Regional board candidates address voters

Deadline nears on flood damage

A "last appeal" for residents to submit estimates of flood damage caused by the Rahway River in recent years highlighted a brief, sparsely attended meeting of the Township Committee Tuesday evening in the Municipal Building. The audience had just reached six people when the 40-minute session ended. The appeal for flood damage estimates was made by Committeeman Robert G. Planer, who presided in the absence of Mayor Arthur M. Eakin. Planer said that the township had received a "good number" of flood damage estimates.

Final bid made by United Fund to achieve goal

With the help of more than 100 Boy and Girl Scouts, the Springfield United Fund on Saturday conducted "Operation Mirror," its last effort to attain its goal of $39,750 in its first year of unified fund-raising in the township. The name of "Operation Mirror" was chosen to remind Springfield residents to look at their own participation in the campaign, according to a United Fund spokesman. He stated that the fund-raisers would have to reach at least 75 percent of their goal in the current drive to have the beneficiary agencies agree to take part in the campaign next year. As of last week, he added, receipts were only approximately 30 percent of the $39,750 goal.

Presbyterians set for 221st meeting of all congregants

The Springfield Presbyterian Church will hold its 221st annual congregational and corporation meeting this evening in the Presbyterian Parish House. The Rev. Bruce W. Evans, pastor of the church, will preside as moderator at the congregational meeting which will begin at 8 p.m. Robert W. Halsey, elder, will serve as clerk of the congregational meeting. The corporation meeting will be held immediately following the congregational meeting, and Halsey, E. Blahut, president of the board of trustees, will moderate this meeting. Robert E. Stefany will serve as secretary.

Pay scale planned for town teachers

The teachers' salary guide planned for the next school year was disclosed this week by a spokesman for the Springfield Board of Education. Teachers with a bachelor's degree will go from a starting salary of $6,000 per year to a top of $10,500 in 15 annual steps. The scale for those with master's degrees runs from $6,300 to $11,100, in 16 steps. Teachers with six years of college studies will receive $6,600 to $11,300, in 16 steps. There will be another two steps, to $11,700, for those with doctor's degrees. In addition, the school board will pay the teachers' share of health insurance costs, coming to approximately $100 per year per teacher.

He commented, "Anything we add to the list will help our case." The total will be compiled shortly, Planer said, so that the township can present a full list of damage to Federal authorities as part of the effort to achieve a flood control project for the Rahway River. The committee introduced a $60,000 bond ordinance to provide air conditioning for the Town Hall. The new equipment, scheduled to be in operation by July 1, will cool the entire building, except for the Fire Department garage. Another ordinance won final passage without opposition. It vacates and returns to the Union County Park Commission a portion of Milltown rd., abandoned following construction of the new bridge now in use over the Rahway River.

THE GOVERNING BODY approved an agreement with the Jersey Central Power and Light Co. to provide improved street lighting in three areas. One section, the full length of Linden ave., will cost the township an additional $251 per year. New lights for W. Bryan ave. near Troy dr. will cost an extra $197.50 annually. The third area, running from Morrison rd. to Molter and Marcy avenues, will cost $320 per year.

Committeeman Phillip Del Vecchio announced plans for a meeting of local officials with county authorities Tuesday to discuss possible widening and straightening of county roads within the township. He particularly cited danger areas along Balmorol way near Henshaw ave., not affected by Route 78 construction. Planer announced that all Township Committeemen will be at Town Hall Monday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 to discuss any problems which residents might wish to bring to them. He noted that this is part of a new policy to make the administration more accessible to all residents.

ACTING FOR THE MAYOR, Planer appointed five residents to a new citizens' budget review committee, with one more to be named. Appointed were Daniel Lucy, Harold Liebskind, John Brennan, Wallace Callen and Frank Haydu.

He also named seven teenagers to serve on the Springfield Youth Council for the coming year. They are: John Brennan, Jr., 91 Briar Hill circle; Diane Donohue, 112 High Point dr.; Raymond Haines, 29 Beverly rd.; Mary Garner, 89 Diven st.; Steven Pillier, 108 Madison ter.; James Wellen, 16 Garden oval; and Patricia Zabalski, 59 Battle Hill ave.

Planer appointed Jack King as a new member of the township's industrial committee. King is vice-president of the Commonwealth Water Co., Raymond J. Pochopin is appointed as a member of the Volunteer Fire Department. Edward Anagnos was promoted from the rank of fireman second class to fireman first class.

In the public discussion period, Ed Rall warned the governing body of new attempts by the Port of New York Authority to revive plans for a jetport in the Great Swamp area of Morris County. He urged the committee to take an official stand opposing the project, and all members expressed agreement.

Public Library names new officers, announces plan for Library Friends

Election of new officers to head the Springfield Public Library and plans for organization of a new group to be known as Friends of the Springfield Public Library were announced this week by the library board of trustees. Milton Kapstatter is the new president of the library, succeeding Robert W. Halsey. Also elected were George W. Gleim, vice-president; Mrs. Anita M. Epstein, secretary, and Mrs. Winifred D. Yuckman, treasurer. Other board members are Halsey, John Berwick, Superintendent of schools, and Mayor Arthur M. Eakin.

Committee appointments, with the chairman listed first for each committee, are as follows: Operations, Gleim; Mrs. Yuckman, Halsey; building and grounds, Halsey, Berwick, Mrs. Epstein; policy, Mrs. Epstein, Gleim; Mrs. Yuckman; community relations, Mrs. Yuckman, Berwick, Halsey; finance, Mrs. Yuckman, Mrs. Epstein, Gleim; library expansion, Halsey and the entire board.

The Friends of the Library group will hold its organizational meeting next Tuesday, Feb. 2, at 8:30 p.m. at the library. The group extended an invitation to "everyone who is interested in library services. The group will name officers and committees and adopt its by-laws. A library spokesman said the new organization will be a "group of citizens in the community who have a common concern for the library's active expansion and participation in community life. They have a conviction that good library service is important to everyone."

The board of trustees at a special meeting on Jan. 19 presented the following resolution to explore the establishment of a Friends of the Library group in Springfield: "The board of trustees, as evidence of its interest, wishes to go on record as supporting the creation of a Friends of the Library organization. From the board's knowledge of similar organizations' activities in other communities, it is realized, that a

Friends' group can perform a worthwhile service for the library and the community. "This service has many varied aspects such as creating public support for an expanding library program; encouraging gifts, endowments and memorials for the library; working for library legislation or appropriations; sponsoring programs designed to add to the cultural life of the community. "Also, adding public relations by informing the community about the library's services and problems; communicating the need of the community to the staff and library board; calling public attention to outstanding achievements of the staff; "Also, providing direct financial assistance for the library to purchase special and unusual items which cannot be purchased from the budget. "Certainly, each group will formulate its own objectives, depending upon membership interests and the needs of the community. "This resolution formally expresses the pleasure of the board of trustees at the establishment of the Springfield Friends of the Library."

The purpose of a Friends organization depends on group interests and community needs, according to Mrs. Helen Francis, director of the library. She said she thought Springfield's greatest need is for broader public awareness of the services the library can offer to everyone in the community and for some way that the library can learn of people's needs and interests in order to continue to improve the quality of library service.

Mrs. Yuckman, temporary chairman for the Friends group, described the functions of the Friends as a "two-way bridge between the community and the library. A Friends group would explain to the community the services presently being offered by the library, as well as those being considered for the future. At the same time, the Friends would appraise the library board and the staff of the public's varied interests and kinds of services desired in the new library."

Offer views concerning high schools

Blend praise, criticism at annual forum session

By ABNER GOLD
The attitudes of the four candidates for one seat on the Regional High School District Board of Education in the Feb. 7 election were summed up in their replies to the final question of the evening at the annual "Candidates' Night" forum held Monday at the Florence Gaudineer School under the sponsorship of the League of Women Voters and the combined PTAs. The questioner asked each candidate to list one top priority item on which he would seek action, if elected. John A. Hopping, the incumbent, said that there was no one outstanding need, and that he planned to continue present policies of the board. Mrs. Natalie R. Waldt said she would give primary attention to remedying a "lack of communication between the board and the people of Springfield." Leonard A. Golden commented that he did not like to choose one single item. He added, "All the things we have discussed here tonight are important."

Henry S. Wright said he would work for changes in the law to permit "free prayer in the schools" and to encourage "better, wider elections for board members." IN HIS OPENING REMARKS, Golden said he could offer "no panacea, but a strong interest in the welfare of our children. Stressing that "education is a continuing process," he said that as a parent, he would ask himself, "Is this best for our children?" Mrs. Waldt noted that she was "deeply involved in the civic and educational affairs of Springfield, and concerned as a mother, with the need for quality education for all our children." She asked for the voters' help "in placing my experience and involvement where it will do the most good."

Mrs. Waldt added that as PTA president at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, she had raised several issues concerning the school "which were settled favorably to all concerned." Hopping said that, as an incumbent, he preferred to discuss the scope and functions of the Regional Board of Education. He stated that it serves six communities with four high schools, using some 99 acres of ground and valued at $2,547,000, constituting the largest regional school district in the state. He noted that 67 percent of last June's graduates have continued their education. He emphasized that the board works to provide a "comprehensive, balanced plan of education" for all the youngsters of the district.

Wright began his remarks by introducing his wife and three small children, declaring, "This is my future." He said he would work to "keep politics out of the schools and obtain the best educational base possible for your children and mine." He also stressed that he is a member of the American Legion. He stated, "Radiating spiritual and moral qualities to the community is of greatest wealth to the future interests of our children. The school boards are no place to feather the nests of some at the expense of others, or to cant others' in one's own image, as a sermonist seeks to do."

IN HIS REBUTTAL, Hopping urged the 400 members of the audience to "vote in favor of the school board on Feb. 7 and to cast your vote for your favorite candidate."

Wright was the only other candidate to address the audience. In rebuttal, he stated, "In New York, everything is going downhill because they've had territorialism and to get a civilian review board was defeated by the voters." One of the first questioner asked the candidates what plans they would suggest to attract "quality teachers" to the regional schools and to keep those already on the faculty. "In the face of losses incurred and the slipping of old teachers to other communities," Wright commented that the new teachers' salary guide "would make the system more attractive. He also suggested further improvements in the physical plant as well as establishment of a "morale factor, to meet teachers' needs in other areas beside salary." Stressing that the new pay guide will attract "good teachers," Hopping stated, "We have good ones now. We are not looking more than other districts." Wright said, "We have to balance quality education and the needs of teachers with the needs of taxpayers, especially those who don't have children in the schools. Keeping teachers is not all a question of money. It is a matter of dedication." Mrs. Waldt declared, "We are in competition."

Polls at high school in regional election

Springfield voters in the Regional High School Board of Education election on Feb. 7 will vote at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Entrance through the gymnasium door is the most convenient way to the polling place. Hours are from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. Until last year, hours had been from 3 p.m. until 9 p.m., but they were extended a year ago to give citizens more time to vote.

ZIP Code use to help mailing of packages with new system

Use of ZIP Code now makes it easier to mail packages, Springfield Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio said this week.

New rates and a new system of identifying parcel post zones went into effect on Sunday as provided by legislation signed into law by President Johnson on Sept. 20, the postmaster pointed out.

The rate increases average about 10 cents a parcel, Del Vecchio said. Starting July 1, the law provides for a series of size and weight increases on packages mailed between first-class offices. Springfield is a first class post office.

Use of ZIP Code in the recipient's address will enable the sender or a mail clerk to quickly identify the proper zone, and thus the rate, for the parcel. The zone will be based on the distance a parcel travels between the 552 sectional centers in the country, Postmaster Del Vecchio said.

By consulting a simple chart, which appears on this page and is available at all post offices, the zone can be readily identified because the first three numbers of the ZIP Code represent the sectional center. This replaces a method in which a directory often had to be consulted to locate the proper zone for each of the nation's 33,000 post offices.

The new rates will range from 40 cents for a three-pound parcel destined for local delivery to 60 cents for the same parcel to zone 3 (150 to 300 miles) to $1.05 to zone (over 1,800 miles). The new zoning method will also apply to air parcel post, to catalogs and to publishers who pay zone rates on the advertising portion of their periodicals.

Postmaster Del Vecchio noted that all parcels mailed between post offices within the Newark Section Center (070-073) will be charged at the first zone rate.

The new rates are expected to provide an additional $74 million a year for the Post Office Department. The later size and weight increases will add another $32 million a year. The additional revenue is to help keep the Department within four per cent of costs on parcel post as the law requires.

SPRINGFIELD LEADER PAGE OF COMMENTARY AND FEATURES

Editorial Comment

Each little comment has a meaning all its own

One of the major problems in our advanced culture is that of communications. All too often, we hear the words, but we are not sure of their exact meaning.

There is, for example, the old story of the two psychiatrists who met on the street. One said, "Hello. How are you?"

The other one went on his way, mumbling, "I wonder just what he meant by that."

There are other examples of hidden meanings which are a great deal more common. A husband might tell his wife, "You look very pretty. I really like that dress." What he means is, "I certainly hope you don't expect to buy anything else this season."

Another typical sample comes when a municipal official, undoubtedly in some other community, declares, "I feel that approval of this zoning variance will be of great benefit." What he means is that it will be of great benefit to his brother-in-law, who is scheduled to handle the insurance on the building.

On another level is the complaint of the teen-ager, who says, "You're just behind the times. Everybody else is allowed to do it." The true import of this comment is that her parents never paid any attention to what she was doing.

until now, so why should they care about whether 13 is old enough to smoke.

The expert in any field, from tool-making to education to the conduct of organization meetings, is often heard to say, "We've always done it this way, and you're expected to follow the standard procedure." What he means is that he doesn't intend to change after all these years, and he doesn't care whether or not he's been doing it all wrong.

There is also the young man who tells his dearly beloved, "I feel so lonely every minute I'm apart from you, but I think we are still too young to go steady." What he means is, "Have you seen that little blonde who just moved into town?"

Another frequently heard comment is usually applied to an innocent child. It goes, "What a lively little one. He certainly takes after his father's side of the family." What it means is, "I never saw such an ugly kid before."

One more, and this hidden meaning is revealed only with some misgivings, is heard when the newspaper editor turns down the picture of the masquerade ball held by the Ladies Tea and Crumpets Society. He might say, "I'm really dreadfully sorry, but we just won't have room to fit that in." What he really means is that this is a family paper, and he doesn't want to frighten any helpless children.

ROADS TOO ICY

Now that the streets are all clear of snow and ice, it is easy for us to forget what we had to put up with during our last snowfall. However, we all look forward, if not all too happily, to a few more snowfalls before the winter is over.

I am sure I echo the wishes of all my neighbors who live up on Rolling Rock rd. in Springfield that it would be ever so nice if the township of both Springfield and Mountaintide would find it possible in the future to see to it that we residents up here are not forgotten. Surely both townships will realize that the Rolling Rock Hill is a steep hill to climb. It is not properly plowed and sanded, the going gets pretty rough. The kids have a ball sliding down, but grown-ups have a heck of a time getting home. Cars are constantly making two and three tries to get up, some look for an alternate way to get home, and some find it necessary to abandon their cars and hike up the hill.

PROFILE--Mrs. Elwood Carmichael

By BEA SMITH

The Springfield Senior Citizens Club has become so popular that a second club is in the process of organization. And Mrs. Elwood Carmichael, new chairman of the Springfield Senior Citizens, has gone all out to help organize the second group.

Mrs. Carmichael, a happy, energetic senior citizen, explained the other morning that the first group is composed of 75 members.

"Five years ago, when we started, we had approximately 12 or 15 members. But the membership has mounted so through the years, that the growing number has necessitated a second group.

"People who have lately expressed a desire to join the club will be included in the second group. And coincidentally," she added, "the new group is starting out with 12 to 15 members."

Both the first and second groups were scheduled to hold their respective meetings yesterday. Hereafter, the first group will continue to meet in Legion Hall, while the second group will meet in the Recreation House on Mountain ave.

MRS. ELWOOD CARMICHAEL

Mrs. Carmichael said that it was all "one great big surprise to her, and she felt very honored."

"Our Senior Citizens," she said, "are also recognized in the church bulletin of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield, of which I am a member."

"I go there weekly. To me, going to church means going in to have your battery charged up," she grinned.

"WE HAVE TRIED to make it as pleasant as possible," Mrs. Carmichael declared. "And during our meeting there is an atmosphere of friendliness and happiness and interest in one another."

"You see," Mrs. Carmichael explained, "we've all gotten to know each other well, and we call each other by first names. That is why it is important to have a second group. Sometimes it may be difficult to remember everyone's first name when the group gets to be larger than 75."

"It's a wonderful thing for older people to be able to get together this way," she said. "It's especially important when your children are married and are away from home and have their own families. Getting together in this manner has given us a chance to review the hopes and secret longings that many of us have."

Mrs. Carmichael said that "many of the original members are still with us. Others have been put in God's care, and some have moved away from Springfield to distant places to live with their children and their families."

The meetings, Mrs. Carmichael indicated, "are quite informal. We start by singing My Country 'Tis of Thee. Then Mr. Ruby opens the meeting, and we have birthdays announced, and we sing 'Happy Birthday' to the celebrants. You know, we've had 11 folks with January birthdays already," she smiled. After we sing our tribute to them, we ask each to make a little speech and tell a little something about themselves. Some talk about the old days, others tell about their homeland across the seas."

MRS. CARMICHAEL explained that she also is "on the advisory committee on human rights in this town."

Born Ellen Bates in Newark, Mrs. Carmichael was married in 1919. "We moved to Springfield about 45 years ago, and we've seen many changes in this community. I have always been interested, mostly quietly, in politics. And I was never afraid to speak up for what was right."

Mrs. Carmichael said that she is the oldest of nine children. "I have seven sisters and one brother, all still living, and a 92-year old mother, who lives in Maplewood. Her name is Mrs. David W. Bates."

"And I have a wonderful family... that's the main thing in life. I have two daughters, Miss Grace Carmichael, who is at home, and a married daughter, Jean (Mrs. Ellis) Zolnier, who lives with her husband and their four children in Berkeley Heights."

What do the Carmichaels do in their spare time?

"Well, we go to see our married daughter and our four grandchildren frequently. We take care of things around the house and keep ourselves generally busy. And we try to be good neighbors."

REGIONAL ELECTION

It is a shame that only 45 per cent of American registered voters turn out nationally to pick their President every four years. However, in this part of Springfield that number is a 90 per cent vote at the November general election in town.

It is no wonder Regional School Board elections and their annual budget referenda historically turn out only a very small percentage of the 8,000 registered voters in Springfield. It was bad enough when there were only four polling places (instead of the usual 13) but with the 1967 innovation of only one polling place, two machines and seven hours, the physical facilities are curtailed to ridiculous proportions.

For example: if each voter takes only one minute (60 seconds) to vote (and that's quick on the trigger, Podner), then in seven hours (2 p.m. till 9 p.m.) with two machines, that physically allows only 840 voters, or only 10 per cent of the registered voters of our town who says we live in a democracy? If you're afraid of the line, and don't go to vote, you may not have any chance to vote at all.

Then there is the matter of adequate notice. The schools and newspapers do the best they can, but what about the myriads of taxpaying registered voters who have no children in high school or who don't read the local papers?

The only answer is a timely mailing of sample ballots to each registered voter at his last known legal address. If the school can't do it, how about the League of Women Voters? With bulk rate mail, the cost would be infinitesimal in quest of true democracy.

Springfield has general elections once a year in November (without a budget referendum), and 90 per cent turn out. This Feb. 7 Regional School Board election is a general election. Why are the voter's rights diminished in a rationally impossible polling place when a $5 million budget is at stake and four candidates are contesting one seat? (Town budget 1/3 this much money and only two contestants.) LWV, help!

"We've had 11 folks with January birthdays already," she smiled. After we sing our tribute to them, we ask each to make a little speech and tell a little something about themselves. Some talk about the old days, others tell about their homeland across the seas."

"WE HAVE PEOPLE of all different nationalities and all different faiths," Mrs. Carmichael said proudly. "And we do not talk politics, religion or nationality at our meetings. Yet, we've grasped the opportunity at every occasion when we've had need for a minister or a spiritual leader at our meetings."

"For example," she said, "we celebrated seven golden wedding anniversaries, and these people got personal recognition."

"We've had 11 folks with January birthdays already," she smiled. After we sing our tribute to them, we ask each to make a little speech and tell a little something about themselves. Some talk about the old days, others tell about their homeland across the seas."

What immediately struck me was the fact that only one of the four candidates seeking board election, namely Mrs. Natalie Weid, has expressed a desire to provide a better, more communicative liaison between this community and the Regional Board itself.

I believe this because of her efforts on behalf of the parents, teachers and students of our community. Your editorial calls for a "Door" on the board and not a "talker." It calls for the best representative and not just a better board member from Springfield. Her past background, the work she has done, her post-a "new look" on the Regional Board if she is elected on Feb. 7.

SENATOR CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

It is already apparent in the new Congress that Vietnam continues in the forefront of the minds of all members, just as it is in the minds of the public.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee of which I am a member, already has started hearings on Vietnam and hearings are scheduled on a number of other pressing problems of foreign policy. The President's State of the Union message served to point up this general concern.

In the domestic area, one specific proposal in the President's message was for a 90 per cent increase in individual and corporate incomes. Congress must, I believe, give the most thoughtful consideration to whether in the present state of the economy this would have the desired result.

On many other subjects the President was much less specific. It was a long and wide-ranging speech but I caught only the slightest reference, for example, to the sorely troubling problems of racial injustices.

And it largely left to future messages and to Congressional investigation the questions of how its generally desirable goals can most wisely and effectively be pursued.

Even before the President appeared before a joint session of the House and Senate, I was deeply involved in preparations for the first big fight in the Senate.

As it has in the last several Congresses, the Senate opened with the battle over its Rule 22, which establishes the procedure for ending a filibuster against pending legislation.

One area where Rule 22 always has an important impact is, of course, civil rights. But the impact of the rule has not been confined to civil rights alone.

By allowing a handful of senators to thwart the will of the majority, Rule 22 has often led to compromising or abandoning important legislation without submitting the legislation to a vote of the Senate. In the last Congress, for example, the price extracted by a Southern minority for permitting creation of a Committee on Reorganization of Congress was exclusion of rules changes from the scope of the committee's recommendations.

The major controversy during the remainder of the session is likely to focus on budgetary and monetary matters, including the effect of the President's proposed surtax would have on the nation's economy.

The President has made clear that he will request an additional $9.4 billion for Vietnam for the current fiscal year and that he will seek to cut spending on domestic programs by $5.3 billion.

Most of the cuts proposed by the President are in programs for housing, poverty, transportation and education.

If there is to be any progress, certainly it should be eliminated. Yet, many of these programs play important roles, some essential roles, in our efforts to improve the well-being of all our people. I believe Congress should give first priority, as it has in the past, to the space program and the various government activities.

Action also is long overdue on many matters which do not have direct budgetary overtones.

Foremost among these is revision of the Selective Service Law, which expires July 1. It has been 15 years since this law was last examined closely by Congress. During that time it has accumulated many inequities and these have been accentuated by the war in Vietnam.

Social Security is another area where improvement is needed. Despite an increase in the benefits in 1965, inflation has eroded the meager income of those who have retired. The method of financing the President's proposal in this area will demand close Congressional scrutiny.

This brief glance at the issues facing the 90th Congress demonstrates it will be a challenging session.

What immediately struck me was the fact that only one of the four candidates seeking board election, namely Mrs. Natalie Weid, has expressed a desire to provide a better, more communicative liaison between this community and the Regional Board itself.

Wall Street Notebook

By ARTHUR POLLACK

(This is the first of a weekly series of articles dealing with such topics as inflation, the stock market and wages. Mr. Pollack is with Palm, Webber, Jackson & Curtis in New York.)

INFLATION AND EMPLOYMENT

During the three years of the current period of business expansion, the nation's economic growth was achieved within a framework of relative price stability. How? Because the economy was operating at less than full employment. Early this year, however, the U.S. economy became "fully employed."

"Full employment" means just that. It means that the nation no longer has any reserves of either manpower or productive capacity.

Classically defined, full employment means an unemployment rate of not more than 4 per cent. And a manufacturing rate of 92 per cent of total capacity is the maximum at which optimum operating conditions prevail.

When either - or both - of these percentage figures is exceeded (i.e., when unemployment declines below 4 per cent, and/or manufacturing exceeds 92 per cent of total capacity) efficiency is sacrificed and costs soar.

Growth in productivity slows down as a result of less efficient and less skilled labor, and because of the necessity for manufacturers to utilize obsolete plant and equipment.

Today, this slowing in the rate of productivity growth is being accompanied by an accelerated rate of wage increases. Labor recognizes that the cost of living has increased, and it feels its wages and salaries have failed to keep pace.

Thus, the current trend of wage increases - in excess of realized increases in productivity - spells added stimulation to the pressures of cost-push inflation.

Teachers and public employees will cost the State $32.1 million, an increase of more than $3 million. The State's Social Security contributions have nearly doubled since 1965 when they cost $17.9 million. The Legislature provided separate pension and social security benefits for public employees at the 1966 session, effective in 1967.

Other State-financed pension program contributions next year includes Consolidated Police and Firemen's Pension Fund, $6 million; State Police Retirement System, $4.5 million; and miscellaneous pension funds, $1.5 million. Payments under the 1958 pension increase act will cost $1.1 million next year.

Other State-paid benefits include $5.9 million for non-contributory insurance for teachers and public employees and $3.6 million in health benefits.

Next year's $138.2 million total is based upon requirements of the various funds requested of the 1967-68 fiscal year budget to be submitted shortly to the State Legislature by the Governor. Since they represent requirements for funding established under previous laws, they will be largely met under the current budget.

Largest appropriation will go to the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund in the amount of $67.4 million, up nearly $15 million over the present year. The Public Employees' Retirement System will take $16.1 million, up more than $5 million.

The Springfield Public Library Book Discussion Group will hold its next meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 in the Public Library, 30 Main st.

Under discussion at this meeting will be the novel, "Invisible Man," written by Ralph Ellison. "Invisible Man" deals with the life of a young Negro who begins with dreams of a career and success in a Southern college setting and ends in despair after a race riot in Harlem. The young man strives to retain his integrity but finds that he must contend not only with the whites in his environment but with powerful members of his own race as well.

Leading Tuesday evening's discussion will be Judge Harold Ackerman, presiding justice of the Union County District Court, and a resident of Springfield. Judge Ackerman also led the session on workmen's compensation this past fall at the Jonathan Dayton Adult School course in "Law for the Layman." Meetings of the Springfield Public Library's Discussion Group are held every three weeks at the library. The public is invited and no advance registration is necessary, the library announcement added.

Historian to speak to Cranford group about New Jersey

From Tom Quick the usual stayer to the ghost of Ringwood Major will be the range of a program on New Jersey's past to be given by Adeline Pepper, Springfield, author and historian, at the Feb. 15 meeting of the Wednesday Morning Club of Cranford.

An award-winning photographer, Pepper will also show color slides of unusual historic sites in the state. Her talk, "Strange True Tales of Little-Known Places in Jersey," will be preceded by a dessert luncheon and business meeting in Sherlock Hall.

As the author of "Tours of Historic New Jersey," which describes some 500 places of historic and recreational attraction in the state, Miss Pepper has traveled to every part of the state of Jersey for her tour book, which received a certificate of merit and was named the official state guide, has become the best-seller of the New Jersey Historical Series.

In 1966, Miss Pepper wrote a new work about the state's history, "The New Jersey," which is part of the New York-London series volume in Lippincott's eighth series, "Guide to the U.S.A."

The speaker has been a volunteer participant in a number of the University of Baraboo, an 18-month manufacturing tour of 1700 which the state is engaged in restoring. Miss Pepper also writes for publication in the New York Times, the Chicago Tribune and other publications. She is a member of the Authors Guild and the American Medical Writers Association.

Highway builders close street

The N.J. Department of Transportation has announced that a detour went into effect last week in connection with the Interstate Route 78 and Route 24 Freeway project under construction in the city of Summit and Springfield township in Union County.

The closed portion of Broad St. (Morris ave.), which extends about a quarter-mile through Summit and Springfield, is open to local traffic only. Through traffic is being eliminated at this time to permit construction work to be done on this stretch of road.

A department spokesman said that Broad St. (Morris ave.) will be closed for about four months to both eastbound and westbound through traffic between Middle ave. and the intersection of Morris ave. and the Morris and Essex Turnpike at Balmoral way.

This work is part of a two-mile project, begun in September, 1965.

Heart Association fund campaign to begin with meeting of volunteers

The Union County Heart Association will begin its annual drive for funds tomorrow night at a meeting to be held in White Laboratories, Kenilworth. More than 200 volunteer workers are expected to attend the session.

Alex Sladkus of Elizabeth, chairman of the association's board of directors, will open the session. Leola Okun, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Okun of Linden, will light a torch signifying the start of Heart Month in Union County. Miss Okun, who has successfully undergone heart surgery, is serving this year as "Little Miss Heart-Fund."

Dr. Lawrence Gilbert, director of thoracic and cardiac surgery at Beth Israel Hospital, Newark, will be the speaker. Dr. Gilbert, who was graduated from the medical school at the University of Edinburgh, is a diplomat in surgery; a fellow of the American College of Cardiology, the American College of Angiology and the American College of Chest Physicians. He is also a fellow and founding member of the Society of Thoracic Surgeons, and a former associate professor of clinical medicine at the New York Medical College and Flower Fifth Avenue Hospital.

A consultant to St. Elizabeth, Alexian Brothers and Elizabeth General Hospitals, Dr. Gilbert has been supported by the Union County Heart Association in a number of research efforts. The author of more than 25 medical papers, Dr. Gilbert will discuss advances in heart surgery and research.

Robert Thompson, personnel director at White Laboratories, will be host for the meeting. Guests will be greeted by Mrs. Dominic Menzaco of Linden, chairman of the county association's special meetings committee.

Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union, chairman of the 1967 fund drive effort, will announce the Heart Association's goal for the campaign that will be held during February. Among those expected to attend are Mrs. Marie Moscaritolo, Heart-Association chairman for Kenilworth; George C. Walasek, chairman Roselle; Fred Colucci, Roselle Park; Donald W. Rinaldo, Springfield; Chester Koby, Union, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kelly, Winfield.

Residents urged to watch Palsy Telethon Saturday

Julius R. Pollatschek, president of the United Cerebral Palsy League of Union County, this week urged all residents of the County to view the 10th Annual United Cerebral Palsy Telethon, to be televised on WOR-TV Channel 9, Saturday 11:30 p.m. to Sunday, 5:30 p.m.

"Funds raised from this annual event will help the Cerebral Palsy League continue its program of services to the cerebral palsied, residing in Union County," Mr. Pollatschek said. "Funds received during the 19-hour period from Union County residents will benefit more than 100 boys and girls who attend our Center at 216 Holly St., Cranford. Our aim is to insure the development of these children to their greatest potential."

Kathy Murray, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Murray of Rahway, has been appointed Junior Chairman for the Telethon. Kathy was examined at the Center three years ago, and could not walk. Pollatschek said. She was enrolled in a physical therapy and occupational program at that time. Recently, Dr. Charles I. Nadel, medical director, prescribed control braces and Kathy is now able to walk with special crutches, he said.

DURING THE 19-HOUR telethon period, entertainment will be provided by movie, television and radio stars, including Dennis James, master of ceremonies, and Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme, host and hostess. In addition to the entertainment, boys and girls with Cerebral Palsy will demonstrate progress made through therapy received at United Cerebral Palsy Centers during the past year. Viewers may watch a taped demonstration of Speech Therapy with five year old Debra Faderwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Faderwick of Fords, who with her speech therapist will be seen on Sunday morning. Debra is receiving physical, occupational, and speech therapy, as well as a school readiness program, at United Cerebral Palsy of Middlesex County's Cerebral Palsy Center in Edison. One hundred and twenty-five telephones will be manned by volunteers at the United Cerebral Palsy Telethon Center during the 19-hour period, to receive pledges from New Jersey residents. Participating New Jersey affiliates are United Cerebral Palsy Association of New Jersey, United Cerebral Palsy of North Jersey (Essex, Bergen and Passaic Counties), United Cerebral Palsy of Monmouth-Ocean Counties, United Cerebral Palsy League of Union County, United Cerebral Palsy of Hudson County and United Cerebral Palsy of Middlesex County. Affiliates in New York State and Connecticut will also participate.

"We are grateful," Pollatschek said, "for the fine response of more than 500 volunteers, who will work at our message center."

Young GOP raps 'organization line'

A resolution condemning the use of the "organization line" in Republican party primaries was unanimously passed by the Union County Young Republicans County Council last week. The County Council consists of two voting delegates from each of the 10 municipal units.

The "organization line", which places screening committee choices on one line on the ballot and delegates those who wish to run against them to a lower line, was scored as follows:

"1. It attempts to subvert the purpose of the party primary election which is to give the Republican voters the opportunity of selecting those candidates which they feel will best represent the Republican party."

"2. This subversion is accomplished by placing candidates who are running against the screening committee choices in a disadvantageous position on the ballot; that is, on a line below the 'organization line.'"

"3. It may cause it further handicaps a highly qualified non-screening committee choice by his position on a lower line next to perennially losing candidates."

"4. It will tend to produce charges and suspicion of bossism and political deals when several members of a screening committee can dictate the choice of candidates."

The resolution called for the permanent discontinuance of the "organization line" practice, which was used for the first time in the 1966 Union County Republican primary.

Students still eye business careers Rutgers counseling program sparks interest

Have colleges seniors really lost interest in business careers?
Not at all, says John P. Kirkwood, director of the University Placement Service at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, who believes today's seniors to much the same as his predecessors.
"I'll admit the stories I was reading about student unrest that the wondering when school opened in September," Kirkwood said. "But any doubt I may have had has been dispelled."
He credits an experiment he tried last fall with dispelling that doubt.
Influenced to a degree by stories of student disenchantment with business, Kirkwood added a new dimension to his senior counseling program this year. He invited 10 recent graduates, five from last year's graduating class and none more than four years out of school, to speak at a couple of fall orientation programs.

"THE ALUMNI SIMPLY told their experiences before and since graduation; their doubts about what they wanted to do, their interviews, successful and unsuccessful, and finally what they're doing now and how they feel about the whole process," Kirkwood said.

"The response from the seniors was enthusiastic. I still have boys in interviews telling me how much this affected them. "What it boils down to is that the college senior usually doesn't know what he really wants to do -- how many of us did when we were 20 or 21 years old? He's re-evaluating for the senior to hear that he isn't the only one to have experienced indecision. It's also a reassurance that a business career can be an exciting one."

Kirkwood explains that these fall meetings, open to all students, serve as an introduction to his office's program. During the year, he and David E. Mader of Bernardsville, associate director of the Placement Service, interview several hundred seniors and then, in turn, guide them to interviews with representatives of business, industry and government.

"One of the pluses of last fall's meetings was the youth of our speakers," Kirkwood said. "They spoke to the seniors as equals. In fact, a number of seniors must have identified with and been encouraged by the switch-in-careers experience of Garrett T. Plaker of Monroeville, a 1964 graduate. Plaker thought he wanted to teach but a try of that business career can be an exciting one."

A classmate of Plaker's, John M. Cavanaugh of Wyckoff, a field representative for Aetna Casualty & Surety Company, Newark; Russell W. Luther of Wayne, Class of 1965 and a loaning officer with First National City Bank; and two 1962 graduates, Julian R. Longus of High Falls Park, in Johnson & Johnson's Personnel Department, and Thomas E. Kocak, a manufacturing trainee with Johnson & Johnson, were the "old boys" in the speakers group.

THE 1966 GRADUATES who spoke were Jude T. Rich of Edison, office manager for Sonerville, store management trainee for Sears, Roebuck and Co., Frank J. Fierro of Highland Park, office management trainee for Procter & Gamble Company, Charles R. Clinton of Rutherford, Bamberger's retailing trainee, and Thomas W. Mader of Somerville, a graduate of University College, the State University's evening division, a district sales manager for Procter & Gamble Company.

Since the orientation meetings, Kirkwood said, his office has interviewed some 400 to 500 seniors. Between now and the middle of April 400 to 450 companies will have representatives on campus for job interviews.
Kirkwood has been helping Rutgers students with their post-graduate plans for 21 years. He thinks Placement Service may give the wrong impression of the work of his office.
"We conduct a program aimed at helping the student to make an intelligent career decision," he says.
"We don't believe interviews have to result in jobs to be successful. Through them, the student learns what interests him -- or, just as important, what doesn't interest him."

Sterile milk new outlet

Sterile milk holds promise of making a contribution to the world food supply while giving American dairymen a new outlet for milk products, market milk men were told during a conference at Rutgers University.

The speaker was Herbert Saal, editor of the "American Dairy Review," New York City, who addressed more than 100 men engaged in milk distribution during a conference at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Sciences.

Saal described sterile milk as sterilized fresh milk packaged in sterile containers so that the product does not need refrigeration until the package is opened.

"Aseptic whole milk has been sold in Europe, unrefrigerated, for a number of years," he said. "In this country, sterilized creamers have been increasing by leaps and bounds as dairies put in the equipment."

Discussing trends in milk marketing, Saal said that only about a third of milk sold to families is home-delivered. Today, most sales are made by supermarkets.

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get about 27 miles to the gallon.) And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 27 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.)

And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors. And you get more than your money's worth out of a set of tires (around 40,000 miles). But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme. You have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

Course to be given on Southeast Asia

Seton Hall University will present a special course on the graduate level on Southeast Asia during the forthcoming spring semester. The subject, presented under the auspices of the Department of Asian Studies, will be offered on Saturdays from 2 to 4 p.m. on the South Orange campus and will be taught by Do Leuh Tuan, the observer of the Vietnamese Mission to the United Nations.

"The course will examine the history of the area, the conflict in Vietnam and the United States involvement in that part of the world. A discussion period will follow each lecture. Tuan is a graduate of Saigon University and pursued graduate studies at Columbia University. For a period he taught history at Phung Mai College in Vietnam and subsequently entered the diplomatic service of that country.

From 1957 to 1963 he served as a political officer at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. In 1963 he was appointed chargé d'affaires and head of the Vietnamese Embassy in the Philippines.

He came to the United States last year, since the Republic of Vietnam is not a member of the United Nations, it maintaining an observer there, rather than an ambassador. The course may also be taken by students for credit of matriculation towards a degree. Information and registration will be conducted in the Department of Asian Studies each evening from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Manpower Training classes show enrollment of 3,000

More than 3,000 unemployed and underemployed disadvantaged youth and adults are currently enrolled in occupational courses in New Jersey, financed by federal funds for the Manpower Development and Training Act.

This was reported last week at a meeting of the New Jersey Vocational Education Advisory Council at the Newark Manpower Training Skills Center.

The report was made by John Koenig, director of the state's MDT programs for the Division of Vocational Education of the State Department of Education, which operates the courses in cooperation with the Division of Employment Security of the State Department of Labor and Industry.

Koenig said that since the occupational training programs were initiated in New Jersey five years ago, more than $35 million in federal funds has been utilized for their operation. The amount of federal money available to New Jersey for the current 1966-67 year is $7.3 million, which is a reduction of some $5 million under the federal allocation for New Jersey the previous year.

The enrollment of 3,000, Koenig said, is a record for the number of trainees in the program at any one time. The enrollment for the entire 1966-67 school year will exceed 5,000, he added.

OF THE 3,000 now attending courses, 2,300 are in classes in six independent multi-occupational skills centers throughout the state. The Newark center is located in the former Newark State College building at 187 Broadway and has a current enrollment of 487 in 28 occupational programs ranging from chefs to nurses' aides. The other centers are in Trenton, Jersey City, Hackensack, Salem and Camden. An additional center is scheduled to open in Atlantic City when federal funds are available.

In addition to job training, the program at the centers includes necessary basic education and counseling to overcome any deficiency in literacy skills among the disadvantaged trainees. The centers are conducted in facilities independent from existing county vocational-technical schools and comprehensive high schools to provide more flexibility in occupational offerings in addition to necessary personal ancillary services.

In addition to the six independent centers, multi-skill programs are operating in the Essex County Vocational-Technical Schools, Passaic County Vocational-Technical Schools and the Newark Public Schools. Under development are three rural multi-skill centers in cooperation with the Office of Economic Opportunity to serve the disadvantaged in Montmouth, Cumberland and Warren Counties.

Supplementing these centers are numerous single class-size occupational training programs conducted throughout the state in vocational-technical and comprehensive high schools, private trade schools, private business colleges, correctional institutions, plus public and private hospitals.

The Division of Vocational Education is cooperating with a number of federal agencies in an effort to provide more diversified occupational training and extensive services such as basic education as it relates to the trainees' selected trade, personal and vocational counseling, psychiatric help and limited health services.

Presently in the development stage is a program with the Neighborhood Youth Corps in Newark under the recent federal Pilot Demonstration Cities Project, Koenig reported.

Lutheran Laymen to present seminar locally this Sunday

This Sunday, at 3:30 p.m., Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 639 Mountain Ave., Springfield, will host the winter seminar of the Lutheran Laymen's League.

The speaker for the program is Col. Theodore Koepke, a chaplain in the U. S. Army, who recently returned from a tour of duty in Vietnam. For his subject he has chosen, "The Role of the Chaplain in Vietnam." The public has been invited to attend.

According to the O. J. Theobald, L.L.L. membership representative at Holy Cross, "This program should prove of particular interest to young men and parents of young men, since Chaplain Koepke has had a first hand acquaintance with our military involvement in Vietnam and with the attitudes and outlook of our service men there."

A question and answer period will follow the presentation, after which refreshments will be served by the ladies of Holy Cross. Guests for this event are expected from throughout the Central New Jersey Zone of the Lutheran Laymen's League.

Sen. Williams is appointed chairman of Senate special committee on aging

The New chairman of the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging is the youngest committee chairman in the Senate, both in years and in seniority.

He is Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-N.J.), 47 years of age and 57th in seniority. He replaces Senator George Smathers (D-Fla.).

By coincidence, Senator Williams' appointment as chairman of the Special Committee on Aging came in the middle of hearings he is conducting, under the aegis of the committee, on consumer problems of the elderly.

The Special Committee on Aging was established in 1961, with Senator Williams as one of the original members. Among the subjects it has explored are health problems of the elderly, housing needs, retirement income, nursing homes, the needs for community services for the elderly, health insurance, and the War on Poverty as it affects Older Americans.

Senator Williams has taken an active role in all these inquiries. Among the bills he has introduced as a direct result of his work on the committee are:

- ADULT HEALTH PROTECTION Act, nicknamed "Preventicare," to establish a voluntary program of health screening for the elderly which would give early warning of degenerative and chronic ailments;
- Amendment to the Postal Fraud Statute, to help the Post Office Department police quacks and gyps who sell by mail;
- Interstate Land Sales Disclosure Act, to require sellers of retirement homesites to provide information on availability of utilities, development plans, topography of the land and other data;
- Pre-Market Testing of Prosthetic Devices.

to keep off the market expensive, but worthless or defective, medical devices.

Last week's hearings were aimed at defining the scope of consumer problems of the elderly and indicating areas for legislative inquiry.

Perhaps the most striking testimony indicated that money—or lack of it—is single most difficult problem of the elderly. Most of them live on precariously balanced budgets. The median income of elderly people in this country is less than the poverty level of $1,500 a year.

Because of this, malnutrition is a serious problem among old people.

Father Peterson, special adviser to Presdent Johnson for consumer affairs, pointed out that there is a common assumption that "old people can get along on less" but nobody has ever substantiated this.

The hearings also disclosed that old people have clearly defined needs, which are quite different from other age groups, in food, clothing, housing, medical care, transportation and many other aspects of every day life.

Senator Williams added: "Consumer problems, of course, are just one aspect of the committee's work. The committee has already provided timely and valuable studies on many matters of great concern to older Americans. And I believe its most fruitful work lies before it."

Public Service stocks, dividends up last year

Public Service Electric and Gas Company revealed last week in its comparative statement of income for 1966 that earnings per share of common stock increased 16 cents a share to $2.39. This compares with $2.23 for 1965.

Dividends paid per share of common stock with $1.48 per share in 1966, up 9-1/2 cents from last year's $1.38-1/2. Operating revenues of the company rose to $561 million compared with $529 million last year, and net income was $82 million—a $5 million rise from 1965's net.

Sales of electricity for the past year reached 19.4 billion kilowatts, 9 percent more than in 1965. And gas sales approximated 1.4 billion therms, an increase of 6 percent.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

IS YOUR DAUGHTER'S EDUCATION IMPORTANT?

"We can't afford to send both Bill and Susan to college at the same time, so Bill must go. Susan will probably marry soon anyhow. She can't do anything else in the meantime."

How often have you, or your friends heard these statements voiced by parents of teenagers?

How many of you have been as concerned about the work your daughter will be trained to do as you have about your son's? Or, have you thought more about your daughter's relationship with boys, of whom you hope she will marry?

Our culture has been changing more and more rapidly these days. If you, as parents have felt your son's education is more important than your daughter's, perhaps it's time to read the following statements. Then sit down together as parents and as a family. Discuss how these factors have affected the future educational needs and understanding of both your son and daughter.

It has been estimated that 90 percent of adult women today will be gainfully employed, an average of 25 years throughout their lives. Today, too, about one-third of all women of working age are working outside the home. Of all women in the labor force 38 percent are mothers.

One study showed that over half of the working women reported that the largest share of their earnings went for food and rent.

Considering the probability that your daughter will be raising a family—and be a wage earner too, think of her need for understanding people in her roles as wife, mother, home manager and wage earner. And you, as parents, are responsible for preparing her. How can you prepare her for this future adulthood in other ways than sending her to college? Talk to your daughter and your friends. See if they have been planning and working together to meet the wife and mother's changing role in society. If neither of you have, start looking at your home and community resources today.

Lectures set at St. Peter's

"The Catholic, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" will be the overall theme of a seven-part lecture-discussion series to be offered during the coming Lenten season at Saint Peter's College, Jersey City.

The series, which begins on Sunday, Feb. 5, will cover such topics as: the Christian crisis in the city; marriage; can the churches unify, and religious freedom in the Catholic Church.

Each lecture will be given by a Catholic authority on the lecture's topic. The speaker will be joined by a member of Saint Peter's College Theology faculty in whose area of specialization the lecture topic falls.

The purpose of the series is to give adults an opportunity to discuss and hear discussed religious issues that affect them, their faith and the people with whom they come into contact.

Each lecture will be held at 8 p.m. in McDermott Lounge on the College campus. Tickets for each lecture may be obtained at the College or by writing: Lenten Forum, c/o Saint Peter's College, Jersey City.

It also has an electric tabulator, electric backspace, a repeat space bar, and a motor twice as powerful as any comparable electric. It has four electric repeat characters: Underline, hyphen, period, and apostrophe. It is a fully-automatic typewriter in every way. Its great price: in the party the lowest priced fully-electric typewriter cost $250. Benevolent Society to hear talk on work at Elizabethport center

The Rev. Joseph H. Garlick, director of the Elizabethport Center, will be the guest speaker at the February meeting of the Ladies Benevolent Society of the Springfield Presbyterian Church next Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 in the Presbyterian Parish House.

The Elizabethport Presbyterian Center is located on First st., Elizabeth and is an agency supported by the churches of Elizabeth Presbytery, among them the local Springfield Church. The center is open six days a week from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., serving the needs of the people of that area.

Weekday mornings, a nursery school is held for approximately 25 children, many of whom are for the first time examining books; hearing stories, learning songs and learning to share with others. There is a nursery school teacher, aided by volunteer workers from churches of Elizabeth Presbytery. Recreational programs and tutoring and homework help fill the afternoons. Volunteers from Newark State College are the mainstay of the tutoring staff. In the evenings, a recreational program for teenagers fills the calendar.

On Sunday mornings, a study and discussion group of teenagers meets regularly in the home of the director, Mr. Garlick. Most of this group have no church background and this time is perhaps the most valuable of the week since now these teenagers have someone who listens and takes their problems seriously, according to a church spokesman. Discussions center around personal relationships, parent-teenage conflicts, Christianity versus Black Muslims.

Mr. Garlick Wednesday will relate some of his personal experiences during his stay as head of the mission work of the church.

Legion's Auxiliary meets this evening

The regular monthly meeting of Continental Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held this evening at 8:30 in the American Legion Post Home. Ladies' Guild sets discussion, study

"Living With My Lord," a Christian growth study guide by Elmer Kettner, will be the basis for a discussion and study at the Ladies' Guild meeting next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Holy Cross Lutheran Church. The program will follow the business meeting. Devotions will be led by Mrs. Lester Luedeker, and will be based on a dedication of Mite boxes for mission work. It is hoped that the Christian growth study will serve as a guide for future workshops of longer duration. Moderator will be Mrs. Oscar Theobald. The leaders of the three "home" groups will be Mrs. Robert Fredericks, Mrs. Walter Gaebel and Mrs. Lester Luedeker. Records for the groups will be Mrs. Henry Prudenberger, Mrs. John Denman, and Mrs. Sigurd Holme.

Youth Sunday slated this week, Ninth Graders Program begins

Youth Sunday will be observed this Sunday, at both worship services, of the First Presbyterian Congregation of Connecticut Farms, Chestnut St. and Sayvessant ave., Union. This annual event of the church will feature high school students of the church school who will lead the congregation in worship. The theme, this year, is "Who Is My Neighbor?"

What is your shopping IQ when it comes to selecting new clothing, asks Carolyn F. Yukus, Senior County Home economist?

Your answers to the following questions may indicate that you are pretty smart when getting value for your money, or perhaps you are getting short-changed.

When you shop, do you compare quality as well as price? Do you rely on well-known manufacturers who stand back of what they make?

Do you check on fiber content of the garment? Do you look carefully at the fabric, testing any garment made of poor grade fabric or if it is cut off grain?

Do you know what to look for on labels and hang tags, and always look for care instructions before you buy?

Do you examine two questions about the color of a garment you are considering? Will it combine well with other clothes on hand and is it becoming?

Do you study the lines of a garment to see if the design flatters your face and figure? Do you insist on good fit? Can necessary alterations be made without extensive costs?

Do you look at workmanship? Do you consider the cost of upkeep in relation to the use of the garment?

In selecting garments, the workmanship involved often indicates the value of the garment better than the price. Careful inspection of a garment will help you decide if the quality is worth the price.

PANEL PAINTING
When painting paneled doors it's a good idea to paint the panels first, then the center rail (piece dividing the panels). The top and bottom rails come next - then paint the stiles (the vertical parts of the door on which the doorknob and hinges are attached). The side, top and bottom outer edges of the door are painted last.

Polio conquest runs parallel to history of area hospital

BY RITA ZEISS

The dramatic story of the conquest of polio, which was effected in great measure by the March of Dimes, is interestingly paralleled in the recent history of the Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside.

Back in 1942, when the world-wide epidemic of polio struck New Jersey, the Mountainside institution was crowded beyond its capacity with the small victims of the dread disease. Three years later the hospital, which had been serving ill and handicapped children since 1896, had to limit its facilities to the treatment of polio victims between infancy and the age of 12. That restriction lasted until 1956, despite the construction in 1948 of a new wing, which included the indoor heated swimming pool so vital to the treatment of polio. Funds for the new building—$450,000—were raised through public subscription.

Like the March of Dimes, the Children's Specialized has in the intervening years shifted its emphasis to congenital ailments, to the variety of handicaps, both mental and physical, which are the result of birth defects.

WHILE ITS HOSPITAL beds were increased by two-thirds in the 1948 expansion, its out-patient service in the past 11 years has almost tripled.

This increasing emphasis on out-patient care again parallels the March of Dimes which is concentrating its current battle against birth defects in out-patient clinics and funds for research.

With only three post-polio patients among its in-patients in 1956, the hospital in 1957 started giving intensive therapy and evaluation to children with severe cerebral palsy, one of the many areas of birth defects. Last year about two-thirds of patients admitted to the hospital were victims of cerebral palsy or other birth defects, including spina-bifida, pseudo arthrosis, congenital heart, Spielmeier-Vogt disease and others.

Its out-patient department, staffed by an impressive list of specialists from three counties, draws patients from all over the state. Situated on eight green and rolling acres which maintains the atmosphere of the Children's Country Home (the hospital's title until the 1930's), the hospital and its clinic are located just a few hundred feet from Rt. 22, the east-west highway that runs through the state. This easy accessibility by automobile has prompted the hospital's board to include in its long range plans extensive expansion of the out-patient department. It has already been expanded to give care to a limited number of adults. Further extension of this service is included in the over-all planning.

THE OUT-PATIENT department includes a cerebral palsy unit headed by Dr. Catherine E. Spears of Chatham, a pediatric neurologist, and Dr. Charles I. Nadle of Irvington, an orthopedist. Each child brought to the out-patient clinic is seen by a team of physicians as well as a psychologist, a speech therapist and a physical therapist, according to Dr. E. Milton Staub, hospital director.

After extensive evaluation by the team of experts, a comprehensive report with recommendations for treatment is given to the patient's personal physician. Treatments are carried out in the clinic if judged advisable. Physical therapy is also administered to patients suffering from a wide variety of ailments, usually upon referral from personal physicians.

The main thrust of the clinic's program, Dr. Staub emphasizes, is to provide a centralized place where extensive investigations can be carried out by a team of medical experts on a coordinated and cooperative basis.

The clinic's staff includes Dr. J. P. Warner, Dr. Ward M. Schmitz, Dr. James Brady, Dr. Dean L. Carlson and Dr. Jerome Cook, all of the Westfield Ursuline Center; Dr. Burton Feltsmith of Westfield, a pediatrician; Dr. Arthur T. Willess of Short Hills and Dr. Robert R. White III of Summit, both urologists; Dr. Gerald Foods of Millburn and Dr. William P. Leibesman of Westfield, ophthalmologists; Dr. Nancy A. Durant of Plainfield, a psychologist; Dr. Natalie Brown of Westfield, a psychologist; Dr. Severio Panzario of Short Hills, pediatric surgeon; Dr. Winthrop H. Hall of Westfield, a gynecologist; Dr. Jacques B. Wallach of Westfield, pathologist. In addition, 31 other doctors serve on the clinic's consulting staff.

Three dentists, Dr. Oliver D. Campbell of Plainfield, Dr. Bruce L. Malcolm of Westfield and Dr. James N. Siranbos of Fanwood, are also on the clinic's permanent staff.

ENCOURAGING RESULTS HAVE been shown over the years, Dr. Staub reports, through the coordination of services, the concerted effort to diagnose the "whole child" in a total evaluation that encourages the establishment of a synchronized program of treatments aimed toward maximum recovery.

The diagnostic and evaluation center was set up last year as part of the hospital's celebration of its 75th year of operation. The Children's Specialized Hospital acquired its present title in 1962; previously it had been known as the "Children's Country Home." The name change was made to clarify the professional image of the institution which, since 1922, been a specialized hospital catering to children with special diseases of long duration. Dr. Staub attributes the growth of the hospital to the hundreds of people who have assisted in its program and the thousands who have contributed funds. Strong support has also been given over the years by the Senior Auxiliary and other volunteer organizations. Although it was supported, in part, during the polio years by funds from the March of Dimes, Children's Specialized now depends almost totally on donations. Families of both the bed patients and out-patients pay according to their means.

"But no child has ever been turned away because of lack of funds," Dr. Staub says feelingly.

New fashion design scholarship open to seniors in high schools

A new fashion design scholarship award program open to all high school seniors graduating by June 1967, was announced this week. The program is being sponsored by the Flemington Fur Company in cooperation with the Traphagen School of Fashion of New York City.

First prize will consist of a two-year scholarship to the Traphagen School of Fashion and second prize will consist of a scholarship at the same school for a six week summer session course.

Representatives from every facet of the fashion industry are cooperating with the Flemington Fur Company in this scholarship program. Among the fashion experts who will serve as judges for the final selection of winners, following a screening of entries by the Traphagen School, are: Geoffrey Boone, president, Geoffrey Boone, Inc.; Mrs. Ruth Graves, president, Gussie and Becky, Inc.; Miss Eve Hatch Holmes, fashion editor, Town and Country magazine; Miss Eve Orton, fur and fashion editor, Harper's Bazaar magazine; and Mrs. Rosemary McMurry, fashion director, Seventeen magazine.

Announcements of the contest as well as detailed contest information and entry blanks have been mailed to all public, private and parochial high schools in the states of Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

Additional entry blanks are available upon request.

Any high school senior from schools in these states may enter by submitting an original women's or teen-age fashion design. Entries are to be sent to Fashion Design Contest Director, Flemington Fur Company, Flemington, N.J. The contest closes Feb. 28, and winners will be announced on April 5. Both student and teacher will be invited to an award luncheon in New York City at which time both the student and the school will be honored.

In announcing the contest, S. Rodgers Benjamin, president and executive officer of the Flemington Fur Company, explained:

"With an almost exclusive focus on fashion designs from abroad, the American retailing industry is in grave danger of completely ignoring its own young native fashion design talent. The American fashion industry cannot really consider itself complete without its own creative American designers. We are the largest mass producers of clothing in the world, yet we are not developing or encouraging youngsters to enter the field of fashion design. Why should they study clothing design when the entire American retailing industry—from fashion magazines to factory jobbers—focuses on the design edicts coming from abroad? This contest is to demonstrate to talented youngsters that there is a need for them in the American world of fashion."

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

A very dear friend of mine recently released to the press the engagement announcement of her son, a college grad. The announcement included her son's accomplishments and honors received at Law School. I know (and so do many others) that he did not achieve at school what she said he did. As a matter of fact, he was lucky he graduated at all. Now, I ask you, how can a mother release such erroneous statements to the press and get away with it? And how would an honorable young man (her son) permit his mother to publish these untruths? Explain please.

Dear Please:

The "bragging mother" is as commonplace as an ice cream cone. Perhaps her son did not know of her plans to exaggerate to the press. But now that the deed is done, it would look worse for her son to print a retraction. If I were you, I would ignore it. Sometimes it's far better to voice your disapproval in this manner.

Dear Amy:

Just finished reading your column and the letter from "Mrs. R.R." Like her, I also gave up my Catholic religion when I married. I now have a daughter. My husband and I had her dedicated to a Protestant minister, but this doesn't make her a Protestant. Having her dedicated will give her the privilege of choosing her own religion later in life and be baptized as such.

Maybe this is the solution "Mrs. R.R." is looking for.

... Mrs. P.R.

Dear Amy:

I want to write as well as you do. I have read many books from the library on how to write stories as a vocation. They have helped. I feel I have things to tell that may help people. However, I don't know how to fabricate a story professionally enough to be acceptable to a publisher. I'm my most severe critic.

Could you help to steer me or give me an example in writing a story—like a short story—from start to finish, and what's important most of all, to prepare a manuscript for submission to publishers to catch their interest. I can't afford a course in writing.

Anything you may be able to do for me will be greatly appreciated. I enjoy your column immensely, also; you and your sisters. You are amazing gals and you do provide a helpful service. Who else will listen?

Julia Toth

Dear Julia:

For me to give you all the information you desire, it would be necessary for me to write you a book, which of course I cannot do. The books you have read in the library should have been very helpful to you. Perhaps you are overlooking the intention of the book by not sitting down and putting your inborn talents to work in a creative vein.

If you are creative and you know what keys to hit on the typewriter, YOU must furnish a beginning, a middle and an end of sufficient interest to get a publisher and public anxious to read you and ask for more.

Investigate the adult evening classes at your local high schools. Most of them offer Creative Writing courses for a very nominal fee. . . . and this would be a good place to start. Good luck!

P. S. Thank you dearly for your comments about my work. Abby and Ann are sisters, but not mine. The only thing we have in common is the similarity of our profession.

What does bloodless surgery have to do with better telephone service?

The connection is a lot closer than you might imagine. A laser beam—a beam of high-energy light—was first envisioned by physicists at Bell Telephone Laboratories as a very pure type of light for transmitting thousands of telephone calls at a time. And more recently the laser has been adapted at Bell Laboratories to enable surgeons to perform delicate "bloodless surgery."

A beam with a blue-green color was chosen since this color of laser beam cauterizes the wound as it cuts... preventing serious loss of blood and eliminating the possibility of contamination from diseased areas. This and related types of laser beams may play important roles in removing tumors and cancer cells, in replacing detached retinas, and in the surgery of normally inaccessible parts of the body. Also, lasers will almost certainly have considerable value as scientific tools in space communications, satellite tracking, and new computer and computer-memory equipment.

Although the main concern of Bell Laboratories, Western Electric, New Jersey Bell, and the other companies of the nationwide Bell System is providing better telephone service at a low cost, our combined planning, research and development produces many by-products which benefit all mankind. We're glad it works out that way.

Dayton victory over Union remains subject of dispute

By MYRON MEISEL
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team will have its final two home engagements of the season this week when the Bulldogs cagers entertain Cranford High School tomorrow evening at 8 and Hillsdale High School Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. The Bulldogs record, excluding Tuesday's contest with Governor Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights, is tentatively holding at 8-5, pending settlement of the disputed game held last Friday evening at Union.

remaining to give the Bulldogs a razor-thin edge, 74-73. One of the Union men quickly dribbled downcourt and shot, but missed. As he was going up for a rebound, the referee called a foul, and, hearing the gym's clock sound the game's finish, called the game over and declared Dayton the winner.

shots that could possibly tie or give the game over to them.

UNION, WHICH HAD a 3-6 record before the Dayton contest, provided a very tight contest, provided a very tight contest throughout for the Bulldogs. The lead changed hands often, and the biggest margin of the entire game was six, when Dayton was up 59-53 somewhere in the third quarter.

Hirschorn played a superb game, hitting shots from all over the court from as far out as 20 feet. Hirschorn and Gary Kurtz shared top scoring honor with 18 points apiece. Richie Campbell also excelled, especially on defense.

Mike Lester was back after missing the last game with Clark and did his usual fine job, although he ran into foul trouble early in the contest. Stan Sheehan, who replaced him, did very well, shooting accurately and being especially valuable on the offensive boards.

The Bulldogs play two of their remaining four games with the Cougars of Cranford, one of which will be the final scheduled game of the season, set for a week from Saturday night at Cranford. The Cougars traditionally, a strong Watching Conference team and highly regarded at the season's opening, have done rather poorly throughout this season. But they can be strong, and the Bulldogs will have to play as well as they have all this year. Hillsdale has been defeated once by Dayton in a close, come-from-behind 53-50 contest earlier this season. Hero of the contest was Mike Lester who led a Bulldog rally of some 14 points in the final quarter. Hillsdale is only a notch or two below the Bulldogs in the Watching Conference standings, and the game promises to be a close one, although the Bulldogs are slightly favored.

ROUNDING OUT the season is the contest one week from tomorrow against Rahway, one of the two contenders for the Watching Conference crown this season. Next to the open confrontation of the Scotch Plains and Rahway squads tomorrow night, the only clear obstacle to the Indians is the Bulldogs. Rahway beat Dayton last time through control of the boards and speed, but Dayton has improved in both departments. Further, the old problem of offensive sloppiness and missed shots have disappeared from Dayton's play. It will be an uphill battle for Dayton, but the team is very definitely in contention. The contest holds further significance as the game that may decide the race for third place in the conference, between Dayton and Westfield.

In another close contest with Union last Friday, the Dayton JV's lost by the slim margin of 37-36. The junior varsity was off that night, but nevertheless led for much of the game. Large thanks to speed and handling. The Union Farmers took the game in the final seconds on a three-point conversion.

Dayton five beats Gov. Livingston here on Tuesday

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team brought its season mark to 10-5 (counting Union) and its Watching Conference record to 6-4 following its victory over Governor Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights, 66-52, here on Tuesday.

Berkeley Heights, which now has a 2-14 overall and 1-11 Conference record, didn't represent a great challenge to the Bulldogs, who played fine ball. Dayton looked a little gloopy in the opening minutes but that did not last long.

Mike Lester was back in action and was high Bulldog scorer with 19. Lester was superb on defense and was the top rebounder by far. Steve Hirschorn, despite a slow first quarter, came back with his deadly eye and deft ball-handling. Hirschorn tallied 18, and threw a few passes that were accompanied by perfect takes.

The other starters included Richie Campbell, who was fine on defense; Gary Kurtz, who was fine in all departments; and Tony Gromek, honored as the "defensive player of the week." Entering in the second quarter was Cliff York, who triggered off a one-man rally with five points in a matter of seconds. Berkeley Heights had only one fine shooter, John Dierly, who scored 20 points. Both teams had considerable foul trouble in the opening half, which managed to iron itself out in the second. Defense was the main area of contention, with both teams stealing the ball frequently.

This was the second time this season that the Bulldogs defeated the Highlanders. The last time, the score was 91-67.

U. S. dry spot for grass

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — No area in the United States and only a few in Canada get sufficient rainfall during the grass-growing season, according to Dr. James R. Watson, Jr., an agronomist. The number of months that fail to deliver enough water to sustain satisfactory plant growth varies from three to four in the northeastern part of the country to over eight months in the more arid southwest, says Watson, director of the agronomy division of Toro Manufacturing Corp. He recommends supplemental irrigation, preferably with automatic underground sprinkler systems.

TWO-WAY PERFORMER—Junior Gary Kurtz has been a consistent leader this season for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team, providing both rebounding strength and ball-handling skill in the back court.

Miss Pfeiffer has another top score in bowling for girls

High-scoring Donna Pfeiffer again was on top last Tuesday as she placed the Stars to sole possession of first place in the Girls' Tuesday Afternoon Bowling League. The Stars now hold a one-game lead over the Strikers in this league sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department. The girls roll at the Springfield Bowl on Center St.

The Stars crushed the Wildcats in a two-game series to move to the top of the standings. League leader Donna Pfeiffer rolled the highest series of the day, as she turned in a 265 for the two games. Ellen Alexy was close behind Donna, as she knocked down 246 pins for the afternoon. Ellen Francis, also of the Stars, had a good afternoon while rolling a 215 series. The Wildcats received effective bowling from Diane Coll.

The Strikers dropped into second place as they could manage only a split with the contending Champs. The Champs dropped into third place, two games away from the leaders. Lisa Brown with a 211 series paced the Strikers, while Debbie Graveman topped all bowlers in the match by rolling a 240 series for the Champs.

The final match of the day saw the Bowling Anchovies pull an upset by sweeping a two-game series from the high scoring Alley Cats. Linda Muschler and Darlene Pansteri paced the Anchovies with identical series marks. Each girl turned in a 212 total for the afternoon. Karen Luber and Diana Ogonowsky for the Alley Cats also matched totals, as each girl rolled a 225 series. This oddity in scoring resulted in the higher handicapped Anchovies winning two games.

Donna Pfeiffer, with her astronomical 149 season average, moved into first place by a large margin in the race for high individual average. Donna's average tops all bowlers in all of the Recreation Department leagues.

Diane Ogonowsky, who had led the league scorers since the opening bell this season, moved into second place with her very fine 126 season average. Ellen Alexy is third with a 113 average, while Bonnie Reagin is just in holding fourth place. Lisa Brown with a 103 average is the fifth place bowler.

The remaining five girls among the top 10 bowlers in the league are: Virginia Vogt, 101; Debbie Graveman, 101; Linda Muschler, 101; Ellen Francis, 100, and Karen Luber, 100.

Undefeated Tigers top Small-Fry five in Sandmeier play

The Tigers stand alone in the Sandmeier School Small-Fry League, as the league's sole undefeated quintet. The Sandmeier Small-Fry League meets every Saturday afternoon at the Thelma Sandmeier School, as part of the Springfield Recreation Department's youth basketball program. These 9 and 10-year-old boys start play at 1 p.m. each Saturday.

The opening contest last week saw the Chargers take the Jets into a thrilling overtime period before dropping a 7-5 decision. The Chargers put on a final period rally paced by a bucket by Andy Cohen and a free throw by Andy Armour to force an overtime period. The overtime, however, was all Jets. Jeff Schneider's two-point and a pair of free throws by Billy Bohrod put the game away for the Jets. Jeff Schneider, with six points, paced all scorers in this contest, while Andy Cohen's four points topped the Chargers.

The Comets put on a tremendous offensive and defensive display last week, as they downed the Raiders by a 17-0 count. Mike Marjery of the Comets scored heavily in every period to pace the Comet romp. Mike finished with a season high for the league of 10 points. Steve Brumer with four points played well for the Comets. Larry Klarfeld played a top game for the Raiders, as did Mike Tabalin.

The Pirates kept their winning ways last week as they scored a 10-4 victory over the Chiefs. Mitch Kurtzer played an outstanding game for the Pirates. Mitch paced all scorers in this contest, as he hit eight points. Dave Steinhart and Russ Gabay concluded the scoring for the winners. The Chiefs were very effective from the foul line in this game, as all their points came as the result of free throws. Boy scoring for the Chiefs were Roger Frank, Ed Hocketstein, Alan Spielholz and Steve Cohen.

The final match of the day saw the front-running Tigers win their third game in as many starts as they defeated the Rockets by a final count of 14 to 8. The high-scoring Tigers were paced to their victory by the no of Bobby Lee and Leon Rawitz. Bobby tallied a game high of nine points, while Leon chipped in with five markers to conclude the scoring for the Tigers. Pivo boys entered the scoring column for the Rockets, who gave the Tigers a tough contest. Topping the Rocket scoring column were Bruce Hufman, Jim Plyrtyk and Joey Goldberg.

5 teams now even in Small-Star play at Caldwell School

The 1967 of the underdog quintets hit the dust last week in the Caldwell Small-Star League. Last week a pair of upsets by the Lakers over the Pistons and the Celtics over the Aggies drew the league into a tight race, as no fewer than five squads hold a share of first place. This eight-team league for nine and 10-year-old boys is sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department as part of its youth basketball program. The boys meet in competition each Saturday afternoon at the James Caldwell School. The first game starts at 1 p.m.

The opening contest last Saturday went to the Bulldogs over the Knicks by the final score of 15 to 6. The victory put the Bulldogs in a five-way tie for first place. The Bulldog victory was featured by a third-period point spree led by Bobby Hydrock. Bob paced all scorers in this game, with 10 big points. Frank Colger and Joey Knowles also scored well for the winners. Billy Phillips was the star performer for the Knicks. Bill hit six points to account for all the Knuck scoring. Eric Diamond and Neil Lasser played well for the Knicks.

The Lakers posted their upset in the second contest, as they tripped the previously unbeaten Pistons by the score of 7 to 6. A final-period rally in which Ken Conte and Ed Ederovich hit free throws turned the tide for the Lakers. Ken Conte with five points paced all scorers in this game, while the Pistons attack was paced by Jim Lofredo with four markers. Tom Jacques of the Pistons concluded the scoring for the day. The Pistons still retain a portion of first place, while the Lakers moved into a tie for the top spot after the thriller was completed.

The Nationals returned to their winning ways last week, as they scored a one-sided 23 to 4 victory over the Billions. League high scorer Mike Lester paced the Nat romp, as he tallied a game high of 10 points. John Lopez, Paul Dabun, Bill Patuzzi and Danny Goecker also hit buckets for the high-scoring Nationals quintet. Don Holstrom played a solid game for the Bills and tallied all four points. The final contest of the day saw the Celtics upset the Aggies in a see-saw battle. The final count was Celtics, 10 - Aggies, 9. The Celtic victory was insured when Sal Popilio scored a pair of clutch baskets in the final minutes of the game. Sal finished the game with four points. Bruce Blumenson also tallied four points for the Celtics, while Chuck Spigati chipped in with a first-period basket. Richy Feldman with seven points was the high scorer for the Aggies. Rich's aggressive play kept the Aggies close throughout the contest. The loss dropped the Aggies into a first-place tie with the Nationals, Pistons, Bulldogs and Lakers.

Westfield YMCA awarded national certificate of merit

The Westfield Young Men's Christian Association last week received the 1967-1968-1969 certificate of merit granted by the National Council of YMCAs through the National and Area State Physical Education Committee.

The certificate is granted on the basis of policies, plans, program and organization in physical education and accomplishment in these fields.

Only a YMCA holding the certificate of merit and eligibility is permitted, under the principles and rules of the National Council of the YMCAs, to participate in inter-association formal representative sports competition. This certificate is an honor award, showing that the YMCA adheres to specified purposes and goals and follows standards of performance and accomplishment in keeping with the YMCA's objectives.

Such a certificate is awarded every three years, going only to those associations that petition and qualify for it and upon recommendation of the National Council of the YMCAs. To receive the certificate is an indication that the association meets the qualifications announced by the National Physical Education Committee.

The standards that have been met by the Westfield YMCA are that the association:

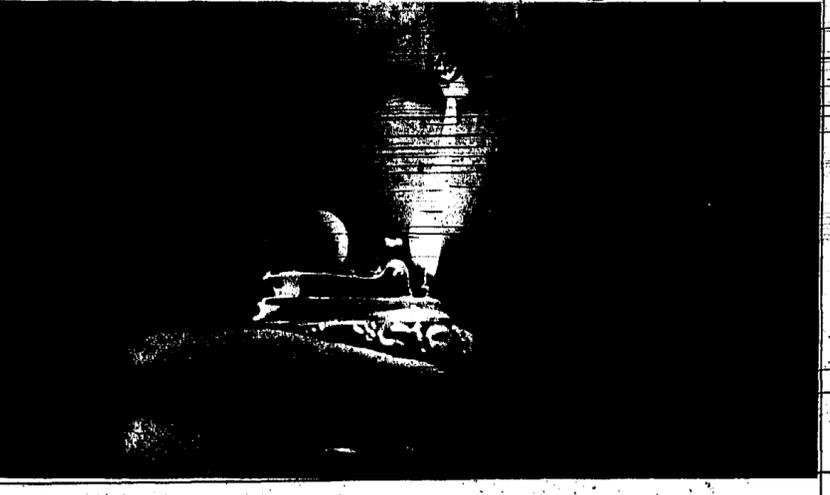

1. Conducts a balanced and interesting program of physical education.
2. Has a physical education committee and volunteer leadership to give guidance in policy and program development.
3. Uses the National YMCA Aquatic Program in its building, the community and its camp.
4. Has qualified professional leadership to guide its program.
5. Operates in accordance with an adequate up-to-date written policy.
6. Is a member in good standing of the National Council of YMCAs.

The local YMCA also meets these requirements:

- (a) Seeks ways to discover and meet its responsibilities.
- (b) Continually evaluates, reviews, amplifies and modifies its program in the light of new developments and new constituencies.
- (c) The Physical Education Committee brings maturity in thinking and judgment to policy and program matters.

While the eligibility certificate signifies that the Westfield YMCA is now qualified to enter its registered amateur athletes in official competition with other YMCAs, the recognition also means that it is performing a recognized service in the community in helping to develop physical, emotional and social health and fitness leadership and good citizenship based upon Christian principles, a spokesman said.

Unbeaten Minutemen win 4th in row, play host to Florham Park, Irvington

The Springfield Minutemen ran their season record to four victories against the boys' basketball team last Saturday night in a pair of impressive victories over Huff's Sport Shop of Union and Edison Junior High School. The Minutemen topped Huff's Sport Shop last Saturday evening by the one-sided score of 74 to 42. The game was played at the Florence Gaudinier School gymnasium. This past Monday evening, the Springfield eighth graders entered Edison Junior High at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gym. The final verdict in this game was Springfield, 56-Edison, 34.

The Minutemen will next take the court this Saturday evening, when they will play host to Florham Park at the Gaudinier gym. Game time is 7. The Minutemen will then play a return engagement with the Irvington-PAL on Wednesday evening. This game will also be played at Gaudinier, with a 7 p.m. game time.

As well as the heavy scoring by Janukowicz, the Minutemen presented a well-balanced attack in the game, as no less than 13 players entered the scoring column. A few of the other Springfield boys who nursed in fine games were Alan Schlanger, who tallied eight points; Dave Miniman, with five points; Gregg Spector, Jimmy Schoch, Mitch Wolf, Steve Grau, Kenny Baroff, Marc Hollander and Jay Silverman.

Three unbeaten teams share 1st place in State competition

California, Wyoming and Utah continue to dominate the competition in State League play. The three teams routed their opponents last week to remain unbeaten at the top of the competition. The State League is sponsored by the Recreation Department as part of its youth basketball program. It is a 10-team league for 11 and 12-year-old boys. The boys meet at the Florence Gaudinier School every Saturday afternoon, with the first tip-off set for each Saturday at 1.

It turned back a stubborn Texas team by the score of 14 to 9. This was a closely contested game, with California having the best of the going in the first half. California's height advantage held it in good stead off the boards. Bob Goodman was the winner's sharpshooter last week, as he tallied seven points. Jamie Farber scored three points for California, while Ross Ackerman and Art James each hit for a bucket. Bob Nardone with three points paced the Texas attack. The other boys entering the scoring column for Texas were: Derek Goforth, Jerry Jones and Dino DiCocco.

ON MONDAY EVENING, the Springfield Minutemen took the court at Regional High School against Edison Junior High School and played by far their finest game of the year as they outclassed Edison by the score of 56 to 34. This very impressive victory was highlighted by the introduction of a 1-2-2 zone defense by the Minutemen. The Springfield boys moved into their zone defense at the start of the second period. During the second and third periods, while in their new defense, the Minutemen outscored Edison by a 33 to 11 count.

Ivy lead shared by Cornell five, Princeton team

Cornell and Princeton kept pace at the top of the Ivy League at the conclusion of play last Saturday afternoon. The two squads, heading for a head-to-head collision, are the only two undefeated quintets to league play. The six Ivy League teams meet in competition every Saturday afternoon at the Florence Gaudinier School. This year's Ivy League for 13 and 14-year-old boys and talented young performers is sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department, as a part of its youth basketball program. The time for the opening tip-off each Saturday is 1 p.m.

HALF-PAST TEEN

Wrestlers split in two matches; record is 4-4

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School wrestling team will encounter Cranford High School next Wednesday at 3:30. The Dayton regular boys have a record of 4-4, including a victory over Thomas Jefferson High School of Elizabeth, 34-16, and a loss to top-ranked Scotch Plains-Lanwood High School, 50-0.

IN THE MIDDLE CONTEST last week, California stayed even at the top of the circuit and kept its season record unblemished, as Ed Cook of Kansas was the game's high point man. Ed tallied seven points, John Bellevue and Mike Byrd tallied two points each in the contest. The Idaho ledger was played a top-flight floor game for the losers, as did Walt Robinson.

Team effort marks bowling dominance by Hurricane five

The Hurricanes are threatening to run away and hide in the Thursday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League. Last week they trounced their closest pursuers, the Rockets, in two games to move a full five games in front of the pack. The key to the Hurricanes' success this season is that in every winning game they receive a true team effort.

Tigers add to lead in bowling results of Friday's league

The Tigers, with effective and steady bowling, are slowly showing their heels to the remainder of the league in the Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League. The Tigers do not show any sensational bowling but continue to win against all comers and have now moved into a three-game lead in the league sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.

Color TV sales to glow

NEW YORK (UPI)—American consumers will purchase more color television sets in 1967 than black-and-white receivers, according to a trade source. During 1967 the industry expects that between seven and eight million color television sets will move into American homes, says Delbert L. Mills, executive vice president of Radio Corporation of America. This compares with 4.7 million sets sold in 1966 and about 2.7 million in 1965.

Vietnam chaplain will talk Sunday

Colonel Theodore V. Koepke will address a Lutheran Laymen's League seminar 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Springfield. Colonel Koepke, who recently returned from a tour of duty as Command Chaplain in Vietnam, will discuss "The Role of the Chaplain in Vietnam."

In his talk, Chaplain Koepke will present the historical, geographical and political background of Vietnam, and emphasize military operations and the role of the chaplain. He has been in the Army since 1944.

Theodore Sautmaler of Bound Brook, president of the Central Jersey Zone of the League, will conduct the meeting.

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

PENSION COSTS TAKE 13% OF STATE BUDGET

Pensions and benefits to public employees will cost New Jersey's State government - and taxpayers - an estimated $13.2 million in the next fiscal year as compared with $11.4 million appropriated for the current 1966-67 fiscal year.

This represents a one-year increase of $2.9 million. The latter equals the entire amount spent by the State for pensions and benefits in 1960.

Next year's $13.2 million total is based upon requirements of the various funds requested of the 1967-68 fiscal year budget to be submitted shortly to the State Legislature by the Governor. Since they represent requirements for funding established under previous laws, they will be largely mandatory when the Legislature translates the 1967-68 budget into appropriations.

Largest appropriation will go to the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund in the amount of $6.74 million, up nearly $15 million over the present year. The Public Employees' Retirement System will take $16.1 million, up more than $3 million.

SOCIAL SECURITY PAYMENTS FOR BOTH TEACHERS AND PUBLIC EMPLOYEES WILL COST STATE $32.1 MILLION, AN INCREASE OF MORE THAN $3 MILLION

The State's Social Security contributions have nearly doubled since 1965 when they cost $17.9 million. The Legislature provided separate pension and social security benefits for public employees at the 1966 session, effective in 1967.

Other State-financed pension program contributions next year include Consolidated Police and Firemen's Pension Fund, $6 million; State Police Retirement System, $4.5 million; and miscellaneous pension funds, $1.5 million. Payments under the 1958 pension increase act will cost $1.1 million next year.

Other State-paid benefits include $5.9 million for non-contributory insurance for teachers and public employees and $3.6 million in health benefit payments.

Pension and benefit payments comprise 13 percent of the State's $879.2 million spending program this year, compared with the New Jersey Taxpayers Association which computed the table showing cost trends.

Increases in pensions and benefits, already mandated through legislation, could help push New Jersey toward its first billion dollar budget in the 1967-68 fiscal year, the Association said.

Chapels fund receives $20,000 contribution

NEW YORK (UPI) — A contribution of $20,000 has been made by Pan American World Airways to the building fund of the Tri-Faith Chapels at John F. Kennedy International Airport. The three major faiths in the United States have built chapels, side by side, on a three-acre site at the airport.

The Catholic and Protestant Chapels are now open and the Jewish Chapel is expected to be dedicated in April. The three faiths are engaged in a united campaign to raise at least $1 million to complete the Chapels program.

LUCKY ONE IN 20

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tooth decay is commoner than the common cold. In fact, 19 1/2 out of every 20 Americans — 95 percent of the U.S. population — suffer from cavities during their lifetime, according to the American Dental Association, sponsor of National Children's Dental Health Week (Feb. 5-11).

Congresswoman FLORENCE P. DWYER Reports

THE LINES ARE DRAWN. With the delivery of the President's State of the Union message to Congress and the presentation by Republican Leaders in the House and Senate, of the Minority's legislative program, the broad policy framework within which the first session of the 90th Congress will work has now been established.

There are notable similarities between the two programs and equally striking differences, but overriding all else is the recognition in both of the central fact that will dominate the new Congress. It is this:

Effective two-party government has once again re-emerged in the Congress.

This was, of course, the meaning of the November elections in which American voters changed the Democratic-Republican ratios in the House from 295-140 to 248-187 and in the Senate from 67-33 to 64-36. Though Democrats remain very much in the majority, especially in the Senate, the enlarged minority will mean greater attention to Republican proposals, more evenly balanced committees, a more persuasive minority voice during debate, closer votes on disputed issues, and the end of the almost automatic, no-question asked majority which the Administration enjoyed in the 89th Congress on most of the major bills that reached the House floor.

BOTH SIDES KNOW IT. Several aspects of the President's message reflected his recognition of the new situation in Congress: the somewhat more cautious tone and generalized expression with which he advanced his new program, the quasi-defensive way in which he pointed his Administration's record, his usually candid admission that there have been mistakes and shortcomings in the administration of Federal programs, and, more specifically, his reference to the "increased numbers" of the opposition and his invitation to "creative debate that offers choices and reasonable alternatives" — an objective for which the Administration in the past has shown no great enthusiasm.

The Minority message, on the other hand, displayed a more direct and pleasurable awareness — understandably — of the changed political circumstances of the new Congress. It was apparent, especially in Congressman Ford's portion of the message, in its punchy and exuberant style, in its use of phrases like "A New Direction for America" and "Sensible Solutions for the Seventies," and in its unequivocal commitment to "give leadership to the dynamic and Constructive Center in Congress" through "positive Republican programs" and "creative Republican action."

Clearly, this was not the voice of tired opposition, negative reaction, or habitual obstruction. It was the sound of a new optimism, of fresh ideas, of a rejuvenated willingness to meet new challenges. I hope I may be pardoned the partisan note of saying I welcomed it wholeheartedly, not simply because I am convinced it will be good for the Republican Party but, more importantly, because it is what the country needs. We cannot do without the best that is in both parties.

PROSPECTS GOOD — IF. What will it all come to? We cannot know, at least until the generalizations of the two messages have been translated into the specifics of

Aid to religious schools favored by 38 percent

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Gallup Poll of that adult American population on whether public taxes should be used to support religious schools as well as public schools shows 38 percent for, 50 percent against, and 12 percent undecided, says The Catholic Digest, which sponsored the survey.

The overall percentages were only slightly changed from an identical poll in 1959, but Jewish sentiment against such aid to religious schools sky-rocketed from 49 percent to 77 percent, since the last survey, Catholic opinion in favor of public taxes for religious schools dropped eight percentage points, possibly, says Catholic Digest, through fear of outside control. Protestant totals remained practically unchanged.

Phyllis Diller has promised the "Hollywood Palace" producers that she'll wear another exciting new gown when she hosts the popular ABC-TV program soon. "I don't know exactly how to describe it," she says, "but I'll wear the 'Little Miss' Muffet suit on my tiff."

Dishann Carroll taped a CBS-TV special with Maurice Chevalier in Paris. How did she find "The World's Most Beautiful City?" "Full of garlic," she complains. Seems the TV production staff had such a great appetite for garlic that they almost blew her head off. "My only defense was to join them eating the stuff," she laughs. Hugh O'Brian, who just returned from the London filming of TV's "Dial M For Murder" as an ABC-TV special, left bags packed to wing back to Brussels to host TV's first "Coliseum" special.

TV TOPICS: Director Joe Layton, who conceived and staged both Barbra Streisand specials, has been talking to Alfred Lunt about the staging of a modern opera. Richard LeVigne, producer of the March 6 ABC Stage 67 musical, "Rodgers and Hart TODAY," says he feels the younger generation is missing something musically. "Kids today grow up with songs that can't last two weeks — and after that, they forget them!"

A new Benny Goodman song hit will be introduced on the Bell Telephone Hour March 6. Titled "The Monk Swingin'," it broke up the audience at the Belgian International Jazz Festival where the TV show was filmed. Hershel Bernardi, the voice-over for hundreds of TV commercials, is now also being heard all over the radio duets-singing "If I Were A Rich Man" from his Broadway hit, "Fiddler on the Roof." The song is hitting the top 40 stations all over the country.

budgets, programs and legislation. But this much can be said: If what was best in the two messages truly represents the thinking of majorities in each party, then the 90th can be one of the most responsible and progressive of modern Congresses. If the majority exercises prudent restraint, employs reasonable priorities, and accepts the participation of the minority in the fashioning of legislation and if the minority follows through on its promise to be constructive and places a higher value on sound legislation than on partisan strife, then the country will be the winner.

One need not be a cynic, however, to recognize realistically the dangers that exist — the danger of a majority unwilling to concede that Great Society programs require pruning, and the danger of a minority finding that it prefers fighting to building.

But at this point I prefer to remain hopeful. And I believe there is good reason for hope. Let me illustrate from my own experience. On the opening day of the Congress, several hours before the President delivered his message, I introduced 22 bills in the House and made a brief speech explaining that my purpose was to focus attention on the major challenge facing this Congress: to make the multitude of Federal programs and the Government itself serve the people of the United States more effectively.

To meet this challenge, my bills would, among other things, create a select House "oversight" committee, headed by the minority, to assure better administration and enforcement of the laws when both Congress and the Presidency are controlled by the same political party, provide a system of sharing Federal tax revenues with the States, improve the coordination and direction of Federal programs in urban-suburban areas by creating an Office of Urban Affairs and Community Development within the Executive Office of the President, and establish commissions to recommend a comprehensive reorganization and streamlining of Federal departments and agencies and to study advanced methods of achieving more efficient systems management for the Government.

AGREEMENT ON THE PROBLEMS. Others among my bills were designed to help satisfy important substantive needs of our people. They would increase social security benefits, raise the limitation on earnings of social security beneficiaries, provide a tax credit for expenses of higher education, permit tax relief for teachers who pursue their professional qualifications, improve commuter transportation, and overcome job discrimination against older workers.

This group of 22 bills did not, by any means, exhaust the country's needs and problems nor suggest the limit of my own efforts. It represented, for me, a number of the higher priorities facing the Congress. Consequently, I was deeply encouraged to find that, between them, the messages of the President and the Minority Leader pledged action in practically every one of these areas and, in the case of several, seemed in general agreement on what constitutes the right approach.

The fact that Republican and Democratic leaders are talking about the same problems suggests that Congressional debate this year will emphasize differences of degree and detail. Because both sides agree that the country is in sensitive, that virtues need help, that Government efficiency is desirable, that Federal-State-Local cooperation should be strengthened, and that the needs of the young and the young demand greater attention, the issues will be how much and how fast.

It is here that the reinforced Minority will demand more concrete proof of Administration good intentions — more visible reductions in non-essential spending, repeal of the million-dollar Salary Participation Act and return of the investment tax credit, and Government-wide efforts to piecemeal efforts to moderate the Federal bureaucracy.

In sum, members of the 90th Congress will find plenty of cause for sharp debate but growing opportunity, as well, for positive accomplishment in the public interest.
