Committeemen Will Decide On Appointive Offices

Calendar To List All Meeting Dates

The Springfield Chamber of Commerce has offered to undertake responsibility for operating a community calendar service. Purpose of the service would be to coordinate long-range planning by all organizations in town for dinners, meetings and other activities.

Because of the "lack of coordination at some central point where this information should be available," the Chamber stated in a letter to all organizations in the township, there are frequent conflicts when several organizations discover that they have major meetings scheduled for the same date.

The Chamber declared that it is willing to list all dates of meetings planned by Springfield organizations and to provide this information to any program chairman requesting the dates of the various public functions.

The Chamber also plans to provide this newspaper with a weekly calendar of events scheduled by local organizations. Publication of the calendar will begin as soon as sufficient groups have listed the desired information.

The Chamber requested all organizations wishing to cooperate to send lists of scheduled events to Saul Freeman, executive secretary, Post Office Box 25, Springfield. Further information may be obtained by calling Freeman at 378-3610.

Rules Are Listed By Police Expert On Bicycle Safety

This is the second in a series of articles on bicycle safety written by Lt. Thomas J. Kennedy, who is in charge of the bicycle safety campaign being conducted by the Springfield Police Department. Talks on the subject are also scheduled for students in local schools.

It is estimated that the driver of a motor vehicle in traffic has to make as many as 20 quick decisions a minute that involve some danger to himself or others on the road. A bicycle rider also has to make a number of similar decisions.

Many of these decisions involve the rules of the road, but a large number are matters of quick thinking and good common sense as well as a friendly, cooperative feeling towards the "other fellow" on the road.

The importance of this latter consideration—courtesy—cannot be over-emphasized and should be repeated again and again, for the beginning bicyclist.

Rules Of Courtesy

The following are several important ways in which courtesy on the road most frequently should be given. There are many more ways and the bicyclist rider—as well as the driver—will undoubtedly find them.

Right of Way—Yield the right of way—even though the other fellow should yield to you. It is something that no one actually has but that a person can always give for safety.

Obstructing Traffic—Riders, as well as drivers, must not interfere with or interrupt traffic.

Overlapping and Passing—In proper overtaking and passing is a major cause of accidents.

Important set of courtesy—as well as safety, is to treat a driver's right of way.

Merging Traffic—Courtesy is the basis of rider and driver action when traffic in two or more lanes must merge together.

Traffic Signals—The main purpose of traffic control signals is to alternate the right of way.

Town Arts Group To Extend Scope To Little Theater

A little theater group will be formed under the sponsorship of the Springfield Association of Creative Arts, the group announced this week.

A social committee, under the guidance of Mrs. C. N. Gerst and Mrs. J. H. Roller, is now selecting the first play for presentation in the spring. Philip Del Vecchio will be production manager.

The general chairman of the Springfield Association of Creative Arts, Mrs. Leo Johnson, presided at the last meeting and introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. M. Jordan Price. From her experience in amateur and professional dramatic productions, Mrs. Price explained the many facets of successfully presenting shows of this sort.

She included comments regarding the selection of dramas, comedies, musicals, copyright requirements, scenery construction, costuming, directing and general management.

Mrs. Price, who is a Springfield resident and a member of the Creative Arts Association, will serve as an advisor for the local little theater.

She is also area chairman of the New Jersey Theater League, co-chairman of the Committee for the Children's Theater, past president of the Board of Trustees of the Boulevard of Union, a member of the Maplewood Strayers, and former executive secretary of the Morris Repertory Theater.

Mrs. Johnson requested that residents who wish to join the general organization or the little theater group may call Mrs. Gerst (DR 6-3730) or Mrs. Roller (MU 2-9313).

Advent Services Planned Sunday By Presbyterians

The first Sunday in Advent will be observed in the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, this week with the administration of the sacrament of Holy Communion at both worship services, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

The Rev. Bruce W. Evans, pastor, will preach the communion meditation at both services. A male quartet, comprised of Ned Arledge, Harold Bishop, John Bunnell and Robert Modersohn, will sing the anthem, "O Master let me walk with Thee," at 9:30 service. At 11 a.m. the senior choir will sing "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty." Mrs. William J. McLaughlin will be at the organ.

Advent, the season of preparation for Christmas, is being observed in the Church School by the distribution of Advent wreaths for use as a worship center in the homes, according to Harold W. Jones, superintendent.

A devotional booklet giving the worship services for the four Sundays in Advent, and Christmas Eve has also been provided each family. Children and parents will gather around the Advent wreaths, lighting a candle each week and conducting the family devotions. On Christmas Eve, the "Christ Candle" will be lit in the concluding service, celebrating the birthday of Christ.

At 7:30 in the evening, an Advent concert will be presented in the Presbyterian parish house. The "Girls' Choir" of the church will present an Advent cantata on the coming of Christ into the hearts of men today. The choir will also sing other seasonal anthems. Guest soloists will augment the program, which is under the direction of John H. Bunnell, music director of the church. Gregg A. Anderson will accompany the choir on the piano.

The public has been invited.

Basketball Program For Boys Ready To Begin At Four Gyms

This Springfield Recreation Youth Basketball program will get under way on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 4, with four gymnasiums in use. Leagues will be organized at the James Caldwell, Thelma Sandmeier and Florence Gaudineer schools and at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, the Recreation Department announced.

Boys who are in grammar school (nine through 14 years of age) and grades four to eight are eligible to participate, regardless of where they go to school, as long as they are residents of Springfield. Boys who attend parochial or private schools may secure registration blanks at the offices of the Recreation Department in Town Hall. Registration blanks will also be available at all public schools.

Basketball activity for boys 9 and 10 (Small Fry League) is planned for the refurbished James Caldwell gym as well as the Thelma Sandmeier school. Boys who are 11 and 12 (State League) are to report to the Florence Gaudineer gym, with boys who are 13 and 14 (Ivy League) to report to the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gym.

Registrations, fundamentals, instruction in basketball and team selections will take place the first two weeks, with the actual start of the league as soon thereafter as possible.

Fathers who would like to serve as coaches, scorers and time-keepers are urged to attend the opening sessions on Dec. 4. All boys must wear sneakers and gym shorts in order to participate.

The registration fee is $2 and is payable upon registration. Team jerseys will be issued when the teams are selected.

A league schedule will be printed and distributed, giving the starting times and dates, with the results and game summaries published weekly in the Springfield Leader.

LEADER PROFILE

TOM McCABE

"Wrestling is a tremendously competitive sport," declares Tom McCabe, new wrestling coach at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. "It differs from most in the fact that there is very little, if any, teamwork involved. It is up to the boy himself to do what he is capable of."

"It's really a sport that builds a boy's confidence and self-reliance," the husky young coach says. "He depends solely upon himself and his skills."

McCabe, who teaches history and English at Dayton, wrestled during his school years at Sayre High School in the north-eastern part of Pennsylvania, and in King's College in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

He served in the U.S. Army in 1946 and 1947 in Japan, prior to his four years of college. In 1953, he was called back into service, and spent most of his three years in Germany. He was discharged as a staff sergeant.

Although this is McCabe's first year as wrestling coach at Dayton Regional—the first school he taught in following his release from the Army in 1956—was Dayton.

"I taught history and English at Dayton from 1956 to 1960, and served as assistant football coach. For the next four years, I taught the same subjects in high school in Beacon, N. Y. where I was assistant football and head wrestling coach." In 1964, he spent a year on the faculty at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Clark.

"I just taught classes there. I didn't serve on any of the sport teams."

Now that he's back at Dayton Regional, and heading the wrestling team, McCabe is spending a great deal of time with his 60 boys in "daily workouts" an hour-and-a-half per day—plus conditioning and teaching the boys the fundamentals of the sport.

"On Dec. 18, the team will be participating in the Union County Wrestling Tournament—which is going to be held in our school. On Dec. 23, there will be an alumni meet between former wrestlers and the present squad. Starting Dec. 29, we go into our regular season, which will consist of 12 regular matches—to run through Feb. 9.

"Upon completion," McCabe says, "we will compete in what are known as the district competitions (or eliminations). And during the latter part of February or the first part of March, the Jersey High School State Wrestling Tournament will be held—that is... for boys who have gone all the way!"

Boys who want to wrestle, says Coach McCabe, "must have permission cards signed by their parents or guardians and must pass a physical by the school doctor. They must also indicate what weight areas they will wrestle in."

"There are 12 mandatory weight classes in which the boys may compete," explains McCabe.

Are there ever any major accidents during wrestling competition between the boys?

"Very few that I've ever heard of—and none that I've ever seen," McCabe says. "In my experience, I've never seen any boy get hurt seriously in a match. While they're participating, a coach and officials watch closely—especially for dangerous holds."

"We also hold 'wrestle-offs.' The phrase simply means that boys in the same weight class compete with each other for the right to wrestle in a dual meet. They have to prove themselves every week. It's surprising," declares McCabe, "what an incentive it can be for a boy to give his own performance."

"The boys are taught, as they go along, to control themselves. It's a part of our character-building—as an individual and as a part of the team. The boy realizes that it also is a team effort—that what he does reflects on the 11 others. At the end of a match, it is the total points of the entire team that will win the meet for them."

McCabe points out that many of the boys on the wrestling teams are not "one-sport" boys. They also are a part of other school sports teams.

"I hope to have some of the boys who are participating in football and soccer go out for wrestling once their seasons are over."

Outstanding among the many advantages wrestling has to offer boys, McCabe reflects, is the fact that "nearly anyone can qualify. Wrestling is a sport in which boys who weigh 98 pounds and boys who weigh 250 pounds may participate... and participate equally. It does allow youngsters of all sizes, shanes, heights and weights to participate in a varsity sport."

"The only other sport I can think of off-hand that also offers a wider range of physical sizes is track, of course."

McCabe admits that although he is still new to the activities of this particular school, he is anxiously awaiting the open-

Fun For All Ages

The Recreation Department does a fine job with programs of all sorts for townspeople of assorted ages and sexes, and with a wide range of tastes. There are, however, several additional special activities which could well be considered.

First, there is shoveling snow. This could be done individually, by housewives on their own property. As a group activity, it might be most appropriate for children to clear out the driveways and entrances to their schools.

Chasing dogs is a sport particularly enjoyed by gentlemen, and they do best if they are the indoor type. To qualify for competition, the entrant must first put on his shoes and put down his newspaper where other members of the family can easily take it apart. He should then snarl quickly at whoever let the monster slip out—and the hunt is on.

A steady drizzle, with a mixture of puddles and quagmires—underfoot, increases the enjoyment. Garbage cans, with loose lids, should be spaced irregularly, to provide the dog with a definite objective. If a cat can be provided, it will vary the pace in a very stimulating manner. If not, a mailman constitutes an acceptable alternative.

Getting lost while visiting relatives and friends is a fine impromptu diversion. The more people in the car, the better. Each person should have his own suggestion as to the proper route. Each should be different from any other, and should be loudly repeated at every crossroads. For experts, a small child should be provided who forgot his own personal needs at the last gas station.

Finally, criticizing editors can put the final touches on a perfect season. No prior experience is required. The real expert is one who can hit his target at 50 paragraphs. The choice of weapons is optional with the critic, but mud is always popular.

DEPTH OF COMMITMENT

Your coverage of a recent study session of the Springfield Board of Education was most informative.

I sensed in your article of Nov. 11 the depth of commitment of the staff of our Springfield public schools which I have personally observed in back-to-school nights planned for parents.

The quality of education in our community is extremely high, but what is even more important is the concern shown for the individual pupil.

There is no higher goal in education than to aim, as Joseph Anderson stated: "for the maximum achievement on the part of each child in terms of his capabilities."

We owe a debt of gratitude to educational leaders, both lay and professional, whose concern is not for mass education, but for each child as an individual, with his own problems and unique potential.

Navy, State Group Look For Firms To Be Suppliers

The New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development is cooperating with the U. S. Navy in searching for small firms in the state which are interested in increasing business opportunities by supplying a wide range of items needed by the Navy.

The Navy is seeking suppliers of more than 60 different items. These include underwater log systems, cartridge cases, voltage indicators, batteries, air flasks, microwave spectrum analyzers and other products ideally suited for small business production.

A complete list of items needed and the Navy Purchasing unit handling them is on file at the Trenton offices of the Department of Conservation and Economic Development, and details will be made available to any New Jersey company upon request. Business concerns seeking further information may write to the State-Bureau of Commerce, Department of Conservation and Economic Development, P. O. Box 1889, Trenton, New Jersey 08625.

ONLY 1,705 MEN NEEDED

December Draft Call Down

The December draft call in New Jersey has been decreased to 1,705 men from the regular monthly level of 1,918.

Not as many men are needed, said Col. Joseph T. Avella, head of the New Jersey Selective Service System, because of increased enlistments. When draft calls are high,

Col. Avella said, enlistments in the armed services generally increase.

Men who were married prior to Aug. 27, 1965, will not be included in the December call, Col. Avella said.

The Department of the Army has requested, Col. Avella added, that, as nearly as possible, 25 percent of the December Induction Call be scheduled for each week throughout the month.

JOB CORPS GRADUATES

Young Men Are First To Finish Training

A continuing program to place Job Corps graduates in jobs is getting under way this month with the combined efforts of business and industry, education and government.

The first young men are completing their training in the unique residential-educational centers set up by Job Corps, a major youth program in the President's War on Poverty.

The men's and women's urban Job Corps centers are operated under contract by major corporations, leading universities and colleges, and state agencies. This unique combination of training skills and the development of proper work habits and attitudes.

Early graduates from Job Corps centers have been placed in such occupations as retail sales, welding, office and clerical work, food service, and preparation, machine shop, auto and small appliance repair.

These graduates have demonstrated their value to their new employers and it is anticipated that this source of trained employees will be a welcome addition to the American work force.

Regional meetings of business and industry leaders had been scheduled during the first half of November — the West Coast and Rocky Mountain states at the Parks Job Center at Pleasanton, Calif. on Nov. 3; the Eastern states at the Rodman Job Corps Center at New Bedford, Mass. on Nov. 5, and the Middle West — states at the Custer Job Corps Center at Battle Creek, Michigan on Nov. 12.

The Parks Center is operated by Litton Industries, Inc.; Custer by U. S. Industries, and Rodman by IBM's Science Research Associates. Other business firms involved in operating Job Corps Centers are P.T.'s Federal Electric Corp., Ford Motor Co.'s Philco Corp., Packard Bell Electronics, Burroughs Corp., Xerox and Westinghouse Air Brake.

American businessmen will receive information about the availability of Job Corps graduates by direct mail, through local and regional business and industry councils, and by various American-business leaders.

Nearly 14,000 young men and women now are in training in Job Corps centers. In addition to the eight men's urban training centers and the five women's centers now in operation, Job Corps also operates 54 conservation centers, where young men are receiving basic education and work skill training through doing long-needed conservation work. Additional centers will open during the coming months.

Employers who wish to hire Job Corps graduates or learn more about the Job Corps program of training should contact Mrs. Sylvia Pauley, Job Corps Placement Division, 30 E. 41st St., New York City.

MOTOR VEHICLE QUESTION BOX

Q. What is the 80/70 Excessive Speed Regulation?

A. In an effort to reverse the trend of increasing tragedies on the highways of New Jersey, the 80/70 Excessive Speed Regulation was put into effect on January 1, 1959. The Regulation provides for the suspension of the driving privilege or reciprocity privilege of any operator of a motor vehicle in New Jersey who:

- a. is convicted of operating a vehicle at a speed of 80 miles an hour or greater upon any street or highway on which the speed limit is 50 miles an hour or less;
- b. is convicted of operating a vehicle at a speed of 70 miles an hour or greater upon any turnpike project operated by the New Jersey Turnpike Authority or upon any other limited-access highway on which the speed limit is 60 miles an hour or less.

The regulation further provides that the first suspension shall be for a period of 30 days, the second for 60 days, and an indefinite period of time for those motorists who are convicted three or more times for violating the regulation. In addition, points will be levied against your driving record.

It May Be Tough, But Watch Those Calories At The Thanksgiving Feast

How would you like your Thanksgiving dinner piped through a tube at the mere touch of a button? You could have all you want, in the form of a commercial liquid formula that is 20 per cent protein, 30 per cent fat, and 50 per cent carbohydrate, according to Dr. Bernard Rosenberg, president of the Union County Heart Association.

That would be taking the "taste" out of Thanksgiving, you say? We're not surprised, Dr. Rosenberg says.

It was no fun, either, he points out for a group of obese subjects being treated by such a feeding device at St. Luke's Hospital, New York. When food was offered to them in this form only over a long period, their intake dropped to calorie levels ranging from a mere 53 to 332 per day. (A fair range for a ro-mount such a production for your benefit, and you're helpless, the doctor ruefully observes.

Once a year won't hurt you, of course. It's the long-running repeat performances, three times a day, every day, that add menacing pounds to the other burdens we carry, Dr. Rosenberg points out.

While the Union County Heart Association doesn't suggest taking the meal away from the man, it does propose taking some of the calories away from the meal. This requires forethought, some knowledge of caloric and nutritional values, and a few cooking tricks. The results can be just as palatable as the fattening feast described above.

Let's take that Thanksgiving menu, for a starter. Turkey is fine for a main course (duck or goose are too fat). But try basting it with consommé instead of fat. And the Heart Association suggests using fat-free bouillon to moisten the stuffing. Try acorn or butternut squash instead of candied sweet potatoes. Baked with a light glaze of brown sugar and cinnamon, they're in the holiday spirit at half the price in calories, the Union County Heart Association reports.

Mushrooms, which are low in calories, can add glamor as well as savor to the main course. Toss the salad with lemon juice or low-calorie dressings spiked with herbs. And for the sweet touch to top off the feast, there is a variety of fruit or whipped gelatin desserts to take the place of rich pie or pastry.

One basic rule for this and every meal you serve, be it for two or a crowd—don't push seconds. Moderate portions will help keep the calories down.

Other basic principles the Union County Heart Association urges you to keep in mind for family meals the year round are:

- Eating patterns are es-
- Established in early childhood.
- The meals you serve can set your children on the road to good health and longer life.
- Calorie cutting begins at the supermarket. Buy only lean cuts of meat (avoid fattened prime steaks and ribs roasts); plan more meals around fish and poultry.
- Back in the kitchen, your cooking methods should be calorie- and cholesterol-conscious. Use skim milk in recipes calling for milk; broil, rather than fry or saute; use polyunsaturated cooking oils and special margarines whenever possible. Prepare soups and stews a day ahead, and refrigerate; skim the congealed fat from the top before heating and serving the next day.
- And if, at the same time, you can promote a program of greater physical activity, you and your family will really have something to be thankful about when the holiday season rolls around next year: good health and good looks.

Area Mayors Greet Viet Nam Diplomat

The mayors of Union, Kenilworth, Roselle Park, Roselle and Linden were scheduled to greet the South Vietnamese ambassador to the United Nations during his whirlwind tour of eastern Union County Tuesday.

Nguyen Duy Lien, the South Vietnamese ambassador, was scheduled to come to this area as a guest of the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors, which was to honor him at a dinner and reception in the Elizabeth-Carroll Hotel.

According to Martin H. Hochstadt, president of the realtors group, a state police escort was to meet Ambassador Duy at the mouth of the Lincoln Tunnel. His first date was with Mayor Robert Diamond of Hillside at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

From there he was to proceed to Union at 4:30, when Mayor E. Edward Bierbaum was scheduled to welcome the ambassador to his community. Twenty minutes later, Mayor William Ahern of Kenilworth was to greet the ambassador at Borough Hall.

Mayor Henry Decker of Roselle Park, Warren Stadden of Roselle and Alexander Wrigley of Linden were scheduled to welcome Ambassador Duy at 20-minute intervals thereafter. At 6:30 p.m. the ambassador was scheduled to go to Elizabeth, where Mayor Thomas Dunn was to be on hand to greet him.

Charles V. Berry of Union was program chairman for the affair in Elizabeth.

The ambassador's visit was to mark South Viet Nam Friend-

Institute Toured By County C Of C

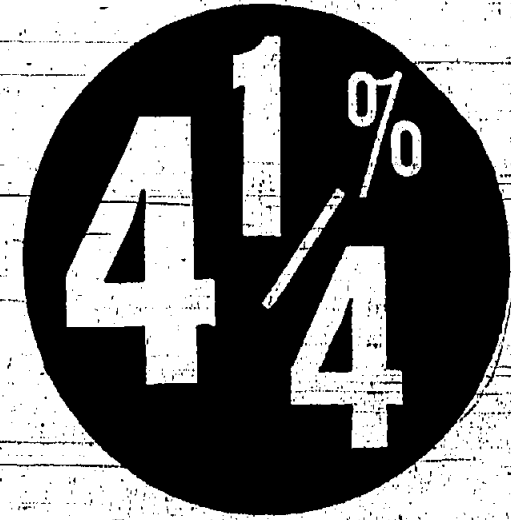

The Education Committee of the Eastern Union County Chamber of Commerce last week toured the facilities of the Union County Technical Institute on Globe Ave., Mountainside, and the Dental-Medical Center in Scotch Plains.

The object of the tour, in the words of chamber chairman Richard E. Crane, was "to see the existing program, hear the hopes of the institute and decide for themselves what further educational developments are needed in Union County."

Others who took the tour included Matthew Wilson of Ohaus Scale Co., Union, William Burk of the Singer Co., Elizabeth; M. I. Easton of the YMCA; Fred Bender of St. Elizabeth Hospital; Burton P. Lewis of the Roselle public schools; and Edward L. Fox of the chamber. Dr. George H. Baxel, institute superintendent, was host to the group.

HARMONIA'S NEW RATES

EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1, 1966

NEW "HI-RATE" INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

NEW "HI-RATE" REGULAR SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

NO HIGHER RATE IN THE GARDEN STATE

TO REWARD HARMONIA SAVERS WITH LONG-RANGE GOALS WHO WANT HIGHER EARNINGS, the bank introduces the INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT effective January 1, 1966, which will give depositors 4 1/2% a year return after deposit has remained in the account for 4 full quarterly periods.

Until a deposit shall have remained in an Investment Savings Account for four full quarterly dividend periods, it earns dividends at the rate applicable to Regular Savings Accounts — 4 1/4% per annum, effective January 1, 1966 computed in the same manner. At that time the deposit will receive a special dividend — presently 1/2% of 1% per annum, for the preceding four full quarterly dividend periods. The current rate on Regular Savings Accounts, if continued through the four full quarterly dividend periods following a deposit, plus the present special rate, would therefore produce earnings at the rate of 4 1/2% per annum on the deposit for such periods.

Thereafter, the deposit will be credited quarterly with dividends at the Investment Savings Account rate declared by The Board of Managers from time to time, which will be composed of the then Regular Savings Account dividend rate, plus the additional rate then in effect.

SPECIAL PASSBOOKS

Special passbooks for Investment Savings Accounts will be required, and will be issued upon an initial deposit of $1,000. Additional deposits and withdrawals may be made in multiples of $500, but dividends may be withdrawn in any amount. The balance in such an account shall be not less than $1,000 and shall not be more than $50,000, except as permitted by law. If balance drops below $1,000, account must be closed or transferred to regular savings account, in which case it would be without loss of dividend at regular rate.

Open your Investment Savings Account now by mail or at our Morris Avenue or Union Square Office. It will start earning interest at the new higher rate on January 1, 1966. Regular Savings Accounts may be transferred at any time without loss of interest.

INTEREST ON HARMONIA REGULAR SAVINGS ACCOUNTS will be at annual rate of 4 1/4% starting January 1, 1966 — compounded and paid 4 times a year on all balances of $25 to $50,000.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO OPEN AN INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT OR ADD TO YOUR REGULAR ACCOUNT... NOW!

Remember — your Harmonia bankbook can be used at both Harmonia Offices.

The "Hi-Rate" INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT is ideal for long range savings goals such as a new home, a car, retirement, college education, as part of an estate-planning program, etc. Although this type of account has income advantages, it is, however, a wise thrift habit to keep some funds in a regular savings account... readily available for financial emergencies and opportunities.

LOAN ADVANTAGES

YOU CAN BORROW ON YOUR INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT just as you can on a regular savings account. Present your bankbook and we'll arrange your loan in a matter of minutes.

OR HOW TOM LOST HIS HEAD

'Big Man' Found The Ladies Could Dish It Out

By JOE TOOLE

This guy was something else. He had on the fine duds with these long yellow shoes and a suit that was almost red with a sheen (so help me George, with a sheen) and it blended nice, if you could take it sartorially, with his red bowtie.

We met this character in a store down town and he introduced himself as Tom. The guy was coming on strong, preening himself, smoothing down that red suit and craning a big-jawed head on a long neck and looking down at those yellow shoes. The guy just had to be a ladykiller. We mean, in his barnyard, wherever it was, he'd been a big man.

But the guy was traffic. "Like this town's nowhere man. I mean I just don't make the scene here," he told us.

We asked Tom what was the matter, and he told us he was in bad trouble. It sounded like a touch. You know, where the buy tells you his problem and then says he needs a quarter to get to Newark or somewhere.

But Tom didn't ask for money. He said he'd made a mistake. Where he'd come from, they'd treated him fine. Gave him all these fine clothes and fed him well and let him act like the cock of the walk. He'd really found a home there.

The way it was going, he'd figured on staying there for the rest of his life.

But then a couple of days ago, the guys who ran the place came up to him and said how they liked his style, there was nothing personal you understand, Tom, but they weren't going to be able to keep him on.

It wasn't like that they didn't like his work. He was doing fine they told Tom but it was just . . . well, and here they started getting cute, Tom said. It was that they had better things in mind for him. They gave him that bit about all the world's a stage and all the people playin', or something, and that they had a part in mind for Tom.

And Tom, vain, preening in his fine red suit and long yellow shoes, bought it and allowed himself to be sent on to the big town. When Tom got here he said he liked it fine. The people looked friendly, the girls pretty, and he figured the guys really had his best interests at heart. Everything looked rosey until he started looking around for accommodations. They only place they had for him was this store and his room.

"Well look at it," Tom said. "Was a bit cramped. And the company they asked him to keep. 'I mean,' Tom said, "look around. There are people here I used to know." He shuddered. "But look at them now." He had a point. The "people" just didn't look too healthy. You figured they'd never make good insurance risks.

"I got to get out of town," Tom said. He said he didn't have too much time.

We were having a little trouble hearing him now. A lot of people were standing around appraising him. Oh, he was the one in that red suit. And right in the center of the crowd was this smug-looking guy in a white apron. We didn't figure the connection but it was obvious Tom didn't go for the guy.

"Look ya' got to spring me, pal," Tom was saying. "Talk to him. That guy over there. It's important. A matter of life and death."

So we walked over to the smug-looking guy. You could see that even here Tom was going over big with the ladies. They all wanted him but this guy kept shaking his head. He wasn't going to "budge" on the price, or something, he was he was saying.

"Okay, okay," we said. "What's it all about?" we implored. "Tom over there is our friend. Whatcha' got him in a cage for?"

The guy lost his smug look. He looked frankly stunned. "Where you been buddy," he said. "Tomorrow's Thanksgiving Day and your friend Tom is a turkey. He's going to be very big in town."

Well it's like the man said, if you got to go, you might as well go out big.

Name State Senator To Head Campaign

Senator Frank S. Farley of Atlantic City, a businessman and state senator, has been named State Chairman of the 1966 March of Dimes, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation-March of Dimes, announced in New York this week.

Senator Farley will lead in the organization and direction of thousands of volunteers throughout this state in the traditional January campaign to raise funds to fight birth defects.

"My lifelong interest in the welfare of young people and my particular interest in Boys' Clubs make this fight on birth defects a personal one," Farley said. "This is a fight everyone must join." Senator Farley said. "Birth defects are the nation's second greatest destroyer of life. Every year we lose half a million unborn babies as well as 80,000 infants, children and adults because of birth defects."

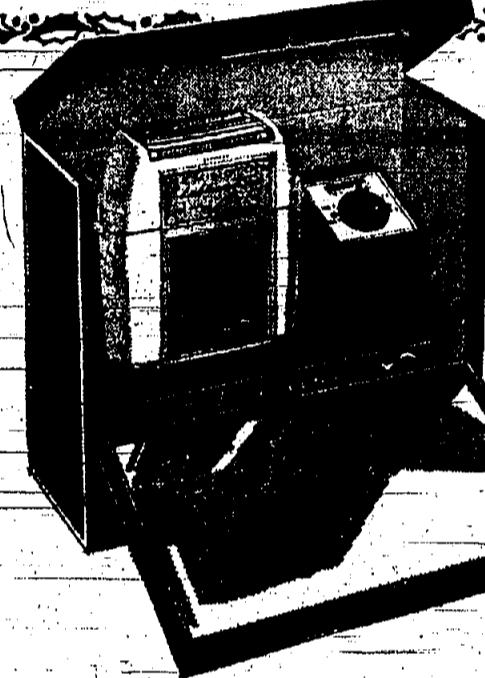

Senator Farley explained that the voluntary health organization, which directed the successful fight against polio, now combats birth defects in part through the March of Dimes support of 57 birth defects treatment centers, but we hope to reduce the appalling cost of maintaining children for whom present knowledge offers no hope for useful, independent life.

"But fully twice that number of centers are needed to take care of the babies and the children handicapped by birth defects. Your contributions are also urgently needed to conduct research seeking causes and cures for birth defects," he said.

Senator Farley spoke of the work of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at Babies' Unit Hospital, Newark, St. Francis Hospital, Trenton and Ranocosa Valley Hospital, Wilkesboro as "a reflection of what can be done." But you need only to talk to the medical staffs to recognize that we are scarcely scratching the surface of the problem.

"In our state alone, each year there are an estimated 9,500 new birth defects babies.

March Of Dimes Leader Lists Regional Chairmen For Drive

Mr. Arthur C. Fried, chairman of the Union County March of Dimes, this week announced the makeup of the team which will direct the 1948 March of Dimes campaign against birth defects in Union County.

In directing the campaign, Fried said he has divided the county into five regions, appointing a chairman for each region. These five leaders are: John F. Mottley of Elizabeth, as chairman of Region 1 comprising Union, Hillside and Elizabeth; Christopher Dietz of Rahway, as chairman of Region 2 comprising Clark, Winfield, Rahway and Linden; Aaron Martin Arnold of Fairwood, as chairman of Region 3 comprising Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Westfield, Garwood and Fairwood; Mrs. Sophie E. Baskanski of Cranford, as chairman of Region 4 comprising Kenilworth, Roselle Park, Roselle and Cranford; and Jay B. Bloom of 266 Morris avenue, Springfield, as chairman of Region 5 comprising Berkeley Heights, New Providence, Summit, Springfield and Mountainside.

These leaders will be responsible for appointing municipal chairmen in the 21 towns of the county and in guiding and directing the drive in those towns. "We're highly pleased that so many of our prominent civic and social leaders have accepted positions of responsibility for the March of Dimes campaign this January," said Fried. "I know that they are just as concerned as I am about the terrible toll taken by birth defects. Some 250,000 American babies are born each year with serious defects. Birth defects also cause twice as many deaths annually as does cancer, when prenatal loss is included."

Fried pointed out that despite the magnitude of the problem, important progress is being made through the March of Dimes.

Camp Membership Restricted By YMCA

Only members of the YMCA of Eastern Union County are being accepted at this time for attendance at Camp Wawayanda next summer, it was announced this week.

This policy has been adopted because of the fact that the camp was filled to capacity very early this year, preventing some YMCA member boys and girls from attending.

George W. Hoffman, branch executive for the Kenilworth-Roselle Park-Union Branch YMCA, also pointed out that a recent policy of the Camp Committee gave members of the Eastern Union County YMCA a preferential camp fee on the 1948 rates.

Those interested in insuring a reservation for next year should call the YMCA at 887-5570.

Walter T. Margolis Jr., president of the Frost Valley Association, this week announced the appointment of Glenn Samford, assistant YMCA secretary of the Frost Valley operation.

Many residents of Union County know of Frost Valley as the home of Camp Wawayanda for boys and girls.

Samford will be replacing Jim Wilkes in charge of staff and camper recruitment.

Samford is currently engaged in talking with parents about special camp activities of Wawayanda, such as the Counselors in Training program, the Construction-Engineers Corps and the Trail Blazers.

Education Program Set At Y For Parents

An Adult Education Program is scheduled for parents and guests of children participating in the Y. M. C. A. Jack and Jill Cooperative Nursery next Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Five Points Y. It was announced this week by Mrs. Richard McElroy, chairman of the pre-school committee.

Chief psychiatric social worker with the Union County Psychiatric Clinic, Miss Barbara Stetson, will show a film the "Fascinating Hours, Fascinating Five".

The Nursery program is offered for the purpose of providing boys and girls the opportunity to develop socially, physically and emotionally. The cooperative center for children, below public school age provides regular association with other children in an environment suited to the needs of the child and group," said Mrs. McElroy.

The education and development of the parents of young children through observation and participation in the nursery's education, administrative and social programs are also of vital concern to the entire unit, she said. The teachers are specially trained to understand the nature and needs of this age child.

Classes are held two mornings a week for children who will be in Kindergarten in 1967 and three mornings a week for children who will be in school in September, 1966.

There is also a class scheduled three afternoons a week for children four years of age. The session has a few openings. Information is available by calling the Y Branch of 687-5570.

Hiking Club Sets Weekend Jaunts

The program committee of the Union County Hiking Club has scheduled two hikes for the members and guests of the club for this weekend.

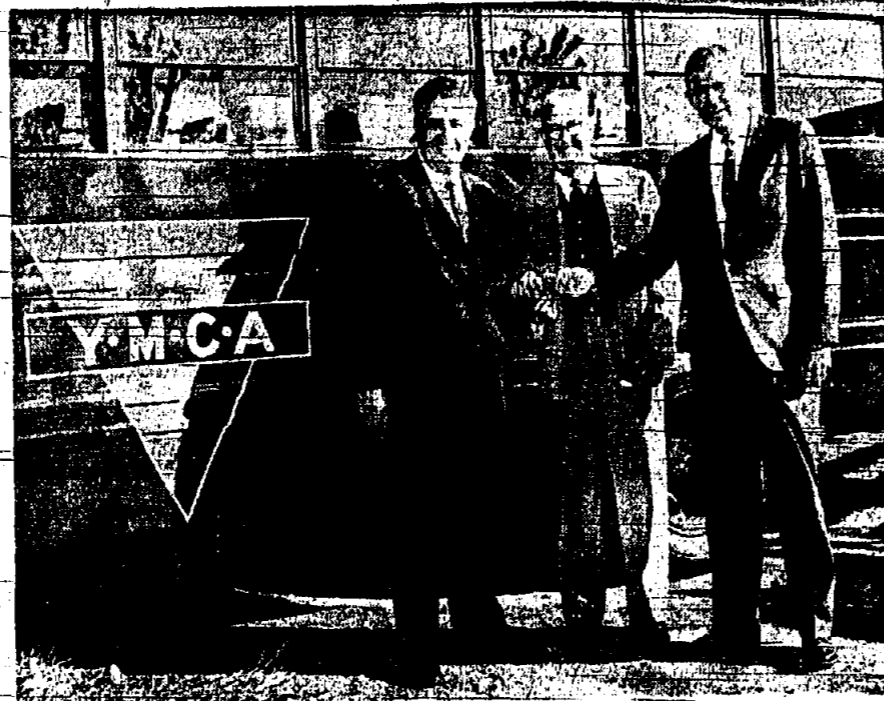

On Saturday, William Chouch, Elizabeth, will lead a Saturday afternoon ramble in the South Mountain Reservation. The hikers will meet at the parking area on Crest Dr., nearest to South Orange Av. at 1:30 p. m., and will visit Mines Point, Bill's Bluff, and Hemlock Falls.

On Sunday, Carl Richards, Springfield, will lead a 10-mile hike over Catamount Mountain Ridge to Pine Meadow Lake in Rockland County, New York. The hikers will meet at the administration building of the Union County Park Commission, Warmanco Park, Elizabeth, at 8:15 a. m.

For further information contact the recreation department of the Union County Park Commission, a spokesman said.

Secretaries To Meet

The Union County Association of Education Secretaries will hold the second of four meetings Monday, Nov. 29, at the Beechwood School in Mountainside. "You and Your Voice" is the program featuring a speaker from the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

GIFT OF A BUS — This new bus has been donated to the Five Points Y.M.C.A., serving Union, Kenilworth and Roselle Park, by L & S Chevrolet Co. of Union and the Union Rotary Club. Marco DiGiovanni, left, Y.M.C.A. Branch chairman, gets ignition keys from E. Arthur Lynch Sr., coaler, of L & S Chevrolet, and Herbert W. Boardman, Rotary president.

New Bus Is Donated To YMCA By Rotary Club, L & S Chevrolet

The L & S Chevrolet Company of Union and the Union Rotary Club has donated a bus to the Five Points Y.M.C.A. Branch.

The bus is already being used to transport children to the central Y.M.C.A. in Elizabeth for swimming instruction and for special educational and recreational outings.

The Five Points Y.M.C.A. Branch serves Union, Kenilworth, Roselle Park and Union.

"It is indeed gratifying" said Marco DiGiovanni, chairman of the Y.M.C.A. Branch Board of Managers, "when local businesses and service clubs pool their resources to make such a large contribution possible."

"When a project like this is encouraged, it takes the willingness and cooperation of many such as the Elery Auto Body Inc. which painted the bus; Union Automotive Company, which made the paint possible; the Liberty Sign Service, which trimmed the bus with outstanding lettering; and the Kenilworth Atlantic Service Station for their service and technical knowledge in maintaining the bus."

DiGiovanni said the bus may also be used for camping and trips to such places as Gettysburg, Washington and Williamsburg, Va.

BUYING A COAT? BEFORE YOU DO READ THIS PIECE

Shopping for a new winter coat requires that you plan your purchase carefully. You can save time, money and uncertainty by giving some thought to your purchase first.

First, decide what type of coat will fit your needs. Do you need an all-purpose coat, a dressy coat, or one that is definitely sporty? If it is to be a coat that doubles for many occasions, then more careful consideration and selection is needed.

Second, decide on a price limit before you start shopping. If this limit is set by a strict budget, then don't be swayed by a higher price tag.

By setting a price range, your choices will be narrowed and you can concentrate on getting the best value for your money. Look at coats in various stores and particularly places that you know carry merchandise of good quality.

When you get to the stage of trying on coats, then you must consider the quality of the coat for the price. Remember that long wear is directly related to quality of material and workmanship.

Therefore, the quality of the outer fabric, the type of workmanship and type of coat lining, should be examined carefully. If these features can be checked off as good, then you can be reasonable sure that your coat will keep its good appearance and shape after long wear and many cleanings. The inside of a coat often tells more about the grade of quality than the outside fabric.

Style is an important part of selecting a coat. It should be a style that is becoming to your figure and yet be one that will remain in fashion for a couple of seasons. Modish styles will look out of date if a coat is to be worn for several seasons.

The color of a coat can often make the difference between a satisfactory or unsatisfactory purchase. Choose a color that is becoming to you and that goes well with the other garments in your wardrobe. The color of your winter coat is usually the basis of your wardrobe color scheme.

In selecting a coat, you should be exacting about the fit before your purchase. Remember that the garments that you will wear with your coat, suits or dresses, will affect the fit of your coat. Good fit is necessary for good service, appearance, comfort and all-around satisfaction.

OUTBREAK OF FLU

Public health authorities are predicting a heavy outbreak of influenza this winter, on the basis of the cyclic pattern characteristic of the disease. Ask your doctor about flu vaccination for yourself and your family; the Union-County Health Association advises.

Public Urged To Use Seals Properly

Correct usage of Christmas Seals on holiday mail and packages is important according to a reminder issued this week by Mrs. J. M. Wisari of Elizabeth, honorary chairman of the 1965 Christmas Seal campaign of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League.

"It is urgent," Mrs. Wisari said, "for each family in Union County to make a contribution to the fight against tuberculosis, which appears to be on the increase in our county. It is also important that everyone use the Christmas Seals extensively as a reminder to all that citizen war on TB is continuing until this unnecessary disease is eradicated. We must guard against using seals incorrectly, however, and thus adding to the burden of our postal employees in their busiest season."

Mrs. Wisari cited messages from America's two leading authorities on correct usage. "Amy Vanderbilt," author of "Amy Vanderbilt's New Complete Book of Etiquette," said recently: "Use Christmas Seals freely. Place them on the back of the envelopes, never on the front where only the postage stamp and the address belong. Use TB Christmas Seals to decorate Christmas packages as well as outer wrappings of packages going through the mails—but again, never in the address area—instead, always on the back. Use TB Christmas Seals on the message side of correspondence post-cards. Use TB Christmas Seals to decorate your letter paper, business and social. Use TB Christmas Seals to seal your Christmas cards. This is the way to show that you care and to encourage others to care, too."

Elizabeth L. Post, editor of the newly revised "Emily Post's Etiquette: The Blue Book of Social Usage," wrote, "The true spirit of Christmas may be seen in visible form in the use of TB Christmas Seals. Pasted on the back flap of the card envelopes as well as on Christmas gift packages, these attractive seals add color and cheer. By using TB Christmas Seals you contribute to a worthy cause and enhance the beauty and meaning of your Christmas message. Remember, the fight against TB and other respiratory diseases is a major battle on many fronts. Christmas Seals help strengthen the fight for better community health."

Mrs. Wisari emphasized that by using Christmas Seals, you demonstrate your support of the work of the Tuberculosis League and you encourage others to do the same.

To Present Film Of Gas Pipe Line At Nature Center

"March of Progress," a color sound film, the story of the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation, will be presented at the Union County Park Commission's Trallice Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, Mountaintop on Sunday at 3 p. m.

The film shows the construction of the pipe line from the Rio Grande River in Texas to the New York City Boroughs of Manhattan and Brooklyn, a distance of more than 1,000 miles. At the present time the company has over 8,000 miles of pipelines in operation.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, at 4 p. m. each day, Dr. Harold N. Moldenke, director of Trallice, will present one-half hour nature talks for children. The topic to be discussed during the four days is "European and African Birds." The lectures will be illustrated with color slides. Admission is free.

The Trallice Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p. m., and on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays from 1 to 5 p. m. The public is invited to visit the Nature Center and to participate in the scheduled programs; spokesman said.

Scouts Urge Participation In 3 Areas Of Area Council

The Union County Boy Scouts of America, this week issued a call for increased participation in the Council, which serves some 7,700 boys in 12 communities of Eastern Union County, including Springfield, Kenilworth, Roselle and Roselle Park and Linden.

"There are available in the 12 communities, 29,000 boys. Thus Union Council is only serving one out of four, while surveys indicate three of every four boys would like to be scouts," a spokesman said.

It was noted that these 7,700 boys are distributed throughout 210 Club Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts.

The Council said that in order to make scouting available to more boys, three major things must be accomplished:

1. The administrative scouters group needs to be increased 100 percent or by 200 more.
2. To increase membership, the Council must have more sponsoring institutions. They will use the whole Scout family program as a part of their youth program.
3. Union County has a budget for 1965 of $96,000 and a proposed budget for 1966 of $107,000. Each community is responsible for raising funds for scouting, and in some of the towns major support comes from United Funds, namely Roselle, Roselle Park and Linden.

Funds must be raised independently in Kenilworth, Springfield and Union. Campaign chairmen in the various towns include: James C. Coulon, Union and Springfield, with James Caveley of Springfield and B. Warren Hehl of Union as vice-chairmen.

Harold Grapenthin and Charles Lennon are chairmen in Kenilworth.

"Our goal is to have at least 10,000 boys enrolled as Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers, through their sponsoring organizations such as churches, school and civic clubs, by 1970," a Council spokesman said.

"Only through increased manpower, additional financial support from the United Funds and independent communities, can Union Council attain its goal of building character and training for citizenship for the 10,000 boys in these 12 towns."

Among the sponsors of the march in this area are David Ludlow of Summit, a prominent Quaker; the Rev. Jacob Trapp, minister of the Unitarian Church, Summit; Dr. Robert Allen and Dr. Harry Dublin, Newark State College professors; the Rev. J. G. Miller of Greystone Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth; Rabbi Reuben R. Levine of Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield; and Rabbi Israel S. Dreiner of Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield.

Parents of students at the Union County Technical Institute on Globe ave., Mountaintop, and at the Medical-Dental Center in Scotch Plains visited the schools last Friday night.

Dr. George H. Baxel, superintendent of vocational-technical schools of Union County, spoke in townships about the program there that covers data processing and chemical, electronic and mechanical technology. John R. Green, coordinator, spoke in Scotch Plains about the programs there for dental and medical assistants and practical nurses.

Plans are being made for a parents' night at the new Vocational and Retraining Center located at 957 Ball ave., Union, where a program was recently begun for teaching pre-apprentice machinists.

March On Saturday To Seek Viet Peace

Dorothy Eldridge, New Jersey Coordinator for the "March on Washington for Peace in Viet Nam," has announced that the planners of the project expect 2,000 New Jersey residents to join 20- to 25 thousand other Americans in Washington this Saturday.

Chartered buses for marchers from this area will leave at 7 a.m. from the railroad station in Westfield, said Mrs. Sylvia Zisman of Springfield, a member of the Union County coordinating committee. Interested persons may call her at DR 6-5829.

Leaders of the march explained that they are not just protesting the war in Viet Nam but are presenting suggestions to the administration such as asking the U. S. to initiate a cease-fire, to halt the bombing of North Viet Nam, to halt the introduction of new men and

MAN BROUGHT HIM FROM ASIA

Mouse, One-Ounce Pest, Finds People 'Nice'

If Mrs. Housewife, who is usually pictured as jumping up on a chair at the sight of a mouse, knew how destructive and costly this little animal can be, she would get down and take after it with a baseball bat or some other lethal weapon.

That's the main point of a statement by F. S. Kirkpatrick, manager of the Mountaintop Office of Western Exterminating, who says that mice are expensive to maintain—even if you don't keep them intentionally.

For a creature something over two inches long and weighing less than an ounce, the house mouse (or to use his scientific name, mus musculus musculus; mus appropriately meaning thief) can cause more than his share of trouble.

Walt Disney to the contrary, the mouse can be anything from a cute nuisance to the carrier of at least one disease (and scientists suspect him of transporting others).

Unlike its bigger and uglier brother rodent, the rat, Mister Mouse is a nibbler. He eats 20 times or more a day, spoils or defouls far more than he consumes, and gnaws for fun (and to keep his teeth short and sharp) on things he won't eat at all. Momma mouse, a devoted mother, also will raid and destroy to get cloth, paper or other soft easily-shredded material for her nest.

Mice are often infested with parasites—fleas, lice and mites.

At least one disease, a chick-enpox-like rickettsial infection, is spread by mites that live on mice. Fortunately the disease is not serious, but scientists have their suspicions, as yet unproved, that mice may be vectors of other more menacing diseases.

The householder can get rid of a mouse or two, but heavy infestations require measures best entrusted to the professional pest control operator.

The house mouse, and his country cousins the field mice, are equally pestiferous and so closely related that for all practical homeowner purposes, a mouse is just a mouse. The mouse is originally a foreigner, his first home probably being Asia. No newcomer, he is mentioned in the Bible before his big brother the rat, or any other pest.

Mice like people; no one else is so nice to them. Man has carried the mouse as far as half the world, and has introduced him since the beginning of recorded history. Rugged little creatures, mice can go without water for 30 days, can thrive as happily in a zero-degree cold storage plant as they can snug and warm in your old wool sweater in the attic.

No one knows how many mice there are in the United States. It has been estimated by biologists that rats and mice together account for a quarter of all the animals alive in North America today. They estimate that there is at least one rat for every living human—and mice outnumber rats.

Mice can reproduce at a fantastic rate, bearing litters of six to eight pink and hairless babies eight to ten times per year. On several recorded occasions, the mouse population has literally exploded into infestations of unbelievable size. One of these occurred in 1928 in Kern County, Calif., with mice so numerous that eight wagon loads (more than 18,000 pounds) were caught and hauled away from one ranch in a single night.

Such explosions are so rare as to be a scientific curiosity, but infestation of a house by hundreds of mice is by no means uncommon.

And with every one of them enjoying some 20 meals per day—as your guest—it's better business for the lady of the house to help for a mousetrap instead of a chair the next time Mister Mouse comes in view.

HOME SWEET HOME — Millions of mice are making a beeline for cover and your house could well be his happy home this winter, the Western Exterminating Company warns.

FD Students To Hold Blood Drive For Viet

The students of the Florham-Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University are sponsoring a blood drive for the benefit of the members of the American armed forces fighting in Viet Nam. It will be held Dec. 14 from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Dining Hall.

The blood drive at the campus will be aided by the Bergen Community Blood Bank which will supply all the necessary equipment. If the blood is not needed by the servicemen stationed in Viet Nam, they may request that the blood be given to any member of their immediate family residing in New Jersey.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

By PHYLLIS GREER

Specialist in Human Relations at Rutgers University says that the home is the most important source of bias. Adults often are not conscious of the many casual influences they exert on children. Father says he doesn't like a certain vegetable. Junior refuses to eat it. Mother comments on the carelessness of a worker of a specified category or race. Child believes that everybody of that category is careless. A youngster generalizes from little information. Even when the parent is not prejudiced, it is easy for the child to take a careless remark seriously.

SCIENCE TOPICS

YOUR BOY NEEDS ENZYMES' SPEEDS. BODY CELLS can do in one minute what would otherwise require several thousand years due to the action of enzymes, which make life possible. Enzymes speed-up vital biochemical processes such as the breaking down of foods and the releasing of energy. But, like catalysts, they are not changed themselves by the reaction. Without enzymes, our bodily functions would proceed too slowly to sustain life.

ELECTRON BEAMS have been used to drill microscopic holes and etch grooves in tiny parts of foods and in tiny parts of a body. Now holes four one-thousandths of an inch in diameter can be drilled in metal, yet be "visible" to microelectronics technicians. A new device developed by Pennsylvania State University uses electrons to drill and etch and create a picture of the process.

Slim Lead Is Held By Tigers' Team In Bowling Action

The Tigers retained their slim one-game lead in the Friday afternoon Boys' Bowling League last week. The Tigers ran their consecutive winning streak to nine games before bowing to the Chiefs in the second contest last Friday.

This was the Chiefs' first victory of the season. The boys meet at the Springfield Bowlers in a league sponsored by the Recreation Department. The Rangers, Royals and Black Hawks all remain tied for second place.

The league-leading Tigers met the winless Chiefs last week in a feature match. The Tigers escaped with a split in two games. The Chiefs rose up to win their first game of the season behind the fine bowling of Rich Freundlich. Bobby Zucker also hit the pins well for the Chiefs. Freundlich tallied a high series of 234. Captain Greg Spector, paced the league leaders as he scored a 266 series. Robert Karlsberg at 227 also helped the Tigers.

The high-scoring Rangers remained a game behind the Tigers as they divided a pair of games with the Chargers. The League's high average bowler, Mitch Wolff, paced the Ranger attack. Mitch tallied a 275 series. Henry Zachau also rolled well for the Rangers. Henry scored 253 for two games. Alan Schlander was high for the Chargers with a 271 series.

The Royals stayed in contention in second place as they split a pair of games with the Black Hawks. The Black Hawks, Royals and Ranger are tied for second place. Steve Grau once again was top man for the Royals. Steve rolled a 256 series. Andy Scheerer at 225 also was effective for the Royals. Jeff Slater with a 251 series paced the Black Hawks, with Gary Neifeld helping with a 227 series.

The final match of the day saw the Eagles and the Bruins divide a pair of games. Billy Schwab with a 247 series paced the Bruins. Howie Levine paced the Eagles with a 260 series. Mike Sanders also rolled well for the Eagles. Mike hit the pins for a series score of 235.

Mitch Wolff of the Rangers continues to out-distance all bowlers in the league in the race for high individual average. Mitch is averaging a sensational 140 for the season. Jay Silverman remains in second with a 128 season average. Steve Grau is third with an average of 122. Gary Neifeld at 120 is in the fourth spot. Jeff Slater of the fifth leading bowler. Jeff is averaging 118 for the season.

The remaining boys with averages in the top 10 are: Alan Schlander, 118; Howie Levine, 117; Rich Freundlich, 117; Scott Prussing, 117; and Henry Zachau, 116.

WILLIE THE WORM WILL literally worm his way into your heart! With his benign expression of friendliness, he really couldn't be cuter. And perhaps the best part of all is that there isn't just one Willie—there are two of them. The super sized one is used as a cushion while the little miniature acts as a pin cushion. In fact, if you make the little one first, you can use him while you make the big one.

PERKY ANTENNAS
Translating live animals into household accessories has always been both appealing and imaginative, and this pair is no exception. Both Willie Sr. and Willie Jr. can be very effective when made in bright green felt—but if you feel in the mood for a truly whimsical touch—why not try a shocking pink or a bright yellow? These perky antennae are made with two lavender pipe cleaners, plus a few purple wooden beads. These add a nice balancing touch to the tail. Add their saucer-like eyes and a smiling mouth and there you are—all so easy to make and such fun to own.

DISAPPEAR LIKE HOT CAKES
It wouldn't be too extravagant to make two or three of the large size cushions—especially if there are teen agers around—they'll love them. Small Willies will disappear like the proverbial hot cakes because you'll find yourself giving them away as gifts. After all, what friend wouldn't be delighted with one? The Springfield students are Barry L. Antonucci, David R. Booth, Frank G. Conroy, Robert J. Costanza, Richard Evans III, James E. Liles, Barbara H. Moore, Joseph H. Musselman, Richard F. Healey, Jerome N. Josephis, Janice M. Rothstein and Fred L. Siskarian.

This is the first group of Union County students to receive financial aid under the state's County College Act. The grants reduce tuition at Union Junior College from $400 to $200 a semester for a full-time student. Students from all of the county's 12 communities are receiving tuition aid grants this semester.

The tuition aid plan was adopted in the spring by the UJC board of trustees and the freeholder-board upon the recommendation of an advisory committee.

Union County has become the first county to implement the County College Act of 1962, which authorized establishment of two-year county or community colleges and utilization of existing accredited, non-denominational two-year colleges.

A LOOK AT THE UNITED NATIONS with Trudina Howard

It's UNICEF Christmas Card Time Again

UNICEF spelled backwards doesn't mean a thing, and UNICEF spelled forwards stands for the "United Nations Children's Fund" which doesn't come out right either, for that leaves "i" and "e" left over. But, according to the dictionary, i.e. means "that is" and at this time of year when it is Christmas card buying time — THAT IS: UNICEF Christmas cards. It could mean help to thousands of needy children throughout the world.

Actually, the "i" and the "e" stand for "International" and "Emergency" which was contained in the original full name of UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund) when it was founded 20 years ago to help the children of war-torn Europe in the emergency situation after the war. Today UNICEF helps all the underprivileged children of the world, and the purchase of just one box of Christmas cards at $1.25 for ten, will provide enough penicillin to cure 20 children of yaws, a very contagious tropical disease characterized by large skin eruptions.

Since UNICEF is not financed through the regular United Nations budget, the organization depends for its funds on voluntary contributions from governments, donations from individuals and on certain special fund-raising activities, the largest of which is the annual Greeting Card Campaign at Christmastime.

This campaign entails the sale of Christmas cards, notes cards, engagement calendars, birthday cards, "Hi Neighbor" books — on various countries, and the new mobile paper carousel depicting the children of 12 nations happily astride their native animals saying hello in their native languages.

The distinctive and original designs for the cards are contributed by highly talented artists from all over the world and all the proceeds go to UNICEF. This year there are 19 different creations for the Christmas cards and two for the birthday cards and all say "Merry Christmas" or "Happy Birthday" in the five official languages of the United Nations: English, French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese. While there are five languages whose mission it is to give greetings to your friends, there are 800 million children who are in need of some form of aid, and the cards you buy will give help to some of them. Thirty thousand children die each day alone of hunger and disease in the underdeveloped countries! It is the mission of UNICEF, and the mission of its cards, to try to stop this and to help children every way everywhere — i.e. 800 million of them — if it can.

Sales Outlets

The central point of sale for the UNICEF items is at the gift center in the United Nations building in New York which will also handle mail and — printing orders. The United States Committee for UNICEF, P. O. Box 22, Church Street Station, New York 1008, will also handle mail and — printing orders.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: — What do you do about relatives who come into your home, let their children run wild, throw a glass of ale on the floor, correction: on your new rug in your new home and take cake and watermelon and smash it into the floor? I'm not stretching it any, either!

We have two children of our own, a boy and a girl, and they are not allowed to act like that at home, let alone anywhere else. Also, that day, my sister-in-law's three kids broke a couple of windows, tore out two expensive plants, and started a grass fire out in back.

When I saw their parents weren't going to make them mind, I proceeded to try myself. Well, the children minded me beautifully, but then their mother threw a screaming fit because someone else was making her kids mind. So I told her that there was the door and that the road went both ways and that if she and her kids couldn't act like human beings — instead of animals, they could leave, and not bother to come back until they could act more decently.

What do you do with people like that whether they are relatives or friends? Let them come in and literally tear your house to pieces, or do you set your foot down right on top of them, right then and there, and let them know you don't intend to put up with that kind of action in your home? Or do you just sit back and take it and not say anything because they are family and you don't want to cause any friction?

Just Wondering... What! Dear Wondering: To say the least, you did right when you showed them the door. But don't hold young children responsible for what their parents fail to teach them. Parenthood is the only job that requires no experience to obtain but considerable experience to perform.

PERSONAL TO Helpless One! It's stupid to desire the company of a boy who is bad mannered, moody and egotistical. You're not stupid are you? Like a hot potato, he burns! Drop him, honey.

Dear Amy: I work for a company with many bachelor salesmen, some of whom appear to be as interested in me as I in them. The only trouble is that these men only come into the main office occasionally. — So my problem is how to get them to ask me out when they are in town? — I always smile when they walk by and we often talk about things in general. I don't want to be forward but yet I have to find some way of letting them know of my feelings. How?

S.O.S. The quickest way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Get specific. Break the ice with one that's nice... at your place for dinner!

Dear Amy: I am a 17-year-old girl, a sophomore in college, and I am going with a wonderful and considerate boy who is a junior in college. I have known him for two months. He likes to park and neck. Please tell me if it is all right to do this? I must know and hope you print this as I'm sure many girls would be interested.

Just Curious A girl of 17 who is a sophomore in college must be extremely intelligent, so I know that the following information will be evaluated carefully before the next time you park. Many wonderful and considerate boys enjoy "necking." This does not mean that because they want to, you have to. Decent, respectable girls, and I hope you're one of them, must draw a line somewhere. I assure you that the boy, if he cares for you, will not like you less because you did not give in to his emotions. Rather, he will admire and respect you for your self-discipline. Necking in itself will not ruin a girl, nor help her reputation. Its resultant complications, however, can be very damaging. Risk in every situation... but never step down!

Dear Amy: Last night my sister and I were sitting on the porch with some neighborhood kids. It was about midnight. My mom told us to come in. So we came in about 12:30. Then we ordered a pizza and sat on the porch and ate till around 1:10. Then the kid next door came over and we sat on their chairs in the back yard from 1 to 2:30 a.m. (My mom was in bed.) She got out of bed, saw us talking outside and she and my dad grounded us. I know it was really late but we were going to sit in the house and stay up that late anyway. My mom said we shouldn't go out and sit, but I said we were only in the back yard talking and not disturbing anyone. Please give me your opinion. What do you say about being grounded?

Grounded A person is grounded when they fail to help out orders or go A.W.O.L. It's plain to see you and your sister have no grounds for complaint. But cheer up, earn they Top Brass, and EARN your wings. Over and out!

For And About Teenagers

I ALWAYS GET BLAMED FOR THINGS YOU DO...

THE WEEKS LETTER: "I am a sophomore in high school. My younger sister and I are the only ones living at home. My parents are always blaming me for what she does and they won't believe me when I tell them the truth. I have never lied to them so they have no reason to act as they do. I've tried to understand, but I can't. I want to leave home and I think it is a good idea. There are two other girls who will stay with me. I already have a room we can get in a very nice place. We all have jobs for five hours after school. There will be plenty of money for the room and for food. One of the girls has a car we can use to go to school and other places. What do you think?"

OUR REPLY: I think you would be making a serious mistake. You are either running away from a problem or creating an excuse to get away from home.

You must realize also that your parents will have something to say about your leaving. You are yet their responsibility. Even should they agree, which is unlikely, you won't be as "happy in your new life as you think you will be. The two girls may be real friends, but when you live under the same roof you will find little things that annoy and displease you. If not, with no parental supervision, you will probably quit school, stay out later than you should, perhaps get into the wrong company, maybe into some trouble that

Home economists at the annual fall conference of the New Jersey Home Economics Association in Atlantic City were challenged to serve families by helping the homemaker define her changing role. In raising her children, says Dr. Mary Armstrong, Union County Senior Home economist, the homemaker is coping with a generation that faces a different world. She reports that Dr. Hubert Hunter, professor of sociology, was a speaker at the conference, emphasized the need for disciplinary steps to relate to the world as it is to be effective. In addition to Dr. Armstrong, county delegates at the state meeting included Mrs. Mary McGregor, chairman of home economics in the Elizabeth schools; Dr. Raymond Klein, manpower specialist, New York State Department of Labor, praised home economists for teaching consumer education. Wise marketing practices, he said, not only improve the purchasing power of the individual, but also force the manufacturer to improve his product. Dr. Myrna Crabtree, director of Home Economics Department of Education, State of New Jersey, reviewed home economics programs that prepare people for employment and pointed out areas of job opportunities. Good Records Help At Tax Paying Time

Taxpayers who had financial records during 1965 will find it easy to prepare their Federal income tax returns in January, notes the District Director of the Internal Revenue Service.

Many taxpayers who use one of the two standard deductions instead of itemizing could save sizeable sums by keeping records and itemizing their actual deductions.

Now is the time to start collecting cancelled checks, receipts, records of contributions and all other papers which will help in preparing 1965 income tax returns. These records should be filed in an orderly manner and stored in a safe place so that they will be available when they are needed.

Some of your income may not be taxable but unless you have records identifying the non-taxable cash or property, you may be unable to prove that it is non-taxable, he said.

Expenses may be overlooked or forgotten when you prepare your tax return unless they were recorded at the time they were incurred or paid. An overlooked deductible expense could cost you $4 or more in extra tax dollars, he said.

The housewife who doubles as financial secretary for the family can easily save the price of a new outfit by devoting a few minutes each week to properly maintaining records on deductible expenditures.

Good records not only save tax dollars, they are useful in preparing credit applications and they are essential for efficient management of the family finances, he added.

SPECIALIST LISTS ADVANTAGES OF PLASTIC SURFACE

Plastic laminate surfaces in living and dining areas are easy to care for as your kitchen counters and may simulate wood surfaces, says Miss Gena Thames, extension specialist in home furnishing at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Rutgers University.

Wipe surfaces regularly with a cloth wrung out in warm water and detergent or soap. Rinse, and wipe dry.

Usually the simulated wood table tops in your living and dining room need no additional care. Your kitchen counter tops may occasionally need a gentle cleaning with mild cleanser or writing to remove smudges and stains.

A light waxing will help to preserve the luster of any plastic laminate surface. Select a type that can be used on vinyl surface.

PERCALE SHEETS EASILY CLEANED SAYS SPECIALIST

If you're wondering about the merits of the polyester-cotton percale sheets you're seeing in stores this fall, you can be assured they are very easy to care for.

They can be machine washed, done by hand, or sent to the laundry. They dry in about half the time required for other fibers and ordinarily need no ironing.

When rapid drying is important to you, 65 percent polyester and 35 percent cotton sheets are for you, says Gena Thames, extension specialist in home furnishing at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Rutgers University.

You'll find these sheets have a smooth, silklike softness due to a high proportion of polyester to cotton.

They are available in four sizes: conventional, queen, king, and long hollywood. They come in all white or all white with colored scalloped borders, or over-all floral prints.

As to the minimum number of sheets needed, six for a double bed, 12 for two twin beds is Miss Thames' advice.

Commentary on a recent National Newspaper Association Study Mission to the British Isles and Scandinavia

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Sixth in a Series
BONNIE SCOTLAND
One day late in Sextille, 61 citizens of the land named after Americus Vesputius, reached the shores of Caledonia and invaded the land. OR, if you'd rather, one day late in August, 61 Americans reached the shores of Scotland and went sight-seeing.

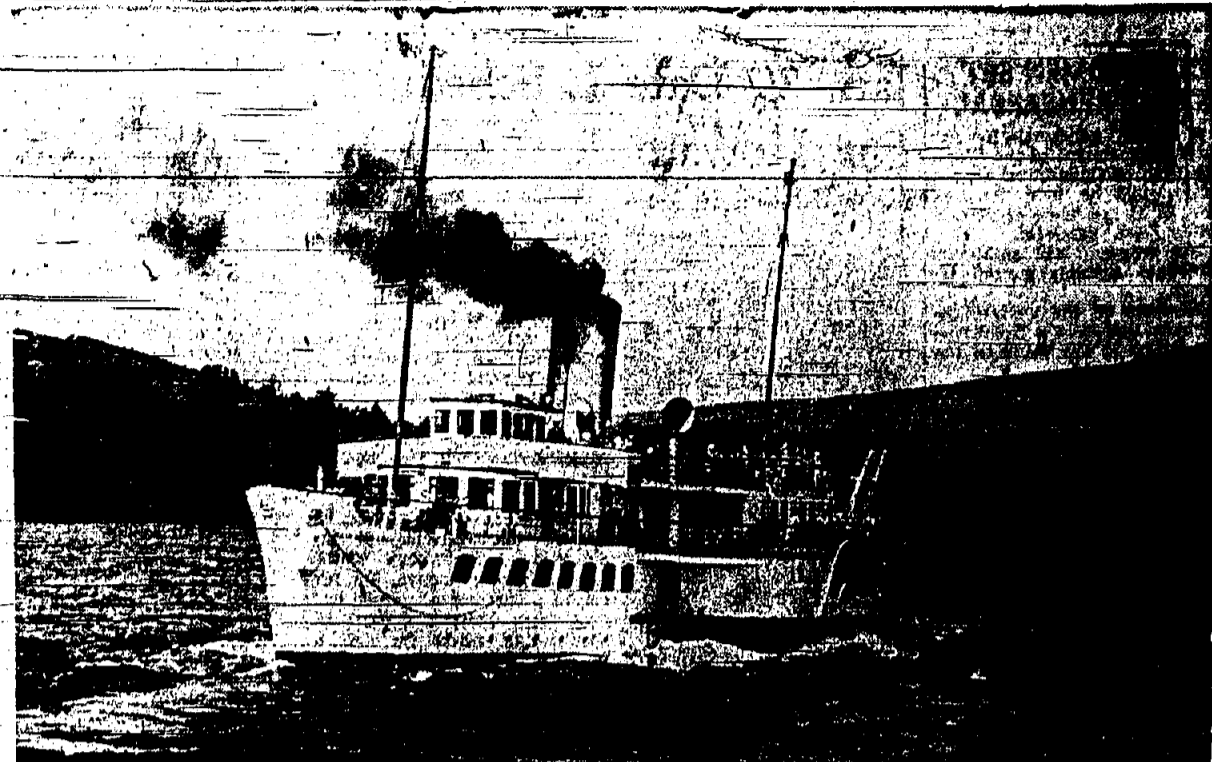

With or without the Roman touches, it was the beginning of the National Newspaper Association Study Mission of Scotland, which the Romans called Caledonia, and the first town we reached was Stranraer, a small port on the west coast of the country, for which apparently the Romans had no name. We arrived in Stranraer after a two-and-a-half hour sail across the Irish Sea from Larne, North Ireland, aboard the steamer, "The New Caledonia Princess," which the Scots named, and there we boarded buses and rode for two-and-a-half hours more to Glasgow, which is Glasgow no matter who you are.

It was a dramatic ride to Glasgow. The Coast of Clyde along which we drove north for quite a while, was starkly beautiful at sunset and dusk. North on Ireland, at Larne, had been soft and green and much like the countryside of New Jersey in summer; Scotland on the west coast was severe and rocky and much like the San Simeon area of California. In reverse, however, Ireland has weather similar to the San Simeon area, and Scotland has weather similar to New Jersey! No matter though, they were both beautiful to see. It was ten o'clock by the time we reached Glasgow and we had no dinner, so the Central Hotel where we were to stay, was alerted to keep its restaurant open in order to accommodate our group. It turned out to be a French restaurant and a hotel built over a railway station, and though it sounded mighty untypical and oddly threatening, it was one of the most pleasurable dinners of the trip.

While haggis, a sausage type item made from parts of beef and lamb that you would be better off not asking about; and mince-and-taters, a hash-type mush made with fried-hamburger meat usually served on top of mashed potatoes; and fish and chips, are typical things to eat in Scotland, we had roast beef, deliciously rare and beautiful, French salad and wine, and we were very happy. The food was tastier in Scotland generally speaking, than in Ireland. Irish food is remarkably bland. Soup, everywhere, however, always is delicious.

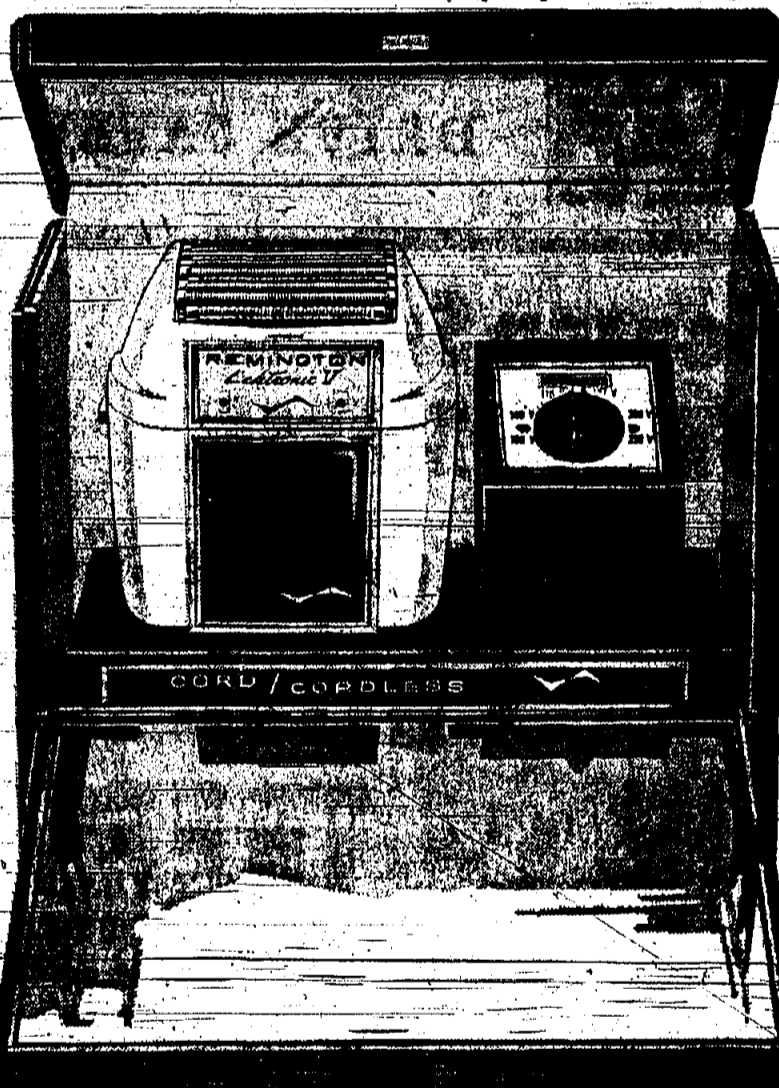

NOT ON THE BONNIE BONNIE BANKS OF LOCH LOMOND—but on the bonnie banks "Maid of the Loch" on Loch Lomond. The ship sails some 22 miles from almost one end of the lake to the other and carries some 150 passengers. In late August she also carried some 60 National Newspaper Association members who were on a Study Mission to Scotland and other Northern European countries.

LKTRONIC and ARMOR/SHIELD: Trademarks of Sperry Rand Corporation

OUR SECOND DAY in Scotland called for a trip to the highlands—to go walking in Trossachs and sailing on Loch Lomond, and it rained "scotch-and-wool." Remembering what the Scots say: that when it rains it is good Scotch coming down because it is the water in Scotland that makes such good Scotch whiskey, we didn't mind half as much as if it were raining cats and dogs; but besides, there was a special misty, mysterious atmosphere because of the rain. The Lady of the Lake surely would be there any moment.

Trossachs is a beautiful, wooded valley in the mountains of Perth County about 40 miles from Glasgow between Loch (lake) Katrine and Loch Achray near the famed Glenteague Hotel. Sir Walter Scott made the valley famous in his poem "The Lady of the Lake" and his novel, "Rob Roy," and the golf course made the hotel famous, although the hotel is splendid in its own right.

Did you know that the word "links" is a Scottish piece of real estate? Along the coast of Scotland there are stretches of sandy fields—grass-whole—golf courses, and golf was first played on golf courses built on these links.

Loch Lomond, not far away from Trossachs, is a lake 23 miles long but only seven miles wide at its greatest width, and is surrounded by lovely hills also. On the day we took the lake steamer, we could barely see the mountains for the mist and rain, it rained so eagerly as I said, but it was therefore also special, as I said.

Loch Lomond is famous for its folk song, "On The Bonnie, Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond," but I could not get two statements to agree about what the "high road" was versus the "low road," as in the song. One newspaper said it was the road on one side of the lake as against the road on the other side; one said it was the north road versus the south road, and still another said there were two roads paralleling each other except one actually was higher than the other. There are, in existence even today, two roads next to each other, but one is the paved, two-lane highway our motor coach traversed and the other is a fat road with quaint bridges that an ancient king of Scotland built.

Be that as it may, there was only one statement in Scotland on Scottish independence. One lone Scotsman voiced a gesture for an independent Scotland. Even that was a surprise for I had not asked the question, nor given it consideration, and apparently not many Scots do either. It was not as in the Irishlands where independence is a "hot" subject. Scotland is a member of the United Kingdom, has been so since 1707, and apparently likes it that way. The country is under the authority of a Secretary of State For Scotland who is a full member of the British Cabinet.

THE BIGGEST "FEUD" going today in Scotland is not Scotland versus England, but Glasgow versus Edinburgh.

Glasgow is the largest city of the land boasting over 1 million people and 100 square miles, but Edinburgh is the capital. Glasgow is important as a large manufacturing center since it is in the heart of the Scottish coal fields and is world-famous for its ports and ships; Edinburgh is important as a cultural and educational center and is world famous for its annual music, drama and film festival. Glasgow is known as the city of ship building; Edinburgh is known as the city of Beer, Banks and Bibles. Glasgow is known for its commercial River Clyde, and Edinburgh is known for its glamorous Prince's Street. Glasgow's "mood" is its landmark white Edinburgh's castle is its landmark.

But both cities are on firths. That in Scotland is a "long, narrow indentation of the sea coast." Glasgow is on the Firth of Clyde and Edinburgh is on the Firth of Forth, and, as one man in our group said, we arrived in Edinburgh on the firth of September. It was also the last week of the Edinburgh festival, so we arrived in time to see the military Tattoo at Edinburgh Castle.

The Tattoo was positively splendid but the castle, the lighting effects were absolutely magnificent. Without the castle as a backdrop and that lighting, the show would lose its most dramatic stars. The Tattoo was presented in the forecourt of the castle, about football field in size and paved, with bleachers on three sides and the castle as the stage and background. It was thrilling.

It was also rather cold. We had been warned that it would be cold and advised to wear everything we owned and take the blankets from the coach—so we did—but the glory of that show kept us warm in spite.

But again while Glaswegians that is the actual authorized name of the people of Glasgow, the people of Edinburgh whatever they call themselves, tease each other about their individual city's glories, and while they may use old Roman names and new French restaurants, they are all, after all, Scottish. Or almost all. With 82% of the people of Scotland being 100% Scottish, that is pretty bonnie "ALL."

The arrival of 61 mixed Americans was a pretty bonnie invasion, at that rate!

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

Everyone's talking turkey these days. Even after the bird is purchased—there are questions on preparation and serving. A beautiful turkey can be ruined in cooking, but preparing the festive bird is simple if rules are followed. Questions asked by Union County homemakers on storing, stuffing and roasting are answered here.

You're right not to purchase your holiday turkey too far ahead—even though you order it in advance. A fresh turkey should not be stored in the refrigerator longer than three days. To prevent unnecessary drying, cover the turkey with a damp towel.

If you are stuffing the turkey, do not fill the cavity more than 3/4 full since the stuffing will expand during the roasting time.

Before stuffing the turkey, rinse the cavity well. Make sure to remove any internal organs that may have escaped prior cleaning. To eliminate sometimes strong turkey flavor, especially when roasting the bird unstuffed, rub the cavity with a small amount of salt. The National Turkey Federation recommends about 1/2 teaspoon salt per pound.

The roasting temperature and position of the turkey during the roasting period will determine to some degree the moistness of the white meat. It may be roasted uncovered or covered, or cooked on a rotisserie. The best temperature for roasting uncovered is 325°.

For moist white meat, plan to roast the bird for the first half of the time on its breast. Then turn it over on its back to complete the roasting. If the turkey is too large to fit in the plan to use an aluminum tent that is loosely placed over the bird to keep moist or dip a clean cheesecloth into melted shortening and place over the top of the bird while it is roasting.

Another moisture retaining step and one that gives the "king" its cherished characteristic color is to brush the skin with melted butter or shortening before putting turkey in the oven. For a deeper color, add a little paprika to the melted butter.

The length of roasting time for roasting a turkey uncovered at 325° F. varies with the weight—from five hours for a 10 pound bird to six hours for an 18 pound one. If roasting an unstuffed turkey, plan on five minutes less per pound.

The newer method of covering tightly with foil and roasting at 350° F. requires less time—three hours for an 11 pound bird and 3 1/2 hours for an 18 pound one. The rotisserie method is suitable in the home only for birds up to 14 pounds.

When using a meat thermometer, make sure to place it in the thickest part of the leg and continue roasting bird until the internal temperature reaches 165° F.

Senator Case Reports

Following is a partial text of remarks by Senator Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) delivered last week to the 38th Annual N.J. Association of High School Council Conference at Rutgers University.

But, having spent a major part of my life in politics, I can perhaps be pardoned for dwelling on it briefly. While the prevailing view of the politician remains somewhat dubious, if not downright suspicious, there has been, I believe, some change since World War II.

For either party to have things all its own way. Those of you who are gathered here as members of high school student councils are, I am sure, already involved in the political process.

McKenna, McCarter's public relations director, will play the title role. The "Nutsucker Suite" performance will feature 50 members of the Princeton Regional Ballet Company. Guest artists and other personnel will bring the total cast to more than 75.

ORMONT PICTURE, 'IPRESS FILE' IS IN THIRD WEEK

Len Deighton, who authored the book, "Ipress File," upon which the film of the same name was based, based the workings of the British counter-espionage service in his story. He went to great extremes, but within the realm of the Official Secret Act. "Ipress File," mystery suspense thriller, which was filmed in Technicolor and which stars Michael Caine and Nigel Green, started its third week at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, on Wednesday, Nov. 24.

Regional Football Schedule Will Close On Thanksgiving

By MYRON MEISEL

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team will face its traditional rival, Rahway High School, in the final game of the 1965 gridiron season Thanksgiving morning. The game will begin at 11 here in Springfield.

The annual Thanksgiving Day contest should be a close contest. Rahway, the slight favorite, has a record of 3-4-1, as compared with the Bulldogs' 2-5-1. Both are in the Watchung Conference. Each team lost to Westfield and Clark, as well as defeating Hillside and one team outside of the Conference.

However, while Rahway fared better than Dayton against Roselle and Cranford, the Bulldogs managed to stalemate a tough Scotch Plains team which defeated Rahway by a large margin.

Head coach Herb Palmer declined to make a prediction. "The game is much too close a contest. Rahway has an excellent passing quarterback, Terry Tweeny, who poses a real threat. They play basically an aerial game, so our pass defense will be crucial. Against West Orange it was quite strong, limiting that team to three completions and only eight yards.

"I think that our defense, especially the line, is strong enough to hold them. On offense, we have two fine quarterbacks: Steve Hartz, our regular with smooth ball-handling and good running, and Bob Garlan, who proved himself a strong passer against West Orange. Both will be a great asset to the team.

"Our running backfield, likewise, made up of Dan Ginter, Mark Anthony and Hal Hansen or Hank Krupinski, is in the best shape it has been all season.

"The team is especially spirited since the West Orange victory. Rahway, on the other hand, finished by dropping two of its last three. What we need for victory is a tight pass defense, and a great deal of ball-moving on offense.

"If we can rise to those needs and maintain the coordination between line and backfield developed in our last few games, then we can win. The possibility of that, based on past Thanksgiving Day performances and practices of the past week, is quite good. Whether we will or not remains the big question."

3-Way Tie Forms In Girls' League As Charms Win

While the Alley-Oops and the Rockin-Bowlers were defeating each other this week in the Springfield Girls' Bowling League, the Charms won two games and moved into a first place tie with the Alley-Oops and the Rockers.

The girls' bowling has been close all season. This is the second three-way tie and there was previously a six-way tie for first place. The girls compete each week on Tuesday afternoon at the Springfield Bowl. The league is sponsored by the Recreation Department.

The Alley-Oops and the Rockin-Bowlers met head-on last week in a match for first place. The teams split their engagement and remained tied at the top of the standings. The league-leading bowler, Lorraine Cicconi, was off form last week as she managed a 203 series. This was still good to pace the Rockin-Bowlers for the afternoon. Eileen Francis of the Alley-Oops paced all bowlers in this match as she rolled a 232 series. Her top effort saved her team from suffering two defeats.

The Charms, in the meantime, topped the Star Bowlers in two games to provide a three-day tie for first place. Sally Haines with a 220 series and Andy Margulies with a 201 series were the top bowlers. In this match, Laurie Ross of the Charms also tied in the two victories. Carol Hamman was high bowler for the Stars.

In the final match of the day between the Alletties and the Strikers, the best bowling of the day was seen. The teams split a pair of well-rolled games. Virginia Vogt's 136 game and 227 series paced the Strikers to their victory. The Alletties were led to victory by Alyse Cooper, who also rolled a 136 game in their winning effort. She hit a series of 261 for the afternoon.

Gegenon rolled a 207 series to help the Alletties. Alyse Cooper and Lorraine Cicconi are tied with averages of 124 for the league's top spot. Alyse gets the nod for first place on the basis of greater pin fall. Alyse moved into the top spot for the first time this season after winning the average crown last year.

Virginia Vogt moved into third place with a 104 average. Linda Musher is fourth at 203. Fifth place belongs to Sally Haines. The remaining girls in the top 10 include: Eileen Francis, 99; Karen Lubber, 98; Bonnie Raskin, 97; Diane Ogonowsky, 95; and Andy Margulies, 94.

Bullets Pace League With 2-Game Margin

The Bullets continue to pace the Boys' Thursday Afternoon Bowling League. The Bullets have led the league since the opening day and consistently repelled all challengers. The group bowls each week in a league sponsored by the Recreation Department.

Last week, the Bullets split a pair of games with the high-scoring Bombers to bring their two-game lead over all pursuers. Pete Demmer returned to action last week to pace the Bullets with a 223 series. Lonny Strone at 212 and Dave Stromeier at 211 were also effective for the league leaders. Jim Sarokin turned a fine performance for the Bombers. Jim topped the 300 mark for two games as he rolled a 315 series.

The Atoms remained in striking reach of the league leaders. The Atoms are two games away. Last week they split two games with the Rockets. Ted Rosenkranz with a 235 series paced the Atoms. Gary Fox and Don Lan also rolled well. Gary hit 221 for two games, while Don rolled 212 in two games. Marc Hollander of the Rockets took the honors for this match as he rolled a fine 254 two-game series.

The Pirates, who have been near the top all year, moved into a position two games off the lead as they topped the faltering Raiders in two games. The Raiders always score well, but each week their opponents roll better. Doug Freeman hit a 250 series to lead the Pirates. Steve Borson at 237 and Mark Berkowitz at 234 were also effective for the winners. The Raiders' terrific tie of Joel Millner, Dave Epstein and Fred Gold once again rolled good games.

They paced the team with a top effort of 271. Joel hit 259 for two games, while Dave tallied 238 in two games. The final match of the day saw the Hurricanes under the leadership of their new captain, Todd Horman, capture two games from the Jets. Captain Horman rolled a two-game series of 287. The Hurricanes, however, were paced by Stewart Liebeskind, who rolled a top 308 series. Stewart is fast becoming one of the league's top bowlers. Larry Dovinsky at 223 and Jamie Farber at 222 were high for the Jets.

Coach Describes Fresh Gridders As Best In Years

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School 1965 freshman gridiron team was, according to coach Joe Mills, "our best freshman team in four years."

The team began very strongly but tended to slow down towards the end of the season. The team record of 4-4 included victories over Scotch Plains, Cranford, Rosette and Hillside, three of which the varsity failed to defeat.

Key of the team was the backfield, consisting of Steve Jupa, Ralph Lossanno, Lee Rolfeid, Pat Moust and Larry Stewart. The front line was also strong, sparked by John Orlock, Rich Moskowitz, Henry Klencz, Gary Haydu and Gary Mayer.

"The defense of these boys was our biggest asset. It was unusually strong for a freshman squad, and its toughness won us over in many tight spots throughout the season. The boys were excellent, both in ability and attitude, and with more experience during the coming years, they should provide a good future varsity Bulldog team."

Scocca Coaches Varsity Bowlers In County League

Veteran coach Peter Scocca starts his eighth year as head coach of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School bowling team when his keggers open their Union County High School Bowling League schedule against Union on Dec. 2 at Echo Lanes.

Scocca, who is a St. Peter's College graduate and who started the varsity sport at Springfield, has compiled a 57-23 won and lost record during his seven-year tenure. He believes this should be a successful year with a group of promising bowlers on hand.

Returning lettermen include: co-captains Larry Budish and Wiss Nemerson, Barry Gelger, Mike Zidonic, Bob Shubert and Ed Turin. Bob Budish, a sophomore, has been developing and might become a starter. Scocca says. Others who are trying out for the team are: Steve Shastman, Andy Baer, Bruce Gerstein, Lewis Stein and Bob Isler.

The rest of the 1965-66 schedule: Dec. 9, Jefferson, home; Dec. 16, at Clark; Jan. 9, at Westfield; Jan. 13, at Cranford; Jan. 20, Gov. Livingston, home; Jan. 27, Hillside, home; Feb. 3, Union, home; Feb. 10, Jefferson, home; Feb. 17, Clark, home; Feb. 24, at Westfield; March 3, Cranford, home; March 4, UCC tournament; March 26, State Tournament.

Bowling Honors To Mrs. Gerstein

Clair Gerstein, a 114-average bowler in the Temple Beth Ahm State School League, received 150-433 last week at Hy-Way Bowl. The Adler team holds first place with a record of 19-5, with the Lipton and Popper Quintets tied for second at 18-8.

Other leading ladies were Loretta Zehnder, 186-431; Lois Kplsh, 180-422; Irma Rosenthal, 127; Susan Sander, 170-447; Shirley Simus, 172-446; Isabel Adler, 184; Tillie Rockoff, 150-446; Vicki Kavoberg, 168-435; Bernice Kurtzer, 173-417; Audrey Cole, 161-444; Shirley Kurtz, 430; Marilyn Lipton, 160-427; Flo Baroff, 430; Phyllis Cohen, 418.

Ehrhardt Television and Carol Stamping matched successes last week at Springfield Bowl to remain tied for first place in the Springfield Sports Bowling League. Both have records of 21-0. Milton Liquors holds third place with a record of 10-11.

JV Grid Team Seen With Good Potential

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School junior varsity football squad showed a great deal of potential and an extraordinary amount of spirit, but still needs more experience, according to coach Bob Lummer.

The Bulldog JV went 3-4 this season, defeating Hillside, Roselle and Clark, while losing to Cranford, Scotch Plains, Westfield, and West Orange. This performance also reflects that of the varsity, which, however, trounced West Orange, but dropped the Roselle and Clark contests.

Lummer found the team to be solid, and feels that the squad in general played consistently better as the season progressed. "I think we accomplished a great deal. Several of our men played varsity on occasion as well. The team should be a good bulwark for next year's varsity."

Applicants For State Police Posts Can Take Tests Monday, Tuesday

Colonel D. B. Kelly, superintendent of the New Jersey State Police, this week announced the dates for the two remaining entrance examinations to be held this year. The written test will be given at 7 p.m. on Monday, in Sayreville, and on Tuesday, in Hartmontown, Trenton, Sea Girt, Morristown, Newark and Clinton.

Applicants need not be New Jersey residents at the time of the examination. Those desiring to take the exam should simply report to the nearest examination point at the announced time.

The following minimum requirements have been established. An applicant must be a citizen of the United States, not less than 21 nor more than 34 years of age (as of April 24, 1966), at least 5'8" in height, weigh not less than 160 pounds, have normal hearing in both ears and vision not less than 20/30 (without glasses). An applicant must be free from all bodily physical defects and have a valid driver's license.

TIPS ON BLINDNESS

M. Robert Barnett, Executive Director, American Foundation for the Blind, advises that when walking with a blind person have him place his arm on your arm. He further states that when entering a room with a visually handicapped person to describe where furniture, windows and doors are located, so that the blind person can move about more easily.

Twofold Viet Relief Sponsored By Jersey Red Cross

New Jersey Red Cross chapters are now busier than ever handling requests for emergency assistance from the families of men stationed in Southeast Asia, especially Vietnam. In addition, 20 of these chapters are also engaged with local schools, in a new good neighbor project designed to brighten the lives of South Vietnamese children, the state chapter said this week.

These statewide activities reflect the steady buildup of Red Cross service in that far corner of the world, where the organization has been expanding its professional staff to assist the increasing number of U. S. servicemen on active duty.

When New Jersey children returned to school this fall, the Red Cross through its local chapters, asked their volunteers to help with the cleanup of mums, peonies and others to reduce insects and diseases.

Typical articles to be found in a friendship kit are pencils, notebooks, combs, metal mirrors, slates, colored chalk, pads, puzzles, plastic toys, scarves and whistles. Each box and kit also will have inside a greeting card in the South Vietnam language wishing "a new spring full of luck and happiness."

Fifteen thousand friendship boxes from the U.S. have already been shipped to Vietnam. Horace W. Moore, area director of Red Cross Youth, Eastern Area, comprising 16 states and the District of Columbia, announced recently from area headquarters in Alexandria, Va. 32,500 boxes and 32,500 kits are expected to be shipped from the Eastern Area by Dec. 15.

The problems of orientation and settling down to classroom routines have monopolized the time of New Jersey youngsters during their first month in school, but the friendship project should really begin to pick up in November, according to Moore. As of Nov. 2, the 20 Red Cross chapters participating in the friendship program have accepted from elementary schools 975 friendship boxes for shipment. By Dec. 15 the commitment should reach 3,410. In addition, high school students are hard at work in their classrooms preparing 2,400 friendship kits by Dec. 15.

Meanwhile, Red Cross chapters across the state continue to fulfill their obligations to the men and women in the armed forces and their families. The separation of the serviceman from his family, often for the first time, is a major cause of the myriad personal and family troubles on which New Jersey Red Cross staff members and volunteers spend much of their time. Consequently, they frequently have a hand in providing such services as reports requested by commanding officers for servicemen applying for emergency leave; counseling service members and their families on personal and family problems; and providing emergency financial assistance, Moore said.

For some time, at the request of military authorities, the Red Cross has been assigning experienced field directors to all units of brigade size or larger in Vietnam. Red Cross workers include field directors, assistant field directors, and hospital directors who provide welfare services and assistance with personal and family problems for both the able-bodied and the sick and wounded. They also conduct recreation programs in military hospitals, Moore said.

More than seventy AIC field staff, including women recreation workers, are now on duty. At the request of the Department of Defense, the ARC is conducting a combined center and clubmobile operation at Da Nang. Three additional centers may be opened in other parts of South Vietnam. Whenever practical, clubmobiles will fan out from the centers to bring recreation and entertainment to isolated American troops, as they do in Korea.

Because many of the wounded soldiers reaching Vietnam hospitals have lost all personal belongings, the Red Cross has already written to Southeast Asia many thousands of comfort kits, which have been filled with needed toilet articles by volunteers at American Red Cross Headquarters in Tokyo, Japan. New Jersey volunteers, in addition, are busy making "ditty bags," the single drawing bags of dark colored denim which millions of servicemen used as carryalls in both world wars. Except for color and content, the ditty bags are similar to the friendship kits being prepared by high school students, Moore added.

WEEDER'S DIGEST

Harry With Bulbs
Is it too late to plant bulbs? What about winter mulch? These are some of the current crop of questions landing on desks of county agricultural agents and garden specialists at Rutgers.

We're crowding the deadline for bulb planting but go ahead as long as you can dig the soil. That's the advice of Don Lacey, specialist in home horticulture.

Mild and dry weather so far have kept the soil in condition to dig.

If you're buying bulbs you may strike some bargains because bulb merchants like to clean out their stock. But bulbs are worth whatever you have to pay, considering the colorful display they practically guarantee you next spring.

Loose Mulch
Lacey suggests mulching late-planted bulbs to insulate them from cold so that they'll form roots more readily. Choose a loose mulch such as leaves held down with small branches, salt hay or wood chips.

A mulch like peat moss tends to soak up water and stay soggy, and your bulbs could be affected. Bulbs should stay moist but not wet.

Hold off a couple of weeks until the soil really freezes before you-mulch the perennial garden, Lacey advises. The purpose of the soil and the perennial roots uniformly cool. Again, a loose mulch is best.

Be careful not to cover leaves, such as the quite likely luxuriant foliage of foxgloves because covering them could make them rot. Clean up and dispose of dried-

Builder, Puts Artistic Ideas To Work At Forest Hills

The Country Squire Ranch model at Forest Hills in Succasunna is one of five models priced from $21,990.

Abe Simon, builder of Forest Hills, 50-home community in the Morris-County hills of Succasunna, has been defying tradition ever since he entered the building business some 20 years ago.

At that time in his first crack at residential building, Simon promptly tore up the rule book which flatly stated that low-cost homes had to be built in barrack-like rows with look-alike designs and colors. His homes, instead, were built around quiet courts and in winding lanes. A talented painter and sculptor he took a personal hand in their design and the architecture soon reflected his own artistic interests. He varied elevations, staggered setbacks, used a variety of finishing materials, saved the trees, and injected imagination into floor plans and traffic patterns. Simon was widely credited in the metropolitan area for the idea of converting the then-popular open carport into more usable living space such as the little-known family room. He was one of the first builders to introduce the split-level design to New Jersey; and later, the now-popular bi-level ranch.

For such activities, his first community won an award for excellence from the American Institute of Architects. More rewarding from Simon's point of view, has been the broad acceptance of his homes—and apartments during the ensuing two decades.

His latest building accomplishment, Forest Hills, is set in the hills of Morris County, off Elyand Ave. and Route 10, over 1,000 feet above sea level in a deeply wooded area. Many trees may help to "sell" a house but they can also create a problem as well, because building around them always takes more time, more care, and, hence is more costly. Simon was determined to retain the beauty of his wooded location.

First, he burned the midnight oil to provide maximum living area and quality, including the development of floor plans which lent themselves particularly well to placement within a tree-studded lot. Then, Simon spent an unusually long time selecting building materials which promised economies in construction time without a sacrifice in construction quality. Thus, he could use these savings to offset the additional expense of excavating and landscaping; and still hold to the anticipated price range.

The result is Forest Hills, a community with homes that might be priced several thousand dollars higher in a comparable location if it were not for Simon's experience and knowledge. Forest Hills homes have a minimum of one-third acre lots, wooded lots; community sewage system; city water; curbs and paved driveways. All have been pre-planned for air conditioning either at the time of occupancy or at some time later.

Available are five models from $21,990. The Country Squire Ranch, The Sophisticated Bi-Level, The Deborah Split-Level, the Two-Story Colonial, and The Split-Ranch.

The site is 1/2 mile from Roxbury High School and 3 minutes from the Roxbury Shopping Center. Nearby are houses of worship of all faiths, Morris County Golf Club as well as a new Cinema Theatre and an abundance of recreational and educational facilities. The Succasunna area of Roxbury Township is one of historical significance dating back to the time of the Lenape-Indians.

The Stockbridge 2-story Colonial, 8 rooms, 4 big bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, elegant living room, full basement, $27,990. Other magnificent models from $25,990.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

CHECK YOUR PRIDE AT 65 — IT WILL BE CHANGING SOON

When you retire you begin moving almost immediately into a life that is separated, as if by a wall, from the life you have always known. The process is a slow one, but it is very real. In five years or so you look back over the wall and find it difficult to believe that the old life, or you — or something — has changed so much.

Arthur W. Russell, a businessman who retired three years ago, urges everybody of retirement age to learn this lesson. "Because even if you keep your physical body where it is," he says, "your mind, your interests, your spirit, move. The life and people surrounding your old job start closing the books on you. And you start closing the books on them, but the trouble is that you don't know you're doing it. You'll have a better retirement if you can make yourself know it."

Mr. Russell says your weaning from the old job may take two years, may take five. He concedes that a few people, usually men, are never fully weaned and hang around moping over their old job until they die.

"To tell most men and women at retirement time that in five years they will look back at their old job-life and wonder how it ever worried them, how they ever loved it, how they ever hated it — not one of them would believe you. But this is what will happen. And if only they can realize this at the time they retire they can get a head start on the blessings that lie before them."

Mr. Russell points out that he knew three men, who were retiring about the time he was, who had opportunities to move into fine retirement jobs. All turned them down. "The jobs were not quite up to status... and all the men had the idea that the old job-life was looking at them over the wall — and cared. It was busy. And it didn't care, though it no doubt hoped the men were finding a happy life."

"This is ego stuff, of course," Mr. Russell continues. "And the vanity of man being what it is, a little of it is all right. But the essential point here is that the men miscalculated themselves in a little while they wouldn't care if the old life cared. They wouldn't be looking back to see if the old life looked."

"In two years, or at most in five, they would have set up their emotions in their other world. And retirement courses they could have pursued at the time they retired — but couldn't pursue later — would now be comfortable and good. What anybody in the old life thought just wouldn't matter."

Mr. Russell believes that a proud $15,000-a-year executive, who naturally would like to pattern his retirement in the mold of his old job, could be comfortable working in a brickyard at $75-a-week five years later. "It's the wonderful and-unfailing adjustment factor of the human being. People at 65 ought to have more faith in it. And patiently wait for the future on how they'll be regarding things in 1970 instead of right now."

Making Of Cows' Sauerkraut Going Modern: 'Plastic Silo'

A Rutgers professor has been awarded a patent for a way to make cows' sauerkraut without the barrel.

Maybe you've taken sauerkraut for granted. To appreciate what the new invention is about, you must know about sauerkraut and silage.

To make sauerkraut one chops up raw cabbage, adds salt, hopes the supply of helpful bacteria is ample, and imprisons these simple ingredients in a barrel. The cabbage ferments and what is taken out of the barrel is sauerkraut (on the merits of which the population may be evenly split).

But cows of all sizes and ages seem to agree that high quality silage is a delicacy never to be refused. To make silage a farmer packs chopped grass, clover, cornstalks or the like into a container, sometimes adding preservatives such as molasses which also speeds up fermentation.

He seals his silage against air, and what develops is a tasty mainstay for bovine meals all through the winter.

The farmer's traditional silage "barrel" is, of course, the silo, the tall cylindrical structure that's a distinctive part of the rural landscape. But farmers have made silages in other containers, too, such as trenches using ingenious methods to seal out the air that would spoil the chopped fodder.

A few years ago, Dr. Milton

A. Sprague, a crops research specialist at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, saw the need for yet another variation of silage making.

He thought of farms in New Jersey, for example, where economies in money, work and travel might be brought about by making silage in small batches and storing it on the spot, instead of hauling bulky materials across or over busy highways to the conventional silo. The silage could be "fed out" later by letting animals help themselves.

He discovered that a bag made of the strong, durable plastic film coming out of industrial laboratories preserved silage perfectly.

The next logical step was to see how big a bagful he could make. It took the usual succession of trials, frustrations and breakthroughs so familiar to research men and inventors to determine that a plastic silo could be designed to hold as much as 70 tons, and—with real economies compared with the cost of a tower silo.

Now the U. S. Patent office has granted Patent No. 3,205,393 for "A Method and Apparatus for Storing Plant Materials" to Dr. Sprague. He has assigned it to the Rutgers

Research and Educational Foundation.

The invention consists of a design for a circular form made of steel plates that hook together by means of a sort of hinged lip. Into this form the farmer can pack the chopped greenery that will become silage.

The plastic bag that eventually evolved from the experiments is open at both ends. In a silage making operation, one end is tucked under the form to make firm contact with the ground. After the stack is built, the bag is pulled upward, much as the farmer might pull on his sock. The metal plates can be moved upward one at a time to make a firm support for the growing stack of silage.

By the nature of tightly packed silage, it will not fall apart when the plates are finally taken off. The plastic can be pulled up and snugly gathered and tied at the top to seal out the air that would make the plant material rot rather than ferment.
