

Hayride, luncheon, dinner highlight church's calendar

An old-fashioned hayride, a dinner in honor of the Church School staff and the annual May luncheon of the Ladies' Benevolent Society will be featured in this week's activities of the Springfield Presbyterian Church.

The Westminster Fellowship, of high school youth group, will leave the Parish House at 7 o'clock Sunday evening by bus to go on a hayride through Franklin Township. Following an hour's ride through the rural scenery of the township, the young people will roast frankfurters around a blazing bonfire. Pre-arranged information and other details are available from Sunday School, moderator of the group.

On Sunday evening at 6:30, the Christian education committee of the church, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Howard Hoegwood, will sponsor a buffet supper in the Parish House dining room in honor of the teachers and administrative staff of the Church School. Husbands and wives of teachers and staff will also be included.

According to Mrs. Sheila Kullback, director of Christian education at the local church, "Sunday morning involves the cooperation of the 'entire family.' The way to do this is to have each Sunday morning a group of local teachers and administrators gather in the Parish House to share with our youth the appeal of the Christian faith. Several hours of preparation have gone into this work long before Sunday morning and one of the reasons they do well in carrying this sacred trust is it is only fitting that a special act of appreciation be used to express the thanks of the local church."

Those to be recognized include Harold Jones, general superintendent; Ward Timpany, assistant superintendent and assistant treasurer; William Green, supply secretary; August Schmidt, treasurer; and Herbert Kern, music coordinator. Further services, Mrs. Emerita Rueda and Mrs. Horacio Ferrer, nursery; Mrs. Anton Campanella and Mrs. George Cassara, kindergarten; Mrs. Rosemary Falcone, Barbara Belfer, Mrs. William Alroy, Mrs. Norman Esposito, Mrs. Robert Grimm, Linda Hopkins and Mrs. Robert Spitzer, secretary; Nell Getchell, Lyvane Richards, Carol Schell, Carol Clark, Carol Williams, Ruth Wood, Janet Sim and Kathy Smith, janitor; Jack Cowles, Robert Bennett, Mrs. William Green, Mrs. Clarence Metzger, Walter Voburg, Jennifer Hays and Mrs. Kenneth Bezel.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. Meyer Houtstetter, dean of Bloomfield College. Dr. Houtstetter is known for his work with young people and Mrs. Kullback, "his approach in working with young people will, we are certain, help those who learn to speak more in their understanding of the whole field of education in the life of the church."

Elders of the church, together with members of the Christian education committee, are in charge of preparing and serving the supper.

Next Wednesday afternoon the Ladies' Benevolent Society will hold their annual May luncheon at the Westwood Inn in Morristown. Each year this affair is the closing activity of the season for the Ladies' Society until they reconvene in the fall.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Frederick E. Christian, wife of the senior minister of the Presbyterian Church in Westfield. Mrs. Christian was raised in South Africa in a mission field and has traveled extensively throughout the world visiting mission stations of the Presbyterian Church. In addition to her call to mission work, she will bring with her a "display for purchase" of items made by refugees—carvings of ivory and teak, needlework and small crochets.

The business portion of the meeting will be led by Mrs. William Wood, president. Arrangements for the luncheon have been guided by the May Circle of the society, headed by Mrs. Charlene Boardley and Mrs. Frank Ellis.

Rev. Rosen listed to give sermon at Evangel Baptist

The Rev. Martin Meyer Rosen will be the speaker at Evangel Baptist Church, Springfield, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Rosen is missionary-in-charge of headquarters district of the American Board of Missions to the Jews, which includes all of the work which will be developed in a training program of the board in New York City. Mr. Rosen is also the director of recruiting and training for the mission.

He and his wife were won to the Christian faith in Denver, Colo., in 1953 through the agency of the American Board of Missions to the Jews.

In 1954, he arrived at the business world to train for the Christian ministry at North-eastern Bible College in New Jersey. He also trained under the orientation program of the Jewish Mission Training Institute of New York City. He was graduated in 1957 and was subsequently ordained to the Christian ministry.

The American Board of Missions to the Jews is the largest organization of its kind. Some 72 people are employed by the organization in Jewish mission work throughout the world. It was founded by a converted rabbi, Leopold Kohr, in 1894. It has also been a leading Christian organization working in the field of combat and-Semitism. The headquarters of the organization is at 226 W. 72nd St., New York City.

Plans are being made to hold a meeting of the Tenants and Management Committee during the "hot" week in May. HIRSHIGER, LIEBEKIND, chairman of the committee, announced. The committee held a special meeting Monday with temporary representatives from the housing units, tenants and the Township Committee. The township was represented by Mayor Henry J. Liebke and Councilmen Robert Plaster and Nathan Stokes.

The tenants presented "their side of the story." Liebke said, "Management had the same opportunity at the last meeting."

Liebke said that the meeting was held in order to have true representation from the tenants, a general meeting of all tenants will be held sometime in May. All tenants should be notified by mail that this meeting will be under the jurisdiction of the mayor and Township Committee.

"At that time those who attend will have the right to select their own representatives to represent the tenants at future discussions and negotiations with management in a truly democratic manner."

Regional teachers complete study project on drug abuse

Twenty-two faculty members in the Hudson County Regional High School District, who completed the first in-service program in drug abuse in cooperation with the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry, received their diplomas at the college last week.

Presenting the diplomas was Dr. Edward A. Wolfson, director of the division of drug abuse at the college. Dr. Wolfson is professor of public health in the department of public health and preventive medicine. This marks the first cooperative program in drug abuse between a school district in New Jersey and the college.

Also at the ceremony were Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of schools; Manuel S. Diaz, president of the Board of Education; Dr. Donald Merckach, assistant superintendent for pupil personnel services; and Harry E. Link, director of adult education, who administered the program.

Dr. Merckach, who initiated the eight-session workshop held from October to January, said: "We're very pleased to have had our teachers trained by the college. We feel the teachers have gained much knowledge and understanding of their roles in assisting students with drug problems. We look forward to further cooperative efforts with the college to train an additional group of regional teachers each school year."

AMONG THE AREAS covered in the workshop were: Signs and symptoms of drug abuse; what drugs are and how they are used; what to do if a student is suspected of being a drug user; how to deal with parents of suspected users and the teacher's attitude toward drugs.

Methodists to hold supper on Sunday for Family Week

National "Family Week" will be observed at Springfield's Emanuel United Methodist Church, Church Hill at Academy Green, with a family night and covered dish supper on Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m., according to Pastor James Dewar.

The family night, planned by the commission on education of which Mrs. Joseph Christiansen is chairman, is open to all members of the church family, both individuals and family units.

Each family or person has been asked to bring a dish of food to share with the other members and friends of the church. Dessert and beverages will be served by the Wesleyan Service Guild of which Mrs. Helen Smith is president.

Following the supper John Bracey, church school superintendent, will lead several family games. Each person was asked to bring a baby picture to be used in one of the games.

Feature of the evening will be a family film entitled "Has Anybody Seen My Brother?" which is the story of two brothers who are being difficult getting along. The older brother runs away because of the conflict. They finally decide to talk with their mother about the problem. The evening will conclude with worship led by one of the church families.

Sunday morning services will also stress family week. Pastor Dewar will speak about "How Big?" at the 9:30 a.m. chapel service and at 11 a.m. Theodore Reimlinger will also speak at the 9:30 a.m. church language worship service. Church School meets at 9:30 a.m., with the nursery through sixth grade in the Wesley House.

Registration ends Saturday for slow-pitch softball league

The Recreation Commission is organizing a slow-pitch softball league for residents of Mountaineer this spring. Details for the league have been fully worked out, umpires have been selected and ground has been broken. The league membership is still open, but interested adults will have to move fast if they want to enter. The announcement of final registration is scheduled for this Saturday.

The league will consist of six teams of 10 more than ten players, with each team playing one game per week. The league season will begin approximately May 18 and run through mid-summer, with games scheduled for 6 p.m. to dusk. Every Mountaineer 16 or older is eligible for membership and may join on an individual basis or on a team basis. A special invitation to field a team has been extended to all service, fraternal and civic organizations such as police, firemen, American Legion, Elks, Kiwanis, Lions, Republican or Democratic clubs, and all other interested organizations.

A Recreation Department spokesman said: "A brief description of the rules for anyone not familiar with slow-pitch softball is as follows. The rules for slow-pitch are similar to conventional softball, however, the pitcher's role is reduced and there's much more action for all the other players."

In slow-pitch, the ball is pitched underhand to the batter at a moderate speed and with a perceptible arch. In a legal delivery the arch may not be less than three feet measured from where the ball leaves the pitcher's hand until it reaches the plate, with the strike zone between the batter's shoulders and knees. An illegal pitch is counted as a ball, except if the batter swings and misses. Also in slow-pitch, there is no basing and no base stealing.

Jim Greys, the newly appointed supervisor of recreation, issued the call: "Let's go, Mountaineer. Don't be spectators. Everyone is invited to join in the fun and the action."

Registration is at Beechwood School Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon. The registration fee is $4 per person or $30 per team. Players may also register by phone at 232-1025.

Father-daughter dance to be held next week

Take care of the world; it's the only one around

Looking back, we must agree with all the qualified experts who have spoken their approval of last week's Earth Day observances.

We have all joined in placing our nation, and our world, in a situation where our air, our water, our forests and our fields may well be too badly polluted for safe use.

And picking up our gum and candy wrappers, as our concerned children have been saying, is as good a place as any to start.

It is not, by a very great deal, the place to finish. We can worry and talk and vote and legislate to stop our industries from abusing our streams and rivers.

We can demand that the same industries stop pouring smoke into the heavens, and stop turning out cans and bottles and cartons which defy disposal.

We can insist that our automakers produce the ideal of a car that does not create carbon monoxide.

We can also demand that our soapmakers give us something we can dissolve, not just float down foamy rivers to the sea.

Still, the panacea, pollution is a good target for young activists. Students who crusade against pollution are less likely to occupy dean's offices or worry about an open-door policy for American society.

We urge our young people to go on being worried about pollution. There is certainly plenty to be worried about.

They can go on being worried about the racism that pollutes our society, so that a school bus has become a symbolic threat to suburban gentility.

They can go on being worried about the cancerous slums that pollute our cities, while the politicians refuse an outlet so the infection can drain off.

They can go on being worried about the wars and the war psychology that pollute our planet — while the young militants sneer at both capitalism and communism as two sides of the Establishment coin.

We can all start to worry just a little about the real pollution that encourages us all to cheat, on examinations when we're young and on expense accounts and income taxes when we grow up, presumably.

Yes, by all means, Earth Day should lead to a good start. For all too many of us, worrying about any aspect of the life we lead — and the planet we lead it on — is a step forward.

And while we're at it, we do have one humble, specific suggestion to advance the war on pollution.

After reading the campaign oratory which is pouring out of state after state, we might propose holding primary elections in October.

In Past Tense

ONE YEAR AGO

NATIONAL YEARBOOK was celebrated. KAREN DELLEVUE and VOLAND RUBIN cast as characters for the day. DAVID M. MARCUS is awarded a National Merit Scholarship. IRVING JOHNSON, attorney for Regional High School Board of Education, serves notice on Dr. Henry Risetto to submit a report on the projected expansion of facilities for the Regional High School District.

15 YEARS AGO

Legislation is introduced to control selling of certain goods on Sundays. MRS. PHILLIPS is elected as president of the Springfield PTA. A target date of May 25 is set to open the new General Shopping Center.

35 YEARS AGO

Under Sheriff LEE S. RIGBY announces his candidacy for sheriff in the Republican primary election. Police Chief M. CHASE RYUNO is authorized to submit a plan to the Board of Police Commissioners for the James Caldwell School. A special committee is named to investigate the possibility of securing factories in Springfield.

Delegates to the National Yearbook in conjunction with the Springfield League of Women Voters have already expressed their support of the board's proposal to establish a home school for Mountaintop students, and anticipate that this restriction of students will ensure stability for Mountaintop residents. Their children should not have to be shifted around again. At the same time, this redistribution will guarantee more orderly growth and permit more equitable education opportunities for all.

"Postponement of expansion and modernization would cost only a negligible amount, which is already covered, but serve to increase costs of necessary improvements. Currents, gyration, and lighting systems are now functioning at sub-standard levels. Operating costs have risen from $26,200 to $40,000 in only two years. Can the taxpayers afford to wait two more years and face another 20 percent increase? We think not.

"The price of the referendum is not exorbitant. The plans are realistic and necessary. For these reasons the Berkeley League of Women Voters will actively support passage of this referendum."

FORMER MAYOR WILHELMIS directed his comments toward several targets. The first was the board's acceptance of the mandates stemming from an ideal class size of 20 students, rather than the 25 students of Dayton, with a small site, for the Mountaintop students, rather than Gov. Livingston's where there is a much more gradual story — where there is a much more gradual story — where there is a much more gradual story.

Manuel Devo, board president, and Dr. Warren Davis, superintendent of schools, repudiate that planning based on the smaller class size was necessary to win state approval of the plans.

Dr. Davis said that the "question of area" was not comparable, since Dayton has an excellent high school, Park Commission says so for athletic, and because the state is much more flexible on site size.

Your Inalienable Rights

By Prof. Frank Askin

THE AMERICAN WAY. The Declaration of Independence formulated for the American concept of the relationship between the government and the people it serves: "to secure the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

"Whenever any form of government becomes destructive of those ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

The primary goal of our constitutional system is to establish the means whereby government can provide for the general welfare, while the personal liberty of every individual is protected from the government. The means established are such as freedom of speech, freedom of the press, due process of law, and equal protection of the laws.

The great Chief Justice John Marshall, in the case of Marbury v. Madison, identified the characteristics which distinguished the governmental system of the United States from other systems of government established by the English mother country.

Our is a government organized not from above and imposed upon the people, but created by the people themselves, with limited functions assigned to the government created. The ultimate sovereignty was invested in government, but retained by the people.

Marshall said: "That the people have an original right to establish for their future government such principles as in their opinion shall most conduce to their own happiness is the basis on which the whole American fabric has been erected."

It is to the courts, the chief justice explained, that the Constitution left the task of interpreting the law, and of protecting the rights of the citizen against the abuse of power by any other branch of government.

This is what is meant by judicial review. For the courts to fail to perform this function would make the written Constitution a nullity and leave no one to enforce the sovereign rights of the people against official abuse. And that is why the founding fathers created an independent judiciary, appointed for life and thus at least partially insulated from the political pressures of transient administrations and transient majorities.

Report from Trenton

By State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldi

The New Jersey Assembly acted last week to approve legislation, reported by the Department of the Treasury, which would increase the tax on the gross receipts of retailers.

It was announced on the lower house that a bill to increase the tax on the gross receipts of retailers would be introduced in the Senate on May 11, 1970. This is an unfair tax that imposes an additional burden on many merchants, who already are struggling under a heavy tax load. It is, in reality, a tax payable by one class of citizens, in fact, New Jersey is the only state in the Union to single out one class of businessmen for special tax treatment.

This year, as in 1968 and 1969, I have introduced legislation to repeal this discriminatory tax, but it has many times been defeated by the opposition. The cost of this tax is virtually added on to the selling costs by many merchants, who find themselves with no viable economic alternative. As a consequence, the little man, the consumer, pays the tax. The line must be drawn, in effect, shall another sales tax on-top of the five percent that he pays on most other purchases.

It has been suggested that New Jersey cannot afford to lose this revenue. I do not agree. In fact, I am convinced that we cannot afford to continue this arbitrary and unfair tax.

Dr. Smith to be honored by poverty group tonight

A testimonial dinner to honor retiring executive Myra Smith Keane will be held at the Windsor Scott Hotel, Elizabeth, by the former committee of the Board of Traffic of the Union County Anti-Poverty Council.

Mrs. Evelyn Frank, chairman of the board, reads the certificate which includes Kenneth Bilo, Mrs. Marian Chapin, Mrs. Louise Chase, Lamore Gonzalez, Edward Hayes, William Nagura, James Miller, Mrs. Beatrice Moore, Mrs. Grace Reed, Samuel Rosenthal and Russell Young.

Organizations and individuals have been invited to participate in the presentation as the board acknowledges the dedication and efforts of Dr. Smith who served as Executive Director and volunteer.

Dr. Smith has been involved in the past by civic, church, school and professional organizations for many years of service. She had served as consultant to the Bibliography Committee, New Jersey Library Association. This committee worked for two and a half years in research and compiling material for the recently published book, "The Negro in New Jersey."

Among her affiliations are the Business and Professional Women's Club of Union, local Assistance Board, Youth Council of Union and Alpha Kappa Alpha society.

She was one of the prime movers in 1965 to form the Union County Anti-Poverty Council, serving as chairman of the Steering Committee. She remained Vice Chairman until she assumed the directorship in August 1967, retiring as a practicing physician.

Dr. Smith has spent much time studying the drug problem and completed a course in Narcotics Rehabilitation at the New School for Social Research in 1968 and also has visited community drug centers in Newark. Under her directorship, supportive services were built into the employment program with an aim towards total family rehabilitation.

A study of the needs of the older poor in the county will be submitted shortly for programming. Mrs. Frank, recently certified as a hearing called by Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. She also assisted in coordinating the County Information Section in January, 1968-69.

PANELING BASEMENT WALLS

Q: I want to panel my basement walls but don't know what to do about a water pipe that runs along the wall about four inches from the concrete slab floor and the wall itself which has a crack about two-thirds of the way up. What do you suggest I do?

A: One solution to your problem if you want to use studs - is to panel the wall flush up to the ceiling beams. You could also use a partial stud, box in the pipe, and panel the wall, giving you a shelf at the bottom. Still another solution is to box in the pipe, install a built-in unit of sheathing up to the point where the wall is set back again giving you a shelf, and then panel the wall flush up to the ceiling beams.

Calabrese wins false arrest suit

Detective Sargent Calabrese of the Springfield Police Department was awarded $250 in damages by Superior Court Judge Walter J. Hestfeldt in a suit filed by Joseph Calabrese, Jr. Calabrese was arrested on an assault charge, but years ago, the award was made when Calabrese could not be located to appear for the trial.

Calabrese arrested Caruso on April 9, 1968, on an assault charge and a motor vehicle violation. The violation charged Calabrese was arrested, taken to the station and held for 24 hours.

Meanwhile, Caruso was found guilty of the motor vehicle and assault charges.

Calabrese, represented by attorney Kenneth S. Joverhouse of Springfield, filed suit against Caruso seeking damages for false arrest and injury to his person and reputation.

Drug abuse topic at Kiwanis

Paul H. Schulz of Scotch Plains, a representative from the CIBA Pharmaceutical Company, will address a meeting of the Millburn Kiwanis Club today at 12:15 p.m. at Scotch Plains Restaurant, 400 Short Hill, he will discuss "Drugs of Abuse."

The talk will cover the use of illegal drugs and the abuse of legitimate drugs, their effects, the drug user, and the actions to be taken by parents to prevent or alleviate drug abuse.

Schulz formerly was a commercial artist and retail pharmacist. He has been employed by CIBA for the past 22 years in a managerial capacity, including service as manager of pharmaceutical manufacturing, manager of purchasing, and manager of packaging development. At the present he is manager of creative packaging. Schulz is a member of the International Narcotics Enforcement Association whose purpose is to control narcotics and the use of drugs.

Ask Amy
By AMY ADAMS

NURSE'S DATES NEED A CALL COMPIRESS
Dear Amy: Please tell me if I am old-fashioned and square as some of the fellows I go out with call me?

I'm 25 years old, fairly attractive and a registered nurse. It seems because I am a nurse, the fellows I go out with call me old-fashioned and square as some of the fellows I go out with call me?

I have been taught by my mother to keep my mind and body clean and this is the way I do and am. I'd love to have good fun but I stay home rather than subject myself to a lecture on my being old-fashioned and square.

Dear Amy: Aren't there any fellows who think as I do? Or am I wrong?

Disgusted

I'm sure there are many fellows who think as you do.

The "taster supper" will be sponsored by the Short Hills Chapter of the Georgian Court College Alumnae Association on Monday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Racquet Club of Short Hills, 162 Hobart Ave. The affair is open to the public.

The "taster supper" offers gourmet cooks and ordinary food enthusiasts and opportunity to produce their favorite dishes and to enjoy sampling other gourmet creations. All recipes will be collected and published in a book which will be available for $10.

Individuals wishing to participate, or desiring tickets in advance, may contact Mrs. Patrick Clyne, 133 Summit Ave., Summit, phone 273-2195.

Worried Divorcee
Dear Amy: If you love your ex-husband and want him back, contact him on the spot. It wouldn't hurt to try. He's probably waiting for you to make a complete family unit.

Good Luck!

Dear Amy: I am a girl who thinks about the draft being un- fair to 18 year olds, by all means let your congressman know. If enough people feel like you, the law will have to be changed. The mandate of the people carries a great deal of weight.

I don't date, never have and don't care to start. Do you think there is any hope? How do we go about mending old wounds?

Outdoor art exhibit planned
FAANJ show set June 27

The first outdoor art exhibit ever held at the Garden State Arts Center will be presented by the "Painters and Associates" of New Jersey on Saturday, June 27.

The exhibit, set to start at 11 a.m. and run until 6 p.m., will feature the work of 100 artists and sculptors representing the various art associations of the FAANJ that are non-profit and chartered with the State of New Jersey.

Some 2,500 feet of snow will be created in the Arts Center grounds, largely in the amphitheater plaza area and along walkways, for the display of the paintings, in case of rain, the exhibit will be held on Saturday, July 11.

The Prefabricated Art group said an appointed jury will select a number of paintings from among the Center exhibit to be used for a traveling show.

Each association represented in the Arts Center exhibit will have boxes or baskets on hand throughout the day to answer questions and handle sales. All work must be original and labeled with a title, price and name of artist, according to the parent group.

Two refreshment stands will be open on the Arts Center grounds during the exhibit period.

Comeby to open tonight

The Argus Eyes, the Saint Peter's College drama society, will present Moss Hart and George Kaufman's comedy, "You Can't Take It With You," at 8:30 tonight, tomorrow and Saturday in Dineen Theater on the Jersey City campus.

Hickel will speak to Stevens grads

Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel will be the centennial year commencement speaker at Stevens Institute of Technology June 6, Dr. Jess H. Davis, president, announced this week.

In accepting the college's invitation, Secretary Hickel said: "I am both personally and officially immensely interested in the problems of our environment. All of us are concerned with the increasing awareness of this problem created by the concerned young student of today."

Secretary Hickel is deputy secretary, federal official responsible for programs and regulations on environmental matters.

Storing cheese
The kind of cheese and wrappings determines how long a cheese will keep. Cottage cheese stored in the refrigerator should be used within three to five days. Cream cheese and other soft varieties will stay fresh about two weeks when refrigerated either covered or tightly wrapped. Cheddar, Swiss and other hard varieties, if tightly wrapped and refrigerated, will keep several months.

Science fair held at Lourdes school; winners selected

The sixth, seventh, and eighth graders of Our Lady of Lourdes School, Mountaintide, culminated weeks of preparation and hard work with a science fair last week in the school's auditorium.

Exchange program by Rotarians

The Springfield Rotary Club this week announced that the Rotary Foundation is sponsoring a group study exchange with Australian Rotarians. The program's purpose is to promote better understanding and relations amongst people throughout the world. Young, business and professional men will have group exchanges between paired districts for two-month study periods.

District 751, which includes Union County, is now engaged in recruiting business and professional men between the ages of 25 and 35 as candidates for a six-man team which will spend two months in New South Wales, Australia, from Sept. 15 to Nov. 15. The team will be accompanied by a Rotarian who will be in charge of the group. Transportation costs will be paid by the Rotary Foundation. Room, board and traveling expenses will be paid by the host district.

Team members will be able to develop opportunities for business understanding between their home and host countries through study, observation of customs, business and professional life and person-to-person contacts, a representative aid.

The applicant must be of high moral character, be intelligent and cooperative, be presentable in appearance and have the ability to express himself, be in good health, be of sound educational background and be enthusiastic in his chosen vocation.

He must be a resident of or work in Union, Hunterdon, Somerset, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth or Ocean County and be between 25 and 35 years old. He must not be a Rotarian, a dependent of a Rotarian or a close relative of a Rotarian.

Anyone who meets the qualifications or desires further information can call Alfred Palermo at 486-1255, Lyman Pack at 492-7221, or John May at 232-2034. Applications will close June 1.

Six young businessmen from Australia will be guests of the Springfield club in two weeks.

School aide at meeting

August Caprio of Springfield, foreign language coordinator for the Union County Regional High School District, is attending the Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages today, tomorrow and Saturday at the Washington Hilton, Washington, D.C.

Y teaching self-defense

The Summit Area YMCA will offer a daytime course in the art of self-defense for girls, grades 8 through 12 and women, beginning on Tuesday. Classes will meet weekly on Tuesdays from 8:30 to 9 p.m. for eight weeks at the Y gymnasium.

My Neighbors

Mrs. Donald M. Seltzer of Berkeley Heights will be the instructor. Mrs. Seltzer has attended the International Institute of Judo and Karate in Sumida for the past three years and achieved the rank of black belt in 1968. Since then, she has helped in instruction at the school. She is a graduate of Pomona College.

Driver gets summons in mishap

John R. Prudente of Summit was issued a summons by Springfield police for leaving the scene of an accident last Tuesday evening.

According to police, his car collided with one driven by Jileen C. Zanger of Millburn at the intersection of Morris avenue and Hubbard way. The Zanger car sustained damage to the right rear, trunk, fender and bumper and was towed away. Prudente's vehicle had damage to the left front fender, headlight, grill and bumper.

Springfield police arrived just after the Millburn police had stopped Prudente and brought him back to the scene of the accident. He then was brought to Headquarters where a summons was issued.

Prudente was heading toward Kohn of Union county when he was stopped by Mrs. Evelyn H. King of 24 Pitt st., Springfield, early Sunday morning at the intersection of Morris avenue and Rt. 24 according to police. King's car was damaged on the front end.

Gem display to be held

New Jerseyans will be able to view the Lewis collection of quartz gemstones, each cut by a master diamond cutter in Amsterdam or New York, at the Millburn shop of S. Mirah & Sons, 265 Millburn ave., from Monday to May 15.

According to Lewis, the collection, assembled and owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. O. DeWitt of Teanock, is considered by gemologists to be the finest of its kind in the world. Each of the stones is cut in traditional fashion with its distinctive rounded surfaces. The exhibition will feature more than 100 replicas of the world's most famous diamonds.

When patients complain, they're cured

Maybe it's because Saul Strauss has been a 25-year-old resident of the hospital for so long, but he is so important.

As the new director of dietary services at Memorial General Hospital in Union, he'll be throwing hundreds of mini-parties this year for patients on their own special day, just as he has been doing for many years in other hospitals in the metropolitan area.

Strauss said, "It's a challenge to me and bring it up when you're ready." He said, "When they're surprised with the little moments of their lives, they become dietary services director at Memorial General on Jan. 1, makes special effort to see patients' birth days as they check into the hospital.

He also makes a special effort to throw a "kind of party" every year—Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving and New Year's.

Strauss started the practice during the years he worked at the "University of South Jersey" as St. Mary's in Hopken and Christ Hospital in Jersey City. He has also managed food service operations in Elizabeth General Hospital, Calhoun Hospital in Brooklyn and St. Bonaventure Hospital in Kingston, N.Y., while working with Convoy Brothers Food Centers.

"ON CHRISTMAS, New Year's and the other holidays," Strauss continued, "we decorate the dining room with special lights and decorations."

Strauss was looking for more streamlined facilities when he came to the modern 180-bed Union hospital. And that's what he's been given to be the job of feeding both the patients and employees in the eight-year-old facility.

He's also been given the mid-level, Strauss is in charge of 50 employees, of whom 25 are full-time. This includes three cooks and, once in a while, Strauss really puts the whole thing together when he "puts on the whites" and takes personal charge of the operation.

STRAUSS HAS DONE a lot of decision making and planning around since he arrived here from the village of Wertheim-am-Main in Baden, Germany, as a 16-year-old, "non-talented" speaking immigrant in 1928.

Three of his sisters were already in this country, but he lived with them for only a month before striking out on his own.

Strauss started as a bus boy cleaning off tables and washing dishes. During the depression years, he moved from place to place, wherever he could find a job in poverty-stricken New York City.

In the meantime, he attended night school to learn English. As his knowledge of the language and of the food business grew, so did his position in life.

From bus boy he went to counter man, then to food service leader to salad man, then to food service leader to salad man, then to food service leader to salad man.

STRAUSS FINALLY settled in Bayonne, where he still lives with his wife Sylvia. For many years Strauss enjoyed bowling but now restricts his limited recreational time to swimming at the Skyline Cabana Club in Jersey City.

He is a member of the Bayonne Democratic Club, the Bayonne Community Center, the "Veterans and the Masonic Lodge. He is also a member of the Brotherhood of Temple Emanuel in Bayonne.

His daughters are attending college now and something of a hospital life must have rubbed off on them too.

Annual color print exhibition will open at State Museum

For the second time the New Jersey State Museum will host the American Color Print Society Annual in an exhibition that opens at the main galleries Saturday and continues through July 5.

The society is a non-profit national organization founded in Philadelphia in 1939 to bring original color prints to the attention of the public and to assist its members in exhibiting their work. Today it is considered the oldest and the most important group of color print-makers in America.

This year's exhibition includes more than 125 prints which represent traditional graphic processes as well as a variety of innovative techniques. Artists are from Canada and various Latin American countries as well as the United States.

The State Museum enlarged the scope of this show by inviting artists from the entire hemisphere.

According to Dr. Kenneth Prescott, director of the State Museum, "While the American Color Print Society has members outside the borders of the United States, the 21st annual exhibition is the first one that includes works of selected printmakers from Canada and Latin America."

James, Bernard H. Kohn of Philadelphia, local member of the society, has been distinguished printmaker—selected 11 award winners. Donors providing funds for the purchase of prints for the State Museum collection were:

Williams appoints Elizabeth attorney campaign manager

U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-N.J.) announced this week that he has named Elizabeth attorney Elizabeth M. Mirabelli as his campaign manager for the Democratic Senate nomination.

Mirabelli, an attorney, is a member and former president of the Elizabeth Board of Education. He recently was nominated for re-election to the board by District Boards of Education.

"Sen. Williams truly has a great senator," Mirabelli said in accepting the nomination. "His record speaks for itself. He has been in the forefront of so many of the issues which are now becoming popular."

"He has taken the leadership in forging programs for people who have been largely ignored by government—the commuters, the aging, the poor, and the average taxpayer. I think it is vital that we select him to be the Senate as that may continue his work to bring about passage of the new programs which are so important to the citizens of the State."

"I am confident that we will be able to involve a new generation of Democrats in the nomination of Sen. Williams."

Mirabelli is a graduate of Georgetown University, Washington, and Seton Hall School of Law, Newark. A member of the bar since 1960, he maintains law offices at 1195 E. Grand st., Elizabeth.

He formerly was county counsel in Union County and has served as assistant Union County prosecutor. He is a Marine Corps veteran.

Mirabelli is a member of the executive committee and treasurer of the Union County Chapter of the National Foundation, which is a communication of St. Genevieve's Church, Elizabeth.

Mirabelli is married to the former Marie Anne Tammaro of Cranford. The couple has seven children.

Newark State laboratory dedication on Tuesday

Commemorating the dedication of the Newark State Laboratory of Psychology, which will be held in Willis Hall on Tuesday, according to Dr. Robert Rouse, professor of psychology at the college and chairman of that department.

The laboratory is being named in memory of the late Dr. Vogel, professor of psychology at Newark State from 1958 until his death in 1967 at the age of 49. He was the first chairman of the Psychology Division. The laboratory had been unnamed until now.

"A tea will be served in the formal lounge in Willis Hall at 3 p.m. The unveiling of a plaque is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. in Willis Hall and the dedication program will be presented at 4:45 p.m. with Dr. Merritt Goodman, president of the New Jersey Psychological Association, delivering the address. Dr. Vogel's widow, the former Alice G. Drumby, M.D., will present the college with his collection of laboratory teaching equipment. Dr. Vogel earned his B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees at New York University, during World War II. He served in the United States Navy as an assistant intelligence officer for the Fifth Fleet. He was a chief propaganda officer in the Central Pacific Theater, won five citations and decorations and was cited by Admiral Chester Nimitz as a "key figure in the acquisition of valuable intelligence from prisoners of war."

Recalled as a Lieutenant Commander during the Korean conflict, Dr. Vogel served as Director of Psychological Warfare for NATO. While teaching at Newark State he maintained a private practice and continued work in classified intelligence services. He was a supervising psychologist and psychologist at the New York Mental Hygiene Clinic and consulting psychologist for the United States Department of Labor and the New Jersey State Legislature.

State establishes a task force to study middle school setup

Dr. Carl L. Marburger, commissioner of education, has announced the establishment of a New Jersey Middle School Task Force and the appointment of 19 persons to serve on it.

Dr. Marburger said he was creating the task force in view of the increase in the number of middle schools in the state and the need for a concerted effort to assist local school districts in developing programs and organizational patterns.

Establishment of such a task force, the commissioner said, had been requested by the New Jersey Association of Secondary School Principals and other groups. The State Department of Education has received a grant from the New Jersey School Development Council, Rutgers University, to assist the work of the task force, he said.

The task force will seek to develop during the next year a statement encompassing such areas as educational needs of pupils, middle school curriculum, staffing and facilities. Middle schools generally consist of grades 5 through 8, although several have been established to cover only some of those grades.

The membership of the task force includes representatives of the State Department of Education, college personnel, county and local school administrators, principals and vice-principals, curriculum workers and classroom teachers.

H. Richard Connor, principal of Millburn Junior High School, is chairman of the task force. William A. Caff, assistant professor at Montclair State College and a member of the task force, will serve as project manager.

Other members of the task force are William F. White, Ocean County superintendent of schools; Robert A. Wilkey, Ramsey Superintendent for Wage; all of the state department's Division of Curriculum and Instruction; Lawrence Kaplan and Victor L. W. Christie, executive secretary and vice-chairman, respectively, of the New Jersey School Development Council; John J. Kelly, industrial arts teacher, Franklin Junior High School; Jack Piacentini, teacher, Brick Township Intermediate School; W. George Batzard, principal, Gloucester Township Middle School.

Also, Ellwood B. Jacarby, Chatham Township superintendent; Mrs. Corinne Baird, Burlington County helping teacher; Kurt Klau, director of secondary education for Camden; John S. Piacentini, associate professor, Paterson State College.

Also, Samuel Blahnik, principal, Lincoln Avenue School, Orange; Thomas E. Hartzog, superintendent, Parsippany; Dr. Victor J. Podesta, assistant state-education commissioner for administration; and Dr. William H. Warner, deputy assistant commissioner for curriculum and instruction, will serve as ex-officio members.

A 'sound' way to learn Simulator trains cardiologists

How should a cardiologist learn to recognize the sounds of a heart? The answer is to use a heart simulator. This is the method developed in Rutgers Medical School during the Saturday sessions in clinical correlation. At these sessions, the students practice what they learned on the simulator.

The simulator can be set to deliver to the student 95 per cent of all identifiable heart sounds. The student can listen to each sound separately at heart rates of 50 to 120 a minute. Then he can combine the sounds that are often found together in living patients with specific heart diseases, abnormalities, and vary the frequency within the 50-120 heart range.

LEARNING TO RECOGNIZE the sounds of a fast heartbeat was like learning Morse code. A student of Morse code may recognize the alphabet at slow speeds, but may be unable to "get the message" at high code speeds. The diagnostician must "get the message" at fast heart rates because there's no other way—if the patient's heart beats rapidly.

In using the simulator, the student can listen to the sounds and observe the visible electrocardiogram (ECG) trace displayed on a small screen much like a television screen. He can coordinate the sounds through the stethoscope with the ECG trace, two of the principal diagnostic procedures of the practicing physician working with a heart patient.

There are about 30 heart conditions recorded on the disks and tapes that come with the device. Some of these conditions involve irregular heartbeats. The machine makes it possible to combine the simulated irregular heartbeats with sounds of respiration, a situation the students will encounter in patients and have to recognize.

Bicentennial hearing set for Tuesday

The New Jersey Historical Commission will take up these questions at a public hearing Tuesday in the State Senate Chamber in Trenton. The hearing, which will open at 9:30 a.m., has been called "to ascertain public opinion on New Jersey's role in the Bicentennial observance," according to the commission's chairman, Governor Richard I. McGucknick of Rutgers, the State University.

Scheduled to testify are some 40 representatives of historical, educational, cultural and civic groups. Their testimony will be studied by the commission in preparing a state plan for the Bicentennial.

The commission expects the state plan to go into operation by 1974, reach a peak in 1976 with the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence and New Jersey's first State Constitution, and continue until 1983, marking the Treaty of Paris which formally ended the Revolutionary War.

Forest fires down in '69 on state land

Less than one-half percent (3,528 acres) of all lands protected by the State Forest Fire Service were burned by forest fires during 1969, Joseph T. Barber, acting commissioner of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development, said this week. It marked the third straight year that such damage had been under 4,000 acres.

Commissioner Barber credited the use of modern firefighting equipment, intensive training of service personnel and good cooperation by hunters, fishermen, picnickers and residents as major factors for these accomplishments.

According to George R. Moorhead, state forester and chief of the department's Bureau of Forestry, 1969's fire damage was the third lowest to be recorded for New Jersey. "Approximately 60 percent of New Jersey remains forested. These open space lands are an essential contribution to our state's environment. Although the Forest Fire Service has increased its operations of its type in the nation, public cooperation continues vital for adequate control of forest fire outbreaks," he added.

Air-attack bases are maintained by the State Forest Fire Service at Hopewell State Park, Morris County; Holmansville State Quail Farm, Ocean County; Davis Field, Atlantic County; Aston (Wharton State Forest) and Coyte Field, Burlington County. These installations are fully staffed in preparation for the upcoming operating fire season which will extend from March 15 through May 15.

Throughout that period, helicopters loaded with liquid retardant will be on standby alert. Under actual fire conditions, the helicopter drops retardant in a blast and keeps it controlled until the arrival of Forest Fire Service crews and equipment.

This type of aircraft is extremely effective in containing fires, since supplies of water can be taken aboard from lakes or rivers for use at the scene of fires. No permits will be issued for burning during the operating season in effect.

State fire warden William H. Phoenix pointed out that removal of existing fire hazards is extremely important in reducing the potential for forest fire outbreaks. "Debris and flammable materials should be disposed of by those who reside in forested areas, urge all individuals to cooperate with conservation agencies throughout the State in forest fire prevention," Phoenix said.

Each year the spring forest fire season in New Jersey is considered conducive to inclusion of forest fires, since weather conditions (lack of rainfall and high winds) usually prevail during this period. On April 20, 1969, 18,000 acres of timber throughout the state were destroyed because of such factors.

Boating drownings cited; insurance checkup urged

America's millions of boating enthusiasts were reminded this week that the sport has its perils as well as its pleasures.

The thousands of casualties recorded as a result of boating accidents in 1969 included more than 1,500 drownings, the insurance information brochure pointed out. Most of the persons who lost their lives in that fashion were not wearing readily available lifesaving devices, the Institute added.

Whether your craft is a canoe, a rowboat, a runabout or a fullsize yacht, you should make it a point to know and observe the common sense rules of safe operation as well as any local regulations that you will be expected to follow.

For those who do their boating on open waterways, the Institute suggests taking a U.S. Coast Guard course in navigation and safety. Information on such courses usually is available at a local marina.

Since accidents often happen in spite of the best of precautions, the Institute recommends that you check your boat insurance with your agent or broker. Coverage for various sizes and types of pleasure boats is available in many sizes and types of policies ranging from the serviceable homeowners to a specially tailored yacht policy. "There is no one policy for all boats, since various factors, including where the boat will be used, are taken into account when writing the policy.

Small boats can be covered under the homeowners policy. Boat owners can get physical damage protection for the boat and liability protection for themselves through this policy. It provides personal liability for sailboats less than 26 feet in length, outboards not exceeding 25 horsepower, and inboards or outboards not exceeding 50 horsepower. If a boat exceeds these specifications, the policy must be endorsed and an additional premium is charged.

The policy provides up to $500 insurance against loss to the boat, motor, trailer, or accessories resulting from fire, theft, and vandalism among other things. Liability coverage includes medical payments if guests are injured on the boat.

A popular policy for larger craft is the "all risk" policy. This includes hull insurance, covering the boat itself and its equipment, plus some liability protection.

S-shaped garden for salad days

Designed by T. H. Everett, senior horticulture specialist, the Super Salad Garden includes areas for planting cucumbers, tomatoes, radishes, lettuce, parsley and chives—all the ingredients for a crunch, crisp salad.

First select a level, sunny, well-drained location. Then draw a line 12 feet long down the center and drive stakes into the ground four feet from each end. These are the corners for two circles, one made with a peg at the end of a piece of string 1 1/2 feet from each peg and the outer circle made by a piece of string 3 1/2 feet long. Then the upper right and lower left portions of the two circles are erased leaving a large "S."

Directions for preparing the soil, fertilizing the planting, the seeds are given in full detail.

Innovations planned by state in fight to control gypsy moth

This year's gypsy moth control program in New Jersey will have a number of new aspects, according to William M. Cranston, director, Division of Plant Industry, New Jersey Department of Agriculture.

For the first time, municipalities where department surveys have shown that heavy infestations may be expected this spring, have had the option of electing to conduct an aerial spray control program or of letting the infestation go unchecked.

Communities which have chosen to spray receive department help through a cooperative control program which has been established. The department provides technical advice and financial assistance to lower spray costs to the municipality. All spray operations will be made under Department supervision to insure that the pesticide is applied safely and in the proper amounts.

To date, approximately 90 percent of the municipalities where surveys have shown dangerous populations of gypsy moth exist have requested department help in controlling the damaging forest insect pest. Under the cooperative program about 70,000 acres of land will be treated this year.

The blocks to be sprayed are located in Monmouth, Morris, Somerset, Sussex, Warren, Passaic and Bergen counties. The insecticide used will be Sevin, which has a short residual life, and will be applied at the rate of one pound of active ingredient in one gallon of water per acre.

In addition to the department-municipality cooperative program, a joint Federal-State program will be conducted in four southern counties where the gypsy moth is not yet widely established in an effort to halt its further spread.

About 15,000 acres will be sprayed in Gloucester, Cumberland, Cape May and Ocean counties under the Federal-State program. Spraying in the southern counties is expected to begin May 4.

State forests and parks, where surveys have shown a serious gypsy moth menace exists, will also be sprayed. About 43,000 acres will be involved in this effort. Areas of the state land where biological control agents distributed by the department are found to be actively at work will not be sprayed.
