DO NOT DISTURB — Kim Harvey finds a woodland desk as youngsters from the James Caldwell School visit the Union County Outdoor Education Center in Watchung Reservation.

Children learn outdoors Study in Watchung Reservation

(This article was prepared by Susan Murphy, Bob Keyworth and Wayne Rutz, fifth grade students at the James Caldwell School.)

The students in the fifth grade classes at the James Caldwell School went on a field trip recently to the Union County Outdoor Education Center in the Watchung Reservation.

Buses took the students to the main building at the center where Charles Holtzer, director of the Outdoor Education Program, outlined plans for the day. Each of the three classes had already been divided into two groups. The assistant director, assigned each group to a leader for the first activity. In the afternoon, the schedule was shifted so that each group worked on a new topic with a different instructor.

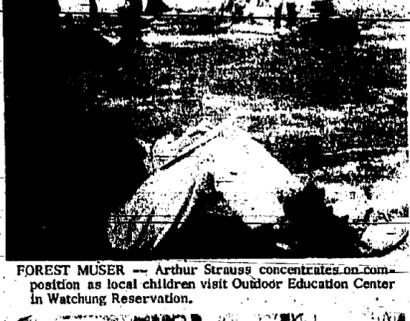

NOT A SNAP-DRAGON — Steve Dyeart snapped as he snaps a jack-in-the-pulpit on fifth graders' trip to county Outdoor Education Center.

ONE GROUP learned to observe and use their senses as they smelled, listened, felt and saw as they walked along the trail and listened to the instructor tell about a variety of subjects.

The students learned how to tell the age of a tree, and why a tree can be called a "historian." They learned the names of many trees and flowers as well as recognizing the three forms of pollen. One of the ways in which soil is made became clearer as the children felt pieces of decomposed-log and smelled its "earthy" odor.

Details of local history came alive as the children saw the walls of the old mill and walked in the sheltered valley where Indians had spent their winter's hundreds of years ago.

FOREST MUSER — Arthur Strauss concentrates on map position as local children visit Outdoor Education Center in Watchung Reservation.

"MAKING MATH Come Alive" was especially interesting, according to some of the pupils. They learned how to use a compass glass and then played a game with their new-found knowledge.

The instructor, A. J. Ryan, showed them how to pace off a distance, and compute the length of their step. Then the boys and girls learned how to estimate the height of a tree (no climbing), pace off the distance, and convert this figure to feet, using the length of their individual strides.

Many birds were spotted by the "Birding and Botany" group with Oscar Norloff. Among others the children recognized:

Head of temple asks support of U.S. commitment to Israel

An appeal to all township residents to call on the nation's leaders for prompt action to "support the U. S. commitment to preserve the frontiers and the safety of Israel and her adjacent Arab countries" was issued this week by Milton Wildman, president of Temple Beth Ahm.

The text of his message follows:

A great number of Americans are shocked and grieved over developments in the Middle East. Realizing the truth in statements made by many political experts that the third World War is likely to begin in the Mid-East powder keg, it is of great concern to all of us that war be averted and territorial rights of all nations be protected.

John Rabbi Reuben R. Levine and rabbis and Jewish leaders throughout the nation in calling not only upon their constituents, but on all Americans to do everything in our power to support the United States' commitment to preserve the frontiers and the safety of Israel and her adjacent Arab countries.

Britain, France and the United States jointly declared their intention in May 1950, "to promote the establishment and maintenance of peace and stability in the area and their unalterable opposition to the use of force or threat of force between any of the states in that area."

The declaration further stated that these governments, in the event of a breach of frontier violation, would "immediately take action both within and outside the United Nations, to prevent such violation."

Originally made during the Truman administration, this commitment was reiterated in subsequent administrations by Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson. Today all of us demand no less than that the present administration honor our country's position on the Middle East. It must do all in its power and use all of its influence to halt the Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba, Israel's only southern access to the sea, and to prevent aggression by any of the countries involved.

Businesses set welcome decorations

Police outline program to handle flood of traffic

As Baltusrol Golf Club prepared to play host to the U. S. Open tournament June 12 to 18, detailed plans were also announced this week by the Springfield Chamber of Commerce to welcome an expected 100,000 visitors to the township, and by the Police Department, to handle the onslaught of fairway-bound cars.

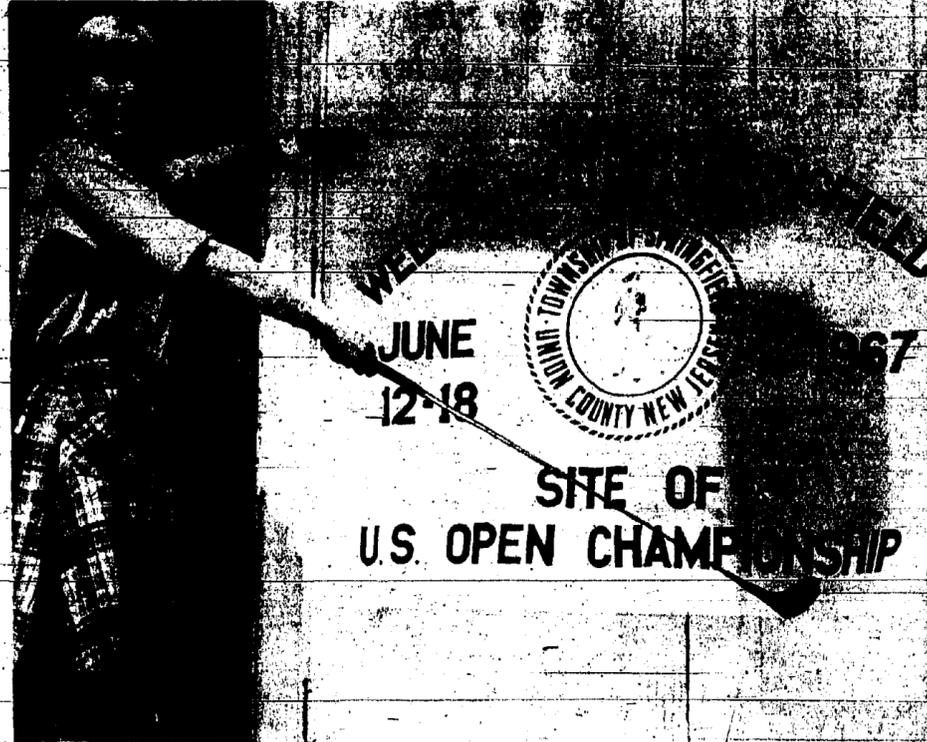

The Chamber of Commerce is distributing red, white and blue bannery and bunting to local merchants for display during the two weeks before and during the national championship golf competition.

Planters throughout the business areas are being filled with live flowers, the Chamber added, new litter boxes have been placed throughout the town for a cleaner Springfield and the "completed effect should give our visitors a real feeling of welcome."

The announcement went on to say, "The co-operation of the local businessmen has been excellent in this program to decorate their stores."

Mayor Arthur M. Falkin, Harvey Schramm, Chamber president, and Saul Freeman, executive secretary, have been working in this project with the International Flag Co. of Newark, which is handling the decoration responsibilities.

Businesses which have not yet completed plans for participation may obtain further information from Freeman at 379-3610.

Police Department plans were announced by Chief Wilbur C. Selander and Police Commissioner Robert G. Ploner at a recent meeting with residents of the neighborhoods most concerned. They declared that no streets will be changed to a one-way traffic pattern for the tournament traffic, although that provision is still subject to possible last-minute changes.

The major change now being made up is for no-parking regulations on all streets bordering the golf course, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. for the duration of the tournament. The regulations will be in effect June 12 to 18, and for an additional day if there should be a playoff or postponement.

Schedule hearing on new zoning bill

The Planning Board will hold a public hearing on the new zoning ordinance proposed for the township Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Florence Gaudineer School. It was announced this week by Mayor Arthur M. Falkin and Azelegio T. Pancani, board chairman.

The new measure is designed to implement the Master Plan for future municipal growth which was adopted in 1965. It will replace the present zoning ordinance, which was prepared in 1954 and has been amended several times since then. Pancani has described the new measure as one which will serve the needs of the township for the next 20 years.

He declared that Wednesday's meeting is intended to give residents an opportunity to express criticism of the new measure and to suggest changes which might be considered before the ordinance comes before the Township Committee for approval, probably this summer.

Aid Squad visitors speak for students in Dayton courses

Some 300 sophomore boys and girls of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School were given a first-aid clinic by members of the Springfield First Aid Squad at the high school last week as a part of their course in medical self help and first aid.

Dan Kalem, lieutenant of the Springfield First Aid Squad, and members Mrs. Lois Rioux, Mrs. Esther Poznanski, Mrs. Jacqueline Simpson, Joseph Byrnes, Mrs. Anne Ognowsky, Mrs. Frances Golden, Mrs. Judith Force and Mrs. Rose Marshall visited the classrooms with their equipment and gave practical demonstrations of techniques and methods of administering: artificial respiration, splinting, "ambu-kits," resuscitators, inhalators, aspirators, stretchers, stoppage of bleeding, and various other first aid and emergency measures. Class members were invited to inspect the equipment and ambulances that are used by the 32-man volunteer squad of the Springfield chapter.

Kalem told the students that his group answered over 700 emergency calls last year on a 24-hour, seven-day-a-week service. He stressed to the group the fact that first aiders must be cool and competent at all times and that their work requires a dedicated and efficient knowledge of the rules of first aid. The guest instructors answered questions on all phases of first aid.

Medical self help and first aid—including civil defense—is a part of the course of study of the health education department on the 10th grade level. The instructors at Dayton include: John Swedish, Mrs. Dolores Howard, Mike Iannelli and James Horner. The nine-week course at the school will finish June 15, with certificates being awarded to each student passing the course.

Author offers comfort for the college-bound

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rejection by the college of your choice need not be the end of the line, according to College Entrance Guide, by Bernice W. Einstein (Grosset & Dunlap $1.95). Mrs. Einstein, a college adviser in the High School of Art and Design, New York, gives 12 suggestions for rejected students which, if followed conscientiously and immediately, will assist students in securing admission to college.

"1. Confer with the high school adviser, who may be able to suggest some colleges looking for students. Contrary to public belief, not all colleges are overcrowded. Even in July, many colleges throughout the country do have vacancies.

"2. Be willing to go far from home, if necessary. Also be flexible in personal requirements for the college to be attended.

"3. Register with one of the three nonprofit College Admissions Information Centers: College Admissions Assistance Center, 41 East 65th St., New York, N.Y. 10021; College Admissions Center, 610 Church St., Evanston, Ill. 60201; Catholic Colleges Admission and Information Center, 3805 McKenley St., Washington, D.C. 20015.

"4. Write to the Council for the Advancement of Small Colleges, 1051 New Hampshire Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

"5. Write to the Changing Times Reprint Service, 1729 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, for a copy of its annual Survey of Colleges. (Enclose 75 cents).

"6. Apply to junior or community colleges that are still accepting applications.

"7. Apply to the evening session or School of General Studies of nearby colleges. Later on, transfer to the college day session may be arranged.

"8. Arrange to take College Entrance Examinations again.

"9. Change the major field of specialization to a related one for which college admission requirements are not so stringent; e.g., a student rejected by Colleges of Architecture may change his major to interior design.

"10. Apply to colleges with openings in special fields, like art, business, home economics, etc. Later on, change to the liberal arts program is often possible.

"11. Spend some time in honest self-appraisal. Failure to be admitted to college may have been the result of unwise college selections. On the other hand it may have been caused by weaknesses in reading and mathematical skills, in study habits.

"12. Prepare to meet college-admission requirements. A—They should begin a self-help program of thoughtful reading and studying. B—They should enroll in a college that gives college-preparatory courses for high school graduates.

'Ivory Towers' seen declining

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—The colleges and universities of the future will be even less of "ivory towers" than they are today, an educator has predicted.

Juan Gomez Millas, minister of education in Chile, told a recent conference that the world's universities will be enrolling more students in a wider age range. He said these students will have a larger degree of "responsible participation, together with professors and administrators, in decisions and administration, especially in programs that deal directly with them."

Medical cow milked for science

CHICAGO (UPI)—One of the newest, fastest-growing and most sophisticated areas of medicine owes its development to a "cow."

The "cow" actually is a generator of artificial radioisotopes, which are the tools used by radiologists in nuclear medicine, a burgeoning part of medicine.

At a recent forum of the American College of Radiology in Chicago, Dr. Alexander Gottschalk of the University of Chicago Hospital and Dr. James L. Quinn III explained how radioisotopes work. These radioactive substances are injected into the body. They localize in the particular area under study because they have been "tagged" with elements used by that organ. Sensitive detectors, either scanners or gamma ray cameras, capable of sensing radioactive emissions, are then used to map the particular organ and yield diagnostic information.

The ideal radioisotope, according to Dr. Quinn, is one with a short half-life that will decay quickly after it has provided the information needed. Because of the instability of radioisotopes, it formerly was necessary to use those with long half-lives and low radioactivity. Those with short half-lives but providing better scans decayed before they could be shipped and used.

The "cow" answers this problem because it can be installed right in the hospital. As explained by Gottschalk, the device uses long-lived radioactive substances to produce short-lived radioactive "daughters." The generator is a simple large test tube containing various layers of alumina and specially-treated glass through which the parent radioisotope is filtered to yield its short-lived "daughter."

For instance, molybdenum-99, which has a half-life of 2.8 days can produce technetium-99m with a half-life of six hours. Technetium-99m can be produced only seconds before being introduced into a patient where the doctor can scan its localization—where it is the most active. Within six hours it is only half as radioactive and with 24 hours it will have decayed to one-sixteenth of its former self.

"These new methods are not in competition with established ones," Quinn said. "In fact, our scans complement x-ray techniques. We always take radiograph (x-ray) in conjunction with a scan in order to gain as much information as possible."

Bouquets on zoning bill, and just a few questions

The members of the township Planning Board and their consultants merit substantial praise for the work that has gone into the proposed new zoning ordinance, which will replace the patched-up 1954 zoning vehicle now in use with a 1967 model.

The simplified presentation is designed to eliminate ambiguities, ease problems for potential developers and reduce the variance load on the Board of Adjustment.

There are, however, a few comparatively minor problems, as may well be inevitable when an entire community must be rezoned. Whenever there is a border between two zones, and particularly when one of the zones is residential, there are problems.

The two neighborhood commercial zones along Mountain avenue appear to be an intelligent recognition of present usage. Where they have been extended, however, the planners may well have created new problems. Residents in the area of Mountain and S. Springfield avenues may well ask why their homes are suddenly regarded as an unsuitable use.

Residents of Lelak avenue may also have some doubts as to the value of extending the commercial zone, right through a modern house built less than a decade ago, to the curbstone of their completely residential street. As a resident of this street, the editor acknowledges a certain lack of detachment.

Still, the change seems designed to benefit only owners of land-locked residential property who have for years resisted any effort to use it for residences. We would resist any measure to benefit commercial interests at the expense of township residents.

Those who are opposed to any aspect of the new ordinance have a responsibility to attend the special meeting scheduled by the Planning Board for June 7 and to make their views known. The measure is still only proposed, and the meeting is designed to hear any suggestions which can still be included before it becomes law.

We should also remember that the ordinance is the product of a year of hard work by men who serve out of a sense of obligation to the community. Legitimate criticism of any part of their proposal is no reason for personal attack on their judgment or their motives.

A look across the Rahway River into Union can give us an idea what happens when a community grows without any sort of planning, with such features as Rt. 22 included in a residential zone. Whatever the final details of the new Springfield ordinance, it will be a good one. It will not be quite perfect, we are sure, but we join with all residents in hoping that it will approach that ideal as closely as possible.

Letters To Editor

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be published if the letter is of political nature. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

ON 'WARPED' VIEWS: According to the dictionary, an editorial is defined as expressing an opinion in the manner of an editor. Evidently you feel this gives you a chance to express any opinion, no matter how warped your view is.

Obviously not all camps are rotten to the core, and a great many are well-balanced centers of recreation for children who enjoy the daily fun in the sun. Sports and outdoor activities are well known for their healthy attributes.

In any case, camp must be considered as a place where you get packed into the back of a locked office truck with 16 other children; to go to the town playground.

This was the situation on Belmont. To last year and will probably be so again this year, as we still don't have the playground that has been promised for four years.

MRS. EDNA KLEIN, 10 Tree Top Dr.

ZONING ORDINANCE

Being a resident of this community for 13 years, I am taking the liberty of writing this letter concerning a matter which is of great importance to me and perhaps to many other homeowners.

After living all these years in a prime residential neighborhood, the passage of the new zoning ordinance will completely change the nature of my property by placing me adjacent to a "neighborhood commercial" zone, which in my humble opinion is commercial with a fancy name.

Who is to gain by this in my area? Only those people who bought property quite recently, fully aware of the restrictions placed on their properties. These people have time and time again inconvenienced us by serving us with variance requests, in order to facilitate business transactions for greater profit at the expense of tried and true Springfieldites.

With great physical and financial strain, we meet our responsibilities as voting citizens, with a right to speak, resulting in these variances being denied. Apparently what could not be achieved by these repeated attempts is possibly going to be achieved by the new proposed zoning ordinance.

It has always been the policy of this township to uphold the right of original owners. This practice is clearly being disregarded by the planning board and official advisors.

The last paragraph of the article in last week's Springfield Leader, concerning this matter, seems to imply that Mr. Pancani expected an expression of protest.

In compliance, I must thank Mr. Pancani for his generosity in allowing us to be present at the meeting on June 7, at which time the township residents will be able to express opinions concerning the proposed new zoning ordinance, which if passed, will guarantee value depreciation of our property, the destruction of our comfort and peace, and the definite unhappiness we will suffer as citizens of the once green but now impending concrete acreage of Springfield.

Turning against King, Over a year ago I helped expose this dangerous underground movement which threatens America's sovereignty.

Proud to be a patriotic American, I am not afraid to come out and show it. As a veteran of World War II, I am a Legionnaire who is proud to carry a draft card; I fly an American flag round the clock at my home. I support the jailing of cardburners, draft dodgers and flag desecrators.

What has Rosseler ever done for his community or country? Finally, anyone wanting more information about the movement to fly the American flag all over America, may phone or write Mrs. Robert Dickson, 43 Grove Ave., Verona, 239-7941.

TO ALL HOMEOWNERS

Help! Help! We wish to preserve the current residential climate of our town! This is what you can help. Attend the special planning meeting called for Wednesday, June 7, 1967. Let us join together to demand answers to all the following questions:

1- Why should the wishes of the homeowners who have purchased homes in what has been up till now specified as S-75 prime residential property be so wantonly ignored? Most of the residents in the areas to be changed have poured their selective efforts and savings into a residential neighborhood, specifically not to live in a commercial area.

2- Why should property that was bought prime residential now, arbitrarily be zoned as neighborhood commercial (a term quite unclear to those concerned)?

3- Did all of the members responsible for the new proposed township zoning ordinance personally look at all of the changes made, as well as do a check on all the physical details? Did any of the members consider the existing homeowners and their future happiness in Springfield?

4- What streets will the multiple residence garden apartments use as entrances and exits? Please come out in force to the June 7 meeting and aid us in obtaining answers. Become involved as homeowners! Why? Because from our past experience, you could be writing this letter in the future!

MR. AND MRS. BERT GOLDBERG, 432 Lelak Ave. MR. AND MRS. DON WEATHERSTON, 236 Lelak Ave.

MOUNTAIN AVENUE TRAFFIC

The following is a copy of a letter sent to the Township Committee.

Another accident has occurred on Mountain Avenue in the proximity of Richmond Drive. Luckily pedestrians were not involved even though one car was completely knocked out to the sidewalk where serious personal injuries could have occurred if someone was walking at that particular time.

In my past correspondence with the Township Committee and police chief, I have been rebuffed in every way possible. I have been given excuses that the speed on Mountain Avenue is unreasonably slow, that traffic lights create further hazards, that no physical or property damage of any substance has occurred and, subsequently, my complaints are unfounded.

It seems to me that you people are finding reasons not to protect the property owners in this area, whereas you have been elected to represent us, and to protect us where ever possible. I have made suggestions in the past, but again, they have gone astray.

I feel that the situation is such today that something must be done, and if I do not hear all for it, however, on the other hand, our complete neighborhood will make a formal protest regarding this entire situation.

No need to tell you that it is disgraceful. This is a residential area where the speed limit should not be in excess of 25 miles, and it is completely unnecessary where people have to tell us that the county wants to push this up to 40 miles per hour. This is one of the answers you gave us.

The Township Committee has seen fit to raise the salary because they need it. I am all for it. However, on the other hand, I want to make sure I am getting proper representation for the money if it is to be the case.

DAVID J. ROSS, 381 Mountain Ave.

PROFILE--Ben Colandrea

By BEA SMITH It isn't just playing baseball and winning that counts," says Ben Colandrea, a manager in Springfield's Youth Major League, "but it's what this form of recreation can contribute toward building a boy's character. It teaches him to develop himself and it teaches him discipline—which I stress a lot, incidentally.

"And," Colandrea adds, with a smile, "it teaches him to play baseball."

"I've always stressed the importance of being good to a boy's fellow man. For example," Colandrea says, "we have a 'buddy system'. Each player on the field has a duty to back up his buddy. This sort of thing sinks into a boy. It teaches him to work as a team. This is what we call organization."

Colandrea, a life-time resident of Springfield, was educated in St. Rose of Lima School in Short Hills and Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. He attended Union Junior College in Cranford in the evenings, while he went to work during the days.

"I'VE ALWAYS BEEN sports-minded. As far back as I can remember," he says. However, he didn't participate in sports activities in school because "I had to work," in those days.

During World War II, Colandrea spent three years in the U.S. Navy. He served as a radio operator in the South Pacific.

He is currently a supervisor for International Paint Co., Inc., Union.

Colandrea is married to the former Rose Hirato of Summit, who is employed part-time in Hills City Cleaners in Summit.

He says he first became interested in the Youth Baseball League eight years ago when his son, Bruce, was nine years old.

"That's when I started managing in the Little League in Springfield, and of course, I followed through with my younger son, Jesse (who is now 11). He is still a member of the Little League."

"Of course, I also enjoy teaching the youngsters the fundamentals of sports and sportsmanship. We have 15 boys on our team, from nine years old to 12. The team is sponsored by the Crestmont Savings and Loan Association of Springfield.

"I WORK WITH the boys seven to eight hours a week before the season opens," Colandrea explains. "We (the boys and myself) split our practice sessions, incidentally," he says, "I do all the coaching myself during the practice sessions. I don't have interference from anyone. It is only after the season officially opens that I pick my coaches to help me out."

"We split our sessions by practicing and learning with pepper ball. That's crocheting... keeping an eye on the ball."

"Then we have a batting session... and another session in fielding, stressing accuracy in throws."

"We also practice the strategy of the game --where the next play is going to be before the batter steps into the box."

Colandrea says that the team puts in about two-and-a-half to three weeks of practice. "It depends on when we get started," he says. "They eliminate the practices when the official season starts."

When it comes to selecting coaches, Colandrea says he asks the boys whom he selects "to make the team in the majors if they have any fathers who are available for coaching. Ordinarily five or six calls come in as a result," he says, "but they come in as a first-come, first-served basis."

"We now have two coaches and myself."

AS FAR AS his team is concerned, Colandrea has high praise for its members. "We have a good bunch of boys," he beams. "They really are very good. They learn well. Due to the bad spring we've been having, the boys have had so many make-up games. They have to adjust. For example, take pitching. A boy is only allowed to pitch six innings a week. And it becomes complicated when we have so many make-up games. If we can get away from that, I think we'll do very well."

weather permitting," he adds.

In his eight years, I've never managed a team that finished worse than fourth place. And when I see my boys play, and use three or four plays that we've practiced during a given game, I feel that we've accomplished something.

"What's important is not that we win or lose, but the way we play the game. This comes from discipline. I'm not easy with the boys; I'm tough. But they come out the better for it. I want to sit in the grandstands and watch them play in high school... which, incidentally, I'm doing now."

COLANDREA IS, and has been, active in the community. He is a member of the American Legion Post 228. "I'm sergeant of the color guard," he says. He is also a member of the Fire Chief's Association of New Jersey, and the International Fire Chiefs Association.

"I became a member through the company for which I worked three years ago," he says. He and his wife are members of St. James Church, Springfield, the PTA of James Caldwell School, the Booster Club and the PTA of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. "I used to be active in the Cub Scout Pack 172 of Springfield, and served as chairman."

Colandrea says that in addition to teaching fellowship and baseball to youngsters in Springfield, the Youth League serves as a factor toward bringing fathers and sons together. "It gives them a conversational piece during the dinner hour," he says.

"I've never had any trouble with parents. We all seem to get along very well. In fact, we will be in the Youth League next year," Jesse attends James Caldwell School. He is in the fifth grade. Next year he will go on to Gaudinville. He's also interested in music. He's been taking drum lessons for a year.

"And Bruce, who is a sophomore at Jonathan Dayton, is the lead guitar player with the 'Foxy Fingers,' a popular quartet here in Springfield. He also studies music."

U.S. Senator HARRISON A. WILLIAMS Reports

ISRAEL DESERVES OUR SUPPORT Israel deserves our continued strong support in its struggle to maintain its independence and territorial integrity in the face of overwhelming numerical odds.

Events are moving so swiftly in the Middle East crisis that portions of this report may be outdated by the time you read it.

But the underlying principles on which we have acted in the past -- and on which we should continue to act -- remain the same.

Since Israel was established in 1948, it has been the policy of this nation to support the Israeli people in their efforts to develop the country internally and to protect themselves against hostile and aggressive neighbors.

In helping Israel to protect itself against its neighbors, our primary effort has been to maintain a detente in the Middle East. We have been successful, despite some uneasy moments.

The nearest of all, was eleven years ago when Israel and the United Arab Republic fought a five-day war which was called off at our insistence, as the Israeli Army was halfway across the desert on the way to Cairo, leaving behind it a thoroughly beaten Arab army.

RECENTLY, WE HAVE worked through the United Nations to maintain an uneasy peace in the Middle East.

And I was disappointed in the extreme that U. Thant acted so quickly in withdrawing the United Nations Emergency Force which has been stationed along the Egyptian-Israeli border since 1956.

U. Thant's argument was that the Emergency Force was only there with the consent of the parties involved, and when President Nasser of the UAR requested the removal of the force, he had no choice, in law, but to comply.

U. Thant is certainly correct in saying that the General Assembly cannot impose an Emergency Force on any nation without its consent, but, once that consent is given, can it be unilaterally withdrawn?

It seems to me that there is certainly a legal question here, and I wish that U. Thant had not acted so precipitously -- especially, in view of the fact that the UAR's next move was to declare a blockade against all ships bound to or from Israel in the Gulf of Aqaba.

Here, it seems to me, that this nation and its allies, especially England and France, would be on a firm ground if they tested the blockade by sending an international convoy of ships through the Gulf.

And, lacking the cooperation of our allies, we would be on firm ground in sending an American ship to run the blockade.

The Gulf of Aqaba is recognized as international waters, and the position of our government concerning the internationality of these waters was documented by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in a memorandum, and reiterated on the floor of the General Assem. in 1957.

TO STOP A SHIP by force, pursuant to a declared blockade, in international waters, is an act of war.

Britain, France and the United States would only be honoring their commitment under the provision of the Tripartite Declaration of 1950 by forcing the blockade.

If we permit President Nasser to negotiate international law by imposing this blockade, Israel will be severely hurt -- but so will the rest of the world.

Egypt already has closed the Suez Canal to Israel. If the Gulf of Aqaba also is closed, all shipping from the east will have to circumnavigate Africa and sail the length of the Mediterranean Sea in order to dock at an Israeli port.

Israel is a tiny nation (approximately 8,000 square miles and 2,500,000 population) compared to its Arab neighbors. (The United Arab Republic alone has almost 400,000 square miles of territory and 29-million population).

But it has stood as an island of progress and democracy in a part of the world not noted for these qualities.

It deserves our firm support in this crisis.

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

THE TOPLESS DEBT CEILING For the second time this year, Congress is in the process of raising the "top" on the public debt ceiling.

This time the proposal is to raise the ceiling on permissible national debt to $365 billion, or $29 billion more than the current "temporary" debt limit. It was only last March that the temporary ceiling was jacked from $300 billion to $336 billion.

In his latest appearance before the House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee, the Secretary of Treasury said that the record rise is necessary to accommodate anticipated deficits. These are now estimated at $11 billion for the current fiscal year ending June 30, and at least that much or more -- perhaps $24 billion -- at the end of the 1968 fiscal year.

The sharp increase in deficit spending was officially attributed to Viet Nam War spending and uncertainties of the Federal Government's tax intake. However, Washington observers noted the absence of any calls for compensating reductions in domestic expenditures as indicative of a Federal spending policy calling for both "guns and butter" during war time.

Deficit spending, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, has been the prevailing trend of the recent history of Federal finance. This is indicated by the $80 billion spread between the "permanent" postwar debt ceiling of $285 billion and the proposal now to raise it to $365 billion.

High scores listed for Dayton entries in science contests

Results of the 17th State Science Day held on May 13 at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison, received by science coordinator Walter A. Hohn at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School indicate that the Dayton three-man teams that participated in the Secondary School Achievement examinations in the fields of biology, chemistry and physics all scored well above average.

Robert Gleitsmann was awarded a third-place medalion in the physics competition while the Dayton team, which also included Thomas Broynlie and Gary Simson, scored high enough to gain fifth place team ranking in a field of 160 schools. Steve Cepreghy is physics instructor at Jonathan Dayton. The Dayton physics team also was awarded a cash prize of $77.50 for its showing.

The chemistry team of Arthur Sellhoff, John Napier and Robert Cohen scored a ninth place rating in a field of 160 schools. Sellhoff and Napier were awarded medalions for their efforts. Napier is now eligible for the Chemistry Industry Council Scholarship. Instructors in chemistry at Dayton are Russell Scott and Walter A. Hohn. The chemistry team received a cash prize of $60.

Although the biology team of Jeffrey Stone, Judy Scalera and Janice Hargrove did not win a medalion, it fared 79th in a field of 160. Marjane Parrish is the biology teacher at Dayton.

Hohn announced that the awards and prizes will be given to the team members at a special dinner. The date will be announced as soon as Merck and Company, which sponsored the competition, sends the awards to the school.

Cool it when bank robber calls

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—You're a customer in a bank and it's being held up. What should you do?

Cool it. That's the best thing. Acting rashly reduces your effectiveness as a witness.

It can even help the criminal.

An estimated 2,000 Americans will witness bank hold-ups this year. If you happen to be one of them, here's the word from Aetna Life & Casualty:

Don't take chances. Obey the bandit but do it slowly. He's trying to beat the clock as well as the bank and time works against him.

Get Description Make a mental note of the bandit's description. How much taller or shorter is he than you? Better than that, line him up with a fixed object such as the teller's window.

Be on the lookout for outstanding physical characteristics. Does he have a scar? Any tattoos? What color hair, eyes? What's he wearing? How does he walk? Is it the shambling gait-of the countryman or a deliberate stride?

Suppose there are two bandits. Just concentrate on describing one. That's easier. In the excitement, you might get the two confused.

To Publicity Chairmen:

Would you like some help in preparing newspaper releases? Write to this newspaper and ask for our "Tips on Submitting News Releases."

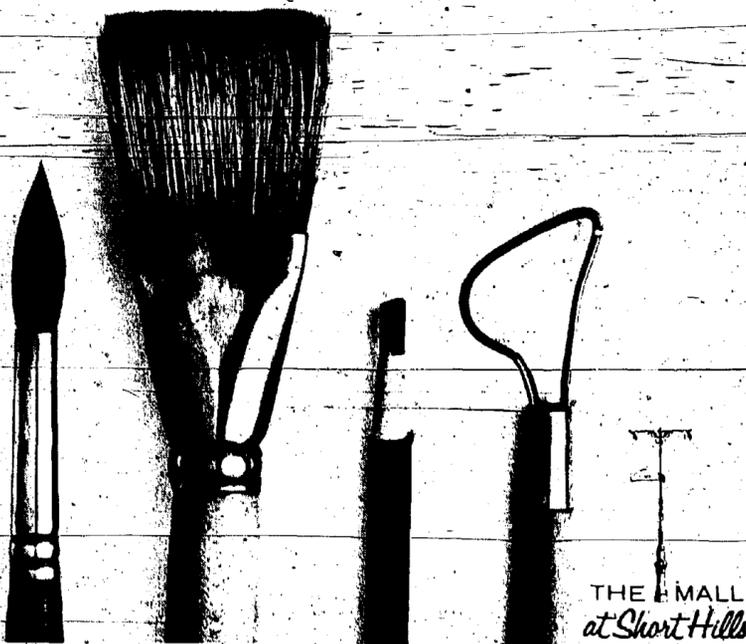

If you see the bandit touch anything, remember it. Tell the bank officials about it later so that possible fingerprints are not disturbed until they are checked.

If it's possible, try to memorize the license number and description of his car. Check the direction of the car.

As soon as the bandit flees, don't discuss the incident until police arrive. If you do, it could confuse you.

When you do talk to investigators, tell them each and every detail you can recall. What may seem unimportant to you may be a significant clue for them.

Bill sets penalties for cross-burning

Legislation making the burning, desecration or destruction of a cross or other religious symbol a misdemeanor, passed by the state Senate in 1965, has been signed into law by Governor Richard Hughes. Present at the ceremony were Senator John A. Waddington (Cumberland, Salem), who introduced the bill, and Senator Hutchings P. Inge (Essex), who co-sponsored it.

"This law is designed to bring to a halt the dangerous and tragic incidents of religious desecration which have been perpetrated recently. This act gives enforcement officials another tool in combating these heinous acts. By establishing this crime as a misdemeanor, those found guilty will now face three years in prison and/or one thousand dollars in fine."

Study trip

(Continued from page 1) opitized a bluejay, catbird, cardinal, and thrush. They learned that the catbirds are frantic for food now because 70 percent of their diet consists of bugs. The cool weather has delayed the regular appearance of insects, and the catbirds are not able to find enough to eat.

IN THE AFTERNOON, one of the groups was treated to a creative writing experience under the direction of Mrs. Merle F. Teschner. After observing many living things, the children picked a comestible spot and settled down to write a poem. Later they took another walk and were treated to some nature legends told by Mrs. Teschner.

When they found a shady grove of hemlocks, the children sat down in small groups to create their own nature stories. Among the interesting "legends" written by the fifth graders was this one by Kim Harvey, John Gartling, Alan Krikzens, and Wayne Rutz to explain how the bluejay got its name:

Mid-East crisis

This position must be maintained even if not officially supported by the United Nations. It is incumbent upon all of us to send telegrams, to write, phone and use all the means at our disposal to urge the President, our senators and representatives to support a clear unequivocal policy protecting the Middle Eastern nations from border violation and from imminent hostilities that could well lead to a world-wide conflagration based on East-West animosities.

The issue is a clear one for all Americans. It is not a matter of opinion as to our government's position in this matter. The commitment has been made and must be honored, because it not only involves the countries and borders in question, but affects the ultimate security of the entire world.

THE TINIEST WOUND— a pin scratch, a bee sting or a small cut — can be the channel through which you could get tetanus, reports the American Medical Association. Tetanus producing spores lie dormant in the soil of your garden, the dirt of your garage and the dust inside your house. They may remain in your body for long periods without producing the disease, or they might produce poison effects in 5 to 14 days. First signs of tetanus are irritability and restlessness. Muscles rapidly become rigid, eventually causing a clenched-jaw leer that give tetanus its nickname — lockjaw.

Tips given on sewing machines

Buying a sewing machine requires several decisions before you part with your money or sign your name on a contract, says Carolyn F. Yukus, Senior County Home Economist.

Your first decision to make is what type of sewing machine you need. Three types can serve the needs of different women. There is the simple, straight-stitching model; there is one that also does zig-zag stitching; and the fully automatic machine that does everything from simple sewing to intricate, decorative work.

A good straight-stitching machine will do much of the sewing many homemakers require. With it you can make clothes, slipcovers, alterations and all usual sewing projects. Attachments for decorative stitching can be bought for this type of machine.

A zig-zag machine not only does straight stitching but does zig-zag stitching in a number of sizes. With this feature you can overcast seams and apply all other other trimmings more easily.

Automatic machines do all the normal types of stitching as well as decorative stitching. With some brands you turn a dial to the desired stitch, while with others cams are inserted to achieve the desired stitch.

Once you decide on the type of sewing machine, next consider whether you want a cabinet or portable type. The cabinet type has the advantage of being always ready for use, while a portable must be set up. The cabinet type can also serve as a piece of furniture, but the portable can save space.

When you have decided what type of machine you want and whether it will be a cabinet or portable one, then see demonstrations on as many brands of this type of machine as you can.

Try the machine yourself to judge the ease of threading, inserting the bobbin and turning the flywheel, as well as the quality of stitching.

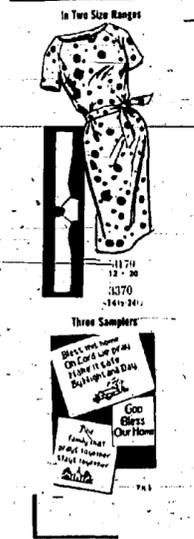

Also note the sound and vibration of the machine. Experiment with both straight and decorative stitching if you are considering an automatic model. Particularly on the automatic, note if the forward stitching is straight.

But, only from a reliable dealer and be sure you know exactly what you are getting for the price. Are lessons included? What is the length of guarantee and what does this include? Where can the machine be serviced and where can you get needles and small parts?

These questions should be answered in writing and signed by an authorized dealer.

Do not sign any contract until you have read all of it carefully and understand every part of it.

First babies tend to arrive at noon

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's just a myth that first babies tend to arrive in early morning hours, a six-month study of 3,870 births shows.

Among 1,326 first babies in the study, 74 percent arrived between noon and 1 p.m., and the fewest — 25 percent — between 2 and 3 a.m. Mothers who already had one child were likely to have their next infants between 9 and 11 a.m., the study showed.

Dr. Beverly M. Zusman, University of Tennessee, in a report in the St. Thomas Medical Journal.

Aches, pains due to food allergies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some of those aches and pains in joints, those attributed to rheumatoid arthritis, may be due to food allergy in hypersensitive persons.

Food suspected of causing arthritic symptoms easily are tested by consuming one of them at a time, to see if the symptoms accompany it, or disappear when that food is eliminated from the diet.

Dr. Beverly M. Zusman, University of Tennessee, in a report in the St. Thomas Medical Journal.

Food stamp going on sale

Many months of careful planning preceded today's opening of the Federal Food Stamp Program in Atlantic and Union Counties, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service this week. Under the program, low-income families purchase food stamps with money they would normally use to buy food each month. The coupons are worth more than a person pays for them and can be used to purchase domestically produced foods and some imported items at any authorized food store. Grocers redeem the coupons at local banks. In established food stamp areas, retail food sales have increased eight percent as a result of the program, according to a USDA study. Areas wishing to receive the Food Stamp Program first make their intentions known to their state welfare agency, which in turn submits a list of interested areas to USDA. Then based on available funds, the Consumer and Marketing Service designates areas which can be served within a fiscal year. These two counties were designated on Jan. 23, 1967 along with 144 other areas in 24 states. From the date until the day the program formally opens, the state welfare department works closely with USDA officials in developing a plan of operation. Once the eligibility requirements are approved, the county welfare agency begins to certify low income families as food stamp coupon recipients. USDA representatives conduct briefings for retail and wholesale food merchants interested in obtaining USDA food stamp areas, retail food sales have increased eight percent as a result of the program, according to a USDA study. MRS. BERTRAM FOX

Dairy foods reach peak this month

June is Dairy Month! It is the time of the year when milk production across the nation reaches its seasonal peak, reports Anne L. Sheelen, County Home economist. Milk is said to be our most perfect food. It is a rich source of high quality protein, calcium, and phosphorus, as well as important vitamins. Dairy products such as cheese, ice cream, canned and dry milk, also include many of these same nutrients. Federal and state laws help to regulate the safety and quality of our milk supply. The laws fix standards for the bacterial count of the grades of milk available and the requirements for inspection of dairy herds, processing plants, and milk products. Composition of the product, such as the amount of fat solids, and the size of containers in which fresh milk may be sold, are also regulated. The handling and care of milk is the most important factor in retaining its quality. Milk should never stand out, either where it becomes warm or where it freezes. It should never be exposed to sunlight or other strong light as this harms the flavor and the vitamin riboflavin. Keeping milk tightly covered and in the refrigerator is the best protection. Milk that is mishandled will sour faster than milk which has been properly cared for even if it has been more recently processed. Understanding labels on flavored milk products is important. Chocolate milk is whole milk to which sugar and chocolate have been added. Chocolate-flavored milk is whole milk to which sugar and cocoa have been added. Chocolate drink is made from skim milk or milk which contains less fat than whole milk, using the same flavoring ingredients as in chocolate milk. If cocoa is used instead of chocolate, it is designated as chocolate-flavored drink. Other flavorings as strawberry, coffee, and maple may also be used. As with the chocolate, when the term flavored milk is used, it was made from whole milk; if flavored drink is used, it was made from skim milk. The only nutritional difference between whole and skim milk is that the skim milk contains fewer calories and no Vitamin A.

Following the installation, Mrs. Mel Stein will present a musical group called "The Singing Strings" from Union High School. The group is composed of string musicians who sing classical and pop music. Refreshments will be served. The meeting is open to members and guests.

Donor dinner set by temple ladies

The Sisterhood of Temple Shalom, Springfield, will hold its annual donor dinner Sunday evening at the temple. A cocktail hour will begin at 7 p.m., followed by a dinner. There will be souvenirs and door prizes for members of the sisterhood. Ronald Brown will entertain the group. Mrs. Leonard Waldt is president of the Sisterhood.

Review policies from time to time

NEW YORK (UPI)—Read any good insurance policies lately? It's not like curling up with a good book. But keeping your life insurance up to date is one way of avoiding financial difficulty later on, family advisors say. According to the Institute of Life Insurance, a family's life insurance program should be reviewed periodically, especially when there is a major change in family circumstances—say, birth of a child, acquisition of a home, approach of retirement, or a new job. Any package in which moths or larvae are found should be thrown away. Keeping dried foods or fruit in glass or metal containers, tightly sealed, is a simple and sensible precaution.

Moth precaution: keep packs sealed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Moths commonly enter the home as larvae within opened or damaged packages, the National Pest Control Association reports. Any package in which moths or larvae are found should be thrown away. Keeping dried foods or fruit in glass or metal containers, tightly sealed, is a simple and sensible precaution.

Udall: Nation is winning in battle of conservation

SPECIALLY WRITTEN FOR THIS SECTION
BY STEWART L. UDALL
U. S. SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR

In my six years as Secretary of the Interior, I have come more and more to the inescapable conclusion that the strength and safety of this nation are as much dependent upon our people's physical development and health as upon our armory of weapons.

This being true, what is America today? In our free society, how have we fared in developing and preserving in our race that element of physical stamina and vigor so essential to our freedom?

A national survey a few years ago found that, at best, one-fourth of our 40 million school children could not pass even a simple screening test of physical performance - a test requiring the barest minimum acceptance levels of strength, flexibility, and agility.

Clearly, this should be a cause for concern in all of us. Such concern is only magnified when we look beyond school age to the increasingly high rate of young men rejected by the Army for physical reasons - three of every seven called!

With these figures in mind, it becomes increasingly clear that we can't argue too much with the claim that America has become too soft. We need to stress physical fitness to school children and adults alike. Providing more recreation areas and facilities is one of the answers to the problem. But providing such areas has proven difficult. We have missed many an opportunity. Much of the land we need most already is built over or has soared fantastically in price. But now, for the first time, we are winning the battle of conservation to help Americans keep physically fit.

In 1966, the states, cities, and counties of the Northeast acquired nearly 350,000 acres of public recreation land. The Pacific southwest acquired another 140,000 acres. Those two areas - our most densely populated sectors - acquired over half the 925,000 acres in local and state public recreation areas set aside last year.

The federal government acquired some 785,000 acres of public land and water areas last year - more than half east of the Mississippi River. Again, the bulk of the new public recreation areas are where most of our people live. Local and state governments acquired more recreation land than the federal government. This was as it should be.

We are a people in need of relief from the day-to-day tensions compounded of the varied stresses which derive from metropolitan congestion. We are demanding, and getting, some relief. Concurrent with the big move to America's cities has been the big surge to the outdoors. Our latest figures show a continued rise in the number of visitors to national recreation areas in our forests, parks, wildlife refuges, seashores, and reservoirs areas.

We cannot rest, however, until our national heritage is secure. In the words of President Johnson, "Clearly, the time for action is at hand. The problems are made by man and can be solved by enlightened man. We will not yield to carelessness or greed in our determination to preserve, unspoiled and unullied for future generations of Americans, this natural inheritance which we received as our national birthright."

How, when, where -- 3 most important fishing guideposts

How, when and where are the three most important guideposts for a fisherman and the guideposts vary from species to species, from place to place and season to season, but there are some generally accepted probabilities:

Best fishing is early and late - early and late in the day as well as early and late in the season. Warmer, shallow waters yield best results early in the season and early in the day. Deep, cold waters produce best results around midday and midseason. Later in the season, it is well to fish in the deepening waters off points.

Some tips on catching your favorite fish: Northern pike strike on spoons, minnow and exciter plugs. Frogs and live minnows. Cast in shallows around weed beds, near stream mouths and up to weedy shore lines. Troll underwater along edges of weeds.

Muskellunge like big sucker minnows or frogs and often bite on large plugs and other artificial lures. Grassy bays, lily pads and the edges of weed beds are most apt to hide the Muskies.

Brook Trout live in spring fed streams and in northern lakes. Flies and small spinners are the favored lures for these delicious fish, but they will bite, also, on worms, insects and small minnows. It is best to cast into deep pools and into the tail of fast stream currents for Brook Trout.

Walleyed pike like to travel in schools and are most often found in lakes with sandy or rocky bottoms. Minnow-acton plugs used for casting or trolling will attract walleyes best. Minnows work well when bottom fishing for walleye. Reefs, sand bars and the edges of weed patches are good places to find walleyes, and at night they can often be found in shallower waters.

Crappie - small spinners, wet flies, small minnows and insects are the best bait for this popular fish. Another school fish, Crappies like quiet waters - and the outer edges of weed beds, at drop-offs, over sand bars and around docks and pilings.

The sunfish family, which includes the largemouth and smallmouth bass, offers a variety of challenges to the fisherman. Largemouth bass bite on frogs, night crawler worms and minnows, as well as popping lures and hatched lures.

DAD'S KING when cooking goes outdoors, witness him at work with a dual burner gas grill while a guest beats the late afternoon chill with help from an infra-red patio heater.

WOMEN'S SWIMSUITS are more exciting than ever this year - a good reason for girl-watching being a most popular outdoor sport. This suit, a hip-hugger by Jantzen.

Millions find outdoors offering something for everyone

By JOHN FREDERICKS
Today most Americans stepped outdoors. No one will argue that. After all, going to work, walking to the store, running next door to borrow a cup of flour all involve outdoor activity.

Stepping into the great outdoors, however, is an animal of another hue. Call it semantics if you like, but the "great" outdoors is that area of enjoyment which takes you out of the routine, regimented and even too-convenient way of life. This is the outdoor manifest in woods, water and fresh air.

Millions of Americans are becoming closer to the great outdoors. Atribute part of the interest to economics. This affluent society has more disposable income to devote to off-time activities.

Attribute a lion's share of the popularity of the great outdoors to the fellows who have designed products geared to recreation and to the far sighted government officials and interested laymen who work hard to maintain large and small hunks of land and water for public use.

OUTDOOR ACTIVITIES run all the way from a back yard barbecue to skin diving in the Bahamas, and most of the basic activities are interlocking. Although boating in itself is a fulfilling recreation, many boaters use their craft to get to ideal picnic-camping areas. Likewise, many campers purchase their equipment to give them a temporary home near the water's edge to increase their boating fun.

Flying airplanes or driving four wheel drive "go anywhere" vehicles—both growing recreations—enable outdoor devotees to cover huge distances quickly or get to remote locations easily for fishing, camping, boating and carefree relaxation.

Camping equipment manufacturers have discovered the formula for producing merchandise that offers a "back to earth" feeling while maintaining enough conveniences and portability to appeal to the ladies as well as to the less than rugged outdoorsmen.

Boating equipment is dependable and easy to maintain. Spin casting has taken the embarrassing and annoying backlash out of fishing. Plastic containers, insulated chests and jugs, and fool-proof portable gas stoves take the cook from the kitchen without taking the kitchen from the cook.

SO YOU WANT to fly. A five dollar bill will put you in the driver's seat to get acquainted. Land vehicles for outdoor recreation, from truck-camper units and roomy superstation wagons to small four-wheel drive bugs, combine all the toughness you expect with comfort and economy you might not expect.

The giant clothing industry has become outdoor conscious, too, sending to market apparel for all activities which is durable and fashionable. Features like nylon zippers to combat corrosion and permanent water proofing keep the woods and water buffs smiling.

Find a campground and chances are the service industries will have ice machines, laundromats and soft-drink dispensers in the area. Need a new spark plug for the outboard or a guide to local attractions, you'll find why the term "outing station" is antique and "service station" is the name.

Not all recreational land is government owned. In addition to the state and national forests, parks and campgrounds, many companies and individuals turn over their private lands for public use; some free, others for nominal charge. Many timber and paper companies, for example, even publish maps for people who wish to camp, hike or picnic on their premises.

Outdoor recreation," one manufacturer of equipment asserts. "It is now a stampede." "People are becoming more sophisticated about equipment, too," he adds. "Most families who start in an outdoor activity with budget or minimum equipment soon move up to higher quality gear with better accessories and conveniences."

"Employment of the great outdoors has become as American as you-know-what kind of pie."

Camping out, modern style, has all the comforts of home

By MURRAY BROWN
UPI Travel Editor
CAREFREE, Arizona (UPI)

It's not so long ago that camping out was for the adventurer, hunter, angler and other rugged outdoor types who didn't mind roughing it. But times and things have changed. Today they can go in style and luxury and bring along the wife, kids and family pet too.

We got a look at what the press releases described as "modern wheeled recreation vehicles" at a showing of live-in campers, trailers and related outdoor equipment recently at this desert community near Phoenix.

On display were small trailer rigs which converted into living and sleeping quarters for up to six persons, coach campers, chassis-mounted and slide-in campers, house trailers and mobile homes up to 30 feet long. Virtually all the comforts of home are provided in the campers, coaches and trailers—double beds, sleeping couches, fully equipped kitchens, dinettes and bathrooms with toilet and shower. One sleek mobile home had three separate rooms—living—dining, bedroom and kitchen, plus a toilet with bath and shower and a furnished "terrace" in the rear.

Feature of the exhibit was a brand-new slide-in camper. A spokesman described the camper as a "major breakthrough in camper material, design and manufacturing techniques." It is constructed of a new plastic he said is lighter (up to 40 per cent) and yet stronger than conventional wood and aluminum, can be molded into more sculptured lines and can be mass produced.

The new camper has an over-the-cab bunk which can easily sleep two adults, sink, stove, refrigerator, couches that convert into bunks, cabinets, closets and storage space. The deluxe model comes equipped with a toilet-shower. Despite a lower and more stream-lined silhouette than previous models, which cuts down on wind resistance, there is ample headroom even for a six-footer. It has bigger windows, is wider and has 30 per cent more storage space than most units of comparable size, spokesman said.

Other features include permanent color and easy maintenance. Colors are molded right into the inner and outer wall surfaces and offer high resistance to maring and scratching. The outside shell can be washed down with a hose, while cleaning the inside is a matter of wash-and-wax, too.

We tested drove one of the new campers over paved highways and dirt roads around Carefree—it was the first time we operated one of those "wheeled recreation vehicles" but it was as easy to handle as our passenger car. The only adjustment necessary was to check the rear-view mirrors mounted outside rather than the one in the interior of the cab. It was surprisingly smooth riding.

Increasing population, higher incomes, more leisure time, modern highway systems and improved facilities at national and state parks and private enterprises are credited with stimulating the tremendous boom in the outdoor recreation industry in the post-war years.

A recent report showed that in 1965 there were 44 million camping enthusiasts, 40 million pleasure boaters, 58 million fishermen and 20 million hunters who spent a total of $25 billion. And predictions are there will be almost twice as many in the next 10 years.

In 1960, there were 51,000 camping units on the nation's roads. In 1966, there were about 360,000. Industry forecasts are 500,000 by 1970.

WITH NEW DEVELOPMENTS in outdoors equipment, backyard patio parties offering everything from hot dogs to the kiddies to steaks, as only dad can make 'em, are as simple as the twist of a dial.

Calls water skiing easy-to-learn sport

"The only thing difficult about water skiing," one fan points out, "is giving someone else a turn. You just hate to quit!"

Water skiing's popularity can be attributed to the relative simplicity of mastering the sport along with the overall interest in boating.

Chuck Sterns, ski expert on the honorary Johnson Sea-Horse Sports Advisory Board who operates a water ski training school at Desert Shores, Calif., says, "It's rare when one of my beginner students doesn't successfully get up on the skis on the first attempt. Learning to ski is easy, and it is the extension of skiing skills into single ski (slalom) jumping and tricks that becomes the challenge."

Students at Sterns' school begin with dry-land instruction. They are told to "keep the head back erect, the arms straight and let the outboard do the work of bringing you up on top of the water."

During this phase of instruction, the student, feet in the ski binders, is being given the "feel" of the boat by Sterns who tugs on the tow rope as he talks, to simulate boat pull.

Next it's to the water, and Sterns skis alongside his students on their maiden voyages to remind them of the what-to-do's and to offer a helping, lifting hand.

Most of Sterns' students, however, are not beginners but accomplished skiers who come to learn the fine points of competition-type skiing from the master.

HERE'S A GAS GRILL that's been designed to go places. It has special rubber tires and balancing that make it easy to roll right down to the beach. It operates on bottled gas.

AIR-BUOY DIVING is the newest underwater sport. The unit is a floating air station which pumps freshly-compressed air to two divers via 25-foot hoses. The Air-Buoy engine runs over 40 minutes on each tank of gas and oil (10-15 cents worth) and eliminates clumsy back tanks for divers and the search for compressed air tank refill stations.

In the past, the lowest priced fully electric typewriter cost $250. And even then it didn't have such Ultronic features as Magic Margin, Magic Meter scale, electric ribbon feed, vertical half spacing, and a detachable cord. The Ultronic is a great typewriter at any price. At $199.50, it's in a class by itself.

Ask Amy BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
 I am 30, married and I have two wonderful boys. Everything should be great but it isn't and it's my fault.
 I'm bored with my wife! Call it indifference or whatever you like, I just don't care anymore. I have thought of leaving or asking for a divorce but I'm crazy about my boys. Each day that goes by, I'm putting her through more pain than any woman should have to take from a man, and yet, I can't help the way I feel.
 Could you possibly offer me any help?
 Mr. P.R.

Dear Mr. P.R.:
 I feel there is something you have neglected to tell me. In your letter about yourself or your wife.
 What did you expect to get out of marriage? Being married and raising a family doesn't offer excitement every day of the week, but for a mature adult it holds many pleasures and personal satisfactions.
 Your sense of responsibility for your children indicates that you are not ready to throw in the towel.
 Before you do something you might be sorry for later, talk it over with your clergyman or a marriage counselor.

Dear Amy:
 Like they say "Even your best friend won't tell you." I've been to a private doctor without satisfaction. Where could I obtain a thorough checkup on bad (Haltosis) breath? This would relieve my mind immensely if I have this problem, hoping you could supply me with a name of a doctor who specializes in this field.
 A Man In Need Of Help

Dear Help:
 I'm inclined to think that if you are suffering from bad breath that surely the doctor whom you consulted would have detected the problem if it exists.
 Frankly, I should think that if his answers to you were negative, you should be relieved. If you are not, consult another doctor. As far as I know, there is no doctor who specializes in this field. Any good medical doctor could tell you whether you do or you don't. If the two doctors concur, then your mind should be relieved and forget it.

Dear Amy:
 I'm in need of the following information. My husband and I have decided on a divorce. When it becomes final, how should I sign my name? I will no longer have the right to sign "Mrs.". I would like to retain the name because I have two children. Please advise.
 No Longer a Mrs.

Dear Mrs.:
 A divorcee always retains the "Mrs." when there are children involved. Instead of using her former husband's full name, however, she uses her given name and his surname.

Dear Amy:
 Recently my son's-in-law grandmother died, and she lived in another city. We had only seen her 2 or 3 times and didn't know her very well.
 However, three families of our wives in a bouquet of flowers to the funeral and sent a sympathy card to the bereaved. Not knowing how to address the card, I sent it to her son, Mr. John Brown and Family instead of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown.
 If I was in error on the name, weren't they, too, in error in not acknowledging our floral offering?
 Mrs. B. V.

Dear Mrs. B. V.:
 You were not in error. It was proper to address the card this way.
 I don't know how long you have been waiting for an acknowledgement, but perhaps it will still arrive. It takes some people longer than others to get around to saying "Thanks". If they don't get around to it, THEY are very much in error!

In addition to serving as vice president for many years, he has held posts on the company's policy committees, including the building, membership and meat committees. Currently he is chairman of the produce committee. He is also the honorary board chairman of the Supermarkets General Corporation.

Wakefern is the nation's largest food co-operative and the parent organization of 200 Shop-Rite supermarkets in seven states.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY
 By Mabel G. Stolte, County Home Economist

THE CHANGING FAMILY ROLE

Every period in history was once "modern." Every family was once a "modern" family. We must keep up with these changes.

Today, more and more functions, previously performed by your family, are delegated to community agencies.

Manufacturers now weave fabrics and make clothing, both tasks originally done in your ancestor's home.

Schools and churches function as the educational centers of the past, a family might better participate as a unit in these outside agencies and keep pace with our changing culture.

It is of the utmost importance that as forward-looking parents, you show a vital interest in your children's progress in school, in their religious training, and in their community life. This approach will be most valuable in your children's development.

"Modern" family unity and strength, which has always been based upon full family partnership in each other's activities and interests, can, thus, be continued to be up-dated to meet your family's needs.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

HOMEMADE STICKY BUNS THE EASY WAY

Homemade sticky buns are a favorite for Sunday morning breakfast or a neighborhood Kaffe Klatsch.

Time in preparing these buns, however, discourages many homemakers from undertaking such a project. Using convenience foods easily available on the market eliminates much of the preparation required in an old-fashioned recipe.

Refrigerated biscuits, available in the Refrigerated Food Department in the market, form the basis for the buns. Malted butterscotch morsels, chopped nuts, and cinnamon add the unique flavor.

Best when eaten warm, these sticky buns require no forks and should be eaten as a finger food. The sticky fingers that result, in fact, are part of their enjoyment.

BUTTERSCOTCH STICKY BUNS

1/2 cup chopped nuts
 2 pkgs. (10 ounces each) refrigerated biscuits
 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1 6-oz. pkg. butterscotch-flavored morsels (1 cup)
 1/3 cup evaporated milk. Sprinkle nuts in greased nine-inch cake pan. Separate biscuits; dip on both sides in melted butter and then in mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Place, overlapping, over nuts in pan. Bake in 400 degree F. Oven 30-35 minutes. Combine butterscotch-flavored morsels and evaporated milk in small saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until smooth and melted. Pour over hot biscuit-buns. Let stand five minutes. Turn out of pan on to plate and serve warm. YIELD: 20 buns.

The work of contemporary printmakers from all over the United States will be shown in the Eleventh National Print Exhibition opening at the Montclair Art Museum Sunday.

The exhibition is sponsored annually by the Hunterdon County Art Center of Clinton. From some 400 entries submitted, 127 prints were chosen by the three-man jury of selection and award. Four purchase prizes were presented, one going to New Jersey artist Edward Colker for his lithograph, "Four Poses, Paris '66." The others went to artists from Nebraska, Colorado and California.

The exhibition may be seen through June 25. On view at the museum through June 18 is the exhibition by the Associated Artists of New Jersey.

Federally-owned lands offer outdoor recreation activities

Fishing, riding, hunting, walking, boating, driving, skiing, anyone? Opportunities for these and many other outdoor recreation activities are available throughout the nation.

The National Park Service administers more than 230 areas of outstanding natural, historical and recreation significance on more than 26-million acres. These include 33 National Parks, Seashores and Lakeshores, 143 historical parks and 12 designated Federal Recreation Areas.

Camping, boating, nature study and other facilities are available in many of these areas.

The National Forest Service maintains 154 forests covering 181-million acres that include walking trails, overlooks, camping and picnicking areas, and Visitor Information Centers.

There are 312 National Wildlife Refuges in the country, covering some 28-1/2 million acres. About 170 of these are open to the public for fishing, hunting and other outdoor recreation.

Fishing and other water recreation are available on 235 of the 350 U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Federal Reservoirs, and some 25 major TVA lakes in seven Southern states. In the West, millions each year enjoy sight-seeing, swimming, boating, fishing, water-skiing, hunting and camping at more than 213 Bureau of Reclamation project areas which cover some 3.5 million acres of land and some 1.7 million acres of water surface in 17 Western states, Alaska, and Hawaii.

Some 4,450 sites on the Bureau of Land Management's 457-million acres, mostly in 11 Western states and Alaska, also are open to the public for outdoor recreation.

Many of these outdoor recreation opportunities are available to the public free of charge. In some instances Federal Recreation Area Entrance and/or user fees are charged.

For further information, write to the Washington office of the agency which manages the land in areas that interest you.

In addition to federal public recreation lands, many outstanding outdoor recreation opportunities are available through state visitor and tourist bureaus. Write them c/o the state capitol.

Private airplane ideal for vacation

Heading for the Great Outdoors in a private airplane? Take your hunting, fishing, camping, or sporting equipment right along with you.

Today's four-place or larger aircraft have plenty of room for people, luggage, and the accessories necessary for a weekend trip or longer vacation. Golf clubs, skis, firearms, camp stoves, tents — all may be loaded aboard your flying headquarters.

If you're a photographer, by all means take your cameras along. You'll find an endless variety of ground and sky scenes you may shoot from a perspective which many people never see.

Don't forget the children when planning your Great Outdoors flying trips. Kids love to fly and take a special delight in helping out with navigation and flight procedures.

Becoming a pilot and having access to an airplane will open the door to countless opportunities for family enjoyment.

Diner to celebrate 5th anniversary

The fifth anniversary celebration of the Satellite Diner on Rt. 22, Mountaintop, will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. Harry Legos and John Taskonas, owners, have invited all customers and friends to attend the event.

To celebrate the occasion, a free color television set and three AM-FM radios will be given away. There will be balloons for all the children and free gifts for all.

A special menu is prepared for the evening.

Fish are biting

Despite the ancient fisherman's alibi that "the fish are biting on the other side of the lake," it is possible to catch fish on almost every excursion. Of course, if fishermen caught fish with every cast, the great sport would lose much of its intrigue and challenge.

Boat buying tips issued

Skipper, mate and crew — dad, mom and the kids — should do more than simply attach motor to boat to make certain their time spent afloat this summer will be enjoyable and without serious mishap.

The New Jersey State Safety Council makes the following suggestions:

When buying a boat, consider how you will use it — for water-skiing, fishing, and so on. Select a craft and motor that is appropriate for your purpose and for the waters in which you will be boating.

Buy a hull and a motor that are properly matched, so that the boat is neither overpowered nor underpowered.

Equip your craft following U.S. Coast Guard regulations and New Jersey boating laws. Treat these requirements as minimal, rather than trying to just squeak by.

Ask the Coast Guard Auxiliary for a courtesy motor-boat examination. This inspection is advisory only and the only report made is to you. They will advise you on equipment.

Learn to handle your craft by practicing near the shore in quiet shallow water.

Know the rules on right of way, channel markings, anchorage and use of lights.

Gaslight returns

More than 1.6 million gaslights are now in use as patio and walkway lights throughout the country, reports the American Gas Association, in what has been called "a return to elegance."

Today's gaslights come in a variety of shapes and sizes to complement architecture and decor.

Studios emphasize exercise for women of all age groups

Pre-teens and grandmothers, and women of all ages in between, have been getting together on a figure-improvement program that emphasizes exercise instead of diet.

The program is offered by Figure Tone Studios Inc., which operates 12 clubs in the New York-New Jersey-Pennsylvania area, including Figure Tone Studios at the Essex Green shopping plaza in West Orange and Figure Tone Spa at 1106 Liberty ave., Hillside.

Mrs. Rosalita Sarge, manager of the Hillside Spa, and Miss Gloria Graman, West Orange manager, reported that girls and women ranging in age from 11 to 87 have taken part in the program, which includes work-outs on such machines as a gyro-tex and an electric cycle as well as other exercises.

Dr. Robert H. Sarge, an osteopath who is president and general manager of the Figure Tone Studios, noted that 58 percent of the population of the United States is overweight.

"There's just not enough proper exercise, proper eating habits or proper mental attitude today," he said.

He said his studios "work with President's Council on Physical Fitness" in developing exercises for the women enrolled. These start with light exercises and work up to use of "beauty bars" and "beauty bells" ranging in weight from one to 15 pounds,

Pleasure boating sales close to $3 billion mark

Maybe it was a cave man climbing upon a log in a stream to search for a new dwelling; maybe an Indian beckoning his son to join him in his canoe to cross the lake and hunt; maybe a Portuguese explorer calling his crew together for a "round-the-world" jaunt...but somewhere, sometime, someone had to be the first to say those words:

"Let's go boating."

The age of boating is as old as mankind, but the pendulum of time has changed basic boating from a means of transportation to an instrument of recreation. Today, "Let's go boating" means let's get together on the water for fun, for exercise, for relaxation.

Pleasure boating, in 1967, is big recreation and big business.

Pleasure boating comes in many forms: canoes, sailboats, fishing skiffs, houseboats and yachts, but the design which can be credited with producing the post-war boating boom, with making outdoor-conscious Americans boat oriented is the outboard runabout. Specifically, Mr. Average American Boat Owner has an outboard boat 15.4 feet long powered by a 29.9 horsepower outboard... and chances are it's perched on an easy-to-tow trailer when it's not in use.

Length and outboard power are the averages compiled by the Outboard Boating Club of America. The OBC also reports that more than 40 million Americans participated in recreational boating during the past year. This army (or navy) of "water rats" spent almost $3 billion at the retail level for major equipment, accessories and other items necessary to enjoy boating in a single year.

More than 8 million recreational boats now dot America's waterways, almost 7 million of which are propelled by outboard motors. Three and one-half million trailers are in use, and there are 5,500 marinas and yacht clubs offering facilities for this legion of boating fans.

A BOAT RIDE takes a family to an isolated island for camping; a father and son to the "hot spot" for an afternoon of angling; a group of teen-agers to the reef for

It's quite true that pleasure boating in its infancy, was a rich man's sport. "Yachting" was the name of the game before mass production coupled with engineering breakthrough brought boating within reach of just about anyone who is employed. Along with more boat and motor for less cost came knowledgeable marine dealers offering top-notch service and convenient financing.

Modern boats are practically maintenance-free. They are safe, roomy and rugged.

A FEMININE LOOK ...At AFRICA 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Eighth In A Series SUCCESS STORY
IVORY COAST-STYLE
"Since 1960 the budget has been balanced in this country and income has been in excess of expenditure."

When is the last time you heard such a statement? Our NNA Study Mission group heard it a few months ago in the Ivory Coast Republic, and the man who was speaking was the M. Konon Bedie, the Minister of Finance of that African country, and one of the men in our group asked if there was a chance of his coming to the U.S.

Then we met the Minister of Information and he said, "We have television, and some amusing programs... but NO COMMERCIALS." Have you ever heard of that one? Someone should ask him to come to the U.S. too.

IVORY COAST IMPRESSED US. Abidjan, the capital, has grown from a city of 30,000 to 400,000 in 15 years and has gotten more French since the French left in 1960. Some 18,000 Frenchmen feel they can't be wrong with Ivory Coast for their number has increased by that much since 1960, and there are now 30,000 Frenchmen where once there were 12,000. Tall buildings pry here and there and some foreign banks have put their first African offices here. Renault has an assembly plant nearby and there are tree-shaded boulevards and cozy little shopping streets, all with a little touch of French elegance. The only trouble is a great many things have a little touch of French expensiveness also, but still you can take a little boat across the very wide lagoon for only four cents.

All in all, though, Abidjan seems clean and "on its toes" and it is nice to be there. The new Hotel Ivoire was one of the best of our entire trip and believe it or not, it has a sleek huge new bowling alley building adjacent to it. The officials of the country are experienced, well-educated, well-dressed and gracious, and the government seems to be on a path of improvement, economic growth and stability. Of all the black African nations, Ivory Coast appeared to me to be the most efficient.

With so many nations around it succumbing to military coups or going bankrupt, or in turmoil, or even at the mercy of their own clumsy inefficiencies, Ivory Coast, seems remarkably bright.

SOME OF MY NOTES may describe it all best. Tensely they say: Minister in western clothes. Immaculately dressed and charming. Wonderful smile. Good speaker. Good info. Air-conditioned, tasteful conference room. Art on walls from Brazil. Much air-conditioning in city. City feels clean, exciting, PEOPLE SMILE. No appreciable unemployment here. No strikes. Unions exist however. Country has deficit in labor so workers needed. Liberal laws on foreign investment. Great deal of capital invested here by Japan, Israel, Egypt, EGYPT! Germany, U.S., etc., since independence. Spend only FOUR or FIVE percent of budget for defense. Rely on treaties to more powerful countries for defense and spend their money for their development. Aha. Function of small army, 3,500, is only to supply police protection to youth and construction works at that.

"Ivory Coast is different" because from the beginning its agriculture was founded in the safety of coffee and then cocoa. Ivory Coast raises 140,000 tons of cocoa a year. Ghana raises 600,000 tons. But cocoa market now is bad. Anyhow, 300,000 families are involved in production of coffee and 200,000 in cocoa. This makes village and country life more stable in Ivory Coast. Poorer people from "up country" (north where cocoa and coffee do not grow) flock to Abidjan and tend to create a "rural exodus" problem. Government, however, has introduced cultivation of cotton and rice and a water supply modernization program to the villages to keep people down-on-the-farm. There are 100 varieties of valuable lumber in the country and after coffee and cocoa, lumber is third important product. A deep water harbor at Abidjan, new since the building of a canal after World War II, and the great lagoon at Abidjan which runs all the way to Ghana, is filled with floating logs and ships.

All of which boils down to the fact that little ole Ivory Coast is coming along with a boom.

THE REASON FOR ALL THIS SUCCESS is, to a number of reasons. While tribalism is a factor, (there are 64 different languages) no tribe is really predominant or dominating as is the disruptive case in many other countries, official corruption is not a problem, the country is not dependent on one crop alone and France puts a good amount of investment into the country. Although it has little mineral wealth, Ivory Coast has good coastal land which is equatorial, forest land in the center which is tropical and savannah in the north which is hotter, all of which areas produce a wide variety of good crops. But the biggest reason for its boom is its president and his policies. His Excellency, Felix Houphouet-Boigny (pronounced Huh-foe-Bwan) 61, a medical doctor and a diplomat and a former representative to the French Continental Assembly, has led his country from the day of independence in 1960 and his sensible management of government and his keen economic planning have brought about the healthy atmosphere in Ivory Coast today. Most advantageous of all perhaps is his policy of cooperation with the French and his willingness to let them keep their business and administrative ties and remain in Ivory Coast. Yet the president does advocate Africanization. But the policy is "gradually." Europeans must only be replaced when capable black men can do it or take on the responsibility not before. The government keynote is moderation, understanding and "dialogue."

"Do things gradually, walk before you run." At the current time the government is wooing further foreign investment even beyond France, and the Abidjan skyline proves the success of it. Besides the tall business buildings there are industrial towers, as well. Even the agricultural field has felt the foreign influence. There are 150 Nationalist Chinese technicians (Formosa) working with the Ivorians. They have been brought in to aid with rice development. The Common Market of Europe has helped with the palm oil industry.

In its foreign policy the government also is moderate and close to France and friendly to the U.S., but the president is strongly opposed to communist China and the country is western oriented. On Vietnam it is non-aligned.

OF COURSE THERE ARE SOME PROBLEMS. Every success story has its darker side. There are the 64 different tribal languages, there is the rural exodus, there is the drop in the price of cocoa, and there always seems to be the danger of dissent even in Ivory Coast. There have been a few weak attempts on coup d'etat but they have not succeeded. Ivory Coast is a one-party country, (Ivory Coast Democratic Party), and while voting is open to both men and women it is practically meaningless and is only a measure of approval. "Dialogue" is a term heard frequently in the country and during election-time. Leaders travel to get sampling of opinion and discuss ideas and come to conclusions by dialogue.

But high on the president's problem list is the fact that among the young people there is some dissatisfaction with his "gradual" policy and a desire for quicker Africanization. Philippe Yace, now Secretary-General, is among these younger Ivorians and he is next in line after the president. But even with these and other vexing problems, President Houphouet-Boigny still was elected for another five years in last year's elections and seems to be going strong. As Alfred T. Welborn, the Charge d'Affaire at the American Embassy, said, "The president's stamp is very much on this country." It seems to be a very profitable stamp.

FAMILY POT LUCK

It's Salad Time!
With the arrival of warmer weather, salads take on fresh vigor. There's that delectable crisp foods, lighter in texture and calories. Do try some new ideas!

Canned, drained artichoke hearts add new zest in the salad category when they're combined with several different kinds of greens and an anchovy or herb-seasoned dressing. The hearts look very attractive when they're halved and go further, too. Sliced pickled beets make contrast with onion-rings and greens. Serve with Vinaigrette or French dressing.

If the garden furnished lettuce, try wilted lettuce salad with the old-fashioned bacon dressing. This is wonderful with almost any type of dinner. Melons coming into season add zest to the fruit salad picture. Combine two kinds with strawberries, fresh apple and avocado. Use melon as a wedge, scooped with a melon ball spoon or cubed. Leftover ham, roast beef, cheese, turkey and chicken make main dish salads. Cut

Telephone links installed for Open

"Now, live from Baltusrol, we bring you..." These words will mark the start of live television coverage of the U. S. Open at Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, on June 15 to 18.

To help armchair athletes follow the pros around the course, New Jersey Bell has installed the most extensive communications network ever used for a U. S. Open championship.

More than 28,000 feet of telephone cable to carry video and audio signals has been buried underground on the golf course. An additional 8,000 feet of cable has been placed overhead.

TV signals from cameras spotted around the course will be carried over telephone cable to a microwave radio antenna complex on the roof of the clubhouse veranda overlooking the 18th fairway, a location within direct line-sight of New York City.

From here, color television coverage of the event will be beamed to receiving facilities atop the Empire State Building and routed to stations around the nation.

New Jersey Bell's communications network for Baltusrol also will bring telephone lines into pavilions, a press tent, two medical tents, a security tent, local police tent and State Police van.

To serve the thousands of spectators expected at the championship, the telephone company is setting up more than 70 public telephone booths around the course.

FRIDAY DEADLINE All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

WIRING UP FOR THE NATIONAL OPEN — New Jersey Bell linemen bury cable to provide telephone and television circuits for the U.S. Open at Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, on June 15-18. The telephone company is installing 65 miles of wire and cable for the golf tournament.

Dayton varsity nine faces Hillside squad tomorrow

by MYRON MEISEL
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School baseball team will play Hillside High School this afternoon at Meisel Field, leaving only a rescheduled contest with Rahway High School still to come in the 1967 season. The Bulldog diamond varsity is now 6-10 following two losses, to Cranford High School, 7-0, and to Gov. Livingston Regional High School, 4-3. Gary Kurtz's fifth-inning home run to far right center field sparked the Bulldogs in the Berkeley Heights contest, and a double by Ron Azarewicz and single by Don Buehrer (who went two-for-three in the sixth) accounted for the other two Bulldog runs.

The Highlanders scored two runs on three singles in the first, and two more in the fourth, largely on Dayton errors. Governor Livingston also recorded a triple, walk and single in succession in the third, but failed to score. Dayton came close to scoring the tying run in the second, when Ron Azarewicz was called out at the plate after Buehrer singled down the left field line. In the fourth, Bob Gartlan and Richie Campbell both singled, and Steve Jupa hit his way to first in the first.

The starting line-up for the Bulldogs was: Gary Kurtz, shortstop; Jon Schoch, third; Steve Jupa, center; Bob Gartlan, catcher; pitcher in the sixth and seventh; Ralph Losanno, first; Ron Azarewicz, right; Richie Campbell, second; Don Buehrer, left; and Tony Gromek, pitcher. Phil Beneduce and Dominick Fabrizio entered during the game.

CRANFORD WON HANDILY over the Bulldogs as pitcher Al Dirini hurled a no-hitter and batted two for three. In the first inning, two Cougars smashed back-to-back homers, and one of the sluggers, Doug Ross, repeated with another home run to lead off the fifth inning. A lead-off double by Dirini and two other hits led to three runs in the third. Cranford also scored in the sixth. Cranford's record is now 13-6-1.

The starting line-up for the Bulldogs: Don Buehrer, Rich Campbell, Steve Jupa, Bob Gartlan, Ron Azarewicz, Ralph Losanno, Phil Beneduce, Fred Volherst and Jon Schoch. Tom Brownlie entered the outfield in mid-game.

HILLSIDE WAS BEATEN by the Bulldogs in their last encounter, 5-2. Dayton opened with a powerful first inning when Kurtz led off with a single, Campbell walked, and Azarewicz and Gartlan both singled, for two runs. The bases were loaded when the side was retired.

The second inning continued where Dayton had left off. Schoch led off with a walk, and Kurtz (who batted three for four) singled again. Campbell sacrificed with an outfield fly, and a home run by Gartlan wrapped up the three-run inning. Gartlan also scored in the fifth, singling to left and scoring on Jupa's single. Gartlan won the game with his tie mound work, and his four hits: the homer, a double, and two singles, clinched the contest. Hillside scored in the first.

The upcoming Rahway rematch, cancelled last week in the third inning, is a crucial one for the Bulldogs. Dayton presently ranks sixth in the Watching Conference, with Berkeley Heights and Rahway behind it. The Indians are now 5-15, and a Bulldog victory is important in order to maintain the place in the Conference.

The Indians defeated Dayton last time around, 5-1. Dayton's only run was scored in the first, when Gary Kurtz crossed the plate on a Ralph Losanno's long double. Campbell, Azarewicz, Gartlan and Brownlie also connected for singles.

INFIELD REGULAR -- Richy Campbell, junior infielder who has been a starter through the season for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School baseball team.

Rotary players hold top spot in Youth Major

The Rotary team held first place in the Springfield Youth Major Baseball League at the start of this week, with a perfect record of 6-0. PBA was second, with a mark for the season of 5-3. The other teams are, Reinecke's, 4-1; American Legion, 3-2; Crestmont, 3-4; Lions, 2-4; Jayne Trucking, 1-5, and Bilky, 0-5.

Top players from each team were named to take part in the league's annual all-star game on Memorial Day. Results will appear next week. One squad consisted of Jeff Sarokin, Gil Gleim, Steve Harris and Bill Sivolella of Crestmont; Bob Nardone, Mark Weber, Ed Cook and Jim Schuch of Rotary; Barry Gerst, Bob Banner, Glen Cooper and Jeff Snider of Bilky's, and Tom Lowy, Joe Pepe, Warren Schlepouer and Duck Fishbein of American Legion.

Their opponents were Roy Greenberg, Tom King, Neil Anderson and Gene Shuta of Reinecke's; Bobby Meisel, Howie Tannenbaum, Bobby Wallick and Jerry Jones of PBA; Gary Tiss, Mike Sanders, Perry Koplik and Gary Schulman of Jayne's, and Ken Baroff, Mike Klarfeld, Tom Rossiter and Mike Levine of Lions.

CRESTMONT PACKED all its scoring into one big inning, the fourth, to defeat PBA, 7-5. Gil Gleim pitched all the way for the victory, striking out seven men and giving nine hits and only two walks. Jeff Sarokin led the attack with a bases-loaded double and later stole home. Jerry Jones was the big man for PBA with three hits, including a home run. He also turned in a stellar catch on a long fly to right center field.

Reinecke's packed seven runs into the third inning and then hung on to defeat Crestmont, 9-8. Matt Telster was the winning pitcher on a four-hitter, despite four errors by his teammates.

Bob Nardone fired a three-hitter to spark Rotary to a 15-3 triumph over Jayne. Nardone led the attack with a grand-slam homer and a double, and Mark Jaffe closed a triple. The only hits for Jayne were singles by Gary Nelfield, Gary Tiss and Stu Garavito.

PBA came from behind in the late innings to win from Lions, 11-6. Bob Wallick was the winning pitcher, with help from Neal Elliott. Bob Meisel had three hits for PBA, including a triple. Howie Tannenbaum had two, and Larry Silverstein and Wallick each had one. Tom Rossiter and Howie Levine each had three hits for Lions. Bill Johnson had two. Other hitters were Ed Gerstein, Ken Marsar, Mike Klarfeld and Steve Di-Benedetto.

In the longest game of the season, Lions scored three times in the top of the ninth inning to defeat Crestmont, 5-2. Ken Baroff was the winning pitcher, in relief after a strong effort by Steve Di-Benedetto. The big blow in the final rally was a pinch-hit triple by Mike Levine, along with singles by Tom Rossiter and Baroff. The Crestmont pitchers joined to strike out 13 batters. Gil Gleim started behind the plate.

Trackmen close season in loss to Scotch Plains

by MYRON MEISEL
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School track team ended its 1967 spring season with a 2-8-1 record, following a 94-31 loss last week to Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School, ranked second in the Watching Conference.

Greg Baskin, Bill Chisholm, and Ed Heyeck captured four first places for the Bulldogs, all in the field. Baskin in the shotput with a 147-10 and the discus with a distance of 134-1. Gary Haydu placed third in the discus with a 130-11.

Chisholm scored number one in the javelin, hurling for 172-9.5, while Heyeck's 110 was the long jump. Rocky Ienna scored the remaining Bulldog point in the field, placing third with a pole vault of 10.0.

The Bulldogs fell down badly in the track events, winning no first places and only one second. Derral Brooks took that in the low hurdles, running 22.8, followed by Larry Stegarty's third-place 23.2. Brooks also took third place in the high hurdles with a time of 17.5. Howard Rubenstein scored third in both the 100 and 200, running 11.4 and 24.5, respectively. Dale Yadosky, running the mile in 5:19.5, and Gary Vostburgh in the 440 both placed third.

Winning times in each of the events: low hurdles, 22.6; high hurdles, 17.0; 100, 11.2; 200, 24.2; 440, 24.7; 880, 2:03.5; mile, 4:49.8; two-mile, 10:35.1; also, discus, 138-1; shotput, 47-10; javelin, 172-9.5; pole vault, 13; high jump, 5-0; long jump, 14-10.

OVER ALL, it was a fairly lean season for the trackmen, but sparked by fine individual performances. Greg Baskin, Bill Chisholm, Gary Haydu, Rocky Ienna, Ed Heyeck and Ed Harback all did superb jobs throughout the season, and they were joined by the field events by Mike Bromberg, Mike Burns, Charlie Foster, Dave Pierson, Jim Robinson, Larry Stewart and Alan Best. Baskin placed first in the Watching Conference in the shotput and also topped a second place in the discus. Chisholm also scored with a third place in the conference javelin competition.

Dayton's track men also made some fine showings. Derral Brooks and Larry Stewart in the hurdles, Howard Rubenstein and Jim Robinson in the short sprints, Gary Vostburgh, Marty Josephs, and Alan Best, in the middle distances and, in the long races, Bill Apgar, Ken Shatten, Dale Yadosky and Mark George. Chuck Steiner, Mike Davis, Greg Jones, Bob Staehle and Ray Haines also scored throughout the year for the Bulldogs.

Dayton's two victories came over Linden High School and David Barclay Regional High School of Kenilworth. The team tied its meet with Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School. Under the direction of head coach Bob Lummer and assistant coach Marty Taglienti, the squad finished sixth in a field of eight in the Watching Conference track meet.

DISTANCE ACE -- Bill Apgar has had a top distance runner this year for Coach Bob Lummer's track team at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Prussing wins game for Elks with home run

In the best-played game of the year in the Springfield Babe Ruth League, the Elks nosed out Channel Lumber, 1-0, behind the air-tight pitching of Billy Schwab. The defeat was a heart-breaker for the Channel pitcher, Dave Miniman.

The game ended on a Frank Merrifield note. With two out in the final inning, and a count of three and two, Scott Prussing slammed a long home run for a spectacular finale.

Elks also won another game from Channel on a forfeit after Jim Maxwell, the Channel pitcher, injured his elbow and his team had no eligible pitcher available to finish on the mound.

Bob Fielding settled down after a shaky second inning, in which he gave up four runs, and went on to pitch Angleton to an easy 16-4 triumph over Morris Motors. Leading the 14-hit Angleton attack were Ricky Williams, Eric Wasserman, Alan Schlanger and Rich Falcone, each with two safe blows. Fred Gold and Eddie Graessle had two hits apiece for Morris. Defensive stars were Larry Grafanakis and Bob Janukowicz for the winners and Sal Mucario for Morris.

Ricky Williams spun a three-hitter and Angleton sparkled on defense to beat Morris Motors, 5-1. Larry Grafanakis, Bob Janukowicz and Rich Falcone were the defensive stand-outs, and Falcone drove in two runs with a clutch single. Morris' star seventh grader, George Robbins, had two of team's three hits and drove in their lone run. Bruce Zabelski pitched well in defeat.

Elks broke up a tight game with three runs in the fifth inning to defeat Morris Motors, 4-2, behind strong pitching by Mitch Wolff. Marc Hollander pitched well for Morris, but was hurt by errors in the field. Leading batters for Elks were Bob Sasse, Phil Stokes, Bob Vaughan and Frank Bucco. Steve Crau and Joel Millman were strong on defense. Morris was led by Keith Prussing, Bob Blum, Hollander and Fred Gold at bat, and by George Robbins, Gary Katz and Steve Max in the field.

Pvt. Minette completes artillery school training

PT. SILL, OKLA. -- Private Raymond A. Minette, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Minette, 24 Tower dr., Springfield, has completed eight weeks of advanced artillery training at the Army Artillery and Missile School, Ft. Sill, Okla. He was trained as a cannoneer in field artillery.

His training included maintenance and firing of artillery guns, howitzers and heavy machine guns. Instruction was also given in ammunition handling and communications.

His wife, Judith, lives in East Orange, N. J.

Driver receives injury as car hits utility pole

A 20-year-old Springfield driver received a laceration on his nose early Monday morning when he lost control of his car on a curve and hit a utility pole in Mountaintop.

Borough police reported that Robert W. Bergman was driving south on Deer Path rd. about 1:30 a.m. when the mishap occurred. They said the car, which struck a pole at the corner of Ackerman ave., received damage to the left front fender, hood, bumper and grill. Bergman was taken to Overbrook Hospital in Summit by a friend, police reported.

American League picks all-star team for annual contest

U.S. Congresswoman Reports

FLORENCE P. DWYER
A RECORD QUESTIONNAIRE RESPONSE. More than 3,500 residents of Union County and the western Essex County suburbs have joined in answering my 1967 Congressional Questionnaire -- a rate exceeding 25 percent of those who received the questionnaire, and an all-time record high for the 10 years I have conducted this poll of my constituents' opinions on public issues.

To those of you who participated, let me say thank you. To those who have not yet done so, let me encourage you to take a few minutes and complete the questionnaire. It's never too late to send it in, because your answer represents and especially valuable source of information about the views, opinions, and values of the people I represent. Although it has been impossible for me to acknowledge personally each of the questionnaires I have received or to reply individually to the great many who added comments, I am truly grateful for your interest. I have reviewed every one of the returns, read all your comments, and spent many hours pondering the meaning of your views as they relate to issues which are now or soon will be before the Congress.

Given the high rate of response and the broadly representative character of the participants -- who included Republicans, Democrats and Independents from all 26 municipalities in the district -- the consensus, or profile of the district, which emerges from the questionnaire replies is most significant.

PROFLE OF THE 12TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT
Statistically, starting with those issues on which you were most in agreement, here is what you have told me:

• Crime should be attacked, among other ways, by reorganizing and coordinating Federal, State and local law enforcement agencies, by controlling the sale and shipment of firearms, and by providing better training for police and other law enforcement officers.

• Social Security beneficiaries should be allowed to earn more without having to sacrifice any of their benefits.

• The United States should defend other Southeast Asian countries if they are threatened by communist aggression.

• The Administration's war on poverty does not seem worth continuing, at least as it's presently being waged.

• There is no need for a re-investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy.

• The United States should "take stronger, more frequent initiatives to begin negotiations for a peaceful settlement" of the war in Vietnam.

• The present voting age of 21 should be retained.

• "Universal military training," rather than the present draft or a lottery system, or reliance on volunteers, is the best way to meet our military manpower needs.

With a somewhat lesser degree of unanimity, but nevertheless by majority votes, you also favor direct Federal subsidies for computer rail services; you feel that law enforcement agencies should be less restricted by recent Supreme Court decisions defining the rights of accused persons and should have greater freedom to use wiretapping and eavesdropping equipment; you prefer an increase in Social Security benefits which won't require a corresponding tax increase; you believe that U.S. military pressure against the North Vietnamese should be increased; and you don't think very highly of the ethical conduct of Congressmen and Senators.

Keyes Martin has Pony League lead

The Keyes Martin team holds first place by a slim margin with a record of 5-2 in the Springfield Pony League. Custom Casting is in second place with five victories and three defeats. Other teams are Thrifway Leasing, 504; Carter-Beall, 4-4, and America's Insurance Center, 0-6.

The league schedule has been cut down the past two weeks by the large number of eighth graders who were away with their class on the annual trip to Stokes State Forest. League officials have postponed games and scheduled make-up so that no team had to forfeit a contest, and all teams should be back to full strength for the remainder of the season.

Local firm submits low demolition bid for highway work

The Interstate Wrecking Company, Inc., of Springfield, last week submitted a bid of $37,400, lowest of three received by the state Department of Transportation for demolition of 37 dwellings and other structures in the path of proposed construction on three Interstate highways and a state freeway in six towns and three counties.

Other bidders were S.A.S. Equipment Company, Inc., North Bergen, $59,550; and William M. Young and Company, Inc., Newark, $64,000. All bids are being reviewed by the department before a contract is awarded.

Most of the demolition work will involve Interstate Route 280. Twenty-nine dwellings and other buildings are to be razed in Essex County for the freeway, six of them in Livingston and 23 in West Orange.

Three structures are to be removed to make way for Interstate Route 76, two of them in Berkeley Heights and the other in Newark. Three buildings are also slated for removal for Interstate Route 80 in Parsippany-Troy Hills Township, Morris County. Two buildings will be torn down in Jefferson Township, Morris County, in the path of the Route 15 Freeway.

The demolition work is scheduled to be completed by August 15. The work will be financed "90 percent" by federal funds, and 10 percent by the state.

Boston University presents degrees to 3 local students

Three young women from Springfield were among some 3,500 degree candidates who took part in the 96th commencement exercises held Sunday at Boston University. They are Carolynn A. Kaplan, Karen B. Kurnos and Diane D'Al. Underwood.

Miss Kaplan, who lives at 10 Archbridge Lane, was awarded a bachelor of science degree from the School of Public Administration. Miss Kurnos received a bachelor of science degree from the School of Education.

The university Sunday conferred degrees on approximately 2,500 seniors and 1,000 graduate students. Honorary doctorates went to seven men and one woman, Dr. Harold C. Case, retiring university president, was the principal speaker.

Westfield Y offers plan Prudential agent at Swiss meeting

The Westfield YMCA will again offer a special summer membership plan to Westfield residents and non-residents, according to Harold J. Rohlfman, membership director.

Louis J. Toia of the Springfield office of the Prudential Insurance Company will be in Lucerne, Switzerland, Sunday to June 9 attending the 40th anniversary annual meeting of the Million-Dollar Round Table, international organization of the world's leading life insurance salesmen.

A feature of the Y's summer membership is a provision for those taking this type of membership to convert it to a full membership at the end of the summer if they so desire.

Program highlights will include an address by philosopher and psychiatrist, Dr. Viktor Frankl of Vienna, author of "Man's Search for Meaning," John S. Hayes, U.S. ambassador to Switzerland, will be guest speaker.

Some 1,200 members of the Round Table, representing more than 20 nations and 300 companies, will gather to gain new knowledge to better serve the insuring public and continue their personal growth, a spokesman declared.

Men may take out this membership now, and it will be in effect for a three month period. No adult summer memberships will be issued after July 1. The boys' summer membership plan will go into effect at the conclusion of school and will allow boys a full membership from June 26 through Sept. 23. Westfield boys or non-residents who have completed the third grade are eligible. Their membership provides for swim instruction, basic gym periods-recreational swims (three per week) and a choice of many gym skill courses, including gymnastics.

Registration for boys classes and programs will take place on June 13 for Westfield residents and June 15 for non-residents.

A softball league is one of the many programs offered to men as part of the Y's summer program. Ample swimming time, as well as use of the many exercise areas and gymnasium, is provided in the schedule for men.

A complete schedule of programs and times for both men and boys will be available at the Y after June 1.

The collection of more than 30 pieces of jewelry is owned by the Owen Cheatham Foundation which makes the jewels available to religious, educational and charitable organizations for fund raising endeavors.

Mrs. Owen R. Cheatham, wife of the chairman of the board of the Georgia Pacific Corporation, was guest of honor at a recent luncheon held by the exhibit planning committee at Balmisrol Golf Club, Springfield.

Stender to receive Lafayette diploma

Albert N. Stender of Springfield is among 362 seniors who will receive bachelor's degrees tomorrow from Lafayette College, Easton, Pa. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Stender of 4 Lyon pl., he will receive a bachelor of arts degree with a major in English.

AIR POLLUTION

Few will deny the existence of a national air pollution problem. Publicity has aroused public opinion... politicians have found a "safe" subject to attack... and President Johnson has proposed additional legislation to supplement the Clean Air Act of 1963. It is obvious that the problem must be remedied -- primarily by establishing and enforcing maximum levels of allowed pollution.

Sources and types of pollution vary widely from one locality to another, and regulations logically should be set by local or regional authority. Without some assurance that new regulations will not render facilities obsolete overnight, private industry has been understandably reluctant to spend millions of dollars for capital equipment. On the plus side, legislation affording some form of tax relief for anti-pollution expenditures is possible.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare recently released a report which established criteria for sulfur oxides. This is the first of a series of reports to guide local authorities in establishing criteria for all major forms of air pollution. The creation of enforceable regulations at the local level is essential for air pollution abatement -- and it must be assumed that it will come about.

Private industry's contribution to air pollution is variously estimated at 20 to 50 percent depending on the locality. Types of pollution include dust, fumes and fuel emissions. Other sources are municipal incinerators, residential and commercial space heating, and open burning of refuse.

IN ADDITION, MOTOR vehicles are prime culprit, releasing contaminants from fuel combustion and evaporation, plus quantities of dust from the wearing of brakes and tires. Both the auto and petroleum industries are working on the problem of pollution from motor vehicles, which falls into a different category than pollution from stationary sources.

Technology to control non-automotive pollutants (with the exception of certain gases) is well developed, and four different types of devices are used to cleanse air before it is released into the atmosphere:

1. Fabric Systems... similar to giant vacuum cleaners.

2. Electrostatic Precipitators -- employing opposing electric charges.

3. Wet Scrubbers -- a liquid sprayed into a stream of air -- absorbing dust particles.

4. Mechanical -- a combination of centrifugal force and gravity.

Present technology does not allow both inexpensive and effective control of sulfur oxides and other gases. Some large fuel consumers (such as utilities) have installed high-priced precipitators to control these gases. However, preventive measures have been emphasized by municipal authorities through encouraging the use of low-sulfur coal and oil, or switching to greater use of natural gas. This has focused some attention on companies with resources of low-sulfur fuel. The Pittston Company -- with reserves of one-billion tons of low-sulfur coal -- recently received a million ton contract from a leading public utility as a direct result of the clamor against air pollution.

THE EFFECTIVENESS of any one type of control system is difficult to judge because of the variety of specific problems at the source of pollution. Nevertheless, it appears that fabric systems can efficiently control dust, fumes and particulate matter. Electrostatic precipitators can effectively control the same pollutants and certain gases. Scrubbers effectively remove dust particles as well as some undesirable gases and have the advantage of being compact in size (New York City has specified scrubbers or other equivalent air cleaners for installation in apartment house incinerators). The mechanical type probably won't find wide usage in future control programs because its effectiveness is limited to removing coarse particulate matter.

The future of the air pollution control industry cannot be accurately predicted -- due to the many uncertainties of timing, extent of control and enforcement measures, incentive legislation and effects of public opinion. However, the potential growth of the industry is enormous, and companies which now produce equipment stand to reap the benefits.

Federal Tax Facts

ESTIMATED INCOME TAX
Individual taxpayers who filed declarations of estimated Federal income tax returns must pay the second installment of tax due on their 1967 estimate by Thursday, June 15.

Taxpayers who first met the requirements for filing a declaration of estimated tax after April 1, but on or before June 1, are required to file their declarations of estimated tax returns for 1967 on Form 1040-ES by June 15, and pay at least one-third of the estimated tax by that date.

Joseph M. Shetz, District Director of Internal Revenue in New Jersey, explained that taxpayers whose anticipated income during 1967 has changed may be required to file an amended declaration of estimated tax. A blank form for use as an amended declaration is printed on the back of the bill mailed to taxpayers or a Form 1040-ES may be obtained from any local IRS office.
