Regional school board candidates to speak

MRS. NATALIE WALDT

LEONARD A. GOLDEN

HENRY S. WRIGHT

JOHN A. HOPPING

Women Voters, PTAs to offer annual program

The four candidates seeking election to the one opening on the Regional High School Board of Education will share the spotlight at the annual school board candidates' night to be held by the Springfield League of Women Voters and the Springfield PTAs Monday at 8:15 in the Florence Gaudineer School cafeteria.

They are Leonard A. Golden, John A. Hopping, Mrs. Natalie Waldt and Henry S. Wright. Hopping is an incumbent. The election will take place Feb. 7.

Monday's program will not include talks by candidates in the Springfield Board of Education election Feb. 14, since the three incumbents are unopposed. They are John Cocco, Seymour Marquis and Robert Southward.

Joseph A. Bender, a former member of the Springfield Board, will serve as moderator for Monday's discussion. Mrs. Wilbur Genter, president of the Gaudineer PTA, will conduct the program.

The League of Women Voters this week presented the statements prepared by the four candidates for the Regional Board in response to a League questionnaire. In addition to biographical information, each candidate answered the following questions: "What do you consider are the more important functions of the Board of Education?"

ment of results. (It is not the responsibility of the board to run the schools, but to see that they are well run.)

MSGR. FRANCIS X. COYLE

B'nai B'rith unit will give award to Msgr. Coyle

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis X. Coyle, pastor of St. James Church, Springfield, has been selected as the recipient of the Annual B'nai B'rith Citizenship Plaque for 1967.

The presentation of this award, designed to exemplify the "highest ideals of community action, citizenship and brotherhood," will take place on Sunday, Feb. 12, 8:30 p.m., at Temple Beth Ahm, 60 Baltusrol way. This event has been planned jointly by B'nai B'rith Springfield Lodge 2093 and the Springfield Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women.

A B'nai B'rith spokesman stated that Msgr. Coyle has been chosen for this tribute "because of his dedication to the betterment of understanding among all community groups. He has continually waged an emboldened struggle against bias, prejudice, intolerance and misunderstanding."

The keynote address will be delivered by Rabbi Reuben R. Levine, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Ahm. Mayor Arthur M. Falkin will also deliver a few remarks.

Saul Freeman, Springfield B'nai B'rith citizenship and civic affairs chairman, in charge of the entire program. Freeman is also well known for his record of leadership in community affairs.

'Operation Mirror' set for Saturday

Appeal to close initial campaign of United Fund

Jack H. Saffelman, chairman of the United Fund of Springfield, this week announced that his committee has initiated "Operation Mirror," as the final appeal of the fund drive. "Operation Mirror" will take place on Saturday and will be conducted by the Boy Scouts of Springfield. It will require each business, office and store to place a letter explaining the necessity for "Operation Mirror," and a pledge card with a return envelope.

"The United Fund Committee shortly before Christmas published an open letter suggesting that it was time we looked into the mirror and took stock of ourselves," the letter states. "We are forced to solicit in this manner because we were unable to enlist the 500 volunteers required to personally call upon you.

"Without your immediate cooperation, all of the youth, health and welfare services this year will be drastically curtailed. It is imperative that you, our fellow citizens, open your hearts and act without delay."

The committee also stated: "If you have already been generous, please disregard this letter and accept our heartfelt gratitude."

All residents of Springfield who have not yet pledged a donation, or who wish to increase a prior pledge, are asked to complete the pledge card attached to the letter and to return it in the envelope to the United Fund.

The ultimate success of the 1967 United Fund of Springfield depends upon the response the people of Springfield give to "Operation Mirror," the committee declared.

Brazilian has warm welcome in snowy north

Beatle songs help exchange student feel at home

By FRANK CHRISTOPHER

"It was a panic," she said. "We were walking along and she was going, 'which ones are the boys and which ones are the girls?' and I couldn't answer her most of the time."

Sari Weisman, a junior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, commented on a trip she made to Greenwich Village with Vanya Cavalcanti, the high school's first foreign exchange student and a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weisman of 6 S. Derby rd.

Vanya, an 18-year-old Brazilian student, had something to say on the subject herself. She said she liked long hair on men, and she pulled on a lock of her own to show that she meant long enough to grab. "I like this." But as for hair longer than that, "It's for girls," she said.

"Well, what about the Beatles?" this reporter asked her, concerned.

"I think they're great," she said.

"Can you understand everything they say, or do you just listen to the music?"

"Oh, no," she answered. "I can't understand, but they are very famous in Brazil. Everybody sings, but they don't know what they are saying."

She is still learning to speak the language now, she explained, and did not understand anything the first few days she was here. In Brazil she studied English for two years before coming to the U.S. Mr. Weisman noted that since she first came, Vanya has had one opportunity to converse in Portuguese, her native tongue, and while she spoke "the English phrases were popping out," and the girl would break her speech with words such as "oh, you know."

VANYA COMES from Mucilo, Brazil, which she described as being six hours north of Rio de Janeiro by airplane. It is on the coast, and the temperature there doesn't go below 60 or above 95. It is a "town" of 200,000 inhabitants, but it could take from two to three hours of riding to get from one end of the "town" to the other. She visited Rio once.

Because she is a foreign exchange student, her trip to the U.S. is naturally filled with many first experiences, but neither is life in Brazil totally unlike ours. Automobiles, for example are necessary, and women drive. She added, however, that she probably would not drive, and that her mother, doesn't because "my father doesn't like the woman driving."

There are also buses. Rio de Janeiro does not have a Lincoln Center, but modern city skyscrapers are not new to her.

People also go to movies there. She has seen "The Sound of Music" and "Exodus." They have television and even many of the programs we have. She said that her brother's favorite shows are "Bonanza" and "The Fugitive," all in Portuguese translation.

Her sister has a pet Pekinese named "Bignoretti," a name taken from the title of a popular song in Brazil.

Sari gave her approval of Frank Sinatra. "Oh, I like," she said, adding that she was impressed by the range of music yet formally adopted.

It calls for a range of $6,000 to $10,000 per year for teachers with bachelor's degrees, to be reached in 15 annual steps—$6,350 to $10,650 for those with master's degrees, in 16 steps, and $8,850 to $13,600 for those with six years of college credit in 18 steps.

Ward said this would provide a raise of $864 for the average teacher now in the Regional District.

Later in the meeting, Ward read a letter from the Teachers' Association which criticized the board on several points, particularly the fact that the pay guide, although included in the budget, had not reached a formal vote.

THE LETTER declared in part:

"We feel that the failure of the board to adopt the proposed guide as a formal resolution demonstrates its political considerations rather than a sincere and genuine interest in teacher morale and quality education. Since the board has not formally adopted the proposed guide, neither can we formally accept it, we must merely acknowledge its existence."

The letter also stated, "Our sole and guiding interest has always been, and will continue to be, quality education."

Ward noted that a new state law, which he said was proposed by the N.J. Education Association, provides that a salary guide, once formally adopted by a school board, cannot be cut, even if the budget is defeated. He said that he strongly favored the board's policy

Casting scheduled for three-act show of SACA Players

Casting dates for the first full-scale production of the S.A.C.A. Players of the Springfield Association of Actors, Actors and Actresses, scheduled for this Sunday and Monday. Actors, actresses, behind-the-scenes helpers (experienced or inexperienced) were urged to meet at 8 on either evening in the auditorium of the Edward Walton School, 601 Mountain ave. The three-act play will be "A Visit to a Small Planet," by Gore Vidal, which is scheduled to be presented on March 11 and 12.

Mrs. Lynn Wink of Metuchen, who also teaches at Seton Hall University, will be the director of the SACA Players. Mrs. Wink said she would like to interview, on the casting dates, any persons who desire to be actors, actresses, carpenters, lighting technicians, stage hands, artists, costumers, stage managers, cosmeticians, wardrobe mistresses or property men. An additional story regarding this drama group appears on another page in this issue.

Further information may be had by contacting the SACA Players' chairman, Mrs. Leonard B. Seroff (DR 6-4291), or co-chairman, Mrs. Martin M. Nowik (DR 9-9071).

Warn newcomers on phone salesmen

Municipal authorities this week reported that several new residents had received calls from an organization representing itself as the township's official welcoming committee. When a representative of this group was invited to the newcomers' homes, however, he turned out to be a salesman for magazine subscriptions.

Both Mrs. Eleanore H. Worthington, township clerk, and Police Chief Wilbur C. Salander emphasized that there is no official welcoming committee. There is an authorized "Welcome Wagon" representative who greets newcomers in behalf of local merchants but does not sell anything. The police chief stressed that citizens do not want a salesman's license authorized to sell magazine subscriptions house to house.

Board of Education passes budget for township schools

The Springfield Board of Education unanimously approved its record $2,135,000 budget at the regularly scheduled meeting and public hearing on the budget, Tuesday night at the Caldwell School. Three persons from the public attended the meeting, and none posed any questions on the budget to board members.

The budget, previously approved by William H. West, county superintendent of schools, faces the voters Feb. 14. If passed, it will go into effect July 1 for the 1967-68 school year. It calls for $1,862,000 to be raised by local taxation.

Before passage of the budget, Robert T. Southward, acting chairman of the school board, commented briefly on the major increases over last year's budget. He noted that "the board members also commented on their satisfaction with the township's ability to meet its obligations and the board's confidence in the township's future."

Chisholm school as the two major reasons for the budget increase.

"Major changes in the school budget are in the salary items," Southward said. "The salaries are up substantially, as they are in all school districts this year."

Southward said that he was unable to comment on the exact nature of construction at the Chisholm School at this time. "We have provided money to renovate part of that school," he said, and added that a study is being carried on to determine what will be done.

Several board members commented on the lack of attendance by the public. Concern was expressed that the budget might face defeat if township citizens fail to turn out at the polls to register their support.

Board members also commented on their satisfaction with the township's ability to meet its obligations and the board's confidence in the township's future."

Regional board approves budget for high schools

By ABNER GOLD

An otherwise uneventful and sparsely attended budget meeting of the Regional High School Board of Education, Tuesday night at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, was enlivened by a continuation of previous skirmishing between the board and leaders of the Regional High School District Teachers' Association over negotiations for a new teacher salary guide. The audience never included more than 25 people.

Before the board voted unanimously to approve the $5,483,172 budget, Avery Ward of Kendallworth, board president, reported briefly on the salary scale for next year which is included in the budget, although not yet formally adopted.

It calls for a range of $6,000 to $10,000 per year for teachers with bachelor's degrees, to be reached in 15 annual steps—$6,350 to $10,650 for those with master's degrees, in 16 steps, and $8,850 to $13,600 for those with six years of college credit in 18 steps.

Officers for 1967 elected as leaders of First Aid Squad

Edward Carroll, representing the Second District of the New Jersey State First Aid Council, installed Springfield's First Aid Squad officers for 1967 at the squad's recent annual banquet at the Squad House. Elected and installed for the current year were president, Edward Carroll, vice-president, Richard Amos; recording secretary, Madeline Lancaster; corresponding secretary, Gloria Simpson; treasurer, Spencer Cannon, and supply sergeant, Esther Poznanzki.

Squad field officers for the current year are captain, Robert Voorhees, first lieutenant, Gerald Harvey, and second lieutenant, Daniel Kalam. Field officers are responsible for the ambulances and the equipment they contain. They are also in charge of forming and maintaining crews and seeing that the rig's roll under any circumstances.

The corporation officers are responsible for the business affairs of the squad. They are assisted by three elected trustees, Libby Gerson, Julius Herzlinger and Amelia Terry. Working directly with the president and responsible for building care and maintenance, both inside and outside, is the house committee. This year, house committee members are Libby Gerson, Bert Bruder, Barbara Douglas, Esther Sibole and Herbert Simpson.

Joseph Byrnes of Irwin St. has recently been elected to regular membership in the squad. There are now 25 regular squad members on call, and four trailers. A squad spokesman stated, "It covers Springfield properly without putting under any strain on any one First Aid Squad member, the regular membership count should be about 35."

The Squad House is located at 273 Morris Ave. in Springfield.

Dayton Regional accredited for period lasting until 1971

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School of Springfield last week received official notification from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that the interim report submitted by Principal Robert F. LaVanture had been reviewed and that the school has been approved for continuance on the accredited membership list for a period of five years ending Dec. 21, 1971.

Chairman Albert I. Oliver, in approving the maximum period of accreditation for Dayton, said: "Since the above date marks the end of your 10-year period of accreditation, you will have a re-evaluation visit sometime during the same school year of 1970-71. Therefore, you should plan for a self-evaluation during the preceding year."

The interim report prepared by LaVanture was a composite of sub-committee information compiled by faculty members serving on subject and general committees, which included school plant, administration, library services, guidance and pupil activity.

The interim report submitted by Dayton was selected as a model and was presented at the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools' convention held in Atlantic City on Dec. 2. Dr. Randolph T. Jacobsen, assistant superintendent of the Union County Regional High School District No. 1, delivered the report for LaVanture, who was unable to attend. LaVanture has mailed out over 125 re-evaluation copies of the report as a public information service to schools which are undergoing evaluation.

The Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is an independent organization of educational institutions and agencies, established in 1887, for the improvement and development of educational institutions, relationships, and services. The association's activities are controlled by its institutional members. Membership follows accreditation by the commission on institutions of higher education or the commission on secondary schools.

The Middle States Association, which is one of six similar regional organizations which together cover the United States and its possessions, draws its membership from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone and the Virgin Islands. The membership also includes certain institutions elsewhere which have close ties with the United States and are assigned to the Middle States by agreement among the regional associations.

The association is autonomous. It is not connected with any other agency, either private or government, but certain other organizations with similar interests are affiliated with it for mutual support. It has no individual members other than those which are elected by the Association.

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School is a Group Three school with an enrollment of 1,050 students and 75 faculty members. Dr. Warren Davis is superintendent of the school district. Anne Romano is assistant principal.

2-0 records held by Aggies, Pistons in Small Fry play

The Aggies and the Pistons moved to the top of the standings in the Caldwell Small-Fry League at the conclusion of the second week of play last Saturday afternoon. The Aggies and the Pistons are the lone undefeated teams in this well-balanced league. The Caldwell League is one of two Small-Fry Leagues sponsored by the Recreation Department, as part of its youth basketball program. The eight-team league meets in competition every Saturday afternoon at the James Caldwell School.

The Aggies stayed unbeaten last week by upsetting the high scoring Nationals by the score of 7 to 3. The Aggies came up with a top defensive effort throughout contest. Four players entered the scoring column for the Aggies to present them with a well-balanced attack. Wayne Rutz, Rich Feldman, Frank Zarrello and John Asilo shared the scoring for the winners. William Palaiz garnered all the points for the Nationals.

The second contest of the afternoon saw the Lakers roll up an easy lead and then stand a final-period rally by the Bulls to score a hard earned 12 to 8 triumph. Ken Conte, with 10 points, paced the Lakers triumph. Bob Hydock scored five points to pace the Bulls. All of Bob's scoring came during a final period rally by the Bulls.

Another contest last week saw the Pistons remain unbeaten as they scored a 12 to 5 victory over the Celtics. The Pistons produced a torrid second-half attack to gain the victory. Tommy Jacques, with six points, led the Pistons attack. Tommy was strong at both ends of the court for the winners. Jim Lofredo with four markers was also effective in the Pistons attack. Hence Blumfeld with four points topped the Celtics scoring column.

The final contest of the day saw the Billions score in every period to down the Knicks by a 11 to 6 count. Five players scored for the Billions to give them a well-balanced attack. Don Hesterman was high for the Billions with four points, while the other Bill contributors were: Kevin Mercer, Cal Ackerman, Tom Wisniewski and Mitch Buffington. Neil Lesser with four points paced the Knicks scoring attack, while Larry Koldorf tallied two points for the Knicks to complete the scoring for the afternoon.

The Springfield League of Women Voters will hold a unit meeting on Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Gerald Levine, 393 Rolling Rock rd. Mrs. Paul Koppel, chairman, and her committee will discuss the Regional school system, its history, development and present status in Union County.

Some of the questions to be answered are: "What is the Regional School financial structure?" "What is its present operation, or what is its future?"

This is an open meeting. Anyone interested in attending and participating was asked to call Mrs. Charles Gerst, membership chairman, 376-5730.

New books at library provide something for all tastes, ages

A selection of new books for all tastes and ages is now available at the Springfield Public Library. A sampling of the titles follows:

"THE PASCINATION OF ARCHAEOLOGY" by Marcel Vaidin. The excavation of the ancient rock fortress of Masada is one of the most exciting and significant archaeological adventures of recent times.

Prof. Vaidin related the expedition, assisted by thousands of volunteers from many countries who were drawn by the unfolding of this dramatic bit of ancient history. The book is profusely illustrated in black and white and color.

"The Buried Past," by Henri-Paul Exdoud. This is a survey of great archaeological discoveries and includes detailed case histories of important excavations. It provides an ideal introduction to the study of archaeology.

HEALTH

"Protecting our Food," by the United States Department of Agriculture. A foreword by Orville L. Freeman, Secretary of Agriculture, shows by actual figures how vital the protection of our food is for a healthy, prosperous America. It also reminds us how necessary it is to share our abundance with a hungry world. Excellent source material for the student.

"The Hunter to Come," by John Laffin. Although stressing the hunger and under-nourishment with which many nations have struggled for years, Laffin also stresses the additional and related problem of increasing population. One of his contributors states: "The most serious contemporary threat, surpassing the threats of nuclear war and political upheaval, is the increasing disparity between food and population."

"The New Way to Live with Diabetes," by Charles Weller, M.D., and Brian Richard Boylan. This book is termed a "complete guide" to diabetes and should be of help to those who must cope with this disease. Many pertinent questions are answered, and the latest medical methods suggested for a long and happy life.

"CHILDREN'S LITERATURE SIDE," by S.J. Perelman. A delightful book by one of the better known writers of American humor. Good medicine for a cheerless winter day.

"New Methods in Needlepoint," by Hope Hanley. Excellent for the beginner or the experienced needle worker; new ideas that should win new enthusiasts for this ever-fascinating art.

"Bridge for Blood," by Ray Young. Claiming to be a light-hearted approach to bridge, this seemingly tongue-in-cheek book presents methods and tactics that may bring surprising changes for the average card player.

JUVENILE

"Copybook," by Bill Peet. A charming little book about an unusual pet, the copybara of South America. This is a true story of a Peet family pet and is illustrated by the author.

"Did You Carry the Flag Today, Charley?" by Rebecca Caudill. A timely book by a well-loved author. A school in the Appalachian Mountains is the setting, and the story concerns a little boy confronted for the first time with all the unknown ways of a strange new world.

Some of the questions to be answered are: "What is the Regional School financial structure?" "What is its present operation, or what is its future?"

This is an open meeting. Anyone interested in attending and participating was asked to call Mrs. Charles Gerst, membership chairman, 376-5730.

Baumgarten slated to retire from PS, joined firm in 1921

John A. Baumgarten of 314 Regentview Ter., Springfield, assistant manager of residential sales for the commercial operations department of Public Service Electric and Gas Co., will retire on pension Feb. 1 after more than 45 years of service. He is presently on terminal leave.

On Jan. 10, Baumgarten was given a farewell party at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark, by his associates from Public Service and member firms in the Essex Electrical League. Baumgarten started with Public Service as an electric appliance sales representative in the Newark Commercial Office in 1921. He has served as general representative of merchandise personnel, campaign manager, sales promotion manager, general appliance sales representative, assistant sales manager - electric and assistant manager - residential sales.

While working with the company as assistant manager - residential sales, Baumgarten was elected executive manager of the Essex Electrical League. He is also editor of the magazine "Electrical Urge" and treasurer and executive secretary of the New Jersey Housewares Club.

AFS will present panel discussions at Dayton Regional Springfield's American Field Service is presenting a series of panel discussions at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School today and next Thursday, Jan. 26 at 9:30 a.m.

The panelists are foreign students participating in the American Field Service yearlong exchange program by spending this year in neighboring communities. Nations represented will include Japan, Sweden, Switzerland, South Africa, Holland, Spain, Turkey, Argentina, Germany, Guatemala and Brazil.

The American Field Service, headed by Mrs. Irma Josephson, is presently accepting applications for a Springfield family to serve as host to next year's student. Anyone interested in learning more about the program was asked to attend the discussion at the high school or call Mrs. Josephson at 376-0410 for further information. Susan Seagull is student president.

Springfield man is golf club president

It was announced this week that Raymond R. Kravetz of 30 S. Derby rd., Springfield, has been elected president of the Bradburn Golf and Country Club in Florham Park. The club, recently transferred to membership management, anticipates many improvements and changes for this forthcoming year along with a increase in membership openings being made available to qualified prospects, Kravetz said.

Directors of M. Kravetz and Co., of which Kravetz is president, last week approved the acquisition of Marson-Ehlin Co. and its subsidiary agencies, the Schaffer Realty Co. and Everest and Carlin Co.

Kravetz said that the acquisition by M. Kravetz and Co., with home offices in Kew-Forest, called for administrative and financial operations of Marson-Ehlin and its subsidiaries to be affiliated with those of the purchasing concern under Edward Ehlin, who will continue to serve as president of Marson-Ehlin Co.

He said that each organization will continue its individual identity in the insurance industry and will be the combination establish the largest direct and surplus writing insurance agencies on the eastern seaboard and is a continuing part of the growth pattern and program established within the past two years by M. Kravetz and Co.

School boards require standards for members

With four candidates taking aim on the one seat available this year on the Regional High School Board of Education, this might well be the proper time to examine the qualifications needed to make a good board member.

First of all, a constructive board member should have a substantial private income. With the pay scale for board members having remained at a constant zero for over 30 years, and with the demands membership makes on his time, the best member is one with either a private income or else an employer who is glad to give him about three days a week to spend on board business, in addition to week-ends.

A thorough knowledge of educational philosophy and techniques can often be a severe handicap. The professional educators strongly prefer to leave educational problems to the professionals, and the best board members, from this viewpoint, are those who do what they're told. The one slight difficulty with this approach is that someone, somewhere, has to pick the professionals -- and the ultimate choice must be made by the amateurs.

The safest board member is often the one with the strongest distrust of anything new. New techniques, new approaches, new and exciting ideas are fine, but they all cost money. For a large segment of the population, it's not the principle of the thing, it's the money. Innovators will never produce good, second-rate, discounted education.

The most economical board member is one who has a strong emotional attachment to the tried and true, both ideas and equipment. There is something quite comforting about the knowledge that our youngsters are using the same furniture, and laboratory equipment, that was so satisfactory for their parents and grandparents.

Teachers should be made to understand that nothing can happen to the old electron microscope that can't be fixed with a little ingenuity, some chewing gum and couple of hairpins.

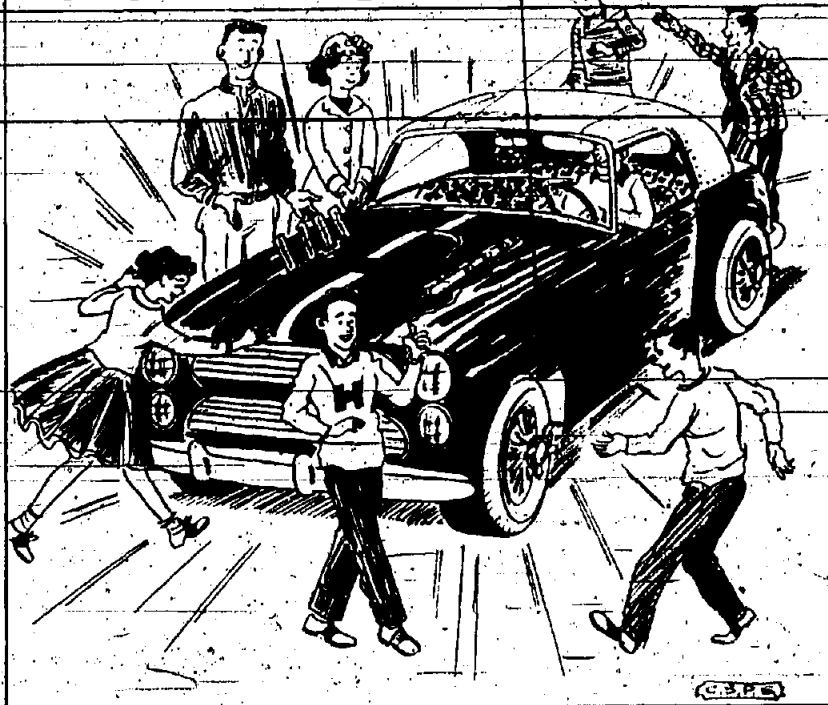

The same can be said for the realm of ideas. The truly dedicated board member realizes that new ideas cost just as much money as new equipment. Teachers can use class discussion to cover everything that happened since the books were printed in 1907. After all, not every community wants to produce astronauts or Rhodes Scholars.

Worst of all, to the prudent board member, is controversy. First of all, it tends to focus attention on the schools, and that leads to a desire for change. The best way to determine if anything is controversial is to count voices. If one is raised in opposition, and it is loud enough, that makes the subject controversial and therefore to be avoided at all costs -- or rather, at the lowest possible cost.

Actually, of course, there is probably no school board still surviving which fits this description. There are however, voters who still apply at least some of these criteria. There are others who do not.

Whatever anyone might believe about education, those who stay home on Feb. 7, date of the Regional Board of Education election, will be casting the strongest possible vote for a bad school system.

Letters to Editor

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be withheld if the letter is of political nature. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

COMMENDS PTA

The Johnathan Dayton PTA should be highly commended for sponsoring a program relating to narcotic addiction which was held last Tuesday evening. Needless to say, this meeting provided an excellent opportunity for Springfield's citizenry to become acquainted with an extremely important problem.

Can only hope that the efforts of Mrs. Natalie Walick and Mrs. Rosalie Harris, who were most responsible for its success, will be recognized by further interest on the part of the entire community.

WOMEN VOTERS

We would like to clarify our voter service to the public. Prior to elections, an information sheet, called Candidates' sheet, is compiled for distribution by the League of Women Voters. In this brochure are listed all the candidates, with biographical information supplied by them, as well as their replies to general questions. The League of Women Voters in no way sponsors, alters, edits, comments or endorses any information supplied in this publication. The information therein is provided by the candidates and is submitted verbatim to the public as a service to the voter, and as a guide or incentive to attend Candidates' Night.

It is here, at Candidates' Night, that the open forum and exchange of ideas takes place. It is here, at Candidates' Night, where questions from the audience are invited for further enlightenment of the voter.

Thus, the candidates' sheet, important in itself, points the direction toward Candidates' Night, where issues and qualifications are brought to light.

We encourage the public to attend these open forums. They are an important, healthy and democratic means of acquainting the voter with the candidate, and the candidate with the voter.

PROFILE --- Mrs. Albert Cassak

"This is a very busy place!" exclaimed Mrs. Albert (Dorothy) Cassak the other afternoon, in her audio-visual hall and office on the second floor of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

During a chat with Mrs. Cassak, a commercial teacher, who has been in charge of audio-visual activities for the school for the past seven years, boys and girls strolled in and out of the room, the telephone rang every few minutes, and a pair of husky young students came in to "borrow" a projector and some reels of film with a note of request from their teacher.

Mrs. Cassak, an attractive blonde woman, who exudes charm and energy at the same time, explained between interruptions that the A.V. department does "many things for the school. It's an extraordinary thing. I don't really know how the school managed all those years without this department. We have a very good selection of equipment," she said, taking a reporter around the room, which boasted of rather complicated-looking machines, projectors, reels, and even a television set. Soft music flowed from a machine that did not look at all like a radio.

"SOME SCHOOLS are not as fortunate as we are in having both the audio and visual materials together in one room," she said.

"On this," she pointed to a machine with all sorts of knobs and buttons, "I announce morning bulletins to all the classrooms; then as per instruction, I make some announcements during the course of the day."

Mrs. Cassak went on to explain that sometimes she makes announcements that the school is going to have a health career speaker, or a psychologist who will be speaking on a regular radio program. The latter, of course, is usually tape first, then I give the tape and tape recorder to the respective classes, and they play the tape in their rooms.

Here, she pointed out to something with more buttons and gadgets, "we can 'pipe' music into any room in the building. For example," she grinned, "when the kids are finishing their work in the labs and cleaning up afterwards, I can 'pipe' music into the labs--music to scrub by. That's 77 on the dial, an ABC station."

Mrs. Cassak said that the department has "eight movie projectors and 10 very good slide and film strip projectors. We have opaque projector," she said, showing a box-like machine. "It's a large projector which puts a picture on the wall, or the blackboard. And the teacher can write on this square glass while facing her classroom, instead of turning her back to it; and it'll project on the blackboard or wall, I've used it in my shorthand classes."

"We have a fine collection of five overheads...that's what these are called, you know, and transparencies. And note the perforation in the walls," (she pointed to the tiny holes in the walls that lined the room).

"There are 13 record players, and we have a very extensive record library. The English department uses the phonographs mostly, and the language labs."

"OUR MOTION PICTURE projectors are of the very best quality," Mrs. Cassak explained. "They bring to the classroom things that you just can't talk about. It's all so tremendous. For example," she said, "in the field of science...the Encyclopaedia Britannica people have made the most beautiful pictures...words cannot describe them. There are space ships...the working of a tornado...a flower in bloom...They are just amazing...and the kids become simply engrossed in these things."

Mrs. Cassak pointed out that "each movie that we have today is here for a specific purpose...to teach and to learn from. This is not what you'd call a candy and popcorn bit. We don't have any kind of movies classified as amusement. Not one of that type reaches the school!" she declared emphatically.

"I don't agree with that. And I think those who do have misread the needs of this Nation and the words of President Johnson and Majority Leader Mansfield."

President Johnson has already given us enough cues, I think, for us to realize that he will cut daily where he must, and that he will advance where he can.

He'll need support from Congress and perhaps liberal Democrats and Republicans can even give the push needed to do more than the President has asked for.

The President's request for an increase of six percent in personal and corporate income taxes was a clear indication that we are not only going to honor our commitments abroad, but we are going to honor our commitment to the American people to build a Great Society.

That tax increase, as the President pointed out is only 25 percent of the tax cut we enacted two years ago. To the average taxpayer, it is the price of a ball game or a dinner out once a month. That's a small price to pay, in my judgment, to carry out the work we have begun.

I THINK SENATOR Mansfield's statement that the 90th Congress is going to be a do-nothing Congress.

A good many people have put the reduced Democratic majority in Congress together with the increased expenditures for the war in Vietnam and come out with an excuse for inertia.

Perhaps the worst failure of the Congress has been to deal aggressively with our urban complex. We have had many programs to deal with city problems. But the living, breathing entity which is the city has escaped us.

The chief reason is that the Congress is not organized to deal with the cities in a rational, coordinated manner. Congress does its work via the committee system. The farmers have the Agriculture Committee, the businessmen the Commerce Committee, the military the Armed Services Committee. But the 140-million Americans who live in cities and suburbs have no voice of their own in Congress.

I have recommended establishing Standing Committees on Urban Affairs in both Houses of the Congress. And I have introduced a resolution to establish such a committee in the Senate.

President Johnson has recommended raising Social Security benefits. I concur, and I believe we should extend Medicare to those receiving Social Security disability payments. We should continue to move ahead in Education. Our transit systems must be improved. This nation is prosperous beyond the wildest dreams of a few years ago. It can afford to do these things. It cannot afford to default on its obligations to itself and to the rest of the world.

MRS ALBERT CASSAK

"In the field of sociology and psychology... which incidentally, is fairly new to the school, our Mrs. Jean Casimiro orders films, and our department rents them. These are films that show, for example, the inside of a mental institution. A teacher certainly couldn't take a class of students to visit such an institution and get so much out of it."

"As far as tape recordings go, we do a tremendous amount of work with tape recorders. The foreign language classes use them for the most part."

In addition to taking charge of the audio-visual department, Mrs. Cassak teaches four classes a day in business education. She seems more interested, at the moment, however, to continue to describe her A.V. department.

SITTING BEHIND her desk in a rather cubbyhole-type office within the department, the teacher shook her head in continuous amazement, as she looked around. "There really is so much material here...and it has multiplied many, many times. One of my duties is to account for every piece of merchandise. I do believe you have to be a sleuth," she laughed. "You know, if one thing is missing, even so much as a bolt or screw, I won't go home until I find it."

"And let me tell you," she said, smiling broadly, "I like what I do tremendously well. And being a business education teacher, I'm used to doing little things, I even alphabetize my vegetables at home in plastic bags."

Mrs. Cassak's interest in radio stems from her early years. "And somehow, some of my dreams have been answered. I may supervise the sound studio," she continued, "but I think all the real hard work goes to the boys with me."

Mrs. Cassak explained that "as a general rule, three boys a period come to help me out. These boys are volunteers...from study rooms. And they're left pretty much on their own. They are very reliable and very conscientious. If I were out for any period of time, I'm sure they could run this department."

Actually, she indicated, "this is a very nice place to be. Easy to make it a pleasant atmosphere in which to work. We have a portable television set, as you can see, and we use it for big events...such as space events or programs on education."

Among the equipment, Mrs. Cassak pointed out the "latest single concept movie projector. There's a very small segment encased in a holder in this projector which enables one to repeat the same thing over and over again."

"WE'VE NOTICED that coordinators have been ordering their own films for their own libraries. This is a coming thing. There's a very new thing on the horizon, where the library and audio-visual centers become units for communications. We get all kinds of information from all the centers popping up."

The school library, Mrs. Cassak explained, "has a department that buys film, and keeps it in the office. Various schools borrow the film from time to time."

Mrs. Cassak, who was born Dorothy Reink in New York City, was brought up in Jersey City. She was graduated from Trenton State College, and did graduate work at Rutgers University.

"I worked for the Newark school system, originally," she recalled. "Then I got married. (Her husband is vice-president in charge of advertising of surgical equipment in New York City. He's in 'Who's Who in the East,' she says proudly.)"

"After I was married, I lived and taught in Florida, then in Philadelphia, and now here." The Cassaks have three children, Laurie, 15 ("she wants to be a lawyer"), and twin boys, David and Lance, 11 ("Lance also wants to be a lawyer, and David wants to be a doctor.")

She explained she revels in doing so many things at one time. "I guess," she mused, "only a mother of twins can know what I mean."

In addition to the attraction of her jobs as teacher and audio-visual supervisor, she said, "I can't tell you what it's like always to be surrounded by a sea of young faces. I believe this is one of the phases of my job that attracts me most."

Leader of Mothers' March plans drive on birth defects

MRS. ROBERT WETZCHEK

The Union County Chapter of the National Foundation of the March of Dimes this week announced the appointment of Mrs. Beverlee Wetzchek, 14 Mohawk dr., Springfield as campaign director and chairman of the local March of Dimes Mothers' March against birth defects.

Mrs. Wetzchek is the wife of Robert T. Wetzchek, an Elizabeth attorney. She is the mother of two children, one of whom attends the Thimble Sandmotor School, where Mrs. Wetzchek is a class mother and a member of the PTA. She is a member of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Ahm and has previously participated as a writer and committee member in local subscription drives for Retarded Children and Muscular Hypertrophy.

She is a former officer and presently a member of the United Order of True Sisters, Litchfield-Judd No. 26, an organization which supports a hospital for retarded children in East Orange. Mrs. Wetzchek is also a member of the Dr. J. Herbert Rabinowitz Memorial Fund, an organization which supports two therapists at Newark Babies Hospital.

The local March of Dimes Campaign is part of the nation-wide effort held annually in January seeking contributions and support in the prevention of birth defects. Contributions are being asked from residents of the community and local businesses and industries.

The drive will culminate on Wednesday evening with the Mothers' March. On that night, the mothers who have volunteered their time will call upon every home in the community to leave educational material about the March of Dimes' fight against birth defects and to accept contributions.

Mrs. Wetzchek declared, "The March of Dimes campaign is the only major effort on a national basis seeking to aid and support research, improved diagnosis and treatment of birth defects, the number one childhood health problem in America today.

"We are highly pleased that so many local residents have already evidenced their willingness to give of their time to aid in this most needy cause. All during the month, we will be calling on others to help, and we are sure that Springfield will make its usual splendid effort to help both in volunteer work and in monetary contributions."

Mrs. Wetzchek also announced the following local residents as members of the campaign staff: Mrs. Bernard Cole, Mrs. Robert Planer, Mrs. Gerard Vozza, Mrs. John Ard, Mrs. John Laird, Mrs. Robert Hookstein, Mrs. Arthur Kesselhaut and Mrs. Morris Silverstein.

Activities for girls at Dayton include volleyball, bowling

By JIMMY STAFFER

Now that the Christmas vacation has ended, girls in the Dayton Athletic Association at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School have returned to their after-school sports. The winter sports they are participating in are volleyball, which is three days a week, and bowling, which is Tuesdays and Wednesdays. These sports last for six weeks.

Each volleyball team consists of nine to twelve girls with a total of eight teams each day. As of now, on Tuesday, the Tibit-Tibout's are in first place with a total of 23 out of a possible 28 games played. Wednesday's lead team is the TGAM which also has a total of 22 for 28 games. The Romper Room Rejects are the Thursday lead team with the same total of 22 for 28 games. At the end of the six weeks, the three top teams will play each other for the championship title. The members of the Leaders' Club officiate in the games every day after school.

The second winter sport is bowling. The cost is approximately $4 for 12 games. The price includes shoes and bus transportation to and from Echo Lanes. At present there are three top bowlers, Debbie Baldwin and Anita Epstein are tied for high series on Tuesday, and Reva Kramerman stands on top on Wednesday. Bowling also lasts for six weeks.

The next sport will be basketball. Tryouts for the girls teams will be held first. Anyone may try out for her class team. Also there are regular teams which compete after school. Each team has eight girls. The system is similar to volleyball.

During the last school week in December, the Leaders' Club had a volleyball playday with Governor Livingston Regional. Springfield girls were in charge of decorations, refreshments and clean-ups. The girls were on mixed teams so they could get to know each other better as teammates. The team with the most Christmas trees (points) won prizes.

Dayton plans talks for incoming group

Parents and their children who are about to enter Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in September of 1967 will have an opportunity to gain insight into the program's subject matter, techniques, and other aspects of high school education when they attend the annual orientation program in Halsey Hall at Dayton next Thursday, Jan. 26th, at 8 p.m.

The director of guidance, Charlotte Singer, said that the program will be divided into two periods—discussions and visitation. During the first period, there will be an explanation of the "High School Program of Studies" booklet which has been made available to parents. Many of the coaches and subject-area teachers will also be available.

Special rooms for music, art, home economics, shops, physical education, agriculture, drama rooms and science labs, as well as regular classrooms will be open for inspection.

departments and to see the special facilities of the building. The principal, Robert T. Lavature, vice-principal, Anne Romano; school psychologist, Mrs. Claire Charen; the entire guidance staff of Dayton and Herbert H. Palmer, athletic director, will be on hand. Many of the coaches and subject-area teachers will also be available.

Failure to remove snow brings fines for local residents

Seven local residents were fined $5 each this week for having failed to clear their sidewalks within the allotted 18 hours of daylight after the end of a snowfall. Magistrate Max Sherman presided Monday evening in Springfield Municipal Court.

John L. Martin Jr., 46, of Newark entered a guilty plea to a reckless driving charge. He was accused of driving more than 85 miles per hour on Route 22. He paid a $50 fine, plus $25 for contempt of court, and his driver's license was revoked for 30 days.

There were two contested cases. David Moran, 28, of Newark, was fined $20 for careless driving. Alex Grant, 62, of Plainfield, paid $26 for unsafe changing of lanes on Route 22. Magistrate Sherman ordered $25 bail forfeited when Richard Brown, 52, of The Bronx failed to appear on a charge of driving with no license in his possession. The case remains open. Corby's Enterprise Laundry of Summit was fined $15 for operating a vehicle with no proper inspection sticker.

Roy Ashford, 26, of Newark paid $20 for speeding 44 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone on Mountain ave. Howard Arick, 20, of Brooklyn paid $10 for having disregarded an officer's signal.

Rep. Dwyer introduces 22 bills on opening day

WASHINGTON — Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-12th Dist.) introduced 22 bills at the opening session of the 90th Congress designed, she told the House, "to call immediate attention to several of the most pressing issues confronting the country."

Among other things, Mrs. Dwyer's bills would increase social security benefits, raise the limitation on earnings of social security beneficiaries, provide a tax credit for expenses of higher education, "overcome job discrimination against older workers; improve the administration of federal programs in urban areas, and provide for sharing federal revenues with the states.

Her bills would also establish a commission to propose the reorganization of federal departments and agencies; create a special House "oversight" committee, headed by the minority, to assure better administration and enforcement of the laws when both Congress and the Presidency are controlled by the same political party; improve committee transportation; establish a commission to study improved methods of systems management for the federal government; and provide tax relief for teachers who pursue their professional educations.

NOTING THAT SHE will devote greater attention to the individual bills in future House speeches, Congresswoman Dwyer said her purpose in introducing the legislation on the first day of the new session was "to focus attention on what I believe is the major challenge facing this Congress; to make the multitude of federal programs and the government itself serve the people of the United States more effectively."

She added: "We are investing billions of dollars in critically important efforts to improve the quality of life in America, but until we eliminate waste and duplication, provide for better coordination of existing programs, and achieve more efficient, economical and responsible administration within the executive branch, the people's needs will not be met and our investment will not produce the dividends our people have the right to expect."

"The 90th can be a history-making Congress if we measure up to these responsibilities. We may not, and perhaps should not, produce the volume of dramatic and glamorous legislation enacted by the 89th Congress, but by enabling the cumbersome federal bureaucracy to respond more promptly and alertly to the real needs of our people we shall have earned the respect and gratitude of the Nation."

UJC students to assist cerebral palsy appeal

Seventy-five members of fraternities and sororities at Union Junior College have volunteered to participate in the annual Cerebral Palsy telethon by answering telephone calls on Jan. 28 and 29.

The telethon will be telecast by WOR-TV (Channel 9) from 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, Jan. 28, to 6 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 29. Dennis James will be master of ceremonies, and Eddie Gormo and Steve Lawrence will be hosts. The Union Junior College students will serve at the telethon headquarters in Newark.

HIS REASON
LONDON (UPI)—Song writer Geoff Stephens, who wrote the pop tune "Winchester Cathedral," gave a three-word explanation when he declined to make a donation to the real Winchester Cathedral fund: "I'm an agnostic."

Square dance set by church group

The Central Club of the Central Presbyterian Church, Summit, will sponsor a square dance tomorrow evening from 8:30 to 12:30 in the Church auditorium. The dance will feature Dick Meyers as caller.

The admission will include refreshments. An open invitation has been extended to all young single adults between the ages of 22 and 45. Further information may be obtained by calling 233-5529.

Named officer at bank

 the responsibility of the board to constantly review and revise -- with the cooperation of a highly competent professional staff."
 "4. To continuously find ways to meet the ever-changing needs of all our students -- whether college-bound or non-college bound."

HOPPING, a local resident for 27 years, lives at 26 Colfax rd. A graduate of East Orange High School, he attended Columbia University and the American Institute of Banking. Hopping is assistant vice-president of the Career Savings and Loan Association, Newark. His daughter is a graduate of Dayton Regional.

He has served on the Regional Board for the past six years and was vice-president as chairman of the Union County Board of Adjustment and Planning Board.

In his reply to the question on board functions, he stated:

"1. Developing a philosophy of education and providing citizen leadership in determining the goals which public education should strive to attain.

"2. Determining policies which will assist in developing and improving the curriculum which implements the philosophy and goals of education.

"3. Evaluating the educational program of the school as a never-ending process.

"4. Developing sound written policies and guidelines to action and decision.

"5. Assisting in establishing conditions which will recruit and retain an excellent professional staff.

"6. Providing adequate financing for present needs and future plans of the total program.

"7. Providing good physical facilities and equipment for carrying on the educational program."

MRS. WALDT has resided at 835 Mountain ave. for the past four years. She studied at City College of New York and Arkansas Polytechnic University. Mrs. Waldt served in the Women's Air Force for three-and-a-half years during World War 2. Her two children, now attend Dayton Regional. She is a sales representative for Fischer Bros. Travel Bureau in Irvington.

She is currently president of the PTA at Dayton Regional, and formerly served as PTA president at the Franklin School and Burnet Junior High School, both in Union.

Mrs. Waldt was named a life member of the N. J. Congress of PTAs in 1961.

She has served as a director of the Union County Mental Health Association, as a Girl Scout leader in Union and as chairman of the Mental Health drive in Union. She is also a board member of the Gaudineer School PTA.

Mrs. Waldt is sisterhood president at Temple Shalom and a board member of the temple. She formerly served the temple as youth chairman and ways and means chairman. Mrs. Waldt is a member of the local American Field Service exchange committee.

Replying to the question on school board functions, Mrs. Waldt declared:

"The Board of Education is primarily the policy-making body which the community must hold responsible for the quality of its educational program. 'Education' means the purposeful teaching and learning in schools and other formal institutions.

"With this as a basis, it is incumbent upon the board to provide by democratic means the best possible environments to fulfill the highest aims of educational goals. They must oversee the adequacy of school facilities and, with the assistance of the superintendent of schools, the procurement of the best textbooks and quality teaching so that each student may develop to the fullest of his capacity."

WRIGHT has lived at 53 Colfax rd. for the past seven years. He is an alumnus of Yale University and also studied at the University of Kentucky and Johns Hopkins University. He is a sales engineer. Wright's two children attend Springfield public schools.

He has served as Union County fund drive chairman for the Retarded Children's Association, chairman of the Springfield Red Cross bloodmobile and district leader for the Heart Fund drive. Wright was named by the Board of Freeholders to the organizing committee for a county narcotics control body. He was a member of the building committee for the municipal swimming pool. Wright is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

He declared, "My experience gained in administration of education has come from attending many Regional District Board meetings and other school meetings, including PTA, during the past five years and through discussing certain educational matters with Dr. Davis, the superintendent of regional schools."

In his answer to the question on board functions, Wright stated:

"1. Function free from political pressures (special interest favoritism)."

"2. Maintain tight budgets which don't rob taxpayers."

"3. Reviewing teachers' free choice of curricula (books). Eliminating radical, extremist (left right), un-American beliefs."

"4. Inculcating career - dedicated, hard-working teachers help youngsters become God-lovers -- thinking adults."

"5. Eliminate nepotism."

"6. Keeping God, prayer, patriotism vibrant alive."

"7. Individual availability: parent complaints vs. teachers, problem situations."

"8. Arranging quarterly aptitude exams -- teacher competency (Colorado)."

"9. PTA, teacher legislative liaison; try harder, keep dropouts studying -- creative aptitude testing; lessen tax-burdening welfare programs."

"10. Encourage: A -- students, parents help teachers better prepare; B and C -- students for continuing education throughout life, perfect spelling, math."

HOPPING, who has received specific criticism from Carl Mathews, who has taught at Dayton for the past 30 years, he said that the greatest pay raises will go to the teachers with the most experience in the school system, those already at the top seniority level.

Exchange student

not the only one. "He's very famous. My father thinks he is the best." Her father, who is a prosecutor for the government, also likes the Beatles.

"What is different about life in Brazil still makes a very long list. Vanya had never seen snow before she came to Springfield, and she has never lived anywhere as cold. Nevertheless, she says she likes snow, and she even went ice skating for the first time in her life. Sari, however, said Vanya would like the snow just better if it could be about 68 degrees at the same time.

ALSO FOR THE FIRST TIME, she had an unchaperoned date. In Brazil, she explained, a boy and a girl can not go out on a date without having someone else along. It is unthinkable for a boy to ride with a girl in a car if there is no chaperone. "Sometimes you can walk up to a girl friend's house with your boy friend," she said, "but you can never go in a car. Maybe, if you're engaged you can, but that's against the law."

She said that the family life is also different. She said American families are "not as close, and they are too busy for family life." She explained that in Brazil the family goes places together, while here, "one has to go here and one has to go there and one has to go someplace else."

Vanya, which she herself says is not a common name, not even in Brazil, is named after her mother. Vanya has two sisters, Carmen, 17, and Gerdenia, who is seven. She also has an 11-year-old brother, Vanillo, and a 10-year-old brother, Marcos. Besides the Pekinese, there is a watchdog, which is not a pet, but a means of protection. Vanya said the dog sees no one except the family and must be chained even when they have visitors. If any stranger were to come near, "the would attack," she said because "he never sees anybody but us."

Vanya also said that unlike in families in the U.S., "my sister is my best friend. We do everything together." She added that is not true of people here.

ON HER VISITS to New York City, she bought several pairs of earrings to take back to Brazil with her. On this subject she voiced her surprise that American women did not have their ears pierced. "Almost everyone has their ears pierced in Brazil," she said, and it is the fashion. "It doesn't hurt," she said with confidence, although she did not remember having hers done. "They do it when they are babies," she explained, and she said hers were probably pierced when she was about three-months old.

When Vanya returns to Brazil, she will apply for permission to enter the university. She will take an examination, and if she passes she will be allowed to study. There is no tuition in Brazil.

"I want to be a dentist," she commented "but I don't know. Now I want to be, maybe later, no." She said there is a woman in her town who is a dentist and takes care of the children, and she thinks she would like to do that.

In Brazil, however, Vanya is put under pressure to decide early. Even the high school which she attended there was a church school for science students. Her favorite subject was biology, which she studied along with 43 other girls in her class. They did not leave to go to other classes, she explained, but the teachers came to them. For that reason, she had to decide very early on the kind of school she wanted.

If Vanya takes and passes the test which will permit her to study dentistry, she will attend the university for five years. If after two years, she changes her mind and decides to become a doctor or a teacher, "then you have to start all over."

WHEN ASKED what she thought of life in American schools, Vanya said studying was much faster. She said, "In Brazil, we have a big lunch because that is when the father comes home." For that reason students go to schools only in the morning or in the afternoon, never both. As for the people here, she said, "They are very simple people," and "they are friendly." Vanya's stay here is sponsored by the Springfield Chapter of the American Field Service.

The Weismans, who find having Vanya living with them an experience for themselves, have two daughters, Sari, and Irla, 13, an eighth grader at the Florence Gaudineer School. Sari, in one of her less ambiguous moments, said that by having Vanya here, "I'm seeing the U.S. through someone else's eyes. I'm seeing things that you take for granted and shouldn't be taken for granted."

This has been a time of fits and starts for the Weismans too. Sari said, "I had never seen the Statue of Liberty before we took Vanya." She has also become interested in figuring the value of Brazilian cruzeiros, a unit of money, and changing Centigrade temperatures to Fahrenheit without a pencil and paper.

But after revealing this much, the two girls were off in another world talking of Student Councils and classes, people and a "computer dance" they were thinking of going to.

UNICEF is a small army formed 20 years ago to fight disease, poverty, hunger, and ignorance on behalf of three out of four of the world's children.

Henry S. Wright of Springfield, a candidate for election to the board, spoke several times during the hearing, asking about specific items in the budget.

In response to a question, Dr. Warren Davis, regional superintendent of schools, outlined the procedure if the budget should be defeated by the voters, something which has never happened. If the voters turn down the budget twice, he said, it goes to the governing bodies of the region's six communities: Springfield, Mountaineer, Berkeley Heights, Kenilworth, Garwood and Clark.

The will then have 10 days to agree on an alternate budget. If the six groups cannot agree within the 10 days, Dr. Davis said the budget will then go to the state commissioner of education for a final determination.

The board accepted the resignations of three teachers at A. L. Johnson Regional High in Clark -- two ladies for maternity reasons and one man to accept another job.

Board members turned down a request by Russell Clarke, geography teacher at David Barclay Regional in Kenilworth, to take 20 students to the state capital to observe the plane service at Morristown Airport. The major factor in the rejection appeared to be concern over the board's liability in case of accident. Clarke formerly taught in the Springfield school system.

Town schools

"It is a very good relationship, and I am sure it is going to continue."

FOLLOWING PASSAGE of the budget, the meeting was opened to the public. Milton Greenberg of 141 Milltown rd. then addressed the board on the matter of a cyclone fence to be erected on property of the Florence Gaudineer School.

Greenberg told the board that he was opposed to erection of the fence, which he explained, bordered on the back of his property. "I am here speaking entirely for myself," Greenberg said. He called the proposed fence, "functional beyond any necessity." He then requested that the board stop the fence at the beginning of his property line for aesthetic reasons, and said he would in turn put up a natural fence if the board wished.

The fence is to be a split rail fence, where school property borders on the property of residents, except for several hundred feet in the area of the school playground. A board committee headed by John Cacos studied the matter for several months before passage of committee recommendations at the Dec. 20 meeting. Greenberg's land borders on the area where the cyclone fence is to be placed.

Seymour Margulies defended the school board decision and explained to Greenberg that it was the citizenry which came to the board with complaints of trespassing by students. "I know the extent of the trespassing," Greenberg said, "and a living fence would adequately meet the problem."

As one of three property owners who will be directly affected by the cyclone fence, Greenberg said, "I just don't like it." Southward then reactivated the committee for study of erection of the fence. Such contribution will not begin until the spring, he told Greenberg. "The board would use the time to reconsider the matter."

IN OTHER MATTERS, the board accepted resignations of two teachers. Superintendent of Schools John O. Berwick reported the resignation of Mrs. Madeline Targonski, a first grade teacher in the Edward Walton School, effective Feb. 1, and Mrs. Joseph O'Rourke, a physical education teacher, effective Jan. 1.

The board approved the employment of Mrs. Catherine Doremus as a teacher in the Springfield schools, effective Feb. 1, at the annual salary rate of $7,800. Mrs. Doremus, who will replace Mrs. Targonski at the Walton School, is a graduate of Rutgers University with previous experience in Maryville City, N. J.; Center, Ind., and Berkeley Heights.

The board has not yet employed a teacher to replace O'Rourke.

The board has approved the purchase of 12 snow tires for the three school buses, not to exceed a cost of $858. Gacos, reporting on an incident of a school bus getting stuck on Shunpike rd. during a recent snow storm, stated, "It was discovered that none of the buses have snow tires." He said tires could be purchased at a cost of about $71.50 each.

The board also gave approval to the transfer of a contract from the Fossett Bus Co. at the annual rate of $1,800. The Fossett Bus Co., which was unable to obtain a necessary bond, had been contracted to transport handicapped children to Elizabeth, Valley Transportation Co. has agreed to take over the contract at the same annual rate, thereby making it unnecessary to reopen bidding.

The next session of the Board of Education will be held on Feb. 20, the first Monday after the election. The board will hold its annual reorganization meeting on that date.

Two weekend ski trips to be held by Trailside

Two weekend trips have been planned for this month by members of the Trailside Ski Club of New Jersey. A busload of club members will take a trip to the J-Bar Lodge in Landgrove, Va., this weekend and the group will take part in the first club race of the year at the Catskill Ski Center Jan. 28-29.

Club President Sam Zolner invited all interested persons to come to club meetings, which are held at 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays at Westwood Lounge, Rt. 28, Garwood or to call him for information at 352-2201.

Rinaldo appointed township chairman for heart campaign

Donald W. Rinaldo of 108-A Skabeno ave. has been named Springfield chairman for the Union County Heart Association's February drive for funds.

Rinaldo, an attorney practicing in Union is a native of Elizabeth. He was graduated from St. Mary's High School, Elizabeth, and Rutgers University. He received his legal education at Rutgers School of Law.

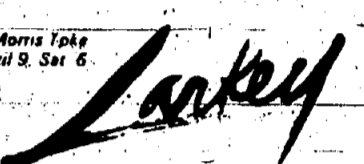

He is a member of the New Jersey and Union County Bar Associations, The Union Lawyer's Club, and Council 3504, Knights of Columbus. He served two years in the Army. Married to the former Esther Della Serra of Cranford, he is the father of twins, Donna and Donald 18 months old.

In accepting the chairmanship, Rinaldo said he was "conscious of the tremendous need for funds to fight our nation's number one killer, Heart disease can -- and must -- be conquered. However, this requires funds that will enable the Heart Association to continue its program of research aimed at eliminating this killer."

Rinaldo urged his fellow Springfield residents to be generous with their contributions when Heart Association volunteers appeal for funds next month.

Scouts to promote history, first aid in program for month

"Highways to History" will be the American Heritage theme for Cub Scouts in January, while Boy Scouts will demonstrate and practice first aid as part of their theme "Helping Others."

The January program themes were announced today by Wellesley Siffer, Scout commissioner of the Union Council, Boy Scouts of America, which serves all of Eastern Union County.

"One of the purposes of the Cub Scout program," Siffer said, "is to broaden the horizons of our 3,769 Cub Scouts and give them a better understanding and greater love for their country."

The Cub Scout meetings during January will use skits, special activities and handicrafts related to historic events in the development of the United States.

The 3,057 Boy Scouts in the Union Council will practice the first aid requirements that are required for the second class and first class ranks. The climax of the month's activities in each troop will be a first aid meet with Scouts preparing and staging realistic first aid problems; Siffer said.

The high-school-age Explorers in this area will select from several suggested activities for their meetings or their special monthly events. Suggested activities include an after-game party, a family camping demonstration and a co-ed winter carnival.

Scout units will also be putting the finishing touches on their plans for the observance of the 57th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, Siffer said.

State commission urges new Legislative Building

Citing the inadequate size and insufficient facilities of the present Legislative Wing of the State House, the State Capitol Development Commission this week recommended the construction of a new Legislative Building of 150,000 square feet.

The building, raised from ground level to provide parking for 150 cars, would be located on a site near Rt. 20 behind the State House and across from the War Memorial Building.

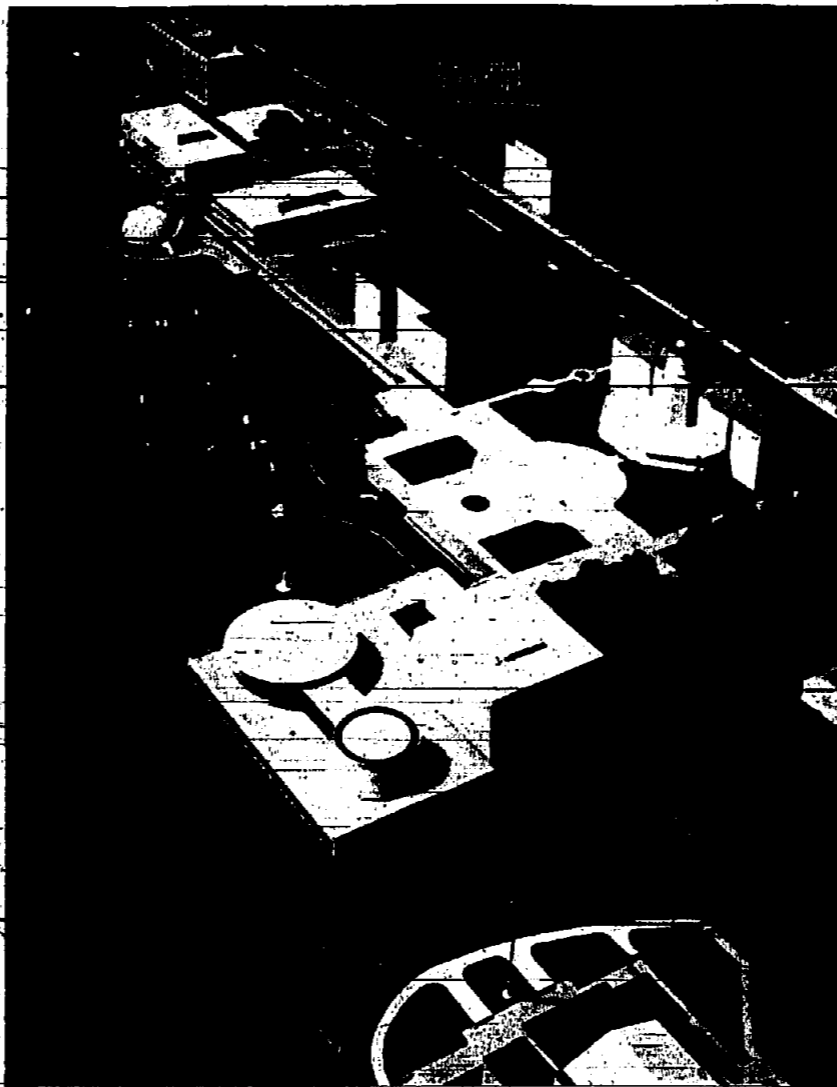

The Commission explained in its report that the present Legislative Chamber "has been replaced because of 'their inadequacy and absence' of a sufficient number of committee rooms, telephone facilities, office space for members and staff and the inadequacy of gallery space and facilities for the press, radio and television."

The report also pointed out that the expanded membership of the Senate from 21 to 29 in 1966 "made the situation more critical" and that the "further expansion in 1968 of the Senate to 40 members and of the Assembly from 60 to 80 members will further compound the situation."

A new home for the Legislature, the Commission believes, "will serve the State well for many decades and provide an appropriate and important symbol of State Government, not only for the many visitors to the Legislature but to the passerby on the adjacent freeway and city streets."

Designed by Frank Grad & Sons, Newark architects and engineers, the new Legislative Building provides within one building four separate elements containing facilities for the operation of the State Legislature with separate public areas. The arrangement of the 70,000 square foot horizontal element provides for efficient operation of the Chamber and convenience of members when the Legislature is in session. It contains the chamber floors, related private office areas, work-rooms, conference rooms and lunch rooms.

Rising from the open plaza atop the main element is a rectangular, five-story office building, and two conical elements which rise over the Senate and Assembly Chambers and are joined by a glass-walled public foyer. The foyer serves as a display and exhibit area and provides access to public galleries. The vertical office element contains committee rooms, office and desk space for members and is directly accessible to the public.

PROPOSED NEW CAPITOL—The new Legislative Buildings dominant in construction recommended by the State Capitol Development Commission. Visible from the Freeway and from State St., it would unite the complex of state buildings including the Capitol and Annex, to the north, the Cultural Center and Education Building, to the south, and (not seen) the John Fitch Way Development, to the east. The raised level of the Legislative Building and connecting State House Plaza would provide covered parking for 700 cars.

Exams to be given for seasonal work in post office jobs

A nationwide competitive examination for temporary summer, Christmas and other seasonal employment has been scheduled for Feb. 23 and March 4, according to the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

The closing date for filing for the examination is Feb. 9, it was reported. Persons who qualified in the 1966 seasonal examination must file again for the 1967 examination but may compose for jobs on the basis of their 1966 scores without actually taking the test again.

Young people attending school away from home who want to apply for jobs in their home state may take the test at their temporary school locations.

Persons interested in the exams were urged to contact Michael Steffen, examiner in charge, at Room 18, Elizabeth Post Office.

COLLEGE EXPERIENCE
NEW YORK (UPI) — What should a student get out of college? Daniel Bell, professor of sociology at Columbia University, in "The Reforming of General Education," described the college experience this way:
"The college experience... should be the testing years—the testing of one's self and one's values; the exploration of different fields before settling into a single one; and the experience of belonging to a common intellectual community in which diverse fields of knowledge are commingled."

Announce openings in Newark office of Internal Revenue

Joseph M. Shotz, district director of Internal Revenue for New Jersey, announced this week that there are vacancies in his office for young college graduates with majors in accounting, business administration, finance, economics, law, public administration and related fields.

Accountants start at salaries ranging from $4,650 to $9,221 per year while lawyers and majors in other fields start at $6,451 to $7,696 per year, depending on experience or college grades, he said.

Shotz said that immediate job openings for accountants are available in California and Virginia as well as in New Jersey.

Internal Revenue Agents utilize their accounting skills to examine and audit the accounting books and records of individuals, partnerships, fiduciaries and corporations and determine their correct Federal tax liabilities, he said.

Tax Technicians deal with taxpayers in both the office and by correspondence to identify and explain tax issues and determine correct tax liability. They represent the Service in consultations with all kinds of taxpayers or their representatives, business men, individual wage earners, attorneys, accountants, farmers and corporation executives, Shotz added.

Estate Tax Examiners, utilizing legal education and background, conduct field examinations to determine value, ownership and taxability of estates and make similar determinations in connection with tax laws on gifts.

Special Agents conduct investigations of alleged criminal violations of Federal tax laws, particularly those relating to income, wagering and gaming devices.

Revenue Officers work primarily with taxpayers outside the office. They call on taxpayers from all walks of life—the individual wage earner, the small-businessman, the executive of a large commercial enterprise, the professional man—in an effort to resolve delinquencies, he said.

Applications may be filed in Room 542, 1060 Broad St., Newark. For further information, write to College Recruitment Coordinator, Internal Revenue Service, Post Office Box 1261, Newark, 07101, or telephone 201-645-3707 or 201-645-3725, Shotz said.

Colleges plan new programs to solve shortage of teachers

Public and private colleges in New Jersey will be implementing 21 new programs in teacher preparation to help solve the teacher shortage problem that was pointed up in a State Education Department study published in December.

The programs, authorized by the State Board of Education at its January meeting, cover a wide range of teaching categories.

To ease the critical shortage in school librarians, the Board has authorized major teacher-librarian programs in the state colleges at Trenton, Glassboro, Newark and Paterson. These schools already have minor programs in library science. The new program will strengthen the existing department and students will be recruited specifically for work in this field.

Other colleges which have agreed to recruit students for library work include Caldwell College for Women, College of St. Elizabeth and Montclair State College.

Graduate programs were also approved to ease the shortage in the area of student personnel services. These include guidance and school social work at Glassboro, Montclair, Newark, Paterson and Trenton State Colleges, and also at Seton Hall University.

Also authorized were graduate programs in school psychology at Glassboro and Montclair; graduate programs in outdoor education and conservation at Trenton, Glassboro and Montclair; and a graduate program for science teachers at Newark.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS DESIGNED to meet the need for elementary school teachers will be started at St. Peter's College and a program for health education teachers is planned at Trenton State College.

It is expected that the programs will be initiated this fall.

Representatives of the 20 colleges in the state that prepare teachers are conducting a series of meetings to discuss ways and means to meet the teacher shortage as outlined in the Education Department study report. The report, "Imbalances in Teacher Supply in New Jersey," prepared by the department for the State Board of Education, contained long-range recommendations for solving the shortage problem over the next decade.

Issued last month, the report listed 15 categories of school personnel in critical shortage in New Jersey. These fields were: vocational teaching of all types, school psychology school librarian, teaching of the handicapped, reading specialists, industrial arts, home economics, school social work, elementary teaching—particularly in the nursery, kindergarten and primary grades, woman physical education teachers, science, mathematics, distributive education, guidance and school nursing.

The report also indicated severe shortages of teachers in the southern, central and northwestern portions of the state over the next 10 years unless additional college expansion takes place in those areas.

Openings reported in swim class at Y

The Five Points YMCA in Union this week reported that there will be openings in the winter-swim series class which is held every Thursday afternoon for boys and girls in grade one through six.

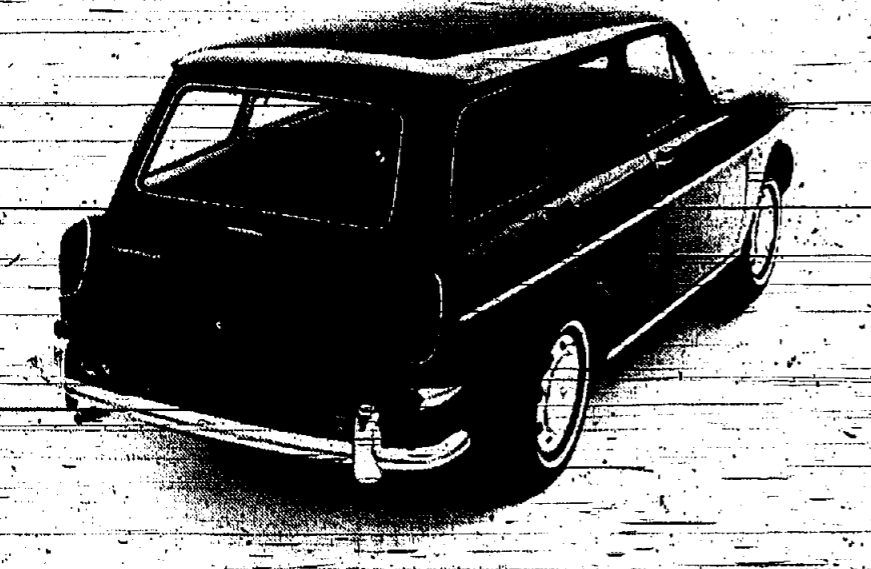

Officials reported that transportation is furnished to the Central Building from pick-up points throughout the community.

Persons interested in the program may call 687-5570 to obtain further information and to register.

State museum showing works by Arthur Frost

The New Jersey State Museum is featuring in its main galleries retrospective exhibition of works by Arthur Burdett Frost (1851-1928). The exhibition includes 53 paintings, 14 drawings and 22 prints. It will continue until March 12.

The Museum is open to the public Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 2 until 5 p.m. Admission is free.

It may be less grand than most station wagons. But it's also about a grand less.

If you're looking for a miniature moving van, our Squareback Sedan isn't it. Even with its back seat folded down it only holds half as much as the average station wagon.

Which means you can't lug 30 pieces of luggage. Or a full-sized double bed. But maybe you just need a car that can carry 15 suitcases. Or a full-sized single bed. Then you can save a lot of money with a Squareback Sedan.

It costs only $2295*.

And it not only goes for less than most conventional wagons to begin with, it keeps on going for less.

A Squareback travels about 27 miles on a gallon of gas. It takes 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts. It never needs a ounce of anti-freeze, because it's cooled by air. It should get a good 35,000 miles on a set of tires. And it avoids repair bills like a... well, like a Volkswagen.

So before you go out and buy some station wagon that has twice as much space as you really need, ask yourself this question:

Will all that extra grandness be worth an extra grand?

Dayton faces Union, Gov. Livingston after losing thriller to Scotch Plains

By MYRON MEISEL
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team will visit Union High School tomorrow evening at 8 and encounter Gov. Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. The Bulldogs now have a record of 8-4, following a narrow loss to the Watchung Conference leaders, Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School, 62-60, here last Friday.

The contest was a close one, with the lead changing some 16 times throughout the course of the game. Both teams played superb ball, and it was only a set of minor Dayton errors in the fourth quarter that decided the match. The match is certainly a leading contender for the Watchung Conference "game of the year."

Mike Lester, Steve Hirschorn, Gary Kurtz and Richie Campbell had "tear-looked" better all season. The same went for Tom Atkins, Dan Arneson, Bruce Boisture, and Pete Sayko of the Raiders. Both teams made smooth attacks and tight defenses. The only sloppy aspect in the game was the large number of offensive fouls. Even though the Bulldogs lost, if they can play that well throughout the rest of the season, there isn't a team left on their schedule that can beat them, and that includes conference contender Rahway, which has already defeated the Bulldogs once.

Wrestlers break even, face Scotch Plains next

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School wrestling team will have two home matches in the coming week, one with Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School tomorrow evening at 6:30, the other with Rahway High School Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. The Bulldog grapplers now have a record of 3-3, after defeating Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School of Clark, 26-23, and losing to Hillside High School, 31-14 in two matches this past week.

Against the Clark Crusaders, the Bulldogs proved strongest in the lightest and heaviest classifications, falling down somewhat in the middle. Excepting 98, the Dayton grapplers won every bout through 130. Dave Pierson at 105, Pete Mollen at 115, Howard Goldhammer at 123, and Dale Lies at 130 gave Dayton a commanding lead of 14-5. But then Clark began to come back, winning the next four bouts. Alan Silverman at 168 reversed the trend, but Dayton was still down by two points with two bouts to go. At 177, the usual varsity man, Brian Zabelski, was unable to wrestle because of a foot injury. His stand-in, sophomore Gary Ginzberg, was participating in his first varsity contest. But Ginzberg pinned his opponent, giving Dayton a three-point lead. Craig Baskin at unlimited tied, preserving the Bulldog victory margin at three. Also wrestling for Dayton were Stu Cohen, 136; Gary Hayda, 141; Howard Rubenstein, 147; and Doug Jayne, 156. Hillside proved to be a far more formidable opponent. Of the winners at Clark only Goldhammer (123), Lies (130), and Silverman (178), an upward change from Clark repeated, joining them were Gary Hayda, who won at 141, and Stu Cohen, who tied at 136. Other winners included Pierson, 105; Mollen, 115; Rubenstein, 147; Jayne, 156; Ginzberg, 177, and Baskin, unlimited.

Three squads still undefeated in State action

After two weeks of play in the 10-team State League, three teams are unbeaten in league play and are tied for first place. The squads which have yet to suffer defeat are Wyoming, California and Utah. The State League games are played at the Florence Gaudiner School every Saturday afternoon, as part of the Springfield Recreation Department's youth basketball program.

Both of the contests scheduled for this week promise to be tough ones for the Bulldogs. Both Rahway and Scotch Plains are among the best squads in the area and offer considerable challenges to the Bulldog grapplers.

The opening contest last week saw Texas stand off a late Idaho rally to score a 15 to 10 victory. Texas was paced to this victory by the sharp shooting of Texas forward Bob Nardone. Bob tallied eight points to pace both squads. Derek Goforth was also effective for Texas, as he tallied five points. Richard L. Hancock scored with three markers. Charles Adickman with four points also played well for the Idaho team.

Hurricanes ahead in Thursday action of bowling for boys

The Hurricanes in the Boys' Thursday Afternoon Bowling League suffered a pair of defeats last week but managed to hold a good portion of their lead over the remainder of the league.

With 10 weeks of league play completed, the Hurricanes are holding a three-game lead over the second-place Rockets. The boys roll at the Springfield Bowl in this Recreation Department-sponsored league.

The Raiders were the team that took the measure of the high-flying Hurricanes last Thursday. The Raiders, paced by Mike Gardner and Kevin Herridge, swept a two-game series. Mike rolled a high series of 245, while Kevin had an impressive 256 total for the two games, with both boys rolling well over their season averages. Ronnie Silverman of the Hurricanes paced all bowlers in this match, as he rolled a 290 series.

The Rockets moved to within three games of first place last week, as they split a pair of games with the Bullets. Marc Hollander, Bobby Nardone and Ed Graessle paced the Rocket attack. Marc led with a 267 series, while Bobby and Ed each had a 253 total for the two games. Kenny Baroff paced the Bullets with a 267 series, while Gregg Spector with a 253 series also rolled well.

Another match last week saw the Jets pick up valuable ground as they downed the Bombers in a pair of games last week. Steve Glover and Bill Schwab were the high scorers for the Jets team. Steve paced all bowlers in the match with a 267 series, while Billy was close behind with a 266 series. Peter Demmer and Bob Goldman each hit a 237 series to shake the honors for the Bombers.

The final match of the day saw the high-scoring Atoms even their season record by sweeping a pair of games from the Hornets. Jay Silverman once again turned in a fine performance to pace the Atoms. Jay topped all bowlers in this match with a 269 series. Danny Mariani was the top bowler on the Hornets with a 193 total for the two games.

Last week also saw Jay Silverman add a pin to his league-leading high individual average. Jay holds a three-pin lead over second-place Craig Nowinski. Jay is currently pacing the league with a 144 average. Craig is rolling at a 138 pace. Third place belongs to Mike Lerner, who is rolling at a 136 season mark. Mitch Wolf holds a fraction lead over Billy Schwab for fourth place. Both boys are averaging 134 at this point in the season. The remaining five boys in the top 10 are: Marc Hollander, 133; Todd Herman, 132; Steve Gray, 130; Steve Glover, 128; and Robert Goldman, 127.

Township team defeated in state table tennis play

The Springfield team lost to Oakhurst, 7-3, last week in N. J. Table Tennis Club competition at 124 Cort St., Irvington. Springfield now ranks seventh in the 10-team league, with a record of 31-39. Prudential leads with 41-26, followed by Union and Oakhurst.

Nat Stokes of Springfield dropped two straight matches to Jeff Swersky of Oakhurst, the state champion. Swersky is fourth place in the individual standings, with a percentage of 824. Swersky is undefeated in league competition.

THE FIRST QUARTER set the pace for the entire game. Both teams moved the ball continuously and pressed without let-up. Scotch Plains, the larger team, tended to control the boards more, but Dayton's sharpshooters hit for a higher percentage. Dayton first took the lead on two Lester foul shots, 10-8 and retained it for the rest of the period.

However, Joe Buccell of Dayton, one of their key defensive men and shooters, injured his foot with 1:30 on the clock and had to be removed from the game. Brian Sheehan entered and did a fine job, but losing Buccell did not help the Bulldogs.

Kurtz' defense was superb throughout, particularly in the second quarter, where he stole the ball consistently from the Raiders, with the help of Sheehan. On the rebounds, there was never an uncontested ball, with as many as five men up for every shot. Lester and Hirschorn passed and fed one another perfectly and rarely missed. Campbell rivaled Hirschorn in ball handling and was deadly from the foul line. Yet, in spite of all of this, the second quarter saw a decided let-down in the smoothness of the Dayton offense, and the Raiders led at the half by two, 26-24.

From the half on, the lead changed frequently, with both teams turned on. Campbell led the Dayton offense, and Kurtz was vicious on the boards against much bigger men. But Buccell, who had reentered the game with his foot taped, fouled out with 0:39 left in the quarter.

FOUL TROUBLE started to plague Scotch Plains, too, in the fourth quarter. Boisture, who had played fine basketball throughout the game, left with 7:31 left. Hirschorn sank both of the foul shots, and that gave Dayton the lead again, 46-45. But a quick Raider blitz gave them a slight edge that fluctuated between one and three points throughout three minutes of alternate scoring. The strengths of each squad began, particularly pronounced now: Scotch Plains controlling the boards, Dayton compiling a near-perfect shooting percentage.

Campbell made the three-point conversion with 4:42 left to tie the score at 53 all. It was the closest Dayton would come from then on. Arneson of the Raiders left with five fouls at 3:51, and Campbell followed suit at 3:10 with the Bulldogs down, 59-56. The loss of Campbell was probably the ultimate deciding factor in the defeat.

With 2:30 left and five up, 61-56, the Raiders started to freeze the ball. It was a perfect freeze, and the Bulldogs needed all their efforts to steal the ball. Bob Belliveau replaced Sheehan, who fouled out at 0:44, and Bill Murphy also entered the contest. Finally, with 30 seconds left, Kurtz broke the freeze and drove for a goal. Hirschorn and Lester both had opportunities to shoot, but Dayton failed to score. The Raiders won, and retained their Conference title by the razor-thin margin of two points.

Not much is known about Union, but if the Bulldogs can continue the way they have been playing, there should be little problem with the Farmers. Berkeley Heights has already lost to Dayton, 93-67, and although it will probably not be a 100-point game, the Highlanders do not pose a great threat to the Bulldogs. However, they are a big team that scores a lot, and they could surprise if their defense ever becomes strong.

Ivy League standings headed by Yale, Princeton, Cornell

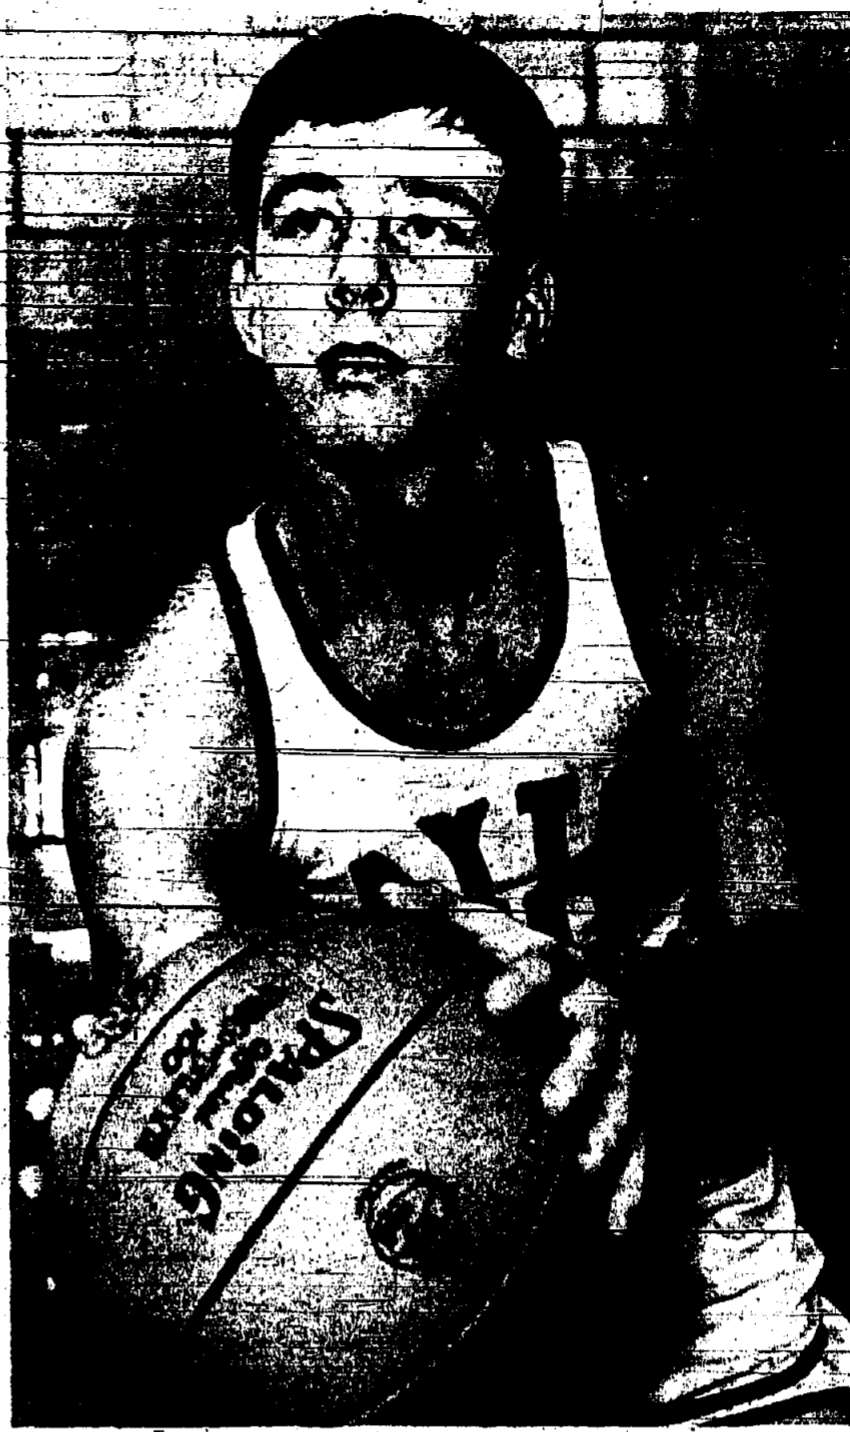

Action in the Ivy League last Saturday featured heavy scoring by all teams with three squads remaining unbeaten in basketball league play after two weeks. Yale, Princeton, and Cornell continued to impress in league play, as each quitted-rolled to its second victory in the six-team circuit. Ivy League play takes place at the Florence Gaudiner School every Saturday afternoon, sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department as part of its youth basketball program.

Yale faced Dartmouth in the opening contest last Saturday. Once again, Yale received a strong scoring game from Alan Schlangier to cost to a 35 to 21 victory over the green from Dartmouth. Alan tallied 19 points in this game to lead Yale. Ira Schulman was also effective for Yale with his long range bombing. Ira hit for eight points on four shots from outside. Dartmouth impressed those in attendance with a fourth quarter rally which cut into the large Yale lead.

Jim Schoch, with his hustle and drive, led the Dartmouth team. Jim led his team with nine points. Danny Silverman was also effective for Dartmouth, as he tallied seven points and rebounded well in the game. Dartmouth was at a disadvantage in this contest as they lost their defensive ace, Scott Pruiting, with a minor injury during the opening minutes of the game.

CORNELL SQUEEZED PAST Columbia in the second of the three games played last Saturday. Cornell built up an early lead and stood off a determined Columbia rally to remain unbeaten in league play. The final score was Cornell, 29-Columbia, 25. Ed Graessle paced Cornell as he hit for 18 points and rebounded in many rebounds. Dave Milman contributed seven markers to the Cornell victory.

Columbia put on a terrific last-quarter rally in this game, only to see their drive fall short of victory. Mitch Wolf and Steve Gray paced the Columbia rally. Steve was particularly effective, as Columbia stormed back. Steve hit on six of his game-high total of 10. In the final period, Mitch tallied eight points for the Columbia quintet. Peter Demmer with six points completed the scoring for the light blue.

BALANCE WHEEL—Junior Richie Campbell has been a steady influence throughout the season for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team.

Minutemen, 2-0, meet Union team on Saturday

The Springfield Minutemen opened their 1967 season last week on a note of success, as they gained two victories over formidable opponents. In the 1967 opener last Wednesday evening against the Irvington PAL, the Minutemen won a thriller by the score of 47 to 45. On Saturday evening, the Minutemen took the floor against the Linden PAL and returned as impressive 57 to 48 decision over the Linden quintet. Back games were played on the Springfield home court at the Florence Gaudiner School. The Minutemen will meet Hill's Sport Shop of Union in their next encounter this Saturday evening at 7 at the Gaudiner School.

The Irvington - Springfield game was a thriller from the opening tip-off, as the teams were never more than four points apart. Springfield, however, held a small lead throughout most of the game. A late Irvington rally, however, saw the visitors take a two-point lead with 36 seconds remaining in the game.

At this point in the game a jump ball was called under the Irvington basket. The tip was won by Bob Janukowicz of Springfield, who tipped the ball to Alan Schlangier. Alan drove the length of the floor and was fouled on the drive. Alan hit one of two free throws to bring the Minutemen to within a point. Janukowicz grabbed the rebound on the missed free throw and was fouled. Janukowicz sank his free throw to tie the contest at 45-45 with 21 seconds remaining. A subsequent turn-over gave the ball back to Springfield; again Janukowicz was fouled. Bobby sank the two free throws to give the victory to Springfield.

Although he was sitting on the bench during the last minute heroics because of five personal fouls, much of the credit for the Minutemen victory must go to their big forward, Eddie Graessle. Eddie paced the team throughout and led the Minutemen with 18 points and 18 rebounds. Eddie kept the Springfielders in front until foul trouble forced him to the bench during the closing minutes. Jay Silverman also played well for the Minutemen, as he hit for 11 points and played a strong floor game. Mitch Wolf also played a strong game up front for the Minutemen; Irvington was paced by the strong effort of Ed Garruto. The Minutemen could not hold Garruto, who hit consistently on a variety of jump shots. Garruto paced all scorers with 21 points.

LAST SATURDAY EVENING at the Gaudiner gym, the Springfield Minutemen played host to a strong quintet representing the Linden PAL. The Minutemen were victorious in a hard-fought contest by the final score of 57 to 48. Springfield played a strong game throughout, as they scored heavily in every period. It was not until the final stanza, however, that victory seemed evident. Linden was put on the floor by their fine 6-5 center, John Bodder.

This was a true team victory for Springfield with shells starting unit composed of Ed Graessle, Alan Schlangier, Bob Janukowicz, Jay Silverman, and Marc Hollander all doing their share to insure the victory.

Janukowicz played a strong game, holding the Linden big man to 11 points, while scoring 10 points himself. Schlangier played a very strong game for the Minutemen, as he drove and rebounded well. Alan counted for nine points. Marc Hollander played his finest game in a Minutemen uniform as he was an outstanding floor general for the home team. Marc contributed six points to the attack.

The star of the game for Springfield, however, was Eddie Graessle. Ed scored well, rebounded, and rebounded to lead the team to victory. Ed tallied a game high of 20 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. Ed scored 12 of his 20 points during the torrid third quarter when Springfield put the game out of reach; other fine performances from the bench were turned in by Mitch Wolf, Gregg Spector, and Jim Schoch. Springfield's fine reserve power makes them a strong team this season.

Junior varsity for Dayton has record of 7-4

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School junior varsity basketball squad is proving itself one of the powers of the area. Now with a record of 7-4, excluding Tuesday's game with Clark, the junior varsity cagers promise to maintain the strength they carry that this year's varsity shows.

Under the direction of coach Mike Iannelli, the JV's have not lost a single contest by more than five points, while their margins of victory have ranged from a low of seven to a high of 29. The latest triumph for the JV's was their decisive victory over Scotch Plains, 51-37, last Friday night. Earlier in the season the Bulldog JV's steam-rolled the Raiders by 10 points, 58-39.

The coach said, "Even when the team lost, they still did a fine job. Usually it was a case of being down and not being able to come back in time. We have made mistakes that have cost us ball games, but improvement has been steady. We certainly could have been 11-0 at this point, but the breaks were not always with us."

"Perhaps the key to our success has been the strength of our defense. On the average, teams scored 36 points per game against us; whereas we averaged 46 per contest. Another key asset has been the tremendous drive of the squad that has enabled us to make big comebacks in the final minutes of a game. If we can continue as we have been, we will be a success not only in terms of wins and losses, but also in terms of producing better ball players who give their best."

The leading scorers on the JV team are David Margulies, Dennis Lester, Joel Schwartz, Ralph Losanno, Alan Garavita, Lee Rothfeld and Steve Jupa, who has since been injured and is out for the season. Margulies and Losanno are the big men, while the other four are called "rabbits" by Iannelli.

However, the second team is also strong, adding considerable depth to the squad, often a saving factor. Ken Kurros, Jim Koenig, Bob Flaming, Dave Cohen, Mark Tene, Mike Davis, Alan Weisberg and Burt Kravets constitute this section of the team. All the JV's are sophomores.

Dayton has defeated the following teams thus far this season: Scotch Plains, 58-39 and 51-37; Kenilworth, 56-27 and 42-27; Westfield 40-27 and 45-28; and Hillside, 40-33. The team has lost to Clark, 36-34; Rahway, 48-44; Berkeley Heights, 52-50; Roselle, 44-39. Junior varsity contests are played before evening varsity games, at 6:45, and after varsity afternoon contests.

Tompkins, Kennedy top police bowling scorers

The Springfield Police bowling team No. 1 took two games from Irvington No. 1 last week in Inter-County League action. Top scorers for Springfield No. 2 dropped a pair to South Orange.

The previous week, Springfield No. 1 defeated Union No. 2, behind Tompkins, with 304-533, and Kennedy with 201-350. Springfield No. 2 was defeated by Plainfield No. 1, despite a 520 series for Springfield by Robert Kellerman.

Miss Brown leads Strikers to victories in girls' bowling

The Strikers and the Stars remained tied for first place at the conclusion of bowling activity last week at the Springfield Bowl. The teams roll in the Tuesday Afternoon Girls' Bowling League, which is sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department. The Strikers and the Stars both swept their respective two-game matches last Tuesday to remain tied.

The Strikers took two games from the high-scoring Alley Cats. Lisa Brown paced the Strikers with a 209 series. Randi Meyerson was also effective for the Strikers, as she bowled well over her season average. Diane Ogonsky and Bonnie Raskin paced the Cats. Bonnie had a 214 total for the match. Karen Lubber with a 204 series also rolled well for the Alley Cats in a losing cause.

The Stars made short work of the Bowling Anchovies, as they swept a two-game series from the Anchovy team. Donna Pfeiffer, with a 268 series paced the Stars and continued her top bowling of the past four weeks. Eileen Francis and Nancy Josephson were also effective in this Star-twin victory. Eileen rolled 203 for the two games, while Nancy scored 198. Cathie Tonko, with a 189 series, topped all bowlers for the Bowling Anchovies.

The Charmes moved back into league contention, as they swept a two-game series from the Wildcats. Barbara Owens and Debbie Gravenman combined to pace the Charm sweep. Barbara regained her early season form, as she rolled a series total of 234 to pace all bowlers in this match. Debbie rolled a 214 series to aid her team. Dawn Zarrelli, with a 196 series, was the top scorer for the Wildcats.

With 16 games bowled Diane Ogonsky is still pacing the Girls' Bowling League in the high average department. Diane is currently knocking the pins down at a 128 pace. Donna Pfeiffer, who has bowled only eight games and does not yet qualify for a place in the high averages, is rolling a 153 pace.

Eileen Alley is currently in second place with a 111 season average. Bonnie Raskin is the third place bowler with a 108 average. Fourth place belongs to Lisa Brown, who is rolling at a season pace of 103, while Virginia Vogt with a 101 season average is in fifth place. The remaining girls among the top 10 in averages are: Linda Mutschler, 100; Eileen Francis, 99; Debbie Gravenman, 99; Karen Lubber, 99, and Barbara Owens, 96.

The Tigers increased their league lead in the Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League to a full two games after play last week. The Tigers, with their steady style of bowling, have led the league for five consecutive weeks. The boys' roll at the Springfield Bowl, and the league is sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.

The Tigers divided a pair of games with the contending Warriors last week. The Tigers, after dropping the opener, rallied to win the second game and gain a split of the match. Roy Greenberg of the Warriors paced all bowlers in the match, as he rolled a 269 series. Perry Koplik with a 259 series was also effective for the Warriors. Howie Levine, Steve Harris, and Louis Klein all rolled well for the Tigers. Howie paced the trio with a 225 series. Steve rolled 222 for the two games, and Louis rolled 220 for the match.

The Falcons remained in second place but lost ground to the league leaders, as they were swept by the Rangers. The Falcons failed to win a game in this match despite the fact that Stuart Liebeskind of the Falcons paced all bowlers on the day with a 304 series. Drew Shulman, however, was the star of the match. Drew rolled better than 100 pins over his average, as he paced the Rangers triumph with a 269 series. Scott Prussing with a 258 series was also effective for the Rangers in this double victory.

In another match last week, the Hawks split two games with the Chargers. Mickey Harmon and Tommy Lowy paced the Hawk attack. Mickey led all scorers with a 255 series, while Tommy tallied a total of 236 pins for the two games. Larry Silverstein with a 247 series was the top scorer for the Chargers.

The final match last week was the Royals and the Chiefs split a pair of games. Gary Neifeld with a 241 series was the top bowler in this match. Gary's score together with Kenny Perimutter's 234 series, paced the Chiefs. Bobby Zucker was the top bowler for the Royals, as he rolled a 222 series.

Stuart Liebeskind, continuing his sensational bowling, moved his league-leading average to the 140 mark last week. Stuart is holding an 11-pin lead over Roy Greenberg and Jeff Slater, who are tied for second with averages of 129. Gary Neifeld, with a 128 season average, is the fourth place bowler, while Scott Prussing is fifth with a 125 season average. The remaining five boys among the top 10 average bowlers are: Howie Levine, 122; Steve Harris, 121; Mark Berkowitz, 121; Neil Elliot, 120, and Mickey Harmon, 118.

Mrs. Charles Miller, senior vice-president who presided over the meeting for Mrs. June De Fine, president, appointed Mrs. Stanley Wisniewski as chairman of the card party, with Mrs. Dominick Castorino to serve as her co-chairman. Mrs. Wisniewski requested that all members attend the next meeting on Feb. 8 for further preparations for the party.

New Year's refreshments were served by Mrs. Roy Hatterley and Mrs. Frank Rebel.

Small Fry League sees top places go to Tigers, Rockets

The Tigers and the Rockets moved away from the other six teams in the Sandmeier Small-Fry League at the conclusion of play last Saturday afternoon. After two weeks of play, the two squads remain as the only undefeated teams in the eight-team league, which is a starting league in the Springfield Recreation Department's youth basketball program.

The opening contest last Saturday at the Thelma Sandmeier School pitted the Rockets against the Chiefs. The Rockets kept their slate clean by rallying for a 7 to 3 victory over a scrappy Chief team. The Rockets, paced by Bruce Hoffman, tallied five of their gametotal of seven points in the final period. The Chiefs held a 3 to 2 lead going into the final session. Bruce tallied all the Rocket points in the final period. Steve Cohen was the Chiefs' top scorer.

The second contest in last Saturday's activity saw the Pirates roll to 13 to 6 victory over the Comets. Mitch Kurtzer and Russ Gray shared scoring honors for the Pirates, as each boy tossed in six markers. Mitch was particularly energetic from the free-throw line, as he tossed in four of six shots. Mike Haxel, topped the scoring column for the Comets, as he tallied four points. Steve Bruner tallied two points for the Comets and played a scrappy game.

In another contest, the Chargers scored in every period to down the Raiders by a 7 to 3 count. The Chargers' scoring was divided among Alan Geist, Kenny Cohen, Bob Roth and Jeff Marshall. With four boys in the scoring column, the winners presented a well-balanced attack. Mike Tabakin and Mike Fine shared the scoring for the Raiders.

The Tigers continued to show as the most impressive team in the circuit. The Tigers remained unbeaten as they scored a 16 to 4 victory over the Jets. Robert Lee led all scorers for the afternoon, as he tallied eight points for the high-scoring Tiger quintet. The remaining scorers in the eight-team league were equally among Leon Rawitz, Mike Nelson, Sanford Felman, and Alan Weinman. Jeff Schneider hit on three free throws to pace the Jets in this contest.

Car dealer cites safety standards

Volkswagen dealer Peter T. Liebman said this week that he has complete confidence in the VW factory's ability to conform with U. S. safety requirements—once they are finalized and put into effect.

Liebman, president of Deuling Motors Corp., Summit, said that "while a member of the Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards would be impossible for any car manufacturer to meet as they are presently constituted, there was every reason to be confident that the standards could, and would, be met by VW and other domestic and imported car makers if certain modifications and changes are made before they are issued." The government is expected to release final safety standards later this month.

At the present time, Liebman said, VW vehicles incorporate all of the safety features required under Federal regulations which include many which will be required in the future.

Spice chicken meal by adding oranges

For a gourmet dish with a touch of sunshine, says Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist, serve spiced chicken. It is a flavorful combination of chicken parts and orange sections.

The elegant appearance of this recipe is no garnish to cook. Both chicken and oranges are now in plentiful supply and reasonably priced.

The recipe for spiced chicken is quickly and easily prepared. While the meat parts are broiling, the sauce is made and poured over the chicken pieces for the last 15 minutes of the cooking time. The orange sections are added last.

Serve the chicken with fluffy hot rice and a mixed green salad for a supper that will add spark to dull menu plans.

- SPICED CHICKEN
1/2 cup flour
1 tsp. salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 broiler fryer chicken cut in serving pieces, or legs and thighs of 3 frying chickens, oil to depth of 1/2 inch in skillet
1 1/2 cups orange sections (4 or 5 fresh oranges)
1 cup orange juice
2 tbs. brown sugar
2 tbs. vinegar
1 tsp. mace or nutmeg
1 tsp. basil
1 clover garlic, minced
Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge chicken in this mixture. Heat oil in skillet; brown chicken pieces well. While chicken is browning, drain orange sections; add more juice if necessary to make one cup orange juice. Combine juice, brown sugar, vinegar, mace, basil and garlic in saucepan. Simmer; over low heat 10 minutes. When brown, drain off oil but keep brown bits in pan. Replace chicken; pour fruit sauce overall. Cover and simmer 15 minutes or until tender. Add orange sections and simmer, covered, five minutes more. Four servings.

Lutheran Church sends delegates to Rev. Henze affair

Two representatives of Grace Lutheran Church Union, were on hand at the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the ordination of Rev. Louis Henze, D.D., former executive of the department of home missions in the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

Robert Voelkel, a past president and charter member, and the Rev. Henry von Spreckelsen, founding pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, participated in the candlelighting ceremony at the service of thanksgiving, Sunday in the Village Lutheran Church on the campus of Concordia College, Bronxville, N.Y.

Grace Lutheran Church was one of the 80 Lutheran churches established under the administration of Dr. Henze, from 1931 to 1958. His field of service extended through the New England states, New York and New Jersey. The Union congregation was the first of those established in New Jersey (October, 1937). George Robinson, president of the church in Union, suggested that the local congregation made a donation of $100 toward the District Church Extension Fund in honor of the anniversary of Dr. Henze. The gift was presented at a banquet following the service. Mrs. Robert Voelkel and Mrs. Henry von Spreckelsen, accompanied their husbands.

A regular meeting will be held Thursday evening, Feb. 2.

Cantor to deliver sermon on music

Tomorrow night, Shabbat Shirah, Cantor Hillel J. Sadowitz of Temple Israel of Union, will deliver a sermon entitled, "A Bird's View of Jewish Music." He will attempt to retrace the steps of unrecorded and recorded music from the destruction of the Temple to today, traced in prayer-books and psalms. He will mention the Beal Shofar and the music of Chasmanim and of Eastern Europe and how they prayed. He will mention the contemporary composers and how they fused Jewish music, Nusch and trope will be discussed and exemplified with the proper method of Davening (synagogue) and the duties of a cantor in a modern synagogue of today.

FOR THE DEAD/ANTAGON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nursery schools and kindergartens have been hailed as the most promising way to start the education of the disadvantaged child.

But only half of the public school systems have kindergartens and almost none had a nursery school before the Head Start program began in 1965, the National Education Association (NEA) reports.

Reduce time by starting filing system

Don't let yourself just stuff letters from friends, bills, recipes and checks all together in a drawer or a box, says Mabel G. Stolte, County Home economist. The sooner you start a filing system -- the waste paper basket for unanswered letters and advertisements and an inexpensive cardboard file for papers you want to refer to again, the happier and more efficient you will be as a homemaker.

Many homemakers have found that the money or effort spent for a file of some kind has been a good investment. Your needs will determine whether you want a large or small variety. But make sure you use divisions, marked alphabetically, or otherwise.

Cardboard files have divisions from A to Z. It's a good idea to open papers that before filing. Then locate them under a letter which is logical for you to remember and associate with the material. Folders for files -- regardless of the kind of file you have, remember the system you use will make the difference between the time spent hunting and finding. Manila file folders and heavy dividers are a must in any size file.

Ann-Margret 'swings' into Millburn Theater

"The Swinger" opened yesterday at the Millburn Theater in Millburn. Ann-Margret plays the title role, that of a writer of a risqué magazine story, who claims to have participated in all the activities brought forth in the article. Tony Franciosa and Robert Coote co-star. Coote plays a doctor who is in love with her.

On the same bill at the Millburn is "After the Fox," a film comedy, starring Peter Sellers, Vittorio De Sica, Victor Mature, Britt Ekland, Akim Tamiroff and Martin Robinson. Sellers is seen in many disguises as a cunning, but ill-fated criminal. The picture was photographed in color.

A special engagement of the classic film "Romeo and Juliet" will be shown Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 25 and 26 at the Millburn.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: A very dear friend of mine recently released to the press the engagement announcement of her son, a college grad. The announcement included her son's accomplishments and honors received at Law School. I know (and so do many others) that he did not achieve at school what she said he did. As a matter of fact, he was lucky he graduated at all. Now, I ask you, how can a mother release such erroneous statements to the press and get away with it? And how would an honorable young man (her son) permit his mother to publish these untruths? Explain, please.

Dear Please: The "dragging mother" is as commonplace as an ice cream cone. Perhaps her son did not know of her plans to exaggerate to the press. But now that the deed is done, it would look worse for her son to print a retraction. If I were you, I would ignore it. Sometimes it's better to voice your disapproval in this manner.

Dear Amy: Just finished reading your column and the letter from "Mrs. R.R." Like her, I also gave up my Catholic religion when I married. I now have a daughter. My husband and I had her dedicated by a Protestant minister, but this doesn't make her a Protestant. Having her dedicated will give her the privilege of choosing her own religion later in life and be baptized as such. Maybe this is the solution "Mrs. R.R." is looking for.

Mrs. R.R.

Dear Amy: Our neighbor is continually borrowing from us and we can't put a stop to it. In the past we have spent more than twenty dollars supplying her with odd things, and he has even gone as far as borrowing wood from us last winter. We have put a halt to it in the past, but lately, she just comes back and back for more and more. Just what can we do?

Mr. and Mrs. Angry

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Angry: There is no one more annoying than a borrowing neighbor who doesn't know when to stop. Make up your mind once and for all to get rid of the itch by consistently saying "No" (and don't weaken) or she'll put the bite on you again.

Dear Amy: I want to write as well as you do. I have read many books from the library on how to write stories as a vocation. They haven't helped. I feel I have things to tell that may help people. However, I don't know how to fabricate a story professionally enough to be acceptable by a publisher. I'm my most generous critic.

Could you help to steer me or give me an example in writing a story—like a short story—from start to finish, and what's important most of all, to prepare a manuscript for submission to publishers to catch their interest. I can't afford a course in writing.

Anything you may be able to do for me will be greatly appreciated. I enjoy your column immensely, also, your sisters. You are amazing gals and you do provide a helpful service. Who else will listen?

Julia Toth

Dear Julia: For me to give you all the information you desire, it would be necessary for me to write you a book, which of course I cannot do. The books you have read in the library should have been very helpful to you. Perhaps you have overlooked the intention of the book by not sitting down and putting your inborn talents to work in a creative vein.

If you are creative and you know what keys to hit on the typewriter, you must furnish a beginning, a middle and an end of sufficient interest to get a publisher and public anxious to read your work for me.

Investigate the adult evening classes at your local high schools. Most of them offer Creative Writing courses for a very nominal fee... and this would be a good place to start. Good luck!

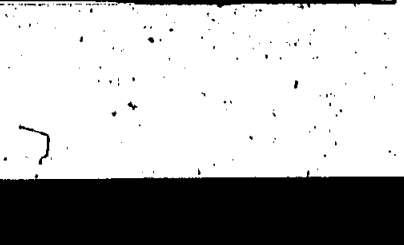

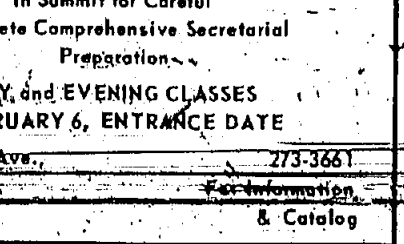

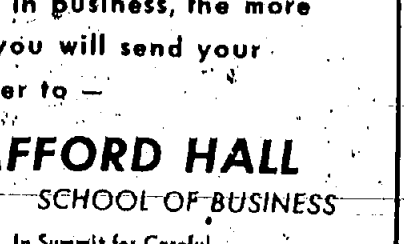

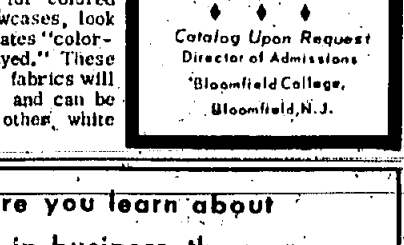

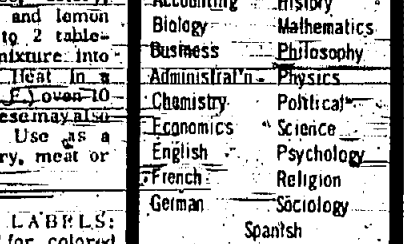

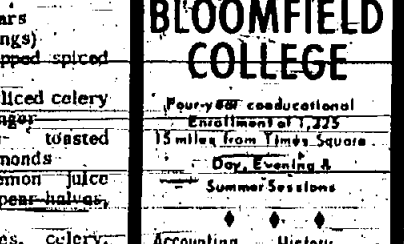

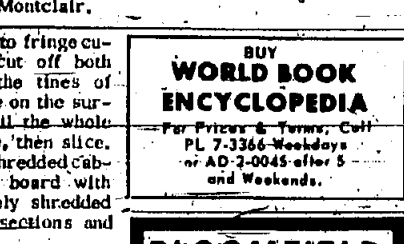

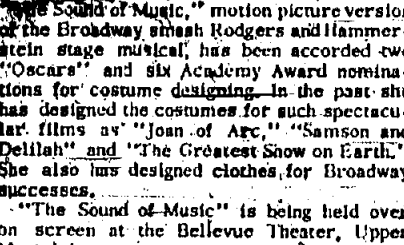

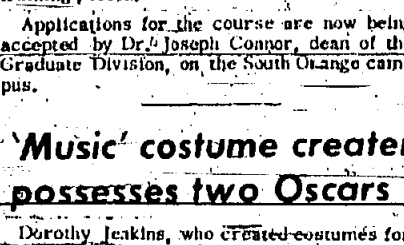

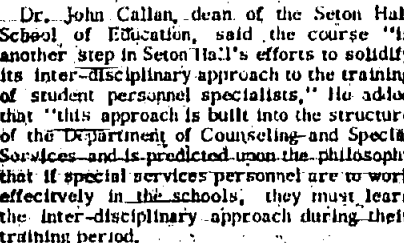

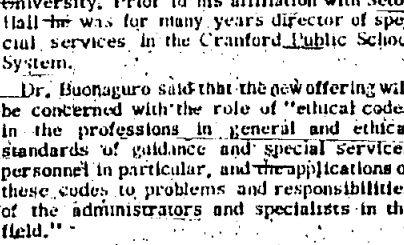

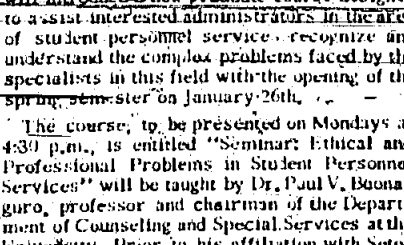

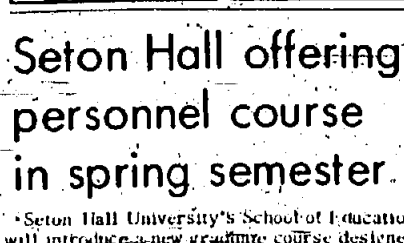

P. S. Thank you dearly for your comments about my work, Abby and Ann are sisters, but not mine. The only thing we have in common is the similarity of our profession.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

CAREER INTERESTS MUST MEET DEVELOPMENTAL NEEDS

by Mabel C. Solte County Home Economist

Do you find your child's career interests constantly changing? Today, David, at age eight, wants to be a merchant marine captain to see the world. Yesterday he wanted to be a pilot. Have you ever wondered at what age your child would make up his mind "once and for all" what he really wanted to be trained to do?

That each person has special needs throughout their life is an old story. The realization, however, that your child's developmental needs are being fulfilled by his changing interests is still one of the first steps that you, as a parent, must take to help your child mature.

One way the toddler, pre-adolescent and teenager meets his individual need to identify with other members of his group is through the process of acquiring career interests and abilities. As his needs change, so does his interest.

Your young child according to his experiences and interests of the minute may wish to be a fireman one day and a policeman or airplane pilot the next day. Your pre-adolescent becomes interested in various jobs as a means of understanding the adult world around him. He, also, wonders where he will be able to fit into the adult world.

The early adolescent, engrossed in his physical and emotional growth of the moment has no time to be concerned by a career. When a peace of some kind has been made with the pubescent changes, he again becomes career-minded and concerned with selection and preparation for a career.

Two of the most important things you, as parents, can do during these developing years, are to keep up with the changing technological and cultural trends around you and provide opportunities for both you and your child to learn the good and bad features of the many careers that are opening up each day. Meanwhile, always keep in mind, that a successful career must meet your child's individual needs and be geared to his own capabilities.

Seton Hall offering personnel course in spring semester

Seton Hall University's School of Education will introduce a new graduate course designed to assist interested administrators in the area of student personnel services.

The course, to be presented on Mondays at 4:30 p.m., is entitled "Seminar: Ethical and Professional Problems in Student Personnel Services" and will be taught by Dr. Paul V. Buonaguro, professor and chairman of the Department of Counseling and Special Services at the university.

Dr. Buonaguro said that the new offering will be concerned with the role of "ethical codes in the professions in general and ethical standards of guidance and special services personnel in particular, and the implications of these codes to problems and responsibilities of the administrators and specialists in the field."

Dr. John Callan, dean of the Seton Hall School of Education, said the course "is another step in Seton Hall's efforts to solidify its inter-disciplinary approach to the training of student personnel specialists. He added that "this approach is built into the structure of the Department of Counseling and Special Services and is predicated upon the philosophy that if special services personnel are to work effectively in the schools, they must learn the inter-disciplinary approach during their training period."

Applications for the course are now being accepted by Dr. Joseph Connor, dean of the Graduate Division, on the South Orange campus.

'Music' costume creator possesses two Oscars

Dorothy Jenkins, who created costumes for "The Sound of Music," motion picture version of the Broadway smash Rodgers and Hammerstein stage musical, has been accorded two "Oscars" and six Academy Award nominations for costume designing.

In the past she has designed the costumes for such spectacular films as "Joan of Arc," "Samson and Delilah" and "The Greatest Show on Earth." She also has designed clothes for Broadway successes.

"The Sound of Music" is being held over on the screen at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair.

PAPER SYMBOL—Three 16th century documents from Kenilworth Castle, England, are delivered to Mayor William J. Ahern Jr., right, of Kenilworth, N.J., as a symbol of friendship between the two communities. Julius A. Rippe of Madison, a personal friend of Lord and Lady Cyril Kenilworth, makes the presentation.

Kenilworth to Kenilworth Old documents given to mayor

Three ancient parchment documents dating from the early 1700's found their way from Kenilworth-Castle, England, to the mayor and council of Kenilworth, N.J., this week.

The historic papers were presented to Mayor William J. Ahern Jr., as a symbol of friendship between the two communities from Lord and Lady Cyril Kenilworth, descendants of the founders of Kenilworth Castle, built in 1150. Lord and Lady Kenilworth visited New Jersey in 1958.

To documents, which relate to financial transactions at the Castle in 1716, were given to Mayor Ahern by Julius A. Rippe of Madison, a personal friend of Lord and Lady Kenilworth. Rippe is also a director of the Elizabethtown Gas Co.

Mayor Ahern showed special interest in one of the documents which lists the sums of money to be paid to the Castle by the "freeholders" of that time for the use of Castle land during 1716-1722. Mayor Ahern is also a Union County freeholder.

Lord and Lady Kenilworth now live on the Channel Islands, but have been active in the 700th anniversary celebration of the historical Kenilworth Castle which was held last year.

Mayor Ahern said that arrangements will be made to put the documents on public display and that he will ask the council to pass a resolution of appreciation to be sent to Lord and Lady Kenilworth.

St. Theresa's Teen CYO planning tryouts for one-act play presentation

Tryouts for St. Theresa's one-act play will be held following the CYO meeting of St. Theresa's Teens at 8 p.m. Sunday in the school cafeteria.

A second tryout for those teenagers who were unable to make the first one will be held at 8 p.m. next Thursday in St. Theresa's school. Mrs. Arthur Avery will be the director and Miss Gene Moramarco the assistant director.

St. Theresa's CYO teens will hold a roller skating party on Saturday, Jan. 20 at the Boulevard Roller Skating Rink in Bayonne. Buses will leave from in front of St. Theresa's church at 7 p.m.

Persons interested in attending skating party were asked to contact the adult chairman, Mrs. Vincent Galasso, Ch 1-3093. Teen chairman is Pamela Best.

St. Theresa's Teens will also hold a Valentine Day Dance from 8 to 11 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 11, in St. Theresa's church auditorium. Music will be by the "Dommons." Tickets are available from Frank Sherman, adult chairman. Teen chairman is Joan Sica.

Scout groups plan service projects to mark Union Council anniversary

Service projects will be high on the list of activities for Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer posts in February as 720 Scout units celebrate the 57th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America in the Union Council.

Ell Levin, chairman of the council activities committee, explained that "a major objective of Scouting is citizenship training. One way of achieving this objective is through the project method in which Scouts actually learn about citizenship through practice and experiences."

Levin pointed out that the "Good Turn" helps Scouts to demonstrate through activities and projects that they are prepared to help others as well as themselves.

Other activities for the anniversary month will include demonstrations and window displays, Uniform Day, programs for institutions that use the Scout program and for other community groups, the traditional Cub Scout blue and gold banquets, Boy Scout parent-teacher nights and courts of honor for the presentation of advancement awards, special overnight camps and participation in religious services.

Many institutions that sponsor more than one Scout unit—for example, a Cub Scout pack, Boy Scout troop and Explorer post—will hold combined activities with the general theme "Scouting Rounds a Guy Out."

—Improve your self-image—Psychological research has shown that individuals generally accomplish only that which they first believe themselves capable of accomplishing.

—Develop interest and enthusiasm—Another key quality apparently possessed in abundance by successful people—and in large measure responsible for their success—is that most are intensely interested in and genuinely like—what they are doing.

—Work hard—There is, contends the institute, "absolutely no substitute" for this one.

How to succeed— with some trying

NEW YORK (UPI)—Why do some people become successful while others, with apparently equal ability, fail?

An organization which has made a six-year study of that question has come up with a formula of success for 1967, or any year.

First, plan the year carefully, says the New York office of Success-Motivation Institute (SMI) of Watco, Tex. Findings indicate that most successful individuals plan and organize their activity toward specific objectives, writing down goals in black and white.

Other guidelines based on research, surveys and work with leading business executives and educators, says SMI, are:

—Adopt a "positive attitude": Studies show that a personal characteristic common to successful men is that they concentrate on their strengths and assets, not their weaknesses and liabilities. They place greater emphasis on the opportunities inherent in each situation, rather than on the problems.

—Develop interest and enthusiasm: Another key quality apparently possessed in abundance by successful people—and in large measure responsible for their success—is that most are intensely interested in and genuinely like—what they are doing.

—Work hard: There is, contends the institute, "absolutely no substitute" for this one.

Boy Scouts launch program of world friendship for year

Members of the Boy Scouts of America in Eastern Union County will join millions of brother Scouts around the world in a year-long "World Friendship" program that is being launched this month.

As a part of the 40th anniversary of world scouting, local Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers are planning special activities that will be climaxed with "Friendship Campfires" and "Friendship Week" during the week of Aug. 1 to 9 when the XII World Jamboree will be held at Farragut State Park, Idaho, according to William Longstreet Jr., member of the Council Activities Committee for special events.

The theme "The Friendship" will be followed by the 2,000 Scouts in this area and will include correspondence, scrapbooks, tape exchanges, projects related to hiking and cooking skills from other countries, and participation in the World Friendship Fund of the Boy Scouts of America.

Predicts improved mortgage market

A more normal home mortgage market in 1967 has been predicted by Everett C. Sherbourne, vice president of the National League of Insured Savings and Loans and president of City Federal Savings and Loan Association of Elizabeth.

As a result, he said he expects a resumption of residential construction which was interrupted by the extremely agitated money market conditions that existed through most of 1966.

"Last year witnessed a sharp reduction in the level of residential construction throughout New Jersey because of the acute shortage of mortgage funds," said Sherbourne.

"The resulting high interest rates and the uncertainty of being able to obtain a mortgage on the sale of their present home discouraged many families from even considering buying the new home they needed or desired. The result was a serious softening in the real estate market toward the end of the year. There is already evidence during the months of November and December to give us considerable confidence that 1967 will stress a major improvement in the real estate and mortgage markets. By late spring, I believe that adequate funds will be available at reasonable rates to qualified home buyers."

Henry J. Gross, chairman of the Union Council World Jamboree Committee, said Union Council will be represented at the XII World Jamboree by seven Scouts—Stephen M. Dole, Donald B. Giegrich, Fred W. Hurl II of Cranford, Michael F. and William Moritz of Roselle Park, Charles Joseph of Linden and Daniel G. of Union.

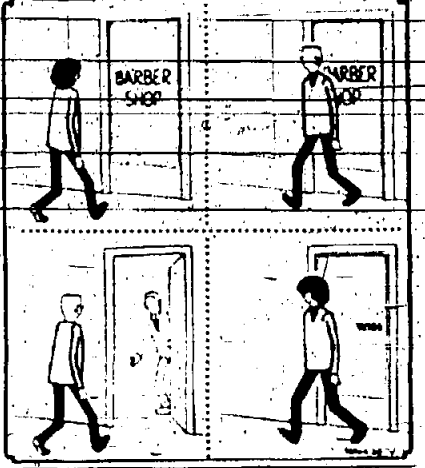

Nearly every scout unit in this area will carry out a world scouting activity in connection with the 57th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America which will be celebrated from Feb. 7 to 13, Longstreet said.

Cree elected chairman

Frank Cree has been elected chairman of the Kenilworth Board of Adjustment for 1967, with George Frank as vice chairman, Thomas Beninati as secretary, Alfred Morelli, as assistant secretary and Henry Pastore as treasurer.

The board reappointed Alden Markson as attorney and Mrs. John C. Varsie as stenographer.

Cubs' Blue-Gold dinner

Cub Pack 73 of St. James Church, Springfield will hold its annual "Blue-Gold Dinner" on Sunday in the church auditorium. Plans for the dinner were discussed at the recent pack meeting.

At this meeting, the Cubs also held their annual Christmas party. Pack master, Joe Bamburak, led in the singing of Christmas carols, after which the Cubs broke buns for candy and prizes. Santa Claus distributed gifts to the Cubs. Refreshments were provided by the pack committee.

Prior to the party, achievement awards were given to Stephen Ross, James Howes, Robert Potanski, Michael Thomas, Thomas Wisniewski, Michael Morris, Peter DeMarco, and Thomas DiFranco.

Response ahead of '66 in alien report program

DOMINICK T. RINAULT, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, this week said he is pleased with the response of aliens in this state to alien report requirements. The program has been underway for 20 days, and the number reporting thus far is well ahead of the number reporting for the same period last year.

Rinault reminded non-reporters who have not reported their address this year to do so within the next week. Alien address report forms are available at all post offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

GOP dinner head named

Loree "Rip" Collins, Republican County Chairman, this week announced the appointment of Lawrence H. Newcomb of Scotch Plains as Chairman of the County Committee's Annual Lincoln Day Dinner.

The GOP 10-dollar-a-plate fund raising event will be held at the Shackamoxon Golf and Country Club, Scotch Plains, at 7:30 p.m., on Tuesday, Feb. 7.

Newcomb, a graduate of Bucknell University, is employed as an engineer at the National Lead Company's Titanium Division in Sayreville. He is an assistant to the County GOP Chairman and an executive committee member of the Union County Republican Committee. In 1965 he served as Campaign Manager for the Union County Republican Assembly delegation, and in 1964 was the organizer of the New Jersey Scouting for Life Dinner.

Tickets may be obtained from the Ticket Co-Chairman, Mrs. Amy Bandemer of Springfield, and Georgy Syme of Railway.

ERRATIC METABOLISM
NEW YORK (UPI) - Recent observation of mentally retarded children has led to the discovery of several laboratory errors of metabolism, the National Foundation-March of Dimes reports. 'These findings open the way for diagnosis and treatment of infants to ward off brain damage and other serious results,' the foundation said in its annual report. 'At least 28 metabolic defects are known to affect the brain.'

Lourdes students win scholarships to Regis

Two eighth grade students in our Lady of Lourdes Grammar School, Mountainside, have won four-year scholarships to Regis High School in New York City. The two, Richard Romito of Mountainside and Paul Del Vecchio of Springfield, qualified for the scholarships on the basis of tests they took Dec. 17 along with 1,800 other grammar school youngsters from a metropolitan area. Only 185 of them qualified for acceptance.

Chaplain has new idea

FORT DIX, N.J. (UPI) - An Assemblies of God chaplain has found a way to beat the Sunday evening doldrums for men of the 5th Combat Support Training Brigade here. He is Lt. Col. Talmadge Ford McNabb, who conducts a special kind of chapel every Sunday with emphasis on informality and fun. Billed as 'lots of singing, but no preaching,' the service starts with prayer and a religious film, followed by group singing and refreshments.

Will discuss 'Headstart'

'Can Headstart Survive?' will be the topic under consideration at the Summit YWCA's Kaffeeklatsch program next Wednesday from 10:11 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Dr. Bernard S. Pratt, principal of Summit's Franklin School and vice-chairman of the Summit Pre-School Committee, will discuss the philosophy of Headstart, which has been done and what still needs to be accomplished. His talk will be highlighted by slides. Kaffeeklatsch begins with a half-hour coffee time at 10 a.m. The hour-long program follows at 10:30. Further information about the program can be had by telephoning Alan G. Ballard, program director, at the YWCA, 273-4242.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

EXAMPLE - What is wrong with the youngsters of today? In many instances, the question is simply answered. The problem with children is - parents. Some modern parents have forgotten the great value of example. They forget that anything said to a youngster goes in one ear and out the other if the child can see that his parents do not 'practice what they preach.' Parents cannot stand by the side of the road and point the way to the land of maturity and moral values. Point a child in any direction and more than likely he will eventually fall back and follow in the footsteps of his parents. One good example is worth a thousand words of good advice.

Jersey businessmen take a cautious peek into new year

A conservative view of New Jersey's business prospects for 1967, though far from pessimistic, is a prevailing opinion among the businessmen of the state as the new year begins.

This is the conclusion of the eighth annual survey of its membership by the New Jersey Manufacturers' Association. The results were released this week by Leonard C. Johnson, president of the association.

The canvass, which brought responses from the leaders of 2,752 business organizations throughout the state, revealed an attitude distinctly more cautious than the one held by New Jersey's businessmen a year ago. Generally, they expect continued economic growth, but of modest proportions, Johnson said.

The consensus view, for example, is for increase in sales and production during 1967, but for generally unchanged levels of employment and inventory.

Fewer companies than last year (38 percent against 44 percent) expect to expand during the coming year, the report said.

Johnson said that the assessment of the survey results is based primarily on a comparison of the findings of this year with those obtained in the surveys of previous years. While the consensus view was for sales increase during the year ahead, he noted, a smaller percentage than last year (62 percent against 70 percent) forecast a rise in sales.

Many more businessmen than last year—59 percent to 42 percent—expect increases in prices. For 1967, 87 percent expect higher wages, against 82 percent last year, he said.

"Certainly these results show a somewhat more cautious attitude to our economy than existed a year ago," Johnson stated. "This is probably a healthy sign, for it means that our economic growth is not likely to be of unsound or reckless character."

The survey also showed that foreign trade is of rapidly increasing importance to the economy of the state. More than half of those firms which now engage in foreign trade showed increases in sales in 1966 over 1965. Moreover, 156 companies, or one-fifth of the total number of respondents, said that they plan to enter foreign markets for the first time during 1967.

AS FOR THE greatest problem facing most New Jersey businessmen today, it is not tight money. It is either rising costs, which are related in part to the cost of labor, or the shortage of labor. About two-thirds of the state's business leaders cited one of these two problems as the most important one they expect to encounter during 1967.

More than half of the respondents in the survey, or 1,403 out of 2,752, came from manufacturing organizations. Substantial numbers of retailers (200), wholesalers (220), service organizations (353) and construction firms (220) also answered. In addition, there were smaller groups in the fields of finance, research and transportation. The sizes of the companies surveyed ranged all the way from three-man service organizations to some 50 firms employing over 1,000 persons.

In more specific terms, some of the findings of the opinion survey were:

SALES—Generally up, with 1,684 respondents (over 62 percent) forecasting increased sales. There were 725 who predicted little or no change, while only 290 foresaw a drop in sales volume.

Manufacturers were the most optimistic, with 945 out of 1,385 (68 percent) predicting increases just over half the retailers (155 or 207) who gave an answer in this category, saw an increase in store for the coming year. Respondents in the construction industry were considerably more reserved, with only 93 of 214 (43 percent) looking for increased sales.

EMPLOYMENT—Generally the outlook for employment levels to hold their own, with 47 percent of the business leaders surveyed forecasting employment increases. Another 47 percent predicted that levels would remain about even, while fewer than seven percent looked for a decline in employment.

Here again, the construction industry was the most conservative in outlook, with nearly as many firms (50) predicting a decline as the number which predicted an increase (64). The number of construction firms predicting no significant change was 104.

Manufacturers were more optimistic, with 51 percent predicting a rise in employment levels against 42 percent forecasting no change.

INVENTORY—More than half of those who answered this question (1,300 of 2,582) predicted that inventory levels would remain generally unchanged. There were 918 firms predicting an increase in inventories, while only 364 looked for a drop.

There was a more conservative view among retailers on this point than prevailed generally, with only 42 out of 293 looking for an increase, while another 146 foresaw no change. A higher percentage of wholesalers than retailers (42 percent to 31 percent) forecast inventory increases.

Overall, expectations on inventory did not differ significantly from last year's survey.

OUTPUT—The state's businessmen generally expect an increase in output. Such a rise was predicted by 57 percent of those answering, against only 9 percent forecasting a drop.

WAGES—An overwhelming expectation that wages and salaries will rise was revealed by the survey, with 87 percent joining in that prediction. Moreover, the high percentage of predictions for increase held true in all categories of business firms—manufacturing, retailing, wholesaling, finance, service, research, construction and transportation.

PRICES—The majority of the state's businessmen also forecast an increase in prices, though the vote here was less emphatic. Those predicting price rises numbered

1,559 or 57 percent of the total. Only 94 respondents, or three percent, look for a drop in prices.

State bureau names Clarke supervisor of district office

C. Thomas Ritt, chief of the Bureau of Children's Services, Division of Welfare, New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies, this week announced the promotion of Gregory Clarke of Springfield to supervisor of the Newark District Office of the Bureau.

Clarke began his work with the Bureau of Children's Services as a social case worker in the Newark office in 1962, was promoted to assistant supervisor assigned to the Jersey City District in 1964, and worked as an assistant supervisor in the Elizabeth District Office from last June 1966 under Dec. 1 when he assumed his present duties.

Clarke was graduated from Bates College with a B.S. Degree in 1956 and holds a master's degree in social work from Rutgers. The Newark office which Clarke now supervises serves the entire city of Newark and is the bureau's largest district office in the state, with a staff of seven assistant supervisors, one case worker supervisor, 40 case workers, and a clerical staff of 15.

Mrs. Clarke, the former Rysona Mauer, previously employed by the Bureau of Children's Services, is now doing graduate work at the Rutgers Graduate School of Social Work. The couple has four children.

THE JAYCEES

dedicated to building a better community

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is an organization of young men at work, building for themselves and their communities a life instead of a living.

The Jaycees feel that they owe a debt of gratitude to the community which provides them a home and the privileges of citizenship. They try to repay that debt by taking an active part in the development and improvement of the community, by promoting civic leadership.

Jaycees are active in 2500 chapters in the United States and 52 other countries, performing many vital services to mankind. They promote religious ideals, public safety, mental health, and community recreation facilities for youngsters. They sponsor safe-driving campaigns for teen-agers, get-out-the-vote drives, and better-local-government campaigns.

The Jaycees provide these and many other services to the communities in which they live. But they ask nothing in return, for they feel that every young man has a stake in his community, and what he does to improve it is just a part of the debt he owes.

New skin diving regulations to be considered at hearing

A public hearing regarding proposed new regulations for skin diving on all navigable waters throughout the state will be held by the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development at the Labor and Industry Building in Trenton on Monday, Jan. 30, at 10:30 a.m.

In announcing the scheduled hearing, Conservation Commissioner Robert A. Roe said the following regulations adopted by the Department's State Boat Regulation Commission at its December meeting would be discussed:

A. Underwater diving with or without an underwater breathing apparatus is permitted in all waters of New Jersey unless otherwise prohibited by rules and regulations.

B. Any persons while diving shall mark his position with a flag displayed from a buoy, float, boat or other floating object. Such flag shall be a minimum of 18" x 18" and shall be ground with a white diagonal stripe running from one corner to the other.

C. No person shall operate a power vessel within 50 feet of the buoyed flag.

D. It shall be unlawful for any person to display such a flag at times other than when diving is in progress.

E. No person may swim or dive in a narrow, confined or improved channel or in a marked fairway under a bridge, or impede, obstruct or interfere with the passage of watercraft therein.

F. Peter J. Ganpon, chief of the Conservation Department's Bureau of Navigation, noted that oral statements will be heard during the hearing but for the accuracy of the record written statement are preferred.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the State Boat Regulation Commission will meet in executive session to consider the testimony presented, with Chairman Jack Sullivan presiding.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

CAREER INTERESTS OF CHILDREN
CHILDREN'S NEEDS

Do you find your child's career interests constantly changing? Today, David, at age eight, wants to be a marine scientist to see the world. Yesterday he wanted to be a jet pilot. Tomorrow he may want to be a doctor. Your child would make up his mind "once and for all," what he really wanted to be trained to do.

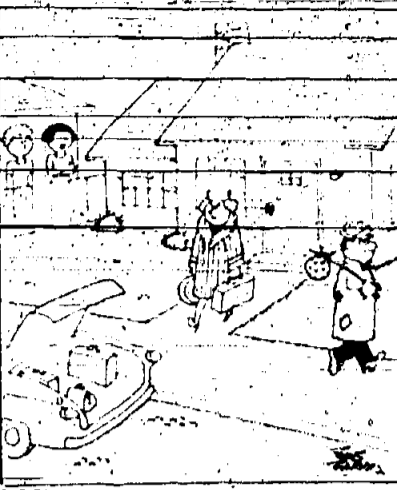

That each person has special needs throughout their life is an old story. The realization, however, that your child's developmental needs are being fulfilled by his changing interests is still one of the first steps that you, as a parent, must take to help your child mature. One way the toddler, pre-adolescent and teenager meets his individual need to identify with other members of his group is through the process of acquiring career interests and abilities. As this need changes, so does his interest.

Your young child according to his experiences and interests of the moment may wish to be a fireman one day and a pilot or an airplane pilot the next day. Your pre-adolescent becomes interested in various jobs as a means of understanding the adult world around him. He, also, wonders where he will be able to fit into the adult world.

The early adolescent, engrossed in his physical and emotional growth of the moment has no time to be concerned by a career. When a peace of some kind has been made with the adolescent's changes, he again becomes career-minded and concerned with selection and preparation for a career.

Two of the most important things, you, as parents, can do during these developing years, are to keep up with the changing technological

Quick holiday now possible Jets bring vacation spots near

BY MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — And now it is the "quickie" holiday that is getting popular.

You don't have to wait for your annual vacation to come around to break the routine and take off to enjoy the sun, sand and scenery. A long weekend is all that is necessary these days.

The jet plane has brought almost any vacation spot in the United States and its nearby islands within hours of home. The jet plane provides the rapid transportation when you need it.

The year ahead offers a number of long weekend opportunities in addition to the traditional holidays around Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas and New Year's, both Memorial Day and the 4th of July fall on weekdays during 1967.

While vacationers have been booking fly-drive holidays for years, Hertz Rent A Car reports the number of quickie holiday reservations handled at its agencies throughout the United States showed a marked increase in 1966.

Hertz says the quickie holiday is designed mainly for active sightseeing recreation, not the passive relaxation of the lengthier vacation at seaside or mountain resorts.

The company has compiled a listing of some of the most popular locales for the quickie vacationer. Most are in continental United States and are especially suitable for families, since they include points of interest for children.

Among the most popular are:

Williamsburg — This charmingly restored example of Colonial Americana in Virginia provides more than enough interest for a full weekend of sightseeing. Travelers can fly to Richmond or Newport News and drive to Williamsburg in about an hour. Nearby Jamestown also offers major historical sights.

Hawaii — The 50th state appears tailor-made for a fun-in-the-sun quickie holiday. Hertz has an all-island plan which provides for a rented car on any of the major islands.

New Orleans — Site of one of the most colorful and celebrated Mardi Gras festivals, the Louisiana metropolis also affords historic sightseeing trips into the bayou country.

Black Hills — Scenes out of the Old West make the Deadwood City area of South Dakota a natural attraction for sightseers. Monumental sculptures of four presidents carved out of sheer rock on Mt. Rushmore and the Badlands National Monument provide interesting side trips. Jet planes fly into Rapid City, Washington, D.C. — The nation's capital provides an awesome array of historic sights for young and old. The surrounding area, especially in Virginia and the nearby Delmarva Peninsula, offers a variety of attractive and scenic locales, easily visited by automobile.

The Grand Canyon — A jet to Las Vegas — which makes a good stopover on its own — brings this magnificent natural wonder within a few hours by car. Families should be sure to stop at Boulder Dam and Lake Mead on the way to view the Canyon's fantasy of color, rock formations and winding river gorges.

Yosemite National Park — Scrambling waterfalls, immense Sequoia redwood trees, primitive mountains and colorful gorges are only some of the attractions. Jet planes to San Francisco give quickie-holiday travelers a chance to visit the Golden Gate City before driving to Yosemite.

Other prime destinations include Salt Lake City for its Mormon temples, Great Salt Lake, Bonneville Flats and skiing (Hertz rents extra charge in ski areas) and the Amish-Dutch country in Pennsylvania.

No major breach in Berlin Wall expected in '67

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin's new mayor says there will be no major breach in the Berlin families split by the Wall.

But Heinrich Albertz, successor to Willy Brandt, probably is being too optimistic.

There is no reason to think the East Germans will relax their travel restrictions.

Albertz took over as the "governing mayor" — his official title — after Brandt became foreign minister and vice chancellor in the new coalition government of Brandt's Socialists and the Christian Democratic Party of Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger.

Both Albertz and Brandt long have advocated what they call a policy of "small steps."

By this they mean the West German and West Berlin city governments should deal with the East Germans to reach agreements that would make the split of the nation and city more bearable.

Albertz, for example, believes the West has room for maneuver in which they can talk to the East Germans without recognizing the Soviet 70th regime.

This policy rules out recognition. Albertz is convinced that recognition of the "German Democratic Republic" would seal the division of Germany and prevent German reunification.

Albertz hopes the new West German coalition government will make proposals to the East German government in an effort to bring about limited agreements.

But there appeared little reason to think that the East Germans, for example, would agree to restore the telephone links between East and West Berlin or freely issue passes so West Berliners could visit East Berlin.

The East Germans did sign a new agreement with the West Berlin city government to open an emergency pass office in West Berlin. The emergency office issues passes so West Berliners can visit East Berlin relatives in case of illness, death, births and weddings.

But the Wall, built Aug. 13, 1961, still bars other travel by Berliners across the city border.

One barrier to any new agreements is East German insistence that the West specifically accept the term "German Democratic Republic" in the agreement's wording.

In the past the curse was taken off such terms — which the West considers tantamount to recognition — by both sides noting that they had disagreed on their use.

But the Communists now have made it clear they will accept no limitation on acceptance of "German Democratic Republic" in new agreements.

Albertz says he will not sign such an agreement and Bonn will not either.

Death toll: 27; using seat belts: none

None of the 27 motorists killed in fatal accidents on the Garden State Parkway last year were wearing a safety seat belt at the time of emergency.

The New Jersey Highway Authority last week issued that report of its analysis of the fatal accidents on the Parkway during 1966. Three other victims of fatal accidents last year were pedestrians.

The 30 fatalities on the Parkway in 1966 was an all-time high for the superhighway rated the nation's safest in six of the previous years since the Authority began its operation during 1954.

Of the 23 vehicles which carried the 27 riding victims in last year's fatal accidents, seven were equipped with seat belts.

Of 15 other vehicles involved in the fatal accidents (excluding the three which struck pedestrians), seven had seat belts installed and in four of them the established life-savers were being used. All riders in those cars survived.

There was a total of 26 fatal accidents on the Parkway last year, four of which each involved a double death in one car. Both the number of fatal accidents and that of individual fatalities were annual highs for the Parkway, exceeding the previous record of 24 and 26 respectively in 1959.

The Authority has long advocated the use of seat belts in cars for greater safety, equipping its own staff vehicles with them and posting signs at points on the toll road to urge motorists to wear them.

Traffic accidents and injuries went down on the Parkway in 1966, but fatalities rose to an all-time high for the superhighway rated the nation's safest in six earlier years.

The Highway Authority reported that, while total accidents on the Parkway decreased from the 1965 mark and injuries dropped for the second year in a row, the number of deaths went up.

Accidents involving personal injury also decreased from the year before, but the traffic fatalities were 10 above the 1965 total and four more than the previous Parkway high in 1959. With an estimated 1,776 billion miles of vehicle travel on the Parkway last year, the 1966 fatality rate stood at 1.24 per the 100 million-mile standard. It was 1.23 in 1965, a peak of 26 fatal accidents, the most in any one year since the Authority started Parkway operation in 1954, accounted for the 30 deaths. Nine of the fatal accidents occurred in State-owned sections of the Parkway. In 1965, the 20 deaths resulted from a like number of accidents.

The number of accidents of all types went down from 1,732 in 1965 to 1,641 last year, and those involving personal injury dropped from 546 to 534 with resulting injuries at 854 against the previous 892.

The Parkway fatality rates were lowest among superhighways of the nation in 1955, 1956, 1957, 1960, 1961, and 1963.

MAN'S reliability, versatility and ingenuity makes him impossible to replace on board both aircraft and spacecraft in the foreseeable future, reports Robert G. Loewy, director of the University of Rochester Space Science Center. He says that "man's reliability is worth the price of providing a habitable compartment with its life support system, instruments and manual controls, in preference to the alternative cost of increased communications and computing, and automatic, sensing, switching, and duplication required to obtain an equivalent level of reliability."

RECONDENSING carbon dioxide before it is used provides a constant supply of saturated and subcooled liquid at the point of application, reports Cardox, Chicago. Pressure in a bulk storage tank fills the recondensing system's receiving unit with both gaseous and liquid carbon dioxide, dropping the pressure in the receiving unit. The resulting liquid carbon dioxide is then pumped into the high pressure storage tank. At the same time, the liquid carbon dioxide is subcooled by a thermostatic balancing control.

BY SPOILING FOOD, common bacteria probably have saved many people from food poisoning. The reason for this apparent incongruity, a University of Wisconsin bacteriologist explains, is that less harmful bacteria in food may inhibit the growth of other, more toxic organisms.

A CORNELL UNIVERSITY sociologist says he has evolved a way "to plug" the "brain drain" by converting human behavior patterns into mathematical terms and feeding them into a computer. He says his method will help government and academic planners predict the migration habits of scientists and technicians. By knowing the in advance, planners can take steps to keep their scientists and technicians from moving to other positions.

IF PSYCHIATRISTS are right, the emphasis in the word "asthma" should be on "ma". They say the mothers are a primary cause of childhood asthma. Sometime in the mother's personality sets off the child's dark, hidden fears and anxieties, reports the American Medical Association. "This in turn produces allergic reactions in the child which constrict the bronchial tubes and make breathing difficult or even painful.

Turnpike traffic tops 70 million during past year

The New Jersey Turnpike Authority reported another record-breaking year with more than 70 million vehicles of all classes using the road in 1966. This was announced this week by Joseph Morecraft, Jr., chairman of the Authority.

A total of 70,219,727 vehicles of all classes traveled the Turnpike last year, 4,892,615 more than in 1965 or an increase of 7.5 percent. Of the 70,219,727 vehicles, 69,850,328 were toll revenue vehicles and 369,399 represented non-revenue passages. The latter were made by State Police patrols, emergency vehicles and other traffic movements by Turnpike personnel during day-to-day operations.

The 1966 traffic more than tripled the level of 24,500,000 vehicles projected for the year 1975 in the original traffic estimates made when the Turnpike was built 15-years ago.

The Authority has launched its program to widen the northern 30 miles of the Turnpike from Edison to Ridgefield Park. This is the busiest stretch of the Turnpike roadway covering less than one fourth of the 118-mile mainline but absorbing more than 60 percent of the entire traffic volume.

UNCLE SAM'S REMARKABLE ESCALATING DEBT CEILING

Congress is about to push the "up" button again - on Uncle Sam's remarkable escalating debt ceiling.

This is a statutory limit imposed upon public debt under a series of laws dating back to the Liberty Bond Act of World War I. By 1945, World War II had pushed the ceiling to $300 billion. Following the war Congress reduced the debt limitation and set a "permanent" ceiling at $285 billion. However, as deficits continued to pile up, Congress adopted successively higher "temporary" debt ceilings, the latest permitting the Federal Government to borrow up to $330 billion.

Even this is not enough, however. As 1967 opened, actual debt outstanding was pushing within a half-billion dollars of the $330 billion ceiling and the Treasury was hard pressed to keep within the statutory limit. One of the first orders of business before this year's 90th Congress appears to be legislation further elevating the debt ceiling.

This, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, will be another in a long series of reminders that the Federal Government continues to overspend its income while digging deeper into debt. There have been ten such "reminders" in the past six years as Congress jacked up the "temporary" debt ceiling to accommodate additional borrowing.

A measure of the high cost of borrowing in the annual interest charge on the national debt, expected to total $12.9 billion this fiscal year.

The pro rata share of this debt interest charge, alone, to taxpayers in New Jersey is estimated at $62 million. If this amount were available to New Jersey, it would be enough to pay 64 percent of the cost of State Government, or 90 percent of the total levy of school taxes.

Effects of alcohol on drinker's kin to be discussed

The effect of alcoholism on the family of a drinker will be the problem to be presented at the annual meeting of the Mental Health Association of Union County next Monday evening at the Mountside Inn, Mountside.

The Association will present a new play, "Lady on the Rocks," with a Broadway cast which will dramatically explore the situation.

The annual meeting will also honor Dr. William E. Ganss, medical director of the Union County Psychiatric Clinic for outstanding leadership in the field of mental health. Dr. Ganss has served the clinic since 1957 and will leave this post in June.

As a principal speaker at this very important meeting, the Mental Health Association has invited Dr. Humphrey Osmond, director of the Bureau of Research in Neurology and Psychiatry of the State of New Jersey. Dr. Osmond is an outstanding psychiatrist with a world wide reputation in many areas of mental illness.

The press and public are invited to attend the meeting starting with the presentation of the play at 8:30 p.m., a spokesman said.

ALL ABOUT PEOPLE

by GENE ROSENFELD

ELGENE TIRE CO.

WATCH YOUR WEIGHT...REDUCE...LOW CALORIES...NON-FATTENING...These are part of today's conversation, vocabulary, and advertising. More and more people are becoming very weight conscious, and it seems that almost everyone is watching their figure.

Consider if you will the weight problem of Mrs. Colesta Geyer who in April of 1959, had vital statistics at 84-84-70, and tipped the scales at 333 lbs. She decided to reduce, and reduce she did. For 14 months she struggled with her weight, and her diet. Like all things it paid off and at the end of this time her vital statistics diminished part passu from 84-84-70 to 64-64-28. Her weight from 333 pounds to 120 pounds. Remarkable to say the least, and chances are you've heard of Mrs. Geyer, but as the Circus Fat Lady alias Dolly Dimple.

Reducing isn't our business but Tires are, both NEW AND RETREADS, so why not stop down and see us at ELGENE TIRE CO. We're conveniently located on Milltown Road (Between Route 22 and Morris Ave.) Opposite Slick Patch.
