New Springfield teachers participate in pre-school orientation day meeting

New teachers in the Springfield school system were introduced to their responsibilities in an orientation day program last Thursday conducted by John O. Berwick, superintendent of schools. The newcomers were conducted on a tour of the township, followed by discussions at the Florence Gaudineer School.

Brief biographies of the new faculty members follow:

Duane H. Brown, guidance counselor at the Gaudineer School, is a cum laude graduate of Montclair State College, and he also holds a master's degree from Montclair. He is an Air Force veteran. Brown formerly taught physical education at the Battle Hill School, Union.

Richard F. Greco, who teaches sixth grade classes at Gaudineer, is also a Montclair State alumnus, with teaching experience in Harrison Park. He was a member of the college track team, and serves as a communications specialist in the Army Reserve.

Helen M. Kilbourne will teach home economics at Gaudineer. She holds a bachelor's degree from Montclair State and a master's from Michigan State University, where she spent the last two years as a teaching assistant. Miss Kilbourne formerly taught in Orange.

Albert M. La Morges, seventh grade teacher at Gaudineer, formerly taught social studies in Orange. He is also a Montclair State graduate, with a master's degree from George Williams College. La Morges was an administrator in camps in Indiana and Pennsylvania for the past four years.

Judith Lofgren, who will teach language arts at Gaudineer, returns to this country after a year at the Frankfurt American Elementary School in Germany. She holds a degree in English from Douglass College. Miss Lofgren formerly taught in Green Brook.

Mrs. Blanche Blumenfeld will be teacher and consultant for the program for children with learning disabilities. She has received a bachelor's and a master's degrees. Mrs. Blumenfeld has studied at New York University and its Graduate School of Education, Indiana University and Newark State College. She formerly taught in Drango, Summit and Short Hills.

William J. Campbell is an alumnus of Pennsylvania State University and formerly taught in Plainfield. He will teach sixth grade English at Gaudineer.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Donnelly is the new Kindergarten teacher at the Thelma Sandinior School. An alumnus of Central Connecticut State College, she formerly taught first grade and kindergarten in New Britain, Conn.

Judith A. Cavanaugh holds a bachelor's degree from Classboro State College. She will teach a third grade class at the Sandmeier School.

Appolite T. LaCoppa, fourth grade teacher at the Raymond Chisholm School, was graduated from Trenton State College. She has three children.

Primary No contests on nominees for local job

New polling places set for voters in 4 districts

Springfield voters will have their say in the primary election on Tuesday on the choice of Democratic and Republican candidates for the general election on Nov. 8. Party members will choose candidates for one seat on the Township Committee, county clerk, three seats on the Board of Freeholders, House of Representatives and U. S. Senate. They will also name county committeemen for each election district.

The polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. Changes in polling places for four election districts were announced this week by Mrs. Eleanor Worthington, township clerk. Districts 1 and 4 will vote in the First Aid Squad building, Districts 2 and 3 will vote in the Fire House.

Both local candidates for Township Committee are running without primary opposition. They are Phillip Del Vecchio, Republican, and Gerard J. Vezza, Democrat.

The only contest on the local scene is for Republican county committeeman in the fourth district. Richard A. Holmes, 36 Sovereign ave., the organization choice, is opposed by Henry S. Wright of 53 Colfax rd.

Wright is also on the ballot as an insurgent candidate for the GOP nomination for county clerk. The organization choice to succeed Henry S. Nulton, retiring from office, is Walter G. Halpin of Fairwood. John V. Donahue of Roselle has Democratic organization support for his party's nomination. He also has primary opposition, from Francis A. Kelly of Winfield.

THREE REPUBLICAN incumbents are unopposed for GOP freeholder nominations. They are Edward H. Titus of Cranford, Walter E. Ulrich of Rahway and Harry V. Osborne Jr. of Cranford.

GOP candidate Del Vecchio picks 2 campaign managers

Philip Del Vecchio, Republican candidate for the Springfield Township Committee this week announced the appointment of William F. Koonz and Fred L. Beneker as joint campaign managers in his bid for return to the governing body.

Koonz, of 110 universal way, was mayor of Springfield in 1965, and is completing his term as Township Committee member this year. Because of the pressures of his growing business, Koonz was unable to run for re-election. Del Vecchio is running for his seat on the committee.

Koonz is president of both W-F Associates and Aqua-Fall Irrigation Co., firms dealing in underground irrigation systems and landscape supplies for golf courses and institutional buildings.

Beneker, of 81 Morris ave., was the successful campaign manager for the local Republicans in 1964, when present Mayor Robert G. Planer and Township Committeeman Arnold Falkin resigned their seats, and in 1965, when Mayor Planer and Township Committeeman Robert D. Hargrove were elected.

Beneker is an executive with Swift & Co. He is Springfield's representative to the Bay-Way Valley sewage commission, and a member of the local Board of Health.

Del Vecchio, who served as mayor and Township Committeeman from 1961 through 1965, is announcing the appointment of Koonz and Beneker as his campaign managers. "I am delighted to have the help of Bill Koonz to assist me in my campaign for election to the Township Committee, just as he did in 1962 when I first ran for re-election. Along with Freddie Beneker, who successfully managed our recent local campaigns, I look forward to another successful campaign this year."

Annual fund drive of First Aid Squad nearing completion

The Springfield First Aid Squad fund drive chairman, Ed Street, reported this week that the "call-backs" (blue envelopes) come in through the mail as expected. The First Aid Squad will again complete its annual fund drive during the first part of September.

Street commented that well over 90 percent of the families in Springfield contribute annually to the First Aid Squad. Collection amounts vary, but generally are higher in the older, rather than the newer, sections of town. Residents there are more likely to have had personal contact with the services of the squad, he said.

The squad's announcement added: "Each evening of Labor Day weekend, about 25 uniformed squad members walked the streets of Springfield, ringing doorbells. At almost every house doors were opened wide, squad members were invited in, and appreciative words as well as donations were offered. All nine of the first-time fund drivers were overwhelmed by the general welcome. Usually there are fewer than 25 homes in town where people say 'we're not interested' and close the door brusquely."

"At one home a tearful woman came to the door with a newborn infant. The infant was to have her first bath. The woman was not equal to the task. The woman seemed so desperate that First Aid Squad member Rosalie Hettenbach ended up giving the infant her bath."

"At another home, squad member Gerry Harvey arrived just in time to administer to a nosebleed."

"At many homes, people said to the squad member, 'I remember you. You took care of me.'"

"First Aid Squad members sport blistered feet. Help them by mailing in your contribution if you were out of town or away for the day. The squad keeps records of each home at which residents were away; if they do not receive replies from these homes, they assume that the blue envelopes blow away."

"They then return to these homes, which necessitates spending even more time at collecting. Remember, these squad members are unpaid volunteers who spend hours each week at their avocation. Mail your contributions today."

Industrial wing of United Fund names captains

Max Weiss and Harvey A. Schramm, co-chairman of the Industrial Division of the United Fund of Springfield, announced this week the formation of their staff of captains for the solicitation of funds from industrial firms of Springfield during the fund-raising campaign in October.

The co-chairmen met with the captains last week and completed plans for this phase of the initial fund raising campaign of the United Fund of Springfield.

The team captains and their areas of responsibility are as follows:

- Team 1: Sidney Piller, Elkay Products Co.; Brunner, Mazouze.
- Team 2: Walter Sommers, Springfield Welding Co.; Commerce st. area.
- Team 3: J. Robert Dover, H. J. Rutesch Machine Co.; Fadem rd. area.

Art program for Springfield to be continued in fall months

An art class program offered this summer by the Springfield Association of Creative Arts in cooperation with the Springfield Township Recreation Department will be continued during the fall, it was announced this week.

During the summer, Springfield residents attended classes taught by professional teachers at the picnic area of the Community Pool. A sculpture class was held at the Springfield Recreation House at 59 Caldwell pl. A nominal fee was charged for lessons.

Mrs. Lillian Johnson of Springfield, sculptress and teacher, was in charge of a children's art class. Youngsters ranging in age from six and a half to 12 were taught paper mache, collage, water color, oil type crayoning, block printing, sketching and clay modeling.

Carl Burger, associate professor of art at Newark State College in Union, was in charge of a fine arts class for beginners and advanced students at the pool picnic area. The students, including two grandmothers, worked with oils, water colors, pastels, charcoal and other media.

Mrs. Helen Frank of Springfield, who recently had a one-woman show at the Usabak Gallery in New York, taught a quick-sketch class. Mrs. Johnson also conducted an evening adult sculpture class at the Springfield Recreation House. The group occupied two floors of the building, working with paper mache, clay modeling, plaster casting, plaster carving, wood carving and stone carving.

A showing of the summer's class work will be featured in a special section of the combined handicraft and photography show planned for October under the sponsorship of the Springfield Association of Creative Arts.

New meeting date

The Township Committee will meet Monday evening at 8 in the Planning Board room at the Municipal Building. The meeting was advanced from the usual Tuesday date to avoid conflict with the primary election which will take place on Tuesday.

6 boys in poker game give police full house

A sextet of teen-agers learned Sunday afternoon that there might be a time and place for everything, but they had been wrong in their choice of both time and place for a poker game. Springfield Patrolmen John Ganley and Ed Kisch arrested the six boys in the midst of a cash-on-the-line card game on the front steps of the Raymond Chisholm School.

The boys, aged 14 and 15, are Springfield residents, and one comes from Union. At police headquarters, they were turned over to their parents to await a hearing on charges of juvenile delinquency.

Cambodians don't care who wins in Vietnam

Rabbi Dresner reports on trip to jungle kingdom

By ABNER GOLD

The people of Cambodia have a completely neutral attitude toward the war in neighboring Vietnam; they don't like either side, and they don't care who wins. This is the report brought back by Rabbi Israel S. Dresner following a trip this summer to the remote jungle kingdom.

Rabbi Dresner, spiritual leader of Temple Shurey Shalom, Springfield, was a member of a fact-finding group sponsored by Americans Want to Know. The sponsoring organization, he comments, was formed recently to "check on the credibility gap" in areas overseas where there have been conflicting reports of matters relating to U. S. foreign policy.

The specific purpose of the trip to Cambodia, he states, was to determine whether Cambodian territory was being used as a sanctuary and supply route for Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers, to probe charges that U. S. and South Vietnamese planes had bombed Cambodian border villages, to determine whether good relations could be re-established between the U. S. and Cambodia, to verify charges that Cambodia is harboring a Communist satellite and to "see whether we could help to prevent further encroachment of the war into Cambodia."

"WE FOUND NO INDICATION," Rabbi Dresner declares, that Cambodian territory is being used by the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese. He stated that his group visited

ON THE SCENE -- Rabbi Israel S. Dresner of Springfield, center, is shown with a group of Cambodian Army officers during his tour of that country's border areas. Rabbi Dresner was part of an American group which visited Cambodia this summer to investigate charges and counter-charges that Cambodian neutrality is being violated by both sides in the Vietnamese war.

Garden supplies stolen

Paul Roman of 41 Colfax rd. last week reported to Springfield Police that a lock on a shed in his yard had been broken and a number of items stolen from the shed. He stated that the theft occurred between Aug. 19 and 22. Items stolen included a charcoal barbecue grill unit, a fertilizer and grass seed spreader, a hand lawn mower, three folding garden chairs, an electric hedge cutter and a portable, gasoline-powered saw. Roman estimated the total value of the missing items at $327.

Teen problems are not the same everywhere, according to town's young delegate at parley

Although young people are much the same everywhere, their specific problems and needs can vary considerably from one community to another. This is the impression Patricia Zabelski received as Springfield delegate at the recent New Jersey Youth Leadership Conference at the Apprenticeship Information Center in Newark.

Pat was named as a delegate by Mayor Robert C. Planer. She met with teen-agers from all parts of the state to discuss problems in such fields as education, health, youth employment, recreation and accident prevention.

After hearing comments from some 35 delegates, Pat adds, "I realized that our town has relatively minor problems. We have courses at our high school for all kinds of students, while many schools still have only prep courses, for everyone.

"We do need more recreation for teen-agers, especially in the summer. I believe that Mr. Ed Ruby, our recreation director, does a fantastic job with youth. He is well aware of teen-agers' problems, and very anxious to help us. The sports program for boys is particularly fine; both my brothers have benefited greatly from it."

THE YOUNG PEOPLE at the conference had several suggestions which should stir discussion. They urged abolition of age limits for the use of alcohol. "Teen-agers often drink because they think it makes them older," Pat comments. "In Europe, they have no age limits, and no teen-age drinking problem."

She adds, "In many of the towns, the delegates said, there is a problem with teen-agers who have to do 12 jobs. This leaves them no time to do their homework, and they are on the way to becoming school dropouts."

Pat, now a senior at Jonathan-Dayton Regional High School, says she knows of virtually no dropout problem in Springfield.

At Dayton, Pat is treasurer of the Future

Teachers Club and a member of her class policy committee. She is also in her fourth year as a page at the Springfield Public Library. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Zabelski of 59 Battle Hill ave.

Most of the work which led to her appointment by the mayor this summer was for the Westminster Fellowship of the First Presbyterian Church. Pat is president of the Fellowship, the church's youth group.

"We held a series of dances last year, starting with 30 people in attendance," Pat reports. "We ended with more than 300, and two bands playing."

She adds that several attempts were launched last year to improve the program for the town's teen-agers. "This summer, we were glad to have a dance at the town pool, but it was over at 10, which leaves many teen-agers at loose ends -- and then, to have all the neighbors complain about the noise."

DECIDING THAT it was up to them, Pat, Brad Smith and Ray Haines decided to do something about local recreational problems. They visited facilities and spoke to the recreation directors in Summit, Chatham, Madison, Millburn, Union and Cranford. Then they spoke to the Rev. Donald Weber, advisor to the Westminster Fellowship, and to Ed Ruby, township recreation director.

"Now we are making progress," Pat concludes. "We are working on possibilities of opening the schools for recreation more evenings, and of holding more dances at the various playgrounds in the summers."

Lady 'Revenuer' wins certificate

Marion O'Connor of 52 Tudor ct., Springfield, was recently given a Treasury Department Certificate of Award for her performance as a revenue agent in the IRS District Office in Newark.

The certificate, which was accompanied by a check, was presented by Joseph M. Shutz, director of the New Jersey IRS District. Miss O'Connor, who is an international issues examiner, is one of the few female revenue agents in the country who has earned a civil service grade 13 classification. Only about 10 percent of all revenue agents, regardless of sex, attain this grade, Shutz said.

Based on various studies, the "Journal of the New Jersey Optometric Association" reports that it can be safely estimated 25 percent of the American public school population are retarded in reading ability.

The orientation program for students entering Rutgers-Newark and Newark College of Engineering will take place at Camp Kamesha, Camp MacDonald and Edwood, all operated by the Newark Y.

New bill of fare at township library provides food for thought to suit varied reading tastes

Science and history; poetry and picture books, make up some of the Springfield Public Library's new bill of fare for this week. With comments by the library staff, they include:

"Parents' Guide to Science," by Edward T. O'Neil.

"Mathematics (the new kind), physics, chemistry, biochemistry, space, and other basic science fields are all introduced to parents in this book. The author affords parents how they can help awaken their children's interest in science through simple games and experiments, and shows how a few pennies spent at a local hardware store can provide more fun and learning than expensive educational toys."

"From Tsars to Commissars: The Story of Russian Revolutions," by Robert Graves.

"Love Respect," by Robert Graves.

"Forty new poems by the British poet, Robert Graves. The poet himself says his works that his '... main theme has been the practical impossibility, transcended only by a belief in miracles, of absolute love continuing between man and woman.'"

"History of Modern Poland," by Hans Roos.

"Palace in Bagdad; Seven Tales from Arabia," by J. R. Larson.

"From the exotic world of the Middle East come these seven legends and fables; a talking camel that can weave magnificent carpets, a dill-witted knight who casts his lot with a wicked sorcerer, a gaggle of geese whose mischievous ways create havoc in the court of the great caliph, and others. All of the stories are well illustrated."

"Palace in Bagdad; Seven Tales from Arabia," by J. R. Larson.

"From the exotic world of the Middle East come these seven legends and fables; a talking camel that can weave magnificent carpets, a dill-witted knight who casts his lot with a wicked sorcerer, a gaggle of geese whose mischievous ways create havoc in the court of the great caliph, and others. All of the stories are well illustrated."

Firemen respond twice during week. The Springfield Fire Department reported that all equipment responded to two fires in the past week. The first was at the home of Harry Smart, 36 Gates St. A contractor reportedly had started the fire while remodeling the basement. The fire was extinguished with a garden hose before the firemen arrived. An oven fire at the Aunt Jemima Pancake House on Morris Ave. had spread to the grill and duct work and was just reaching the attic when the engines arrived Monday at 7:10 p.m. The entire building was filled with heavy smoke. Fireman Siegfried Merzkbach was slightly burned by hot grease and received first aid treatment at the Fire House. Will discuss final plans. Final preparations for the North Jersey Rose Society's 12th Annual Rose Show will be discussed at an 8 p.m. meeting scheduled next Thursday at the First Methodist Church, Montclair. The Show will be held on Sept. 24 at the Colonial Life Insurance Building, East Orange.

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like the whole wide world

BY PAM COHEN

"Unfortunately as Americans we tend to evaluate other people and their problems by the standards of our industrial society which has been developing full blast for over 100 years," according to 18-year-old Jim Bender, a participant in the Herald Tribune Youth Forum which toured Europe this summer. Jim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bender of 21 Ann pl., Springfield, continued, "We learned through our stay in Yugoslavia that, although we may disagree with methods employed by the people to reach a given goal, our way is not always the best. Twenty years ago Yugoslavia was cleaning up from a blood-bath at the conclusion of the war and struggling to feed and clothe millions of people and develop a society which could be a mature member of the world of nations. Through the tension and hardship of the people are still very obvious, the people now for the first time are feeling the benefits of their development. This is seen through the educational system, the modernization of the cities and a relative prosperity which never before existed. The Herald Tribune Youth Forum is an international exchange which in winter brings students from all over the world to the United States. There is also the summer program in Europe for American students who take part in the winter forum.

LAST FALL Jim entered the competition to become an American delegate to the winter program. His presence in the semi-finals enabled him to participate in the summer program. According to Jim it was a "direct" educational experience made up of formal programs, free time and personal contact with the inhabitants.

A love for the late President John F. Kennedy and a desire to know the truth about the Negro's place in America were elements common throughout their seven-week tour. Somewhat on the lighter tone, Jim also noted the Madras clothes in the German stores and the American records played at a German discotheque. Jim commented, "As much as I learned about other people, their customs, their governments, their social and economical systems, I think my greater benefit from this experience was the development of an ability to better comprehend and objectively evaluate America's problems, as well as my responsibilities as an American citizen."

Following an orientation program at Sarah Lawrence College on July 7, the group left Kennedy Airport on a chartered flight to Paris. From there they traveled by train to Paris for a week's stay. According to Jim, their stopover was highlighted by Bastille Day, with dancing in the streets, fireworks over the city and a large-scale military parade.

Their French stay was one of the three requirements of educational travel—that of personal contact—in that Jim spent most of his time in Paris talking to people from all over the world.

NEXT THE GROUP travelled to Frankfurt, Germany by train, as they did throughout Europe. "We received a warm welcome from our host families. As students were impressed by two things:

(1) The frank attitude with which our host families approached World War II and their desire to openly discuss their recent history. Interestingly enough, our 16-member group was half Jewish, and yet none sensed any anti-Semitism.

(2) The Germans have a very realistic attitude toward the reunification of their country. They realize that armed conflict or a blind hope of a future reunification will never bring

JAMES BENDER

East and West Germany together; they do feel that it is impossible to kill the human spirit of freedom, and that someday with continued determination and hard work, the German people will be reunified."

Their only home stay was in Frankfurt, and there Jim was housed by an "upper middle class" family. His host brother was a 19-year-old bank apprentice. Jim stated, "There was somewhat of a language barrier with my host parents, but in spite of this there was a feeling of 'closeness.' Elsewhere members of the forum stayed at hotels and hostels, which were inexpensive student inns.

While they were in Germany formalized study was emphasized, and much time was spent in a series of discussions with government officials and people from the European Economic Community on problems of economic integration.

Then it was on to Salzburg, Austria, for three days in what Jim dubbed the "picture-postcard city." The Salzburg Music Festival highlighted their stay.

A week in Vienna included a lecture on Austrian history, a lecture on Freudian psychology from one of the directors of the clinic where Freud did most of his work, and a presentation of a Mozart opera in the theater where Mozart had given his first concert at age five. Jim felt the history lecture was particularly interesting as it was presented from the Austrian viewpoint.

TWO-AND-ONE-HALF-WEEKS were spent in Yugoslavia, where formal education and free time observations were most important. Zagreb, the first Yugoslavian city they visited, provided much time for economic discussion. "The idea was presented on almost every occasion of taking the best from east and west, socially, economically and politically. We learned of the nation's economic pressures, a development of a stronger workers' self-management system, and the introduction of a wage incentive system and small free enterprise."

Belgrade, the capital of Yugoslavia, also provided discussions on Yugoslavian political education, economics and literature. From here they journeyed to Dubrovnik, a resort on the Adriatic Sea, where they swam and attended the summer music festival. Jim attended an open-air presentation of "Don Juan" as well as a concert by the Belgrade Symphony. It was from Dubrovnik that the group traveled to Luxembourg and then took a chartered flight back home.

Jim indicated that there is a great emphasis on youth in Yugoslavia, as shown by the modern youth centers and the youthful musicians in the Belgrade Symphony.

Extremely impressed by the care people took for their property, Jim remembers that "even the poorest villages were brightened by floral decorations."

"Some censorship still exists in Yugoslavian literature, but it is decreasing," Jim asserted. He particularly commented on the rigid censorship involving criticism of the government.

In addition to being president of the Dayton Regional Student Council this past year, Jim also presided over Temple Shalom's youth group. He will enter Cornell this fall to major in engineering.

"People in other countries might speak a different language or eat their main meals at a different time of day, or believe in a different form of government, but they're still people trying to lead happy lives," Jim concluded.

Essex-Union unit plans first meeting

The Essex-Union Section of the New Jersey Association for Brain Injured Children will hold its first meeting of the fall season at 9:15 p.m. Tuesday at the Taylor Park Recreation House in Millburn.

The speaker will be Harold Kamens, chairman of the Tax Committee of the New Jersey Bar Association and lecturer at Fairleigh Dickinson University. His topic will be "Estimate Planning, Wills and Trust Funds." The Saturday play therapy program will resume for the third year on Sept. 17 at St. Stephen's Church, Main St., Millburn. The group, which meets from 1:30 to 4:40 p.m., is open to children between the ages of five and 15 with learning problems. It provides a program including arts and crafts, drawing, music, art, nature lore, outdoor play and sports.

Case schedules tests Nov. 5 for appointment to academies

Senator Clifford P. Case this week announced plans to hold Civil Service examinations on Saturday, Nov. 5, to assist him in selecting his nominees for the United States Air Force, Naval, Military (West Point) and Merchant Marine Academies, for the classes entering in the summer of 1967.

This examination is open to local residents of the State of New Jersey. All persons desiring to take the examination should write to Senator Case at Room 163, Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D. C., no later than Sept. 29, his office said.

Candidates for the U. S. Service Academies should be at least 17 years of age and must not have reached their 23rd birthday by July 1 of the calendar year in which they will enter one of the academies.

There will be two vacancies to be filled in the class entering the U. S. Air Force Academy in 1967. Senator Case said he plans to use the "Congressional competitive" method; that is, six candidates will be designated for each vacancy. Twelve candidates will then compete for these two vacancies, with the final decision being made by the Academic Board of the Air Force Academy.

There will be one vacancy to be filled in the class entering the U. S. Naval Academy in 1967. The same method will be used in filling this vacancy — six candidates will be nominated, with the Academic Board of the Naval Academy making the final selection.

The same method will be used in filling two vacancies at the Military Academy (West Point) in 1967. Twelve candidates will be nominated for these two vacancies, with the Academic Board of the Military Academy making the final selection.

Police end search as mad dog victim is located in Texas

Springfield police ended their two-week search for a traveler who had been bitten by a rabid dog in Texas and who was unaware that he needed medical treatment to save his life. Early on Sunday, however, word was received that the man had been found, still in Texas, in time for the vital series of injections.

The search began on Friday, when the following teletype message arrived from police in San Antonio:

"Attempt to locate for emergency message Vincent Kallen, white male, 40, thin build, dark complexion, partly bald, driving '55 or '56 white Chevrolet. Subject was living in Mexico, left Laredo, Tex., Aug. 30 on route to Springfield, N.J. Kallen was bitten on hand by rabid dog approximately two weeks ago, and it is unknown to him that dog was rabid, and the injury is so serious that subject be located for treatment. It is also requested that information be given radio stations in order that it may be broadcast on commercial radio, if possible."

Police Chief Wilbur C. Belander immediately launched an intensive hunt for Kallen, for whom treatment at once was the only means to prevent a particularly painful death. Police cars toured the township, broadcasting an appeal on their loudspeakers.

Members of the First Aid Squad passed the word along as they visited homes in their annual fund drive. Hasty drawn signs were posted in all large stores, and radio stations throughout the area also broadcast the message. Announcements were planned for Sunday morning in all local churches.

The efforts were halted following receipt of the following teletype message Sunday at 1:45 a.m.:

"Please cancel, as subject, Vincent Kallen, was located and taken to a local hospital. Thank you very much for the cooperation."

PS employees receive gold service emblems

Two Union men are among 16 employees of Public Service Electric and Gas Co. who completed 25 years of service with the firm this month and were presented gold service emblems.

They are William H. Sincow of 273 Monticello st., a lead dispatcher with the Load Dispatchers Department, General Office, Newark, and Alex Shumski of 2523 Doris ave., a line foreman with the Essex Division, Electric Distribution Department.

Driver hurt in mishap

Richard J. Fasnacht of 1568 Porter rd., Union, suffered a bloody nose last Wednesday after he crashed into a parked car owned by Mary Reilly of 1115 Falls ter., Union, while driving in that street at about 10:15 p.m. Police said he dropped a cigarette on the floor of his car and bent down to pick it up when the accident occurred.

Post Office exams planned in county

Examinations for full-time positions as clerk, carrier and mail handler in Post Offices in Union County will be given this month, according to an announcement from the Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners at Elizabeth.

Tests for clerk and carrier will be given Sept. 21 and 22 at the Plainfield Post Office and Sept. 23 and 24 at the Elizabeth Post Office. The positions carry a starting salary of $2.64 per hour.

A mail handler test will be given on Sept. 20 at the Elizabeth Post Office. Starting salary is $2.44 per hour.

The Civil Service Board reported that further information and necessary forms for applying can be obtained at all Post Offices or in Room 18 at the Main Post Office, 310 N. Broad st., Elizabeth.

UJC will conduct 2-day orientation beginning Tuesday

Union Junior College, Cranford, will conduct a two-day orientation program for all Day Session freshmen next Tuesday and Wednesday.

About 400 Day Session freshmen and 62 student nurses from Elizabeth and Perth Amboy General Hospitals are expected to attend the opening session at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the theater in the Campus Center. The speakers will include Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president; Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, dean; Prof. Hermann J. Blefeldt of Summit, chairman of the Academic Evaluation Committee; and Edwin Durand of Cranford, director of the Campus Center.

Highlights of the program will be the showing of the film, "I Wish I Knew That Before I Went to College," and a picnic at 12:30 p.m. in Nomahagan Park, opposite the Union Junior College campus. In the afternoon, representatives of the Student Council and the Interfraternal Council will review student activities and programs available at Union Junior College.

Dr. Henry Evans, associate director of admissions of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, will speak on Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in the theater on "Completing the Degree Program at Union Junior College." Other speakers will be George P. Lyne, admissions officer, Union Junior College, consulting officer, and Mrs. Robert Loary, financial aid officer.

Arne Hook of Rahway, president of the Student Council, will welcome the freshmen to Union Junior College, and Prof. Forrest P. Dexter Jr., of Cranford will preside.

Freshmen will take placement tests as required next Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

An orientation program for sophomores will be held next Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in the theater of the Campus Center on "Planning for Transfer." The speakers will be Theodore Strick of Newark State College at Union, Frank Grammer of Newark College of Engineering, Robert Blanton of Newark Rutgers and Robert Savoy of Stevens Institute of Technology.

In the afternoon, curriculum meetings will be held for sophomores majoring in engineering, science and business administration. Day Session classes will begin on Friday, Sept. 16.

HALF-PAST TEEN

Orientation starts at Junior College

The fall semester at the Union County Technical Institute started with an orientation session at Union Junior College, Cranford, yesterday for all full-time day-school students.

Most departments are filled with the exception of a few where last-minute changes have occurred. At present, there are some openings in the following departments: chemical technology, dental assisting and data processing assistant.

The data processing assistant course is a new program for the Institute starting this September. This is a one-year course of study to be offered at the Mobil Chemical Company, 16 Pearl St., Menchen. It is a joint program with the Institute where company facilities are used on a scheduled time basis.

The Institute graduated its first class in chemical technology this past June. All of the graduates obtained employment prior to graduation.

Any students who are interested in programs where openings exist should submit applications as soon as possible in order to be scheduled for aptitude testing. Institute officials said. Further information may be obtained by calling the school at 233-3300.

Drivers, beware of school children

When school bells ring not only must children readjust from the summer vacation, but motorists as well, warns the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company to help insure this vital cooperation:

FOR MOTORISTS:

- Use extra driving caution during hours when children are known to be traveling to and from school.
- Slow down when you see children walking or playing near the roadway ahead.
- Make it a standing rule to keep alert and travel more slowly in school areas and heavy residential districts during the school season.
- Give children on bicycles a wide berth.
- Be prepared to stop quickly when meeting or passing.
- Be alert to spot small children on tricycles, skates, scooters and similar vehicles.
- Never take a child's actions for granted. Always expect the unexpected.

FOR PARENTS:

- Give your children a refresher course in traffic safety as they start back to school.
- See that beginners are properly supervised until you are sure they have learned and will obey rules for safely using the streets and sidewalks to and from school.
- TEACH SMALLER children the following important safety rules:
 - Stop on curb, look both ways, and watch for turning traffic before walking across.
 - Cross only at proper crosswalks. If no crosswalks, personally show them the safest crossings to and from school.
 - On roadways, walk well to the side always facing traffic.
 - Always walk across streets when the way is clear; never dart into the street or run across.
 - Impress children with the need for obeying all traffic officers, school crossing guards, whether police, school safety patrol, or mechanical signs and signals.
- No playing in streets, alleys, or driveways into streets.
- No roller skating from sidewalks or driveways into streets.
- No hitchhiking rides on motor vehicles when cycling to or from school.

PARENTS SHOULD cooperate fully with police, teachers and Parent-Teachers Associations in all community activities aimed at child safety.

--Always set children an example of safety behavior by your own conduct when walking or driving on the streets.

Many motorists fail to realize how great their chances of hitting a school child really are, until they stop to think of the large number of children which each day use the streets on their way to and from school. In the vicinity of an average urban school this number ranges into the hundreds during certain hours of the day.

Family Life Today

By Dr. Mary B. Kievit
family living consultant
Rutgers-The State University

Generally a child does not suppress his impatience. It shows immediately and outwardly. Understanding the cause of your child's impatience and the intensity of his feeling should, therefore, guide your actions.

Johnnie may show displeasure because to a little child time passes slowly. Thus, if for example, you have been waiting for Johnnie to get a box of crayons to color his book, but you are in the midst of baking a pie, don't stop immediately. Nor should you scold him. Give him the crayons as soon as you can conveniently manage it. As Johnnie gets a little older, he will be able to display more patience. Meanwhile, turn a deaf ear to his impatience, especially when the baking will be done in five minutes or a little longer.

Children, like adults, sometimes show impatience when learning a new skill. Susie may be trying to learn to lace her shoes and be struggling to get the lace through the eyelet unsuccessfully. Soon she may scream and throw the shoe. At this point your child needs a little help. You may help her guide the lace through the hole by putting your hand on hers. Or perhaps you may forestall the operation by calling attention to something else. Then Susie will relax and give her fingers a chance to relax.

A third common cause of impatience among children is lack of consideration for others.

If Janie becomes impatient with Susie who is playing with one of her stuffed toys, she may grab the toy and push Susie to the floor. Remember, children are not born generous and considerate—they must learn and be taught by example. If you display courtesy and kindness in handling this type of impatience, it will help both you and both girls to become more patient. If possible, you may also try to provide similar toys for both children or suggest another activity as a substitute.

By thus trying to see the situation through the eyes of your child, you will gain a better understanding of how you should react to his impatience.

Memorial planned

The main lobby in Union Junior College's new Science Building will be dedicated as a memorial to Mrs. Charles Redden, who was selected by the Roselle-Cranford Chapter of Hadassah as the outstanding woman of Union County in 1958 for her efforts in behalf of education. The announcement was made this week by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, UJC president, and Mrs. Bernard Kott, chairman of the Mollie Redden Memorial Fund.

The entire proceeds of the fund have been turned over to Union Junior College for the memorial and additional contributions will be welcomed, Mrs. Kott said.

Mrs. Redden was president of the Board of Education of Union County Vocational and Technical Schools when she died on Sept. 3, 1964. A former member of the Cranford Board of Education, she was general chairman for Union Junior College's 25th anniversary convocation 1957.

A modernization study is pledged by candidate

Recommendations that Rutgers University Bureau of Government Research make a study of operations within the jurisdiction of the County Clerk with an eye toward modernization were pledged this week by Francis A. Kelly if he is elected as Regular Organization Democratic candidate to that post.

Many new techniques in record-keeping, accounting and other fields have been made in industry and government in the almost half-century the incumbent has held the post, Kelly said. He emphasized that he means no reflection on the retiring County Clerk, but feels strongly that anyone new coming into the office should make a close re-study of the operation.

Another point on which Kelly pledges an all-out effort is the widening of mobile and night-registration of voters. "We are losing out in our continuing battle to have the full vote," he said.

Main office opening set in campaign

Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-N.J.) stepped up her campaign organizing efforts by announcing she will open headquarters for the new 12th District Congressional campaign in Plainfield on Saturday, Sept. 17.

She also announced the appointment of four associate campaign managers in the Union County portion of the new district as well as a coordinator to work with both Union and Essex branches of her campaign committee.

Earlier, the appointment of former Assemblyman William H. Everett of West Caldwell as associate campaign manager for the Essex County section of the new district was announced by Mrs. Dwyer.

Campaign headquarters, Congresswoman Dwyer said, will be located in Room 202 at 40 Somerset St., Plainfield.

Mrs. Dwyer invited area residents to "come by and say hello on the seventeenth."

Allen states opposition to build-up in Vietnam

Dr. Robert E. Allen, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 12th District, this week took issue with reported plans coming from military strategists for a build-up of American troops in Vietnam to "about 600,000 in the next 18 months."

"Such a move, in my opinion," Allen said, "would double our present commitment, and would represent the greatest escalation since we became involved. It would swell the mounting casualties and destruction, would extend the conflict for years to come, and could very well be the straw that would bring China into the conflict on a large scale."

Dr. Allen said that "what we need now is a cease fire, not escalation."

Citing a poll taken in Ohio last month by Rep. Charles A. Mosher in which 68.3 percent expressed the opinion that the United States should "try harder for peace negotiations," Dr. Allen voiced his belief that similar sentiment exists in New Jersey. "My own sampling of opinion in the last month, since I received the Democratic nomination," he asserted, "indicates a similar trend in our District."

Discussing the sentiment in Ohio of 63.7 of those polled that the Vietcong should participate in peace negotiations with the U.S., Dr. Allen said that this was elementary to any serious effort to end the war in Vietnam around the conference table. "How else can we expect to terminate this conflict through negotiations, if we refuse to sit down with the very group against whom we are engaged in battle?"

Dr. Allen said that the fact that 54.4 percent in Ohio answered "yes" to the question "Was it a mistake for the U.S. to get so deeply involved in the war?" fortifies his conviction that we should bend every effort to rectify this mistake, before we proceed to a point of no return."

Ask Amy

I married my husband for two reasons: First, I loved him and second, while he was courting me, he seemed to always have enough money for everything. So I assumed that he made a good living.

Nine months after marriage, I have found out how he comes by his "good living." "Though he has a modest job and actually makes an average wage (150 a week), it's what he does with his pay check that I feel is dishonest the raffles it off every payday at two dollars a ticket to 150 men, and consequently, he brings home several hundred dollars a week.

The sure that if his employers ever found out about this, he would be fired. I've talked to him, but he insists that he is doing nothing wrong. Amy, am I picking on him for nothing or should I just keep on it?

The Straw Hat's Wife
You're in trouble. You're not making that extra buck in the most honest way ever heard of. However, he is conducting a lottery which is illegal. It's necessary to call the aid of your attorney to inform him of the penalties for such an offense. But stop him, before your honeymoon cottage turns out to be separate quarters in the county jail.

Dear Amy:
About that teenager who has a temper problem: In an article I read, a few wood relaxers were given. This was sort of silly, but I tried it when I got mad and it worked. All you do is fill a cereal bowl with water and ice cubes. Then you tack your face into the water and

Twenty-Second in A Series
ISRAEL CONTINUED

Of all the countries on our Study Mission trip, Israel seemed the least popular—the least sociable—for our group. And that seems more of a story than Israel.

In asking the reasons for it, I came across dead silence to full blossomed grades. Some of our tour guides on the trip were Israelis, but some were not—and did not want to talk about it. Others felt strongly against the country's creation and some of its actions, and said so. Still others did not care one way or the other, but did not approve of some of the Israeli policies as well as some of the U. S. policies on Israel, and debated the matter quietly with each other.

Many more were annoyed at the continuous blame put upon Americans for Israel by the Arabs. One woman voiced it when she said to a Jordanian, "We are tired of being blamed for Israel. We are not responsible for Israel. Zionists of the U. S. give private help, yes, but not all-Americans. It is not a U.S. mission but a private contribution and Israel is not the U. S."

One man was strangely disgusted by the fact that perhaps Israel did not appreciate U. S. aid. But they do, our Embassy told us. They are grateful and they do appreciate it most. They know they need help and use it intelligently and honestly. Money goes where it is supposed to go and there is no scandal. U. S. aid consists of dollars, food and equipment. No technical assistance is needed.

PERHAPS IT ALL really was only Tel Aviv, for Tel Aviv is a strange disappointment, and that is where we stayed. But Tel Aviv, with all its reputation of being a spanking, modern, beautiful city, looked remarkably unspanking, unmodern and unbeautiful. And it was a let-down.

I had come to the conclusion that Israelis do not like to garden. I did not see one pretty garden or one well-manicured lawn anywhere. At Tel Aviv there was a park near our hotel and it had grass and trees, but they looked uncared-for. There was a new Hilton Hotel next door and all around its front, side and rear were bushes of "rubus," mums and other flowers. The hotel had been completed four months previously.

Even the shops I saw were a surprise. I needed only toothpaste, and usually that, in many modern American brands is available in big cities in bright, new stores all over the world. In Tel Aviv all I could find was Kolyan—a very dingy chemist shop.

Well, our tour was limited. I saw only Jerusalem, Tel Aviv, Jaffa, Caesarea, Haifa and Acre and stayed only four days, so perhaps that was the problem.

IN OUR TOUR OF ISRAEL, we went from Jerusalem to Tel Aviv to Haifa and back to Jerusalem in one afternoon. It is a scenic drive. Leaving Jerusalem one travels down a mountain, for Jerusalem is on a high plateau, then into a "forested area" and then a farming area and thence to the sea and Tel Aviv. This was always the green growing section of Palestine and still is, except now the country is called Israel. The Negev Desert in the southern half of the country is the balky one. The Israelis, however, have succeeded in taming parts of it with farming and the discovery of some minerals there.

From Tel Aviv on another day, we drove to the "bus again," northeast to Caesarea, Haifa and Acre. Caesarea, south of Haifa and Acre, north of Haifa, are ancient cities with old ruins. Caesarea as a matter of fact, has almost nothing but ruins and lies directly on the beautiful sea. Acre contains Phoenician, Crusader and several other ruins of civilizations piled one upon the other with a living city on top of it and it sits on the sea. We went into one old building and INSIDE went down into ruins of the Crusader age. Outside again we walked through alleys of perhaps Roman vintage and saw television antennae of modern vintage outlandishly straddling the antique houses.

Haifa is the home of Technion, the Israel Institute of Technology, the MIT of the Middle East—and it is a jolly city with a lovely bay and busy port. It seemed pricier than Tel Aviv.

A FEMININE LOOK

At the Mediterranean Basin
(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission)

At Jerusalem we saw the Dead Sea Scrolls, which are now housed in a new building in the shape of a scroll. Adjacent to it is a large garden donated by Billy Rose and designed by a Japanese artist.

"We met the mayor of Jerusalem when we arrived in Jerusalem and the U.S. Ambassador at Tel Aviv. The mayor said that James Meheenan's book, 'The Source' is a fairly accurate account with only the names being changed. The Ambassador, who has a reputation for not saying much, upheld his reputation and said, 'I can't say much except to say hello, for I must be off to Jerusalem.' And he was off to Jerusalem. Members of the staff continued for him however, and to the question 'Who are the Arabs?' the Ambassador replied that 'the Arabs here are better off economically than in Syria, Jordan, Iraq, etc.' Arabs have money, the same rights before courts, can vote and hold office. They have a military registration to control movements but there is little segregation. The Arabs have free access to the universities. (But the universities teach in Hebrew). Some Arabs in Jordan had said, however, that there was a goodly bit of discrimination and it was 'difficult to get on' in Israel. We were not taken to an Arab area in Israel on a tour, nor did we meet an Arab privately in our wanderings, so we did not get to ask the Israel Arabs themselves.

At a dinner meeting with some Jewish officials the question was put, 'Is Israel very orthodox?' "Changes are quite considerable," the speaker replied. "Not many Israelis are strict about diet, for instance, but the big hotels, which are inspected by a board of health particularly for the tourists and their picture of Israel, keep to the food rules. People coming from Europe or the U. S. tend to be more orthodox for they have a particular reverence toward Israel and are impressed with it."

WHEN WE WERE IN JERUSALEM we visited the University of Jerusalem. "The Hebrew University here at Jerusalem," our guide said, "is exactly the same as the religious University in Tel Aviv, except at Jerusalem two plus two makes four, while at the religious school at Tel Aviv, two plus two, THANK GOD, makes four."

The University is on a new campus built in 1953. The old one is in an area where the Israelis must go through Arab territory, and so it is empty. There are 12,000 students, 1,400 teachers and two other campuses. Foreign students number 700, and they have a special problem here: Israel all schools are taught in Hebrew and that means that for the foreign students, therefore, some urgent courses, medicine say, are given in English for the first two years, but after the end of the two years, the student must have learned Hebrew in order to continue.

One professor at the technical university at Technion, one professor who has been an architect in Tanganyika (now Tanzania) was taught at Technion in Haifa. "He might not be the only architect in Tanganyika now," the professor said, "but he'd be the only Hebrew-speaking architect in Tanganyika."

Although there are no American students at Technion, one professor who has been an architect in Tanganyika (now Tanzania) was taught at Technion in Haifa. "He might not be the only architect in Tanganyika now," the professor said, "but he'd be the only Hebrew-speaking architect in Tanganyika."

Apparently they are good, for Israel has a problem which it calls "The Brain Drain." Five to seven percent of its graduates go abroad, and Israel, "hates to see them go for it could use them."

But as the orchestra leader at the Hilton, a rough ex-Yugoslavian, said to some of us who enjoyed his music, "Come back soon, Mountain Area, meet, but people don't change they will return."

Museum draws 226,000

New Jersey's State Museum opened its new facilities last October and served more than 226,000 visitors in its first eight and a half months of operation. Attracting the state's residents to the modern cultural complex in Trenton, are constantly changing programs, natural history displays, planetarium programs and other varied offerings.

Included among the exhibitions are photography, decorative art, handicraft, sculpture and painting displays. Natural history displays show the mammals, birds, reptiles, rocks and minerals of New Jersey.

Rabbi Dresner

border areas allegedly used by fleeing Viet Cong troops. "Our findings are obviously not definitive," Rabbi Dresner comments. "We have to be ready to support these charges. Armed units would have to leave camp-fires and other traces of their presence. We found nothing."

"We also checked an alleged supply route. The heavy trucks needed to carry supplies would also leave evidence of their passage. If we found nothing, these alleged highways are largely impassable to heavy vehicles."

The local rabbi reports that his group did find specific evidence of U. S. bombings of border villages. He states, "We were in villages which had been bombed only a few hours earlier. We saw children burned by napalm bombs. We saw the body of a pregnant woman shot by machine gun from a helicopter; at such close range she could not possibly have been mistaken for an enemy soldier."

"The border lines are admittedly not clearly defined, but the architecture of the buildings was so peculiar that U. S. pilots could not have been making a mistake. Cambodians build their homes on stilts; Vietnamese do not."

On relations between the U. S. and Cambodia, Rabbi Dresner comments, "The people, villagers and ruling officials, were all very friendly. We had free rein of the country."

"PRINCE SHANOLK, head of the government, told us that he is very eager to reestablish diplomatic relations, once the U. S. recognizes his nation's borders and stops bombing Cambodian villages."

"He is opposed to American intervention in the Vietnamese war. His attitude is that we are free to spend all the guns we want, but not to send our troops to fight in Vietnam as a continuation of French colonialism."

"The people there truly do not care who wins the war. They feel that the Vietnamese will have to solve their own problems, as the Americans did after our own Civil War a century ago.

"Cambodians have an 800-year-old tradition of enmity toward all Vietnamese, South and North. They would not do anything to help any Vietnamese of any variety."

On accusations of growing Communist influence, Rabbi Dresner notes that Cambodia does not border any Communist countries. Her neighbors are neutralist Laos and pro-Western South Vietnam and Thailand.

He adds, "Communist policies are unlikely on the part of a ruling royal dynasty, Prince Sihanouk and his officials are certainly not pro-Communist."

"Of course, they know they must live with Communist China as a fact of life. There are some Chinese technical advisors in the country, but there are more French. The only military mission in Cambodia is French. The country has good relations, all quite normal, with China, and with France, Australia and Russia."

HOPES OF PREVENTING further escalation of the war, Rabbi Dresner says, "were hurt by the U. S. bombings during our visit. The Cambodians want only to maintain their neutrality as a non-aligned country. They are quite nationalistic, and they stress their own national interests. They are happy to accept economic aid from the U. S., or any other country, but only if there are no strings attached."

"The two basic requirements for peace in Vietnam. The first is that the U. S. must recognize the national Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, as factor in any negotiations."

"The second is that the U. S. must prepare to withdraw its troops from Vietnam. They realize this cannot happen overnight, but stress that the American must be prepared to withdraw as part of a genuine neutralization of the entire area, both North and South Vietnam, as well as Laos, Cambodia and Thailand."

SPRINGFIELD (N.J.) LEADER Thursday, Sept. 8, 1966-11

Methodists resume worship services Sunday morning

Identical services of divine worship will be resumed by the members of Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church Sunday, at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Pastor James Dewart has announced that the second service will begin at 11 a.m. this year, urging members to note the change from last year's schedule. He will begin a series of sermons this Sunday on "The Basis of Decision" entitled his first sermon "What Is Your Ultimate Loyalty?"

Church School sessions will also reopen this Sunday at 9:30 a.m. There has been a change in location of several of the classes. Grades one through six will be located on the ground floor of the Church Building in the Mundy Room, with the Junior High meeting this year on the third floor of the Christian Education Building. The nursery for three-year-olds and the kindergarten are located on the first floor of the Education Building, with the Senior High and Adult Classes meeting in the Springfield Public Library.

The early service of divine worship is held in the Trinity Chapel on the second floor of the Education Building, at 9:30 a.m., while the German language services are conducted by Emanuel Schwing, local preacher, in the Sanctuary.

Youth Fellowships will resume their meetings this Sunday with a picnic scheduled for the Junior High in the afternoon, and the Senior Highs meeting, at 7 p.m., in the Trinity Chapel.

The official board will meet at 8 Tuesday evening, in the Mundy Room.

ALL ABOUT PEOPLE

by GENE ROSENFELD

ELGENE TIRE CO.

I COULD HAVE DANCED ALL NIGHT... or so the favorite song goes... and for a turn or two on the floor most everyone we know likes to dance. The Waltz, Tango, Foxtrot, Fox Trot, Big Apple, Go Go or what have you. To each his (her) own, but dance a while it is. Some people however like to dance more than others, so much so that they make it their lifetime occupation. Imagine if you will how much you would pay to learn to be a good dancer... Our man of the week took time out to figure the answer to the question, "How many... Murry Telenum, born on April 4, 1895. Murry figured that the more you want to dance, and the better you want to dance, the more you, or anyone, should be willing to pay. After paying a nominal amount to learn the fundamental dances you are in a position to enroll in the "Gold Medal Course" at a cost of $9,000.00... Yes we said $9,000.00. After completing this course you may now enroll in the "Lifetime Course" at a cost of $7,300.00... yes we said $7,300.00... The finished product? Certainly not. You may now enroll for an additional "Lifetime Executive Course" at a mere cost of $12,000.00... quite an amount to learn to dance and quite a bit for Murry to report on his tax return... like it? Then contact Murry, more commonly known as Arthur Murry. We're no expert on dancing, but when it comes to New or Old-Fashioned Dances we're more than qualified to give you recommendations if New tires are needed. Stop down and see us, we're on Milltown Road (between Morris Ave. and Route 22) opposite Farcher's Grove. Make it a definite point to see us real soon.

State Library establishes program

The Bureau of General Reference of the State Library has established a section for statewide reference and referral, according to Roger H. McDonough, director of the New Jersey State Library.

A first step in the implementation of this program is the establishment of free telephone reference service to area reference libraries and local libraries not served by either area or county libraries. The special number may be reached by dialing "operator" and asking for 609-292-6282 collect. The collect service is available for reference questions only.

Hospital management course will be extended by Rutgers

Rutgers University announced this week that "growing demands" for its hospital management courses has made it possible to extend the State University's Hospital Management Certificate Program to Newark beginning with the opening of the fall term, Sept. 21.

Introduced in 1962 in Paterson in co-operation with the Hospital Council of Passaic, the Extension Division's Hospital Management Program, one of the first in the country, has been expanding steadily with increasing offerings at additional locations. It is now available in Camden, Newark, New Brunswick and Paterson in co-operation with the New Jersey Hospital Association.

The large courses at Newark will be in principles of management and hospital administration I on Wednesdays from 6:15 to 7:55 p.m., and nursing floor management, also on Wednesdays, from 8:05 to 9:45 p.m. The Paterson offerings include the principles course on Tuesdays from 6:15 to 8:10 p.m., hospital accounting, also Tuesdays, from 8:30 to 10 p.m., and medical terminology, Wednesdays from 8:20 to 10 p.m.

The hospital courses available in New Brunswick include nursing floor management, 8:15 to 10:05 p.m., and hospital finance, 6:15 to 8:05 p.m., on Mondays; public health and hospitals, 6:15 to 8:05 p.m., and effective communication and report writing from 8:15 to 10:05 p.m., on Wednesdays.

The Rutgers Hospital Management Program is designed to increase the administrative, management and technical skills of hospital personnel from assistant head nurses to assistant hospital administrators. Training is provided in management, communications, accounting and medical care techniques. Students may enroll for the certificate or special courses needed in their work.

Applicants should be high school graduates. Those enrolling for the certificate program must have the approval of Rutgers administrators and the hospital advisory committee in the area where they are studying.

Details may be secured by calling or writing a Rutgers Extension Division office. Offices are located at 601 Broad St., Newark, telephone 621-1766; 35 College Ave., New Brunswick, 247-1766; 80 Hamilton St., Paterson, 684-4882; and 436 Penn. St., Camden, 964-1766.

Scout Troop ends 2-week camp trip; 69 badges earned

To culminate a summer of scouting activity the Boy Scouts of Troop 70, Springfield, have returned from a two week's camping expedition at Camp Kernochan, Ten Mile River Scout Camps, Narrowsburg, N.Y.

During their stay, the scouts earned 69 merit badges and eight partial badges, and all were able to advance at least one rank in scouting. Other features were the building of a permanent bridge over a stream, erosion control and animal shelter projects. The troop also placed first in the campwide aquatic competition.

The boys were led by senior patrol leader Michael Burns and assistant senior patrol leader Mark Hurwitz. Scouts attending this long-term trip were: Michael Klein, Ken Merser, Eric Bergman, Michael Joyner, Vincent Burns, Daniel G. Olin, Gary Newman, Paul Cooperman, Robert Vaughn, Peter Newman, Seth Malovany, Alan Gerber, Harry Warman, Richie Oslan and James Wellen. Adult supervision was furnished by the scoutmaster, Murry Harwitz.

The Ten Mile River trip was the climax of an active summer during which Troop 70 met every week. Week-end camping trips to Lake Minisink in the Pennsylvania State Forest, Pocono Mountains, and a "Robinson Crusoe" week-end on Sedge Island in the Shrewsbury Inlet, as well as refreshment service at the Township Fourth of July celebration were other highlights.

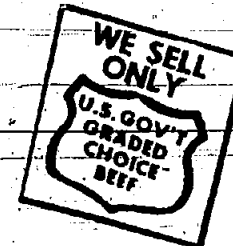

Four of the troop's scout leaders, Michael Burns, Mark Hurwitz, Harry Warman, and Richie Oslan returned from the council scout expedition at Philmont Scout Ranch, New Mexico, in time to join the troop at camp. Troop 70 is sponsored by the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, and normally holds its meetings on Thursday evenings at 7:30 at the Caldwell School. They would welcome "any boys, 11 to 14, who are genuinely interested in becoming Boy Scouts and enjoying the rugged road of scouting."

New term begins at Willow School

Willow School for emotionally disturbed children began its new term Tuesday at the Community Service Center, 692 Bayway, Elizabeth.

Sponsored by the Union County Association for Mental Health, the school takes in children from three to seven years of age. It operates on a full-time basis, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., five days a week.

Tuition fees are based on a sliding scale. The major source of funds for the school is the Union County Association for Mental Health. Additional funds have been made available by the Board of Chosen Freeholders for the balance of this year to supplement the "final grant" from the state.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Barbara Solook, chief psychiatric social worker at the Union County Psychiatric Clinic, Plainfield 6-6870, or Benjamin S. Ezinger, executive director of the County Association for Mental Health, 278-8555.

Yellin resolution offers sympathy

The Union County Heart Association has adopted a resolution of sympathy in connection with the death of Dr. Charles Yellin, a long-time member of its board. Dr. Yellin died Aug. 25.

"We deeply mourn our friend and dedicated board member, and dedicate ourselves to a cause to which he dedicated his life," the resolution said. "The officers and members of the Union County Heart Association extend their most heartfelt sympathy to his wife and family."

The resolution was signed by Dr. Harold Wasserman, president, Dr. Charles Lomack, president-elect, Alex Sladkus, chairman of the board and Henrietta Froelich, executive director.

LOADED CAR The vegetation-bound car is "loaded" with luggage and more passengers than usual, adding to the driver's distractions. Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies relates.

Three elderly sisters hear again thanks to Overlook operations

Three sisters, who have not heard each other or the sound of any natural voice from 25 to 38 years respectively, are back in the world of communication as a result of a series of delicate ear operations performed at Overlook Hospital in Summit.

Mrs. Mary Hansen of Orange, 64 years old and deaf for the last 25, was sister No. 1 to undergo the first lengthy, delicate operation called stapedectomy, two years ago. This operation restores hearing in the type of deafness called otosclerosis. In this condition the stapes, a tiny bone of the middle ear becomes atrophied or hardened, stopping the transmission of sound. It is removed and replaced with a sound-conductive material by means of an operation performed through the ear canal with minute instruments guided by the aid of a binocular microscope which permits

Newark marriage of Miss Rozansky to Warren Singer

MRS. WARRREN SINGER
Miss Rish Rozansky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rozansky of Berkeley rd., Springfield, was married Sunday, Aug. 28, to Warren Singer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Singer of Clayton pl., Newark.

Rabbi David Freedman officiated at the ceremony held at the Clinton Manor in Newark, where the reception followed.

Gail Fogel and Joyce Singer, sister of the groom, served as brides attendants. Marvin Rozansky, the bride's brother, was best man. Ushers were Jay Yarnold, Murray Rozansky, Michael Gorkow, Sanford Epstein, Alexander Rich and Richard Lohrlich.

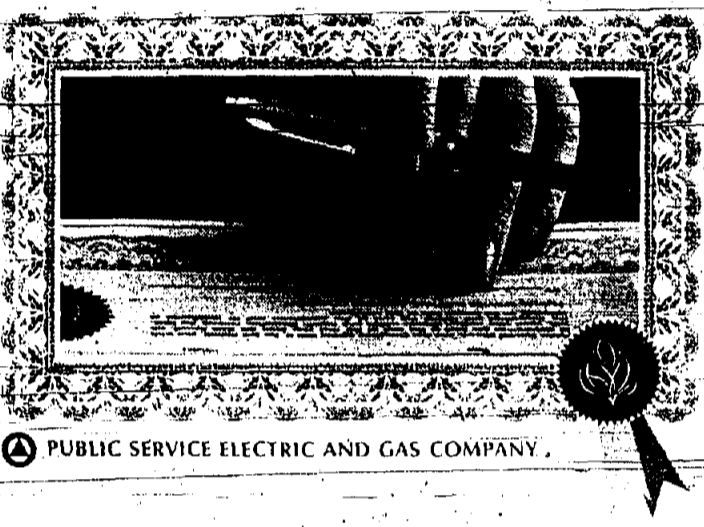

The bride and groom are alumni of Weequahic High School. Mrs. Singer was graduated from Jersey City State College, where she majored in mathematics. She taught in the West Orange school system last year. Mr. Singer is attending the College of Emporia in Kansas, where the couple will temporarily reside.

Start seventh year at nursery school

Holy Cross Christian Nursery School, 639 Mountain ave., Springfield, began its seventh year of operation yesterday as a group of children was welcomed by Mrs. Joseph Fogarty, head teacher, Mrs. Edwin Crump, assistant, and Pastor K. J. Stumpf, director.

Fully approved by the Township of Springfield and the New Jersey State Department of Education, the school offers a program of guidance and training for pre-school children of all faiths. Every effort is made by the staff to help the pupil adjust from the limited environment of the home to his responsibilities as a member of a group, Pastor Stumpf said.

The interior facilities, as well as the outdoor playground offer scientific educational equipment to the children. To round out the program, the school also provides early training for the boys and girls in the Christian faith and life.

Sessions are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Enrollment is open to children of all faiths, three- and four-year olds. Openings are still available for the current term. Those desiring further information may call the church office; 379-1525 or 635-4957.

Holy Cross Lutheran slates Christian education program

Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 639 Mountain ave., Springfield, will launch a Christian education program next week for all ages and interests. The Sunday School will observe its annual Preparation Day Sunday, at 9:30 a.m. Children who have passed their third birthdays may be enrolled in the Nursery Class. All children in the eighth grade or below are to assemble in the nave of the church for opening devotions at 9:30 a.m., after which each child will be assigned to his new teacher, and then proceed to the normal class location. The teachers, assistant teachers, and Sunday School officers will be installed in Sunday's church service at 10:45 a.m. A coffee in honor of the teachers will be held for everyone present after the service. Beginning on Sept. 18, the High School Bible Class and the Adult Bible Class will begin full study series, and a new pastor's Adult Inquiry Class will begin a 12-week course. The Rev. K. J. Stumpf, pastor of Holy Cross, explained, "Anyone who wishes to advance further into the Christian faith or to receive instruction for the purpose of becoming a member of Holy Cross Church is invited to attend."

On Wednesday afternoon, at 1:30 p.m., the ladies' Bible hour will begin a full discussion series with a study of the Acts of the Apostles. This Bible traces the history of the early days of the Christian church from Pentecost through the period of persecution and the spreading of the gospel to other regions. During this hour, a baby-sitter is available. An evening Bible class for men is being scheduled for early October.

An orientation meeting will be held on Friday, Sept. 16, at 7:30 p.m. for children entering the seventh grade and eighth grade who wish to receive confirmation instruction in preparation for church membership. Their parents are also expected to attend. The first-year class will meet on Monday and the second year class on Tuesday, both at 4 p.m.

Further information about any of these programs may be obtained by phoning 379-4525 or 376-3720.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

When a given situation must be resolved, it sometimes happens that courage is a far greater asset than physical strength.

When the popular attitude is not necessarily the proper attitude, those who would stand alone, or with the minority, must not be weak of heart or short of faith.

To be right, rather than to be popular, is a constant challenge. It is the nature of man to seek approval of his contemporaries.

The answer is faith. One must believe in God and in the principles of Christianity. If there is such belief, it is the source of lasting courage and endurance.

CHILD SAFETY WEEK

SEPT. 7-14

SCHOOL'S IN...KIDS ARE OUT...DRIVE SAFELY!

ALERT motorists everywhere, drive a bit more carefully at all times, watch the roads and curbs a bit more closely, in order to protect the precious lives of children going to and from school!

Here Are Some Other Ways YOU Can Help

- Be sure that your car is mechanically safe. Check brakes, steering, light, wheel balance and alignment, tires at frequent intervals.
- Watch out for School Zone signs and adhere strictly to the speed restrictions in these areas.
- Watch out for and obey school safety patrolmen.
- Never pass a school bus loading or discharging passengers.
- Watch for children darting out into the street. In fact, watch out for children EVERYWHERE and ALL the time!
- Remember: children are unpredictable. Their safety is YOUR responsibility. When in doubt...STOP!

Arthur Leifer, president-elect, will preside at the meeting, which will be preceded by a coffee hour.

Dr. Max A. Sobel of Montclair State College will deliver the opening address on the topic, "Teaching Mathematics Today for the World of Tomorrow." Group meeting will be held at various grade levels following the speeches.

Winans-Kirschner engagement is told

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Ellen Phyllis Winans, daughter of Mrs. Edward Winans of 33 Swarthmore rd., Linden, and the late Mr. Winans, to Mr. Martin Kirschner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kirschner of Union.

Miss Winans, who attended Secon Hall University, is employed at Quadrel Brothers, Railway.

Her fiancé who attended Newark College of Engineering, is a senior at Fairleigh Dickinson University.

A June wedding is planned.

Reibers note milestone

Mr. and Mrs. Hy Reiber of Debra way, Union were given a surprise dinner party by their daughter, Barbara, and a group of their friends, at Townley's Restaurant, on Aug. 28, in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

They also have a son, Pic Jeffrey, who is in the Army with the Third Infantry Division, stationed in Germany.

Auxiliary holds a board meeting

A planning board meeting was held recently by the members of the Michael A. Kelly Post and the Ladies Auxiliary, 2433 W. 17th St., Union. Plans were discussed for joint social affairs to be held this coming year.

The Ladies Auxiliary will meet tonight at 8 at a home. Plans for the card party to be held Oct. 4 by the auxiliary will be discussed. All members are asked to attend.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the 5th district department of New Jersey VFW will hold a carnival party at the Lyons Veterans Hospital Saturday morning at 10. For additional information, Mrs. Thomas Kennedy, president, may be contacted.

Members are requested to make their reservations for the auxiliary's birthday party dinner by Sept. 15, which is the deadline for tickets.

'Who's Afraid Of Virginia Woolf?' 'shattering' experience to audiences

You come away from "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" feeling like you've just run a mile. You also come away with a new respect for Ed Taylor.

You're enraptured because you've just watched a middle-aged couple claw at each other with every cruel weapon they have honed to a razor's edge over a long years of practice.

And you look at Mrs. Richard Burton with new eyes because, in what must be one of the most strenuous roles in the history of drama, she measures up to the impeccable family name; she gained weight, let her hair be streaked with gray and her violet eyes be circled with three shadows, while sunbathing up a depth of portraiture that we thought had been lost forever shortly after "National Velvet."

Actor plays eight roles in Palace Cinema film

"Impossible on Saturday," a joint production by Meyer Frimkes, Ted Aviv, and Adonis Films, Paris, started its second week at the Palace Cinema, Orange.

The story is basically about an international successful Jewish-American head and his family. Photographically, it shows a background of modern Tel Aviv, and many other points of interest in Israel.

"Impossible on Saturday" has been acclaimed by the B'nai B'rith committees in New York and Los Angeles. The Board of Rabbis in New York City, which is perhaps the highest group of its kind in the United States, has given it its endorsement.

The Foreign Press Association in Hollywood is nominating "Impossible on Saturday" as one of the best foreign films to be shown here in 1966.

Harsh portrays eight different roles in the film. They include an 83-year-old orchestra leader, and live of his sons, each of them with a separate national identity. His performance as a German woman who masquerades as a man is the highlight of the picture.

"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" current attraction at the Essex Green Cinema, West Orange, the Hollywood Theater, East Orange, the Millburn Theater, Millburn, and the Regent Theater, Elizabeth, is the love-hate story of Martha and George. She is a college faculty wife, bored with her plodding professor of a husband, bored with their middle-class existence, bored with their middle-class campus house, bored with all with her self. George is her placid, intellectual spouse who could be quite content with his place in education if Martha weren't continually needing him on to seek a higher faculty status.

The film, like the prize-winning Edward Albee play before it, capsules the couple's relationship into a few brief hours between midnight and dawn.

It starts out in low key, with Martha and George strolling homeward over shadowy campus grounds. On arriving, however, Martha informs her weary husband that their socializing isn't finished, that she has invited a couple new to the college over for a drink.

A young man, George reflects, "It figures," he says, and that sounds the bell for the opening round. The first jobs have already landed when the newcomers—slightly played by George Segal and Sandy Dennis—arrive.

By party's end, the devastation launched by Martha and George—with vocabulary to

ON CLAIRIDGE SCREEN — Rita Tushingham is shown a book of poems written by "Doctor Zhivago," by Alex Guinness. In film of the same title, continuing for a 10th week at the theater in Montclair. Also in the MGM color spectacular are Geraldine Chapman, Julie Christie, Tom Courtenay, Stephen McKenna, Ralph Richardson, Omar Sharif as Zhivago and Rod Steiger, Carlo Ponti produced the picture and David Lean directed.

'Born Free' now on double bills in Stanley, Sanford

A double bill, "Born Free" and "Heroes of Telemark," is now showing at the Stanley Theater, Newark, and the Sanford Theater in Irvington.

"Born Free," a screen version of the best-selling book about a domesticated lioness, Elsa, and her mistress, a woman in Kenya, Africa, who tries to prepare the animal for being turned loose in the jungle, stars Virginia McKenna and Bill Travers. James Hill directed the picture in color on location in Kenya.

"Heroes of Telemark," a suspenseful war film, stars Kirk Douglas.

On Saturday, both the Sanford and the Stanley will have special matinee attractions. The Sanford will have a T.A.M.I. show, and a special picture.

The Stanley will feature a Pencil Box Back to School show.

All boys and girls under the age of 12 will receive a free colored pencil box, courtesy of the School Savings Bank at Howard Savings Bank, Sanford and South Orange avenues, Newark. "Adventures of Sinbad," an animated cartoon, feature will be shown. Doors will open at 12:30 p.m. and the show will start at 1 p.m.

'The Loved One' arrives on Art Theater screen

"The Loved One," Evelyn Waugh's provocative comedy satire, adapted to the screen by MGM and Tony Richardson, opens Wednesday at the Art Theater, Irvington Center.

The picture highlights Robert Morse, Jonathan Winters, John Gielgud, "Liberace," Roddy McDowall, Rod Steiger and a host of other stars.

The associate bill at the Art is "Moment of Truth," a spellbinding picture about bullfighting and bullfighters in Spain. The picture was directed by Francesco Rosi in color.

TV-TOPICS: Larry Blyden, who plays an architect-turned football coach in the TV special, "Olympus 7-000," opens next month on Broadway in "The Apple Tree," directed by Mike Nichols.

Composer Paul Francis Webster, whose written scores for both the film and television, saw a screening of John Huston's epic, "The Long Walk Home" and was so moved by it that he wrote a lyric to the film's stirring song.

Station Breaks

TELEBRITES: When Larry Bishop, son of comic Joey Bishop, finished filming his role in an upcoming "Bob Hope Present" Chrysler Theatre, he signed a recording contract with the music publisher, Song of a Gun.

Allen Ludden, who originally planned to tape four weeks of CBS-TV's "Dassword" in Hollywood, has extended his schedule there to twelve weeks.

During this period, the show will be in color for the first time. Eddie Adams has been signed for an appearance on "Hollywood Palace" and "The Red Skelton Show."

Joe Layton, who is currently staging musical numbers for "Thoroughly Modern Mille," has created a 1925-style vaudeville sequence in which Carol Channing is shot out of a cannon, singing an oldtime tune, "Do It Again."

Sally Ann Howes, the beautiful English singer who has just finished taping "Detention," for ABC-TV, has been honored with an invitation to be the sole entertainer to perform at New York's City Hall on "United Nations Day" in October.

Most of the performers who will appear in Richard Lewine's upcoming ABC-TV special, "Rodgers & Hart TODAY," are younger than the Rodgers and Hart songs they sing.

Beagle club plans trials

The New Jersey Beagle Club Inc., with headquarters at Belle Mead, will open its 54th field trial season on Sunday.

Trials are scheduled for the second Sunday of each month with a varied program of brace, small pack, two couple park and derby events on the running grounds at Belle Mead.

The grounds chairman, Elmer Ruckman of Plainfield, a field trial judge, announced a banner crop of rabbits in the 100-acre enclosure. He also said that wide paths have been mowed for easy spectator viewing of the beagles in action.

Seton Hall presented grant to publish Chinese textbook

Seton Hall University, South Orange, has received a grant of $25,000 from the United States Office of Education for the preparation and publication of a character textbook of advanced Chinese conversation, according to Dr. John B. Tsu, chairman of the Department of Asian Studies.

The new award will enable Seton Hall to complete a series of Chinese textbooks containing nine titles in 11 volumes. The initial set of three titles in five volumes is composed of Chinese readers.

Dr. Tsu said that "the unique feature of Seton Hall's material is its use of fewer characters utilized in more combination than in other texts." There are only 1,500 Chinese characters in the Seton Hall texts, but they are used in more than 5,000 combinations with many repetitions.

The Seton Hall series of Chinese textbooks has achieved wide acceptance and use both in this country and abroad. The Department of Asian Studies is now compiling a dictionary to complement its special materials and its completion is expected by the end of the year.

Dr. Tsu said that statistics gathered by Seton Hall indicated that there are now 120 colleges and universities and 140 elementary and secondary schools teaching Chinese to more than 3,000 students. Five years ago there were less than 700 students learning the language.

Hebrew School set to open suburban branch Sunday

Bel Yeled, Essex County's only accredited non-congregational Hebrew School, will open a suburban branch at 4-Freeman pl., West Orange, on Sunday, it was announced by Ralph Wechsler, president of the board of trustees.

The school, which for 17 years has been based in Newark, will now offer its program to the many suburban families which have indicated the need for this type of school, Wechsler said.

Mrs. Augusta Shure of Irvington, a former member of the staff of Zionist archives and library in New York, has accepted the chairmanship of the committee to implement the expansion program in that town.

Albert Gottlieb of Union will assist the expansion program in that town. Gottlieb is a member of the school's board of trustees.

For the first year in the suburban school, Bel Yeled will provide a Sunday morning primary grade for children in first or second grade public school and a beginner's Hebrew School class on Monday, Wednesday and Sunday for those in third grade of public school. Further information may be had by calling Mrs. Miriam S. Makris, principal, at WA-3-1500.

Two new schools to open in Millburn

Cambridge Preparatory School and Regent School of Business are opening in Millburn under the administration of Dr. Joseph H. Bartley as superintendent. He is the former principal of Newark Preparatory School and dean of Essex College of Business.

The building is located at 26 Essex st., Millburn. Classes will start this September. Both schools are co-educational and will have day and evening classes. The day session will hold classes from Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Evening classes will be on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Registrations are being accepted now.

Cambridge Preparatory School is a secondary school with grades 7-12 and additional make-up and refresher courses for post graduates. All academic and commercial subjects are offered. The school will be fully equipped with a science laboratory and library facilities. Special emphasis is to be given to training in study skills and reading speed and comprehension development. All students will receive guidance and counseling to prepare them for college entrance or a high school diploma.

Regent School of Business will offer students the opportunity of earning a diploma after the completion of high school. A one-year diploma will be given in junior accounting, management, marketing, medical secretary, legal secretary and executive secretary fields. A two-year diploma will be available in the accounting and court reporting areas. These courses are designed to meet the needs of students who wish to enter these professions as careers.

Ice skating schools begin registration

Registration for the fall term is being held from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily and until 3 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays at the Ralph Evans Ice Skating Schools in Millburn and Westfield.

The Evans schools offer beginners, intermediate, and advanced courses for pre-school children, pre-teens, teenagers and adults. Ladies daytime classes and special courses in the evening for adult couples are among the specialties included in the curriculum.

In addition to regular class sessions, free practice skating is provided for all students as well as weekly skating sessions for the entire school.

Evans, a former professional with leading ice reviews, has enlisted other professionals to teach "the Ralph Evans method" at his schools. Both schools offer free parking for all students and family plans are available at reduced fees.

Swimmers win special honors at township pool

Bill Reichle, coach of the Springfield Municipal Pool swim team, presented the annual swim team performance trophies at a ceremony at the local pool Saturday afternoon.

Kim Harvey and Walter Galpa received the awards as the most improved swimmers on the team. Both winners had worked hard all summer and had the satisfaction of seeing their times improve in almost every meet. Trophies for the team members who had worked the hardest during the season went to Jill Williams and Howie Alexander. Reichle commented that this was a hard award to make because so many of the boys and girls had put out their best efforts all summer. Jill and Howie were selected because they worked hard consistently.

Vivian Geiger won the trophy as the most valuable girl swimmer on the team. Most of the summer, Viv swam three races "back-to-back" without a breather or a complaint. She was one of the top scorers for the season.

Jim Creede received the most valuable award for the boys. Jim was a co-captain and a consistent winner all season. He collected 154 3/4 points to take top scoring honors by edging Robin Geiger (153) and Vivian Geiger (148).

Kessler golf outing keeps entries open for added players

Dr. Marvin Gould, president of the Mens Club of Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, has announced that there are openings for the "Chuck Kessler Memorial Golf Outing" on Thursday at the Braithorn Country Club, Floram Park, Green fees, dinner, lockers, showers and prizes are all included in the reservation fee.

Participants may arrange their own single, double or foursome schedule. Tee-off time will be from noon on. Anyone interested may contact Don Grau, 73 Laurel dr., Dr. Ed Worfel, 121 S. Springfield ave., or Dr. Gould 25 Briar Hills carle, all Springfield, or contact Temple Beth Ahm DR 7-2987.

It was also announced this week that the annual Yom Kippur Eve Dance will be held on Sept. 24, in the temple auditorium. The chairman of the dance, Elliot Schechter stated that Cy Mann and his seven-piece orchestra will perform. Admission will be free for all paid-up members of the Mens Club and their wives.

'Y' to hold tryouts of swimming team

The Westfield YMCA will hold its tryouts for the swimming and diving teams during the month of September. It was announced by John A. Horton, assistant physical director. Swim team members will try out on Saturday, Sept. 17 at 3 p.m. New swim team prospects will try out on Saturday, Sept. 24, at 3 p.m. Diving team tryouts for new prospects and last year's team members will be held on Sept. 26 at 7 p.m.

ATTENTION BOWLING LEAGUES

As the new season draws near, officials of America's number one participation sport, bowling, are feeling the butterflies and getting the urge to once again "go down to the lanes."

Bowlers who wish to have publicity about their league appear in this newspaper will have an easy job.

The sports department has prepared bowling publicity forms which are available at no charge. The coupon which appears below should be pasted on a post card and mailed to the sports department so that arrangements can be made to accommodate your league.

This newspaper will try to offer complete coverage of area bowling. Two bowling columns are planned.

"As the Pins Drop" will contain team standings of all area leagues that desire publicity. A second column, "Bowling Highlights," will contain top individual scores of the week's action, anecdotes, bowling interest pieces and bowling news of special interest to area bowlers.

League secretaries may submit items for "Bowling Highlights" as well as their league standings for "As the Pins Drop." Secretaries are requested to mail the coupon to the sports department as soon as possible so that forms may be returned by the beginning of the season. Only standings submitted on these forms will be accepted.

YWCA distributes brochure on classes, clubs, activities

A complete program of classes, clubs and activities for fall has been announced by the Summit YWCA in a brochure distributed to some 5,000 individuals, organizations and industries in the area. Most evening classes are open to both men and women, and baby-sitting is provided for children of mothers attending daytime activities. Since classes are necessarily limited in size, the YWCA has suggested that early registrations are advisable.

Daytime class offerings include: two in bridge, one for beginners and the other for intermediate players; two intensive study English classes for non-English-speaking adults; three French classes, beginners, intermediate and advanced; three in Spanish for the same proficiency levels; three art classes: charcoal and pastels, water color and oil painting; letters and layouts; modern dance classes for women and for girls in the first through fourth grades; "Mrs. Fix-It," which gives instruction in the techniques of simple home repairs; rug hooking, millinery; sewing for beginners, tailoring, and alterations.

Evening offerings will be: a painting class taught by Albert Gross; graded classes in English for non-English-speaking men and women; two modern dance classes and a four-session discussion series on philosophy and religion.

Among the clubs and activities for women are: a Wednesday morning Kaffeeklatsch featuring a new program each week and concurrent activities for pre-schoolers; the Homemakers Club, with informal programs on the first and third Thursday evenings of each month; an International Club that includes young women from around the world who meet on the first and third Thursdays for outings, sports, films; and the Thoughtstira, an evening discussion group that meets on the first and third Wednesday evenings.

Single young professional men and women meet for programs, concerts, plays and sports events on the first and third Saturday evenings of each month when the Jet Set gets together. Single young adults may also come with a friend or alone to the Saturday night social dances on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month. The Moodmakers provide live music.

An extensive program is offered to senior high school girls involved in the YWCA's Tri-Epsilon clubs, which stress the three E's of education, social ease and community effort. The clubs meet weekly or semi-monthly during the school year and offer girls opportunities to develop leadership abilities and to engage in social service projects. Volunteer and professional leaders work with the girls in their clubs.

New this year is a special program for ninth graders in the performing arts, including interpretive dance, drama, music and puppetry, with the aim of working up shows to be performed at hospitals, special children's events and convalescent homes. The girls will meet at the YWCA on Thursdays from 8:15 to 4:30 p.m. Teen Time, for junior high girls, combines an informal session with a series of interest groups. The program is held on Monday afternoons.

Further information about the Summit YWCA's fall program may be had by telephoning the YWCA at 273-4242. A brochure will be mailed upon request.

Miss Geiger, Creede break records for Optimist Club annual swim events

Two pool records were broken at the third annual Optimist Club swimming meet held at the Springfield Municipal Pool last Wednesday. Thirty swimmers won first, second or third place ribbons in the ten event meet.

In addition, Bill Reichle, coach of the Springfield swim team and director of the meet, presented two trophies in behalf of the Optimists to the girl and boy swimmer who turned in the "most outstanding performance" in the meet. The trophies were awarded to Robin Geiger and Jim Creede who established new records in their events.

In the girls' 50 meter freestyle, Robin broke the old record of 34.0 seconds which she set last year. Robin lowered the record by two full seconds, as she won the 13-14 event in 32 seconds flat.

The other record was broken by Jim Creede in the 15-17 freestyle. The previous record was set last year by Pete Dayton who has just completed a successful season as coach of the undefeated Mindowaskin swim team.

Jim cut the 29.1 time to 27.7 seconds for 50 meters.

In the 25 meter freestyle for swimmers 8 and under, Diane Schaffer came in first, followed by Diane Filreis and Cathy Ferguson. Gerry Harvey won the event for the boys. Andy Austin and Gary Grant were second and third.

Kim Harvey took the 9-10 freestyle event, beating out Roberta Oppenheim and Carol Bultman. Brian Hector missed the record but swam a fine race to defeat Jim Edwards and Joe Pope, a young swimmer who has been improving with every race.

The 11-12 races were very close in both the boys' and girls' events. Vivian Geiger, Paula Natello and Sue Grimm finished in that order, but a handkerchief would have covered the distance between their touches. Brian Hector's brother, Rick, won the boys' event. He was pushed hard by Karl Kozovsky and Bob Hannon.

Robin Geiger went out to break her old record in the 13-14 event, and she did. Robin's time of 32.0 brought her home ahead of Linda Hultman, second, and Perry Creede, third. Bob Planer touched out John Edwards in a thriller to take the boys' event, with Steve Alexy a close third.

Chris Gonzalez, a gold medal winner in the Union County meet, won the 15-17 freestyle ahead of Denise Lester and Jill Williams.

Jim Creede captured the final event of the day establishing a new 50-meter record for the 15-17-year-old boys to shoot at next year: 27.7 seconds. Don Gubberley placed second, and Deemy Lester, third, in this event.

Female sports activities set at Summit Y; start next week

Girls' and women's activities at the Summit YMCA are getting under way for the fall and winter season. Girls, grades 3-6, will resume their gym-swim sessions this year on Wednesday. Activities include half hour instruction in gymnastics, trampolining, kickball or relay games followed by a half hour recreational swim. Classes are organized according to grade.

A new course in synchronized swimming will be offered to girls, grades 3-12, on Tuesday afternoons, 4:30-5:50. A new course for junior-high girls will be offered on Fridays, 3:30-4:30 p.m. Fencing instruction is open to senior high students, held on Tuesdays and Thursdays, 8-10 p.m. Co-ed recreational swimming is scheduled regularly for junior and senior high students. Girls, grades 3-12, interested in competitive swimming may try out for the YMCA swim team. Junior and Senior Lifesaving courses will be conducted twice during the year.

All regular YMCA swimming and diving instruction this year will be offered on a co-ed basis and classed according to ability. Twelve-week courses will be given three times during the year with advanced registration necessary, since class sizes are limited.

Women's Stimmastics classes will begin Monday-Sept. 20. Classes are held Monday and Thursday mornings at 9:30 and 10:15 for Y members. An evening Stimmastics class is held on Wednesday, 7:45, which is open to non-Y members for a nominal fee. Women's badminton is scheduled for Mondays, 1-3 p.m. and Fridays, 9-noon. Women's swimming is scheduled daily throughout the week.

Schedules are available at the Y, and further information may be obtained from Y Physical Director, Louis T. Choquette at 273-3339.

League of women voters data on county candidates

To help you understand and know the candidates in Tuesday's primary election, this information has been collected by the League of Women Voters, a non-partisan organization devoted to good government. Biographical information and answers to League questions have been furnished by the candidates and do not necessarily reflect the views of the League of Women Voters. The League of Women Voters does not endorse or oppose candidates.

CANDIDATES FOR BOARD OF CHOSEN-FREELHOLDERS 3-YEAR TERM

Candidates for Freeloader were asked to provide a biography and answer the following question: "The office of freeloader offers opportunities for accomplishment in education, county planning and health. What do you think should be done in these areas?"

Harry V. Osborne, Jr. Republican
502 Locust rd., Cranford
Dartmouth College, Yale Law School, N.Y. attorney; incumbent freeloader with 17 years experience.

Edward H. Tiller Republican
65 Locust rd., Cranford, N.J.

Former Cranford Councilman and Mayor. Elected two terms as Councilman and three terms as Mayor. Completed the second three-year term as freeloader. Executive chairman of Mayor's Committee for Inter-municipal Cooperation for Better Rail Service serving 15 municipalities; graduate of Roselle Park H.S., and attended Rutgers University.
County has already established a Planning Board in 1965. This board will aid in assessing and approving drainage and flood control projects. It will assist and participate in improving air and water pollution controls. The board already is extending financial aid to needy and qualified students to enter Union Junior College. A vocational-technical school is already planned and underway on a site in Scotch Plains. New facilities have been erected in the John Kunnels hospital to meet the growing need for facilities for aged and chronically ill.

Anthony W. Belluscio Democrat
461 Valley rd., Clark
General contractor and land developer; owner-operator of A.W. Belluscio & Son, Construction Co., Linden, serving off-contractors and state committees presently Director of Public Works and Engineering, Clark. 35 years of extensive experience in business and government with a record of proven accomplishment.
An exploding population, the ever-increasing elderly situation plus the technological expansion has brought unemployment and inflationary results to the very core of our county.
1. The dire need for sensible and escalated education on all levels.
2. Our very position in the megalopolis.

alone, dictates the expedient necessity of planning.
The urgent need for qualified experienced freeloader, thus automatically insuring complete cooperation with professionals in health areas.

Walter E. Ulrich Republican
98 Colonia Blvd., Rahway

Columbia University, Catawba College, received LL.B. degree John Marshall School of Law—Manager Law Firm Stevens and Madliss—Former Rahway Charter Commissioner—Rahway Councilman 9 years—Member of Board of Freeloader, World War II Detachment Commander, Evacuation Hospital, Member Veterans, Civic and Fraternal organizations—Home Owner—Married, 2 children—The County College created within Union Junior College and the Vocational and Technical Institute programs should be furthered to meet the needs of our county youth. The County Planning Board should be encouraged as their efforts will provide a basis for efficient and productive county growth and stabilize taxpayer savings through availability of skilled technical and reference services to municipalities. Active programs to control air and water pollution; further the review of county health needs and services to assure development of efficient and orderly programs to meet future requirements; and assure efficiency and economy in such services without sacrificing quality.

John F. Cirilli Democrat
482 Central ave., New Providence
Age 38; New Providence Democratic Municipal Chairman; President, New Providence Board of Health; former member Gov. Mey-ner's staff on Cigarette Advertising Code; former member New Providence Planning Board; Union County Mosquito Commission; Active in P.A.L., United Fund, Knights of Columbus; graduate of Summit H.S. and N.Y. School Dramatic Arts.

Pollution, highways, recreational open-space areas are current county problems. The County Planning Board, is doing a fine job preparing a Master Plan. We must expand the board's goals in its efforts to cope with critical problems. A meager 2.4% of the county budget is allocated for education. More funds and facilities are needed so that every qualified student seeking vocational and technical training can be aided. The most significant county effort in the field of health, Kunnels Hospital, is being cut back. This hospital should be used to its fullest capacity.

John F. Blawie Democrat
11 W. Gibbons st., Linden

Drake, Business College, National Service School, Business Administration, Rutgers University Service Representative, Public Service employee 38 years. Former shop steward, Married; Disabled World War II veteran. Associated with sons in metal business; Former Linden City Assessment Commissioner, Councilman and Current Tax Assessor. Member American Legion, VPW Honorary Silver Life Member. State P.B.S., P.M.B.A., Alexian Bros. Hospital Foundation.
Utilize certain High Schools and establish accredited freshman-sophomore night college curriculum courses at little expense to the student. Expand and make available county vocational schools for all who want to attend. Proper county planning can attract desirable industry—prevent industrial-residential over-crowding at municipal boundaries—assure adequate water supply—utilize all county-owned equipment for municipal usage on a per diem basis. Work towards elimination of air and water pollution—establish recreation centers for senior citizens and pre-school children—establish more county park facilities in municipalities, subscribe to physical fitness program.

Anthony E. Conte Democrat
123 John st., Elizabeth, N.J.
Graduate Elizabeth Public Schools; B.S. State Teachers College; Pa.; M.A.—Rutgers University in Supervision and Administration—Advanced study at Seton Hall U. and N.Y.U. Began teaching 1935; appointed Principal 1951. Elected to City Council in 1960; served 5 years; resigned to take post as Assistant Superintendent; Served on Planning Board 3 years. Active in civic and political organizations for 25 years.
I believe the office of freeloader should first explore, then act on the establishment of a junior college with federal funds available. Present facilities are inadequate for those qualified to enter college. There is a need for another vocational school to prepare our youth with specific skills.
A County Planning Board is a necessity to achieve a proper balance in industrial, residential and recreational development and can act as a liaison between the communities to alleviate crowded conditions in the county.

county since the lead and initiative in the field of education, planning and health."
George B. Liddy Democrat
717 Walnut st., Roselle Park

Graduate of Rutgers U., majored in political science, licensed broker, active in the Real Estate and Construction business, President of Union County Young Democrats, recently elected a vice-President in N.J.Y.D.; participated in recreation programs; chairman of Roselle Park Recreation Commission; elected to office of Union County Coroner in 1965.
"The present Planning Board leaves a lot to be desired. I feel a full-time qualified director would serve the county's interest for a small additional cost; providing a central point for information and acting as a liaison between state and local governments, especially since new highways, proposed and under construction dissect this county.
"There is a deficiency in our state facilities and Union County must make provision for the many qualified students who cannot continue their education because of lack of finances.
"This county is lacking an effective agency to cooperate with the State Department of Health. Such a board could provide testing facilities and information for the public and local agencies. A Health Department must be effective and efficient at every level of government in order to combat communicable diseases and pollution, whether in the air or water."

Walter G. Halpin Republican

College, CIBA schedule concert by Swiss musician

Newark State College, in cooperation with CIBA Corporation in Summit, will present a piano concert on Oct. 10 by Paul Baumgartner, Swiss artist who is making his first appearances in the United States this fall after a career as pianist and pedagogue on the Continent.
The concert will be held in the college's new 1,000-seat theater for the Performing Arts, with a few hundred seats open to music students and the remainder reserved for academic, business and cultural figures as well as Swiss officials.
Baumgartner's first visit to this country is being arranged by the CIBA management in Summit through the offices of CIBA Limited in Basle, Switzerland, as part of the corporation's cultural and social service programming.

Agency says salt marsh mosquitoes buzzing around Linden's eastern side

The eastern part of Linden is being annoyed by salt marsh mosquitoes, Robert W. Helm, superintendent of the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission, has reported. Helm pointed out that "there is no real practical relief for this type of a problem until we get a weather change such as a heavy rain."
Helm claimed that the salt marsh mosquitoes are breeding outside of the county. He reported that the control index for the weekly average number of mosquitoes caught in one trap (in one night) increased from 5.2 to 9.3 during the week for the Linden, Elizabeth, Rahway and Winfield section.
The control index showed decreases in other sections of the county, Helm reported. The indexes are: Plainfield, Fenwood; Scotch Plains and part of Clark, 1.5, down 0.7; Union, Hillside, Roselle, Roselle Park and Springfield, 2.0, down 0.8; Westfield, Cranford, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and part of Clark, 2.4, down 0.4; Berkeley Heights, New Providence and Summit, 4.4, down 0.6.

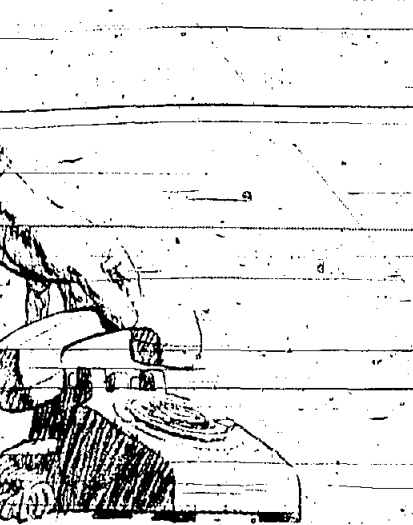

Freshman at college

ESTON, Pa.—Craig Spiró of 573 Scotland rd., Union, N. J., is a member of the freshman class at Lafayette College. A graduate of Union High School, Spiró will major in history.

UJC plans registration

Registration for Union Junior College's 34th annual academic year will open tomorrow.
All Day Session freshmen will register tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the gymnasium of the Campus Center, the weekly average number of mosquitoes caught in one trap (in one night) increased from 5.2 to 9.3 during the week for the Linden, Elizabeth, Rahway and Winfield section.
Registration for the Evening Session will be conducted from 6 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday in the gymnasium.
Day Session classes will begin on Friday, Sept. 16, while classes in the Evening Session will open on Monday, Sept. 19, while late registration for the Day Session will take place on Tuesday, Sept. 20.

Picc-One Realty wins softball title in extra inning

Caprio's hitting sparks victory over Remlinger

The new champion of the Springfield Softball League is Picc-One Realty, which captured a real sports-fun for last Monday evening at the Springfield Municipal Stadium by defeating Charles Remlinger Real Estate in a one-game playoff for the league championship. The score was 7-0.

This was by far the best game of the entire season, witnessed by a big turnout of partisan fans, and a fitting climax to a hectic pennant race that produced a stalemate after 14 innings, with both clubs finishing with identical 11-3 records.

A dramatic out-of-the-park home run to dead center field by Vinnie Caprio in the bottom half of the seventh inning dashed the hopes of the Remlinger nine, which had managed earlier had knotted the count at six-all at the top of the same inning. Remlinger had threatened to go ahead, only to be thwarted on a defensive gem by right fielder Ray Kieover, who snared Stan Weizniewski's looping fly ball and prevented two more runs from scoring. Caprio was by far the offensive star of this big game, getting two singles, a double and the long run which brought the championship to the victors.

Picc-One jumped off to a two-run advantage in the bottom half of the first inning on a double by Rick Sorrento and successive singles by Caprio and Johnny Mistrone. Remlinger was not to be denied, and came back with three runs in the second on a single by Bob Doyle, a base on balls, an infield error and singles by Harry MacCormack and Dennis Kosowatz. In the third, Remlinger increased the lead to three runs as Doyle's single, a base on balls to Al Bossert and a long single by Dominick Capozzi produced two runs.

In the fourth, three runs produced on singles by Caprio, in order Vinnie Plaza and Bill Savarin. They then went ahead by one run in the fifth when lead center fielder a long home run into left center with one on, followed by a double by Caprio and a run-producing single by Plaza. In the seventh inning, Remlinger scored a single run after two outs on a double by Harry MacCormack and a single by Kieover's great catch saved a tired Bill Savarin and Picc-One.

In the bottom of the seventh, Capozzi retired Rick Sorrento on a routine fly to left, but Caprio then dashed the hopes of Remlinger by pounding a line drive round tripper which cleared the barrier in center and brought the championship to Picc-One Realty.

Tuesday night, with Picc-One Realty trimming A.R. Mecker, 15-6, as Bob Kalber's four hits sparked the 1966 champions to victory. Picc-One pummeled out 18 hits, with Norby Wroblewski and Gary Faucher each getting three. Rick Sorrento had but one hit that another long home run, this coming in the sixth to produce four rallies.

In the other half of the twin bill, Remlinger Real Estate smothered Somerset Bus, 13-4, as Dominick Capozzi limited Somerset to six hits, Stan Weizniewski and Al Doyle hit home runs for Remlinger, which coasted after getting five runs in the first inning.

Rain forced postponement of Wednesday's twin bill until Thursday evening. In the first game of the evening, the PBA stopped A. Best Pharmacy, 11-10, in a slugfest, with Sam Calabrese's PBA nine amassing 19 hits to oust the 1965 champion Best nine. Jimmy Crowley, Charlie Franciose, Frank Jazickoff and Calabrese all came through with three hits each, with Jazickoff, Crowley, and Seville hitting round trippers to make the winners.

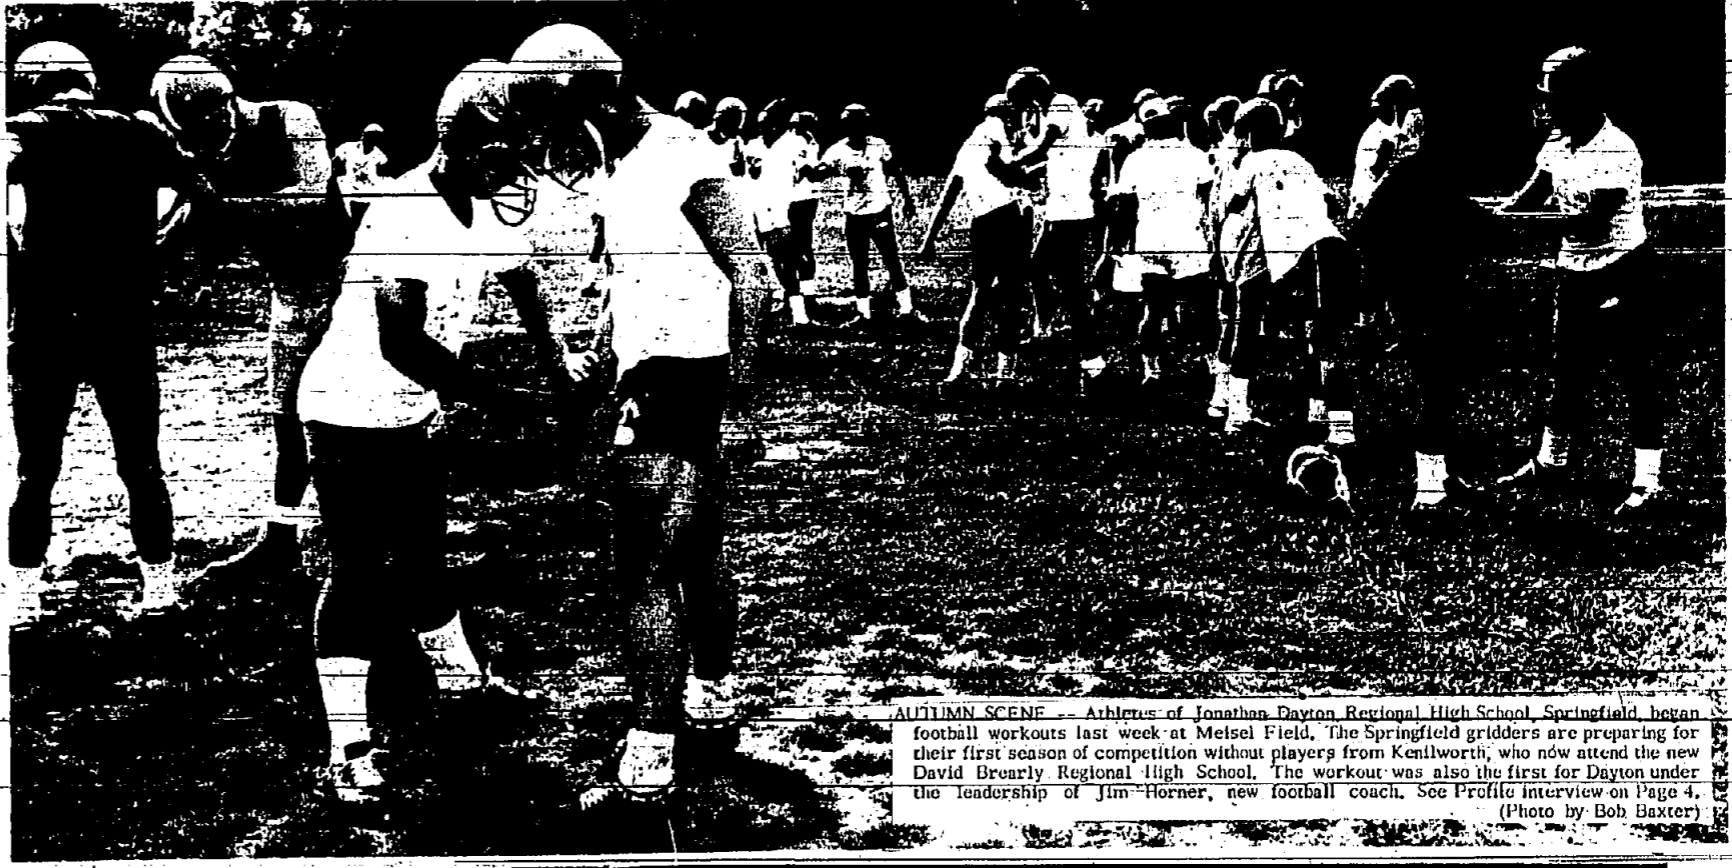

Top hitters for the Best nine were Jackie Konecny and Bill Kretzer each coming through with home runs.

Best Pharmacy fell behind by six runs in the first inning, then came back to score two runs in the second on Konecny's home run to center. The PBA countered with a single tally in the third on a home run by Frank Jazickoff, but lost its lead in the third when Best scored six runs, featuring a home run by Jackie Konecny.

In the fifth inning, the PBA broke open the game by scoring 11 runs on 10 hits, with a pair of doubles, a triple and a home run doing most of the damage. Best scored five runs on five hits in the final inning, but this wasn't enough as the PBA eliminated the 1965 champions.

Spring Leagues eliminated the play-off hopes of March Advertising by scoring a 10-8 victory. Mike Pisano hit two home runs and a double and Billy Ehrhardt, a single, double and a triple, to provide the scoring punch for the winners. Dick Schwerdt hitting a home run in the third but failed to touch third and was credited with a double.

Armen Pecarro was the top hitter for March with three hits, and Len Braunstein's long home run produced two runs in the sixth. Spring scored three in the sixth on a double by Billy Ehrhardt, which was followed by a long home run by Pisano.

AUTUMN SCENE - Athletes of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, began football workouts last week at Metzel Field. The Springfield griders are preparing for their first season of competition without players from Kenilworth, who now attend the new David Brearley Regional High School. The workout was also the first for Dayton under the leadership of Jim Horner, new football coach. See Profile Interview on Page 4. (Photo by Bob Baxter)

Police marksmen win championship in county standings

The Springfield Police pistol team has won first place in the B-Division of the Union County Police Pistol League. The final team record was 12 victories and seven defeats. Township girl starts business school studies

Susan A. Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene P. Becker of 84 Fairham rd., Springfield, has begun her studies in the newly expanded program at the Berkeley School, East Orange. Students beginning their studies in the summer have the opportunity to begin work in their secretarial careers as early as March.

The new curriculum will stress business communication, with emphasis on the art of listening, as well as receiving and giving direction. Also planned is an intensified reading course utilizing the latest reading aids. Sixty classroom periods will be devoted to the new claim and personality course, which previously occupied 12 periods.

Miss Becker is a 1966 graduate of Holy Cross Regional High School, Madison.

Westfield YMCA to conduct volleyball, fitness programs

A variety of activities will again be offered at the Westfield YMCA for men this fall. In addition to the new and comprehensive fitness programs, many individual and group activities will be offered.

One of the most popular groups is the 5:30 volleyball class. Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 5:30 until 6:30, both courts on the upper gym of the Y are filled with men pursuing the fun and fellowship of fitness through the exercise and competitive spirit of the popular Y-invented sport of volleyball. From this group also is organized a Y team to represent Westfield in inter-association business men's play throughout the winter season. Volleyball can be combined with aspects of the Y's major fitness program, as there is time available at 5:00 and at 6:30 for those who wish to participate in the "Run For Your Life" program. In addition to volleyball, Volleyball also adds a tremendous recreational and fellowship activity to the progressive fitness work with periods for play scheduled after the fitness classes Monday, Wednesday and Thursday at 8:30 p.m. Noontime fitness enthusiasts can also participate of their fitness work, running and volleyball, as volleyball sessions are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday noons from 12 until 1:15.

A second popular group activity is the open basketball periods, Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 8 p.m. the large gym and Saturday at 3:30, scrimmages are held with all welcome. The fall basketball will also serve as a conditioner this year as a Y league will be organized.
