Schools preparing students for change to upper classes

Providing a smooth transition for students as they move from one school level to another is the subject of continuing discussions between the Union County Regional High School District and the six constituent districts. Writing in the April issue of the Regional Board of Education's monthly newsletter, Dr. Martin Siegel, director of instruction, said the articulation sessions during the past year have included monthly curriculum and subject area meetings. These are in addition to monthly meetings of the superintendents of the Regional District and orientation meetings for students and parents.

were resumed during the 1968-69 school year with the help of classroom teachers. The area of major interest this year is language arts-English. Other areas which have been discussed by teachers from the middle schools and high schools include foreign language and physical education. Dr. Siegel said meetings of teachers of mathematics and home economics are being planned.

"In a typical articulation meeting, teachers describe their present program and discuss mutual concerns: Goals, objectives, teaching materials, grading procedures and student progress.

Parent assails school board for its termination of busing

The following criticism of the Springfield Board of Education's decision to terminate school bus service to the Rolling Rock road area was submitted this week by Fred March 448 Rolling Rock rd.

"On Friday, March 13, parents of 32 children, located in the Rolling Rock and Chimney Ridge area on Belmont top in Springfield, who for the past five years have been bused to elementary schools by the Springfield Board of Education, were notified by mail that on the following Tuesday, March 17, busing would no longer be available to these children.

"Alleged reason for stoppage of busing was that these children do not reside more than two miles from school. The children involved reside in the only area in Springfield that is non-contiguous with the rest of the township. These two blocks were developed by Sherwood Development Corporation in 1964-65.

"The extremely hazardous topography of the land and lack of sidewalks in an adjoining town that would have to be used by the children led these residents to call the Springfield Board of Education before purchasing their homes. They were informed that busing would, indeed, be provided for their children.

"Originally, the school buses traveled Rolling Rock road until they also found it unpassable and were rerouted 'around' the Mountaineer for safety reasons. A portion of Rolling Rock Road consists of six extremely steep hills which is often impossible to travel, with heavy flooding that appears periodically as ice lanes and does not permit any type of vehicle to pass, and would certainly make it impossible for a five-year-old child to walk.

"Note that the children residing in the Rolling Rock area of Mountaineer are bused, and they, too, reside less than two miles from school.

"PARENTS FEEL that action taken without any investigation on the board's part is totally unjust and poses grave danger to the children involved. There is a serious discrepancy as to why this busing was provided for originally. Conditions existing in the area remain the same as those which existed when busing was deemed necessary in 1964, except today there is more traffic in the area.

"A board meeting took place on Monday evening, March 16, at which time the parents, represented by cousins, pleaded to the board's better judgment to extend the busing to allow for a full investigation of these hazardous and unusual conditions by the board and the Township Committee if necessary.

"If the busing is stopped for those children living less than two miles from the school, these same buses would still have to make the trip since some homes which represent a few children are eligible. There would be no additional expense to the township or the state if the balance of the children boarded.

"The Springfield Board of Education claims that the previous busing was due to a mis-take.

"A delay of two weeks was granted, which is certainly not enough time to properly investigate the situation, nor is it enough time for the parents to make other arrangements for transporting the children, which is an issue to all, reason and logic, keeping in mind that there would be no additional cost to bus these children through the remainder of the semester."

COMPLETES COURSE — Dr. Stephen Parker, left, presents certificate to Robert Voorhes of the Springfield First Aid Squad on completion of day-long first aid seminar at Memorial General Hospital. Union, Seminar was designed to bring volunteer squads up to date on latest life-saving techniques.

Realtors get police support for 'light the night' campaign

Edward L. Blau of Newark, chairman of the "Make America Better" committee of the New Jersey Association of Realtors; John Woodward, Colonial District executive; Boy Scouts of America, and four area police chiefs will be guests of the Westfield Board of Realtors at a luncheon at Wally's in Watchung today.

Police Chiefs James Moran of Westfield, Harold Hill of Scotch Plains, Edward Mullins of Mountaineer and Joseph Gorsky of Fanwood, will speak endorsing "Light the Night," an anti-crime program sponsored by NARBS with the cooperation of Public Service electric and Gas Co.

Blau will review the "Light the Night" program, noting the idea has proven effective and that a pilot program in full police officer in Watchung City, Paterson and Rahway reported a decline in crime figures.

"Police pamphlets, 'Light the Night,' are being circulated through the Westfield Board with the Boy Scouts in Westfield, Mountaineer, Scotch Plains and Fanwood, making door-to-door delivery to home owners, apartment dwellers and business organizations. El Koser of Scotch Plains and John Woodward, Boy Scout executive, are arranging the distribution. The pamphlets explain to the public the aims and purposes of the campaign and how everyone may participate in the anti-crime fight.

IT HAS BEEN found that the use of night-time lighting creates safer neighborhoods in and around homes, apartments, shopping and commercial areas. "Turn on a light, turn off a thief" also encourages the public to go out evenings to visit, to shop, to be entertained and to participate in the work of local groups important to the welfare of the community.

Local realtors, banded throughout the state are seeking cooperation and co-sponsorship in this anti-crime campaign from local police chiefs, service clubs, community associations, merchants and banks.

Tri-State says $10 billion needed to clean up the N.Y. area

New York, New Jersey and Connecticut officials today announced a $10 billion program to clean up the Hudson River and its tributaries. The program, which is being carried out by the Tri-State Commission, is the largest environmental cleanup program in the nation.

The commission, which was created in 1967, is a joint effort of the three states. It is responsible for coordinating and financing the cleanup of the Hudson River and its tributaries, as well as for the protection of the region's water resources.

The $10 billion program is divided into two main parts: the cleanup of the Hudson River and the protection of the region's water resources. The Hudson River cleanup program is estimated to cost $6 billion, while the water resources protection program is estimated to cost $4 billion.

The Hudson River cleanup program includes the construction of 10 new sewage treatment plants, the installation of 100 miles of sewer lines, and the construction of 100 miles of water supply lines. The water resources protection program includes the construction of 100 miles of water supply lines, the installation of 100 miles of sewer lines, and the construction of 100 miles of water supply lines.

The commission is also responsible for the protection of the region's water resources. This includes the construction of 100 miles of water supply lines, the installation of 100 miles of sewer lines, and the construction of 100 miles of water supply lines.

Employment down in state in January

Estimates prepared by the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry for January show a 1.5 percent drop in the state's total employment (excluding farm, domestic, self-employed and unpaid family workers) at 2,523,700 in January, approximately 50,000 under the December level.

This decline was largely due to seasonal declines in the number of workers employed in wholesale and retail trade. Compared with January 1969, manufacturing employment dropped 10,700 to 875,900 in January with losses occurring both in durable and nondurable goods. The decline in January was mostly the result of a 2,000 drop in miscellaneous manufacturing (textiles, leather, electrical machinery, electrical and glass industries were attributable to layoffs).

Group receives $1 million grant

The Hospital Research and Educational Trust of New Jersey has received a grant from the U.S. Department of Labor in the amount of $1,110,310. It was announced this week by Jack W. Owen, president of the Trust.

The JOES—Job Opportunities in the Business Sectors—grant for the training of 550 people in eight member hospitals of the New Jersey Hospital Association starts Monday and will continue for 19 months.

The JOES program was launched in 1968 to obtain the cooperation of private employers in hiring, training, retraining and upgrading

Homemade London bus Funorama-on-Ice has wheels

Where do you find a London double-decker bus? That's the question members of the Funorama-on-Ice committee asked themselves when the request came from the producers to locate one for the 1970 production April 18 and 19 at the South Mountain Arena, West Orange.

The answer the producers came up with after considering the problem was build one.

The bus, modeled after the double-deckers found in the British capital, but now almost unknown in this country, will lead to a "Carnaby Street" act in this year's Funorama-on-Ice. The act is one of the highlights of a program which will present world champion Tim Wood together with other international skating stars and a cast of more than 150 people from the Essex Skating Club, the show's producers.

COAL

MASCHUCK BEGAN DRAFTING plans for the wood-and-metal double-decker last November and has continued various stages of construction on weekends since then.

Though slightly smaller than the authentic version, Maschuck's bus measures a formidable eight feet high and 13 feet long. It lacks power, but pulls on small casters and has working headlights and blinker lights.

Helping him with the project is the carpenter shop at Essex—led by Austin Mitchell, of Chatham, and Jack Darakly of North Caldwell, who are co-producers of the show.

John J. Barone, a 1969 and 1970 eastern senior leader figure in the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, is the Funorama production, Mitchell's wife, Ann, is producer of the show for the Essex Skating Club.

Pike extends truck lane ban

The regulation excluding trucks and buses from the left lane of the New Jersey Turnpike has been extended south of New Brunswick. The ban, which was originally set for the 10-mile stretch from Exit 10 to Exit 11, now extends to Exit 12.

The authority announced the extension of the left lane restriction as a safety measure. The ban was extended because of the increase in traffic on the turnpike and the need to provide a measure of recognition for academic excellence.

Army and college to hold symposium

Approximately 200 students and 100 teachers from high schools in 10 counties, including Essex, Hudson and Union, will attend the 10th North Jersey Junior Science and Mathematics Symposium in the 1969-70 school year at Fairleigh Dickinson University on May 17, 18 and 19.

The objectives of the symposium are to popularize and promote the study of mathematics and sciences at the high school level, to demonstrate their relationship to the humanities and to provide a measure of recognition for academic excellence.

Ask Army

Dear Army: I would like to know how you feel about me. I'm a girl, of course, I've been dating her for about a year. I'm in my 17th year, but my parents won't let her have the car to go anywhere. I'm a student. Do you have anything wrong with it?

Dear Army: My son is going with a girl whose father has Diabetes. He also runs in my father's family including his sister. Also, my grandfather died from it. I'm 17 years old, but my parents won't let her have the car to go anywhere. I'm a student. Do you have anything wrong with it?

Jaycees proclaim six Upsala grads 'outstanding men'

Six Upsala College alumni, who hold varied positions ranging from pilot to professor, have been named as the 1970 edition of the Jaycees publication, "Outstanding Young Men of America."

They were chosen by a 15-man board of advisory editors headed by Doug Blankenship, past U.S. Jaycee president.

Pollutant comes, goes from seeds

It is generally agreed that the largest single source of carbon monoxide (CO) in the atmosphere is the burning of fuel by man-made factories, homes, power plants and automobiles. According to some estimates, 20 million tons of this deadly gas are poured into the atmosphere each year from fuel burning.

The Kansas Research Laboratory scientists J. W. Swintner, V. J. Linnemann, and R. A. Lamontagne report in "Science" that while the oceans may absorb a sliver of this pollutant, they are in fact the largest natural source of CO now known.

"The President reminded Americans that this year will mark the nation's thirtieth annual observance of Law Day and that the day has been set aside by Congress as a 'special day for reaffirming our loyalty to the United States and rededicating ourselves to the rule of law.'"

Law Day U.S.A. was inaugurated by Presidential proclamation in 1958 and three years later Congress by joint resolution established the annual observance as a special day to remind all Americans of the rights and responsibilities of citizenship.

Rinaldo to push bill for life terms for convicted bombers

Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-Union) announced this week he will urge an amendment to the Federal Criminal Code that would require life sentences for persons convicted of causing explosions with bombs.

Senator Rinaldo said the rash of bombings and bomb threats in recent days had "risen to crisis proportions." He said that he ordinarily opposed the statutory imposition of mandatory sentences.

"However, this threat to life and limb to so many people, compels me to make an exception in this case," he declared.

The Union County legislator said his bill would require judges to sentence persons convicted of causing explosions with bombs to life imprisonment.

"This penalty would be applied to anyone found guilty of causing injury to lives or property by exploding bombs in any open or enclosed area—public or private—within the jurisdiction of this State."

Senator Rinaldo acknowledged that federal legislation covering bombings is being prepared.

Purchasing power

Teenagers are important — but, the over 45 age group in which the purchasing power really lies. These persons spend some 50 percent of all U.S. dollars.

Nutrition in meats

Meat is needed for being an excellent source of protein, but it has much more to offer nutritionally. It's an excellent source of B-vitamins, including the "top" vitamin, thiamin. Pork is the best source of this vitamin, but other meats also supply important amounts.

New Playtex Panty

AT LAST... a panty that combines the freedom of movement that comes from natural figure control... with garterless soft and really work.

An amazing lightweight stretch fabric lets you move freely. You move freely and free Spirit moves with you without binding or constricting.

JUST THE RIGHT COVERAGE. Shapes naturally... but gently.

FASHION MAGIC CURES THAT REALITY... Light and airy... shadings of pink and white... and really works.
