The new candidates are Zachary Schneider, 41 Avon rd., and Michael C. McInyre, 3 Hawthorn ave. The incumbents running are James Adams and Carlo Casale. Mrs. Sonya Dorsky, whose term will also expire this winter, is running instead for a seat on the Regional High School District Board of Education.

The Springfield board election will be held on Feb. 9, along with the annual referendum on the local school budget. The budget is printed on Page 7 of this issue of the Leader, and details of the budget will be summarized in an article next week.

Clergymen ask help for Jews in Soviet Union

The clergymen of all eight Springfield's houses of worship this week joined in an appeal to all local residents to speak out against what they termed harsh prison sentences meted out in the Soviet Union to Jews and others for allegedly conspiring to hijack a Russian jetliner.

The appeal is in the form of a full-page advertisement on Page 12 of this issue of the Leader. The sponsors noted that even though the death sentences announced for two of the alleged conspirators had been reduced, there was still wide concern about the ultimate fate of all the prisoners — and for the future of all Jews in the Soviet Union.

They said: "We are concerned for the fate and lives of the prisoners and the 25 other Jews arrested and held incommunicado since last June 15. We are convinced that these charges of treason and hijacking are a mockery and are calculated to exploit the civilized world's abhorrence of this kind of crime.

"These people are honest and married, not criminals. They have been chosen as objects to represent the oppression of Jewish identity and pride among Soviet Jews. Their 'crimes' are: they have applied for exit permits to Israel; they have addressed appeals to world opinion; they have dared to send Jewish history and they have presumed to learn the Hebrew language.

"We appeal to you, the residents of Springfield, to speak in behalf of those who are sitting in the Soviet Union."

Darren John Allen arrives as first baby of the new year

A seven-pound baby boy, Darren John Allen, was born at 6:19 a.m. on New Year's Day to Mr. and Mrs. Matthew John Allen of 50 Henshaw ave., Springfield. He is the winner of the Springfield Leader's First-Baby-of-the-Year contest.

"It's a good way to start the new year," says Darren's father, who also got to celebrate on New Year's eve with friends before the baby's early arrival. According to Allen, the party broke up and he and his wife had already gone to bed when she began to have labor pains. "He woke us up at 3:15 a.m."

Darren is the couple's first child, but there were few surprises for Mrs. Allen, who was employed as a nurse in the maternity ward at Overlook Hospital in Summit. The baby was born at Morristown Memorial Hospital, Morristown.

Allen, originally from Irvington and a graduate of Irvington High School, is a buyer for J. Bell, Inc., Newark. He also serves as an officer of the Springfield-Volunteer Fire Department.

Mrs. Allen is the former Carol Ann Rutz of Springfield. She is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and Presbyterian University of the Pennsylvania Medical Center in Philadelphia. She is a local Girl Scout leader.

All of the baby's grandparents reside in Springfield. They are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Allen of Woodcrest circle and Mr. and Mrs. (Continued on page 5)

Three are reported injured in traffic mishaps last week

Three persons were reported injured and three summonses were issued in six accidents this past week, according to Springfield police.

A passenger in a car driven by Sherrill P. Newton of Chatham was slightly injured Saturday morning when the Newton car collided with a car driven by Ronald L. Shapiro of 100 Remer ave., Springfield, at the corner of Milltown road and Smithfield drive, police reported. Elaine Heckley of Union was taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, by the Springfield First Aid Squad. She was treated and discharged.

Police said the Shapiro car was traveling west and the Newton vehicle was traveling east on Milltown. The Shapiro vehicle entered the slight curve but would not respond on the snow-covered road. Shapiro told police that he applied his brakes, skidded into the oncoming lane and his car was struck by the Newton vehicle.

Harold A. Becker of Chicago complained that he had injured his knee Saturday afternoon when his car struck a car driven by Michael J. Sweeney of Westfield in the rear on S. Springfield avenue near Beverly road, police said. He told police he would see his own doctor.

Allen Schauermann of Irvington complained of head injuries after his auto struck a car driven by Catherine H. Martens of Cranford last Thursday afternoon at the corner of Meisels avenue and Laurel drive, police reported. Schauermann told police he would see his own doctor.

According to police, the Martens car was traveling south on Meisels and Schauermann was traveling north on Laurel. The Martens car skidded on ice on the shoulder of the road and Mrs. Martens lost control of her vehicle, the report added, and the Martens car then swerved left and wound up in front of Schauermann's car.

Sign is damaged by electrical blaze

A sign at the Columbia Lumber and Millwork Company on Maple avenue was partially destroyed by fire New Year's night, according to the Springfield Fire Department. The blaze was caused by a short circuit in a transformer. There also was some smoke damage in the company's office.

A flash fire last Monday caused smoke and water damage at the Builders Fair Inc. on Rt. 22. Four spray booths were destroyed. The blaze was caused by sparks igniting trapped vapor fumes in a defective explosion-proof light as someone was changing the bulb. The flames set off the building's sprinkler heads, which had put out the fire by the time the Fire Department arrived.

Dayton's G-6 churns it out Printers making their mark

Room G-6 in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School is a printer's shop. Out of it this year will come a printing press, a linotype, a galley, a proof press, a hand press, a letterpress, and a variety of other equipment. Robert Gardella is in charge of G-6. He is one of 17 Dayton students who have gone on to college in major in printing. Gardella is a member of the National Printing Industry Association and is a member of the International Brotherhood of Printers. He is the only graphic arts instructor in the regional school system and one of the few in the state. Luke Garofala, who is in his fifth year in the post, his program is unique. The printing, which also shows the school system a bundle of money, is done by two graphics arts 7 students and boys in trade and occupations classes.

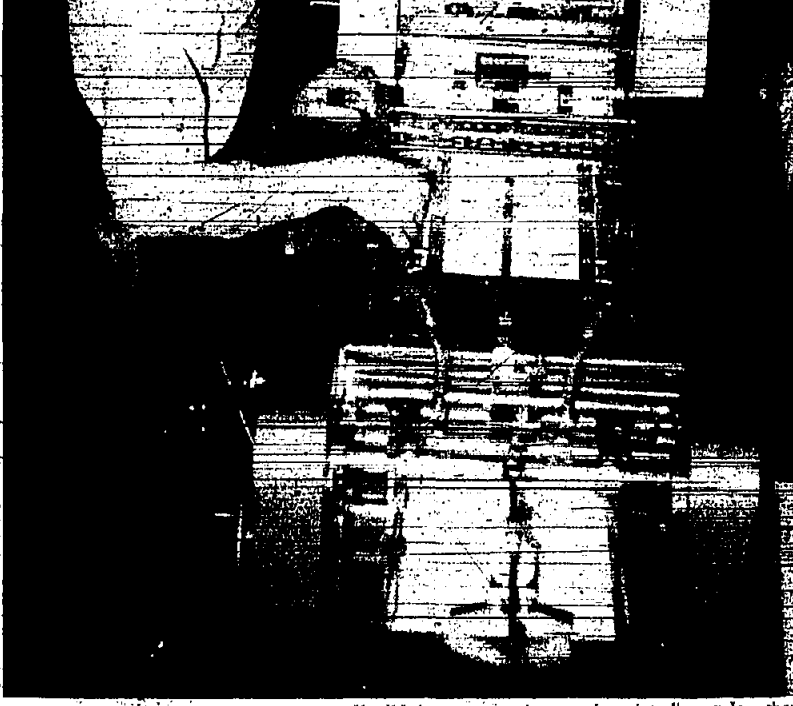

The students, in Gardella's words, "are given practical and comprehensive instruction in printing also managed as well as the use of the linotype, proof press, galley, hand press, letterpress, and other related printing equipment."

The program was started by Dayton in 1950 by industrial arts coordinator Stanley Gossett, who was the first printing shop instructor. Gardella was a member of Gossett's first class and went on to graduate from Arkansas State in 1965 with a degree in printing.

At least a moderate upswing seen for business

The major national economic indicators are pointing to at least a moderate upswing in New Jersey's business activity for the coming year, said Edwin O. Kraft, president of the New Jersey Bankers Association (NJB).
"While we have not yet been able to stop the inflation completely," he added, "it does seem that the stringent federal policies put in practice over the past couple of years will have the effect of reducing the rate at which inflation will grow."
These same federal policies and the resulting gains against inflation have not come without cost, which is readily evident in the generally poor showing of real economic growth and the more unfortunate rise in the number of unemployed during the last year," the NJB president continued. "However, it is also evident that our business activity has made sufficient gains against inflation to allow for a gradual loosening of the former's tight money policy."
During the last quarter of 1970, the Federal Reserve Board reduced its discount rate two times to where it now stands at 8-1/2 percent. Each time this rate at which banks borrow money from the Federal Reserve was lowered it was either preceded or followed by a corresponding decrease of the commercial prime lending rate by major banks throughout the country.

According to Kraft, the effect of these reductions is normally felt by the average borrower within six months from the time they are made. This would indicate that an increase in the availability of money for major loans such as mortgages can be expected during the second quarter of 1971.
"Greatly assisting the availability of money for mortgage loans is the fact that at present the consumer is depositing about 7-1/2 percent of his gross income through some form of savings plan, an historic high. Personal sav-

"While most economists agree that some real economic growth will be realized in 1971, we should not take their cautious optimism as a sign that we have seen the last of our economic problems. Continued high national budget deficit and continued wage-price escalation are two major factors which will continue to weigh heavily on the economy."
"When the current financial problems of our state and local governments are added, we must expect that there will still be some rough sledding ahead."
"However, with the possibility of a continued easing of the money supply, New Jersey banks will be in an even better position to continue the financing of the state's real economic growth."
"Looking beyond this year, another expansion for the Garden State is anticipated for the re-builder of the 1970's. Conservative estimates place New Jersey population growth by 1980 at 1.3 million people, involving an investment of some $40 billion in new living and working facilities.
"Total requirements of New Jersey banks increased to $19,03-billion during the first

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association
The second session of the New Jersey 1970 State Legislature convened last Tuesday facing a stackpile of some 2,000 bills coming over from the 1970 session as well as a long list of budget-balancing and programs leading to a dollar sign for 1971.
Awaiting disposition, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, will be many recommendations requiring legislative action from the report of the Governor's 78-member Management Committee submitted last November following a 12-week study by teams of experts in organization, management and administration. The reforms, involving administrative action, legislation or constitutional amendments, were estimated to produce potential annual savings, state, federal and local, of $90.5 million, and one-time savings of $9.5 million.
An important milestone in the state's fiscal life will be reached when the Governor's Tax Policy Committee reports. Hearings by its task forces are expected to continue with no date announced for publication of the final report.
The Governor's Budget Commission for the fiscal year beginning July 1 are expected to reach the Legislature early in February. Recent trends indicate they may not be as good as last year's $1.6 billion total, by as much as $200 million, presenting new financing problems. In their continuing search for new state revenue, legislators will be watching return from the new state lottery. This originally was estimated to produce $10 million annually, but on the basis of popularity of first ticket sales, is expected to go higher. Rising the initial wave of legal gambling success. State lottery interests can be expected to push for a referendum to legalize casino gambling in New Jersey, similar to that which produced nearly $15 million in maintenance taxes for the state in the last year.

Springfield family 'adopts' girl, 13, in Philippines through Foster Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon H. Ellowitz of 100 Stone Hill Rd., Springfield, have "adopted" Rosalinda D. "Tara", a 13-year-old girl of the Philippines. By contributing $16 a month through "Foster Parents Plan," the Ellowitzs give the child and the family material and financial aid aimed at strengthening the family unit by helping each member.
Before the Ellowitzs became Rosalinda's Foster Parents, the family struggled to survive on $60 a month a day mother earned as a housewife. The father has abandoned the family. One sister works in a store and earns about $4 a month. The other has no income in the family. They live in a small tenement room. They have light, but water is piped from a public faucet. The Plan helps with urgent necessities, including sewing to protect them against the incoming monsoons that plague them in the rainy season.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE SPRINGFIELD COMMUNITY

As of this writing, eleven people, nine of them Jews, stand convicted of treason against the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics for planning to hijack a Soviet airliner. The harsh verdicts against these people include prison camp terms ranging from four to fifteen years.

We are concerned for the fate and lives of these and the 25 other Jews arrested and held incommunicado since last June 15th. We are convinced that these charges of treason and hijacking are a mockery, and are calculated to exploit the civilized world's abhorrence of this kind of crime.

These people are heroes and martyrs, not criminals. They have been chosen as object lessons to repress the expression of Jewish identity and pride among Soviet Jews. Their "crime":

They have applied for exit permits to Israel.

They have addressed appeals to world opinion.

They have dared to study Jewish history.

They have presumed to learn the Hebrew language.

We appeal to you, the residents of Springfield, to speak in behalf of those who are silenced by tyranny.

We appeal to you, the residents of Springfield, to let our public officials know that you expect them to protest against these injustices.

We appeal to you, the residents of Springfield, to write or wire the following individuals to urge the Soviet Government to free the imprisoned Jews.

Parkway acts to upgrade restaurants' standards

The Garden State Parkway has set a new course for its roadside restaurants. Chairman John P. Gallagher of the New Jersey State Highway Authority today announced that the Parkway, said the restaurants along the toll road are being directed toward greater standards of service, food and atmosphere.

The 11 food items specifically listed in the new agreement are fixed in portion and price as follows: Hamburger (6 per pound), 90¢; Cheeseburger (6 per pound), 90¢; Hamburger (3 per pound), 85¢; Cheeseburger (3 per pound), 85¢; French fries (3 per pound), 95¢; French fries (1 1/2 per pound), 95¢; French fries (1/2 per pound), 95¢; French fries (1/4 per pound), 95¢; French fries (1/8 per pound), 95¢; French fries (1/16 per pound), 95¢; French fries (1/32 per pound), 95¢.

In a first step, the authority on Dec. 17 awarded a new five-year license agreement to 11 basic food items including 13-cent six-ounce cup of coffee for the term of the agreement and stipulated regulated portion and portion service in restaurants with an tipping permitted.

The Garden State Parkway, which the authority accepted from among three submitted by food firms, further provides for an investment of some $450,000 in capital improvements to the five restaurants. The authority also agreed that any total profit over 10 per cent would be used to improve the restaurant's building, improvements or equipment at the authority's option.

THE PROPOSAL ACCEPTED its most advantageous to the authority and its motoring public sets a 700 of return on gross receipts ranging from 9 per cent to 13.75 per cent, according to location or an average of 12.00 per cent.

The five Parkway roadside restaurants are those at its Montvale, Monmouth, Fort and River, Atlantic City and Seaside (Cape May County) service areas. The other four are restaurants at Brookdale Southbound, Vanx Hall, and Chesebrough, separate agreement expiring Jan. 31, 1974.

Although the authority will not release this agreement, Chairman Gallagher said he felt a 12 per cent return to the authority was fair and enables a better deal for the traveling public.

Also, he saw the distinct possibility of such a deal. "The fact remains," the chairman added, "that the restaurants were never intended to do more than pay for themselves. They were not designed as a source of substantial income; their mission is to provide the necessary auxiliary services for the motorist public and not to help pay for the road."

Gallagher said that he hoped to be able to work out with Howard Johnson similar alleviating arrangements during the remaining term of its agreement that would be beneficial to the Parkway.

State art council is awarded grant

A $5,000 matching grant has been awarded by the National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities to the New Jersey State Council on the Arts. It was announced by Byron R. Kelley, executive director of the Arts Council.

The money will give New Jersey students the opportunity to meet with professional poets and participate in a series of creative writing workshops.

The current grant represents the second successive award bestowed by the National Foundation on the Arts for its creative writing program.

Last year's grant enabled the Arts Council to establish a Poets-in-Residence Program, which will allow writers to spend time in classrooms throughout the state to help students find their own means of creative expression.

Last year's program had New Jersey school children meet for four consecutive weeks with seven writers among them: John Ciardi, Robert Lowell, and Kenneth Koch, author of "Wishes, Lies and Dreams: Teaching Children to Write Poetry."

The artists council plans to use its grant to continue the Poets-in-Residence Program in schools with particular emphasis on geographic and ethnic variety. Another aspect of the program will be the establishment of a poetry resource center in Paterson to focus on the development in the Paterson library of an extensive poetry collection beginning with the works of Paterson's native son, William Carlos Williams.

Lincoln phrase Muskie theme

A theme popularized by Abraham Lincoln in his second inaugural address, delivered in 1864 has become the theme of the independent Muskie campaign in New Jersey.

The New Jersey Youth For Muskie, initiated last month by three law students, Lawrence Jaskos, Lawrence Mauer and Stephen Sperke, said this week that its theme will be "Muskie '72... With malice toward none."

The choice of this phrase as the keynote to the independent Muskie campaign, a spokesman said, "is based upon a two-fold objective: first, to establish a valid identity in both style and substance between Edmund Muskie and Abraham Lincoln and second, to affirm Edmund Muskie's role as the voice of unity in this country."

The theme will be carried on all campaign items, such as buttons and bumper stickers, projected by the New Jersey Youth For Muskie. Persons interested in aiding the group may do so by writing to New Jersey Youth for Muskie, Box 1498, Newark 07102.

'Green Thumbers' changing the face of America

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A million of the American scattered throughout 17 states are literally changing the face of this country.

Called Green Thumbers, these older and mostly retired low income, rural men and women are traveling, starting ecological trails, aiding community development, and providing services for the sick and shut-in. People are not just planting trees.

The Soil Conservation Society of America, Keep America Beautiful, Inc., and the Wildlife Federation all paid tribute to these contribute citizens by bestowing upon them some of their highest awards. The significance of these awards becomes more meaningful when it is learned that these nearly 3,000 men and women average 69 years of age.

The Oregon Green Thumb program was designed by the Soil Conservation Society of America as recipient of the 1970 Meritt Award for "Advancing the Science and Art of Good Land Use." The 142 Green Thumbers in the state are found in 13 counties where they work three days each week at beautification, conservation, upkeep of public parks, clearing brush, landscaping, and planting grass, trees, and flowers.

Green Thumbers in Arkansas were commended by Keep America Beautiful, Inc. for their efforts in the area of litter prevention throughout the state. In awarding the citation, William F. May, chairman of the K.A.B. Board of trustees, observed, "These active and caring senior citizens have practically eliminated litter in rural Arkansas. Green Thumbers in the state have also been responsible for considerable highway improvement and rehabilitation of community facilities in several counties."

The Wisconsin Wildlife Federation recently recognized the accomplishments of Green Thumbers in that state with a merit award for the 1970-71 season. The award, presented to the leading leaders in the conservation movement, reads in part, "The recognition of Green Thumbers in Wisconsin Senior Citizens in programs designed to enhance our environment."

The bestowal of the honor culminates a year in which Green Thumb crews have planned and cultivated thousands of trees, rip-rapped, and completed numerous projects designed to curb erosion.

A life magazine called the Green Thumb program "Rescuing Our 60 Retirement" in its Oct. 16, 1970, issue. Members of both the U.S. Senate and the House of Representatives paid tribute to the success of the pilot program when the recently approved manpower bill was before the bodies. The bill, which calls for a year of public service employment within the next three years, is called for by the bill. Green Thumbers were cited as a success story in the program which proved that public service employment can provide meaningful jobs for the unemployed.

In 17 projects Green Thumbers plant, water, and cultivate trees, 304 plants, shrubs, and flowers, 1,000 plants, and cut and weed selectively. The tally presently stands at 17,000 plants, shrubs, and flowers. Green Thumbers played a major role in supplying necessary repairs in the aftermath of a serious flood last year in Mineola, N.Y. The county board of supervisors and the people found in rural America—many of whom would rather suffer than see an welfare on receive a handout.

Throughout the country these older men and women are demonstrating that age is no criteria for measuring productivity. They

Group plans fete to raise funds

A dinner and fashion show for the benefit of educational programs for the National Council on Alcoholism, Union County Division, will be held Jan. 15 at 7 p.m. in Angelo's Restaurant, St. 22, Union.

The affair is the first fund-raising event of the county division and proceeds will go toward the educational programs with the county, where, according to division director, Mrs. Teresa Conroy, "there is a great lack of knowledge on the true facts of alcoholism."

The goals of the national council, a non-profit, educational organization, are to establish alcoholism as a disease affecting not only the alcoholic but those surrounding him; the fact that the alcoholic and his family can be helped; and that alcoholism is a public health problem which is a community responsibility.

Further information on the fund-raising event and details on the county's educational programs are available through division offices, 300 North Ave., Westfield. Interested persons are welcome to attend.

Control of insects to be topic at club

The Westfield Club of Westfield will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Leomin Hall in the basement of the First Congregational Church of Westfield, 128 Elmer St. William Metterhouse, deputy director of the Division of Plant Industry in the New Jersey Department of Agriculture will be the guest speaker. He will discuss "Biological Control of Insects."

Metterhouse is a graduate of Ohio State University with a degree in Biology. He has been involved with the insect control program of the New Jersey Department of Agriculture for the past 12 years. He will discuss the general techniques of biological control and will demonstrate how they are applicable to specific problems in agriculture. A club spokesman said, "In this time of increasing insect resistance to chemical means of insect control, it is increasingly important because they avoid the hazard of residual chemical and the expense of insecticides which are becoming more costly and are increasingly being used on the newly and currently being developed crops of the state, which is threatening New Jersey's landscape and agriculture."

Rinaldo lauds okay of anti-bomber law

State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-Edison) this week lauded Governor Cahill's signing into law S-70, a Rinaldo-sponsored bill which would increase the penalties for persons convicted of planting bombs.

"I am gratified that the governor has given his approval to this measure, which puts much sharper teeth into New Jersey's laws against bombing," Senator Rinaldo said.

The Union Township Republican introduced the bill last year in response to the bombings of longer jail sentences on anyone found guilty of planting persons or property by placing bombs in an open or enclosed area "public or private" within the jurisdiction of this state.

Town will tighten loophole found in zoning ordinance

The Township Committee moved Tuesday night to eliminate a loophole in the zoning ordinance which had led the municipality to lose a court suit in recent months. Some 30 parcels with 178 residential lots are owned by Democratic majority conduct its first meeting.

Committee member Arthur Caprio introduced an amendment to eliminate several changes from the zoning ordinance. In effect, the change will no longer permit an applicant for a building permit to file an application while a change in the law is pending.

Caprio's action was prompted recently when a case was filed on the firm's last-minute application for permit to put up a restaurant on the corner of Springfield and Morris avenues. The application was filed after an amendment had been introduced which would have barred the restaurant.

The three Democrats were the only members of the governing body present. They are Caprio, Robert Walsh and Mayor Nat Stokes. The mayor explained that the two Republican members were both temporarily absent—Robert Planer was out of town on a business trip, and Raymond Forbes was recuperating after a knee injury.

Caprio read a letter from the Union County Civil Defense organization, praising the local police reserves who responded to a call for help after the explosion in the Essex vicinity in Linden last month. The letter noted that 12 Springfield men were on the scene within 30 minutes after the Saturday night blast.

The committee also noted that there is a need for additional members of the Police Reserve. He urged anyone interested to speak to Saul Freeman, local civil defense director.

March of Dimes sets local goal

Arthur Goldstein, local March of Dimes campaign director for 1971, announced a goal of $2,500 to be raised in Springfield this month. Edgar A. Ward Jr. was named to head the business and industry committee.

"My declared goal is to raise $2,500 for the March of Dimes. This is a goal which is realistic and attainable. I am confident that we can reach this goal with the help of the business and industry community."

The voluntary health organization supports more than 100 birth defects centers at major medical centers of teaching hospitals.

"Admirable progress has been made with the March of Dimes and rubella vaccine in decreasing the number of infants born with birth defects. Research is being carried on to study hereditary disorders of the central nervous system and congenital metabolic diseases. Prenatal care clinics are cropping up across the country.

"It is necessary to undertake the research into causes, cure and prevention of diseases to help future generations of children, while providing comprehensive care for those who are afflicted."
