

Bell asks for 20-cent call from booths and limit on 'free' directory service

New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. has filed a request with the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners for increased intrastate telephone rates to be implemented in steps over a period of 18 months.

The company's request is based on the fact that the rate adjustments being sought are essential "to maintain high quality service and meet the needs of the public."

The company's request totals $165 million in three stages - the first to go into effect on Oct. 1, 1974, the second in January 1975, and the third in April 1975.

A five percent increase in revenues would become effective Oct. 1 through changes in basic monthly service rates for both business and residential customers and increases in other services such as long distance.

The second phase increase would result from the annual adjustment clause now in effect and would raise revenues by about 2 1/2 percent, the company said. Revenues would increase by 11 percent in the third phase, beginning in April 1975.

The company's petition also recommends some other price changes which, it said, are a substitute for further increases in basic monthly service charges.

The company proposed an initial period charge of 20 cents for local coin telephone calls. The present 10-cent rate for local coin calls would be eliminated.

The company also proposed a limit of three "free" calls to directory assistance. This change probably could not be made effective until 1976, due to present technical limitations.

Directory assistance service now costs about $45 million, which equates to about 20 cents for every call made to the service.

The effect on individual business service would average $3.22 a month, 33 cents beginning in April 1975.

Company surveys show that only about 25 percent of its customers make more than three calls to Directory Assistance in any given month, and that about 75 percent of its customers would not be affected by the proposal.

There would be no charge for Directory Assistance calls from coin telephones, hospitals, hotels, motels and other places where handicapped persons.

Charges for installation and movement of telephone equipment would be increased and restructured into components of usage with charges based on the three-element plan so that a customer requiring only one or two elements of work would not pay for all three.

U.S. asks public for views on list of meat ingredients

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has issued a notice asking for public comments on a list of meat ingredients that could be used in making cooked sausages such as hot dogs and bologna.

If adopted, the proposal would permit meat processors to use chicken meat, diaphragm muscle from beef, veal, lamb, goat and pork, and up to 10 percent bacon - and call the product simply "hot dogs" or "bologna," for example.

On the other hand, if certain meat ingredients would also be allowed under the proposal - such as, for example, "hot dogs with byproducts" would have to be used on the label. Byproducts proposed are partially defatted chopped beef and pork and cured and smoked meats such as ham, pork shoulders and beef.

The use of any of these byproducts would be limited by certain requirements now in effect - such as the restriction of 30 percent on total fat content, and the limit of 10 percent on use of cured and smoked meats. Each ingredient included in a formula would be listed by its name on the product's label.

The deadline for submitting comments to USDA is Sept. 12.

Officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) explain that the use of meat byproducts and byproducts is mandated by the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, which requires that all meat products, including those for use in cooked sausages, be made from meat of the species designated in the product's label.

At the time current standards for cooked sausages were adopted in June 1972 and became effective in January 1973, these particular products and byproducts were inadvertently omitted from the approved list.

To present oral comments, interested persons should contact the Project Standards Program, in effect in all Pathmark stores, in available to persons over 40. It will offer health aid benefits to members of the plan.

N.J. economy 'in doldrums'; unemployment remains high

The New Jersey economy is still in the doldrums, and unemployment remains stubbornly high, Commissioner Joseph A. Hoffman of the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry, said this week after reviewing the current issue of the department's monthly "New Jersey Economic Indicators," a report on the state's economy.

Commissioner Hoffman noted that while several indicators show encouraging signs, such as nonresidential construction contracts, the dominant picture is one of continued sluggishness of business activity.

The report, prepared by director Arthur J. O'Neal of the Department's Division of Planning and Research, revealed that the economy continues to suffer from the effects of a low volume of retail sales, a protracted slump in housing starts, and a severe drop in manufacturing. The analysis is based mainly on economic statistics available through April and May.

Retail sales in New Jersey increased in April for the third month in a row, but were still 3 percent below those of the same time last year despite sharply higher prices. Auto sales remain particularly depressed. They edged up fractionally in May, but were off by about one-third from their pace prior to the slump that started in the second half of 1973.

The cautious attitude of the consumer is matched by the wary behavior of the potential business bringing about a weakness in new business incorporations, which for the year to date are running 12 percent behind their 1973 pace, the report noted.

On the positive side, employment increased more than seasonally in May, after showing no significant change on a seasonally adjusted basis for five months. All of the improvement was in the non-manufacturing sector, with a surprisingly large gain in construction which has been suffering from a severe cutback in housing starts. The report contended that the improvement in construction employment was, which was contrary to expectations, could have been due to sampling error and indicated that a better reading will be available as data for the summer months are developed.

Morristown National Park part of Bicentennial project

Morristown National Park is expected to begin by early August on major phases of development. The park boundaries were also called for a major rehabilitation of the museum buildings within part of an overall Bicentennial project for the 1790s.

Jerry D. Wagers, director of the National Park Service's North Atlantic Region, said the initial phases of the work, as described in the park's master plan, will be carried out and completed in time for the nation's Bicentennial celebration in 1976.

The decision to proceed with the park work comes as a public meeting on the Master Plan, held at the national park June 12, and to which there have been several objections to the plan proposals by the public or concerned organizations.

The environmental assessment and environmental review of the park's master plan have been completed, explained Wagers. The park's master plan, which shows the location of the park boundaries, the location of the museum buildings, and the location of the parking areas at the site. Morristown National Park, which commemorates a vital phase in the nation's Revolutionary War, served as military headquarters of General George Washington and his Continental Army during the winters of 1777 and 1778-9.

Morristown National Park Acting president is named at Drew

John L. Pepin of Morristown, Drew University's vice president and treasurer, has been elected acting president by the board of trustees.

The action came during a board meeting in New York last week and followed by less than a month the resignation of Drew President Robert F. Ostrum for reasons of health and his designation by the board as university chancellor. Dr. Ostrum died last Friday night.

Pepin, who has been Drew's chief executive since the resignation of Dr. Ostrum, is a summa cum laude graduate of Harvard University, where he served as assistant treasurer and later treasurer before coming to Drew in 1958. He holds a master's degree in economics from Clark University.

In 1960, he was named vice-president of Drew and also served for a year as Drew's chief executive, between the presidencies of now United Methodist Bishop Fred G. Holloway and Dr. Ostrum.

Representatives of such organizations as the Mechanical Contractors Association of New Jersey, New Jersey Builders Association, New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, Associated General Contractors of New Jersey, the Building Contractors Association of New Jersey, and the New Jersey Freedom Council, all join in cooperating in the effort. All are represented on the SEED Board of Trustees.

Marciano said that the shutdown of construction Monday is to be considered "a voluntary sacrifice for all parties involved." Workers will sacrifice a day's pay and contractors and their clients will sacrifice a day's progress on the job.

Job march, shutdown by builders

A "March for Jobs" in the State House in Trenton and a shutdown of construction jobs in New Jersey is being planned for at least 10,000 construction workers from throughout New Jersey on Monday, July 29.

The march is being organized by the New Jersey State Building Trades Council, which is the union arm of the International Union of Operating Engineers and president of the Society for Economic Development (SEED). "We want those workers to join their unemployed brethren in Trenton."

The Society for Economic Development, known as "SEED" and composed of organizations representing labor, business, and industrial interests throughout the state, is helping to coordinate the "March for Jobs." SEED's objective is "to promote responsible economic growth and development for the ultimate welfare of the people of New Jersey."

Organizers of the "March for Jobs" include Charles H. Marciano, president of the New Jersey State AFL-CIO and president of the Michael Field, president of the New Jersey State Building Trades Council.

State urged to act on hazard caused by dredging of silt

Local residents and municipal officials have expressed concern over the hazard posed by a massive pile of silt and debris in the channel of the Rahway River, which flows past the city of Springfield.

The silt, which is the result of dredging operations, is blocking the river and creating a serious hazard to the community.

The township officials have requested that the state act on this hazard as soon as possible.

Blumenthal returns from year in Germany

By KAREN STOLL

Americans who visit Europe usually manage to acquire a vast variety of memories and mementos, but few can make a claim like that of Marc Blumenthal of Springfield, who recently returned from a year's stay in Germany.

Marc was two months out of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School when he left for Münster last summer, armed with three years of high school German and faced with the prospect of attending classes in a German gymnasium, whose academic program is equivalent to college-level instruction here.

"I know all the basic grammar," Marc said. "The slang I picked up over there, but at first I suppose I spoke like someone else who has learned only 'book' English. They talk like something out of Shakespeare."

"When I first got to Germany, I found I was understanding much better than I was speaking. I'd not into a conversation with someone, but by the time I translated what they were saying into English, decided on what I wanted to say and then translated that into German, they were 10 subjects ahead of me. But things quickly changed as soon as I began to think in German," he explained, observing that he first realized he had accomplished this feat when he had a couple of dreams in that language.

Marc credited the Erdmann family, and particularly his younger "brother and sister," aged 10 and 8, respectively, with helping him become fluent in German. "I could speak English to the adults, but the little kids knew no English at all, so I had to speak German to them all the time. It was a great educational experience," he laughed.

At the gymnasium, Marc studied math, sociology, history, biology, English, and art. "It was very difficult," he said, "even though I was basically fluent in German. The more technical subjects were particularly difficult."

Marc explained the final two years of the gymnasium in the same way as the level of the American university. "When you do get into college there, the last two years are more like a master's or doctoral program is here. You don't ask someone what their mind set is, rather, what their subject is, since all their courses are in one subject at that level."

Marc plans to enter Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., in the fall, possibly as a pre-med student, "and is making the school to give him credit for his German and history courses completed in Münster."

In addition to his studies, Marc also had time for travel, often accompanied by his 19-year-old host brother, Martin (who visited the Blumenthals this April). His most frequent was a 60-mile journey to the north to visit Holland.

"From what I saw in Europe, I would say Holland and Germany are probably the two countries closest to the United States in culture and lifestyle," he commented, adding "but I always did the difference in cultures is not very huge, but rather, it's the little things that make up a day-to-day lifestyle."

Ching one major cultural difference he discovered here was that in Germany, you sometimes did not use the car for as long a time. Everything was packed away in a trunk and distance and if we rode a bike."

Jury acquits taxi owner on robbery count

Joseph Parillo, owner of the Parillo Transportation Co., formerly the Inter-City Cab Co. of Springfield, was acquitted by a Union County Grand Jury July 23 on charges his mastermind in the beating and robbery last year of a driver for a rival tax firm.

Parillo, 58, had been accused of paying an employee, Donald Washington, and two other men, Ronald Andrews and Vernon Brown of Newark, to beat and rob Reuben Ostin, 65, driver for the Springfield Cab Co. On June 21, 1973, Ostin was attacked by two passengers, who stole his receipts and his cab after he took them to a Springfield address.

Washington and Andrews pleaded guilty to being involved in the crime, testifying Parillo in the death of another tax driver, Brown, also arrested in connection with the crime, is awaiting trial.

Parillo, who resides in North Plainfield, denied "any involvement" in the robbery, testifying Brown, Washington and Andrews had planned and executed the crime, agreeing to blame Parillo if they were caught.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated for approximately two and a half hours before returning an all guilty verdict on all charges against Parillo: conspiracy to commit an armed robbery, armed robbery, atrocious assault and battery, and assault with a dangerous weapon. The case was tried before Superior Court Judge Frederick C. Keetz Jr.

Karloff excerpts on library screen

The children's department of the Springfield Public Library will show five movies on Tuesday at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m.

The program will last about 45 minutes and is suitable for other children, aged nine and up.

The picture to be shown is "Frankenstein Saga," starring Boris Karloff and Lon Chaney. This film includes highlights from five horror films: "Frankenstein," "The Bride of Frankenstein," "The Son of Frankenstein," "Frankenstein Meets the Wolf Man" and "The House of Frankenstein."

Free tickets for either showing may be obtained at least two days before the screening at the circulation desk in the children's department.

Smallest state park in New Jersey

This tiny, grassy plot in front of the First Presbyterian Church, Morris Avenue, is an official state park, the deed for the land having been given to the state on June 23, 1905, when the status of the Continental Soldiers was dedicated. (Since everyone in town knows what the statue looks like from the front, we thought we'd give a different view.) Note: The paragona represented is not a "Minuteman" (though Springfielders prefer) in calling him that; one can find a "Minuteman" representation at Union Square in Elizabeth, a statue erected on the same date in 1905, the 125th anniversary of the Battle of Springfield. To mark that occasion, several other monuments were dedicated throughout the county, among them a tablet on the Elmwood avenue site in Union where Mrs. Hannah Caldwell was killed during the British invasion, and another at the First Presbyterian Church of Connecticut Farms in Union. Springfield's statue and park have been selected for possible inclusion in the county Planning Board's survey of historic sites. (Photo-Graphics)

Plan vacation for appliances to conserve energy, money

By PENNY SHEARIN
VICTORIAN living specialist
Jersey Central Power and Light Co.

When you plan your vacation this summer, don't forget to plan a proper vacation for your appliances, too. Just a few steps can conserve electric energy, help preserve the life of your appliances, and save money as well.

Plan to use up all perishable foods before you leave. For a relatively short vacation of up to three weeks, clean the refrigerator and turn the control to a low setting. (Leave a note on the refrigerator door as a reminder to turn the control up again when you return.) For an extended vacation of four weeks or more, remove all food and defrost and clean the interior. Let the door or doors open and unplug the refrigerator to save electricity. Put an open line of baking soda inside to absorb odors.

For lengthy vacations you may want to turn off the electric water heater before you leave. Unplug or disconnect the fuse, if there is a circuit breaker, flip the switch for the water heater to off.

Don't forget to turn off the air conditioning. If you are planning to take a vacation during the winter months when the weather is cold, be sure to turn down the thermostat before you leave — 55 degrees is a good temperature to save energy and yet protect water pipes from freezing.

If your TV set has an "instant-on feature," be sure to unplug it, because this feature keeps working, and using current, even when the TV is off.

Turn off the hot and cold water faucet connections to your automatic washer and unplug both the washer and the dryer. If your dryer does not have a plug, disconnect the fuse or switch the circuit to off. Unplugging the units protects against possible short circuits or damage from lightning. In fact, you can unplug all of your appliances, but don't disconnect the main switch at the fuse box. Sump pumps, water pumps, furnaces and fire and burglar alarm systems need electricity to operate.

A light left on in the house discourages prowlers, but not if it stays on around the clock. Use a 24-hour timer to turn the lights on and off automatically according to your normal household routine.

Before you go be sure to make a last minute check to be certain you haven't left any lights on inadvertently. Best places to look: Sunlight rooms where a burning bulb goes unnoted and closets that may be brightly lit behind closed doors.

Enjoy your vacation, knowing that you are conserving energy — and saving!

Troops 70, 172 return from week at Marcella camp

A total of 15 boys, representing Springfield and Trenton Troops 70 and 172, returned after a week's camping stay at Winnebago Scout Reservation at Marcella.

Under the leadership of Scoutmaster Dan Duffy of Troop 172, nine boys received merit badges, partial achievement of merit badges and skill awards. Two boys, Harry Adams and Philip Solomon, were advanced to second class scouts with Steven Halpin being awarded tenderfoot class.

Merit badges in pioneering were awarded to Philip Solomon, Doug Leslie and Dan Duffy. David and Allan Grossman were awarded achievement in first aid and sports respectively. John Sheehan won a skill award in cooking and swimming.

Troop 70 awarded tenderfoot status to Mike Reed and Andy Kelly. Merit badges in canoeing were won by Peter Hesseman and Craig Chelenger, with basketry merit badges going to Mike Reed and John Sheehan. Harry Adams won his merit badges in pioneering and canoeing. Robert Phillips won partial achievement in canoeing and fishing.

Participating in the awarding of merit badges and supervising the boys throughout the week was Marry Hurwitz.

Sommo appointed to Summit Y post

Carmin C. Sommo has been named administrative assistant at the Summit Area YMCA. He was announced by Kenneth W. Pearl, general executive.

Sommo, who has been associated with the YMCA for 26 years, will share in the responsibility for the administration of the total YMCA Association. He will manage building facilities, relate to community groups, assist with Italian, Greek, Indian, Princess and Trailblazer programs, and be in charge of YMCA resident camp promotion and registration.

A graduate of Summit High School, Sommo began his professional association with the Y at the Youth Desk in 1948, taught woodwork classes for younger boys, and has been recipient for 15 years. He was an active member of the first Y established at the Summit YM while a high school student, and served as a Y-Y advisor during the 1950's.

Opium renewal brings death harvest while diplomats play games of etiquette

BY DR. HENRY BIRNIE
Springfield Health Officer

The heroin pipeline from Turkey to our local Board of Education is about to start again. The $2.5 million heroin embargo, which the United States has imposed on Turkey, is not stopping the opium that would be sent to the United States as heroin is just a fraction of a year's income actually earned by the Turks in growing the opium. Naturally, our money would be rejected. Everybody likes to make more, if it is clean. But any government can hire silver-plated diplomats trained to talk flowers from a sewer's hole.

The American drug prevention money to the school is the poison to the hospital in a triangle of suffering, pain and death that had many took to the Turks and promised to grow more opium. New the promise gives way for the hash of white and black green leaf.

The renewed heroin embargo from Turkey to the vein of our kids and mine his lots of hot air. The United States government knows it too. Yet the dialogue between the two countries are still following Taylor's rules for career diplomats. Roger Babson, Edward R. A group of five-year-olds recited a poem, "My Little Piggie," and put on a set to the song "The Old Gray Cat." In the song, Stacy Kras played the cat; others taking part were David Abate, David Blumstein, Rosalyn Hign, Brett Kadihi, Julie Klinger, Steven Pan, Andrew Zait, Gregg Walsh, Brian Hunsicker, Adam DeGregorio, Adam Cummins, Gary Gochlik, Glen Gochlik, Bruce Schneider and Heidi Wang.

Springfield Pool day campers busy enjoying variety of activities contests

Continued good weather and attendance made the third week of the Springfield Pool Day Camp another successful one. Highlights of the week were a bingo game, a fish olympiad, making frosting and a lower camp song festival on Friday. This week preparations are being made for a popcorn-making festival and a peanut mystery hunt.

The song festival, attended by many parents and friends of the campers, enjoyed a variety of songs and poems performed by the 4 and 5-year-old campers. Much of the week was spent practicing for the show. The three-year-olds— including Kenny Blumberg, Brenda Heckstein, Jamie Landow, David Brooks, Suzanne Aash, Jamie Bright, Marc Falkin, Peter Glassman, Allison Kaplan, Holly Keener, Joshua Wasserman, Wendy Hodas and Barry Teitelbaum—sang "If You're Happy." "You Know It" and "Open Shut Them" were also performed.

The four-year-olds— including Adam "The Teapot" were the entries of the four-year-olds. Those performing in this group were Kerry Blumberg, Robert Herve, Kelly Leif, Leif Weinger, Izzi Cohen, Andrew Greenman, Russell Schachter, Steve Weisman, Matthew Lamm, James Hagan, Elyse Begleiter, Susan Matzke, Ivan Novich, Allison Sanderson, Len Smith, Roger Babson, Steven Blumstein, Faith Perabuck, Haina Levine, Mitchell Friedberg and Jeffrey Friedman.

INSTRUCTIVE SWIM—Campers in the Union County Central Public Center's No Day Nursery Camp enjoy an instructive swim at the Cranford municipal indoor pool. From left: Union volunteers Bruce Hilly and Debbie Samuels help Michael Cavanaugh of New Providence and Hilly Walker of Roselle Park, while Gagan Bora, a Cranford swimming instructor, holds Geoffrey Barrett of Clark. The No Day Nursery Camp, part of the CP Center's day care program, offers a swimming program for handicapped children.

A summer program of adaptive aquatics is being offered for the third year. Three afternoons a week by the United Central Public League of Union County. This swimming program for multiply-handicapped children is available to all youngsters enrolled in the CP Center's Pre-School Day Care Program. Thirty children attend, including 10 non-handicapped youngsters in the Center's No Day Nursery Camp. For a modest fee, handicapped children not enrolled in the Day Care program can participate. The Cranford Recreation Department has made this level's new indoor pool available for the program. Because it is virtually free of architectural barriers, Cranford's indoor facility is ideally suited for use by the multiply-handicapped.

According to Miss Mary Wesel, chief physical therapist at the CP Center, hydrotherapy preparation often begins at home, with the mother working with her child in the bath. As in all of the Center's early childhood programs, the parent's constructive role is stressed. Parents of infants are encouraged to accompany their children during the swimming session. However, when this is not possible, volunteers attend on a one-to-one basis for all who grow up. In addition to the CP Center's physical therapist, a Cranford water safety instructor also attends.

Miss Wesel declared that among the program's outstanding benefits is the ease with which therapy can be administered in water because, essentially, muscles, muscles, muscles. However, she noted that water safety and swimming are also stressed. When the opportunity to participate in a socially-accepted sport is afforded the multiply-handicapped child at a very early age, his chances of mastering it are greatly increased. Thus, though many may not learn to walk or talk with ease, they may learn to swim.

Scope, pace of town's playground activities increasing

Thanks to the break in the heat wave and continuing sunny weather activities at the township's nine playgrounds have increased and include more active sports such as basketball, softball, volleyball, tennis and volleyball. However, bubble gum hunts, pot shows and arts and crafts activities are still very popular.

HIGH POINT

Karen Haber
It was an active and exciting week for the youngsters at the playground. Attendance has decreased but enthusiasm has not. Friday, June 14, they played a three-hour Monopoly game which involved a lot of concentration.

HENSHAW PLAYGROUND

Fatty Lies, Dorothy Goreski
The week started on Thursday with a foul shooting contest. Perry Telchbaum did the best with nine out of 25; second was Nancy Scheider with three out of 25; third was Glen Scheider with two out of 25.

WASHINGTON PARK

Joan Peper, Art Lock
Washington Park's annual pot show, held July 1, was the high point of that week's activities. The carnival assortment of animals included dogs and rabbits. The pots were judged in eight categories: most beautiful, most colorful, most useful, most unusual, the cutest, the most obedient, the most intelligent and the most obedient.

CHISHOLM PLAYGROUND

Mary Beth Ehrhardt, Nancy Zaehler
Chisholm Playground began the week with a very lively pot show. Cats and dogs were the most popular pets but a fish named "Jack" was a surprise.

IRWIN PLAYGROUND

Maude Geddes, Gary Preshoff
The week's activities began with an exciting game of dominoes. The participants included Frank and Jimmie Wink, Michael Knox, David Salado and Joshua Bloom.

BENHAM PARK

Chris Soriente
This week at Denham playground the children engaged in some exciting events. On Monday a basketball game was played. The winner was Steve Kravitz, John Kelly, John Paul Cavetti and Jill Denmark.

RUBY PARK

Ann Columba, Blaise Verlingieri
Last Thursday the park was the scene of a mini-track competition. The 100-yard race was won by Luke Boettcher in the boys group and by Jane Ann in the girls group.

WILSON PLAYGROUND

John G. Schmitt, Jr.

On Monday afternoon each one tried to prove his or her strength in a tug-of-war contest. Stephen Bentez was the winner with 12 chin-ups; second was Perry Telchbaum with three. Paul Beater and Roger Nevius, Tyrone Parker, Kenny Lawrence, Nancy Zaehler and Jimmie Wink were the winners in the boys' group. In the girls' group, second place was won by Roger Nevius with three pieces.

Due to the rain Wednesday, the mid-season party was postponed until a later date.

On Monday, the youngsters tried their hand at softball. The winners consisted of Melissa and Glen Monticello, Michael Knox, Mark and Greg Yess, Jeff Wallman, Gary Demark and Steve Kravitz.

Levin tours Springfield, inflation major concern

Inflationary food and housing prices, food hoarding and the lack of housing for the aged are the three issues most concerning Springfield residents, Democratic Congressional candidate Adam K. Levin said during his day-long walking tour of Springfield last Thursday.

Levin, who spent two hours walking the streets and visiting the shopping districts of Springfield, said the four biggest problems facing the township are inflation, food hoarding, housing for the aged and the lack of housing for the aged.

Levin said that the township's biggest problem is inflation. He said that the price of food and housing is rising rapidly and that this is a major concern for the residents.

$1,250,000 to be goal for industrial campaign

The United Way of Union County has established an industrial goal of $1,250,000 for the 1974-75 year. The goal was announced this week by campaign chairman, Robert L. Weeks. Weeks said that the United Way represents a way to assure that charitable contributions are used effectively. The goal is to be raised through employee and corporate contributions, represents a 6.6 percent increase over the record established by the county fund drive last year. Local United Way fund drives in industrial, small business, residential and professional groups will seek a grand total of $2,425,000, according to Weeks. The United Way United Way agencies funds for a broad range of service agencies. Four vice-chairmen have been named for the industrial fund drive: Herb Olfsson of New Providence, manager, Purchased Products, Western Electric Co.; Neil McGinley, business agent, Local 461, IUE, AFL-CIO, Singer Co.; David Fred Bowie of Chatham, vice president of Airco Working Products; and Frank Donskin, president of the United Way for society needed support.

Entertainment set for Aps Festival

Entertainment for the German Alps Festival in the Catskills, Purging, N. Y., Aug. 16 to 25 will include the 25-piece Albany Band from Germany, led by custom saxophonist and Eric Haas-Hoppert. The Albany Band will highlight the daily music entertainment under the newly colored big tent. The band members will be dressed in bright costumes and will play the traditional "Aps" music and repertoire. The music will get under way each day at 10 a.m. and continue to 1:30 the next morning. Under the puppet show tent, Eric Bass will present authentic folk tales with his puppet creations. These shows are set for 7 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., with an additional 11 a.m. show added on weekends.

Dedication is held at new 4-H camp

New Jersey's newest 4-H camp, 600 acres of forest and rolling farmland near Beersville in Sussex County, was formally dedicated at a ceremony recently at the camp. Formerly the state research center for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, the new Beersville 4-H Outdoor Education Center will be used by 4-H club members from counties all over the state. Camp facilities include hiking trails, a pond for swimming and boating, crafts, horseback riding, and a variety of instructional and program in animal science and home safety. The public may use the camp's facilities in sections for a nominal fee if reservations are made in advance.

UC in Plainfield offers 13 courses leading to degree

Thirteen courses leading to degree in arts degrees in liberal arts, business administration and criminal justice will be offered during the daytime at Union College's Plainfield Urban Educational Center this fall. It has been announced by Douglas Schickens, director. The courses, including Freshman year offerings at four-year colleges and universities, include: Concepts in Biology, Principles of Accounting, English Composition, Introduction to Western Civilization, United States History 1865 and Contemporary, Principles of Law Enforcement, Elementary Algebra, Introduction to Mathematical Concepts, Introductory College Mathematics, College Mathematics, Beginning Spanish, General Psychology, and Principles of Sociology. Students who feel they need to refresh basic skills before tackling college-level courses may take introductory courses in communications skills and developmental reading. In addition to courses, in traditional programs, Union College will be offering new programs in retail sales management, pre-health training and day-care aide at the Plainfield Educational Center in the fall. The full program of evening courses will also be available. The college offers students the opportunity to attend classes on a full-time or part-time basis. Students enrolled at the Plainfield center will also be eligible to take courses at the college's main campus in Cranford or at the Elizabeth Urban Educational Center in Elizabeth. Union College is a two-year, independent institution serving as the academic branch of Union County's community college. Technical programs are offered by the Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains.

College fits into lifestyle

Fitting a college course into a busy lifestyle is easy for adults who enroll in Union College's Weekend College and Weekday College, according to Prof. Elmer Wolf, dean of the college. Union College is a two-year, independent institution serving as the academic branch of Union County's community college. Technical programs are offered by the Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains. Additional information on course offerings and application procedures may be obtained by calling Schickens at the Plainfield Center, 250-1500, or the admissions office at the Cranford campus, 276-2600.

Steiner is hearing 'sound' of election

Bob Steiner, independent candidate-in-congress in the 12th Congressional district, held a group in a Westfield recently that "if you listen carefully to the sounds of an election year, you will hear the sounds of a new era." "For example, 1973 was an election year, and New Jersey and Brendan Byrne made noises to indicate that he was against a nuclear tax. But 1974 is not a New Jersey election year, and the name Brendan Byrne tried to run an election last year.

Strikes in N.J. decline, says state's labor chief

Work stoppages in New Jersey were moderated by federal legislation, by state officials, three by federal and state mediation officials, two by local representatives and five by private mediators. This report was issued by the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations. The report shows that the number of work stoppages reported during the period from 1969-1972, it reveals that the number of strikes and number of workers involved in 1972 were the lowest since the late 1960s. The 191 strikes recorded in 1972, New Jersey announced last week, is the lowest since the number was 103 in 1970. The report, Hoffman said, is that it reveals a labor force stability in New Jersey which compares extremely well with the other 48 states and with the work stoppage records of other industrial states.

Consumers' Corner

Use the new baby car seat safety regulations set up by the Consumer Product Safety Commission to purchase an old car. These car seats are not safe for use in new vehicles. Check the overall condition of the car. Missing bolts and broken parts should be replaced and loose bolts tightened. And, if you decide to replace the car seat, use only non-toxic paint or other finishes. A baby car seat should be used in the car. If you are more than two fingers past the mattress line, it is not safe. Come infants have been strangled by getting caught between the stator's hinges. Use a bumper pad behind the mattress. As soon as the car seat is in place, stand in its lowest position to keep him from toppling over the rail. In fact, when the height of the side rail is less than three-fourths the height of the child, it's time to stop using the car seat.

More food produced

Advances in agricultural science including such ecology-related practices as soil conservation, erosion control, and wildlife preservation have boosted agriculture. Food for 8 billion more people is now being produced, using no more land than was required 20 years ago. In fact, if agricultural products were produced on the same per acre as in the 1950's, some 200 million acres of land now put to other uses, including natural environment areas, would have to be put back under plow.

Auto emissions hotline listed

A special hotline has been established by the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) to assist motorists whose autos have been rejected for exhaust pollution.

By calling (609) 292-6715, motorists can obtain the names and addresses of garages in their area which have state-approved exhaust testing equipment. DEP has a listing of more than 2,000 such garages which is continually updated. (The state in-house garages provide services but do not have the list as a convenience.)

Summer vegetable acreage indicates good year for state

Prospects for supplies of summer vegetables from the Garden State are excellent this year, according to N.J. Secretary of Agriculture Philip Alampi.

The 10 major vegetables ready for harvest during July, August and September have a combined acreage of 38,800, compared with 35,200 acres in 1973, the New Jersey Crop Reporting Service estimates.

Acres increases are expected for asparagus, sweet corn, tomatoes and eggplant. This acreage of lettuce, peppers, cabbage and onions is expected to remain unaltered. Only cucumbers and escarole have fewer acres to harvest.

'Saddles' spoof held at Elmora

The traditional western movies, which have thrived out of Hollywood in the half-century since Bronco Billy began to head 'em off at the pass, enter a new era this year with "Blazing Saddles," which is being held over at the Elmora Theater, Elizabethtown.

A widely advertised, it comes from the two-time Academy Award-winning Mel Brooks. Brooks directed "Blazing Saddles" and co-authored the script, leaving himself room to make a parody of the western genre. Also in the western spoof are Cleavon Little, a Tony Award-winning Oscar winner in "Paper Moon" and Slim Pickens in his 1958 film role and Harvey Keitel (Gardner's TV brother).

Dr. Orkin takes reins at Union College

An alumna, Dr. Saul Orkin of Hillsborough, will become the third president of Union College today.

Dr. Orkin, formerly the dean of Somerset County College, Princeton, will take over the helm of Union College's 60-acre Cranford campus and its Urban Educational Center in Elizabeth and Plainfield. He will preside over some 2,300 full-time and 4,600 part-time students attending Union College and a faculty of 250 full and part-timers.

Dr. Orkin succeeds Dr. Albert E. Meder Jr., who served as acting president since Feb. 1, when the college's second president, Dr. Kenneth Iverson of Cranford, returned to teaching. Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay of Madison was the college's first president, serving from 1947 to 1970.

Dr. Orkin moved into the presidency at a time when Union College, a two-year independent institution, is making strides in establishing the academic and community service programs that will meet the needs of Union County residents. Union College's unique relationship with the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education to serve residents in lieu of a county college. Technical and career-oriented programs are provided at Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains.

Rules rate sets record

New Jersey administrative rules, designed primarily to assist and protect the consumer, reached a record rate of adoption in June, it was announced this week.

Secretary of State J. Edward Gable, Jr., and Thomas P. Kistner, director of the Division of Administrative Procedure in Trenton, announced that the State Department of Administrative Procedure in Trenton, New Jersey, has adopted 110 new rules and amendments, effective on July 1, 1974.

The second-quarter this year's record rate of adoption is as high as any year since the administration's operations five years ago.

"All proposed rules must be published each month in the New Jersey Register, the official state publication designed to give the public the opportunity to be heard before rules can be adopted," Kistner said.

Minutemen fall to Caldwell and Cedar Grove

The Minutemen dropped a 3-2 verdict to the Caldwell club, at Caldwell last week. Caldwell jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the first scoring on three throwing errors after two men were out. Two more runs scored in the second on a two-out walk, two singles and an outfield error.

Springfield closed 3-2 in the third when Stu Riff reached on an infield hit and moved to second on an obstructed throwing error. Stu scored on John Kroner's single to left, with Kroner taking second on the throw to the plate. Rick Weber's hit triple led to left-center in the third.

Followed increased its lead to 4-3 in the third on a triple and a ground out called again in the fifth—now a 4-2 lead—before being called back to 3-2 in the sixth on a walk and a single. The Minutemen rallied to tie the game in the seventh on a single and a walk. In their last time at bat on two-out hits by Tom Innes, Sid Kaufman and Bruce McNary.

None went the route for Springfield, losing his first after two victories. Tom allowed eight hits, fanned six and was charged with three earned runs.

Later in the week, the Minutemen bowed to Cedar Grove, 4-1.

Cedar Grove took a two-run lead in the first on a pair of unearned runs. The leader batter tripled and scored as the relay throw was thrown wild. One out later, runner reached safely on a two-out and ran out, came home on a single from the batter.

After this rocky start, Eddie Graziano held Cedar Grove in check on the left for a game tied at one. He pitched the first six innings, secured one and having the tying run on base with one out, but a double play killed the threat.
