of the corporate image that has an aerospace pace to it and a built-in drive for success that will not fizzle. It has an inclusive, but disarming, view of the world of Park Avenue business and employs Shepard Mearns' "How to Succeed, etc." as a do-it-yourself bible for our hero, J. Pierpoint Frick. Loesser's music, while lacking a real candidate for the standards show, still has a briskness and vigor to it that propels the cause of his way with count-down efficiency. Frick, as played by Len Gougeon, is a cum laude graduate of the School for Soundreels, having business majored in oneupmanship. Thus his rise from window washer to chairman of the board has a manifest destiny to it. His innocent gullibility in the one up position. He uses his head like an engineer's and his handbook. He alters the Jiffy philippic of "If you can do it, I can get you to do it for me too." Even though Frump, Frick's nephew, sets a booby trap on every rung up the ladder, our hero (you could learn him) must and will overcome every snake in the business jungle.

Frump is corkingly well done by Lionel Wilson who gangles and lumps and plays a villain you enjoy liking. His uncle, J. B. Biggley, played by Willard Waterman, is president of World Wide Wicket Company, and is a

Dayton Runners Nip Foe's Heels In Cross-Country

In the first cross-country meet in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School history last Friday, the Dayton runners were edged out by the school's traditional rival, Rahway, by a score of 27-29. Dayton will meet Governor Livingston Regional High School on Oct. 9.

The 2 1/2-mile race through a steady rain and muddy course at Warrinco Park, the Rahway captain game in first with a time of 13:52, with Ronald Fry, Dayton's cross country captain, only three seconds behind. Dayton also scored fourth, fifth and seventh.

"The team was in excellent shape," said coach A. Martin Taglienti. "Their showing was extraordinary, considering the smallness of the team. The closeness of the race was unexpected, as the boys, in general, were younger than the Rahway team. Since we don't know anything about the other teams, though, it's too early to make any predictions."

Meets are scored by places: one point for a first, two for a second, up to 10th place, the lower score winning. Each team may run as many boys as it desires, but can score only in five places.

Bulldogs Seek First Victory After Losing To Highlanders

By MYRON MEISEL
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team is looking forward to defeating Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School of Clark Saturday, at Clark, despite a poor showing last week against Gov. Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights.

The Highlanders earned their first gridiron victory against the Dayton eleven in the three-year history of the contest, 19-0. Berkeley Heights made the most out of weaknesses in the Bulldog defensive line, especially in runs by quarterback Bruce Corcoran and fullback Ted Brownell. They surpassed Dayton in rushing yardage.

Berkeley Heights received the ball for the first time on the Springfield 34-yard line. The nimble sprinting of halfback Nick Seritella set up the Berkeley touchdown with a 20-yard run around the left end. Seritella plunged over the goal line to score.

With offensive stumbling, Dayton failed to develop a potent threat. Mark Anthony, Bulldog fullback, played a good game, both on offense and defense, as did end Joe Jupa. But the Dayton attack could not match the deftness of Corcoran, whose fast hands got him to Brownell proved deadly.

Fumbles and interceptions dogged Dayton, and a fumble late in the first half, recovered by halfback John Carver of Berkeley Heights, started the drive for another Highlander touchdown. For this one Carver caught a 20-yard pass in the end zone, making the score 13-0.

The Bulldogs picked up in the second half under better defensive play by Anthony, Tom Martin and Harold Hansen. They worked an effective draw play and sent several good passes to Hansen and end Jimmy Lics.

Rain Is No Damper For Dayton Booters

In a tight game waged in mud and rain Friday, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School soccer squad beat previously undefeated Edison Technical High School 2-1.

The deciding factor in the Dayton victory was the superior play of goalie Howard Goldhammer, who constantly frustrated the scoring attempts of the well-balanced Edison team.

The contest started with a strong Edison drive, during which the ball rebounded off an entanglement of players near the Dayton goal to put Edison ahead 1-0.

Spurred by the play of Larry Budish and Bob Moreines, the Dayton offense shaped up. Several quick breaks by Derroll Brooks and Mike Heineke revealed how difficult the Edison defense was to crack.

However, with a few minutes remaining in the first half, a strong offensive surge by Heineke, with Bob Kizelevich shooting, tied up the score.

Despite thunderstorms, in the second half, the tempo of play increased, with possession of the ball hotly contested.

Neither deft ball handling by Brooks and Heineke nor a sudden push by Edison resulted in a goal in the third quarter.

The fourth quarter saw a sudden strengthening of Dayton's defense, whose performance had been erratic throughout the game. Under the guidance of Bill Murphy, the ball became Dayton's again. A forceful sequence of team play fed the ball to Heineke and then to Kizelevich, who again booted it in the Edison goal to put Dayton ahead, 2-1.

The game was halted in lightning, but play resumed as strong as ever. Despite a forceful attack, Edison could not score against the applied defense of Murphy, Moreines, Budish and Dave Hollander.

A tense moment was provided when Edison had a penalty kick, directly into the Dayton goal. Along Goldhammer finished the Edison threat with a sensational tying save. Playing a fine game against one of the top teams in its schedule, Dayton improved its chances for another winning soccer season.

Star-spangled way to help your baby's future

Suppose somebody had started off your future with a U. S. Savings Bond. And kept adding more Bonds as your birthdays added up.

You would have had a nice send-off when you set out to conquer the world!

It's still a great idea. And if you have any new boys or girls in the family you can put it into action now.

The cost is small. Only $37.50 for each $50 Bond—or less than 11¢ a day to buy one every birthday.

U. S. Savings Bonds will save more than money for your baby's future, too. They'll help Uncle Sam safeguard his future freedom.

Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. You don't have to wait for a birthday, either.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get back $4 for every $5 at maturity (10% interest)
 - You pay no state or local income tax and can defer the federal tax until the Bonds are cashed
 - Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
 - You can get your money when you need it
- Buy E Bonds for growth—H Bonds for current income

30,000 Parts Go Into Every New Home - Most Valuable One Is Called 'Integrity'

There are some 30,000 parts and pieces which go into every new home, says Lew Brounell, partner in Brounell and Kramer of Union, but the most important ingredient in any new home is the integrity of the builder.

"The integrity of the house," says the veteran real estate expert, "depends upon the integrity, experience and ability of the builder, and of the men whom he charges with overall construction supervision."

"When making an investment in a new home—the most sizeable investment that the average family makes in a lifetime—Brounell advises that the builder's background be examined. A Proud Builder.

"A reliable tract builder will be proud to point out examples of other communities he has developed and other homes he has built. He'll also be happy to point to his satisfied customers."

"The increasing use of displays at new home communities says Brounell, is one of the best things that has happened to home buyers. In the builder's display, the prospective purchaser will find a veritable encyclopedia of vital information which will help him arrive at an intelligent buying decision."

"In addition," Brounell comments, "any information which is not covered in the display center can be obtained by asking the builder's sales agent on the site."

Among the information which is "vital" to the prospective buyer, according to the Realtor is: —Details of construction materials. —Heating and/or cooling systems. —Sewage systems. —Water supply information. —Brand names of equipment in the home. —Facts about streets, curbs, services and utilities. —Check With Bank. —"If the buyer wishes further assurance as to the builder's integrity and experience," Brounell advises, "he can talk with the bank or financial institution which is handling the mortgages for the tract. Generally, this lending institution is completely knowledgeable on every facet of the homes, the community and the builder's background."

A final word of advice offered by Brounell is this: when selecting a tract-built home, remember that the long-term value is greatly appreciated by the selection of a good-looking exterior. Select a home with simple, straight-forward design elements. Avoid anything fancy, or over-ornamented. The simpler the lines, the longer the home will remain contemporary in appearance.

Brounell and Kramer Realtors is one of New Jersey's largest real estate organizations, engaged exclusively in providing housing for people. Since their founding in 1950, they have provided homes and apartments for more than 53,000 Jerseyans, equivalent to almost populating a town the size of New Brunswick.

The company, which has been responsible for the sale of more than 12,000 new homes, has five operating divisions—new home sales, resale, apartment rentals, apartment management and a land acquisition department which specializes in sites for new home communities and apartment facilities.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: The only way I can find help is through your column. This is my problem: I have a mother and father who could be the best in the world but ever since my younger sister was born, it's been nothing but Karen this and Karen that. They are always telling me that she will be better looking, smarter and more advanced than I will ever be. When Karen does do something wrong, it's my fault because she is too small to understand (she'll be eight) I always try to avoid it but it gets worse and worse each day. I tried talking with my parents, but they always say I'm acting like an infant. Plus all this, I'm treated like a baby. I have to go to bed at 9 p.m. while my sister stays up. I can't go swimming with my friends because I can't be trusted, plus the fact that everything I do is wrong. I was 15 in August.

Dear Amy: by those words, I never thought that it would mean the breaking up of our plans for the future. Would you please let me know what to do to get her back because I still love her very much.

Dear J. K.: Your girl apparently has met another boy and doesn't have the heart to tell you. You're a man now and men must face up to a few disappointments in life. A one-sided correspondence is discouraging, so cut out the letters. Write to others. This girl belongs in your past. There's another girl in your future. Find her!

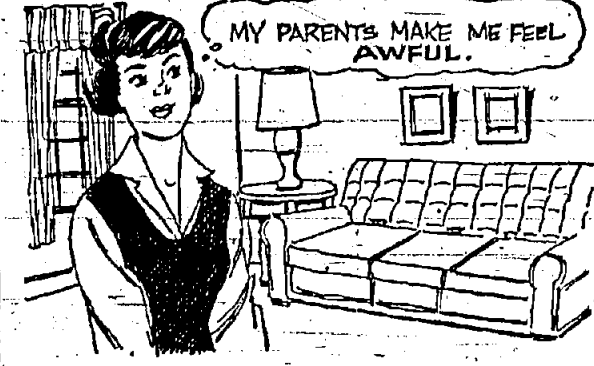

Dear Amy: Because we have now entered the age of early retirement of new perspective and outlook on life is confronting the wives of those men who have been married upward of over 30 years.

As for example: A few years ago, a man whom I knew was being nagged and tortured by his wife for more than a year in advance of his early retirement. In telling him that she did not want him around the house and that he was far too young to retire at the age of 62.

His pension and Social Security provided him with more than an adequate retirement fund when he did retire, but his wife became even more troublesome. He took to patronizing the local bars and taverns and then two and three-day trips to other cities. . . . Finally he came to the inevitable solution by divorcing his wife. Since then the problem has been solved satisfactorily, and because the man is yet very young and in his middle sixties, he goes to dances twice each week where he has become even more popular among other women whose hearts are much softer than was that of his former wife.

So it is that the man is getting along very well today and is really enjoying life now more than he ever had though he and his wife were married more than 35 years.

This letter is a serious warning to those housewives who have lived with their husbands only because they were their slaves and provided them with homes. But now upon early re-

For And About Teens: She's 'Out Of Place' At Home

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a sister and a brother who live elsewhere. I stay with my parents, which I enjoy. I have a roof over my head, a fine nephew and fine parents. But, somehow I feel 'out of place' at home. But, I don't have anywhere to go. I know I am not old enough to go out on my own because I am still in junior high school. I enjoy living at home, but most of the time my parents make me feel awful. They don't know they hurt me and I don't want to tell them. But I do suffer. I laugh on the outside, cry on the inside, more than ever. Is there anything I can do?"

OUR REPLY: If you enjoy living at home, then do some serious thinking about the situation or circumstances which make you unhappy otherwise. If your parents make you feel "awful", they are probably unaware of this situation. Perhaps whatever it is that displeases you is not as it really seems to be. You may be reading something into their words or their actions that is not really there.

The problem may be a lack of communication between you and your parents. You can do something about this. If something

PUZZLE No. 883

Dear Sister: Don't blame Karen for what is obviously not her fault. Your parents are wrong of course. It's appealing to their sense of equality has failed, enlist the aid of a close member of your family or an understanding teacher. Advice which comes from others off times hits home.

Dear Amy: I'm 22 and I'm in the service. When I left home a year and a half ago, I was going with a girl whom I loved very much and I'm pretty sure that she still loves me. But about four months ago, she stopped writing altogether. I have written to her many times asking her why it has to end between us after all the plans we have made.

When I left home, I knew that she wasn't going to stay home all the time and I told her not to feel guilty if she ever went out with other boys. But want one. I tried three times and lost the baby each time the 4th or 5th month. So, we gave up.

My husband is wonderful to me. He gives me everything I want until there is nothing I desire. I'm so disgusted with my life. It seems I have nothing to look forward to anymore. All my friends have children and they can't keep up with me. We do spend too much money on good times, but we have nothing else to do with our time and money.

Legal Notice

TOWNSHIP OF UNION PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Ordinance No. 107, which was finally passed and approved at a meeting of the Township Committee of the Township of Union, New Jersey, on the 22nd day of September, 1965, and which provides for the improvement of the road known as the "Green Lane" in the Township of Union, New Jersey, is hereby published for the purpose of giving notice to all persons who may be affected by the same.

MARY E. MILLER, Township Clerk

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A STORM DRAIN PIPE AND THE CREATION OF A NEW EXISTING WATER COURSE THROUGH LANDS OWNED BY THE TOWNSHIP OF UNION IN THE AREA OF GREEN LANE IN THE TOWNSHIP OF UNION, NEW JERSEY.

Section 1. To finance said purpose, bond anticipation notes of said Township of Union in the amount of $25,000.00 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to said Local Bond Law in satisfaction of the liability of said bonds. Said notes shall bear interest at a rate which shall not exceed six per centum (6%) per annum, and may be renewed from time to time pursuant to and within the limitations prescribed by said Law. All matters with respect to said notes shall be determined by the Township Committee of said Township, subject to the approval of the Board of Finance, which shall be hereafter adopted. In the event that bonds are issued pursuant to this ordinance, the aggregate amount of notes hereby authorized to be issued shall be reduced by an amount equal to the amount of any bonds or notes issued in satisfaction of the same. The amount of any such bonds or notes shall not exceed the sum first mentioned in this ordinance, the moneys raised by the sale of said bonds shall not be less than the amount of such bonds, except as applied to the payment of such notes then outstanding.

Section 12. It is hereby determined and declared that the period of the term of said bonds, as defined in Section 11, shall be a period of 15 years computed from the date of issuance of said bonds.

Section 13. It is hereby determined and declared that the period of the term of said bonds, as defined in Section 11, shall be a period of 15 years computed from the date of issuance of said bonds.

Section 14. This ordinance shall take effect after the first publication thereof after final passage. Passed and approved September 22, 1965.

From Lumberyards To 'Supermarkets'

The opening of Channel Lumber's new 100,000-square-foot building on Route 10 in Whippany, dramatically underscored the changing concept of the old lumberyard. The firm also has an outlet on Route 22 in Springfield.

According to B. R. Charin, vice president of Channel, the nation's largest do-it-yourself retail chain, the old-fashioned lumberyard has become something of a supermarket.

"Many men," he notes, "even send their wives out to buy lumber — and do-it-yourself materials — something no man would have dreamed of doing 25 years ago. In fact, frequently our female customers outnumber the men."

Today's supermarket-type lumberyards — such as Channel — sell everything from roofing and siding to lighting fixtures, nuts, bolts and just about everything else — including the kitchen sink.

Charin says that the big change started with the end of World War II when millions of men were released from the armed service and the housing boom was launched.

Four basic changes to more saleable to the retail consumer resulted from this," continued Charin. "First, we learned to spruce up our displays so that the layman could understand and appreciate our wares. Second, we added new items to our lines — items which were were, we became a sounding board for manufacturers. Fourthly, an improved distribution system became necessary because of the increase we had in consumer contact and could therefore find out what the consumer's needs

Channel also maintains tall outlets on Route 45, Route 108 at the Livingston Circle, Clifton; Route 207 at the Bayre Center on Route 68, Bayreville; and at 770 10th Street, Newark.
