Brownlie named winner of Merit Scholar award

THOMAS J. BROWNIE

Thomas J. Brownlie of Springfield this week was named as a winner in the nation-wide Merit Scholarship Competition. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Brownlie of 98 New Dr., he plans to major in chemical engineering at Lehigh University.

Brownlie is a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, where he is treasurer of the senior class and a member of the National Honor Society and the Kiwanis Key Club. He was a member of the varsity football team and is a regular on the baseball team.

An alternate delegate to last summer's American Legion Boys' State program for New Jersey, Brownlie last year was also named to participate in the Northern Jersey Science and Humanities Symposium at Fairleigh Dickinson University.

Over 2,400 of the nation's ablest high school seniors were named winners in the 12th Merit Scholarship program. Three-fourths of the awards are sponsored Merit Scholarships provided by some 340 different corporations, colleges, foundations, other organizations and individuals. Some 625 students, a fourth of the total, received National Merit Scholarships underwritten by Ford Foundation grants.

The 1967 awards were valued at $8.6 million by John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. "Some 14,000 highly able students became finalists in the 1966-67 Merit program," Stalnaker said. "It is gratifying to report that American business, industry, and colleges are continuing to increase their support of these outstanding young people. Every finalist would be a Merit Scholar, if funds permitted."

MERIT SCHOLARSHIPS provide $400 to $6,000 for four undergraduate years of college depending on the student's need. They are a type of "educational insurance," since the amount of the award can be adjusted if the student's financial circumstances change while he is in college.

Of the 625 National Merit Scholars, 500 were chosen state by state. The number for each state is proportional to its population of graduating high school seniors. An additional 125 National Merit Scholars were selected from among finalists who overcame (Continued on page 2)

School system plans to survey needs in future

Plans for a comprehensive census of all pre-school children, to be conducted as a cooperative effort with assistance of the Springfield PTA Council and the individual PTAs, were announced this week by John Q. Berwick, superintendent of schools.

The survey is scheduled to begin Monday and continue until May 19. PTA volunteers will visit every family unit in the township, including both houses and apartments, to obtain information for use in long-range school planning.

Their questions will cover: the birth date of each child in the family, future school plans for all youngsters now of pre-school age, the approximate age of all adult occupants and the approximate age of the building.

The latter questions, Berwick commented, are necessary to provide material for a study of the pattern of recycling of homes and families. This information on how homes are resold to new occupants with young children will help the school system in its predictions of future school population.

The survey will also include information on future home construction within the township and how the new homes will affect the town's educational needs. Berwick called on all residents to cooperate with the PTA volunteers who will take part.

Murder witness from Springfield dies in Newark

Baltimore police reported Wednesday that they had found a "considerable sum of money" in the safe deposit box of a Springfield man who was shot in a Newark motel. The man, Solite Eisenberg, 65 of 10 Forest dr., had been free on $10,000 bail as a material witness in the Newark police probe of the murder of Benjamin Bierstein on March 29.

Bierstein, a South Orange resident and a Newark car dealer, was reputed to have frequently lent large sums of money frequently at high interest. He was believed to have as much as $60,000 with him at the time he was shot March 29 on Peerless place, Newark.

Eisenberg, $25,000-a-year executive with a liquor company, was found dead Tuesday in a room at the Holiday Inn, Newark. A preliminary examination indicated that he had died of natural causes. After his death, Newark police disclosed that his fingerprints had been (Continued on page 2)

Proclamation calls for town's support for Kennedy Scholarship Fund drive

The annual drive in behalf of the John F. Kennedy Scholarship Fund of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School got under way this week, launched by a proclamation by Mayor Arthur M. Falkin.

The major, designating May as scholarship fund month in Springfield, called on all citizens to "lend their support to this worthy endeavor." He added, "This fund, under the sponsorship of the Jonathan Dayton High School PTA, has been a significant factor in assisting many worthy local students in the pursuit of their advanced education."

Another statement calling for support of the fund drive was issued by Marvin Strauss, chairman, and Martin Karp, co-chairman. They declared, "The previously generous Kentworth manufacturers and large donors there will naturally be supporting their own new school in Kentworth this year. The gap must be filled. The need is still here."

"We urgently ask the residents and business community of Springfield to renew and step up their previous efforts to insure the success of this program. Your contributions to this fund will give worthy students the opportunity and tools with which to compete in our complex society. This will be your rewarding investment in their own and in our country's great future."

Mrs. Leonard Waldt is president of the Dayton PTA, which sponsors the scholarship fund.

SCHOLARSHIPS FROM the Kennedy Fund last year were presented to the following Dayton graduates, listed with the colleges and other institutions where they have continued their studies:

Service Sunday in memory of Jews murdered by Nazis

Temple Beth Ahm and Temple Sharey Shalom both of Springfield, will join together in worship this Sunday evening at 8 in a special Martyrs' Day service dedicated to the memory of the six million Jews who fell victim to Nazi genocide. The service, which will be held at Temple Sharey Shalom, located at 50 Springfield ave. and Shunpike rd, will be conducted by Rabbi Israel Dresner and Rabbi Reubeh R. Levine and by Norman Salsitz of 9 Craig rd., a survivor himself of the Holocaust.

Sunday corresponds to the 27th of Nisan in the Hebrew calendar, which is the day on which Jews in the State of Israel and throughout the world commemorate Yom Hashoa (Holocaust Day). The service will be an original one and will involve the use of English, Hebrew and Yiddish. Salsitz, whose wife, Amalia, recently returned from testifying at a war crime trial in Germany, will sing several of the hymns sung by Jewish martyrs and participants during the war years.

A piece of sculpture, entitled "The Holocaust," which was commissioned by Howard Kiesel, president of Temple Sharey Shalom, and sculpted by Maxwell Chayat of 530 Morris ave., will be displayed. It will remain on exhibit at Sharey Shalom.

Proclaims month for older citizens

Mayor Arthur M. Falkin this week proclaimed the month of May as Senior Citizen's Month in the Township of Springfield.

In making this proclamation, Mayor Falkin noted that "early retirement and constant advances in living conditions now enable older people to devote more of their leisure time to the enrichment of this community."

He also said "active community support is necessary in order that older persons receive the full benefit of federal and state legislation for the aging."

"It must be the aim of business, social, and professional groups or organizations in Springfield to encourage older citizens to take more active and meaningful roles in the life of the community," he further noted.

Bradley H. Long, 30, of Elizabeth learned Monday in Springfield Municipal Court that state laws forbid fishing on Fridays. When the state stocks its streams, he was fined $25 by Magistrate Max Sherman.

Long told the court that he saw conservation workers pouring new fish into the Highway River, and told himself that this time he was sure to catch something. He did, but not what he had expected.

Town gains added safety for children

To enclose steep slope beside Morris avenue

By ABNER GOLD
Springfield's first recorded victory over the State Highway Department was unveiled at the Township Committee meeting last Wednesday evening in Town Hall, to the acclaim of perhaps a half-dozen citizens who constitute the audience.

Committeeman Robert G. Planer presented a letter from Russell H. Mullen, assistant commissioner for highways of the Department of Transportation, finally agreeing to the township's repeated requests for a fence to enclose the steep slopes which border the sidewalk where Rt. 78 crosses over Morris avenue.

The paved slopes have been an object of concern for several months by local officials and residents, who have expressed fears that children could run down the incline and out into the heavily-traveled street. Some 45 youngsters walk over the highway to reach the James Caldwell School. Many more will pass that way this summer on route to the Municipal Swimming Pool, which borders the highway.

MULLEN'S LETTER was read into the record by Mayor Arthur M. Falkin, the letter declared: "Supplementing my letter of April 17, our division of design has advised that it has no real objection to constructing fence adjacent to the concrete slope, except that we wonder if it is really necessary. This is a request which we are willing to consider very seriously, particularly on the basis that this project is still under construction and the fence can be installed at any time, either during the construction or at some time in the future."

"The problem from our point of view would seem to be that if this fence were installed, it would of course provide a closed in area (Continued on page 2)

Civil rights leader to speak at temple

Bayard Rustin, executive director of the A. Philip Randolph Institute and nationally-known civil rights leader, will speak on "The Negro and the Quest for Justice" at Temple Sharey Shalom, South Springfield avenue, Springfield, on Monday at 8:30 p.m. Springfield police have received notice that the meeting will be picketed by a group known as Concerned Citizens of New Jersey.

Rustin's lecture is the third in the 1967 series being presented by the adult education committee of the Springfield temple. He will be followed on May 17 by Rabbi Shai Shacnai of Wayne, whose lecture topic is "The Jew and the Quest for Brotherhood."

Rustin, the first field secretary of the Congress of Racial Equality, helped secure President Truman's executive order ending segregation in the Armed Forces; helped organize the 1955 Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott; drew up plans for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in 1956; was deputy director of the March on Washington in 1963, and directed the New York school boycott of February, 1964, — the largest civil rights demonstration up to that time.

According to Mrs. Herman Chrysalis, chairman of the adult education committee, lecture tickets are available in advance at the temple office, at the door on the evening of the lecture, or by calling 379-5367, 379-6594 or 379-9237.

The last round-up

Police Commissioner Robert G. Planer this week warned all residents of stiff penalties to be imposed on those who permit their dogs to run at large. He cited numerous complaints, particularly from the industrial loop area, Planer said, that dogs picked up could be sent to the pound, and that owners will receive the same penalties as those of the dog.

However, as mentioned above, if it is felt by the township that this would be a real safety improvement, we are entirely willing to make appropriate arrangements. We would appreciate receiving some specific official communication from the township in this regard.

IN OTHER BUSINESS—the committee rejected as too high two bids received for installation of air conditioning in the Municipal Building. The low bid was by Atlantic Conditioning Co., for $48,600. Committee member Philip Del Vecchio reported that he is working with Township Engineer Walter Kozub on revised plans for a cooler Town Hall, to be ready for new bids within the next week.

On the recommendation of Police Chief Wilbur C. Selander, two probationary police officers were promoted to the rank of third class patrolman. They are Richard Goetzke and Edward Kisch. Rodney Pedersen was appointed as a probationary patrolman.

FINED FOR CONTEMPT—Janet Wittenberg of 41 Avon rd. paid a $20 fine for over time parking Monday in Springfield Municipal Court, plus $10 for contempt of court, for failure to appear previously. Magistrate Max Sherman presided.

Students take field trip Rain doesn't dampen their spirit

The following account has been submitted to this newspaper by members of a class which took a trip last week. According to a faculty member at Thelma Suddemer School, the report is virtually "as written" by the following students: Andy Mendelsohn, Ina Schächter, Hal Wasserman, Robert Lee, Lori Taub and Debbie Jo Mehl.

Fifth grade students at the Thelma L. Suddemer School went on a field trip to

Merit Scholar

Winners of sponsored Merit Scholarships were chosen according to the sponsor's criteria. Many sponsored awards are for children of the sponsoring firm's employees. Others are for finalists who want to attend a particular college, have indicated certain career preferences, or have some other qualification which the sponsor wishes to encourage. Some sponsored awards are open to any finalist without regard to preferential criteria.

All National Merit Scholars were chosen by the committee's evaluators drawn largely from the college admission field.

The committee considered each finalist's high school grades, accomplishments outside the classroom, extracurricular activities and school recommendations, in addition to his scores on two nationwide examinations.

All Merit Scholarship stipends are individually determined by the same standard procedures. Within normal limits of $100 and $1,500 per year, the stipend is meant to provide the difference between the student's estimated college cost and his family's ability to pay them. Individual stipends are not made public, since they are based in part on confidential information.

Grants made directly to the college chosen by Merit Scholars accompany most Merit Scholarships. Most such grants are for $100 or $250 per year per student. The 12th Merit program began over a year ago when students in nearly 17,500 secondary schools, public and private, took the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test. More than 14,000 semifinalists, the highest scorers in each state, were announced last September. Almost all of them confirmed their performance on the second test and submitted the other data required to become finalists. Each finalist was awarded a certificate of merit.

All students honored through the Merit program, including some 38,000 commended students in addition to the semifinalists, were identified by NMSC to colleges, universities, and other organizations offering financial aid. Research indicates that many of those who need aid—but who did not receive Merit Scholarship, will receive financial assistance from other sources.

Murder case

Spina said that lie detector tests showed that Eisenberg "had guilty knowledge of the murder and was present at the murder." Eisenberg and Eisenberg were reportedly friends and fellow members of the Sun Valley Swim Club in Florham Park.

UNREGISTERED VEHICLES—Charges of operating unregistered vehicles drew $10 fines for five owners from Magistrate Max Sherman Monday in Springfield Municipal Court. Those fined were: Richard P. Etzel, Fairfield; Floyd W. Romano, 27, Elizabeth; Thomas C. Smith, Maplewood; Braunstein Furs, Millburn, and Ralph Currie, 30, Union.

Building committee will present report at church meeting

Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church, Main St. at Academy Green, will hold a congregational meeting and quarterly conference on Wednesday at 8 p.m., with the Rev. George W. Watt Jr., superintendent of the Southern District of the Northern New Jersey Methodist Conference, presiding.

The meeting has been called to hear a report of the church building committee which will recommend the purchase of a new parsonage and the use of the present parsonage on a temporary basis for Christian education facilities.

Albert Holler Jr., chairman of the building committee, and the Rev. James Dewart, pastor, announced that all members of the congregation 18 years of age and older and the president of the Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowship are eligible to vote.

Plans call for renovations to the present parsonage for classroom facilities, and the placing of the pastor's study and church office on the first floor of the present Education Building.

James Young, chairman of the Commission on Education, and Mr. Dewart have announced that the congregation will begin its observance of National Family Week by participating in a "Family Frolic" at Camp Aldergate in Sussex County on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The camp, which is owned and operated by the Northern New Jersey Conference of the Methodist Church, opens its season of spring and summer activities which will include eight weeks of summer youth camps.

On Sunday at 9:30 a.m., a family worship service will be held in the Sanctuary with parents and church school students participating. Following the service, which will be conducted by Mr. Dewart, the Church School will convene and parents will be given the opportunity to visit classes. Members of the Education Building, "Christian Growth" will be the title of Pastor Dewart's sermon for the service of divine worship.

Junior High Youth meet at 6:30 p.m. and the Senior High Youth at 7 p.m.

LICENSE REVOKED—Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman Monday revoked the driver's license of Leslie R. Lehman, 29, of Union for 30 days and fined the young man $35. He was charged with speeding 60 miles per hour in his motorcycle in a 35-mile zone on Morris avenue.

Editorial Comment

A few modest thoughts on local codes of ethics

Every now and then, someone asks what happened to that code of ethics for municipal employees which the Township Committee has been studying diligently for the past year or so. Just in case the governing body doesn't make its mind up in the next few days, there are a few suggestions which might be helpful, in light of recent developments around the nation.

The code should ban transfer of campaign contributions into personal bank accounts, without paying income tax. The penalty: The offender should stand up at the blackboard in Town Hall and write, 50 times, "I am not a U. S. Senator."

All elected officials should be required to act promptly on all matters about which citizens are concerned. Not having been told that someone is concerned about something is no excuse. The penalty: Six hours listening to after-the-fact telephone calls.

The governing body should be prohibited from approving, or denying, any zoning variance if anyone in the community would be opposed to whatever action is proposed. The solution is to table all matters for further study until another administration takes over. The penalty for violations: Private assessment of legal fees for all law-suits against the township, including all those threatened, but never filed.

Many communities have had problems with officials who grant favors to companies headed by their brothers-in-law. The remedy to that one, is simple: If the official is required to get a divorce, then the recipient of favors becomes his ex-brother-in-law, and we have never seen any rules against that.

Another offense omitted from too many codes of ethics is permitting refuse collectors to leave garbage on the streets. The official responsible should be required to come clean.

One of the gravest of all forms of official misconduct is to lack jurisdiction over a matter about which a constituent is upset. The fact that the problem comes under the authority of a county or state agency is no excuse.

Office-holders have been known, in other times, of course—and other places, to abuse their travel allowances and other expenses, and to avoid payment of court judgments. Going back to the Washington precedent with which we began, the severity of the punishment seems to depend on the offender's racial background. Or: This horse is apparently a congressman of another color.

Letters to Editor

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length, and should be typed with double spacing (not in all capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be withheld if the letter is of political nature. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

ACCEPTS 'CHALLENGE'
Risking stigmatism of identity "with the voices of hysteria and sedition," I'll accept Henry Wright's challenge in a recent letter's column.

I deplored his almost lonesome attempt to speak Martin Luther King's visit a year ago. I find the astigmatic Mr. Wright's current vindictiveness equally as unconscionable. Judging by the respective sizes of the crowds inside—with Dr. King—and outside—with Mr. Wright—I must have been on the right side last year.

My admiration for pacifist Dr. King and his crusade for non-violence in Alabama as well as Vietnam notwithstanding, efforts to dent any man or any cause a forum for expression are so completely foreign to the U.S. Constitution Mr. Wright is so fond of quoting. The wide latitude of free speech guaranteed by that document, even in "our tax-supported high school," should not and cannot be denied anyone—or any organization, no matter how outlandish the motive—without the driver from Mr. Wright that has appeared on these pages almost weekly.

Finally, I must resent Mr. Wright's characterization of objectors to the war in Vietnam as the "lunatic fringe." Actually it must be those who would advocate or countenance the savagery occurring daily on both sides in the far-off conflict who must be considered lunatic. It is they who would recklessly plunge into the holocaust of war.

I'm for brotherhood and understanding—and peace. The world shall never see peace so long as guns roar and bombs fall.

Furthermore, now that the 1967 pool membership has been assured of safety by N.J. state officials regarding the Route 78 underpass, the only question that remains is... when? Also, when does the pool open, in safety?

With hot pool weather coming on, the other big question is... how much air-conditioning in Town Hall?

Let us taxpayers be specific about the cubic feet to be cooled. Certainly the police desk (24 hours per day, seven days per week) should be air conditioned. Also, the 40-hour-per-week offices such as clerk, tax and engineering/maintenance/office should be selectively air-cooled.

And furthermore, there are such mobile township services as police cars and recreation vehicles, which are constantly on the road, which deserve summer air-cooling. Which of us taxpayers realizes the tribulations of Springfield's finest on the hottest days, all day long, on the hot summer roads?

Before spending $40,000 or even $30,000 of Springfield's taxpayer's money, for overall air-conditioning (which may not include mobile units) let us explore the possibilities of unit air-cooling in the most frequented areas of town and county. Perhaps for five thousand dollars (and that is a lot) Springfield could air-cool the key areas, both fixed and mobile, for the two hot summer months and thereby save Springfield taxpayers many thousands of dollars. What do you think?

COMMENT FROM BARBI

In the nine years I have been privileged to serve in Springfield as rabbi of Temple Shalom, I have never previously had a letter published in a Springfield newspaper, and I, therefore, ask your indulgence over the fact that I would like to comment at some length in this and a future issue on two letters published in your last two editions. In the April 20 issue, Henry Wright, using the well-known McCarthy-type multiple lie-sing technique, borrows Dr. Martin Luther King and those tens of millions of Americans who agree with him on the two great moral issues of our time—the need to end racism and the need to end war. It is no secret that under the cloak of the racist proceeds to the crime of genocide, instance, the slaughter of the Armenians in World War I and the Jews in World War II.

War in general has bred reaction, with its attendant suppression of civil liberties, civil rights and the right to dissent. It is no wonder that the reactionaries of our country are to a man maligning Dr. King, a Nobel Peace Prize winner, for his efforts to end the terrible war in Vietnam.

Mr. Wright mentions that he opposed Dr. King's speaking in Springfield a year ago, when he appeared under the auspices of our congregation. Many will remember that Mr. Wright walked off the TACT (Truth About Civil Turmoil), a John Birch Society front group—see pp. 10-11 of the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League book, "The John Birch Society, 1967" picket line the night Dr. King spoke. Springfieldites were not intimidated then by the threats of Mr. Wright and turned out to pack the high school auditorium. I am informed that there will be pickets at our temple next Monday evening, when we are privileged to present another outstanding Negro advocate of civil rights and non-violence—both at home and abroad, Bayard Rustin.

They will not succeed now in intimidating my congregants in particular, and Springfieldites in general, any more than he did a year ago.

Mr. Wright in his letter wants to know "if anyone dares to come out in public for King." I don't have to dare to, I choose to, as a free child of God and as a free American citizen. It is my right to disagree with the Johnson administration policy of continually escalating the number of American men and Vietnamese men, women and children who are being killed and maimed. I make no apologies for agreeing with outstanding religious, political and scientific leaders like the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, Rabbi Abraham Heschel, Senators Kennedy and Fulbright and Drs. Spock and Sabin.

Mr. Wright has a right to his innumerable letters and letters and I would defend that right, but he will not succeed in subverting the liberties of free Americans by denying me and millions of patriotic Americans our right to dissent from the policy of madness being followed by President Johnson.

FROM A 'HAWK'

I read with interest the letter by Marvin Strauss in which he deplored the way in which spiritual and secular leaders have been, in his words, "defiling the flag." Before I make my reply to Mr. Strauss, it should be said that I am known to him and others as a determined Hawk who believes that we must continue to back our commitment in Vietnam if only so as to reassure the peoples of India, Europe, Asia and even little Israel that our world will not be withdrawn at the first sign of trouble.

Mr. Strauss, however, does this cause a disservice when he tries to link the lunatic fringe of the peace movement and its draft card burnings and flag desecration to the ardent, determined and dedicated people who are at the core of those who speak out of peacefulness. To link this predominantly middle class intellectual movement to the 1966 within it and call all of them separatists is to use the "great lie" technique which was made famous in Germany when we fought so recently.

There is also a fringe on my side in this debate who cannot maintain their position with fact and logic but who must resort to smear and ultimately turn back all argument with the empty "I phobed." I have read that Mr. Strauss is a Jew-hater and a Communist sympathizer.

PROFILE—Henry Rogers

Henry Rogers, director of the adult school at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, is looking forward to a better season and a bigger enrollment for the fall semester.

The serious, soft-spoken young man, who teaches English and Journalism at Jonathan Dayton, explains that he is "disappointed with the small enrollment last year for the spring semester of the adult school."

"It was disappointingly small last year," he says. "I hope we have a better turnout in the fall. We will be offering better glamour courses in addition to our regular agenda. We will have a charm course, a needlecraft course, an evening psychology course. We plan to get one of the Rutgers lecture series. This is all subject to getting the right people to instruct in the courses," he says. "We will have courses in antiquities, history of art and music, an improve-your-reading course all in addition to the usual typing and shorthand."

"WE ALSO ARE going to have a volleyball course for men. It will give them a good chance to get a little extra exercise."

Rogers has been head of the Springfield regional adult school since last September. The local school is one of four regional adult schools—the others are in Kenilworth, Clark and Berkeley Heights—and all are headed by Harry Linkin. Rogers' duties as director of the local school include "taking care of the hiring of teachers, seeing that all the rooms are available for classes, seeing that everything runs smoothly, and maintaining liaison with the other schools."

He also handles the "publicity, registration and setting up of brochures for the school."

The September term will hold its registration on Sept. 19 and 20, and classes will begin on the 26th. "The school will run its classes for 10 weeks, until the end of November. Classes will be conducted on Tuesdays and Wednesdays."

Rogers explains that the school "hopes to have an actual teaching staff of 25 to 28, and a variety of guest speakers during the term."

"Incidentally," he says, "the Springfield Symphony also operates here, and the Wanchung Power Squadron meets here."

He says he is "setting up the fall program for the adult school right now."

Rogers, who was born in Vienna, came to the United States in 1938. He completed his secondary schooling at West Orange High School and Pingry. Then went into the service, spending two years in Europe with the Army.

He attended Rutgers University on the G.I. Bill, and was graduated in 1950 with a B.S. degree in education.

"I got my master's at Seton Hall University, and came to Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in 1960. I've taken graduate courses past my master's," and attended the summer institute for German courses at Princeton in 1962. And in the summer of 1966, I attended the newspaper fund seminar in Syracuse.

"Now," says Rogers, "I'm taking doctoral courses in German at Rutgers—time permitting."

Rogers also is principal of a German-language school in Plainfield, where he lives with his wife and their 18-year-old son, Stephen.

The German-language school, which holds classes every Saturday morning, has nine teachers and over 180 pupils. It's quite an interesting school. And it really started out with nothing."

He also is treasurer of the New Jersey Modern Language Teachers' Association "and have been for the past three years."

MRS. ROGERS, he says, is from Hamburg, Germany. "She was a history of arts major in college in Germany. Hence, she's a devotee, by profession, and Stephen is a senior at Wardlaw School in Plainfield."

Rogers declares that he has always been interested in adult education. "I have taught in adult schools for four or five years."

"So, when Mr. Linkin was made overall director of the four regional schools, the directorship of the Springfield school went to me. And I was delighted."

"In hoping to build it up, I really would like to see adult education grow and become more widespread here in Springfield."

"I like Springfield," he says. "And I like the regional system. This community has a very fine school system, I must say."

Rogers' hobbies—that is, when he has the time—include reading, tennis, theater and music.

But right now, he's concentrating on the local adult school, and has confidence that its varied courses will appeal to many people of many interests.

U.S. Senator HARRISON A. WILLIAMS Reports

SUFFER THE LITTLE CHILDREN.
WASHINGTON — "War is hell," said General Sherman, who had more experience than he wanted in waging war in a countryside populated with civilians.

That was true a hundred years ago. It is true today in Viet Nam.

And the most hellish part of all is the suffering of little children, wounded, burned, maimed by a war they didn't make, for a cause they don't understand.

Many people have described the terrible toll of civilian casualties. My colleague, Senator George McGovern, brought back this vignette, following a visit in January of last year:

"I had visited a hopelessly overcrowded hospital in Da Nang, with all its torn victims of the war—old men, mothers and infants blasted and burned by napalm jelly, some mutilated almost beyond recognition."

To cope with the increasing number of civilian casualties, there are only approximately 100 hospitals with 25,000 beds. It is not unusual for one hospital bed to be occupied by two or three patients.

Supplies and equipment are often lacking. Sanitation and ventilation are primitive and frequently non-existent.

Moreover, this primitive country simply lacks the doctors and the specialized equipment and expertise to give these children the kind of intensive treatment and therapy that will heal their wounds and, hopefully, leave them relatively unscarred and without permanent injury.

Recently, an organization called the "Committee of Responsibility" has been established to provide treatment in this country for children who are the victims of the War in Viet Nam."

The committee has mobilized doctors and hospital space and collected substantial sums of money. Among the members are Dr. Benjamin Spock, Dr. Albert Sabin, Rev. John C. Bennett of Union Theological Seminary and many others equally prominent.

However, the committee has not been able to arrange for transportation for these children from Viet Nam to this country.

They sought my help and I have introduced a resolution calling on the Secretary of Defense and the Surgeon General to cooperate in providing space on military aircraft, returning empty from Viet Nam, for these children and the adults who will accompany them.

There will be little or no cost to the Federal Government.

And I believe that we have a responsibility to these children.

We have a responsibility to see that they get adequate medical treatment. And we have a responsibility to demonstrate to them that the world into which they were born is not wholly hostile; there is love and tenderness as well as anger and violence.

Prussing leads Ranger team to crown in league for boys

Regular season action in the Recreation Department-sponsored Boys' Friday Afternoon Bowling League was concluded last week at the Springfield Bowl. The Rangers team won the league championship in this league for grammar school boys. The Ranger team included Scott Prussing, captain; David Dubin, Mike Denner, Brian Ogumowsky and Drew Schulman.

Stuart Liebeskind won the high average trophy with a 141 average. Howie Levine's 210 game was tops for the year, while Scott Prussing's 370 series, rolled the first week of the season, was high in that department. The boys will receive trophies from the Recreation Department tomorrow afternoon.

Scott Prussing led the way for the league champion Rangers last Friday, as his team split two games with the Tigers. Scott had games of 164 and 180 for a series total of 344. This was the best bowling of the day last Friday. Steve Harris rolled games of 170 and 160 to lead the Tigers with a 330 series. Ken Baroff with a 298 total was also effective for the Tigers.

THE FALCONS held on to a third-place finish, as they crushed the Warriors in two games last week. Stuart Liebeskind and Bob Goodman led the Falcons to their sweep. Stu rolled a 369 series, while Bob topped 261 pins in the match. Roy Greenberg with a 257 series was the top roller on the Warrior team.

Another match last week saw the Chiefs jump over the Hawks into fifth place with a sweep of the Hawks last Friday. Gary Neifeld with a 293 series topped the Chiefs' attack. Gary's second-game effort of 196 was the second highest game rolled in the league this season. Jeff Slater with a 278 series was high man on the Hawk team, while Steve Sklar's 268 series was effective in the Chief attack.

The final match of the season saw the Chargers top the Royals twice. Mark Berkowitz led the Chargers' sweep with a 254 series. Steve Rosenberg with a 257 series contributed to the Charger victories. Jamie Larber was the high man in the Royal attack with a 260 series.

STUART LIEBESKIND'S 141 final season average easily gave him the high average award. Stuart led the league through most of the 25-week season and was by far the league's most consistent bowler. Scott Prussing placed second in the race with a 135 average. Roy Greenberg, a vastly improved bowler this season, finished third among the league's top bowlers. Roy had a 130 average.

Three boys engaged in a close fight for the fourth highest average. The battle between Steve Harris, Bob Goodman and Gary Neifeld saw Steve win out over Bob and Gary with a 126.5 season average. Fifth place went to Goodman, who finished with a 126.4 average, and Gary Neifeld was sixth with a 126.0 average.

Howie Levine finished seventh with a final mark of 123. Mickey Harmon took down honors for the eighth position with an average of 122. The final two boys in the top 10 were Mark Berkowitz with an average of 120 and Tommy Lowy with a 119.5 season average.

Accident victims taken to hospital by 1st Aid Squad

Victims of three auto accidents in the past week were taken to Overlook Hospital by the Springfield First Aid Squad, according to Police Department records.

George Diakolos, 20, of Irvington, was injured in a crash Monday evening on Rt. 22. Police stated that he was leaving the parking lot of Stangle's Diner when his car was in a collision with one driven by Mrs. Judith Costello, 27, of Fanwood.

Diakolos' car then struck the Sandler and Worth building in the Center Island of the highway. Mrs. Costello's two children, Michael, 5, and Lorie, 3, were both shaken up in the collision, but their mother said she would take them to her own doctor, the report added.

Another accident occurred Saturday in the early afternoon on Meisel avenue, near the Rahway Valley Railroad tracks. The police report stated that a sheet of plywood flew out of a dump truck driven by Joseph Major, 53, of Union, who was headed south.

It struck the windshield of a north-bound car driven by John P. Agos, 36, of Cranford. Both Agos and his daughter Wendy, 3, were treated at the hospital for head cuts.

Charles Gruber, 77, of 392 Meisel ave., was also treated for head cuts suffered in an accident when he was crossing Mountain avenue at Henshaw avenue last Wednesday. The report said that he was struck by a car driven by Anne J. Haas, 30, of New Providence.

Church to sponsor event with spotlight on 'big band sound'

"The Big Band Sound of the Forties" will be the theme of the springtime dinner dance to be held at the Presbyterian Parish House on Saturday, May 13. This event is being sponsored by the Men's Club and the Fireside Group of the church.

Featured for dancing will be the music of the Rhythmaires, led by Lloyd Baker of Frenchtown. This eight-piece orchestra, playing in the Glenn Miller style of the era of the big bands, also features a girl vocalist in their specialty numbers.

A pre-dinner social hour will begin at 6:30 while guests are arriving. Horatio's oysters and punch will be served in the decorated auditorium of the Parish House. Members of the Westminster Fellowship, the high school youth group of the church, will lend their talents in the over-all decorating of the building.

Following this, a catered buffet dinner will be served in the dining room, which also will be decorated in a springtime theme. Fred Schenk of Chadham will serve as master of ceremonies for the evening's festivities.

Accident victims taken to hospital by 1st Aid Squad

Victims of three auto accidents in the past week were taken to Overlook Hospital by the Springfield First Aid Squad, according to Police Department records.

George Diakolos, 20, of Irvington, was injured in a crash Monday evening on Rt. 22. Police stated that he was leaving the parking lot of Stangle's Diner when his car was in a collision with one driven by Mrs. Judith Costello, 27, of Fanwood.

Diakolos' car then struck the Sandler and Worth building in the Center Island of the highway. Mrs. Costello's two children, Michael, 5, and Lorie, 3, were both shaken up in the collision, but their mother said she would take them to her own doctor, the report added.

Another accident occurred Saturday in the early afternoon on Meisel avenue, near the Rahway Valley Railroad tracks. The police report stated that a sheet of plywood flew out of a dump truck driven by Joseph Major, 53, of Union, who was headed south.

It struck the windshield of a north-bound car driven by John P. Agos, 36, of Cranford. Both Agos and his daughter Wendy, 3, were treated at the hospital for head cuts.

Charles Gruber, 77, of 392 Meisel ave., was also treated for head cuts suffered in an accident when he was crossing Mountain avenue at Henshaw avenue last Wednesday. The report said that he was struck by a car driven by Anne J. Haas, 30, of New Providence.

First aid for heels

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Expo '67, Montreal's World's Fair, is setting up "heel bars" throughout the grounds, where ladies' broken shoe heels can be repaired, reports the American Automobile Association. The action was prompted, A.A.A. says, when Expo '67 officials learned that at previous expositions of this type a woman who broke a heel of her shoe had to leave the grounds and often travel a long way to find a shoe repair shop.

Memorable trophies await Horse Show winners

Battlefield heroism and present, will be memorialized at the 10th annual Junior Essex Troop Horse Show this weekend. The show, one of the country's leading competitions for junior riders, 11 to 14, will take place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the Troop Farm in Pleasant Valley way, West Orange.

The battle memorials are in the form of trophies, one of them named for a young Short Hills infantryman currently hospitalized in Vietnam, the other for a Marine killed in a defensive action in the Philippines during World War II.

George R. Frost, Irvington jeweler, who is a Troop instructor in military riflery, said that the trophy named for the young soldier wounded by VC mortar fire in Vietnam will be a perpetual challenge trophy for military horsemanship for boys under 14.

It was established by contribution of Troop leaders after they received a recent letter from C. Mark Judge Jr., a member of Bravo Company, First Battalion, 12th Infantry,

GEORGE W. FROST, cadet private in Junior Essex Troop, with perpetual memorial trophy for sportsmanship named for his great-grandfather, also George W. Frost.

Ath Division in Vietnam and a former member of the 1st Cavalry Troop, wishing success for the contest show and enclosing a $35 donation toward a trophy and program ad.

"We were so impressed and touched that a fellow boy fighting a war could take time out to think of us that we decided to put more to the trophy fund and give it his name," said Frost, who is designing the prize himself. Its value will be close to $400.

Another memorial trophy will be donated by Dr. and Mrs. Rolf Vatten of Newark, formerly of Irvington, in memory of Mrs. Vatten's brother who was killed in the Philippines. It is named for him, the Gerald S. Abrego Trophy.

Dr. Harry Farb, Irvington psychiatrist who resides in Springfield, has donated another trophy for the competition. Named for Dr. Lewis J. Looser who also practices in Irvington, it will be presented by Dr. Farb's daughter Susan at the Sunday morning program. It honors the contribution Dr. Looser has made to the donor's professional career.

Frost himself has donated a perpetual memorial trophy named for his grandfather, George W. Frost, founder of the Irvington jewelry firm and an enthusiastic horseman in his day. The trophy for sportsmanship will be presented by Frost's 12-year-old son, who bears his great-grandfather's name. The young boy is a cadet private in the Essex Troop and a student at Deerfield School in Short Hills. An apt student in his Dad's riflery class, he holds a sharpshooter medal for a .22 cal. marksmanship. The Horse Show will be in swing tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sunday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children.

Learn not to swallow

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Persons plagued by slow reading habits could be wasting their time and money with rapid reading courses.

Actually, all they have to do is learn how not to swallow and clench their jaws.

Three researchers at the Institute of Human Learning at the University of California have reported an amazingly fast therapy for readers whose speed is held back by vocalizing while they read.

In just one session such hindrances were completely negated for a group of students who participated.

Electrodes placed over the thyroid cartilage of subjects transmitted amplified recordings of sounds emitted from the throat while reading.

A simple swallow, mumble or whisper was magnified through earphones on the subjects' heads—coming through in an ear-splitting blast of static.

The researchers said, in what might be considered an understatement, by "some." "Such feedback dramatizes to the subject the extent of habit patterns he has acquired."

Creators of "the cure" are Curtis D. Hardeck, assistant professor of psychology at UC Medical Center in San Francisco and assistant research psychologist at the Berkeley Institute; Lewis F. Petronovich, visiting research psychologist and director of graduate studies in psychology at the University of New York, and Delbert W. Ellisworth, post-graduate researcher at UC Berkeley.

Couple 4 times blessed Life based on double careers

Herbert and Ina Golub of Union, feel that a family with two careers has twice as much to share as a family with only one.

At the same time, they wonder how they manage their own busy family life of two careers apiece and conclude that they are four times blessed.

"It's crazy," they say of their pattern of involvement, " hectic, exhausting, enriching... essential."

The pattern takes shape at Newark State College, Union, where he teaches music, and she, fine arts. It has its source in their home at 817 Caldwell ave., Union, where both prepare their lessons, where he puts in the hours of practicing required for his second career as a concert pianist, and where she designs and weaves the many fine fabrics that are the products of her second career as an artist-craftsman.

And still there is time to go to the theater, concerts, travel, for endless pursuit of museums and galleries, and for visiting with friends.

The secret, they say, is that their careers are related enough to be compatible and different enough to be interesting.

THE COUPLE MET in 1960 at Kawamosh Junior High School, Union, where they taught in classrooms that faced each other across the corridor. It was Mrs. Golub's first year as a member of the faculty and Golub's third.

The next year they were married and embarked that summer upon a whirlwind tour of Europe and the Scandinavian countries that was to characterize their lives from that point on.

It was followed immediately by two years at Indiana University, where — having given up their jobs — they lived on two shoestring budgets provided by the graduate assistantships that each of them had won.

At Indiana, Golub, who holds B.S. and M.A. degrees from New York University, completed course-work toward his doctorate, while Mrs. Golub with an A.B. degree from Montclair State College earned a master's degree. Both feel the experience was professionally enriching.

"I studied piano with Professor Sidney Foster," he said, "who opened up the world of music for me, so that I finally felt I knew what the keyboard was all about. I learned that it could be an extension of myself but that I should not stand in the way of the music. Playing should be relaxed, a natural thing. Unfortunately, it is often taught in an unnatural way." During this period he accompanied soprano Margaret Harshaw, who was a member of the faculty.

Mrs. Golub began her work at Indiana as a major in art education, but a world opened up for her also and soon she changed her major to textile design.

"I SAW THE weaving studio," she said, "and it was a glorious blaze of color and texture. I knew immediately that these were the materials I wanted to work with."

She is now a full-fledged designer-craftsman. Her tapestries and rugs of both woven and decorated fabrics, such as batik, tie-dye and silk screens are widely displayed. Her most recent exhibition is at the Montclair Museum, where she is represented as a member of the New Jersey Designer-Craftsman. Previous exhibitions were held at Alicia Rahm's Contemporary Craft Shop, Montclair; Newark Museum; and other galleries in Indiana and the New Jersey areas.

A current project for Mrs. Golub is designing liturgical fabrics, using abstract forms based on Hebrew calligraphy. She also makes handwrought jewelry.

Her favorite project, however, is a fabric of her own design and craftsmanship, woven in shades of muted purple which she has had made into a sports jacket for her husband.

Golub joined the faculty at Newark State in 1965. This is his wife's first year at the college. Last year he performed the first faculty recital held in the new theater for the performing arts, and arranged subsequent recitals by faculty groups. He has performed for the WNYC Keyboard Master Series, the Fordham University Music Workshop, and in recitals in the metropolitan area.

Asked if their many activities interfere with a domestic routine, they replied that the interference makes their lives more interesting.

"My wife does the cooking, and she does it very well," Golub said.

"I like to experiment with cooking," she added.

Besides, they said, their interests help to solve the furniture problem. They keep a 40-inch loom in the dining room and a 517-inch Steinway in the second bedroom.

HUSBAND AND WIFE TEAM—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Golub of 817 Caldwell ave., Union, faculty members at Newark State College, Union, combine careers in music and the fine arts. In the above picture, Mrs. Golub, a designer-craftsman of original textiles, helps her husband, a concert pianist, into a jacket tailored from a fabric which she both designed and wove.

Company awards seal to sales representative

Goett of the Allstate Insurance Companies' sales location at 368 Chestnut st., Union, has been awarded the firm's "Seal of Confidence" in recognition of "out-standing ability and exceptional judgment." Goett, who lives in Westfield, received the award at a special presentation dinner held recently.

Technical schools to hold open house Tuesday evening

Next Tuesday, from 7 to 9 p.m., the facilities of the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools will be open to the interested public. Members of the administrative and teaching staff will be on hand to discuss the training program and career opportunities in the specific program areas, and several students will demonstrate samples of their acquired skills.

Prospective students and their parents are particularly welcome, as are leaders in local industry who wish to view the facilities and programs available to train prospective employees, a spokesman said.

At 957 Ball ave., Union, are the facilities for the high-school cooperative programs. Current offerings are in machine shop, welding, and appliance servicing. Admission to these programs by high-school students is arranged through the guidance counselors of the local secondary schools and a screening by the county school.

The Technical Institute programs are presently located in two facilities. At 423 Park ave., Scotch Plains, instruction is offered for work as a medical assistant, dental assistant, or practical nurse; while at 1160 Globe ave., Mountainside, programs are offered for work as a chemical technician, data processing programmer, electronics technician, and design draftsman. Entry to these programs requires a high-school diploma or recognized equivalent, and is based upon competitive testing administered by the Institute.

Apointees sought for clerk positions

Union County Clerk Walter G. Halpin this week announced plans to appoint two or possibly three temporary county clerk clerks who would later compete in an open competitive Civil Service examination.

The salary range is $6,500 to $8,500, with increments spread over a five-year period. Halpin said that, since New Jersey law provides that a disabled veteran shall assume the top position as long as he attains a passing grade in a Civil Service examination, "I would prefer appointing candidates with disability ratings and train them for the examination."

Basic requirements are a high school education, residency in Union County and good moral character, he said. Character references will be required. He asked persons interested in the posts to contact him at the Union County Court House in Elizabeth.

Spending on travel set mark in 1966

in the United States was $22.93 billion. Foreign travel expenditures brought the total to more than $27 billion.

'Games' now being played on Ormont and Art screens

Roger Vadim must be terribly proud of his wife's talents and figure - so much so - that he shows them both off abundantly in "The Game Is Over," the new French film (English-dubbed) at the Ormont Theater, East Orange. Vadim's wife, of course, is the luscious, versatile Jane Fonda, and she was never more dramatically appealing than in "The Game Is Over." Technicolor, wide-screen motion picture version of Emile Zola's "La Curée."

The story-line, an interesting one, is done several times over successfully on stage and screen) is designed along the patterns of a young wife, whose business man-husband's disinterest, leads her to taking a young lover. In this particular case, it is her husband's son, born of his first marriage - and the events bring forth a tragic climax.

The highly erotic love scenes between Miss Fonda and a young, promising newcomer, British actor Peter McEnery, leave little to the imagination, but they are presented subtly under the gentle reins of Vadim. A mature audience is not offended by the frank portrayal of raw emotions in a hopeless love affair. In fact, viewers may sympathize with the trio (the husband is portrayed by Michel Piccoli), all together or individually.

In the opening scenes, "The Game Is Over" appears to be cloying and irregular (a la European style), but Vadim settles himself to longer, more interesting settings as the film goes on. The color is superb, as is the background music - and as we said before, Jane Fonda Vadim was never lovelier.

Another "Game" picture came to town last week on a first-run basis, and that is "Night Games," the Swedish "Adults Only" picture, directed by Mal Zetterling. The film, which arrived at the Art Theater, Irvington Center, has just about everything in it but the kitchen sink. Come to think of it, it does contain a kitchen sink.

Nevertheless, in "Night Games," Miss Zetterling brings forth a story about a young man, whose Oedipus-complex as a child,

Food stamp plan certification started

Certification of participants in the Union County federal stamp program began Monday under the direction of the Union County Welfare Board.

Persons who are not receiving public assistance must apply at board headquarters so a determination of eligibility can be made, according to Victor W. Liotta, director.

The plan permits low income families to purchase food stamp booklets from participating banks. The stamps, in 50-cent and two dollar denominations, can be used like cash in participating stores, he said.

The stamps may be used to purchase any items that usually are consumed by humans and produced in the United States. Non-edible items such as tobacco and alcohol may not be purchased with the food stamps. Foods imported from another country also are on the non-purchasable list, Liotta said.

A stamp user may use a combination of stamps and money to make purchases. No cash may be given in change, however. The purpose of the program is to assist low income families to upgrade their diets and to increase the family's purchasing power, he said.

The amount of stamps that can be purchased from participating banks depends on the family's income. Liotta estimates that 8,000 individuals will be provided with additional $6 buying power each month.

THERE ARE THREE basic eligibility requirements. The eligibility of applicants is to be determined by the welfare department; the food must be prepared and cooked in the home; the family must meet certain income and resource requirements.

Eligible applicants will receive authorization cards which identify them as participants in the food stamp program. They will be issued monthly to non-assistance recipients, Liotta said.

The stamps are good anytime in any participating store. The eligible participant endorses the stamps like checks. The authorized stores collect the stamps when purchases are made and redeemed at the banks.

Joseph P. Matier, field representative for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, estimates that Union County will have food stamp sales volume of $1.8 million annually with increases in sales by participating stores of about eight to 10 per cent.

Mrs. Gertrude Lotwin, home economist, said the program will permit lower income families to make purchases of food items they now consider luxuries, like meats, milk, fruits and vegetables.

By increasing the family's purchasing power, the collective health of the family shows gains. Another important factor, according to Mrs. Lotwin, is the purchase of food stamps helps families to manage money much more efficiently.

Robert Lowe, supervisor of caseworkers, is in charge of the county program. There are four counties, Mercer, Salem, Bergen and Camden, where the federal plan already is operating. Ocean and Atlantic begin the plan next month while Passaic joins the food stamp plan with Union in June.

Choice in training offered to enlistees

High school seniors interested in fulfilling their military obligation by joining the Army upon graduation can now be assured the training of their choice before enlistment, according to Sgt. Chester G. Rice, Army recruiter at 9 Caldwell pl., Elizabeth.

Under the Army's new "Operation Early Choice" program, Sgt. Rice stated, an applicant may be tested to determine his aptitudes. If qualified, he may select his own training and receive a written guarantee that, following basic training, he will be trained in his chosen career.

The purpose of this program is to allow interested men to select the training of their choice while a variety of openings are still available. Men who wait until June, Sgt. Rice explained, sometimes find that the high enlistment rate which follows graduation quickly absorbs many of the desirable openings.

Trailside Center will offer choice of programs Sunday

The Sunday afternoon visitors to the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, will have a choice of two programs being offered on Sunday.

Dr. Harold N. Moldenke, director of the Nature Center, will conduct a tour of the historic "Deserred Village," located in the valley between the first and second ridges of the Watchung range.

The guided tour is open to the public and will start from the Trailside Nature and Science Center at 2 p.m. and proceed to the site of the "Village," a short distance away.

The second program will be presented in the auditorium of Trailside at 3 p.m., and will be a color, sound film entitled "Trees of Tomorrow."

The film depicts the grandeur of America's Pacific Northwest and portrays interlocking struggles of nature as growing trees, crops fight for survival. Ravaged by wildlife, fires, and cyclonic gales, tomorrow's trees are constantly replenished by man.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 11 at 4:00 p.m. each day, Dr. Moldenke will conduct one-half hour nature talks for children. The topic to be discussed during the four days is "Arctic and Antarctic Wildlife." The lectures will be illustrated with color slides and admission is free.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: I married a man who is 20 years older than I. When we married, he was retired. He told me his income was enough for us to live on. But after we were married, I found out he expected me to work to help with the household bills. This, my health won't permit.

We have been married for 3 years now. He has stopped buying me clothes, paying my doctor bills, or any of my personal needs. I have had to go to the Welfare Board to get help. He gives me the check from this agency ($55) which is a very small check for groceries and it has to last for a month. I feel that he is doing nothing for me and that I am nothing but an unpaid housekeeper. Only a Housekeeper.

Dear Housekeeper: "A bill of goods" under false pretenses but still wants to preserve his marriage, there is only one way to resolve the problem. He should emerge from retirement (if his health permits) and secure a job to support you. That's what any self-respecting man would do under similar circumstances!

Dear Amy: I've got a problem so I thought I would write and see what your point of view was. There is this boy I go with whom I care a whole lot about, but he got into trouble and is now in reform school. When he left, I promised I would wait for him and not write him. His best friend was with him when he got into trouble except he was put on probation. Since then, his best friend is now driving me crazy, calling me and asking me out and things like that. I like him also, as a friend, but he can't understand that. He even goes as far as "blessing" boys out who call me. I've tried every way in the world to tell him nicely - to get lost, but nothing seems to work. Sometimes he even calls me at 12 or 1 o'clock in the morning. What am I to do?

Dear Troubled: No boy has the right to drive you crazy or telephone you at unacceptable hours. I suggest you let your parents handle him next time he gets in touch. Then he'll get the "message".

Dear Amy: I am to be married shortly and recently was given a bridal shower by some friends of my future-in-laws.

Here is the problem: We are having a dinner reception and therefore the number of guests has to be limited (My future-in-laws are aware of this and had been prior to the shower.) Am I now obligated to include the people who attended this shower and who previously had not been on the guest list? This would increase the number quite some.

Dear Miss T.A.: You are not obligated to invite these people. It's impossible to invite a friend of a friend (as the saying goes). Your future-in-laws were aware of the fact

By ARTHUR POLLACK
Has the market discounted all the bad news? Probably not. It's true that the 23 percent decline last year discounted many things -- including, without a doubt, less favorable first quarter earnings reports. Nevertheless, there is always something unsentimental about unfavorable earnings reports -- when they are actually announced -- despite a tendency for some discounting "before the fact". In addition, it is quite possible that some of the first quarter earnings may be even lower than had been expected. In addition, the market (as measured by the S&P Index of 425 Industrials) has appreciated more than 12 percent so far this year. Thus, the market has recovered approximately 78 percent of the 1966 decline. This improvement in the market has been achieved without any real "correction". Therefore -- on a purely technical basis -- it would seem reasonable to expect at least some moderate selling pressure. Greater than expected disappointment at first quarter earnings could provide the spark to touch off such a correction. HOWEVER, in my opinion, if weakness in the market does materialize, it could be of a temporary nature... and would provide an excellent buying opportunity for selected issues in which distinct earnings improvement is foreseeable in subsequent quarters. In other words, there is considerable agreement among economists and analysts alike that earnings for the first two periods this year will be disappointing. Fundamental economic considerations suggest the possibility of a definite improvement in third and fourth quarter results. In its persistent attempt to "discount"

From N.J. Taxpayers Association
New Jersey municipalities collected 94.19 percent of their local tax levies last year, topping the 94 percent collection in 1965, according to figures compiled by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association. In Union County, the tabulation showed 20 communities collected between 95 and 100 percent of their tax levies and one collected between 90 and 94.9 percent. In Essex County, 19 communities collected between 95 and 100 percent of their tax levies, two collected between 90 and 94.9 percent and one collected between 85 and 89.9 percent. Statewide, the local property tax levy rose to $1,264,000,000 in 1966. While the total levy was $39 million more than in 1965, the amount of increase was $41 million less than the previous year's jump. Principal cause of the levy decline was the one-time school tax relief mandated in connection with the 1966 State school aid increase financed by the sales tax. Local property tax collections in 1966 totaled about $1,190,000,000 -- compared with $1,151,000,000 in 1965. Among the 567 municipalities in New Jersey, 322 reported increased percentages of collection, 238 reported decreases and seven showed no change last year as compared with 1965.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

COOPERATION
If you have ever tried to win someone over to your side in an argument, you should have learned that a loud voice or a show of temper did nothing to help your cause.
Sometimes, in order to win a point, one must take a concession. Life has been referred to as a "give and take" proposition. The description is fair. None of us are inclined to be just "givers." We are all possessed with a certain amount of the "take" instinct. Yet, those who get the most out of life are the ones who have learned to balance the scale between giving and taking. They give what is just; take what is fair. A precious few even give more than they take.
Whatever your aims in life, whatever your goals, whatever your chances for success, your promise of happiness with success, must relate to manner in which you strive to achieve.
If you give, if you help others who strive, then you may in turn expect their cooperation and their appreciation of your own efforts.

IS A FRIENDLY CALL ENOUGH?
The new neighbors will be glad to meet you. And they'll want to visit with you later. Right now, they need something more—a list of schools and churches, utility companies' telephone numbers... all the information one needs on arriving in a strange city.
So be a friend indeed. A Welcome Wagon hostess will call at your request to provide all this and gifts as well.
Make your welcome warmer when new neighbors arrive. Call Welcome Wagon at 232-5070.

'Baby-sitting' topic discussed by panel at special meeting

A cooperative Union County Home Economics Extension Service - PTA meeting was conducted by Mabel Stolte, County Home Economics Extension Specialist, April 27. Panel members included Michael Mick and Regina Barbus, sophomore students at Linden High School; and Mrs. Lawrence Mason and Mrs. Monroe Spiegel, both of Linden. Mrs. Joseph Grygocz of Linden was discussion leader.

Questions discussed included: Who makes the best baby-sitter? Where can reliable baby-sitters be found? Who should the baby-sitter call in an emergency?

Teenage boys often make the best sitters for small boys. Members felt boys were more reliable than girls because they stayed awake and tended to have fewer telephone calls on the job. Some felt a teenage girl was more competent than a boy to handle a larger group of children of varying ages.

The importance of the baby-sitter getting to know the children and the parents knowing the sitter was emphasized. This gives everyone a sense of security when the parents leave home.

Reliable baby-sitting services can be found through the local Youth Employment Service, Boy Scout, Den Chiefs and Girl Scout Troop consultants. Each of these organizations train their members and keep records of reliable participants.

What telephone numbers should be made available to the sitters? The firmest, the police, the fire and the family doctor, plus the parents whereabouts should always be left in a convenient place by the parents of the child; if someone is needed to take a person to a doctor in an emergency, the police or first-aid squad are the ones to call upon, depending upon the communities' policy.

U.S. Treasury Department warns against Savings Bond 'chain letters'

The U. S. Treasury is cautioning the public against the current rash of Savings Bonds "chain letter" schemes. This warning came this week from Jack B. Dunn, State Savings Bonds director, in the face of a new outcropping of Savings Bond chain letters.

The first such scheme, involving Savings Bonds, and Stamps, was reported as early as 1941 -- the year Series E Bonds were born. Subsequent revivals of the idea have prompted U. S. Treasury instructions to banks and other issuing agents to refuse to sell Savings Bonds in such cases where they know, or have reason to believe, that the bonds will be used in any type of chain letter scheme. This applies whether or not the letters, or bonds are transmitted through the mail, Dunn said.

Postal authorities also have issued similar warnings against participation in chain letter schemes involving Savings Bonds, citing Federal court rulings that chain letters are both frauds and lotteries.

"One of the principal objectives of the Savings Bond program," said Dunn, "is to encourage the investment of individual savings in risk-free obligations of the United States Government, thus promoting the habit of thrift in a safe and orderly fashion. To associate Savings Bonds in the same breath with a 'get-rich-quick' scheme, in which it is mathematically impossible to profit, violates not only the spirit but the letter of the law."

Begin work on college 1st step in realizing an idea

Two years ago it was an idea. Today, Livingston College, the first of three coeducational colleges planned for the former site of Camp Kilmer, is a combination of many ideas about to be transformed into buildings and a distinctive approach to education. Ground has been broken in nearby Piscataway Township for the first phase of construction, three residence halls, a combination classroom-faculty office building and a chemistry building. And somewhere there are 900 high school sophomores who will enter these buildings in September of 1969 as Livingston's first class.

The man most responsible for shaping the college is Dr. Ernest A. Lynton of Princeton, dean of Livingston College. "The chief purpose of Livingston," says Dr. Lynton, "is to evoke from the students and the faculty an intense intellectual involvement with the contemporary world."

"Basically, we feel that the educated man should be aware of the problems confronting his civilization and of the manner in which the techniques of various academic disciplines can be used to seek solutions. "The problems, with much simplification, might be viewed from three perspectives: The rapid uncontrolled and unbalanced growth of urban complexes; the equally explosive and often chaotic development of non-European countries; and the inability of even Western countries to assimilate scientific and technical progress."

"We would like to ensure that no student graduate without an awareness of at least one of these perspectives." This approach, Dr. Lynton says, has led Livingston to a strong, but by no means exclusive, emphasis on urban affairs and international studies, particularly Asian and Latin American. He adds that city-and regional planning, in both the national and international areas, will be part of the general framework of Livingston's liberal-arts program.

"We want Livingston's students to be drawn into all kinds of activities on campus, from informal discussions to research projects, and we also want to get them off campus in a real involvement which is essential to understanding," he says.

"We envision such things as part-time projects and year-long internships in U.S. and foreign cities. In this, as in many other aspects, we look forward to working with Dr. Paul N. Ylvisaker, head of the N.J. Department of Community Affairs."

Dr. Lynton concludes that Livingston's first class and the faculty will have much to do with shaping the school as it builds toward an eventual enrollment of 3,500.

NSC to host 8th physical fitness meet

High school physical fitness teams from more than 200 schools in the greater New York City area are slated to compete in the eighth annual Marine Corps High School Youth Physical Fitness Meet to be held this month. These meets are the culmination of a year which saw 163,763 New York-New Jersey students from 350 high schools taking part in the program during the school year.

The meet for the New Jersey High Schools will be held at Newark State College, Union, on Thursday, May 11, beginning at 9 a.m. The top five teams in each area will compete on May 17, starting at 1 p.m., at the Van Cortlandt Park Stadium, 242nd st. and Broadway, Bronx, to determine the New York City area representative at the second annual Marine Corps National Youth Physical Fitness Meet to be held during June at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.

Each high school will be limited to a single six-man team. The team score at each meet will consist of the five highest individual scores of the six-man team. Contestants will compete against the stop watch and scoring charts in pull-ups, push-ups, sit-ups, squat thrusts and a 300-yard shuttle run. Contestants and teams will compete for trophies and medals provided by National Airlines. Team trophies will be awarded to the top three schools in each area meet as well as the finals. Individual awards consist of a winner's trophy and medals for second through 10th place. In addition, each participant in the area meets will receive a special athletic achievement certificate, a travel kit provided by the Gillette Company, and an autographed major league baseball. Also, each member of the 15 finalist teams will be awarded a Marine Corps blazer crest denoting his participation in the championship meet.

Last year's National Youth Fitness Meet at Quantico, Va., was won by Carle Place High School, Carle Place, L. I., with a score of 2328 points out of a possible 2500. Among schools scheduled to compete at Newark State College area Abraham Clark High of Roselle, Linden High, Roselle Park High, Union High, Essex County Vocational and Technical of Irvington, Irvington High and Vailsburg High.
