Action on changes in zoning code to wait for new year

Mayor sees time needed for hearings

Trenton meeting slated in bid for traffic signals

By ABNER GOLD

The Township Committee now plans to defer action on the proposed revision of the zoning code until after the first of the year, Mayor Arthur M. Falkin disclosed at the governing body's meeting Tuesday night at Town Hall. Noting that the committee plans to discuss the proposals in detail at an executive session on Dec. 11, Mayor Falkin said he doubted whether there would be enough time for a public hearing and formal Township Committee discussion before January.

Committee member Robert G. Planer reported that he and other town officials will meet this week with Attorney General Arthur J. Silb by an effort to speed up state approval of several traffic changes long sought by the township. These include a traffic light and channelization of traffic at Mountain, Henshaw and S. Springfield avenues, a traffic light at Mountain and Hillside avenues and flashing lights at four locations in front of public schools.

These are the areas between Town Hall and Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain avenue in front of the Edward Walton School, S. Springfield avenue in front of the Thelma Sandmeier School and S. Springfield avenue between the Raymond-Chisholm and Florence Gaudineer schools.

Planer commented that permission had been stalled in the past by the insistence of the state Highway Department that the speed limit on Mountain avenue be raised from 25 to 40 miles per hour. Local officials have consistently refused to comply.

IF THE IMPASSE continues after the meeting, Planer said, he would be prepared to have the township put up the signals in front of the schools. He said the township would be ready to pay for the signals.

Mayor Falkin spoke briefly in memory of two civic figures who died recently. He praised the services of Dr. Ralph Wood, police and fire physician and a member of the Board of Health, who died last week, and of Wilbur Belander, mayor from 1940 to 1942, and uncle of Police Chief William C. Schlander. The former mayor died on Tuesday.

The committee approved, without dissent, a final subdivision plan and a zoning variance for Philip Werner to erect a small manufacturing building at 20 Hillside ave. The property, between the World of Tile store and Commerce street, is in a limited business zone.

In other action, members voted to accept the resignation of Patrolman John C. Ganley from the police force, effective immediately. Planer noted that Ganley will become a copilot for a commercial airline.

Churches, temples join in sponsorship of holiday services

Several congregations in Springfield will unite in worship once again in the annual, interfaith Thanksgiving service. A spokesman stated, "Each year the citizens of Springfield are invited to join in recognizing the spiritual values of this national holiday through worship and song in a format of service, suited to the common beliefs of the Judeo-Christian tradition."

According to the rotation plan, followed in establishing the place of the joint service, it will be held this year at Temple Shavey Shalom, Springfield avenue, on Wednesday night at 8.

The participating congregations will be represented by their spiritual leaders, who will share in conducting the services. Rabbi Reuben R. Levine of Temple Beth-Abraham will deliver the sermon, entitled "Gates at Our Table." The other congregations taking part include the Antioch Baptist Church, the Rev. Clarence Alston, pastor; the First Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Bruce Evans and the Rev. Joseph Hourani, pastors; St. James Roman Catholic Church, Monsignor Francis X. Coyle, Father Richard M. Nardone and Father Edward R. Oetting, pastors; the Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church, the Rev. James Dewart, pastor.

"The annual joint Thanksgiving service, which has stood as a symbol of brotherhood and good will in Springfield since it was established some 10 years ago, is open to all who wish to attend," the spokesman added.

To provide notice of snow closings

Plans for announcing school closings because of snow or other bad weather this winter were announced this week by John O. Berwick, superintendent of schools. He strongly urged parents not to call the Police Department or school offices to learn about closings.

School closings will be announced on the John Gambling program over radio station WOR, with reference to Springfield public schools. Civil defense sirens will be sounded at 7:30 and 8:15 a.m. to announce snow closings. Berwick also suggested that parents call the class mothers, who will have the information by 7:40 a.m.

Holiday deadline

Careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday news deadline is advised for the Nov. 23 issue, which will be printed a day early to avoid conflict with the Thanksgiving holiday. All organizational, social or other news items for the issue of Nov. 23 should be submitted to this office by tomorrow.

Methodist teens schedule dance

We're throwing in the sheets and pillowcases

You buy a new flameless electric dryer and we'll throw in Lady Pepperell permanently pressed sheets and pillowcases as a Special Bonus.

And when you throw these permanently pressed sheets and pillowcases into your new flameless electric dryer, they'll come out looking as soft and fresh and crisp as the day they were made. In fact, the makers of permanent press fabrics recommend "tumble drying" as the best way to keep materials wrinkle-free and textures soft. This is just one of the many reasons why women prefer flameless electric dryers: They're clean, safe and cost less to buy. And they don't require a special flue, so you can install one wherever you please.

Your Special Bonus, double bed set of Lady Pepperell Miralux sheets and pillowcases, comes in the beautiful Rose Tote print pictured above. The set consists of one full flat 81" x 104" top sheet, one double fitted all-over bottom sheet, and two 42" x 36" pillowcases. It will make an elegant addition to your bedroom.

How to avoid conflicts in school board timing

The current issue of this newspaper contains an appeal from the Springfield Council of Parent-Teacher Organizations to the township Board of Education to change its meeting night from the third Tuesday of each month to end a conflict with the Regional High School board, which meets the same night.

The purpose is a worthy one. All those interested in obtaining the best possible education for local boys and girls have a legitimate desire to attend meetings of both boards of education. When both boards meet simultaneously, any interest in education can foster the development of a split personality.

We are aware of previous efforts within the Springfield school board to reschedule meetings, particularly since the regional body moved its meetings to Springfield last year.

These efforts foundered largely on the objections of board members who argued that they had sought election to the board on the basis of Tuesday meetings, and that a change would interfere with their business schedules.

While respecting the inconvenience involved, we submit that there is a greater inconvenience caused to those citizens; few as they may be, who are genuinely interested in education.

When the inconvenience also involves a local newspaper faced with the problem of covering simultaneous meetings with limited manpower, we submit that the board should again consider making the change. Under present conditions, we face increasing difficulties in bringing before the public the major contributions to civic welfare made by each of the nine members.

We also suggest that the problem of conflict in meeting dates might well be a legitimate issue to be discussed by candidates for the local board, who will file their petitions in the coming weeks.

The regional board, of course, could also change its schedule. This, however, would call for a decision by representatives of six communities who can hardly give priority to the problems of one out of the six.

The best way to obtain action is not through petitions or letters. It is through personal participation by every citizen who is concerned.

Both boards will meet this Tuesday evening at 8. The Springfield board will be at the James Caldwell School. The regional board will be at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, in the library on the second floor.

Both groups welcome visitors. If anyone has anything nice to say about educational conditions, board members are only too happy to listen. If there are complaints or questions, board members are quite willing to listen, and often to provide answers.

In education, as in many other fields, a community gets what it deserves. The best way to deserve the best is to participate. A change in the schedule of the local board would certainly encourage participation, but the prime need is still, and will always be, for people willing to participate.

OPPORTUNITIES IN ALUMINUM
The year 1967 will go on record as one of frustration for the aluminum industry. While a bearish attitude toward aluminum stocks seems quite widespread, this might prove to be the wrong attitude. As a group, aluminum equities have declined some 20 percent from their 1967 highs of mid-August, and they are now back near the lows of January and March. Thus, based on prospective improvement in the industry's operating climate, the aluminum is at attractive buying levels.

Despite the first signs of a pickup, aluminum shipments for 1967 will be around 4.5 million tons—close to last year's level. But it should be noted that 1966 shipments included 326,000 tons of aluminum taken from the government surplus stockpile. This year, stockpile takings will barely exceed 60,000 tons.

In other words, 1967 consumption of aluminum supplied by producers should be some seven percent above last year's level. However, producers' inability to capitalize on the healthy increase in shipments from their own production lines constitutes a major frustration. Early in the year, price increases of 1/2 cent and 1 cent per pound were posted on aluminum ingot and fabricated products; and it was widely expected that higher shipment from production lines, plus better prices, would result in handsome earnings increases.

The reverse has been true. Faced with declining demand, the industry resorted to price discounting on fabricated products—probably blotting out a good deal of 1966's hard-won improvements. Still, the picture is not quite as bleak as it looks right now.

from HISTORY'S SCRAPBOOK

INDUSTRY PROFITS in a recovery year are likely to rebound more strongly than the actual percentage increases in shipments. This makes aluminum equities attractive as medium term speculation today—in addition to their favorable longer-term growth outlook.

Letters to Editor

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be withheld if the letter is of political nature. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

"SEPARATION OF RACES"
That which, perhaps in their indiscretion, my fellow voters wrought last week in this community, county and state prompts me to say what this nation urgently needs is a separation of the races. But before I am misunderstood, let me hasten to add that I have no ethnic references.

It was unfortunate that situations over which they had no control whatsoever cost many worthy officeholders and promising aspirants the positions they sought. People obviously lumped their dissatisfactions and went to the polls to cast a massive protest vote—regardless of the vanity of their act.

What has transpired in Southeast Asia in the past five years may be of substantial concern to a township committee in Springfield, a freeholder in Union County or a state senator in Trenton. But in their official capacities, there is nothing they can do to alter the situation.

What has transpired in the administration in Trenton recently, for better or worse, may be of satisfaction or annoyance to a candidate for municipal office. But he would hardly be in a position as a candidate or local official to engineer any changes at the state capital.

New Jersey elects its governors in the year ending a presidential campaign for a very solid reason—to enable the voters to differentiate among the separate issues. But last week the voter generally voted against everything, from Vietnam to "strikers' benefits" and from school busing to increased taxation. The poor guy running for office on the other ticket never had a chance when the massive tide of protest engulfed the state from High Point to Cape May.

If campaigns for municipal office were detached from the county and state races, and if the latter two were also separate, I think we would have a more realistic outcome. At least the voter could distinguish among candidates on the basis of issues, not emotions. Individual candidates might have a greater opportunity to win reward for their accomplishments, or censure for their own abuses, without the confusion of irrelevant, unpopular issues.

There are no insurmountable obstacles to separate voting days for municipal, school, county, state and national contests. More meaningful elections could easily overcome the apathy of the electorate that we have come to expect on election days.

ON LOSS OF SON

The following letter of thanks was sent this week by Mrs. Robert F. Walter of Springfield, whose son, Robert, was killed while on Navy duty on Oct. 24. Mrs. Walter wrote:

To Loyalty Chapter, Order of De Molay; to Unity Chapter, Order of Eastern Star; to Franklin Masonic Lodge; to Barton Press Co.; to the many teachers of Springfield schools; to the employees of Springfield Welding Co.; where Rob worked before going in service; to Continental Post, American Legion; to the members of the different Councils of the Daughters of America;

To Rev. Evans and the members of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield, who gave Rob a wonderful church service; to Miss Bunny and Miss Carol's Service of Dance, of which Rob was so proud to be a student; to our wonderful neighbors and friends for all their kindness, and to the boys who were his friends.

To all these, the Walter family says that what is worthwhile in this country of ours is worth fighting for. Our Robbie died a hero. To the officers and men aboard the USS Bennington, thank you for your kind words, telling us Rob was a wonderful pal and sailor, and for the service you held on board ship in his memory, and for the escorts and full military funeral. Down deep in our hearts, we know that our Rob was proud.

And to Smith and Smith for their kindness and all that they did for our Rob. Our hearts are breaking, but we are proud of our boy. MRS. ROBERT WALTER

In Past Tense

ONE YEAR AGO

GERARD J. VEZZA, Democrat, loses his bid to defeat former Mayor PHILIP DELVECCHIO by 519 votes (not counting absentee ballots) out of 6,247 ballots cast. HENRY S. WRIGHT, the township's permanent assessor for office, receives one vote for county freeholder. Local Republicans are pleased, but not surprised, by DELVECCHIO's easy triumph. Continuing her campaign against what she regards as "death trap" conditions along Baltusrol way, a determined Springfield housewife sends copies of a petition, calling for prompt action to save lives, to President, GOVERNOR HIGH and State Highway Commissioner RUSSELL H. MULLEN, and various federal and state legislators. The petition, signed by approximately 150 township residents, was organized by MRS. BERT GOLDBERG of 232 Lenox Ave.

TOWNSHIP COMMITTEEMAN

VINCENT J. BONADIES, a militant Democratic organization, defeat HENRY GRABARZ and the other Republicans running in Springfield by 723 votes. BONADIES wins a total of 2,931 votes in the Township. BONADIES loses the Fifth and Sixth Districts where there is considerable concern that he might have taken a beating because this is the area where the proposed new Rt. 22 was to cross. Springfield residents vote three to one for a charter study, but half of those who vote for the measure fail to vote for members of a commission to carry out the study. Quips observed in the Springfield Sun on BONADIES' election: "He rode on GOVERNOR ROBERT MEYNER'S Coattails. He didn't let everybody know that he was a Democrat. Wait until next year... All he was interested in was winning the election. Oh, I was sure he would win."

It's pretty hard to lose an election when you have no opposition. Ask Township Committeeman FRED A. BROWN and CHARLES PHILLIPS. The two Republicans are the only candidates running locally and win with a tally of 1,033. The total even exceeds that of Senator-elect ALBERT W. HAWKES. CLIFF FORD, F. CASE is easily elected by Springfielders and other residents of Union County to serve in the General Assembly in Trenton. CAGE polls 979 votes in Springfield. WARREN W. HALSEY, supervising principal of Regional High School, announces the unveiling of a Service Honor Roll, a plaque inscribed with a list of the names of students and teachers from Region 1 in the armed services. GREGG FROST lost in the primary to CHARLES PHILLIPS in September, but some people still don't believe it. FROST receives two write-in votes in his own Second District. He also received a vote for justice of the peace in the Fourth District.

PROFILE—Rabbi Marshall S. Hurwitz

By BEA SMITH

Since Rabbi Israel Dresner has been away in Israel on a Sabbatical year, a very special interim spiritual leader has been filling in for him in Temple Sharey Shalom. He is Rabbi Marshall S. Hurwitz of New York, a college professor and writer.

"I started here," says Rabbi Hurwitz, "in September—and will be here until June of 1968, during the time Rabbi Dresner is away on his trip to Israel. I'm replacing him as a pinch hitter, you might say," he chuckles.

"I'm sure I'm a bit of a change for the congregation," he says. "In a quiet man, but a great supporter and admirer of the kind of activity that Rabbi Dresner does do. I am also a personal friend of his," he adds.

"We went to school together," Rabbi Hurwitz explains that the temple's program is regular and remains basically the same as when Rabbi Dresner was in charge.

"I'M CONTINUING the program with no innovations, because actually, I'm here only temporarily. You see, I teach regular classes at the Hebrew Union College Jewish Institute of Religion. I was an active member of the rabbinate for one year, but my chief activity is academic."

Rabbi Hurwitz has also taught religion at Columbia University. "At present, I teach Greek and Latin at City College. My chief activity," says Rabbi Hurwitz, "during former years was to help to organize new congregations for the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. I helped organize congregations in Bloomfield, Edison Township and other places. Mainly, my activity during the week is in teaching. I am primarily a teacher."

Rabbi Hurwitz, who was born in the Bronx, was graduated from Stuyvesant High School in New York City, City College, where he earned a BS degree, Hebrew Union College, the Jewish Institute of Religion, where he received his rabbinical ordination and a master of arts degree.

He did graduate work at Columbia University and the University of Hamburg in Germany, and traveled extensively throughout Europe.

"THE RABBI STARTED teaching" about eight years ago. And he lectured in comparative religion at Columbia University. I also taught

RABBI MARSHALL S. HURWITZ
Greek and Latin at Brooklyn College, and now I teach Roman law at City College.

Rabbi Hurwitz comes from a long line of rabbis. "The first born son in the family for generations has been a rabbi," he explains. "My father was Rabbi Saul M. Hurwitz, my grandfather, Rabbi Benjamin Hurwitz and my great-grandfather also was a rabbi."

The rabbi who considers himself a specialist in the Greek translation of the Bible, is at present, "writing a book on Hellenistic literature and on Greek and Jewish literature."

While he divides his time between teaching in college and serving as a spiritual leader in Springfield, Rabbi Hurwitz does spend much of his time here in the community.

"The people here," he comments, "are hospitable and very intelligent. This is a very active community. And," he adds, "I enjoy being here very, very much."

PTA Council calls for police changes, shift in meeting dates of school board

The Springfield Council of Parent-Teacher Associations has moved to initiate action in two areas designed to improve conditions for local youngsters, it was announced by Mrs. Henry Huneke, council president.

The council called on Police Commissioner Robert G. Pfister to launch a complete study and renovation of all township traffic procedures, and also to appoint a full-time safety officer within the Police Department.

In its other action, the PTA Council urged the Springfield Board of Education to change its meeting date to end a conflict with the monthly meetings of the Regional High School Board of Education. (See editorial on page four.)

In the message on police problems, the council declared, "We feel that the time for definitive action is now.

"We propose a double plan; first, a thorough investigation of the traffic needs in Springfield that will produce a plan for the immediate rectification of these problems," including traffic lights, better police procedure, improved supervision of school crossings, more school crossing guards, rectification of hazardous conditions, etc.

"We further propose the assignment of a police officer to the full-time duty of a safety officer. We are aware that there is an officer who has that assignment now, but because of his rotation of time shifts he is unavailable to serve the children of Springfield when needed.

"We see his duties including supervision of school crossing guards, teaching safety in the schools, conducting bicycle safety lessons, safety in the streets, investigating and following up of safety complaints on public chartered buses regularly carrying children to and from school.

"We have recently had two serious accidents at school crossings. Do we need to have a traffic death before we act? Let us move every conceivable stone to assure the best safety conditions possible for the children and adults of Springfield."

THE MESSAGE to the Board of Education stated:

"At our last meeting, a motion was made to write to the Board of Education and request that the meeting day of the Springfield Board of Education be changed to allow interested citizens the privilege of attending both local and Regional High School board meetings.

"As representatives of the six parent-teacher associations in Springfield, we are aware of the importance of parental interest in the education of our children. This includes not only elementary education, but secondary as well.

"We hope that you will heed our request. Since you meet before our next meeting we will not be able to bring this before our general membership, but if you feel a petition from the parents of Springfield will further convince you of our sincerity, we will be glad to get it for you."

Historical group holds testimonial

The Springfield Historical Society honored Benjamin F. Heard at its recent annual dinner at the Town and Campus, Union. The program featured a recorded interview between Heard and Donald Palmer, curator of the Historical Society.

Heard served on the Township Committee as a Democrat in the 1920s. He is a board member of the Historical Society and has been an active member for many years. Mayor Arthur M. Falkin presented him with a plaque from the Township Committee.

Mrs. Eva Brown, Historical Society president, opened the program. A. B. Anderson offered the opening prayer. Since Heard declined to accept the traditional gift, the Historical Society will dedicate the first of the windows to be restored in the Cannon Ball House in his honor.

Pint-size burglars charged with thefts at local meat store

Springfield police this week rounded up the smallest gang of burglars yet discovered, or perhaps it should be the gang of smallest burglars. Those accused, and facing action by juvenile authorities, are two brothers, aged 8 and 10, and their sister, aged 9.

They were charged with breaking and entering at the Rau Quality Meats store at 763 Mountain ave., where break-ins had been reported on five occasions, starting Oct. 15. The loot had varied from $65 in change the first time to $9.50, all taken from the cash register.

Little Robert Tauffe was on a stake-out, hiding in the store, late Sunday afternoon, when he heard the rear door being forced open. He then saw a "very small figure" walking toward the front of the store; he apprehended the intruder, who turned out to be the eight-year-old.

The little boy then implicated his brother and sister, who were later discovered at home. Police have also questioned the youngsters about several other cases of break and entry in the neighborhood in recent months, but have been unable to establish any connection.

At least one other burglary was listed in the past week, but this appeared to be the work of adult criminals. Staff members at the Edward Walton School last Thursday morning discovered that entry to the school had been obtained by someone who broke a window next to a door at the rear of the school.

Items taken included a typewriter, two film projectors and a viewing machine, with an estimated total value of $1,460.

Halsey appointed to UC committees

Warren W. Halsey of 72 Denham rd., Springfield, has been appointed to the finance and building, grounds and equipment committees of the board of trustees of Union College, Cranford, according to Hugo B. Meyer of Summit, chairman of the board of trustees.

Union College is a two-year college of the academic disciplines offering majors in liberal arts, engineering, science, and business administration in both day and evening sessions. The college has an enrollment of 1,500, including a nursing program conducted in cooperation with the Schools of Nursing of Elizabeth and Perth Amboy General Hospitals, Newark Beth Israel Hospital, and Somers Hospital, Somerville.

Hunter safety course

The Springfield Police Department will present its annual hunter safety course Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 6 to 8:30 at Police Headquarters. Patrolman Donald Schwerdt will serve as instructor. Completion of the course is required for all first-time applicants for hunting licenses in New Jersey. The hunting season in the state is now under way.

A FEMININE LOOK ... AT AFRICA 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Twenty-sixth in a series
THE PEOPLE IN RHODESIA
There were not only outstanding experiences in Rhodesia, there were also outstanding people.

There was Ian Smith, the star; there were exceptionally helpful government men and women; there were several groups of bright and shiny African school children with voices like angels, and so on and so on.

One of the most beautiful women I have ever met was sitting behind a desk being secretary-receptionist and Girl Friday for the little airport staff at Victoria Falls where you can get small planes for sightseeing over the falls. She was as lovely in spirit as she was of body and that was the thing that was so special. Her name was Mrs. Pat Ryan and she was a widow with five children.

When she spoke of Rhodesia she lit up like a Christmas tree. She felt no fear or apprehension over the black man, but only sad puzzlement over the world's disapproval of Rhodesia. "Why, the Africans come to us for security," Mrs. Ryan said. "We are happy here," she added. "All we want is to be left alone."

We were invited to the Gebelt home for a cocktail reception one evening and the children all were there. What wonderful ambassadors those children must be! They were so delightful to be with, I quite deserted the party and went with them on a sightseeing tour of the house, the vegetable garden, the flowers, THE CAT, and it was a pleasure.

But the tiniest little lady—she couldn't have been more than four—handed me a surprise. As I stood listening to the Consul-General giving a talk about Rhodesia, she noticed that my glass was empty. Very quietly she tilted up to me, and very politely so she would not disturb her father's speech or the guests, she whispered, "I have noticed your glass has not been filled. May I get you a martini?"

Now I ask you. How more considerate could one be at four!

AND THEN THERE WAS "HAPPY." Lawrence A. Hantz was such a happy looking man there is just no other name for him. He was an exuberant happy, though not a serene, rocking chair happy. I cannot picture him sitting down now talking slowly. It was thunder and lightning for Mr. Hantz.

This energetic strap of a man was also an American. He formerly lived in Milwaukee and came to Africa in 1954. He started with a 100-acre tract near Salisbury which was then a city of 100,000. (Now it is 313,000.) His tract contained a hill, a mosquito infested swamp, huge granite boulders and ant-hills 12 feet high and 50 to 60 feet in circumference; and, no water, no electricity, no telephone and no shelter.

Today he has a house with a pool, a motel, a Caltex gas station, a school for African children, a srake farm and a Cadillac.

When he and Mrs. Hantz built the motel, it was the first in this part of the world. Mr. Hantz said. Surprisingly enough, according to Mr. H., it was the first motel or hotel where every bedroom—and there are 30—had its own private bath. "Then we built the first snake park in this region too," Mr. Hantz adds. After that a Caltex service station, a tea garden, a ten-acre vegetable garden, an African store, a small village of African houses each with its own fireplace and electricity, one large building with baths, toilets and showers with water-borne sewage facilities and a french drain.

"We built two miles of internal roads, sunk five drilled wells (called boreholes over here) and laid two and a half miles of two and a half inch plastic pipe interconnecting one galvanized tank reservoir of 6,000 gallons, one cement circular reservoir of 30,000 gallons and another circular cement reservoir of 75,000 gallons."

"The malarial swamp was converted to a 100-acre golf course of water by dam. Pansies were introduced and this wiped out the anophelae mosquitoes so there is no malaria in the immediate vicinity. Checks later showed that the Africans were taking more than two tons of fish with cane poles each year. This is very important because of the usually protein deficient diet."

"More than 5,000 flowering trees line the nine terraces and the roads and fences. They include five different colors in bougainvillea, jacaranda trees, flame trees, flamboyants, Australian flame trees, various acacias, double and single poinsettias, gardenias, double and single hibiscus, hydranges, diplomas, Christ thorn, pride of India, and the tree to heaven. In addition, 200 citrus including orange, lemon, lime and grapefruit; 12 avocado trees, grapevines, grenadilla vines, 50 paw paw trees, four lichee-nut trees, a banana grove, 20 mango trees and a few odds and ends. We have a bee house, eight-hives active, 20 capacity, one thousand pounds pure honey each year. In the beginning, we made—and fired over—400,000 bullets, in lack of the dam is a grove of flowering gum trees that drink up the excess moisture and diffuse it into the air through the leaves. Our natural humidifier."

"We started a school for the 28 African kids, with one blind teacher, on the property. Now it has grown to 270 students and three teachers. Some of the kids walk ten miles to learn. It is free. The scapella choir they formed themselves is as good as any I've heard. The only one that's better is the famous Vienna Boy's Choir that visited us three years ago. Last year an American lady tourist from New York was impressed with Carrots, the smartest in our school. She asked about his further education (he had reached Standard 6, our limit). I told her that he came from poor parents and the cost of further education at a government school would be $150. She paid this and Carrots went to a government school of 1300 African students. Coming from an unpaid farm school, we did not expect much, but Carrots was the top student of all the 1,300 at the end of the first year. This was a great and pleasant surprise to all of us and makes us feel it is all worthwhile."

We met some of those children and visited in the classroom, and what a wonderful group they were. The very good acapella choir sang several songs for us and one of the songs still rings in my ear:

"You can get white milk from a dark-skinned cow
But the color doesn't bother me anyhow."
...
AS I SANK INTO BED in the integrated hotel in Salisbury that night, I thought about Mr. Hantz and how happy he seemed working in his Rhodesian haven. Mrs. Ryan must have been right when she said "We are happy here."

Train symbolizes tuberculosis fight on Christmas seal

A million and a half New Jersey residents were asked to hop aboard the Christmas Seal train this week as the New Jersey Tuberculosis and Health Association opened its 61st annual campaign.

Named Honorary Conductor of the train which is the design of this year's Christmas Seal is Charles Marshall Keam of Clifton. He is a conductor for the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad.

In ceremonies opening the campaign at the Erie-Lackawanna Terminal in Hoboken, Mrs. Benjamin P. Galanti of Lodi, president of the TB Association, said this is the first time the state TB Association has named an honorary chairman. By tradition and practice a conductor is the head of the train and we are pleased to have a veteran like Mr. Keam act as Honorary Conductor of New Jersey's Christmas Seal train, a gaily colored old-fashioned Victorian train chugging back and forth across the sheet of Seals. In asking New Jersey residents to hop aboard, Mr. Keam is giving the go-ahead signal for everyone to use the Christmas Seal train on their holiday letters, cards, and packages.

Mrs. Galanti said that funds raised in the campaign are used in a statewide program to eradicate tuberculosis and to control other respiratory diseases.

Last year alone, 1,592 new active cases of TB were reported to the State Department of Health. There are almost 14,000 cases on the TB case register.

"It is vitally important that we commit more funds toward medical research and public and professional education programs against chronic bronchitis, emphysema, and other diseases which hinder breathing," Mrs. Galanti said. "Doctors, nurses, and therapists who treat and rehabilitate TB and respiratory disease patients in our own communities will have their work supported by Christmas Seal Programs."

Skating on thin ice can be hazardous

The smooth sheet of ice that looks so inviting for skating and sliding can be a death trap, Howard E. Camp, Jr., area director of Safety Services, Red Cross Eastern Area warned this week.

An estimated 400-500 deaths occur each year from falls through ice, according to Camp. "The tragedy is that many of the deaths could be prevented if the victims or bystanders knew what to do," said Camp.

With the winter ice season approaching, he urged ice sports enthusiasts to heed these Red Cross safety precautions and rescue pointers:

1. Never skate alone. Always skate in supervised areas.
 2. Skate only where the ice is three to four inches thick.
 3. Don't build a fire on ice or gather in large groups.
 4. Shallow-water skating areas offer the safest and best conditions for skating. The water should not be more than waist-deep to the smallest skater.
- "Remember, prolonged freezing temperatures are necessary for the ice to freeze solidly and to a safe thickness," cautioned Camp. He said extra care should be taken when crossing ice that has formed over running water, such as in a stream or river. The water currents can erode the ice from below and weaken it.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTERS: "I would just like to take this time out to make this statement: After thinking about the matter most seriously, I have finally decided to write and ask you to change the name of your article, I think you should revise the title to 'Teenagers' or 'About Teenagers' and leave out the word 'For'." I will explain. The article you write is about teenagers, but it is not for teenagers unless just for teens to read. I have never seen, since I have been reading this column, that you have taken the side of the teenager against the grownup or the adult. You may think of some wise answer, but I would rather see you take the side of the teenager on some occasion. You are free to print this if you so desire but I very much doubt if you will do so. Thank you for your time in reading this letter."

OUR REPLY: We don't think you have ever seen this column take the "side" of the adult, either. Such is not our aim or purpose. If you have read the column long enough and carefully enough, I believe you would recall that, in appropriate instances, we express an opinion, but we more often suggest that teenagers try to work out problems with their parents. When there is a problem between parent and teenager, there is no easy solution by saying one is right and one is wrong. Problems must be solved by mutual cooperation.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

It will pay you to look into this new regular income plan—

- ... if you're planning for your retirement years.
- ... if you're interested in setting up a family or household expense fund.
- ... if you plan to be abroad for an extended visit.
- ... if you anticipate an armed forces or other distant assignment.

Here's how the HOWARD SAVERS INCOME PLAN works!

- You deposit a minimum sum of $2,500 in a Regular Savings Account or $5,000 in an Investment Savings Account—or you may accumulate such amounts over the years.
- You decide the number and amount (subject to a minimum) of checks which you would like us to send you.
- Out of this fund we mail checks to you automatically, either monthly, quarterly, semiannually or annually.
- Meanwhile, your money on deposit in this plan continues to earn interest at the current Regular or Investment Savings Account rate.

NOTE: The above amounts (rounded to the nearest dollar) are based on the Howard's current dividend for Regular Savings Accounts. No adjustment has been made for any income taxes payable by the depositor on dividends credited to his account.

1-year term in jail ordered by court for Westfield man

Judge Max Sherman imposed sentence Monday in Springfield Municipal Court on Charles Mauser, 22, of Westfield, who pled guilty to a charge of possession of stolen goods. Mauser will serve a year, less a day, in the Union County Jail. His term will start upon completion of a 90-day sentence he is now serving for shop-lifting, imposed in the local court in September. Before Monday's hearing, Mauser had signed a waiver of indictment and trial by jury.

The court on Monday also imposed fines on four motorists charged with speeding. They were:

Joel Cohen of Union, 60 miles per hour, on a motorcycle, in a 35-mile zone on Morris avenue, $30 and license revoked for 30 days; Dorothea Dugg of Summit, 45 miles in a 25-mile zone on Shunpike road, $15; Stephen Diplock of Summit, 44 in a 25-mile zone on Shunpike road, $20, and Jerome Donovan of Maplewood, 44 in a 25-mile zone on Hillside avenue, $20.

Other drivers fined were: Jesse Alexander of Newark, improper turn, $10; Arthur E. Curran of Cedar Grove, passing red light, $10, and Robert Adams of North Plainfield, failure to display inspection sticker, plus contempt of court for failure to appear previously, a total of $20.

Series of visits set for parents by high school

Parents of freshman students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School will have an opportunity to meet with Principal Robert F. LaVanture to discuss school life, procedures, regulations and problems affecting their children in informal "Principal's Hour," in Room 229 at the Mountain avenue school.

meet members of the administrative staff who will discuss scheduling procedures for the 1968-69 school year as well as current school items.

The program will be scheduled according to home rooms with the Dayton PTA notifying the parents of the days scheduled for their visits. The times, homerooms and dates are: Nov. 28, 1:30 p.m., homeroom 9—Mrs. Janet Goldberg (students: Buzin to Elkins); Dec. 7, 1:45 p.m., homeroom 10—Thomas McCabe (students: Fenton to Goldman); Dec. 18, 1:30 p.m., homeroom 23—Raymond Yanchus (students: Goldstein-Karlsberg); Jan. 4, 1:45 p.m., homeroom 204—Martin Maglienti (students: Karp to Malgeri); Jan. 15, 1:30 p.m., homeroom 206—Mrs. Clare Mason (students: Manreassa to Nadel); Jan. 24, 1:30 p.m., homeroom 212—Arthur Krupp (students: Napier to Reisberg); Feb.

YW approves adoption of statement of purpose

The membership of the Summit YWCA, at a recent luncheon meeting, voted to adopt a change of statement of purpose which had already been adopted by the National YWCA at its 24th national convention in April.

The statement, which is now incorporated in the by-laws, is: "The Young Women's Christian Association of the United States of America, a movement rooted in the Christian faith as known in Jesus and nourished by the resources of that faith, seeks to respond to the barrier-breaking love of God in this day. The Association draws together into responsible membership women and girls of diverse experiences and faiths, that their lives may be open to new understanding and deeper relationships and that together they may join in the struggle for peace and justice, freedom and dignity for all people."

According to Dorothy Bunker, president of the board of trustees, the new purpose is a reaffirmation of the ideals of the Association which have been in practice since its inception. "Throughout its history, the YWCA has exercised great leadership in working for equal rights and privileges for all and promoting opportunities for people of differing backgrounds to learn from each other with mutual respect, working beyond differences toward common goals."

"With the restatement of purpose," reported Miss Bunker, "YWCA program will move ahead with added impetus to an understanding of all other faiths and deeper relationships with people by breaking the barriers that separate us from meaningful dialogue with others."

The change in the statement of purpose of the YWCA was the result of a directive from the 1964 national convention that there be a nationwide consideration of the YWCA as a Christian movement in this day. The study was carried out by a widely representative national commission. The commission engaged in intensive study.

Warning on emphysema: a major cause of death

That "cigarette cough" may be just an annoyance, but could it be the first step on the way to chronic lung disease? "Twenty years ago, few of us had heard of emphysema, but many Americans now gasping and struggling for every breath of air have learned about it the hard way," says the National Society for Medical Research.

Emphysema is catching up to heart disease as the major cause of death and disability in this country and kills more American men than does lung cancer, the society says. Respiratory cripples make up the second largest group of workers under 65 receiving Social Security disability pensions.

In emphysema, the lungs become enlarged—like a rubber band which has lost its elasticity—and less efficient in removing oxygen from the air. The tremendously increased incidence of emphysemas in the past 20 years indicates that the rise is related to some change in our environment or way of life.

Epidemiological evidence has led many scientists to suspect smoking and air pollution, but proof has been hard to come by. The symptoms of chronic bronchitis and of the early stages of emphysema are so similar that even specialists cannot always tell the two conditions apart. Sometimes the diagnosis of emphysema cannot be made with certainty until the patient dies and an autopsy is performed.

The National Society for Medical Research explains that scientists cannot learn how a complicated disease such as emphysema starts and progresses—nor how to prevent and treat it—unless they are able to study the disease in animals.

HORSES AND COWS sometimes suffer from what veterinarians call emphysema, but this is more like chronic bronchitis in humans. Until recently, investigators had no experimental animal model for emphysema, but pigs, dogs, sheep and Assateague ponies are now helping in the fight against this crippling disease.

Dr. Elinor Glauser at Temple University in Philadelphia found that newborn piglets breathing air low in oxygen and high in carbon dioxide developed a lung condition closely resembling human emphysema. Their lungs had greatly expanded air sacs with walls that were ruptured, thinned and degenerating—the pattern seen in emphysematous human lungs.

Investigators at the Veterans Hospital in East Orange, reported that dogs inhaling cigarette smoke through a "smoking machine" developed emphysema. Two other groups of investigators also produced emphysema in dogs exposed to cigarette smoke.

Researchers from the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases are studying the famed Assateague ponies of eastern Maryland. Some of these ponies have equine influenza, which causes lung damage and shortness of breath similar to that in human emphysema. The ponies are easier to study than full-size horses, they are in-bred group, and the annual roundups make it convenient to observe them.

Smoking and air pollution are not the only suspected factors; viruses may also play a role in emphysema. At the Institute's Rocky Mountain Laboratory in Montana, scientists have shown that chronic pneumonitis in sheep, a condition that mimics symptoms of emphysema in man, can be transmitted from one sheep to another and is caused by a virus-like organism.

These research findings—and others like them—are just the beginning of the search for the cause, prevention and cure of emphysema. They represent, however, the indispensable first stage of the battle, the society notes.

A plan providing a regular income on a prearranged basis has been announced by The Howard Savings Institution. Entitled the Howard Savers Income Plan, the new service permits regular or investment savings account depositors to "arrange for" the bank to automatically send them checks of a predetermined amount drawn on their savings accounts.

The plan provides for checks to be sent periodically—monthly, quarterly, semi-annually—for a period determined by the depositor or by the amount on deposit.

Beth Israel Hospital plans tea dance for 100 with pacemaker-aided heart

Newark Beth Israel Hospital will play host to the Pacemaker Club, composed of persons whose hearts are kept beating in rhythm by an electronic device implanted near the heart, at a pre-Thanksgiving tea dance next Wednesday from 4 to 6 p.m. The event will be held in the physicians' dining room.

Three residents of Springfield have undergone pacemaker implantation surgery.

About 100 members of the club are expected to attend the dance. A four-man combo will provide the music, supplied by the Marx-Ames musical organization through courtesy of Local 16 of the American Federation of Musicians.

The event is a significant development in the rehabilitation of cardiac patients following pacemaker implantation surgery. Despite their well-functioning battery-powered pacemaker devices, many patients become psychological cripples, fearing to lead active lives.

In addition to the social aspect of the event, a highlight of the program will be a short presentation by Newark Beth Israel Hospital's pioneering Pacemaker team on "New Horizons in Pacing of the Heart." A feature of their presentation will be an exhibit. Participating in the program will be Dr. I. Richard Zucker, director of the Newark Beth Israel Hospital Institute; Dr. Victor Parsonnet, director of surgery of the Hospital and Institute; Dr. Lawrence Gilbert, chief of cardiac.

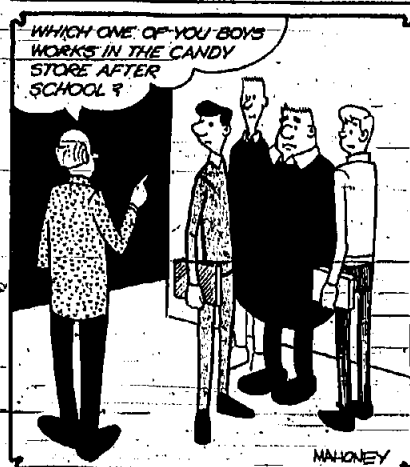

Newark Beth Israel Hospital is the only institution in this area which conducts regular pacemaker clinical sessions, concerning itself with the follow-up and after-care of pacemaker patients. Its institute most recently developed a plastic capsule one centimeter long, containing a platinum electrode. That electrode almost doubles the useful life of the standard pacemaker. This means that patients may now be able to get five years uninterrupted use from their pacemaker batteries and may not have to face surgery every two or two-and-a-half years for battery replacement.

A plan providing a regular income on a prearranged basis, has been announced by The Howard Savings Institution, Limited, the Howard Savings Income Plan, the new service permits regular or investment savings account depositors to arrange for the bank to automatically send them checks of a predetermined amount drawn on their savings accounts.

The plan provides for checks to be sent periodically—monthly, quarterly, semi-annually—for a period determined by the depositor or by the amount on deposit. Either a $2,500 regular savings account minimum or a $5,000 investment savings account minimum is required to start the plan. Interest accumulates on all funds on deposit at the then current rates.

FRESH WATER drawn from the air is a low-cost method of supplying many islands and coastal regions of the world with drinking water, according to two Columbia University oceanographers. They say that water could be obtained through condensation of atmospheric moisture from humid, maritime winds. Every day more than 300 million gallons of water, in the form of vapor in the lower atmosphere, sweep across every mile of island shoreline exposed to the trade winds.

CLASS-CUTTING students at Iowa State University can look with envy on 130 students there who enrolled in an introductory psychology course and were required to "not attend" class. They receive taped lectures, earphones, tape recorders and a booklet of blackboard drawings as part of an experiment to compare this teaching method with regularly scheduled lectures. Another 200 students are taking the same course in the conventional manner. Both groups take the examinations, see films and have the same access to their lecturer. Results of the program will be analyzed by the psychology department to determine whether there are any significant differences or handicaps associated with the two methods.

A "SQUEEZE PLAY" is going on in the streets of some of the nation's large cities—and is resulting in more durable traffic markings. According to Holland-Suco Color Company, plastic traffic markings are being laid into asphalt during original paving or resurfacing of a street. The plastic tapes, letters and numerals are placed on the asphalt and pressed into the surface by a roller. The firm said the Presslabs traffic markers replace painted street markings.

Washington topic of pamphlet issued by Voters League

The Springfield League of Women Voters has announced publication of a new pamphlet by the League of Women Voters of the United States entitled, "Washington: The Nation's Showplace?"

The pamphlet charges that behind an impressive facade of federal buildings, graceful parks and marble monuments lies a city of Washington the tourist never sees—a mélange of physical blight, social disorder and mounting crime. It states that except in Presidential elections (and then only recently), the District of Columbia's 800,000 residents cast no ballots, elect no government of their own and have no City Hall to pressure for needed services and reforms. Congress makes the laws and "rules" the federal city—with apathy and tightly held purse strings, the pamphlet claims.

"Washington: The Nation's Showplace?" provides an analysis of the crisis of the capital city—now faces and chronicles the campaign still being waged by D.C. residents to achieve a local government of their own. The recent reorganization of the city's government may bring about a more effective operation, but it will not provide elected city officials responsive to the residents, the pamphlet says.

Arguments of the opponents of home rule are discussed here, and consideration is given to the need for representation in Congress since Washingtonians have no voice.

Copies of this pamphlet may be ordered from the League of Women Voters of the United States, 1200 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036, or from the Springfield League of Women Voters, 34 Jefferson Ter., Springfield, 07081 for 15 cents each (prepaid).

MORE FIRES IN WINTER

The winter months are the worst for fire losses, according to the Insurance Information Institute. Although other factors are involved, this is mainly the result of heating hazards.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

PARENTAL GUIDANCE
Many parents of teenagers are frustrated. They read about the escapades of the younger generation and are at a loss many times as to what their role as parents really is. The mass media record incidents of drug abuse, sex orgies, rebellious tendencies, demonstrations, and mob action. The records show that young people are involved in these incidents, but it must be pointed out that not all young people are involved. To say that all teenagers are delinquent is a fallacy. Parents must be careful not to think of their teenagers in such a negative way.

WHAT SHOULD A parent do? He should establish limitations for the teenager. This should not be a boundary to inhibit the activity of a young person, but should be the kind of limitation that permits freedom but which designates responsibility on the part of both parent and child. This limitation offers guidance and direction. Young people really expect this of their parents. Teenagers want freedom, but they also want the assistance of parental interest and guidance. It is as if the young person is travelling down the road of life's experiences wanting to be left alone but at the same time looking back over his shoulder for direction and guidance.

Christmas Clubs set new record in savings

Nearly two billion dollars is starting on its way to 15,400,000 Christmas Shoppers—members of Christmas Clubs in 10,000 banks and savings institutions throughout the United States, Christmas Club, a corporation, announced.

The exact amount, $1,987,984,000, represents an average of $129 per member—the highest ever recorded. It is roughly equal to $10 for each man, woman, and child in the nation, the corporation said.

What does the weatherman know?

For sure it will snow -- but perhaps... no

It's true that a change in the jet stream -- strong winds high in the atmosphere -- broke the drought and gave us a wetter summer than we've had in several years.

But don't count on the same jet stream for weekend after weekend of sking this winter. You still may be just dreaming of a white Christmas.

This warning or consolation -- depending on your regard for snow -- comes from Mark D. Shulman of the Department of Meteorology of the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

It's in response to frequently heard expressions that wetter weather might continue through the winter because of the jet stream change of last spring.

But Dr. Shulman doesn't disparage the theory by any means.

"At least it's better than the idea that woolly bears develop thicker coats when cold weather is pending," he says. "Going by the jet stream is getting closer to a scientific approach."

WHAT AMATEUR PROGNOSTICATORS often overlook is the highly erratic nature of those "relatively strong winds concentrated within a narrow stream in the atmosphere which plays a part in weather," as Dr. Shulman describes a jet stream.

That's one reason why the Weather Bureau will venture a long-range forecast for only 30 days -- and then sometimes change the prediction at the halfway mark," he says.

Is New Jersey climate becoming warmer or colder or wetter or dryer? The Rutgers meteorologist refers to the records.

"From about 1850 to 1950, average temperatures seemed to be rising," he points out. "But since 1950 there has been a slight but noticeable decrease."

"Precipitation in general has shown no such trends, although snowfall in New Brunswick during the past eight winters has averaged close to 36 inches, about 10 inches greater than the 30-year average."

Dr. Shulman says that what could be very misleading about our judgment of winter weather is the fact that average winter temperatures in this area hover around freezing. Consequently, when the average during one winter is a little bit lower, there's more ice around and the weather seems much colder than when the temperature is slightly above 32 degrees.

Dr. Shulman says old demon pollution also has a part in exploding theories about the weather. Old-timers may recall ice breakers as a familiar sight in waters around New York City.

They are seldom seen anymore, not because there has been an overall warming, says Dr. Shulman, but because of increased urbanization and "thermal pollution."

"Industrial wastes and warm water effluent are usually warmer than the natural winter temperatures of the water around New York," he explains, "and this can account for as much as a five-degree rise in the water's temperature."

SPACE AGE WEATHERMAN -- Dr. Mark D. Shulman, meteorologist at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, studies cloud patterns on a photograph made by a weather satellite and received at Rutgers from Washington via facsimile. He says these photographs are of great help in weather forecasting, but that there is no way to predict how much snow will fall this winter.

Plentiful foods for holidays

The holiday season is quickly approaching and with it comes an appropriate list of plentiful foods for November, reports Anne L. Sheelen, County Home economist.

The United States Department of Agriculture recently announced that turkey will be the feature of the month. Also in supply will be pork, dry split peas, potatoes and broiler-fryers.

Marketing of fresh turkeys is in good supply as are the storage stocks. From now until Thanksgiving watch the price of turkey in the market. If it is especially priced in the beginning of the month, it may be wise to purchase your turkey early and keep it in your freezer until the holiday.

Pork production is averaging about 12 per cent higher this year than a year ago. Because the animals are slaughtered at a young age, pork is usually always tender. For safety, however, pork must be thoroughly cooked. The meat should be white with no pink color showing when it is ready to be eaten.

Dry split peas will also be an economical choice. Use these dry peas in your menu plans since they contribute both protein and variety to your meals.

Potatoes are expected to be in greater supply this year than they were last year. The fall harvest is expected to be 15 per cent above average. Potatoes have a place in the diet even for those who are Counting calories. A medium size potato contains about 80 calories. It is not the potato, therefore, that contains the calories, but the butter, sour cream and gravy served with it. Cutting down on these extras will cut down on the calories.

Broiler-fryers are now currently at the lowest price in 1967. These chickens lend great versatility to your plans because they can be prepared in so many different ways. Look through your favorite cook book to see how you can serve them in a new way.

Indian newspapers get press agency

A promising chapter in the history of Indian journalism started recently with the opening of the Samachar Bharati, a multilingual news agency.

Already it is serving 45 subscribers in eight states with news in Hindi, Marathi and Gujarati, three of the 14 major Indian languages, and before the end of the year it expects to span 14 states.

About four-fifths of the 570 newspapers published more than once a week in India have circulations ranging from 2,000 to 20,000; many of them cannot afford to subscribe to news agencies — the two main all-India news agencies, the Press Trust of India (PTI) and the United News of India (UNI), which are in English only, and so they rely on the radio for most of their news.

Samachar Bharati, a non-profit concern partly supported by Government loans, hopes to "improve the quality of the small press; to cure its inferiority complex and to help the growth of Indian languages" by giving currency to the new vocabulary evolved to meet technical requirements. — UNESCO FEATURES

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
Some time ago I read in your column letters about nail biting. I meant to save that column for future use, but the paper was destroyed before I could clip the column out. Would you kindly print it again. I teach an advanced class of high I.Q. students who make a full course meal of their nails (disgusting, isn't it?) and I want to take the column to class.
Mrs. Turner
— You bet

of nail biting. I tried everything recommended by friends and my doctor. Nothing helped. I no longer called it a habit. I called it my 'hobby.' My solution: I made a Novena to St. Jude, the helper of desperate and hopeless cases. Amy, I no longer bite my nails! I wish "Will" the best of luck and am enclosing a St. Jude Novena leaflet. I thank you for your wonderful hours you have given me. God bless you!
Mrs. J. V. H.

Dear Mrs. Turner:
Tell the nail biters to go to a doctor who specializes in hypnosis. Under hypnosis, I was told I would never bite my nails again and when I woke up, I never did. That was 5 years ago. It cost me 25 dollars but it was worth it.
Not Ashamed

Dear Amy:
I used to bite my nails until I met my wife. She got me out of the habit by making me drop a dollar in her piggy bank every time she saw me put my fingers in my mouth. I had to marry her to get my money back... but she cured me!
Article

Dear Amy:
I am 35 and have finally given up this habit

Dear Amy:
This is in regard to "Will" and his fingernail problem. Evidently this gentleman is frustrated, bored and full of false anxieties. He probably has a distorted view of life and is beset with other problems of personal hygiene besides mutilated fingernails. No amount of pepper, vinegar or other strange medications will cure him of nail chewing. But a change in his way of thinking will. He should overhaul his attitude toward life, and make up his mind that he is as good, or possibly better, than the next man. He should be more aggressive in everything he does, without being belligerent. That breeds confidence. With confidence comes the knowledge and certainty that he can whip any problem that comes his way. His contempt for himself and his nail biting will turn to an attitude of quiet self-assurance, and that will be the end to nail biting and other signs of anxiety. In addition, may I strongly suggest that this gentleman take to reading the bible and placing all his problems on the capable shoulders of The Lord. With such assistance he can't possibly lose!

as put my fingers near my mouth now, my husband threatens to hide my lower lip.

Maurice Samuel discusses Mid-East war Sunday

Maurice Samuel, prize-winning author and lecturer, will discuss the Arab-Israeli war and efforts to establish lasting peace in the Middle East when he opens the 1967-1968 debate-lecture series of Congregation Beth Shalom, Union, Sunday night.

The Samuel lecture, entitled "The Six-Day War and Its Aftermath," will begin at 8 p.m. in Bards Hall, Vauxhall road and Plane street. Samuel won the Saturday Review of Literature award in 1944 and, most recently, Jewish Heritage's 1967 award for excellence in literature. In between were the Frank L. Weil award in 1952 and the Stephen Weiss award in 1955. His best known work is "The World of Shalom Aleichem," published in 1943, which brought to life the vanished civilization of Eastern Europe. Published last year was his "Blood Accusation—The Strange Story of the Bellis Case," which, like many of his earlier books, dealt with anti-Semitism or Zionism.

The lecture series was arranged by the synagogue's adult education committee headed by Mrs. Louis Golin. Rabbi Elvin I. Kose will introduce the speaker. The series will continue on Dec. 3 with a debate on "Jewish Involvement in Ecumenism." Dr. Jacob B. Agus, a leader of the liberal wing of the Conservative movement, will oppose Dr. Trude Weiss-Rosmarin, editor of "The Jewish Spectator."

Will Maslow, executive director of the American Jewish Congress and an authority on laws to protect civil rights and liberties, will appear Jan. 14 in a debate on "Jewish Involvement in the Negro Revolution" against Dr. Arthur Herzberg, rabbi, author, editor and faculty member at Columbia and Rutgers.

A Feb. 4 debate on "Federal Aid to Private and Parochial Schools" will match Dr. Leo Pfeffer, constitutional lawyer who has been involved in every major church-state or religious liberty case before the Supreme Court in the last 20 years, against Dr. Morten Segal, director of the department of education of the United Synagogue of America.

Series-tickets, at $6 per person, can be reserved by calling MU-6-6773, or can be purchased at the door. Individual lecture tickets are priced at $2.50. Tickets for college students are $1.

Tips for Today's Homemaker
 From Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist

FLAVOR VARIETY FOR TURKEY STUFFING
 Add a new flavor to your Thanksgiving menu by the stuffing you use.

Some individuals prefer a dry, crumbly stuffing while others prefer a more moist texture. Whatever the texture preferred in your family, you can still have variety by the seasonings and ingredients added to a basic stuffing recipe.

Herbs and spices, vegetables, fruits, nuts, meats, and fish are broad categories of flavorings or foods that will add that special touch. A teaspoon of sage, thyme, and marjoram offer a pleasing addition to a stuffing recipe in the herb and spice category.

Cooked and chopped mushrooms or sautéed chives and green peppers are suggestions for the vegetable category. For fruits, try seedless raisins, chopped, uncooked dried prunes and apricots, or chopped cranberries.

Cooked and chopped chestnuts or chopped pecans, walnuts or Brazil nuts add a rich flavor to the stuffing typical for the harvest season.

As far as meats are concerned, try the giblets cooked and chopped, cooked sausage meat, or crumbled fried bacon.

COOKED OYSTERS LEAD the ingredient addition for stuffings in the fish category. When stuffing your turkey, fill the cavity lightly. The stuffing will expand during roasting because it absorbs some of the juices from the bird. Always place the stuffing in the bird immediately before it is to be roasted.

Cooking the stuffing in a separate pan is becoming a popular method. Its advantages are that it is easier to handle; the turkey will roast in a shorter amount of time; and it is easier to serve.

To moisten stuffing cooked separately, add broth made from simmering the giblets and neck or occasionally add drippings from the turkey while it is roasting. It will take about an hour for the stuffing to become piping hot when it is cooked separately.

14-18 LB. BIRD — BASIC STUFFING WITH VARIATIONS
 4 cups diced celery
 1 cup chopped onion
 1 cup butter or margarine
 4 quarts dry bread cubes
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 1/2 teaspoons poultry seasoning
 1/2 teaspoon sage
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/3 cup broth or water

Cook celery and onion in butter or margarine over medium heat until onion is transparent but not brown; stir occasionally. Combine with bread cubes and seasoning and toss lightly. Add enough broth to moisten as desired.

GIBLET: — Add chopped, cooked giblets; use giblet broth as liquid.
RAISIN: — Add two cups seedless raisins; one cup chopped nuts also if desired.

CHESTNUT: — Add four cups boiled chestnuts, chopped. Use milk for liquid.
MUSHROOM: — Add two 6-oz. cans broiled, sliced mushrooms, drained. Cook two cups sliced, fresh mushrooms in part of the butter.

Buffy Sainte-Marie to appear in concert at NSC next month

Folk singer Buffy Sainte-Marie will appear in a concert at the Newark State College Theatre for the Performing Arts in Union, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 9. The dark-haired singer and composer is of North American Indian descent and a member of the Cree tribe.

Although she holds a degree in Oriental philosophy and education from the University of Massachusetts, where she was voted one of the 10 most outstanding seniors in her graduating class, Miss Sainte-Marie sings and composes with the spontaneity of genuine folk art. As a child she taught herself to play the guitar and developed a unique style of singing and playing. She is said to have devised 32 ways of tuning her instrument so that pitch relationships are seldom the same twice in a row.

She has made hundreds of appearances in leading concert halls, folk clubs, and television programs in the United States, Canada and Great Britain. In the past year she has been seen on the Andy Williams Show, the Merv Griffin Show, the Mike Douglas Show, Bruce Morris's Music Power and the documentary, "A Nation of Immigrants," as well as several of her own half hour specials.

Bulldogs beat Roselle for 1st victory of year

Cross-country schedule ends with 2 area meets

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross-country team completed its season last week with its competition in the Watchung Conference and North Jersey Sectional meets. Coach Marty Taglienti's harriers finished with an over-all record of 11-2-1.

The Bulldogs finished third in the Watchung Conference meet, behind defending champion Westfield High School and Hillside High School. Team captain Ken Shatten led Dayton with a fourth place, repeating his performance in last season. The Bulldogs finished second in the conference last season.

Dayton placed fourth in the North Jersey, Section 2, Group III meet, competing against 19 other teams. West Side High School of Newark won the meet, followed by Hillside and Millburn high schools. During its regular season competition, Dayton trounced both Millburn and Westfield.

Shatten once again led the Bulldogs with a 13th, and freshman Norm Reinhardt made a spectacular finish to a fine season, running just behind Shatten for 14th. Gary Vosburgh ran 21st, and sophomore Marty Josephs gave his best performance of the season to follow

Commenting on the past season, Taglienti stated, "I feel that the team certainly did a fine job. Barring mid-season injuries, we would have done much better, particularly in these meets-at the end. Our big weakness was manpower. As in previous years, we did not have a group in one class to work and build with. Next year will probably have to be a rebuilding year, since we are losing Shatten, Vosburgh and Allen. Today, our record next season will again depend on the size of the turnout. If we could get a group of four or five freshmen to train together, we could have one of the very powerful squads around."

This year the Bulldogs defeated Rahway, Roselle Park, Westfield, Summit, Edison Technical of Elizabeth, the Pingry School of Hillside, Abraham Clark of Roselle, and Cranford High School, as well as all three sister Regionals, Governor Livingston of Berkeley Heights, David-Brearley of Kenilworth, and Arthur L. Johnson of Clark. Dayton lost to Scotch Plains-Fanwood and Hillside High Schools, and tied New Providence.

Competing teams in the state sectional meet included Caldwell, Clark of Roselle, Edison Technical of Elizabeth, Essex County Technical of Bloomfield, Essex City Technical of Newark, Governor Livingston, Hanover Park, Hillside, Millburn, Morris Hills, Mountain of West Orange, Orange, Newark South-Side, Summit, Valhalla, West Essex, West Morris, West Orange and Newark West Side.

Miss Roessner stars in bowling

The Tuesday Afternoon Girls' Bowling League began its 1966-67 season last week at the Springfield Bowl on Center St. The league is sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department. It offers competition in league play for sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls of Springfield.

The Moppers, Stars and Dancers opened with series sweeps-over-the-league's other three teams. Carol Roessner of the Stars was the afternoon's individual top performer. Carol was the only girl to top the 200 mark for the two games. Carol hit 207 series in the first game. Her outstanding series enabled the Stars to win a pair of games from the Charms. Carol had plenty of help in the match from her teammates. Doris Branch had a 134 series, and Joann McGrady hit a 122 series. Liz Simpson rolled a 125 series to pace the Charms, while Sue Murphy rolled a 112 series for the Charms.

Diane Lunzer paced the Moppers to a pair of victories over the Bowlers. Diane rolled a 155 series, with a first-game 90 being the top game for her team. Janice LaMotta also rolled well for the Moppers. Janice had a series total of 130. Darlene Panckeri and Loreta Losanno paced the Charms in this match. Darlene rolled a 145 series, while Loreta tallied 138 for the two games. Loreta's second-game 92 led all bowlers in the match.

The final match saw the Dancers win both ends of a two-game match over the Stars. Debbie Krain and the Dancers split a 102 series. Cindy Zahn was also effective in the Dancer sweep, as she rolled a 124 series.

Diane Blum started with a 222 game and 538 series in Temple Beth Ahm-Sisterhood League at Hy-Way Bowl. Other high-scorers included Ann Ardito, 150; Marie Lester, 150; Lynn Stein, 165-406; Edith Schwab, 191-429; Gail Gilvanillo, 158-447; Vicki Kavebers, 430; Rita Cohen, 164-414; Sonia Schlein, 157; Denise Ogata, 150-417; Shellee Raab, 401; Shelley Wolfe, 155-446; Rosalie Millman, 193-474, and Isabel Adler, 404.

The top two teams in Springfield Municipal at Springfield Bowl both suffered sweeps last week to tighten up the standings considerably. The leader, Pollicaprio Bros., was up-ended by Bunnell Bros. Spring Liquors, in second place, lost to Springfield Market. The leaders are Pollicaprio, at 18-9 Spring Liquors, 16-11, and Springfield Market, 14-13.

Top men were Mario Latella, 248-597; Art Mutschler, 235; Syl Boescher, 212; John D'Andrea, 210; Mark Conte, 208; Al Scott, 206; Jim Funcheon, 202, and George Roessner, 201.

The High School Bowling Association's competition at Springfield Bowl. The Question Marks are third at 16-14.

Rockets, Jets remain on top in Thursday bowling league

The Rockets and the Jets swept past their opponents last week in the Boys' Thursday Afternoon Bowling League to remain unbeaten after two weeks of bowling and tied at the top of the league. The boys roll at the Springfield Bowl in a league sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.

Danny Kotovsky paced the Rockets in their two-game sweep over the Bullets last Thursday. Dan rolled a 228 series. Bob Nardone was also effective for the Rockets with a 218 series. Bob Box and Bob Goodman were the top bowlers for the losing Bullets, who came close in both games. The two high-scoring Bobs each rolled a 231 series for the two games.

Howie Levine was once again the whole show for the Jets, as he paced the Jet double victory over the Bombers. Howie again surpassed the 300 mark for a series total. Howie posted a 307 series for his second consecutive top series of the week. Frank Geiger with a 220 series was an effective bowler for the Jets. Leon Masugale was the top man in the Bomber line-up. Leon rolled a 229 series.

The Hurricanes posted an important pair of victories over the Raiders last week to stay a game away from the league leaders. Stuart Liebelskind, who suffered a slump the opening week of bowling, returned to form last week to lead the Hurricanes to their sweep. Stuart rolled a 285 series to pace both teams in this two game match. Rick Schwedk also rolled well to help the Hurricanes to victory. Rick had a 231 total for the two games. Gavin Widom, who is fast establishing himself as one of the league's top bowlers, rolled a 264 series to pace the Raiders.

COURT DRIBBLINGS

Coach Al Bianchi and Seattle are the reasons I'm a "Supersport," reveals Tom Meschery, the rugged forward selected by Seattle from San Francisco in the expansion draft.

"I played against Al and respected him as a man and athlete," explains Meschery. "He plays the game just one way - to win - and that's the way I play."

And Bianchi is a disciple of Alex Hannum, whom Meschery calls "a breath of fresh air and one of the finest gentlemen in basketball."

"No two people, coach, exactly the same way," said Meschery, "but I'm certain Al will operate in much the same manner as Alex and that's good enough for me."

The six-year veteran, who played his collegiate ball at St. Mary's, was all set to join the Peace Corps in Korea when Seattle acquired him from the San Francisco Warriors in the expansion pool and General Manager Don Richman and Bianchi made their pitch.

"I has everything but the plane tickets," laughed Meschery. "But the thought of playing in Seattle and for Al Bianchi proved too tempting."

"I've always been interested in a career in the Peace Corps," said Meschery firmly. "It's a good group of people."

The Peace Corps must think just as highly of Tom, since he has a standing offer to join that organization when his playing days are over.

Bianchi has this to say of his hard-working forward star. "Tom is my kind of guy. He's a competitor and he puts the team ahead of everything. Not only will he be one of our key performers on the floor, he will also be a tremendous influence on our team off the court."

"I'll help wherever I can," is Meschery's analysis of his role with the Seawolves. "I'll play the same way I've always played. I'll be on the boards, work on defense and try to get my share of points."

NBA fans will recall Meschery played with a broken hand during last year's playoffs and was a key figure in San Francisco's bid for the world title.

The Warriors forced Philadelphia to six games before bowing out of the championship series and Meschery was at his competitive best.

"I always seem to play better in the playoffs," notes Meschery. "There is great incentive and everyone seems to give it something extra."

Tom Meschery fans will tell you it's because their favorite is a clutch performer, who does his best when the blue chips are stacked to the ceiling.

Meschery has noticed one basic change at his position over the past six years. "The trend is away from the big, muscular forwards to quicker ones. There's more emphasis on speed and quickness at my position, in fact throughout the whole game, than there was in the past."

There's also an emphasis on competitiveness. And that's where Tom Meschery, of the Peace Corps Meschery's, stands front and center.

"I doesn't know any other way."

The final match of the day saw the Hornets win the Atoms in the second game of a two-game match to earn a split for the afternoon. In the first game the Atoms had snatched the Hornets by 130 pins. Top bowler in the match was George Robbins of the Atoms. Big George rolled a 292 series with games of 163 and 129. Marc Jaffe topped the totals for the Hornets with a 234 two-game series. Mark's second game effort of 147 enabled the Hornets to squeeze out their two-plus victory.

Howie Levine is leading the league totals after two weeks of bowling. Howie is rolling at a 152 pace. George Robbins with a 140 average is in second place, while Bob Fox's 133 average puts him in third place. The fourth spot belongs to Bob Goodman with a 132 average, while Gavin Widom is holding down fifth place with a 125 season mark in the early going. Boys in the remaining top 10 spots are Stuart Liebelskind, 124; Mark Jaffe, 121; Dan Kotovsky, 118; Howie Fleischman, 117, and Joe Pepe, 116.

24-6 Regional triumph ends 16-game drought

By MYRON MEISEL

Head coach Jim Horner's Bulldogs finally did it. The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football eleven trounced Abraham Clark High School of Roselle last weekend, 24-6, to snap what had been a 16-game losing streak. Now 1-7, the Bulldog gridders will entertain traditional rival Rahway High School one week from today in the annual Thanksgiving Day game at 11.

"Everything clicked. It was a great team effort," commented Horner. "We found something we had been looking for all season, and now, in addition, we have some confidence. After Roselle scored its first-period touchdown, we dominated throughout and it never threatened again."

"They made only two first downs in the entire second half. The defense did a really fine job. The blocking finally came through and it got better as the game progressed. Things are looking good for the closing game with Rahway, which upset Clark last week to win its first Watchung Conference game."

Covered by a strong line, the Bulldog backfield sparked. Jim Robinson carried for 159 yards, rushing an average of eight yards a carry, scoring two touchdowns. Fullback Ralph Losanno also scored twice. Quarterback Jon Schoch completed 10 of 16 passes. The Bulldogs marked up four interceptions, by Nate Edelstein, Steve Jupa, Willis Rutz and Losanno, who dashed downfield to score.

Roselle scored the first touchdown early in the game, working downfield and bringing the ball across on a sweep from the 11. But Dayton rebounded back to take the ball all the way. Losanno scored on a pitch-out from Schoch from the Rams' 12. Then, near the end of the first half, Losanno intercepted to carry 20 yards for the winning touchdown.

position's 20-yard line once. The Bulldog record for the 1965 season was 2-5-2.

Palazzi leads team to perfect record in Friday bowling

The Falcons held on to their lead in the Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League, as they won two games to remain the league's sole undefeated team. The Friday League rolls each week at the Springfield Bowl on Center street, as part of the Recreation Department's program.

Bill Palazzi, rookie star of the Falcons, paced his team to a sweep over the Rangers. Bill put together games of 125 and 135 for a 260 total. Robert Lee was also outstanding for the Falcons with a 232 two-game series. Tommy Lowy, captain of the Rangers, paced his team and was high man in the match with a 274 series. Steve Glover, rolling in a sub role for the Falcons, bowled well in this match.

Perry Koplik's fine bowling brought the Royals close to the top of the league last week. Perry rolled games of 141 and 149 for a high 290 total. Perry's series topped all bowlers last Friday. Scott Herman and Art Blumendorf were also effective in the Royal sweep. Scott rolled a 263 series with a 164 game, while Art had a 268 two-game total. Gary Neifeld, rolling for the losing Chiefs, kept his team in contention with a 274 series. Gary's first-game effort of 166 topped all bowlers in the match.

The Tigers also stayed close to the top with a pair of victories over the Warriors. Steve Harris paced the Tiger victory with a 249 series total. Barry Fink also hit a good series for the Tigers to help pace the sweep. Roy Greenberg topped the Warrior bowlers and was top man in the match with a 279 series total. Roy's first game effort of 174 was high as the Royals last Friday.

The final match of the day saw the Chargers sweep two games from the Hawks, who were all off their game last Friday. Steve Rosenberg with a 220 series led the sweep for the Chargers. Steve Blumenkrantz was also effective, as he posted a 216 series total. Stu Garavito was top bowler for the Hawks with a 188 two-game total.

Gary Neifeld paced the Hawks in the race for individual awards. After the first two weeks, Gary has a 150 average. Tommy Lowy is holding down second place with a 140 average. Roy Greenberg's 135 average puts him in the third spot, while Perry Koplik and Scott Herman follow closely with 132 averages. The remaining five boys among the top 10 are: Steve Harris, 127; Larry Ogintz, 120; Bill Palazzi, 111; Tommy Falcone, 109, and Robert Lee, 109.

Preparedness seminar for business and industry

Rutgers' second annual seminar on emergency preparedness for business and industry will be held Wednesday, Dec. 6, in the Casino in the Park, Jersey City.

The all-day seminar is designed to present business leaders with information on protecting their people, plant and records during emergencies, programs to minimize effects of a disaster, and how to prepare for recovery.

Following the viewing of a film on fallout showing the effects of nuclear weapons, G. H. Richards Jr., disaster control coordinator for Electronic Associates, Inc., is scheduled to discuss industry's responsibilities for emergency preparedness.

He will be followed by Eugene A. Kelly of General Motors Corp., Linden, who will analyze programs in organizational planning

Weeder's Digest

Lawns are showing a sort of patchwork pattern again this fall. Some are a real green green while others are sort of dull and drab. Maybe you can call it a bleached green.

If you fertilized your lawn earlier this fall you're probably enjoying the results because your lawn surely is greener than one that was not fertilized.

And if your lawn is pale and you wish you had fertilized earlier, hop to it now as the next best thing.

A Rutgers lawn specialist, Henry W. Indyk, says this is the thing to do. He suggests 10 to 15 pounds of a 10-6-4 fertilizer (50 percent organic) to 1,000 square feet.

In addition, it will stimulate grass growth for a more vigorous and dense lawn that will resist weed invasion next year.

And remember, he reminds you, that fertilizer is no substitute for lime. The benefits from each differ.

The lawns you admire most are the result of proper and adequate use of both fertilizer and lime.

You can spread lime now and right on into winter so that it will be in the soil and ready to help your grasses jump off to a speedy start next spring.

Says teacher unions are here to stay New Rutgers dean calls them inevitable

"Teacher power," the unionization of teachers, may be a disconcerting subject for many leaders in education, but Dr. Milton Schwebel, the new dean of Rutgers University's Graduate School of Education, sees the movement as an inevitable development.

"Anyone who thinks he can stop teachers from unionizing is out of touch with history or deluding himself," says Dr. Schwebel. "Those who oppose it are only fighting a delaying-action and wasting energy and money in the fight."

Dr. Schwebel feels that the move of teachers into organized labor must be recognized as part of the tide of history. And he feels that the move promises to strengthen American education.

"School people who have been docile and allowed themselves to be third-rate citizens for so long have finally come to life," he says.

Referring to a survey of men teachers in Oregon, which showed them to be uninvolved in the community and extremely conservative, as an example of what the teacher has been, Dr. Schwebel says that the new teacher should be an active counter force to those who would weaken education.

SUPERINTENDENTS AND PRINCIPALS who oppose unionization are boxing themselves in. They are taking positions which only create a wider gap between themselves and the teachers. Instead, they should join forces with the teachers groups and community groups that are willing to fight for the kinds of schools we need and the budgets good education demands.

In his opinion, union can be a positive force especially when they are concerned with professional issues in addition to the "pork chop" variety.

Commenting on schools and the struggle to achieve equal opportunity, Dr. Schwebel says the changes in education have been minimal.

"Until recently money has been spent primarily at pre-school and drop-out levels. We weren't touching the basic educational structure, and we hardly are now."

"We've got to guard against a buckshot approach—a little here and a little there. Maybe that satisfies political needs; it doesn't meet the educational ones."

Dr. Schwebel says that only a comprehensive plan will have an impact.

"There is no mystery as to what the children in the deprived areas need. Are the communities prepared to give it to them?" Dr. Schwebel, who moved into the dean's office at the Graduate School of Education in September, received his formal education at Union College (B.A.), State University of New York, Albany (M.A.), and Columbia University (Ph.D.), but he attributes his social concern to living through the 1930's.

"THE GREAT DEPRESSION, racial injustice and the series of international blunders which inexorably led to World War II caused many young people to become interested in the social sciences and humanities as a way of understanding the problems of our times."

"One of our problems in dealing with poverty is the human failing of shortsightedness. We are too much oriented to contemporary times and have no historical view. It is like looking at part of a river and not recognizing it for the whole that it is," he says.

"The conditions which have led to Black Power won't be solved by hiring more police. The Negro rebellion is not just of the moment. It is part of a history which has seen other groups take a stand. It is different in many ways, of course, but still similar to the position of the teachers and the students, too, who have come to the point where they feel they too must take a stand."

BOOSTS TEACHER UNIONIZATION — Dr. Milton Schwebel, recently named dean of Rutgers University's Graduate School of Education, says the unionization of teachers will strengthen American education.

Are good looks enough to sell a new phone?

We're not banking on it. That's why the Trimline® phone is packed with practical new ideas—like pushbuttons that come to you.

The lighted Touch-Tone® pushbuttons are right in the palm of your hand when you pick up the phone. And just beneath them, another new idea: the recall button that lets you make a second call without first reaching to hang up. Just press the recall button... and you've got a dijit tone.

You can put a Trimline phone in handy new locations—on the side of a kitchen cabinet, or under a counter—because you don't need to see the base to dial. The buttons are in the handset.

A new Trimline phone costs just pennies a day—and there's no extra charge for color. (It's available in wall-and-table models, with either a standard dial or the new Touch-Tone pushbuttons that let you "dial" twice as fast. And the additional Touch-Tone charge covers all phones on your line.)

Just call your Telephone Business Office to order the new Trimline phone. It's the only telephone ever to be selected for the permanent design collection in New York's Museum of Modern Art. Looks alone might not sell a new phone. But sure don't hurt.

What profit possibilities may rise from the oceans' waters?

Hayden, Stone's Oceanography Report selects 17 favorably situated Companies; 10 for investment portfolios; 7 for aggressive growth potentials

Hayden, Stone recently conducted the first in a series of Government-industry forums to explore the background, problems, economics and investment opportunities in rapidly changing or new or emerging fields. This initial forum dealt with Oceanography, the science concerned with 70% of the world's area, from whose depths may come food to feed the hungry, such essentials as oil, gas, metals, chemicals—and water itself.

Now Hayden, Stone's Research Department has prepared a 21-page report on the investment significance of Oceanography—a report based directly on the findings of this forum and on the Department's own careful research evaluations. It reviews the industries now active in this important new field and selects 10 companies for investment purposes and 7 for aggressive growth potentials.

year he won first and second prizes in the Kansas City Star poetry contest. He recently published a book of poetry entitled "Dan Freeman."

The evening will start at 8 p.m. with the opening of the New Jersey Artists Exhibition at the "Y." The Poetry Reading by Jaffe will begin at 8:45 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The exhibition of graphics and watercolors by Jersey artists was assembled by the Newark Museum for the New Jersey State Council on the Arts. All works to be shown are from the Newark Museum's permanent collection. Most of the artists represented have received a national recognition, and some, such as Ben Shahn, have been recognized internationally as well; Henry Gasser, Louis Lozowick, John Ross, and Edward Stevens are among others well known on the national scene. Manuel Azaña and Seymour Shapiro are two of the younger talents represented. The types of media employed by the artists are varied and includes water color, casein, gouache, and color woodcut, a 'Y' spokesman said.

The exhibition is open to the public from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. to Dec. 11. Admission is free.

The exhibition is co-sponsored by the Adult Education Committee of the "Y" and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

At the first session, Nov. 27, Dr. Francis Dowd, professor emeritus in psychology, Rutgers University, will speak on "Motivation For Safety." The second session, Dec. 4, will be devoted to the presentation of visual aids that can be used in industrial safety.

The third session will be conducted by Richard A. Reynolds and William P. Dr. Hertzberg to speak in lecture-concert series

Dr. Arthur Hertzberg, rabbi, lecturer, author and professor, will address the second event of the 1967-68 YM-YWHA Concert-Lecture Series on Sunday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, Green Lane, Union.

Dr. Hertzberg's topic will be "How The Jewish-Middle East Crisis Affects The American Jewish Community." This will be the first time since the war between Israel and Arab countries in June, that this topic has been discussed on such a forum in Eastern Union County, a 'Y' spokesman said. The moderator for the evening will be Paul Shapiro of Hillside, president of the Jewish Community Council of Eastern Union County.
