DISSENTING OPINIONS — Approximately 25 pickets from all parts of the state, and including only one from Springfield, display posters opposing the local appearance of Dr. Martin Luther King. They demonstrated at the entrance to Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, where the civil rights leader spoke Sunday night. The pickets were orderly and for the most part silent, except when the television camera was pointed in their direction. (Staff photo)

Crowd disregards pickets to hear address by Dr. King

Unperturbed by the presence of right-wing pickets in front of the auditorium as they entered, more than 900 persons packed the hall at Jonathan Dayton-Regional High School Sunday evening to hear an address by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King.

His talk, entitled "Revolution in Religion," dealt with what he termed a "moral and spiritual lag" of the nation's religious leaders and organizations, as compared with technical and industrial advances of recent years.

Dr. King, leader of the civil rights movement throughout the country and winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, addressed himself primarily to "three basic evils — racial injustice, poverty and war." He declared that they "present our religious institutions with a serious challenge."

"Our organizations must take a stand, in a way they were not willing to do before, to make religion relevant to everyday life. At bottom, this is a moral issue. Who else can take a greater stand?"

DEALING WITH progress against racial problems, Dr. King commented, "The plant of freedom is only a bud, not yet a flower. Segregation is morally wrong; it perpetuates a tragic caste system."

He went on to say, "The legal basis of segregation is about gone from our society, but there are still insuperable patterns of deprivation — in housing, in slum living and in education." Citing high percentages of unemployment among Negroes, he said, "People become bitter, victims of seething discontent. These are the people who will riot. Pickets for nonviolence will fall on deaf ears."

His comments drew frequent applause from members of the audience, many of whom had received a variety of pamphlets and handbills from the pickets in front of the building. The printed material had charged Dr. King with Communist affiliations.

Springfield police circulated through the pickets and those entering the lecture hall, preventing any incidents of violence. Members of the protesting group identified themselves as residents of many areas of the state, from Dover to Atlantic City. Only one member of the group was identifiable as a Springfield resident.

He was Henry S. Wright, who for several weeks had protested plans for Dr. King's visit.

Police stand guard as letter threatens attack on speaker

Springfield police always on the alert to prevent trouble when a visitor of the stature of Dr. Martin Luther King arrives in town, had an additional reason for vigilance on Sunday. Early last week, Police Chief Wilbur C. Selander received a letter containing a death threat against the civil rights leader.

The letter has been turned over to the FBI. It declared: "When Martin Luther King arrives, your troubles will begin. Wherever he goes, there's trouble. Professionals will shoot him during the confusion of the picketing. Also, the chief of police will be discredited."

"The entire facility of the Police Department was used" to maintain order during Dr. King's visit Sunday evening, the chief reported. All members of the force were on duty or held in reserve. Police searched the auditorium at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School before and after Dr. King's talk.

Police in uniform circulated through the area as pickets in front of the high school displayed signs and passed out handbills accusing Dr. King of communist affiliations and other alleged offenses. There was no scuffling between audience and pickets, the chief noted, although there were two arguments.

Detectives were stationed inside the auditorium and backstage during Dr. King's talk, and the rear entrances to the school were secured. Detectives also attended the reception in Dr. King's honor given later in the evening at Temple Shalom.

Paper collection

Springfield Continental Post, American Legion, will conduct its monthly paper collection drive on Sunday morning. Ben Mosconi, chairman, urged all residents to place old newspapers and cardboard, tied into bundles, at the curb by 10 a.m.

Art group plans trip to museums

The Springfield Association of Creative Arts will sponsor a bus trip to three New York museums on Thursday, May 12, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Springfield residents and their friends have been invited.

The first stop of the tour will be at the Museum of Modern Art, where a special highlight will be viewing of the very popular Turner Exhibit. Joseph Mallard William Turner is considered to be one of England's most famous painters. Because of the great number of visitors, the showing of his works had to be extended. The group will then visit the Whitney Museum where, among other media, a sculpture show featuring avant-garde, contemporary, and traditional forms will be on display. There is also an outdoor sculpture garden at the nearby Museum of Contemporary Crafts.

Reservations will be on a first-come, first-serve basis and may be made by calling Mrs. Leo Johnson (DR 6-4139), Mrs. Leonard W. Glaser (DR 6-2794) or Mrs. Arnold F. Koldorf (DR 9-9189).

Nursing home bid receives approval; agreement is reached on library land OK for project seen as helping to check floods

Approval of a permit for a nursing home and announcement of an agreement on purchase of the last parcel of land needed for the new public library shared the spotlight at the Township Committee meeting Tuesday night at the Municipal Building.

The special exception use was voted unanimously, with one member absent, for a nursing home planned by Villa Construction Co. along Morris ave. at the Rahway River. The project will extend behind homes along Marlon ave. to the right-of-way for Rt. 78. In voting its approval, the Township Committee added several conditions.

The builders, whose plans have received preliminary approval from state agencies concerned with alleviating flood conditions along the river, will be required to remain in accord with the flood control recommendations.

The committee also noted that Villa Construction had agreed to pay half the costs of a new $35,000 sewage pumping station at the end of Marlon ave. Since the other half will be paid by the Federal Government, committee members expressed the belief that the township was getting a bargain. The resolution was presented by Committeeman Robert D. Hardgrove, who stressed the flood-control aspects of the project.

Committeeman Arthur M. Falkin moved for approval of a $97,500 price agreement reached with Lyons Holding Co., owner of the final parcel needed for the library. The land concerned is slightly more than an acre. He praised the contributions of Committeeman Jay Bloom, who was absent because of illness, in negotiations to reach an agreement.

SPRING BLOSSOMS — Maria Theresa Siso of Springfield smiles a seasonal welcome through a screen of blooming forsythias.

Pool preparations seen 'on schedule' as summer nears

With about two months still remaining before the official opening day of the 1966 swim season, the Springfield Recreation Department is readying the municipal aquatic layout for the 1966 fun and sun season. The Springfield Pool is described by a recreation spokesman as the "finest municipal aquatic facility in New Jersey, with many inquiries received weekly from various communities who are contemplating having similar installations."

Crews have mowed the wide expanse of lawns which border the mammoth pool, raking and cleaning leaves and fallen debris. Additional trees were planted last fall and have sprouted buds. The shrubbery and flower beds are also being attended in an effort to give the sporting layout a "dressed up" look. Some painting is also being done, wherever needed.

The rough grading work of Interstate Highway 78 has progressed far ahead of schedule, the spokesman added. He said, "There are no problems anticipated, as the highway officials have promised to keep any traversed area wetted down as much as is needed, which will keep dust to a minimum."

Edward J. Ruby, superintendent of the Springfield Recreation Department, reports that the 1966 registrations have passed the 5100 mark. He further stated, "All we need is a hot day, and we will reach our maximum total of 5500 registrations. Those residents of the township who have not registered to date should submit their applications at once in order to be assured of memberships."

First Aid Squad adds 2 members

Mrs. Seymour Golden and Joan Steets were elected regular members of the Springfield First Aid Squad at its business meeting this month. This brings the total day crew membership up to 10 regular members on call.

A full ambulance crew consists of four members: a crew chief, two regular members and a triage. The Springfield squad tries to maintain minimum crews of three people (since four is out of the question with the present membership.) In order to have three people on each crew each day, each regular member is now donating 16 to 18 hours of his time per week, on weeks when no one is sick or away on vacation. There are similar shortages on the night crews.

The squad is currently in the midst of a membership campaign to alleviate the situation and has requested Springfield residents to call DR 6-0582 for information.

Fire hazards

Fire Chief Ormond W. Mesker this week warned Springfield women against wearing highly flammable sweaters which have been sold throughout the area. They have been sold as sets of a cardigan and pullover model.

They are labeled as "Crown Colony Sportswear." Chief Mesker noted, and are made of a material which burns very quickly. He urged that any such sweaters be returned to the stores where they were bought, or otherwise disposed of.

MAYOR ROBERT G. PLANER, expressing his approval of the agreement, emphasized that the alternative was a lengthy court suit. Action at this time permits use of a Federal grant without a need to reapply.

The governing body was also approved plans of Edgemont Realty Co. for a 20-home project along Mountain ave., just north of Briar Hill circle. The plans include construction of a new culvert. This was termed sufficient to eliminate flood conditions in the area, without having to tear up areas of Briar Hill circle for new sewer construction.

Committeeman William Koonz obtained approval for a five-year lease agreement with the Board of Education for use of school property to build a playground in the Baltusrol Top area. He expressed satisfaction with the rent; $1 per year. On his suggestion, the committee approved Mrs. Helen Solla as snack bar manager at the municipal swimming pool for the coming summer.

Mayor Planer reported that township workers had been used to clear highway construction debris from Baltusrol way, with the cost charged to the highway contractors.

He added, "All of us on the Township Committee have received countless complaints arising from Rt. 78 construction. I hope they will continue, as they are a valuable source of information for us." He noted that all committeemen have their home telephone numbers listed in the directory under their own names, and also under "Township of Springfield."

He also suggested that some calls be directed to the resident highway engineer of the State Highway Department, Fred Marinaro, at 379-7529.

FALKIN ISSUED a reminder to residents to place all plant and yard debris for pick-up by the garbage trucks, in view of the recent ordinance which forbids burning. He said that tree branches and other material should either be placed in containers or tied into four-foot lengths.

Municipal employees will issue letters explaining this policy, he said, as "courtesy warnings," rather than issue summonses to property owners who fail to keep their yards and curbs tidy.

In the public discussion period, Ed Rall referred to the 30-ton earthmover which nearly fell off the temporary overpass over construction rd. last week. Rall asked how another such tie-up could effect the sending of ambulances, fire trucks or other emergency equipment to the far side of the highway construction area.

Planer responded that the problem has been one of constant concern, and that he will have his fingers crossed for the next month or so. He indicated that emergency vehicles might have to use the highway construction roads.

Henry S. Wright lauded the mayor for his handling of Rt. 78 construction problems. He praised local police for their efforts on Sunday during the visit to Springfield of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Wright criticized Committeeman Falkin, however, for alleged personal comments about Wright in connection with the King visit.

Presbyterian men plan annual fete for ladies

The Men's Club of the Springfield Presbyterian Church will hold its second "Ladies' Night Gala" on Saturday evening in the Presbyterian Parish House. A catered buffet dinner will be served in the dining room of the Parish House beginning at 7 p.m. Sandwiches and punch will be served prior to the dinner. Both the dining room and auditorium will be decorated in a nautical theme for this occasion. Following dinner, entertainment is planned. There will be a demonstration of English style ballroom dancing by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Webster, international champions. From 9:30 to midnight the guests will dance to the music of the Gene Wargo Quartet. Door prizes are to be awarded at 10:30 p.m. Walter W. Anderson and Leonard W. complement of the color guard marched in the American Legion Patriotism Parade in Jersey City.

The 64 persons at the communion breakfast heard an address by the Rev. Clement Buckley, C.P., of St. Michael's Monastery, Union City. Other speakers were Mayor Robert G. Planer and Monsignor Francis X. Coyle of St. James Church, Springfield. The toastmaster was John Quinn.

The Sunday afternoon parade in Jersey City was held to commemorate Americanism Day and to express support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam. Legion posts from various parts of the state took part. Sgt. Ben Colandrea commanded the Continental Post color guard. Taking part were Ray Daudelin, Robert Dougherty, William Weber, Allen Bost, Felix Gold, Randolph Frost, George Baker, Nicholas Vostkin, Fred Rutz, Allan Scott, Arnold Mastello, Raymond Schramm and Robert Bennett.

Methodist Church sets Family Week

Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church will observe National Family Week from Sunday through May 8 under the direction of the commission on education, of which Audrey Young is the chairman.

This Sunday, Children's Day will be held during the service of divine worship at 10:45 a.m. with the Church School classes presenting the program, entitled "Be My Disciples." The purpose of the celebration is to help the congregation become more aware of its responsibility for children, and at the same time to honor the children of the Church School and their families. Because the service is intended for the entire family, the 9:30 a.m. service in the Trivet Chapel will not be held.

The Family Week will conclude with Mother's Day, when the church school pupils will make bouquets to give to their mothers. A Family Night had been planned as a part of the week but has been postponed to Sunday, June 5, when the Rev. Charles Root of Sarawak will tell of the work of Methodist missions in that country.

Price heads drive in township to help mental health work

M. Jordan Price has been appointed chairman of the Springfield mental health campaign, it was announced this week by Sen. Mildred Barry Hughes, Union County campaign chairman. Price, who resides at 588 Troy dr., is a lawyer with offices at 900 Stuyvesant ave., Union.

In accepting this appointment, Price stated that he was stimulated by the "important work being done by the Union County Association for Mental Health." He said he was particularly interested in the development of the Willow School for emotionally disturbed children, which the Mental Health Association created and continues to support in an effort to alleviate serious mental illness in children.

Price also noted the importance of Bridge-way House, which is also sponsored by the Union County Association for Mental Health, which helps patients leaving the State Hospital at Marlboro to adjust to living in the community. These patients also receive intensive vocational training in order to aid them in obtaining employment.

Sen. Hughes stressed the need for a "broad educational program at this time as we are about to enter a new era in the care and treatment of the mentally ill." She pointed out that "very soon we will have community mental health centers in accordance with the plan developed by the Union County Mental Health planning committee. It is essential that the public become aware of these important new developments which affect so many people in our area."

Price was born in Orange and was graduated from Columbia College and Columbia Law School. He is a member of the American Bar Association, as well as the bar association of New Jersey and Union County. He is active with the Union Chamber of Commerce and chairman of its work committee. He is also a member of the New Jersey Theatrical League and of Temple Shalom Synagogue of Springfield.

The teachers also heard Mrs. Audrey S. Ruban, secretary of the Springfield Board of Education, explain the changes involved in the new withholding tax system.

Mulvihill conducted the election and installation of new officers for the coming year at this meeting. The newly elected officers of the association are Mrs. Mary Edna Sider, president; Mrs. Mary Ackerman, vice-president; John E. Willard, secretary and Mrs. Helen Ryder, treasurer. The new officers will assume their official duties on June 1.

IRA L. AUERBACH of Springfield has been named winner of a merit award in the current 35th annual exhibition of student work at the Ringling School of Art, Sarasota, Fla. He won the award in the landscape class. A 1964 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Auerbach of 159 Linden ave.

Rouse attends national Baha'i convention as delegate from state-wide organization

Raymond C. Rouse of 56 Denham rd., Springfield, will attend the 58th annual national Baha'i convention as one of the delegates representing the Baha'is of New Jersey.

More than 1,000 delegates and observers are expected to attend this year's convention. The delegates will elect pipe members who will serve on the National Spiritual Assembly—the governing body of the Baha'i faith on the United States during the next 12 months. The delegates will hear reports on the progress of the faith in the U.S. and throughout the world and discuss plans for the future advancement of the faith.

Agenda items for the convention include reports on: substantial increase in the U.S. membership and in the number of the American Indian tribes represented in the faith; achievements of American Baha'is who are "pioneering for the faith" in countries throughout the world; establishment of Baha'i College Clubs at numerous universities in the U.S.; publication of a quarterly magazine sponsored by the U.S. Baha'i Community, titled "World Order"; establishment of a national department of public information; publication of an educational curriculum for Baha'i children and youth; and world-wide progress as reported by the Universal House of Justice, international governing body of the Baha'i Faith, located on Mt. Carmel, Haifa, Israel.

The Baha'i Community of Springfield met last week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Rouse for the election of its local Spiritual Assembly.

Anglo-Indian film 'Darling' of show at Regent Theater

"Shakespeare Wallah," the Anglo-Indian film which won accolades at the New York Film Festival last fall, opened yesterday at the Regent Theater, East Orange. Photographed in India, with a cast of British and Indian players, and directed by an American, James Ivory, the film tells a story of a brief romance between an English girl who is a member of a struggling theatrical troupe touring hill towns of India with Shakespearean plays—and an Indian playboy who stops to give assistance to the troupe's caravan when it breaks down.

Ivory directs from a script which he and Ruth Praver Jhabvala wrote. Felicity Kendal plays the Indian actress, Shashi Kapoor is cast as the Indian playboy, Gajraj Ranu provides the film's delicate musical atmosphere, "Wallah" in Indian language means craftsman or expert.

'Darling' of show at Regent Theater

Julie Christie's Academy Award winning performance in "Darling" is being seen at the Regent Theater, Elizabeth. Miss Christie, who won an Oscar for Best Actress of the Year for her performance in the film, portrays an English model who pursues a life of glamour and love, no holds barred, and lives to regret it. Directed by John Schlesinger, the picture also stars Laurence Harvey and Dirk Bogarde, two of the many men in "Darling's" life.

"The 10th Victim" also is at the Regent Theater. Filmed in Italy in color and starring Marcello Mastroianni and Ursula Andress, the picture is a satire of society's thirst for blood, set in the 21st century and steeped in a sex-sadism-violence syndrome.

Lynda Bird's boyfriend starring with Brigitte

George Hamilton stars opposite Brigitte Bardot and Jean Moreau in a new film comedy, "Viva Maria," which arrived yesterday at the Art Theater, Irvington Center. The film follows a traveling circus and the misadventures of its performers. Miss Bardot is seen as the performing granddaughter of an Irish Revolutionary.

Change in disability program noted by Social Security Administration

The Social Security Amendments of 1965 made several major changes in the social security disability program, according to Ralph W. Jones, district manager of the Social Security office in Elizabeth.

The most important of these is a change in the definition of "disability" under the social security law. Under the new definition, you can be eligible for monthly benefits if you have a disabling condition which has lasted or is expected to last at least 12 calendar months, he said.

Under the "old law" you could receive disability benefits only if you had a disability which prevented you from doing any substantial gainful work, and the disabling condition was expected to last indefinitely, Jones said.

But the new law now provides that the illness or injury must have lasted or be expected to last only 12 calendar months or longer. Only people who cannot do any substantial gainful work can receive benefits.

However, two important disability provisions were changed by the 1965 amendments. A person can receive benefits only if he has social security credits for at least five years of work in the 10-year period just before he became disabled. And cash benefits do not begin until after the first six full months a person is disabled.

There are a number of other significant changes in the disability provisions of the social security law. These are explained in pamphlet No. 8, available free at the social security office in Elizabeth, telephone number 351-3200. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. There are also evening hours every Thursday from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

'Sound' youngsters still studied 3Rs' while making film

Six of the seven young people who portray the von Trapp children in "The Sound of Music" (now in its 45th sequential week at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair), had to spend a minimum of four and a half hours a day at their studies in Salzburg, during the filming of the musical. The youngsters were under the guidance of an American school teacher.

During the 11 weeks in which the film was being shot, the youngsters kept growing—but not in proportion to each other. In order to maintain the same height scale between the junior members of the von Trapp family, the children's shoes were fitted with special lifts which could, when necessary, be switched about to maintain the proper height balance.

Although baby teeth in the very young members did not fall out, the possibility was foreseen and a supply of junior size false teeth were made up and kept on hand. The youngsters, who portray the von Trapp children are Charmian Carr, Nicholas Hammond, Angela Cartwright, Kym Karath, Duane Chase, Debbie Turner and Heather Menzies.

Science Topics

A 24-INCH doughnut-shaped "supermagnet" with 88,000 times the strength of the magnetic field of the earth has been developed at Argonne National Laboratory. The magnet employs a physical principle known as "superconductivity" under which certain materials lose their resistance to electricity at very low temperatures.

SUNTAN lotion that cannot be removed by perspiring, swimming or rubbing may emerge from research reported by physicians at the University of Michigan Hospital. The researchers say that treated areas of skin in many cases resisted sunburn three times as long as untreated areas. All test subjects were male and to remain in strong sunlight at least an hour without noticeable reddening. The mixture does not, however, give immediate protection; it must be applied at least 12 hours before exposure.

CONSUMERS may soon be able to buy sliced fresh peaches at the height of their color and flavor, thanks to a new process involving refrigeration, devised by Georgia Agricultural Experiment Station scientists. Though made from fresh freestone peaches that are too ripe to ship for the fresh market, the new product can be held for about 12 weeks. The process involves washing, peeling and slicing the peaches; packing them in glass jars; covering them with a light syrup and protecting them with a weak preservative. Refrigeration is required because the peaches are not cooked.

CARBON DIOXIDE is indirectly benefiting golfers. Golf ball centers are frozen with the gas to make them firm prior to winding, reports Chicago.

DEEP in the heart of the atom may lie strange and undiscovered bits of matter, University of Wisconsin physicists believe. The particles may be even more fundamental in the universal scheme of things than the known elementary building blocks named leptons, baryons and mesons.

LETHAL and dominant mutation of the genes of the sweet potato weevil resulting from bombardment with cobalt rays may save farmers about $5 million annually in lost crops, say Louisiana State University entomologists.

"Radiosterilization" of adult weevils causes eggs fertilized by treated males to reach the hatching stage without the embryo's surviving. ONLY 60 per cent of the world's supply of antimatter, 10,000 billion barrels of crude oil, can be expected to be discovered, reports the U.S. Geological Survey. Much of it is in remote and inaccessible regions of the world.

Peace Corps Test to be given May 14

Area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 9 a.m. Saturday, May 14 at the following places:

The Main Post Offices in Montclair, Morristown and Plainfield and in the Federal Building, Room B-89, Newark.

The Placement Test requires no preparation and is non-competitive. An applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the Placement Test however, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C.

The Test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requires another hour.

Presbyterian Church joins in $50 million fund campaign

The First Presbyterian Church of Springfield has announced its participation in a combined denominational $50 million capital needs fund and a capital fund for the purchase of a new organ for the local church. A goal of $50,000 to be received over the next three years has been set by the Springfield Church.

The church will support three specific capital needs of the $50 million fund. The first is aimed at helping provide a sanitary laundry at the Miraj Hospital in India, where a fraternal worker of the church, Dr. Archibald G. Fletcher, is now serving. The second project will be to help in rebuilding class rooms destroyed by fire at Boggs Academy, Georgia. Issler no-hitter sparks Regional to conference lead

Fund drive to open season of baseball for township boys

The Springfield Junior Baseball League will hold their annual fund drive on Saturday, starting at 11 a.m. Youngsters will assemble at the Florence Gaudinier School. Under the supervision of managers and coaches, they will visit every home in Springfield to seek support for the baseball program. The season will start Monday.

League officials appealed for a $1 contribution from every family in Springfield to ensure a successful year. The program is supported entirely by private contributions, they stressed, and is not financed by the township.

Approximately 450 boys are registered to compete in five leagues this season, with ages ranging from nine to 15. Expenses have risen this year, according to league officials, because five new teams have been added. One team has been added to the Babe Ruth Minor League.

There are four new teams in the two Youth Minor Leagues. This step was taken to provide a place on a team for every boy, nine to 12, who wants to play. The league announcement went on to say that there are still some places available for boys who want to play in the Babe Ruth Leagues, for ages 13 to 15.

The league officials also issued a reminder to all local businesses and industries that requests for contributions were mailed to them last week. Return envelopes were provided to facilitate donations. Jack Williams is director of business administration for the entire baseball organization.

Bulldogs to play tomorrow at Gov. Livingston diamond

By MYRON MEISLER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School baseball team will visit Governor Livingston Regional High School tomorrow and Hillside High School Tuesday, both at 3:30. Dayton now has a diamond record of 5-7, after taking both games of a double-header from Scotch Plains-Fanwood (High School) last Saturday.

The second game on a no-hitter by Bob Issler, his second for the Bulldogs in four starts. The Bulldogs now stand in first place in the Watchung Conference at this writing, with a record of 5-0, with Westfield in second with a record of 3-1. The scores against Scotch Plains were 3-1 and 1-0.

The upcoming Hillside-match Dayton faces with relative confidence, having already defeated the Hillside nine earlier in the season, 3-1, before the recent emergence of the Bulldog batting strength. As for Berkeley Heights, little is known by the team, except that it has an excellent pitcher to match Springfield's own fine staff.

THE DOUBLE-HEADER with Scotch Plains had the appearance of a close first game, but in reality Dayton far outpaced the Raiders in pitching and finally, superlative hitting. The fielding and defensive games of both teams were far from polished, and this represented the Bulldog's only true deficit.

Scotch Plains saw a new fielding set-up that may prove to be a significant improvement. In the first game Bob Gartlan pitched, with Issler in left field, Jack Majoche held his usual position at center, and a strong hitter, Bob Kizelevich, proved a mainstay at the Plate as well as in right. Moving from first base to catcher was Leroy Murrie, who showed aptitude but lack of experience in the position. Switching from right field to cover first was Glenn Cole. Steve Hartz at second, Joe Jupa at short and Harold Hansen at third completed the order.

Gartlan, a junior, although not yet as strong a pitcher as Issler, proved himself again to be an effective hurler in the first game. Gartlan limited the Raiders to three hits and accumulated nine strikeouts throughout the course of the game. Of key importance was Gartlan's endurance, for he grew more powerful as the game progressed while fatigue harassed the Scotch Plains pitcher.

Until the bottom of the fourth inning, however, little action took place. Cole and Hansen both connected for singles, but neither scored. The Raiders had yet to gain a hit.

Then the Raiders' Bill Voget hit a single to right field, in some very speedy base-running Voget stole second, and when the next man struck out and the Dayton catcher dropped the ball, he stole third. Pete Baldwin hit a sharp grounder straight down the left field line to Steve Voget, and advanced to second on the throw to the plate. Baldwin stole third, and another scoring threat developed. With two outs to go, however, Gartlan struck out the next man and then Steve Hartz caught a short pop-up in front of second base to retire, the sides with the Raiders leading, 1-0.

DAYTON MADE a strong effort to score in the fifth. With two out, Kizelevich hit a hard grounder to right field to reach first. Issler followed with a fly ball behind third base that dropped between the left-fielder and shortstop. Issler was on first and Kizelevich on third, but a strikeout ended scoring hopes for the Bulldogs that inning.

Scotch Plains earned its third and final hit of the game in the bottom of the fifth. With two outs, the man in left field, Mattis, when Mattis dropped the ball, Mattis recovered and fired the ball to Hartz, who tagged the runner out.

In the sixth inning Dayton opened up its attack. Shortstop Joe Jupa, who had been in a hitting slump, slammed a single in a liner drive past the shortstop. After a fly-out to the pitcher, Mattis singled, advancing Jupa to second. A strikeout followed. Then, with two out, Steve Hartz hit a grounder up the mound that bounced through the pitcher's legs. Hartz drove in the tying run with as Jupa scored. Hartz stole second as well, but a foul out ended further opportunities for the moment.

Kizelevich led off the next and final inning with a hard drive that landed behind second base. However, two outs followed in succession. Jupa, returning to bat, drew a walk on four consecutive balls. Kizelevich now stood on third, as the result of a fielder's choice ground-out to first.

Glenn Cole then came up, and clouted a long ball to left field, driving in Kizelevich for the leading, and winning, run. Hartz also managed to score, but Cole, trying to stretch out a double, was thrown out in a close play. Dayton led, 3-1, and retained that lead for the half-inning remaining, despite somewhat sloppy fielding and two errors.

WITH THE EXCEPTION of Issler's excellent mound performance, the second contest offered little in the way of action. Dayton's ball game in the top of the fifth, when Kizelevich scored for his second time that day, but a single by Gartlan, now in the catcher position. The final score was 1-0, Dayton.

The Bulldog performances have been erratic to date, but the hitting of the team is definitely beginning to emerge from its winter coma. Dayton has yet to lose a conference game and could very well emerge with the title this season. Certainly the pitching staff is equal to it, and with more consistency developing so is the rest of the squad.

The crucial rival is Westfield, whose record thus far has displayed great a threat, and better hitting. The decisive game of the conference is approaching and better hitting. The decisive game of the conference is approaching on Saturday, May 14, when Westfield will come to Dayton for a double-header and the only face-off between the teams this season. Dayton needs continued and consistent development, but with that, its chances during that double-header and for the conference championship are hopeful.

Dayton trackmen lose two, meet top-ranked Westfield

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School track team will entertain Westfield High School today and visit Governor Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights on Tuesday. The Bulldogs will also meet their sister school, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School of Clark, one week from today. All meets are at 3:30.

The track team suffered two defeats last week, to Cranford High School, 80-46, and Summit High School, 83-43, setting the Bulldog record at 1-3.

Head coach Bob Lummer commented, "Our greatest strengths lie in the long running events: the 800, one and two miles, the javelin and the shotput. The team has not fully realized its potential yet, and the rest of the season remains vague.

"Concerning the upcoming meets, Westfield is one of the top teams of the state, and I would hope to make a respectable showing against them. However, both Clark and Berkeley Heights are approximately the same in overall ability as we are, and both meets should be close contests. Our showing there will largely determine our performance for the bulk of the season."

long-distance races, with Ron Fry finishing number one in the two-mile with a time of 10:26.9, and Don Knott also placing first in the 800-yard event, clocking 2:09.7. Knott was followed up strongly by sophomore Greg Jones, who took second place with 2:12.3.

In the field events, only Mike Lester ranked tops in his event for the Bulldogs, tying for first place in the high jump with 5-8. All these team members are juniors.

Field events: shotput, 59-11, Baskin, second, 48-4 1/2; discus, 153-3, Baskin, third, 132-5; javelin, 205-11, Bill Chisholm, third, 133; broad jump, 19-4, Ed Heyeck, second, 18-8.

Postmaster urges that postal savings accounts be closed

Springfield Postmaster A.V. Del Vecchio this week urged depositors with postal savings certificates to withdraw their accounts from post offices as soon as possible. The postal savings system was abolished March 27, 1966, with the signing of Public Law 89-377 by President Johnson. Postmaster Del Vecchio pointed out that as of today, no deposits can be accepted and no new accounts can be opened at those post offices which maintain postal savings accounts. The Springfield Post Office does not maintain any postal savings accounts.

The postal savings system was established January 1, 1911, for the purpose of getting money out of hiding and to attract savings of a large number of immigrants who were accustomed to saving at Post Offices in their own native countries. The system also served as a safe depository for people who had lost confidence in private banks. Today, however, with the growth of banking facilities paying much higher interest rates than the two percent paid on postal savings, the system has out-lived its usefulness for the American people, Del Vecchio stated.

The postmaster noted that as of June 30, 1965, there were almost 1,000,000 depositors holding certificates in 3,130 post offices throughout the nation. The number of depositors has been declining at the rate of 6,500 per month.

WATER for BETTER LIVING

Public fire protection wasn't always as good as it is today. What we now take for granted was many years in the making. The knowledge and inventiveness of water system engineers. The skills and experience of the equipment makers. The first-hand know-how of the fire fighters. It took all these, and more, to develop the high standards of fire protection we have come to expect. An important milestone along the way was the perfection of the high-pressure public water supply system. This is the type of system that serves our community well and provides the best possible protection against the awful menace of serious fire.

UJC president stresses man's humanistic values

Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay, president of Union Junior College, Cranford, said the purpose of the college of tomorrow must be "to produce scientifically-trained young men and women who take with them as they enter upon their productive years a sense of obligation to something more than material progress -- a fervent devotion to those humanistic values which set man aside and above the computer."

He spoke at ground-breaking ceremonies Thursday for Union Junior College's $1 million science building.

"Scientific knowledge has provided us with the tools to master our environment but in doing so man is enjoined with the early task of controlling these forces unleashed by his own technological advances. Not to control these forces will imperil his continued existence on our planet. This is H. G. Wells' familiar race between education and destruction brought up to date," Dr. Mackay said.

The UJC president said it is the obligation of those charged with the direction of higher education to ensure that the next generation and its leaders are equipped to cope with this crisis -- perhaps the ultimate exigency of our civilization.

"If this is not done, and those now enrolled in our colleges fail this test, only that Last Flower so poignantly extolled by James Thurber will survive our self-induced immolation," Dr. Mackay said.

Dr. Mackay said those students who do not elect to enter the sciences should at least have at their command "those implements of the scientific method which set us on our guard against the facile temptations of our own prejudices and predilections."

"The organization of science as a community of free, tolerant, yet alertly, critical inquirers, embodies in remarkable measure the ideals of a liberal civilization. In such a society, the discipline that fosters these qualities of mind must have a foremost place," Dr. Mackay said.

The UJC president suggested this approach for the college of tomorrow: "To endow the student with a disciplined curiosity of the world about him, to kindle his mind with the spirit of search and discovery, to fortify his judgment with wisdom and insight, all this is essential to the demands of tomorrow. But this is not enough. We must offer, most decidedly, an enjoyment of the sciences, an appreciation of that basic symmetrical elegance of the universe and its parts which delighted Descartes' and inspired Edna St. Vincent Millay to exclaim that Euclid alone has looked on beauty bare. In the ecstatic capture of this long and ordered view emerges the hope that man can rise above the forces of his environment and that somewhere in the Cosmos his own inquiring free mind encompasses the full measure of a divine plan. Outward and inward, telescope and microscope widen our horizons and liberate our aspirations."

PREPAREDNESS FOR PHARMACISTS--Professor Michael Iannarone of the Rutgers College of Pharmacy in Newark, and Salvatore J. Scialla of Waldwick, a senior at the State University's pharmacy school, inspect contents of box of pharmaceuticals stored for emergency disaster-preparedness. Scialla is assisting Iannarone on a project on the role of the pharmacist in a natural disaster.

Rutgers team studies place of pharmacist in emergency

The Rutgers College of Pharmacy in Newark is one of the only two colleges in the country undertaking an intensive study of the greatly misunderstood role of the pharmacist in emergency mobilization in a time of natural disaster.

In fact, authorities believe there are some indications that the pharmacist himself is not always sure of his role in coping with disaster. The program at the Rutgers College of Pharmacy to correct this potentially dangerous situation is under the direction of Michael Iannarone of East Orange, a professor of pharmaceutical microbiology and public health. He is working on a project designed to show the pharmacist how he can perform a significant role in emergency health mobilization. He is being assisted in his research by Salvatore J. Scialla of Waldwick, a senior at the College of Pharmacy and John W. Blasecki, Jr., of Fair Lawn, a former student at the college.

Patient sponsored for heart surgery

The Park-Union Guild of Deborah has announced that it will sponsor Mrs. Antoinette Matriconi of Roselle Park, who will be admitted to Deborah Hospital for heart surgery tomorrow.

Iannarone hopes that eventually it will be possible to integrate training for such emergencies into the existing pharmacy curriculum without creating an entirely new course. "The pharmacist," says Iannarone, "can be responsible for the procurement, storage and dispensing of drugs; assistance in training the public in medical self-help and coordination of preparedness measures in case of an earthquake or hurricane, for example.

Mrs. Jack Kamin, Mrs. Leonard Feller and Mrs. A. Jill Zadari, tag week chairmen, have conveyed their gratitude to the members for helping to make Roselle Park Tag Week a successful one. The chairmen have announced that a one-day tag event is scheduled for Kenilworth on Sunday. Mrs. Kamin may be called at 686-2791 for additional information.

"His role is especially significant because the local pharmacist knows the people in his area who are diabetic, asthmatic, cardiac patients and chronically ill, and he can get drugs most quickly to these people in times of disaster."

The guild has announced that reservations may be made for the donor affair scheduled for Wednesday at the Short Hills Caterers, Mrs. Jules Levine, president, and Mrs. Warren Cohen, vice-president have reported that they expect a record attendance.

Iannarone emphasized that, since the pharmacist is not a doctor, he would not prescribe drugs but he would work with the doctors and others as part of a health mobilization team. The Rutgers project, assisted by a $5,000 grant from the Division of Health Mobilization of the U. S. Public Health Service, was first recommended by the Committee on National Defense and Security of the American Pharmaceutical Association. The only other pharmacy college working on the program is at the University of Wisconsin.

Summit Chorale to sing Beethoven's mass in C

The Summit Chorale, at its spring concert on Sunday, May 8, will present Beethoven's "Mass in C" as its major work. The solo quartet, chorus and orchestra specified in the score of this, one of Beethoven's two monumental choral works, will be conducted by Mark Orton. The performance will be in the Summit High School Auditorium, 125 Kent place Blvd., and will start at 8:30 p.m.

The program will include advanced first-aid, medical self-help methods and working with drugs.

The program also includes a cantata by Pergolesi, "By the Waters of Babylon"; and a group of anthems by Purcell: "Let Mine Eyes Run Down," "Funeral Sentences," and "Lord, How Thou Wilt Be Angry." The Chorale draws its singers from many towns in the area. Among its members this season are Bill Cron and John Wroblewski of Mountainside, and Mrs. Lionel Mosing of Springfield.

"Studies have shown," Iannarone said, "that a huge gray area exists in the pharmacy curriculum in the pharmacy student rarely, if ever, sees the effects of the drugs he handles. He never, as a professional, sees childbirth, shock or death."

Tickets will be available from members of the Chorale and at the door. Those wishing further information were asked to call 278-1594.

Iannarone stressed that by observation, under actual clinical conditions, the student will acquire a greater awareness of himself as a member of a health team.

Deadline for enrolling for college readiness

Prof. Gunars Salins of Glen Ridge, director, announced this week that June 10 will be the deadline for college-bound high school seniors to enroll in the College Readiness Program of Union Junior College, Cranford.

After the pharmacy student has had this medical self-help training it is hoped that he will teach others in the community. Practicing pharmacists will be able to acquire the same knowledge through the pharmacy college extension.

The four-week program which is designed to help prospective college freshmen adjust to college will open on Thursday, June 30, and will continue through Wednesday, July 27. Classes will meet daily, Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 11:40 a.m.

Iannarone said he hoped that no one got the idea that medical self-help training is designed only for use in case of a nuclear disaster. He stressed that emergency health service are also preparedness measures for natural disasters such as floods and hurricanes.

The College Readiness Program carries no college credit, and is limited to high school graduates who are college bound, Prof. Salins explained.

Club has first reading of revised constitution

The program features an orientation to college life, and provides a quick review of the basic skills -- reading, English composition, and problem solving -- to supplement what the high schools have done in those areas. The orientation portion of the program includes tips on how to study, how to take examinations, how to use the college library, how to take notes, and how to budget time.

The first reading of the revised constitution and by-laws of the Union County Coin Club, was presented by the Chairman of the committee Phil Burke and re-read by President Ed Kucharaki to clarify and incorporate minor changes suggested by the members. A unanimous vote to accept the revisions resulted and if the second reading scheduled for the April meeting is passed, the new constitution official. It was announced recently at a meeting in the Polish National Hall, Linden.

Malcolm Beatty was appointed to head a committee to investigate methods of using the State-controlled traffic money in the treasury for the advancement of education in mathematics. These funds were raised during the club's third annual coin show held in April 1965.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday and a guest speaker has been invited.

Dollar for dollar, N.J. gets raw deal

New Jersey taxpayers continued to pay top price — $1.67 — for each dollar received in this state last year under the $10.7 billion national distribution of Federal Government grants-in-aid.

The latest in the annual series of tabulations reported this week by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association showed that New Jersey received a total of $225,300,000 of the grants-in-aid distributed to state and local governments across the nation from both the Federal administrative budget and trust funds in the fiscal year 1965. The resultant tax burden upon New Jersey taxpayers to support the Federal grants program nationally was estimated at $421,000,000. This produced the $1.67 cost per dollar ratio for all Federal aid received in the State last year.

The gross aid received reflected a $23,600,000 increase over fiscal 1964 Federal grant payments to State and local government units within New Jersey. Despite the increased aid, it was pointed out, New Jersey continued to occupy first place among states in the tax cost per dollar of aid received. The estimated $34,800,000 to pay for the Federal aid program nationally in 1965.

New Jersey topped a list of 18 states in which taxpayers paid more than a dollar for each dollar of the overall total Federal aid distributed in fiscal 1965 under both administrative budget and trust funds. Among New Jersey's neighbors, taxpayers in Delaware paid $1.54, second-highest cost-for-each dollar in Federal aid received, and those of Connecticut were third with $1.50 ratio.

Thirty-two states and the District of Columbia in fiscal 1965 were listed among the "receiving" states whose taxpayers paid less than a dollar for each dollar of aid received from the overall aid distribution. These ranged from Kansas at 98 cents to Alaska at 15 cents per dollar.

By a mathematical coincidence, the same $1.67 cost-per-dollar of aid received also applied to that portion of grants allocated from the overall aid distribution. These ranged from Kansas at 98 cents to Alaska at 15 cents per dollar.

Fit important in buying shoes

The new style trend of lower broader heels in shoes is a welcome relief to many fashion-minded women who have stayed with the needle thin high heels and pointed toes through the years. The new styles will soon make pointed shoes "passé" and as with any fashion change, the fit will be different.

When shopping for new shoes, it will be more important than ever to check foot size. This means a check of both feet for length and width. Don't fight with the measurer if it indicates that a broader width than usual is needed. The old pointed style of shoe gave a more narrow fit.

Shoe sizes are apt to vary with a gain or loss of weight. Ten pounds either way can mean a different size shoe.

Since both feet are usually not the same size, buy to fit the larger foot. Never buy a pair of shoes that do not feel comfortable immediately. If shoes must be "broken in" for comfort, then the feet will suffer.

Youth employment services are designed to meet local needs

The following report on the development of Youth Employment Services throughout the country was issued this week by Mrs. William Lortimer, Springfield YES chairman.

The first Youth Employment Service was established 16 years ago in Phoenix, Ariz., at the suggestion of a junior in high school by the name of Karin Stallcup. At a governor's conference on juvenile delinquency, Karin politely accused state experts of myopia for suggesting more recreation centers to keep kids out of mischief.

She contended that teenagers wanted not more fun, but jobs. Students from 11 Phoenix high schools met to canvass employers for jobs. Karin volunteered to be the director. In 12 months the bureau placed 1,500 new jobs.

A Youth Employment Service is an independent, non-profit, volunteer agency—endorsed by schools, churches, service clubs and service groups.

Its purpose is to bring together employees seeking temporary, part-time or summer work and young people who make willing, eager and responsible employees. YES supplements, and works closely with school guidance offices.

YES refers qualified young workers to employers and receives no fee. It can refer as many applicants for an interview as the employer desires, and usually within a few hours' time. YES screens applicants for the employer and sends the best qualified to him.

In the office files are listed talented young people who are delighted for an opportunity to work, no matter how briefly.

YES specializes in filling unusual jobs... cleaning a flooded cellar, serving and cleaning up after a party, arranging children's parties, taking inventory, temporary selling, wrapping, typist or receptionist jobs.

YES of Felham, N.Y. As a result of her interest, and support of Princetonians such as Commissioner of Labor and Industry Raymond F. Male, the first Youth Employment Service in New Jersey was opened May 15, 1961.

MORRISTOWN, New Milford and Plainfield followed in 1962, using Princeton as a guide. Unlike Palham, Princeton and Morristown, Plainfield covered a United Fund Area of five municipalities rather than a small suburban community.

In 1963, Harrington Park established a YES in a hardware store. Hightstown and East Brunswick opened offices with almost no funds and very few jobs.

Cranford visited Plainfield and Princeton, then opened an office in the middle of July (initiated by a church study group which had been studying youth problems); Metuchen-Edison began with the aid of Princeton in December.

Firemen respond to alarm in house; blaze in TV room

A full complement of Springfield firemen and equipment responded to an alarm last Thursday at 7:34 p.m. at the home of Seymour Cooper of 63 Pitt rd. Flames were coming from the ground-floor television room. Fire Chief Ormond W. Mesker reported, He stated that damage was moderate. The cause of the fire remains under investigation.

Saturday afternoon, firemen answered a call from the Troy Village apartment development. An oil burner was discovered to be emitting smoke, and it reportedly needed servicing. Later that afternoon, units responded to an alarm at the apartment of Mrs. H. C. Borenkemp, 47A Forest dr. The kitchen was reported as full of smoke, from a plastic dishpan which had been inadvertently left in the oven.

A third alarm on Saturday saw firemen dispatched to the Springfield House on Rt. 22. Smoke was discovered to be coming from a faulty dishwasher machine.

Mercer Street Friends Center of Trenton through working with a youth program, began to realize the impact of "drop-outs" and started a counseling service which led to a YES. Trenton's YES is staffed primarily by professionals, but volunteers supplement their work.

THE YEAR 1964 saw a tremendous surge of growth as community-after community became aware of the problems of young people in finding any kind of work experience, newspapers, magazines, and the late President Kennedy, highlighted the fact that people under 25 years of age make up over half the unemployed in the United States.

The population explosion, combined with automation, made a critical situation with fewer and fewer unskilled or beginning jobs available and more young people than ever before seeking work.

High school drop-outs became the focus of alarmed studies by educators, economists, government bureaus, because business and industry were requiring a high school diploma for an ever increasing number of jobs.

As our technology advances, our society is changing from a blue-collar to a white-collar one. Skills, technical knowledge and advanced degrees will continue to grow as basic requirements for jobs in the future.

It is estimated that in fields such as engineering, a man will have to re-learn three jobs in order to keep pace with the advances in his own specialty. In other words, everyone will have to study and learn whole new concepts in order to keep pace with the requirements of his job.

IN NEW JERSEY, as communities are alerted to the needs of their young people, YES has caught on with great enthusiasm. YES is centered in the community and is shaped to fit each community's special needs and interests. It costs the taxpayer nothing.

It operates on a very low budget, using volunteers and donated services. YES, because it is still new and growing, can be flexible, imaginative and adventurous.

As programs are developed throughout the state, some YES groups institute supplementary services, such as "Job Clinics" that help young people understand what employers are looking for in an applicant, attitudes that help to add to work experience and ultimate vocational goals.

Some towns concentrated on work-study programs, others are working with drop-outs. Tutoring programs and many other volunteer-based activities are a direct result of communities deciding to help their own youth.

WHAT BETTER investment can a town make? Young people, too, can catch the spirit of a city concerned with its youth.

Many a suburban community is started to find talents and abilities, responsibility and overwhelming eagerness on the part of young people to do a good job given the opportunity.

Employers, homeowners and parents find a new reason to be proud of their young people using their abilities in a positive, wholesome way, learning the pride of a job well done.

Invest in your young people and you invest in the future of your whole community.

There's a good answer!
No matter what the problem — or how vexing the situation — there's always a good answer. And it's basically spiritual. Often it depends on how we answer the question "Who Is Your Maker?" Leader editorial comment

A famous visitor

Several impressions remain from the appearance by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Sunday night. First of course, was the tremendous eloquence of the speaker. His message, basically, was not new; it was the same call for humanity for which he has risked his life over the past decade. Nor, incidentally, was his much-publicized addition of Viet Nam to his subject matter anything novel or startling. Scripted or sensationalized news coverage, Dr. King called for a halt to bombing of North Viet Nam and for a recognition of the Viet Cong as a force which must be represented at any conference table. Neither proposal might be "completely" acceptable to all Americans. Both, however, were a long way from the political shreds for abandonment and surrender, which have been heard elsewhere.

Far from new, also, was Dr. King's strong condemnation of communism as a totalitarian philosophy which he could never accept. This should hardly need saying today, but a man who has risked everything and won greatness in an appeal for human equality could never be tempted by apologists for tyranny.

Worthy of comment, too, is the calmness which prevailed in front of the building, where some 25 pickets displayed placard and paraded printed material expressing an opinion of Dr. King somewhat different from that in the previous paragraphs. The lecture-goers and the pickets remained polite, with few exceptions, each respecting the other's right to a Constitutional freedom. It might be added, that only a single Springfield resident appeared to be among those in the picket line.

Many observers were greatly impressed by the efficiency and competence with which the Springfield Police Department handled a potentially dangerous problem. Police, in uniform, were on hand in sufficient numbers to insure order, but not in such force as to detract from the purpose of the occasion. Inside the high school and at Temple Shalom, where a reception followed the lecture, the presence of detective plainclothes also testified to the thoroughness of the precautions.

It might be said that many of the local police might not agree with all of Dr. King's proposals. But that is not their job. Maintaining order is, and this they did with a calm and confidence meeting the highest qualifications of their profession.

Leader's letters to editor

ASKED FOR EVIDENCE

I'm not sure I merit the designation "Springfield letter writer" attributed to me last week in the Leader by one Henry S. Wright, whose utterances, I'm sure, are published in substantially greater volume and frequency.

I suppose I should take umbrage at being mentioned in the same Henry S. Wright sentence as one of our congressmen John B. Rouselle (no relation), the apologist for the alarmist John Birch Society.

Whatever point Mr. Wright tried to make in last week's letter, or whatever stigma he tried to attach to me, I must confess I lost somewhat when he took the liberty of publishing a peremptory demand that I might learn from Mr. Rouselle.

Suffice it to note that Mr. Wright's pride in perennials should be tempered by the reality that the electorate, in its due consideration, feels Mr. Wright has nothing to offer — else why would he always be the candidate named in the "Fifteen?"

Two weeks ago I publicly objected to Mr. Wright's attempt to deny Dr. Martin Luther King a forum in this township on the obscure grounds of separation of church and state. In retrospect, I committed the ultimate faux pas in innocently suggesting Mr. Wright offer some evidence to support his accusation of Dr. King's supposed leftist views and Communist associations.

Lo and behold, I got a telephone call from Mr. Wright, who insisted that I allow him to submit "affidavits and documentation" regarding Dr. King's past. Mr. Wright said he had heard the subject was "open."

How, I asked myself, could I expect anything reasonable from a man who would equate the Nobel Peace Prize, which so few are honored to receive, with the Army good conduct medal, which practically anyone honorably discharged from the military receives?

I, in my impatience, acceded to Mr. Wright's offer of proof. However, he was unable to keep a date on which we agreed and, instead, subsequently left his papers at my home. There was no documentation, no affidavits, nothing except two photo reproductions and text purporting to link Dr. King with Communists — but carefully avoiding calling him one. Also included in Mr. Wright's bundle of evidence was a full page expose of Dr. King — but printed, I must object, in a vicious anti-Semitic sheet called "Common Sense," in which the late Cande McGinley found a convenient, if absurd, cause for all the world's troubles — the Jews.

Mr. Wright advised me that he was unable to document his charges in the Leader because the editor refused to accept his documentation. As a reporter, I'm confident my editor would expect something more substantial than hate literature and tracts to support statements I might make in stories.

Mr. Wright also favored me with a telephone number for use if I needed further information. The number reaches the local voice of "Let Freedom Ring" in Summit — and I've been dialing it for laughs for almost a year.

My mail last week also brought a package of old copies of "Common Sense," sent anonymously (naturally) so I wouldn't know who to thank, or who to blame. They were coming out of the walls last week!

But Dr. King came to Springfield without incident. I suspect this disappointed some. And from the stage of the high school auditorium, Dr. King declared he "could not accept" Communist materialism.

Mr. Wright heard the words and will weigh them against the documentation he offers to back his charges against Dr. King. He will be reassured to learn Dr. King seeks only, as he said here, to transform an elegy into a psalm of peace, and to achieve "not the day of the black man, nor the day of the white man, but the day of man."

Senator CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

A few days ago the press reported formation of a new organization, tentatively called the New Jersey Committee to Preserve the Democratic Process. Its purpose is to combat extremism and to strengthen democratic processes, particularly at the community level. I am honored to serve as a trustee.

In a sense, it is regrettable that there should be any need for such an organization. On the other hand, the stimulation of greater citizen participation in community affairs is all to the good. For it is characteristic of a free society that its citizens can never afford to take it for granted. Freedom is not something that was won once and for all. In time honored words: eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

The attack upon the ways of freedom can come from the extreme left or the extreme right. It can take many forms. But two features are fairly constant. One is the setting of man against man on arbitrary grounds that have nothing to do with the worth of the individual. Among its ugliest forms are appeals to racial prejudice, and religious bigotry.

The second usual characteristic of the extremist is his conviction that not only is he right but that only he is right. And, to him, possession of the "truth" best justifies resort to almost any means to vindicate it.

Usually such people are wont to designate their cause by high-sounding names. But not always. The self-styled "Rat Finks", for example, apparently delighted in their name. Among themselves they celebrated their membership in songs, disgusting, utterly alien to American tradition. But they were careful not to publicize the Rat Fink name or activities. Instead they sought to carry on their political activities in the guise of Young Republicans.

Rightly the Investigative Committee of the State Young Republicans and also the State Republican Committee have repudiated them and called for their ouster from the Young Republican organization. Their views are a travesty of our Republican heritage that we cannot and must not tolerate.

In this instance it was the Young Republicans who were the targets for infiltration. "Rat Finks" were the instigators from such a stack. There is plenty of room for differences of views both within and between our parties. But neither party wants or can afford to give shelter to abhorrent doctrines of racism and bigotry.

Let those who preach such doctrines do so under their own name, but not masquerading as members of a responsible political party. If our parties now lack the means to protect themselves against such misuse of their names, then we must promptly give them legal authority commensurate with the responsibility which the American people rightly expect them to exercise.

appearance at the high school and had distributed much of the same material as support for his charges.

ON SUNDAY MORNING, police in Union halted the distribution of material similar to that offered at the high school by those protesting Dr. King's appearance. Five men outside St. Michael's Catholic Church were ordered to stop the distribution after telephone complaints were received from the Rev. Joseph Driscoll, assistant pastor of the church, and Police Commissioner James Conlon.

Police identified the men as representatives of the John Birch Society. They said that distribution ceased after the five were advised of an ordinance prohibiting distribution of handbills without permission.

Although Springfield has a similar ordinance, according to Police Chief William C. Salendy, distribution was permitted on advice of Joseph Seidel, township prosecutor. The ordinance allows the distribution of political material without a permit.

In his remarks on the problem of poverty, Dr. King stressed, "All of God's children must have the basic resources of life — now we have the technical means to achieve this."

"WE NEED NO FOREIGN IDEOLOGY, no Communism to solve this problem. Communism based on a crippling totalitarianism I could never accept. We must seek within the framework of our democratic society to get rid of poverty."

On the third of the three evils he described, Dr. King stated, "We must put an end to war, or war will put an end to mankind. No nation can win a war today. We have a choice of nonviolence or nonexistence."

Dr. King suggested several steps toward a negotiated solution to the war in Viet Nam. He urged that the U.S. halt bombing of North Viet Nam, as possibly leading to escalation into an atomic holocaust. He also called for recognition of the Viet Cong as a force to be considered in any peace talks.

Dr. King urged that Communist China be accepted into the United Nations, as the most populous country in the world. He added, "The alternative to strengthening the United Nations, by stopping the isolation of the largest nation in the world, is the abyss of disaster."

Unico

and separately on community activities, to uplift the prestige of our kind of people. It is both political and anti-political.

"THE NAME UNICO, translated from Italian, means one or only one of its kind.

"Unico was first formed in Waterbury, Conn., in 1922, when a group of men headed by Dr. Anthony Vavala organized the first chapter. It was a group of men from such a community. The idea then spread slowly to several other cities in the East, and it was not until 1930 that the first convention was held in New York City. A similar idea, without knowledge of Unico in the East, was started in Omaha, Neb., in 1931 as the National Italian Civic League. This spread to about 15 cities in the West. Both groups continued their fine work during the ensuing years, and in 1946 efforts were begun to merge the two groups into one national organization. This was completed July 4, 1947, at a convention in Milwaukee, when Unico National was born."

"Unico has been a force for integration and force in fighting the discrimination and defame which was prevalent against our people during the first part of this century. The unlawful acts of some of our misdirected people were played up in the press in the 20s and 30s, making us appear a disreputable and inferior minority. Naturally, we were looked down upon."

"We had been discriminated against and had suffered many humiliations. It was time that the majority of us, who are loyal, law-abiding American citizens, took some action to offset this situation by proving that we, as other citizens, could take our rightful responsibility in the community. This had to be done by doing good deeds for others. Thus the motto, 'Service above Self,' which has patterned the whole activity of Unico."

"UNICO HAS DONE so many things on a national and chapter level that it would be impossible to list them all. Generally, it has awarded hundreds of college scholarships, sent thousands of boys to summer camps, spent thousands of dollars in local charities and in support of local drives, recognized many individuals throughout the nation for their outstanding achievements, sponsors a national mental health program and encourages and participated in the observance of Columbus Day."

"Unico National has come to the defense of the Italian name on many instances, preventing and criticizing those who may defame, ridicule or lower the standard of our people. It has assisted in improving the immigration laws, and it conducts a placement bureau to help our children enroll in the better colleges and post-graduate schools."

"Unico takes an active interest in boys' clubs, and many chapters have their own Opportunity Club programs. Unico also helps in the improvement of the immigration laws, such as the flood relief in 1952 and Boys Town of Italy. In 1948, Unico took a leading part in the letter campaign prior to the Italian elections that year to aid that country successfully in its fight against communism."

Senator HARRISON A. WILLIAMS Reports

Washington—Hearings open today before the Housing Subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on legislation to have introduced to cure the commuter crisis.

We have two days of hearings scheduled and the witness list is an impressive one. Among the leadoff witnesses will be New York City's Mayor John Lindsay and Council President Frank O'Connor.

Among others scheduled to testify are Stuart Saunders, chairman of the Board of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Richard Tomlinson, director of Passenger Services for the Reading Railroad; Mayor John Collins of Boston, and Senators Jacob Javits and Joseph Tydings. Impressive as this list is, it is no more impressive than the need for the legislation before the subcommittee or something very similar to it.

Our own state provides a classic example. The Erie-Lackawanna has applied for permission to abandon short-haul passenger service completely, leaving some 30,000 commuters to find another way to get to work.

The Jersey Central, with 10,000 daily riders, is in dire financial straits because of losses on commuter service. And the malaise spreads across the country. Boston, Atlanta, New York City, Seattle are all in trouble.

Which is why the bill considered by the Committee is almost at expanding and broadening the Mass Transit Act of 1954. That legislation provided capital grants for commuter lines to enable them to refurbish their facilities and purchase new equipment.

This program has worked well. The Jersey Central Railroad has taken advantage of it to establish a direct rail link with New York, eliminating the ferry transfer.

But it is under-financed and it is not broad enough. Most of the original appropriation is committed and most of it has not gone to the areas of greatest need—the railroads.

I am proposing an increased appropriation and a change in the language of the legislation to make it easier for commuter railroads to qualify for these capital grants.

But the bill before the Committee goes beyond that to establish another category of aid to hard-pressed commuter lines. The proposal is to provide federal contributions to meet up to two-thirds of out-of-pocket operating losses of commuter lines.

This is a temporary measure, intended to bridge the gap to the day when the capital grants have enabled commuter lines to place their service on a sound operating and financial basis. In order to qualify for the operating contribution, the commuter line applying would have to submit a plan for placing its service on a stable financial basis within 10 years.

In addition, the federal contribution would not go to the commuter facility, but to a public agency which would administer the funds in the public interest. For those of us who are starting the commuter crisis in the face, this may seem like a modest and sensible enough approach.

LEADER PROFILE -- Mrs. M. J. Price

MRS. M. JORDAN PRICE

Springfield continues to become more and more culturally-minded and artistically inclined, as its citizens make larger and larger strides in the direction of expanded and newly-found cultural projects.

One of the latest projects is a seven-week dramatic workshop, described as, "a definite preliminary step toward the organization of a permanent little theater group for the community."

Mrs. M. Jordan Price of Springfield, area chairman of the New Jersey Theater League, is conducting the workshop.

Mrs. Price, who discussed the workshop the other day with this reporter, appeared to be enthusiastic and amply excited about its promising success. "Twenty people showed up at our first meeting," Mrs. Price exclaimed. "No one below the age of 18 is eligible for membership, but those below 18 will be invited to participate in our actual production in the fall."

How did the project come about?

"As I understand it," Mrs. Price said, "the Springfield Association of Creative Arts (SACA) has an art department and for the past two years, has been trying to encourage all phases of the arts."

"Some time ago, Jay and Audrey Bloom, who are friends of ours (my husband and Jay are lawyers) were visiting us, and the conversation turned to dramatics. Knowing how interested Audrey is in the theater, I tried to get her interested in joining the Stroullers of Maplewood, a little theater group."

Mrs. Price, who also is area vice-president of the New Jersey Theater League, which takes in Cranford, Garwood, Maplewood, Short Hills, Union, Springfield and Newark. She serves on the board of trustees for the Revelers — another little theater group; is past president of the Revelers and is active with the Theater for Children Committee of the New Jersey Theater League, which stages plays for children's audiences.

"Audrey, in turn, suggested that the SACA group contact me. Some time later, Lillian Johnson, who is chairman of the group, was put in touch with the N.J. Theater League. I was contacted by SACA and asked to come to a meeting late last fall. I said I would come — to advise the group on how to get started. But for some reason or other, they ran into difficulties, and I was called to take an active part in it rather than just act in an advisory capacity."

"I suggested a workshop," Mrs. Price continued. "But apparently, it was too late in the season to start on a three-act play. We had a tremendous amount of work to do. Among those 'who did a great deal to help us along' were Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Margaret Gerst, Tina Novich, Laura Rosenbaum, Hazel Hargrove and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Marcus, among others."

Members of religious, charitable and fraternal organizations were contacted by letters from SACA headquarters, and Mrs. Price conducted her first drama workshop class in the Recreation House in Springfield.

"The Girl Scouts were kind enough to let us use their meeting place," she acknowledged. On April 13, the group met at the Township Committee planning room. "And," Mrs. Price said, "our gratitude also goes to Ed Ruby, head of the Recreation Department, who was responsible for finding us a permanent meeting place for our Wednesday nights at 8..."

At the workshop's first meeting, Mrs. Price said, she "was quite thrilled to see a variety of ages among the 20 members. Possibly the youngest was 19 or 20 years old — and the oldest member, I would judge, was in the late 40s or early 50s category. Each man and woman showed up. Some have had a little experience; some never acted before. One or two have had some dramatic school training... I don't know how much. But judging from the resumes, as far as I know, we have no professionals or semi-professionals."

"But the interest and enthusiasm is certainly there. So far," Mrs. Price declared, "I have been quite pleased with what has been — and will be my responsibility — to keep the interest up. We will try to pack a lot into these next few weeks — try to give a little smorgasbord of this and that. The first week, the emphasis was on getting acquainted with acting."

"You know," Mrs. Price said, "the main thing about the project is that this is not a lecture course. It is a place where people get up and do things."

"The seventh session, Mrs. Price indicated, the eighth week will consist of presenting some sort of demonstration. We will invite SACA members and their families to attend... so that we can show them what we do and have done in class. Because of lack of time, we cannot stage a finished production, but we will, at least, encourage more people to become interested and to join our group. Our ultimate aim, however, is to produce a permanent little theater group."

ever," she said, "will be to produce a three-act play some time next season. Right now, we have to play it by ear."

Mrs. Price, who was born June Schaefer in Newark, attended Bloomfield schools, a business school in Montclair and New York University. "Most of my dramatic training has been private," she said. She studied dancing in Bloomfield for 10 years, and conducted her own school ("mostly ballroom dancing") in Bloomfield. "I studied with Ruth St. Denis for a while, and obtained my dramatic training through workshops, private and community theater... just about every place I was able to pick it up."

She married M. Jordan Price in 1941 in Newark, and the Prices (he maintains a law office in Union) lived in Irvington for two years. "We moved to Union five weeks before Lynn, our one child, was born." (Lynn is now Mrs. Richard Dallen of Union). Richard and Lynn are both interested in acting. They belonged to the Revelers and are now members of the Scotch Plains Players.

"Originally, I had wanted to be a concert dancer, and I'd studied ballet. In fact, I didn't act at all until I joined the Revelers in 1952." The Prices, who lived in Cranford for eight years, moved to Springfield about two-and-a-half years ago. They are members of Temple Shalom.

Mrs. Price, who some time ago "started a teenage group for the Revelers, called the Teen Stagers, toured with the group to various cities."

It seems that she has been organizing and working with a myriad of theatrically-minded people for more than half of her life. And she is still finding inspiration and encouragement from the continued enthusiasm and interest of people in all walks of life.

"It is a real incentive to me, as a drama teacher, to discover just how many people are interested in expressing themselves through the medium of the cultural arts."

Library staff summarizes books now made available

Several new books of current or perennial interest are now at the Springfield Public Library. With descriptions by the library staff, they are:

"CARING FOR YOUR DISABLED CHILD," by Benjamin Spock and Marion Lerrigo. "The famous Dr. Spock, together with Dr. Lerrigo, has written a comprehensive guide to all aspects of caring for handicapped children. The authors stress the need for a rehabilitation program and the adjustments that parents must make. Dr. Spock offers specific guidance and provides information on where to go for additional assistance for helping mentally, physically or emotionally handicapped children."

"PRACTICE FOR THE ARMED FORCES TESTS," "This is a must for all men and women who are about to enter or reenter the services. It includes full-length samples of important military exams, such as the enlistment screening test and applicants' qualifying examination. It provides a thorough preparation through sample questions and answers."

through sample questions and answers.

"BARRON'S PROFILES OF AMERICAN COLLEGES," "This is the latest revised edition. It provides summaries of more than 1,000 accredited four-year colleges and universities, arranged alphabetically by states including Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. A rather thick book but it may be borrowed for two weeks at a time."

"PAINTING WITH ACRYLICS" by Jose Gutierrez and Nicholas Roukes. "This is a new handbook on how to paint with artists' paints made of liquid plastics. Landscape, portrait, still life, collage and so forth are illustrated by leading painters. In black and white and color."

"IN LINCOLN'S FOOTSTEPS: The Life of Andrew Johnson," by Bill Severn. "Andrew Johnson's career was a stormy one. As governor of Tennessee, as vice-president under Abraham Lincoln and later as president of the United States, he was often misunderstood and bitterly criticized."

"GOODNIGHT" is a "colorfully illustrated story in verse by Russell Hoban. It is about a little girl who thinks about her pets and playthings as she falls off to sleep."

ALL ABOUT PEOPLE

by GENE ROSENFELD

ELGENE TIRE CO.

IN THE SAND many things are written, from love letters to geometric designs. This week we find our Man of that hour was born and raised in Syracuse. He was a Greek geometrician and mathematician, educated in Alexandria. Although famous, he is not known to have held any public office, devoting his entire life to research and experiment. During the attack on Syracuse he placed his talent at the disposal of the government and several of his mechanical devices were employed in the defense of Syracuse. After the capture of the city he was killed by a soldier who found him drawing a diagram in the sand. It is said that he was so absorbed in the calculation that his only remark to the intruder was "Do not disturb my diagrams."

He composed important works on plane and solid geometry, arithmetic, and mechanics. In pure mathematics he anticipated many of the discoveries and demonstrations of modern science. In mechanics he discovered the principle of the lever. He invented the hydraulic screw or spiral pump for raising water from a lower to a higher level by means of a tube wound spirally around an inclined axis. He also discovered the law of hydrostatics, which states that a body surrounded by a fluid is buoyed up by a force equal to the weight of the fluid it displaces. This discovery is said to have been made as he stepped into his bath and perceived the displaced water overflowing. He was so excited that he rushed unclad through the streets of Athens shouting "Eureka! (I have found it!)" It is this last statement that identifies him to most people as ARCHIMEDES.

To identify yourself with the very finest in NEW TIRES or RETREADS make it a point to contact Elgene on Milltown Rd. (between Route 22 and Morris Ave., just off Liberty Ave., across from Farber's (Grove). We're sure you'll shout Eureka too, so come on down to see us soon.

Students chosen for scholarships by state officials

Five Springfield young people students are among the largest group of students ever selected by the State of New Jersey to receive scholarships, the State Scholarship Commission announced this week.

The scholarship program, one of the largest in the country, granted state awards to 4,642 students who will enter college next fall. 2,213 boys and 2,429 girls who received awards will attend nearly 500 different colleges throughout the nation.

The number of awards increased this year because the high school graduating class of 1965, on which the quota of awards was based, was 13 percent larger than the previous year. This increase provided the commission with 538 more awards. New Jersey provides scholarships for five percent of the total number of high school graduates in the state.

State scholarships pay recipients $500 a year or the amount of tuition, whichever is less. Awards are renewable and may be held throughout the period of undergraduate study. In addition to meeting the residence requirement, scholarship recipients "must have demonstrated high moral character, good citizenship and dedication to American ideals."

Springfield scholarship winners are: Susan Johnson, 143 Ballaroi way; Thomas M. Lieto, 22 Caldwell pl.; Lella M. Moore, 26 Battle Hill ave.; Thomas F. O'Meara, 61 Mountain ave.; Mary C. Scudi, 141 Laurel dr.

LOOKING OVER the contemporary decors of the new garden apartments for nurses at Overlook Hospital are Mrs. Hazel Wenzel, RN, of 21 Warwick circle, Springfield, Overlook pediatric supervisor, and Howard F. Casselman of 57 Park Lane, Springfield, a trustee of the hospital. The 240 unit, all-electric, air-conditioned apartment project is intended as a recruitment attraction for the Overlook nursing staff.

New apartment units offer home for Overlook nurses

"Design for ideal RN living" - that was the theme at the open house for Overlook Hospital's new garden apartments for nurses at 27 Glenstone ave., Summit, held recently and attended by town officials, Overlook trustees and employees.

Located within easy walking distance of the hospital, the contemporary architecture of the 24-unit apartments is set off by white painted brick surfacing, accented with natural wood. The apartments were designed by Emil A. Schmidlin, architect, of East Orange, noted for his work in the suburban New Jersey area.

The apartments, which rent at moderate cost in comparison to other rentals in the area, will accommodate 64 tenants. Although part of the overall $6,500,000 "Progress Program" for Overlook's new wing, the apartments will be separately financed and self-liquidating on a long-term basis.

Sixty-four added nurses will give us the nursing staff necessary for the added patients

In Overlook's new wing," commented Robert E. Heinlein, Overlook's director. "This is a plan-ahead project and we hope it will attract needed nurses to our staff in plenty of time for the new wing's completion next year."

The interiors of the apartments were decorated by the firm of Designs Unlimited, Inc., of St. Petersburg, Florida, whose owner, Charles Winthrop Rogers, A.I.D., has brought many Florida-style notes into the decor. Featuring contemporary walnut furniture, accented with sheer, printed draw-curtains, wall-to-wall carpeting, unusual ceramic lamps, gay cushions and upholstery, the apartments are "dreamy," according to two nurses from Dallas, Texas, Jane Wyrick and Martha Wright, who are among the first few occupants. "They're the nicest apartments we saw-and we looked all over," they commented, adding that many apartments they had seen had combined living-bed rooms, instead of private separate rooms.
