New Library Books In Non-Fiction Field

This week at the Springfield Public Library, the selection of new non-fiction books varied from travel to nature, and from animals to art.

A few of these recent books are described below.

Travel
"Japanese Festivals," by Helen Bauer and Sherwin Carlquist. "Information on over 300 colorful festivals in Japan, and on the part they play in contemporary society and culture. Included are many illustrations of flower festivals, New Year's festivals, shrine festivals and others."

Pollution
"Disaster by Default: Politics and Water Pollution," by Frank Graham Jr. "The startling story of how our national resources have been, and are being, exploited for the benefit of the few. Of particular interest is the case of the Hudson River, which discusses the Raritan Bay and Arthur Kill areas, both of which are quite nearby."

Antiques and Art
"Glass," by George Savage. "A richly illustrated introduction to the traditions of glass making, from ancient Egypt to the Twentieth Century. Covers a number of countries and numerous different styles of art in glass."

Nature
"The Elements of Rage," by Frank W. Lane. "Photographs and text describe hurricanes, tornadoes, meteoroids, earthquakes and other unbelievable powerful and dangerous natural phenomena. There are eye-witness accounts of the great Siberian meteoroid that fell in 1908, of Swiss avalanches, of Japanese earthquakes, and much more."

Animals
"Spiders, Snakes and Other Outcasts," by Robert Froman. "Snakes, bats, vultures, cockroaches, do they make you shiver? If so, this book-full of intriguing information will give you a new viewpoint on these 'bad' creatures that are among the most successful forms of life on earth."

Anthropology and Africa
"The Great Rift," by Carol Parkins. "Here for older children is the record of a trip made through Kenya and East Africa while searching for man's ancestors. It ends at Olduvai Gorge and the archeological digs there, where much work is now being done to reconstruct the history of the oldest-known ancestors of man."

DANIEL KALEM

"It takes a certain type of person who will volunteer his services to help his fellow man, when help is most desperately needed," exclaims Daniel Kalem.

"And I've discovered that right here in Springfield, we have quite a few people who have the well-being of their town in mind. I've particularly noticed it during some extensive work with the Springfield volunteers of our First Aid Squad through the years."

Kalem, who has been with the First Aid Squad in Springfield for the past 11 years, holding all sorts of officer posts, has recently been named as membership drive chairman.

"Our membership drive is on... as of right now," Kalem declares, "and we are looking for men and women who will volunteer their services by day or by night."

The Springfield First Aid Squad, at its most recent count, has approximately 82 local volunteers.

Kalem says that "almost our whole crew on the day shift are women volunteers. In fact," he adds, "we only have one other fellow and myself on days. And if it wasn't for our dedicated women, we would never have been able to operate so effectively during the day."

WE OPERATE on a 24-hour, around-the-clock, day-night shift. And because of a schedule of this sort," Kalem explains, "we can usually get any spot in town within four to five minutes from the time we've received a call from the police. We carry oxygen, resuscitators, the latest equipment.

"Since I am a training officer, I can tell you for a fact that we are constantly holding training sessions — to keep up to date on the latest equipment. We have the latest equipment inside and outside of our ambulances, too."

Kalem declares that he speaks for the whole crew of volunteers when he says, "We feel proud that we are in position to render this type of service to our residents. And we have a group of people in the squad who are especially interested in doing whatever they can to render this service."

Actually, Kalem indicates, "this is what we call a working organization. And it's the kind of a thing that gets into your blood — a thing that you want to do more of. After you've been out on a number of calls, just the thought that you've helped someone at a time when he most needed help gives you a deep, warm feeling."

"THIS IS STRICTLY a voluntary thing," Kalem says. "Perhaps sometimes you do see some signs that are not very pleasant... but then everything in this life isn't pleasant. Someone just has to be in a position to help his fellow human beings."

Kalem says that last year, the Springfield First Aid Squad held a membership drive.

"We did get some new members," he explains. "Some of the people who were asked to become volunteers said that they can't stand the sight of blood, etc. We got about 8,000 different excuses."

"Perhaps this year, we'll get a much better response. At least, we hope so." Kalem, who was born in New York City and educated there, "went to City College in New York and I also had credit toward a degree from Yale University."

DURING WORLD WAR II, he enlisted in the U.S. Army and served as "Army News correspondent, both in Europe and in the Philippines Islands."

"As a member of the Bureau of Public Relations, I worked with the other correspondents to get the up-to-the-minute stories for various metropolitan newspapers, including the New York Times."

Two weeks after Kalem was discharged from the Army, he was married to Suzanne E. Hahn, an energetic young lady, who has commented her husband's volunteer work here in Springfield with some voluntary work herself for the local Red Cross and its ambulance and part-time volunteer work at Overlook Hospital as a nurse.

After Kalem was married, he went to work in an automobile agency and wound up as a manager. Then he went into the insurance business.

That was in 1954, four years after we'd moved to Springfield. (Kalem serves as chairman of the insurance advisory committee of Temple Beth Ahm.) "For the past four years," he says, "I've been teaching insurance at Fairleigh Dickinson University, in the evenings."

DISPITE ALL his additional business and local organizational work, Kalem says, he devotes so much of his time to the First Aid Squad out of a "desire to see if I can be of any help — to people who need help."

the proper care of your bicycle. Secondly, we have to remember to ride our bicycles in the street, on the right hand side. We will obey all traffic signals and signs, and we will give hand signals when we make a turn or stop.

"If we have to use our bicycles at night, we recommend that you don't ride without a front light and a rear light — not a reflector, but a rear light. This is a state law.

"Don't ride two abreast. Don't ride on the sidewalks. Don't try to beat a car in an intersection (you may lose). Don't be a show-off bike rider. Remember, a moment of so-called smartness may mean a lifetime of regret.

"Thirdly, the bicycle rider will have to make many quick decisions, many of which are called the 'Rules of the Road.' A large number of the decisions are matters of quick thinking and good common sense. The importance of this latter consideration can not be over-emphasized.

"Going hand-in-hand with common sense is courtesy. Courtesy is one of the most important aspects of automobile driving, as well as bicycle riding.

"Some of the ways you can be courteous are: yield the right of way to a pedestrian who is crossing the street or about to cross the street; allow a pedestrian the right of way when you are about to drive out of an alley or driveway; don't leave your bicycle in the middle of a door-way or sidewalk, and always lock your bicycle when you leave it unattended.

"The right of way is something no one actually has, but something that a person can give or take.

"We are very fortunate here in Springfield in that we have not had many boys and girls injured or killed as a result of bicycle accidents.

"The accidents have increased in the last few years. In 1961, we had three accidents; in 1962, three accidents; in 1963, two accidents, one of which was a fatal; in 1964, five accidents; and last year we had six accidents.

"That is six accidents more than we want, and with the help of all the bicycle riders we can cut it down to nothing."

"We have another serious problem in Springfield with the new highway going through town. I want to warn all the children and bike riders to stay off the dirt road which is going to be the new highway.

"There have been a few bicycle riders seen on this road. With all the heavy machines, trucks and tractors that are on the road, it makes it very dangerous for a bicycle rider to be on it."

"Also, be very cautious when you are riding your bicycle near any of the streets that are being used by the trucks for the highway construction."

MAN FINED $25
Peter M. Adam of Somerset was fined $25 by Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman in Municipal Court Monday night for the improper operation of a motor vehicle.

Railroad Service Seen Necessary In Area Suburbs

Suburban railroads called on government authorities this week to take realistic steps to assure continuation of railroad passenger service in their area. A resolution made public contained recommendations to "federal, state, county and municipal authorities and the New York Port Authority," from members of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield. It was signed by the board president, Frank A. Sedford of Livingston.

The group represents 87 proprietor members and 350 sales associates.

The text indicated that the railroads' decline was taken in response to a petition recently filed by the Erie Lackawanna Railroad with the New Jersey Public Utility Commission requesting permission to discontinue suburban passenger service.

The resolution asked that the authorities "give full attention to this serious matter and that a way be found to ease the burden of the railroads who operate community services." It also called for "proper legislation whereby the railroad will be obligated to fulfill their proper duty in the transportation of passengers."

Construction

cess becomes difficult. As yet, he said, this has not been done.

He also reviewed the situation along Morrison rd., where all Morris ave. traffic has been detoured to permit construction of a highway bridge over the local street.

"We expect to see improvement very soon in the paving of the western end of the by-pass," the mayor noted. "This has not yet been done."

He did not, however, state an excavation at the eastern end of Morrison rd. was filled in immediately. This had jolted into the traffic lane, creating a major hazard.

When he toured the construction areas last Thursday, Flaherty declared that his primary purpose was to have the State Highway Department and the contractors "give some consideration to the rights of the people in Springfield."

He went on to say, "I've been getting phone calls after phone calls from residents, and they're all legitimate complaints. I'm just fed up."

The long list of complaints included such items as the regular starting of motors for heavy equipment at 8 a.m., and frequent burning of trash and dirt piles burning in almost all parts of the town, including the highway construction areas.

Flaherty summed up his feelings by declaring, "The state and the contractor are not living up to their obligations. They are trying to delegate responsibility to us."

"People have the opinion that the township doesn't do anything about conditions here. We can't. This is not our responsibility and not within our authority."

Who's Who Names Stephen L. Salomon

Stephen L. Salomon of Springfield, a student at Babson, a men's college of business administration, Wellesley Hills, Mass., has been named to the 1965-66 edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges," according to Paul C. Stankle Jr., dean of students. Salomon, who was graduated from Livingston High School last year, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Salomon of 647-B Morris ave.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

New Fashions Need A Firm Foundation

In the spring seasons, many more or less highly colored fashions from style centers in Paris, Rome, New York and we sometimes believe, the Metro Park diaphanous center. We can understand that major portions of the American economy are based upon the concept of planned obsolescence, but do we need so many garments that are obsolete and sometimes obsolete before they are even worn?

Predictions are that ladies' hemlines will continue to rise, accompanied by many eyebrows. We recall an article by a psychologist who described short skirts as a symptom of an economic boom, with hints of a hint to follow. Considering the appearance of the average housewife's knees we wonder if this isn't the time to lower the boom.

Another fashion source predicts further tightening in the area of trousers, for both ladies and gentlemen. We know of one young man who developed a hangail on his hipbones and was unable to put his pants on. How, too, our culture appears to be passing the bitter end.

Next year for the coming summer is expected to continue the trend of recent years toward acquisition of a more elegant, although not necessarily more expensive, wardrobe.

After all, the basic framework of the female wardrobe has remained the same, from pants to slippers, to the modern. Even the most avant-garde of today is still heading toward ancient institutions to smite the onlooker with whatever is available.

As for ourselves, we still plan to go to the store this summer, sit beside the boardwalk and admire the hips that pass in the night.

Easter Holiday Observance Is Viewed As A 'Symbol Of Hope For The Future'

By MGR. FRANCIS X. COLE
St. James Church
Easter, for a Christian, is the commemoration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the tomb of the sepulcher. From the time of the fall of Adam and Eve, God had promised His chosen people a messiah who would redeem them from the servitude of sin.

All through the history of Judaism, the prophets of the Old Testament had foretold the coming of the long awaited messiah.

To the Christian, the birth of Christ signalled the fulfillment of those Messianic prophecies; his death completed his sacred mission; his victory over death established his claim of divinity as the Son of God.

Easter is the anniversary of Christ's resurrection from the grave, but to Christians it is also a symbol of hope for the future.

A Christian's faith is based on a firm belief in a life after death — a life in which there will be no more sorrow or the just deserts of his conduct on earth.

There will be reward for good or punishment for evil. It explains to him the reason for his existence in life, and the need for a forbearance with all the trials and sufferings and struggles which are so much a part of living.

It means the repressing of evil desires, the avoidance of sin, the accomplishment of good. In short, Christ's victory over death is the foretelling of our own destiny, a hoped-for resurrection to a life of eternal happiness.

STOELIGHTS glow red when the driver in front of you applies the brakes, but is he merely slowing down a bit or jamming into a fire-screaming panic stop that can involve you? You can't tell. Present brakelights systems do not provide enough warning information, but one designed by a Purdue University student does. It's a stoplight of variable intensity; the harder you push the brake pedal, the brighter and more urgent is the signal flashed to following motorists.

AN UNVERIFIED study of very small earthquakes by Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory may provide methods of predicting more accurately the occurrence of larger destructive earth tremors. The tiny shocks, too small to be felt by man, are called "micro-earthquakes" or "ultramicro-earthquakes." Their importance lies in their high rate of occurrence. A test near Palmer, Alaska revealed about 700 very small shocks daily.

ISOLATION and electricity help prevent corrosion in underground high-pressure piping, according to Tube-Turns, Louisville. Sections of piping layouts are isolated as far as electric current is concerned, by use of insulated joints. Direct current is then applied to make the buried pipe negative electrically to the surrounding earth. This reversed ever-present anodic currents and arrests damage that takes place as the corrosive currents go unchecked.

Salvation Army Has Annual Fund Appeal

The statewide Salvation Army Appeal began last Friday, with a mailing to residents in all communities where the Salvation Army is not a member of the Community Chest or United Campaign.

Robert B. Meyner, former Governor of New Jersey, is chairman of the appeal being made on behalf of the more than 220 centers of service in the state. In 1965 the Salvation Army helped 902,000 people in New Jersey by providing financial assistance, food and clothing, counseling, spiritual guidance, activity programs and comfort to the lonely.

An appeal for contributions to support the summer camp will be made in some local fund areas which permit the Army to appeal for camp contributions when the local Community Chest or United Campaign does not support this phase of Salvation Army activity.

As chairman of the 1966 Salvation Army Appeal, Governor Meyner made this statement, "It is a privilege to be associated with the Salvation Army in New Jersey as a member of the State Advisory Conference. This association affords me the opportunity to know first hand the humanitarian work of the Army. I endorse the work of the Salvation Army and would ask every citizen to give through this annual appeal in support of its outstanding program of service."

Three Springfield Artists Display Five Paintings In State-Wide Exhibit

Three Springfield residents are among the New Jersey artists whose works are being displayed at the 1947 national state-wide exhibition of the Westfield Art Association through Sunday in the Campus Center of Union Junior College, Cranford.

Selander, Bunnell Get Awards At Springfield Lions' Meeting

Two awards were presented last Friday at the meeting of the Springfield Lions Club at the Mountaineer Inn, Mountaineer side. Former Mayor Wilbur Selander received the club's citizenship award, and Robert S. Bunnell received a plaque for 50 years of business activity in the township.

James Duguid, a member of the club and long time friend of Selander, presented him with a plaque in recognition of his many years of service and contributions to the community.

Selander was a member of the local Board of Education prior to his election to the Springfield Township Committee in 1933. He served as mayor from 1935 to 1949.

He was a member of the library board of trustees from 1934 to 1947 and also served as Springfield's first representative to the Rahway Valley Sewer Commission.

During the depression years, Selander served as the head of the local Emergency Relief Administration.

Selander, in his acceptance of the plaque, commented on the fact that during his term on the governing body, Springfield never failed to meet a payroll or bond and interest obligations.

Million Dollars

Selander also noted that in 1934, when the local population was 3,000, he and A. B. Anderson went to New York to complete financing of the newly installed sanitary sewer system and very casually returned to Springfield with $1,000,000 in bonds in an inconspicuous suitcase.

Selander, who is a former member of the Springfield Lions Club, commended the club on its contributions to the community in governmental and educational fields.

Bunnell is a partner with his brother, Richard, in the insurance and realty firm of Bunnell Brothers. He was presented with the plaque by Harvey Schramm, Chamber of Commerce president.

In accepting the plaque, Bunnell commented that the Springfield population had multiplied 10 times since he began in business here. The population was 1,700 in 1916. His brother joined the firm in 1922.

LEADER PROFILE

League Presents Award to Scout for Eagle Status

Dale Haddock, Boy Scout of Springfield, Troop 72, was presented with the American Legion Good Citizenship Award by Commander Roy Duggan of Continental Post 228 last week at the St. James Church Auditorium.

The occasion for this presentation was that Dale had recently achieved the rank of Eagle Scout, which is the highest rank in the Boy Scout movement.

William F. Lynch Jr., scoutmaster of Troop 72, sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. James Church, noted that Dale is the second scout in Troop 72 to achieve the rank of Eagle Scout in the past 10 years.

Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Haddock of 109 Edgewood ave., Springfield, and is a freshman at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

But we are especially proud of them to go out with experienced members. After all, "Eagle" status is how we all learn. And they don't ever have to feel that they were poorly equipped. We will teach them and train them.

The Haddock boys have children: Allison, 15, a freshman at the George Washington University in Washington, D. C.; Tom, 15, a student at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School; and Rachel, 11, a pupil at Galilee School.

THE FIRST AID VETERAN, manager of various sports, hobbies and recreational activities, says that he does have a stamp collection but he hasn't had too much time lately to do much about it.

Senator Case Reports

This week's column is a partial report by Sen. Case on national driver register service before the auto safety hearings of the Senate Public Works Committee last week.

I appreciate the opportunity to support the Committee's effort to provide a program which will make it possible for people to travel on our highways in safety.

While I endorse generally all of S. 3052, I would like to concentrate on the provision concerning the National Driver Register Service, through which the states can exchange information on reckless or incompetent drivers.

It is probably no exaggeration to say that thousands of reckless drivers have licenses today only because their complete driving records are not known. The purpose of the National Driver Register Service is to help the states keep these potential killers off our highways.

The statistics on the deaths, injuries and property losses caused by highway accidents are appalling. To cite only one, last year almost one thousand people died each week in traffic accidents. Precisely how many were caused by careless, incompetent drivers it is not possible to say. But there seems little doubt that they were a major factor.

It is the task of the National Driver Register Service to keep track of the worst of those drivers, those who have had licenses revoked. In a restricted way, the Register Service has been doing this for a little less than five years. S. 3052 would remove some of the restrictions by broadening the scope of the Register Service.

At this time, the Register Service is authorized to list only drivers whose licenses have been revoked for drunken driving or for a fatal accident involving a traffic violation. S. 3052 would authorize the Register to include the names of any person whose license had been revoked or suspended for six months or for less than six months if not based on "habitual violation." It is my belief, however, that the provision does not go far enough to believe the Register should include all revocations and all suspensions of 30 days or more regardless of the reason for the suspension.

This would surely include the driver who has amassed enough points in states using the point system to be deprived of his license. The habitual violator, whose long record shows almost a lack of comprehension of, or contempt for, a law is an unmanageable driver who has the license he needs to get to work as a driver.

Therefore, I ask the Committee to incorporate the 30-day limitation in the pending bill. The states need complete information on all dangerous drivers, as provided in S. 3052, and I introduced earlier, which is now before the Commerce Committee.

It should be emphasized that the Register Service doesn't violate information to anyone. It gives information only on request of authorized state officials and it doesn't tell the states what to do. It is available for the states to use if they want to use it. In fact, all 50 states use the Service regularly. The Driver Register is similar in many ways to the FBI register. Incidentally, it is headed by a former FBI agent who was responsible for much of the FBI files.

The Register Service permits the states to make sure that a license applicant is not falsely claiming that he has not lost his license in another state. It is estimated that more than 100,000 revocations, which were not reported by applicants for licenses, have already been detected by the Register Service. Were the Service not available, a state would have to contact all 49 other states to make sure of its facts, assuming there were personnel and time to do it. Now it takes nothing more than a request to the National Driver Register Service and the answer is provided in the next morning's mail.

The States have made more than 19 million search requests of the Register Service to date, and the volume grows. There is a need for a more comprehensive system to be developed of the Register. The habitual violator, whose long record shows almost a lack of comprehension of, or contempt for, a law is an unmanageable driver who has the license he needs to get to work as a driver.

I urge the Committee to amend Section 404 of S. 3052 to include the wider scope outlined in my bill. In this connection I present for your consideration letters from various official groups calling for enlargement of the Register. I call to your particular attention the resolution of the International Association of Chiefs of Police urging reporting of all revocations of very kind by the Register.

The evening program will be held for routine chest X-ray purposes only. The present service for ex-patients and contacts each Wednesday from 8:30 to 11 a.m. will be continued. The service will take place in the church sanctuary at 8 p.m. with the Rev. Bruce W. Evans and the Rev. Donald C. Weber participating. Mr. Evans will preach the communion meditation. The Senior Chorus will sing the anthem, "God So Loved the World" by John Stainer. John H. Bunnell will direct, and Mrs. William T. Meglaughlin will be at the organ.

The following members of the confirmation class will be received into church membership: Deborah J. Besch, Linda J. Blorstad, Loreen M. Boyle, Debra J. Cataldo, Dennis J. Celeste, Perry I. ### Sisterhood Alters Date To Hear Book Reviews

The Sisterhood of Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, announced a change in the meeting night for the month of April because of the Passover holiday. The meeting will be held on Monday, Monday, Wednesday evening, April 13, at the temple.

Mrs. David Adles, program vice-president, reported that Marion Scott of Washington, will review "Yes I Can" by Sammy Davis, and "The Rabbi" by Noah Gordon, two books currently on the best seller lists.

Mrs. Scott has presented many reviews for organizations all over New Jersey, and is known for her wit and insight into the heart of the matter. The chairman added.

Meditation Hour Marks Holy Day For 2 Churches

A meditation service will be held tomorrow, Good Friday, at 1 p.m. in the Springfield First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Bruce W. Evans and the Rev. Donald C. Weber of the Presbyterian Church and the Rev. James Dewart of the Methodist Church will lead the meditations based on the last words of Christ of the cross.

Temple To Honor Men Who Assist In Daily Worship

Some people do not realize that a number is maintained at Temple Beth Ahm for those who assist in daily worship.

What is said about this group is that it is a group of dedicated men who take on the responsibility of attending the services at 7 a.m. on given mornings. Others agreed to assist in conducting the worship on a regular schedule.

"This was a good showing of communal responsibility on the part of a segment of our members," said Rabbi Levine. "They felt that they were fulfilling two objectives. First, they were expanding the spiritual function of the synagogue, and secondly, they were making it possible for those who required services for the recitation of 'kaddish' to have them."

Sold To Minors, Inn Is Penalized

PLACE WATER, salt and rice in a saucepan. Cover. Set electric range-top unit to high, and cook until steaming. (Electric cooking heat is so exactly controlled you don't have to worry about scorching.) Stir when steam appears, then reduce heat to simmer setting. Cook another 15 minutes. You'll find that with the electric unit the water doesn't evaporate. The fact is you can regulate electricity a lot more accurately than you can flame. # Issler Pitches Dayton To Opening Game Victory

Team Plays Host To Hillside Today

By MYRON REISER
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School baseball team opened its season Monday with a 4-2 victory at Cranford High School. The Bulldogs' diamond victory will meet Hillside High School here today at 3:30 and Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School at Clark on Wednesday.

The star of the Cranford contest was Bob Isler, Dayton's starting and finishing pitcher. "He played an exceptional ball game," commented head coach Ed Jasinski. "Isler was in mid-season form despite the fact that it was only opening game."

"He displayed a great deal of control over a surprising number of batters in his pitching. The result was seven strikeouts and only one walk."

To complement his fine pitching performance, Isler also broke the game open with a single with the bases loaded, scoring two runs in the fifth inning.

Jasinski added, "The team as a whole played a solid defensive game, with only one error for the nine innings. This is one of our strongest assets."

"However, there is a great deal of room for improvement in the batting department. The Cranford pitcher had nine strikeouts against us and the team had only four hits for the game. This is due mostly to our lack of preparedness in hitting."

Glenn Cole later played in right field, and he set the way for the Bulldogs' winning run with a base-hit, while pinch-hitting in the seventh.

Concerning the coming contest with Hillside and Clark,

HIRSCHORN GIVEN ALL-STAR HONOR IN UNION COUNTY

Steve Hirschorn, Dayton back-court star for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team, was named to the all-county squad named last week by both Newark daily newspapers.

Hirschorn was named to the Star-Ledger's all-county squad and team, and he was given honorable mention by the News-High scores for Dayton throughout the season, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hirschorn, of 125 Laurel dr., Springfield.

CHATHAM MATCH TODAY

Golf Mentor Predicts Success, Even Following Initial Set-Back

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School golf team looks forward to a successful season despite its loss in its opening match last Thursday to Livingston High School, 5-4-2 1/2.

The golfers will visit Chatham today at 8:30 and play host to Westfield and Thomas Jefferson of Elizabeth Monday at the same time.

Head coach Adam La Sota commented on the match, "Although we did not play as well as we should have, probably the weather was a more decisive factor than the Livingston's team ability."

This year's team includes five seniors who participated in last year's state championship victory for Dayton.

La Sota predicted, "These boys—Mike Zidnick, Bill Frank, Jim Belliveau, Art Weber and Bob Schreiber—will form the nucleus of the team this year."

In addition, juniors Rich Cohen, Art Kravetz, Bob Belliveau, Gary Simpson and Harvey Cohen, and freshmen Joel Schwartz and Bob Frank help form the first twelve. All these boys have strong potential and should compete a great deal.

"We also have Rich Jarman, Eli Dreyfus and Gary Anderson; these freshmen who will serve as a basis for future teams."

"The team, in my opinion, stands a good chance to repeat last year's state victory. On the whole, we have a lot of depth. The fact that the underclassmen are so good creates an impetus for the seniors to improve steadily, as the possibility of improvement is always great."

"As to other competition, it is impossible to know the ability of the other schools. Most of the opposing players have had a summer to improve since last season. There is no particular weakness in the team. It is good all around. Our basic problem seems to be in getting started. The emphasis throughout the season will be on individual development in every match there will be at least several men who have never lettered."

"In addition, as often as possible, I will split up the team in order to give the less experienced golfers an opportunity to develop in competition. In that way it is hoped that by the time of the county and state tournaments the entire team will be at its peak in balance, depth and over-all strength."

"The outlook for the rest of the season promises a few losses, but in my opinion the team will be ready for any opponent, and all the members will be better golfers."

"Everything is geared up and though I am certain that the team will have better than a 500 season."

Two Top Teams Match Shut-Outs

The two top teams matched wares last week in Springfield Municipal Stadium in Springfield. Bowlers from Cranford and Springfield battled for 10 frames. Cranford's team, led by Steve Hirschorn, won 2-1. Springfield's team, led by Bob Isler, won 2-1.

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS REW

New Course Trains Land Planners

If you want to build a home on a shopping center, an airport, a school, a highway, a military post or a zoo, the smart thing to do these days is to include a landscape architect among your consultants.

The catch is that you may have a hard time finding one in New Jersey. There are in this state only about 50 such professionals, some employed by public agencies, California has nearly 1,500.

Rutgers University's College of Agriculture and Environmental Sciences is taking steps to change this picture with its new course in professional landscape architecture, or land planning, begun last fall.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

DECISION PRACTICE

Every child needs practice in making decisions.

It is much easier for parents to plan all the details of their youngsters' lives, but they can't expect the child to like it. Every child wants to have his say, and a youngster with spunk will rebel against always being told what to do.

A youngster should have a voice in making decisions about matters that directly concern him.

The clothes he wears are of increasing importance to a very young child. Three-year-old Sue will not wear a dress when her mother says, "Do you want to wear your green or your blue sweater? Sue will decide which one she wants and will wear it happily.

Sam's mother, however, never can get Sam to put on a sweater without a battle. She says, "Sam, put this sweater on right away!" It really isn't surprising that Sam rebels against such an authoritarian attitude.

Jimmy's mother has trouble, too. She can't understand it because she thinks she gives Jimmy a choice. She says, "Jimmy, don't you want to put on your sweater?" Jimmy says, "No." He has made his choice, but because it isn't the right one, his mother fusses and nags.

She says, "It's cold outside, and you can't go out unless you put on your sweater." This, of course, means that Jimmy doesn't really have any choice at all — unless he chooses what his mother wants.

Carol's mother gives her daughter a choice, but Carol can't ever seem to make up her mind. Mother says, "What dress do you want to wear today?" Carol looks in her closet at the many dresses hanging there and she whines, "I don't know. I can't decide."

Carol's mother makes decisions too hard for Carol. If she said, "Carol, do you want to wear your pink dress or your blue dress?" Carol could easily make her choice.

The simple decision of a three-year-old about a blue or pink dress are followed with large decisions as the child grows older.

A child who rarely has opportunities for choice will feel lost when he is forced into a situation where he must make a decision. But the youngster who has had experience in decision-making from early childhood will be much more likely to make a wise decision and stick to it.

North Viet. Bombing's Halt

Complete self-determination and achievement of human dignity for all Vietnamese.

Withdrawal of American troops and cessation of military victory at any cost would prevent fulfillment of goals.

The assembly, commenting on bombing tactics, said it cannot sanction a military effort which directly results in the killing and maiming of large numbers of civilians, and the widespread destruction of food and other natural resources.

The assembly stated it fears bombing in North Viet Nam would result in a moral deterioration of our own people.

The World Of Outer Space

From the Journal of the American Association of Amateurs Astronomers, Inc.

By K. D. SMITH

Amateur Astronomers, Inc. Everyone has seen those bright trails called meteors which occasionally flash across a portion of the dark sky. Almost everyone understands that these are caused by solid particles from outer space which are heated to incandescence and vaporized, in their rapid passage through the upper atmosphere. But that's about as far as the average person goes in his thinking. Just what are these particles made of, how large they are, how densely they populate space, and how they relate to other heavenly bodies is something of a mystery to him. Many people do study the origin of meteors and meteorites, and their numbers and space distribution. But in this discussion we will concentrate on large meteorites, and on the craters which they make on striking a body such as the earth.

Very small particles, less than one hundredth inch in diameter, may be slowed in the upper atmosphere without vaporizing and thus drift down to the earth very slowly. These are called "micrometeorites" and it is believed that many tons of them reach earth each day. Some of these contain iron, and may be collected by passing a magnet along the sides of a rough of granite house. Larger meteorites, from a grain of sand up to the size of a walnut, form the meteorites which we see in the sky. They do not reach the ground, as they are vaporized, or "burned up," in passing through the upper atmosphere. Meteorites from egg size up to many tons, have a half inch or so of their outer skin melted off, but do reach the ground. These meteorites are slowed in the lower atmosphere so that they hit with a speed of only a few hundred feet per second. They penetrate only a few inches, or a few feet at most. They are the meteorites which may be seen in our museums and in private collections.

The situation is very different with very large meteoroids, the size of a house or larger. They slice through the atmosphere with little energy loss, and strike with speeds of several miles a second. They have enough energy to more than vaporize their own mass, and thus explode. Frequently, creating large craters and a great deal of destruction. Fortunately for mankind, such extremely large objects arrive quite infrequently. The last one made the Barringer crater in Arizona several thousand years ago. But we might have another such impact any time—they are not predictable. The Barringer meteorite was an iron mass a hundred feet or so in diameter, weighing perhaps a million tons. It produced a crater two thirds of a mile in diameter, and over six hundred feet deep. Most of the original meteorite was vaporized in the explosion, or broken into fine particles, and scattered over a large area. Only a few tons of this meteorite have been recovered. This is the best known and most recent really large meteorite. It is also the first one proven to be of meteoric origin. As it is only a few miles off Highway 66, about 30 miles east of Flagstaff, Arizona, it is well worth a tourist visit.

Studies of this crater, combined with large scale aerophotography, have led to the recognition of many other meteor craters, much larger and much older than the one in Arizona. Also many smaller ones have been found and first identified from the air. Several large craters have been discovered in Canada which are many millions of years old, and more than a mile in diameter. The Hollister crater, northeast of Toronto, was first recognized from aerial photographs. It is of the class called "fossil" meteorite craters, and is more than four hundred million years old. It is a mile and a half in diameter and is nearly filled by eight hundred feet of limestone deposited since the crater was made. The farmers who lived there had no idea they were living in an old meteorite crater until a few years ago. Another more recent crater, L'Anse-au-Loup, is two miles in diameter with a lake in it, 1,300 feet deep.

The two most spectacular meteorite falls in this century were in Russian territory in Siberia. The Tunguska fall in 1908 was in such remote country that it was not visited by a scientific expedition for nearly twenty years after the event. But it was a real white bang! Almost all the trees were knocked down in a radial pattern, in a circle twenty miles in diameter. A large herd of reindeer was completely destroyed. People were knocked off their feet seventy-five miles away. The following night was so bright that newspapers could be read without artificial light all over Europe and western Siberia. It is now believed that the earth was hit by the head of a small comet, consisting of a dense cloud of small particles,

All About Tires
By ORIN ROSENFIELD
BLOOMING CO.

Millions Are Retread Users
The list of retread users is almost endless. It contains trucks, buses, fire and police vehicles, taxis, airplanes (jet with landing speed of 140 m.p.h.), farm vehicles, off-road equipment, and many others.

American feet, weary with retreaded tires, because they offer a combined ride, steering ease, road handling ability, a solid appearance, substantial looking shoulders and unscuffed, unbroken sidewalls.

More and more Americans are joining the ranks of those who use retreaded tires.

Retreading has become a way of life in the tire and automotive industries. This year, Americans will purchase an estimated 36 million retreaded tires, and the trucking industry will consume 7.5 million units.

"Retreaded tires can be used on just about every vehicle equipped with rubber tires," contends J. F. Curry, director of the Tire Retreading Institute.

Are you surprised at the number of people who use retreads? Well, as it happens, they are used to good advantage by a quality, retreading service. The retreading service you need is the one that retreads tires on a retreading machine, not a hand-operated machine.

The retreading machine retreads the tire by grinding the tread down to the original tread depth, and then filling the groove with a special retreading compound. This compound is made of a special rubber and carbon black, and is the same as the original tread compound.

Retreading is a safe, sound, and economical way to extend the life of your tires. It saves you money, and it saves the environment. So, next time you need a new tire, consider retreading.

ECONOMIST GIVES BASIC POINTERS FOR A SOUFFLE

Serve a souffle now while eggs are seasonably plentiful, egg prices are low, and the country home economist.

Many feel preparing a souffle is a tricky preparation best left to the experts but even a novice homemaker will have success if she follows a few basic points, the home economist said.

"To begin your souffle, the first step is separating the whites from the yolks. Check for any traces of yolk in the whites; the thickest bit will inhibit the beating of the whites.

"Allow the whites to stand in room temperature for about 15 minutes. Put the yolks into a clear jar, add water to cover and close the jar with a tight-fitting cover. Refrigerate the yolks until they are used in the recipe.

"Opinions differ on the best method for heating the whites. While an electric mixer is the purest souffle, it takes careful watching to keep the beating stops at the right moment. The whites should be at the just stiff point; soft and moist peaks that stand, then bend slightly when the beater is removed. One sign too many can make them too dry to puff the souffle properly.

"When the recipe calls for a cooked sauce, a good method is to prepare the sauce first and let it cool while you are whipping the whites.

"When the recipe calls for a hot mixture to be stirred into the egg yolks, stir the sauce in slowly so the heated sauce will cook the yolks just enough to give a firm base. If the sauce is folded into the yolks too rapidly, a thin runny base will result.

"The most critical point in souffle making is when the egg whites are folded into the other mixture. The trick is to barely blend. Over blending reduces the volume of the egg white by permitting some of the air to escape and causing the baked souffle to deflate.

"Grease the bottom but not the sides of the dish being sure to use the size specified in the recipe. The dish should have a flat bottom and flat sides. A rounded container will yield a round top souffle.

"Serve the souffle immediately after it is baked. It can be kept waiting for no longer than fifteen minutes."

CHEESE SOUFFLE

4 eggs, butter or margarine
4 tsp. dry mustard
Dash of pepper
1 cup milk
1 cup grated sharp cheese
4 egg yolks
1 teaspoon salt
8 egg whites

To Prepare: Set a 1-1/2 quart ungreased casserole in a shallow baking pan; place in a 325 degree oven. Pour boiling water around casserole to depth of at least one inch. Let casserole heat while souffle is prepared. Meanwhile, melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Add flour, mustard and pepper and blend well. Add milk all at once and cook, stirring constantly until thickened and bubbly. Remove from heat and add flour to egg yolks, beating well. Add salt to egg whites and beat until shiny and white peaks that fold over when beater is withdrawn.

Four yolk-cream mixture gradually fold into egg whites, beating constantly until mixture is firm. Pour mixture into hot casserole. Circle mixture with a spoon about 1 inch from side of casserole, and 1 inch deep. Bake until soufflé delicately browns and a knife inserted in center comes out clean, about 70 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

will distribute them to missions schools for classroom projects. General religious cards were given to St. Gregory's Catholic Church, Sunday School classes in Elizabeth for classroom projects. ## Answers On Cancer

This is the fourth in a series of questions and answers concerning cancer presented under the auspices of the Union County Chapter of the American Cancer Society. Residents of this county are invited to submit questions, in writing, to "Answers on Cancer," c/o American Cancer Society, 512 Westminster Ave., Elizabeth, New Jersey. All questions should be of a general nature since specific personal questions require knowledge of an individual's medical history. The name of the individual submitting the question will be omitted upon request.

FACTS ABOUT LEUKEMIA
1. What is Leukemia?
Leukemia is a disease of the blood forming tissues of the body. There is an over-production of white blood cells which fail to mature and do their disease-fighting job. These abnormal cells infiltrate other organs and tissues, creating anemia. The blood does not clot properly and the body is unable to fight off infection.

2. Is there only one type of Leukemia?
No. Acute Leukemia is characterized by rapid onset and progress of the disease is most common in children under the age of 15. Chronic Leukemia progresses slowly.

3. Who gets Leukemia?
Leukemia takes the lives of many more adults than children and more women than men. Recent statistics show cancer to be the number one cause of death among youngsters between one and 15 years of age. Of the 47 thousand American youngsters in this category, in 1963-22 hundred died of Leukemia and 500 others of cancers related to Leukemia. This same year it is estimated that 11,500 adults died of Leukemia. This amounts to in excess of five times the number of adults dying as children.

4. How big a health problem is Leukemia?
The Leukemia death rate among males has moved from 4.4 per 100,000 population in 1940 to 7.5 in 1960 and among women from 3.1 to 4.9.

5. What causes Leukemia?
It is known that radiation and some chemicals cause Leukemia in humans and that viruses cause Leukemia in such animals as rats, mice and chickens. There is a growing concern that viruses play a role in some or in all cases of Leukemia.

6. Has there been progress in treatment?
The last 15 years have seen marked improvements in the treatment of Leukemia patients. The lives of many patients are now being prolonged for months and even years by use of drugs and other therapy.

7. What is the American Cancer Society doing about Leukemia?
On Sept. 1, 1965 there were A.C.S. Research Grants in the amount of 2,344,145 that were Leukemia related. These grants were but a few of those in effect over the years.

8. What facilities can the American Cancer Society provide the Leukemia patient?
Since Leukemia is one of a number of forms of cancer, the Leukemia patient is included in all forms of patient service available to patients with other types of cancer. Your local chapter has further information.

League Play-Offs Conclude Season In Triple-Header

Princeton defeated Cornell, 28-25, for the Ivy League championship in the final of a triple-header played March 24 at the Florence Gaudin Gymnasium. The game was the climax of the year's competition in leagues sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.

Kansas edged Utah, 28-25, to take top honors in the State League playoff finals. In the first game of the evening, an all-star team from the Sandmeier Small-Fry League came from behind to defeat the Caldwell All-Stars, 19-10.

Ivy League Frank Buehl scored 14 points as he led Princeton to the Ivy League championship. Buehl scored nine points in the first half as Princeton led, 5-0, at the quarter, and 19-0, at the half. Andy Silverman contributed eight points to the winning cause.

Cornell pulled properly in the second half, but the best the Big Red could do was to narrow the gap. Mitch Wolf led the Cornell attack with nine points.

State League George Spector and Reid Hagerity were the key men as Kansas ran up an early lead and then hung on to defeat Utah, 28-25, in the State League finals.

Spector was the high scorer with 13 points, including the only six points for Kansas in the third period. Hagerity helped out with eight points for Kansas.

For Utah, Mike Gardner, Jim Schoch and Mike Sanders were the top players in a game effort. Kansas led at the half, 18-8, and even though Utah kept chipping away at the margin, it was just too much.

Small-Fry Stars The Caldwell All-Stars ran off to a 5-0 lead at the end of the first quarter, but the youngsters from the Sandmeier League rallied and went on to win, 16-10, in the curtain-raiser. The Sandmeier team won the game in the final quarter, outscoring the Caldwell Stars, 8-2.

Scoring honors were evenly divided for the winning Sandmeier All-Stars. Mark Tasher, Art Freeman and Larry Silverstein each had four points. Leading scorers for the Caldwell stars were Howie Tenenbaum, with four points, and Ken Mercer, with three.

UNREGISTERED WEAPON Timothy Hughes of 48 Hemlock rd., Short Hills, was fined $50 by Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman in Municipal Court Monday night for carrying an unregistered weapon; a .22 caliber pistol.

40 PERSONS CONVICTED

Obscene Telephone Call Arrests Increase

Arrests and convictions of persons who make obscene or threatening phone calls have risen dramatically since late last September, when police officials and New Jersey Bell security teams stopped up their statewide campaign to gain obscene callers.

The telephone lines of over 141 suspects were identified and 40 persons convicted between Oct. 1, 1943, and Feb. 28 of this year. Fines up to $150 and several suspended jail sentences were imposed. The maximum penalty under New Jersey law for placing an obscene or threatening phone call is a $1,000 fine or a year in jail or both.

"The most important thing we've achieved so far, according to Paul E. Jankovics, chief of police in Perth Amboy, is getting the messages to read and potential offenders to see we can and will do anything in our power to arrest them and get convictions."

Police and telephone company specialists concentrate on apprehending obscene or threatening callers.

"They're our chief target," Chief Louis Rischer of the Paterson police department said, "because they're usually emotionally disturbed individuals."

Police chief Raymond Nass of Shrewsbury Borough said that the campaign has resulted in a real deterring of the sort of people who make the obscene and threatening calls and the practical jokes who seem to get a kick out of annoying people. "We've proved that we can catch them and they're beginning to wake up to that fact."

According to a New Jersey Bell spokesman, offenders can be apprehended whether they make their calls from private telephones or from public booths.

Different types of line-identification equipment are used depending on the type of central office involved, but in no case is the privacy of communications impaired.

In some instances, the identification equipment registers all telephone numbers called by a suspect and the exact times at which the calls were placed. This information can assist police in making an arrest.

Another type of equipment is attached to the telephone line of a person who has been receiving obscene calls. The equipment automatically registers the number of all calls received during the day and it also marks the date and time the calls are made.

Chief J. Kenneth Crane of the Collingswood police department said that it is not necessary for the subscriber to register a checker with the number of calling before he can be apprehended.

"We've had a number of cases where the subscriber has not registered a checker and we've had to go out and find out who the caller is," Crane said.

Crane said that it is not necessary for the subscriber to register a checker with the number of calling before he can be apprehended.

Warehousemen Convene At Elkay

Elkay Warehousemen's Association met at a recent dinner meeting at the Springfield Hotel. This was the fourth association meeting held at the Elkay club which is a manufacturer and distributor of moving, storage and materials handling equipment.

Guests were welcomed by the Elkay owners, Sidney Miller and Sam Miller, both Springfield residents. They were aided by their sales manager, Dick Krueger, and other staff members; Ivy Grossman; Bill Hagerity; Tony Riccardi and Hank Siegel.

Motor Vehicle Q & A

Q. Recently, while out driving, I came across an automobile parked on the side of the highway jutting out far enough to cause passing motorists to over-ride the white line into the lane of opposing traffic. Is this an illegal practice?

A. Yes, it is. According to Motor Vehicle Law, "No person shall willfully abandon a vehicle upon the public highway, bridge or tunnel of this State, or upon any highway, bridge or tunnel in this State operated by any authority of this State or by any authority

HOME OF THE WEEK

Strawberry Hill Shows Nine Models In Rolling Somerset Countryside

Authentic New England roof and cedar shakes highlight the Nantucket two-story Colonial at Strawberry Hill community in Hillsborough Township. The eight-room home is priced at $27,990 and features four bedrooms and two-and-a-half baths. Homes are situated on full acre lots with city sewers.

Strawberry Hill is situated in the unspoiled, rolling countryside near the picturesque Millstone River of Somerset County. The 87-home tract, located on River Road (Route 583) in Hillsborough Township, is being built by Caji Associates of Kenilworth. According to Ed Leshowitz, spokesman for the firm, 62 homes have been sold to date.

"The record sales rate," says Leshowitz, "is due to a combination of things. First, home owners in the area are assured of increasing property values. In fact, there has been a steady increase in these values during the last ten years and our research department finds every reason to believe that the trend will continue through 1990. The cause of the trend is that Hillsborough is one of the fastest growing communities in New Jersey. New industry, new building and new residents in professional and executive positions have accelerated the growth of Hillsborough which, in turn helps the new industries to expand. Another reason for the sales rate is that the tax rate in Hillsborough is among the lowest in Somerset County — one of the most progressive counties in the state."

Strawberry Hill features nine different models from $22,500. The homes vary in style from colonial to contemporary and are placed on full-acre lots.

"There are nine models," continues Leshowitz, "because we want to give a custom feeling to Strawberry Hill and that many styles in an 87-home tract provides such a feeling. It avoids that 'development look' of so many communities — even those much more expensive than Strawberry Hill."

One interesting model is the Nantucket two-story colonial. The exterior of the home features a New England roof and cedar shakes with a boxed out picture window in the living room. The front doorway leads into an entrance foyer. To the right is a 20-foot recreation room with its own closet and lavatory. To the left is a 20-foot living room and 14-foot dining room. The kitchen is centrally located with access to both dining room and recreation room.

The upper level contains four large bedrooms, one of which — the master bedroom — has a private bath, a regulation size closet and a walk-in closet. The home is priced at $27,990.

Strawberry Hill is conveniently located on Route 583, only ten minutes from the Pennsylvania Station in New Brunswick where the commuter can park his car at the station free. Commuting time is 45 minutes to Newark and one hour to midtown New York. Routes 1, 22, 206, 287, 178, and the Garden State Parkway are all minutes away and bring the metropolitan centers even closer to the community. Shopping centers, schools and universities are also close by and immediately adjacent to Strawberry Hill is the proposed 1,600-acre state and county park offering swimming, boating, fishing, horseback riding and other outdoor activities.

The models were designed by architect Steven Poter of Union with interiors decorated by Gold Interior of South Orange. Exclusive sales agent is Dewal Realty, Inc. of Manville.

By EILEEN DE ROGATIS
A 19-year-old New York City man was captured by two Union police detectives in a Union restaurant Thursday morning, almost 14 hours after police said he escaped from Springfield Court Monday night just after he was ordered back to the Union County jail.

Frenchot Edwards was brought from the Union County jail Monday by two detectives before Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman on a charge of not carrying a registered narcotics card. Edwards is also awaiting Grand Jury action on two charges of break, entry and larceny and is still awaiting payment of $4,000 bail.

Edwards pleaded not guilty to the narcotics card charge and demanded a lawyer. Magistrate Sherman then adjourned the case to May 2. As Edwards was being escorted from the court and down the steps in the municipal building, back to jail, he pulled away from police and ran out the front door of the Town Hall still dressed in his tan-colored prison garb, police said. He was last seen by police running on railroad tracks behind Western Electric and toward Union.

The area was checked by police with negative results through most of the night and a bulletin was sent to Union police.

On Tuesday morning, Joe Millano of Locust St. Union fireman, received a call from a neighbor saying a man was in the wooded area behind the Brezo Corp. on Liberty ave.

Millano, knowing of the escapes, took a candle stick at the suspect and notified police.

An unmarked police car pulled in front of Al and Jerry's Kopy Korner Restaurant on Railway ave. Union, a little after nine Tuesday morning with gun-drawn Detective Kermit Reiss and Burton Brodine ran to the front and back doors of the building and charged in. They brought out the small framed, swarthy head man.

Edwards was brought to the Union County Sheriff's Office, Elizabeth, where he will be charged with escaping from custody.

On March 11 Edwards was arrested with a juvenile girl whose name is being withheld in Springfield by Detective Sam Calabrese and Patrolman Ross Powell. The two were spotted by Patrolman Richard Goetzke on traffic duty, who recognized them from a description in connection with burglaries.

They were both charged with entering homes on Archdale lane, March 2, and on Kipling ave. the following day. Edwards was also charged with entering a home on Laying ter. on Feb. 25. He is awaiting Grand Jury action on the charges.
