Rt. 278 alignment just misses Springfield

CRUISING ALONG — Members of the Springfield Senior Citizens' group pose aboard the Cunard liner, Franconia, during their recent trip to Bermuda. The town's Golden Agers have made several trips to places of interest in the past years, including one earlier to Washington, but this cruise was their first group venture overseas.

2 possible paths go through Union

By ABNER GOLD

Springfield had a close shave but actually escaped virtually unscathed, according to the two paths still under consideration for Rt. 278, as announced by N.J. Highway Department officials at a meeting with representatives of Union County municipalities last Thursday night in Trenton.

Both proposed rights-of-way would connect with Rt. 78 at the Springfield-Union line, in the vicinity of the Club Diana on Springfield ave. They would extend for no more than a few hundred yards into Springfield.

Fears expressed earlier in the week by Township Committeemen that Rt. 278, extending from the Goethals Bridge in Linden, would cut through the center of Springfield turned out to be groundless. One alternate which could receive serious consideration in Trenton and which would have taken a portion of this community, was dropped for reasons of cost.

This path would have crossed Rt. 22 at the Rahway River, on the Springfield-Union line and extended through Smithfield drive and Laurel drive. It would have come from Linden through the center of Cranford, wiping out most of the Union Junior College campus.

BOTH OF THE OTHER routes, however, would cost substantially less to build. The one through Cranford and Springfield would have cost well over $130 million for land acquisition and construction, according to Steven G. Link, superintendent of the bureau of route location in the Department of Transportation, who addressed the municipal officials last week.

The two routes still under consideration would each cost approximately $100 million. Both would pass through Linden, Roselle, Roselle Park, Kenilworth and Union before ending just inside Springfield.

The western route, designated by Trenton as Alignment C-1, follows the Staten Island Rapid Transit tracks from the Goethals Bridge to Ninth ave., in Roselle. It then runs parallel to Aldene road to the vicinity of Borough road and crosses the Garden State Parkway near Michigan avenue, Kenilworth. It skirts the western edge of the Galloping Hill Golf Course and crosses Rt. 22 just west of the Union Drive in Theater. This alignment crosses Morris avenue at the junction with Spruce street and Burnett avenue and continues north to Rt. 78.

The eastern route, known as Alignment E-3, follows the Staten Island Rapid Transit tracks to St. George avenue in Roselle, then follows Hemlock avenue northward. It touches the eastern end of Galloping Hill Golf Course, crosses Rt. 22 near the Flagship and rejoins the other alignment at Morris and Burnett avenues.

THE WESTERN ROUTE would cost approximately $100 million for land and construction. It would require the displacement of 560 homes and 101 commercial or industrial sites.

The eastern route, slightly less expensive, would cost some $97 million and would require the uprooting of 1,170 families and 53 commercial or industrial establishments.

The Transportation Department official told the meeting last week that construction of Rt. 278 is at least three-and-a-half years away. Link declared that public hearings would be held later this year or early in 1968 before his agency reaches a final decision on which of the two alignments to use. He added that another two or three years will then be needed to complete designing the highway and to start the property acquisition.

Officials of the municipalities most affected by the new highway, Linden, Roselle, Roselle Park, Kenilworth and Union, pledged their staunch resistance to the proposed alignment at the meeting representing Springfield and a complete and relieved silence.

SACA concert Monday offers Chicago blues

Monday evening at 9, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School lawn area will come alive with the driving rhythms of South Side Chicago blues, in the person of the Nullis Pretti blues band, according to a spokesman for the Springfield Association of Creative Arts.

The concert will be under the joint sponsorship of SACA and the Springfield Recreation Department. Admission will be free.

The Nullis Pretti band features Doug Seroff of Springfield on mouth harp and vocals, Bob Norman of New London, Conn., on the lead guitar, Dave Gershen of Springfield on rhythm guitar, Bruce Gerstein of Springfield on bass and Tom Ellwanger of Short Hills on drums.

Seroff is a junior at New York University. He has played with the Greenville Philharmonic, a rhythm and blues group in Greenville, Pa., and at most of the local coffeehouses. His primary mouth harp influences are Junior Wells and Paul Butterfield. His specialty is the gutsy, hard-driving vocal that Chicago blues demand.

Norman is a junior and music major at Columbia University. He is the lead guitarist of the Columbia group, the Rain, and is one of New York City's well-known young blues guitarists.

Gershen, also a junior at Columbia University, is well known in the North Jersey area as a solo folk singer and has performed in numerous hootenannies and coffeehouses as well as on Columbia's radio station. Dave is a versatile guitarist and his influence ranges from the country and Western music of Buck Owens to the hard-driving blues of Buddy Guy.

Gerstein is a junior at Jonathan Dayton. He plays bass guitar for the Forty Fingers, rock and roll group from Springfield.

Ellwanger is a graduate of Millburn High School and has played drums for the Resistance, a Millburn blues group. Chicago blues demands a precise and powerful rhythm section for a successful sound. He and Gerstein provide big city blues background for the lead musicians.

The range of music the Nullis Pretti band will run from the straight Chicago sound of Junior Wells and Paul Butterfield to the Greenwich Village sound of the Mothers of Invention — with stops in between.

"Long time blues fans will find the Nullis Pretti band great and to the point. Those who are unacquainted with the creature see in it an exciting evening," the announcement concluded.

Red Cross has annual meeting of town chapter

The annual meeting of the American Red Cross Springfield Chapter, held in Cannon Ball House on June 27, included officers and board elections and detailed reports of committee activities from July, 1966 to June, 1967.

Officers elected were: chairman, Mrs. Charles Duca; vice-chairman, James Barrett; treasurer, Mrs. Carl Ledig; secretary, Mrs. Henry George. Two new members were also elected to the board of directors: Mrs. Eva Brown and Mrs. Frederick Hettchenbach.

Mrs. Daniel Kamen, as chairman of the blood program, reported three bloodmobile visits producing 219 donors with the following groups also actively participating: Town Fire Department, PTAs, Temple Beth Ahm and Sharye Shalom, St. James Church, Presbyterian Church and Saks Fifth Ave. Two new industrial groups were added this year: the Defense Contract Co. and the M&I Equipment Co. In addition to staffing these three local Bloodmobile visits, local volunteers covered the visits to Elizabeth in July and November, 1966, and April, 1967. Sixty-five women worked 221 hours; and 15 volunteer nurses worked another 57 hours.

The motor corps, with Mrs. David Weinstein as chairman, made a total of 170 trips comprising 306 hours of volunteer service to the community. Sixteen drivers clocked 2,995 miles in these hours. These trips included St. Barnabas hospitals as well as to doctors' offices.

Among the drivers, three clocked an unusually large number of hours: Mrs. Fannie Heyman did 230 hours, John Bodnar covered 164 hours and Mrs. Weinstein 148 hours. The motor corps' first assignment for the Senior citizens cruise to Bermuda Enjoy 'wonderful taste of another way of life'

Members of the Springfield Senior Citizens' Group recently returned from a cruise to Bermuda. The following account of their voyage was written by Mrs. Elwood Carmichael, president of the group.

That Saturday was a warm, busy day. Then, at 11:30 a.m., 35 senior citizens and their friends boarded a Somerset Bus with our stand-by driver, Andy.

Baggage aboard, we were off to our cruise ship, the Franconia, for a wonderful taste of another way of life. We boarded the ship as a group and were given royal treatment and special care. We were directed to the Cactus Club, where we were sent off with a Bon Voyage party.

Saying goodbye to family members and friends, with whistles blowing and bands playing and streamers flying from ship-board, we sailed out on our way.

Our go-go chairman, George Heim, with the help of a travel agency, had gotten us off on a happy holiday.

We all decided on first seatings in the dining room, with breakfast at 8 a.m., luncheon at 12:30 and dinner at 7 p.m. The food and service were a grand treat for all. The English custom of afternoon tea was observed at with hot or iced tea, dainty sandwiches and the most delicious pastries.

OUR LIFE ABOARD was busy with music, games, movies. We even saw "Barefoot in the Park," which is now on view at Radio City. Buffet supper was served on the promenade deck at 11:30 every evening.

On landing Monday morning, we all went our different ways by taxi, bus, ferries and on foot.

The island is a beautiful place. The flowers and foliage are something we will never forget — the blue waters, the pink sand, the white roofs on the buildings and the friendly Bermudians.

Survey on long-range needs authorized by school board

A long-range survey of educational facilities and needs in Springfield will be started this summer.

The survey was authorized by the Springfield Board of Education at a special meeting Thursday night. It will be conducted by Dr. Henry J. Riesecky, consultant in educational facilities, a member of a consulting team affiliated with Columbia University.

Board members said the survey, which is expected to be completed by the end of the 1967-68 school year, will be designed to develop a detailed study of physical-plant needs and educationally sound and financially defensible long-range solutions to the anticipated needs of the district.

In other business, the board announced that a discussion will be held at the July 18 meeting on a proposal to transfer bus students who would normally attend morning kindergarten at Walton School to an available room at Sandmeier School. The proposal was made as a result of overcrowding at the Walton School.

The board also acted on the zoning planning board a letter commenting on the new zoning ordinance drawn up for the township.

Court orders county Assembly seats to be increased from six to seven

An order by the New Jersey Supreme Court on Monday increased the number of Assembly seats allotted to Union County from six to seven. The court's order came as a result of a test of the state's new legislative apportionment plan.

The plan approved last year by the apportionment commission gave Union County six Assembly seats and three State Senate seats. The commission established three Assembly districts within Union County and stipulated that two assemblymen were to be elected from each district.

The Supreme Court in its decision stated that a sensible solution would be to have the seventh assemblyman elected at-large by the county's voters.

Union resident named to college dean's list

Miss Marylyn Cubelli, daughter of Mrs. Helen T. Cubelli of 749 Midland Blvd., Union, and the late John T. Cubelli, has been named to the dean's list for the spring semester at the College of New Rochelle.

Miss Cubelli is a junior majoring in foreign languages. She is planning to study abroad during part of her junior year.

The court also ruled that apportionment commission must reconsider all Assembly districts after the general election in November. The court ruled that the 11-man commission shall continue in office and make a reasonable reconfiguration of Assembly districts for the 1969 election.

Pleasure at the Supreme Court's decision was expressed by the leaders of the Democratic and Republican Parties in Union County.

JAMES J. KINNEALLY of Rahway, County Democratic chairman and a candidate for the State Senate, declared that he is "very pleased" that the court recognized that Union County had been short-changed under the redistricting plan. Kinneally said that the Democratic Party's screening committee will meet within a couple of days after the court's order is received. He said he was glad that the party had not selected a third candidate for the State Senate. The other Democratic candidate is an incumbent, Mrs. Mildred Barry Hughes. Kinneally said the screening committee will choose a candidate for assemblyman-at-large as well as a senatorial candidate.

Loree Collins of Summit, County Republican chairman and former assemblyman, declared that the court's decision is "a wonderful thing for the county." He pointed out that Union County had been "hurt badly" by the redistricting plan. Collins said the GOP screeners will meet on Monday, July 17, to select a candidate for assemblyman-at-large. He noted that the committee also must select another candidate for Assembly District 9-A, which consists of Elizabeth, Linden and Roselle. One candidate, Robert Evans of Elizabeth, has withdrawn, citing the pressure of business.

The committee has a number of possibilities for the assemblyman-at-large spot. Collins noted. He mentioned Charles Bailey of Westfield, former county chairman, Mayor Arthur Falkin of Springfield, former Freeholder George Forrester of Elizabeth and William Wright, Plainfield attorney.

The court's decision was the result of a suit instituted by the Daily Journal of Elizabeth and five individuals who challenged the apportionment plan. John M. Boyle, Elizabeth attorney, represented for the Journal and five citizens.

Editorial Comment

Does our state have hit and run highways?

All of us as residents of Springfield can congratulate ourselves on having survived the apparent decision by the State Highway Department to run Rt. 278 through our neighboring communities, leaving virtually untouched whatever of the township has been left to prevent Rt. 78, Rt. 24 and Rt. 20 from bumping together.

This does not mean, however, that our town has been freed of all threats to its continued communal existence. We hear recurring rumors that the great new jetport may soon be constructed around the open spaces of Melsel Field. After all, the field house there would make an admirable administration building. In fact, it would probably do better as an administration building than as a field house.

A security leak has disclosed that the United Nations will soon consider a request to give the borough of Mountainside a neutral enclave down Hillside avenue and the Brown avenue industrial area to provide free access to the Rahway River. This would enhance Mountainside's commercial development and avoid the necessity of sending Mountainside children to high school in Springfield.

Another plan, still a deep secret but soon to be unveiled, will utilize Springfield as the hub of a giant rapid transit system for north-central New Jersey. Mono-rails, dual-rails, tri-rails and roller coasters will lead from Springfield to New York, New Haven and Hartford, as well as Philadelphia, Chicago, Atchafson, Topoka and Santa Fe.

To tell the truth, this site will still be known as Springfield, but everything north of Morris avenue will be removed to make room for the terminal building, and everything south of Morris avenue will be flattened to provide for the world's largest parking lot. The only part of Springfield to survive will be Fadam Farm park property, which will be devoted to curbing all the travelers' dogs.

To tell the exact truth, none of these things is really very likely to happen, so we can relax for about 45 minutes.

By then, of course, there will be a new threat to the continued peace and tranquility of Springfield. Flow shears, we fear, are still a great distance in the future when it comes to the happiness of any one small community in the American megalopolis.

U.S. Congresswoman FLORENCE P. DWYER Reports

If Congress had followed the President's advice earlier this year, a six percent increase in your personal income tax would have taken effect July 1.

I suspect that the President, together with Congress, the business community, many professional economists and most taxpayers are very relieved that Congress did not act on this advice. The condition of the economy and its prospects in the immediate future are too mixed and unsure, at the moment, and a substantial tax increase now would probably have had too depressing an effect to be acceptable.

But what of the future? In the past few days, pressures have been developing on Congress to schedule a tax increase for sometime in this year or early next year. Gardner Ackley, the President's chief economic adviser, told a Congressional committee this week that demand for goods and services is recovering from an earlier slump and will become so strong later this year that inflation will result unless restraint is imposed in the form of a tax increase.

The highly respected chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, William McChesney Martin, also supported a tax increase this year, though for somewhat different reasons. He contends that business is rushing now to borrow as much money as possible and that this is forcing interest rates upward. He believes this is happening because business leaders fear that the huge budget deficit—estimated at more than 20 billion dollars by this time next year—will force the Government to compete with business and drive up interest rates even higher. And excessively high interest rates, Mr. Martin knows, can be very harmful to the economy, especially in the housing market, which is still suffering the effects of last year's collapse.

The case which Mr. Ackley and Mr. Martin make for higher taxes is a strong one, but not necessarily a convincing one at this time. It is based, I think, on an over-reaction to last year's experience and on an expectation that the worst will happen this year. They may be right, but we simply don't know as yet. Last year, you will remember, both inflation and high interest rates got out of hand.

Prices increased sharply because the Government failed to restrain excess demand either by curbing government spending or raising taxes. Interest rates climbed to an all-time high, and unbalanced the economy, because the Government relied almost entirely on interest rates to restrain demand. And when demand was not restrained, when Government spending and consumer spending remained high, Government and business competed for scarce funds which, in turn, drove interest rates almost out of sight. The end result was a general decline in the economy.

Can we expect this situation to be repeated this year? Not necessarily, because the signs and indicators are not nearly as clear as they were last year. The economy is still somewhat sluggish. Consumer spending is mixed. There is no certainty of another business investment boom. Unless these indicators move upward, a tax increase could depress the entire economy. Moreover, we don't know yet how much more the war in Vietnam is going to cost, which compounds the uncertainty.

Under present circumstances, therefore, a policy of caution seems to be called for. In the meantime, Congress must not ignore the threat posed by rising interest rates, which can be equally as damaging as inflation. Since interest rates, or the cost of borrowing money, are moving up in response to concern about a big budget deficit and the resulting need of government to borrow heavily, this means Congress must do more about controlling the deficit. And in the face of uncertainty about the effects of a tax increase, the only other way to hold down the deficit is to reduce Federal spending—an objective which has now become more important than ever.

It may not be a happy note on which to conclude this broadcast, but unless Congress and the Administration are prepared to act prudently, courageously and in good time, the country could end up with both a tax increase and a big deficit with higher prices and higher interest rates, and with Government controls on prices, wages and interest rates, alike.

It's not a happy prospect, and it's not inevitable. But we won't avoid it by refusing to face the facts.

PROFILE—Mrs. Saul Black

The energetic Mrs. Saul (Ruth) Black, new Youth Employment Service (YES) chairman for Springfield, has been saying "yes" to all that is being required of her as leader of this voluntary group, but she says she'd like to get some more cooperation from the local townspeople and merchants.

"I undertook an obligation, and I fulfilled it," Mrs. Black says in a voice that suggests a Boston background. "Really, it's a challenge to me. We have so many plans for the YES office this summer, but we want more cooperation from local townspeople."

"We need women who feel a sense of obligation to their community and their young people. Sometimes we get a volunteer who promises a great deal but doesn't follow through."

"We're planning to get a community group to work together on this project this summer," Mrs. Black says. "Miriam Cerebiter, our co-chairman, is in charge of the volunteer workers. Right now, we require 30 volunteers to man our office. We need 20 volunteers, actually, and 10 alternates."

PLANS FOR THE Springfield YES office this summer include a reorganization of the whole bookkeeping system, which will take a lot of work.

"We need a typewriter so desperately, by the way, that we're asking people to donate trading stamps and books, which we can save towards a typewriter and other office equipment."

"And our new office system is going to be like a typewriter card system. We're having a representative from the Maplewood-South Orange Chapter of YES, Mrs. Ruth Gross, who is going to train five of us in this type of office work. In turn, we'll be able to train other volunteers."

Mrs. Black says that she believes that this "will be a better system" and that "more people will be eager to be a part of it." Right now, she indicates, "a lot of young people come in for jobs, but we don't seem to have enough work for all of them. We have many more applicants than we have jobs. And I plan to contact all the Springfield businessmen and merchants to make them all aware of YES. I would also like to distribute leaflets again."

The YES office seems to have a sufficient amount of jobs for baby-sitters or lawn-mowers, but some of the young people are looking for office jobs for the summer, she says.

"WE GATHER MOSTLY to high school kids," Mrs. Black says. "Once they go to college, they get jobs on their own, if they can."

"As I said," she repeats, "our biggest problem is getting more merchants interested in YES. Even though we have enough applicants, they get discouraged, and I can't say I blame them."

Mrs. Black, who was born Ruth Goldberg in Boston, lived there for 24 years. She was graduated from Brighton High School and Boston Clerical School in Massachusetts. Before her marriage to Saul Black of Boston, she worked for Rose Derry Manufacturing Co. in Newton, Mass., as an assistant bookkeeper. Then she worked for Raytheon Co. in Boston.

She was married to Saul Black in 1943. "When my husband was in the Army at Fort Bragg in North Carolina, I worked in the finance office in Civil Service. When he was discharged, in 1945, we went to live in Philadelphia."

And it was in Philadelphia, that their two sons were born. Early, who is now 21, is going to be a senior at the University of Michigan. "He's going to be an actuary," David, who is 18, is going to be a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin.

WHILE IN PHILADELPHIA, Mrs. Black was president of the Jewish War Veterans' Ladies Auxiliary and was a League leader. Then she moved to North Baltimore in Long Island, where she lived for 13 years. It was there, she indicates, that she met Saul Black, who was then a member of the United Jewish Appeal for a few years. Then he decided to take it easy for a while.

"That is," she indicates, "until the Blacks moved to 815 Mountain ave., Springfield, five years ago. Mrs. Black couldn't stay in Long Island, where we lived for 13 years. I was a self mother there, and chairman of the United Jewish Appeal for a few years. Then I decided to take it easy for a while."

"Mrs. Black served as a volunteer worker for YES under the chairmanship of Mrs. Paul Gold."

"When I was asked to be a chairman this year, I considered it for a while, then I accepted," she smiles. "And now I'm going to do my part. I hope the people of Springfield feel the same way!"

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "Do you think it is ridiculous for a girl of fifteen to date a boy who is twenty? He is really a nice boy, but there is one problem. He drinks too much. I like him very much and I hope to marry him someday. How can I stop him from drinking? I know he likes me, but I don't like boys who drink. I told him I wouldn't go out with him again unless he stops drinking. But I don't want to lose him. Do you think I am right?"

OUR REPLY: We think you will be lucky if you lose him. The difference in age is too much—not because it is five years, but because you are only fifteen. If you were twenty the story would be different.

The drinking is another problem. You cannot stop him from drinking. This is something he has to do for himself—and because he wants to rid himself of the problem rather than to please someone else.

And, in summary, the girl who sees her sights on a man she has to change in some way to bring up to the standards of a good husband is setting out on a heartbreak mission.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, BRANKFORD, KY.

HIGHWAYS AND ZONING—At their meeting of June 27, all of the members of the Town Council expressed their violent opposition to the proposed Route 278 as it might affect Springfield. The Council envisioned the decimation of our town by yet another major highway. The Council members spoke harshly about the State Highway Department's complete lack of interest in the welfare of the town's people.

If the Council should ever adopt that part of the proposed zoning law which changes the undeveloped Balmoral Top area from residential to industrial, mining and research, they shall have done more to eradicate the residential flavor of our town than any outside agency could do. Perhaps the State Highway Department is cognizant of the fact that the Planning Board has recommended the creation of a huge industrial and mining complex and are trying to help for the first prerequisite for an industrial complex is access to major highways. We certainly cannot put more blame on the Highway Department for destroying our town than on the Planning Board and Council members, if they adopt the proposed zoning changes.

Springfield is and has been a town for people to live in, not a town to drive through, or even worse, to become a site for ugly and unhealthy industry.

I believe our Town Council accepts this basic premise. Let them prove it through their actions and their votes at the appropriate time.

THE NOW STOCK MARKET—As you know, there's been a running debate among economists for the last eight months as to whether or not business was headed into a recession. It's obvious, of course, that certain segments of our economy have been in a slump. Housing is an example. Nevertheless, I think those economists who are predicting a recession this year are wrong.

In my opinion, we've been in a period of "adjustment" or a slowing down in our rate of growth. And I think the recession predictors either have underestimated or disregarded two important facts:

1. Demand. We have a tremendous, built-in demand for our goods and services. The potential is enormous, and it can have a dramatic effect on the stock market.

2. Politics. Next year is a Presidential election year, and I believe the Administration will do whatever appears necessary (in terms of manipulating monetary and fiscal policies) to make sure that the economy is in an "up-tick" at the end of this year.

Since the economic power implicit in the Federal Government today is little short of fantastic, I believe the current economic adjustment (which some refer to as a "mini-slump") will be of relatively short duration. In fact, there is already a strong indication of a turnaround in the economy.

For example, Gross National Product for the first quarter was seasonally adjusted annual rate of $764.3 billion reflected a $5-billion increase over last year's fourth quarter. But all of that increase represented higher prices—there was no gain in "real" GNP.

One factor in the GNP figures stands out—inventory accumulation. In the final quarter of last year, inventory accumulation was at a rate of $16.4 billion. In the first quarter of this year, however, the rate dropped to $5.5 billion. That's a record-breaking "saving" of nearly $11 billion, in just three months.

The principle moving force behind this achievement, in my opinion, was demand. In fact, final demand in the first quarter (that's GNP excluding inventory changes) increased nearly $16-billion! It's the largest such increase since the first quarter of 1966.

I believe investors have come to recognize the significance of the economic potential of demand, and therefore, I believe prospects for carefully selected securities are particularly attractive. But remember—the key will be selectivity.

POTENTIAL DANGER OF property loss and possible loss of life seem to have little effect on people who have been forced to leave their homes because of natural disasters.

Bultman was born in New Orleans and is a graduate of Tulane University where he received his bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering.

On Dec. 7, 1941, Bultman was serving at Pearl Harbor in the U.S. Navy and later served in the South Pacific before being discharged with the rank of commander in 1945.

The Bultmans moved to Springfield in 1950 when he was appointed vice-president of sales for the Custom Scientific Instrument Co. of Whippany. He is a licensed professional engineer.

He currently heads up the local multiple sclerosis fund drive. Bultman is a member of the Regional High School Booster Club, St. James Holy Name Society and the American Legion.

Bultman has been active in all the local GOP campaigns since 1960 and is currently serving as chairman of the Springfield Republican County Committee. When not serving on the State Board of Health, he plays tennis, bridge and golf.

CANDIDATES FALKIN AND BULTMAN were chosen by a screening committee composed of members of the local GOP County Committee, the officers and trustees of the Springfield Republican Club, the campaign committee of 1966, and representative Republican appointees and laymen.

In thanking the screening group for its endorsement, Bultman stated that he would be running with a candidate of Mayor Falkin's proven abilities, and expressed his confidence that he would be part of the more qualified team of candidates in the November election.

Falkin, in his remarks, expressed his gratitude to the group's vote of confidence and promised to work vigorously during the upcoming campaign so that he could continue to serve as a member of the Township Committee to bring about fruition of the many projects he is working on.

"I am very pleased that you have chosen as my running mate a man like Hank Bultman," said Falkin. "Hank, I am sure will win the confidence of the voters of Springfield and will bring a wealth of talent and knowledge to the Springfield Committee."

Petitions for Falkin and Bultman have already been circulated and filed, and will be filed with the town clerk this week, they added.

new season opened with the station wagon on duty at the golf tournament at Balmorus Golf Club during the entire week. It served as a substitute ambulance and as coverage for first aid needs in the three units on the course.

Mrs. Michael Herzlinger, as first aid chairman, handled the week-long assignment. Three of the volunteer drivers assisted her, some with their own cars.

Summer hospital volunteers lack needed transportation

The largest number of girls ever to donate their summer time to assisting at the East Orange Veterans Administration Hospital was announced recently by Mrs. Frank McClatchey, Volunteer chairman of the Springfield Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. McClatchey said, however, that the group "urgently needs the help of residents of Springfield to transport these girls to and from the Veterans Hospital on their assigned days."

Drivers are needed Tuesday and Wednesday throughout the summer for two trips each day. According to Mrs. McClatchey the girls are due at the hospital at 9:30 a.m. and are ready to leave at 3:30 p.m.

"If enough people are willing to take one trip and we can cover the weeks to Labor Day, no one would be called on to give too much of their time," she said. "All the girls are eager to give a day a week this summer until Labor Day."

Girls participating in the volunteer program are Fran Moore, Barbara Caffery, Barbara Crump, Beth Einstein, Mary Ann Finney, Janet Andrew, Arlene Delfond, Sharon Greenfeld, Deborah Hagerty, Helen Martin, Shelly Parsh, Jeanne Palmieri, Sue Peters, Ruth Hutchinson, Robin Hies, Kathy Slugocki, Karen Unterwald, and Carolann Water.

VIETNAM NOTEBOOK

In the jungle, a few facts of life

BY SGT. FRANK ROTH
Just a few days before the half-way point in my tour-of-duty over in this war-torn land, I was transferred from Battalion Commo Section to Company B as a commo chief.

As the lead elements reach the edge of the clearing, rifle fire and grenade launchers probe the rear of the area. Receiving no return fire, they move rapidly around the clearing, ready to repel any Cong that might be in the area.

Two injured in accidents

Two passengers were injured in separate accidents in Irvington streets last week. Both were treated for injuries at Irvington General Hospital and released.

than the few meters of visibility the jungle allows.

SO STARTS ANOTHER operation in Vietnam. Fifteen days later another chopper lifts me out of the jungle to return to base camp.

Whenever possible hot meals are flown in to the men. When there is no LZ, C-rations are dropped in. Often, steam provides the drinking water for the men. Water is seldom for washing and shaving out there.

Every man is carrying, in addition to his own gear, explosives to destroy tunnel complexes and blowing landing zones. The first day of combat is found, the second another, the third two more, as well as 31 graves.

SO IT GOES, day after day, men now, boys when they arrived, growing older as each day passes. Half their time is done. Some they will be going home, their part of the war finished.

When you see a soldier with a yellow ribbon that has three red stripes in it, let him know you appreciate him laying his life on the line for freedom.

Cheaper in the long run.

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get about 27 miles to the gallon.)

And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 27 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.)

And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors.

And you get more than your money's worth out of a gallon of gas. (around 40,000 miles.)

If you don't think buying the new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme, you'll have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

A FEMININE LOOK ... AT AFRICA 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

This is the first in a series of articles on the continent of Africa. Kwame Nkrumah, the exiled ex-president of Ghana, is not the only man from that country to have made world news. Another man of Ghana has also done so and he is Alex Quaison-Sackey.

Mr. Quaison-Sackey, a large, young-ish man of colorful personality, was once ambassador to the U.S. under Nkrumah and also ambassador to the United Nations, and in one of his years at the UN he was president of the General Assembly.

It was the year 1964, the year of the Russian peace-keeping debacle, so I do not suggest that what happened, or did not happen, was in any way the fault of the very intelligent, though rather leftist, Mr. Quaison-Sackey. It just must have been that Nkrumah's lies followed his officials, for Mr. Quaison-Sackey's reign at the General Assembly was not exactly a success either. In fact, it is known at the UN as the Nothing Session and was one of the most unproductive, frustrating meetings ever held.

AT A PRESS CONFERENCE and reception in Ghana early this year, the host spoke of Quaison-Sackey when I put several questions to him about the ex-ambassador. The director, or our host, wore typical Ghanaian robes. The cloth was an orange-red print with some blue, which almost always are the colors involved, and it was worn draped long with one shoulder bare. At the UN, Mr. Q-S always wore this national costume on opening day of each General Assembly each year, although his shoulder was covered with an under shirt of some sort in the same color. No matter what he wore, however, business-suitable native dress, he always carried a very elaborate wooden cane which he swung in a decidedly dapper fashion. It was his mark. Just as now, a bowtie is Fedorenko's (USSR) mark.

Our host too, had a cane and we were told it was an identification item, tribal perhaps. While city people in Ghana are generally Moslem or Christian, most of the people are of some tribal faith and polygamy is widely practiced. The witch doctor rules strongly and is greatly respected and considered, even by governments, Moslems and Christians. This is true not only in Ghana but all over Africa. And surprisingly, women are often the ruling force in a tribe, and "queenmother" is a common term.

But to return to our man, our host said he had asked Quaison-Sackey a few months previous "what are you going to do in the future?" to which Quaison-Sackey had replied, "I will tell you in the future." You can see, he is clever.

When I asked if he was active in politics again, the answer was "not yet!" "Might he be?" I ventured. The answer indicated that he possibly would, since Ghana could use a man of talent. They do not fear him anyway, nor he they. He lives about 19 miles up the coast toward Ivory Coast and now works for a public relations firm in Accra, the capital.

A MAN OF GHANA — Alex Quaison-Sackey who once was president of the UN General Assembly in New York. He was ambassador under Nkrumah and is again looked upon favorably and may again be active politically.

It seems to be looked upon with favor. Perhaps he will be Ghana's second president. Actually, when we asked who could be president and if anyone was being groomed for the task, the answer was no, but there are many talented people who could qualify. (Ghana now has no president but is governed by the National Liberation Council headed by Lt. General J.A. Ankrah.) A certain Dr. Busia, a leader of the 1957-60 opposition and a professor, and who one time held a senior position at Oxford, is thought to be the most likely candidate.

WHILE GAY OLD NKURUMAH, the 58-year-old, U.S. educated, one-and-only president of Ghana so far, is blamed for much of Ghana's economic ills, it is those who say "ah, he was just a typical politician and not really so bad, and there are two big things Ghana now has that were built during his time that are real assets!"

Some Nkrumah fans will also say that he was responsible for the country's political and economic growth in the years from 1960 and they will also point to Black Star Square which is a handy parade and viewing arena, and to State House which is an eight-million dollar conference and dwelling complex. But Nkrumah seems to have made off with a goodly amount of the economic growth and changed his politics drastically, and Black Star Square does not often fill its 100,000 seats and State House — woefully — stands empty.

But it is the man-made harbor at Tema and the Volta River Dam that are the two big successes. On one of the days our group was taken to see the harbor and the dam but I did not go. There are just some things one has to miss on a trip as full as a study mission, and the prospect of an eight-hour bus trip in a harmattan (see Feminine Look June 22) didn't appeal to me one little bit. But the real reason was that I needed to catch up with me; hair, clothes, letters, sleep.

Briefly, Tema is a large, active, busy man-made harbor 12 miles down the coast from Accra which was largely only on the drawing boards seven years ago, according to Frank Pfeiffer, a fellow traveler and publisher from New Mexico, who had been there seven years ago. The Volta dam is a Kaiser engineered, Italian built, 440 foot high rock and earthen dam "whose blue prints hadn't even been completed by Kaiser engineers seven years ago," says Mr. Pfeiffer. Now, however, it supplies power to plants at Tema and to Accra and it is hoped that in the future it will supply rural Ghana and neighboring countries as well. It has a lake 200 MILES long, and 255 feet deep at the dam. The maximum depth "after a good rain or two" is expected to be 276 feet.

ANOTHER ENJOYABLE AFTERNOON in Ghana, and opposite from this modern, giant efficiency, was the quaint, intimate, inefficient native market in Accra. That was a colorful, cheerful, noisy, rambling, eye-filling delight. It did have one very modern innovation, too, though.

I would never have suspected Africa of that. Strange piles of pink sponge in cone shapes were stacked in great piles in front of several stalls, and believe it or not we asked, "What is it?" for we really didn't believe our suspicions. The old woman tending the "store" sighed wearily and with absolutely no expression moved her hands in a bulging motion in front of her. We were told, "But I still don't believe it. Next: Nigeria Again"

OUTDOOR LIVING ROOM FOR YOU? Is your back yard just a pleasant place to be or is it an outdoor living room that is the result of at least as much planning as you put into your indoor living room?

It's just about the right season to sit down, our there and do some serious looking around if you're not quite satisfied with the way things are. This suggestion comes as a result of a remark I heard a few evenings ago at a meeting of a committee helping to make plans for the second annual New Jersey Flower and Garden Show next Spring.

One of the nurserymen present got to talking about the educational value of last spring's show and the same value to be built into the next one. He said that as he sells plants he is convinced that many home owners just don't realize all they can do with trees, shrubs and flowers.

EASIER THAN YOU THINK For example, he said, he has built a little patio and waterfall at his place to show how well such an attraction can be used in an outdoor living room. Most of his customers seem surprised and delighted. Then he explains how easy it would be for them to do something similar. He's right, as many average do-it-yourselfers have found out. Last spring's garden show had plenty of ideas for simple, average gardeners.

If you're at all interested in doing a better than average job in landscaping your home, you're welcome to two Rutgers publications. One is called "How to Landscape Your Home," Leaflet 97, and the other is "Landscape Planning for the Home Grounds," Bulletin 304. Get them from your county agricultural agent or send a card to Garden Reporter, College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, New Brunswick 08903.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelton, County Home Economist

REFRESHING KEY TO SUMMERTIME DESSERTS A dessert for summertime that will please wiled appetites needs to be cool and refreshing in appearance, as well as taste.

As the finishing touch to the menu, there are several points that should be considered when choosing a dessert recipe, especially during warm weather.

Flavor and appearance rank high among these points. Avoid a recipe that is overly rich or sweet, because such items are not refreshing on a hot and humid day. With regard to appearance, recipes that produce a summertime look, as a fluffy chiffon, a fresh fruit ambrosia and a frozoh or refrigerator combination, are all most appropriate.

Requirements for storage and the recipe's holding qualities should also be considered. A dish that changes in its appearance or texture when exposed to heat or humidity should be avoided.

Time and cost involved in preparation also enter into the decision. During the summer, usually time is needed for certain activities that you cannot participate in during the rest of the year. Plan to serve food items, in all phases of your menu, that will not require an excessive amount of your time.

The Molded Orange-Cream recipe below, has the advantage that it can be made in advance and stored in the refrigerator until serving time. Also, it offers a refreshing appearance.

MOLDED ORANGE CREAM envelopes unfavored gelatin 1/2 cup sugar 1/4 teaspoon salt cups water, divided can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix gelatin, sugar and salt thoroughly in small saucepan. Add one cup water. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat; stir in remaining water and orange juice concentrate. Chill until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg white, stirring occasionally. Fold whipped cream into orange mixture. Turn into a 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Decorate with candy orange slices, if desired. Yield four servings. Recipe ingredients may be doubled for a two quart mold.

State testing new auto tag

The Department of Transportation, in cooperation with the Division of Motor Vehicles, will undertake an "in the field" demonstration study of the safety value of reflectorized tags on all its 2,163 cars, trucks and rolling equipment.

The project, part of the Department's continuing safety program, will be monitored by the Department and the Division of Motor Vehicles to determine how effective reflectorized plates are on different types of vehicles under varying road conditions.

The background of the new plates is reflectorized, which should add a source of illumination in dark hours. The reflective quality should also help approaching drivers to determine whether the left or right headlight bulb has burned out should such a failure occur in a Department vehicle.

The plates will have a TD prefix (for Transportation Department) instead of the present HV (for Highway Department). The Department of Transportation absorbed the Highway Department when it was created last December. Passenger and related cars will have three digits and trucks and road equipment, four.

Bus lines to resume daily express runs to seashore points

Daily express bus service between Northern New Jersey and the seashore will be resumed by Consolidated Shore Lines Saturday. The route links Bergen, Passaic, Essex and Union Counties directly with Asbury Park and Seaside Heights via the Garden State Parkway.

Service is provided from Paterson Park via Routes 201 and 301, along Route 46 to East Paterson, then to the shore. Routes 200 and 300 provide similar service from Teaneck. In the Paterson-Passaic-Citron-Bloomfield area, local service is provided through Irvington, Union, Roselle and Rahway and Union Counties to the two shore resorts also via the Garden State Parkway. Route 100 provides service only from Newark to Seaside Heights.

Asbury Park is 1 1/2 hours from Paterson and Seaside Heights is 2 1/4 hours away. Similar running times apply in other areas. At the shore points the terminals are centrally located and connections may be made for any community between Long Branch and Point Pleasant.

There are air-conditioned vehicles on all routes, hi-back seats and picture windows. South of Bloomfield, where the buses enter the Parkway, Essex County is served from East Orange, Newark and Irvington, and Union County from Union, Roselle Park, Linden and Rahway.

Shore communities served enroute to Asbury Park include Sayreville, Monroeville, Lawrence Harbor, Cliffwood Beach, Keyport, Red Bank and Eatontown. The Seaside Heights route also serve a Brielle, Point Pleasant Beach, Normandy Beach and Lavallette.

Academy test offered next Tuesday

Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-12th Dist.) this week urged young men residing in the 12th Congressional District to take advantage of the opportunity to compete for appointments to the U. S. service academies in classes entering next summer.

She said U.S. Civil Service Commission qualifying examinations will be held on Tuesday, July 11, at the Hubbard School, 661 W. 8th Street, Plainfield, and the Morrisstown High School Cafeteria, Early Street, Morrisstown. All applicants are required to take the examination, on the basis of which the Commission's nominations are later made to report for Tuesday's exam. Mrs. Dwyer explained, a make-up examination will be held on Aug. 22.

The 12th Congressional District consists of all of Union County except Elizabeth, Linden and Rahway together with the following communities in western Essex County: Hillsboro, Short Hills, Livingston, Roseland, Essex Fells, Caldwell, West Caldwell, North Caldwell and Fairfield.

Congresswoman Dwyer pointed out that the 12th Congressional District will be entitled to one appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, one appointment to the Military Academy at West Point, one appointment to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs and a chance to compete for the 10 appointments to the Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point allocated to New Jersey.

INTERESTED YOUNG MEN in the Union-Exsex suburbs, who are not yet 21, should write or call her office as soon as possible to obtain the necessary information and to submit their applications, she said. Congresswoman Dwyer's district office is located at 408 Somerset St., Plainfield, (Telephone: 754-6686), and her Washington office is at 2421 Rayburn House Office Building (Telephone: (202) 225-5561).

Under her competitive merit system of making appointments, Mrs. Dwyer emphasized, all applicants must take the civil service examination. The successful nominees—the six top candidates for each appointment at Annapolis, West Point and the Air Force Academy, and the top ten at the Merchant Marine Academy, must compete further among themselves for each appointment by means of the academies' entrance and physical examinations and their overall evaluation of each candidate's potential as an officer, she said.

One of the first Members of Congress to adopt a completely competitive system of making appointments to the academies, Mrs. Dwyer believes the system has been especially successful. She points to the unusually large number of young men who compete for appointments from her District, the extra appointments awarded to her candidates, and the high proportion of successful appointees who win places on the honor rolls of the academies.

County cancer group names Reid new executive director

The appointment of Alan L. Reid of Westfield as executive director of the Union County Chapter of the American Cancer Society was announced yesterday by Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, chapter president.

Reid, former administrative assistant with the Valley Settlement House in West Orange, has assumed his duties which will include organizing and directing the activities of more than 100 volunteers during the annual financial Cancer Crusades. An alumnus of Colgate University, Reid did graduate work at the University of Chicago in business administration and was employed in that field in Massachusetts before joining the West Orange social agency with primary duties in fund-raising.

Reid succeeds Thomas H. Barnett, who resigned to become development associate with the Masterwork Music and Art Foundation in Morristown.

Dr. Wilkins, who is president of Newark State College in Union, said he and the chapter's executive board were fortunate in obtaining the talents of a man with Reid's organizational ability and background in social services. "We are confident," Dr. Wilkins said, "that Mr. Reid's efforts will help the chapter grow in services and educational programming and will result in the collection of much-needed additional funds for the Cancer Society's vast nationwide research program.

With a most dedicated group of volunteers continuing off the job, the Union County Chapter will continue to be a leader in bringing the story of the American Cancer Society to the people."

Results of 5 months work listed by Women's Volunteer Service

Mrs. Walter Hildebrandt of the Women's Volunteer Service, Union recently reported to the American Cancer Society the results of five-months' work of the volunteers (from January to May).

Fourteen regular workers sewed 2,000 dressings and 5,650 dressings were furnished to the patients. Volunteers made 300 bed pads and distributed 480. They borrowed occasional dressings from units in Roselle Park, Etnaheth and Kenilworth. Items also were furnished from the medical loan closer of the volunteers, such as hospital beds, bed rails, wheel chairs and other sick room needs.

Fourteen patients were reportedly supplied with dressings and seven patients were transported to hospitals for our patient treatment in Summit, Newark and Elizabeth, covering 1,500 miles.

Volunteers are currently offering service to patients including an eight-year-old boy.

Mrs. Hildebrandt announced that there has been generous support from the public in supply lines for the dressings by depositing worn sheets, towels, table linens in hampers supplied for that purpose and located at each of the local post offices and at the Moray LaRue Laundry and the Diamond Cleaners, which wash and press materials delivered by Mrs. Edward C. Varga of the Volunteers.

The Volunteers, who meet once a week temporarily suspended work recently because of interior repairs scheduled for the Veterans' Home on High Street, their place of meeting. Dressings may be obtained by any Union resident upon request. Local doctors refer patients to the Volunteer Service, it was reported, although most patients are brought to the attention of the volunteers by visiting nurses.

The Volunteers have been a branch of the American Cancer Society, and they plan to service any Union patient in need of dressings for any medical reason.

A collective birthday luncheon was held at the last meeting, June 28, at the Veterans' Home, Mrs. Theodore Hubert served as hostess. Miss Ruth Yates of Columbus, O., was a guest of honor.

SPORTS CORNER

Legion team plays three home games during next week

The Springfield American Legion baseball team, still having luck success with their new opponents, will play three home games in the coming week, all at 6 p.m. at Ruby Field.

The team, sponsored by the Legion Continental Post, will play host to Roselle tomorrow, Union on Monday and Westfield on Tuesday. The Continentals lost to Kenilworth, 13 to 1; to Roselle, 6-2, and to Westfield, 9 to 2, in action last week.

Springfield could garner only three hits against Kenilworth, while the other team had 12. The lone Springfield run came in the third inning, when Steve Jupa doubled to drive in Steve Hirschorn.

The other Springfield hits were by Hirschorn and Rich Johnson.

Steve Jupa pitched a strong game in the 6 to 2 loss to Roselle, allowing only six hits. Bettae support from his mates in the field might have reversed the outcome. A blast by Ron Azarewicz in the second inning gave Springfield its first run and was the highlight of the game for the Continentals. They scored again in the fifth on the first of Rich Johnson's two hits.

The Springfield catcher, Dominick Fabrizio, was hit in the head by a foul tip in the sixth inning. He will be out for the remainder of the season.

Jeff Black allowed Westfield only five hits in the game lost, 9-2, but three of them came in the fourth inning. Aided by several bases on balls, the Westfield team erupted for Rich Johnson's made good in a number of runs in the first. The other Springfield score came in the fifth on a double by Bob Janukowicz and another single by Johnson.

Best Pharmacy remains undefeated, Spring beats Wilcap to narrow gap

Best Pharmacy is still undefeated and maintains its lead over the Springfield Adult Softball League after defeating A. R. Meeker and Marech Advertising. Spring Liqors is close behind with only one loss out of six games.

Best played two thrillers last week and managed late inning victories in each contest to keep their record unbeaten after five league games. Best put on a four-run rally in the sixth inning to edge past Meeker by a final count of 8-4. Thursday evening Best had another four-run rally in the top of the last inning to score a come from behind victory over Marech Advertising, 12-9.

The Best-Meeker game was a pitcher's battle with Scott Donington holding the Meeker bats quiet, and Jack Lord performing in similar style for the Meeker forces. John Konecny's first inning home run and third inning triple accounted for all of Best's four runs entering the bottom of the sixth. Dick Baker's heavy hitting accounted for most of Meeker's four runs as the sixth inning began. The first place pharmacists team scored four runs in the sixth frame after two outs. A walk to Donington started the rally. Jack Aggar followed with a home run over the center field fence for two runs. Two additional runs scored when Larry Doyle singled, Stu Falkh belted a triple, and Konecny laid down a perfect bunt with two out.

THE MARECH-BEST battle last Thursday under the lights was a tight battle from the first to the fourth. Marech, who was off the ground last. Best kept the game close as they tallied five big runs in the second inning. Best won the battle with another late inning surge. The pharmacists pushed across three runs in the sixth and four in the seventh to grab the victory. The big hits for the league leaders during this game were a second inning double by Keith Nagel, who made his first start for Best, a slugger triple by steller third baseman Stu Falkh, and a last inning bases loaded single by Konecny.

Mike Moroze and Lenny Braunstein batting in the second and third spots did most of the damage for the hard hitting Marech team. Moroze belted out four hits in four times at the plate and scored four times. Mike also drove home a run. Braunstein was three for four and drove in three runs. Bob Ross pitched well in a losing cause for Marech. Ross also made his debut for the game as he lashed out with a run-scoring double and also contributed a first inning safety.

Spring Liqors kept very much in contention last week as they turned back the hard hitting Wilcap team, 11-3. This was a hotly contested battle as both squads wanted the victory very badly. Tight pitching controlled the game for the first three innings, as John Ehrhardt of Spring and Bill Savarin of Wilcap sent their opponents down in order. Spring exploded for seven runs in the fourth inning to clinch the victory.

Spring's seven run fourth came after the first two batters were retired without a run. John Ehrhardt continued to establish himself as the league's top pitcher as he hurled his fifth victory without a loss. Ehrhardt was in control of the big Wilcap batter through out the game, allowing only a two run double by Rick Soriente in the fifth inning, and a run scoring single by Ray Rieger in the sixth, maintaining Wilcap's hopes for a comeback in the final out of the game.

THE PBA MOVED closer to the top of the standings last week when they ripped Remlinger Real Estate, 10-9. PBA took home the victory in the last of the seventh inning. With two outs in the final stanza Sam Calabrese followed by a single to right. Jim Crowley followed with a rousing double to left and the Remlinger left fielder bobbled the ball. Calabrese sped home with the winning run. The final score in this contest was a true indication of the see-saw battle. Remlinger held a slim lead until Charlie Franchosie of PBA tied the score with a bases empty home run in the fifth inning. PBA moved ahead in the sixth on a double by Jack Horn, Sam Calabrese, and Joe Blanda drove home the tying markers.

Butch Ben, Ron Pedersen, and Ben Tivona were other big hitters for PBA; while Stan Wisniewski and Ron Caporilli belted the ball for Remlinger. Calabrese pitched the victory for PBA. Wilcap's Casternovia took the loss for the real estate team.

Remlinger's week was not a total loss, however, as they topped Somerset Bus and Meeker in earlier games to give them a plus total for the week. Remlinger defeated Somerset, 21-11, and moved past Meeker in a pitcher's duel, 7-2. Dennis Kosowicz led Remlinger in their win over Somerset. Kosowicz started a batter's dream as he went six for six. He belted five singles and a triple.

Vince Pilone, Bob Tichaz, and Dom Casternovia also contributed to the rout with their booming bats as each belted a home run over the fences. Tichaz had four other hits in the contest. Casternovia's four hits by Ben Marech was high for that bus driver. John Tipton, the Somerset first baseman, also hit well as he lashed out three hits and drew a base on balls in four times at bat. Dom Casternovia pitched the win, while Jerry Peti was tagged with the loss.

Dom Casternovia hurled one of the best games of the young season, as he lead Remlinger-Meeker, 7-2 in a two-night contest. Casternovia had the Meeker team shut out until the final inning, when an error led the way to a pair of unearned runs. Gil VanBuskirk delivered two Meeker runners in the final inning with an opposite field safety after a Remlinger error and a Dick Tinkham double. Dennis Kosowicz started the Remlinger scoring in the third inning when he belted a two run home run. A four run rally by Remlinger in the fourth inning put the game away. This rally was paced by triples off the bat of Charlie Haas and Bob Tichaz. Another Haas three bagger in the seventh scored Ron Caporilli for the final run of the game.

Meeker-WENT DOWN for the third time last week as Anderson Plumbing and Heating won its first game of the season last Wednesday, 15-10. A five run third inning and a six run fourth stanza by Anderson put the game out of reach for the Meeker forces. Both of the Anderson big innings were highlighted by towering home runs by shortstop Jim Pieper. Pieper belted a two run home run in the third and then followed in the fourth with a bases loaded homer. Pieper had a total of four hits in the game and drove in eight to account for more than half of his team's total. Matt Allen at first base for Anderson had three hits to help pace the attack.

John Miller and Dick Baker were the batting stars for Meeker. Miller had his best day of the season as he belted two home runs. Both shots came with Baker on base with a double. Baker contributed a triple with two mates aboard in the fifth inning. Harry Anderson was credited with the win for the Anderson team, while Jack Lord dropped his third consecutive game on the mound for Meeker.

High schools start summer sessions

Summer school began at the four regional high schools last week with an enrollment almost one-third the size of the regular school enrollment. The Arthur L. Johnson school, Clark, had 554 of whom were in a number of night sessions from neighboring communities. This was also the case in the other three schools.

The total of 1462 included in addition to the Johnson enrollment, 365 at Governor-Livingston, Berkeley Heights; 305 at Jonathan Dayton, Springfield, and 238 at David Brainerd, Kenilworth.

Of the total in attendance, approximately half are taking advanced or enrichment courses; the rest are in review or make-up work. This is the 10th year for the regional summer schools which began at Jonathan Dayton in Springfield and Arthur L. Johnson in Clark.

Two Springfield girls on dean's list at UJC

Union and Essex County area residents interested in helping the people of developing nations to help themselves are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 P.M. on Saturday, July 15 at the Federal Office Building, room B-89, Newark, or the main Post Office in Plainfield, among others.

The test makes no general aptitude and the ability to learn a foreign language, nor education or achievement. It is given to determine where and how an applicant will be happiest and best utilized overseas. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail. The test takes about one hour and a half.

The application form, available from local post office or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D.C. 20525, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the test before taking the test.

Endless Summer set in fourth Ormont week

Bruce Brown, 28, who wrote the script for "The Endless Summer," photographed teenage surfers, Michael Hynson and Robert August, who followed summer around the globe in search of the perfect wave, also produced and directed the film.

"The Endless Summer," which starts its fourth week at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, was photographed in Senegal, Ghana, Nigeria, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Tahiti and Hawaii, as the camera followed the boys 35,000 miles.

Rustic setting, 'big city' mood At 'Mitty's' on Montauk Highway

By PAT BAIRD
With more New Jerseyans than ever seeking the more secluded beaches of Long Island as their vacation spot, there's a good chance of passing "Mitty's General Store" on the Montauk highway, (Route 27) in Watermill, N.Y. But don't stop in for sarsaparilla and vanilla wafers. Owner Tom Ward doesn't have any.

You may not see any penny candy or crack-or-barrets, but what you will see are people like the Mammis and the Pappas, the Lovin' Spoonful, Joey Heatherton, George Hamilton and Glamour cover girl, All McGraw, to name just a few.

around the corner. The setting is rustic, but the mood is as "big city" as the big city clubs. The bar, the bands, the crowds and the fashions are all there, along with many well-known entertainers who go there to be entertained.

Mitty's is a young enterprise. Ward, fellow-Englishman, maître of Tony Hughes and head bartender Ray Ford from Garden City, L.I., along with all of the waiters and bartenders are all in their 20's. Because of this the atmosphere is youthful but the clientele cover every age category.

In years past the general store theme had been dropped and Mitty's, established 1963, became something of a private club. However, Ward has managed to keep the best of both worlds. There may be hex signs on the walls but not a checkered tablecloth in sight. The waiters wear blue jeans, but the black and white striped canope is still on the ceiling. You can go there wearing anything from crepe culottes to levis; silk shirts to madras jackets and still be appropriately dressed. You can sit around the dance floor in the barn-like back room with a party of 20 or choose the leather-bound booths in the canoped cocktail lounge.

Mitty's only historical significance is that it was the first discotheque on eastern Long Island, but it is still a sight worth seeing.

theater began in 1927 in a play, "Wall Street" in which he had five lines.

Among his theatrical achievements were "Guys and Dolls," "Margin For Error," "The Devil's Advocate," "Make a Million," "Heartbreak House," "Light Up the Sky," "Street Scene," "Room Service" and "Dinner at Eight."

KEEP CHECKING
Keep checking to see if someone is following too closely, warns the Allstate Motor Club. If so, pull over to the right and signal the driver to pass you.

Baird Puppeteers on Sanford screen

One of the most popular puppeteers, Bill and Cora Baird fulfilled three-ply functions for producer-director Robert Wise's "The Sound of Music," which started its third week at the newly-renovated Sanford Theater, Irvington, yesterday.

In adapting the Rodgers and Hammerstein stage musical for 20th Century Fox, Ernest Lehman wrote a special puppet sequence. The Bairds, who have traveled throughout the world with their own puppet show, were called in by Wise to create a new set of puppets for "The Sound of Music," to teach members of the cast how to operate the marionettes, and to work behind the scenes themselves for part of the number.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: Your advice closed the door on marriage to the 27 year old mother of two and the 46 year old father of four who were thinking of being wed.

Couldn't they go to a marriage counselor and face their petty jealousies? Perhaps it is harder to build a marriage with hate at the beginning, but it can be done.

Dear Mrs. Conroy: When a man asks a woman to marry him on the conditions that she give up her children, this is no petty difference of opinions. The whole basis of beginning a marriage is LOVE ...not hate. I see no future nor basis here for anything other than to forget each other.

K of C elects Donnelly as Kennedy Navigator

Wilbur N. Donnelly of Union has been elected Faithful Navigator of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy—General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus of Union.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

During these warm, sunny summer days and evenings, television and movie-viewing can be a positive and pleasurable experience for the family. To make it a satisfying and worthwhile experience, you, the parents, must show initiative and time, to guide your youngsters in their choices and join them in watching.

Careful selection of the programs your youngsters view can provide informative and understanding experiences. Characters portrayed often serve as models for future behavior. You may suddenly see your youngster imitate a pattern of speech or behavior that was portrayed a week or a day ago in a movie or TV program. They decide when it is an appropriate response for the situation and, if properly selected it may be good.

Your children may become emotionally involved in what they see. Thus, they can experience just as if they, themselves were there, the fear or joy, the humor or sorrow of the character being portrayed. Remember, your children can obtain a wealth of understanding of everyday life in this manner if, you, the parents, again help select the program.

Parents still share the experience with your children. Even listening while working in an adjoining room can make it possible to discuss how each of you interpreted what you saw. Fiction is one means through which children can separate the real from the "make believe". Here again, parent-child discussions can be an important tool to help provide a sense of security and guidance in making final judgments.

TV and movies can, thus be positive and pleasurable experiences for you and your youngsters.

He is a charter member of the Kennedy General Assembly and has served as Faithful Comptroller and Faithful Purser prior to his election. He is a member of Anchor Club 53 and the N. J. ADJUST SPEED

Too many drivers are heading for tragedy because they drive too fast for prevailing conditions. Speed must be adjusted to road, weather and traffic conditions, particularly during light drizzles and at night.

PASSES GAVEL — Outgoing Faithful Navigator Charles I. Spingola of John F. Kennedy General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, Union, passes the gavel to his successor, Wilbur N. Donnelly, Spingola was elected Faithful Admiral of the group.

Rinaldo supporting plan to consolidate 3 state authorities

Republican State Senatorial candidate Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union this week called for the consolidation of all three highway authorities in the state. Rinaldo noted that D. Louis Tonti, director of the authority operating the Garden State Parkway, recently went on record as favoring such a plan.

Rinaldo said "the costly duplication and overlapping inherent in the maintenance of three bodies — the Highway Authority (which operates the Parkway), the New Jersey Turnpike Authority and the Atlantic City Expressway — is a luxury this tax-weary state can ill afford."

"Common sense — a commodity that seems to be missing in the make-up of the Hughes Administration in Trenton — tells us that one authority could effect economies that three bodies cannot hope to achieve. A combined purchasing program alone would save untold hundreds of thousands of dollars, perhaps even millions."

The Union County Republican said implementation of his suggestion would be a logical step in the right direction. There simply can be no justification for the continued existence of three separate staffs whose duties and responsibilities are essentially parallel. New Jersey should be put back on the road toward economy in government. Combining these three authorities into one would take us a few giant steps down the road. In the process, we would realize a far more effective administration of our toll roads — and at far less cost."

Rinaldo also called his suggestion a "logical extension of my philosophy that economies can be effected in government, by the application of common sense and a sincere desire to achieve economy. Now, Jersey has suffered under the yoke of extravagant state government for too long. It's time for a change to economy."

MISS DANCE — Jan Weber, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wisniewski of 1435 Vauxhall rd., Union, was recently named Miss Dance of the New York City Chapter in the Dance Masters of America contest. She will compete on Aug. 3 with girls from about 20 other states for the title of "Miss Dance of America" and a $1,000 scholarship to the school of her choice.

FAMILY POT LUCK

BY HELEN HALE

SPECIAL TREATS

Cooked, cleaned shrimp tastes wonderful when it's mixed-with-coconut-which has been covered with cream and refrigerated. For coconut-flavored cream over the shrimp-coconut before baking.

Halve fresh pineapple, longwise and scoop-out pulp. Place a layer of cooked rice in pineapple, then top with chicken salad. Bake pineapple with mixture in a moderate-oven-45 minutes.

Wrap chicken-liver and water chestnut with bacon and broil until bacon is done for appetizer nibbles.

Stack small onion rings and on them, green pepper strips. Brush fish with mild-barbecue sauce, broil and serve, turning vegetables, once.

HELEN'S FAVORITE

Chocolate Dreams (Makes 16)

2 cups quick-cooking oatmeal

1/2 cup brown sugar

1/4 cup butter, melted

1 package (6 ounces) chocolate chips

1/4 cup dark corn syrup

Combine oatmeal and brown sugar. Add melted butter; stir. Fold in chocolate chips and dark corn syrup. Pack into a greased 7 x 11-inch pan. Bake in a moderately hot (375 degree)-oven, 25 minutes. Mixture is bubbly when removed from oven. Let stand 10 minutes, then cut into bars and remove from pan to rack to finish cooling.
