Boys Serve As Town 'Officials'

Teen-Agers Cited For Achievement By Youth Groups

Optimists Arrange Annual Observance Throughout Country

A group of Springfield's outstanding teen-agers served as honorary municipal officials at the Township Committee meeting last night at Town Hall.

The program was part of the current observance of Youth Appreciation Week, under the sponsorship of the Optimist Club of Springfield.

Among the young men honored last night were James Bender, John Brennan, Michael Burns, Donald Gross, Howard Heerwagen, Myron Meisel and John Shook Jr.

They received trophies and certificates from Mayor William F. Koonz to mark their selection for the honor by various local youth organizations.

The annual week-long observance is sponsored by the Optimist Club throughout the U. S. and Canada. David Zurzy heads the local club, and James M. Cawley is chairman for the week.

Bender, a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, is president of the Student Council and of the Temple Shalom Senior Youth Group. He is also vice-president of the Kiwanis Key Club at the high school and is active in the Chess Club and National Forensic League. He plans to study mechanical engineering. He lives at 21 Ann pl.

Brennan, president of the Catholic Youth Organization at St. James Church, is a junior at Union Catholic High School. He is editor of the high school and CYO newspapers and is a member of the school debating and chess clubs. Active in athletics, he is also an altar boy at St. James. His home is at 91 Briar Hill circle.

Patrol Leader Burns, senior patrol leader of Boy Scout Troop 70 at the First Presbyterian Church, is a freshman at Dayton Regional High School. He holds the rank of Life Scout and is nearing advancement to Eagle Scout. He received a service award for tutoring in mathematics at the Florence Gaudinette school and is a member of the Geology Club at the high school. Burns was awarded his junior life saving certificate this summer. He lives at 24 Siles st.

Gross, assistant senior patrol leader, lives at 100 Siles st.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS to be placed in the new planters throughout the Springfield business district are being prepared by the Women's Club and the Springfield Chamber of Commerce.

Seasonal Shrubs To Offer Beauty In Business Area

New planter boxes for Morris ave. and other main business streets in Springfield will be filled with Christmas decorations within the next two weeks, as a result of cooperation by the Springfield Women's Club and the Chamber of Commerce.

The planters were provided by the Township Committee, headed by Mayor William F. Koonz. The Chamber, under the leadership of Harvey Schramm, president, and Jack Siffelman, former president, has purchased all the materials needed to fill the planters.

Mrs. Charles Miller, Women's Club president, and a crew of volunteers are responsible for the task of decorating the planters in accordance with the Christmas season.

The women's group is taking care of the project through its Garden Club, with assistance from Cadette Girl Scout Troop 840. Mrs. Robert Zivner is troop leader.

Mrs. Fred Mercuro was in charge of decorating the planters, assisted by Mrs. Robert Buffington and Mrs. Victor Bracht.

With all the planters scheduled to be filled by Thanksgiving.

Program To Stress Safe Bicycle Riding

Child Wilbur C. Sejander of the Springfield Police Department this week announced the inauguration of a permanent bicycle safety program. Lt. Thomas Kennedy has been appointed to direct the program, which will commence immediately.

The chief, in requesting cooperation of both parents and children, emphasized that the sole aim of the new program is to "minimize the threat to the safety of Springfield youth. It in no way implies persecution of our younger citizens."

The program will be approached in two chief ways, education and enforcement. The local school system will cooperate in the educational phase and will present programs in each school, utilizing members of the Police Department as well as films. Pamphlets will be distributed outlining bicycle safety rules and alerting parents to the dangers faced in cycling.

The second segment of the educational portion will consist of a series of articles on bicycle safety to appear in the Springfield Leader.

Kiwanians' Revue Features Galaxy Of Youthful Stars

The walls of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, will ring with the sound of singing and dancing on Friday night when the teen-age talent lined up by the Kiwanis Club of Springfield presents its annual revue.

The occasion is the second annual Kiwanis teen-age talent contest revue, which the club is sponsoring as a fundraising effort for its charitable boys' and girls' work.

Milton Ogintz, club president, has announced that no less than eight rock and roll bands will participate in the revue, along with some "outstanding folk singing groups."

Residents of Springfield who are participating in the show are Ted O'Connell, Helene Borsky, Walt Dobushack, Rita Weinbuch, Lucille Solazzi, Jim and Bob.

Dayton Boosters Work To Support Sports Program

The Booster Club of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, has initiated a program of assisting the athletic program at the high school in a variety of ways.

Henry Butman, president, urged all "parents and friends of the students" to attend the next meeting, Dec. 6 at 8:15 p.m., in the Dayton teachers' lounge, and other sessions the first Monday evening of each month.

Major Booster Club projects include an annual dinner for the entire football team and coaches, and "all sports" dinner at which trophies are presented to all senior boys and girls who win varsity letters, and providing jackets for Dayton athletes whose teams win state championships, such as the 1961 football team and the 1965 golf team.

In addition, scholarships have been provided for Dayton athletes.

Choristers Seek Additional Voices

Mrs. John W. Kuntze announced this week that soprano and tenors are urgently needed in the Springfield Community Chorus. She stated that "persons with other voices will be most welcome also." Mrs. Kuntze, who is the group's president, remarked, "We are growing steadily and we invite all persons who enjoy singing to join with us."

The chorus will perform shortly for the Chatham Rotary Club. A formal concert is being planned in Springfield on the evening of May 5. Mrs. Kuntze also stated, "A few dates are open between now and the holidays for appearances before interested clubs and organizations. The repertoire will be suited to the desires of the host group."

Meetings are held every Monday at 8 p.m. at the Springfield Recreation House, 59 Caldwell pl. Further details regarding membership and other data may be obtained by calling Mrs. Kuntze (DR 6-1824), Mrs. James Roughgarden, secretary (DR 6-5318), or Walter Center, business manager (DR 9-0282).

Holiday Deadline

Careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday deadline will be particularly important for material to be printed in the Thanksgiving issue. All organizational, social and other news items for the issue of Nov. 25 should be submitted by Friday, Nov. 19.

Palmer, Municipal Historian, Honored At Dinner On Tuesday

Donald B. Palmer, for a quarter-century the "best" and often the "only" source for information about Springfield's historic past, was honored by the Springfield Historical Society at a dinner Tuesday evening at the Town and Campus Restaurant, Union.

Palmer moved to his new home near Glen Gardner, in Hunterdon County, two weeks ago, after the house on Tompkins' lane where he had lived since 1930 was taken by the State Highway Department for Rt. 76.

As a bachelor, Palmer was born in Elizabeth and moved to Springfield in 1920. He received a Bachelor's degree in 1924 from the University of Pennsylvania.

Palmer began his historical activities in 1930, collecting photographs and documents from old-time residents of Springfield, listening to their stories and then working to check their recollections against official records.

He took over responsibility for the museum at the library, and when the Historical Society was formed in 1954, he became its curator. Palmer also supervises the Historical Society museum in the Cannonball House on Morris ave.

Although noted throughout the community for his reluctance to talk about himself or be given any personal publicity, Palmer is a prolific writer on Springfield in the past. He wrote many articles on the subject for this newspaper, and for other publications.

In addition to his historical research and writing, Palmer was also one of the township's first volunteer firemen, and he was Fire Department historian for many years.

Although he now lives 45 miles away, he plans to continue work for the Historical Society museum, returning at least once a week with additional material on Springfield as it used to be.

Childhood Memories Of Township's Historian

By HARVEY SCHRAMM
President, Springfield Chamber of Commerce

"Unky" is the name by which I know Donald B. Palmer. Most people in Springfield know Mr. Palmer as curator of the Springfield museum or as the man at the library who can do most anything to keep the wheels running smoothly.

Others know him through his affiliation with the Historical Society. Whenever some information about a past incident in the history of Springfield is needed, you go to Mr. Palmer for the answer.

If he doesn't know the exact answer himself, he will always know where to go for it. And this is just one facet of this gentleman's wide interests.

But Unky, as I know him, is more than just a solid citizen of our town. He has been a very close friend to my two sisters and me since our childhood.

We were indeed lucky to have a friend who took the time from his busy schedule to spend long periods with us children—not just a minute or two here and there, but hours on projects of enormous interest.

FOR INSTANCE, we had a complete play store and simulated town in his house, with telephones in each room, a switchboard and a store where we could shop.

The store had a separate cashier's cage where the cashier received the play money and sales slips by overhead trolley wire express, made change and sent the paid vouchers and change back to the salesmen for each customer's purchase.

We made the telephone switchboard and operated it like professionals, with an additional line to our own home two doors away.

These projects were not just built for us; we helped with them.

Legion Schedules Program Sunday For Veterans Day

Springfield Continental Post, American Legion, will sponsor a Veterans Day ceremony on Sunday, Nov. 14, at the Town Green.

Post Commander Ray Daudelin and County Commander Hank Barrett this week invited the citizens of Springfield to join in the observance of this event.

Chairman Raymond Schramm will be in charge of this event, assisted by Commander Daudelin and vice-commanders Robert Dougherty, Donald Schwerdt and Oliver Owens. Cholly Schramm urged that "every effort be made by the citizens of Springfield to attend and turn this event into the demonstration of our appreciation for the Legion."

Nuisance Phoner Caught By Police

Cooperation between the Jersey Bell Telephone Co. and the Springfield police and the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. has resulted in the apprehension of a 16-year-old boy on the charge of making a large number of nuisance calls to a local resident during the past four months.

The youth appeared before the Springfield Juvenile Conference on Tuesday.

Police said the youth admitted.

At Summit-YWCA 'Winter Market'

The annual two-day Summit YWCA Winter Market will be open Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Thursday from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.
Thousands of adults, teenagers and youngsters from many communities are expected to come to shop and enjoy the many special features for all ages. Final touches are being put on enormous stocks which will supply practical needs as well as solve some of the riddles on Christmas gift lists.

Adult booths include art, baked goods, Christmas cards and gift wrappings, aprons, dried arrangements, fancy work, felt work, foreign imports, holiday novelties, jewelry, gourmet foods, plants, Thanksgiving table, and woodcraft. Luncheon will be served on both days of the market from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and there will be a snack bar open from 10:45 a.m. to 3 p.m., as well as World Fellowship teas, served from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

Several children's attractions require advance reservations. These include luncheons with Santa and the marionette theater production of "Aladdin." Reservations may be made by calling the YWCA at 273-1242.

GAY BLADE — Gary Flax of Springfield will do a skating specialty in the Ice Revue being held Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at the open house festivities heralding the opening of the new In-Winterfield Ralph Evans Ice Skating School on 215 North Ave. Five of Ralph Evans' student skaters are appearing in the Broadway cast of David Merrick's musical, "Fiddler on the Roof," which will be performed at the school. Flax is invited to visit the new facilities to see skating exhibitions, enjoy refreshments and meet the staff of instructors tonight from 8 to 8 and Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 2 to 4.

Many Cooks Make 'Teahouse' Fine Brew For Stage At Dayton

The senior students of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, preparing the annual stage extravaganza, "Teahouse of the August Moon," for showing at 8:15 p.m. on Nov. 19 and 20, agree with Shakespeare, but with some reservations.

In order to make "the play the thing," many other items must be considered, constructed, prepared and developed.

Joseph Trinity, senior class play director of the Broadway hit-Oriental comedy, is responsible for giving the play its proper atmosphere, intonations and interpretations, as well as the other "things" which will make "Teahouse" the play to see this month.

Faculty members of Dayton Regional who are preparing, constructing and developing the "things" that will give the "Teahouse" that extra something include:

James Denham, who is in charge of the exotic Japanese sets and the pivotal "Teahouse," which can be dismantled and assembled in "three minutes" to maintain play continuity.

Mary Jane Parrish, busy making, borrowing, and creating kimonos and costumes which enhance the play and give that very important illusion of Japan itself on stage.

Shirley McMeekin, who has the exacting job of applying makeup so that the players not only act but look like the real thing.

Carl Matthews, who has literally given the uniform off his back, as "Col. Purdy," played by Steven Tasher, will be decked out in the U. S. Army uniform worn by Col. Matthews while serving in the South Pacific in World War II.

John Swedish, who is responsible for spreading the word about "Teahouse" as the play to see and the thing to support at Dayton.

Student Aides Gene Casternova and Bob Heller, junior students, have the important task of creating the proper mood by controlling the sound effects and stage lights.

Steve Mitrach, Bob Young and Gary Elliott are the student "Bamboo engineers" who are aiding Denham in creating the set masterpieces.

Springfield's civil defense unit contribution to the play is in the form of a U. S. Army Jeep which occupies a prominent place on the stage during the goings-on.

Last, but not least, of the "things" that make the play, is a real live goat that butts into the scenes.

"Ehony" has been lent to the cast for the play by Mrs. Anthony Tramulola of Clinton, N.J.

"Teahouse of the August Moon" is the play. To see it is the thing to do on Friday or Saturday Nov. 19 or 20.

Temple To Conduct Dedication Of Torah

A sacred Torah scroll will be the focus of the ceremonies to be held at Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

The hand-written parchment scroll, containing the first five books of the Bible in the original Hebrew was presented to the congregation last spring in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Manasseh Mendelsohn.

They were cited for the active role they have played in the life of the congregation since its founding over 13 years ago.

Rabbi Reuben R. Levine of Beth Ahm this week explained that the dedication ceremony involves the completion of the Torah scroll by a qualified scribe who writes in the last few words of this concluding chapter of Deuteronomy. Members of the congregation will be accorded the privilege of assisting him in this procedure.

Greetings will be offered by Rabbi Samuel Cohen of Livingston, president of the New Jersey Rabbinical Assembly; Seymour Goldberg, regional president of the United Synagogue of America, and William Koonz, mayor of Springfield. A musical program will be presented by Chazzan Israel J. Wolman of Beth Ahm and guest cantors.

In addition to the installation of the scroll, silver ornaments for it will be dedicated. They include breastplate presented by the Mendelsohns and a crown donated by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miller.

Both of these items were designed and manufactured specifically for this occasion by Maxwell Glantz of Springfield, a well-known designer and sculptor in metals.

Following the ceremony there will be refreshments and a social period sponsored by the religious affairs committee of the temple. Louis Spiegel is chairman of this committee. The dedication is open to the entire community.

LEADER PROFILE

COL. LEO F. DEEGAN

"This is a fine location to conduct our administration services," declared Air Force Col. Leo F. Deegan recently, as he conducted a visit through the district office of the U.S. Government Defense Contract Administrative Services.

The new office, which was formerly the Davega store on Rt. 22 at Hillside ave., Springfield, has been renovated and enlarged to accommodate about 360 employees, business and clerical facilities for several dozen agencies and a handful of conference rooms.

Col. Deegan, who hails from Montana, is district chief for the local office. He explained that, prior to the formal opening ceremonies on Oct. 29, he was located at 218 Market st. in Newark in the Air Force office. Facilities were limited, office space cramped and free parking arrangements for the employees, practically non-existent.

"Here," he indicated in a soft, Western drawl, "we have enough room to kind of spread out."

The new office, the colonel further explained, is a merger of procurement offices formerly operated by the Army, Navy and Air Force. He said that most of the functions of this office have been transferred from other offices of the Defense Department and Defense Supply Agency. This office will, in fact, handle all Defense Department dealings with contractors in New York's Richmond County and New Jersey's Essex, Hudson, Hunterdon, Middlesex, Bergen, Monmouth, Morris, Passaic, Somerset, Sussex, Union and Warren counties.

"THIS ORGANIZATION is responsible for 12 North Jersey counties plus Staten Island . . . and believe me," he smiled, "it's a big responsibility."

Col. Deegan went on to say that John Phelan is serving as deputy chief and Lt. Col. Phillip Palmer of the Air Force as executive officer, and he pointed out their offices during a guided tour around the large building.

"Our job," he said, "may sound rather complicated, but I'll try to explain it in simple terms. Our primary job is to administer contracts to supply the various services, such as, defense supply, national aeronautics, mobilization planning, and so on."

"We will consider costs, approve vouchers, look at purchasing equipment. Our industrial security program will include defense material, industrial properties and engineering support for developing systems."

"We do no buying," Col. Deegan emphasized, "that will be done, actually, by the military departments."

THE AIR FORCE officer, who was designated chief of the operation ("until I finish my tour some time in 1966"), explained that "they have been planning for this new organization for over a year."

Col. Deegan, who received his primary education in Montana, went two years to Montana State University.

In 1940, he entered the Cadet Training School at Oxford, Cal. After his training, he became second lieutenant in the Air Corps Reserves.

"I served in the European campaign, and was involved in North Africa and Sicily and in Italy with the 64th Troop Carrier unit. We dropped paratroops for the invasions. I had served with the MATS," Col. Deegan said, then paused to grin. "I mean," he drawled good-naturedly, "the Military Air Force Transport Service."

Later, he said, he spent a part of a service tour in the Pentagon, in the industrial planning division. He spent the next two years at the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. He received a master's degree in advanced management from George Washington University.

"I SERVED a short tour in planned programming for technology at the Intelligence Center in Wright Patterson. Then I served as a director of material for the support wing in the spare system division in Englewood, Cal.; then as department commander of Los Angeles Contract Management Division and then here to New Jersey in July of 1963."

Col. Deegan and his wife have five children. Four of them are living here with us in West Caldwell right now. My fifth—the oldest—Michael—is at Keesler Air Force Base in Mississippi.

Although Newark is the center of all area transportation, Col. Deegan explained, "because other facilities were so limited, we didn't want to spend the money to bring it up to standard office space. So, we got bids from several people — and here we are," he smiled.

"We have offices here for Chamber of Commerce representatives, for equal opportunity employment (this service is required for our contracts), a dispensary, an audit liaison office, a defense audit

Bicycles

Police officials stated that the prime responsibility rests directly with parents to monitor the actions of their children when using bicycles, especially in residential areas.

With this in mind, police officers will be ordered to report boys and girls detained in violation of the rules of bicycle safety, once the educational program has been completed. Letters will be sent to parents of violators requesting their cooperation in the prevention of such dangerous behavior, the chief declared.

He added that the most recent statistics from the National Safety Council reveal that during 1963 there were 570 riders killed in traffic accidents, 370 of them in the 5 to 14 age bracket.

The chief concluded by stating, "In addition to our participation in an effort to reduce this tragic loss, we are presented with an opportunity under the safety program to prepare our children to be safe bicycle riders today so that they may be good drivers tomorrow."

Boy Scout Fund Drive Begins; Workers Aid Varied Program

James M. Cawley, chairman of the Boy Scout residential fund drive, announced that the drive is now under way in Springfield, and volunteer fund drive workers are completing their canvass of all past Boy Scout campaign contributors.

Assisting in the drive are the following district chairmen: Will Salsky, Paul Roman, Arthur Falkin and James Barrett. Cawley requested that the residents of Springfield assist the drive so that it will be a success—and the boys will benefit as follows: scouting needs money to run—the business of youth training, just as we require money to run our homes and businesses.

"The general public is asked once a year to underwrite the local council expenses which is only a portion of the total dollar spent on scouting. It is important to realize that the local council budget is the base—on cornerstone—upon which the whole scout program rests.

"There are three major divisions of the scout program. Cub Scouting is a home-centered neighborhood program for boys eight, nine and 10 years of age. A Cub Scout is automatically graduated upon reaching his 11th birthday.

Boy Scouting is designed for the age group of boys 11, 12 and 13 years old. It includes camping and hiking, physical fitness skills and a vocational exploration experience.

"Exploring is designed for young men 14, 15 and 16 years of age. It includes advanced camping, extended camp trips, social activities and life work explorations. Thus, from age eight to 16 or 17, boys can continue in scouting with an ever-changing program geared to their age and interest."

Cawley strongly urged any interested residents who wish to assist in this fund drive to contact himself or one of the district chairmen as soon as possible.

Reason For Flames Sought By Firemen

The fire which gutted an abandoned house in the path of Rt. 78 last Wednesday was of "suspicious origin," according to Springfield Fire Department.

A motorist reported the blaze at 3:20 a.m. last Wednesday. The house, on Springfield ave. near the Union line, was awaiting demolition. A crew of 25 firemen and volunteers responded, under the command of Capt. Ronald T. Johnson. Their task was complicated by the need to run 3,000 feet of hose to the nearest hydrant, in front of the Springfield-Tool and Die Co.

The firemen completed extinguishing the flames at 7:23 a.m. Later that same morning, Highway Department bulldozers completed destruction of the building.

Firemen responded to an alarm last Friday at 11:30 a.m. at the home of Magistrate Max Sherman, 308 Alden rd. Police had dragged a flaming sofa from the house into the front yard. Capt. Reginald Ronco, who headed the firemen on the scene, reported that the blaze had started when a cigarette was dropped into the upholstery.

Saturday afternoon, Capt. Ronco was in charge of extinguishing a fire along the Railway Valley Railroad tracks in the rear of Temple Beth Ahm on Ballistol way. A number of the railroad ties had caught fire.

the design and construction. We built a cable car and strung a heavy elevator cable 150 feet in the air between his garage and a receiving area in the woods, with anchors and stops engineered to an extent which would make a civil engineer proud. There was a merry-go-round made to revolve with ball bearings on a steel plate, with a special chute for the brass rings.

BIRTHDAYS were apocal and would also mean something unique: a trip by airplane to New York or a dinner in a Chinese restaurant in Manhattan, or a beautiful book on an unusual but interesting subject.

On July 4th, we would have a picnic with the highlight of the day a battle between the good guys, us, and the bad guys, staged in a castle constructed of cheese boxes. A cannon fired wooden cannonballs propelled by firecrackers, and the ensuing bombardment brought the castle down in splinters.

In every one of our projects, Unky was not just constructing things for us, but teaching.

At Christmas time, all our presents waited under the tree until Unky came. His arrival meant that the festivities could begin. Anticipation of the presents he would bring always made our Christmas doubly wonderful.

To my sisters and me, Donald Palmer will always be Unky, and the memories he has given us will always be a warm and wonderful part of our lives.

LUTHERAN GROUP ORGANIZES ADULT BIBLE STUDY UNIT

A new adult Bible study group has been formed at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Springfield, which will meet each Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

The Rev. Frederick Van Steen is leading the study and discussion of the First Book of Samuel as it applies to everyday life.

Another adult Bible class meets on Sunday morning in the nave of the church under the direction of Dr. Gordon Becker. This group has embarked on a new course of study called "What Shall Be," based on the Revelation of St. John.

On Sunday-morning Bible study classes are held at 9:30 a.m. Beginning with the nursery group of three-year-old children, there is a class for each age through eighth grade, as well as senior high school and adult Bible classes. All are welcome to take advantage of these opportunities for growth in Christian knowledge and understanding, the church announced.

Reapportionment Slated As Subject At LWV Sessions

The Springfield League of Women Voters will hold two unit presentations this week on "Reapportionment — One Man, One Vote." The programs are designed to inform members and prospective members on an issue which will be of major importance to New Jersey residents in the coming year.

The meetings will take place Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Howard Ross, 18 Richmond dr., and Wednesday at 12:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. David Chalfen, 47 Shelley rd.

Mrs. Harry Elstein, chairman of the committee on national and state reapportionment will be in charge of the programs, assisted by Mrs. Fritz Saenger, Mrs. Charles Gerst, Mrs. Marlin Ligorner, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Lawrence Lerner and Mrs. Yaph Quorion. Mrs. Henry Humeke is League president.

The League stated that the outcome of the state constitutional convention planned for this coming year will affect all residents for many years to come. The statement added, "The creation of new voting districts or the abolition of counties as we know them are a few possibilities, with all the ramifications, which would follow."

"This week's meetings are the result of an intensive study project conducted by the Springfield League. The findings will be presented for approval by League members as the group's official position on the reapportionment issue."

Publicity chairman and individuals are urged to observe the Friday deadline of this newspaper for other than spot news. Thursday is even better. Include your name, address and phone number.

School System Helps Children Toward Individual Goals

By ABNER GOLD

"We are trying to take our children from where they are now as quickly as possible toward their own individual goals," Mrs. Eunice Samer told a study session of the Springfield Board of Education last week at board headquarters in the James Caldwell School.

The topic of the evening was the school system's program in reading, enrichment and remedial classes.

Speakers were Joseph Anderson, assistant superintendent of schools; Mrs. Esther Porter, first grade teacher at the Caldwell School; Mrs. Samer, fifth grade teacher at the Thelma Sandmeier School; Mrs. Jane Schorr, who directs the enrichment program in local schools, and Mrs. Trudy Creede, remedial reading instructor.

They all stressed teaching of each child as an individual, with his own problems and unique potential.

"THE GOAL SOUGHT," Anderson told the board members, "is the maximum achievement on the part of each child in terms of his capabilities."

Rejecting claims of any one approach to the teaching of reading and comprehension "as a panacea for all children," Anderson said that all available techniques are employed to help local youngsters start the long road to scholarship.

Among them, he noted, are the sight or "look and say" method; the phonics approach, sounding out words; structural analysis, achieving understanding by combining known parts of words; syllabication; kinesthetics, feeling the shape of letters and words with raised printing and individualized reading based on the principle of self-selection and individual pacing of progress, under careful guidance by the teacher.

Mrs. PORTER, reviewing her work with first graders, pointed to a "definite correlation" between the abilities to read and to write, and added that there is no "magic formula" to impart the needed skill.

Even with these aids, she said, the range in ability goes from a few children who will finish all the second grade readers in their first year, to a few others who have great difficulty even getting started.

One of the first steps, Mrs. Porter said, is to work with phonics, particularly in familiarizing the youngsters with initial consonants. She showed the board members pictures of her small scholars had made, illustrating various words beginning with each letter.

Among the other techniques Mrs. Porter discussed and demonstrated were home-made dictionaries, stories printed and illustrated for "broadcasting" on toy tele-talking alphabet articles in the weekly reader, "show, think and tell" sessions and use of the class, school and town libraries.

MRS. SAMER stressed the need for dividing her fifth graders into groups of youngsters "all moving at the same speed." "We can have as much as a five-year spread in reading ability within the one class," she commented, "with some children reading on a third or fourth grade level and others easily able to handle eighth grade material."

She added, she can keep her students interested and challenged on the one hand, and encouraged with their progress, on the other.

The top groups, she said, can use the school library with a minimum of guidance, looking up books in the card index and writing independent book reports.

They can select details from a story for a "closed book test," make outlines of a plot, or write a paragraph in their own words and learn to condense a long book into a brief summary.

THE LOWER GROUPS, Mrs. Samer continued, "are still building the basic skills." They work hard on vowel sounds, division into syllables, pronunciation according to dictionary guides. To understand what they read, they spend much more time reading aloud, working closely with the teacher.

"There are so many subjects to learn and to read about," she noted, "that we can always find something to interest each particular child."

"In the library, we guide

She also stressed, "You just can't tell when children will start to learn most effectively. A few, with limited basic ability, will never learn properly beyond a certain level. Others will just blossom beautifully, when they are ready."

MRS. SCHORR, who works with the top students in small groups taken from their regular classes for an hour or so once a week, said that her purpose is to give her gifted youngsters—say—exploration of the world, help them to do a little deeper than they do in their day-to-day classes.

She presented a series of slides to demonstrate the work her groups have been doing. Favorite subjects have included the outdoors, with frequent nature walks; the subject of time, with children building their own sun dials, measuring the time a candle takes to burn and studying world time zones, and the "study of themselves," in which the children learn about the five senses.

The children are fascinated by the great works of art, Mrs. Schorr reported, and do a great deal of independent research about the world's best artists. She added that they also find a study of poetry "especially rewarding." The children read aloud, compose poems as a group and write some particularly sensitive pieces as individuals.

LAST YEAR'S Springfield program involved giving a perceptual forms test to a group of first graders to see how well each child could copy geometrical figures: a circle, rectangle, triangle, diamond and similar shapes.

Those children who needed help were then given six 15-minute training sessions. They used beaver-board templates with the various geometric forms cut out so children could trace the shapes. Once used to the forms, they then drew them freehand. The youngsters who needed most help received extra sessions of more intensive training.

Results exceeded all expectations, Mrs. Creede reported. Children receiving the training improved their printing 11 per cent to 19 per cent in the brief period, compared to 9 per cent for youngsters who did not take part in the program.

The ones who most needed help and who received the most intensive training, improved a phenomenal 34 per cent during the training period, and retained the improvement all year.

Mrs. Creede added that a similar program of template work with a Winterhaven screening test to help spot potential problems early, is being given this year to all Springfield first graders.

Anderson, summing up the discussion, said he was particularly impressed by the local school system's efforts "to meet individual needs."

He added, "The key person in any teaching is the classroom teacher, and we—in Springfield have the very best we can find."

LEADER PROFILE

Col. Deegan continued to list all the different departments and offices. "We'll start out with about 8,000 contracts," he said.

"FOR OUR EMPLOYEES who do not go home for lunch, who do not bring their lunches here with them or who are afraid of crossing that busy highway, Rt. 22 to get to a diner, we will have a snack-bar cafeteria, which will be operated by the New Jersey Commission for the Blind."

"Eventually," he stated, "we hope to get an outlet into Hillside ave. so many of us can avoid encountering Rt. 22 altogether."

The officer admitted that he did miss Montana, "although I do enjoy New Jersey. There are such beautiful trees in New Jersey. Why, in our backyard, there are seven or eight of them 65 to 80 feet tall. You never have that any place else. I've really enjoyed the radio-music

60,000 In New Jersey Benefit In War On Poverty

During its first year of operation the Economic Opportunity Act has reached beneficially into the lives of more than 60,000 of New Jersey's poor, John C. Bullitt, director of the N. J. Office of Economic Opportunity, said this week with release of the Office's first annual report.

The Office was established by Governor Richard J. Hughes on Oct. 8, 1964, making New Jersey the first state in the country to take advantage of the federal act.

"In our second year, while expanding our efforts to reach more of the 180,000 New Jersey families who live on less than $3,000 a year, we will concentrate our energies in bringing to bear on poverty all other relevant federal and state legislation.

"We are intensely interested in seeing that such laws are utilized as completely as possible in a broad and coordinated thrust against poverty. The Elementary and Secondary Education Act, for example, the Higher Education Act, the Housing Act, Manpower Act and the 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act — amendments that have given us Medicare — are but a few of the new or recast federal laws that can and will be used in the state's war on poverty.

"New Jersey, traditionally, has played a major role. The resources of health, education, welfare and employment are, and have been, flexibly-based in our state government. This must be continuously encouraged and broadened so that all of our legislative machinery and all of our agencies are fully and effectively brought to bear on poverty in New Jersey.

"We also envision a major effort in developing sub-professional personnel to fill the many jobs that will be continually developing in the service areas of our society.

The major expansion in health careers that should be generated by Medicare and other health legislation is but one example. With training and proper motivation, the poor can fill a good many jobs that are now open in New Jersey and, at the same time, make themselves self-sufficient and productive members of society.

"During the past year, New Jersey's war against poverty has been carried into every one of our 21 counties. More than $36 million in federal grants has been brought into New Jersey for a multitude of programs designed to open the opportunity for education and training, the opportunity to work, and the opportunity to live in decency and dignity to our poor, and thousands of their dependents.

"We have brought poverty into the consciousness of the people; we have involved the poor and the affluent together.

"We have stimulated communities throughout the state to participate in the war against poverty and to combat deprivation on the local level — where they see it and know it best. We have evoked the dedication of the clergy, labor, private enterprise, civic organizations and community leaders to help eliminate the paradox of poverty in the midst of plenty.

"Yet there still is much to be done. In helping more than 60,000 of our poor, we have helped but part of those who live in poverty in New Jersey. The effort of our first year has been arduous — and encouraging. If anything, it should be no less demanding — although more encouraging — in what has commenced to be our second year of work. We have made many thousands into poverty; we intend to make many more."

SCIENCE TOPICS
UNDERGROUND natural gas storage reservoirs may be created by deep nuclear explosions, says the Atomic Energy Commission. The A-bombs would be used to break large volumes of rock. The gas would be stored in the spaces created.

REDUCTION of stream pollution caused by textile manufacturing is the aim of a current study at Georgia Tech. In cooperation with a mill near Atlanta, researchers have developed a design for an improved system for mercerizing the process in which fabrics are treated with caustic alkali to make fibers stronger and more receptive to dyes.

LOW-GRADE iron deposits have been discovered near Ilimna, Alaska, about 200 miles southwest of Anchorage reports the Department of Interior. The iron, in the form of iron oxide or magnetite, was found in a dark green crystalline rock somewhat like lava. The department points out that magnetite furnishes about one-third of the iron ore in the United States.

GOVERNMENT GEOLOGISTS are concerned about slow movements occurring on breaks over a 42-mile stretch of the Hayward fault zone just east of San Francisco. Extensive construction is taking place or is planned for many sites in the zone. The geologists are worried that the movements will result in cracks and offsets in buildings and other man-made structures that lie across the break.

A MAJOR OBSTACLE to rehabilitation of some stroke, cerebral palsy and multiple sclerosis patients may be removed, thanks to a new technique for treating latent muscles announced by Stanford Medical Center. The new method involves injection of phenol, a common drug, into nerves and nerve roots.

A GOVERNMENT'S dream is a cold-cut slicer produced by Allbright-Nell, Chicago. Big eaters will have trouble keeping pace with this machine. It can slice up to 2,500 pounds of cold cuts, frozen meats and cheeses an hour.

Girl Scouts Study Bike Rules, Earn Badges, Pedal To Picnic

Junior Girl Scout Troop 81, led by Mrs. Henry Huneke and Mrs. Howard Ross, meets at the Edward V. Walton School on Friday afternoons. The troop has been busy studying the safety rules and regulations regarding bicycles and the correct hand signals necessary for the various turns and stopping. To celebrate the completion of the badge, the entire troop took a "bike hike" on Nov. 2. They left the school at 10 a.m. and rode to Washington Park, Springfield, where they broke

How-To Volumes Range From Diet To Wilches' Brew

Several new books of current interest to the public are now on the shelves of the Springfield Public Library. With comments by the library staff, they are:

For parents: "1001 Questions Answered about Child Psychology," by Jeanne L. Hivoire. "Brief answers to the every-day questions parents ask about a child's development are set forth in 14 chapters. Each chapter covers a different aspect of growth from infancy to pre-adolescence."

For the slim at heart: "The Low Carbohydrate Diet," edited by Evelyn L. Flore. "Popularly known as The Air Force Diet this diet limits daily carbohydrate intake to 60 grams or less. There is no calorie counting. Menus and recipes are included."

Superstitious gardening: "A Witch's Guide to Gardening," by Dorothy Jacob. Is a "book of garden magic, history and folklore. Those who read this will have a witch's knowledge of curing toothache, knowing how to mix a love potion and protecting oneself against thunderstorms."

Household hobbies: "How to Be Your Own Home Electrician," by George Daniels. Is a "practical book. It explains electric wiring inside and outside the house as well as fixtures, plugs and cords. Illustrated."

"How to Build Your Own Furniture," by E. J. De Cristoforo. Is designed to help anyone who can work with tools to build almost any piece of furniture. It is well illustrated."

For dog lovers: "The Complete Puppy and Dog Book," by Norman H. Johnson, D.V.M. "Dr. Johnson has written practically everything a dog owner would want to know about a dog, from birth to old age. There is an extensive index and good illustrations of breeds."

For small fry: "The Boat That Moody," by Christopher Fry. Tells the story of a little boy who sets off in his rowboat on a foggy day. Everything he sees in the fog is illustrated in large blue drawings by Leonard Weisgard."

"I Think I Will Go to the Hospital," by Jean Tamburine. "This is delightfully illustrated about a little girl who finally goes to the hospital for a tonsil operation."

Springfield Church Sets Loyalty Sunday

Loyalty Sunday will be observed in the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, this week at worship services, 9:30 and 11 a.m. It is on this Sunday each year that church members present their pledges for the work of the Church during the coming year.

Brochures describing the program of the church for 1966 were recently mailed to the congregation, giving a detailed account of the budget presented.

The front cover of the brochure featured a picture of Kathy Deane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver O. Deane Jr., 252 Short Hills Ave., Springfield, opening the front door of this historic church with a 174-year-old key. This specific key was made while George Washington was president of the United States and has been worn shiny with constant use up to the present time.

Robert T. Southward is chairman of the stewardship committee. Other committee members planning the every-member-canvas include: Paul H. Beck, Jack M. Cowles, Robert W. Hasey, Frank W. Haydu Jr., Bruno C. Becker, Robert Y. Stefany and Howard F. Casselman.

Officers Elected By Realty Group

Jean Lundbeck of Short Hills, a staff member of Anne Sylvester's Realty Corner of Springfield, will join with other officers of the Salesmen's Division of the Board of Realtors of the Orange and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield in induction ceremonies in January. She is an area representative for Springfield.

W. E. Williams Jr. of Short Hills and the George A. Allsop firm of Millburn was elected president of the group recently.

Walton PTA

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Edward V. Walton School, Springfield, will hold a "Back to School Night" on Monday. Classroom visitation will follow a short business meeting which will begin at 8 p.m.

LT. EUGENE L. HAGGERTY

Haggerty Named For Class Honor, Given Pilot Wings

VALDOSTA, Ga.—First Lieutenant Eugene L. Haggerty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Haggerty of 98 Salter st., Springfield, N.J., has been awarded U.S. Air Force silver pilot wings upon graduation from flying training school at Moody AFB, Ga. He received the commander's trophy, the flying award and was named outstanding officer in his class.

Lt. Haggerty is being assigned to Nellis AFB, Nev. for flying duty. He is a member of the Tactical Air Command which provides battlefield firepower, precision jet photo reconnaissance and air mobility for the nation's ground forces.

An alumnae of Jonathon Dayton Regional High School, he attended Newark College of Engineering and received a B.S. degree in electrical engineering from the University of Illinois, where he was commissioned upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program.

College Singers Will Go On Tour

Robert GARNER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney N. Garner of 14 S. Derby rd., Springfield, is accompanist for the Drew University College Choir of Madison.

He joined other officers of the organization this week in planning for a tour of the East between semesters in January. The group will travel north to Buffalo, N. Y.

Regional Students Participate In Forensic League Congress

On Oct. 30, Eric Krueger, Scott Hammen, Stan Katz, Myron Meisel and Robert Budish of Jonathon Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, attended a National Forensic League District Congress. Schools from all over the north central region of New Jersey sent representatives and senators to the congress, which was held in Morris County Courthouse, Morristown.

The resolutions debated included: "The Suspension of Foreign Aid to All Countries Unfavorable to our Foreign Policy," "The Establishment of a Federal Gambling District," "The Ending of the Electoral College System" and "The Making of Membership in the Communist Party a Federal Offense."

The various committees of each house also met to discuss pending resolutions for use at future congresses. Those committees were divided into four basic areas: foreign affairs, economic policy, public welfare and state and local government.

The Dayton delegation submitted a total of 15 bills to be considered by the congressional committees. These bills ranged from the abolishment of jury trials in civil cases to the withdrawal of the United States from the NATO alliance. Out of these fifteen, seven were chosen by the committees to be considered for the next district congress.

Another accomplishment was the nomination and election of Scott Hammen as the best speaker and outstanding member of the House of Representatives. Another student from Dayton, Eric Krueger, was nominated for the title of outstanding senator but was beaten in the election by a Woodbridge student.

There will be two more district congresses this year, one on Jan. 9 and the other on March 12.

Other forensic activities will include a practice congress at Governor Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights next Wednesday, an extemporaneous speaking contest to be held at 30 and an impromptu speaking contest to be held at Newark Academy.

For the Birds

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER,
Instructor, Union Junior College Institute, Crawford, N. J.

Every fall when the leaves turn red and yellow, I marvel at and envy the birds their trip to sunnier climes for the winter. I wish I could close up my house before Thanksgiving and spend the cold months with no thought of fuel bills and heavy overalls. Perhaps the most astounding species of all the members of the feathered kingdom in this respect is the hummingbird. This tiny bird flies two thousand miles from its breeding grounds to Central America where it awaits the coming of spring to the northern hemisphere.

There are over 300 members of the family resident in the Americas, but only one nests in the United States east of the Mississippi River. This is the familiar ruby-throated we see hovering about bright red trumpet vines in the yard. I remember so well sitting on the front porch of my grandmother's farmhouse, watching the hummers feed. Their nests must have been nearby, but I never found one.

It takes a keen pair of eyes to spot the one inch deep cup from 10 to 30 feet up in a tree. Plant down and lichens are the usual materials of construction, and they blend perfectly into the gray-brown of the support-

Lecture On Dope To Be Presented

Lt. Thomas Mueller, head of the narcotics squad in the Essex County Sheriff's Office, will lecture on "Dope Addiction and Juvenile Delinquency" Wednesday at the monthly meeting of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Fourth Degree General Assembly, Knights of Columbus.

The lecture will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Columbian Hall, 1034 Jeanette ave., Union. Lt. Mueller has given more than 1,200 lectures on the subject of narcotics. He is a graduate of the United States Treasury School and the Federal Bureau of Narcotics School. He is a director of the International Narcotics Enforcement Officers' Association.

Members of Springfield, Union, Kenilworth, Summit and Hillside Councils of the Knights of Columbus will participate in the program. Chairman of the program is Robert Boetsch.

PRIZE MAKER — Jerry Marsh of the S. Marsh & Sons Jewelry fabricating firm of Millburn and Newark holds trophy the company made to be awarded to the winner of the Stardust Grand Prix auto race in Las Vegas, Nev. this week. The trophy is made of solid silver and vermeil and is mounted on a Brazilian onyx base.

Bigger Facilities At Brown-Ford Attracts Crowd

Ribbon-cutting festivities this week at Brown Ford, 2037 Morris ave., Union, marked the official grand opening of the newly enlarged Ford Automotive dealership.

A get-acquainted party for 300 Union County officials, business leaders, employes and customers followed. Mayor F. Edward Blertumpfel performed the honors.

Guests were entertained by the Lois Allen Flamettes, a dance group; the Collar Dwellers, folk singers, and Paul Colldi, award-winning accordionist.

Residents of northern and central New Jersey can now enjoy the latest advances in automotive-repair work in the over-sized service department, says Ozzie Barr, general manager.

Brown Ford features a quick-service division for prompt repair work, electrical testing area, factory trained specialists, and modern service facilities.

"The grand opening is a double celebration," said Earl Brown, president, "because it also heralds the Brown Ford get-acquainted special offer on the complete line of magnificent, new 1968 Fords at the lowest prices and terms in New Jersey.

"Brown Ford is another step forward in the planning and dedication to the very finest in Ford sales, service and complete customer satisfaction."

Jacobson Graduates From USAF Course

FITZKI, Miss. — Second Lt. Louis Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jacobson of 145 Wentz ave., Springfield, N. J., has been graduated at Keeter AFB, Miss., from the training course for U. S. Air Force communications officers.

Lt. Jacobson, a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, is being reassigned to Hancock Field, N. Y., for duty.

He received a B.S. degree from Rochester Institute of Technology, N. Y., and was commissioned in 1964 upon completion of Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Tex.

Rep. Dwyer Reveals Nominees For Service Academy Exams

WASHINGTON — Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-6th Dist.) this week announced her nomination of 40 Union County young men to compete for appointments to the U. S. Military, Naval, Air Force and Merchant Marine Academies in the classes entering in 1968.
 Mrs. Dwyer based her nominations, she explained, exclusively on the results of a competitive Civil Service Commission examination which was given at her request on three occasions during the past summer and on the results of preliminary physical examinations. All candidates were required to take both examinations.
 The 40 nominees will now be expected to take the individual entrance examinations administered by the academies. Congresswoman Dwyer pointed out final appointments to fill the Union County vacancies, she said, will be based on the recommendations made by the academies following their evaluations of the candidates' examination results, their academic and extracurricular records in secondary schools, and their potential for careers as officers in the armed services.

 Among 12 candidates for the two Sixth Congressional District vacancies in the class entering the Military Academy at West Point in the summer of 1968 are the following three from this area: Thomas F. O'Meara, 81 Mountain ave., Springfield; Stephen J. Charandos, 1081 Charles st., Mountaintop; and David M. Soucy, 608 Amherst rd., Lincigen.
 For the two Sixth Congressional District vacancies in the class entering the Naval Academy at Annapolis in the summer of 1968: Robert J. Healy, 144 Louis pl., Union; Gerard M. Farrell, 258 West 9th ave., Roselle; William G. Bozin, 373 So. Durham court, Union; John J. Soltis, 81 Locust dr., Victor ave., Union; William Schermund, 728 Woodland ave., Roselle Park.
 Among six nominated for the one appointment from Union County to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs: William A. Rankin Jr., 125 Meisel ave., Springfield.
 For the Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point, L. I.: Joseph M. McDermott Jr., 1283 Key ave., Union; Jeffrey K. Ludwig, 455 Dermody st., Roselle; Donald R. Healy, 144 Louis pl., Union; Edward T. Quigley, 137 Jerome st., Roselle Park; Denis McCabe, 112 Bender ave., Roselle Park; and Robert Hudak, 418 Princeton rd.

$400 Ring, Watches Missing From Home
 A $400 diamond engagement ring was reported stolen from the home of Jean Delmaro of 832 Ray ave., Union, last Tuesday.
 Police said the entrance was gained by someone breaking a window in the front door. Other items reported missing were three watches valued at $277 and $30 in cash.

Adult School Offers Class For Children

Union County Regional Adult School usually offers courses for adults, but there is one course that is an exception to the rule: "Organ for Children." And if attendance is any measure, the tykes are ahead of their parents.

The children are between 7 and 14 and seldom miss a class. This is the report of Alfred Mayer, Morristown, instructor in the "adult" education course at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark.

Moreover, according to Mayer, the drop-out rate among the children is less than adults. "A few adults who got discouraged dropped the course, but not the kids," he said, pointing out that the course is offered to children because organ playing is a family affair.

Besides "Organ for Children," Mayer, who is a graduate of Juillard School of Music, New York City, teaches a course in beginning organ and intermediate organ for adults. In the children's class, an organ is used and while one student is at the organ, the others are practicing on a keyboard. Right now, according to Mayer who is the proprietor of Alfred Mayer Organ Studios, the children are practicing "Jingle Bells" for Christmas.

Mayer, who has published several music books, pointed out that according to trade magazines, sales of organs have increased 257 per cent in the past two years, while guitar sales have only gone up 14 per cent. He said the old family custom of "singing around a piano" is now switching to "singing around an organ." He cited the case of playing the organ and reduced prices as other reasons for its popularity.

Each year, about 3,500 Union County adults attend classes offered at Governor Livingston, Berkeley Heights; Johnathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield; and Arthur L. Johnson, Clark.

Among the courses offered this year are "Politics in Action," "Antiques," "Numbers—The Fun," "Great Books," "Electronics," "Planning for College," "The Role of the Substitute Teacher," "Education, Today and Tomorrow," and "Opening College Doors." In addition to regular courses, beginning English, languages, math and typing, there are advanced courses such as sewing, cooking, tennis, golf, small boat piloting and various courses.

AWAITS GRAND JURY
Salvatore Morella, 20, of Plainfield, charged with breaking into the home of Charles Heard, 7 Alvin ter, Springfield, on Oct. 18 and stealing a set of golf clubs, has been continued in a $1,000 bail. His case has been referred to the grand jury. He will appear in Municipal Court Monday night on a motor vehicle charge, court reports said.

Emanuel Church Will Raise Funds For Camp Center

Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church, Main st. at Academy street, Springfield, will launch its campaign shortly to raise $3,519 toward the Camp Adersgate goal of $500,000 being sought by the Northern-New Jersey Annual Conference of the Methodist Church.

The campaign director, David W. Brown, stated that the funds will be secured to enlarge the present facilities at Camp Adersgate, which is located near Newton, in Sussex County. The camp is used for summer youth conferences and will also be used by local churches and conference agencies throughout the year when the retreat center is constructed.

Members of the local congregation will have the opportunity to pledge their support or make their contributions at all services this Sunday.

At 9:30 and 10:45 a.m., Pastor James Dewart will deliver his message, "Forward Spiritual Maturity." The German language service, held at 9:30 a.m. in the sanctuary, will be conducted by Emanuel Schwing, local preacher, who will speak on "The Battle Of Loneliness."

Klugman To Host FM Radio Show

Ronald B. Klugman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Klugman of 534 Ashwood rd., Springfield, has been appointed host of a weekly talk program 65, on radio station WERS FM, Boston.

Klugman, a senior broadcasting student at Emerson College, will not only host the show but record interviews with leading personalities who appear in the Boston area. The interviews will then be aired on the FM station, owned and operated by the Boston college.

Jewels Leading In Skittler Action

The Jewels lead with a record of 18-0, following last week's bowling action for the Skittlers at Springfield Bowl. The Oldimers and Missis are tied for second, both at 15-1/2. Nancy Burkhardt was the high scorer with 181-169. Other leaders included Lorraine Vosburgh, 183; Jackie Glassen, 170; Nancy Falcone, 168-155; Adele Colandrea, 164; Edna Edwards, 161-153; Mimi Douglas, 159-152; Ruth Wood, 158; Lois Campbell, 158; Kathy Grimm, 157.

ONE YEAR'S PROBATION

Edward R. Dumbrowski, 22, of Newark, was given a 90-day suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year for operating a motor vehicle while an unlicensed driver. Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman presided in Municipal Court.

Springfield Firm Has Sub-Contract On Air Force Re-Entry Spacecraft

Victory Engineering Corporation, Springfield ave., Springfield, has been identified as the subcontractor supplying the history for the Martin Company's program to build four maneuverable lifting body re-entry spacecraft for the Air Force.

The vehicles, the first designed for maneuverability at hypersonic re-entry speeds, will be built by Martin under the Air Force's Spacecraft Technology and Advanced Re-entry Tests (START) Program. They will be used to study hypersonic, controlled flight characteristics, from orbital altitudes in space down into and through the earth's atmosphere.

The Air Force Systems Command's Space Systems Division, manages the START program. Because of its test mission, the lifting body vehicle, designed SV-5D, has been named PRIME (Precision Recovery, Including Maneuvering Entry).

Future lifting body spacecraft, manned and unmanned, could be used for such things as forming supplies and crews between earth and manned orbiting laboratories, for retrieving data capsules from orbiting satellites and for space rescue missions to recover stranded, ill or injured crewmen from other space vehicles and stations.

Nursery School Now In Operation

The Peter Pan Playhouse, inter-faith, inter-racial nursery school now in operation at Battle Hill Community Church, 777 Liberty ave., Union, has invited the public to visit classes tomorrow from 9 a.m. to noon and 10 to 3 p.m., Monday from 9 to 11 and 12:30 to 2 and Tuesday from noon to 3. Mothers may bring children with them and may register them at these times.

The program is headed by Mrs. Alan E. Handler of Union, a state certified nursery school teacher who holds a master's degree from Tufts University and who has taught at Wheaton College in Massachusetts and Finch College, New York.

She stressed that the school is non-religious in nature and that it is open to all children in Union County, aged three to five. Membership in the church is not a requirement.

Boettcher Bows Ton Game Of 268

Salvatore Boettcher had the high game of 268 in the Church Bowling League last week at Springfield Bowl. Other top scorers included Donald Roscic, 232-202; Nicholas Zarrelli, 214; Michael Krill, 211; Harold Oakman, 206; George Gleim, 201; and Arthur Brande, 201.

The Delguercio team leads with a total point score of 24, followed by the Lord quintet at 23; Moreland, Zarrelli and Epinger, all at 21; Oakman, at 20; and Wunderlich, Young and Becker, all at 19.

Jonathan Dayton Junior Attends Legion Chemical Program For Students

Robert J. Gleitsmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Gleitsmann of 14 Hemlock ter, Springfield, attended the 1965 Chemical Caravan held yesterday at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, by the Chemical Industry Council of New Jersey.

Gleitsmann, a junior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, joined 200 other high school science students from throughout the state for a day of lecture-demonstrations by leading scientists and tours of chemical industry research installations. Gleitsmann plans to major in mathematics, physics or chemistry at college.

The students also attended a luncheon at which they met executives of the nation's leading chemical companies. They heard lectures by faculty members of the Stevens' chemistry and chemical engineering departments and toured the institute's laboratories.

Phone Calls

Frequently calling a Springfield resident and then hanging up as soon as his call was answered.

The woman who received the calls notified New Jersey Bell of the situation last month. She was advised by a service representative to keep an accurate log of such calls, including the date and time at which they were received.

New Jersey Bell then arranged to have standard test equipment electrically record the telephone numbers of calls and the time that they were placed to the woman's telephone. The call-tracing process does not involve listening in on any conversation.

The woman's record of the calls, together with data collated by the telephone company, enabled police to apprehend the youngster. Police said the boy admitted making the telephone calls. He told the police he did not know that the calls could be traced.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

NOVEMBER PLENTIFUL FOODS ARE CAUSE FOR THANKSGIVING
The abundance of November is always a good reason for Thanksgiving, with its varied bounty of foods ready to grace the nation's dinner tables on Thanksgiving Day. Taking the spotlight on the month's plentiful foods list of the U.S.

Department of Agriculture will be the traditional Thanksgiving favorite, turkeys. All sizes of the gobblers will be readily available and attractively price-tagged, because the market supply will be larger than a year ago. If you have freezer space, by all means get an extra bird or two now or some of the convenient cut-up parts and processed products. Vary the stuffing to add extra interest whenever you serve a whole turkey.

Apples continue on the plentiful list, the result of this season's crop, the second largest since 1946. Now's the time to enjoy the tree-fresh flavor of Macintosh, Delicious, Cortland and other varieties in out-of-hand eating, baked apples, apple pies and pastries, and in apple sauce, garnishes and fruit salads. Try apple crisp made with oatmeal.

A good variety of vegetables will be plentiful—potatoes, onions, cabbage and sweet potatoes. The fall potato crop is record large, and so is the summer onion-crop. The cabbage and sweet potato harvest are larger than last year and above average. All four will carry attractive price tags in the months ahead. Creamed onions and candied sweet potatoes are popular Thanksgiving Dinner vegetables. Cabbage slaw and versatile white potatoes are mealtime favorites at any season.

Food shoppers will have good reason to keep a few boxes of prunes on the pantry shelf. There'll be ample supplies at reasonable prices for snack and generous mealtime uses in main dishes, appetizers and desserts. Cheese stuffed prune salad, prune compote with mixed canned fruits and prune apricot upside-down cake are extra delicious.

Frozen concentrated orange juice is another holdover on the November listing. Easily reconstituted to serve as juice or the base for a fruit drink, the frozen concentrate has many uses in undiluted form, as well. Let orange be your Thanksgiving Dinner color scheme and carry it over to such foods as an orange sauce for your turkey, an orange drink to quench the thirst, and orange-rich desserts and fruit salads. Don't overlook the tasty Golden Glow Salad made with grated new carrots, crushed pineapple, raisins, if you like, in lemon gelatine.

New Fashioned Soup—An important staple—split-peas will also be in heavy supply. This is an excellent low-cost food with good nutritive value, an especially fine choice for hearty soups and purees. Old-time split pea soup was usually made with ham bone for flavor, the corn version uses sliced cutlets. Male children of ages love it.

CANDY

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

The other day our cows got out and caused a lot of damage to our neighbor's crops and garden. Earlier in the day, my father, brother and I were working on the fence and when we were finished, my Dad told me to close the gate, which I did. The neighbor is threatening us with legal action and my father said that I would have to pay the damages because the gate was knocked over by the cows after I had wired it shut.

Well, that's it! Should I be the one to have to pay the damage? I'm only 15 and where I'll get the money. Heaven only knows.
A while back a calf of ours

1/2 cup butter
Few grains salt

Combine two tablespoons of flour with the granulated sugar. Arrange the apples and flour-sugar mixture in alternate layers in a well-oiled baking dish. Combine the brown sugar, oatmeal, 1/2 cup flour and salt. Cut in the butter and spread the mixture over the apples. Bake at 300 degrees F. for 45 minutes. Serve with whipped cream, if desired. Serves five to six persons.

Dear Amy:
Dad said that was my fault too (he was in California at the time). It was about dead when it was born. I had to pay $100 for it (it wasn't worth two bits). He has even told me I was getting so he did not like me anymore. (I almost told him that the feeling were mutual... they really are). What do you think of my father? Should I be treated like this? Should I quit and let him go on his own work?
Always Blamed

Dear Blamed:
I think your father has a tremendous responsibility (more than he can handle) caring for the farm and dairy herd. Though you may think he is unreasonable at times, he needs competent help (you) to help put bread on the table and clothes on your back. Try to understand your dad's problems and share yours with him, also. A better relationship will pave the way for a more mature outlook on your part and for kinder judgment on dad's.

ECO the reason why visitors from all over the world will be coming to Succasunna, N. J.

This unassuming building in a small town in Morris County will be drawing men from Europe, Asia, Latin America, and just about everywhere else. They will not be casual visitors, but communications experts. Often the top men in their own countries. They will be coming for a look at the future—ECO—the new Electronic Central Office that makes New Jersey the home of the most advanced telephone service in the world.

ECO has been described as a "fundamental breakthrough in communications." Its revolutionary electronic switching system makes possible many remarkable new telephone services. ECO is now being tested in the Succasunna area. Several new services are being tried now by two hundred telephone customers there:

Abbreviated Dialing. You dial only three or four digits to make your connection. Variable Call Transfer. Suppose you're going to be away from home for the evening. Before leaving, by dialing a special code and a telephone number, you can have incoming calls automatically transferred to the place where you are going. Fixed Call Transfer. In much the same way, you can have calls transferred to pre-selected numbers by dialing just a few digits.

Dial Conference. You can set up a "conference" call with two or three other persons quickly and simply by dialing a special code and the numbers you want. Add-on Conference. While having a telephone conversation, you can have a third person join in. You simply dial a special code followed by his phone number. These are just a few of the new services an electronic switching office may make possible for you someday. There are literally dozens of other communications advances that can easily be programmed into an ECO. Small wonder communications men all over the world are interested—and coming to see what will be happening to your phone service in the future.

Panel Will Discuss Education For Neurologically Impaired

The education of the neurologically impaired in Union County will be the subject of a panel discussion at the monthly meeting of the Union County Organization to Aid Children with Learning Disabilities on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Westfield Community Center, 558 W. Broad St., Westfield.

Members of the panel will include: Dr. William H. West, county superintendent of schools; the following members of the Union County Child Study Team: Miss Jane A. Henry, child study supervisor; Dr. Samuel Levine, psychiatrist; Miss Averil Tokar, supervisor of remedial education; Mrs. Wanzel, psychologist; Alois J. Stedek, supervisor of special services of the Westfield public schools; and Joseph Teresi, assistant principal of the Jefferson School in Westfield.

Moderator of the program will be Dr. Edward LaCrosse, chairman of the department of special education, Newark State College, Union, and professional advisor to the organization.

The Union County Organization, comprised of parents and professionals, seeks to initiate and procure programs to aid a group of brain-damaged children with unique learning problems and behavior that only in recent years have been recognized as differing from those of the mentally retarded, cerebral palsy and emotionally disturbed children.

Efforts to obtain a diagnostic and counseling center in Union County and to receive county and state legislative assistance in the schools were discussed at the meeting.

Additional information can be obtained from Gerard Carlucci, 2432 Terrill rd., Union; Mrs. Matland Parsons, 18 W. Grant St., Roselle Park; Mrs. Herbert Weiss, 105 Karen ter., Linden; Mrs. Harold Bromm, 420 New Providence rd., Mountlake; or Mrs. Irving Dickman, 84 Kenilworth blvd., Cranford.

HARMONIA'S NEW RATES

EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1, 1966

NEW "HI-RATE" INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

NEW "HI-RATE" REGULAR SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

NO HIGHER RATE IN THE GARDEN STATE

TO REWARD HARMONIA SAVERS WITH LONG-RANGE GOALS WHO WANT HIGHER EARNINGS, the bank introduces the INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT effective January 1, 1966, which will give depositors 4 1/2% a year return after deposit has remained in the account for 4 full quarterly periods.

Until a deposit shall have remained in an Investment Savings Account for four full quarterly dividend periods, it earns dividends at the rate applicable to Regular Savings Accounts — 4 1/4% per annum, effective January 1, 1966 computed in the same manner. At that time the deposit will receive a special dividend — presently 1/4 of 1% per annum, for the preceding four full quarterly dividend periods. The current rate on Regular Savings Accounts, if continued through the four full quarterly dividend periods following a deposit, plus the present special rate, would therefore produce earnings at the rate of 4 1/2% per annum on the deposit for such periods.

Thereafter, the deposit will be credited quarterly with dividends at the Investment Savings Account rate declared by The Board of Managers from time to time, which will be composed of the then Regular Savings Account dividend rate, plus the additional rate then in effect.

INTEREST ON HARMONIA REGULAR SAVINGS ACCOUNTS will be at annual rate of 4 1/4% starting January 1, 1966 — compounded and paid 4 times a year on all balances of $25 to $50,000.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO OPEN AN INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT OR ADD TO YOUR REGULAR ACCOUNT... NOW!

Remember — your Harmonia bankbook can be used at both Harmonia Offices.

The "Hi-Rate" INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT is ideal for long range savings goals such as a new home, a car, retirement, college education, as part of an estate-planning program, etc. Although this type of account has income advantages, it is, however, a wise thrift habit to keep some funds in a regular savings account... readily available for financial emergencies and opportunities.

LOAN ADVANTAGES

YOU CAN BORROW ON YOUR INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT just as you can on a regular savings account. Present your bankbook and we'll arrange your loan in a matter of minutes.

START YOUR INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT... JUST MAIL THE COUPON.

SPECIAL PASSBOOKS

Special passbooks for Investment Savings Accounts will be required, and will be issued upon an initial deposit of $1,000. Additional deposits and withdrawals may be made in multiples of $500, but dividends may be withdrawn in any amount. The balance in such an account shall be not less than $1,000 and shall not be more than $50,000, except as permitted by law. If balance drops below $1,000, account must be closed or transferred to regular savings account, in which case it would be without loss of dividend at regular rate.

Open your Investment Savings Account now by mail or at our Morris Avenue or Union Square Office. It will start earning interest at the new higher rate on January 1, 1966. Regular Savings Accounts may be transferred at any time without loss of interest.

Memory Expert Set To Perform At Local Temple

Bernard Shapiro, president of the Men's Club of Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, this week announced the club will hold a public meeting Monday, Nov. 22, at 7:30 p.m.

At the meeting, Herbert Pollan, memory expert, will perform to an audience participation exercise. Shapiro will introduce the names of each member of the audience as well as their stock price data and speeches.

Pollan, an author, lecturer, performer and teacher, is the first person ever licensed to teach memory training in New York public schools. He has taught his program before thousands of audiences.

In a recent article in Parent magazine, Pollan also propounded his theories. The program at Temple Beth Ahm will be free to all.

Cleveland Company Rents Union Building

Louis Schlesinger Company, Newark realtors, report the completion of a lease for a new one-story building to be located on Railway ave., Union, for Bowman Products of Cleveland, Ohio.

Bowman is a division of Associated Spring Corporation of Bristol, Conn. The lease was negotiated for the E. O. & G. Realty Company.

The new building will be of modern design and will have an area of 40,000 square feet on one floor on a two-acre plot.

The building has been designed by Rotwein and Blake, architects of Union, and the building was constructed by Murray Construction Co. Inc. of Springfield.

Bowman will use the new unit as an office and distribution center for springs of all types, shapes and sizes for both industrial and commercial use.

The E. O. & G. Realty Company was represented by Anthony Stein of the Newark law firm of McGlynn, Stein & Eberle, and Brown & Brown of Elizabeth acted as consultants for the owners.

This is the second similar transaction negotiated by the Schlesinger office for E. O. & G. Realty Company. Coats & Clark Inc., manufacturers of Clark O.N.T. thread, recently took a long term lease on a research and office building adjacent to the Bowman unit.

Henry L. Marzell, vice president of Louis Schlesinger Company, conducted the negotiations.

Two Collegians On Editorial Staff

Barbara H. Moore of 26 Battle Hill ave. and Joseph H. Musselman of 109 Maple ave., both of Springfield, have been appointed to the editorial staff of the "UJC Newsletter," the weekly student newspaper at Union Junior College, Cranford.

Miss Moore, a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, is a liberal arts major in the Day Session. She is the daughter of Mrs. Edward L. Moore and the late Mr. Moore. A major in liberal arts in UJC's Day Session, Musselman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Musselman. He is a graduate of Memorial High School, Belleville.

Pancani, Planning Body Member, Honored By Architects' Institute

Azeglio T. Pancani Jr., AIA, of Springfield has been elected to corporate membership in the New Jersey Society of Architects, AIA, according to Robert R. Cueman, president. Pancani is a member of the Springfield Planning Board.

Membership in the Institute represents the highest level of accomplishment for the architect whose dedication to his calling has led him to serve not just his own practice, but all architecture and society, Cueman asserted.

Pancani is a partner in the office of Gerber and Pancani, Architects, located at 11 Commerce st., Newark. This firm also has branch offices in Miami and in Carolina, Puerto Rico.

Presently under construction is Troy Towers at Union City, a 22-story and penthouse apartment building designed by Pancani's firm, which will be ready for occupancy in April, 1966. This structure has been designed to take full advantage of the site. It is semi-circular in shape, with all the units located so that they are all afforded a view of the New York City skyline.

Cubberley Heads Troop 70 Scouts At Honor Court

Springfield Mayor William F. Koonz presented Boy Scout Donald Cubberley his Eagle award at a court of honor held last Thursday night at the James Caldwell School.

Mayor Koonz, who was once a member of Troop 70, stressed the value of the scouting program in creating character and good citizenship.

Commissioner J. DeWitt McGarrah presented Life Scout awards to Paul Cooperman, John Edwards, Peter Newman, Daniel Olash and Richard Ulan.

Star Scout awards were presented by Scoutmaster Murry Hurwitz to Richard Johnson, Steve Kartzman, Ronald Samuels, Robert Vaughn and Steve Mittnacht.

Committeeman George Kunc presented a first class award to Vincent Burns.

Merit badges earned by the troop members were presented by the assistant scoutmaster, Dan Gerber, who explained the requirements for earning these badges and the benefits derived by the scouts through the knowledge obtained in completing these projects.

Eric Bergman, Gary Newman, Albert Trevino, Barry Weiner and Steven Wipfler were inducted into the troop as tenderfoot scouts by Scoutmaster Hurwitz, who also showed slides of the troop activities.

Troop 70 is sponsored by the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield.

At a troop committee meeting following the ceremonies, the pumpkin sale chairman Bob Marshall, expressed his thanks to all those who volunteered their vehicles and services as well as to all who helped make the recent troop fund drive a success by buying pumpkins from the scouts. This will insure the continuation of a full scouting program for the boys for the coming year, he said.

Youth Gets Ticket After Auto-Crash

Springfield police issued a summons for careless driving to a Colonia youth following a collision last Wednesday in which two cars were damaged. He is John W. Stoka, 19, who was involved in the crash last Wednesday at 4:10 p.m.

According to police records, Stoka was turning right from Bryant ave. into Tooker ave. His car struck one driven by Mrs. Marie M. Leonard of 60 Lyons pl., Springfield, who was headed west on Tooker ave. toward the corner. The police added that Stoka continued along Tooker ave. for 75 feet after the crash, spinning completely around.

2 Texas-Bound Members Feted By Woman's Club

Two members of the Mountaineer Women's Club, both of whom will soon move to Texas, were honored at two separate club events.

Mrs. Alice Price was guest of honor at a luncheon held in the Hampshire House, Calvary Station, by members of the club's garden department. She was also presented with a "star-fish" pin and a corsage as going-away presents. The corsage was made by Mrs. Ann Bruchhaus with flowers from her garden.

A silver trivet was given to the other Texas-bound member, Mrs. Katharine Lynch of Indian trail, at a meeting of the American home department. The gift was from all the club members.

The home department members worked on stuffed animals and dolls for an orphan's home and shippers for senior citizens at their meeting.

Plans for a covered-dish luncheon and gift-exchange at the December meeting were discussed.

ESSEX CAMPAIGN TO BE CONDUCTED BY LOCAL WOMAN

Mrs. Anthony Denner of 11 Briar Hills circle, Springfield, a sales executive at Bamberger's, has been appointed to a top post in the 1965 membership enrollment drive of the YM-WYFA of Essex County.

Mrs. Denner, a Y trustee, is serving as chairman with Yvonne Raft of the City-Center Building's efforts to expand the membership rolls. This is the Newark aspect of a county-wide campaign. Now under construction is the Y's Northfield Branch in West Orange.

Mrs. Denner is sales manager in charge of ladies sportswear at the Newark department store. She recently was elected president of the Business and Professional Chapter of the American Jewish Congress.

JERSEYAN FROM SPAIN HAS ONE-MAN SHOW — Gino Hollander, Maplewood-born expressionistic artist, who lives in Costa de Sol, Spain, with his wife and five children, poses with one of his youngsters. Hollander will have a one-man exhibition (of 300 paintings) in Sommer's Alley, when the indoor sidewalk cafe with around the world, hand-picked art, opens in the downstairs area of Stan Sommer at Union Center, beginning Friday, Nov. 14.

Sommer's Alley To Open; Exhibits Hollander Gallery

Sommer's Alley, a new idea in department store features, officially opens to the public Friday, Nov. 14 at Stan Sommer in Union Center.

The "alley," which is directly on the lower level of the store, has been imaginatively conceived by Stan and Robbie Sommer, with additionally unique ideas contributed by Barbara Rosengarten, who is in charge of the flower boutique, and who has also brought back with her (as did the Sommer brothers) hand-picked items from around the world.

Set in a quaint indoor-sidewalk cafe mode, with five small round wrought-iron type tables and a pair of chairs for each, the "alley" features a snack for customers and "free" coffee. To the left of the entrance to the "alley" are four boutiques: The Bath and Closet Boutique, Men's Boutique, Doll Boutique and Flower Boutique.

The atmosphere has a European flavor, as the alley is surrounded by paintings, highlighting a one-man show of 300 paintings by artist Gino Hollander, a young man who was born in Maplewood and who presently resides with his wife and five children in Costa del Sol, Spain. The gallery of art work, according to the proprietors, will continue to feature portraits and landscapes from local artists as well as art galleries here and in the Metropolitan area.

Hollander, who is 41 years old, and who was educated in Rutgers University and Hobart College, was an award-winning film producer-director. He turned to painting in 1958. He is self-taught, and his work is basically expressionistic. There are a number of galleries exhibiting Hollander's work in New York City, Seville, Spain, London, England and West Hartford, Conn. He has had one-man shows in the United States and abroad, and his work is shown permanently at Galerie Contrasts, Ltd., 103 Bleeker st., New York City.

Unusual gifts, ranging in price from $1.00 to $100, have come from such countries as Spain, France, Italy, Israel, the Scandinavian countries, Mexico and the Far East. And according to the store's proprietors, more than a year was spent in gathering the variety of items to be placed into the new street of gift boutiques.

In Sommer's Alley-of-Bath and Closet Boutique, there are such items as hand-painted hangers and wardrobe bags, holders and hampers. "Closet accessories," says Robbie Sommer, "are different from anything this town has ever seen."

In the Men's Boutique, there are unusual clocks, a true original ash tray for non-smokers, hand-painted thumb jacks, leather covered bottles from Spain, a Napoleon-statue, which actually is a gift card, a toilet paper key (which upon closer observation, is really a single gun), golfers' survival kits, executive lunch boxes, hand-painted jewel cases.

Some of the items are displayed in our cabinet-antiques. "We've already sold two of these antiques," says Sommer, "and originally they weren't even intended for this purpose — they were supposed to be standing furniture to hold the saleable material."

In the Doll Boutique, there are all sorts of gifts for boys and girls, such as the very unusual in dolls, animals, wall decorations and books.

The Flower Boutique, in which Miss Rosengarten is situated, has all sorts of artificial flower arrangements and Miss Rosengarten will be on hand to make up arrangements for customers or show the customers how to make flower arrangements.

JANE GREENFIELD IS ENGAGED GIRL, TO BE MAY BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greenfield of Linwood rd., Union, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Stephen Rosengart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rosengart of Fair Lawn.

The bride-elect, an alumna of Union High School, attended Curry College, Millon, Mass. She is employed as a private secretary by the Intercontinental Art Gallery, Union.

Her fiance, who was graduated from Fairleigh Dickinson University, Teaneck, did graduate work in political science at Fairleigh Dickinson University and the New School For Social Research in NY. He is an instructor in comparative civilization at the Reading and Study Institute of Fairleigh Dickinson University, Wayne, extension, and is presently enrolled in the M. A. T. program at the university under a Ford Foundation scholarship.

A May wedding is planned.

LEGION WOMEN TO VISIT LYONS, CONDUCT PARTY

Costume-Look Makes Latest Fashion News

Soft. Strict. Shapely. Seamed. Swinging. Slim. Smoked. Sculptured. Subtle. Structural. For autumn, words like these sum up fashion significance and "summed up" is the key to it all. In every look, whether soft, strict or a subtle blending of both, totality spells fashion this fall.

A great deal of the wardrobe planning for the all-important total look has been done in advance, with designers offering an ever-greater variety of coordinated costumes—dresses with coats or jackets; suits with, at the very least, an accompanying blouse and, often, coat, too; separates in a seemingly endless array of ready-mix pairs.

Complete Look
Hats and accessories, in the soft or strict moods of fashion, provide both the correct accents to complete any costume and an air of individuality, too.

Fashion's two directions, soft and strict, are the result of several seasons during which styles have trended, on the one hand, to a shapely, more feminine look and, on the other hand, to a smart, tailored, refined-classic look. The soft silhouettes, with their smock-like looks, swinging fit and flare and dirndl-gathered skirts, owe some of their inspiration to Paris and

London. In Paris, St. Laurent and, in London, the Chelsea and Mod designers have given recent impetus to smock lines, high-waisted soft detailing and the in-motion skirt.

The strict silhouettes, with their emphasis on seaming, structural shaping, set-in sleeves, slotted belts, away-from-the-neck collars and double-breasted closings, stem from the "Courreges look" now influencing designers everywhere.

Two Looks Combine
American designers, however, have put their own stamp on both looks. Softness, seen most often in suits, coats and dressier dresses, blends frequently with a bit of the strict—smartly-seamed yokes, for example, high-placed on coats or suits that then take to gently swinging lines.

The strict look comes on strong in sportswear and casual dresses and coats, but even the straightest, slimmest lines show some soft-look effects.

For the total look in either mood, costume coordination most often means mixing, not matching. Fabrics, colors, patterns blend and contrast merrily, producing a new and refreshing fashion personality.

Soft or strict, the totality of the effect is youthful; pointing up what is really the greatest of all influences on fall styles.

The growing numbers of the "under 25" age group have designers thinking young. Many of the strict fashions, for example, are strictly for this group.

And throughout fashion, everything from ruffles and bows to shorter skirts emphasizes an era-of-style intended for the young from 18 to 80.

CHILDREN'S QUESTIONS
"Why do you wear shoes, Mother?" "How far is the moon, Daddy?" "Why does the sun shine?" "But what makes the sun shine?" Harassed parents wonder whether all children ask questions and if they ever stop.

Children's questions do wear the patience of parents to the breaking point, but they are the child's way of securing the information he wants and needs. Young children are intensely curious—this lively curiosity is necessary for learning.

ADDING TO THE WIT of Ireland is Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of External Affairs, Frank Aiken, with his quick Irish sense of humor. Chatting with him after a briefing in Dublin is Trudina Howard who was gathering material for the Feminine Look column.

A FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Newspaper Association Study Mission to the British Isles and Scandinavia

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Fourth of a Series IRISH FAIRY LAND

There was a man in our National Newspaper Association Study Mission Group who always asked the same complicated question of officials in every one of the ten countries the Study Mission visited this summer — namely: "What are your political parties, and what are their differences?"

But it took an Irishman to give him the best, and most amusing, answer.

When we were in Dublin, Elre, we met the Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of External Affairs, His Excellency, Mr. Frank Aiken; and when "our man" voiced his question about the differences in the three main IRISH parties, Mr. Aiken grinned broadly and impatiently replied: "We're in—and they're out."

Which also goes to prove that it takes an Irishman to have a sense of humor about politics. But all Ireland is an imp with a sense of humor. There is also another quality about Ireland which no other country can claim: It has a fairy-tale essence that is unmistakable.

When silverware moves clear across a table without the help of a human hand, it is not strange in Ireland. It is a leprechaun, and that is a good reason in Ireland. When an Irishman refuses to cut down a stand of trees because they are growing in a circle, it is not strange, if the trees are growing in a circle, it means it is a fairy fort and that is enough. In Ireland that seems to be a lovely truth and you would not cut them down either.

On a mountain or a meadow is not an ordinary lake or a mountain or a meadow in Ireland. It has personality. It always has an endearing whimsy about it, or an affectionate name or a dandy legend at least, and that makes it special. Even a rainbow is special on the emerald isle. It shimmers more, it glories more, and it is a perfect arch more often than anywhere else. You can drive your car right under a rainbow in Ireland and it will make you feel as though an angel touched you for luck.

And the names. Whoever had such whimsical names as Dingle Bay, Macgilluddy's Reeks, Ring of Kerry, Limerick, Ballygally and even Ballymoney?

SOME PEOPLE TELL you that Ireland may be enchanting, but it is "cold and rainy and poor and dingy." Well, perhaps. It is true that it is never hot in Ireland. The general high is 65 which will usually occur in July. On the other hand, 34 is the lowest which will usually be in February.

It is also true that it rains a lot in Ireland. Some say it rains every day and some say it threatens to rain more than it really rains. Statistically, there are 218 days of rain a year, SIXTY the frequent blackening threats of rain — along with the sudden sunny flashes of clearing, give the Irish landscape magical qualities it otherwise would not have. At any rate, it never really snows.

Ireland is protected by the Gulf Stream and will get snow flurries but not much more. It is green in Ireland, as green as it is reputed to be, but the New Jersey countryside is just as green — is the same green, when it is in the lushness of mid-summer. The difference is, Ireland stays green all year.

AS FOR POVERTY: The Irish economy is on the rise, basically, and the situation has vastly improved internally. For a long time, one of Ireland's main problems was that her biggest export was people and she lost a good part of her labor force through emigration, but that is no longer true. Currently, the big problem is over the rush of the young people to the cities and leaving the farms, but that, too, is being ameliorated. The subject is long and complicated, however, so looking at it from the tourist's point of view, all I can say is that the houses and the farms we passed looked surprisingly well-cared for, and tidy.

I did not see one run-down house, nor one wooden house, in all of Ireland. They were all concrete or stone with well-painted wood trim and doors. Windows and flower-patched roofs are being fixed, the roofs are getting lost and they are a fire hazard. Instead more and more tin and the roofs can be seen. The doors were always particularly well-groomed and some even had "coats." I began noticing the coats in Dublin and north. They seemed to be some sort of canvas brightly colored or painted with fitted cut-outs for the ever shiny knocker and knob. They pulled down over the door in the same manner as a shade over a window, and they were the "all weather" coats for the paint.

Lavender must be the "in" color this year in Ireland, or else a good lavender-paint salesman wandered through Ireland recently, for many of the doors and trim were, believe it or not, painted lavender. No matter what the color, though, the brass on the door — the knockers, handles and knobs — were always polished until they shone like gold. Every single one. I began to suspect that they weren't brass at all, but the gold in that pot at the end of that Irish rainbow.

The houses and farms in Northern Ireland seemed more prosperous than those in south Ireland to many, and some of our group even said the land looked more bountiful, too, and the cattle fatter. But north of south, TV antennas were visible most everywhere.

AS FOR DINGINESS: When we arrived in Ireland we stayed at the Dunloe Castle Hotel in Kilmaree, then the Intercontinental in Dublin and the Conway House Hotel in Belfast — and they were a shock to behold on the staid Irish ground. It is true, but then they were stark, having modern (they inconspicuously stood on the misty grounds of a castle in rustic, Gaelic Ireland with horses grazing on the front lawn — or in the very middle of quaint picturesque Cork with an ancient canal sashaying alongside — or in the center of a landscaped garden of an old town house with a bird sanctuary next door.

But they were wonderful. They were immaculate, new, well-appointed, comfortable and a joy to be in.

Our coach was clean as well as comfortable and the restaurants we found had sparkling glasses, pure white linen AND atmosphere.

So I say, it may be shivery cold in Ireland sometimes, but I saw palm trees in the gardens of Dublin too. (There are some ADDING TO THE MYTHS of Ireland is Blarney Castle with its legendary powers to bestow the gift of gab on anyone who kisses the stone on the lofty heights of its battlements. Ready to ascend the 124 stone steps to the top is Feminine Look columnist, Trudina Howard, who performed the deed while on a European Study trip to Ireland in August.

in protected valleys of the island were laughing, and the dust I were Men. The rain I felt was sweet saw was stardust. But — most of the leprechauns and soft, the poor people I saw.

Safety Council Says Gun Accidents Rise

Deaths from firearms accidents in New Jersey last year took a toll of 27 lives, two more than recorded in the previous year and the second highest annual toll since 1951 when firearms accidents in the state took 30 lives, the New Jersey State Safety Council said this week.

Fifteen of the deaths last year occurred in homes, four more than recorded in 1963. Three were in the 5-14 years age group, two in the 15-24, seven in the 25-44, and three in the 45-64.

Twelve lives were lost in firearms accidents in public, two less than recorded in 1963. Three were in the 5-14 years age group, five in the 15-24, three in the 25-44 and one in the 45-64, the council said.

In hunting accidents five lives were lost, one less than in the previous year. Sixty-three other persons suffered injuries in hunting accidents. Of these, 13 of the victims were "out of the shooter's sight," 12 came "within the shooter's line of fire" and 16 were injured by "turning to fire" — commonly known as "swinging on game." Other injury causes in order of importance were: "tripped or stumbled," eight; "slipped," five; "accidental discharge," two; "careless handling," three; "trigger caught," "running," and "unloading," each accounted for one injury; and in seven cases the cause was undetermined. Causes in the five deaths were: two due to "accidental discharge," one each resulting from "careless handling" and "tripping or stumbling," and in one case the cause was undetermined.

Records of firearms accidents at home and in public in New Jersey during the last two decades point to the need for exercising the same precautions, the State Safety Council points out, with reference to handling and storing firearms at home as used in outdoor areas.

CAPITAL BUDGETS COMPEL ADVANCE LOCAL PLANNING
Budget preparation began early for most of New Jersey's 588 county and municipal government units this year in order to complete annual capital budgets based upon long-range improvement plans.
Capital budgets must be filed with the State Division of Local Government by November 15, following approval by the local governing body. They are not authorizations to spend, but being together (usually plans for major projects) to be considered when the regular annual budget of the municipality or county is drawn for adoption early in the new year.
The requirement for local adoption and filing of capital budgets was invoked for the first time last year by the State's Local Government Board. On the basis of the first year's experience, the Board said it "is of the opinion that capital budgets are necessary to provide for an orderly program of capital expenditures." It fixed the November date for filing annual capital budgets this year and advised that September 15 will be the deadline next year. Last year, the Board said, some 400 local government units complied with the directive by either filing their capital budgets or official resolutions indicating they plan no capital spending.

The requirement of long-range capital budgets provides consideration and priority of long-range improvement needs in government — and their costs — both by officials and taxpayers, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.
The long-range capital improvement program for local government is developed from a comprehensive list of projected capital needs such as office and school buildings, roads, utilities, land, heavy equipment, etc. From this six-year program, are selected top priority projects for inclusion in the annual capital budget. Before any of the projects can actually be undertaken, they must be implemented by subsequent official action and financed through inclusion in an annual regular budget, a bond ordinance, an ordinance approving spending from the capital improvement fund, or any combination of the

 is not to destroy but to fulfill the Revelations of the past, to reconcile rather than accentuate the divergences of conflicting creeds which disrupt present-day society.
 Bahai' Writings

WHO IS BAHAI' U'LLAH?
WHAT IS THE NEW WORLD ORDER?
 Bahai' U'llah said, "Soon will the present-day order be rolled up and a new one appear in its stead."
 Bahai' U'llah said, "Say: O men! This is a matchless day."
WHY IS THIS A MATCHLESS DAY?
WHO IS BAHAI' U'LLAH?
 You are cordially invited to hear Miss Gloria Rouse, a Bahai' Youth from Springfield, talk about Bahai' U'llah and what His World Order means to you on Friday, November 12 at 8:00 p.m. at 58 DeWahl Road, Springfield.

Overlook Donation Will Help To Expand Coronary Care Unit

A grant of $60,000 from the John A. Hartford Foundation to Overlook Hospital has been announced by Ralph W. Burger, president of the foundation, and Robert E. Heinlein, Overlook's director.
 The funds will be used for equipment and personnel training in the four-bed intensive coronary care unit planned for the new wing, which is now under construction in Summit. Overlook's $8,500,000 expansion is scheduled for completion in early 1967.
 Last March, Overlook pioneered in New Jersey with one of the first coronary care units in the state, opened as a two-bed-pilot unit. Since then the hospital has set up a comprehensive training program attended by nurses from many other hospitals, to instruct them in the techniques of intensive coronary care.
 New Concept
 "Statistics have shown that the majority of coronary patients have a recurrence of heart irregularity within the first 72 hours after their initial attack. This is the time that may be critical," Heinlein pointed out. "It is estimated that 50 percent of sudden deaths are potentially reversible if appropriate personnel and lifesaving equipment is immediately available."
 The specialized monitoring equipment at each bed signals an alarm the instant the patient's heartbeat starts to fluctuate. Specially skilled cardiac nurses are in constant attendance with the patient, ready to go into immediate action. Resuscitators, pacemaker, defibrillators, cardioverters, emergency drugs — all are immediately at hand. A special "Code Blue" alarm is flashed through the hospital, bringing doctors on the run while the nurses in attendance start the life-saving techniques of resuscitation and cardiac massage.
 "The intensive coronary care unit eliminates the type of coronary victim who may have just been checked by a nurse or doctor, then quietly goes into a fatal arrhythmia after they leave the room," Heinlein explained. "Even with a nurse in attendance, unless all the life-saving equipment is right there — and the nurse knows how to use it — such an attack may be fatal. The coronary-care patient has just four minutes to be helped, and that means fast, sure, immediate action."

 In a six month survey of 61 patients with myocardial infarction treated in Overlook's new unit, records show that mortality has been cut to 13 percent as compared with a mortality rate of 25 percent for 100 patients surveyed the year before the intensive coronary care unit was in operation, according to Dr. William A. Tansey, chairman of the cardiac resuscitation committee.
 Grant Expands Unit
 The John A. Hartford Foundation grant will be used for monitoring and other life-saving equipment in the new coronary care unit, which will be double the size of Overlook's present unit, as well as more streamlined and efficient in lay-out.
 In the new unit, each of the four patients will have the privacy of his own room, yet remain visible to the nurses in charge through glass partitions facing on the central nursing station. A multiple oscilloscope panel at the main nursing desk will duplicate the monitor panel at each bed, giving added insurance of constant supervision. There will be an auditory as well as visual alert connected to each panel, plus an automatic pacemaker which is connected for instant action should it be required.

Schools Get Manual On Research Work

Pauline A. Keith, coordinator of the social studies department of the Union County Regional High School District, has compiled a style manual, entitled "How To Prepare The Research Paper," which has been adapted and is available for use in all district departments.
 Miss Keith said the paper was the result of a survey of 25 colleges most frequently attended by graduates of the district schools which stressed the need for presenting research facts in an organized and standard procedure acceptable by the colleges.
 Miss Keith said: "Research involves searching for information that will help to explain a specific question or develop a limited topic. Searching requires that you look for a variety of sources — i.e., books, magazines, documents, pamphlets, newspapers, letters, recordings and films. Once you have acquired such a list, you should find material that will help you to develop a particular subject. The research paper is the presentation of your findings."
 The manual helps students present the facts by explaining and covering such pertinent items as selection of topic, background reading, secondary works, primary source material, note taking, preparing the outline, writing the paper, footnote logic and procedure, quotations, bibliography, mechanics of written research, summary, and the research-grade.
 The style manual has been printed and will be used in the departments of business education, English, health and physical education, home economics, industrial and fine arts, languages, music, mathematics, science, and social studies at Jonathan Dayton, Governor Livingston, Arthur L. Johnson and David Brevley regional high schools.

Soccer Year To End At Hillside; Bulldog Rally Falls Just Short

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School soccer squad will play Hillside High School this Tuesday in its final game of the 1965 season. Dayton's soccer record now stands at 2-7-2, following a defeat by Scotch Plains High School Monday, 3-2. A late Dayton surge barely fell short.

Hollander played a fine game, but was unable to score. Rapidly regaining possession of the ball on a nimble steal by Brooks, Dayton, and especially Heinke, dominated the game. But a sudden Scotch Plains recovery put unexpected pressure on goalie Howard Goldhammer. He was rushed simultaneously by three Scotch Plains linemen, one of whom scored from directly in front of the goal.

To the surprise of all, suddenly Dayton jumped into a commanding position in the game. Among those players who overwhelmed the Scotch Plains defenses were Bob Waldman, Fred Title and Steve Piller and the regulars, Bob Kizelevich, Heinke, Hollander and Ray Gasco. But it was George Franklin of Dayton, playing his first full quarter of the season, who most sparked the Dayton comeback. Franklin scored two Dayton goals during the time he was in the game, one on a perfectly placed assist by Kizelevich. The drive was not strong enough, however, as Dayton lost the game, 3-2.

Log Jam Broken In Girls' League; 2-Way Tie For 1st

The six-way log jam for first place in the Springfield Recreation Department's Girls' Bowling League was broken last week as the Alley-Oops and the Allettes both swept two-game series to move away from the remaining teams.

Dayton Hopes To Rebound Against West Orange Here

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team will meet West Orange High School at home this Saturday. Dayton now has a record of 1-5-1, following a loss to Westfield High School here last weekend, 42-7.

The Bulldog squad was overwhelmed by a stronger Westfield team, led by star left halfback Ron Hall, a strong contender for the all-state team, and supported by an excellent offensive line. Dayton played a good game, but could not match the Blue Devils' force.

Rangers On Top In Boys' League; Wolff Scores 343

The Rangers became the top team in the Friday afternoon Boys' Bowling League as they topped the previously-unbeaten Black Hawks in two games last week.

Mitch Wolff rolled an all-time league high series of 343 to lead the Rangers to their two victories. Mitch's 343 was the highest series ever rolled in the boys' bowling leagues, sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.

HOME OF THE WEEK:

Craftmanship And Technology Matched At Bradwahl Tract

FORMAL ELEGANCE is the hallmark of this stately home at Bradwahl-at-Convent Station, the 148-home custom community on Old Glen Road in the exclusive Convent Station section of Morris Township. Called the "Dorchester," it is offered by builder Philip Azzolina in a variety of exterior elevations, with prices from $43,990, and shows a wealth of unique luxury features.

Bradwahl-at-Convent Station, the 148-home custom luxury home community rising on Old Glen Road in the exclusive Convent Station section of Morris Township (N.J.), is a prime example of the building industry's Number One contradiction — age-old craftsmanship vs. the wonders of modern mechanization.

According to builder PHILIP Azzolina, on one hand such modern methods as aerial surveys and computer-analyzed data are used as an integral part of the over-all community planning at the Morris Township luxury tract. "But," comments the builder, "while our construction foreman is reading complex aerial maps, a few yards away craftsmen are laying one-brick-on-top-of-the-other in much the same fashion as their predecessors did in ancient Egypt centuries ago."

The use of highly skilled hand-craftsmen — particularly bricklayers and stone masons — at the Bradwahl tract makes a noticeable trend to the return of human craftsmen in the creation of new homes.

In a tract such as Bradwahl says Azzolina, a keen wedding of modern techniques and ancient ones are necessary to create the homes which are priced in the $40,000 to $65,000 price range.

In the age-of-machine technology, the idea seems to present a paradox. America's mushrooming industry and its advances in mathematics and materials have brought about fantastic revisions in home building. Giant computers predict — and with amazing accuracy — the types, styles and prices of homes which will sell in a particular area. Developers like Azzolina utilize aerial photography and even graph-plotter maps to aid in placing homes correctly on each subdivided site.

Yet in seeming contradiction with these space age techniques, two things have remained — indeed, increased — in demand during the past ten years: bricks and skilled bricklayers.

Of the two, the brick seems easier to explain. The material is virtually indestructible. It has been a favorite of home owners for centuries.

The bricklayer? He is an anachronism in a computer age. While new ways are found to build homes faster, he still puts pieces together one at a time. But while the efficiency expert may find his slow and restrictive, builders like Phil Azzolina — and home buyers — find his work well worth the added time, effort and cost.

At the Bradwahl tract, with its aura of Colonial America, brick plays an important role in almost every home. Most of the 40 different models built at the tract feature brick somewhere on the exterior. In addition, many of the homes have touches of brick on the inside for fireplaces, room dividers and even entire walls.

And so, at Bradwahl — and at many other luxury tracts — the men whom building authorities have termed "the last of the hand craftsmen" has acquired a new lease on life. While planes fly overhead taking pictures, while the computers spin and whirl and while new machines come on the scene to do things faster, his concern is still with quality, not speed. He's still busy building homes piece by piece the same way he did 5,000 years ago.

Convent Station is served by the Erie Lackawanna Railroad which offers 20-minute service to Newark and 55-minute service to uptown and downtown New York.

Public, parochial and private schools are all within the immediate area. Also, St. Elizabeth's College, Drew University, and the Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University are all within 10 minutes of the property.

Downtown Morristown with its department stores and specialty shops is just 10 minutes away. There are numerous restaurants, country and swim clubs.

The Boyle Company is the exclusive sales agent.

REALTOR OF THE WEEK Westfield Realtors Board President Active In Various Hometown Projects

Recently installed as president of Westfield Board of Realtors for 1965-66, James J. Davidson has been active both in professional and civic affairs in his hometown of Westfield. Born in Oklahoma, Davidson moved to New Jersey as a boy, coming to Westfield in 1939. He is a graduate of Westfield High School and Rutgers University. After graduation he served in the army for two years during the Korean War. Originally Davidson was interested in the banking field but soon turned to real estate, working in a local office. On January 1, 1961 he opened his own real estate office. He is also a partner with Ronald V. Martin in the insurance-firm of Davidson & Martin. Davidson was multiple listing chairman of his board in 1964-65 and served as vice president of the board during this period. He is also on its convention committee and on the banquet committee of the N. J. Association of Realtors. He is a past president of the mayor's advisory committee on community relations and currently chairman of the Westfield Board of Realtors for 1965-66. He is also a past president of the Westfield Kiwanis Club and currently chairman of its vocational guidance committee. He is also a group captain in the United Fund Campaign. An active member of the Community Players of Westfield, he has participated in the Grant School P.T.A. Talent Show and the Westfield Pageant. In addition to business and civic activities, Davidson tries to find time for his No. 1 hobby - golf. He is married to the former Rosemarie Radnak of Roselle and the couple have three children.

Agency Appointed The appointment of Black-Russell-Morris, Newark Industrial advertising, marketing and public relations agency, to handle the complete promotion program for Gravel Water Conditioning Co., Union, has been announced. Gravel, a Division of Union Tank Car Co., is a major producer of equipment for water and waste treatment processes.

Man's greatest challenge in the scientific age is the challenge to keep pace with knowledge. The half-life of the professional engineer today is ten years. This means that ten years beyond his years of preparation he must begin again to learn the mysteries of his science and adjust to learning as evident in his field at that particular time in history.

During the next four weeks I will be addressing our readers from various countries in Europe. My column next week will follow a visit to the Ecumenical Sunday School today. Because of the cost, limited equipment and inexperienced leadership, organized religion is operating a second-best and second-rate program on both a weekday and Sunday basis.

Each Sony 123 Tapemate has automatic volume control (AVC); you never adjust the recording volume. Near or far, a shout or a whisper is perfectly recorded for perfect playback clarity. It's as easy as 1-2-3.
