

FDU picks affirmative action head

Robert Hill, Fairleigh Dickinson University's new director of affirmative action, is optimistic about the university's goal in terms of providing equal employment and advancement opportunities.

"I would like to see Fairleigh Dickinson University have the best affirmative action record in the Northeast," Hill says, but he has no illusions that this can be accomplished overnight. "It's a monumental task," he said.

"Wasting to do the right thing and even knowing how to do it is not the whole job," he says. "It involves a lot of persuasion and a lot of cooperation."

Hill reports to FDU's vice president for academic affairs, Dr. Joseph Green, but maintains close liaison with the university's president, director, Alfred M. Marsalis. Says Dr. Green: "As a university we are committed to provide equal job opportunity and equal opportunity in advancement. We believe in this as a primary objective of affirmative action."

"The function of this job is not to provide affirmative action but rather to evaluate the necessary steps so that all members of the university community understand and fully accept the concept of equal job opportunity for all people."

"It's not only recruitment," he adds. "It's start of an in-house recruitment. We must make sure that these people we bring in can survive and become a full partner, treated equally."

Part of Hill's agenda is familiarizing himself with each campus of the University. There is a plan to inventory all job categories, thereby evaluating employment patterns. Benefits will be sought where there are discrepancies.

"A key step in a sound affirmative action program is effective recruitment. That is not only recruitment," he adds. "It's start of an in-house recruitment. We must make sure that these people we bring in can survive and become a full partner, treated equally."

Hill says he will seek the cooperation of all members of the university community on each campus. "If what we're trying to do is going to be successful in any one place it is going to have to be successful in all places," he says. "This must be a university-wide effort."

Today, most higher education institutions and major corporations have a staff member assigned to work on affirmative action. Every institution, company or agency receiving federal funds or engaged in federal contracts is under an executive order banning discriminatory practices in hiring and advancement.

While Hill recognizes that his job requires finesse and understanding, he's heartened by the university's positive attitude. "I've been assured by Dr. Green and by President Marsalis that I'll have the full support of the university," he says.

The new director was recommended for his post by the university's five-member affirmative action steering committee, which screened about 100 candidates.

Dr. Green says he is very pleased with the choice. Hill is a doctor who possesses a great deal of business and sensitivity about what is happening and what needs to be done.

STARTING THURS., DEC. 19th PEOPLE IN UNION CAN EAT AS CHEAPLY AS PEOPLE IN JERSEY CITY.

That's when Union can start buying groceries the way grocers buy them.

Tomorrow we double in size. For the past several weeks, Jersey City residents have been enjoying terrific bushel and case food prices at Grocers' Food Depot. Now the folks in Union are going to have the same opportunity when our second Depot opens tomorrow, Dec. 19.

Bushel and case food at bushel and case prices. Grocers' Food Depot is a whole new concept in food shopping. We sell only by the case, half-case and similar bulk quantities. And we sell only food: meat, produce, canned and packaged goods. Quality brands that you know and trust.

Because we buy and sell in such great quantities, we not only get lower prices, but we also have lower handling costs. And we pass those savings on to you. Our policy is if we're going to sell an item, we're going to do everything possible to have the lowest price in town.

Now, obviously, we don't expect to see you every week. But when you're ready for big shopping, (maybe with a friend to share the savings), we're ready to give you big savings. So come to Grocers' Food Depot soon. Check these bargains and get an idea how much you can save when you buy groceries the way your grocer buys them. Potatoes, 4¢ a pound. We sell potatoes in 50 lb. sacks. Long Island all-purpose U.S. #1 size A potatoes. At $1.99 a sack, that boils down to less than 4¢ a pound!

Big shrimp, small price. At Grocers' Food Depot, the fresh frozen Jumbo shrimp (16 to 20 per lb.) come in large 5 lb. boxes for just $11.99.

Bacon with the price sliced. Buy bacon the way we sell bacon and you'll get it for only 79¢ a pound. Five individually wrapped 1 lb. packages of lean, delicious Columbia Brand bacon for just $3.95.

Grade A milk at barely legal prices. Our fresh, nutritious homogenized vitamin D milk goes for only $1.25 a gallon (no limit). If we sold it for much less it would be against the law!

GROCERS' FOOD DEPOT Union, Springfield Ave. & Vauxhall Rd. (next to Great Eastern) - Jersey City, Route 440 & Dantorth (next to Great Eastern) Open Tuesday - Saturday, 10 AM-8 PM; Sunday, 10 AM-5 PM. Open Monday, December 23. Closed Christmas Day. GRAND OPENING THURSDAY, DEC. 19th 10 A.M.

Flood control bill tabled for clarification Stokes will become coalition mayor

Zucker set as attorney for township Siso will constitute a one-man minority

Township Committee Nat Stokes, a Democrat, will take the gavel as mayor on New Year's Day when local Democrats and Republicans will join in an unprecedented move to organize the governing body on a coalition basis. The Leader learned this week Stokes will be named as chairman of the township committee, with the largely honorary title of mayor, with the support of Democrat Robert Wolchek and Republicans William Ruocco and Norman Banner. Edward N. Siso Jr., elected in 1972 as a Republican but chosen as mayor a year ago with Democratic backing, will apparently constitute a one-man minority. He will be the only member up for reelection in 1976.

Ruocco will serve as deputy mayor. The Republicans will also control the major appointive jobs, that of township attorney, Leonard Jucker, long a GOP leader and now counsel to the Rent Levying Board, will succeed Democrat Jay Bloom in the legal assignment. Republican James Spignuolo will take over from Democrat Michael Blucker as township treasurer.

Incumbents will be appointed to additional terms on two major municipal bodies. They are Angelo Panconi, on the Planning Board, and Jim Dunn, on the Zoning Board of Adjustment. Departmental assignments have also been determined for the Township Committee during 1975. They are: with the chairman listed first in each instance: Administration—Wolchek, Stokes and Siso; Finance—Siso, Ruocco and Banner; Public safety—Ruocco, Banner and Wolchek; Public affairs—Siso, Ruocco and Banner.

SPRINGFIELD AT last Thursday's Township Committee meeting and voting that it was his last as mayor. Siso summed up what he termed major accomplishments of the past year. He listed: complete reorganization of all municipal ordinances, progress almost to the point of adoption of a new storm water and flood plain ordinance, a new fire code and Fourth candidate for school board. Arthur S. Mulner of Lyons place last week became the fourth candidate to file a nominating petition for election to the Springfield Board of Education, but he and the other hopefuls—Doris Giese, Charles S. Connors, Bernice Keel, and George Mariani, all incumbents August Caprio—will have longer wait before the voters choose who will fill the three vacant seats.

Pharmacist cited for role in arrest of pair last week. A Springfield pharmacist has been cited by township police for the role he played last week in the arrest of two persons on drug charges. Police and Robert Lisener, owner of the Springfield Pharmacy at 242 Mountain ave., was instrumental in the apprehension by local detectives and members of the Union County Narcotics Strike Force of two New York City residents, Bernice Keel, 46, and George Mariani, 41. Both are accused of being under the influence of drugs, possession of narcotics paraphernalia, possession of stolen property, conspiracy, possession of a controlled dangerous substance and uttering a forged prescription.

According to police, Lisener received a phone call Dec. 27 from a man claiming to be a New York physician who asked if his prescriptions could be filled in the Springfield shop. Lisener, suspecting that the caller was not a doctor, telephoned the office of the physician named. When he was told the doctor had not been in that morning, he notified police.

Later in the day, Springfield Det. Sgt. William Cieri again phoned the office from the pharmacy and learned the doctor had just made the earlier call and that the office had been burglarized three days before. While Cieri was

Lan moves into politics on the nationwide level

Donald Lan, who began his political career as Springfield Democratic municipal clerk in the late 1960s, this month moved to the national scene, taking part in the Democrats' first modern competition as both an at-large delegate and a member of the party's national committee.

Although most political observers who reported on the "mini-convention" emphasized aspects of party unity exhibited there, Lan, who served as executive secretary to Gov. Brendan Byrne, is somewhat less enthusiastic about the harmony, seen in Kansas City.

Discussing the content of the session on New Jersey, Lan said, "You must remember that party national conventions are almost something above from anything in state politics. But in a state, there are different areas of influence affecting the party, and the concerns are not always the same as those reflected on the national level. It is difficult to compare directly what happens at a convention in a parallel manner to what is hap-

Editorial comment THINGS TO COME

This is the time of year when we usually make our list of predictions of major events in the coming 12 months. The main problem in the past with our forecasts is that someone occasionally remembers how wrong we are.

This time, instead of a month-by-month forecast, we have extended our temporal scope to cover events on a year-by-year basis.

In 1975, according to our slightly clouded crystal ball, two local brothers will present the Township Committees with a guaranteed plan to solve all municipal fiscal problems. Unfortunately, Frank and Jesse will have forgotten that the stagecoaches don't run quite as often these days.

During 1976, of course, emphasis will be on celebration of 200 years of American Independence. Some things, however, have changed, and the police will be forced to break up the Springfield Ten Party.

The N. J. Department of Transportation in 1977 will announce a new and absolutely firm date for the final opening of Rt. 78 through the Watchung Reservation: some time in the next 10 years, or maybe 15.

Local representatives in both separate legislative bodies will announce in 1978 their plans for solving all flood problems with proposals for a Rahway River Valley Authority to consist of all concerned municipalities as soon as they can agree on everything. The first project will be to reconstruct King Canute so he can hold back the tideswaters.

The big local news of 1979 will be the municipal election, the first to involve clerjymen as candidates for both parties. The Zen Buddhist man will defeat the Team of Union County by a slim margin.

The great event of 1980 will be the grand opening of Rt. 78, designed to ease traffic problems for the entire area. It will follow by three weeks the marking of a low price helicopter which will make the family car and the delivery truck obsolete.

The constant pressure for high-rise apartments in Springfield will end in 1981 when the "Zoning" Board of Adjustment will achieve a brilliant compromise. The solution will be a 14-story basement, with a genuine colonial entrance, four, as the only part above ground.

The year 1982 will be marked by parade and other observances celebrating the 200th anniversary of the Battle of Springfield in 1780. The program will have suffered a slight delay because of the inability of the committee to find anyone willing to serve as chairman.

The entire year 1983 will go by without even one local citizen accusing the editor of the local community newspaper of bias, dishonesty or malfeasance in or out of the office.

True to the Orwellian prediction, 1984 will be the year for Big Brother to take over everywhere. Liberation will be on the way, however, in the form of the Little Sister movement.

Ban on abortions opposed

By an almost three to one majority, New Jerseyans oppose a constitutional amendment to ban abortions. According to the latest New Jersey Poll, conducted by the Eagleton Institute of Rutgers University, 71 percent oppose such an amendment...

By a 60-30 margin, however, most agreed with the statement that "abortion should be available at all publicly-supported hospitals for those requesting it." "Although supporters of a constitutional amendment to prohibit abortions are in the minority, they constitute an extremely vocal group," Salmore noted.

Area Social Security aide cites eligibility requirements

Most men and women who reach 62 next year can collect monthly social Security checks if they've worked only six months in jobs covered by Social Security, according to Robert E. Willwerth, Social Security district manager in Elizabeth.

Eligible workers can begin collecting their full Social Security retirement benefits at 62 or reduced benefits at 60. Dependents can also get payments based on the worker's benefit. "Quarters of work credit help determine eligibility for Social Security retirement benefits," Willwerth said.

ON THE MATS — Wrestlers from the four Regional High Schools — Jonathan Dayton in Springfield, David Bradley in Berkeley Heights, and Robert Clark in Gladstone. They took part in a recent clinic at Gov. Livingston Regional.

120 school grapplers learn skills in clinic at Gov. Livingston Regional

A total of 120 students from the four high schools of the Union County Regional High School District participated in a district-sponsored wrestling clinic recently at the Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights.

Students on the wrestling squads of the four schools were given instruction on various wrestling skills from leading experts and former champions. The regional grapplers on the apparatus to perform practical work on the discussed skills following each session.

VA promises to speed retroactive-pay checks

James R. Purdy, director of the Newark VA Regional Office, said this week the Veterans Administration will do everything possible to get more than $30 million in retroactive allowance checks to veterans-students at the earliest possible moment.

Public Law 93-588, enacted Dec. 3, provides allowance increases retroactive to Sept. 1, 1974, for 22 percent for most veterans taking vocational rehabilitation, apprenticeship and job training.

Kosnett named to committee by Washington Workshops

Michael J. Kosnett of Synanon Terrace, Springfield, a junior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, has been named to the Washington Workshops Foundation National Student Advisory Committee.

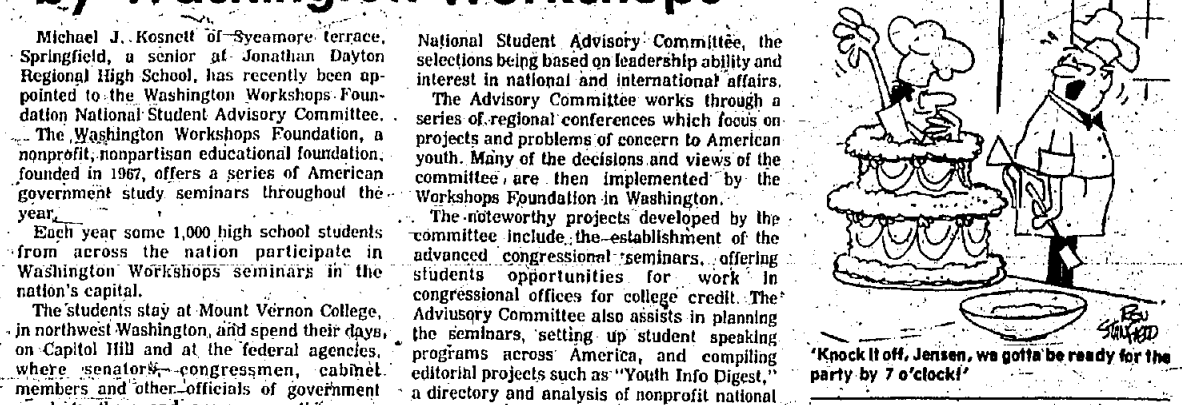

The Washington Workshops Foundation, a nonprofit, nonpartisan educational foundation, founded in 1965, offers a series of American government seminars throughout the year.

Last year some 1,000 high school students from across the nation participate in Washington Workshops seminars in the nation's capital.

The students stay at Mount Vernon College, in northwest Washington, and spend their days on Capitol Hill and at the federal agencies, where senators, congressmen, cabinet members and other officials of government speak to them and answer questions concerning the issues and procedures of American government.

Students interested in activities of the Washington Workshops Foundation, should write to: Director, Washington Workshops Foundation, 1111 M Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20004; or phone: 202-338-4327.

DAYTON DISPATCH

By MARC BLOOM. This letter was answered by several persons, including this writer, but it brought into focus an interesting concept.

Example: Because of unusual circumstances, this writer was forced to spend a period of two hours at the school library (now called the Instructional Media Center) last week. The term "library" is very loosely applied in this case.

The library was filled to less than half of its student capacity, and because the room is very large, it is a pleasant surrounding for quiet studying. At least it could be, if intervals of one or two minutes, the librarian rudely interrupted the various students to cease talking or be expelled from the library. The unusual aspect of this whole ordeal was that the students were very well behaved, and rather quiet. The noise, or alleged noise, never came close to disturbing the quiet.

Finally, the librarian climbed into the hallway of the library, overlooking the ground level, and stood for quite some time waiting for someone who dared utter a single word. I blinked my eyes to see if I would wake up somewhere else, having dreamt of a James Cagney crime movie. No such luck.

Effects of noise under investigation Rutgers professor conducting research

Almost everyone has to live with that villainous intruder on peace of mind—noise. Now, however, scientists are trying to do something about it. Dr. Neil D. Weinstein, a physical turned psychologist and a new member of the faculty of Rutgers-Cook College, has been conducting research on the psychological effects of noise on people's minds.

Dr. Weinstein also has been investigating the emotional impact of noise on people, and in preliminary studies with students at Berkeley, using questionnaires he prepared, he has found that "emotional disturbances vary from individual to individual."

Some patterns, however, have developed among persons with different personality traits. Those students who were troubled by such commonplace annoyances as, breaking a shoe, a dripping faucet or someone cutting into their line were likely to be troubled by...

$5 million placed in 8.5 mortgages by Franklin State

Franklin State Bank, in a move it hopes other banks will follow to help New Jersey's ailing construction industry, has earmarked $5 million at an interest rate of 8.5 percent to be used exclusively for new home construction.

Dr. Weinstein said that if each of 242 commercial and savings banks and 200 savings and loan institutions in New Jersey dedicated enough funds to average $2 million each, a total of $1.4 billion would be available for new construction.

Student teachers train at CP Center New facility attracts interns from Kean, Union

The Union County United Cerebral Palsy Center, recently relocated to a new modern facility at 373 Clermont, Union, has evolved into a unique teaching facility. According to Mrs. Judith Ludermilk, program director, the CP Center offers a wide range of services to all multiply-handicapped individuals—regardless of ability to pay. This comprehensive program has caused many colleges to utilize the center as a training base for students who will eventually work with the disabled.

Mrs. Ludermilk, who holds a master's degree in medical and psychiatric rehabilitation and is certified as a rehabilitation evaluator, cited the staff's outstanding educational qualifications and practical experience as the primary reason for their designation as field supervisors. She also called attention to the outstanding professional consultants affiliated with the CP Center. Among the resources people available to the CP Center are Dr. Ralph Zahna, whose field of concentration is special education and learning disabilities, and Dr. Ralph Shapiro, West Orange pediatrician, who has concentrated on the atypical child. Dr. Shapiro, also a psychiatrist, holds monthly lectures on medical problems for CP Center staffers. His discussions cover such critical areas as what staff can or cannot do in extreme situations such as epilepsy.

Junior early childhood education intern: Jeremy Carr of Roselle Park, Darrell Stanley of Linden, Bob Clauson of Garwood, Mia Doy teacher and Linda Uditi of Roselle Park. The N.Yu Day Nursery is a pre-school program for handicapped and non-handicapped children.

Banking classes resume Jan. 6

Mrs. Eileen A. Sabano, president of the Middlesex-Somerset-Union Chapter of the American Institute of Banking—American Bankers Association, this week announced the opening of the new spring term curriculum on Jan. 6, 7 and 8. Classes will be held at Somerset County College, Somerset; Union County Technical School, Scotch Plains; Somerset County Vocational Technical School, Somerville; Percy Aubrey Savings Institution, Perth Amboy; and Summit & Elizabeth Bank, Jersey City.

Puritans 'barred' Yale

Puritans and Calvinists refused to celebrate Christmas in 17th Century England. Celebrations were banned and charged with being anti-religious and un-Christian. The penalties for missing work on Christmas Day, which did not become a legal holiday in New England until 1829.

Shellfish polluted by outboards

Outboard motors are a significant source of pollution that has deleterious effects on mussels and oysters, says a report in Environmental Science & Technology, a monthly publication of the American Chemical Society. Components in gasoline and oil are readily taken up by mussels and oysters causing stress and degeneration of gill tissue. Mussels show immediate damage and a high death rate. Oysters are less rapidly affected, report Robert C. Clark Jr. and John S. Finley of the Northwest Fisheries Center, National Marine Fisheries Service, Seattle, Wash., and Gary G. Gibson of the Oregon Fish Commission's Research Laboratory in Newport.

Probably 10 percent of two-cycle outboard motor fuel (and the byproducts of combustion) escapes into water. They added that the effects of continuous low-level water pollution by outboard motors generally have been overlooked, although increasing evidence links outboard motor exhaust to adverse biological effects, taste, and odor in fish flesh.

The research team found that gill tissue of mussels, but not of oysters, was damaged within only 24 hours of exposure to the pollutant. At the end of this time almost all of the mussels showed stress (gaping). The oysters reacted by closing their shells and apparently not pumping water, the authors said.

The mussels then were placed in fresh seawater for the remaining nine days of the test period. The cumulative death rate among exposed mussels during the 10-day test period was 61 per cent. Mortality of the exposed oysters, which were maintained in the polluted seawater during the entire 30 days, was only 14 percent. Delayed mussel mortality increased to 75 percent in 45 days.

They explained these differences between the two shellfish by noting that oysters have the capability of closing their shells for long periods of time, which would exclude pollutants. Long-term exposures could be deleterious to oysters. These oysters exposed to the pollutant for five- and 10-day test periods did show degeneration of gill tissue. In several of the 10-day exposed oysters, the gill tissue had completely degenerated and "normal" postmortem changes were noticed.

Mussels, they said, may not be able to prevent external pollutants from entering through their lysal opening. Through this opening mussels secrete long touch filaments from a gland in a groove of the foot. These filaments allow the mollusk to attach itself to rocks and other objects.

Regarding the physical properties of outboard motor exhaust, the authors stated:

"Field studies and laboratory bioassay studies have shown the lighter refined petroleum products (such as heating and diesel oils) are taken up by mussels quickly and retained up to five weeks after removal of the pollutant under controlled conditions. On the other hand, heavy, more viscous refined products and some crude oils may not pass through the small lysal thread opening and are not taken up as readily."

Their study tends to support field study findings that mussels can withstand considerable exposure to heavy products such as bunker oil and aged Navy Special Fuel Oil.

Holiday course listed Dec. 29

A holiday stamp and coin show will be held Sunday, Dec. 29, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Hamada Inn, Rt. 10 at N.J. Turnpike Interchange 9, New Brunswick. Admission and parking are free. # NOW YOU CAN BUY GROCERIES THE WAY YOUR GROCER BUYS THEM

Bushel and case food at bushel and case prices.

Introducing Grocers' Food Depot, a brand new way to shop for food. It's based on one simple idea: Lower the cost of selling and you can lower your prices.

Grocers' Food Depot will sell only by the case, half-case, or similar bulk quantity. That means we need less handling to keep the store stocked. And less handling means lower costs to us, more savings to you.

Grocers' Food Depot will have no fancy displays. We believe the intelligent shopper knows good quality and exceptional prices. We reject price-raising razzle dazzle.

Grocers' Food Depot will sell only food and related items. No brooms, no face creams, no shoe polish. So we can use our money to buy even greater quantities of the foods we do sell and therefore buy for less — and save you more.

It all boils down to one simple fact: If we're going to sell an item at Grocers' Food Depot, we're going to do our best to sell it for less than any place else in town. That goes for everything. All the time. Without exception.

We don't expect to see you at Grocers' Food Depot every week. You can't get small quantities of anything here. If you want one box of cereal or one can of soup, you'll just have to go elsewhere and pay more. But if you're ready to do a big shopping, we're ready to give you some big savings. (It would be worth your while to shop with a friend and share your savings.)

All our produce is sold in bulk. You're invited to go through long rows of bushes and crates and hand-pick the produce you want. Or you can buy your fruit and vegetables by the case and save even more.

Have you ever bought a Beef Outside Round or a Whole Beef Rib? Probably not. They're the big "primal cuts" your butcher buys from the packing plant. At Grocers' Food Depot you buy your meat that way too. Then our butchers will custom cut these pieces for you free of charge. You end up with meal-size cuts at substantial savings.

At Grocers' Food Depot, quality is the only thing more important than price. We believe that poor food is expensive at any price. So we carry brands you know, fine meats, and the freshest produce. You get the same quality you bought at your former supermarket — or better. You just pay less for it.

When you've finished quantity shopping at Grocers' Food Depot, you'll find our people ready and willing to help you to your car. (No tipping, please.) Come shop at Grocers' Food Depot just once. You'll see how much you can save when you buy groceries the way your grocer buys them.
