Dr. King's birthday will be marked by special activities.

Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday will be observed at special activities in Westfield Jan. 14. The school holiday "caused some Westfield youth to make plans that would take Dr. King's life seriously—and provide an opportunity for youth to be together and discuss concepts important to them" according to Alvin Whaley, chairman of a committee of youth that has been meeting for several months to make arrangements for the observance. "King: A Filmed Record... Montgomery to Memphis" will be shown at the Westfield High School at 10 a.m. Jan. 14. This three-hour motion picture was shown nationally. After lunch the youth will be involved in discussion groups to explore together some of the concepts of the life of Dr. King and his philosophy. That evening the 4-H Players Drama Club, under the direction of W. Romond James, Union County 4-H agent, will present entertainment and a drama about the life of Dr. King.

At his Dec. 9 meeting the Westfield Ministerium endorsed the program. Fund raising for the $700 budget was begun with contributions to the Martin Luther King Day Committee being invited. They can be sent to the Presbyterian Church, 140 Mountain Ave., Westfield, or the First Baptist Church, 100 Elm St., Westfield. The Rev. Jack H. Ahlers, of the Presbyterian Church and the Rev. William K. Coker, of the First Baptist Church have been advisors to the youth committee.

Named to dean's list

Barbara L. Sacharow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Sacharow of 1500 Porce Dr., Mountaintide, was one of 418 Heloit (Wis.) College students named to the dean's scholarship list for the summer term.

Ys to note the Yuletide

Special Christmas holiday youth programs co-sponsored by the Summit Area YMCA and the Summit YWCA, which will be open to all youth of the community in grades one through six and junior and senior high age, are being planned for Dec. 27 through 30. Boys and girls in grades one and two will have two half-day programs: Tuesday, Dec. 28, noon to 4 p.m., and Wednesday, Dec. 29, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the YMCA, 67 Maple St., which will feature gym and sports, swimming, a full length color movie and lunch each day. Girls in grades three to six will have two full day programs at the YMCA on Tuesday, Dec. 28, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Thursday, December 30, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Their programs include gym games and sports, swimming, full length color movie and lunch as well as bowling at the Echo Lanes on Tuesday and roller skating at the Kingston Rink on Thursday. This transportation will be provided for these trips.

A nominal fee will be charged for each day with YWCA and YMCA personnel sharing the supervision. Registration must be made at the YMCA by Wednesday. For teenagers aged 14 to 18 there will be a ski trip to Vernon Valley on Wednesday, Dec. 29 from 8:15 to 5:15 p.m. The bus will leave from the YWCA, 78 Maple St. and registration must be made through the YWCA office by Wednesday.

Compliance with this newspaper's Friday news deadline is urged during the coming holiday period, when there will be frequent interruptions in the delivery of mail. All organizations, social and other news items should be received in this office by Friday for publication the following Thursday.

Manager is struck during motel holdup

The night manager of the Colonial Motor Court on Rt. 22, Springfield, was struck by an armed robber who held up the motel last Tuesday night, Springfield police reported. The robber netted $100 in cash.

According to police reports, a man in his 20s wearing a brown jacket and carrying a small automatic revolver walked into the motel lobby at about 11 p.m. and announced the holdup. He looked the money and struck the manager over the head with the butt of the gun, police said. There was no information on how the robber made his escape.

Theatopian Society votes a stellar role for Miss Sheehan

Miss Sheehan is a member of the Drama Club, National Theatopian Society and Springfield Community Players. She participated in the Dayton production of "Manic Man," "My Fair Lady," "Man Who Came to Dinner," and "But Suez" and is trying out for "South Pacific," which will be produced on March 9 and 20. She also attended dramatic workshops for "Oliver," "Wizard of Oz," "The new troupe president, who plans to enter Quinn College in Ohio to major in drama, said that the troupe is planning a production of "Wizard of Oz" for the Mountaintide PTA's Spring '72 as a Broadway of off-Broadway production, including projects, and other dramatic efforts.

Group 229 of the International Theatopian Society at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, named Miss Sheehan as president in ceremonies held last week. Other officers installed include Jeffrey Cohen as vice-president, Kathy Venz as secretary and Lisa Thibberger as treasurer.

The troupe's faculty advisor, Joseph Francis, pointed out that the purpose of the society is to improve the level of theater arts in the secondary school systems.

Now Santa will get toys

Santa Claus will be into a whole new bag this year at the Channel Home, Center and Play-Factory toy stores in northern New Jersey including Springfield. Instead of his traditional role of handing out toys to the small fry, he'll be on the receiving end for the playthings. The theme of the program is "give Santa Claus a toy for a girl or boy."

By this switch on the traditional Christmas routine, kids have been requested to bring their used toys to their local Channel, Center, or Play-Factory store. Santa Claus will personally place all the toys brought to each store in special bins.

Before Christmas all of the collected toys will be repaired and distributed by the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center at Ft. Monmouth. In Dover to needy children and explains throughout the state. All young contributors to the toy chest will have the opportunity to participate in a special drawing. The drawing will be held on Saturday, Jan. 6.

The Public Chairman of the "Give Santa a Toy" drive is Mrs. William W. Walker, 1000 Morris Ave., Springfield, N.J. 376-3050. Write to this newspaper and ask for our "Tips on Submitting News Releases."

SANTA CLAUS IS COMING TO SPRINGFIELD STATE BANK

The Great Man will be on hand in the lobby of the new Springfield State Bank today, tomorrow and Saturday. He'll be there to greet every youngster who drops in to see him. Every one of Santa's young visitors will be given a free stocking full of toys and candy.

Santa will be in our lobby from 3 to 5 P.M. today and tomorrow and from 9 to noon next Saturday.

So, come on in and meet Santa. There's plenty of free parking.

Editorial comment BARGAIN SALE

The duties of citizenship include some major obligations and a number of apparently minor ones which can hold long-range significance.

One of the latter is the obligation which every conscientious citizen of Springfield has to vote in favor of the $40,500 land purchase which will present in a referendum on Tuesday.

The land, somewhat less than an acre, will be used to provide badly needed space for the James Caldwell School. Now the largest of the local elementary schools in terms of pupil population, Caldwell has by far the smallest amount of ground.

Acquisition of the adjoining Bednarik property will permit creation of a play area at least approaching what the children there should have. The land will be used not only for play use before and after school but also for the physical education program which is an important and integral part of the curriculum.

This will permit a balancing of the Caldwell program to bring all aspects into proportion with the school's academic excellence.

An equally important aspect of the proposed land purchase is that it will solve a major safety problem at Caldwell. Because of the present lack of space, youngsters now must enter and leave the school grounds by the same driveway which is used for vehicular traffic both by faculty members and by parents delivering and picking up their children.

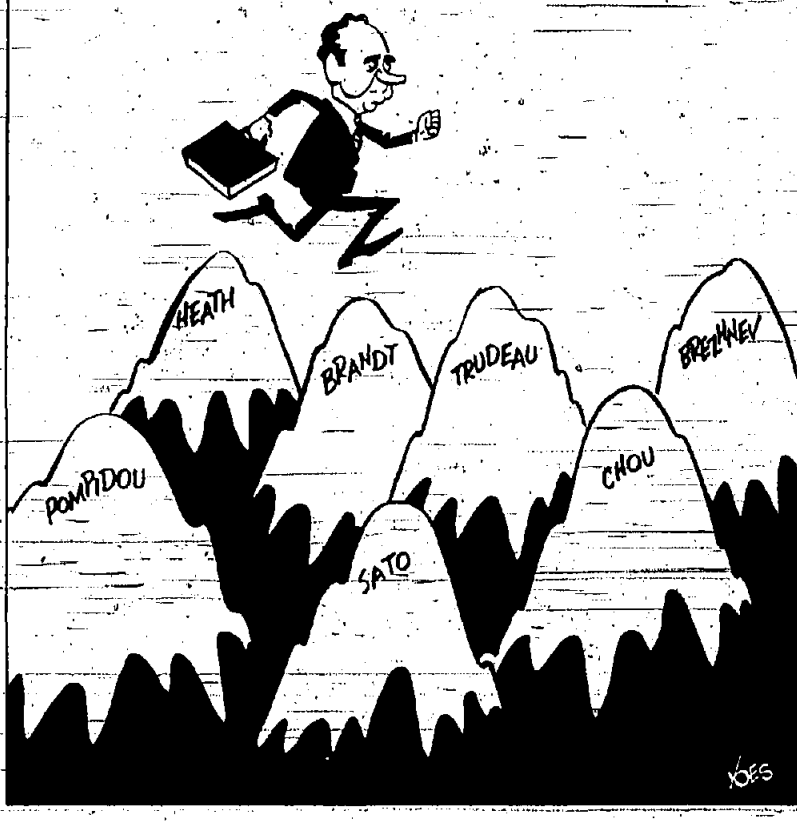

Perhaps the top priority for the new land will be construction of a walkway so that the children can use the entrance on the other side of the school.

This will immediately end the need to have pedestrians and drivers compete for the same area, and it should also speed the flow of traffic.

The present owners of the land will have use of their house and the area immediately surrounding it for another three years. This agreement, which was necessary to achieve an immediate purchase at a reasonable price, will still permit speedy development of most of the property.

That reasonable price, $40,500, will have no discernible effect on anyone's taxes. It is, in view of both the school needs and present price trends, a bargain.

But everything, even bargains, must be paid for. The people of Springfield can pay their share in the gain of good citizenship by voting for the proposal this Tuesday.

LETTERS Primary concern

The James Caldwell PTA Executive Board unanimously supports the proposed referendum to purchase the Bednarik property adjacent to the James Caldwell School.

The acquisition of this property will serve our children in two major areas:

It will provide a new entrance and exit to the school. This means that our children will no longer have to use the parking lot and driveway to get to school.

It will provide an additional playground area for the school. James Caldwell School has the largest enrollment and the smallest play area of any school in town.

Our primary concern is for our children, their safety and their well-being.

JOAN KEELE, President
Executive Board
James Caldwell PTA

BACKS HUSBANDM
The executive board of the Raymond Chisholm Parent-Teacher Association on behalf of their membership wishes to make known their support of this Tuesday's referendum which would make possible the acquisition of land adjacent to the James Caldwell School.

It is obvious that the school is in need of more classroom space and that the referendum will supply it at a negligible cost to all taxpayers in the area.

There is, also, a safety hazard involved which would be eliminated by this acquisition. We hope the community will approve this referendum on Tuesday.

Very truly yours,
JANEY WOOD, President
Raymond Chisholm PTA

Profile--Samuel A. Calabrese

Dr. Sam. A. Calabrese, narcotics officer for the Springfield Police Department, is a man with a substantial store of knowledge about and skill in his job—and very little optimism when he looks at the current youth climate.

The local narcotics problem "has increased astronomically, well over 1,000 percent," in the six years since Calabrese started to concentrate on the drug scene. From 10 to 15 drug investigations a year, he said, the problem has grown to more than 150 annually.

He added that his cases center primarily on the hard drug—heroin, barbiturates and amphetamines—and on marijuana, which heroin use has increased sharply, Calabrese noted, with about 15 arrests this year. He added, "Most of those involved are people in their late teens and early 20s, and most of them are new residents of town. There has been very little heroin involvement with kids who grew up here."

"There are often a couple of heroin distributors—pimps—in Springfield, but we usually get good information as to who they are out of business pretty quickly."

The sergeant added, "Unfortunately, we get little help from the families of local young people who might be involved. Too many parents think they can handle the trouble themselves and bring the suspect in to get run up arrests. We would much rather help an addict find rehabilitation."

"I have been in the field since 1967 with DARE, a rehabilitation center in Newark, and I can help a youngster who is addicted to find rehabilitation. But we usually get little help from the families of local young people who might be involved. Too many parents think they can handle the trouble themselves and bring the suspect in to get run up arrests. We would much rather help an addict find rehabilitation."

Art festival and family night on Emanuel Yule calendar

A fall day has been planned at Springfield Methodist Church, Church Hill at 11th St., for Christmas Sunday this week.

The church will have a Christmas art festival and family night in the late afternoon. Central to the celebration will be the Christmas Eve service in the Sanctuary and Chapel created by the Women's Mission Circle.

Christmas tradition of the local Methodist Church. The tree in the Chapel is a new addition this year.

Members of the congregation have been invited to bring their own Christmas gifts to Sunday afternoon from 4 to 7 p.m. as part of the annual Christmas family night.

Each family will display some of their home art for Christmas in paint, wood, clay, ceramic and paper. Each family will be guided in making a three-dimensional German Christmas star. A covered gift stuffer will be served at 6 p.m.

Senior High will attend a Christmas party at the Irvington Presbyterian Church, leaving at 7 p.m. Members should bring a grab-bag present.

All members of the congregation will also be invited to card to the children on Monday evening, Dec. 20, when the church will return there about 9:30 for cookies and cocoa.

Christmas stockings for the Methodist Hospital of Brooklyn and also to bring their gifts for children and youth at the Union County Juvenile Detention Center.

Church School will meet at 9:30 a.m. Students have been reminded to bring their dime Christmas stockings for the Methodist Hospital of Brooklyn and also to bring their gifts for children and youth at the Union County Juvenile Detention Center.

100 mph chase ends with arrest

A 100-mile-an-hour chase down Rt. 22 on Sunday night ended in the arrest of a 28-year-old Hillside driver, charged with drunk driving, speeding and eluding police, Springfield police reported.

The driver, identified as Leslie Coon, is free on $500 bail awaiting a court appearance. Coon was allegedly spotted on Rt. 22 at 10:35 p.m. on Sunday night by Springfield Patrolmen Richard J. DeLoach, Jr., Vincent Pedersen, and the officers signalled for Coon to stop. He reportedly took off down Rt. 22 at high speed in an effort to evade police, the patrolman charged.

The radio car finally overtook the vehicle driven by Coon on Rt. 22 in Hillside, where the arrest was made.

Springfield painter will have exhibit at YWCA in Summit

The paintings of Rhoda Kaplan of Archbridge Drive, Springfield, will be exhibited at the Summit-YWCA from tomorrow through January 7. The one-man show will include oils, pastels and charcoal.

The artist has exhibited at state, national and international juried shows and has won many awards. Her paintings have been shown at the Montclair Museum, the Newark Museum, the Exposition Inter-Continental at Monaco, the American Artists Professional League, the National Arts Club, and many others.

Mrs. Kaplan is president of the South Orange-Maplewood Art Gallery and is a member of the American Artists Professional League, Artists Equity, Academic Artists, and the Westfield Art Association. She has studied at the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts, the Hull Art School, and privately with John R. Graba.

In addition to painting, Mrs. Kaplan has taught art classes at the Sloan School, South Orange, the Summit YWCA and the YM-YWCA in West Orange, as well as teaching privately. She has also been active as a lecturer at many area organizations, including the Milltown High School, the Rose Schwartz B.E.P. Hadasah, the Irvington Art Association, the Jewish Education Association of Essex County and Summit High School.

Retarded-to-design cards to benefit NJARC funds

Any mentally retarded person in the state is eligible to participate in an art design contest sponsored by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts. These grants will bring back to the attention of the public the talents of these young people.

A total of $12,125 in grants has been approved for the purpose of audience appreciation and education. A matching grant of $5,000 will help launch the first season of Newark's Opera Theatre of New Jersey's young artists training program. In addition to allowing approximately 25 talented young people to take part in professional rehearsals, the contest will also perform in the state's regular opera season.

A $500 matching grant to Union College will support a five-part concert lecture series celebrating the centennial of Cranford Township, where the college has been located since 1941. The series will include performances by the Chris White Jazz Ensemble, post-war band, a chamber orchestra and Wind Incorporated, a panorama of BlackMusic.

Savings bond prizes will be presented for the six designs that are judged best by a select team of professional people. Fifty certificates of honorable mention also will be awarded. Subjects for the designs may be any that the artist feels appropriate to the general theme of the holiday season, and entries, identified on the back with the artist's name and address, may be on paper or cardboard that measures 8 1/2 by 11 inches by 14 inches.

Further details available through the state office of NJARC, 97 Bayard St., or through any of the association's local county units.

FRIDAY DEADLINE All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

School boards unit backing income tax

The New Jersey School Boards Association has committed itself to support a broad-based income tax, together with reform of New Jersey's sales and taxon program.

A policy statement adopted by the delegates assembled in Trenton last week called for a 10 percent increase in the level of financial support to guarantee the state's educational needs in New Jersey.

Association President Mrs. Myra Adams, speaking at the semi-annual meeting in the State House, said it appears "we are moving in the right direction."

The fact that the state would pay a large share of the cost of education does not mean an end to effective local control, she says. "Our tradition of local control is a defense against increased state domination."

Fry will address management unit

The Northern New Jersey Chapter, Society for the Study of Management, will meet at the Le Soud, 520 Springfield Ave., Trenton, N.J., on Friday, Dec. 17, 8 p.m.

Robert W. Fry, director of Marketing for General Magnaplate Corp., Linden, will speak on "Establishing and Motivating the Sales Force."

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is published weekly by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service.

Q-What kinds of price increases are permitted under the program?

A-The basic policy set by the Price Commission is that price increases are permitted only if they are necessary to meet the cost of production and distribution.

Q-How do these rules apply to manufacturers and service industries?

A-Prices charged by manufacturers and service industries and professions may not be increased over freeze levels, except as permitted by the program.

Q-How are retail and wholesale prices controlled?

A-Retail and wholesale prices are controlled on the basis of customary initial percentage markups which are applied to the cost of the merchandise and carry over from the previous period.

Q-What is the general pay standard applicable to new labor agreements?

A-The general pay standard applicable to new labor agreements is that where no labor agreement is in effect, existing pay practices, permits initial aggregate increases normally considered supportable by productivity improvements and cost-of-living trends.

U.S. to fund Rahway Prison job program

New Jersey can expect between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 in federal funds in 1972 for a special inmate employment training program at the Rahway State Prison, it has been announced by Governor Cahill.

The program, which will be administered by the state's Department of Corrections, will be a pilot project for the state.

The purpose of the program is to help inmates now in prison to find productive employment when their sentences are completed.

Gov. Cahill said that the program is a part of the state's effort to reduce the prison population and to help inmates find productive employment when their sentences are completed.

Test skills to educate, profs say

When the Crow Indians sent their young men out to endure hardship in quest of a vision, they may have understood the nature of education better than many a college professor today.

In fact, some of the current college campuses may stem from the need of young men to endure tough tests of competence, say two Rutgers University anthropologists, Dr. Robin Fox and Lionel Tiger. They argue that throughout millions of years of human history, education has been an initiation ceremony as much as it has been a learning process.

Dr. Tiger and Fox are authors of "The Imperial Animal," an important book which challenges some long-held anthropological ideas. They dispute the belief that man is a kind of blank slate who can be molded by culture into an infinite number of varied abilities.

"The point of the educational system is to 'prepare' people to assume adult roles in whatever community they inhabit," they write. "Education is designed to test to see if the individual is capable of doing so."

Throughout most of human history, explained Dr. Tiger in a recent lecture at the State University, education of the young men between the ages of 15 and 21 had only a single goal: to test their skills and abilities to do with the recognition that men and women may want and need different kinds of education. "You should make it clear that what students are doing is not just a form of self-expression but a real test of competence," Dr. Fox said.

"We title the chapter in our book about education, 'The benign oppression,'" he pointed out. "We don't believe that education is a benign oppression. It is a process in which the students and the teachers are equal. The dilemma of education is that in some sense it has to be authoritarian and oppressive to do its job."

The two anthropologists, both of whom are members of the graduate faculty at the State University, are also skeptical of the wisdom of the trend to total education, arguing that something is missing in the current educational process. "It just isn't common sense that we should have a kind of post-pubescent test," Dr. Fox said.

STENCE HIGHER EDUCATION often assumes the male pattern of life is the only "correct" pattern, there has been almost a systematic reduction in the material offered to women that may be of use to them in their professions, the Rutgers professor suggested.

"We've been attacked by some of our colleagues as chauvinists," Dr. Tiger admitted, "but I don't think that's quite fair. We're not saying that any man or any woman should be forced into a role. But there's a long distance between that and saying that the two sexes are identical and should be educated identically. We think that latter argument lacks common sense."

Dr. Fox and Tiger also believe that American education places too much emphasis on teaching, rather than on learning.

"The whole idea of teaching is a fraud," Dr. Fox said. "The best you can do with people is to let them learn, and that's a very different process, not 'teaching.'"

"I'm becoming a bit weary of students who want to be 'exposed' to knowledge. The very word carries the idea of revealing something hidden, like a negative plate as if education were a special kind of photography. The idea of something a student does for himself, perhaps with a little guidance from his teacher," he added.

When the Crow Indians sent their young men out into the wild to suffer and endure and not come back to the tribe until they had a vision, they had a model of education which still holds some appeal for the two Rutgers anthropologists.

"Basically, education sometimes has to say, 'go away and don't come back until you've learned something,'" Dr. Fox pointed out. "The British system of higher education still does just that. It provides tutors and lectures and a good library, and then tests whether or not the student has managed to learn anything. It's a pattern that makes sense."

ANNOUNCING

A new Telephone Service for members of New Jersey Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Starting December 20th there will be a separate number for subscribers to call regarding Blue Shield claims for services by physicians or dentists.

That number is (201) 456-2022

All other calls to the Blue Cross and Blue Shield home office in Newark — regarding Blue Cross claims for hospital services or general information about either Plan, such as billing or enrollment, should be made to the present number: (201) 456-3033

The new telephone system is aimed at providing you with faster and more efficient service. Whenever you call or write to the Plans, be sure to give your Blue Cross and Blue Shield identification Number. This will facilitate prompt and accurate handling of your inquiry. Thank you!

Bell offers lecture program on transmitting through light

Six billion telephone calls on a beam of light? This intriguing promise of the future is forecast in a new lecture-demonstration—Optics in Communications—now available through the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co.

The new program, produced by New Jersey Bell and Bell Telephone Laboratories, explains how such transmission capacity is desirable and how it may be achieved through light. The new link was presented before a distinguished group of New Jersey educators early this month and is now available to private and public secondary schools without charge.

New Jersey Bell provides the speaker, demonstration hardware and audio-visual equipment.

Dr. Carl L. Marburger, New Jersey Commissioner of Education, said after the premiere that he hoped "every high school science student in the state will get to see this fascinating demonstration."

The presentation has been designed for 45 minutes. To fit class time schedules, but extra time may be allowed for additional discussion. High school science teachers may make arrangements for the program in their classes through Miss Ethel Bartlett, New Jersey Bell by calling (201) 669-2944 in Newark.

Equine art in exhibition

Amateur artists interested in portraying the horse may participate in the third annual New Jersey horse art contest exhibition. The event will be a highlight of the New Jersey horse industry all-day "Learning to Ride" program which will kick off the 1972 New Jersey Farmers' Week Jan. 22. It will take place at the Haystack Inn in Pennsauken.

All non-professional artists, regardless of age or experience, may display their work in this exhibit, which is sponsored by the New Jersey Department of Agriculture and the New Jersey Professional Horsemen's Association.

It will be divided into four divisions: oil, water color, pen and ink and charcoal, and miscellaneous. There will be three age groups: 13 years and under, 14 years to 18 years, and 19 years and older. Cash awards and ribbons will be presented in each division with a $25 award being presented to each first place winner and ribbons for second through sixth.

Entry blanks for the contest, as well as rules governing it, may be obtained by writing to Donald Beckham, Horse Art Contest, New Jersey Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 1888, Trenton, N.J.

NIH THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

Everyone knows that many children get caught up in thumb-sucking, especially when they are apprehensive, bored, or tired. Wise parents respond to such physical signs because they know that the child usually cannot put his distress into words, and not even understand what ails him.

There are other physical signs, fortunately most are common, which also clearly reveal distress. However, these danger signals are less well understood.

Studies at the National Institute of Dental Research, one of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Maryland, have shown that sometimes children who have had an ordinary mouth infection with sore gums will continue to pick or scratch at the sore places on their gums and lips for weeks after the original infection has passed. The child will lose his fingernails and accomplish this often and habitually.

Of several factors that may be responsible for such a habit, researchers believe that two or more recognizable causes should lead to a suspicion of self-mutilation. If this is the case, it is a waste of time to rely on medication for a cure or to search for some obscure, non-existing allergy as the cause.

The dentist or physician should urge the parents of such children to search for an underlying emotional distress, and if necessary, to get professional psychological help.

The cases reported so far are few. Those most carefully studied have shown that the child is reacting to some family difficulties as the death of a parent, the arrival of another child, or some other serious family dislocation beyond the youngster's ability to handle.

Dentists often say that the mouth is a mirror which reflects bodily health or disease. It can also reflect the state of mental health.

N.J. orders nine military installations to stop polluting the state's waterways

Nine federal military installations among them Fort Dix, Fort Monmouth and the Pictorial Arsenal are the object of a blanket release of water pollution abatement orders which have been issued by the State Department of Environmental Protection.

The orders charge that the Defense Department facilities are polluting waterways of the state through the discharge of domestic and industrial wastewater that violate state water quality standards, which have been approved by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Commissioner Richard J. Sullivan, in announcing the action, said that in each case the military post would have to comply with the orders by Feb. 29, 1972.

The orders, issued by Charles M. Pike, Director of the Division of Water Resources, were addressed to the commanding officers of the following installations:

N.Y. lung expert will give address

Dr. Stephen M. Ayres, director of the Cardiothoracic Laboratory, St. Vincent's Hospital and Medical Center of New York, will speak tomorrow at a meeting of the Central Jersey Chapter, Allergy Foundation of America, in the Barclay Valley Hotel, Green Brook. The meeting will start at 8 p.m.

His topic will be "The Relationship Between Childhood Asthma and Adult Bronchitis and Emphysema" and "Environmental Therapy of the Asthmatic."

Dr. Ayres, a native of Elizabeth, is an associate professor of clinical medicine at New York University School of Medicine and the mayor's Environmental Control Board in New York City.

He is author and co-author of many papers and books on pulmonary disorders.

Sullivan said, "It would be discriminatory to allow these conditions to persist at federal military installations while the department enforces against municipalities and industries."

Sullivan pointed out that a federal ruling and an executive order of the President support the department's action. "Federal installations are required to conform to state standards," said Sullivan, "at the express direction of Executive Order of the President Number 11890. In addition, a federal court established that such installations are subject to state requirements when it ruled in the case of a State of California water pollution order issued to the Army's Fort Ord."

According to Pike, most of the camps and military posts are discharging largely domestic wastes which fall to meet state water quality standards, and they will be required to upgrade treatment facilities or connect with public regional sewerage systems.

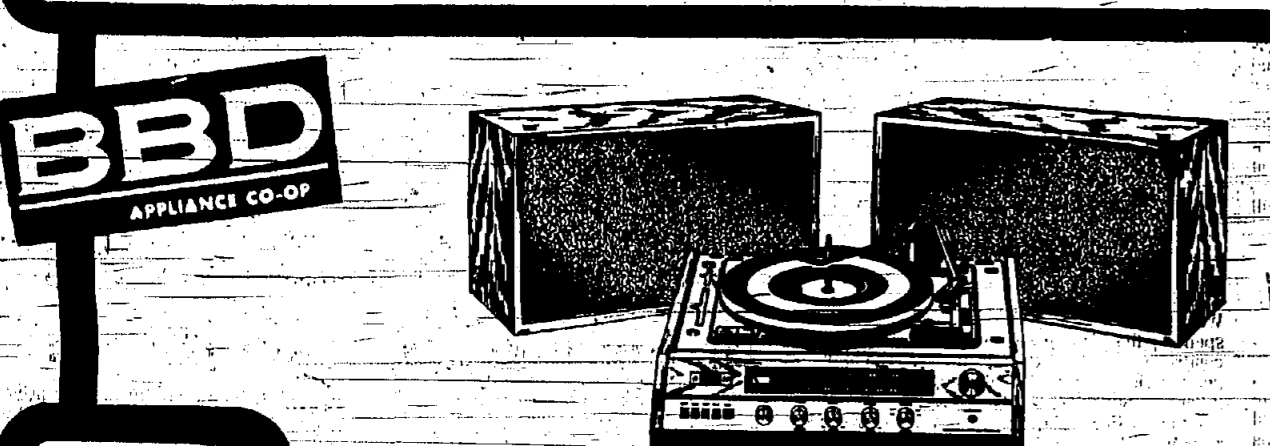

Pike said that the federal Environmental Protection Agency is aware that the military facilities are not meeting the State's water quality standards, and he said that EPA officials at Fort Dix and Fort Monmouth are in the process of the Department to bring them into line with industry and local units of government that have received the pollution order issued in the State of California.

IN THE CASE of the Pictorial Arsenal, one of the state's oldest Defense Department operations, it is held that deficiencies in

Christmas party tomorrow evening with German note

The German Ladies' Aid and the German Mission Circle of Springfield (Kinnelon) United Methodist Church, Church Hall at Academy Green, have invited all members of the congregation to their Christmas party tomorrow evening at 8 in Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Gertrude Schwing has stated that the program will be in English and partly in German, "but that it will be enjoyable for all members."

Highlights of the party will include a pageant presented by younger children of the Church School and a visit from the family of the Rev. Jonah Kawada. Mr. Kawada, his wife and daughter, and now his son John, have been in Madison for several years where Mr. Kawada has been completing his divinity studies. They are Methodists from Honduras and have been "adopted" while in the United States by the German Circles.

The evening will conclude with a visit from Santa Claus and with refreshments. Cookies will also be packed at the close of the annual dinner.

The Wesleyan Service Guild will hold its Christmas program and party on Tuesday at 8 p.m. Following caroling and devotions led by Gene Quinzel and Pat Kratzer, the group will adjourn to Fellowship Hall to pack gifts for the Union County Juvenile Detention Center. Each member will also make a Christmas card ball to hang at home.

Terry L. Schwartz becomes the bride of Marian Nedza

Terry Lynn Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Schwartz of 14 Berkeley Rd., Springfield, became the bride Sunday of Marian S. Nedza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nedza of Trenton. Mayor Nat Stokes of Springfield performed the ceremony at the Crystal Plaza, Livingston.

Lynn Freeman of Springfield was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Mangis, Hillside and Cheryl Fleischman of Trenton, Roman Nedza of Trenton was best man for his brother, Stanley Nedza Jr. of Trenton and Stuart C. Schwartz of Raleigh, N.C., brothers of the bride couple, served as ushers.

Mrs. Nedza holds a degree in special education from Trenton State College and is employed by the Union County Educational Services Commission at Children's Specialized Hospital, Montclair.

Her husband is an alumna of the University of Miami and is employed by the architectural firm of Gerber and Panchikoff, a member of the National Guard.

Cooking corner: Stuffing for turkey has a lot of leeway

Whichever poultry is spotlighted for a holiday meal, stuffing is almost a certainty for an accompaniment. There are as many different versions of stuffing as there are pumpkins. But traditional dressing is made with bread, a selection of seasonings and a moistening agent.

The size of the bird which will grace the holiday table also affords much leeway. Sties can range from Rock Cornish game hens for "wosomes" to oversized turkeys which will serve well over 20.

The recipes for stuffing which follow will add succulent accent for the holiday bird, whatever the choice. They are variations of the traditional bread stuffing.

STUFFING VARIATIONS
Try the following variations with a pound bag of herb-seasoned stuffing, prepared according to package directions. Each recipe is enough for a 12-to-16-pound turkey.

PARSLEY—1 cup chopped parsley, 1 cup chopped onion and 1 cup chopped celery sautéed in ½ pound butter or margarine called for in package directions.

ORIENTAL—1 cup chopped onion, ½ cup sliced mushrooms and ½ cup sliced water chestnuts sautéed in the ½ pound butter or margarine called for in package directions.

HERB—1 cup chopped celery, ½ cup onion and 1 cup nuts sautéed in ½ pound butter or margarine called for in package directions. Brazil nuts, chestnuts, filberts, pecans, almonds may be used.

GIBLET—Simmer turkey giblets with necks in 2 to 3 hours. Remove liver after 10 to 20 minutes. Drain, reserve ½ cup broth, chop giblets and liver. Sauté ½ cup chopped onion and 1 cup chopped celery in ½ pound butter or margarine called for in package directions. Use reserved broth in place of water to recipe.

STUFFED HENNY-PENNYS
(8 or each)
1 cup finely chopped green pepper
1 cup finely chopped celery
12 cups chopped white bread cubes, cut ½ inch
1 cup finely
1 cup loosely packed parsley
1 egg
sesame seeds

ACCENT ON DRESSING—Whatever the choice for the holiday bird, a rich, well-seasoned dressing will almost certainly be an accompaniment, will add interest and flavor accent.

STUFFING
½ pound butter or margarine
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
2 cups water
package (1 pound) herb-seasoned stuffing
In a large saucepan, sauté the onion and celery in butter until tender but not browned. Stir in water and then add stuffing. Makes enough to fill a 12-to-16-pound turkey.

OLD-FASHIONED
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
2 cups water
package (1 pound) herb-seasoned stuffing
In a large saucepan, sauté the onion and celery in butter until tender but not browned. Stir in water and then add stuffing. Makes enough to fill a 12-to-16-pound turkey.

By Pat and Marilyn Davis
Copley News Service

Dear Pat and Marilyn: Most women have other women as competition, but not I. I've been married for one year and I can count on one hand the few weekends my husband has spent with me. Where does he go? He goes fishing and always comes home with the usual fish stories. Don't tell me I've tried that, and he says he would rather go with the boys.

Tired of Stiffing Home
N.Y.—I tell your husband that you're going to be the one that got away if he doesn't give you a 9-to-5 break.

Dear Pat and Marilyn: My boyfriend has invited me to go on a weekend ski trip. We are the only couple going. I thought he was going to have a stroke. He actually turned red and his eyes popped out. I love to ski and I don't intend to miss a fun weekend. After all, what can I do in the mountains that I can't do at home?

Dear Pat and Marilyn: To answer your question, you can ski. I can understand your father's reaction. However, if you are all over 21, I can see your point. Do you know a young married couple who might like to go? If so, perhaps this would help.

Interior Department official commends park commission on 50th anniversary

The citizens of Union County showed their appreciation for the original park commission by carrying the original petition for a Union County Park Commission, according to Dr. Ernest A. Conally, chief of the Division of Parks and Recreation, U.S. Department of the Interior.

Dr. Conally, speaking last week before 400 persons attending a dinner marking the commission's 50th year, noted that "Present holdings of 45,300 acres of parkland are a public treasure of incalculable value in this densely populated region," said the government official.

"Although it may be the fashion to blame our immediate ancestors for an indifference to ecological concerns," continued Dr. Conally, "there are outstanding examples of their foresight in protecting natural and human resources."

Dr. Conally asserted that paradoxically, government inactivity in the environment is not exclusively a phenomenon of recent years. He said, "This country pioneered the idea of protecting parts of the natural environment through the National Park concept. Many nations have modeled their park programs after the National Park Service."

The speaker noted that as a result of the President's environmental message of 1971, "The National Park Service program combines previous open space, urban beautification and historical preservation functions into a single package."

Dr. Conally, who opened his talk with a discussion of the "White House," a 100-acre discussed federal legislation and activity in respect to historical landmark preservation and their future.

Richard J. Sullivan, N.J. Commissioner of Environmental Protection, said, "We are all in agreement in feeling that the environment is the people were in approving the 'Green Acres' referendum in November to finance the future needs of the day—in a few years—millions of people will be looking for a program will be implemented shortly."

Dr. Fidler and Mr. Haddock attended a meeting of clinic directors from the 160 member clinics throughout the country.

The lastmaster introduced Henry Kretz Jr., Union, general chairman of the dinner celebrating the 50th anniversary of the park system, which was written by Mr. Cunningham to trace the history and activities of the park system, were viewed at the dinner.

Dear Pat and Marilyn: I have been married about six months. All appeared to be fine. My husband's mother began coming over. She would stay to cook, how to iron, what to clean and how to keep her son happy.

I love my husband and she knows it. Now her life seems to be wrapped up in me. She calls us each evening and talks for at least 30 minutes. I never see her when I am home. How can we get her to mind her own business and let us alone? How can we get her to mind her own business and let us alone?

Dear Pat and Marilyn: Your husband should speak to his mother. If he sees her and love, he can get the point across.

your week ahead

- ARIES Mar. 21 - Apr. 19
Someone close by is likely to ask for help. Don't be too anxious to respond. According to your chart there is no one complication. If you therefore, you'll be confronted with unanticipated frustrations.
- Taurus Apr. 20 - May 20
You are going to be tense in the air. Accepting favors from a member of the opposite sex, more than likely will cause you problems. Oh, you take care of your health.
- GEMINI May 21 - June 20
Friendly joking is one thing; a "sharp needle" is another. Please guard your words with associates, animosity is brewing so it seems.
- MOONCHILD June 21 - July 22
Don't let the opinions of others influence you. According to stellar patterns, you are going to be too emotional in your response toward the actions of your associates.
- LEO July 23 - Aug. 22
For those under your sign unattached, there's a romance developing. Last month's social activities are in the wing for most. Less he care, however, a sweet talking personality.
- VIRGO Aug. 23 - Sept. 22
You must be extremely careful of your health, as the holidays approach. It seems as though you will be overeating with a member of the opposite sex, incidentally.
- LIBRA Sept. 23 - Oct. 22
Emotional control, is the keyword for this week's comic cycle. Those under your sign involved in a triangle will have a tough going, to say the least.
- SCORPIO Oct. 23 - Nov. 21
You will be seeking advice from an associate. The advice you receive will be good. There is one drawback, however, it's not likely that you will do what you are told.
- SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 - Dec. 21
During this particular comic cycle, you are going to learn the truth about someone who has been deceiving you for months.
- CAPRICORN Dec. 22 - Jan. 19
Many members of your sign will be meeting persons who are either at the top or the lower rung of the social ladder. The questions will learn much about the motives of others.
- AQUARIUS Jan. 20 - Feb. 18
Behind the scene, there is trouble brewing, but you will be aware of it. You will be told into any clash by a relative, possibly that you will hear.
- PISCES Feb. 19 - Mar. 20
The worst that can happen? Letting yourself be pinned-down by the story of someone's life. So concentrate on new things that will develop with a member of the opposite sex.

Dr. MacKay joins state advisory unit

Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, executive director of the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education, has been appointed to the State Department of Higher Education's advisory unit on professional and allied health education.

Dr. MacKay is among 12 representatives of educational institutions, health professions and the general public selected to assist the Department of Higher Education in the development of a master plan for the preparation of professional and allied health personnel at various degree levels.

Questions to be addressed in the master plan include determination of priority educational programs in health specialties to be developed within the state, the numbers of persons to be educated to meet the manpower requirements in these health specialties, the level of training required for each specialty, criteria for the designation of higher education institutions in which these programs are to be offered, and a list of similar planning issues.

Dr. MacKay brings to his new assignment the experience of a college president as well as that of an educator who has been working closely with allied health programs for the past several years. "Union College, under his direction, has been allied with health education some 20 years ago when it began offering academic courses to student nurses at Elizabeth General Hospital and Perth Amboy General Hospital Schools of Nursing.

As executive director of the Coordinating Agency for Higher Education, which is responsible for contacting the services of Union College and Union County Technical Institute to serve Union County in lieu of a community college, Dr. MacKay has worked closely with both institutions in the development of new health career programs.

Union College began a Cooperative Nursing Program with the Schools of Nursing of Elizabeth General Hospital and Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, in September. Students enrolled in this innovative three-year program may earn an Associate in Science degree from Union College and a nursing diploma from the participating Schools of Nursing. In addition, Union College's biological sciences curriculum leads to many health-oriented careers, including medicine, dentistry, and pharmacology.

U.C.T.I. has several health career programs including: dental, radiology, dental hygiene, dental laboratory technology, practical nursing, medical assisting and medical laboratory technology.

The dental hygiene program has been cited in particular as an outstanding example of institutional cooperation, involving students at Union College and the New Jersey College of Dentistry as well as at U.C.T.I.

Dr. MacKay is a graduate of Columbia College and holds a Ph.D. degree from Columbia University. He was awarded honorary degrees by Rutgers University and Newark College of Engineering.

A pioneer in the field of two-year college education, Dr. MacKay has been called "Dean" of the state's community college movement and is counted among the top national leaders in two-year college education.

Dr. MacKay is past president of the New Jersey Association of Colleges and Universities and of the New Jersey Junior College Association.

The New Advisory Committee is expected to move as rapidly as possible in developing educational programs to meet the Governor's concern for quality health care for the citizens of New Jersey, according to a spokesman for the State Department of Higher Education.

Applications available for skate class

The Union County Park Commission has announced that applications are now available for the final group ice skating instructional sessions at Warinanco Park Ice Skating Center, Roselle.

A complete schedule of ice skating instruction will be offered from January through March under the direction of Janet and Ray Dugan of Elizabeth, former ice skating instructors.

Group instructions will be offered for a fee of $12.50 for eight one-half hour sessions held weekly.

For children three to five, instruction programs will be held Wednesdays, at 10 a.m. and at 1:30 p.m., beginning Jan. 5. For boys and girls six to 15, instruction will be given Wednesdays at 3:30 p.m., beginning Jan. 5, and on Saturdays at 9:30 a.m., beginning Jan. 8. For boys and girls 13, 14 and 15, instruction will be given Fridays at 6 p.m., beginning Jan. 7. An adult instruction program, open to young adults 16 and over, will be given Mondays at 8:30 p.m., beginning Jan. 3.

For women beginners, a "kiss-katch" session will be held Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m., beginning Jan. 5. A session will be held for intermediate women skaters on Tuesdays at 10 a.m., beginning Jan. 4.

A skate program for Brownies and Girl Scouts will be offered. The program of eight half-hour sessions will be conducted by Mrs. Ann Lunza of Roselle weekday afternoons.

Applications and additional information may be obtained at the Warinanco Park Ice Skating Center, Roselle.

Public may review pollution proposals at Trenton hearing

The New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection will hold a public hearing on proposals to implement national ambient air quality standards, including revisions and amendments to certain chapters of the New Jersey Air Pollution Control Code. The hearing will be held Jan. 6 and 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center, Rider College, Trenton. The hearing will be held in accordance with the provisions of the Air Pollution Control Act (1964) as amended by Chapter 106, P.L. 1967. Revisions and amendments are proposed for the following code chapters: Chapter 17 revised and amended to include emission standards for solid particles from the combustion of fuel; Chapter 7 revised and amended to include standards for all particles from manufacturing processes; Chapter 15 revised to remove criteria for various air pollution episode levels from chapter and to place same on file with the Department; Although previously proposed, revisions and amendments to Chapters 5 and 7 were submitted for public hearing on Feb. 9 and 10, 1971, subsequent enlargement of the proposed revisions.

Chapter 10 is also proposed. Chapter 10 - Control and Prohibition of Air Pollution from Volatile Organic Substances would provide regulatory measures concerning petroleum products, petroleum fractions, petrochemicals, solvents, silicates and thinners.

Santa will collect toys at Channel

Santa Claus will be into a whole different bag this year at the Channel Home Centers and Play Factory toy stores in North Jersey. Instead of his traditional role of handing out toys to the small fry, he'll be on the receiving end for the playthings. The theme of the program is "Give Santa Claus a Toy for a Girl or Boy."

By this switch on the traditional Christmas routine, kids are requested to bring their used toys to their local Channel outlets. Santa Claus will personally place the love tokens in each store in special bins.

Before Christmas all of the collected toys will be donated to the United States Marine Corps Reserve Training Center at Piscataway.

New "Scotch" Brand High Energy could make ordinary cassettes obsolete... but not your cassette recorder.

Today's new "Scotch" Brand cassette, High Energy, makes ordinary cassettes sound as old-fashioned as 78 rpm records. For good reason. Its new, cobalt-energized tape is a major breakthrough in magnetic sound technology. Not just a little better. A lot. With 8 to 5 decibels improved signal to noise, 50% more output than today's high density cassette tapes.

Best of all, High Energy gives you unsurpassed sound quality right now on your present cassette system. With none of the compatibility problems other new cassettes may create. There's no need to buy new equipment. No adjustments to make on your recorder. And when you change cassette tapes, there's no extra switch to set. Or forget.

"Scotch" High Energy cassettes make only one thing out-dated: the sound you heard from yesterday's cassettes.

Buy the exclusive "Scotch" cobalt-energized cassettes at your favorite dealer now. Don't miss this special savings offer. Offer ends December 31, 1971, so don't wait.

1st glimpse at Cunningham tale of Drew Chapter is published in university magazine

The reading public got an advance look this week at New Jersey's famed Wendell family and the Cunningham's latest book, "University in the Forest: The Story of Drew University."

The book is scheduled for release early next year, with the official publication date set for Feb. 15, the 100th anniversary of Drew's charter. Drew is situated in Madison, N.J., and is the oldest black college in the United States.

The advance look at the book came this week with the publication of the winter issue of "The Drew University Magazine," which features a preface of the book and one complete chapter from it.

The chapter that is included is the story of New York City's famed Wendell family and the relationship between the Wendells and Drew which resulted in the family willing to the university several million dollars and "the mystery house" on Fifth Avenue.

It is the story of three unmarried sisters in the 1920s wearing the clothes of a half century earlier and living in a shabby house with old-fashioned gas lamps, an incense burner and a pet dog. The Wendell family was a prominent one in New York City. The story of the sisters is a story of the struggle to make a name for themselves in a world that was not ready to accept them.

The book is full of such vignettes, stories of the people that made the history of a leading small university. This is the usual stuff of a Cunningham book: personalities and problems, conflicts and controversies. The events and decisions that shaped what would follow decades later.

The preface in the "Drew Magazine" suggests that these events and decisions that are revealed in the book. First, of course, is the courage of Daniel Drew himself, his unerring eye for opportunity, his vision of the American higher education to that date, his power struggle with Cornelius Vanderbilt, the "ruthless manipulative talents" on Wall Street.

AND, THERE IS Daniel Drew the cowboy, realizing that the ponies were of little use as they were driven to market each morning. Drew placed salt licks along the trail north of New York City. He let the cattle lick contentedly, then drove them through the night without water until they reached a spring close to market. Crazed with thirst, each steer gulped enough water to add some fifty pounds to its weight. Unsettling buyers held as much for the water as for the beef. A new and lasting phrase, "watered stock," entered the language in time. Daniel Drew would help make the phrase a Wall Street shame.

Cunningham also tells of John McClinchey, the former president of Drew University, who became Drew's reluctant first president. He had been forced out of Carolina, Pa., in 1874 for allegedly causing a riot that caused when he appeared in court on behalf of three escaped slaves. He and 30 co-defendants were charged with encouraging the riot and after he was acquitted he successfully worked for the eventual release of the 13 blacks who were convicted.

And there is coverage of the Gibbons family and its estate, destined to be Drew's home; its mansion "with enough Madeira wine in the cellar to float a frigate," built at a cost in the 1820s of $100,000; and its stable of race horses.

Other elements in the book hinted at in the magazine include "reportage" about the history of the work of the student body, the Barber Shop Incident, and the Theological School crisis.

Publishing by Afton Publishing Company, the heavily illustrated, 7 1/2 by 10 inch, 228-page book will sell for $10 and is available at local stores and by mail from the Drew bookstore.

Consumers want to know

By MARGARET SPADER, Director of Consumer Affairs, National Association of Manufacturers

Is there any advantage to longer life bulbs if you get less light? That's why the information is printed on the sleeve—for reading, studying, working—the brightness of a bulb is more important than its life. To get the most lumens for the wattage, "standard" bulbs will give the best value. But there are times when convenience will be more important than brightness—for example, in a closet or stairwell, in the attic or where a globe may have to be removed. In these cases, it may be more desirable to settle for less brightness and choose a bulb that will last longer.

If I purchased two 100 watt bulbs, one "standard" and the other "long life," which would use the most electricity? Which will give the most light? How much longer will the "long life" last? Both 100-watt bulbs will use exactly the same amount of electricity—100 watts. The "standard" bulb will give about 750 hours of use with actual light output of 1750 lumens. The "long life" 100-watt bulb will last over three times as long but will produce on the average 1400 lumens, or about 80 percent as much light as standard.

What's the difference between a no-calorie and a low-calorie sweetener? A no-calorie sweetener is a sugar substitute composed of sodium and calcium salts of cyclamate, cyclamate-saccharin, or saccharin only usually dissolved in water. A low-calorie sweetener is a granulated artificial sweetener in which the cyclamate, cyclamate-saccharin or saccharin only are combined with dextrin or other bulking materials. The food and drug administration has allowed saccharin to be sold without restriction, but all combinations containing cyclamate must be labeled as drugs.

3 BEST BUYS! PRICED FROM $249.95

When we say "3 Best Buys," that's exactly what we mean. Three color TV sets that offer, in our opinion, the best combination of performance, durability, appearance and convenience at their price. Things like UltraSharp color from Toshiba's advanced design picture tube. Rugged "Portabull" construction to take the jolts and jars of moving from place to place. And, Toshiba color TV is easy to use. Simplified, fingertip color tint control and automatic fine tuning make perfect color pictures, every time, on every channel, a certainty. Another plus is Toshiba's "Eye-Ease" tinted screen. It's designed to reduce glare and eliminate annoying reflections. So, for color TV that brings new meaning to the word "value," buy a 1972 Toshiba.

Drew prof records albums on pollution, black struggle

FOLKSONG ECONOMIST Dr. Fred Starnie performs for the audience of "The Oleano Trill," New Jersey public television's series hosted by the State University assistant professor.

Two unusual record albums—one of the music inspired by the war on pollution, the other representing a black-white collaboration on the songs of the black struggle—were released this week by a New Jersey record company.

Both feature Dr. Fred Starnie, Drew University assistant professor of economics, who is regionally known as the folk singer of environmentalism's "The Oleano Trill," a series produced by the state's public broadcasting flagship station in Trenton and distributed by the Eastern Educational Television Network. "Titled 'Ecology: The People are Scorching,' and 'The Black Struggle in Story and Song,'" with cover designs by Starnie's artist wife Barbara, the albums are published by Kimbo Educational Records of Deal. Both are available from area record shops, the Drew bookstore or the manufacturer.

Cooperating with Starnie on "The Black Struggle in Story and Song" is Brother Fred D. Kirkpatrick. A native of Haynesville, La., he was an all-American quarterback at Grambling College and later played briefly for the Kansas City Chiefs.

While building a reputation as a folk singer, he also organized the Many Races Cultural Foundation, which operates bookstores and coffee houses in urban centers. In 1968 he received an honorary doctorate from Columbia University's School of Social Work.

In 1969, Pete Seeger, the prominent folk musician, invited Kirkpatrick and Starnie to join the singing crew of his Wisdom River song restoration "Clearwater." Since then they have exchanged frequent guest appearances—Starnie in Kirkpatrick's coffee houses, Kirkpatrick on Starnie's television show and both in concert at Drew and other colleges and universities.

The album performances by Kirkpatrick—"The Ballad of Harriet Tubman," "Steal Away," "Long Chant" and others—spring from a concert that the examples of strength and courage set by blacks during the period of slavery in this country be remembered. Starnie, on the other hand, sings of white involvement in the struggle from the era of the underground railway ("Follow the Drinking Gourd") to the time of Martin Luther King Jr. in Birmingham ("If You Miss Me at the Back of the Bus").

The spirit behind the album is captured in Kirkpatrick's staging of his own new composition, "Stephens." The ecology album comes with material suggesting educational uses by teachers of grade school children. But adults may encounter no lack of wit or science, in songs like "The B.O.D." (biological oxygen demand) by Starnie; in Pete Seeger's "We'll All Be A-Doubting"; or in the title song, which describes the consequences of shortighted tampering with the ecosystem.

Also featured are "Severely Misled" and "Oil, Gas, and Coal" by Kirkpatrick and "Garbage" by Bill Steele and "Stagnant Old Smog" by Ernie Morris—a clean deal in all.

Livingston host in midget team's wrestling debut

The Springfield midget wrestlers open their wrestling season Saturday against the Livingston Midgets starting at 10 a.m. The match at Livingston should be a key one for the coming season, according to a team spokesman.

In last week's practice sessions, 27 boys tattooed for the 13 starting positions on the squad. The weight classes for the season are 66, 72, 84, 90, 96, 102, 108, 114, 120, 132 and 147 lbs.

The starting lineup for Saturday's meet includes Dave Frank (66), Chris Clunie (72), George Rowlands (78), Bill Francis or Joel Allen (84), Richard Dolan (90), Jim Sieder (96), Jeff Bromberg (102), Larry Dry or Frank Fallon (108), Sid Kaufman (114), Don Lauraldi (122), Ron Beckin (132), and Don Liles (147).

UC Owls, 0-1 to play two, take break

The Union College, Cranford, varsity basketball team hopes to wrap up a pair of victories during the coming week before the holiday season brings about a month-long break in the schedule.

Tomorrow, the Owls will travel to Rutherford where they will take on the Fairleigh Dickinson. Fresh at 6:15 p.m.—The 1971 portion of the regular campaign will come to an end on Monday, when Ramapo College invades the Cranford campus gymnasium for an 8 p.m. clash.

The Owls will have one occasion to spread their wings before their regular season state reguement on Saturday, Jan. 23, against the Seton Hall frosh at South Orange. This will occur when the varsity takes on an alumni squad at 8 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 27, as part of the Union College Alumni Association's "Homecoming" at the Cranford Campus.

Track and field set this spring by Recreation

Steve Maglione, director of the Springfield Recreation Department, announced this week that his department will sponsor a spring track and field program and a fall cross-country program for boys in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

The track and field program will be instituted during the months of May and June. A track coach will be provided to supervise and train the boys at the Meisel avenue athletic field three afternoons per week. These practice sessions will be held jointly with the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School track team and coaching staff. Current plans are for two home dual meets to be sought during this initial year of competition.

2 Dayton alumni playing for FDU

Two Springfield players are in the starting lineup this season for the treatment basketball team at Fairleigh Dickinson University. They are Ed Graessle and Howard Alexander. Graessle, a 6'4 guard, won all-state and all-county honors last year for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Alexander, a 6'8 center, was named to the all-county team. They led Dayton last year to its second straight Suburban Conference championship. Their coach last year at Dayton was Ray Yanchus.

Regional five beaten by Clark in opener despite Drew's 20-point varsity debut

Clark's Mark Kettel and Greg Hurley were two reasons for this as they consistently switched off to hit on clutch jumpers. Kettel scored 17 points while Hurley had 11.

Entering the second quarter, the Bulldogs were behind, 14-8. Kettel and Hurley went to work from the outside and, with 1:30 left, the score was 27-16 for Clark's biggest lead. Just as the buzzer was about to sound, Drew hit Ken Baroff for a layup cutting the lead.

The second half scoring was more even, with Springfield having just a three-point edge. Despite this, the Bulldogs were more successful on defense as they went to a zone in the third period. Schoch was particularly instrumental and was named defensive player of the game for his effort. Sophomore Gavin Wilson and Drew also performed well on defense.

Older boys lost interest Palmer says

Parker still working with younger athletes

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Springfield this season has been forced to drop competition in wrestling as a varsity sport because of a shortage of athletes willing to take part, Herb Palmer, Dayton athletic director, disclosed this week.

Coch Lonnie Parker will continue to work with a squad of some 19 boys, mostly freshmen, in the Springfield wrestling program in the 12 weight classes from 88 pounds to heavyweight.

Palmer added that the schools on Dayton schedule this season are cooperating in permitting the local youngsters to continue on a varsity basis this year.

The athletic director said, "Basically our older boys seem to have lost interest. They just don't make the personal sacrifice required. Wrestling calls for more physical dedication than most sports. Keeping their weight limits and staying in shape—and the older boys just don't want to."

The Dayton wrestlers last year had a record of 9-16; they have not had a winning season in seven years. The school has gone through the coaches' division of Rutgers University in 1962, with four in the last five years.

Palmer also noted that most of Dayton's opponents, both in the Suburban Conference and outside, have received boys schooled in midwest wrestling programs conducted for at least 20 years. The Springfield Recreation Department wrestling program is just two years old.

"We have not been able to reap any real benefits from the midwest program until now," he said. "We do have five or six real good wrestlers now from last year's midwest program. This is one reason we don't want to liquidate the team completely."

Palmer added that competition from other sports has added to the difficulty of maintaining a wrestling team in a small high school.

Dead studies come alive Revived by archeology finds

Dr. Anna Benjamin, chairman of the Rutgers University classics department, who also is an archeologist, says that the University's Geology Museum is bringing the museum's collection of Egyptian artifacts, by Benjamin is editor of "Archaeology," a national magazine.

Dr. Benjamin said, "Basically our older boys seem to have lost interest. They just don't make the personal sacrifice required. Wrestling calls for more physical dedication than most sports. Keeping their weight limits and staying in shape—and the older boys just don't want to."

Keep Yule trees moist County agent offers some tips

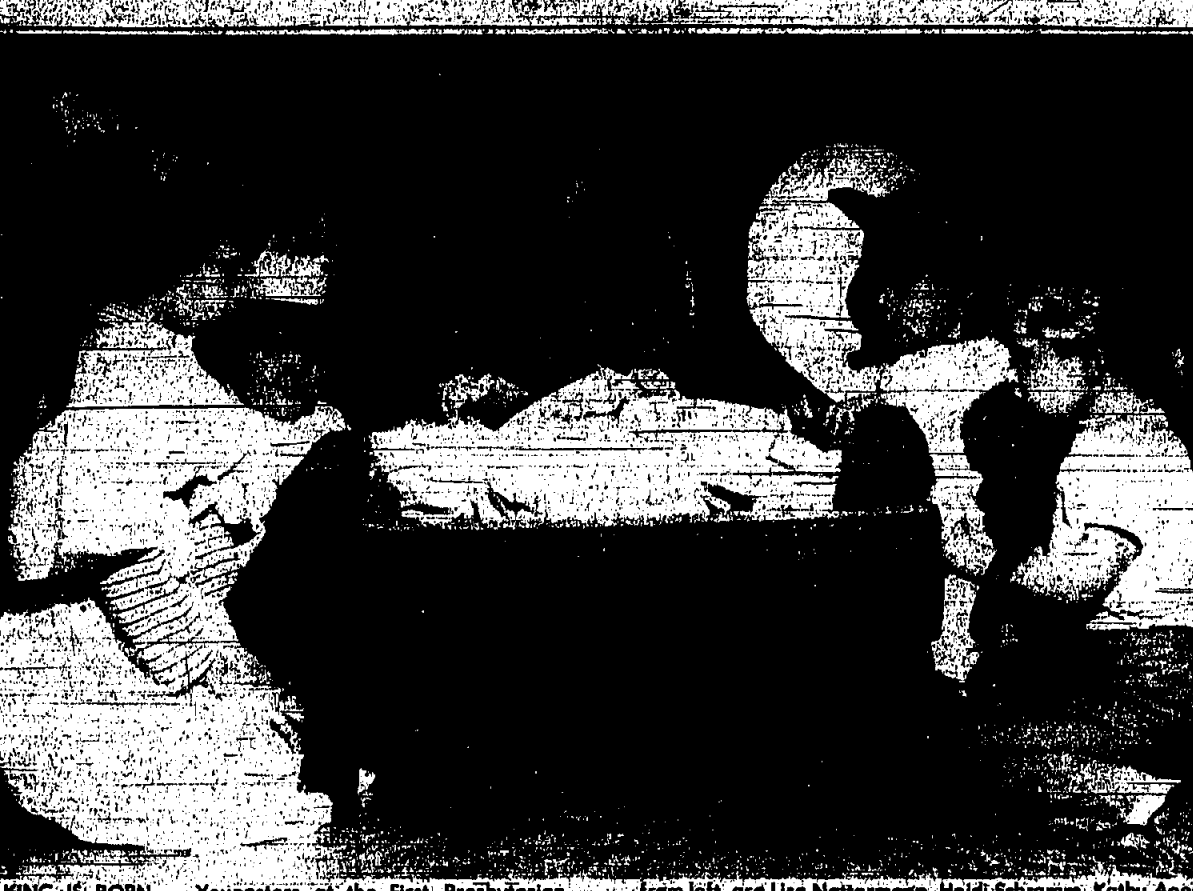

Mountains of pine and spruce trees used in bundles are arriving, waiting to be sold for Christmas. Many of these trees were cut weeks ago and shipped long distances.

Keep the cut surface covered with water at all times. A tree in a warm room may need water a day. The larger the container the longer the water will last.
