David T. Burkitt

Getting to the "meat and potatoes," politically, is the only way to do it, says Burkitt, "the only way to do it is to get to the meat and potatoes."

That's the opinion of David T. Burkitt of 1924 Drake Ave., Roselle, an Independent Coalition candidate for the Union County Board of Freeholders.

It was the deciding factor that led Burkitt to run for the office, he says. He is a former teacher and has been active in the past in various organizations, including the Union County Democratic Party and the Union County Republican Party.

Though running for elective office for the first time, Burkitt has a background of more than 15 years of work with peace groups and civil liberties activities.

As one of those who took part in the first March on Washington in 1963, Burkitt has a personal demonstration as to his political beliefs. He has also been active in the Union County Board of Freeholders.

THIS WEEK'S HEALTH NEWS

What is heartburn? It's a common feeling of a burning sensation underneath the burning, intense and sometimes itchy. Digestive juices, gall-bladder disease, too much smoking or alcohol, the physical causes of heartburn. But it is not always serious. Getting hard, and lack of relaxation that the most frequent causes. The symptoms, harts, pressed, intense, or comes home exhausted for dinner, is a "missed" candidate for heartburn. Of course, there are numerous drugs available to aid the "discomfort" of heartburn. But also try to relax. Eat, eat, eat. Don't eat too much. Eat, eat, eat. A healthier feeling body.

U.S. Congresswoman FLORENCE P. DWYER Reports

With a month-long summer recess scheduled from Aug. 6 to Sept. 8, these next three weeks on Capitol Hill are apt to be rather frantic with Congress trying to complete action on appropriations bills and other measures where time is a significant factor before the shop is closed. But most of the legislation with substantial long-term importance will await the cooler weather of fall and winter.

An obvious example of the former, the bill to extend the draft, is presently tied up in a sharply divided House-Senate conference committee where the failure to reach agreement has abruptly shut down the selective service system for the time being. Though both houses passed draft extension bills, the two versions differ significantly with the major conflict centering on the Mansfield "end-the-draft" amendment which was adopted by the Senate and rather narrowly rejected by the House. It was on the losing side, by the way, when it failed to pass in the House.

THOUGH THIS is the overriding issue in the bill, it should not obscure the fact that numerous other provisions contained in one or both bills will drastically alter the operation of the draft. These include substantial increases in military pay and benefits, especially for lower-ranking personnel, which could stimulate a large-scale exodus from the service.

IN ADDITION to our work in the House, I am currently involved in a number of legislative areas. For instance, we've undertaken the first general investigation of the Government's classification and declassification program. This is a very important program since the publication of the Pentagon papers has brought to the attention of the public the need for a more comprehensive review of our classification system.

Our Government Operations Committee is conducting the first series of hearings on the draft, including the right to counsel and the appointment of draft board members. More general language of the social and economic significance of the draft is being considered. In the case of legislation having longer-range significance, executive branch reorganization and revenue sharing are good examples - there continues to be considerable activity within the appropriate committees and privately behind the scenes.

Customs Answer Man

EDITOR'S NOTE: The U.S. Customs Service receives many inquiries from citizens and foreign visitors on customs regulations. As a service to our readers, Answer Man is being distributed throughout the travel season on a weekly basis.

QUESTION - On my next trip abroad I plan to take a lot of photos and will bring film to the U.S. Will you please advise me on the return to the U.S.?

ANSWER - Film that you purchase in the U.S. and bring back with you is not subject to duty. If you decide to purchase foreign film this may be included in your exemption.

QUESTION - I would like to mail my expensive film home rather than carry it with me. What procedure do I follow?

ANSWER - Enclose the film in a padded container, such as a padded envelope or a padded box, provided by your dealer or laboratory. Mark the outside of the wrapper as follows: "Undeveloped photographic film of U.S. manufacture. Examine with care."

QUESTION - If we are out of the country less than 48 hours can we still get our $100 exemption?

ANSWER - Unlike the $100 customs exemption, the $100 exemption allowed in the U.S. in the mailing device or prepaid mailer, provided by your dealer or laboratory, is not subject to the 48-hour rule.

QUESTION - If I have more than one item in the U.S. is it entitled to being gifts to me without payment of duty?

ANSWER - Yes. Each nonresident is entitled to bring with them free of duty and duty-free tax gifts for other persons if the total value of all gifts accompanying him does not exceed $100.

QUESTION - Who determines the rates of duty on merchandise?

ANSWER - The statutory rates of duty on imported merchandise are established by Congress. The President has been granted authority by Congress enabling him to modify those rates of duty within specified limits under a trade adjustment program.

QUESTION - What is your Customs question? If you have one, send it to:

Statewide appeal for blood donations issued by hospitals

Jack W. Owen, president of the New Jersey Hospital Association, has issued a statewide appeal for blood donations by New Jersey residents in an effort to alleviate a critical shortage of blood throughout the state and across the country.

"Ordinarily," said Owen, "blood banks have on hand a certain number of surplus units of blood which can be shipped to banks throughout the state when needed. Hospital blood banks contact the New Jersey Blood Exchange headquartered here at the Association to acquire type-specific units of blood which they may need. However, the exchange is having a difficult time locating units of blood for hospitals in need."

Blood shortages are not uncommon during the summer months, Owen noted. This is due in part to the fact that many of the regular donors upon whom blood banks depend do not give blood as often during the summer and many vacation away from their homes.

"I appeal to all residents of the state to help combat the serious shortage of 'life-giving blood,'" said Owen, "offering the following suggestions as to how individuals could help during this community crisis."

Call the blood bank nearest you and make an appointment to donate a unit.

While you're at it, join a blood donor group at your local hospital - donate regularly.

USDA beefing up inspection criteria

WASHINGTON - Inspection of beef carcasses for cleanliness - a program developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to expand current surveillance of beef carcasses - becomes mandatory in August.

The new program will provide inspectors and plant operators with specific standards to avoid contamination. It will also give inspectors definite criteria for accepting and rejecting beef carcasses lots, based on nationally uniform statistical sampling procedures.

Canoeing can be campy

Authors look at little rivers

New Jersey may mean urban sprawl, the non-aesthetic vistas of swamp and pollution of the air and water. James and Margaret Cavley, veteran canoeists, are trying to change this image by the revised edition of their book, "Exploring the Little Rivers of New Jersey," recently reissued by the Rutgers University Press. The book was first published in 1942.

"One may explore this charming countryside quietly paddling a canoe down any one of the many little rivers of the state," the authors declare. "Exploring by canoe enables one not only to savor the smell of the pines and cedars and observe the wildlife along the streams, but also to get to know the river—in a way not possible otherwise."

The Cavleys (he is 78 and she is 74) have been canoeists for more than half a century. They met on a canoeing trip and were married in 1926. For their honeymoon they took a canoeing trip. Their three daughters were brought up to be canoeists and the current edition of their book is dedicated to them.

"TO BE ABLE to launch a canoe in a river, where conditions are sometimes truly wild in every sense of the word, where mile after mile, the slately white cedars surround the canoeist with beauty, with the fast, foaming water rushing round the bend, makes such a day on a river a real adventure," the authors write.

They describe their experiences canoeing on the rivers of South Jersey, including the Mullica, Maurice, Batoe, Wading and Great Egg Harbor streams flowing through an area covering a quarter of the state. The Cavleys also discuss their canoe trips on such Northern New Jersey rivers as Pauling Kill, Musconetcong, Ramapo, Passaic and the North and South branches of the Harrison.

Stores "River" hardware, Toms and Manasquan, also are covered in the book. A. Ring of Titusville, Pa., is mentioned as a canoeing destination.

HERE'S A GOOD TRIP—in their revised book, "Exploring the Little Rivers of New Jersey," septuagenarians James and Margaret Cavley tell of the charms of paddling a canoe along the state's waterways. The veteran canoeists say there has been little change in the conditions of the streams since the book was first published in 1942.

IN THEIR BOOK, the Cavleys describe their experiences a year ago re-exploring 16 of the state's rivers and the historic Delaware and Raritan Canal. They found "surprisingly little change in the conditions of our streams" in the 25 years between the first and third editions of their book. A second edition was printed two years ago.

"In a few of our rivers there is noticeable pollution, but many of them seem still clean," the authors state. "Perhaps the current efforts to restore our environment will save our little rivers from further spoilage before it is too late."

The authors also discuss their canoeing experiences on the rivers of South Jersey, including the Mullica, Maurice, Batoe, Wading and Great Egg Harbor streams flowing through an area covering a quarter of the state. The Cavleys also discuss their canoe trips on such Northern New Jersey rivers as Pauling Kill, Musconetcong, Ramapo, Passaic and the North and South branches of the Harrison.

Buoy, what an idea

A new buoy system for recording and surveying oceanographic and meteorological data is currently being tested in the North Sea and the Baltic. Recorded data is transmitted by land. To supply the power for the electronic cadmium batteries, a set of three nickel-cadmium batteries, each containing solar cells, are incorporated into the buoy.

Health plans will be topic

CHICAGO—Proposals for restructuring the nation's health care delivery system will be explored in depth at the 74th annual convention of the American Hospital Association at Chicago's Waldorf Astoria Hotel, Aug. 22-26.

Nearly 20,000 health professionals are expected to attend.

Included among the convention's major speakers are Blithen C. Richardson, secretary of health, education and welfare, U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare; Richard J. Daley, Mayor of Chicago; and Donald E. Johnson, administrator of the Veterans Administration, and Pog Wacker, author of "The Blue Cross and the Blue Cross Association will discuss hospital-BLUE Cross relationships on the national and local levels.

Rt. 287 reflectors now hold the key to signalling for help

Help for stranded motorists on a 4.5-mile stretch of Interstate Rt. 287 in Middlesex County may be found at the nearest roadside delineator post, according to a Transportation Department spokesman.

The department's effort to find a dependable and economical way for motorists in distress to summon aid, the Division of Research and Development is conducting a two-month test of an experimental emergency call system on the freeway from the vicinity of River Road in Piscataway Township to the South Main Street interchange in Manasquan.

The heart of the simple and inexpensive device being tested is a 24-volt battery recharged cable that is connected to a switch on each delineator post. Delineator posts are short, reflectorized metal posts installed along the edges of highways, about 200 feet apart, for night driving guidance. When an emergency call button on the delineator post is pressed, an electrical circuit will be broken and an alarm will sound in the Department's monitoring station situated about the test area. The exact location of the delineator post from which the signal emanates will be instantly pinpointed by an electronic instrument.

A vehicle will be dispatched to the interior in distress to determine the type and extent of assistance required. Whatever help is needed will be requested by radio transmitter without further delay.

During the test period of July and August, the Department will handle the emergency calls on an around-the-clock basis every day of the week.

Large international signs advising motorists of the availability of the "Motorist Aid System" have been erected at both approaches to the test area and at regular intervals within the test area.

The cost of this experimental project is being financed by the federal and state governments on a 70-30 basis.

Employers urged to develop veterans training programs

Employers are being urged to develop OJT (on-the-job training) opportunities for returning veterans. Administration of Veterans Affairs Training Director Johnson noted that approximately 100,000 veterans are currently taking OJT job training (OJT), and that 11,000 have taken OJT since this year.

Johnson pointed out, however, that more jobs and training opportunities are needed for OJT veterans. He stressed that OJT offers a wide range of occupational training in such areas as public works, recreation, education and welfare. He said that OJT provides information and otherwise cooperates with employers in developing OJT programs.

Johnson stressed to employers that veterans may participate only after state approval agencies have approved the program.

The Department of Defense has approved a program sponsored by the Environmental Protection Agency as an example of how veterans are being trained in areas of public need.

He noted that the Department of Defense now allows associations to begin training OJT veterans during their last six months of military service.

He noted that VA paid them after discharge when they took OJT. This year, the Environmental Protection Agency has approved training OJT veterans for this type of training.

When they begin job training, veterans receive at least half the salary of the job for which they are being trained, it was pointed out.

In addition, VA pays veterans with no dependent children the last six months of OJT, and the second six months of the last six months of training.

The VA chief urged veterans interested in OJT to contact potential employers. Employers interested in sponsoring OJT programs should contact the VA Regional Office, 20 Washington Pl., Newark Office, or telephone 201-646-2100.

JWV Post 309 to hear reports on drives, convention

Final plans for the national convention in Mineral Point, Minn., next month will be discussed Monday night when the Cpl. Louis S. Perkinson Post 309 Irvington-Union, Jersey War Veterans has its second summer meeting. The meeting will begin at 8:30 in the William Perkinson Memorial Room, Jersey War Veterans Clubhouse, 1113 Springfield Ave., Irvington.

Discussion of a membership program will be held. "Employ the Returning Vietnam Veteran," the discussion will be presided over by Mrs. Lillian Brock of Irvington, post membership chairman.

The drive will be with Elmer Unger Post 273, 309 Post of Hillside will report on the post's participation in a "Salute to Veterans" program at the Woodbridge Shopping Center Oct. 25-26-27, sponsored by the Allied Council of New Jersey Veterans Organizations.

All Veterans of Irvington, Gilbert Suseer and Daniel Peller of Irvington, James Steinberg of Millburn delivered reports on civic, youth and community programs. Milton News of Irvington is post commander.

State Council on Arts to hold exhibition for 'unrecognized'

If there is a young man in your neighborhood who welds metal sculpture in his garage, or a young woman who spends weekends in the courtyard painting landscapes, this is a chance to see their work. The State Council on the Arts is sponsoring an exhibition of "unrecognized" artists in the Garden State between 20 and 25 years of age who have talent in graphics, environmental painting, films, wall hangings, etc.

The exhibit will culminate in an unusual exhibition, "Discovery: Young Artists of New Jersey," to be held at the Rutgers University Art Gallery from Nov. 21 through Dec. 31.

This will be an unexcelled chance for serious young artists to gain recognition throughout the state," Kelley said. "The State Council on the Arts sponsors a teenage talent exhibit, and older artists can compete for entrance to the annual show at the Newark Museum and the State Museum in Trenton, but this is a unique opportunity for exposure for the generation of artists in between these groups."

The show has been planned to attract young artists to the field of art. All entrance fees will be waived. Virtually all media are eligible. The only restriction is that all artists live or work in New Jersey and that they have not exhibited at the Newark or Trenton annuals. The deadline for entries, limited to two per person, is October 30, but details are being announced at this time so that artists will have ample time to complete their work during the summer. Copies of the prospectus may be obtained from the Rutgers Art Gallery, Hamilton Street, New Brunswick, 08903 (telephone 201-261-1798, extension 6237).

In addition to the exhibition at Rutgers University, which was selected for the location, Kelley noted, "works chosen for the panel of juried artists will be shown for four covering the entire state."

The New Jersey State Council on the Arts offers guidance and financial support programs in all of the arts. It communicates throughout the state, promotes participation in arts activities, improves training in the area, and the development of a wider audience for the arts. Its offices are in Trenton.

25 nations listed as least developed

In a graphic illustration of the gap between the rich and the poor, a United Nations report sets down three main criteria for labeling a country as one of the world's "least developed." In such a country, the gross domestic product per capita is less than $100 a year, manufacturing accounts for less than 10 per cent of the gross domestic product and the country is a net importer of goods.

Using a yardstick, the UN classified 26 countries as "least developed" in 1970. The majority of them are in Africa. One (Western Samoa) is in Oceania, and seven are in Asia. In Latin America, only Haiti falls into that category.

VA warns visiting vets

Joseph J. Malone, director of the New Jersey Regional Office, Newark, said this week that veterans planning to visit regional VA offices should be warned by the Veterans Administration that only those with service-connected disabilities may call upon the government for help.

Labor report

Substantially less than half the workers in the... This fact is revealed by a Bureau of Labor Statistics survey that employers and 45 percent of private industry workers do not have permission to accept profit-sharing plans.

The article, "Incidence of Private Retirement Plans," is by Eleanor Bear. Labor economist in the Division of General Compensation Studies, Bureau of Labor Statistics, and refers to the latest year for which data are available, 1968.

Bear reports that the proportion of workers who have private plans differs markedly from one industry division to another in the trade and service divisions, for example, over three-fifths of the workers were in such groups, compared with less than one-fifth of those in mining.

Fluctuations in the incidence of private plans... level of compensation, organization of workers, and establishment size. Where compensation averaged less than $2 an hour, 4 out of 10 workers were in groups with no retirement plans but, where average hourly compensation was $5 or more, only two out of 10 were without coverage.

Retirement was a significant factor, only 18 percent of unretired workers being in groups without plans, and 56 percent of those in retirement situations being without plans. Here again, the prevalence of coverage varied with the level of compensation. Where average compensation was $3 an hour or more, only six percent of unretired workers had no coverage, but where average compensation was below $2.50 an hour, 100 percent of unretired workers were in groups with no coverage.

Plans generally have higher wage levels... The "partial" commodities component advanced two-thirds of the percent, 0.2 percent. Farm products rose 1.2 percent, while processed foods and foods 0.3 percent; together they "commodities" group accounted for more than 90 percent of the increase in the index. In June, the All Commodities Wholesale Price Index for 1967-1970 was 3.6 percent above a year earlier.

As a seasonally adjusted basis, the Wholesale Price Index rose 0.3 percent in June, compared with 0.2 percent in the previous month. Industrial commodities were up 0.3 percent, compared with 0.2 percent in May. Farm products rose 1.2 percent, while processed foods and foods 0.3 percent.

President Nixon has signed into law legislation that will provide more than 180,000 public-service jobs for the unemployed and the underemployed.

In signing the measure, the President asked the Congress to act favorably and with dispatch in approving $1 billion in appropriations for the Emergency Employment Act of 1971.

Addressing the nation, he said he needs them now. "The President declared, 'This administration is working to meet the needs of the public-service jobs provided by the act will be in such areas as environment, health, education, safety, crime prevention, pollution, transportation, park maintenance, recreation, and development and sanitation.'

President Nixon expressed special pleasure that "our veterans will be favored by the act and that, with little or no job training, such as unskilled youth will also have a chance to get jobs through this measure."

"A very important feature of this act," he added, is that jobs will be "transitional." This means that they will lead people into permanent jobs and not "substitute for them."

The act also authorizes a separate program for facilities which may suffer from continuing high unemployment. "This means that a given city which experiences unemployment of six percent or above for three months will receive added assistance for its extra needs from a special $250 million authorization," Nixon said.

In signing the measure, the President noted that other important features of the act include: "The act will provide for the creation of 180,000 new jobs and the expansion of 180,000 existing jobs."

On-the-job trucker training offered

Opportunity has been provided for persons who are seeking paid on-the-job training to become diesel mechanics, mechanics helpers, tractor-trailer drivers. This is the result of a contract signed by the New Jersey Motor Truck Association with the State Department of Labor and Industry.

NJMTA has been granted $186,740 Federal Funds by the State to administer a program calling for the enrollment of 100 persons as trainees in the diesel categories in job training centers. The bulk of the grant will be expended to subsidize competent employers for varying periods for their training efforts. NJMTA is given an allowance for administrative expenses.

Candidates will be screened by the association and by the N.J. State Employment Service. The contract requires at least half of those accepted for training to be disadvantaged.

Final decision will be made by the employer, with a trainee receiving a starting wage rate for the particular

September opening scheduled for Hillel facility at Douglass

Plans for a September opening of "probably the finest Hillel facility in the world" at Rutgers University in New Brunswick were announced this week by Philip Wax, president of the new president of the B'nai B'rith. Rutgers Hillel Foundation Building Corporation.

The structure, whose cost exclusive of furnishings was more than $500,000, is located on Ryders Lane on the Douglass College campus. Construction began some two years ago. The description of the Rutgers facility as the finest such edifice in the world was provided by Rabbi Benjamin Kahn, national director of B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations which are sponsored on campuses throughout the world by B'nai B'rith, the international Jewish fraternal order. Wax, who is international vice-president of B'nai B'rith, formerly served as executive vice-president of the Building Corporation. He succeeds former New Jersey Attorney General Arthur J. Silberman as president. Silberman was voted the title of honorary president.

In announcing the opening, which will coincide with the beginning of the academic year at the State University, Wax extended thanks to "the entire New Jersey community" members of B'nai B'rith as well as hundreds of private citizens of all religious persuasions whose continued contributions and work will help make this tremendous building a reality.

Wax said the Building Corporation "is moving ahead" with the opening because "we are working on a home stretch effort to provide the funds required to complete the building and permit the operation of this magnificent structure that will again, so much to the spiritual as well as academic and community life of the State University. We in B'nai B'rith take a particular pride in this building, as do our members of the State University.

N.J. TV network purchases parcel for transmitter, tower

The New Jersey Public Broadcasting Authority has purchased six acres of land in Warren Township for the transmitter and Educational Television stations planned for New Jersey.

John Wilner, director of engineering for the state television network and former resident of Warren Township, said the land was purchased from Mrs. Helen Krauske for $27,000. It is located off Horeb road, Wilner said, and is presently being used as a day camp. Channel 58 transmitting facilities including a 265-foot tower which will stand a 160-foot antenna.

Upon completion, Channel 58 will become one of four New Jersey Public Broadcasting Stations, specifically in Warren Township, and Channel 58, operating out of Trenton, has been on the air since April. Other stations will be located in Montclair and the Camden-Atlantic City area.

"Our next step at Channel 58 is construction of a transmitter tower," Wilner says. "We are awaiting the granting of a construction permit from the Federal Communications Commission." Wilner says the PBA has already approved the tower height and location.

Most programs broadcast on Channel 58 will originate at Trenton's Channel 52 facility. However, Wilner says, "When the occasion demands, we will have the capability of transmitting programs from certain locations in the State, such as Warren Township and the surrounding areas. Eventually, we will have the capability of putting on local programs from other parts of the State."

Channel 58 will reach residents within a radius of approximately 35 miles. The tower will be supported by guy wires, which will serve as a relay point to transfer programs to Montclair's Channel 48.

China move seen as an FDR policy

A Chinese professor at Upsala College said this week that he is seeking to establish relations with China. President Nixon appears to be reverting to a policy attempted by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt 36 years ago.

"This time I think it will succeed," commented Dr. Pichon-Pin-Yeh, a professor of political science and Far Eastern history at Upsala.

Professor Pichon-Pin-Yeh's latest book on Chiang Kai-shek came off the press this month, and pointed out that FDR expected China to become a major world power to replace Japan in Eastern and Southeastern Asia.

"He recognized then, as President Nixon seems to now, that someone in East Asia should play the role of a 'big power,'" the professor said.

Poultry buying hints

Buy poultry suitable for intended use. Most chickens sold whole can be roasted. Those marked "roasting chickens" or "Rock Cornish game hens" are young tender-necked chickens that have enough fat to brown well at a moderate roasting temperature. Large fryer chickens can also be roasted whole. Broilers or "table chickens" are best for broiling, or cut into halves or quarters for broiling, oven baking or barbecuing.

Shore enough, seaweed Prof probes plant's purity power

Collecting seaweed may seem an unlikely pastime for an engineer, but that is just what Prof. Wolf-Vieth of the Rutgers College of Engineering is likely to do when he visits the Jersey Shore.

Dr. Vieth of Belle Mead is studying ways to get fresh water from aquatic plants.

A professor in the department of chemical and biochemical engineering, he hopes to expand his studies into a research project to determine the practicality of recovering fresh water from New Jersey's salt marshes.

Seaweed, Dr. Vieth explains, notably a type called lamnaria digitata, has been found to be capable of rejecting sodium by means of its own processes. It does, however, concentrate a relatively large amount of potassium in the water it retains in its structure.

INTERESTED in the possibility of the water-must be separated from the potassium, Dr. Vieth

UN to keep tabs on seas' pollution

Ecological scientists are looking for foolproof ways to identify and monitor the amount and toxicity of ocean pollutants. The issue was discussed at a United Nations-sponsored environmental meeting in London, attended by representatives of 52 countries.

So far, scientists have only a limited number of clues. They know, for instance, that water contaminated by the ocean, poison marine life and the cause of many water-related environmental problems. The problem now is to track down not only such known pollutants but to draw up a complete list of all potentially hazardous chemicals which may be draining into the seas in significant amounts.

The difficulty of detecting and tracing contaminants to their sources is indicated by one estimate that 50,000 plants in Southern California alone are spewing heavy concentrations of pollutants into the Pacific. Such offenders range from plating plants and plastic factories to petroleum centers and at least one U.S. Air Force base.

Exams set for academy applicants

Senator Clifford P. Case this week announced plans to hold a written examination for applicants to the Naval Academy. The examination will be held on Saturday, Oct. 2, to assist him in selecting his nominees for the United States Naval Military and Merchant Marine Academies for their classes entering in the summer of 1972.

The examination is open to local residents of the State of New Jersey. New applicants will write the test at the State Office Building, Washington, D.C., before later than Aug. 21. The date should be, at least, 10 days before the examination. Resumes must have reached their chairman by July 1 of the year in which they will enter one of the academies.

Senator Case has written the Military Academy and one of the Naval Academy. Senator Case does not have a vacancy at the Air Force Academy this year. Ten nominees — principal candidates — will be chosen for each vacancy. All candidates will be required to take the entrance examination, as well as a medical examination and physical aptitude test. All candidates will be required to be a resident of the State of New Jersey. The qualified principal will be nominated by the Academic Boards in consideration of possible nominees. The principal will be authorized to complete the vacancies existing at this academy.

MARCH OF DIMES GRANT — Christopher Dietz, at left, chairman of the Union County Chapter, National Foundation March of Dimes, and Miss Genevieve Pascale, vice-chairman, present a $5,000 check to Paul Bissonette, state representative. Grant is to be used at Children's Hospital, Newark, for care and treatment of birth defect children from Union County.

Birth Defects Center receives grant

Union County Chapter National Foundation March of Dimes has donated $5,000 to Children's Hospital, Newark, for care and treatment of birth defect children from Union County. Additional grants will be contributed by the Union County Chapter as the budget permits, according to Christopher Dietz, chairman.

"Our Centers bring together specialists from many fields to consult on how best to deal with all the problems of a child born with defects," said Dietz. "This team approach eliminates the confusion and frustration that come when a family must see each specialist in a separate place. Physicians of a pediatrician, neurologist, orthopedist, surgeon, psychologist, physical therapist and other experts may be focused on a single patient in a single visit. There are three other important members of this team — the physician who has referred the child to a Birth Defects Center and the parents, who must maintain care at home. Many Centers also provide genetic counseling. Medical Service Centers are financed directly by grants from a chapter or group of chapters of The National Foundation March of Dimes to medical centers of teaching hospitals," Dietz explained.

March of Dimes money is also used for medical and scientific research in the field of birth defects; for public and professional education regarding birth defects; to help maintain the Salk Institute in California.

Rocket clubmen will offer exhibit

The Trailside Model Rocket Club, a group affiliated with the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, will conduct a demonstration on Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

The demonstration will take place on a lawn area to the rear of the Nature and Science Center.

The program will honor the Astronauts who are expected to be on the moon that day. The rocket firing demonstrations will be presented at 1 p.m., 2 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4 p.m.

The firing will be conducted by members of the Trailside group, which is associated with the Pasack Valley Section of the National Association of Rocketry.

Merck lists gains in sales, earning

Merck and Co., Inc. has announced that sales for the second quarter of 1971 were $181,518,000 for the second quarter of 1970.

Net income after taxes rose 12 percent to $29,943,000, or 82 cents per share of common stock, compared with $26,821,000, or 73 cents per share, for the second quarter last year.

Sales for the first six months of 1971 were $391,806,000, up 7 percent from $366,030,000 for the corresponding period of 1970. Net income after taxes was $59,136,000, or $1.62 per share, up 8 percent from $54,835,000, or $1.50 per share, for the first half of 1970. Both sales and earnings set new highs for any half year.

Dems want special elections, laws to safeguard park lands

New Jersey Democrats went on record last week for prompt special elections to fill legislative vacancies and for new laws to safeguard parks and historic sites from encroachment by any highway built in the state.

The resolutions were proposed by Democratic state senatorial candidate Mrs. Jerry F. English of Summit and adopted by the party's convention delegates.

Mrs. English, candidate for the unexpired State Senate seat from Union County, won statewide attention for her suit against Gov. William Cahill to force a special election to fill two Senate and General Assembly seats that have been vacant for more than seven months.

HER SUIT, first of its kind in the nation, awaits a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court. The suit was filed this spring after the Governor ignored Democratic requests to fill the two seats by a special election. Supported by the New Jersey League of Women Voters, Mrs. English said Union County voters cast a negative vote in both the Senate and Assembly on every matter that came before the legislature this year.

"Who knows when lack of representation will penalize another county?" she asked. "All of the courts reviewing the case have condemned the practice of interim appointments, yet, judging from past experience, the Governor is likely to continue his mid-term appointments and cause great expense to the citizens of New Jersey."

Bosland will chair United Fund drive

Paul C. Bosland, president of the Suburban Trust Co., has been appointed vice-chairman of the 1971-72 fund drive for the Commerce and Industry United Fund of Union County Area.

Lewis G. King, president of the board of directors of the United Fund, announced that Bosland and George M. Zriny, general campaign chairman, would head a campaign team committed to attaining a goal of $1,023,000 to support the county's 75 agencies.

Bosland, a member of the board of directors of the United Fund, is president of the board of directors of the Westfield Community Center. He is also treasurer and a member of the Board of Managers of the Children's Specialized Hospital.

MRS. ENGLISH WAS the leader of a county-wide drive launched last year to save the Watchung Reservation in western Union County from construction of an extension to Interstate highway 1-95.

The Democratic platform plank she proposed urges that public participation in highway planning be extended to all highway construction in the state, and that federal standards be adopted for the protection of parks and historic sites threatened by any proposed highway to be built in the state.

"New Jersey is so highly urbanized," said Mrs. English, "that the public must be guaranteed the same protection of its remaining natural heritage that it enjoys by federal law. The people must be allowed to decide what they wish to preserve."
