School Buses Set Across Rt. 78

HIGHWAY PERIL SQRT — The Township Committee acted Tuesday to provide emergency bus service for children who can reach school only by crossing dangerous construction areas along Rt. 78. One of the key trouble spots, depicted on the map above, is at Ballistol way and Clairmont pl. Tragedy was narrowly averted there last week when a dump truck tore down several power lines.

Committee Votes To Start Project In Coming Week

Koanz Attacks State For Refusal To Help With Bus Expenses

Emergency school bus service for children who must cross perhaps dangerous through Springfield is expected to be a reality by the end of the coming week, following unanimous action by the Township Committee at its meeting on Tuesday in the Municipal Building.

In other action, the governing body voted to buy truck traffic from Mylan rd. following approval by Township of a plan to designate truck routes through the township.

The meeting, first conducted by Robert G. Planer as mayor, was over in a modern record time of 38 minutes, including a public discussion period.

Plans for the bus service were outlined by Committee member William F. Koanz. He had heard of negotiations about Rt. 78 by the State Highway Department and the contractor for the work in Springfield, Public Constructors of Blackwood, N. J., during his term as mayor in 1955.

The committee approved $2,475 to pay for half the emergency bus cost for the next 90 school weeks. Koanz said that he will continue to urge the State to pay its share of the bus cost. He said a public hearing is to be held on the matter in the near future.

Anonymous donor

Koanz added that an anonymous donor had agreed to pay for the other half of the bus expenses. Koanz stated that he had "no quarrel with" the contractor for an effort toward solving the problem.

In addition to other steps toward a solution, Koanz disclosed the contractor had agreed to erect guard rail fences and to pay for an additional crossing guard at each of the two most trouble spots.

Those are where Rt. 78 crosses Ballistol way at Summit and Clairmont pl., and where the highway crosses Morris ave. at Morrison rd.

Regarding the events which led to Tuesday's action, Koanz stressed that he was "not at all happy" with the policies of the State Highway Department in the matter. He said that he had "outlined" on Page 4.

Legion Membership, Benefits Slated For Viet Nam Veterans

In response to many inquiries concerning the "D" Daughters of the American Legion explained the steps the veterans' organization is taking regarding membership and benefits for Viet Nam veterans.

"Regardless of what words are used to describe the hostilities in Viet Nam," Commander Daudelin said, "The American Legion recognizes that we are engaged in a real shooting war."

The Legion is asking Congress to extend to Viet Nam veterans readjustment benefits similar to those provided under the GI Bill of Rights for World War II and Korean War veterans, he explained.

In addition, National Commander L. Eldon James has appointed a special committee, headed by a past national commander, J. Addison Wagner, of Battle Creek, Mich., to iron out the technical and legal problems of extending American Legion membership eligibility to the new generation of war veterans in the making.

Commander Daudelin pointed out that the Legion is chartered by the Congress of the United States and that its membership eligibility requirements are specifically established in the charter.

The special committee has the task of drawing up suggested changes in the Legion's national constitution and in the federal charter which would permit Viet Nam servicemen and women to join the organization after their discharge from service or after the cessation of hostilities.

The plan is to distribute the committee's report to all state organizations of the Legion by next March so that action can be voted on it at state conventions, with final action scheduled for the 18th national convention of the American Legion, Aug. 26 to Sept. 1, 1966, in Washington, D. C. Changes in the Legion's constitution can be adopted only by a two-third vote of the delegates to the annual national convention.

Current eligibility dates for membership in the American Legion are as follows: World War I, April 6, 1917, to Nov. 11, 1918; World War II, Dec. 7, 1941, to Sept. 2, 1945; and Korean War, June 25, 1950, to July 27, 1953.

With a membership in excess of 2 1/2 million, the American Legion is recognized as the world's largest veterans' organization.

"Any Springfield war veteran," concluded Daudelin, "desiring to make application for membership to our post will be most welcomed, and all he or she has to do is to make a request for membership by writing to Continental Post 228, American Legion, Springfield, N. J."

Townwide Drive Now Under Way By Scout Council

Township Attorney James M. Cawley, chairman of the Boy Scout residential fund drive, has announced that the drive is now under way. The volunteer Boy Scout Fund Drive workers are completing their canvass of all past Boy Scout fund drive contributors.

Assisting in the drive are the following district chairmen: Will Salesky, Paul Roman, Arthur Falkin and James Barrett.

Cawley further requested that the residents of Springfield assist the drive so that it will be a success and the boys will benefit as follows: "Scouting needs money to run the business of youth training, just as money is required to run businesses and homes. The general public is asked once a year to underwrite the local council expense which is only a portion of the total dollar spent on scouting."

"It would be deeply appreciated," said Cawley, "if any interested residents wish to assist in this fund drive contact him or the district chairmen as soon as possible."

LEADER PROFILE

LEONARD W. HELLER
Leonard W. Heller of Springfield is looking forward to Feb. 2 for a number of reasons.

The 65-year-old gentleman enthusiastically explains that to him Feb. 2 means Ground-Hog Day, my grandson's birthday . . . and the day I go back to school. "Yes, indeed," he muses. "I'm going right back to school again . . . at my age. I'm going to take an eight-week course in court clerking at Rutgers University in New Brunswick."

Heller, retired head teller of a Newark bank, and who, until recently, worked part time as a security guard for a local department store, had been interviewed by the Springfield Township Committee not too long ago in reference to the possibility of becoming the Springfield town treasurer, court clerk and violations clerk . . . all of which would require full time employment.

"I met with the committee, received an okay from the magistrate (Max Sherman) and waited to be sworn in on Jan. 1 of this year."

LEONARD W. HELLER

HELLER REVEALS a modest sort of pride in the knowledge that the committee thought enough of him and of his capabilities to ask him.

"A person could feel mighty proud," he says, "when the committee comes to look for him . . . about such an important job."

Heller is now also the permanent town treasurer and the court clerk, under Magistrate Sherman . . . and the violations clerk.

"The violations clerk position is actually a separate entity," Heller says. "But separate or combined, he acknowledges it all as a real honor bestowed on him."

Heller, who was born in Newark on April 6, 1900, was graduated from South Side High School in Newark. He attended New York University, where he studied economics and accounting.

HIS FIRST JOB was as a bank clerk ("doing a little bit of everything").

Then he went to work for Fidelity Union Trust Co. and worked his way up to become head teller in the Ironbound office in Newark. During his early banking period, he attended and was graduated from the American Institute of Banking. He had graduate certificates in investments, analysis of financial statements and trust functions, all of which "required a whole year's work in evening classes for each certificate."

While residing in Newark, Heller married a local girl, the former Edna Rupp, and they had three children: Jean, Ruth and Leonard.

"Our daughter, Jean, has a fine job as an assistant dietitian for the Veterans Hospital in Lyons. Our daughter, Ruth, who is now Mrs. Edwin S. Whitaker, lives in St. Petersburg, Fla. with her husband and their five children. And our son, Leonard, operates a tavern in Elizabeth."

"For many years," Heller recalls — and quite proudly too — "I was a communicant with South Park-Calvary Presbyterian Church in Newark. My life was pretty much wrapped up in church activities. I served as clerk of session in church, and at one time was president of the board of trustees."

"YES," he reiterates, "I was a communicant there for 40 years. We had set a time limit — 40 years. When the 40 years were up we were going to go out. And that's just what happened."

Heller and his family moved from Newark to the "Vauxhall" section of Union, where he lived for 30 years. I was president of the Vauxhall Community Council for about five years. We had been interested in interfaith work.

"We cut across all lines," Heller declares, "and we all sat around as friends . . . discussing specific and general things. We were way ahead of all these new committees and organizations . . . I'd say at least about five years ahead of them."

On May 1, 1956, Heller retired from Fidelity after 42 years of service. And on May 26, 1956, he and his family moved to their new home at 389 Melsei ave., Springfield, where the Hellers are currently residing.

Heller is currently a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield and although he is not as active as he used to be he still maintains a position of integrity in the church, by serving as president of the Men's Club.

ACTIVE in the business world for more than three-quarters of his life, Heller felt he just couldn't retire so completely. Therefore, he took a job at Saks Fifth Ave. department store in Springfield, where he served for a period as a guard doing "security work."

Heller says he also has done quite a bit of traveling.

been led to believe that they would go along with our concept of using buses as an emergency measure.

"We have failed in this aspect of our talks. They said that they could not set a new precedent by contributing to the cost of the buses."

Finer, who was also an active participant in the negotiations, as commissioner of public safety, commented, "We have reached a stalemate in our efforts to discuss the problem with the state."

Koonz later commented that meetings with the Board of Education and the private bus company which transports students to Jonathan Dutton Regional High School were scheduled for yesterday in order to get the bus project off to an immediate start.

He noted that added difficulties were involved in finding buses available during the middle of the school year, and in holding down the costs.

If the buses go from the high school to three or four designated points in Springfield, after they deposit the teen-agers at 8:15 each morning, he said, both problems can be minimized.

During the public discussion period, Frank Lello of 24 Denham rd. made an offer to the Township Committee "in behalf of a group of motorists in the neighborhood." He said they would be willing to form a safety patrol and assist in operations at a pick-up point in the area.

Koonz suggested that a possible pick-up could be the corner of Marcy and Severna avenues.

Truck Routes
Planor's announcement of state approval of the plan to eliminate truck traffic from Milltown rd. climaxed months of negotiations on the subject.

Before a plan could be approved in Trenton, agreement had to be achieved between the township committees in Springfield and Union, since Milltown rd. runs through both communities.

The local governing body on Tuesday announced it would introduce a new ordinance Jan. 25 to limit truck traffic through the center of Springfield to S. Springfield ave., Melsei ave. and Shunpike rd.

In other action, the committee appointed Fred Becker to a five-year term on the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority. Claire Adams was named to a permanent post in the tax assessor's office.

Planor disclosed that the township had reached agreement with the owner on a price for one of the two parcels of land needed for the new library to be constructed at Mountain ave. and Hannah st. The price for the land and house owned by the estate of the late Mrs. Hannah Shavcross has been established at $27,900.

It was later indicated that negotiations with Lyons Holding Company have reached an impasse, and that condemnation proceedings will probably be required.

At the same time, the govern-

Other candidates for three-year terms are Robert Johnson, a Newark teacher and recreation worker; Harold Liebeskind, vice-president of the PTA at the Thelma Sandmeier School, and Frank W. Elyard Jr., a former board member.

Running for the one-year unexpired term are Seymour Margulies and John P. Walsh. Both are attorneys.

garden, secretary; Walter Canter, business manager; Harry Sirkman, membership chairman; Mrs. J. H. Heller, music librarian; and Mrs. Robert D. Hardrove, publicity chairman.

Rear-End Crash Listed By Police

Springfield Police reported a rear-end collision last Thursday at Hillside ave. and Rt. 22. Time of the accident was listed as 11 a.m.

Marvin Manekofsky, 31, of Lyndhurst, had stopped his car at the end of Hillside ave. The report stated, preparatory to entering the highway. Police stated that his car was then hit from the rear by one driven by Donald Feldman, 22, of 36 Sherwood rd., Springfield. Both autos were damaged.

Body formally authorized filing of an application with the federal government for a $50,000 grant to aid in construction of the library.

That's Just The Way The Ball Bounces

As time continues to march, slightly out of step, toward infinity, the calendar indicates that this is the season for all good Springfield parents to spend Saturdays watching their male offspring play basketball in any of the leagues with which the Recreation Department blankets the town.

These programs do a great deal of good for our small fry. They take hordes of small, scrawny-fourth graders, who don't even know which side of the ball is the top, and send them off to high school as tall, scrawny boys, all of whom know much more about the game than any of the coaches.

This column is directed primarily at mothers who want to learn the fine points of the game. With all the teams in all the leagues, fathers are kept busy coaching, assistant coaching and preparing constructive criticism on what is wrong with the system.

Basically, the purpose of the game is to throw the ball into one of the baskets at either end of the court. The boys, however, may not run with the ball; it's too heavy. They may throw it to a teammate or bounce it rapidly on the floor while running forward.

This is known as dribbling. The term can also be applied to letting food trickle out of the corners of the mouth, as babies do in their high chairs. It seems as if some of the boys had just stopped doing the one before they started the other. The difference, of course, is less than might be apparent. Many fathers attending their sons' games still foam at the mouth when things go badly.

The major goal of the entire program, for most boys, is to learn teamwork. This means that the boy with the ball should not shoot from a bad position when a teammate is in a better position to score. Determination of which is the better position depends on whose son it is.

As in any sport which involves small boys, the coach has two problems. He wants to win, and he wants to give every boy an ample opportunity to play. The only way to solve this problem is not to coach. That course of action, too, has its inherent disadvantages. If the father doesn't coach, his son might not get into the game at all.

Actually, the basketball program is one of which Springfield can well be proud. It does teach teamwork and cooperation, perhaps better than any other sport. It requires less finely controlled skills, at least for enjoyment, than does baseball, and it involves less body contact than does football.

Now, if we only had a program to teach our adults the same sort of teamwork . . .

Young Driver Fined $310 On Two Counts

A 20-year-old Plainfield man, found guilty this week of two motor vehicle violations, was fined $310, put on two years' probation and given a 60-day suspended jail sentence.

Krancton Freeman was convicted by Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman in Municipal Court Monday night of driving on the revoked list and operating a vehicle without the owner's consent.

If another case heard by the magistrate, Harold Barover, 55, of Summit, was fined $65 for going through a red light at Millburn and Morris avenues and traveling at 65 m.p.h. in a 35-mile zone on Morris ave.

Bernard Nasse of Linden and William J. Burns of Roselle, were fined $15 each in Municipal Court for possessing fire-

Rinaldo Appointed Chairman Of 1966 Heart Fund Campaign

Appointment of Matthew J. Rinaldo of 142 Headley ter. Union, as chairman of the 1966 Heart Fund campaign in Union County was announced this week by Dr. Bernard Rosenberg, president of the Union County Heart Association. The campaign will be conducted throughout February in 21 Union County communities, including Union, Springfield, Mountside, Linden, Winfield, Roselle, Roselle Park and Kenilworth.

The Heart Fund drive will reach its high point Feb. 20, when Heart Sunday volunteers in all residential areas will visit their neighbors to deliver educational information on how to reduce the risk of heart attacks and to receive Heart Fund contributions.

"There can be no doubt that disease of the heart and circulatory system, accounting for about 84 percent of all deaths, constitute our nation's foremost health problem," Rinaldo stated.

"Apart from this, the latest statistics show that 14,800,000 persons suffer from heart diseases. Another 13,000,000 are suspected to have some form of heart disease. An additional 8,000,000 persons suffer from high blood pressure."

Rinaldo is an officer of the Employers Association of North Jersey, a Newark consulting firm. An Elizabeth native, he received a bachelor of science degree from Rutgers University and a master of business administration from Seton Hall University. He also studied at the Seton Hall University School of Law and at the School of Law of St. John's University, Brooklyn. He is currently a candidate for a doctorate in public administration at New York University.

A former Union County treasurer, Rinaldo is a past president of the Union Township Zoning Board of Adjustment. In addition, he is a member of the faculty of Rutgers University Institute of Management, Labor Relations and has lectured on industrial and labor relations at Bloomfield College and at various industrial management clubs throughout the state.

He also is a member of the Rutgers University Tri-County Alumni Association, the Union County Historical Society, the National Municipal League and the American Society for Public Administration.

This is Rinaldo's second year as chairman of the Heart Fund drive in Union County. Last year the drive raised $99,445.00 countywide, including $5640.04 in

MATTHEW J. RINALDO

Union, $1730.50 in Springfield, $2075.67 in Mountside, $354 in Winfield, $6065.05 in Linden, $1064.49 in Roselle, $3951.22 in Roselle Park and $834.50 in Kenilworth.

Art Lecture Planned

A lecture-demonstration on "Realistic Drawing in Art and Illustration" will be given next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Cranford Public Library. Charles Waterhouse will lecture. The event is being sponsored by the Cranford Creative Art Group.

"I like to travel... it's really one of my hobbies," he grins, "and I've been all over the United States of America."
"I'm also very fond of decorating. And I've become quite proficient in artificial flower decorating. I do it for parties... in my spare time.

"In fact, I've become so interested in it," he says, "that recently, I took a course in artificial flower arrangements at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's evening sessions here in Springfield."
"Yes, SCHOOL AGAIN... I he-muses. "But I do like to do everything right... and to have a good knowledge and background on the subject."
As a matter of fact, Heller indicates, going to school "again" for another eight weeks of his life... will now not seem quite so unusual.
"It isn't as if I haven't been attending classes for the past 40 years," Heller smiles.
"I know what it is that I have to do as part of my job. I feel I'm capable. I'm pretty confident in the fact that they've made the right choice."
"And," he adds, "it'll be just great getting back to a regular five-day-a-week job on a full-time basis."

Kiwanis Inducts A New Member

At the first meeting of the Millburn - Springfield Kiwanis Club in 1966, Walter Uffelman, lieutenant governor, inducted new member Edward Schable. Schable is the first second-generation member of the local group, his father John having been a member for many years and a past president.
Uffelman, past president of the club, presented a description of the objectives of Kiwanis International for the new year. The overall theme is leadership. The talk was accompanied with a film strip.

State League Basketball Action Gets Underway For 10 Teams

The Springfield Recreation Department's State League, which meets every Saturday afternoon at the Florence Gaudineer School, opened the 1966 campaign last Saturday. The State League is composed of 10 basketball teams, with 12 players on each squad.
This is the second stage of development in the Recreation Department's youth basketball program. The boys who play in this loop are graduates of the two small-try leagues.

In the opening contest last week in the State League, Idaho edged California by the count of 18 to 16. Idaho pulled this game from defeat to victory by posting a terrific fourth-quarter rally. The winners tallied 12 of their 18-point total in the final six-minute period.
Mark Tannenbaum paced the Idaho rally as he hit for eight points during the winning rally. Bob Quinn hit four markers to aid the victory. Bob Goodman with six points was the top scorer for California.

Florida romps The second game last week saw highly-ranked Florida pour it on Texas by the score of 25 to 8. In fairness to Texas, the losers missed many close-up attempts to score. Ira Schulman with 10 points and Kenny Baroff, Utah triumphs Utah scored in each period last week to overcome the defending league champion, Oklahoma, by the score of 28 to 13. Larry Silverstein and Phil Argyris tallied eight points each as they pierced the highly-rated Oklahoma defense. Steve Grau, returning veteran from the championship squad of last season, led the Oklahoma team with 11 of his team's 13 points.

Kansas hit the highest point total of the day, as the team triumphed Wyoming by the score of 28 to 12. Gregg Spector with seven points, Chris Cacos with eight points and Scott Prussing with six points paced the Kansas attack which overwhelmed Wyoming. Jeff Slater with four markers was also effective for the winners. Bobby Reichman and Bobby Zueker divided eight points to pace the Wyoming team.

Demmer Stars The final match of the day was a wide-open affair, as Iowa slipped Ohio by the score of 25 to 22. Fete Demmer paced the winners and all scorers for the afternoon as he hit for 17 points. COMMENTARY FROM UJC

Many Students Feel Draft Pressure Will Better Grades

Young men at Union Junior College, Cranford, began final examinations for the fall semester yesterday, with a heavier burden than usual — the threat of the draft.

Nearly all of the young men at UJC are aware of a recent statement by Draft Director Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey that the Selective Service System may have to tap the college classroom to meet the manpower demands of the nation's steadily rising commitment in Viet Nam.

So far college students have not been called up for military service as draftees.

Many of the UJC students expressed the opinion freshmen should be given at least an opportunity to complete their first year before judging their performance in college. They cited the great transition from high school to college. This view was expressed by Greg Wnorowski of Point Pleasant Beach, who said, "The first year of college is usually a period of indecision and transition due to the vast scope of college life and the limited, sheltered existence fostered in high school. The freshman year should be left as it is, namely, a trial period. The student's status should then be decided by his performance as a 'sophomore.'"

Wnorowski is a freshman in the Day Session majoring in liberal arts.

Cornell Stroup of Dunellen, a sophomore majoring in liberal arts in the Day Session, is against the idea of drafting any college students.

"I do not see any need to remove students from college. People who have been admitted to college must evidence some ability to achieve on the college level. It's clear they are trying to clarify the meaning of their lives to themselves," Stroup said.

The Dunellen student suggested that Selective Service draft high school and college dropouts, as a way of helping them find a goal to work toward.

"While the newly-drafted drop-out might at first show some concern for the loss of his leisure, eventually he will see that the service experience will have actually been helpful to him," Stroup said.

Another view is held by Bernie Buettner of 188 Hickory rd., Union, a sophomore in the Day Session majoring in business administration, who is vice president of the Student Council.

"When students, especially those in the bottom quarter, learn the new draft regulations will be put into effect, the idea-and-aggards who are better. Those who are at the bottom will be out soon anyway," Buettner said.

A more fatalistic view is held by John Dzierzynski of Lending, who is a sophomore in the Day Session majoring in business administration.

"If Uncle Sam wants you, he'll get you most of the time," Dzierzynski said. "A good thing, though, is that pressure from the Selective Service will spur those capable on to getting better grades, but they'll be a little nervous."

Anthony Cherichello of Elizabeth, said he believes it is unfair to draft college students who are working hard.

"At least give them a chance. They'll probably have to serve anyway when they get out," Cherichello, a Day Session freshman majoring in business administration, said.

Another Elizabeth youth, Thomas Chrobak, a freshman and a business administration major in the Day Session, holds a similar view.

"I don't think freshmen should be drafted. If I do well the first year, I'll have something to come back to. I'd like to be guaranteed a year to see what I set do," Chrobak said.

James Mooney of Middlesex, who is a freshman in liberal arts in the Day Session, is of another opinion.

"Just being in college is not enough to excuse you from the draft. You have to show some potential for 'staying in,'" Mooney said.

He added that the threat of the draft "will in some way effect my initiative, but not my performance that much" on final exams.

It may make the lower quarter students work harder to get out of that bracket," Mooney said.

Christian Ortleb of Paramus, who is a sophomore majoring in science in the Day Session, suggested that selective service officials look to other manpower sources first.

"The point that bothers me is the partner soldiers in the National Guard. They should be activated before college students," Ortleb said.

James Wudski of Rahway, said, "I think as a last resort it will be necessary to draft college students. It might act as an incentive to study harder now that seniors are coming up." Wudski, a sophomore in the Day Session, is a liberal arts major and president of the Inter-fraternal Council.

Arts Center Draws Heavy Membership

The Trailside Museum Arts Center, a new organization dedicated to the encouragement of realistic art dealing with man, nature and science, has gained a membership of 75 since it was officially formed Jan. 1 and includes many leading professional artists in the state.

Maxwell Stewart Simpson, president, announced this week that an exhibit of works by professional members will be held at the Union Junior College in Cranford from March 1 through March 15. A meeting for all members is planned in April, at which time Simpson will give a demonstration. Summer outdoor classes are also in the planning stage. It is intended that the center will provide for professional instruction in oil and water color painting, sculpture, drawing, adult workshops, and children's arts and crafts. These will be operated on a self-sustaining basis.

Membership in the Arts Center is open to all artists and information may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mrs. Morton Rapoport, membership chairman, 44 Crane parkway, Cranford.

The Trailside Museum Arts Center is but one of the many activities of the Trailside Museum Association, Inc. The Association, a non-profit organization, also provides aid to the Trailside Nature and Science Center, which is owned and operated by the Union County

Chapter Planning Therapy In Group

The Upper New Jersey Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis is embarking upon a new program in the Union County area, Joseph Hobbins, president, announced this week.

"We are hoping to be able to provide group physical therapy to a limited number of patients on two Wednesday evenings a month," he said.

"We are hoping to be able to provide group physical therapy to a limited number of patients on two Wednesday evenings a month," he said.

The sessions will be conducted by Kenneth Hestler, a registered physical therapist at his clinic at 1873 Central ave., Westfield.

All participants in the program must have their physician's written permission and each must provide his own transportation to the sessions.

"For information call '767-7787,'" Hobbins added.

'Wild Rivers' Film Set At Trailside

"Wild Rivers," a color, sound film, will be shown to the Sunday afternoon visitors to the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

The film depicts man's eager use of rivers and waterways for recreation purposes which includes boating, fishing and camping on the river's edges. Scenes of various rivers during the four seasons of the year, will also be shown.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, at 4 p.m. each day, Dr. Harold N. Maiden, director of Trailside, will present one-half hour nature talks for children. The topic selected for the four days is "Frogs, Toads, and Salamanders." The talks will be illustrated with color slides.

Tow Waits Snow At Galloping Hill; Need Two Inches

The ski tow at the Galloping Hill Golf Course, Kenilworth and Union, will be in operation with the first substantial snowfall for the 1966 season, according to a Union County Park Commission spokesman.

The rope tow is located at the No. 3 fairway on the single nine hole of the golf course. This site, according to the spokesman, offers skiers about one-quarter mile downhill slope. The tow itself is 675 feet in length and has an elevation of 65 feet. The area will be lighted to permit evening skiing.

Rates for the use of the ski tow will be as follows: on weekday afternoons, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 5:30 p.m., the fee is 75 cents. All evenings from 7 to 10 p.m., the fee is $1.00. A fee of $7.00 is also charged on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. and on Sundays from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. The fee entitles the skier to use the tow during the hours of operation, the spokesman said.

A minimum of two inches of snow with cold weather is necessary to permit skiing.

"The rope tow has been used by over 6,000 skiers since it opened for operation in 1963.

STATION BREAKS

By MILT HAMMER

CHIT CHAT: Yogi Berra is watching "Bob Hope Presents." During the play's action, a TV set is tuned to a ballgame, and the announcer says, "Yogi Berra is coming to bat." The set is then switched off. The next day Hope received a wife from Yogi. "How did I do?" Anne Bancroft and Sidney Pollack, her director in the film, "The Slender Thread," are discussing the possibility of Anne doing the film version of famed jazz singer Lee Wiley's life. Pollack directed the teleplay based on the same subject. . . . When Paul Anka taped a TV special in his home town of Ottawa recently he met approximately 72 relatives for the first time. The result is that, since then, he's received invitations to 15 christenings, 10 confirmations and 12 weddings.

COLLECTOR'S CORNER: The late Nat King Cole's songs selections from "My Fair Lady." To a score of great style and charm, Nat brings his own great charm and style, and something else as well in this album. Numbers included: "With a Little Bit of Luck," "I Could Have Danced All Night," "The Rain in Spain," "On the Street Where You Live," "I'm An Ordinary Man," "Get Me To The Church On Time," "Show Me," "I've Grown Accustomed To Her Face," "You Did It," "Wouldn't It Be Lovely" and "Hymn To Him." On the songs requiring additional voices, Nat is assisted by the Merry Young Souls, the versatile chorus that accompanied him in his on-stage performances. Another excellent LP to add to your Cole collection. (CAPITOL SW-2117)

State's Pharmaceutical Industry Called Dramatic Development

New Jersey's pioneering pharmaceutical industry is one of the 20th century's most dramatic developments in the field of medicine.

Approximately 15 percent of the total drugs produced in the United States each year emanate from various concerns within the State. With an annual payroll of over $119 million, these firms employ more than 18,000 persons, and the aggregate investment for plants and equipment is in excess of $530 million.

In addition, New Jersey has the greatest concentration of pharmaceutical research installations in the nation. From these laboratories come some of the most important therapeutic and lifesaving discoveries for the benefit of mankind.

In discussing this phase of the New Jersey economy, Robert A. "Doc" Commissioner of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development commented, "the pharmaceutical industry has vastly enhanced New Jersey's reputation as the 'Research State.' Of even greater significance are the remarkable developments by this industry in helping to prolong life and alleviate physical suffering."

In 1937, the American Cyanamid Co. produced the first commercial sulfanilamide in the United States at its plant in Bound Brook. The drug initially had been made in Europe. Major contributions in developing and improving the sulfas also were made by the Maltbie Chemical Co. and by Merck and Squibb.

By 1945, the drug streptomycin was being manufactured at the Rahway plant of Merck. Following years of research and accomplishment on the part of Dr. Selman Waksman, a 1952 Nobel Prize winner and professor emeritus of Rutgers, the State University, working with an aide, Dr. Albert B. Sabin, Merck and Squibb began producing the anti-malarial drug, atabrine, and antibiotics like penicillin in quantity.

Dr. Albert B. Sabin, formerly a resident of Paterson, received the 20th annual $10,000 Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation Award last November for his understanding of polio and the development of a live oral vaccine. The citation noted the fact that his vaccine has been administered to more than 350 million persons and pointed out that wherever it had been used extensively, polio has either been eliminated completely or reduced to a few isolated cases.

In making the presentation, Mrs. Albert D. Lasker, president of the Foundation, noted that 14 previous recipients of the award had subsequently received the Noble prize.

Dr. Sabin is now a staff member of the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine

CONGRESS AIMS ITS CROSS BOW

When Congress goes into fiscal combat against the world's largest budget shortly, it will resemble a medieval army using ancient cross bows against a foe armed with the most modern mechanisms and intricate technology of war.

Numerous study groups have reported that Congressional appropriations procedures are totally inadequate to the enormity of today's task of translating annual multi-billion dollar budget proposals into appropriations and then controlling expenditures and programs, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

This year, it is being freely predicted that the President's budget message, scheduled to reach the lawmakers late in January, will reach a fantastic total of more than $110 billion. This represents an average of more than $2,250 for the family of four.

Many are the shortcomings of Congress — "guardian of the Nation's purse strings" as it is called — the job of translating this into a spending program for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Among these, the overall spending total will be lost to view during the piecemeal appropriations process. Likewise, missing will be knowledge of available revenues to show whether Congress is building a surplus or more debt — and how much. The annual appropriations process is further complicated by billions of dollars of "carry-over" spending authorizations from previous years. It is estimated that at least 40 percent of the budget total will not be susceptible to Congressional control.

and chief of the division of virology and cancer research at the Children's Hospital Research Foundation in Cincinnati.

According to the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, more than 30 percent of the new drug discoveries in the past decade have originated in pharmaceutical laboratories within the State. These include the antibiotics; hormones; anti-inflammatories; tranquilizers; antihistamines; diuretics and special vitamins that have been synthesized as specific agents against certain crippling infirmities.

John P. Cunningham, writer and authority on New Jersey history in a recent issue of the New Jersey Business magazine traced the origin of the State's important pharmaceutical industry to 1908 when Merck and Corbegan producing medicinal chemicals, followed by the R. Squibb other plant in New Brunswick and a facility established in Phillipsburg by J. T. Baker to serve drug manufacturers and chemists.

During the depression years, at a time when most industries were cutting back, the drug makers concentrated on research activities. They were thus ideally prepared to supply Allied needs during World War II and for the subsequent postwar expansion.

As a result, the pharmaceutical industry in New Jersey is a major supplier of medicinal needs in the United States. In

Bell Expenditure In State For 1965 At $833 Million

Bell System operating and manufacturing units poured $833 million into New Jersey's economy last year, with New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. accounting for one-third of the total, a spokesman said this week.

Robert D. Lilley, New Jersey Bell president, said the telephone company's portion of the Bell System expenditures in the state amounted to $272 million, including wages, taxes, purchases, some construction costs and other operating expenses.

Other units of the Bell System affecting the state's economy are the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., Western Electric Co. and Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Lilley pointed out the New Jersey Bell's total budget for new construction last year was $153 million — the highest amount ever, marking the fifth time in six years the telephone company's construction program has topped the $100 million mark. The '65 budget was some $20 million more than the one for 1964.

New Jersey is known as the "Medicine Chest of the Nation" because of the productivity of her pharmaceutical industry. It is notable that the individual manufacturers are continuing to develop research programs for the benefit of contemporary society and future generations.

All About People

by GENE ROSENFIELD

ELGENE TIRE CO.

Car number 37 came roaring out of the final curve of the 1500 mile Continental cross country race. The driver hunched over the wheel and with clenched teeth and thought of the many drivers who had not finished this annual event staged by the Automobile Club of Europe. Why, just the year before, in 1933, hadn't two of Europe's most outstanding drivers plummeted to their deaths on the dangerous winding roads?

The driver smiled as the last few miles disappeared and car 37 sped past the finishing line in third place. Finally the car came to a grinding halt and a crowd began to gather to congratulate the driver. As the driver swung open a hatch of amazement, event through the on-lookers, for out stepped a mere slip of a girl. Her bright blonde hair glistened in the sunlight. Her pretty face was streaked with the sweat of her effort. They were awed, for she had not only finished a race that many other famous male drivers had not completed, but she had come in third. The first female to ever enter Europe's most dangerous and thrilling race had come out a winner.

Long-Awaited Opening Of Parkway Interchange In E. Orange Set Today

A highway colossus will be opened today when the Garden State Parkway's $92-million Interchange 145 opens its ramps to receive traffic in East Orange.

The giant new interchange, which spreads between Central ave. and Main st. in East Orange, will go into use for Parkway travelers at noon today with a 10-cent toll charge applying on its northbound exit and southbound entrance ramps.

Ten ramps are included in the interchange complex which serves local traffic and will connect the Parkway with Interstate Rt. 280 (Essex East-West Freeway) when the latter is completed by the State Highway Department.

Seven of the ramps will open today for travel between the Parkway and East Orange local roads, the other three staying shut pending the availability of the Rt. 280 freeway to serve connecting traffic. In addition, there are two temporary ramps for interchange travel.

In total paved length, the complex of exit and entrance ramps within new Interchange 145 stretches for some 10,380 feet or almost two miles. Its construction involves a half-million cubic yards of earth and rock excavation, eight bridges, 30,000 cubic yards of concrete and 1,700 tons of structural steel reinforcing steel.

Two other new toll interchanges in the previously toll-free Essex County section of the Parkway now have 10-cent tolls on their northbound exit and southbound entrance ramps at the same time. They are Interchanges 144 at 16th avenue, Irvington, and 143 at Bloomfield ave., Bloomfield.

The local tolls were authorized by the State Legislature in 1961, and will not affect through travelers in this Essex section. The three toll interchanges were built by the Parkway as part of its $40-million improvement program in the heavily-traveled section.

Under the legislation authorizing local tolls in the section, the Parkway will contribute up to $13-million towards the State costs of building Rt. 280 as a depressed road in the Newark-Oranges area of Essex County.

The new ramp facilities in Interchanges 144 and 143 were made available to traffic on a toll-free basis in advance of today's noon-time start of collections. Other interchange improvements in the section under the Parkway program have similarly been made available to traffic beforehand.

Simultaneously with the opening today of the big new interchange 145 north of Central ave. in East Orange, the Parkway will close the old Int. 145 exit and entrance just south of Central ave. and the similar ramps of Int. 143 south of Springfield ave. The new interchange 145 is situated between them and will assume their traffic.

Signs were posted at the old interchange ramps last week notifying motorists of yesterday's scheduled Jan. 12th closing. Leaflets are also being distributed in the general area to advise the motoring public of the long-scheduled and previously announced changes.

Construction work on the Essex improvement projects started before mid-1964 — ground was broken for the interchange 145 colossus on May 27 that year — after the New Jersey Highway Authority issued $40-million bonds to finance the Parkway program. The Authority operates the toll road.

A 50-mile-per-hour speed limit which was in effect for travel in the Parkway's Essex County stretch during the course of heavy construction will remain effective until the end of fringe work, particularly in the Irvington area where improvements are being completed for a revised interchange 143 around Nye ave.

The revisions to Interchange 143 include the southward shifting and splitting of its southbound exit into two long off-ramps to provide more convenient access to Union ave. both north and south of Lyons ave. The discontinuance of previously authorized tolls on its northbound entrance and southbound exit, and a change in its Parkway numbering.

Progressing fast toward completion within a month, the Irvington facility and number change will find the two new split ramps being signed as Exits 143A and 143B respectively for access north of Lyons ave. to Maplewood and access south of Lyons ave. to Hillside.

The southbound exit leading out to Springfield ave. in Irvington, which has been lengthened and expanded and previously opened for traffic in its highly improved shape, will be designated as Exit 143 instead of the current 143A. All numbering changes will be made simultaneously.

All other work in the Essex improvement program is scheduled to be done before the end of Spring.

There will be no formal opening ceremonies at Interchange 145 in East Orange today. The absence of the 1-285 freeway facilities puts a damper on the occasion since a Parkway connection with that route was planned as a major step in the overall traffic improvement effort.

The new interchange will however provide four-way movement for local traffic, serving all directions of travel to and from the Parkway. Its northbound entrance and southbound exit ramps afford toll-free access, the single collection plaza in this interchange 145 involving only the northbound exit and southbound entrance traffic.

In line with the Parkway policy of identifying its facilities by their geographic location, the 10-lane collection area in the new interchange 145 will be known as the East Orange Toll Plaza. The ramp toll stations on both sides of the Parkway at Interchanges 144 and 143 will be coupled as the Irvington and Bloomfield plazas respectively.

Interchange 145 complex basically projects off the east side of the Parkway, the southbound ramps looping over or under the main roadways except for the one exit lane leading out directly to South Orange, Parkway and Central ave.

Only one of the several construction detours on the mainline Parkway in the interchange 145 area will be left for any period after the opening tomorrow. This is the southbound detour near the Main Street overpass, which will have to remain due to the continuing work by the State Highway Department on the undercrossing Rt. 280.

The detour on the southbound service road paralleling the Parkway in the same East Orange area will also continue in effect due to the State work there.

And the closed portions of both the northbound and southbound service roads in the interchange 143 area south of Bloomfield ave. will stay shut until March for completion of fringe work there by contractors, unless weather permits an earlier end to the remaining jobs and their reopening sooner.

The Parkway officials are reserving a helicopter for traffic surveillance of the Essex section after the opening of the new interchange facilities, in order to study the new travel pattern and conditions towards possible improvements if needed. This would be done in coordination with the officials of the area until March for completion of municipalities.

SCIENCE TOPICS

CARCINOGENIC (cancer-producing) properties are possessed by a wide variety of both synthetic and naturally occurring materials, say two University of Wisconsin scientists. They urge careful review of all potentially carcinogenic materials and rigid control over those that may be hazardous.

Dr. James A. and Elizabeth Miller say many natural materials, some used by man for centuries, have proved to be cancer-producing upon testing with laboratory animals.

OLD AGE comes quickly in the fast-moving Atomic Era. The history-making cyclotron at Columbia University that was used 26 years ago in the first atomic energy experiments in America is being dismantled and given to the Smithsonian Institution. There it will be a prized youngster among objects in American history hundreds of years old. The "atom-smasher" is 27 years old.

HOSPITAL PERSONNEL can now connect medical equipment to threaded Diameter-Index Safety-System (DISS) outlets with literally one hand behind their backs. "Quick-Diss" connectors, marketed by National Cylinder Gas, Chicago, permit nurses and other medical specialists to couple flowmeters and vacuum regulators to the outlets with a quick push, eliminating time-consuming threading. The connectors contain unique internal-threaded segments that are actuated by pressure or vacuum in the line.

A HUGE METEORITE crater, the third-largest known crater in which meteoritic materials have been found, has been discovered in northern Chile in the foothills of the Andes. It has a diameter of 1,478 feet and an average depth of 100 feet. Baringer crater in Arizona and Wolf Creek crater in western Australia are the only known craters that exceed it in diameter and depth.

CHEATING
People who cheat are trying to get what they want without making the effort to "get it" honestly, trying to get something for nothing.

Cheating is usually associated with children and school work at examination time. One child may cheat to get passing marks. Another may cheat to stand at the head of the class.

In some cases, a youngster will take much more time to perfect a method of cheating than he would need to learn the necessary material. He does this because he is afraid he could not get by using the honest method and he does not want to face the reality of his failure.

Cheating the teacher is just one form of cheating. There are those who are always seeking the opportunity to "pull it over" on the employer or the more impersonal government.

Evasion of responsibility starts early, and often parents tend to treat it lightly. The youngster who keeps a few pennies out of his mother's change from the store, or looks innocently found-

Cancer Fighting Gifts
Appointment of Louis V. Rell-y of Newark, and Mrs. Winfield Bonyne Jr., of Whippany, as co-chairmen of the Special Gifts Committee for the American Cancer Society's New Jersey Division was announced recently by W. Jefferson Lyon, chairman of the 1966 New Jersey Cancer Crusade.

In announcing the appointments, Lyon pointed out that special gifts are an increasingly important source of cancer fighting funds. "The Special-Gifts Program seeks to persuade individuals, corporations and four nations to consider the importance of winning the battle against cancer by giving in proportion to the size of the problem and their own ability to give," the Crusade chairman said.

Dear Amy:
I want you to know that I read your column every week.
As a matter of fact, it is the first thing that I turn to when I read the paper, so I'm sure you can help me.
For three years I have been going with Louis who is now in his second year of college. I love

Dear G. N.: Anything past your hands
is taboo.
Regardless what he wants to do.
Stick to your guns.
Have clean, wholesome fun,
Or you stand to lose more than just Lou!

Dear Amy:
I have been attracted to a man in my office. He's never asked for a date though he teases me a lot and is very friendly. One day we were talking about food and I said I was a good cook. He told me I could cook him a steak some time and I agreed — all in fun, of course. Now all he talks about is that steak dinner. Do you think that this is his way of asking for a date?

Dear Cheana:
Yes ... a parlor date.

Dear Amy:
I have a so-called good friend (female) who calls me constantly on the telephone any time of the day or evening and talks and talks — most of the time for 1 1/2 hours. It's mostly about her two darling children, and honestly, Amy, I had six of my own so I know how cute they can be and the cute things they can do. I don't have time to sit and chatter on the phone, and furthermore, to me, she's just plain boring. But inasmuch as she belongs to one of our clubs, and we do see each other once in a while, I do not want her getting angry at me.

I've tried everything I know in the way of dropping hints such as "You've got to go, Ann, because my potatoes are boiling over," or "I don't feel well and must get off my feet," or "Someone's at the door," but she's so dumb of a blockhead, she can't take a hint.

I've thought of just hanging up in the middle of the conversation but I don't know if I should. Please, Amy, tell me how to handle this 'lady' who has nothing to do but call me every day. I get so I hate to answer the phone, but of course I must.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From Carolyn Yuknus, County Home Economist

Potatoes are a truly universal food. They might almost be nominated as a food symbol of international good will. A native of South America, they have traveled far and won friends everywhere.

Nutritious, tasty and economical, potatoes' fine qualities have earned an excellent reputation all along the way.
Potatoes have long been a mainstay of low cost diets. In Ireland, in 1780, a 280 lb. barrel of potatoes was a week's supply for a family of five.
Each family would eat 8 lbs.
per day on an average.

Although our consumption of potatoes in the United States has decreased, they are far the most frequently used vegetable in our diet. The average consumption in 1961 was 104 lbs.
per person.

Listed among the plentiful foods in recent weeks have been potatoes, but this does not need to be the reason for getting them often. They contain minerals and vitamins and are mild flavored so that "they go with" almost anything.

Most widely heralded French potato dish is French Fried Potatoes. For variety, garlic flavor is added in the preparation.

Processed potatoes offer variety and convenience for those to whom time and energy are more than money.

Don't overlook the value of a steaming hot bowl of Cream of Potato Soup for luncheon or supper. Use parsley or onion for extra flavor in the soup.

Chopped parsley or chives are also good to serve with baked potatoes. Sour cream on baked potatoes is enjoyed by many and some like grated cheese.

If any fresh cooked mashed potatoes are left from one meal to another, old-fashioned potato cakes are still popular.

For a flavorful casserole, alternate layers of mashed potatoes and cooked pork sausage.
Sprinkle with grated cheese, and bake in a moderate oven until brown.

Stuffed hot dogs, all lengthwise, with cheese-topped mashed potatoes make another tasty treat. Wrap each "package" with a strip of bacon, secure with wooden picks and broil. To be sure the bacon gets done, place the packs on their sides in the broiling pan.
Toast to a crispy brown on one side and then on the other.
Then turn topside up for a final browning.

cept that.

She called the telephone company to inquire about the possibility of opening a telephone answering service. New Jersey Bell's Dick Robinson came to see her. He found that she did not have the reach necessary to use regular switchboard equipment. He arranged for special equipment for her — equipment that proved ideal for Jackie.

As her therapy progressed, Dick came often to see her, carrying her to his car on several occasions to take her to see other answering services in operation.

Fourteen years ago, Jackie began her own service. Today, she has all the customers she can handle — everyone from doctors to appliance repairmen. She's only missed two days of work in those fourteen years. She still hears from Dick Robinson. Jacqueline's a remarkable woman who has a busy and satisfying career — thanks to her courage and a telephone man's interest.

UNITED STATES
SAVINGS BONDS

★ Twenty-five years ago on May 1, 1941, the U. S. Treasury issued the first Series E Savings Bond to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

★ That purchase, in the words of Lyndon B. Johnson, "set into motion the greatest thrift program the world has ever known."

★ Since that day in 1941, Americans have bought more than $150,000,000,000 worth of Series E and H Savings Bonds.

★ From these savings have come new homes, college educations, dream vacations, paid-up hospital bills, more satisfying retirements.

★ Americans still own almost $50 billion in Savings Bonds... $50 billion worth of personal security... security from want...

from fear... from loss of independence.

★ $50 billion worth of security from loss of freedom in today's troubled world.

★ Join the greatest thrift program in the world. For your future and your family's future. And your country's future.

Versatile Ranch Is Popular Model At Normandy And Rickland Villages

Street scene at Normandy Village in Parsippany-Troy Hills where homes are priced from $25,990. Andri Building Co. of Clifton is developing the tract along with its sister community Rickland Village.

The flexibility of the Cherbourg ranch model with its potential of from 3 to 6 bedrooms has made a strong impact on overall sales at the sister communities of Normandy Village and Rickland Village in Parsippany-Troy Hills.

A total of 205 homes has been sold at the two tracts which are about 2 miles apart on opposite sides of Route 46, with a number of the sales attributed to the Cherbourg plans.

The Cherbourg is available as a ranch with 3 bedrooms or 4 bedrooms and as a ranch and a half with 5 or 6 bedrooms. It is priced from $27,500 to $30,500 and its versatility has made it extremely popular with buyers at the two tracts.

Normandy Village and Rickland Village offer homes from $25,990 through Value Realty, Inc. of Clifton, N. J. Andri Building Co. of Clifton is the developer.

The 3-bedroom Cherbourg ranch is one of 12 housing plans offered at the two communities, with buyers having the opportunity to interchange models from one site to another. Furnished models are on display at both Rickland Village on North Beverwyck Road and Normandy Village on South Beverwyck Road.

Rickland Village offers a 3-bedroom ranch, a 3-bedroom split-ranch, a 4-bedroom Colonial 2-story, a 4-bedroom bi-level and a 9-room split-colonial.

a split-ranch with 3 to 5 bedrooms and a Colonial split-level with four bedrooms.

Homes at both communities are being built on fully-landscaped plots 100 by 150 feet and larger in an area with city sewers and all improvements.

Designed by Roche & Roche of Clifton, the 80-foot-long Cherbourg ranch model has an exterior of shakes and a covered portico entry into an 11 by 7 1/2 foyer with guest closet.

One wing off the foyer offers the living area. Here is a 20 by 13 1/2 living room, and 11 1/2 by 11 formal dining room, an 18 by 13 1/2 family room with sliding glass doors out to the rear garden, a 14 by 12 kitchen and a stepped-down laundry-mud room with door to the storage area at the rear of the 2-car garage. Students Participating In Intern Program

Florida Institute of Technology students taking part in a new "intern" program in which they can participate in various agencies while still in school. The program is designed to help students gain work experience and to help them find jobs after graduation.

Each of the 100 women working in the program is an intern at the State University of Florida. They are assigned to various departments and are given the same type of training as if they were full-time employees.

The idea for the program developed initially from Dean Novich's recognition of the desirability of training a group of students who were knowledgeable enough to be sent to any office as additional help in an emergency.

Establishment of the intern program became possible this year through the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity, which is making funds available to colleges to be used in the creation of new jobs for low-income students.

ONE SOMEWHAT unexpected side effect of the intern program has been to make the participants more sympathetic to the complexities of administering a college with 2,750 students.

PRACTICE SAFETY IN KITCHENS NOW, SAYS ECONOMIST

Do not ever climb on a pulled-out drawer to reach a top shelf instead of getting a ladder. Do not lean out of a window with a knife — without stopping to remind the neighbors.

Incidents like these often lead to kitchen accidents. Kitchen safety involves thinking ahead to prevent mishaps.

Miss Clara M. Carroll, extension home management and economic specialist at the College of Agriculture and Extension, Human University, suggests a checklist of kitchen and work habits to accident hunters follow.

Chairs or an open drawer are not safe substitutes for a small ladder. Because a sturdy step stool in the kitchen and climb it to reach hard-to-reach places. About the best that can be done is to use a step stool.

BETZ UNION MOTORS. 1064 Stuyvesant Ave. Union NY 6-4114

"I used to change my schedule nearly every year and get mad at what I thought was the 'poor' old tape involved. After seeing all the work that has to be done in the teacher's office when the semester ends, I'll surely think more carefully before I register this year," says intern Zenna P. Moline of Millville.

Among the tasks the administrative interns have had to do are to help the admissions office run a survey on why students who drop out of school do not choose to return.

The main difference between us and most other student workers is that each of us people we work for has told us why we're doing the job, not just how to do it.

Charlotte Calmes of Hillside.

One of the long-range purposes of the program is to interest students in careers in college administration. With the 100 members of Junior Colleges' being established, there will be an increasing number of jobs opening in the field.

Elizabeth Mitchell of Trenton, a member since 1954, has just decided whether she wants to go into college administration as a career.

"But before this experience," she points out, "I never even would have considered it as a possibility."

Each of the 100 women working in the program is an intern at the State University of Florida. They are assigned to various departments and are given the same type of training as if they were full-time employees.
