State police study ties crime, drug abuse statistically

Almost 23 percent of all the persons arrested in Union County in a one-month period were identified as drug abusers.

More than 21 percent of those arrested for a drug violation during the month were charged with selling, the highest such "ratio" of any county in the state.

More than 84 percent of the drug abusers arrested in the county during the month were residents of the county.

The grim statistics are given in a "Drug Abuse and Crime in New Jersey," a pamphlet prepared by the state of the Uniform Crime Reporting Unit of the New Jersey State Police. Figures are based on surveys taken in August, 1970. They represent "the first such effort ever made toward establishing a meaningful correlation between two major social problems," crime and drug abuse, according to Col. J. J. Kelly, State Police superintendent.

An introduction to the study points out that there is a "real and genuine" relationship between crime and drug abuse, a term used to refer to "the use, sale or possession of those substances which are prohibited by the laws of the State of New Jersey."

The survey reports that 27,418 persons were arrested in the state during the month. Of these, 4,177, or 15.6 percent, were identified as drug abusers.

The report adds that 68 percent of the drug-related arrests were for actual violation of the narcotic drug law, while the remaining 32 percent were associated with drug abuse by police investigations.

It also states that 2,319 persons, or 57 percent of the 4,177 identified as drug abusers, were charged with narcotic drug violations only; 417 persons, or 11 percent, were charged with narcotic drug violations in conjunction with another type of offense; and 1,447, or 32 percent, were associated with drug abuse by prior records of arrest or disclosure by police investigations.

More than 43 percent, or 2,743, of the 22,418 persons arrested during the survey month were 17 years of age or younger. And almost 13 percent of these 7,433 juveniles were identified as drug abusers.

The total number of juveniles arrested included 2,753 in the 14-and-under age group, of whom five percent were identified as drug abusers. The remaining 4,689 in the 15-17 age group include 17 percent who were identified as drug abusers.

But the highest individual drug involvement ratio was in the 18-20 age group, which had 4,054 arrests. Here more than three of every 10 persons arrested were associated with drug abuse, the survey said.

The study also identified the type of drug or narcotic used by the 4,177 identified as drug abusers: marijuana or hashish, 46.7 percent; opium or cocaine and their derivatives, including heroin, morphine and cocaine, 35.3 percent; non-narcotic drugs—barbiturates, amphetamines and LSD, 12.6 percent; synthetic narcotics such as demerol and methadone, 1.8 percent; and possession of paraphernalia, 5.6 percent.

More than 14 percent—5,477 persons studied were from out-of-state. Almost 46 percent of the total did not live in the community in which the offense took place, the report adds.

It pointed out that "the drug abuser will, because of lack of funds, commit an anti-social act to obtain money to satisfy his habit."

To determine the degree to which this holds true, the survey compiled data on the number of drug abusers who committed violent crimes, (murder, forcible rape, assault and robbery) and property crimes to finance their habit. It reported that juvenile drug abusers arrested during the month committed offenses in order to fund their drug habit in 16 percent of all instances; adults, in more than 24 percent of all cases.

The survey also noted that 57 percent of the drug abusers arrested during the month had prior records of arrest.

In commenting on the statistics revealed in the report, the survey adds:

"It should be remembered that New Jersey is ninth among states in that, although 46th in size, it ranks eighth in population, making it the most densely populated state in the nation."

"Situated between New York and Philadelphia, New Jersey has the additional distinction of being the most 'urbanized' of all states."

"These two factors alone result in social conditions which are indigenous to only the State of New Jersey."

Commencement speaker lauds UCTI's degrees

"These exercises mark a new milestone in education in New Jersey and to the best of my knowledge a new milestone in the history of education in the United States," Dr. Albert E. Meier of Westfield, told graduates of Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, at commencement exercises last week at the Technical Institute.

The vice-president emeritus of Rutgers University and chairman of the education committee of the board of trustees of Union College, described "the conferring of associate degrees upon students who have completed college level programs of technological and occupational education in an institution organized under the laws pertaining to vocational education and supported largely by funds earmarked for vocational education as the bridge down of artificial barriers between one kind of education and another."

The commencement exercises marked the first time that graduates of approved technical programs at the Technical Institute have been eligible to receive associate-in-applied-science degrees conferred by Union College.

"Where a chartered college and a vocational school have joined hands under the auspices of a public body, the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education, to work together in meeting the cultural and occupational educational needs of a community."

"This program, he said, challenges the Union County Technical Institute to walk in two worlds—the world of vocational education and the world of higher education."

The world of higher education, Dr. Meier defined "as a community and a climate" — a community of scholars, in a climate of intellectual freedom and one in which the pursuit of excellence is cherished.

Dr. Meier, a graduate of Union College, is a member of the board of directors of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children, Paul Gleicher of Cranford, Alice Keck of Union, H. Van Dusen Pullen and Bertram Schwartz of Westfield, Lawrence Newcomb and Martin Stern of Scotch Plains were elected to the state organization's delegate assembly. Mrs. Robert Meier of Elizabeth was elected a trustee of the Union County Unit.

The purpose of the Union County Unit is to see that all necessary programs and services are available to help retarded people toward independent, useful lives. It encourages and aids other agencies to include the retarded in their programs, and it operates daily educational, recreational and supportive services of its own.

The organization, a United-Fund agency, is composed of parents of the retarded, people who work in the field of retardation, and interested members of the general public. The office is at 662 Boulevard, Kenilworth, and the executive director is Mrs. Betty McGhee.

Dr. Samuel Goldstein of Springfield was named a member of the board of directors of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children, Paul Gleicher of Cranford, Alice Keck of Union, H. ## 'Foster homes' are sought in student exchange project

Representatives for the Experiment in International Living are searching for homes where about 15 students from foreign nations can spend a few weeks before entering colleges and universities in this area.

Mrs. James Richards of Kenilworth, area coordinator for the program, said the students will arrive in early or mid-August. Their stay in Union and Middlesex county homes will be their first experience of American life.

The aim of the Experiment in International Living is to foster personal contacts among people from other lands. The organization, centered in Putney, Vt., places American students in foreign homes and universities as well both during the summer and school year.

Host families also should treat their guests "as members of the family." Mrs. Richards observed that both the guests and hosts will benefit through the cultural exchange.

Families interested in housing the visiting students may contact Mrs. Richards at 521 Washington, 2072-5824.

Things are seldom what they seem.

Big cars often pass as big cars, when they're really small cars. For instance, notice how much bigger the big car seems than the Volkswagen Squareback sedan. Then count the number of windows it can take on only 12. Now, notice how small the Squareback seems to be. Then count the number of windows it can take on only 16. This is because the Squareback has 32.8 cubic feet of carrying space. Which is one and a half times as much as that of the largest sedan truck. Of course, if you really have a lot to carry you can always fold down the Squareback's rear seat. Then you'll have more than twice as much carrying space as the largest sedan truck.

Don't tread on road danger, be certain your tires are safe

WASHINGTON, D.C. - "Summertime, and the living is easy." This popular refrain will be sung, hummed, and whistled throughout the months ahead by those motorists who have taken the time to prepare their car's tires for the long vacation trips ahead. To make your summer trips more pleasant, the Tire Industry Safety Council offers these tips: Always keep your tires properly inflated. This is one of the most important rules in the safety. Check your car owner's manual and make sure you have the recommended air pressure for the load being carried. Always have the wheel balance and alignment checked before any extended trip. Always check air pressure with a personal hand gauge as service station air towers are often inaccurate.

Always increase the air pressure in tires four pounds per square inch but not over the "maximum" inflation limit (shown on the tire's sidewall) before embarking on a long trip at high speeds on superhighways. Always inspect your tires for abnormal wear, fabric breaks, cuts or other damage. Also, remove any small stones or bits of glass embedded in the tread. Always leave a "summer ice." As rain begins to fall, it mixes with gas and oil films on the road creating ice-like conditions. Always rotate your tires after they have been driven for 3,000 miles. Ross R. Ormsby, chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council, emphasized that motorists will have little cause to worry about their tire's safety if they regularly heed the above tips. Especially important are the rules relating to proper inflation and load.

With this little amount of tread air 44 times more likely to suffer disintegration from wear. Built-in "wear bars" show as smooth bands across the surface of the tire when the danger level is reached. The heat build-up in tires results from the flexing of the tire body. This flexing will increase as speed increases. Under conditions such as underinflation or overloading, a car running at sustained high speeds may cause tire temperatures to rise above the critical level of 250 degrees F. (water boils at 212 degrees F.), reducing the tire's strength and tread life, and increasing the risk of disintegration. Ormsby reminds motorists that if there is only 1/16th of an inch or less of tread remaining, tires should be replaced immediately. More than 99 percent of all traffic fatalities in 1970 were due to excessive speed. Speeding accounted for 17,700 persons killed and 88,000 injured.

Safety guides for swimming, bathing

From New Jersey State Safety Council

Swim only in protected areas and obey the safety rules enforced by the lifeguard. Take no risks.

Never enter a pool unless there is a guard on duty. Avoid rough play on runways, diving boards, etc.

Wait about one hour after eating before going swimming, to avoid cramps. Use the "buddy" system. Always be accompanied by another person when swimming.

When swimming long distances be accompanied by two people in a boat to assure safety.

Before wading, swimming, or diving in an unfamiliar place find out the depth of the water, and whether there are hidden rocks, strong currents, etc.

Keep hands off others while in deep water. Before venturing into deep water, know how to swim, tread water, float, and turn around.

If you swim out into deep water, you must return the same distance. Start back before you are too tired.

If you are being helped, let the rescuer and the person coming to the rescue handle you. Don't grab him around the neck.

Keep away from swift moving water, and watch out for an undertow. If caught in a current, swim with it and at the same time toward shore.

Stay out of the water during a thunderstorm. Hyperventilate yourself having difficulty in deep water, keep your calm and trust in your own action.

Here are some things you can do: Float lying flat on your back with your arms and legs stretched out straight.

Tread, scull, or kick slowly, keeping your hands underneath the water. Do not panic. Hold onto a stick of wood, or canoe, end.

Put your chin on anything that will float and push yourself along. Hold your breath if your head gets under water.

Calling for help is serious. Don't do it for fun. In case of cramps, massage the cramped muscle.

Keep calm - it is fear that causes cramps to be fatal. To overcome a cramp in the calf while in deep water, take a deep breath, go underwater, seize the cramped muscle.

Swimming pool rules. Skin diving is a safe sport. Because divers develop skills, diving habits early and assist to help the beginning diver develop those same habits, here are some safety tips.

Before learning to dive have a complete physical examination by a doctor. Don't attempt diving unless you're a good swimmer.

Seek professional instruction and take a full course in SCUBA diving from a certified instructor. This is not a "learn-it-yourself" sport.

Never use goggles or snorkels when diving. Be sure all equipment is attached to "quick release" straps. If you wear a weight belt, never put it on under a SCUBA harness.

LIFE SAVER

A good life jacket, correctly used and properly cared for, will help save the life of a potentially-drowning victim.

To be a good life jacket, it must meet the specifications set by the U.S. Coast Guard. So any life jacket you buy should bear the "U.S.C.G. Approved" stamp.

Here are some other tips from the U.S. Coast Guard. When buying a life jacket, it should be tried on. It should fit right and be reasonably comfortable.

Life jackets should not be used as "so-buffers" cushions or pillows. During the periods when they're not being used, they should be stored in a cool, well-ventilated place.

Life jackets should be tested periodically to see if they still have their buoyancy properties. The most important point about life jackets is that it can't help save a life if it's stuffed out of the way in the hull of a boat or it's been left on shore. It must be worn.

Manufacturers are designed to fit the weight of an adult and prevent him from falling into the water. Furthermore, each safety cover must have a tearproof, locking device that will make removal impossible by unassisted persons.

Remember, you have legal responsibility for pool accidents that occur in your pool even if you have not given permission for its use.

Do not permit "roughhousing" in and around your pool. Accidents resulting in serious injuries can be prevented if rules of behavior are strictly enforced.

Many accidents are caused by children who are not properly supervised. There are many areas that will become wet and slippery. They should be tested periodically to see if they still have their buoyancy properties.

Do not drink alcohol before or during a swim. Alcohol impairs judgment and coordination, and can lead to dehydration and heatstroke.

Do not swim alone. Always have a buddy with you. If you are having difficulty, call for help immediately.

Do not swim if you are feeling ill or have any open wounds. Do not swim if you have a fever, sore throat, or any other illness.

Do not swim in polluted or unsafe water. Avoid swimming in areas with strong currents or rough play.

Do not use drugs or alcohol before or during a swim. Do not swim if you are wearing prescription lenses or contact lenses.

Do not swim if you are pregnant. Do not swim if you have a heart condition or other medical problems.

Do not swim if you are wearing a watch or jewelry. Do not swim if you are wearing a hat or sunglasses.

Do not swim if you are wearing a swimsuit that is not properly fitted. Do not swim if you are wearing a swimsuit that is not properly cared for.

FATAL MISTAKES FOR BOATERS

ATTENTION to the following 10 points will eliminate the hazards in boating and save lives.

1. OVERLOADING. The U.S. Coast Guard has a simple rule: "If the boat looks or feels overloaded, it probably is so. Don't take it out."

2. NO LIFE-SAVING DEVICE. This is the number one deadly error for boaters. If the boat is overloaded, it is more likely to be overloaded.

3. EXCESSIVE DRINKING. The hazard of drinking and driving belongs to the waterways as well as to highways.

4. EXCESSIVE DRINKING. The hazard of drinking and driving belongs to the waterways as well as to highways.

Swim only in protected areas and obey the safety rules enforced by the lifeguard. Take no risks.

Never enter a pool unless there is a guard on duty. Avoid rough play on runways, diving boards, etc.

Wait about one hour after eating before going swimming, to avoid cramps. Use the "buddy" system. Always be accompanied by another person when swimming.

When swimming long distances be accompanied by two people in a boat to assure safety.

Before wading, swimming, or diving in an unfamiliar place find out the depth of the water, and whether there are hidden rocks, strong currents, etc.

Keep hands off others while in deep water. Before venturing into deep water, know how to swim, tread water, float, and turn around.

If you swim out into deep water, you must return the same distance. Start back before you are too tired.

If you are being helped, let the rescuer and the person coming to the rescue handle you. Don't grab him around the neck.

Life jackets should not be used as "so-buffers" cushions or pillows. During the periods when they're not being used, they should be stored in a cool, well-ventilated place.

Life jackets should be tested periodically to see if they still have their buoyancy properties. The most important point about life jackets is that it can't help save a life if it's stuffed out of the way in the hull of a boat or it's been left on shore. It must be worn.

Manufacturers are designed to fit the weight of an adult and prevent him from falling into the water. Furthermore, each safety cover must have a tearproof, locking device that will make removal impossible by unassisted persons.

Remember, you have legal responsibility for pool accidents that occur in your pool even if you have not given permission for its use.

Do not permit "roughhousing" in and around your pool. Accidents resulting in serious injuries can be prevented if rules of behavior are strictly enforced.

Many accidents are caused by children who are not properly supervised. There are many areas that will become wet and slippery. They should be tested periodically to see if they still have their buoyancy properties.

Do not drink alcohol before or during a swim. Alcohol impairs judgment and coordination, and can lead to dehydration and heatstroke.

Do not swim alone. Always have a buddy with you. If you are having difficulty, call for help immediately.

The New Jersey State Fair will run 10 days and nights at the Trenton Fairgrounds beginning with a preview Friday, Sept. 10, at 3 p.m., and continue through Sunday, Sept. 19, Fred Kell, fair manager, announced this week.

The fair will get under way with the Jake Pluribstead Thrill Show following an opening ceremony by the VFW Color Guard and Hamilton's Mayor Raymond I. Dwyer. With the exception of Friday night, Sept. 17, all shows in front of the grandstand will be free to fairgoers, Kell said.

Saturday, the second day, will be devoted to the state's volunteer fire companies as they form a mile-long march and competition in front of the stands. That afternoon, the Plumbeated darcevels will reenact their death-defying feats.

On Sunday, noted singer Enzo Stuarti (Fanny, Me and Juliet) will be on stage afternoon and evening. Various acts will precede the vocalist.

The Barona Spits will greet the children on Monday, Mercer County Children's Day at the fair. Admission to the grounds will be free until closing for the youngsters, said Kell. A scuba diving demonstration will also be staged Tuesday, veterans from the Mercer County area will share the spotlight with Future

Friday night's show will be a youth concert. Top name groups will be on hand to tune in and turn on the youngsters during the evening. Because of the expense of these groups, there will be a charge for this grandstand show, said Kell.

F.A.I. amateur boxers will take to the ring on Saturday afternoon followed by circus acts. Saturday night will be a polka time with acts and fireworks, all in front of the grandstand.

The fair will close with show by the Jack Kuchman Hill Drivers on Sunday at 3 and 7 p.m.

Heymann pledges assistance to vets in search for jobs

In response to President Nixon's orders for an "effective mobilization of federal resources" to get jobs or job training for Vietnam veterans, a re-affirmation of dedication to the task was announced this week by Commissioner Ronald M. Heymann of the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry.

"Vietnam vets are the key to New Jersey's economic future," Commissioner Heymann said. "Each of the VETS' (veterans' employment) representatives in our 48 State Training and Employment Service Offices has been charged with the responsibility of expanding even greater effort on their behalf," the commissioner added. More than 4,000 New Jersey veterans will be coming home during the next year. Special programs have been organized to solicit support for them. One such program is the Mercer County Job for Vets Task Force.

Headed by Mayor Albert E. Bressi of Washington, Township, the task force has members of Mercer County municipalities as honorary chairmen. Working in conjunction with the National Alliance of Business, this group plans a "Job Mart" to place veterans in jobs. The "Job Mart" will be held this fall at the Trenton Civic Center.

The commissioner also noted that Governor Cahill's "Jobs for Veterans" Task Force will be holding its next meeting on June 29 at the Holiday Inn in New Brunswick.

New handbook lists unemployment stats from 1936-1970

A new handbook recording unemployment insurance statistics in New Jersey from 1936 to 1970 is now available. Ronald M. Heymann, commissioner of the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry, announced this week.

The report summarizes the statistical experience of the N.J. Unemployment Compensation Law from its enactment in 1936 through 35 years of operation.

"This record of historical statistics will prove beneficial in analyzing the implications of the sweeping changes in the Unemployment Insurance Law which will become effective in 1972," said Commissioner Heymann.

Designed as a comprehensive reference source for administrators, legislators, researchers and students, the statistical handbook was prepared by the Office of Planning, Research and Program Evaluation. Distribution of the report includes libraries in New Jersey, Chambers of Commerce and employer-oriented groups, directors of employment security agencies and university libraries. In addition, copies will be sent to New Jersey Unemployment Insurance Claims Offices, New Jersey Employment Service Offices and Administrative District Offices.

Single copies of the statistical handbook are available by calling or writing the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry, Division of Planning and Research, Trenton, N.J. 08625.

Seton institute stresses Christian bond to Jews

"In a world so small, with so many burning issues, the question is likely to be raised - 'Why the Jews?' Why be concerned with the Jews at this particular time?" asked Miss Eva Fleischer of Marquette University. Her question was part of the opening address of the third annual Memorial Institute at Seton Hall University where the institute, which continues through tomorrow, is co-sponsored by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith and the Institute of Judeo-Christian Studies at Seton Hall.

Co-directors of the institute are Dr. Joseph Lichten, director of Intercultural Affairs for ADL, and Msgr. John M. Oesterreicher, director of the Institute of Judeo-Christian Studies. Program coordinator is Sr. Rose Thering, Ph.D.

The Memorial Institute seeks to foster a renewed vision of the Christian's bond to the Jewish people by attempting to understand present day Jews and the roots of the church in the Judaism of old.

Miss Fleischer, who is doing graduate work in theology at Marquette University and is a member of the ADL, replied to this question by saying that the Christian needs the Jew in order to understand himself fully. A through knowledge of Judaism is no luxury for the Christian. "We were born out of Judaism. We would simply not be if it were not for Judaism," she emphasized.

"The question is more significant today, she stressed, because 'we belong to a generation that has witnessed two major events in Jewish history - the Holocaust and the birth of the State of Israel, two extreme poles, the one of death and destruction, the other of resurrection and life.' These events challenge all men. They challenge Christians especially to rethink and revise theological views which impoverish their own spiritual lives and which have led to much suffering and persecution of the Jew.

In his welcoming remarks, Dr. Lichten addressed himself to the same issue when he reported that during a recent audience with Pope Paul VI the Holy Father stressed that too often Catholics neglect to keep in mind the injustices committed in the past against Jews living among them.

"It's about time that we recall that we learn again, that Jews are brothers who improve the same heavenly Father," Msgr. Oesterreicher quoted from a special mass recently composed by a German author and entitled The Jews - Our Brothers. Among the suggested prayers of this Yuletide Mass are the following two: "Father in heaven, Your Son, our Lord Jesus Christ was born a Jew; We thank you for Him who became our brother and for the people through whose instrumentality you have given Him to us." "Most merciful Father, on the cross your Son forgave all those drawn into the web of guilt against us, too. At this eschatologic meal may He forgive us, too, for whatever we have done to offend this people."

Contribution promised by AFL-CIO

The New Jersey AFL-CIO, representing 750,000 union members throughout the state, has unanimously pledged to raise $750,000 for the National Foundation for Boys this year, in support of its effort to build a "City for Boys" in New Jersey.

The pledge was made at the AFL-CIO State convention held in Atlantic City. A resolution presented to the delegates by State President Charles H. Marciano, called upon each union member in New Jersey to donate a one-time gift of at least one dollar to the National Foundation for Boys.

"Funds will be raised by on-the-job solicitation, contractual checkoff with union membership approval, appeals to international unions, fund raising affairs held by individual locals or some combination of these methods." The National Foundation announced in February that it was planning to purchase an existing facility in Morris County that would house 400 homeless and abandoned New Jersey boys.

Future plans call for the expansion of the facility into a "City for Boys" - a self-contained community that would house, care for and educate 1,000 New Jersey boys.

Generation Gap U.S.A.

The mutual significance for Christians and Jews symbolized by the Menorah was described by Sr. Rose Thering in her opening remarks. "It's seven candles, lighted make it seem alive, symbolizing life who is both light and life. God. Therefore it is fitting," she said, "that the program of studies is entitled the Menorah Institute."

Attending the institute are 65 clergy, religious, and laymen from 20 states and Canada. Among the professions represented are high school, college and university teachers, religious education coordinators, and ecumenists.

The Industry Advancement Program of the Building Contractors Association of New Jersey is seeking the assistance of New Jersey high school and vocational school students in the selection of a position such as Receptionist, Typist, Stenographer, or Secretary.

You see, it's not so easy to find a job. You see, it's not so easy to get a good education. You see, it's not so easy to get a good job. You see, it's not so easy to get a good life.

theme for the association's 1972 model building competition for students in the ninth through twelfth grades.

John B. Shuler, director of education for the association, announced that the student submitting the best overall theme will receive $50. The best entry from each county in the state carries a $10 award.

The model-building competition is a program designed to attract student interest in the construction field.

Entries are to be submitted to the principals of high schools and vocational and technical institutions, and interested in the theme contest are free to consult their teachers, parents, contractors, architects, and engineers concerning overall aspects of the theme. He said preference will be given to topics that are current and that will serve as a functional need for New Jersey.

Shuler suggested as possible themes for the model competition "low cost housing for major cities," a "retirement complex for the elderly," a "farmers market center," or a "convention center," but not necessarily limited to these topics.

Paul J. Britton, managing director of the association, said the theme, "Construction Industry Hall of Fame," was selected for the initial 1971 model building competition, which drew more than 200 entries from high and vocational school students in 18 of New Jersey's 21 counties.

Britton said the association's educational program to attract student interest in all phases of the construction industry was so keen that the association decided to permit them to select the theme for the next project.

900 taking part in Boys' State at Rider College

Some 900 of New Jersey's top high school boys are at Rider College this week taking part in the 26th annual New Jersey American Legion-sponsored Boys' State program.

The program, which will be highlighted tomorrow by the election of a 1971 boy governor, also involves the delegates from almost every public and parochial high school in the state in roles as senators, assemblymen, freelancers, mayors, councilmen, police chiefs, prosecutors and judges.

The delegates, each representing an American Legion post, were selected by their schools on the basis of character, scholarship and service. All will be high school sophomores or juniors.

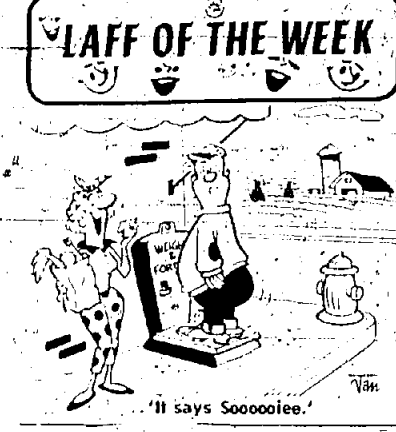

Aiding the delegates in learning about the practical operation of government on all levels are numerous state and municipal government officials including State Institutions and Agencies Commissioner Lloyd W. McCorkle, State Treasurer Joseph M. Nerone Jr., and State Police Superintendent Col. David H. Kelly.

Also a feature tomorrow along with the election of a governor to succeed 1970 boy governor Rex Ferguson of Maple Shade will be a 720-p.m. concert in Rider's Alumni Gym by the Boys' State band, under the direction of Rudolph Kreutzer of South Orange-Maplewood High School and Charles Westrom, director of music for the Trenton public schools.

The Boys' State program is being conducted on Rider's 300-acre suburban campus for the third year after being shifted from Rutgers University. Directing the program again this year is Harold A. Eaton of Trenton.

Summer activity can cut youthful pedestrian toll

"Prevention is better than cure is a maxim which is also true for pedestrian safety," R. J. Valle of the New Jersey Automobile Club (NJAC) said this week. "In other words, to avoid being injured by motor vehicles, pedestrians must stay away from them."

Valle asked parents to be alert to the special hazards facing their children during the summer vacation. "Lots of unstructured time means lots of time which could be spent near traffic. Take a preventive measure by guiding your children's summer activities so that they will have minimal contact with traffic."

Legal playgrounds, museums, the public library, parks, etc., all offer possibilities for constructive summer play, he pointed out.

Valle suggested that parents, teachers, and interested people in the community could consolidate and spread around information on numerous instances, groups of parents have created home-made play yards.

"Play areas from traffic-free areas, the theme of this traffic safety poster, which was created by Stacy Weaver, age 12, a seventh grade student at St. Joseph School in York, Pa.

Father, daughter dig it together

Upsala prof, student at Jordan excavation site

A father and daughter team at Upsala College left Thursday for Amman, Jordan, where they will participate in a seven-week archaeological dig with 34 other Americans and Canadians.

For Professor Roger Borass of East Orange, the dig marks his seventh expedition to the Near East and his second as chief archaeologist for Andrews University of Michigan. Last year he was scheduled to join four Upsala students in Jordan but three days before the departure the dig was postponed by action of the U.S. State Department. The disappointed students had arrived in Lebanon when they were advised they could not enter the country.

Dr. Borass, chairman of the Department of Religion and Philosophy at Upsala, participated in archaeological expeditions in 1962, 1964, 1966, 1967 (two that year) and 1969. But for disturbances and resultant tensions in Jordan last summer, this would have been his eighth expedition. Last year he was scheduled to join four Upsala students in Jordan but three days before the departure the dig was postponed by action of the U.S. State Department. The disappointed students had arrived in Lebanon when they were advised they could not enter the country.

His daughter, an honors student who will be entering her senior year, will work as an assistant field supervisor with a crew of some 200 U.S. and Jordanian workers. She Borass, a philosophy major, bonded up for the expedition by taking preparatory courses work in Ancient Near East History at Princeton University. She also took a course in Introduction to Archaeological Methods taught by her father.

"She performed reasonably well," said Dr. Borass of his student daughter.

The trip will have added significance for Miss Borass, who, as one of her extra-curricular activities at Upsala, also serves as scorekeeper and linekeeper for Upsala's soccer team. While en route to Jordan she will celebrate her 21st birthday on June 28.

Before arriving in Jordan, Dr. Borass and daughter will spend a week in London where they will visit the British Museum, a day in Geneva, three days in Cyprus and three in Lebanon. They must return by August 25 because three days later Dr. Borass, an ordained minister, will perform the wedding ceremony of two former Upsala students, Diane Anderson of East Orange and David H. Hartman of Edison, at the First Lutheran Church, East Orange. Both were graduates from Upsala in 1970. Miss Anderson participated in an archaeological dig in 1969 and was with the 1970 travel group that had to cancel its plans because of the disturbances in Jordan.

The excavation site will be the same one that Dr. Borass worked in 1968 when he served as chief archaeologist also. At that time the group found, among other things, considerable archeological period ruins in an area which appeared to be the remains of the Byzantine church. This year they hope to find the burial area of the city of Heshbon, to expand the search for the city's defense plan and to obtain more information on the ancient city's water supply and storage system.

55,200 killed in '70 accidents

More than 55,200 men, women and children were killed in traffic accidents during 1970. However, experts see a glimmer of hope in this statistic.

In 1968 America's highway death toll was 56,900. Much of the reduction in highway deaths, according to a survey by The Travelers Insurance Companies, may be attributed to safety features which have been installed in new vehicles since 1966. In addition, according to the firm's annual publication of street and highway statistics, there may be a growing awareness by drivers of the need for safer driving.

The publication, titled "The Road Behind The Wheel," also notes that excessive speed was a major factor in more than 20 percent of the traffic deaths in 1970. Nearly half of the auto fatalities occurred during weekends and/or during hours of darkness.

Though the number of deaths was down, the number of injuries from vehicular accidents was up. In 1969, some 4,700,000 persons were injured on highways in the United States. In 1970, the figure jumped to 5,100,000.

Another fact contained in the booklet, one that has not changed much in several years, is that drivers under 25 years of age were involved in more than one-third of all accidents, fatal and non-fatal. Yet this group makes up only one-fifth of all licensed drivers.

Roger C. Wilkins, chairman of the board of The Travelers, suggests, in a preface to the booklet, that even with safer cars and highways, "it will be our acceptance of these safer automobiles, our continuing pressure on appropriate authorities, and our acknowledgment of individual responsibility that will insure that we reach our goal of fewer and fewer accidents on our streets and highways."

Williams acts to correct Social Security inequity

WASHINGTON, U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-N.J.) introduced legislation last week to change a provision of the Social Security Act that penalizes many working wives.

The bill, chairman of the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee and immediate past chairman of the Social Security Committee on Aging, said the provision is one that involves instances where a couple with a working wife may receive lower Social Security benefits than a family where only the husband worked, although both couples had identical total earnings and contributions to Social Security.

Under the law, a wife who is at least 65 years old is entitled to benefits equal to 50 percent of her husband's primary amount without regard to whether or not she ever worked.

In the case of a working wife, she may elect to receive benefits in similar fashion or may choose benefits based on her own earnings record, whichever method produces the higher amount.

"This may sound generous but there are instances where quite the reverse is true," he noted.

Sen. Williams said the inequity can be seen by comparing the benefits to two family units with average earnings of $6,000.

"In one instance, if the $6,000 represents earnings of the husband, the couple would receive $370 in total monthly Social Security benefits. The husband would be entitled to $22.70 while the wife would receive $112.40 — 50 percent of the husband's benefits.

"The situation is dramatically different with a couple that has the same $6,000 earnings figure but where $4,000 represents earnings of the husband while $2,000 of the total is income earned by the wife.

"In this case, the husband would be entitled to $171.50 in monthly benefits and the wife $118, for a total of $290.50.

"Thus this couple would receive $47.50 less per month than the family where only the husband worked. Yet both couples had identical average earnings and contributed the same amount in Social Security taxes."

The Williams' bill, an amendment to the Social Security Act, would permit husbands and wives whose incomes add up to receive an amount equal to 75 percent of the benefits based on combined earnings.

Under this form, both couples in the example would receive about $337 per month for a total of $674.

A bigger dollar's worth.

At the New Jersey Blues we work tirelessly to cope with escalating health care costs and to provide our 3.5 million members a bigger dollar's worth.

We do it in a variety of ways:

• FST One, we keep a watchful eye on overhead. As a result, our combined administrative costs take less than 6 cents of each dollar. Versus several times that amount for other health insurers.

• Working with doctors and hospitals, we help to keep hospital stays to the minimum and screen out benefits for unnecessary admissions. Real progress in better care and waste-cutting at all.

• We are expanding outpatient and out-of-hospital coverage to encourage less costly alternatives for services that can be performed just as well on the side of the hospital.

• And we stretch health dollars in other ways. With a long history of support of ways to discourage unnecessary health care facilities or services. With a new program that will avoid costly duplication where two family members have two forms of coverage. No one would be denied his benefits. No one would collect twice, either.

• Recently, laws were modernized so groups of 100 or more can pay rates based on that usage. This new, current-cost rating is now available to groups requesting it. Other groups will be phased-in on this practical pay-as-you-go basis during the months ahead.

"A bigger dollar's worth." That's what it is all about.

Magovern gets post

John J. Magovern Jr. of Summit, president of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., Newark, was elected president of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting of the Chamber's board of directors last Wednesday in Newark.

Magovern succeeds Thomas C. Butler, chairman of the board of the Grand Union Co., East Paterson. Butler is completing his second term of one year as the Chamber's president — the maximum number permitted under the Chamber's constitution. Magovern will officially take office on July 1.

The Chamber's board also elected a successor to the late Albert H. Askew as head of the Chamber's full-time staff operating in Newark. The new executive vice president of the Chamber will be Donald G. Scott, of Bloomfield, presently manager of public affairs of American Cyanamid Co., York, Pa. Scott, who has long been active in Chamber-sponsored committees of the Chamber, will begin his new duties on Aug. 1.

Seton Law School gets a new dean

Seton Hall University has named 48-year-old John P. Irving of Wilmette, Ill., to be dean of its School of Law in Newark, succeeding John P. Loftus, who retired last year after serving 16 years in that capacity.

The new dean, who is presently executive director of the Illinois State Bar Association, was selected after extensive searching by a search committee composed of students, faculty members, alumni and members of the bar of the State of New Jersey.

A native of Jersey City, he is a graduate of St. Peter's College and received his juris doctor degree from Fordham University Law School in 1964 and subsequently was awarded his master's degree by the NYU Graduate School of Law in 1962.

From 1966 to 1967 he was a law secretary at the Superior Court Judges and from 1967 until 1968 he was the editor of the "Legal Education" section of the "New York Law Journal" and from 1968 until 1969 he was the editor of the "Legal Education" section of the "New York Law Journal" and from 1969 until 1970 he was the editor of the "Legal Education" section of the "New York Law Journal."

He was executive director of the Jersey City Redevelopment Agency from 1960 until 1962 when he joined the professional staff of the American Bar Association as field director of a search committee for a search committee.

For the next four years he served as executive director of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges and during his period he acted as Dean of the Summer College of the University of Colorado.

In 1969 he became executive director of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission where he supervised professional and clerical staff of 66 persons in the planning, funding and coordinating training and education of criminal justice personnel, improving the courts law reform and other efforts to improve the criminal justice system.

Dean Irving was the recipient of a Freedom Foundation Award, the Department of Community Affairs, in cooperation with the N. J. Association of Secondary School Principals, the N. J. Association of High School Principals and the Division of Controversies and Disputes of the State, Department of Education, has the approval of the state Department of Education and the strong personal support of state education Commissioner Carl L. Mautberger.

Dr. Mark W. Hurwitz, Executive Director of NJSBA, in asking for the Executive Committee's endorsement called the Guide an "excellent" and an "honest, fair and objective document on student rights and responsibilities as they apply in this state."

William B. Rosenberg of the Somerset County Vocational Board of Education, a past and second vice-president of NJSBA, pointed out that the Guide is not an expression of attitude or opinion regarding students' rights and responsibilities, but a realistic comparison of the law in this state as expressed in the United States and New Jersey Constitutions, state school law, federal and state court decisions, and decisions of the Commissioner of Education and the State Board of Education.

your week ahead

BY DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: June 27 to July 3

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19) The thought of not leaving "well enough" alone seems to preoccupy your mind. Shake off the feeling of emotional shock to your present romance pattern.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20) Developing a conscious effort to move into the main stream of activity. Stress good grooming. The probability of meeting someone important is likely. Social success is in the scheme of things.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20) According to your chart, the thought of changing your physical appearance should hit you as a first. Bureaucracy with routine associates might also become a hang-up.

MOONCHILD (June 21 - July 22) There's a short circuit in your intuitive ability. Refrain from trying to guess what a member of the opposite sex has in mind. Think in terms of materialistic gains.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22) Many members of your sign must be careful of what they put in writing, concerning affairs of the heart. Incidentally, Leo will be under the influence of a 6th ascendant.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) During the present cosmic cycle, it seems as though you can do no wrong. At least, hardly any wrong. So, break away from business routine.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22) Become a winner of sorts, shows in your stellar patterns. You should have thought, however, of curbing your tendency to become arrogant because of this week's accomplishments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21) Begin to write some tasks which will help you to become a more organized person. Try not to get too busy. Avoid taking short cuts in order to beat the weekly cosmic cycles.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21) Apparently, you have been, and will be, taking yourself too seriously. A cloud of self pity hangs over many Sagittarians. Use a good sense of humor with the opposite sex.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) It seems as though you are heading toward a situation or event that you have not thought of. Avoid it. The points you stand to lose a little in the final outcome.

This 4-H activity keeps the atmosphere electric

Like Benjamin Franklin with his kite and key in a thunderstorm, today's science-minded 4-H'ers are discovering the wonders of electricity.

And when some 131,000 young people from cities as well as rural areas get involved with electricity they accomplish remarkable things, the Cooperative Extension Service points out.

For instance, three of the 1970 national electric program winners performed

Association gives award to Williams

For his "effective, forceful and lasting contributions on behalf of the elderly and the infirmed," U. S. Senator Harrison A. Williams (D-N.J.) has been selected as recipient of the second annual Better Life Award of the New Jersey Nursing Home Association.

"We know of no other governmental official who has done more to earn this recognition," according to Eugene J. Friedman, president of the NJNHA and president of Town and Country Nursing Centers, Inc., Toms River.

"Almost since the day he began his Senate service in 1959, Senator Williams has dedicated a major portion of his activities toward alleviating the plight of the aged."

"The understanding and compassion he has demonstrated time and again since he became a charter member of the Senate Committee on Aging 10 years ago indicate why the Senator is so uniquely qualified to be our Better Life Award winner."

Selection of Senator Williams was announced during Nursing Home Week, proclaimed for this week in New Jersey by Governor Cahill, and recognized nationally by President Nixon "as a yearly reminder of our responsibility for older Americans, for the chronically ill, and for all those who need the services of our nation's nursing facilities."

Presentation of the award to the Senator will be made during the NJNHA's annual convention to be held Sept. 13 and 14 at the Holiday Inn, Atlantic City. Senator Williams' name also will be forwarded to the American Nursing Home Association for consideration in its national Better Life Award competition.

Senator Williams, of Westfield, last November won reelection to his third Senate term. Because he became chairman this year of the important Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, he relinquished his post as chairman of the Senate Committee on Aging but remains a member and chairman of the Sub-professional electric and electronic accomplishments and were awarded $600 educational scholarships from Westinghouse Electric Corp., national program donor for the past 36 years.

Rick Roberts, 17, of Arvada, Colo., built his own five-band shortwave radio receiver. Jerry Moss, 17, of R.I., of Brimhurst, Ind., transformed his family's old kitchen into an all-electric kitchen. And Charles Chaumont, 18, Oberlin, La., set up a laser beam exhibit.

The corporation also makes available other awards for outstanding projects in electric. Four gold medals of honor are available in each county. And in 1970 some 5,235 gold medals were presented to accomplished 4-H members. State winners receive an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress, Nov. 28 - Dec. 2. And this year six national winners of $700 educational scholarships will be announced at that event.

Clubs can get together for swan-tube electric program recognition too, with the most outstanding in the state receiving an embossed plaque.

Westinghouse also supports the program by providing funds for the development of 4-H electric literature. It compiled and distributed a handbook for leaders in the program. Currently there is new literature being developed on the fundamentals of nuclear energy.

In cooperation with the Extension Service, Westinghouse also is studying ways of involving more urban young people in the electric program. The corporation is hosting a workshop on the subject this month.

committee on Housing, so that capacity he will conduct hearings later this year assessing the adequacy of federal housing contracts.

As chairman of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, which includes a Subcommittee on Aging, Senator Williams will continue to deal with many issues related to older Americans.

One of the senator's first assignments on the Senate Committee on Aging was an investigation into a relocation problem forced upon elderly persons because of federally supported projects. The grass roots testimony he took in this case helped pave the way for passage of Medicare, NJNH president Friedman noted.

As chairman of the Senate Committee on Aging, Senator Williams ordered an inquiry into the "economics of aging" and produced a report which won national attention and helped to gain recent Social Security increases.

As an individual legislator, Senator Williams won passage of bills improving housing opportunities for the elderly.
