MRS. SONYA G. DORSKY

Election set on Tuesday; 3 polls open

Budget for coming year also requires approval

Elections for the Springfield Board of Education will be held on Tuesday with four candidates contending for three seats on the board. They are James Adams, Canio A. Casale, Mrs. Sonya G. Dorsky and Francis H. Shimshock.

Voters will also be asked to approve the board's projected budget for the next year in the township's five schools, running from kindergarten through the eighth grade. There will be two budget items on the ballot, for current expenses of $1,693,376 and for capital outlay of $37,700.

Hours for voting on Tuesday will be 3 to 9 p.m. Residents of Districts 1 to 6 will vote at the James Caldwell School, The Florence Gaudinier School will be the polling place for Districts 7 to 10. Voters in Districts 11 to 13 will use the polling place at the Edward Walton School.

Dr. Josephson tops in election; referendum set

Dr. Benjamin H. Josephson was elected Tuesday to a three-year term on the Regional High School District Board of Education in voting at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School to fill one Springfield seat on the board. Dr. Josephson received 298 votes to 212 for Robert Halsey, 205 for Mrs. Helen Hupack and 16 for Henry S. Wright.

In a meeting also held Tuesday night at Dayton, the regional board voted to hold a referendum March 12 throughout the district on its $4,500,000 expansion bond issue. The referendum calls for an expenditure of some $750,000 for renovation at Dayton, an increase of approximately $100,000 over the amount previously earmarked for Dayton.

Dayton senior award winner in homemaking

JEANNE C. FIDEL

Jeanne C. Fidel this week was named 1968 Berry Crocker, Homemaking of Tomorrow at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Miss Fidel, who ranked first in a written examination for senior class girls on homemaking knowledge, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Fidel of 411 Mountain ave.

League asks school board to transfer Mountainside students to Kenilworth

The Springfield League of Women Voters this week urged that expansion plans of the Regional High School District Board of Education be revised to send all future students from Mountainside to David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth rather than to Gov. Livingston Regional in Berkeley Heights.

The League stressed that the change would tend to equalize the size of the four regional high schools, with an "equal share of the educational program" in each school.

The regional board had proposed that the next two classes of freshmen from Mountainside attend Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield, while additional facilities are being constructed at Gov. Livingston.

The Springfield League of Women Voters want to give it fullest consideration before we make any comments.

The League's suggestions are based on a study of the regional district conducted jointly by the Springfield League and the Berkeley Heights League of Women Voters, the only two LWV units within the district.

The two groups were unable to agree on all phases of the report, however, and a large portion, including the suggestion for the transfer of Mountainside students to Brearley Regional, was endorsed only by the Springfield League.

"We urge flexibility in classroom construction, arrangement and use."

"We feel that a maximum class size of 25 should be an eventual goal, although we realize that temporary acceptance of 30 may be more realistic in an attempt to secure passage of the referendum."

"We agree upon the desirability of a permanent home school within the regional system for all students."

"We define equity in education as equal opportunity for each student in the regional district."

THE REGIONAL BOARD PRESIDENT, Avery Ward of Kenilworth, acknowledged receipt of the League's proposal, but declined comment on its suggestions until the entire document can be studied carefully.

He declared, "This has been passed out to our board members, architect and engineers. We appreciate their recommendations, resulting from their study in depth."

"Our board would want to assure the League of Women Voters that we will give their recommendations our fullest consideration. This is not something we would pass off lightly. We

THE PORTION of the report presented jointly by the two League units declared: "The Springfield and Berkeley Heights Leagues of Women Voters, having completed their research and study of the physical facilities of the Union County Regional High School District One (which encompasses Springfield, Berkeley Heights, Garwood, Clark, Kenilworth and Mountainside), and, in anticipation of a proposed referendum to expand these facilities, respectfully submit the following:

"We agree upon the need for expansion within the regional system and upon the need for improvement of existing adolescent facilities. We feel the need for properly equipped and maintained rooms for all schools within the regional system, in addition to the proposed upgrading in Jonathan Dayton, specific attention should be directed toward renovation of the physics laboratory and the gymnasiums."

"We urge construction of a second direct exit into the corridor for all laboratory rooms, in addition to the existing connecting exits."

"The League appreciates the serious attempt being made now by the Regional Board of Education to bring Jonathan Dayton up to functional parity with the newer schools, recognizing functional parity not as an expansion but as a long overdue remodeling of our dated facilities."

Springfield goal of $2,500 set in Heart Fund campaign

A goal of $2,500 has been set for the Springfield portion of the Union County Heart Association's annual fund drive this month, it was announced this week by John S. Donington, township chairman.

Donington said the local goal was part of an overall campaign target of $80,000 for the entire county. Volunteers now are being recruited for the Heart Sunday canvass to be conducted in all counties in the high point of the 1968-1969 fund campaign here.

Volunteers will call on their neighbors Heart Sunday, Feb. 25.

"So that everyone in the community will have a chance to give, it is our hope to enlist the services of as many men and women who can find time to call on their neighbors to advance the most vital health crusade of our time," said Donington.

"Confronted with this fact," he went on, "we must expand our efforts in the fight against these diseases. I ask every resident of Springfield to support this vital fight against the heart diseases by giving more generously than ever before to the Union County Heart Fund drive."

She is a member of the Dayton yearbook and literary magazine staffs and of the Girls' Athletic Association. Miss Fidel is interested in all sports, particularly tennis, and in art. She plans to major in elementary education at the University of Wisconsin or the University of Colorado.

As a winner of the local competition, she will receive a silver award from General Mills, sponsor of the American Homemaking of Tomorrow program. She is now eligible for additional state and national scholarship awards.

The state winner will receive a $1,500 college scholarship, and her high school will be given a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Second prize in the state competition is a $500 educational grant. All state winners will then compete for the national awards. The national winner will receive a $5,000 scholarship, with lesser awards of $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

The current competition marks the 14th year of the Homemaking of Tomorrow awards, sponsored by General Mills to emphasize the importance of homemaking as a career.

This year's competition included participation by 603,798 girls from 15,079 high schools. Almost six million girls have taken part since the program began in 1954, and this year's scholarship grants will bring the total awarded to nearly $1.5 million.

Historical group selects officers

Mrs. Eva Brown of 121 Meisel ave. was re-elected president of the Springfield Historical Society at the group's recent 15th annual meeting at the Cannonball House.

Other officers elected were: M. Jordan Price, vice-president; Mrs. George W. Lancaster, secretary; Catherine Sless, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Hargrove, corresponding secretary; Donald T. Palmer, curator. Elected to the executive board were Richard E. Werner, Howard W. Wiseman, Howard F. Casselman, Augustus W. Smith Sr., Alan Cunningham, Henry McMullen and Charles Heard. Elected to serve terms on the board of governors were Gladys H. Beardley, Howard F. Casselman, Alex Ferguson, George W. Lancaster, Benjamin Heard and Stewart Fulton.

A program of slides and movies was presented at the meeting by Mrs. Hargrove and Fulton. Persons interested in joining the society should call Mrs. George Lancaster at 682-9299, she said.

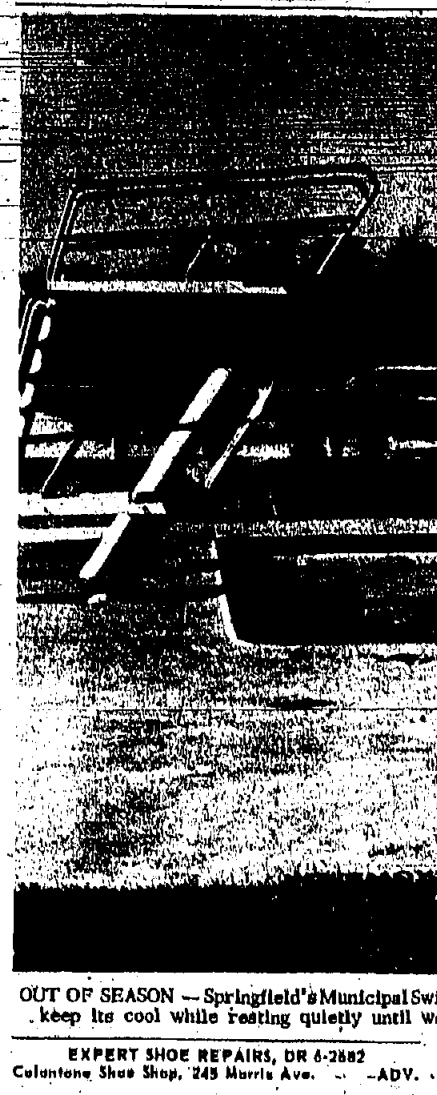

"The importance of our cause may be judged by the fact that heart diseases are responsible for more than half of all deaths in this country, while on the average of one of each nine citizens is afflicted. We are not asking very much—certainly, not more than an hour of your time," he continued. "Considering the seriousness of the problem and the fact that heart disease poses a threat to every family, the investment is surely a wise one."

Those wishing to volunteer their services can do so by calling Donington at 89 Colfax rd.

"GREAT ADVANCES have been made against heart and blood vessel diseases in the years since the Heart Association became a voluntary organization in 1949," the chairman declared. "The public's attitude of pessimism about heart disease has been reversed. Today we know that some forms of the heart and blood vessel diseases can be prevented, some cured and almost all helped with proper treatment after early diagnosis," he pointed out.

"Most heart attack victims recover from initial attacks, and those who do, recover out of four go back to work. High blood pressure, which can cause heart, brain and kidney damage, now can be controlled in most instances. Stroke is no longer hopeless, and thousands of victims are now being rehabilitated and returned to active lives. Most cases of rheumatoid fever can be prevented. In the past decade, remarkable progress has been made in correcting congenital heart defects through surgery," Donington said.

Despite this progress, the campaign chairman added, heart and blood vessel diseases continue to be the nation's number one killer, claiming the lives of about a million in the U.S. alone each year.

NEW CLASS-MATE — Kindergarteners in Mrs. Jacqueline Sharkey's class at the Thelma Sandmeier School spend some time making their guinea pig feel at home.

Kindergarten class learning iguanas are the nicest people

Mrs. Jacqueline Sharkey's classroom at the Thelma Sandmeier School, Springfield, is the new-found home for a guinea pig, a turtle, two iguanas and some mice.

For the past month, the boys and girls in Mrs. Sharkey's two kindergarten classes have enjoyed both observing and caring for the animals.

The children are learning many things by assuming the varied responsibilities for the care of their assorted reptile and rodent pets. They bring food from home and feed the animals daily. The children also keep the cages sparkling clean.

Mrs. Sharkey obtained the pets from Dr. Myron Melman, a professor of biochemistry at Rutgers University. Dr. Melman's daughter, Mara, is a pupil in Mrs. Sharkey's class.

The number of mice has increased from two to 11. At last report, another litter of mice was expected within the next few weeks. If the rodent population continues to increase at the Sandmeier School, the kindergartners can expect a busy, exciting and rewarding year.

Mrs. Sharkey stated that she feels that the observation of animals provides valuable educational experiences for her students. In addition, the kindergartners may supply mice for observation and experimentation to other classes in the Springfield schools. Several teachers have already asked for mice so that their pupils can conduct controlled nutrition experiments.

League asks school board to transfer Mountainside students to Kenilworth

expanding curricula will bring new hardships. Compensating features must be studied to provide for these future needs, as well as the fact that 25 percent of Springfield is still undeveloped (see Master Plan - Springfield). Extensive building program could suddenly complicate the school accommodation plan here.

"From our studies we have also concluded that anticipation of future pupil enrollment in the district is vital in prevention of overcrowded conditions in the future. Expansion in the district is needed to accommodate the Mountainside students whose presence at the Governor Livingston (Berkeley Heights) school is beginning to overcrowd this school. Extra facilities in this school have eased the burden of overcrowding, but this problem must be met and dealt with.

"Before going further, let it be clear that we interpret the regional system as operating on the principle of equal education for all. The four schools in the district are in reality a sub-division of the whole. Equal education, equity, is defined by us as equal facilities and equal opportunity for each child in the regional district - and the same base number of students per class.

"We further believe that continuation of the regional system demands a fair balance in the number of children in each school, with a comparable program of education within each school. Further expansion at the Governor Livingston school of 24 classrooms would defeat this concept. We must de-emphasize the trend toward unequal numbers of students, programs of study, and facilities.

"The existence of an enlarged, purely academic school, with select programs and facilities would preclude equality in the other schools in the district. This imbalance would be antithetical to the basic philosophy of equal opportunity and facility for each student. Since each community pays its fair share based upon this philosophy, equal opportunity, each community therefore should receive an equal share of the educational program.

"Anticipating conclusions for accommodation of future enrollment has been made difficult due to conflicting figures. Those tables of pupil projection issued by the office of the superintendent of schools are based upon varying factors and some have been challenged by the League. We nevertheless have come to the conclusion that expansion is needed within the regional system. We emphasize, within the regional system.

"Recognizing these immediate needs, we do not wish to work against a referendum which would provide for these needs.

"On the other hand, we have strong objection to the referendum as proposed, since we feel it negates the basic philosophy of the regional system: Equity."

WE THEREFORE strongly urge the following recommendations be considered:

"Correction of obsolescence to take place before expansion needs completed.

"Mountainside students placed at David Brearley (Kenilworth) school on short-term and long-term basis.

"Reasons for short term placement:

"Interior construction will be taking place at Jonathan Dayton, reducing number of available rooms and affecting traffic movement within school.

"Purpose of remodeling is to improve physical plant to satisfactory level. Our studies reveal inadequate space for present student population.

"Present seventh grade now at Gaudineer will be at Jonathan Dayton in 1969-70, during remodeling period. This class is unusually large, with 40-plus over previous class sizes. Even if David Brearley were to be crowded, which League believes unlikely in 1970, sending Mountainside freshmen to the newest school, with extra facilities and space, rather than the oldest school, with no extra facilities and undergoing remodeling to correct obsolescence, is the clear and obvious solution.

"There are no guarantees that building will be completed by 1970. Just as Board of Education does not wish to guarantee population projections are correct, neither can the board guarantee completion of construction as announced.

"Older school can have effective program only if not overcrowded. (See Dr. Rissetto concurring opinion in his report).

"Reasons for long-term placement of Mountainside students at David Brearley (Kenilworth):

"Equalization of all schools within district without danger of larger, dominating school. Based upon latest pupil projection tables issued from Board of Education office, total number of students at each school would be: A. L. Johnson, 1,700-plus; David Brearley, with Garwood and Mountainside students, 1,696; Gov. Livingston, 1,532, and Jonathan Dayton, 986.

"Comprehensive programs should be supported for all schools in regional district. Sending additional students to Brearley will help correct imbalance of no honors programs recently noted in this school, and open other areas of academic study as well.

"Room to expand here. Check with architect show room for construction of 18 academic classrooms without disturbing parking or play field areas.

"Nutritional problems.

"All students should have a permanent home school with no shuffling back and forth from grade to grade.

"Springfield and Clark facilities to be under continued observation due to possibility of extensiveness growth.

"Interization of improvements in each school.

"Number of classrooms proposed for Dayton, as well as specific use of a former library/agriculture building. (Where will students' present agriculture program be placed, if program phased out?)

"Anticipate separate building for administration purposes.

"Sketches of proposed renovations and additions - all schools to be made available to public.

"Relationship of cost to tax rates to be indicated.

SAGE reports on services to Springfield area residents

The 13th annual meeting of SAGE (Summit Area Association for Gerontological Endeavor) was held at the YWCA in Summit last Saturday. All of the services offered by SAGE are available to Springfield residents. These include the Visiting Homemaker Service, OWL Employment Referral Service, Meals on Wheels, Friendly Visitors, Workshop, SAGE Crafts, and the SAGE Exchange which has used furniture for sale.

According to the annual report, which was read at the meeting, the Visiting Homemaker Service gave 11,948 hours of service in Springfield in 1967, making it second only to Summit in total number of hours. Many Springfield men and women used the OWL Employment Referral Service both as job seekers and as employers.

Also, several have availed themselves of Meals on Wheels. This service, which is just starting its second year, provides two nutritious meals a day to people unable to prepare their own. It was emphasized at the meeting that the service is available for short-term convalescent cases of any age and does not have to be used on a five-day-a-week basis. Craft items, including wood inlay pictures, jewelry, ceramics, knitwear, handmade aprons and tote dresses and Easter decorations, made by older people in the area, were on display at the meeting. This handicraft is sold on consignment at SAGE headquarters, 50 DeForest ave., Summit, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Anyone interested in submitting articles for sale was invited to the office at 273-5550.

The newly revised SAGE Guide to Services and Activities for Older People was distributed at the meeting.

Report card comments on school board voting

Township voters this coming week will have the opportunity -- or rather, the obligation -- to take part in the annual Springfield Board of Education election on Tuesday. In the election just past, local voters had to name one of four candidates to a seat on the regional high school board. This week, they must choose among four candidates for three seats open.

They are James Adams, Canio Casale, Mrs. Sonya Dorsky and Francis Shimshock. The latter three are incumbents. All four, we might add, have proven their dedication to the support of the children of Springfield and to the general continuation of the policies of an outstanding school system.

Mrs. Dorsky has for six years been the board's leading advocate of undiluted excellence, a goal sometimes obscured from the vision of others, perhaps more practical on occasion, but perhaps less devoted to the pursuit of perfection.

Few observers can agree with all of her plans for absolute and total perfection in local schools. At the same time, almost all who have observed the local school board in action must agree that her voice is a vital factor in the high standards which have been achieved -- and the even higher standards which are inevitable. We regard Mrs. Dorsky's reelection as a substantial service to the children of Springfield.

Adams is a newcomer to the educational arena. He is newcomer to service to the boys and girls of Springfield. Through his work in sports and other recreational programs, he has made warm friends in countless families. These include youngsters he has coached and advised, as well as many appreciative parents.

We note with particular pleasure that Adams made himself able to take advantage of one of the finest opportunities available to any adult in Springfield -- that of sharing in the unique experience of our children's "Experiment in Living" at Stokes State Forest. Anyone who has been exposed to this rare and exciting educational adventure must receive lasting inspiration.

Both Casale and Shimshock have worked faithfully as board members for the past three years. Both have contributed to the achievements of the board. Both would undoubtedly contribute more in the future.

We regret, however, that neither has displayed any enthusiasm for the proposal to change the school board's meeting night to end the present conflict with meetings of the regional high school board.

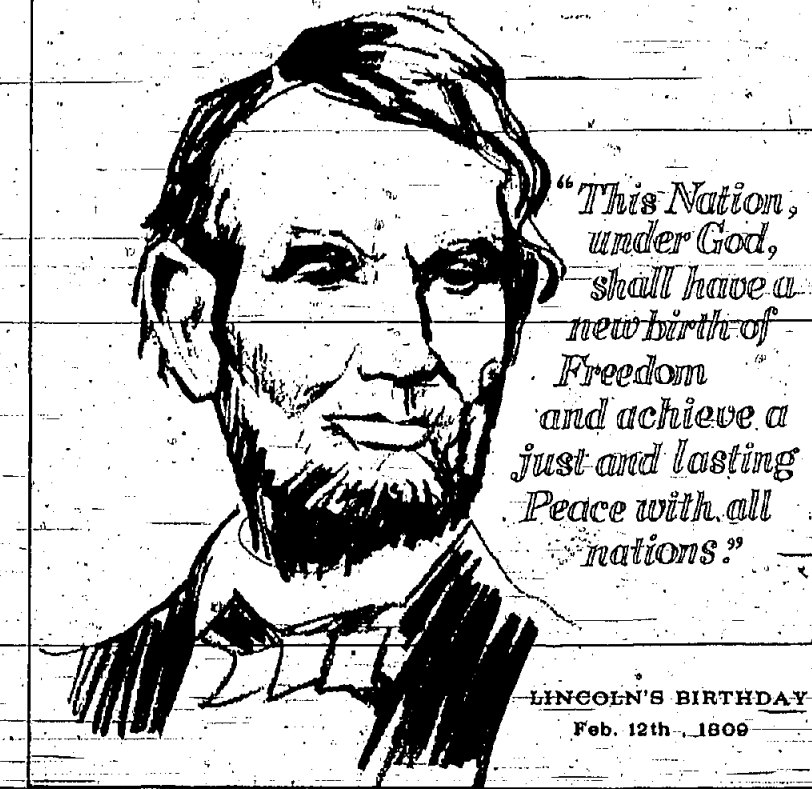

Casale commented at the Candidates' Night debate last week that his service on the board had been based on a schedule of Tuesday night meetings. Shimshock noted that he had no strong feelings on either side of the question.

This is admittedly a minor issue, but we feel that any change would be to the great advantage of the few citizens who are deeply interested in education for our young people.

We believe, then, that Mrs. Dorsky should be retained as an extremely valuable member of the Board of Education. We believe that Adams should be elected to the board as a young man with a great potential for service.

We believe that a vote for either Casale or Shimshock, as the third person to be chosen this year, will give the board one more member who will be a positive help to the children of Springfield.

Adams is a newcomer to the educational arena. He is newcomer to service to the boys and girls of Springfield. Through his work in sports and other recreational programs, he has made warm friends in countless families. These include youngsters he

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY
Feb. 12th, 1809

Senator CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

(Editor's note: The following is a partial text of remarks by Sen. Case to the 31st Annual Congressional Dinner of the N. J. State Chamber of Commerce, last Thursday, in Washington, D. C.)

In his recent State of the Union message, the President referred to "a certain restlessness" in the country.

This was certainly an understatement. And his subsequent discussion did hardly more than hint at the depths of the racial problem confronting the nation.

The repercussions of the disorders of last summer were felt, far good, and far bad, in every corner of the country.

Unfortunately, the good is almost entirely prospective. It lies in the beginning of an awareness, among still too few people, of the existence of groups of disadvantaged people, unable to become productive members of the community and with ever less stake in its stability.

The bad is all too plain, in ugly violence and the equally ugly chain reaction to it, the heightening of racial tensions and the hardening of obstacles to meaningful communication.

Perhaps the most encouraging development of recent months is the attention which an increasing number of business and industrial leaders are beginning to give to the problem of the unemployed, including the underemployed and the so-called unemployable. For I suspect that Dr. Kenneth Clark, president of the Metropolitan Applied Research Center and Professor of Psychology at the City College of New York, is right in emphasizing that business and industry have "it want to use it, the power to make things happen" -- to help find "a formula to translate civil rights legislation into what happens to human beings."

IN OUR OWN state, which, I need hardly remind this audience, is the most urbanized in the nation, there are heartening evidences of leadership by a part of the business community in trying to "make things happen." A determination to get down to the "nitty-gritty" -- to provide actual jobs for actual people. This may require retraining, on or off the job, raising formal employment standards such as a high school diploma which may or may not be a measure of ability to do a particular job, the elimination of conventional tests, hiring the not-so-bright as well as the Negro graduate of Harvard. Business people are beginning to recognize the need to locate jobs where people can reach them and also making it possible for people to locate where the jobs are. As one leading financial figure in New Jersey recently put it: "We're no longer giving lip service.... We're going to have to perform." Those are indeed welcome words.

The effort to provide employment will bring many problems from a management and corporate point of view. Some government assistance will undoubtedly be necessary and with it the working out of new relationships between government and business. And, above all, it means involvement of business and industry on a new scale in the community and, most particularly, in the city.

Of course, business will not solve the racial problem alone. But business can make a contribution to the solution which nobody else can make. This is why the efforts of leading corporations and business organizations take on such importance.

It is often said that one picture is worth a thousand words. I think this is the kind of situation we are in. Words will not do. Only doing will. And the task of locating, training and employing individuals who are now left out of our productive system is one which business can do supremely well. And as these individuals are helped to gain a measure of economic security and the self-respect which can only come from one's own accomplishment, we will build a basis for understanding and mutual respect which bridges the deep animosities that threaten to tear us apart as a people.

Springfield Public Library reports on newest books for local readers

By EVA P. BROWN
The Springfield Public Library includes the following titles among the new books now available:

VIETNAM
"Up Front in Vietnam," by David Read, in a series of dramatic sketches, the author describes what it is like to be up front with the boys in the combat zone. He has succeeded in capturing the suffering, the humor and occasional heroism that is war in Southeast Asia. He writes: "When his government runs out of ideas, when the diplomats have nothing more to say, they turn to him. Before he joined the Army, or the Marines, he probably drove a truck, tended bar, or pumped gas. He is 18, 19 or 20 years old -- but he is the man to whom the government of the United States turns when it decides to wage war -- the infantryman, the private or private first class, the lowest and most important man on the military totem pole."

RED CHINA
"The East Is Red," by Maslyn Williams. A beautifully written book by an Australian journalist. A brilliant exposition of China's revolutionary history, an incisive accounting of the litany of Mao, and a real achievement in weaving together the nation's dynastic past and irrepressible present.

FLORENCE
"Diary of Florence in Flood," by Kathrine Kressmann Taylor. This intensely personal account by an American writer now living in Florence gives a remarkable first-hand picture of that city's ordeal. The book makes truly felt both the magnitude of the disaster and the significance of the people of Florence.

BIOGRAPHY
"Adam Stevenson: A Study in Values," by Herbert J. Muller. The author, a distinguished historian, writes with scholarly interest and personal conviction. Although the book concentrates largely on the years of Stevenson's public life, there is a particularly enlightening discussion of the family traditions and Mid-Western background that shaped his intellectual interests and his values.

HISTORY
"Taste in America," by Ishbel Ross. A charming and nostalgic book. It shows how the American home was carved from the wilderness, and follows the evolution of American architecture, household furnishings, fashions, customs and taste in lively detail. Profusely illustrated by period engravings and photographs of people, places and things. Excellent for reference.

JUVENILE
"Recapturing America's Past," by Trevor L. Charlton. The American past is a heritage worthy of preservation and now, through the efforts of the federal government, state agencies and local organizations, many reminders of this heritage are being rescued and preserved for the future. This book discusses 14 of these treasures, describing their conception and history, with accompanying photographs.

"Thomas and the Warlock," by Mollie Hunter. Witches and warlocks people this tall tale set in the lowlands of Scotland. How a brave 10-year old planned to meet them and overcome their evil magic makes a rather hair-raising suspense story.

"ABC" by John Burningham. The only new aspect about any ABC book would be, of course, the illustrations. The ones in this book are colorful and charming and sure to please the picture book set.

PROFILE---Benjamin Margolis

By BEA SMITH
As full-time principal of the religious school of Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield, which has an enrollment of approximately 350 pupils, Benjamin Margolis is busy every moment of his working day.

"I came here last July as a part-time principal," says the friendly, smiling, blond-haired Margolis in a slight, attractive Polish-Jewish accent. "But now I am full time because there is so much to do."

"At the present time," he says, "we have four full time teachers, seven part-time teachers and one remedial teacher. As principal, my duty first of all is to work out a curriculum for the school, supervise the teachers and be a teacher of teachers. I also run the administration of the school."

Religious classes are held for boys and girls from seven years old to 15 years old, three times a week. There are two afternoons of two-hour sessions (from 4 to 6 p.m.) and one two-hour session on Saturday or Sunday, according to Margolis.

"Cantor Israel Barzak," says Margolis, "prepares the youngsters for Bar and Bat Mitzvah and for confirmation."

BENJAMIN MARGOLIS

"THE CONFIRMATION class curriculum consists of Bible, contemporary Jewish history, concepts and religious beliefs."

"In the lower grades, the teachers have classes on all subject matters. In the upper grades, every teacher teaches primarily one subject. There is a specialist in Jewish history, one in Bible, one in the Hebrew language and one in Jewish beliefs and practices."

Margolis explains that "the general aim in Jewish education is to give a child a positive identity with Jewishness and the proper attitude towards the historical and cultural background. The child also is taught to develop attitudes for a lasting love for the Jewish culture, traditions and heritage. And we try to give him a positive identity in adjustment to his environment as a Jew in our pluralistic society."

"We try to develop in our children," Margolis continues, "a desire to participate in traditional Jewish observances -- at home and in the synagogue."

"A child should be able to identify himself with Jewish living."

"The children in Temple Beth Ahm, indicates Margolis, "receive the over-all guiding spirit of our spiritual leader, Rabbi Reuben Levine."

THE RELIGIOUS SCHOOL also has closets with a day nursery. "These little ones meet five days a week. The school has children below five years of age," says Margolis. "They learn the basic prayers, blessings -- on the level -- Jewish customs through arts and crafts, Jewish Holidays, again through arts and crafts, singing and dancing in a very carefree and happy environment."

Margolis, who was born in Poland, received his education in Warsaw. He received degrees in Hebrew and secular education from the University of Warsaw.

"I came here to America prior to World War II. I taught in Hebrew schools in Baltimore and Plainfield."

Margolis is married to the former Sylvia Bornstein of Plainfield, and they live in Warren. ("That's near Plainfield.") They have a daughter, Mrs. Steven (Tova) Shull, who lives in North Plainfield and teaches in Warren; and a son, Paul, who is a senior at Syracuse University, where he is majoring in business administration.

"Seven years prior to coming here," Margolis says, "I was principal of Temple Neve Shalom in Trenton. Also, I organized the original Hebrew high school in Menasha and served as its principal."

Margolis has taught Hebrew literature and presently teaches Bible and the philosophy of the Bible in the College of Jewish Studies (the Midrasha) of Essex County. He is a member of the Principals' Council of Essex County. He served as executive secretary of the Chabad, training pioneers for Israel "before the establishment of the State of Israel. Hechaizur had its training farms in Hightstown and Creamridge here in New Jersey."

HE SERVED AS PRESIDENT of the Zionist District of Plainfield, president of the Hebrew Institute of Plainfield and vice-president of the Community Council in Plainfield.

Margolis says with a bright smile, "I am very happy in this new position as principal of the religious school here. It's a busy, full-time job -- because in addition to running the administration of the school, I run all the activities with the help of the teachers, and I also lecture at Sisterhood meetings." He also will lecture at a seminar on March 12.

Much of the credit for the success of the religious school goes to "the chairman of the Board of Education, Dr. Philip Meisel and to the president of the temple, Milton Wildman. They've shown the greatest respect and cooperation to the school and its needs, and they take pride in the school's accomplishments."

"You know," he adds, "the greatest part of the expenses of the temple is in its religious school."

"I would like to remind you," Margolis says, and not without pride shining in his eyes, "that the 1968-69 religious school schedule is already completed. All of the teachers are already engaged and the scheduling of classes worked out."

"This is one of the largest schools around, and I hope, the finest school. If not," he chuckles, "I'm going to make it so!"

Letters To Editor

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will be withheld if the letter is of political nature. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

BIBLICAL VIETNAM LESSON
For very practical reasons, the Administration might look at the Bible to extract a lesson for America's own selfish interest. Goliath, in the form of the United States, may be looked at as a "giant." David, in the form of Vietnam, says: "Go away, Vietnamese are fighting Vietnamese in their own country, in a civil war. It is our own business -- not yours to interfere with. We have no outside soldiers helping us. We are trying to change our country from the inequities we suffered from colonial influence, from the French -- and now from you. Please go away! Leave the so-called 'government' that invaded you was not a legal one."

Goliath is hurting. Is injured. Is neglecting his own home, has forgotten his own history. Goliath, once controlled by a colonial power, broke the law, revolted, warred against the existing regime. Eilatun. Goliath won his freedom from colonial control.

Goliath has real potential threats, other giants who will benefit from Goliath's injuries. China and Russia. Goliath's energy, drained at the rate of one half billion dollars a month, saps his own strength, threatening his source of strength, freedom of conscience; one half billion dollars a month, which could be used for Goliath's health, job training, better hospitals, better schools, cleaner air, mass transit, medical aid for the elderly, curbing inflation, sapping of our gold supply; all a result of Goliath's meddling.

David may not defeat Goliath in the Biblical sense of stoning him between the eyes, but David may be causing a slow death.

Each month longer we listen to our generals who say, "One more step of escalation and we will finish it." Each month brings this great "giant" closer to being stoned right between the eyes. All Americans, I believe, are beginning to realize this, except a stubborn and unpopular Administration.

In Past Tense

ONE YEAR AGO
The huge blizzard that swept the metropolitan area, with low temperatures and heavy snow forces a postponement of the Regional High School Board of Education elections. THE RT. REV. MSG. FRANCES X. COYLE is named the recipient of the annual B'nai B'rith citizenship award. ARTHUR KESSELHAUT, president of the Springfield lodge of B'nai B'rith, and MRS. MARTIN KARP, president of the women's chapter, say he is selected "because of his work toward the betterment of understanding among all community groups. A true humanitarian, Mesgr. Coyle states that people are his hobby and his life attests to this fact." MRS. NATALIE R. WALDT is named president of the Friends of the Springfield Public Library. Other officers are MRS. HAZEL H. HARGROVE, MRS. ELIZABETH J. LAURUNCHELLE, and MRS. ROSLYN B. YABLONSKY.

Report from Trenton

By State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo

The assignment of priorities is one of the most pressing needs facing the various departments of our state government. We in government must make a reasoned and informed judgment on which projects are most important and which are of lesser significance and we must balance the need for these projects against available revenues.

Intermittent in such an evaluation must be a true, businesslike approach to the business of administering a government that meets the needs of all the people -- including that unorganized amorphous mass known as the silent taxpayers.

The traditional business approach to spending is to estimate income before committing funds to outgo. In government, the situation is just the opposite: the administrators decide how much should be spent, then look for ways to raise the money to cover the expenses.

5th graders conduct class without direction by teacher

The pilot study, "Project Insight," which was reported in the "citizens of Springfield" in the December issue of the Springfield Board News, brings two small groups of township teachers together for weekly meetings with Dr. William E. Ganss, child psychiatrist and former medical director of the Union County Psychiatric Clinic.

According to the NEWS article, "This project represents a pilot approach in bringing knowledge from various professional disciplines directly to the teachers in the classroom at the level of their interest and needs."

But what is going on in the classroom while the teacher is meeting with Dr. Ganss? Cindy Macy, Elaine Barone, David Garner and David Musko, students in Fred Natfalk's fifth grade class at the James Caldwell School, wrote the following article to explain what happens in their class when Mr. Natfalk attends "Project Insight."

The first thing every Wednesday morning, a student leads the class in the salute to the flag and some fast exercises to the "Chicken Fat" record. A teacher is in the room as an advisor. The boys and girls who have brought in newspaper articles for current events tell the rest of the class about them.

Then the boys and girls in Mr. Natfalk's class carry on a program of individual activities. Some work on history, spelling or writing. A few of the boys take part in a chess tournament. Others use reference books. By the time Mr. Natfalk returns, these activities have been completed and the class is busy reading down in the school library.

Federal Tax Facts

New Jersey taxpayers seeking professional help in preparing their 1967 Federal income tax returns should select a qualified and reputable advisor.

Joseph M. Shatz, District Director of Internal Revenue, advises taxpayers to make appointments and arrangements now. As the April 15 filing deadline comes closer, tax practitioners become increasingly busy.

Even if your records are not yet complete, the practitioner you select will be able to start work on your return and schedule the time necessary to complete it.

Director Shatz asks that you furnish the pre-identified tax form which you received in the mail to the individual who completes your return. Even if he prefers to use another form, he can peel off the identifying label and use it on the return he prepares for your signature and filing.

Be sure to keep a copy of the return. It will help if your return is questioned at any time and it provides an excellent starting point for next year's return.

Although Internal Revenue does not recommend any individual practitioners, Shatz passed on some suggestions which will help taxpayers to select a responsible individual to prepare their tax returns.

Choose a tax advisor who has a permanent address so that you know he will be available to answer any question after your return has been prepared and filed.

Beware of the "expert" who boasts that he knows all the angles, who guarantees refunds, wants a percentage of the refund or suggests that your refund check be mailed to his address.

Be sure that the individual who prepares your return signs it and includes his permanent address on the line provided at the bottom of the tax form. You should record his name and address for future reference.

Director Shatz concluded, "No matter who prepares the return, the taxpayer himself is responsible for paying any additional tax, penalty or interest resulting from an incorrectly prepared return. Taxpayers may delegate the work of preparing a return but they cannot delegate their tax responsibilities."

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
I am fourteen and finally got the courage to write to you since I have no mother to confide in. It isn't easy to talk to my father who works from 4 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The problem is my seventeen year old brother and his friends who are dirty pigs. Many times at night, I'm alone in the house when they come in. Amy, the things that they say they would like to do to me are so degrading that it's unbelievable. I'm just afraid they may try to carry out their thoughts. Please advise me because even if my father were here more often so that I could talk to him, I don't know if I could tell him. I would also be afraid of my brother's friends if they found out.

Scared

Dear Scared:
To be afraid to talk to your dad is childish. I'm sure that he is quite concerned about your peace of mind and welfare. Further, he would like to know about these thoughts that go through the heads of your brother and his friends.

Brother needs some straightening out, and you would be doing him a big favor if you put your dad wise. These ideas of brother's can only lead him to big trouble.

Dear Amy:
My son is going with a girl whose father has Diabetes. It also runs in my father's family including his sister's. Also, my grandfather died from it. It runs in my mother's family, too. Two of my sister's children have it now.

Knowing this could be caused by hereditary, I don't want my son getting serious with this girl.

She is very delicate and I'm afraid if they

Valentine topiary tree

Straws and glizer, hairpins and glue. Red paper hearts, some effort by you. These, plus six pipe cleaners and a two-inch styrofoam ball, are the ingredients for a charming Valentine centerpiece.

Select white, pink and red straws from a box of assorted "Glad" plastic straws. Cut into two-to-four-inch lengths--you'll need about 100 pieces. Put a speck of glue on the top of hairpins and insert one about an inch inside each straw length. Brush glue on other end of straws and sprinkle with glizer. While glue is drying, cut out paper hearts (12 thumbtack size, 12 one-inch and a few two-inch). Glue small hearts directly onto straws. Larger hearts should be glued to pipe-cleaners cut in half. When all are dry, poke hairpin ends and pipe-cleaners into styrofoam ball; leave a small space for tree trunk.

The tree base is a paper cup filled with sand or gravel. Insert sharpened stick (dowel or pencil) as tree trunk. Glue straws vertically to cup. Cover entire surface of cup and tree trunk with gold paint. When completely dry, lower ball onto spike of "tree-trunk." Finish off with a perky red velvet bow.

Milk prices announced

The minimum prices for milk sold out of stores during February in New Jersey will be 26-1/2 cents a quart, 48 cents a half-gallon and 90 cents a gallon, according to Dr. Donald R. Nicholson, director of the New Jersey Office of Milk Industry. For home-delivered milk, the State OMI formula adds three cents a quart, six cents a half-gallon, and 12 cents a gallon to the minimum out-of-store price.

Minimum prices are related directly to the Class I prices for milk in the respective Federal order marketing areas in New Jersey. Dr. Nicholson reported that the Class I price in North Jersey during February will be $6.11 per hundredweight.

From the people who brought you no radiator.

No carburetor.

Inside the left rear fender of every 1968 Volkswagen Fastback and Squareback, there's a small metal box full of transistors, wires and stuff like that.

This box is an electronic computer. What it computes is exactly how much gas the four fuel injectors ought to shoot into the manifold. What the whole business does is replace the carburetor.

So you can forget whatever carburetor problems you've had in the past—dirty, flooding, jamming, you name it—because there's no more carburetor. What you get instead is quick, sure starts and efficient engine operation under all conditions.

That's because electronic fuel injection is a whole new way to make car engines run.

The closest thing to it is a $325 optional extra on a car that costs almost twice as much. But electronic fuel injection is standard equipment on Fastbacks at $2179, and on Squarebacks at $2349.

All of which should make you feel the same way about the carburetor as you do about putting antifreeze and water into the radiator. You can learn to live without it.

As citizens, we must have respect for government and should work within the framework of government to see there is responsible direction at each level of governmental operations. # We have the new Volvo 142.

You may have heard that Volvos last an average of 11 years in Sweden. We can't say that this Volvo—or its four-door version, the 144—will last that long. They're both new cars, and it's still too early to tell.

What we can say is that they're built like Volvos. And while there's no guarantee how long a Volvo will last in America, it is known that over 95% of all those registered here in the past 11 years are still on the road.

Come in and test-drive a new Volvo 142 or 144. But do it soon. Because the one place Volvos never last very long is in our showroom.

James R. Murphy Jr. of Union is married Saturday in Cranford

Miss Linnea Barbara Kearney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip F. Kearney of Cranford, was married Saturday evening to James R. Murphy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Murphy of 546 Bailey ave., Union. The Rev. Arnold J. Dahlquist officiated at the double-ring ceremony by candlelight in Calvary Lutheran Church, Cranford. A reception followed at the Winfield Scott Hotel, Elizabeth.

The bride's father escorted his daughter.

Unionite honored on 89th birthday

Miss Mary Mueller, a resident of Union for more than 40 years, was the guest of honor at a surprise dinner party given recently by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kilkenny of Newark at their home. Miss Mueller celebrated her 89th birthday.

Among the honored guests were Miss Mueller's sister, Miss Rose Mueller of Union, Miss Joan Kilkenny and Miss Theresa Novak, both of Westchester, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kilkenny and children, Thomas, Dennis and Mary Ann, of Roselle; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rabbit and children, Brian, Tommy, Kevin and Karen, all of East Orange, and Mr. and Mrs. James Kilkenny and children, Jimmy and Michael, of Fords.

Miss Mueller still does her own cooking and gardening at home.

Mrs. Robert Turner of Englishtown served as matron of honor. Miss Jeanette Kearney served as maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Ash, sister of the groom; Miss Laraine Grunthaler of Hackensack; and Miss Georgette Zimmerman of Roselle.

February market for food products listed as plentiful

The food market picture for February shows broilers, potatoes, dry split peas, and dairy products other than fluid milk, to be expected plentiful, reports Anne L. Sheelen, County Home economist.

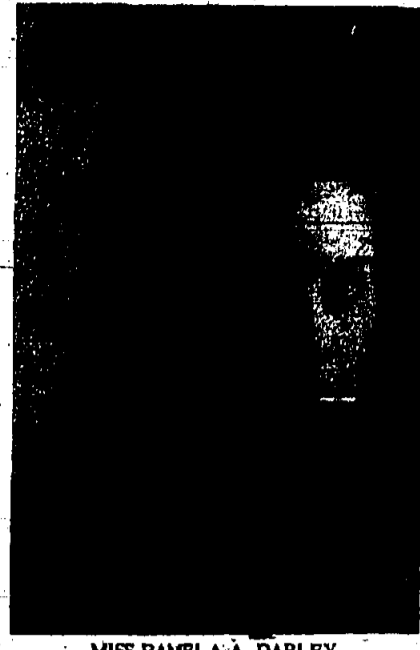

The United States Department of Agriculture predicts that broilers will be the best meat choice throughout the month. Beef variety meats, for example, beef heart, liver, and kidney, and boneless beef stew meat should be reasonably priced in the red meat category.

There is an abundant stock of canned tuna, a shortage of canned salmon, and a fair amount of Maine sardines available. Favorable prices should be noticed for both light and white tuna meat, with the salmon and sardines being a little higher.

Egg prices are expected to continue low until at least the middle of the year. When buying eggs, remember that size refers to weight and grade refers to quality. Keeping this distinction in mind makes it easier to compare the prices for the different weights. As a guide to size, to fill one cup it takes about four large eggs, five medium eggs, and six small eggs.

In the fruit and vegetable area, potatoes, oranges, and grapefruit are the most available. Other products that should be widely available in February are turnips, parsnips, rutabagas, and pears.

Knowing the foods that are expected to be among the most plentiful should be a guide to you in planning your menus so as to stay within your food budget.

Dayton to end regular season here against Cranford

Minutemen face Nutley, after dropping 2 games

The Springfield Minutemen, the All-Stars of the Recreation Department's youth basketball program, lost a pair of home games last week. Last Wednesday evening, the Springfield boys were turned aside by the Little Flower Grammar School team of Chatham. The final score was 49 to 36. On Saturday evening, a grammar school team from Scotch Plains visited Springfield and defeated the home forces by a 78 to 44 score. Both games were played at the Florence Gaudineer School.

Strikers increase lead in girls' action to 5-game margin

The Strikers advanced their league lead to a full five games last week in the Tuesday Afternoon Girls' Bowling League. Although the Strikers could manage but a split of two games against the last-place Charms, the second place Dancers were swept by the Strikers. Barbara Owens of the Strikers continued in sensational form, as she again surpassed the 300 series mark for two games. Barbara rolled a 313 series. The girls roll at the Springfield Bowl each week in this Recreation Department sponsored league.

Although Barbara Owens topped all bowlers for the afternoon, she paced the first-place Strikers with games of 161 and 157. It was Janice LaMotte of the Charms who came in for a place of the laurels. Janice, rolling her first season, had her top performance of the year. Janice put together games of 107 and 95 for a 202 series. Sue Murphy and Liz Simpson of the Strikers also rolled well in this match, as did Lorena Shute of the Charms. Sue rolled a 175 series, while Liz posted a two-game total of 171. Lorena rolled a 167 series. The Stars received top efforts from Carol Roessner and Carol Durand to upset the Dancers two last week in a two-game match. Carol Roessner was again her steady self, as she put together games of 123 and 103 for a solid 226 series. The other Carol, rolling her first two games of the year in league play, posted a 178 series with a 106 first game. Debbie Kuskin topped the Dancers bowlers. She rolled a 203 series on the strength of a 110 first game.

Barbara Owens continues to lead in every department of the individual statistics. Barbara is the league's top bowler with a season average of 159. Barbara has the league high game with a 235, and she also has established the highest series mark at 423. Barbara's marks top all the youth bowlers in the three Recreation Department leagues.

Carol Roessner is the second best bowler in league play. Carol raised her average to the 107 level last week. Darlene Pancneri and Debbie Kuskin are in third place. The two girls from the Dancers' team are averaging 94. Fifth place belongs to Ann Marie Calmus with an 87 season average. The remaining five girls among the top 10 are: Sue Murphy, 84; Joann McGrady, 81; Nina Kahn, 78; Liz Simpson, 77, and Diane Lunzer, 77.

The Nutley Recreation Department this Saturday night at the Gaudineer School. Nutley visits Springfield every season, and the game promises to be exciting according to a Recreation Department spokesman. Springfield will enter a tournament to be held in Nutley later in the season. Game time on Saturday is set for 7:30.

Chatham and Springfield played on even terms through the first half of last Wednesday's game. Chatham, however, used its superior height in the second half to pull away for the victory. A late Springfield rally made up some of the gap but could not prevent victory. Don Reynolds, a southpaw center for Chatham, was the game's star. Don did some heavy rebounding for his team and led all scorers with 20 points. Don was the first player this season to hit 20 at the Gaudineer gym.

Twelve boys for Springfield were in the scoring column, as the Springfield team evenly distributed its punch. George Robbins and Ed Cook were the top rebounders for the Springfield team with eight and seven, respectively. Robbins scored six points and Cook hit for four points. Captain Jim Schoch played well for the Minutemen. Jim tallied five points and had a fine floor game. Mark Weber also played well for the home team. Mark, learning anew position up front with the Minutemen, hit a jumper in the second period. Steve Zwillman with two quick buckets near the end of the game helped make the score respectable.

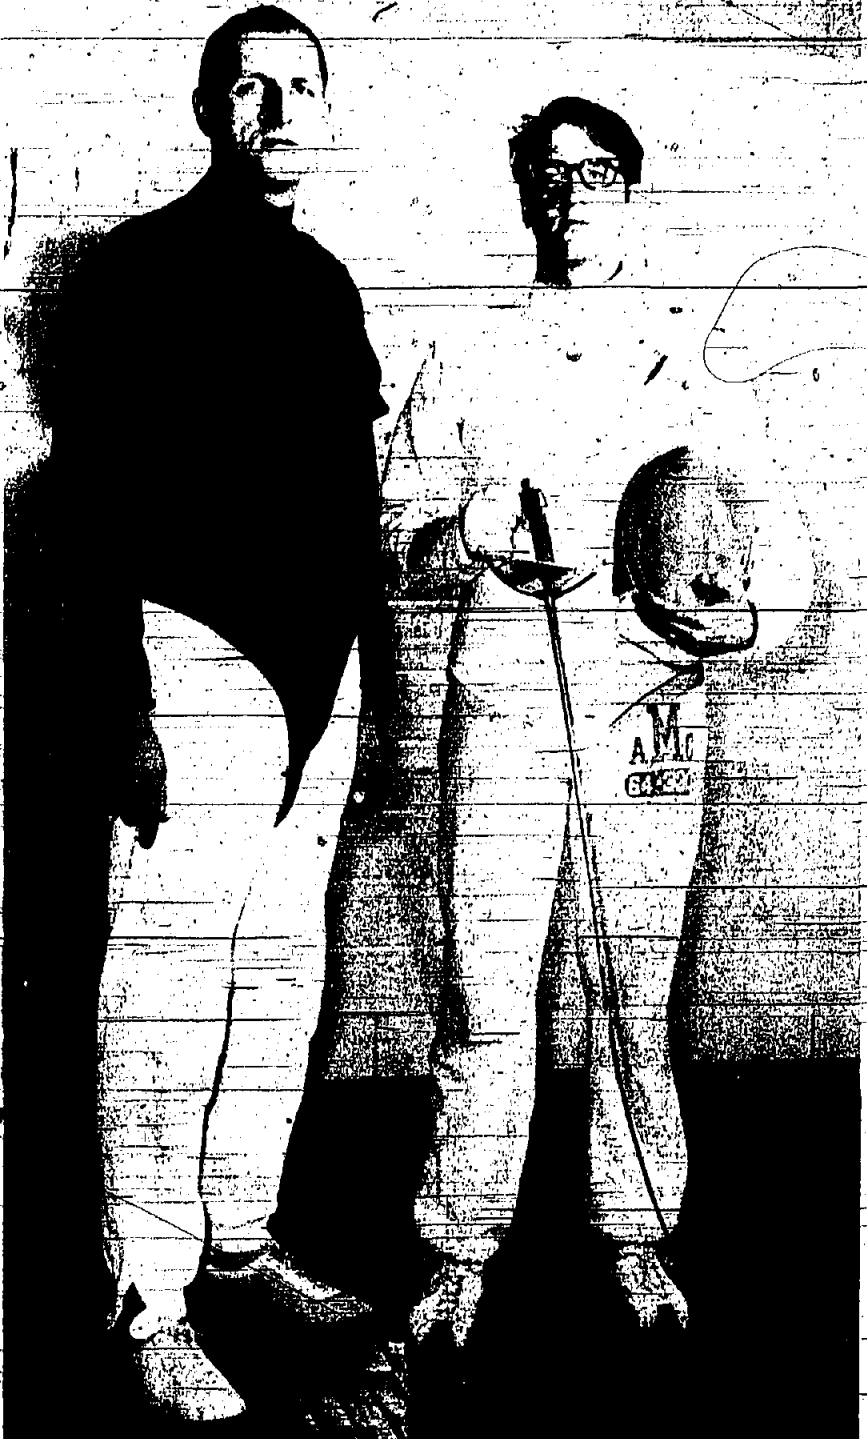

The Springfield team substituted its younger players toward the end of the game. Particularly effective were a trio of sixth graders for Springfield. Those showing well were Joe Pepe, Gavin Widom and John Zurkoff. Both Pepe and Widom hit for points, while Zurkoff showed good ball control.

The Minutemen faced a tall and talented Scotch Plains team Saturday evening. The game started as if Springfield was to pull the upset of the season, as the Minutemen spurred to a 10 to two lead. Barry Pomp was chiefly responsible for the opening lead, as he canned three buckets from outside. The superior height of the Plainsmen was soon to show, however, as the visitors pulled away and coasted to an easy victory.

Scotch Plains presented a talented backcourt performer in Ray Schiltzer. Ray played a strong ball-control game, led Scotch Plains on a very effective fast break and tallied 18 points on five goals and eight from the free throw line. John Miller at forward used his inside shot to can 19 points, while Billy Deck at center hit 18 points for the winning Scotch Plains team.

The Minutemen, in spite of the overwhelming score, played their best game of a season which has proved useless to date. Barry Pomp got the Minutemen off and running early with a hot hand from outside. Foul trouble caused Barry to the bench but he returned to score more and ended with a fine performance and 12 points. George Robbins, coming off the bench in this game, led the Springfield team with 13 points. George played particularly well in the second half, as the Minutemen put on a short-lived rally.

Jim Schoch played his usual top game for Springfield. Schoch contributed only three points but controlled the ball well with his driving and dribbling. Schoch consistently broke the Scotch Plains press with his ball control. Bobby Zucker also played well. Bobby hit six points and contributed many assists. Vincent Davis, starting his first big game for Springfield, played well in spots and will be counted on in the future. Ed Cook played a fine first half for Springfield, as he battled the taller Scotch Plains team off the boards.

Bulldogs play best game in beating Rahway team

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team will close its regularly-scheduled season tomorrow evening when it encounters Cranford High School. The Bulldogs cagers now have a 9-8 record after defeating Rahway High School last week, 70-61, and snapping a three-game losing streak. In other action last week, the Bulldogs lost to Hillside High School, 69-60.

"Against Rahway we played the game the way it is supposed to be played," commented head coach Ray Yanchus. The game ran similarly to the first Rahway contest. Yanchus and David Margulies returned with a fine overcast game and 11 points. Richie Campbell, Tony Gromek, Cliff York and Dennis Lester turned in strong performances. The Bulldogs led going into the fourth quarter, 54-44, and continued to score well. A strong defensive effort prevented any Indian comeback, and Dayton posted a final 70-61 victory.

The junior varsity, despite the loss through the first half of its regular season, made a strong showing against the Rahway JV's, losing 51-46. In their first encounter, the Indians triumphed 50-30, but this time the Bulldogs remained within a few points until the end of the final period, where the Indians sealed the victory despite a strong comeback attempt by Dayton.

The varsity loss to Hillside was its second of the season. The first game, Dayton lost by one point in overtime after a final-quarter collapse. This time offensive mistakes, weak shooting, and an inability to make the easy plays gave the Comets the needed opportunity. The Bulldogs failed to capitalize on their breaks, and Hillside converted these mistakes into opportunities into points, winning, 69-60.

YANCHUS COMMENTED on the upcoming contest with Cranford: "We will have Cranford back, and Margulies is playing well. We hope that we will be able to use our height and neutralize Cranford under the boards, where they gave us the most trouble last time. If we can shoot and play as we did against Rahway last week, we should win." Cranford defeated Dayton two weeks ago, 65-44. The Comets capitalized on a very cold night for Bulldogs shooting and effectively controlled the boards after Gromek left the game due to a cause of an injury. Dayton intermittently held the lead during the first half, but fell apart completely in the second half.

After completion of the regular season, Dayton will play in both the Union County and state tournaments. Dates and opponents for the opening games of each tournament, however, are unavailable at this writing.

Fink leads Tigers to tie for first place in Friday bowling

The Tigers continued their upward swing in the Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League, as they moved into a first-place tie with the Falcons last week. The Tigers went into last Friday's competition two games out of first place. The Tigers and the Falcons met head-to-head in a two-game match, and the Tigers took both ends to move into a dead-tie for the top spot. The Falcons had had first place by themselves since the opening week of the season. The boys roll in this eight-team Recreation Department-sponsored youth league each week at the Springfield Bowl.

Barry Fink had another top effort last week to lead the Tigers to their massacre of the Falcons in two games. Barry rolled a 273 series for his second top effort in as many weeks. The Tigers were without the services of their top bowler, Steve Harris, put together a team effort in this match. Wayne Winkler posted a 235 series for the winners, and Danny Gecker rolled a 228 series for the Tigers. Mike Levine was the top scorer for the Falcons. Mike rolled a good 271 series.

The Warriors moved into league competition last week as they raised their season record to the 500 mark with a two-game sweep of the Royals. Roy Greenberg and Ed Gerstein paced the Warrior attack. Roy was top man with a 269 series, while Ed posted a 253 series. Perry Kopik paced the Royal attack with a 261 series.

The Chargers split a pair of games with the Chiefs and dropped into a third-place tie with the Warriors, four games off the lead. Mark Berkowitz, Jamie Farber and Steve Rosenberg all rolled well for the Chargers. Mark, with a 287 series, was the Chargers top bowler. Jamie rolled a 262 series, while Steve posted a two-game effort of 242. Gary Nettled paced the Chiefs and led all bowlers on the afternoon at the alley. Gary, who is the league's top performer, rolled a 291 two-game series. Gary had games of 137 and 154.

The final match of the day saw the last-place Rangers split with the Hawks. Tommy Lowy had another good afternoon for the Rangers, as he led all bowlers in the match. Tommy had a 273 series. Drew Shulman also rolled well for the Rangers. Drew scored a 249 total for the two games. Justin Schneider and Stu Garawitz were the high men for the Hawks. Justin rolled a 235 series, while Stu posted a two game total of 227.

Gary Nettled's 142 season average continues to pace all the league's bowlers in the race for the high average crown. Gary has led the league all season long. Tommy Lowy with a 134 mark is in second place. Roy Greenberg holds the third spot with a 131 average. Steve Harris at 122 is fourth, while Mike Levine is fifth with a 121 season mark. The remaining boys among the top 10 are: Arnie Blumenfeld, 120; Perry Kopik, 120; Mark Berkowitz, 117; Robert Lee, 114, and Barry Fink, 113.

Princeton gains Ivy lead by swamping Dartmouth

Princeton regained sole possession of first place in the Recreation Department's Ivy League play at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School last Saturday afternoon. Princeton took the measure of Dartmouth in the final of three games. Princeton and Dartmouth entered the game in a first-place deadlock. A determined Princeton attack won the game, 29 to 9. In other games last week, Cornell topped Yale, 23 to 13, and Columbia defeated Harvard, 25 to 19.

The Princeton-Dartmouth battle saw Arnie Blumenfeld of Princeton play his finest game of the season, as he took control of the boards. Arnie also scored well as he hit a game high of 13 points. Arnie hit five field goals and was good three times from the free throw line. Princeton's leader in the route of Dartmouth was Jim Schoch. Jim controlled the game with his ball control and driving shots. Jim finished with nine points. Herb Weber and Phil Argyris were also effective for Princeton. Mark and Phil both hit three points and played well at both ends of the court.

Dartmouth, which usually presents a high-powered attack, appeared sluggish in this game, as it could not dent the Princeton defense. Ken Baroff led the Dartmouth attack with six points. Four of Ken's points came from the free-throw line. Don Lowy with a bucket and Bobby Zucker with a free throw filled out the scoring column for the Big Green.

THE OPENING GAME of the afternoon saw Columbia and Harvard hook up in a see-saw battle, which saw Columbia pull away in the final minutes to halt down the victory. Barry Pomp was the leader in the Columbia attack. Barry hit with consistency from outside to lead his team with 10 points. Billy Stefany put on his best show of the year for Columbia. Bill tallied six points on driving shots in the second half. George Robbins hit five points for Columbia.

Harvard was paced in this game by big Vince Davis. Vince played his best ball game of the year, as he led the Harvard team with 11 points. Davis was particularly effective with driving shots at the bucket. Vince scored four times from the field and three times from the free throw line. Bobby Nadler, Art James, Sam Liebeskind and Mike Stedler hit two-pointers for the team.

George Robbins of Columbia and Keny Baroff of Dartmouth are tied in third place with 34 points each. Fifth place also presents a tie, as Vince Davis of Harvard and Barry Pomp of Columbia have each hit for 30 points in the first half of the schedule.

The second round of play will open next Saturday afternoon at the high school with Cornell meeting Princeton at 1:15. Games to follow will feature Yale vs. Harvard and Dartmouth vs. Columbia.

A day that gets to heart of the matter

Roses are red
Violets are blue
On Valentine's Day
Cards come to you.

People have been celebrating this festival of love and affection since long before there were Valentine cards — in fact, before it took its present name.

Back in ancient Rome, people celebrated a festival called Lupercalia every Feb. 15. It honored Juno and Pan, and was celebrated with feasting, dancing and revelry. After the spread of Christianity the festival was changed to Feb. 14, the feast day of two Christian martyrs, both named Valentine; but the sentimental meaning of the old festival has re-maintained to the present time.

People have been giving gifts at Valentine's Day for centuries, but the custom of sending sentimental messages developed gradually with the mail service.

The oldest Valentine cards in America, according to World Book Encyclopedia, are some small cards with German script, probably made by nuns and monks in the early 1700's.

The custom became very popular in North America during the 1800's. Esther Howland is credited with being the first person in the United States to publish Valentines, in 1840. Many Valentines of that period were hand painted. They usually showed a fat cupid whose arrows pierced a heart. Some had satin, mother-of-pearl, tassels, imitation gems, sea shells and even dried flowers and seaweed.

Magazines of the 1850's gave glowing accounts of the celebration of St. Valentine's Day. In one, an editor remarked: "A blessing on St. Valentine, the patron of the Day fraught with many heart flutterings and heart enjoyments!"

Many of these old Valentine cards have been saved and are quite valuable today; in fact, you may wish to save the cards you get this Valentine's Day. They may be very valuable, if only in sentiment.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

IS BEDTIME A PROBLEM FOR YOUR CHILDREN?

I want to stay up 'till you go to bed! Susie exclaimed when her mother told her it was bedtime. "Me too," said Johnny.

Getting your children to bed and to sleep has been termed the number one problem of parents.

Your children are curious if they are healthy. Let them see what the grownups do after they go to bed. This will usually satisfy their curiosity. If your children seem uncooperative, you might also try talking with them at the bedside. This will tend to soothe tensions and aid in accomplishing an undisturbed sleep. Even though you aren't sure that your children are having trouble going to bed, you will lose nothing by satisfying your children's curiosity and helping them relax in preparation for sleep.

Remember, too, your children don't know when they are tired. According to pediatricians, a child gets tired but not necessarily sleepy. He may become more excited, cross or stubborn but not sleepy. After a specially exciting day, a child will resist going to bed because he cannot bear to have a wonderful day come to an end. Children don't want to miss anything.

There is no secret method for getting your children to go to bed. The first step in solving the "going to bed problem" is for you, as parents, to realize that a child never will go to bed by choice. Then you can help your child understand that you, their parents, have to do many things you don't enjoy doing, such as going to bed and shopping for food regularly.

Johnson budget cost to N. J. put at $8 billion

New Jersey taxpayers will be required to pay nearly $8 billion in Federal taxes as their share of the cost of the federal spending budget of $186.1 billion proposed by President Johnson for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1968, according to an estimate released this week by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce.

This estimate was based on the State Chamber's calculations that New Jersey taxpayers bear 4.29 per cent of all Federal taxes. Whether Congress decides to cut this budget or spend more, New Jersey taxpayers will save or pay out proportionally, the chamber explained.

The President's proposed budget, the chamber said, would cost Federal taxpayers in New Jersey $7,983,690,000 and it noted that this amount is 9.7 times the amount of state taxes collected last year to finance the New Jersey state budget, and 5.5 times the $1.45 billion of property taxes levied in 1967 to support New Jersey's counties, municipalities and school districts.

"New Jersey taxpayers should see clearly in these figures why Federal grants — money sought so frequently by state and local governmental administrators for supporting all manner of projects — are not 'free,'" the chamber said.

"While Federal grants lower the apparent costs of local and state undertakings, they are, nevertheless, dollars that come right out of our own pockets — only as Federal taxpayers instead of as state or local taxpayers. And these are still dollars which all of us must work to earn first," commented Earl N. Fello, president of the State Chamber, upon releasing his organization's breakdown of the Federal budget burden in New Jersey.

Fello noted that the $186.1 billion spending estimate for fiscal 1969 under the new unified budget concept, which includes the Social Security and other trust funds, represents an increase of $10.5 billion over the current estimate for 1968. Under the old administrative budget concept the 1969 spending estimate of $147.4 billion is $10.2 billion more than the estimate for 1968.

The chamber president termed it "distressing" that the Johnson administration is again proposing a huge increase in spending. The chamber, he said, has repeatedly urged New Jersey's congressmen and senators to reject increases in uncontrollable nondefense spending — reduce significantly appropriations requested for nondefense programs generally, and to examine carefully all proposed increases in defense spending with a view of elimination or a stretch out of projects wherever practicable.

"These actions are urgently needed to repress inflationary pressures at home and to strengthen faith in the dollar abroad," Fello declared.

Beth Israel affiliates with new Essex College

Essex County College and Newark Beth Israel Hospital announced this week that the hospital's nursing school will phase out its diploma program and become affiliated with an associate degree nursing program to begin in the 1968 September semester of the new two-year community college.

The joint announcement came from Dr. Robert H. McCabe, president of Essex County College, and Alan Sagner, president of the Beth Israel board of trustees, after the recent approval by the New Jersey State Board of Higher Education of the purchase of the Beth Israel educational building by the college. The state is committed to contribute $372,210 of the total cost of the $1.1 million educational facility.

TWO OUT OF ONE
Hillside and Union parted ways as a joint township in 1918, with each taking about half the total population of 3,500. Then the real estate man moved in. Today Hillside has about 22,000 residents; Union about 51,500, most of them in one family homes and duplexes that are spread over the former vegetable fields.

President calls for training, hiring half a million jobless

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has proposed a far-reaching new program under which private business and government will cooperate to train and hire half a million of the nation's big-city unemployed.

The target of the proposal is to put 100,000 men and women on the job by June 1969 and 50,000 at work by June 1971 with the industry.

The proposal calls for $350 million to support the partnership — $106 million from available funds for fiscal 1968 and increasing the amount to $244 million in fiscal 1969.

In a special message to the Congress on manpower, Mr. Johnson declared that:

"In our thriving economy, where jobs in a rapidly growing private sector are widely available and the unemployment rate is low, the 'make-work' programs of the 1930's are no longer the answer to today's problems."

He said finding jobs in the private sector for the hard-core jobless is "high priority" business for the country. "The future of our cities is deeply involved, and so is the strength of our Nation."

He outlined these as the essential ingredients in the business-government partnership:

—The government will identify and locate the unemployed.

—The company will train and offer them jobs.

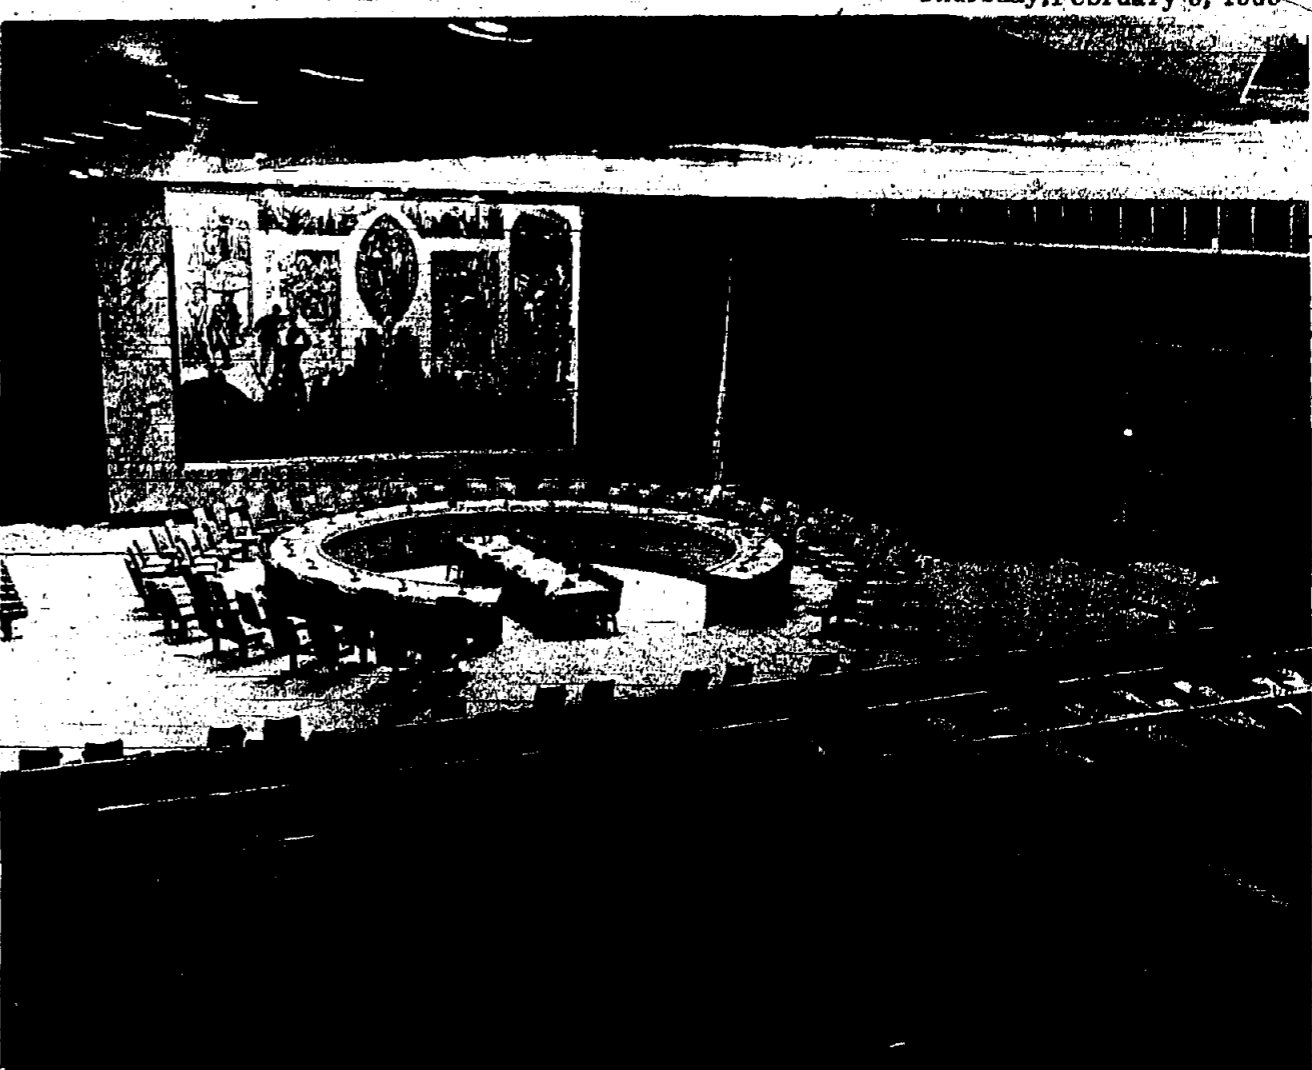

—The company will bear the normal cost of training as it would for any of its new employees.

—The government will pay the extra costs for additional training and services required to make these persons employable.

Some of them, he said, will need transportation services; some will have to be taught to read and write; some will have health problems corrected; and some will need intensive counseling in personal care and work proficiency.

TO LAUNCH THE PROGRAM, the President called an American industry to form a National Alliance of Businessmen headed by Henry Ford II. Fifteen of the country's top business leaders will serve on its executive board.

In his message, the President asked the Con-

THE LOOK OF THE WINDOWLESS SECURITY COUNCIL CHAMBER at the UN. The 15 members of the council, with room for invited guests at each end, and the Secretary-General and a Council secretary at the top along with the Council president, sit in the horse-shoe circle. The consecutive interpreters and stenographers sit in the center, simultaneous (earphones) interpreters and radio and television people are behind the glass enclosures along the wall, and members of the UN who are not on the Security Council may sit in the chairs on the main floor. The press is seated in the chairs with the writing arms, and the general public is behind that. The 15 Security Council members include the five permanent members: U.S., United Kingdom, U.S.S.R., China and France, and the ten non-permanent ones: Argentina, Algeria, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Ethiopia, Hungary, India, Pakistan and Senegal. A FEMININE LOOK
At The United Nations
(Commentary on news and views from UN Headquarters in New York.)
by TRUDINA HOWARD

The mood inside the United Nations building is highly international and if the blinds on all the windows could be drawn, one could be most anywhere in the world.

But the flare for the foreign flavor is that the UN is alive with uncovered windows. There are windows on the East River, windows on United Nations Plaza (First Avenue), windows on bridges, windows on Brooklyn, windows that have a long view down and New York City keeps staring in with its familiar patterns and one is in the U.S.A. after all.

Only there are some exceptions. In the great General Assembly hall, for instance, and in the stateily Security Council chamber there is not one window to be seen, and in those rooms one might as well be in Africa Hall in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, or the Pines Conference building near Algiers, or the Peace Palace at the Hague, or State House in Accra, Ghana, for all one can see of New York.

Another interesting sidelight at the UN concerns the new Russian ambassador, Nikolai Fedorenko departed a few weeks ago after the expiration of his tour of duty in New York and Deputy Foreign Minister Yakov Malek will replace him in the next week or two. But the provocative point is that Ambassador Malek was a delegate at the UN once before — during the Korean "war" — and during debates on Korea in the Security Council, he and his staff left the chamber. In consequence, the resolutions passed at that time setting up UN presence in Korea, etc., were voted upon without the USSR in attendance. Which could mean that if Mr. Malek had desired to vote a matter, he simply was not there to do it. Which could mean that this time, he may be very much in attendance — to cast a very large Russian shadow. Perhaps the Security Council is waiting for him.

New prize for science

A $3,000 prize is to be awarded every two years by Unesco for an outstanding scientific contribution to the development of a country or region. The prize has been created following a decision of the last Unesco General Conference in 1966, and the award will be made for the first time at the next General Conference, to be held in 1968.

Entries should describe scientific or technological work that has provided practical benefits to a developing country or region, in the fields of either research and education or engineering and industrial development.

Any team or individual may enter, the contest providing they are proposed by the government of their country in consultation with the National Commission, or by a non-governmental organization which has consultative status with Unesco. The winner will be selected by the Director-General on the recommendation of an international panel of five scientists and engineers.

Shareholders reelect 23 directors of bank

Heart unit sets up information bureau

A Civic and Social Club Information Bureau has been established by the Union County Heart Association to give assistance and sanction to organizations wishing to sponsor events to benefit the heart fund.

According to Mrs. Henrietta Froehlich, director of the Union County Heart Association, the bureau has been established "in response to numerous requests from organizations seeking to hold benefit affairs."

"We are pleased by the great number of people who want to actively help stamp out the nation's number one killer," Mrs. Froehlich said, "but scheduling and sanction is extremely important. We would not want to see the annual organized fund raising effort upset by an ill-timed event scheduled by a well-meaning group."

The newly-established bureau will offer assistance and full information. Further details may be obtained by contacting the Union County Heart Association at 353-7391.

DR. HERBERT GOFF

Memorial General gets its first medical director

Dr. Herbert Goff of Westfield, has been appointed Memorial General Hospital's first medical director, it was announced this week by John Deltrich, president of the board of trustees. "The appointment of Dr. Goff adds a vital new dimension to Memorial General Hospital's ability to serve the medical needs of the community," Deltrich said. "Moreover, the establishment of the post of medical director provides a springboard for the hospital's expansion of service in the future. It also is another significant step forward in Memorial General's program of becoming a complete medical center for this area."

Dr. Goff, a former chief of staff at Memorial General, will be working with Murray Rubin, the administrator, and the medical staff to coordinate medical services, establish teaching programs for interns and residents, and investigate new methods of providing better patient care. The new medical director joined the hospital in 1952, when 12 physicians were on the staff. He was chief of staff in 1958-59, 1962-63 and 1966-67. In addition, he has held all staff offices at the hospital. When Dr. Goff joined the staff, the hospital had 20 beds. A new addition, the Leeberg Pavilion, which opened in 1964, brought Memorial General's total patient capacity to 195 beds.
