BISHOP JOHN J. DOUGHERTY

92 pints given in bloodmobile township visit

Nearly 100 donors took advantage of a visit by a bloodmobile, sponsored by the Springfield Red Cross, to donate 92 pints of blood last week. The blood donations, by groups, included Temple Shalom, 25 pints; B'nai B'rith, 10; St. James Church, 12; Presbyterian Church, 11, and designated (for specific patients), 10.

Only a few prospective donors were unable to keep their appointments. Those who couldn't make it notified the Red Cross, greatly assisting the smooth functioning of the operation, according to a chapter spokesman.

The large group of trained volunteer workers made the visit of the bloodmobile an efficient and successful operation, the spokesman added. The 37 volunteers put in 137 hours to make sure everything went off well—and it did.

1st place honors for Dayton paper

The Dayton News of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield was awarded a first place ranking in its class at the annual Columbia University Scholastic Press Association convention held March 15 in New York City.

The Dayton News was named as one of the top three news high school newspapers in the 1,000 to 1,500-pupil category, and among the top 30 in the country. The newspaper was judged on writing, layout, headlines and photography.

Sari Weisman, editorial director, and editors Barbara Miller, Judi Zuckerberg, Layne Golden and Jane Thibierge accompanied the faculty adviser, Henry A. Rogers, to the New York convention to receive the award.

The Most Reverend John J. Dougherty, president of Seton Hall University and auxiliary bishop of Newark, has been chosen to receive Temple Shalom's 1968 Human Rights Award. The award will be presented in Springfield at a ceremony on April 5, following the temple's regular Friday night services.

The award, which is presented annually by Shalom's social action committee, was given last year to Norman Thomas, the long-time leader of the Socialist Party and an outspoken critic of government policies in Vietnam. Other recipients have included Willard Hoelzel, dean of Rutgers Law School; Wyatt T. Walker, a former assistant to Martin Luther King; and Rabbi Joachim Prinz, spiritual leader of Temple B'nai Abraham and former president of the American Jewish Congress.

"In choosing Bishop Dougherty for this year's award," said a spokesman for Shalom, "we are honoring a man who has compiled an outstanding list of credentials in the fight for human dignity. Along with his efforts at the university, he has worked tirelessly to improve Judeo-Christian relations, to further the concept of open housing and to promote peace throughout the world."

Bishop Dougherty, whose previous honors include a B'nai B'rith Americanism award and a distinguished service award from the National Conference of Christians and Jews, was instrumental in establishing the Institute for Judeo-Christian Studies at Seton Hall. He recently served on the commission set up by Gov. Richard Hughes to investigate last summer's disorders in Newark.

Following receipt of the Shalom award, Bishop Dougherty will make a short acceptance speech and join the congregants in a discussion over coffee and cake. According to the Temple, the public is invited to attend.

An alumnus of Seton Hall, Bishop Dougherty was admitted as president of the university in 1957. He was sent to the North American College in Rome in the fall of 1959 and completed his theological studies at the Gregorian University in 1964. Graduate studies in the field of sacred scripture then brought him back to Rome for three additional years, after which he continued his studies in Jerusalem.

Dems say Viet no issue in vote for committeemen

"The question of the war in Vietnam and other national issues cannot be part of a campaign for Township Committee in Springfield," Donald L. Mantel, chairman of the Springfield Democratic Municipal Committee, said this week. According to Mantel, this is "the sentiment and policy of the local Democratic organization."

Mantel said, "There are many dedicated individuals in Springfield, who have expressed their views pro and con, with respect to the war in Vietnam. However, such issues have no place in a local election."

"In our local campaigns," he said, "we are concerned with local issues only. The people of Springfield should be fully aware that any individuals who may campaign for office on the Democratic ticket in a primary election on the basis of the war in Vietnam are doing a disservice to themselves and to the people of this community."

Committee cites renewal, zoning

Two of the Township Committee's favorite projects were put back on the launching pad at the governing body's meeting Tuesday night at Town Hall.

Committee member Philip Del Vecchio, who presided in the absence of Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove, announced that an informal hearing on the latest revisions to the projected new zoning ordinance will be held at Town Hall on Wednesday evening, April 10.

He also disclosed that the committeemen will meet with businessmen and property owners concerned with the north side of Morris avenue in the central business district, to renew efforts to upgrade the area.

Committee member Robert G. Planer urged all interested citizens to attend the meeting, to be held this Monday at 8 p.m. at the local office of the National State Bank of Elizabeth, Morris and Linden avenues.

Del Vecchio said that local merchants will soon be caught in an "inexorable squeeze" between two major discount stores, the Great Eastern Mills on Springfield avenue in Union and a Bradlee Store and Shop near the golf driving range on Morris Turnpike in Short Hills.

Planer noted that the township on several occasions in the past had sought the cooperation of property owners in a "private urban renewal plan" for the area between Morris avenue and Rt. 78, roughly from opposite Callwell place to Main street.

All previous efforts had failed because of an inability to obtain unanimous participation by those involved. The committeemen indicated that a new approach to the problem would be unveiled at the meeting on Monday.

THE NEW ZONING ORDINANCE, which was first presented last spring, is designed to modernize all present regulations and to implement the township's master plan. The ordinance would require all existing buildings to seek means to meet objections put forth by groups of local residents.

The latest version is tentatively scheduled for formal introduction at the end of April and final passage some time in May, depending on the response to however many informal hearings are found necessary.

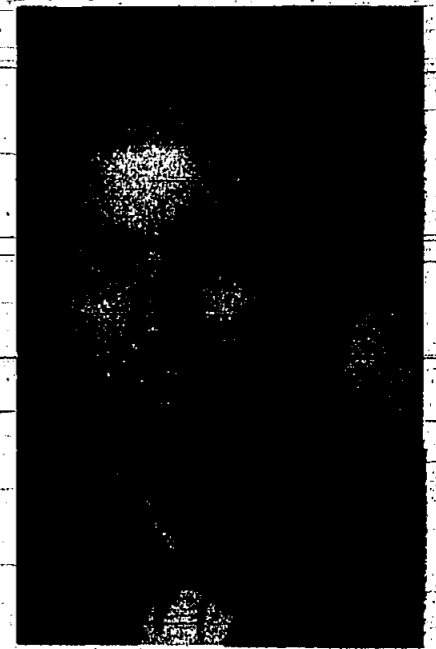

The major change in the measure now is that the apartment office zone along Morris avenue, on both sides of the business district, will be changed to a purely office zone, with all reference to apartments being eliminated.

In addition the depth of the office zone will be reduced from 200 feet to 150 feet between Short Hills avenue and Belmont avenue, on both sides of Morris avenue. Elsewhere along the main thoroughfare, the depth will remain the same.

MAYOR ROBERT D. HARDGROVE

Hardgrove says he won't stand for re-election

Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove has announced he will not be a candidate for the Springfield Township Committee in the coming election.

Citing a kidney ailment which has kept him from attending recent Township Committee meetings, he said he has decided to temporarily retire from candidacy at this time.

"I have successfully overcome a kidney ailment which has kept me from attending the last few Township Committee meetings, and I have decided to temporarily retire from an active personal candidacy at this time."

"I have enjoyed being a member of the Springfield Township Committee and serving in other capacities in connection with our municipal government. I certainly hope that my humble services have aided in the improvement of township living and facilities."

"I wish to sincerely thank all those persons who have helped in any way during election and during my administrations. I regret leaving my loyal colleagues and great friends who are now serving on the Springfield Township Committee: Henry Bultman, Phil Del Vecchio, Art Falkin and Bob Planer. However, I will wholeheartedly support them in their plans for the betterment of Springfield."

"Once again, I wish to express my heartfelt appreciation to the voters, residents, township employees, businessmen, and the many persons who have been so kind and helpful during my terms of office."

Lutheran Church to mark Passover

Holy Cross Lutheran Church will hold a Passover meal next Sunday at 5:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Rabbi Reuben Levine of Temple Beth Ahm will be the guest of honor and will conduct the Passover ceremony. Rabbi Levine has also served as advisor for the preparation of the meal.

Approximately 50 members of Holy Cross have registered for the occasion. Those who have registered will also be asked to participate in the arrangements. The planning has been under the supervision of the Adult Fellowship Group of the congregation, whose executive committee consists of Mr. and Mrs. John Andrus, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Nuechterlein, and Mr. and Mrs. Egon Stark.

The Rev. Kenneth Stump, pastor of Holy Cross, will explain at the meal the relationship of the Passover to Christianity and specifically its meaning for the sacrament of Holy Communion. According to the Adult Fellowship executive committee, "While it may seem strange for Christians to commemorate Passover, we feel it is important that we better understand the Judaic basis of Christianity and at the same time appreciate the customs of our Jewish neighbors."

came the new members and their parents complimented them on reaching this plateau of educational achievement. John Vasselli, president of the NHS chapter at Dayton, then administered the pledge to the 14 new members.

Sari Weisman and Janice Hargrove were the other members of the honor society who took part in the ceremony. A reception for the members of the society and their parents was held in the home economist room following the morning ceremony, with Ann Ullrich, faculty member in charge of the NHS, Principal L. 200-foot deep. IN OTHER BUSINESS, Del Vecchio reported that the township will provide, at cost, large plastic bags for residents to use for the disposal of leaves, grass cuttings and other refuse. The bags will soon be available for 10 cents apiece at the municipal garage on Center street.

Mrs. Gloria Simpson was appointed as a clerk in the Department of Planning as police commissioner commented that her hiring will permit Sgt. Delno Tompkins, who had been in charge of department records, to devote full time to his duties as juvenile officer.

Raymond Rieger was promoted from second class fireman to first class, and John W. Rawling was appointed as a new probationary fireman.

Committeeman Henry Eultman received approval for investment of $180,000 in township funds and $25,000 in swim pool funds in government bonds, at an interest rate of 5.95 percent.

The public discussion period at the close of the meeting brought forward one questioner from the audience of seven citizens. Mrs. Lawrence Lerner of 88 Redwood road asked about a lack of equipment for small children at the Woodside Playground. Committeeman Arthur M. Falkin commented that much of the play equipment had been picked up for refurbishing during the winter and that it and new items would soon be in use. He stated that an expanded work force this summer would permit better maintenance and make more equipment available.

Mrs. Lerner also asked about delays in construction of the new township library. Falkin said that the contractor was "under-capitalized" for a job of this size, but the town had been forced to deal with him because he was the low bidder. Falkin added that he had a "reasonable hope" that the library would be completed by June, without litigation. He commented, "We are trying to make the best of a very bad situation."

French team finds skeleton in Israel

A discovery of considerable anthropological interest was made recently in Israel by a French expedition led by Mr. Bernard Vandermeersch of the Sorbonne paleo-anthropological laboratory. The team found two skeletons from the Mousterian epoch in the Grotto-cave, near Nazareth, similar to those discovered in 1930 in the grotto of Sukhul on Mount Carmel. Some 40,000 years old, the Carmel man bears a strong resemblance to the Cro-Magnon man who first made his appearance in Western Europe several thousand years later.

It would seem that, during the period when Europe was inhabited by Neanderthal man, two different types of homo sapiens existed in the Near East, one similar to Neanderthal man and another, much more advanced. It is not yet known if this latter represents a transitional phase or if he was a cross between Neanderthal man and a more recent type, of central or South-West Asian origin.

His tenure of office as president of the university has witnessed many achievements. These include enlargement of administrative facilities, the installation of a computer center, and the establishment of a University Museum. Greater emphasis also has been placed on the creative arts, and in 1963 the university established a doctoral program. High school expansion remains urgent issue

Although the voters of the Regional High School District this month turned down the Regional Board of Education's proposed bond issue for expansion of its facilities, the school population in the district continues to increase, and the board must submit a new proposal as soon as possible. On that point, virtually everyone who has examined the problem must agree.

We feel, further, that there are two steps the board should take in preparing a new plan or in planning to resubmit essentially the same proposal. The first step is to consult with those who opposed the plan which was defeated. We mean, specifically, the Springfield League of Women Voters, which was primarily responsible for the defeat.

We had supported the proposal as submitted. We continue to feel that its plan for expansion and renovation in varying degrees at all four regional high schools, with Mountainside students continuing to attend Gov. Livingston Regional in Berkeley Heights, is essentially the best which could win acceptance in all six communities making up the region.

Still, the board would be unrealistic to ignore the fact that it was the League's opposition more than any other factor, which caused the March 19 defeat.

The League was able to convince more than 1,000 Springfield voters (give or take some who would vote against any bond issue) that the board's expansion of Gov. Livingston to serve all students from both Mountainside and Berkeley Heights would not serve the cause of excellence within the district as a whole.

The indispensable first step for the board, we believe, is a major effort to convince the League ladies that the original proposal was truly in the best interest of all students.

The board has maintained that there is not sufficient room at David Brearley Regional in Kenilworth for expansion to take in the Mountainside students. The League disagrees. This is a fairly simple, more or less factual, disagreement. Discussions, with good will, should bring about an agreement.

The board should also make a determined effort to counter the League's opinion that expansion of Gov. Livingston to 2,200 students, including those from Mountainside, would make the one high school so large that it would tend to dominate the district.

Perhaps some revision of the coordinator system, currently with one administrator directing, for example, all the English teachers in four high schools, would help.

Perhaps the creation of citizens' advisory committees for the different high schools, to keep an eye on academic progress in each individual school would help. Although the district is designed to serve the people of six communities, each community has its own educational needs -- which cannot be ignored by the schools.

Having done all it can to reach a consensus with the League and other responsible elements in the community, the board, we believe, can take one other important step as it submits its plans to the voters once again.

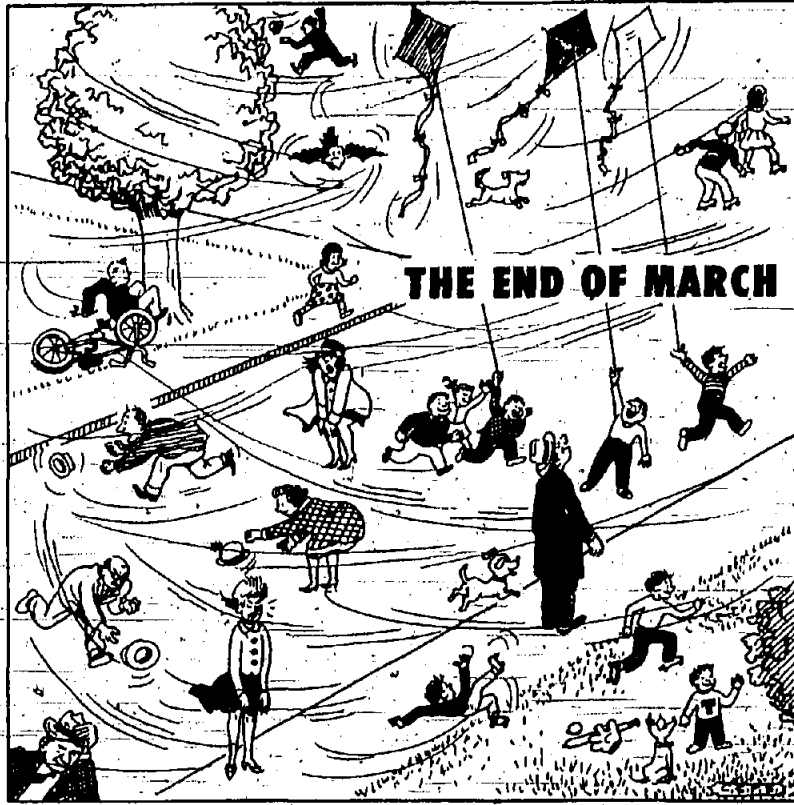

That it is to present the plans, and the reasons for them, in as much detail as possible, with whatever information and background material might be relevant.

The people of Springfield, and the other communities in the district, had little on which to base their decision beyond the bare facts of the floor plans and statistics on costs and student population contained in the board's brochure.

A fuller discussion of the board's thinking, including whatever answers can be provided to the Women Voters' opposition, would be of substantial value.

Finally, many of those who are closest to the problem, on both sides, may well have lost sight of the fact their opponents in the dialogue are equally dedicated to serving the young people of the Regional High School District.

The net result of diversity of opinion, particularly on an issue like this, should be benefit to the schools. We trust that all concerned will keep this in mind.

Springfield Public Library reports on newest books for local readers

BY EVA P. BROWN
The Springfield Public Library offers the following titles from the list of new books now ready for circulation:

BIOGRAPHY
"R.F.K.," by Dick Schaap. A political story as well as a personal one. The author, former city editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, captures and balances the extreme views of Robert Kennedy, analyzes the fascination he invokes and the furor he creates, and weighs his status and his future. More than 250 photographs are included, many from private sources.

VIETNAM
"Authors Take Sides on Vietnam," edited by Cecil Woolf and John Egguley. Some 168 well known writers have contributed to this book. Their opinions, diverse as they are, provide a cross-section of how one area of the intellectual world views the situation.

ISRAEL
"Lightning Out of Israel," by the Associated Press. This is a commemorative edition of an historic document, a chronicle of the six-day war in the Middle East which shook the world in 1967. It tells the complete story of an event whose dimensions and details and human ingredients make it one of the great epics of modern times. Viewed through the eyes of nameless Arabs and Jews who fought, as well as famous statesmen, the Arab-Israeli war is vividly presented in words and pictures.

ART
"Ingres: Genes and Exhibition, 1867-1967," by Agnes Mongan and Dr. Hans Naef. A superb catalogue of the drawings, water colors, and oil sketches of Ingres, showing the intellect, perception and technical skill which were his. These pictures were assembled by the Fogg Art Museum in commemoration of the artist's death in 1867, but the book also includes biographical material on Ingres and his subjects and much information on his methods of work.

HISTORY
"Florida: The Long Frontier," by Marjorie Stoneham Douglas. Here is the story of Florida from its geological formation to the present. The author traces the Indian cultures, the bitter Spanish-French rivalry and Florida's role in the American Revolution, as well as a series of Indian wars and the Civil War. Florida's remarkable growth since 1880 is covered, as are the famous exploits at Cape Kennedy.

HEALTH
"Cancer Explained," by Dr. Maurice Sutton. Dr. Sutton is a noted radiotherapist who has been actively engaged in cancer research. In this book, he provides the layman with a straight-forward, authoritative account of cancer and its treatment. It should allay unwarranted fears and replace dread with reassurance.

JUVENILE
"Young Scientists and the Police Department," by George Barr. A fascinating science book packed with information and descriptions of the marvelous scientific instruments and techniques used in police crime labs today. Also behind-the-scenes work of big city police departments and the methods used by police detectives.

"That Remarkable Man: Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes," by Edith Patterson Meyer. A true story of an exceptional man, his college years, his war years and his brilliant career as a justice of the United States Supreme Court. As a justice, his interpretations had great effect on the reshaping of the American code of law, regarded as one of the finest in the world.

"Sandy Signs His Name," by Myra Berry Brown. Learning to write his name led Sandy Scott to go on writing it wherever he saw a blank space. But the best place he wrote it was on his new library card, and all boys and girls who have their own library cards know what a thrill that is. A charming picture book.

LACK OF BLOOD MAY CAUSE SOME DEAFNESS
Some types of deafness of the inner ear, at present incurable, may be caused by abnormalities in the blood vessels supplying that area, reports a professor of otolaryngology at the University of Michigan. If such an abnormality prevents the blood from reaching the inner ear, he says, the effect could be similar to that of gangrene: the organ dies and its function is lost forever.

QUICK AS A WINK is a well-known saying and for centuries people have measured the shortest interval of time they could think of by the blink of an eye. Now a University of Cincinnati psychologist is probing the secrets of the eyelink to see how fast people respond to stimuli and to discover how much more people blink when they anticipate that something is going to happen.

PROFILE--Sal Falcone

BY BEA SMITH
Sal Falcone of 14 Kemp dr., Springfield, who is head of the youth baseball leagues (four leagues, Youth Minor League, Youth Major League, the Pony League and the Babe Ruth League) for boys nine to 15 years of age, is getting ready for the new season. He is zealously anticipating a good turnout at the try-outs on March 30 at the Thelma Sandmeier School playground, and will be in charge of about 400 youngsters. Among them will be two of his own.

SAL FALCONE

In addition to the time, work, energy and enthusiasm he devotes to the youngsters' leagues, he also is active in the affairs of the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield, and his own work, which he has been currently conducting at home by way of Weston Chemical Corp., Newark, where he is a chief engineer. Falcone, who is 39 years old, is nearly blind.

How does a "nearly blind" man, who can see only light and shadows, go along doing the things he does? He needs something resembling a miracle.

And Falcone's "miracle" consists of his wife Nancy, his son, Richard, 16, a sophomore at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School; Tommy, 14, an eighth grade pupil at the Florence Gaudineer School, and David, 8, a third grader at the Sandmeier School; his three-year-old, 70-pound boxer, Brutus, and his "kind friends and neighbors."

need fathers who have some interest in baseball.

"During the past two years, my two older boys have been in leagues. Richard was in the Babe Ruth League. Tommy was in the Pony League, and he's looking forward to going up to the Babe Ruth League. Dave," laughs Falcone, "is still waiting out this year. But he's pretty good." (He has three good teachers--his father and two brothers.) Falcone, who was born in Newark, was graduated from West Side High School there and from Newark College of Engineering.

"I STARTED OUT as a test engineer for one company, then became a products manager for a second company and started with Weston in 1960. They opened a plant in West Virginia, and I was chief engineer in charge of engineering production and purchasing. I commuted back and forth getting the Southern plant constructed and started. Then I had the accident."

Falcone is married to the former Nancy McConnell of Newark. Mrs. Falcone also has been very active. She teaches Sunday School in the Presbyterian Church and is superintendent of the kindergarten department. ("Sal used to teach Sunday School too, but he had to stop when he couldn't see to read.") At the time of the interview, Mrs. Falcone was getting ready to go for an interview to Overlook Hospital for a practical nursing course.

Falcone says that he really misses "the sophomores and juniors in the school. I'm looking forward to going back to it."

"As a youngster," Falcone recalls, "I used to play baseball quite a bit. But one year in high school, the doctors discovered that I had a heart murmur. After that, I was never allowed to play sports. But I did go out for track one year and baseball. And in spite of it all, I played college baseball. I've always been very interested in sports."

Falcone says that "at one time, I was involved with the Cub Scouts. I was chairman for five years. And I have been involved in football and baseball programs in town. I served as president for two years for the Fireside Group in our church, and Nancy and I belong to the Couples' Club. She also belongs to three PTAs."

"All three of our boys go to Sunday School. Tommy will be confirmed in June."

GETTING BACK to the leagues, Falcone says that "we do get a lot of people out to see the games. And the Pony League are in full uniforms for the first time this year. I would like to see more people come out to the Pony League games."

The Falcons have lived in Springfield since 1957. "We really enjoy it here. We have good neighbors and this is a nice street to live on. The farmer next door (Francis Korman) calls me what to grow in my garden. I used to like to build model cars and airplanes, but I can't for the time being."

"This season is going to be a busy one for us. Our managers are men who are capable and who have the interest of boys at heart. And the boys do play a much better caliber of baseball. We're going to have our fund drive April 27. The boys will be traveling from door to door. We're not asking for a lot of money. I think that if each family contributes a dollar, it will help. Last year, our bill was over $3,000. We have to buy all the equipment and uniforms. The boys have to pay for insurance."

"We are looking for new sponsors now. We also have a BUSINESSMAN'S fund. You know," Falcone says, "we're not associated with the township of Springfield. We just get the use of its baseball fields."

Falcone expects to be doubly busy when he is able to see again. "He has all sorts of plans. I hope," he says, "they don't drop the helmets of skirts or do away with the mini-skirts before I get my vision back."

"I HAVEN'T BEEN EASY. You see," says Falcone, "I had an accident at work two years ago, when I was sprayed with acid and alcohol. The corneas in both my eyes were destroyed and had to be replaced. But the eventual cornea transplantation was rejected by my body, and it had to be done again. Now I've got cataracts in both my eyes. The doctor is hopeful that when they are removed, I will be able to see again."

"I've been typing letters with very few errors," he says proudly. "It's been rough, but with the help of my wife and kids, I've been able to carry on."

And as for Brutus, our dog, he has been such a comfort to me. He accompanies me on my daily walk, and manages to steer me away from obstacles. "Imagine!" Falcone exclaims. "And he's never had any kind of seeing-eye dog training at all."

At first, Falcone indicates, "It was a big let-down. Nancy and the boys have done an awful lot to keep things as normal as possible. We all had to pitch in. But Nancy has had to do a lot more."

"AFTER A WHILE, of course, I began to get talking books on records and listen to them on a machine provided by the Commission for the Blind in Newark. I've also been learning to read Braille. I go down to Newark to the State Commission for the Blind three days a week. There's a regular routine they put you through--which gives you a little more self-reliance. It's so much better than sitting at home--of being in a real job," he says.

"We haven't given up on these things at all. People are sympathetic, and I know the public means well. And the board of directors of the baseball league has been picking me up and helping, so there is no disruption in our operation. We'll have another successful year."

This is Falcone's first year as general business manager. "I have been associated with the league since 1961," Falcone says. "You see, when I first took a team, my oldest boy was nine. When he got into it, I did, too. When I took Richard to tryouts, I just started going to practice. Then the manager, Bob Bevan, got me into the league and asked me to be a coach. The following year, they asked me to take a job as a manager. One year I was director of the youth minor league and the year after, I was youth major league director. And before this," he pointed to his eyes, "I happened, I helped coach a youth major league team. I really enjoyed it very much."

"We have 16 youth minor teams learning baseball," explains Falcone. "Oh, winning is fine, but learning is the main thing. The boys in the minor league wear tee shirts and caps. The minor league boys range in age from nine to 12. These are youngsters who have never played before, and who like baseball and would like to learn."

THE YOUTH MAJOR LEAGUE learns a little more about baseball, such as hunting, stealing bases. "They are equipped with full uniforms, but they don't wear spikes. They wear sneakers or cleated shoes. And both leagues are equipped with safety helmets. The safety of play shows quite an improvement in the minor leagues."

"We have eight teams in the majors, and each team has 15 boys. Incidentally," Falcone points out, "we have instituted a new system this year. At the end of the season, the manager of each youth minor league team has the capabilities of the boys. And the boys are automatically sent up for tryouts with the major league teams. A draft is made out, and points are scored. If the new boys tryouts give them enough points before the season starts, they go into the major leagues." (The season starts April 29 and ends in the middle of June.)

Falcone says that this year there are "a lot of new boys, and we're moving boys up from the majors to the Pony League (13 to 15-year-olds). The Pony League was established last year."

"Also," he explains, "we've changed the size of the Pony League baseball diamond. It used to be a 90-foot diamond, but it was too difficult for the youngsters to play on, so we've changed it to a 75-foot diamond (from home plate to first base)."

Seventy boys are being moved up this season to the Pony League and the Babe Ruth League. "Any boy who is 13 or older and who is not assigned to the Babe Ruth League, will be assigned to the Pony League."

"THE WHOLE THING is a training ground--all the way up," says Falcone. "You take an awkward kid of nine, work with him, so that by age 13 he is able to run, throw, hit. By 15, he's developed enough to play very well. So, when he goes out for a high school baseball team, he has a foundation."

"There are many things we want to teach the boys about baseball, and as I said before, winning is not as important here as learning properly. We'd like to instill this idea in the boys, their parents and their managers. This is really the main idea of the league. We've gotten ourselves a pretty good group of managers and directors. We have 32 managers in all. But we're having problems getting managers for the Pony League. We need four new men. And the Youth Minor League needs seven more managers. We

Anderson said the series, which will be presented by the School Television Service, was planned and produced over a two-year period by station WITF-TV with a grant from the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction.

The schedule for the programs will be: "What Life is All About"—previews at noon April 29 and 3 p.m. April 30, and regular broadcast at 7 p.m. May 14; "Miracle"—previews at noon May 6 and 3 p.m. May 7, and regular broadcast 7 p.m. May 21; "Who Do You Think You Are?"—previews at noon May 13 and 3 p.m. May 14, and regular broadcast 7 p.m. May 28; "The Tightrope"—previews at noon May 20 and 3 p.m. May 21 and regular broadcast 7 p.m. June 4, and "The Decision Is Yours"—previews at noon May 27 and 3 p.m. May 28 and regular broadcast 7 p.m. June 11.

Anderson said: "Sons and Daughters" is a television experiment which should prove helpful to young people and their parents in developing and strengthening a mature understanding of family life."

The 30-second oven cleaner 7¢

(It takes just 30 seconds of your time to whisk away the dirt. Costs less than you're now paying.)

Ladies, get your heads out of the oven. Now you can have an electric range with an oven that cleans itself automatically for an investment of about 7¢ and 30 seconds of your time per cleaning.

You just put the surface-unit drip pans in the oven and turn a switch to "Clean". Spills and splatters disappear from the oven, racks and drip pans during the average 1 1/2 hour cleaning cycle, and only a trace of powder remains. You whisk that away in about 30 seconds.

There's no worry about scrubbing the surface units either, because spills disappear from them while you're still cooking. Only electric ranges can give you this "total cleanability".

So throw out the oven cleaners, the cans of stuff, the brushes, the steel wool, and the dirty rags. Buy a new electric oven. You'll find a large selection at the local appliance dealer displaying the familiar Reddy Kilowatt seal. He's open right now.

Africa gets new museum

The first step in creating a Copperbelt Museum — to be one of the most modern in Africa — was taken recently when a display gallery was opened in Ndola, Zambia. The small Ndola Museum contains examples of wood carving, ceremonial weapons, basket-work, fetish symbols and the borders and medicines of a witch-doctor. The display will be changed from time to time.

The project for a large Copperbelt Museum, which would preserve the ecology, the flora and the fauna of that part of Africa, was first launched by an association under the Zambian National Museums Board; funds made available by Unesco for museum development are being used to help finance the project. The Ndola gallery is one of the first stages in "building a museum from the grass roots", as a member of the association has put it.

Detailed plans for the Copperbelt Museum provide for lecture halls, projection equipment, diagrams, and a library. The final site has not yet been decided on. (UNESCO FEATURES)

Crop plans reported

New Jersey vegetable growers have reported their 1968 intentions for the Garden State's two most important vegetable crops — asparagus and tomatoes for processing.

If present plans materialize, 20,500 acres of canning tomatoes and 24,300 acres of asparagus (both for the fresh market and for processing) will be grown in New Jersey this year, according to the New Jersey Crop Reporting Service.

Tomato acreage is down 4 per cent from the 21,300 acres planted in 1967, but is 13 per cent above the five-year average (1962-66). Nationally, the 1968 acreage of tomatoes for processing is expected to total 366,000 acres, a new record high. Based on present planting intentions, New Jersey will rank fourth among the states in processing tomato acreage this year, exceeded only by California, Ohio and Indiana. In asparagus acreage, New Jersey is the country's second ranking state. Anticipated 1968 acreage for harvest will be 500 acres less than last year and more than 3,000 acres below the 1962-66 average. For the nation as a whole, 1968 asparagus acreage is expected to total 125,250 acres, compared with 129,100 in 1967 and a five-year average of 139,920. Harvest of the New Jersey crop is expected to begin in late April.

Millions of workers exposed to job perils, says U.S. aide

WASHINGTON -- The "bewildering and sometimes frightening" technological explosion is creating whole new areas of health problems for American workers, Assistant Secretary of Labor Esther Peterson has declared.

Speaking before a public affairs forum sponsored by the National Science Foundation Employees Association, Mrs. Peterson said:

"In our enlightened society today, millions of American workers are being exposed to health damage from toxic chemicals, physiological stress and, increasingly, to psychological pressures.

"Every 20 minutes a new and potentially toxic chemical is introduced into the industrial environment. There are few if any controls over them and often no knowledge as to their effect on human beings.

"Whole new vocabularies are being born with these new chemicals and we are beginning to hear about synergistic, potentiating and antagonistic reactions of airborne chemicals as they begin to crowd our troubled air."

Mrs. Peterson pointed out that such degenerative diseases as arthritis, heart and kidney ailments are sometimes worsened by industrial exposures.

"Our hearing is increasingly afflicted by noise, and visual exposure to lasers, infrared and ultra-violet light threatens and sometimes damages our sight," she noted.

"Even residing in the proximity of a plant using toxic materials can cause sickness," she said. "There is a case on record in which a woman who lived down-wind from a plant using the noxious metal, beryllium, contracted the disease berylliosis from the air."

"WE KNOW THAT over half a million workers are disabled annually by occupational diseases," said Mrs. Peterson, citing the prediction that over 1,000 uranium mine workers will die from lung cancer due to radiation, and that about half of the nation's 137,000 bituminous coal miners suffer from the dust disease, pneumoconiosis.

A warning on hearty spring cleaning

The arrival of spring brings with it the temptation to rush into traditional seasonal activities. And these are the days that try men's hearts, the Union County Heart Association notes.

Whether it is cleaning up the garden, taking down the storm windows or slapping a coat of paint on the shingles, the Heart Association has a word of advice for the man of the house. If you've been sedentary during the winter, or if you have a history of heart illness, don't do it — until you get a medical checkup. The advice can serve the housewife, too, before she starts the annual chuck-out binge.

Sprucing up for spring is at least as important to an individual's health as it is to his property, the Heart Association says. A physical exam should precede the taking on of strenuous chores after a long winter by the fireside. It is vitally important for anyone with heart disease or who is suspected of having a developing heart condition.

INACTIVE INDIVIDUALS MAY find that an interval of recommended conditioning — a regimen of regular physical activity — is all that is needed to get them in shape to do the job safely and with greater efficiency.

The heart patient, too, may get a go-ahead, after an examination by his physician, who can determine how often and to what lengths the patient's condition will permit him to participate in the Spring roundup.

But even the healthy individual is warned not to overdo things. He should stop when he tires, the Union County Heart Association stresses. Home, to twist an old phrase, doesn't have to be rebuilt or cleaned in a day.

A final warning concerns dress — neither too much to bring on over-heating, nor too little to bring on a chill. The spring cleaner may find himself frequently shifting from indoors to outdoors. Unusual exertion at extreme temperatures can precipitate a heart attack in susceptible individuals.

Following the above advice can leave homeowners in as good shape as their bettered homes and gardens when spring turns that corner.

Annual trap shoot at county grounds

The 26th annual James L. Smith Memorial Shoot, sponsored by the Union County Park Commission, will be held at the County Park trap and skeet grounds, off Kenilworth Boulevard, Cranford, on Sunday at 2 p.m.

This is a 50-target event at trap, in 1967 Dr. Ernest B. Wemore of Morristown won the championship by breaking 50 straight targets. Dr. Wemore also won the event in 1966. Dr. Frank Nichols of Staten Island, was the 1967 runner-up.

The Union County trap and skeet grounds are open to the public every Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Shells of all gauges are available on the grounds.

Hikers plan to clear trail

The Union County Hiking Club has scheduled a trail clearing expedition and a 10-mile hike for its members and guests this weekend.

On Saturday, Nathan Levin of Rahway will lead the trail clearing expedition. The Union County Hiking Club as a member of the New York - New Jersey Trails Conference, is responsible for maintaining a 13-mile section of the Appalachian Trail near Greenwood Lake on both sides of the New Jersey - New York border. The group will meet at the administration building of the Union County Park Commission, Warinanco Park, Elizabeth, at 8:30 a.m.

On Sunday, Robert Franzblau of Somerset will lead a 10-mile hike in the area of Sunfish Pond in northern New Jersey. This group will also meet at the administration building of the park commission at 8:30 a.m.

For further information concerning the above hikes contact the recreation department of the Union County Park Commission.

April 12 deadline at UC for day class registrants

Union College, Cranford, has set April 12 as the deadline for receiving applications for the day-session for the coming fall semester, it was announced this week by George P. Lynes, director of admission.

Lynes said that applications for the fall semester are running about the same level as a year ago. Union College received nearly 3,000 applications for the fall semester of 1966 for a freshman class of 800 in both the day and evening sessions.

The admissions director reported that the college expects a slightly larger freshman class next fall.

April 12 will also be the deadline for high school seniors to submit applications for the new pre-engineering and pre-science programs, Lynes said. These programs will be available to high school graduates who may be deficient in entrance credits in mathematics, chemistry and physics, for example, or those who may need additional preparation for their chosen curriculum.

"It should be emphasized that students in the pre-engineering and pre-science programs will be matriculated in degree programs and with summer work will be able to receive their associate in arts degree in two years," Lynes said.

The new pre-engineering program is designed for the high school graduate who is not academically ready for the demanding college program. Prof. Elmer Wolf, acting dean and chairman of the engineering department, said.

"Our new program will be geared to the scholastic achievements and potential of these students, and will give them an opportunity to move into the college program at a somewhat slower pace than our usual engineering and science majors," Prof. Wolf said.

Union College, which specializes in transferring its graduates to four-year colleges and universities, offers majors in liberal arts, engineering, science, and business administration.

Basketball tournament continues this weekend

The annual Springfield invitation basketball tournament sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department opened last Saturday with a quarter of games at the Florence Gaudineer School. Eight of the areas top grammar school basketball teams were invited to compete in this third annual affair.

Four of the quintets advanced to the semi-final round to be played tomorrow evening in the boys' gym of the Gaudineer School. The finals will be held Saturday evening at the same site. The opening game each evening will tip-off at 6:30. Each team that advanced showed strength and promise of a great semi-final evening when the top clubs go head-to-head, a tourney spokesman stated.

Nutley advanced to the semis in an afternoon game against Florham Park by a 107 to 61 score. Huff's Sport Shop of Union had an easy time in downing Little Flower Grammar School of Berkeley Heights. The final scores were Union, 52 - Little Flower, 21. A strong Mountaineer quintet downed St. Margaret's of Morristown in an evening game, 47 to 33. The Springfield Minutemen, in the feature game last Saturday evening, easily moved past another Nutley squad by a 58 to 20 score. Nutley will meet Union in the opening game tomorrow evening, while Springfield will take on Mountaineer at 8 tomorrow night at the Gaudineer School.

NUTLEY SET a Gaudineer School and tournament record when it rolled up 107 points against Florham Park in the tournament opener last Saturday afternoon. Nutley worked its fast break to perfection in this game. With Nutley's Rich Tremarco controlling the boards and Vern Shepard leading the fast break, the Nutley express rolled from the first period until the final buzzer. Only some fancy shooting by Joe Passalacqua of Florham Park kept the game respectable. Joe hit consistently from the corner in the early going to keep the score as close as possible.

Huff's Sport Shop of Union took the floor in the second afternoon game. Huff's broke the game up early, as it spurred to a 22 to 1 first quarter lead. Huff's then put on the brakes and eased to a 52 to 21 victory. Joe Crosta of Huff's led the way for his team.

A tall and talented Mountaineer team from the Deerfield School took the measure of St. Margaret's of Morristown in the opener of an evening double-header at Gaudineer. Mountaineer's board control and superior outside shooting kept St. Margaret's down from the opening period. With Tom Barry leading the way, Mountaineer rolled to a 47 to 33 victory. The Mountaineer boys will meet Springfield in the semi-final tomorrow evening.

THE SPRINGFIELD MINUTEMEN took the floor in the nightcap of the evening twin bill in hopes of capturing some measure of success from a disappointing season. The Springfield boys, with an inspired demonstration, crushed a team from the Nutley Recreation Department by a 58 to 20 score. With many of the younger Springfield boys showing the way, they moved into the semi-final round.

Big Vince Davis led the way for Springfield, as he put on his top performance of the season. Vince ran 14 points through the hoop, as he hit on six of eight shots from the floor and two of three from the free throw line. Vince, who has been coming on in late season, will be back with the squad next year.

Bobby Meisel, another seventh grader, started for the Minutemen. Bobby played well and tallied 12 points. Kenny Baroff and Jerry Jones are another pair of seventh graders who played well. Kenny scored well as he netted nine points, while Jerry led the club with his fine crisp passing and defensive work.

The two Springfield big men also played top games against Nutley. Eddie Cook, opening at the center slot, tallied six points and led everybody in rebounding. Eddie had his best day off the boards with 17 rebounds. George Robbins, the team scoring leader, brought his season total to 227 points, as he netted eight points in this tournament opener. Bobby Zuckler, Springfield's captain and court general, opened the game directing their attack and played well in his usual role.

Society to present sacred music for Methodist Church

The Newark Choral Society, sponsored by the Newark Board of Education, will present a sacred music concert at the concluding Lenten services at Springfield Emmanuel Methodist Church, Main street at Academy Green, on Sunday at 8 p.m. The Choral Society, directed by Dorothy L. Schneider, has presented more than 200 concerts and programs including a musical program for the Methodist Men of the local church in May 1967.

Miss Schneider is a graduate of Lake Erie College and holds her master's degree from Teachers College, Columbia University. She is a music teacher at South Side High School, Newark, and for a number of years has taught and conducted the boys' and girls' glee clubs, madrigal singers, and the 100-voice mixed chorus as well as classes in music appreciation.

A former president of the New Jersey Chapter of the National Association of Teachers of Singing and a former member of the board of directors of the New Jersey Music Educators Association, Miss Schneider is on the editorial board of Tempo, the official magazine of the New Jersey Association.

She founded the Newark Choral Society, which is an inter-racial and inter-faith group. The concert is open to the public, according to the Rev. James Dewart, local pastor.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass.—John G. Hitchins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hitchins of 539 Morris ave., Springfield, N.J., was a member of the varsity wrestling team of Williams College this year. Only a sophomore, John wrestled every match for Williams in the 191 pound weight class.

His season record was 3-2-2. The Williams team was not quite as successful, completing their season with a 3-4 mark.

Springfield LWV to report on study

A study of the structure and operations of the New Jersey legislature is being undertaken by the New Jersey League of Women Voters. Mrs. Harry Einstein, president of the Springfield League, has announced that after six months of study, a committee of the Springfield League under the chairmanship of Mrs. Herbert R. Meisel has completed the first phase of the study.

At a meeting to be held at 8 tonight at the home of Mrs. Paul Koppel, 390 Rolling Rock rd., the committee will describe the history and responsibilities of the state legislature, the governor's role and the county's role in law-making and enforcement; the committee system in the legislature and how a bill becomes a law. A league spokesman added that all interested people are invited.

David Brown ties for third in Y swim

David Brown Jr., of Springfield, a fifth grader at the Thelma Sandre or School, tied for third in the YMCA Central Atlantic Area, Northern Section, boys 10-and-under swimming championships, on the 25-yard backstroke event.

Brown is a member of the Summit Area YMCA swim team, which won the 10-and-under group championship last Saturday at the Summit YMCA. Summit boys scored 61-1/2 points to beat 16 YMCAs in the meet. The Westfield Y placed second.

The Central Atlantic Area championships will be held Saturday at Princeton University's Dillon Pool.

NUTLEY SET a Gaudineer School and tournament record when it rolled up 107 points against Florham Park in the tournament opener last Saturday afternoon. Nutley worked its fast break to perfection in this game. With Nutley's Rich Tremarco controlling the boards and Vern Shepard leading the fast break, the Nutley express rolled from the first period until the final buzzer. Only some fancy shooting by Joe Passalacqua of Florham Park kept the game respectable. Joe hit consistently from the corner in the early going to keep the score as close as possible.

Huff's Sport Shop of Union took the floor in the second afternoon game. Huff's broke the game up early, as it spurred to a 22 to 1 first

The group also received high ratings during the Fifteenth Air Force annual facilities inspection and other readiness exercises.

The airman, a 1966 graduate of Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, N.J., has studied at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison, N.J.

International Arctic study

Canada is one of the 50 nations participating in the International Biological Program (IBP) which began on July 1, 1967. Among the 14 projects being undertaken by Canada is a planned human adaptability study of circumpolar people.

Jointly with the U.S., Canada is conducting an investigation of the residents of three Eskimo communities — one in the Canadian Arctic, one in Greenland and one at Wainwright, Alaska. These studies will be co-ordinated with similar projects being carried out by the Scandinavians in Greenland and Lapland, by the Japanese among the aboriginal inhabitants of Hokkaido, and by Soviet scientists in Arctic Siberia.

The Canadian-U.S. project has been broken down into investigations of family trees, human community, physical measurements, food, body reaction to cold and other conditions, "behavior, attitudes, and mental illness" will also be examined. Another human adaptability study was carried out by the Department of National Health and Welfare into the fitness and performance of 200 athletes at the recent Pan-American Games in Winnipeg.

Another Canadian IBP project is a grasslands study being coordinated by the University of Saskatchewan and employing the only extensive uncultivated tract of first-class wheatland remaining on the prairies where the ability of field crops to utilize the sun's energy will be studied. Forest productivity, marine productivity, arctic lakes, national parks legislation are also being investigated as part of the Program.

The International Biological Program, which has a five year plan of action, aims to broaden understanding of the balance of nature and the means by which man can preserve or control this balance.

NJEA lauds new proposal for teachers of handicapped

The New Jersey Education Association this week praised a new proposal for consolidating and simplifying certification for teachers of handicapped children.

The proposal would combine three existing special-education teaching certificates into one new general certificate for "classroom teachers of the handicapped. This would replace separate certificates for teachers of the 'mentally retarded,' 'physically limited' and 'socially and emotionally maladjusted,' all requiring similar basic preparation.

The change was approved last week by the State Board of Examiners, the Education Department's professional agency responsible for teaching standards and certification. The 60,000-member NJEA is urging the State Board of Education to approve the change.

Commented Dr. Alfred Skogsborg of Bloomfield, chairman of NJEA's Committee on Teacher Education and Professional Standards: "The move is a beginning, we hope, toward recognizing broader training for teachers and reducing the number of specialized certificates governing various qualifications."

The new standards would eliminate separate prescribed courses for several teacher specializations. A special-class teacher would be expected to present 18 college credits in the general field of education of handicapped children. Previously, detailed programs were prescribed depending on whether a teacher taught blind, deaf, mentally retarded or emotionally disturbed children. The new standard merely requires study of causes of disabilities, special teaching practices and resources for the handicapped somewhere within the training program offered by a college or university.

"This degree of flexibility should make it easier for New Jersey to recruit from other states the special-education teachers it badly needs," Dr. Skogsborg said. "The regulations will allow for the variety of accredited programs for training teachers of handicapped children found in the many colleges and universities of the nation."

"THE CHANGE RECOGNIZES that a teacher can be prepared for the general conditions of special teaching regardless of the handicap," the NJEA spokesman said. "Handicapped children frequently have multiple handicaps. An individual child in a special class may have more than one primary problem."

In a related move, the Board of Examiners updated state manuals to show that separate special certificates are no longer being issued to teachers of the "blind or partially sighted" and "deaf or hard of hearing."

Under the change, such teachers would still be expected to learn special techniques appropriate to the particular kinds of classes they teach. However, course work preparing teachers for sightless or hearingless classes would be included as part of the 18-credit general requirement for teaching the handicapped. Such specialties would be shown as "endorsements" on the "teacher of the handicapped" certificate.

"Obviously, there is little need for a multiplicity of special certificates when the variations represent a difference of only a few courses," said Dr. Skogsborg. "Our NJEA Committee sees great hope in the endorsement approach for cutting much of the 'red tape' that has grown up around teacher certification."

"NJEA favors this move by the Board of Examiners toward fewer certificates and more flexible certification of teachers."

Beadleston to be cited by institute

State Sen. Alfred N. Beadleston of Red Bank will be honored by the Institute for the Development of Educational Abilities at its May 18 conference on childhood learning and communication disabilities.

Dr. Harold Wiener, optometrist, director of the Institute, said the award is based upon "Sen. Beadleston's record of devoted efforts to assure all children throughout New Jersey an opportunity to gain from the educational process."

The conference will hear Dr. Haim Ginor, whose best-selling book, "Between Parent and Child," will serve as the basis for his address. Joining him will be Dr. Ray H. Barsch, an authority on perceptual-motor training.

The conference is designed to provide parents, teachers, psychologists and other professionals with a discussion of the latest trends and techniques regarding early recognition of reading, learning and communication difficulties in children. Aiding "slow learners" through better knowledge of "dyslexia and other disorders" will be stressed.

The award ceremony will be held at the conference.

ZOOLOGICAL FURNISHINGS—Dr. James D. Anderson, associate professor of zoology at Rutgers University in Newark, and his children, Bruce, 11, and Susan, 7, examine a couple of the many Mexican salamanders the professor keeps in his office. His office also houses a green rock rattlesnake, a rare species he caught on a summer salamander hunt in Mexico.

1 snake plus 1 prof equals 1 department

There's also sign on door at Newark Rutgers

Visitors to the office of Dr. James D. Anderson on the Newark campus of Rutgers University can't help but be impressed by the sign on his door:

"Department of Herpetology," it announces grandly.

"We have a couple of problems," Dr. Anderson announces, not so grandly, as he ushers his visitors through the door and into the presence of a green rock rattlesnake, a rare species he caught with his bare hands in Mexico. One is relieved to find the rattlesnake safely behind glass, but puzzled by his solitude.

"That," Dr. Anderson says, "is one of our problems. We have only one snake."

"A one-snake herpetology department?" a visitor asks.

"That," Dr. Anderson replies, "is our other problem. We don't have a department, just a sign."

An associate professor of zoology at Rutgers and honorary chairman of the "department," Dr. Anderson explains that he and his colleagues had been able to do much for their rattlesnake outside of feeding him a mouse every two weeks and providing him with a couple of rocks. They said they felt the sign would give their prize captive some prestige.

All in all, it's a fun department.

The fun part is merely window dressing to the work-part, however. Dr. Anderson is involved in a three-year study of Mexican salamanders.

The investigations have taken him all over the Mexican plateau area (well over half the country) for the past three summers. He is studying the evolution of a species called mole salamanders which are unlike any other salamanders.

"Normally," Dr. Anderson says, "salamanders go into the water just to breed. But because of the environment in Mexico, the salamanders are prolonging the larval period and many never get out of it. They are taking the place of fish, ecologically."

In the plateau area of Mexico there are many "cuencas" or enclosed drainage systems. In these areas, the salamanders are evolving according to the environment. And the evolution from place to place is strikingly different.

"In the state of Puebla," Dr. Anderson says, "there are three crater lakes which are one or two miles apart. In each lake the salamanders have evolved differently and are different in habits, color and structure."

Mexicans eat the salamanders, which can grow to a foot in length. Dr. Anderson does not eat salamanders.

"It seems sort of cannibalistic," he says.

In between catching salamanders at night (they're nocturnal and nobody seems to know what they do during the day), Dr. Anderson spends a lot of time picking up other amphibians and reptiles. He's collected about 10,000 specimens in addition to his 7,000 salamanders—130 now alive and about 6,800 pickled.

"I started out as a snake catcher," Dr. Anderson says, recalling his boyhood days, "but then I got onto 'salamanders. I still collect snakes."

About the unnamed rattler in his office: "I almost missed him as I was walking through the desert. He blends in with the gray-green lichen on the rocks. But I heard him rattle. I pinned his head down and picked him up. I don't usually do that," he admits. "He has kept the rattler alive because it is a rare species, noted for its 'hot' venom and persistent buzzing rattle."

Except this particular rattler, he's getting so content he refuses to rattle any more. Well, that's what happens when a snake becomes a department unto himself.

Springfield club to hold hat sale, monthly meeting

The Springfield Woman's Club will hold a hat sale at the monthly meeting, next Wednesday, at the National State Bank's recreation room, Morris Avenue, Springfield. Friends of club members will be guests at the meeting. Money raised from the event goes into the club's scholarship fund.

SACA will sponsor classes in art, guitar, modern dance

The Springfield Association of Creative Arts (SACA), which is now officially part of the Springfield Recreation Department, will start spring activities with a series of classes for children.

Beginning this Saturday, and continuing for eight weeks, art classes will be conducted at the Recreation House on Caldwell place. Children from grades three, four, and five will meet from 11 a.m. to noon, and those from grades six, seven and eight will meet from 12:15 to 1:45.

This will be a creative class where children can experiment with various art-media, such as water color, pastels, collage and paper mache. Mrs. Jerry Eddy, who will teach the class, has been an art teacher in the Springfield schools for seven years. Tuition for the series is $10. Art materials will be supplied.

For young people who want to be part of the contemporary music scene, SACA offers a guitar class. Here, they can learn the fundamentals of guitar, note reading and chord playing, aimed toward the playing of folk and rock music.

The guitar classes will be Monday nights, beginning April 1, at the Recreation House. Beginners will meet from 7 to 8, and the intermediate class will be from 8 to 9.

Joseph E. Blument, who will teach the class, is described as a young, accomplished guitarist. He has taught for several years, and also plays with dance groups and for musical shows. The tuition for eight classes is $10.

Classes in modern dance will be held at the Edward Walton School on Wednesday afternoons, beginning April 3. The beginners' class will meet from 3:30 to 4:30. The intermediate class will meet from 4:30 to 5:30.

The dance classes will be taught by Mrs. Marvon Panish of Springfield. Mrs. Panish has danced and studied dance for many years. She has also done some choreography. The tuition for the eight classes will be $8. All the classes sizes will be limited.

Mrs. Leo Johnson, who is directing the cultural program for the Recreation Department, urged all interested persons to enroll their children promptly. Checks made payable to the township of Springfield should be mailed to the Recreation Department, Municipal Building, Springfield 07081.

For more information, readers may phone Mrs. Johnson at 376-4189.

Space talk session held by Unesco

A three-day meeting convened by Unesco on the use of space communication for broadcasting ended recently in Paris. The meeting dealt particularly with the possibilities offered by space communication in assuring the freer transmission of news and topical coverage, the acceleration of education and the dissemination of culture.

Twenty-two senior broadcasting officials, most of whom had been named by international and regional broadcasting unions, took part in the meeting. Also taking part were representatives of the International Press Telecommunications Committee, as well as observers from the United Nations, the International Telecommunications Union and the International Labour Organization.

Meeting under the chairmanship of Alphonse Oulmet, until recently president of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., the experts reviewed the progress made to date in communication satellite technology and the relative merits of present-day and future systems.

The wide-ranging debate covered the many technical opportunities opening up for the mass media, particularly for the extension of broadcasting and news transmissions in the developing countries.

The discussion dealt with such topics as the extension of current arrangements on broadcast exchanges and the costs involved in the worldwide use of satellite transmissions. Finally, the experts urged international action to deal with the complex technical, legal, social and political problems involved in the use of space communication. (UNESCO FEATURES)

Volkswagen introduces the automatic stick shift.

After 10 these many years our humble little bug has gone automatic. Gone is the clutch. Gone is the wifely whine, "It's cute, but I can't drive it." Gone is an era of Volkswagendom. Sniff. And in its place? A Volkswagen you can drive all over town without shifting.

Only on the highway do you shift. Once. (This is an economy move. Which, after all, is still the name of the game.)

But you do have a choice in the matter you can drive it the easy way described above. Or you can start out in low and take it through the gears like a regular stick shift.

The automatic stick shift is an option: you pay a little more. But you do a little less.

In the past, the lowest priced fully electric typewriter cost $250. And even then it didn't have such Ultronic features as Magic Margin, Magic Meter scale, electric-ribbon feed, vertical half spacing, and a detachable end. Dear Neighbors:
Just like in the years past, we again are ready to take care of your shade and ornamental trees. Because this year the destructive scale insects appear to be more plentiful than in the past we urge you to let us spray your oak trees well in advance of first spring leaves. For an early spray during this month, we can then use high viscosity spray oil which is most effective and yet absolutely harmless to humans as well as our birds. The scale insects infect trees which will decay beyond any means of help later on. Don't let scale happen to your trees that are the source of an enjoyment year after year. They provide you with cooling shade in the summer time, they beautify your home and, yes, then enhance the value of your very home as if they would want to thank you for taking care of them.
We have the most modern equipment, our men are highly trained and skilled for such jobs. Don't delay, call us up and be informed more fully. There is no obligation, of course.

Hadassah members, daughters named models for fashion show

Daughters of several members of Springfield Chapter of Hadassah will model at the Israeli fashion show and supper to be given by the chapter next Thursday night at Temple Beth Ahm.
They are: Alison-Ramer, daughter of Mrs. Aaron Ramer; Mrs. Herbert Horn, daughter of Mrs. Leon Berger; Mrs. Marvin Price, daughter of Mrs. Melvin Bloomfield, and Merri and Terri Chotiner, daughters of Mrs. Irene Chotiner. The other models, some of whom are chapter members, include Mrs. Alan Porter, Mrs. Paul Deltz, Mrs. Robert Welch, Mrs. Arthur Kosselbaum, Mrs. Raymond Porter and Mrs. Norman Alexander.
The fashion show, entitled "Horizons Unlimited," is a collection of the Israeli fashions designed by students in the Fashion Department of Hadassah's Alice Sallesberg Vocational High School for Girls in Jerusalem. Evening and cocktail outfits which blend modern styling with overtones of oriental flavor are a highlight of the collection.
According to Mrs. Melvin Bloomfield, chairman of the event, the fashion show is "a vivid illustration of the increasing world-wide recognition which Israel's growing fashion industry is receiving." The show, which is presently touring the United States, will be open to both members of Hadassah and the general public. A supper, to be served at 6:30 o'clock, will precede the show.

What's the catch? There isn't any. $1699 is the suggested retail price at the point of entry for the VW sedan. The price includes Federal excise tax and import duty. It also includes the built-in heater, defroster, windshield wiper, electric windshield wipers, outside rear view mirror, and seat belts front and back. Not to mention the padded dash and front seat headrests. It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model. What else do you have to pay? The charge for transporting the car from the port of entry. The dealer delivery charge. And local sales tax. There is one optional that makes a lot of sense. The matching leatherette upholstery. For $300 extra. (Nearly everybody gets it because it eliminates the need for slipcovers.) Well, that's it. Unless, of course, you count the cost of gas and oil it takes you to get here in your present car.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

CONSCIENCE
There's nothing wrong with playing to win... so long as one plays the game according to the rules. This is the reason some of us discover that a victory we achieved by trickery or deceit is not near so sweet as we had imagined it would be.
There are some, however, who are capable of operating without conscience, or so it seems. They scramble wildly in pursuit of some position or some recognition, oblivious to everything but their one single purpose, or so it appears.
In reality, it is difficult to conceive that, in the hush of night and in the moment before sleep bids off the living truth and the living fact, every man does not come often to a moment of self-appraisal from which there is no escape.
The difference between right and wrong is not always as obvious as the difference between black and white. This is why we are sometimes suddenly aware of our conscience -- why we may hesitate, evaluate a situation or a possible course of action.
Conscience is, indeed a guide. And, it cannot be completely ignored.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: My family constantly complains that my husband is too reserved when we visit them. It hurts me to have anyone criticize him for he is a perfect husband. It's true that he has little to say on such visits. If I mention it to him, he gets angry and insists he can't change. Is it possible for him to change?

Dear Mrs. E.L.: Some people are born talkers and some are born listeners. Both have their places in this world, and it's futile to try to change them. Disregard your family's criticism of your husband. Assure them that you are satisfied with your man and, above all, let him know!

Dear Amy: I am 18 years old and I live alone. One month ago, I went to the hospital for an operation which was to cost me $320. Now I find I can't pay it because I make only enough to pay my rent. My fiance said he'd help me out but he broke up. Can the hospital sue me or send me to jail even though I am a minor and had no co-signer? Could they take me to court or wait until I'm of age and then take action? -Worried

Dear Worried: I don't give legal advice but I think every individual past their eighteenth birthday should know that they can be held liable for any debt they incur for the "necessities" of life. Since medical care is a necessity, you will have to pay the bill. If you doubt it, ask any lawyer!

Dear Amy: My teacher keeps picking on me. Whenever I say a word, he raises the roof. But then he has these so-called "teacher's pets." He always lets them talk and do whatever they want. My girlfriends and I have talked this over and decided we should talk it over with you.

Dear Please: There were "teacher's pets" in my day, too (or so I thought). Upon closer examination I found they were tagged this title because they paid attention when they had to, were seldom tardy, had clean-work habits, and although I hate to admit it, they were smarter than I. I was suffering from an adolescent case of old-fashioned jealousy. How about you?

Dear Amy: I am a divorcee, 30, with four small children. My ex-husband is married, but supports the children and sees them on weekends.

Recently, I met a nice man who apparently is very fond of me and the youngsters. My family objects to him as a "serious" suitor because he's very nervous, a result of Vietnam duty. My parents say he would never become adjusted to a home with active children. What do you think?

Dear Sandy: Your parents are right. Children can get on anyone's nerves occasionally. If your friend is nervous, they could ruin him completely.

Don't make any decisions until you seek the advice of his doctor. He knows how deep his illness is and what the prospects are for complete recovery.

Do you think that after a girl has given herself to a boy that she can find somebody to think as much of her as they would have if she didn't give herself away?

Dear Girlfriends: Like a precious stone, a girl's reputation is her best friend. Why should a boy put the same value on a "dime-store" pearl when he can seek out one that's cultured!

U.S. agency sees 'drastic need' for trained scientists

WASHINGTON — Reports to the Department of Labor from 30 major manpower centers across the U.S. show a "drastic need" for trained scientists, technicians, and engineers to maintain the present levels of economic growth. The current issue of the Labor Department's "Job Market for Engineers, Scientists, Technicians," says that the number of chemists, physicists, life scientists, and mathematicians must be doubled by 1975 and the number of employed engineers must be increased by at least two-thirds. Among those cities in the study showing drastic needs for scientific personnel are Boston, where area employers were hard pressed to add the engineers and scientists to keep pace with industry expansion, research and development growth; Philadelphia, where a strong demand exists for electrical, electronic and mechanical engineers; Pittsburgh, where job listings outnumbered applications by two to one. Also, Detroit, where mechanical and industrial specialists are needed; Cincinnati, where a demand exists for all types of engineers; Chicago, where mechanical engineers are needed; Kansas City, where the greatest demand for engineers was in the mechanical field; Houston, where employers are seeking young applicants with emphasis on recent degrees rather than experience; and San Francisco, where most job openings specified senior level engineers with highly specialized experience.

Growing problems of urban and industrial health, the pollution states, are seriously stepping up the demand for sanitary and safety engineers with degrees and experience directly applicable to public health programs. State employment security agencies indicated in the report that most employers continued to offer preference to recent engineering college graduates over those who received their degrees several years ago. Continuing expansion of medical facilities and services in 1967 was accompanied by ever increasing needs for medical technologists and laboratory assistants, occupations in short supply throughout the country.

College bond issue drive 'will not be easy' -- NJEA

Public disappointment over the state's failure to expand public higher education will actually hurt future efforts at expansion, the New Jersey Education Association is cautioning teachers.

"If there is to be a college bond issue this fall — and obviously expansion is desperately needed — we face a public with a great many expectations which have been left unfulfilled," says an editorial in the current issue of the NJEA Review, the monthly journal for New Jersey teachers. A bond-issue drive, the review adds, "will not be an easy campaign." The long-awaited expansion of New Jersey's public colleges and university still seems a distant prospect, says NJEA. Any bond issue "will do more making up for projects deferred than provide much of a major thrust forward."

The lag in New Jersey is serious today because "public higher education construction was one of the biggest losers when Gov. Hughes's income tax plan bit the dust," says the NJEA Review. That 1966 proposal would have provided the public colleges with $50 million in construction funds in fiscal 1967 and $30 million a year thereafter. Instead, the Legislature enacted the less productive state sales tax, and the 1967, 1968 and 1969 state budgets will have provided a total of only $38.5 million for construction of public undergraduate facilities, less than the income tax would have provided in fiscal 1967 alone. Hardest hit have been the six state colleges which in the new state budget, as proposed, would get only $1 million in construction funds — as opposed to $85 million in requests.

In 1965, reports the NJEA Review, state fiscal officials promised that expansion of public higher education would not be delayed. Progress, however, has been slow. The editorial says: "Actual plans have progressed on no more than one or two buildings at each campus. Even some of those it is reported, have now been stopped. With the fiscal future so uncertain, college trustees have been asked to switch specialized buildings to general mass-classroom purposes. Promises of new colleges in Bergen County, in North Jersey, along the Shore, and in South Jersey have never materialized."

One result of New Jersey's public-college lag, says the Review editorial, is that the N.J. State Board of Higher Education is basing fundamental decisions on "restriction, not opportunity." The board's recent action requiring students to have 14 "college preparatory" credits for admission is one example of this, comments NJEA, adding: "Rapid expansion at the state colleges could have assured generous admissions for all similar ranking students — in many new major fields as well as those where a continued supply of well-trained teachers is needed."

Now, however, to make room for new programs, the state appears determined to scrap some teacher-education programs, says the NJEA Review. "Unable to commit the state colleges to real expansion, the State Board of Higher Education seems to have decided that 'opportunity for all qualified' cannot be its motto. And, this denial may well fall on the very teachers our state needs most and those very students who most need a state college."

Service center for Viet vets

The federal government opened a United States Veterans Assistance Center last week in Newark to provide Vietnam veterans with "a complete one-stop service center." It is located in room 1435C of the new Federal Building at 970 Broad St.

The center is one of 20 in major cities throughout the nation. "Its purpose," a spokesman said, "is to assure that every serviceman who returns to civilian life in the months ahead — no matter where he lives, what background he might have come from, what his hopes and ambitions are — will have the education he wants, the training he needs, and the opportunities for the jobs he is best suited for."

"If a Vietnam veteran wants a job, the center's staff includes representatives from the State Employment Service as well as the Federal Civil Service Commission. If he is interested in education, training, counseling, disability compensation or pension, vocational rehabilitation, medical care, information re-

Montand, Bergen co-star at Ormont

"Live For Life," Claude Lelouch's latest film about an ill-starred love affair, opens Wednesday, March 27 at the Ormont Theater, East Orange. The picture, which has Yves Montand and Candice Bergen in leading roles, concerns a television newscaster with a decided weakness for the ladies which almost wrecks his life. As he did for "A Man and a Woman," Lelouch collaborated on the script of "Live for Life," and has Annie Gerardot, French star, in a stellar role of the wife of the philandering telecaster.

Camelot' musical on Bellevue screen

"Camelot," the Warner Brothers-Seven Arts motion picture of the epic Alan Jay Lerner-Fredrick Loewe musical romance, which was nominated for five Academy Awards, continues on the wide screen at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair.

Produced by Jack L. Warner, "Camelot" stars Richard Harris as King Arthur, Vanessa Redgrave as Queen Guenevere, Franco Nero as Sir Lancelot and David Hemmings as Mordred, Joshua Logan directed the film.

Lerner wrote the book, lyrics and screenplay for the Technicolor-Panavision film, and Loewe wrote the ballads.

Among the "Camelot" songs are "I Wonder What the King Is Doing Tonight," "The Simple Joys of Maidenhood," "Follow Me," "The Lusty Month of May," "C'est Moi," "How You May Take Me to the Fair," "How to Handle a Woman," "If Ever I Would Leave You," "I Loved You Once in Silence," "Guenevere" and the title song "Camelot."

Hoffman starred in first movie job

Dustin Hoffman, who was nominated for an Oscar for his role in "The Graduate," now in his eighth smash week at the Milburn Cinema, appeared in two off-Broadway plays before obtaining a starring role in the current Mike Nichols, Lawrence Turman film production, "Hoffman," who is the son of Harry and Lillian Hoffman, was named by his movie-fan mother after Dustin Farnum, a silent picture cowboy star. His brother, Dr. Ronald Hoffman, professor of economics at the University of Hawaii, was named for Ronald Colman. Hoffman Sr. is a successful furniture designer, who resides with his wife in Beverly Hills.

The actor majored in music at Santa Monica City College, and studied at the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music.

He planned to become a classical pianist but switched to jazz, then went into dramatics at the Pasadena Playhouse. He then went to New York and studied acting under Lee Strasberg before the two off-Broadway plays came about.

Portrait-sitting contest set Saturday at benefit

A contest will be held for a portrait-sitting appointment with the noted Spanish artist Enrique Soria, at the 1968 New Jersey Symphony Ball Saturday at Symphony Hall, Newark. The affair will be the symphony's annual benefit function.

The announcement of Soria's contribution was made jointly by Mrs. Helen B. Meyner and Malcolm D. Tallut, state co-chairmen for the ball. It also was announced that the artist is expected to be on hand on the night of the ball.

Unesco gets tariff cuts

Schoolchildren, teachers and scientists in many countries should benefit from lower prices for books, records, works of art and scientific equipment this year, thanks to Unesco.

Government representatives of 68 countries meeting in Geneva recently recommended liberal application of two Unesco agreements eliminating tariffs and frontier formalities for the importation of such articles. Sound recordings whether on tape or disc, will be covered by the exemptions. Other items are audio-visual materials, books, newspapers, magazines, works of art, scientific apparatus and articles for the blind.

There may soon be a bonus for cinema-goers, too. The MOVING? Find a reputable mover in the "Want Ad" Section.

Dayton, set for track opener, expects improved record

Weight-lifting champion to appear in Dayton gym

Floyd DeSpirito of Union, former national Junior A and lightweight weight-lifting champion and a second place finisher in the 1964 Olympic tryouts, has been added to the list of sports celebrities who will perform at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, gym on Friday, April 19. The exhibitions in weight lifting, gymnastics, fencing, judo, team handball, and table tennis will start at 7:30 p.m. Tickets at $1.25 each are on sale at the Dayton athletic department and other places around town.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used to support the activities of the U.S. Olympic Committee and the student-aid programs of the Dayton Booster Club. One-third of the income will be used to help send American athletes to Mexico to represent this country in the 1968 Olympic Games.

DeSpirito, an employee of Schering Corporation, Union, has three times won the North American middleweight championship. He has held the Eastern States title on four occasions and has 10 times been the winner of the New Jersey AAU championship.

In addition, he holds the New Jersey AAU records in all three Olympic lifts for middle-weights, having best performances of 295 lbs. in the press, 275 lbs. in the snatch, and 550 lbs. in the clean and jerk. In each of his 10 state AAU victories, DeSpirito has been the outstanding lifter with the highest ratio of weight actually lifted as compared to the body weight of the athlete.

Accompanying DeSpirito will be his coach and chairman of the New Jersey AAU weight-lifting committee, Frank Bates. Bates will explain the various lifts as they are performed by DeSpirito.

The Union weight lifter will join on the program champion table tennis players Jeff Swerky of Union, Harvey Gutman, Al and Richard Nohenson, and Nat Stokes of Springfield, Dave Brown of the Dayton Boosters, who is making arrangements for the appearance of most of the athletes declared that he will have other nationally known competitors in the other sports.

Ticket information can be obtained by calling Brown at 379-5439 or by speaking to other members of the Dayton Booster Club.

FLOYD DE SPIRITO

Lacks depth but lettermen outstanding

Foster, Haydu, Burns, Chisholm, Brooks star

By MYRON MEISEL

The Jonathan Dayton-Regional High School track team opens its 1968 season at Linden High School Tuesday, April 9, hoping to improve on last season's record of 2-8-1.

"The team will do fairly well this season, barring injuries," predicts coach Harry Taglienti. "Our major weakness is a lack of participants, particularly in the running events. We do have, however, some outstanding boys in many events. Derrol Brooks should do a fine job in the hurdles, as should Bill Chisholm, Gary Haydu, Mike Burns, and Charlie Foster in the field events."

Joining Brooks in the hurdles will be Larry Stewart, also a returning letterman, forming a strong duo in that event.

"Somewhat weaker, however, are the sprints. Junior Jim Robinson leads in the 100 and 220, with two sophomores, Bob Sasse and Bruce Smith, filling in. In the 400, the Bulldogs have a strong representative in Gary Vosburgh, but only junior Les Kornet out for his first season, is backing him up. Sasse and Smith might also fill in there."

MARTY JOSEPHS, a stalwart of the cross-country team, leads in the 880 but again a lack of depth could be critical. Mike Pomp will join Josephs.

Dayton's record-holder in the mile, Ken Shatten, will provide strong competition, along with cross-countryman Dale Yadoloski, in the mile but they are the only Bulldog contenders in that event. Sophomore Mark George and freshman Norman Reinhardt, two fine hurriers last fall, will race the two-mile distance.

Dayton has an unusually tough foursome in the shotput event. Bill Chisholm, Mike Burns, Charlie Foster and Richie Bromberg all consistently throw around 50 feet.

Gary Haydu lead in the discus throw, with Foster, Burns and Bromberg adding strong assistance. Chisholm is the best javelin thrower, along with sophomore Bill Keller. Chisholm hurled third in the Watching Conference last season.

COMPLETING THE DAYTON lineup are Jim Robinson, Mike Davis, Joe LaRosa and Lee Rothfeld in the long jump; Dennis Lester, Larry Stewart, Robinson and Woody Young in the high jump; and Rocky Ienna, Ed Harback and Dave Pierson in the pole vault.

LaRosa, a senior, and Rothfeld and Lester, juniors, are out for their first time and should be valuable additions to the squad. Ienna, Harback, Robinson and Stewart lettered last year.

Dayton, a Group III school, once again faces the tough competition of Group IV schools in the Watching Conference, although the addition of Chatham Township on the schedule for this year will introduce another Group III meet.

Dayton has been building consistently over the last four years, following a low point of 0-10 in 1964. This year should be better than last, and with a strong contingent of underclassmen, the outlook is continued improvement in the future.

Among the promising freshmen are Norman Reinhardt, who has already earned a varsity berth; Bill Schwab in the hurdles; Carmen Bove in the 440; Chris Mende and Dennis Marino in the shot-and-discus; Ed Graessle in the javelin and shot, and Arthur Weisbrod in the 100 and 220.

The Bulldogs narrowly defeated Linden in the opener last season. Their other victory came against David Brearley Regional of Kentwood.

Sandmeier all-stars, North Carolina, Harvard win youth basketball finales

The closing night of competition for the Recreation Department's youth basketball program was held last Thursday at the Florence Gaudinier School. A triple-header was staged, with the three levels of basketball action on display. The opening game saw the Sandmeier All-Stars defeat the All-Stars of the Caldwell Small-Fry League, 25-8. The middle game saw North Carolina take the measure of Oklahoma in the State League championship game, 32-29. Harvard took the Ivy League championship in the third game of the evening, as it turned back Cornell 45 to 42.

A TEAM OF ALL-STARS representing the Sandmeier Small-Fry League was the easy victor in a game with the Caldwell All-Stars. The Sandmeier team started fast in this game, as it appeared to a 10 to lead after the opening period. Caldwell was never in the game after this point, as the Sandmeier boys kept applying the pressure. Bobby Barry, who started in the front court for the Sandmeier boys, led the opening barrage and was voted his squad's most valuable player. Bob was presented with an award following the game.

Eight players entered the scoring column for the powerful Sandmeier team. Leon Rawitz with six points, all in the opening minutes of play, was the top scorer. Milt Kirtzer and Joe Natello each hit a pair of buckets. The other boys to hit the cords for Sandmeier were: Billy Behav, Mark Pezaba, Bobby Barry, Jeff Rockoff and Larry Klarfeld. Billy Nevius played a fine handling game for the winners, while Ronnie Frank, Guy Warman and Jay Adler each made his presence felt during the game.

Jeff McQuaid with three points was the outstanding player and top scorer in the Caldwell line-up. Jeff was voted the award as his team's most valuable player. Gregg Prussing also played a fine game for Caldwell and clipped in with two points. Bobby Flitschman also hit a two-pointer for Caldwell, while Dave Garner dropped in a free throw. The other members of the Caldwell All-Star squad were: Bruce Blumenfeld, Kevin Mercer, Joey Knowles, Teddy Johnson, Rick Morris and Jerry Kashtan.

NORTH CAROLINA was crowned State League champion after a tooth-and-nail battle with Oklahoma. North Carolina represented the Eastern Division, while Oklahoma was the survivor of the Western Division elimination round. This game was a battle of the taller North Carolina team, a smaller, but speedier, Oklahoma squad, Oklahoma, which captured the hearts of the crowd, kept coming back throughout the game but finally fell before a final-minute North Carolina surge. The narrow three-point victory well indicated the tightness of the ball game.

North Carolina was paced in this final game by Dino DiCocco. Dino poured 18 points through the hoop and dominated the backboards at both ends of the court. Dino scored heavily in each period to keep North Carolina in the game. A pair of buckets and a free throw by Dino in the final period put North Carolina out in front to stay. Bobby Hydock was also sensational for the champions. Hydock was the floor general for the winners and also their defensive leader. Bobby hit an important bucket for North Carolina after Oklahoma had taken a two-point lead in the game with four minutes to play. Bobby stole the ball and drove the length of the court to knot the ball game.

Wayne Rutz also played well for North Carolina in the game but his floor play was limited. Wayne's harassing tactics led to many Oklahoma turnovers and easy Carolina buckets. Kenny Conte, another member of the North Carolina starting five, tallied five points and played a strong game.

Oklahoma, which was a team so sensational during the playoffs, saw its drive for the championship fall short in this final game. Oklahoma, which was out-sized in this final game, was certainly not out-gamed. The idea, with their patented full court press in operation from the out set, was always in the game and in fact held a lead midway through the final period.

The outside shooting of Mike Levine had the team against 2 Mike, with bombs from 15 and 20 feet, tallied 13 points. Bobby Lee hit 10 points for the Okies, and led their final period rally that sputtered out before the superior height of North Carolina. Billy Palazzi was another Oklahoma player to come in for accolades. Billy was a team leader throughout the play-off. Bill was particularly impressive with his over-all team leadership. Steve Brunner also played well for Oklahoma in the final game, as did Richard Goldammer.

Bobby Hydock topped the balloting for the play-off's most valuable player award. The award, which is based on play throughout the entire tournament, was awarded to Hydock for his team leadership of the winning North Carolina quintet. It was Hydock who rallied the team when the going was the hardest in the tournament game.

Springfield Township Committeeman Henry Bultman was on hand to present awards to the members of the championship North Carolina team. Coaches Lou Vaslow, Mike Hydock and Tommy Campbell received their awards. The players receiving awards were: Dino DiCocco, Bobby Hydock, Kenny Conte, Brian Leonard, Wayne Rutz, Alan Lipson, Robert Roth, Dave Mantel and Roger Frank.

HARVARD, THE CINDERELLA TEAM of the Ivy League, defeated Cornell to take the 1968

Dayton golfers open Monday, facing Rahway

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School golf team will open its 1968 season Monday afternoon when it plays Rahway High School. Head coach Adam La Sota, discussing the coming season, said:

"Overall, it looks pretty good. We should have eight to 10 boys shooting in the low 80's by the end of the season, and three or four in the high 70's. I haven't seen any of the other teams yet, especially Westfield and Cranford, who are always challenging, but I think we will be able to compete with the best of them."

"I look forward to a strong season, and possibly a championship. The team this year is very young, mostly sophomores, with a few juniors. This will be, like last year, a season of building and development, but it is quite possible that this could be the first of several championship years."

LaSota was optimistic about the opener against Rahway. "I think we'll take them," he stated.

Ivy League championship, Harvard, which had finished last during the regular season, would not be denied against Cornell, a team which had tied for the regular season championship. This was a see-saw battle throughout. A late Harvard rally put the game and the championship in their column.

Coach Jack Williams a veteran of youth league activities, rallied his boys in this play-off competition through three hotly contested games. The Harvard victory was the direct result of some great team play. Four Harvard boys scored heavily during the play-offs, as each rallied the squad at various times. Much of the credit must go to the board-clearing duo of Bruce Jeffery and Vince Davis. Each tallied 13 points in this championship game and pulled down countless rebounds. Bobby Nardone was also very effective for Harvard. Bobby, with three top games in the tournament, hit for 10 points in the final game. Gary Ties was another Harvard performer with a good play-off record. Gary tallied seven points in the championship game. Gary hit on long jumpers from outside the circle to keep Harvard in the battle.

Cornell put on a determined second-half battle in this ball game to pull its team back into contention. Harvard took a 23 to 18 lead into the locker room at half-time only to see Cornell coming roaring back to take the lead after three quarters. Bobby Meisel, with a great display of shooting, passing, and feeding, led the Cornell rally. Cornell's hopes faded when Meisel went to the bench with five personal late in the game. Bobby finished the game with 14 points Eddie Cook was also a mountain of strength for Cornell. Ed topped all scorers with 19 rebounds and hit the boards well throughout the game.

With 34 seconds remaining in the game and Harvard up by a single point, Cornell captured a rebound and the ball. An errant Cornell pass gave the ball back to Harvard. A four put Vinnie Davis on the line with a one-and-one situation. Vinnie dropped both foul shots and Harvard took the championship.

Bobby Meisel on the strength of his great individual effort throughout the play-off, was voted the most valuable player. Bobby received an award from the Recreation Department. Members of the Harvard team who received awards for their play-off victory were: Bruce Jeffery, Vince Davis, Bobby Nardone, Gary Ties, Jet Stadler, Dick Colandro, Stu Liebeskind, Gary Schulman, Joe Gardner and Art James.

Five teams contend for bowling lead

The Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League, a two-team affair most of the season, has become a five-team race with six weeks remaining. The Falcons and the Tigers are tied for first, with the Royals a game behind and the Chiefs and Hawks two games behind.

Last Friday, the Royals swept two games from the Falcons to move into contention. Arnie Blumenfeld (246) and Mark Blüman (245) led the Royals, helped by Larry Ogintz's 224. Billy Palazzi (241) and Bobby Lee (213) were the top bowlers for the Falcons.

The Tigers moved into a tie for first by splitting with the Chargers. Steve Harris led the Tigers with a 255 series. Tops for the Chargers was Jamie Farber's 261.

Olympic shooting tryouts at Clinton

Grouse Ridge Gun Club of Clinton will hold preliminary tryouts for both international skeet and international clay pigeon this Saturday and Sunday.

Preliminary tryouts are held annually to determine eligibility for invitation to the final tryouts for the United States Shooting Team which will participate in international world championships, Olympics, or Pan American Games. A four-year cycle consists of the Olympic Games, followed the next year by an International Shooting Union moving target world championship, then by the International Shooting Union world championships in all guns, and in the last year of the cycle by the Pan American Games and an International Shooting Union world championship.

Preliminary tryouts are open to all citizens of the United States. Many skeet and trap shooters participate in preliminary tryouts annually throughout the nation in the hope they may receive an invitation to the final tryouts from the N.R.A., International Shooting Committee and the United States Olympic Shooting Committee.

INTERNATIONAL SKEET is almost identical to skeet as fired in the United States. There is a variable time delay of up to three seconds between the shooter's call for the bird and its appearance. The gun cannot be mounted and must be held so that part of the butt touches the hip bone at or below the belt line until the clay target appears. The targets are much faster than those fired at regular skeet. The international skeet target in still air must carry a distance equivalent on level ground to not less than 65 meters.

International clay pigeon resembles American trap shooting but is somewhat more complex. For example, when fired strictly according to International Shooting Union rules a total of 15 traps is required for each field. Modifications of U.S. trap are allowed for preliminary tryouts so that a single trap is sufficient. The trap or traps are adjusted to oscillate both horizontally and vertically in a continuous cycle. The targets are much faster than those shot at in American trap. They must carry a distance of 75 meters measured over level ground. The International Shooting Union rules permit the firing of two shots at a bird without penalty for the second shot.

Rt. 78 tour scheduled

More than 250 students from 19 engineering colleges will tour a highway construction project under the auspices of "The Moles" — an association of heavy construction officials — and the New Jersey Department of Transportation April 5.

The students will be conducted on a day-long field trip of the site where the Interstate Rt. 78 interchange is being constructed adjacent to Newark Airport.

Students' Day is sponsored annually by The Moles to give college seniors a first-hand look at heavy construction work and techniques. The association — which has its headquarters in New York City, derives its name from the prime activities of its founding members who concentrated on tunnel and foundation work.

Teacher unionization topic for debate at Newark State

A debate on "Should Teachers Unionize and Strike?" will highlight a Newark State Area Alumni meeting at 8 tonight in the Faculty Dining Room, College Center, Newark State College, Morris Avenue, Union, also, a membership drive was launched this week and new members were appointed to the membership committee.

Frederick Gould of West Orange, a field representative of the New Jersey Education Association (NJEA), and Anthony Ficco of Newark, a field representative of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT), will debate the question. Ficco coordinates A.F.T. activities throughout New Jersey and Gould coordinates

N.J.E.A. activities in Region IV which includes Union and Essex Counties. This is the first debate between representatives of both groups, according to both Ficco and Gould.

The Newark State Area Alumni today launched a drive for new members throughout Union County. All alumni of Newark State College residing in the Union County area are urged to join, according to James Fulcomer, chairman. The new appointments to the membership committee include Walter Boright of Kendallworth, Miss Margie Grycock of Elizabeth, Joseph Simon of Union, Miss Emily Huback of Springfield, Mrs. Ellen Siperstein, and Mrs. Sadie Jellinek of Maplewood.

Trailside to show film on Carolinas

"The Carolinas," a color, sound film, will be shown at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center in the Watchung Reservation on Sunday at 2 p.m.

The film takes the viewer on a tour of the Carolinas including a visit to the Blue Ridge and Smoky Mountains, the tobacco auctions and the recreation areas of the South.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, April 4; at 4 p.m., each day, Donald W. Meyer, director of Trailside, and Miss Irma H. Hevers, educational assistant at Trailside, will conduct one-half hour nature talks for children. The topic to be discussed during the four days is "Spring Constellations."

The Trailside Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, from 1 to 5 p.m.

3,500 in outdoor program this year at Deserted Village

Starting as a pilot program at the Deserted Village in the Watchung Reservation two years ago, the Union County Outdoor Education Center will host to more than 3,500 students between April 4 and June 18.

The director, Arthur J. Ryan, announced this week that 144 classes from 57 schools will participate in the spring program. Under skilled leadership, children learn compass and orienteering, survival in the woods, birding and bird botany, ecology, natural resources, water biology, conservation, field math, geology, village history, creative expression and woodland crafts.

A bird sanctuary, science center, crafts area, museum and meeting center comprise the building facilities while more than 20 miles of Indian trails, a pond, brook and vast tree and plant life make the area ideal for outdoor education.

The project, administered by the Linden Board of Education, is under Title III of the 1965 Education Act with a day program at the Deserted Village and a resident program at Camp Minnikink in Sussex County. Title III grants are awarded on a three year basis with the provisions that methods and procedures be developed to carry the project forward without federal support after the designated approval period.

"It is anticipated that Union County will continue its leadership in sponsoring and promoting outdoor education," a spokesman said. "This widely accepted innovation in education is destined to become an integral part of school curricula throughout the entire county. Through mutual support of all 20 school districts, Union County can actually acquire in 1969 a well established project at a very nominal yearly cost to each district. In this respect the County would assume even new leadership."

Riot study at YWCA

The Summit YWCA has announced two study groups on the "Report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders." Some 50 men and women will be meeting for six successive weeks, one group on Monday mornings at 9:30 a.m., and another on Thursday evenings at 8 p.m. The participants are making an in-depth study of the Riot Commission's report to President Johnson so that a clear understanding of the causes of rioting and unrest will be obtained. Major topics of concern are "What Happened?" "Why Did It Happen?" and "What Can Be Done?"

Leaders for the discussion series are Mrs. Peter Haviland of Summit, in charge of the Monday morning group, and Mrs. T. C. Richards of Chatham, leader of the Thursday evening series.
