District board rezones high schools

Plans move to even load in 4 schools

Freshmen from 'Top' listed to attend Dayton

Plans for substantial redistricting within the Regional High School District, to take effect next September, were disclosed this week by the Regional Board of Education. Final action on the realignment is scheduled for the board meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

The new proposal would change the high schools to be attended by three groups of students now in the eighth grade in various communities within the Regional District.

The first group is composed of 11 students from the Baltusrol-Top section of Springfield. Under the present system of zoning within the region, they would go on to Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights. The new proposal would send them to Dayton Regional in Springfield. All future students from Baltusrol-Top would also attend Dayton.

The second group affected includes 153 present eighth-graders in Mountainside, as well as an anticipated 22 students from Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic School in Mountainside. They would also attend Dayton for the next four years, instead of Gov. Livingston. Future classes from Mountainview, however, would be sent to Gov. Livingston, leaving only the class of 1971 from Mountainside attending Dayton.

The third group of students to be transferred consists of some 90 present eighth-graders from Garwood. Instead of attending A. L. Johnson Regional in Clark, they will attend David Brewster Regional in Kenilworth. All future students from Garwood will also attend Brewster Regional.

The board also announced plans to avoid a necessity of having two children from one family attend different high schools. Upper-classmen will be permitted to transfer to other schools attended by their younger brothers or sisters. There will, however, be no exceptions to the new districting permitted for next year's freshmen.

Governing body divided on purchasing 'eyesore'

BY ABNER GOLD

A mild dispute between Democrat Jay B. Bloom and his Republican colleagues on the Township Committee highlighted a brief and generally uneventful meeting of the governing body attended by less than a dozen spectators Tuesday night at Town Hall. Committee member Robert D. Hardgrove presided in the absence of Mayor Arthur M. Falkin, who was ill.

The controversy developed as the committee met Tuesday, three to one, for a motion by Committee member Philip Del Vecchio to make a final offer for the vacant gas station at the corner of Morris Ave. and Main St., then initiate condemnation proceedings if the offer is rejected.

Del Vecchio said that the purchase would provide land for parking, remove an eyesore, take a long business property from the market and provide eventual access to possible parking areas behind the stores on the north side of Morris Ave.

Bloom declared, "I see no reason to incur bonded indebtedness just to eliminate an eyesore. Such a policy is neither realistic nor thrifty." He added that he might favor such a proposal if it were part of an overall plan to improve the area, but not as an isolated move.

Del Vecchio replied, "It appears to depend on which gas station or which eyesore you're talking about." He cited Bloom's past suggestions to buy the gas stations at Morris Ave. and Center St. and the Dairy Queen on Mountain Ave.

Bloom answered that both of those proposals were part of larger plans, to expand Parking Lot No. 1 and to beautify the area being (Continued on page 20)

Talk scheduled by Sen. Morse to begin series

SEN. WAYNE MORSE

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon will speak on "Vietnam and the Quest for Peace" Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. at Temple Shalom, Springfield, in the first session of a four-part lecture series. The series was arranged by Rabbi Israel S. Dresner, Howard Kiesel, temple president, and Carole Chrysalis, chairman for adult education.

Sen. Morse, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, has served in the upper house since 1944. He is noted as an opponent of present U. S. policy in Vietnam. Before his speech on Tuesday, at 6 p.m. at Temple Shalom, the North Jersey Clergy and Laymen will hold a tea and vice "Meal of Sacrifice." Principal speaker will be the Rev. Richard Fernandez, national director of Clergy and Laymen Concerned.

The second speaker in the lecture series will be Norman Thomas, veteran leader of the Socialist Party. His topic May 3 will be "Dissent and the Quest for Liberty." An ordained minister and six times Socialist candidate for president, Thomas, for a high-con-

Library Friends launch campaign to gain members

The Friends of the Springfield Free Public Library met at the library last Thursday and approved a constitution and by-laws for the new organization. Two committees were established, and others will be designated at a later meeting.

Sidney Krueger, 227 Lejak Ave., was appointed program chairman, and Mr. and Mrs. Rupert J. Humer, 379 Morris Ave., were appointed chairmen of the membership committee. Plans were made to launch a membership campaign during National Library Week, April 16-22. During this week members of the Friends of the Library will have a table of literature set up at the Gift, Greeno Shopping Center.

The objectives of the Friends of the Library as a voluntary non-profit incorporated organization were defined as follows:

1. To encourage public support for an expanding library program;
2. To intensify community awareness and use of the library;
3. To aid in public relations by informing the community about the library's services and problems and by communicating the needs of the community to the staff and library board;
4. To cooperate with the library board of trustees to develop and expand library services and facilities.

Membership in the Friends of the Library is open to any person interested in promoting the good of the Springfield Public Library. Dues were established at $1 for an individual membership, $5 for a family membership and $15 for an organizational membership, such as for a business, club or group. For readers' convenience, the application form accompanying this article may be filled out and mailed

Appeal issued by YES office for volunteers

An appeal for volunteers to work in the Town Hall office of the Springfield Youth Employment Service was issued this week by Mrs. Felix Gold, YES chairman.

In addition to helping local high school and college students find summer jobs, Mrs. Gold said, the YES office this year will also need a large group of young people to work at Baltusrol Golf Club during the National Open golf tournament June 12-18. (See editorial on page four.)

"The YES staff is now down to some 25 women who serve as regular workers, contributing one afternoon every two weeks, and alternates. Mrs. Gold stated that this number is barely sufficient to keep the office open every weekday afternoon from 2 to 4:30, and that new workers are urgently needed. Mrs. Morris Wechsler is chairman of volunteers. Mrs. Frank McClaichey is in charge of training new workers."

"The office procedure is extremely simple and requires no special skill," Mrs. Gold declared. No new worker is left alone in the office until she has been thoroughly trained and has received experience working with others in the office, the chairman added.

Typical of the help wanted requests now waiting to be filled, she said, are the following: a boy to work two hours in a day in the clerical department of an engineering firm, boys for lawn care during the summer, girls for sales help in a nearby variety store, boys to operate rides in a local children's amusement park, a girl to be a mother's helper for a two-week trip this summer to Canada and New Hampshire, a girl to do ironing.

AMONG THE JOBS recently filled are: girl to do commercial art work, girl to entertain at children's party, girl to type a college thesis, baby-sitters, stock boys, boys to wash walls, girls to serve at dinner parties, boys to shovel snow, waitresses in restaurants, sales clerks (Continued on page 2)

Construction work begins on new link to Baltusrol Top

At the Houdaille Construction Materials, Inc., quarry in Springfield, located off Shunpike rd. and Bryant parkway, Mayor Arthur M. Falkin last Thursday led officials of Houdaille, Baltusrol Golf Club and fellow Springfield Township Committee officials in ground-breaking ceremonies.

The occasion marked the opening of the construction of the new Mount View rd. which will run from Shunpike rd. to Baltusrol Top. Mayor Falkin indicated that Houdaille had donated approximately seven and one half acres of land to be used for the construction of Mount View rd. The road will lie directly between Baltusrol Golf Club and Houdaille property. The Mayor further indicated that he was pleased to see "two fine organizations such as Baltusrol and Houdaille participating in such a worthy endeavor."

The new road will now provide direct fire, police and other services to the residents of Baltusrol Top. In the past, in order to provide these services it had been necessary to go through either Mountainside or Summit to reach these residents.

Representing Houdaille were Victor G. Aubry Jr., president; Frank A. Cecil, vice-president and manager of operational services; William E. Joseph, director of properties and public relations; William A. Brooks, chief engineer; Joseph E. Truppi, Summit plant superintendent, and John E. Lee, attorney from the firm of Schenck, Price, Smith and King of Morristown.

Representing Baltusrol Golf Club were William Walther, president; Matthew Glennon, secretary; Harry A. Taylor, vice-chairman of the real estate committee, and Carl Jellen, general manager.

Representing the township were Mayor Falkin, Committee members Jay Bloom, Robert Hardgrove and Robert Planer, Township Engineer, Walter Kozub and Township Clerk Mrs. Eleanor Worthington.

Walther said he hopes that the roadway would be completed in advance of the National Open to be held at his club in June of this year. A breakfast was held at the Baltusrol Golf Club following the ground-breaking ceremonies.

5 cars damaged in chain accident

Five cars were damaged in a chain-reaction accident in the rain last Thursday morning at 8:30, according to a report by Springfield police. The crash took place in the north-bound lane of Mountain Ave., near Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

The report stated that four cars were stopped in traffic. They were driven by Steven C. Mueller, 18, Mountainside; Margaret C. Kaufhold, 47, 66 Ke Dr., Springfield; Lizzie Hilton, 54, Newark; and Paul Ahrens, 42, Clark. The police added that a fifth car driven by Jacob Kersten, 53, of Scotch Plains, apparently skidded on the wet pavement and struck the Ahrens vehicle, setting off the chain reaction.

The only injury listed was to Ahrens, who complained of pains in the neck and back and said he would see his own doctor. Although all five cars were damaged, the Kersten auto was the only one which had to be towed from the scene.

Local music instructor spins on LP by Columbia Records

Mrs. Dorothy Stallworth, one of the Springfield school system's vocal music teachers, is the featured artist on an LP album which has just been released.

"Dorothy Stallworth at Great Gorge," recorded by Columbia Records, includes such standard favorites as "Summertime" (Gershwin) and "Everytime We Say Goodbye" (Porter), as well as two numbers composed by Mrs. Stallworth: "Tis Spring" and "Great Gorge Rock."

A Columbia spokesman declared: "This album introduces a new exciting sound and an unusually talented and versatile performer—Dorothy Stallworth. Dottie is featured vocally, accompanies herself on piano and plays both vibes and piano on 'That's All.' In addition, she has arranged all the numbers.

"Dottie was born and raised in Lakewood. She was graduated from the Boston University School of Music, taught elementary school music in Hartford, Conn., fourth grade in Trenton, and is now employed by the Springfield Board of Education as a vocal music teacher.

"Dottie began her career in the jazz field in 1960 and has played at a variety of leading clubs in the Northeast, from the Catskill summer resorts and New Jersey ski areas to New York City and Philadelphia supper clubs.

"In 1964 and 1965, she composed, arranged, and performed the musical score for the motion picture, 'The Love Statue.' There have been numerous special appearances at such events as the New York World's Fair and the Jazz Interactions presentations at the Village Gate.

"Accompanying Dottie on this record are flugelhorn and trumpet, Paul Hoyt; drums, Dennis Coymen; bass, Al Riley. (The regular bassist, Gene Groves, was unable to make this session because of illness).

"Mrs. Stallworth and her trio have been featured performers at the Great Gorge Ski Lodge, McAfee, N.J., every weekend. This album was a natural outgrowth of her successful engagement there. Jazz buffs and Stallworth fans can obtain this new album at Harmony House, Rt. 22, Springfield.

Public Library well stocked with books for varied tastes

Among the many new books available at the Springfield Public Library are the following titles, with comments by the library staff.

MUSIC
"Ewen's Musical Masterworks," by David Ewen. This book is truly a treasure of music.

Redistricting

The board statement declared classes would be overcrowded at Gov. Livingston and A.L. Johnson high schools, while there would be unused facilities at Dayton and Brearley.

The board stated, "This condition comes about because of rapid pupil population growth in the communities of Berkeley Heights and Clark, causing an imbalance in student distribution. At the same time, considerable room is available in our Jonathan Dayton and David Brearley buildings because of the recent construction of the Brearley building. The problem is one of imbalance rather than a facility lack.

"The board is really faced with two problems—the temporary one and a long-range problem involving construction for the influx of new students which is on the way. Before long, the board hopes to bring to the public its plans for caring for the long-range portion of the problem."

If the present districting were to be continued, the board asserted, the situation next year would be as follows: Dayton, with a capacity of 1,300 students, would have 1,109; Johnson, with a capacity of 1,500, would have 1,619; Gov. Livingston, with a capacity of 1,500, 1,652; Brearley, with a capacity of 1,000, 674.

IF THE CHANGES are made, the figures would be as follows: Dayton, with a capacity of 1,300, 1,284; Johnson, with a capacity of 1,500, 1,529; Gov. Livingston, with a capacity of 1,500, 1,477; Brearley, with a capacity of 1,000, 764.

The board went on to say that if the changes are not made to reduce the number of students at Johnson and Gov. Livingston, "it will mean many class enrollments in the high 30s, the dropping of certain elective courses, a serious cafeteria situation which are not designed for, nor suitable for, classroom work. Other educationally undesirable effects would be in evidence, and the present high quality of our program would be seriously impaired."

The school board statement also commented, "The general public may expect to be apprised of a detailed plan for further construction needs" in approximately six months, when a complete program, student, fiscal and physical survey will have been completed.

Dr. Warren B. David, superintendent of schools for the regional district, said this week that he foresaw no immediate need for new classrooms at Dayton, but that there is a need for an expanded band room and for a new library and audio-visual aids center.

He also commented that an increase in enrollment in science classes in all four high schools, which has been far above all previous expectations, had created a need for additional facilities in all schools for science classes.

It contains short biographies of the great men of music, and surveys and analyses of many of their works, as well as a directory of recommended recordings.

"Musical Instruments," by Karl Geiger. Considered a very valuable reference work, this volume covers the history of musical instruments for 25,000 years—back to the bones and clay drums of the Stone Age.

FOREIGN REACTIONS
"The Reds and the Blacks," by William Atwood. Besides being a well-traveled person, the author has served as "United States ambassador to Guinea for President Kennedy and to Kenya for President Johnson. This is a personal narrative, swiftly paced and timely.

"The Conflicted Relationship," by Theodore Geiger. Under the premise that it is vitally important that there be a clear understanding of relations between the West and the countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America, Dr. Geiger offers profound and provocative analysis of the current situation.

CONSERVATION
"Last Chance on Earth," by Roger A. Caras. The author tells the tragic story of 40 forms of wildlife now threatened with extinction, and makes an urgent appeal on their behalf.

JUVENILE
"Trouble at Timpitell," by Henry Winterfeld. Parents take drastic steps in a plot to prove to the younger generation the need for responsibility and discipline.

"Amy and Laura," by Marilyn Sachs. This delightful sequel to Miss Sachs' earlier books is told with humor and sentiment. Pleasant reading for girls from nine to 12.

Sen. Morse

Morse has been a leader in the fight for civil liberties in many areas. He has worked to secure for many unpopular causes, including a number with which he disagreed, the rights and those of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Bayard Rustin, the third speaker in the series, will speak May 8 on "The Negro and the Quest for Brotherhood." Now executive director of the Philip Randolph Institute, Rustin has devoted his life to the advancement of civil liberties for Negroes. He was the first field secretary of the Congress of Racial Equality in 1941. As deputy director, he was in charge of arrangements for the march on Washington held by civil rights groups in 1963.

The final lecture will be delivered May 17 by Rabbi Shai Shacknai of Temple Beth Tikvah in Wayne. His topic will be "The Jew and the Quest for Brotherhood." Rabbi Shacknai was a first-hand observer of this winter's Board of Education election. He was serving which a school board official was accused of making anti-Semitic statements. A former Army chaplain, Rabbi Shacknai is president of the N. J. Association of Reform Rabbis. ## Author to address young book lovers at Caldwell School

April 21 is the big day for members of the Colby Club at the James Caldwell School. C. B. Colby, nationally known author of more than 60 books, will visit the club on that date. He will discuss his books with the boys and girls and answer questions asked by the club members. As an added treat, Colby has promised to bring some "strange voices" for the children to hear.

When Colby wrote to set the date for his visit, he said that he got a kick out of receiving a Colby Club button. All club members wear green and white Colby Club pins. He added: "I have to be in Arizona on the 7th, have to be here on the 14th, but have you down for the 21st, another Friday?"

At the present time there are 54 members in the Colby Book Club. Tony Cirpulis is the top reader. Tony has read 35 books by Colby and is still going strong. Other members who have read over 12 books are Greg Lint, 19; Gary Werner, 18; Robert Stahl, 18; D. J. Wachtel, 15; and Scott Searies, 12.

Class on teaching

The Children's Institute of 337 S. Harrison st., East Orange, has announced a second 10-week course in "Psychodynamics and Techniques of Teaching Emotionally Disturbed Children," to begin Saturday, April 22. The course will be directed to persons proposing to work with emotionally disturbed children and to those already in the field.

Mrs. Joan K. Faber of Springfield, director of the institute stated, "We want to introduce teachers to the idea of applying the concepts of the psychodynamics of personality development to the educational process. We feel that the institute, through its practical experience, can add another dimension to the training of teachers in special education." The course is open to anyone in the behavioral sciences, and applicants may call the director.

Launch campaign to combat measles

The Springfield Board of Health this week launched a program to encourage all parents to have their children vaccinated against measles. Leonard Carner, board chairman, named Henry Butman to direct the educational program.

The first step in the program is distribution of a questionnaire through the public schools to determine how many youngsters have received the vaccine. Butman urged that all parents fill in the brief form, consisting of only four questions, and return it to the schools as quickly as possible.

He also declared, "Although the latest has not seemed to cause as much alarm as other diseases, there are serious complications possible. Use of the vaccine can prevent this. It is a wonderful thing when our research produces a preventative to diseases. Not to utilize the vaccine to its fullest extent would be a terrible waste."

Barbara A. Ragucci Citizenship honor from DAR chapter by Dayton senior

Barbara A. Ragucci is the 1967 winner of the annual good citizenship award presented by the Church and Cannon Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The DAR group presents the award each year to the senior girl at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School chosen as outstanding by her classmates and faculty advisors.

Miss Ragucci is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ragucci of 23 Colonial ter. She attended the state awards day program held by the DAR recently in Trenton, at which the principal speaker was Mrs. William H. Sullivan Jr., national DAR president. Miss Ragucci and her mother will be guests of the local chapter at a meeting April 25 at the Cannon Ball House.

The award winner is president of the senior class at Dayton and was treasurer of her junior class. Miss Ragucci has served as a Candystriper at Overlook Hospital and has been a member of the Dayton Girls Athletic Association, Health Careers Club and Pep Club. She will begin her studies toward a nursing career next year at the Villanova School of Nursing, Philadelphia.

The Church and Cannon Chapter also presents a good citizenship award to a girl at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark. This year's recipient is Valerie Kaster of Clark.

Bus tour Tuesday is slated by SACA

Reservations are still being taken for the bus trip to the Philadelphia Museum on Tuesday, sponsored by the Springfield Association of Creative Arts, according to Mrs. Martin M. Novich, chairman. "This trip is open to the public," she stated, "and we are hoping that many art lovers will take advantage of this opportunity to visit one of the oldest and finest museums in the United States."

An exhibition of the works of the French painter, pastelist and sculptor, Hippolyte Germain Edgar Degas, and the John G. Johnson collection are currently being featured. The many other exhibits include art and sculpture of all types and periods.

A special guide will be provided for each party of 15 persons in order to tour the museum's highlights, and ample time will be allowed for individual browsing. Luncheon will be available in the building's cafeteria. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Novich (DR 9-9071) or Mrs. Arnold P. Koldorf (DR 9-9139).

Workers needed to say YES to junior citizens

This newspaper has recently given front-page coverage to several news items concerning young people who were involved in a variety of troubles. They represent, we are happy to say, only a very small portion of this community's young men and women.

The vast majority of teenagers can best be described as constructive junior citizens, eager to help their own development and that of the community.

Now, however, the Springfield Youth Employment Service, which performs a valuable service in finding work for eager hands, reports that it faces a problem of adult delinquency. There are not enough adult volunteers available to keep the YES office doing the job that it has done and should continue to do.

The work is hardly difficult. Volunteers record the skills and interests of high school and college students seeking work after school and during the summer, then fit the available skills to match help wanted requests from local businesses and industries, as well as from individual families.

The demands on volunteers are, also, exceedingly light. One afternoon of service every two weeks from a few more women, or men with time to spare, will save a valuable community service from a major crisis.

Young people who get into trouble, particularly in a suburban community like Springfield, tend to have one thing in common. They have great amounts of free time and not enough to do.

Young people who keep out of trouble, who help build their community, also have one thing in common. They are busy, with school work, after-school teams and projects, church and synagogue and other organizations.

Many of them are eager to put their talents to use in ways which can bring in money for their own expenses and to help pay for their education, now or in the future.

Businessmen and private families have found Springfield's young people capable and cheerful, training themselves in the best way possible for the responsibilities of adult life.

The world will not come to an end if the Youth Employment Service in Springfield is unable to do its job. For a number of eager young people, however, the world will be a little less hospitable, a little less theirs.

The answer, for anyone willing to serve, is to call the YES office at 379-2667, or Mrs. Felix Gold, 376-1947, or Mrs. Frank McClatchey, 379-4492.

MOST PEOPLE know that eating correct proportions of fats, carbohydrates and proteins is important for good nutrition. Now a University of Wisconsin biochemist has discovered that an imbalance of amino acids — the main components of protein — can be critical in a diet. Either an absence or an excess of amino acids can cause loss of appetite.

IF MAN LIVED by bread alone, at a bare subsistence level of one and one-half pounds of bread a day, his existence would require 300 gallons of water daily — the amount required to grow the wheat. However, for a substantially advanced nation, the U.S. Geological Survey says the minimum per capita water consumption for a diet of vegetable matter, animal fat and protein is 2,300 gallons per day, including water consumed by animals and plants. This is water needed only for food production and does not include the water needs of other industries.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION is so important that care should be exercised in excusing youngsters from a school's program in this area, reports the American Medical Association. Schools should establish comprehensive programs that provide physical education for all students, including those with some impairment of normal physical powers. It's the task of physicians, educators and parents to coordinate a program that classifies students according to their physical ability, the AMA holds.

THE DEVELOPMENT of new lightweight alloys will enable tank trucks to carry larger quantities of products such as liquid industrial gases, says Chemetron Corporation, Chicago. The maximum gross weight now permitted on the highways of most states is 75,280 pounds. Reducing the weight of the transport equipment will thus increase the weight of the payload.
AN EDIBLE FAT developed from cottonseed oil by Department of Agriculture scientists protects foods from the effects of oxygen, freezer burn, dehydration and discoloration during refrigeration. It is pliable and solid at temperatures below 115 degrees F. The tasteless, colorless fat is sprayed on and is virtually invisible. The thin film it forms locks in oxygen and retards rancidity for long periods of time. It also provides the need for canning in a nitrogen atmosphere.
BY 1980 there will be 24.5 million people in the United States over the age of 65, in 1966, reports the National Council on Aging. The U.S. had 18.5 million people 65 years old or older.

Federal Tax Facts

FEDERAL TAX FACTS
Because April 15 is the usual deadline for federal income tax returns, it falls on a Saturday this year, taxpayers have two additional days to complete and file their 1966 returns. They must be postmarked before midnight on Monday, April 17.
Joseph M. Shortz, District Director of Internal Revenue for New Jersey, this week reminded taxpayers that this same deadline applies to declarations of estimated federal income tax for 1967.
These declarations, accompanied by payment of at least 25 percent of the estimated tax due, must be filed by all self-employed individuals. In addition, taxpayers who expect to receive at least $200 in income not covered by withholding taxes must file declarations if at least $40 in additional tax will be due.
The Tax Adjustment Act of 1966 requires self-employed taxpayers to include their estimated self-employment tax when figuring their total estimated tax for 1967.
Taxpayers must be more careful in preparing estimated declarations this year, Shortz said, because their estimates must cover at least 90 percent of the tax due rather than the 70 percent figure which was in effect during 1966. Last year more than 75,000 taxpayers in the Mid-Atlantic Region paid penalties for underestimated or underpaid installments of estimated taxes.
Returns should be prepared on Form 1040-ES. Instructions are on the back of the form. Taxpayers who are not sure whether or not they need to file declarations of estimated tax are advised to read Document 5111, Estimated Taxes. It is free at any IRS office.
Separate checks or money orders payable to the Internal Revenue Service should be prepared for 1966 tax balances and for the April 15 estimated tax payments.
Returns should be prepared on the appropriate tax returns and as an additional precaution, your social security number should be carefully printed on each check or money order.

Congresswoman FLORENCE P. DWYER Reports

Of the many hundreds of ways in which the activities of the Federal Government affect the American people, none is more direct and personal and frequent than postal service. And until we develop more miraculous marvels of electronic communication, we shall have to rely on efficient delivery of the mail for much of our business and social life.

Three recent events have made the subject of postal service especially timely: Last Thursday and Friday during Congress' annual Easter recess, I visited with dozens of my constituents at shopping areas, bus stations and other busy locations in Plainfield and Livingston. My purpose, in addition to keeping in touch with the people I represent, was to learn what our people are thinking and to obtain at least a preliminary idea of the issues people consider most important.

Some of their answers were very obvious. The war in Vietnam, for instance, is very much on everyone's mind. But I was surprised at the number of people who expressed concern about their poor mail service. This concern was more apparent in Plainfield than in Livingston for the likely reason that service was affected when Plainfield lost its sectional carrier status a few years ago, a move I very strongly opposed, by the way. But complaints about postal service were general.

On Monday, Postmaster General O'Brien started much of the country by proposing to abolish his department and eliminate his own job. He suggested that the Post Office Department be replaced by a non-profit Government corporation, and that the corporation be managed by a professional executive. He said he was convinced that this is the only way to achieve really top-quality postal service.

On Wednesday, the President submitted a special message to Congress calling for a 4.5 percent pay increase for Federal employees, including postal workers, and requesting substantial rate increases in the various classes of mail as follows: a one-cent increase in first class and airmail rates as of July 1, 1967; an average increase of 22 percent for all categories of second-class mail (chiefly magazines and newspapers) to be spread over a three-year period which won't begin until next January; an average increase of 28 percent for all types of third-class mail, to take effect on July 1, 1967 for single pieces and on Jan. 1, 1968 for bulk mail; an average increase of 21 percent for fourth-class mail (mainly books and records) effective July 1.

Adult schools beginning to see need for high school equivalency classes

Three of every five New Jersey residents who are 25 or over don't have a high school diploma.
Some can't write. Others can't read. To some, letters look like puzzles. And they're not playing scrabble either.
Some adults, who have spent most of their lives in other countries, can't speak English. Others can't read their version of it. It is often not acceptable enough to assure them decent jobs.
In the modern world, a high school diploma is needed for almost every job of much worth. Some companies are demanding a high school diploma from people applying for jobs as sweepers.
This does not mean it's impossible to be a success without a high school degree. It's just a lot harder now than it was a generation ago.
With more and more people realizing the need for a high school diploma, more emphasis is being placed on adult education. And not necessarily the kind that offers sewing classes, golf lessons and instructions in bridge. These still serve a purpose in many schools, but plenty of emphasis is now being placed on helping people gain the basic skills and the equivalent of a high school diploma.
People are learning how to read in adult education classes, which are frequently held in school district buildings. And they're learning from books specially written for them.
Publishing companies have realized the need for materials for adults who want to learn to read. A diet of "See Spot Run" is not the recommended way to maintain interest of adult readers.
Adults don't have to go to school. They go because they want to learn. And usually because they are adults, often holding jobs during the day, they want to learn in a hurry, takes time. Most adults have been away from school for many years. They have their minds shut down by their years of inactivity. It just takes him a little longer in some cases.
Adult education classes are usually tailored and, finally, a special additional charge on odd-sized envelopes which cannot be processed by postal machinery, which will not become effective for two years.

The President candidly admitted that he did not now have a modern, highly mechanized postal service, though he assured the Congress in his message that his recommended pay raises and rate increases would help get us there. I wonder. Certainly, past experience under all recent Presidents suggests that they have been overly optimistic about improving postal service. In the face of growing populations, huge increases in volume of mail (approaching 100 billion pieces a year), outmoded buildings and equipment, a mess of Congressionally inspired red tape, and a heavier dose of politics than any other Federal agency has to bear, the Post Office Department has not been able to hold its own, let alone make any absolute gains in service.

For all these reasons, Postmaster General O'Brien's proposal will receive careful attention — both in the White House and on Capitol Hill. The basic question will be this: can a public corporation, organized and operated according to modern management principles, do a better job than a Government department, which has been returned and reorganized? I ask the question this way because there really are two alternatives if it's serious about improving mail service. It can adopt the public corporation idea; or it can reorganize the present department, eliminating political appointments of postmasters and wiping out those customs and regulations and laws which have become obsolete over the 138-year lifetime of this Cabinet department.

Whichever approach is finally used, serious questions will have to be answered. Though either a public corporation or a reformed department would be a Government department, one may be less costly than the other. Rights of postal employees will have to be protected. And Congress will have to make a philosophical decision as to how much of the public business it should place outside its immediate control.

We'll be hearing lots more about such questions for the Postmaster General has un-announced an initiative which concerns every American — and I predict that the people will insist on honest answers.

PROFILE—Mrs. Sydney L. Miller

"We need help, help, help!" exclaims Mrs. Sydney L. Miller of Springfield, co-chairman of the April Cancer Crusade in Springfield, which got under way the first of this month.

"Accuracy," Mrs. Miller, a well-versed, intelligent, amiable woman, explains, "we are appealing to all members of the community to come forth and help as workers in this worthwhile project."

Mrs. Miller's urgent appeal, she says, is echoed by co-chairman, Mrs. Clifford W. Zimmer. "There is such a tremendous need for workers to help with the distribution of pamphlets about the disease, and the pamphlets must be distributed to every home in Springfield," says Mrs. Miller.

The financial goal for Springfield, it has been reported, is $3,500 this year, and the county goal is $155,000. And this money must be solicited to meet the costs of the American Cancer Society's continuing program of research, education and service.

"WE REALLY DON'T have trouble soliciting; we have trouble getting workers to help us. And we never seem to have enough help," Mrs. Miller says.

Mrs. Miller says that she and Mrs. Zimmer have "split the town geographically. My districts are seven to 13, which are south of the Railway Valley Railroad. We have a captain for each district, and the captains line up their own street captains. As of right now, they are still recruiting street captains, and we hope to have the envelopes on the street before this week is over."

This is Mrs. Miller's first year as a chairman of the Cancer Crusade fund drive. "My mother died last July," Mrs. Miller says, "and I found a chance to work with the American Cancer Society."

She says she was selected co-chairman by Mrs. Thomas Barnett, executive director of the Union County branch of the American Cancer Society. Her name, and that of Mrs. Zimmer, were announced last week by Dr. Herbert Samenfeld, dean of students at Newark State College and chairman of the Union County Crusade.

Although Mrs. Miller, a housewife, cannot estimate exactly how much time she devotes to the cancer fund drive as co-chairman, she says, in addition to her other duties, she manages to spend "several hours on the phone every day to make appeals."

"OUR RESPONSIBILITY," she says, "is strictly toward the residential area. We have been running into a bit of difficulty with the United Fund. Please don't think I'm demeaning the United Fund. On the contrary," she emphasizes, "I truly believe the United Fund covers many worthwhile organizations."

"However, it is not a panacea, and it doesn't cover the major health organizations that are particularly dedicated to research, such as the heart fund, cerebral palsy fund, cancer fund, mentally retarded, and so on. Many people do not know this fact," Mrs. Miller says, "and as a result, we are getting additional resistance as far as workers are concerned."

"Research is of the utmost importance to the cancer organization," Mrs. Miller adds. According to a 1967 report published by the American Cancer Society, in the early 1900s few cancer patients could be cured. In the late 1930s, less than one in five was being saved; a decade later, it was one in four; and today, the ratio is one in three. This amounts to about 48,000 lives each year, and of every six persons who get cancer today, two will be saved.

"Only the results of research can save these patients," the report says. "The immediate goal of cancer control in this country is the annual saving of 290,000 lives." The report also indicates that about 3,000 cancer patients will probably die in 1967—who might

"THAT IS WHY," Mrs. Miller says, "it is important to every member of the community to have the pamphlets and educational materials about cancer, and to contribute to the cancer control program. And we need all the help we can get—to get the material to every home in Springfield."

Mrs. Miller, the former Ruth Handler of Brooklyn, was educated in Brooklyn schools. She was graduated from Brooklyn College with a B.A. degree, and was married to Sydney Miller in Brooklyn.

"I taught third grade classes for two years in Queens," Mrs. Miller says. "Then I went into business for myself. I started my own class of three," she laughs. "There are Barbara (now 17) and the twins, Holly and Sharon (now 13)."

"The Millers lived in Queens for six years before moving to Springfield 13 years ago. My husband transferred his business to Newark," she explains. "He's in the accounting installation business—the Amstar-type-Applicators Inc."

In addition to her duties as co-chairman of the local cancer crusade, Mrs. Miller is active in the Springfield League of Women Voters. "I've been active in that group for the past 10 years. It was my first love," Mrs. Miller says. "I'm a past vice-president of the league."

She also is a member of Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield. "My children attended religious school there. And my husband is very active in the B'nai B'rith Lodge of Springfield," she says.

"RIGHT NOW," Mrs. Miller says, "much of my work and energies go toward the present cancer campaign. And, she beams with pride, "I've even got some help from my children." "The twins, who attend the Florence Gaudineer School, have helped me to arrange the names of the people I am to contact, according to each district. They've been doing all sorts of little things to help me with this project." "And Barbara," she adds, "who is a junior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, is just learning to drive. So, she's been driving me around town delivering envelopes."

Wall Street Notebook

Investors will continue to be confronted by two major diverse influences in the weeks ahead. First is the flow of current business news which highlights the present economic slowdown. For example, durable goods orders — a leading business indicator — fell further in February to the lowest level in 19 months. Personal income continued its long-term rise, but for the first time in two years, payrolls in the private sector were lower.
On the plus side have been the strong steps taken in Washington to stimulate the economy. Most dramatic was the Administration's request for restoration of the investment tax credit and the speed with which Congress acted on the proposal. The Federal Reserve Board continued its strong moves to increase the supply of credit.
The stock market reacted by reaching a new recovery high in mid-March. Particularly encouraging was the increased demand for the "blue chips" which had been notably lagged ever since the market began its recovery last fall. There are several leading blue chip companies selling at low price-earnings ratios that look attractive to me.
Looking ahead, the market does act as if the line of least resistance continues to be up. Many of the leading issues are at high prices. The market is still in a state of recovery. The reason for that would be that first quarter earnings in many cases will make disappointing reading compared to a year ago.

Realtors oppose bill

Opposition to legislation on middle income housing was voiced this week by the Board of Realtors of Morristown and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield, Assembly Bill 770 stands an excellent chance of passing in this session of the Legislature," said A. Eugene Flacco, legislative chairman for the Board.

"If the bill is enacted into law, over 75 percent of all New Jersey families could qualify for the subsidized housing," he said. "A family of moderate income as defined in the bill could earn $15-17,000 or even higher and still qualify for the subsidized housing."

"Realtors have continually opposed the philosophy that would subsidize housing for middle income families," Flacco pointed out. "We feel that private enterprise has supplied and will continue to supply the housing needs for this vast segment of the population. A-770 states that a housing shortage exists but there has been no published survey that substantiates such a shortage of housing for middle income families."

"But, it's not only from our own viewpoint as business people that we view this bill with such alarm," he continued, "the taxpayer will be the one who will suffer from it. Middle income projects will not pay full real estate taxes, but municipalities will be expected to provide full services. Taxpayers in the community can expect an increase in their taxes to make up the difference—and many of these same taxpayers will earn less than those whom they subsidize."

Flacco urged those interested in the defeat of the bill to write to their assemblymen.

Y schedules camp show

The Family Camping Group of the Summit Area YMCA is planning a tent and trailer display on the Village Green Saturday from 10 until noon. "We invite families to exhibit their own tents, trailers, and camping equipment. Douglas Motors, Summit Volkswagen agency, will display its camper bus. All families interested in tent and trailer camping have been invited. Rain date will be April 22."

The YMCA will also sponsor a camping display and information center every Saturday morning from 9 until noon, through May 20 at the Y. Fold-down brochures on equipment and campsites will be available and experienced campers will be on hand to provide information. On Monday, May 8, at 8 p.m., there will be an informal orientation meeting for families new to camping and for those who would like to learn more about this economical way to see the country and vacation.

The family camping group is under the direction of Howard B. Merrick, youth director. Exhibitors Saturday will be the David Cutlers, Howard Merricks, Arthur Cotterells, L.J. Kitchens, Clarence Hammels, Robert Hall's of Summit, the David Miller's and Robert Lanber's of Short Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bloodgood of Millburn.

Remodeling job: substitute for moving

Adding rooms can create 'new' home at old address

BETTER VENTILATION COMES INTO THE kitchen with new, no-duct range hoods. Filtering system of this one covers the front burners, too. Only four screws and a screwdriver are required for installation.

Storage for saw blades
Cardboard record albums or covers are ideal for storing circular saw blades.

When the family needs larger, more luxurious quarters, with an extra bath, a modern kitchen, more bedrooms, a spacious family room — is it time to move? Nowadays, a great many homeowners would answer, "No!"

Many families are discovering that the best move toward achieving the aim of better, more comfortable living is not to move at all. Instead, homeowners now look for — and find, a "new home" at the old address.

So says Edgar V. Hall, executive director, National Home Improvement Council, who points out that interest in improving existing homes by remodeling — to increase livability, enhance appearance, upgrade value — is growing, space, and for some sound reasons. By concentrating on a new kitchen, an extra bath, a room addition or modernization, homeowners find that they are now able to have, in existing homes, the luxury features and advantages that they have always longed for — and that usually come only with a new home.

The monthly payments for such improvements are substantially less than for payments on a new home. In addition, the family avoids the ordeal of moving.

While these are good reasons to remodel now, there are still more powerful factors involved in the trend to "having a new home at the old address," says Hall. A few of them are:

1. Mortgage money has been in limited supply, making it difficult to buy a new home. Although the mortgage situation shows some signs of improvement, there are still relatively few buyers for "used" homes, for the same "tight money" reason. So, it's probably harder to sell the present home — there just aren't enough buyers.
2. The alternative of staying put and improving the existing home is made still more attractive by the fact that availability of funds for home improvement does not present a "tight money" problem. There are numerous sources willing to lend funds for remodeling projects.

do expert work are on the increase. The industry has come of age, and the unethical operator is disappearing. Because of the leveling off of the new home market, more and more builders are turning to remodeling. And building materials dealers, realizing the current need, are opening more home improvement centers where complete remodeling jobs can be planned from beginning to end, with expert help.

3. The nation's building materials manufacturers are turning out an increasing number of new and better products, many of which are designed specifically for remodeling.

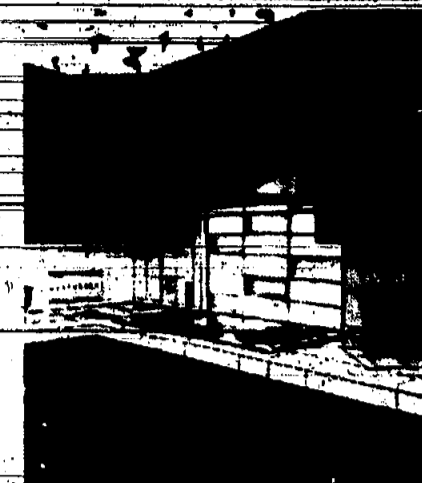

Of course, many personal reasons contribute to the decision to "stay put and fix up." Not the least of these is the convenience of schools where the children are already well established. Then there's the shopping area, where the housewife is well known; and the familiar presence of friends and neighbors close by.

Never before have homeowners throughout the nation had so good a "climate" for remodeling as now.

By taking advantage of existing conditions, many families can start now to enjoy the comforts of a modernized home. In fact, indications are that the present year should be a banner one for home improvement, says Hall.

He has just one word of caution. Too many families are spending only a minimum amount to maintain their homes. Home ownership is the single most important investment the typical family makes in a lifetime. Yet, the average expenditure for home remodeling, during 1966, was only $231, Hall points out.

Unlike many major expenditures for purchases which quickly deteriorate in value, the money spent for home remodeling projects will keep on adding to the value of a home. There's no better investment, Hall maintains.

BETTER LIGHT IS A FEATURE OF THE newest kitchens. Here, the important wall space behind the range is freed from shadow by glass blocks. The blocks install like bricks and are unaffected by heat.

Protect edges

Masking tape can keep edges of chisels, planes, other tools sharp and safe. Pull-tape loosely over cutting edges.

Brass offers good looks

Faucets, showerheads and other such accessories have their decorative side, too.

A variety of new developments in plumbing brass can lead to a more attractive bath or kitchen, as well as more convenience, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Council. Now in "brass" includes:

1. Single-handle faucets with thumb-controlled spray attachments for rinsing dishes and vegetables.
2. Single-handled faucets with both aerated stream and spray flow, as well as full-circle and up-down swing, for directing water anywhere in the sink.
3. Push-pull faucets, including some with a color-coded dial, for dialing the desired temperature.
4. Aerated showerheads with swivel arm, adjustable to different heights.
5. Body and shampoo sprays on a flexible stainless steel hose, for use in shower stalls, bathtubs, laundry rooms, or even for shampooing pets in the garage.
5. Thermostatically controlled "hot and cold" mixing valves for showers.

Self-sticking tiles in many patterns

New DecoFator patterns in three-dimensional self-sticking vinyl wall tiles are introduced by the Deco-Wall Corporation. Designs include Delft, Mediterranean, Granada and Fleur-de-lis. Tiles are applied by peeling backing paper from the panels, then pressing panels on wall.

Decorated fixtures becoming popular in new bathrooms

Not so very long ago, the bathroom was strictly utilitarian. It had three basic fixtures, a couple of towel bars and a medicine cabinet. When it came to decor, there was little or none.

Now all this has changed.

Bathrooms have come into their own, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

They're bigger, and they have real style. And, they can be decorated to fit the general decor of the rest of the house, thanks to a new and greater variety of fixtures and accessories.

Among recent trends that are catching on fast are decorated bathroom fixtures, with authentic classic as well as modern designs. Less than a half-dozen years ago, such fixtures were available only as hand-painted custom items. Today, they are widely available from many manufacturers, in many designs.

Design names indicate style variety -- for instance, "Langier," "Provincial," "Wheatland," "Early American," "Victorian Garden." The designs are fired into the fixture and do not wear off.

Decorated fixtures include lavatory bowls, water closet seat tops and tanks. To complete bathroom decor, there are matching patterns in "B&B" toilet paper, facet handles and even towels and wallpaper.

In keeping with this trend to elaborate, opulent bathrooms, many manufacturers of faucets and other bath accessories are making luxury items. There are gold-plated faucets, soap dishes, tissue holders, plus faucets shaped like swans, mermaids, dolphins and a host of other figures.

Decorated fixtures are somewhat higher priced than those in white or plain colors, but their growing army of fans think they're worth it.

PRUNE BACK

Now plants take firm rooting better and faster when they are pruned back. Trimming the top, plus over-all shearing, reduces leaf area the roots have to supply.

CARPET CHECK--Eugene F. Brehm, president of Brehm's, Inc., carpet cleaning firm, watches as a laboratory technician checks carpet made of Acrilan acrylic fiber to determine soil removal after cleaning. Brehm recently returned from a two-day tour and seminar on carpet care and cleaning at Monsanto's Textiles Division facilities at Decatur, Ala. The newest innovations in the cleaning of synthetic fibers as well as wools have already been installed in Brehm's modern carpet cleaning plant in Elizabeth.

Light fixtures can set color scheme in decorating room

Homeowners looking for room remodeling and decorating ideas might do well to consider this approach: Make lighting the starting point.

Fixtures are available to fit lighting and decorating needs in any area of a room, and, conversely, fixtures can inspire decorating ideas.

Types of fixtures needed should be the first determination. For example, in a family room, a pull-down-type fixture, which can be raised or lowered as the occasion demands, is ideal for over-table lighting.

Recessed units in the ceiling assure good general room lighting and, switched by a dimmer, can create a variety of lighting moods. Hanging pendants in a cluster furnish a decorating focal point and fill a definite need in a hard-to-decorate corner.

To meet requirements of color and style, lighting units are available in "family" groups, which provide a range of different fixture types in complementary colors. With this "family" similarity, a variety of fixtures can be used in a room, while still maintaining a definite continuity between the various lighting units.

Colors of the fixtures might well inspire an imaginative decorating theme. For instance, one fixture family presents pull-downs, recessed units and pendants, in such color combinations as deep blue with light blue, or brown with amber.

To set the color scheme for a room, the deeper hue of the fixture becomes an accent color, while the lighter shade can be used on broader expanses.

Durable copper

One of the "oldest" materials, in terms of use for roof drainage systems, is copper. For example, copper installed on churches has lasted for centuries. While initial cost may seem high, the durability and maintenance-free character of copper help offset this.

Expert offers drapery hints; says cleaning not easy task

The productive but amateur tiling or any other of an end-do-it-yourself jobs, such as house painting, simple carpeting, dressmaking, mosaic or less category of self-helps, are based on the ability to get complete instructions, the right materials and tools and to follow through as outlined.

But, according to A. Robbins of Coit Drapery Cleaners, 621 Pennsylvania ave., Linden, there is an equally long list of "Don't-Do-It-Yourself Jobs."

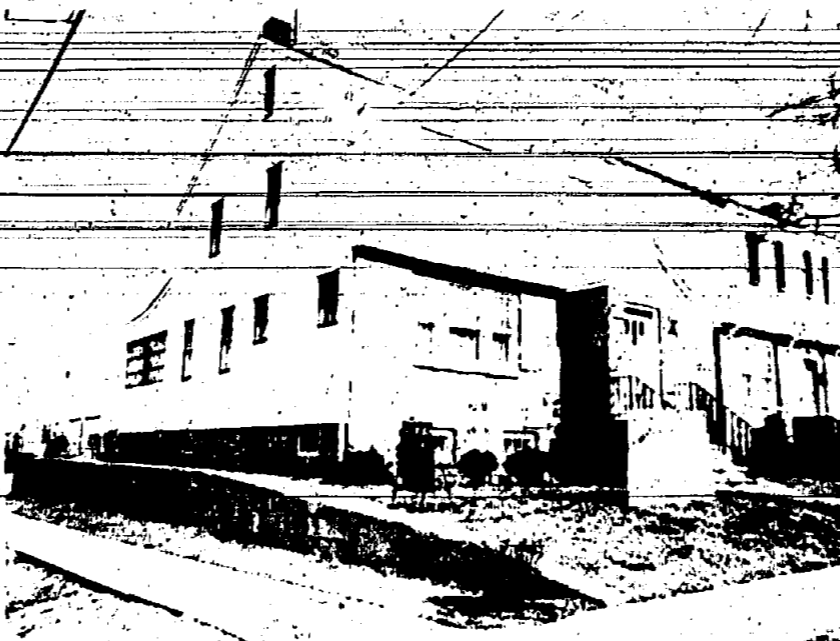

"Beware," says Robbins "of taking on household cleaning tasks that are not only dull and laborious to do, but really impossible to do well or economically at home, even though they appear to be common tasks."

"Of these chores, the primary temptation is to wash your draperies," he said. Draperies of both natural and synthetic fibers are normally drycleaned, Robbins points out however, water marks and water soluble stains must be wet-cleaned. Synthetic fibers such as Fiberglas, Dacron and Saranpun are cleanable in the professional wet process.

Ordinary washing machine action, according to Robbins, will wear by abrasion, in a matter of moments, the fibers of synthetic materials. Professional cleaning takes all fibers into consideration.

Draperies are placed in a basket which is moved gently and slowly up and down in special solutions by the action of hydraulic "arms." This agitation goes on from 24 hours to three days, depending on the soil problem, which may be old water marks or food stains or discoloration from exposure to smoke or gas heat. Once the draperies are clean, the equally important processes follow, Robbins says. Material is blocked and flat pressed on huge presses to restore the exact original shine and shape, thereby eliminating the possibility of shrinkage or uneven headings and hems. Natural fiber materials are steam pressed in a giant, specially designed machine, and are then air finished. Limp headings are replaced. If they were not made with crinoline, the only material which will withstand wet-cleaning without becoming soft.

Robbins offers some general advice about draperies: "Remember that silk and light weight acetates have the shortest lives. Synthetics and natural fibers of cottons and linen have the longest life expectancy. Dark colors won't hold up as well as light, and shiny fabrics absorb sunlight and deteriorate faster than dull fabrics."

ALUMINUM SIDING makes a dramatic difference in the home of Mr. & Mrs. Warren Hudson, 1336 Oranga ave., Union. Minimum maintenance, better protection from the elements and improved home appearance are the results of the aluminum siding installation recently completed by B & M Aluminum Co., 2064 Morris ave., Union. Max Schwartz of B & M Aluminum pointed out that "homeowners have a choice of 14 lovely colors from which to select in aluminum siding."

New design trends offer wide variety for today's kitchen

For families with kitchen remodeling on their minds, the latest trends in kitchen design and furnishings offer wide scope. So reports the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, which points out these trends:

1. Kitchens are bigger. They're enjoying a comeback as a family gathering place for both meals and general relaxation. Some are combined kitchen-family rooms.
2. There's more color — not only in wall and floor coverings, but in cabinets, appliances and sinks. A colorful sink often serves as the accent point for the entire room.
3. Sinks make news. Two and even three-bowl models are becoming increasingly popular, and they come equipped with single-handle faucets, good lighting and spray attachments on a flexible steel hose.

4. Garbage disposers and automatic dishwashers gain. They're rapidly becoming standard equipment in the kitchen, and are especially favored by working women and those with large families.

5. "Small appliances" have more scope. Now appearing in more and more kitchens are such "appliances" as automatic dispensers for ice water and hot water, bubbler fountains, plumbed-in coffee makers and built-in liquid soap and lotion dispensers.

6. There are more cabinets. Kitchen cabinets that stop short of floor or ceiling, thereby wasting space, give way to cabinets that may be "hard to reach" but are right for storing seldom-used items.

7. Counters are "customized." They're designed to suit the height of the woman who will use them, rather than the "average" woman.

8. There's more light — light also better ventilation for eliminating cooking smoke and odors.

9. Coordination of telephones gain. They're now being installed in more kitchens.

10. "Homemaker's nook" is a favorite. Many new kitchens provide the homemaker with a "private den" for dealing with everything from recipes to household bills.

11. Efficiency is an island. Such basic kitchen layouts as the U, the L, the one-wall and the two-wall corridor type are getting competition from a new design — the work-center "island," located in the middle of the room.

This includes the sink, dishwasher, food waste disposer and counter space. Range, refrigerator and work counters are located on the sink side, and eating area on the other.

Cabinets over the sink open both front and back. Thus, dishes can be stored from the sink side as they're washed, and the table can be laid for eating and cleared afterwards from the dining area side of the work-center island.

Kitchen planning necessary for work-saving efficiency

In kitchen remodeling, the chief aim is usually for a combination of more work-saving efficiency with more attractive appearance. No matter how much time and work are saved, the homemaker knows she'll still be spending a lot of time in the kitchen. Naturally, she's interested in the charm and personality of her "headquarters."

Good planning is the basis on which all else rests. Plan it carefully, organize it thoroughly — and the modernized kitchen will be both a smoothly-running workshop and a setting, for whatever decorative effect the homemaker prefers.

Four widely-used kitchen layouts are: The one-wall, where appliances, cabinets and countertops are placed along one wall; the corridor, where they are placed along two facing walls; the U, where the work area forms a U; and the L, where two adjoining walls are used. Of these, the U and L shapes are generally considered more efficient.

A well-planned kitchen contains a refrigerator-freezer center for food storage, a range center for cooking and a dishwasher-sink center for clean-ups.

In addition to the appropriate appliances, each center should have sufficient cabinet and countertop space, so supplies can be kept where they are used, and work can be done at that spot.

Since most kitchen walking is done between refrigeration, cooking and clean-up centers, it's best to locate appliances — refrigerator-freezer, range, dishwasher — in a triangular pattern; each appliance set at the point of an equilateral triangle. Modern appliances bring new advantages that add to the working efficiency of each kitchen center.

New wallpapers remodel rooms

One of the quickest ways to "remodel" a room is with new wallpapers.

Colorful wallpaper can help complete room remodeling projects in decorative fashion, or, where the budget does not permit a structural change-over, skill use of color and pattern in wallpaper will "remodel" a room's appearance.

For the do-it-yourselfer, innovations in wallpaper serve to make life much easier. Factory pasted and trimmed papers speed up the job of hanging, and those not pasted need little work to be made ready.

Plastic coated paper is fast becoming a favorite. The coating seals in color, and makes spot cleaning easy.

Yet another innovation is removable wallpaper. Special lining goes between paper and wall. When it's time to re-paper, just loosen a corner of the wallpaper and peel it off.

Plan to varnish? tips smooth way

Is there a varnishing project on the agenda? For the smooth, bubble-free finish that sometimes seems so difficult to achieve, try this simple procedure:

Use a soft bristle brush of good quality. Grip the brush by the ferrule, allowing the handle to rest between thumb and forefinger.

Dip the brush in the varnish, to no more than one-third of the length of the bristles. Don't wipe off excess varnish on the rim of the can. Do tap the brush gently against inside of can. This removes excess, prevents dripping, yet leaves brush "loaded" with enough varnish for smooth application.

Decorating shades

Try decorating your own window shades for a change of color. Pick a color, preferably from the fabric pattern or the color scheme of your own room. Then buy some ribbon or fringe or braid to harmonize. Attach the material with glue to the edge of the shade and in a flash the window shade takes on a new, more interesting look.

Customers never fail to deal with the 'boss' at Rugs, Inc.

Rugs, Inc. of 1135 Chestnut St., Roselle, is a family-operated business which has customers all ways deals with one of the "bosses." Personal service plus the company's fine reputation for providing the finest in quality brand-name carpeting makes it the place to shop for broadloom, a spokesman says.

The Paskowitz family, with an early background working directly for the Gutliksan people, has had long experience in the carpet industry. Credit in operating the firm right through to the finished carpet.

Rugs, Inc. is situated off the beaten path in suburban Roselle, but attracts decorators and home owners because of the values the company can offer because of low overhead and direct carpet mill connections.

Brothers Jack, Bill and Pat Paskowitz are well-known golfers in the county, having won more than their share of tournaments and club championships. Their sister Helen, whose advice is sought on competing by many women, is the office manager. Many of New Jersey's churches, restaurants, clubs and offices have been carpeted by Rugs, Inc., which, in addition to its retail business, is one of the state's largest contract carpeting concerns.

Loans can provide funds for long-postponed plans

Is that favorite home improvement project scheduled vaguely for "some time when we have cash to spare?"

As many families know, such a time rarely ever comes. But home improvement dreams can still become realities—especially if the modernization or expansion project is of a type that will add substantially to the resale value of the home.

To determine whether a specific improvement will increase home resale value, it's a good idea to consult the loan officer of a full-service bank. With a wealth of experience in this field, he is in a position to advise on such things as whether the proposed improvement is worthwhile, and how much it's likely to cost.

When extra money is needed, there are a number of ways to borrow the necessary cash for home improvements.

FHA Loans. The Federal Housing Administration offers two types of loans, short term and long term. The short term Title I loan is issued for permanent structural improvements in amounts up to $3,500 with five years to repay. Interest is charged at five dollars per hundred up to $2,500, four dollars per hundred from $2,500 to $3,500.

FHA long term loans for really extensive improvements, provide for borrowing up to $10,000, with up to 20 years to repay, at six percent interest. If the house is less than 10 years old, the loan must be used for such major structural changes as adding a wing. If it's more than 10 years old, the homeowner can use the loan to make any kind of improvement he likes.

Bank Improvement Loans. Banks offer their own home improvement loans. Although they cost slightly more than FHA loans, they are more flexible, because the money can be used for projects not approved under Title I. Interest varies from five to seven dollars per hundred a year.

Open-End Mortgage Loan. If the home mortgage contains an open-end provision, this could enable the homeowner to borrow an amount equal to what has already been paid off.

Refinancing Present Mortgage. If the home mortgage doesn't have an open-end provision, a solution may be to retire the present mortgage and take out a new one, for a larger amount that will cover cost of proposed home improvements.

DISHWASHING AID—The combination of a Moen triple-action faucet and a Moen Liquid Dispenser makes chores go faster. Dispenser puts liquid soap, detergent or even hand lotion right at the sink, where a press of the spout dispenses the liquid. Faucet features a sensor that changes from bubbling stream to needle spray at the touch of a finger and swivels to reach every corner of the sink.

REMODELING A BASEMENT? START AT THE TOP, is the suggestion here. In this recreation room, unsightly overhead pipes are camouflaged by a wood framework covered with wood-grained cherry paneling to match the walls. Similarly, meters can be hidden by wood-frame boxes with paneled surfaces. Boxes include small storage shelves.

Glass blocks offer variety of shapes

People who live in glass block houses don't have to duck stones. Glass blocks are "in" these days. They still perform their primary job of admitting light where regular window glass won't do. Now, though, glass blocks also come in a wide variety of shapes, sizes and colors that add attractive design touches. In an entry way, for example, colored glass blocks admit light to this often dark area, and they help make the home inviting, too. If the entry is small, a strip of a few blocks will do. If it's good-sized, an entire panel, in sections as large as three by five feet, is easily made up.

Such designs are not exclusively glass. They can be intermixed with opaque units of simulated masonry texture.

Carpet fits in basement

Looking for extra living space? Look into the basement.

Basement areas can often be converted into family room or other uses, with a minimum of remodeling. Paneling quickly transforms walls and ceilings. For floors, the solution could be: Carpet them!

Modern developments make carpeting both a speedy and practical answer for basement floor covering needs. New indoor/outdoor carpeting resists moisture, mildew, stains, and won't shrink or fade.

This type of carpeting is highly wear resistant and is easy to clean. It can even be installed on porch or patio, or at poolside, as well.

For basement floors, the carpet can be laid directly over concrete. However, a latex foam rubber underlay will provide additional cushioning and insulation.

The carpeting used for basements is closely tufted and often has a dense, low pile. Thus, the latex foam underlay may be needed if deep-cushioned comfort underfoot is desired. Or, some carpets are available with a high-density latex foam backing.

No special treatment is necessary before putting down basement carpeting. Major holes must be patched, but minor blemishes can simply be covered and hidden.

New steel siding can 'heal wounds'

New entry in the frame improvement and construction field is steel siding that "heals" itself when "wounded." Zinc coating is the healing agent that gives galvanized steel siding its protection against corrosion. If siding is accidentally scratched or gouged, coating protects the exposed steel by electrolytic action.

Central air conditioning now necessity for many

No longer a rich man's plaything, central air conditioning is becoming a necessity in the life of the middle income homeowner. Today more than three million American homes are centrally air conditioned, and their number is mushrooming at a rate of 500,000 annually, says H. Gall Clarke, president of Clarke Engineering Co., 15 N. Wood ave., Linden.

Furniture styles follow technology

If technology leads, can fashion be far behind?

It may take a turn all its own but the answer is a great big "No!" That, at least, was the conclusion drawn by a press panel of spokesmen from various branches of the furniture industry at a recent press conference in the American Furniture Mart.

Among the interesting observations of industry leaders assembled was one pointing to a debt of gratitude owed by all of us to the owners of fabric mills. The mills have made advances in technology which have prevented serious shortages from developing in retail stores despite a drain of 20 million yards per month due to the Viet Nam war.

Improvements in growing hardwoods are also assuring furniture makers of adequate supplies in the future. Although there is need for careful planning on the part of industry, there is no cause for panic in the future hardwood supply situation.

New trends in furniture finishes give greater protection, including chemical and heat resistance, abrasion, color retention, and extremely high speed drying. Continued up-grading of American tastes for high quality has increased demand for certain face veneers of wood which have long been the hallmark of fine furniture.

Even larger homes — such as an existing eight-room house with a hot-air furnace and adequate ductwork — sometimes can be completely air-conditioned for as little as $1,000. This estimate is provided by the General Electric Company, one of the largest manufacturers of residential air conditioning systems.

In existing homes, other financing plans are available where "open end" mortgages are permitted, the owner may add the cost of the air conditioning to the original mortgage and pay off the loan by extending his mortgage.

In some cases, air conditioning dealers can arrange financing for the homeowner through facilities of company credit corporations. Usually a small down payment is asked and the installments are spread over 12, 24, or 36 months at a fixed interest rate, Clarke pointed out.

Banks and savings and loan associations usually are receptive to loans under Title I of the Federal Housing Administration law. These loans which may be paid off in as much as five years, are attractive because they are insured by the FHA.

A secured bank loan may be used if you own property, insurance, stocks, bonds, or other collateral and offer any of them as security.

The Federal Housing Administration has stated to its field appraisers that "within a few years, any home without air conditioning will probably be obsolete." So, no matter how it's financed, central air conditioning is a worthwhile investment. Aside from the comfort and cleanliness it provides, it may help safeguard the home resale value.

Outdoor storage facilities

An unusual storage idea is offered by perforated hardboard, which provides hanging space for tools, garden hoses, and other outdoor items. It could be used, for instance, to hold a hanging garden of potted plants.

AQUA 1 WATER PURIFIER fits snugly against kitchen cabinet. It provides crystal clear water through a non-electric filtering system. Made by Culligan, it is handled by Nelson-Phillips, Union.

Modern appliances eliminate impurities in water supplies

Recent improvements in appliances are successfully eliminating tastes and minerals from household water supplies, according to Hubert Nelson, vice president of Nelson-Phillips, & Co. of 2047 U.S. Highway 22, Union, dealer in water-conditioning equipment.

Nelson reports two developments by Culligan, manufacturers of home water equipment. One is the Aqua 1 Water Purifier aimed at providing a continuous source of fresh, clear water. The other is a Culligan water softener with a sensing device, the Aqua Sensor that tells when hard water should be changed to soft water.

Nelson points out the fact that though municipal water supplies are safe for human consumption, they may contain impurities that affect the taste and "palatability" of household water. "Impurities in water, such as iron, manganese, or copper, may be in the water," he said and added, "dissolved iron compounds, sulfide gases or excess acidity may be present. These not only interfere with the taste and appearance of the water, but also may cause corrosion of plumbing, and stain or tarnish cooking utensils and plumbing fixtures."

To overcome these problems, water purification and water-softener equipment has been perfected. The Culligan water purifier is a small appliance that does not require an electrical installation. It generally is installed against the side or bottom of a kitchen cabinet.

The principle of reverse osmosis is employed to filter out, through a semi-permeable membrane, any bad taste, discolorations or odors present in the water. Up to three gallons of crystal clear water is processed in one day. Nelson estimated this amount of water to be sufficient for most home cooking and drinking needs. He notes that the water not only will taste better, but will improve the flavor of coffee, tea, soups and other foods. Its use in steam irons, aquariums and vaporizers also is recommended by Nelson.

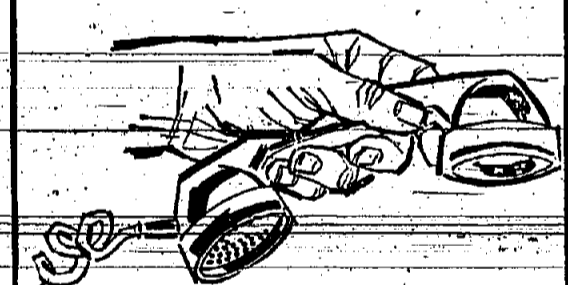

The water softener's newest feature is the patented Aqua-Sensor, which is wired into the automatic circuit. As soon as it detects the need for recharging (softening) it automatically starts the cycle.

Both Culligan items are among the equipment available at Nelson-Phillips.

Bending nails?

To make hammer-and-nail jobs go more smoothly, check the hammer. Grease, oil, dirt or paint on the face of the hammer can cause nails to bend or splinter. Rub a little kerosene on the nailhead to glance off the nailhead.

There are two electronic sensors, located at the bottom of the ion-exchange resin bed inside the water softener. When hard water reaches the upper sensor, the lower one is still immersed in softened water. The sensors electronically detect the difference and signal the solid-state controller. At the proper time, the unit automatically recharges. No other water softener in the world is so fully automatic.

Urges removal of Essex Parkway tolls

State Sen. John J. Giblin said today that he will press for speedy action on a bill which will eliminate all tolls on the Garden State Parkway in the section from Springfield ave. in Irvington to Belleville ave., Bloomfield.

Giblin said that he had introduced Senate Bill 384 to "correct the Park injustice" of the tolls on the Garden State Parkway which are levied on the seven mile stretch on the Parkway in Essex.

"The initial excuse that these tolls are required to pay off the $19,000,000 cost of Parkway construction in East Orange is no longer valid, if they were ever valid in the first place," Senator Giblin contended.

"The fact is that the Federal Government has picked up the entire $19,000,000 tab and it is nothing short of larceny to make Essex users of the Parkway pay for a non-existent tab," Giblin said.

"Furthermore, the decision by the Parkway Authority of the original Highway Authority Act in the Referendum of 1952 Essex County residents voted for a construction of the Garden State Parkway through our County only with the understanding that no tolls would ever be charged on that section of the Parkway constructed along Orator Parkway, an Essex County road," Giblin explained.

"Yet, we find that today Essex Parkway users are being charged 10 cents to get on and 10 cents to get off of this very area. We are actually paying tolls for riding on one of our country's streets.

"It is my conviction that such tolls not only violate the public mandate, but are illegal in their application and that the simplest way to end the whole intolerable situation is through the passage of Senate Bill 384."

"This bill makes it plain that no tolls shall be collected on the Garden State Parkway at Springfield ave., Irvington, or Belleville ave., Bloomfield, or any point between these two avenues," Giblin said.

The Senator said that his measure had the support of all the communities in Essex County in which tolls have been exacted including Irvington, NEWARK, Bloomfield.

Worthington exec named chairman of Hospital fund

Peter S. Barno, vice president of the Worthington Corp. has been named chairman of Executive and Employee Solicitation for the Greater Newark Hospital Development Fund, it was announced yesterday by Donald S. MacChughton, acting general chairman of the Fund.

The Hospital Development Fund is engaged in a campaign to raise $15 million for Newark's five major voluntary hospitals — Columbus, Newark Beth Israel, St. James, St.

Overbrook adolescent unit observes fourth anniversary

The fourth anniversary of the establishment of Essex County Overbrook Hospital's pioneering adolescent unit was observed Friday at an open house. Freeholder Edward J. McKenna, chairman of the Overbrook Hospital committee, presided.

This unit, known as the Overbrook Teenage Living Center, has provided individual and group therapy of an intensive kind; enriched recreational facilities, and special education for more than 100 boys and girls from 13 to 18 for the past four years, McKenna said. Most such units in the country are in private or university-affiliated institutions rather than in public hospitals.

Guests at the open house included educators, representatives of social work agencies and mental health groups, and parents and relatives of the teenage patients. The youngsters escorted the guests and assisted in explaining the workings of the adolescent unit.

One of the main features of the unit is the Center School, which provides elementary and junior and senior high school education for the young patients. The school is an integral part of the Cedar Grove school system, the only one of its kind in the county. The Cedar Grove board of education provides the facilities for the school, located in the hospital's Star Building, and pays the salaries of its four teachers. The school is compensated by the municipalities in which the teenage patients reside.

The school has four modern classrooms, equipped with the latest educational facilities, and an office. Bruce Campbell, assistant to the Cedar Grove superintendent of schools, is principal of the fully accredited Center School.

Two of the girls who completed their high school education at the school received their diplomas at graduation exercises of their hometown high schools. Three more of the teenage patients are expected to do so this June.

The youngsters have the benefit of the comprehensive therapeutic programs of Overbrook Hospital, the largest county-operated mental institution in the country and one of two county-operated ones with full national accreditation. These programs include occupational therapy, the psychology departments and nursing activity, college counselor and college companion programs in addition to treatment by psychiatrists.

Dr. Arnold M. Kallen, director of the Essex County Guidance Center and a board diplomate in psychiatry, is director of the adolescent unit. Dr. First Ronald, a staff psychiatrist, is the unit officer. Mrs. Geneva V. B. Garner is school liaison officer and supervising counselor.

A psychiatrist from the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. where a similar unit is planned recently studied the Overbrook facility. The Overbrook unit is the brain child of Dr. Henry A. Davidson, the hospital's superintendent and medical director. Dr. Davidson and Freeholder McKenna cited the achievement of Mrs. Lillian L. Weinberger, director of the psychology department, who was coordinator of the adolescent unit for its first two years.

Red Cross class in Life Saving to start Apr. 18

Junior and senior life-saving courses will be offered by American Red Cross, Essex County Chapter, starting Tuesday.

The courses will be conducted at the Morris Ave. swimming pool, 282 Morris ave., Newark, Tuesdays, 6:15 to 8:15 p.m.

Candidates for the junior course, ages 12 to 15, and senior course, at least 16 years of age, must be in good physical condition and able to pass the preliminary swimming requirements of a surface dive, treading, floating and the ability to swim 220 yards. Enrollment must be on or before Monday.

Each student will be required to have a Red Cross Life Saving and Water Safety Textbook for out-of-class study and reference. Books, available at the start of the course, cost 75 cents.

The life-saving courses are being conducted in cooperation with the Bureau of Baths and Pools of the City of Newark. Betty Bachna or Charles Knecht at the Red Cross office 710 High St., Newark, will furnish details.

'Ashcan School' painters featured in Museum exhibit

Early 20th Century Painting and Sculpture, an exhibition of 25 works by some of the pioneers of modern American art, is now on view at the Newark Museum and will continue through June 18.

The exhibition includes paintings by "The Eight," the group of artists who staged a revolt against conservative, academic art in 1907-09. It was not until many years after their brief association that a journalist dubbed the group the "Ashcan School."

Included in the exhibition are Marmoreal Dream by Arthur B. Davies, At the Beach by William Glackens, Mary Gallagher by Robert Henri, Harlem River by Ernest Lawson, Czech-Slovak Chief by George Luks, Willows, Salem by Maurice Prendergast, and Moulin by Everett Shinn.

Realism in subject matter was the most important reason for the Eight's collective revolt. Today, looking at their works together, one is more instantly aware of the debt their style owed to Impressionism and later French art movements. French influences also seem strong in Childe Hassam's "The Garage," Glen Coleman's "Coastline Slip and George Bellows' "Children and Summer. The work of Max Weber, whose Zinnias is shown, relates to that of COZANNE and to Matisse, with whom he studied in 1908.

Among several other works ranging from 1900 through the 1920's is "The Funeral" by Louis Ellshemius, a brooding study in black and white, and a vigorous, stylized landscape, "Forest and Hills," by Joseph Pollet, a "forgotten" artist of the 1920's, recently rediscovered and gaining new appreciation.

Sculpture in the show includes animal figures by Robert Laurent and Reuben Nakian. An interesting study of style and personalities is provided in the grouping of three sculptures, each entitled "Head of Woman," by Gaston Lachaise, Elie Nadelman and William Zorach.

No alternative would help in Vietnam, says Navy officer

By FRAN DE CRISTOPHER

When he was asked how he felt when he learned he was going to Vietnam, Navy Lt. Alfred E. Bowman replied, "I won't claim that I was particularly overjoyed to go there, but Vietnam is just one of those things I did feel that out reasons for being there and our policies were justified. I feel that it is true even more so now."

Lt. Bowman's trip to Vietnam came at the tail end of his service with the U. S. Navy. He entered the Navy directly following completion of the ROTC program at Harvard University, from which he was graduated in 1961 with a bachelor of arts degree in government.

He then served aboard the U. S. aircraft carrier Enterprise in the Atlantic and Mediterranean and was later stationed with military forces in Saudi Arabia. In 1964, he was transferred to the Pentagon in Washington, where he was with Naval counter-intelligence for a period of two years.

He joined Gen. William C. Westmoreland's staff in Saigon in early 1966 and remained there for an extended period of service on "a voluntary retainer" until he was released from active duty last month.

Lt. Bowman stated that his opinions of Vietnam were limited by the fact that he was stationed in Saigon with the military staff. His job was monitoring naval activities in and around South Vietnam. "But the naval role in South Vietnam is smaller than that of the other services."

the Navy uses smaller boats in Vietnam than it uses anywhere else in the world, he said.

Lt. Bowman also stated that he believes the Vietnam war is "unlike anything else we've been involved in before." He compared the Vietnam conflict with our involvement in the Korean conflict to give an idea of what he meant.

"The Korean battle was a classic war," he said. "There was a definite front, and the war was fought with the idea of taking territory. In Vietnam there is no front line. The object is not territory but people."

In relating this difference to the military aims of the U. S. in fighting the war, Lt. Bowman noted that the U. S. is attempting to gain no territory in the battle. We are instead attempting to accomplish three things.

First, there is an effort to eliminate large masses of enemy forces. The lieutenant distinguished between full-time fighting people and local guerrilla forces. He referred to the latter as people who live in a village and do not engage in fighting. They are, however, prepared to cause problems and do so often when the time is right, he said.

"To isolate and destroy large-scale Communist forces" is not the same as battle with these guerrilla forces, he said. At the same time, there is a second effort to pressure the Viet Cong into defecting, he said. Thirdly, he pointed out the need for a stable government to build up loyalty in the Vietnamese people for the leadership of South Vietnam.

ALFRED E. BOWMAN
He described this two-point strategy as being two sides of the same coin. The re-education program includes the establishment of several practical reforms, he said. These are included in the areas of education, health, sanitation, economics and land reforms.

the same time," he said. "The Vietnamese need peace, and they need reforms." Trying to come by both at once is a real problem in Vietnam, he stated, because in many cases the reforms are heavily interlocked.

He explained that in the case of land reforms this was evident. He cited heavy set-backs from the attempts to apportion land to the Vietnamese when, in much of the countryside, communist forces often ended up controlling it in such cases, and reform is almost "meaningless," he said.

The lieutenant described Communism as well organized in Vietnam, and he expressed a belief that this was greatly responsible for the strength of the Viet Cong. He did add, however, that Communism is in a more tenuous position than it was when the French occupied the country.

"When the French leadership was in power, it was easy for the nationalists and the Communists to agree in being against the government," he said. Now it is more difficult to reconcile Communism and nationalism, since a Vietnamese government is in power, but it is an anti-Communist government, he said.

Lt. Bowman also pointed to religious tensions as a divisive force. Catholic and Buddhist antagonism he described as being highly political in nature. He also mentioned the existence of unfamiliar sects often found in the countryside.

DESPITE HISTORY and tradition, many Vietnamese have decided to leave their villages and go to Saigon, sometimes because of war but often because of the Communist presence on their land, he said. "For people to leave their ancestral homes is something," he stated, "and these people leave voluntarily to escape the Communists."

The lieutenant described Saigon as a highly overcrowded city, a city that is housing far more people than it was ever laid out to hold. He said people build shanties on any available piece of land in every part of the city. The slides Lt. Bowman has brought back are not adequate pictures, he commented, because they cannot show the dirt.

People crowd there, he said, for two main reasons. It is generally regarded as a secure area from Communist pressures and the war, and there are also innumerable opportunities for employment. "The U. S. presence has brought jobs here," he stated.

The lieutenant expressed disagreement with critics who have argued that the U. S. presence in Vietnam is unjustified from a moral point of view. "They are prepared to give credence to any propaganda, regardless of the source," he said, "but they routinely ignore factual evidence that has been accumulated of Viet Cong atrocities and murders against the Vietnamese."

Lt. Bowman said he feels Vietnam is a moral question. "There have been vast groups wherever the Communists took over," he said. "There are too many people in Vietnam who have been opposing Communism for too long to be allowed to go on living if the Communists take over."

"I think the atrocities now are a kind of preview to what will happen if we leave," he said.

Lt. Bowman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Bowman Sr. of 381 Hillside Ave., Springfield. He has a brother, Lee, who is with the Army at Fort Monmouth.

"THE NAVY'S JOB is one of patrol and surveillance along the coast and on the waterways," he said. "There's also a peculiar role, he pointed out, because there are hundreds of small boats to be checked each day,

THE MILITARY EFFORT is only one of two phases of U. S. strategy, he said. "We are trying to bring an end to the war through our military campaigns under Gen. Westmoreland and through the revolutionary development program."

"This means accomplishing two things at

"SOME OF THESE SECTS are very eclectic," he said. "For example, someone like Victor Hugo is considered something of a saint in one of them. And it is not particularly unusual thing for an American commander to find himself ensnared."

The Buddhist movement, often led by bonzes or Buddhist monks, who may have political

Five foreign exchange students will take part in a panel discussion on their experiences of Guatemala, in Chatham, and Vanya Cavalcanti of Brazil, who is living with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weisman of Springfield.

The five students will spend much of the day visiting classes at the Florence Gaudinier School, where they will also speak at an assembly program for seventh and eighth graders. They will have lunch at the Gaudinier School. Before attending the PTA session in the evening, they will have dinner at the home of Sandmeier PTA member, Mrs. M. J. Schweizer, who is spending the year in West Orange; Alfredo Garcia of Peru, staying in Westfield; Gail Martin of South Africa, in New Providence; Rebecca Chacon-Solares of Guatemala, in Chatham, and Vanya Cavalcanti of Brazil, who is living with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weisman of Springfield.

Their year in the U. S. is sponsored by the International scholarship program of the American Field Service. Mrs. Benjamin H. Josephson, president of the Springfield AFS Chapter, will also speak at the Sandmeier PTA meeting.

Host families for the dinner hour will be Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Koenig, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Merz, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. Abner Gold.

Mrs. John Craner is PTA program chairman, with Mrs. Robert Field and Mrs. Chester Moroz as program chairmen for the evening. Other members of the committee are Harold Lightkind, PTA president, and Mrs. Milton Roth and Mrs. Samuel Goldman, vice-presidents.

Honor in biology
Richard Mayer of Springfield was recently pledged as a provisional member of Beta Beta Beta, national biology honorary society. A sophomore biology major at Marietta College in Ohio, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Mayer of 24 Garden oval, Springfield. He is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Picture, discussion by panel of clergy at meeting of ORT

A film entitled "Should I Marry Outside My Faith," produced by Family Films, Los Angeles, dealing with the effect of intermarriage on family life and social relationships, will be shown at an open meeting of the Springfield Chapter of Women's American ORT tonight at 8 o'clock at Temple Beth Ahm, Balmorolway.

A panel discussion by local clergymen will follow the film. The speakers will be: Magr. Francis X. Coyle of St. James Catholic Church, the Rev. James Dewart of Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church, Rabbi Reuben R. Levine of Beth Ahm and Mrs. Pauline F. Lashins, a practicing marriage counselor, formerly affiliated with the Essex County Family Courts and a member of the National Association of Marriage Counselors. In addition to the speakers, the speakers will answer questions from the audience. Sidney Kruger, associate professor of English at Newark State College, will serve as moderator.

Mrs. Leonard Golden, program chairman, stressed that the meeting will be open to the public. She said that it should be of special interest to parents, teenagers and all young people of marriageable age. Mrs. Jack H. Steifman, president, will conduct the meeting. Mrs. Madeline Weiss will be in charge of refreshments.

Mrs. Jerry Szanger, special projects vice-president, has announced that the Springfield Chapter will hold its spring rummage sale of used and better clothing, shoes, household articles, children's toys, games, books on Monday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m., and Tuesday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at 167 Morris ave., Springfield. Further information is available from Mrs. J. Szanger (379-9339).

Twig prepares catalog for annual bulb sales

Overlook Hospital Twig of Springfield is preparing a 1967 spring bulb list, the group announced this week. The twig has been selling imported Dutch bulbs by mail for 12 years, and has, during that time, donated $12,000 in proceeds to the Overlook Hospital in Summit. Contributions last year went toward the preparation of two rooms for use in the isolation wing.

The catalog for 1967 is scheduled to be mailed out soon. Persons not on the regular mailing list may call Mrs. Harford B. Ilund of 8 Forest dr., Springfield, to obtain a copy. Her telephone number is 379-4565.

Presbyterians' Evening Group will celebrate 15th anniversary

Fifteen years of service will be celebrated this month when the Evening Group of the Springfield Presbyterian Church meets next Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian Parish House. The group was formed as an extension of the Ladies' Benevolent Society in 1952 so that working women and mothers of young children might have an opportunity to participate in the work of the church.

Mrs. Robert Hamilton served as the first chairman of the group, followed by Mrs. Herbert Bailey, Mrs. Thomas Geddes, Mrs. Walter Baldwin, Mrs. Raymond Peterson, Mrs. Max Kuehn, Mrs. Adolf Sium, Mrs. George Caspers, Mrs. Gerald Garofalo and presently Mrs. Whitton French.

Each year the group sponsors two projects to raise money for its benevolent projects—a rummage sale in the fall and a fashion show in the spring. For a number of years the women have sponsored an orphan boy in Lebanon through the Christian Children's Fund; two or three times a year, a work night is held when bandages are rolled and hospital supplies made for mission hospitals and the Presbyterian Home for the Aged in Belvidere, N.J. Currently, the women are collecting articles to make up packets for distribution to leprosy patients.

Programs presented at the monthly meetings, which are held on the third Wednesday evening at 8:15 in the Parish House, help broaden the perspective of the members toward the total work of the church at large. Guest speakers, films, musical presentations, drama have all added to this objective.

Ippolito-Okrasinski engagement is told

The engagement has been announced of Miss Patricia M. Ippolito to 2nd Lt. Richard J. Okrasinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Okrasinski of 11 Janet lane, Springfield.

Miss Ippolito is the daughter of Mrs. Frank M. Ippolito of Englewood and the late Mr. Ippolito.

The bride-elect is a graduate of St. Cecelia High School in Englewood. She is secretary to the export manager of John Sexton and Co. Lt. Okrasinski is an alumnus of Seton Hall Preparatory School and Allegheny College, where he received a degree in political science. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity. He is now attending the Air Force Intelligence School at Lowry Air Force Base, Col.

Charity ball slated by Volunteer Guild Saturday, April 22

More than 300 area residents are expected to attend the annual charity ball of the Memorial General Hospital, Union, Volunteer Guild, Saturday night, April 22, at the Hotel Suburban, Summit.

According to co-chairmen Mrs. Otto Walle and Mrs. Harold Van Schock of 114 West Roselle ave., Roselle Park, this year's ball will have as its theme, "Cherry Blossom Time." Mrs. James Harpist of 77 East St., Union, is president of the Guild.

The souvenir journal committee, headed by Mrs. Leonard Nusbaum of 2085 Tyler, Union, announced this week that proceeds from advertising in the journal will be higher than ever before and that the expected large contribution to Memorial General will be "particularly fitting at this time since the hospital has embarked on a major fund-raising development program."

The ball is open to the public, and anyone wishing to receive an invitation may contact the chairman by calling the hospital.

Serving with Mrs. Nusbaum on the journal committee are Mrs. Joseph Kiley of 1818 Berkshire Dr., Union; Mrs. John Kelly of 386 Spring st., Union; and Mrs. Franklin Kingel of 724 Lindagar st., Linden.

Entertainment for the evening will be provided by the Ray DiPietro band.

Nutritional survey shows deficiencies in school children

How would your children nutritionally rate if they were compared with the results of a recent nutrition survey of school children conducted in Oklahoma? Asks Anne L. Sheelen, County Home Economist.

The Oklahoma State Department of Education has tabulated a study of the food habits of 3,000 students. Indications of the study show that the children studied are not eating the recommended kinds or quantities of food. In a four day period, no single student ate foods from all the required food groups.

The evidence of the report showed that 4 out of 10 did not receive adequate calcium; three out of 10 did not receive adequate iron; and four out of 10 did not receive adequate vitamin C. In reverse, it was found that one out of four were eating too many calories.

In discussing the results of this survey, there is a strong indication that these children are eating a high proportion of empty calorie foods. Empty calorie foods are ones which supply a high number of calories but very few nutrients. Potato chips, pretzels, coke, pie, and cookies are examples of empty calorie items.

It may be wise for you to give a serious review of the foods your children eat each day. Although this study was carried on in Oklahoma, it may indicate a food habit trend throughout the nation.

Each day your child should eat the recommended amounts from the Basic Four Daily Food Guide.

The daily guide includes dairy foods, mainly milk—children under nine years two to three cups, children nine to 12 years three or more cups, teenagers four or more cups; meat group, two or more servings; vegetable and fruit group, four or more servings; and the bread and cereal group, four or more servings.

Use this guide to determine if your child's diet is unbalanced and the type of foods that may be lacking.

Recent research is showing more and more that a diet that supplies the necessary nutrients in the amounts needed will result in a more active and healthier individual.

Home safe for child?

Stollie, County Home, a small child will not be put in a home safe, according to national statistics the greatest number of poisonings occur in children two to three years of age.

Mostly 65 percent of the children put in home safes were supposedly being supervised.

Children are often in your home. With spring and summer camps look around outside your home. Do you and your neighbors leave garage doors open? Who doesn't?

Little children can wander into all sorts of trouble here. The garage is usually the storage place for paints, solvents, denatured alcohol, pesticides, weed killers, plus many remedies for such plants, so remember to keep doors closed.

Be careful to label all containers. Many accidents happen because poisonous substances are placed in soda bottles or other containers normally associated with food. Couple this practice with no labeling and persons of all ages could be affected.

Methodists plan confirmation of 14 at Sunday service

The Rev. James Stewart, minister of Springfield Methodist Church, 1401 Main St., at 11 a.m. Sunday, will confirm a class of 14 young people at the service of divine worship on Sunday at 11 a.m.

The "Every Member Financial Visitation" will continue this week with canvassers meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Mundy Room for assignments. Calls must be completed by April 23 according to David W. Brown, chairman of stewardship and finance.

The Junior High Fellowship meets at 6:30 p.m. John Dewart will speak to the Senior High Youth at 7 p.m. concerning the Northern New Jersey Youth Convocation at Ridgewood held last weekend.

Town meeting

Town Hall and the new library.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the Township Committee moved closer to an outright declaration of war on the State Highway Department. This development came at the end of the evening, after Committee Chairman Robert C. Planer read a letter from Russell H. Mellon, assistant commissioner of transportation for highways, refusing to install a fence along the sidewalk on Morris ave. running under Rt. 78.

Planer noted that the highway officials continued to ignore hazards created by the steep slopes going up from both sidewalks, tempting children to run up and down, and possibly into the street.

Both Del Vecchio and Bloom suggested, during the public discussion period, that if Trenton continues to refuse any action, the township should take matters into its own hands and build its own barriers between the paved embankments and the sidewalks.

Hardgrove urged caution, however, and said that legal implications of such a step should be investigated.

Wins commission in U.S. Air Force

SAN ANTONIO—Gregory D. Wacker, son of Mrs. Cecilia M. Wacker, 7 Troy dr., Springfield, N. J., has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Lt. Wacker, selected for OTS through competitive examination, is being assigned to Pittsburgh AFB, N. Y., for duty with the Strategic Air Command which maintains America's combat ready intercontinental missile and jet bomber force as a deterrent to Russia against this nation.

The lieutenant, a graduate of Columbia High School, Maplewood, N. J., received his B. S. degree in management in 1966 from Pennsylvania State University.

Planer discussed a petition from Mountain ave. merchants who oppose plans to close off parking areas in front of their stores with curbing as part of the street paving scheduled for this spring. He stressed that such decisions are made by the county engineer.

He commented on traffic hazards now caused by drivers who back out of the present parking areas into the path of Mountain ave. traffic. Planer also noted that there are parking areas in the rear of the stores.

Both he and Del Vecchio noted that all the merchants recently received application forms to request additional curb cuts for their parking lots. The protesting merchants were not represented at the meeting Tuesday.

DEL VECCHIO ANNOUNCED that, for the next month, road department workers will pick up leaves and grass cuttings if heaped at the curb. He stressed that branches must be tied into bundles no longer than four feet to be picked up by the garbage trucks.

Hardgrove reminded citizens that the next Township Committee meeting has been postponed from Tuesday, April 25, until the following night to avoid a conflict with the Jewish holiday of Passover.

In the public discussion portion of the evening, Dr. Benjamin H. Josephson spoke in behalf of the Springfield Chapter, American Field Service. He disclosed that the AFS group will play host July 16-20 to 40 foreign exchange students who will be completing a year's stay in this country.

Although all plans are still tentative, the committeemen assured him of their eagerness to cooperate in any plans to entertain the young visitors and, as Hardgrove said, "give these people a good impression of what Springfield is like."

Both Henry S. Wright and Ed Rall spoke on problems connected with safety on the sidewalks under Rt. 78. They stressed that the hazards will increase greatly this summer, when hundreds of youngsters walk under the highway to reach the municipal swimming pool.

Lenchner chosen recipient of award for graduate study

LANCASTER, Pa. — A Springfield, N. J., student at Franklin and Marshall College has received a $10,000 fellowship for graduate study in American government.

Paul Lenchner, a senior at the college, has received one of the 40-Herbert H. Lehman fellowships awarded on a nation-wide basis by New York State. The fellowships, established in honor of former New York governor Herbert H. Lehman, are awarded for "study in an approved graduate school in New York State in a program leading to a graduate degree in the social sciences and public and international affairs."

Lenchner expects to work toward a doctorate in American government at Cornell University. He will receive a $4,000 stipend next year, and $5,000 during each of the three following years.

Lenchner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herma M. Lenchner of 18 Spycamore ter., in Springfield. A member of Pi Gamma Mu national social science honorary fraternity and the Government Club at Franklin and Marshall, Lenchner has been an Honors list student during each of his last five semesters at the college. A government major, he plans to enter either college teaching or government work after receiving his doctorate.

Painting by Yablonsky on display in Trenton

A painting by Alan L. Yablonsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. I.S. Yablonsky of 315 Hillside ave., Springfield, is on display at the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton in the second annual juried exhibition of "Art from New Jersey, 1967."

Yablonsky, a senior at Rutgers University in Newark, is among the youngest of the approximately 150 exhibiting artists. His painting is entitled "A-Crate Space."

sign exchange students who will be completing a year's stay in this country.

Girl Scout troop visits Washington, Williamsburg, Va., during trip

Twenty-eight Springfield Girl Scouts of Troop 273 took a four-day trip to Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D.C., recently, accompanied by Mrs. Lee L. Andrews Jr., leader, and Mrs. Edward Naymla, Mrs. John Murano, Mrs. Rose Puorro, Mrs. Charles Schaffernoth, Mrs. John DeLuca, Mrs. Henry Gravenman, Mrs. John Lise and Mrs. Philip Stabile.

Traveling by chartered bus, the girls saw the new tunnel-bridge spanning Chesapeake Bay and stopped at the Star Line Memorial in Norfolk, Va., before arriving in Williamsburg.

Following the tour of Williamsburg, they visited Jamestown and Norfolk, Va., and Arlington National Cemetery, where they saw the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the grave of President John F. Kennedy.

In Washington, where they were taken on a guided tour, they were greeted by two members of the staff of Rep. Florence Dwyer, who presented an American flag to Scout Carol Ann Klester in honor of her 13th birthday. The girls also visited the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., before returning home.

Temple to sponsor Passover dinner

Temple Beth Ahm of Springfield will hold its annual community Seder on Tuesday, April 25, the second night of Passover. The ritual and songs will be conducted by Rabbi Reuben R. Levine and Cantor Israel Weisman, with special emphasis on family participation and active inclusion of the children.

The evening service that night will be held at 6:30, a smorgasbord from 7:30, and the seder itself at 8:30 P.M. The Seder is open to everyone. Information and reservations are available from: Ruth Miller, 376-5188; Ethel Miller, 376-7234; Florence Farb, 376-1184; or Doris Wortzel, 376-1878.

Deborah to feature Filipino dance unit

A combined board and regular meeting of the Sabarban Deborah League will be held on April 18 at 8:30 p.m. at Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield. Mrs. Ted Straus of Springfield will preside.

Mrs. William Balsam, program vice-president, will present the Filipino Ladies Circle of New Jersey. They will give a demonstration of their native dances, including the candle-light dance. The group will feature a fashion show of their native costumes. They are led by their president, Mrs. Daniel Shepherd of Lake Hopatcong.

A theater party and luncheon will be held on Wednesday afternoon, May 3, to see "Black Comedy." Mrs. Sanford Resnick of Springfield is chairman.

ton, community chairman, and Mrs. Robert Ziegler, Colette consultant, as special guests. The dinner was prepared under the leadership of Mrs. Nathaniel Johnson, assisted by Alice Groen, Mrs. C. Randolph Lroot and a former leader, Mrs. Frank H. Madison.

Girls in the troop are working for their hostess and chef badges in preparation for the "Challenge of Social Responsibility." Hostesses for the dinner were Chris Crump, Natalie Johnson, Cindy Madison, Eleanor Meyer, Edna Paraz, Karen Spittlock and

Discussion group listens to recording of 'White America'

The book discussion group of the Springfield Public Library met at the library last Tuesday evening to discuss the play "In White America," by Martin Duberman. Under the leadership of Irving Merkin, the group departed from its usual format by listening to the original Broadway cast recording of "In White America."

The play featured testimony of whites and Negroes, as taken from diaries, letters and documents, and the story of the Negro from slave ship days to Little Rock and the Freedom Marchers.

After listening to each scene, Merkin led the group in probing and questioning the play and its values.

There will be one more meeting of the Discussion Group before summer vacation period. At this final meeting the book "God, Jews, and History," by Max Dimont, will be discussed under the leadership of Rabbi Reuben R. Levine. Paperback copies of the book may be purchased at the library.

Opera Guild plans events in Westfield

Mrs. Lawrence Landau of Springfield has been named to the committee for a student performance of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" to be presented by the Guild of Opera Theatre of New Jersey the evening of May 3 at Westfield High School. The opera will also be staged the evenings of May 5 and 6 at the same place.

The case is composed of New Jersey singers, with Alfredo Sillipigni as conductor. Tickets for all performances can be obtained in advance from Mrs. Charles Cure ticket chairman 536 Coleman pl., Westfield or by calling Mrs. Landau in Springfield at 376-3366.

Introducing two of the most radical changes in Volkswagen history. Can you spot them?

Did you notice that the headlights are vertical now instead of leaning back a bit? That doesn't make the car look any better. But it makes the road look better by making the lights a little brighter.

And that little hump in the back? We did that to hold the license plate up straight so the police can read it better. (Sorry.)

What you won't notice without driving the new model are the big improvements.

The engine has been enlarged to a ferocious 53 horsepower. That only adds 3 m.p.h. to the top speed. Because we put most of the additional power where it would make the engine accelerate faster, turn slower and last even longer.

Now that the VW is getting closer to a car, we put a couple of things up in the back. Dual brakes.

The front steering knuckle is a completely independent of the rear wheel. This means that you can lift the front wheel and drive, just as you can lift the back of the car. Which means you can get up the front of the car!

The new VW also has what's called a "light and recessed" dashboard. It's a new design. In fact this year we've redesigned the whole VW that we thought you might like to see.

Wear your Volkswagen! It's a car that's built to last.

A model of the Union Junior College campus in Cranford will be on display in the main office of the Union Center National Bank through April 21 from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and 7 to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays.

Fraternity dinner cites top students

Nu Delta Pi Fraternity at the Newark State College this week held a buffet dinner-dance in honor of students at the college who have made outstanding contributions in the past year. The event was held at the Argonne Post headquarters of the American Legion in Elizabeth.

"The Next," a popular music band, provided the entertainment at the dinner-dance. Jack Cloco, president of Nu Delta Pi, cited guests for accomplishments in journalism, athletics, the performing arts and politics.

The executive board of the fraternity for the 1967-68 academic year was presented at the meeting. Members are: Cloco, president; Edward Dulik, vice-president; Thomas Raab, treasurer; Clinton Miller, corresponding secretary; Charles Blackman, recording secretary; and Joseph Streir and Joel Moscow, Inar Fraternity-Sorority Council representatives.

The model is on display at the Union Center National Bank as part of Union Junior College's campaign to raise $1 million for the Science Building. Under the leadership of former Township Committeeman Robert P. Osterlag, an effort is underway to raise funds for the project among Union business and industrial firms.

The Science Building campaign has raised more than $500,000 to date. The current phase of the campaign is to raise an additional $200,000. In addition to these funds, Union Junior College has been awarded a federal grant of $307,000 for the Science Building.

Mrs. William J. Seeland of Union and Mrs. Elmer Wolf of Cranford, co-chairmen, reported this week they expect a record turnout for the annual benefit card party of the Union Junior College Alumni Association tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium of the Campus Center.

The co-chairmen said the advanced ticket sale has been "extremely good." Tickets will be available at the door, or they can be obtained from any member of the card party committee or at the Development Office at Union Junior College.

This year's fund-raising effort will benefit the Sperry Observatory Telescope Fund of Amateur Astronomers, Inc. AAI is seeking to raise $50,000 to cover the cost of building a 24-inch Newtonian-Cassegrain reflector telescope and a 10-inch refractor telescope.

Vietnam committee of Clergy, Laymen plans for activities

Plans for several activities on the coming week were made at a meeting of the Springfield-Liberty Committee of Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam held last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marzell in Springfield. Guest speaker was the Rev. E. J. Schaefer, Episcopal clergyman who will leave to serve as lecturer for the American Friends Service Committee.

Mr. Tait will address an open meeting of the Westfield Chapter of Concerned About American Foreign Policy tonight at 8:30 at the First Methodist Church, 100 Broad St., Westfield.

Members of Union County groups will participate in a "Speak Out Against the War in Vietnam" Saturday in New York, to be led by Dr. Martin Luther King. The program will begin at noon in Central Park and will culminate with a mass rally at 8 p.m. at the United Nations building.

Clergymen from throughout this area will take part in a "meal of sacrifice," consisting of rice and tea, Tuesday evening at Temple Shalom, Springfield. The meal will precede a lecture on foreign policy by Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, at 8:30 at Shalom.

In his talk last Thursday, Mr. Tait reviewed the history of Indo-China over the past century. He stated that the "aggressive Statist Communistism of 1948 must not be bracketed with the nationalist Communism of Southeast Asia."

He also said that there is an acute need for a government in South Vietnam that truly represents the people. Mr. Tait declared that peace will come when the people have elected leaders representing the National Liberation Front (political arm of the Viet Cong), the Buddhists, Catholics and other internal groups.

ON THE WATER — With some area schools closed for Easter vacation last week, youngsters took advantage of sunny spring weather by spending a few leisurely hours at Echo Lake Park. ## Medicare payments, doctor bills

Social Security District Manager Ralph W. Jones this week reminded Medicare beneficiaries today that doctor bills sent to the Medicare carrier for repayment must be itemized and must be marked paid.

The Prudential Insurance Company of America, the carrier which handles Medicare doctor bills in this area, cannot make payment for bills that are not itemized or that show only "services rendered," he said. When a beneficiary sends his request for payment form with an itemized or unpaid bill to the Medicare carrier, payment of his claim may be delayed while Prudential writes back for a new bill, Jones explained. There are two methods of payment under Medicare doctor bill insurance. When the doctor agrees, the "assignment" method may be used. The doctor sends the request for payment form to the carrier and bills the beneficiary only for the part of the bill that Medicare does not cover.

With the second method the same request for payment form is used, but the patient himself sends the claim to the carrier after paying the doctor's bill. When the beneficiary is going to send the claim to the Medicare carrier himself, he fills out the first part of the request for payment form and then has the doctor complete the second part of the form showing the services and the charges to the patient. If the doctor does not fill out the second part of the form, however, the beneficiary must enclose an itemized receipt bill.

"When a bill is enclosed," Jones said, "it is very important that it show not only the charges, but what specific services were given to the patient and on what date. The bill must also be marked paid."

Jones emphasized that a beneficiary who submits an itemized receipt bill should also be very careful to complete all blanks on the request for payment form including the "description of illness." Here, he said, the beneficiary should simply write why he went to the doctor or in his own words what was wrong with him.

"Because some beneficiaries seem to be confused to have questions about making a claim for payment of their doctor bill benefits," Jones said, "we are inviting beneficiaries to come in and see us when they make their first claim. We will be happy to check their form and make sure that all of the necessary information has been included and at the same time we can answer any questions they might have."

"If there are some beneficiaries who are unable to come to the Elizabeth office at 266 North Broad St., they may mail us their forms with their telephone number and we will contact them if additional information is needed," Jones said. The Elizabeth office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Thursday evenings from 5 to 8 p.m.

County Cerebral group to hold dinner dance

The Cerebral Palsy Service Committee of Union County Cerebral Palsy Center will hold its sixth annual benefit dinner-dance, Saturday, April 29, 7 p.m., at the Shackamaxon Country Club, Scotch Plains.

Mrs. Arthur Schliesman, president of the CPSC said the proceeds of the dance will go to the Cerebral Palsy Center, 216 Holly St., Cranford, established in 1949, and which operates five days a week during the school year and runs a summer camp.

Nursing Program at Union County Technical Institute

A 48-week practical nursing program has just been established at Rahway Hospital, Itahway, and Union County Technical Institute, 423 Park Ave., Scotch Plains. The New Jersey State Nursing Board has approved the facilities at the hospital and at the institute for the training program; it was announced this week.

The full-time day program will include 16 weeks of pre-clinical training at the Medical-Dental Division of the Institute at 423 Park Ave., Scotch Plains, and 32 weeks of clinical training at cooperating hospitals. The clinical training will include 4 weeks at Elizabeth General Hospital, eight weeks at John E. Runtz Hospital in Berkeley Heights and 20 weeks at Rahway Hospital, Rahway.

This program will be the first nursing program jointly involving Rahway Hospital and the Institute. The Institute has previously operated two programs per year in cooperation with local hospitals, one starting in September and the second starting in January, a spokesman said.

Tuition for the program will be $100 for each of the two registration periods, pre-clinical and clinical. Books and uniforms are additional expenses.

The first class under this new program will start April 24. For additional information, contact the Medical-Dental Division of the Institute at 423 Park Ave., Scotch Plains, or call 233-2211.

Mineral Club to meet

The Trailside Mineral Club will discuss the third chapter of Dr. Kemble Widmer's book, "Geology and Geography of New Jersey," at its meeting tonight. The session will begin at 8 at the Trailside Nature-Center, Watchung Reservation.

Club to hold three hikes

The program committee of the Union County Hiking Club has scheduled three hikes for members and guests for this weekend.

On Saturday, Robert Gasser of Annandale, will lead a 12-mile hike in the area of the Mianus River Gorge near Stamford, Conn. The hikers will meet at the administration building of the Union County Park Commission, Warinanco Park, Elizabeth, at 8 a.m.

Also on Saturday, Barbara Wagstaff of Cranford, will lead an eight-mile hike in the area of Bernardsville. This group will meet at the Bernardsville Railroad Station on Rt. 202 at 10 a.m.

Nathan Levin of Rahway, will lead a spring clearing day in Harriman State Park on Sunday. The group will join other clubs affiliated with the New Jersey - New York Trail Conference in clean-up work at the Harriman State Park shelters. The meeting place for this trip will be the administration building of the Union County Park Commission at 8:30 a.m.

Astronautical engineer from Union is promoted

PROMOTED—Brig. Gen. Lee V. Gonsick, commander of the Arnold Engineering Development Center, Arnold Air Force Station, Tenn., pins captain's bars on Michael V. Vasilik of Union. Vasilik is assistant Air Force representative to the rocket test facility at Arnold AFS.

Michael V. Vasilik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Vasilik of 1225 Magnolia Pl., Union, has been promoted to captain in the U. S. Air Force. Capt. Vasilik is the assistant Air Force representative at the rocket test facility of the Arnold Engineering Development Center, Arnold Air Force Station, Tenn.

Captain Vasilik, a native of Union, is a 1958 graduate of St. Benedict's Preparatory School in Newark. He attended Newark College of Engineering and received a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering in 1962. Two years later he received a master's degree in astronautics from the Air Force Institute of Technology, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

In September Capt. Vasilik will begin study toward a doctor's degree in astronautics under the Air Force's AFIT program.

As a result of his outstanding performance as an AFOTC cadet, he was sworn in as regular Air Force officer in January 1965.

Pinch of charcoal may aid newborn

NEW YORK (UPI)—A pinch of charcoal in the milk formula every three hours is overcoming jaundice in many newborn babies.

Dr. Anthony J. Replot of Our Lady Lourdes Hospital in Camden, N. J., Medical World News says the charcoal apparently helps draw poisonous bile into the intestinal tract. Otherwise, this fluid builds up in the bloodstream, causing the typical yellow skin color and tissue poisoning that can lead to death. Dr. Replot says the charcoal treatment has practically eliminated the need for blood transfusions as treatment.

Regional baseball team slated to meet Westfield, Kenilworth in home games

By MYRON MEISEL

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School baseball team will entertain two teams at home this week: Westfield High School tomorrow afternoon and David Brearley Regional High School of Kenilworth on Tuesday. The Bulldogs, diamond varsity is now 0-2, following a 3-1 loss to Rahway High School in six innings on Tuesday. Last Thursday's game with Hillside and Friday afternoon's contest with Millburn were both rained out. Hillside has been rescheduled for Thursday, April 20, one week from today. Millburn will be played on an undetermined Wednesday. Both games will be away. The Bulldogs also met Arthur L. Johnson Regional of Clark yesterday afternoon.

Against Rahway the Bulldogs made a very poor showing. When the game ended amid extreme wind and cold, Dayton was far down, even though it had six hits to the Indians' two. The trouble lay in the fielding. Errors, and walks plagued the Bulldogs throughout. Bob Gartlan started the game on the Dayton mound, and he showed up well for a few innings, but he received little support from the rest of the squad.

IN THE FIRST INNING, the Dayton batters looked fairly good. Shortstop Gary Kurtz led off with a base on an error and slid into second on a strike. Second baseman Richie Campbell singled with a bouncing drive into right field to score Kurtz and give Dayton a 1-0 lead. In the same inning, first baseman Ralph Lossano hit a very high ball down the right field line for a double, advancing Gartlan, who had walked, to third. Neither was able to score. In the second, Rahway took hold of the lead. The first two batters walked. Then a Dayton error scored one man and put runners on second and third. Gartlan then forced two outs. The next hitter loosed a soaring ball to center enabled him to round the bases. He drove in two runs but was tagged out at the plate by catcher Dominic Fabrizio on a fine throw by center fielder Tom Brownlie. In the third a walk, flubbed fly ball, and another error scored another Indian to give them a 4-1 lead. In the fifth, another Indian player started around the bases on a walk and stolen base and scored on the other Rahway hit of the game, a long single to right center.

Dayton was in scoring position only once after the first inning. In the third, with two outs, left fielder Ron Azarewicz slammed a line drive past the shortstop for a single, and Gartlan also singled, advancing to second while Azarewicz was called safe on the throw to third. The one remaining Dayton hit was gained by Kurtz, in the fifth.

HEAD COACH ED JASINSKI commented, "The team still requires a lot of work, particularly in eliminating infield errors. The hitting also needs more consistency."

Concerning the upcoming contests, "Westfield is considered with Cranford to be the leading Watchung Conference contender. It won the title last year, with Dayton in second, and nearly the entire team is back. It's a very strong hitting club. Westfield has already beaten Clark, but it lost to Gov. Livingston in extra innings."

"Brearley is a new school, and they suffer from a lack of material. They do have Bob Kizelich from our varsity squad of last year, and some boys from Gov. Livingston. They can't be counted out."

Trackmen beaten by Linden, to oppose Hillside, Cranford

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School track squad will face Hillside High School tomorrow afternoon and Cranford High School on Tuesday, both home at Meisel Field. The trackmen lost their opener in a close match with Linden High School, 72-54.

Dayton strayed only four points behind Linden in track overall, 38-34, but lingered far behind it in the field, 34-20, largely because of inexperience in the jumping events: high jump, long jump and pole vault.

Seniors Greg Baskin and Howard Rubenstein led the Bulldogs in individual scoring. Baskin scored first in both the discus and the shotput, as well as a third in the high jump. Rubenstein scored first in both sprints, the 100 and 200. Three juniors also captured firsts for Dayton:

Ken Shatten in the mile, Greg Jones in the 800, and Bill Chisholm in the javelin.

The results follow: low hurdles: Linden's John Brattisford, 11:30; 21.5; Derrol Brooks, Dayton, second, 21.8; high hurdles, Brattisford first, 16.2; Brooks, second, 16.8.

The 100-yard race: Rubenstein, first, 10.6; Jim Robinson, third, 11.0; 220 yards: Rubenstein, first, 24.6; Robinson, third, 26.0, 440 yards: Linden's Ken Roberts, first, 59.7; Gary Vosburgh, third, 60.6.

The 800-yard run: Jones, first, 2:13.4; mile, Shatten, first, 4:52; Dale Vadlosky, third, 5:20; 1.5 mile, Joe Murphy (Linden), first, 11:05.8; Bill Apat, second, 11:09.1; Gene George, third, 11:20.08.

In the discus, Baskin, first, 125-3; Gary Haydu, third, 117-5; In the shotput, Baskin, first, 48-1; Richard Bromberg, third, 41-10; In the javelin, Chisholm, first, 161-6.

In the high jump, long jump, and pole vault, Linden took all firsts: Ronald Holmes, 5-4; Jim Malinski, 17-10; and Ed Patlewicz, 9-6, respectively. Dayton took third in each event, Baskin jumping 5 in the high, Alan Best 17-1 in the long jump; and Rocky Ienna vaulting 8 feet.

Golfers take 3, to meet strong Cranford team

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School golf team will face a powerful Cranford High School squad next Monday away in an important test of the Bulldogs' Watchung Conference potential. Dayton has already defeated the customary-strong Westfield six in a triangular match with Thomas Jefferson of Elizabeth held at Baltustrol Golf Course last Monday. The team is now 3-1, excluding yesterday's match with Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School of Clark, moved up from its scheduled date of April 25.

Aside from the Westfield victory, 9 1/2-8 1/2, the Bulldogs have also defeated Rahway, 11-7, and Governor Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights, 10-8. In the triangular meet, coach Adam LaSota played two separate varsity teams rather than one. The second team, which competed against Jefferson, lost 11 1/2-6 1/2.

"I feel that the team is beginning to shape up into quite a good squad," commented LaSota. "The group is not as dramatic as our previous powerful teams, but the team certainly has the makings of a championship squad with continued development."

The team is made up of 14 boys, consisting of a great number of sophomores in key positions. As a result, LaSota's strategy, as it was last year, is to expose the underclassmen to as much action as possible throughout the regularly-scheduled season.

THE LEADING varsity sextet consists of three seniors and three sophomores: Bob Belliveau, Richie Cohen, and David Rich, seniors; and Bob Frank, Harvey Cohen, and Joel Schwartz, sophomores. Cohen and Cohan led the field in the Westfield contest, Harvey with a one-over-par 37 and Richie with a two-over-38 for nine holes. Frank also showed strongly with a 43.

The second varsity squad, which shot against Jefferson, consisted of senior Bob Feruggia, sophomore Dave Silverman, Gary Katz, Rich Jarman and Jim Kosnett, and freshman Dave Epstein.

In addition, La Sota cited as promising prospects sophomores Bob Gottlieb and Elle Dreyfus and freshmen Gary Fox, Mike McCours, Gary Glavin and Daren Cardinali.

Concerning the Watchung Conference as a whole, LaSota stated, "We are certainly as strong as any other team in the conference. Cranford should be tough, and the upcoming match will be a good test of our strength. But I should emphasize that our sights are on the perennial triple-header: the Union County, Watchung Conference, and state tournaments."

"The non-loss record of a golfing season is not as important as these three events. Last year our season was good, but not excellent, and we still won the conference and placed second in the county and in the state. If we continue to build, despite the losses that may result, the experience gained will be invaluable in winning the three key tournaments."

President chosen to head operations at Braidburn club

Raymond R. Kravetz of Springfield has been elected president of Braidburn Country Club, Florham Park, for 1967-68, it was announced by Salvatore A. Bontempo, owner. Kravetz was elected at the recent annual members' meeting.

Also elected were Dr. Frank Paulso of South Orange, first vice-president; Frank Romano of Livingston, second vice-president; Walter B. Mintz of Short Hills, third vice-president; and John G. Lally of West-Orange, secretary.

Named to the board of governors were Michael A. Cerrullo of New Vernon, S. ## Dayton tennis team will play at Summit

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School tennis team will visit Summit High School tomorrow and New Providence High School on Wednesday afternoon. The team lost its first game of its first season last Tuesday to a top-ranked Westfield squad, 5-0.

Competing in the singles for the Bulldogs were David Bass, Lenny Burstein and Steve Piller. In the doubles were Barry Fishman and Dennis Inley and Hank Dobin and Mike Chiotner. The team is under the direction of Norman Pollack.

TEAM SPIRIT -- Marcia Kretzer, top, and Shelley Gold are members of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's spirited team of cheerleaders, who placed second in eight-team competition Saturday at Roselle Park High School. Other members, under the direction of instructor Karen Moran, are Eileen Graub, Mary Brown, Joanne Natello, Peggy Bultman, Susan Lane, and Terry Chin. Arlene Mariano and Gail Matarsky were not present. Winner of the "Cher-O-Rama" was Union High School. (Photo by Pam Darley)

Managers needed

An appeal for men to manage teams in the Youth Minor Leagues was issued this week by officials of the Springfield Junior Baseball League. Men are needed to supervise boys, aged mostly 12 and 13, who are having their first experience in the baseball leagues. Details are available from Bob Flating, director of business administration, 376-3133, or Roger McQuaid, director of the minor leagues, 376-3050.

Finals in track for boys, girls this Saturday

Last Saturday morning was described as a great success for the Springfield Recreation Department's second annual track and field clinic. There were 228 girls and boys who took part in the clinic and registered for the championship meet which will be held this Saturday morning at 9. Girls and boys who were unable to attend the clinic will also be eligible for the meet this Saturday.

Prizes will be awarded to the first, second and third place finishers in each event. The winners will be eligible to compete in the district championships on Saturday, May 6. The purpose of this track and field program is to encourage interest among the children of Springfield in a sport that has an ultimate goal of a gold medal in the Olympic Games. The events that will be contested this Saturday are as follows:

Bantams: 9 and under, 50-yard dash, 220-yard relay, standing broad jump and soft ball throw.

Atletets: 10 and 11 years old, 50-yard dash, 220-yard relay, standing broad jump, running broad jump, running high jump and softball throw.

Juniors: 12 and 13 years old, 50-yard dash (girls only), 75-yard dash (boys only), 440-yard relay, standing broad jump, running broad jump, running high jump, running hop, step, and jump (boys only) and softball throw.

Intermediates: 14 and 15 years old, boys only, 100-yard dash, 440-yard run, 440-yard relay, running high jump, running broad jump and softball throw.

On tennis team

Mark Spector, a junior from Springfield, is a member of the varsity tennis team at Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio. His coach is Joe McDaniel.

Levine records game of 210 in town boys' bowling league

The race tightened in the Boys' Friday Afternoon Bowling League, as play concluded last Friday afternoon. The Rangers dropped two games and saw their league lead melt to four games.

The big story last Friday, however, was the big game rolled by Howie Levine. Howie, who competed for the second-place Tiger team, rolled a 210 game last week. This is the highest one-game performance in two years of bowling in the Boy's Recreation Leagues.

Howie's 210 game and 367 series total enabled the Tigers to gain a split of two games with the Chiefs last week and to move toward the Rangers in the league standings. With three weeks of bowling remaining in the regular season, the Rangers hold a four-game lead over the Tigers. Steve Harris also rolled well for the Tigers last week, as he topped 278 pins in the two-game match. Gary Neifeld and Steve Sklar were the top boys in the Chief camp last Friday. Gary topped his team with a 271 total for the two games, while Steve rolled well with a series effort of 243.

THE CHARGERS helped tighten the league race by upsetting the league-leading Rangers in two games. The Chargers turned in a top team effort to score the double victory. Neil Elliot paced the Chargers with a 269 series, while Steve Rosenberg and Dave Chotkin rolled well for the winners. Steve had a 254 series, while Dave's series total was 253. Scott Prussing and Mike Deiner were the top bowlers for the Rangers. Scott rolled a 256 series, while Mike's two-game total was 259.

THE WARRIORS moved into sole possession of fourth place in the league standings and eliminated the Falcons from the race, as they took a pair of games from the Falcons last week. Roy Greenberg led the Warriors attack with a 284 series. Roy has been at the top of his game in the past few weeks. Matt Teitner also bowled well for the Warriors last week, as he rolled a 252 series. Stuart Liebeskind, the league's top bowler, was high for the Falcons and led all bowlers in the match with a 305 series. Stu rolled games of 135 and 170. Bob Goodman with a 243 total, also rolled well for the Falcons.

THE FINAL MATCH of the day saw the Royals sweep a pair of games from the Hawks. The double loss dropped the Hawks out of the first division. Jamie Farber led the Royal attack with a 235 series. The Royals presented a well-balanced attack in this match. Howie Flieselman scored a 224 series, Bruce Cohen and Scott Herman tallied 221 totals, and Steve Zwillman had a two-game total of 219. Mickey Harmon, with another good afternoon, paced the Hawk scoring. Mickey hit games of 149 and 130 for a series effort of 279. Jeff Slater rolled a 233 series in the Hawk camp.

Stuart Liebeskind, with a 142 season average, seems a certainty to top the Friday League's high average award. Stuart holds an eight-pin lead over Scott Crumling in second place. Scott is rolling at a season pace of 134. There are three weeks left in the regular season.

Roy Greenberg, with some top bowling in the past few weeks, has moved into the league's third position. Roy is rolling at a 129 pace. Bob Goodman holds fourth place with a 126 season average. Steve Harris is in fifth place with a season mark of 127.

The remaining boys among the league's top 10 bowlers include: Gary Neifeld, 126; Howie Levine, 125; Mickey Harmon, 121; Jeff Slater, 121, and Tommy Lowy, 119.

Charms finally get slim 1-game margin in league for girls

The Charms finally broke a two-way tie that had existed for a month in the Tuesday Afternoon Girls' Bowling League. The Charms split their two-game series last week, while the Strikers were being dumped twice. The Charms now have a slim one-game margin over the Strikers in this Recreation Department sponsored league. The girls roll each week at the Springfield Bowl.

The Charms earned their sole possession of first place by virtue of their single victory in a two-game match with the Alley Cats. The Cats won the opening game only to see the Charms rebound in the second contest to take a well-earned split. Debbie Gravenman paced the attack for the league leaders, as she compiled a 216 total pin-fall for the two games. Gretchen Kraft, with a 198 series also rolled well for the Charms. Diane Ogonowsky paced the Alley Cats and led all bowlers in the match with a 248 series. Bonnie Raskin's 226 total for the two games was also impressive bowling.

THE STARS upset the Striker team Tuesday, as they completed a two-game sweep on the strength of Donna Pfeiffer's terrific series effort. Donna topped all bowlers last Tuesday when she tacked together games of 187 and 136 for a 323 total. The Stars' Eileen Francis also rolled well with a 237 series. Lisa Brown topped the Strikers' attack as she rolled a 269 series. Lisa had games of 149 and 120. Virginia Vogt of the Strikers also rolled well in this match. Ginny topped 237 pins during this two-game match.

THE FINAL MATCH of the day saw the Bowling Anchovies, led by Cathie Tonko's fine bowling, score a two-game sweep over the Wildcats. Cathie rolled a 256 series, while leading the Anchovie attack. Cathie rolled games of 135 and 121 to obtain her total. Linda Mutschler, with a 208 series, also rolled well for the winning Anchovie team.

Donna Pfeiffer, with a strong effort last Tuesday, raised her season average to 141. This tops all bowlers in the league. Diane Ogonowsky is in second place with a 123 season average. Eileen Alexy's 113 season average continues to hold third place. Lisa Brown is in the fourth spot with a 109 season mark, while Eileen Francis continues to fill place with a 107 average.

The remaining five girls among the league's 10 best bowlers are: Bonnie Raskin, 106; Debbie Gravenman, 105; Cathie Tonko, 103; Virginia Vogt, 102, and Linda Mutschler, 102.

With two weeks left in the season, the Lenny Cohen team holds a slim lead in the Temple Beth Ahm League at Hay-Way Bowl. Point leaders for the leading teams are: Lenny Cohen, 113; Sam Greenfield, 112; Allen Borsky, 110; Marvin Gould, 109.5; Nat Krowne and George Widom, 109.

Other leading ladies were Nancy Burkhardt, 190-180-322; Helen Barwin, 170; Marilyn Hodson, 169; Helen Cannon, 167; Marilyn Hodstrom, 152-162; Ruth Inley, 157-164; Peggy Bingle, 152; Allie Newman, 158; Marion Kunt, 156; Verma Anderson, 154; Madeline Roth, 151-152, and Amelle Richards, 153.

In a close race for St. James-Rosarians at 4 Seasons, the leading teams are the Swingers, 42-30; Try Hards, 41-31; Toppers, 40-31.5, and Rinky-Dinks, 39-5-32.5. Sweeps went to the Try Hards and Toppers.

High scorers last week included Helen Kaplan, 190, 181, 198; Evelyn Kaufman, 176, 144, 169; and others.

Top men last week were Bob Srednick, 245-218-628; Abby Weinberg, 235-212-612; Lloyd Roslin, 220; Lenny Nurkin, 217; Fred Neubart, 208; Dan Rosenthal, 204; Mel Zeller, 209; Mort Parish, 217.

Where you know there's a war on by mother's sob

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - With the military precision of a drill team, the 69,838 grave-stone markers in Golden Gate National Cemetery stand proudly erect at "dress right dress."
An American flag flutters at half staff. The mechanical gravestone machines sputter on a momentary halt. A priest intones the graveside service. A rifle squad fires the final salute.
Over the fog-shrouded hillsides drifts the plaintive music of a bugler sounding "Taps."
"Fades the light and afar Goest day, cometh night And a star leadeth all, Speedeth all, to their rest."
A mother moans softly.
Watching from a distance is John T. Spelman, superintendent of the cemetery located on a gentle slope near the Golden Gate Bridge at the Presidio of San Francisco.
He checks a list.
"It will be a relatively light day. Twenty-five funerals - 15 World War II veterans, 3 World War I veterans, 4 dependents, 3 Vietnam..."
"Each one, even to us, becomes almost a personal tragedy. Over five years we have buried 402 men killed in Vietnam. The average age is 20. Of course, we get only a fragment of the total casualties, in a nationwide sense."
"You watch these services, day after day... these young men... and think 'here but for the grace of God...' We're averaging seven Vietnam casualties a week - month after month, for the last year. They don't even call it a war. But here they are..."

SPELMAN STROLLS SLOWLY across the neatly trimmed grass. He points.
"Army PFC Salvador Zabala, 20, Menlo Park, Calif., killed in action in Vietnam on Washington's birthday."
"The Navy's Thomas Keith Marley; the Army's James Gray."
"PFC Joseph Vierra, 20, Oakland, Calif., killed in action in Vietnam on March 2."
A few weeks ago Vierra was fighting in a jungle. Now a Catholic priest is praying over his open grave.
More Requiem rifle shots, more bugles. A salute to the Army's Shaunty Hightower, World War I veteran George Hess.
"They are dying," said Spelman softly.
"More and more. Most of our funerals are for World War II veterans. Time moves on."
Lance Corporal Larry Rose, U.S. Marines, Novato, Calif., killed in action in Vietnam. Twenty-one years old.
"We get it here," Spelman said, "but the impact hasn't sunk into the American people. Nobody's tightening their belts. There are no slogans."
"And yet, here they are..."

Ask Amy

Dear Amy:
I need your advice badly. My husband and I have been married 10 years and have three small children. One of the children has a hole in her heart, but this doesn't stop my husband from spending his nights with another woman. He comes home for breakfast, lunch and to get clean clothes. Yes, I prepare his hair and comb his clothes clean and even wash his hair and feet.
You see, I still love my husband and I'm not going to divorce him nor sign any separation papers. I would do anything if he would stay home with me and the children.
Mrs. S.E.

helped me to begin solving my problems. I love them more than anything in the world and I just want to say "Thanks a million" to the best parents in the world! I hope they will realize that this is for them when they read your column.
Converted for Lita (Nellsville, Wisconsin)

Dear Mrs. S.E.:
You can't expect to hold your husband's love and respect if you practically "kiss his feet" while he is keeping company with another woman. I urge you to contact The Family Counseling Service. You need help, and the sooner the better. Being a glutton for punishment will not bring you husband back. Sometimes when you're too good, it's no good. This is one of those times!

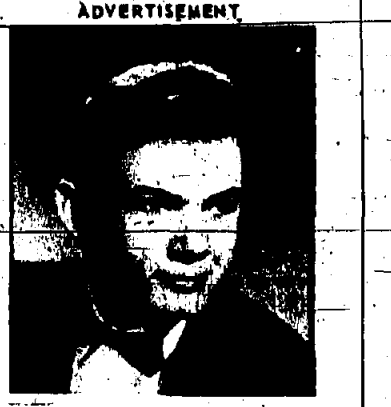

Address all letters to: AMY ADAMS c/o THIS NEWSPAPER For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Amy:
I'm an average 12 year old girl, average in just about every way. What do you advise me to do to attract boys? I like boys, but they don't like me. Why am I...
Unpopular?

Completes course for county firemen

First Assistant Fire Chief Henry Porter of Mountainide has completed a special course on the use of gas-cutting tools presented recently at the Union County Vocational Center, Union, a division of the Union County Technical Institute.
Victor Payson of the Vocational Center was the instructor of the course which dealt with the proper techniques and safety procedures for use of the gas-cutting tools. The course was established with the cooperation of Chief Harold Denkin of the Union Fire Department and Chief Martin J. Burke of the Westfield Fire Department.

Dear Amy:
My problem is that the girls at school wear my daughter's clothes more than she does. One says, "Bring me your yellow sweater this weekend." Another says, "Let me borrow your brown skirt"... and so on. They even borrow her shoes.
We don't have much and I'm a hard working mother who gets tired of doing all this washing and serving for others.
My daughter never borrows any of their clothes, and she, too, is getting tired of this, but hates to make them mad at her. I just can't seem to find a way to stop it. What can I do when one of her girlfriends comes to the house and goes straight to the closet to see what she can wear next? The one good thing I can say is that the clothes are always returned in good shape.

Dear Neighbors:
Just like in the years past, we again are ready to take care of your shade and ornamental trees. Because this year the destructive scale insects appear to be more plentiful than in the past we urge you to let us spray your oak trees well in advance of first spring leaves. For an early spray during this month, we can then use high viscosity spray oil which is most effective and yet absolutely harmless to humans as well as our birds. The scale insects infect trees which will decay beyond any means of help later on. Don't let this happen to your trees that are the source of enjoyment year after year. They provide you with cooling shade in the summer time, they beautify your home and, yes, then enhance the value of your very home as if they would want to thank you for taking care of them.
We have the most modern equipment, our men are highly trained and skilled for such jobs. Don't delay, call us up and be informed more fully. There is no obligation, of course.
SCHMIDT TREE EXPERT CO. FAnwood 2-9109

Dear Worrier:
If the price of telephones over the constant borrowing of your daughter's clothes, it isn't worth having, or is it? Your daughter, with tact, should tell her friends that the borrowing is getting out of hand and that she is going out of the lead business. P.S. Tact, mother, is making a point without making an enemy!

N.J. Symphony plans Union concert

The music of Mendelssohn, Shostakovich and Rossini will be presented in a concert by New Jersey Symphony Orchestra next Wednesday at Newark State College's new Theater for the Performing Arts in Union. The concert will be the orchestra's first in Union County.

The concert performance, to begin at 8:30 p.m., is being produced for the benefit of the student body of the college, but a number of tickets will be available for purchase by the public. They are available through the music department of the college, or New Jersey Symphony's main office in Newark.

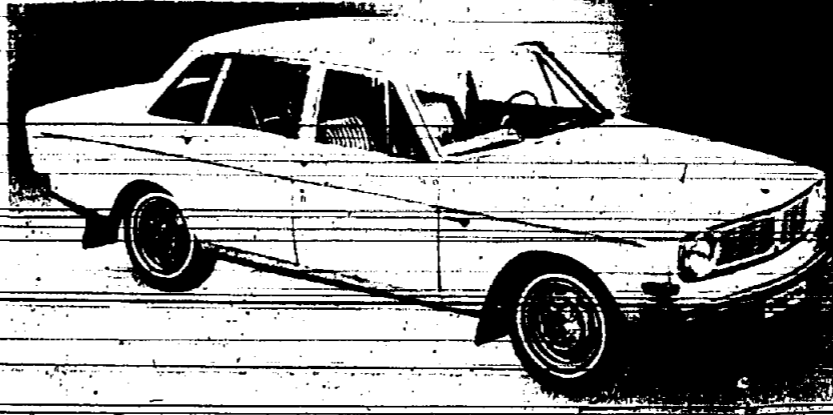

Directing the performance will be Kenneth Schermerhorn, the conductor of New Jersey Symphony, who also is the regular conductor of American Ballet Theater orchestras at the Lincoln Center in New York. Schermerhorn recently appeared twice last month as guest conductor of the Denver Symphony Orchestra.

The program Wednesday will open with Rossini's Overture to "La Gazza Ladra," an overture by the Italian composer. The Mendelssohn offering will be the music for "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Following the intermission, the orchestra will present Shostakovich's Symphony No. Five.

New Jersey Symphony will play this Saturday night at the fifth annual New Jersey Symphony Fund-Raising Ball at Symphony Hall, Newark, the orchestra's home.

The orchestra also supports an extensive program of educational performances for school audiences, by both the orchestra and small ensembles of New Jersey Symphony musicians.

PREVENT FALLS AT HOME
Falls far outrank every other type of accident that happens in the home. Falls on steps or stairs account for almost as many accidents as all other falls combined. A few common precautions could prevent many accidents. A handrail on each flight of stairs and keeping treads in perfect condition are wise precautions.

Park tennis courts opening Saturday

The 10 rubber-surfaced clay tennis courts in Warrinanco Park, Elizabeth and Roselle, will be open for play at 9 a.m. on Saturday. It was announced by the Union County Park Commission.

The tennis courts will be open on weekdays from 9 a.m. to dark, and on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The year the fees at the Warrinanco Park courts will be as follows: on weekdays, Monday through Friday, except holidays, players may play free of charge to 4:30 p.m. After 4:30 p.m. on weekdays and all day on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays the fee will be 25 cents per person, per hour. Reservations may be made for a fee of 25 cents per court, per hour.

The hard-surfaced tennis courts in Rahway River Park, Cedar Brook Park, Union Park, and Kawameeh Park have been in service during the winter months and attracted many tennis enthusiasts.
