

Beth Israel becomes medical plan member

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center has joined other area hospitals in Crossroads Health Plan to provide inpatient, outpatient and emergency services for Crossroads members. The announcement was made by Lester M. Borstein, executive director of Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, and Robert R. DeLore, executive director of Crossroads Health Plan, the new health maintenance organization serving Essex County.

Newark Beth Israel, which has been serving Newark and the surrounding region since 1901, is a 545-bed voluntary acute care general hospital that recently completed a $38 million expansion program. The hospital serves as a regional center for cardiac surgery and kidney transplantation and has the only full time medical oncology (cancer) staff in New Jersey.

Crossroads Health Plan is a federally-qualified and state-certified health maintenance organization (HMO) which has been enrolling Essex County employees since April 1978. Arthur Bernstein, Crossroads medical director, stated, "Unlike some regions since 1901, is a 545-bed voluntary

Yiddish music to be featured

An afternoon of Yiddish music, theater and humor will be offered at the "Y.M.W.H.A. of Metropolitan Area New Jersey, 760 Northfield Ave. West Orange, when the Yiddish Musical Comedy Theater appears Sunday 3 p.m.

The performance, the first of the "Jewish Omnibus" series sponsored by the Y and the Workman's Circle, will feature the Yiddish Israeli star Chayele Ashe, together with actor Ari Furman, folk singer Avraham Pashman, and concert pianist Edith Kestelman, in sketches, humor and Chasidic, Hebrew and folk songs, all in Yiddish.

Future events in the "Jewish Omnibus" series will include the Russian Concert Singers on Jan. 7 and a special performance on April 2 of "I Never Saw Another Butterfly," a theater dance piece, based on the poems of children in the Terezin Concentration Camp.

Willbur in N.J. for reading

Richard Willbur, Pulitzer prize winning poet, who grew up in Essex County, will return to the state on Dec. 9 to give a poetry reading at the Montclair Art Museum in celebration of the museum's exhibition, "Two Decades: American Art from Smith College."

Willbur is now writer-in-residence at Smith College.

DeLore emphasized, "The agreement with Newark Beth Israel Medical Center now makes the services of one of New Jersey's leading hospitals available to Crossroads members and is a vitally important milestone in the continuing expansion of Crossroads Health Plan." Crossroads provides a complete range of health services with an emphasis upon preventive care and prompt medical treatment. This means that members are covered for such services as doctor's office visits, lab tests, surgery, complete maternity care including well-baby care, unlimited in-patient hospital and skilled nursing facility services, emergency care in or out of the Essex County area and other services.

Private Stock — In her role as Springfield Public Library columnist, Rose Simon reads more than 200 books a year. When she isn't reading books from the town library, she's likely to be reading some of her own. "I'm a book addict, a word addict," she admits.

Reading, writing mix Reviewer has the word

In an era of specialization, Rose Simon reads more than 200 books a year to keep up with her "bookishness," celebrating the rich diversity of human interests.

For Simon, columnist on non-fiction for the Springfield Public Library, there is nothing "typical" about the subject matter of the reading assignment. Only the quantity remains fairly constant: at least four books per week, 17 or 18 per month.

In a recent month, she read books about re-enactment of 6th century ocean voyage, freedom of the press, flying, weaving, preventive psychology, home decorating, coastline ecology, animal communication, the Berlin blockade of 1948, energy conservation in cold climates and parenthood.

Father Oehling to be honored

A reception to honor the Rev. Edward Oehling will be given by the parishioners of St. James Church at 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 10 in the church auditorium.

Light refreshments will be served and there will be a special service for the Rev. Oehling on his new appointment as pastor of Our Lady of Mercy Church at Park Ridge, according to Joseph A. Hiltz, chairman of the committee planning the reception. Other members of the committee are Robert Francis, Patricia Murphy, John Timmy, Mary Ackerman, William Loeffler, John Kelly and Anita Zappala.

Father Oehling was assistant pastor of St. James for 22 years before he assumed duties in Park Ridge on Nov. 11. Active in Springfield community service, he received the top citizenship award from the town in 1975.

Governing body rejects all bids on flood project in Briar Hills

The Springfield Township Committee decided Tuesday night, with one abstention, to reject all bids ranging from $226,520 to $385,000, for a long planned flood-control project in the Briar Hills area of Springfield.

The work would have been done in cooperation with the Charles street project in Mountaineer, with county government scheduled to reimburse both committees for half of actual construction.

Committeewoman Joanne Rajoppi said the cost per house really would not have been that high. She said the project also would have included the need for future enlargement of the sewer system and some other costs the town will probably have to undertake since the state has neglected culvert work by Rt. 22. Rajoppi abstained from the vote to reject all bids.

The committee called for new bidding on a small phase of the work that would include a county freesholder, said negotiators are near an end on the project; a retention basin in the Baitulrol Golf Course area.

The committee decided to go ahead with cooperation on its $125,000 share of the county's $2.7 million flood-control project at Lenape Park. The project will include strengthening and widening a dike already existing in the industrial area of Springfield. Rajoppi, also a county freesholder, said negotiators are near an end on the project; a retention basin in the Baitulrol Golf Course area.

The township's senior citizens' coordinator, Rebecca Seal, put snow crisis prevention at the top of the agenda for a meeting next Monday with key leaders of elder citizens.

It's extremely important for senior citizens and the handicapped to get prepared," Seal said. "Keep adequate supplies of food and essential medicines during the snow season. Don't let supplies get so low that it would be a disaster to get snowed for a day or two."

The handicapped and older citizens, if unable to shovel or find workers, are likely to be snowed in longer than others when any snowfall covers sidewalks and driveways. Seal pointed out Seal appealed to the town's younger citizens — "girls as well as boys," she said — to sign up for paid shoveling work during the snow season. About a third of the town's population is elderly or handicapped.

While town leaders were urging preparation for the next one, auto-repair shops were busy with damage from the first snowfall, less than three inches, but catching many drivers.

Volunteer first aiders are needed

The Springfield First Aid Squad this week issued an urgent appeal for volunteers to help serve the community in a wide variety of emergencies.

Vicky Baberich, aid squad spokesperson, declared:

"It's reassuring to know that when you have an emergency in your home, all you have to do is pick up your phone and the First Aid Squad is there within minutes. But what you don't know is now we are in trouble. We are desperately short-handed, especially during the day crew.

"We need people, people just like you to help us help others. A lot of people have said that they 'don't have the time,' 'I'm not a doctor,' or 'I wouldn't know what to do.' So following are some answers to a lot of your questions.

"The Springfield First Aid Squad needs volunteers, 18 and over, living in Springfield and willing to give at least 12 hours a week. We want to reassure anyone interested in helping others but who is also concerned about the lack of training or being placed in the position of responsibility.

"The volunteer member is not a decision maker, nor does he direct first aid activities. The probationary member, when on call, reports to the crew chief or a senior member and follows his or her directions. Driving the ambulance to and from a call with a patient in the rig is not the responsibility of a probationary member. A senior member is responsible for and working with a probationary member at all times.

"Even after the year is completed and the probationary member becomes a regular member, he will always have other crew members on with years of experience so that he will not have to assume any responsibility until he feels capable.

"Remember, the squad consists of people like yourself — men, women, teachers, secretaries and others who have found something fulfilling and satisfying in helping others when they need help.

"If more information is needed, please call Carol Allen (978-5161) or Vicky Baberich (488-8077)."

First snowfall like a warning, leaders say

Three persons suffered minor injuries Monday in Springfield as cars slipped and slid into a frozen accident, most of them tender benders. Otherwise, the first snow of the season caused few problems here, according to Mayor William Cieri, and should serve as a crisis-prevention warning for seniors to come to prepare for bigger storms ahead.

The township's senior citizens' coordinator, Rebecca Seal, put snow crisis prevention at the top of the agenda for a meeting next Monday with key leaders of elder citizens.

It's extremely important for senior citizens and the handicapped to get prepared," Seal said. "Keep adequate supplies of food and essential medicines during the snow season. Don't let supplies get so low that it would be a disaster to get snowed for a day or two."

Snow fell on his cue Weather 'guessed' well

Before Thanksgiving, amateur weather watcher Nicholas Reiningher in Springfield only about three years ago.

But since his first public guess was correct, Reiningher himself might take the next one more seriously.

"The next one, expect less snowfall this year than last. Look for a generally milder winter.

He adds with a laugh, "That should be a pretty safe guess. Think back to last winter — especially the big one of Feb. 5-6 — and it couldn't get much worse than last year."

In case anyone could forget last winter, Reiningher has a reminder of the dates when he measured an inch or more of snow in Springfield. (If a snowfall started at night and continued to the next morning, he listed it with the latter date. For example, the Feb. 5-6 snow would be listed as Feb. 6.) His list:

November 1977 — on the 29th (first snow of the 1977-78 season, 2.65 inches)

Drive starts to get Baxter wheels to leave hospital

A campaign to raise funds for a specially-equipped van for Bob Baxter, a patient in the Veterans Administration Hospital in East Orange, is getting underway under the sponsorship of the Phil Portnoy Humanitarian Association of Union.

Baxter was a photographer for this newspaper and commercial photographer in Union until a swimming pool accident that left him completely paralyzed nearly eight years ago.

Before the accident, Baxter was a frequent contributor to groups such as Pop Warner Football, Tiger League, Teener League, Boys Club and other civic and community organizations.

Since entering the VA hospital, he has written several books and magazine articles, conducted a hospital radio program and appeared in civic and fraternal organizations on the problems of the handicapped.

But though he has obtained a license to drive a vehicle equipped for the handicapped, no such vehicle is at present available to him, according to Philip Portnoy, president of the Humanitarian Association in Union.

This Portnoy said, he has to pay for his own transportation whenever he has a speaking engagement.

A van with a lift for a wheelchair and other special equipment would give him a measure of independence despite the paralysis, Portnoy and Rhoda Fried, association treasurer, pointed out.

"He has a chance to be self-sufficient," Fried said. "Every human being is entitled to that. But he needs mobility."

The estimated cost of the vehicle is about $14,000. Though a small amount of aid may be available from the VA and other sources, it is expected that most of the money will have to be raised by the association.

Proceeds from the organization's seventh annual dinner-dance will go toward the Baxter campaign.

The dinner, at which Genevieve Pascale DiVenuto will receive the association's Humanitarian Award, will be held at the Town and Campus in West Orange Saturday, Feb. 3. Tickets, at $25 each, are available from Portnoy, 688-4704, or Fried, 686-8123.

A candy sale also is under way to raise funds for the van. Fried said there is an urgent need for people who help in the drive. She asked anyone willing to sell candy to call her or Portnoy or Lucille Longo at 688-6200.

The campaign is being conducted by a committee that includes, in addition to Portnoy and Fried, James Schaefer, Lee Malam, Lou Vellier, Robert Brummel, Anthony Russo, Ada Brunner, Jean Rae Turner, Edward Weber and Lucille Longo.

TEMPORARY ARRANGEMENT—With redevelopment under way at the Mall at Short Hills, a temporary two-level mall will open in February 1979 for some of the specialty stores. The refurbishment program is scheduled for completion in fall 1980.

Construction begins at Short Hills Mall; fall '80 completion

The redevelopment and refurbishment of the Mall at Short Hills, a joint venture of the Prudential Insurance Company of America and the Taubman Company, Inc., of Troy, Mich., is now well under way. The program began in May 1978 and work is on schedule for a fall 1980 completion. Robert C. Leason, president of the Taubman Company, said the remodeling will result in "a multi-level, enclosed retail environment featuring an expanded and improved selection of quality stores, services and fine dining facilities. The new specialty shops to be added will reflect and supplement the mix of fine retailers currently

Suspended list driver is fined $215 in court

Michael Piccolo of Tronola Park this week was fined $215, including court costs, for driving in Springfield while his license was suspended. In other court cases Monday night in Springfield Municipal Court, Judge Malcolm Bobrow ordered fines and court costs to be paid by Steve L. Knapp of Newark, $30 for driving past a red light and causing an accident; Ronald Jarabek of Mountaintide, $35 for disturbing the peace; Brian B. Smith of Battle Hill avenue, Springfield, $20 for speeding; and Robert L. West of Hillside, $75 for contempt of court. West was held in contempt for ignoring two minor citations for four years. He paid $35 for the 1974 violation: defective auto light and failure to have his driver's license, registration and insurance card with him.

Atomic energy lesson is topic for assembly

A demonstration on atomic energy and its uses will be presented Monday, Dec. 27 to a student assembly at Florence M. Gaudinier School. The program, sponsored by Oak Ridge Associated Universities, Tenn., is designed to acquaint students with basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources and its role in agriculture, industry, medicine and research. Marvin Peyton, will present the program which explains, in terms designed for students the structure of atoms and the operation of nuclear radiation, fission and fusion. Specially designed electronic equipment is used during the 40-minute program to demonstrate the sources of radiation, how nuclear energy is harnessed to furnish electric power and the use of radiologists to aid the diagnosis and treatment of diseases and to learn more about life processes. A blackboard talk of demonstration lecture to science classes, which deals more specifically with the topics of atomic structure, radioactivity, radiation biology and careers in nuclear science, follows the assembly. The program is operated by Oak Ridge Associated Universities of Oak Ridge (ORAU), Tenn.

Taxation: Myths, realities

The corporate income tax: Need for reform

This is the eleventh in a series of 15 articles exploring "Taxation: Myths and Realities." In this article, Arnold C. Harberger, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, argues that the corporate income tax prevents the efficient use of capital in our economy, and he suggests that the corporation tax should be integrated with the personal income tax. This series was written for Courses by Newspaper, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and is published by this newspaper in cooperation with Union College.

BY ARNOLD C. HARBERGER

The corporate income tax is politically more popular than yet economically more wasteful than any other major tax.

Its political popularity stems from the fact that it is levied on "rich corporations" rather than on the "rich" economic wastefulness is due to the artificial barrier it erects to the efficient use of the economy's investment capital. It can and should be removed.

Under present law, corporations pay a federal income tax of 48 percent on corporate earnings.

But the idea that corporations themselves can bear the burden of the tax is absurd on its face. Ultimately that burden must be borne by people—as shareholders, bondholders, workers or customers.

However, it is very difficult to trace how the corporate tax burden is actually distributed among these different groups—a fact which makes it a subject of continuing debate among economists.

One common myth about the corporation income tax is that its entire burden is borne exclusively by investors. Economists know this is impossible.

The reason lies in the nature of our economy, in which various segments—corporations, unions, individuals and business, life insurance companies, savings and loan associations, for example—must compete for investors' dollars.

Investors—whether individuals or investment agencies—will, within reasonable limits, naturally seek the highest profit (yield) from their capital. Although rates of yield or return might vary slightly for different types of financial assets, they tend to be clustered closely together and to rise and fall together. Otherwise they would not be competitive and could not attract investment.

If it were not possible for the rate of return on corporate shares to be cut almost in half by the 48 percent corporate income tax, the yields on other financial assets would remain unchanged. Under such circumstances, nobody would invest in corporate shares.

We conclude, then, that if the rate of yield on corporate stock goes down as a consequence of the corporation tax, so do the yields on mortgages and savings accounts and life insurance policies. No segment of the economy is going to pay a higher rate of interest or return than is necessary to attract investment.

A second common myth is that consumers bear the entire burden of the corporation tax. This is false for either real or personal property. Before this situation happens to you, you would be wise to discuss a will with your lawyer and then both of you would be drawing up. There may be legal problems arising at the death of either husband or wife. It is a good idea to have a proper will.

Q. What you are describing to me is a form of mutual fund which only invests in government securities. Government securities are not subject to the corporation tax. But if your money is part of this mutual fund, shares or units are purchased for you in that minimum amount. As to whether it is a safe investment, it would probably be made by the safer security investments you can make. If the terms are as you described them, the main objective of a fund such as this is to provide as high an income as possible with as little risk as possible to the investor.

Q. My partner and I have recently sold our business to a major publisher. We have received an advance to cover overhead and expect to receive a large amount of royalties from sales of the book. How do we report this income for tax purposes?—G.P., Costa Mesa, Calif.

A. The Internal Revenue Code specifically includes income from royalties in the definition of "gross income." The consideration may be cash or anything else of value. Royalties are payments for the use of property, based upon the production of that property during a period of time. Your royalties must be reported at the gross amounts received less the allowable business deductions. The net income from your royalties is included in the computation of adjusted gross income.

Questions of general interest will be answered in this column. Send to Judith Rhodes, Editor, "Myths and Realities," in care of this newspaper. Rhoades is a freelance writer who has 13 years experience in the securities industry.

YOU AND YOUR MORTGAGE

Where there's a will legal tangle lessens

BY JUDITH G. RHOADES

Q. In Colorado, what would the widow's share be without a will when a husband dies?—D. D. O'Grady, Chino Hills, Fla.

A. According to my sources, the surviving spouse would receive one half of the net estate. This is for either real or personal property. Before this situation happens to you, you would be wise to discuss a will with your lawyer and then both of you would be drawing up. There may be legal problems arising at the death of either husband or wife. It is a good idea to have a proper will.

New Seton Hall volume traces history of Newark Archdiocese

A book recounting the colorful 125-year history of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Newark, published by Seton Hall University, will be issued early in December.

"The Bishops of Newark 1853 to 1978" traces the roots and development of the archdiocese by examining the lives and careers of the seven leaders who shaped its course. Publication of the book coincides with the year-long commemoration of the 125th anniversary of the archdiocese. It will be introduced Dec. 9 at a statewide seminar on New Jersey history to be held at Seton Hall and released for general distribution after that date.

"The Bishops of Newark" is the first comprehensive history of the archdiocese to be produced in book form. The only previous history was encompassed in a general history of Catholicism in New Jersey, published in 1964.

The sixth largest Catholic jurisdiction in the U.S. and one of the oldest, the Archdiocese of Newark has been one of the nation's prime "melting pot" regions. The story of the archdiocese is also the story of the people and problems of various immigrant and ethnic groups, and much of the book centers on the assimilation of these groups into the mainstream of American life.

The 256-page volume is illustrated with photos of churches, schools, parishes, and people who have figured in the life of the archdiocese. Archbishop Peter L. Grady contributed an introductory essay for the book; the foreword was written by Bishop John J. Leahy, auxiliary bishop of Newark and scholar-in-residence at Seton Hall, chairman of the N.J. Catholic Historical-Records Commission.

A steady rise in employment seen by Horn

New Jersey's nonfarm wage and salary employment rose by 14,800 in October to a seasonally adjusted total of 2,555,500, Commission on Labor and Industry announced recently.

Except for small seasonal setbacks in September of this year and a year ago, employment has risen steadily since January 1977. It is now 306,700 above the recession low of 2,270,200 reached in May 1975.

Before seasonal adjustment, the October employment total was also up by 14,600 reflecting increases of 12,800 in nonmanufacturing and 1,800 in manufacturing industries. The sharpest monthly increase in the unadjusted total was 14,200 in September, 2,800 in construction, and 2,600 in transportation-public utilities. The largest declines were 4,800 in services, 1,700 in trade, and 1,200 in food.

Compared with a year ago, October employment was up by 85,300 with the year-over increase of 73,900 in non-manufacturing and 11,400 in manufacturing industries. Five-figure industry gains included transportation, 14,100 in services, 15,300 in both construction and transportation-public utilities, and 10,900 in government. The largest declines were 2,200 in textile and 1,000 in rubber and plastic products.

Purchasing power up for factory worker

Purchasing power of the New York-Northeastern New Jersey area factory worker's take home pay was up by 1.5 percent between August and September, reported Herbert Binstock, regional commissioner of Labor and Industry announced recently.

Binstock said that gross average weekly earnings of area factory workers advanced by $5.48 between August and September to $220. The rise reflected a 36 percent increase in the average workweek to 40 hours, together with a five cent gain in average hourly earnings to $5.52. A 0.5 percent rise in area consumer prices partially offset the increase.

Since September, 1977, gross average weekly earnings of factory workers have risen $1.92 or 8.8 percent, Binstock noted. Average hourly earnings rose 23 cents or 4.2 percent over the year. The average workweek was up 36 minutes from September, 1977.

Binstock said factory workers' purchasing power for take home pay was down 1.4 percent since September, 1977, despite savings offsetting consumer prices. Binstock indicated the decline largely reflected the manner in which the reduced tax liability under the Tax Reduction and Simplification Act of 1977 was calculated.

The tax reduction became effective June 1, 1977, but applied to the entire year. The wage earner, therefore, realized reduced withholding deductions in the last seven months of 1977, equal to the full annual tax reduction. In 1978, however, the reduction was distributed over the full year.

54,000 jobs lost in month in metro region

The job total for the New York-Northeastern New Jersey area was down 54,000 to 6,460,000 between August and September it was reported by Herbert Binstock, regional commissioner of Labor and Industry announced recently.

Binstock said that gross average weekly earnings of area factory workers advanced by $5.48 between August and September to $220. The rise reflected a 36 percent increase in the average workweek to 40 hours, together with a five cent gain in average hourly earnings to $5.52. Want to train water mammals? Education info available on toll-free line

Where can I go to train water mammals? Where can I get training in aquaculture? How can I get financial assistance for my years in medical school? What educational opportunities exist in the State of New Jersey for the blind? These questions and many more have been keeping the toll-free Education Hotline ringing daily (800-792-8353).

In operation for only one month, the Hotline is a joint venture of the New Jersey Department of Higher Education and Thomas A. Edison College. A spokesman for the Hotline stated that callers from all over the state have responded enthusiastically to this public service. One person from south Jersey was delighted to know that the State is providing citizens with the information they need on higher educational opportunities. Others have indicated that the Education Hotline was the first place where many of their questions were answered.

The information specialists who take the calls and answer questions say a large percentage of calls come from mid-career adults, retired persons, and high school guidance counselors as well as many high school juniors and seniors. The specialists said that many people are not aware of educational opportunities available within New Jersey.

After receiving an answer revealing the variety of options, callers have made such comments as, "I wouldn't have thought a New Jersey college would offer such a course as marine biology" or "I didn't realize I could find the program I need so close to my home."

The information specialists cited examples of calls received: a man who plans to retire next spring asked about college programs stating that he had always wanted to attend college but had been unable to do so because of a lack of money had stopped him. He was referred to a number of colleges which had special programs for senior citizens near his northern New Jersey home.

A high school counselor called to inquire about athletic scholarships for women. He mentioned that it was especially difficult to find information on this. He was referred to a booklet entitled, "Financial Aid: A Partial List of Features for Women" which was prepared by the Project on the Status of Education of Women.

A CEG instructor called to inquire on behalf of one of her students interested in becoming a veterinarian, but who needed more information on the job itself and on short term training opportunities.

Dayton defeated, 27-7, by W. Orange in finale

BY MIKE MEIXNER

The Dayton Bulldogs concluded their football season last Thursday, dropping a 27-7 decision to the West Orange Cowboys to finish with an 8-4 record while competing against rugged Suburban Conference foes. Coach Angelo Senese again reminded the Bulldogs' fans that this was a rebuilding year and that the young players should develop their talents to maximum potential in coming seasons. However, many key seniors will be graduating next June.

The Cowboys quickly opened up a 21-0 lead before Dayton could mount an impressive second-half scoring drive. The march was culminated by a bruising off-tackle run by fullback Ed McGrady, good for five yards and a touchdown. McGrady, playing in his final football game for Dayton, set a personal high for yardage gained, threw a 48-yard pass to receiver Nick Caricato and played superb defense. Senese was pleased with his fine all-around effort.

In addition to kicking the extra point, Dan Pepe, another senior, played a fine two-way game at light and defensive end. Senior Chris Dillenuth also played a key role at defensive end. Seniors Rich Cederquist, Ron Ruff and Al Arnold, played well as offensive and defensive linemen, despite being outplayed by their opponents every week. Cederquist also punted with consistency.

Linebackers Jim Week and Ken Bell completed fine senior years with standout performances against the Cowboys. And were among the team leaders in tackles. Bell was a team captain.

Greg Shomo handled the offensive snaps and played sparingly on defense. As the center, he led the offensive line, and set up many inside runs. He too will be missed next season.

Dayton had great depth and talent in the defensive secondary. Jeff Vargas was spectacular all season as the strong safety. Pat Picciolo, sidelined much of the time by an injury was a first rate cornerback and a hard runner. He had the longest Bulldog run from scrimmage, a 74-yard touchdown gallop against Caldwell. Three other seniors were tough defenders in the secondary. Rick Souders picked off one pass against Verona and was tough all year against the long pass; Norm Hayes was a hard hitter; Mark Ackerman played aggressive football.

The offense was directed by scrambling quarterback Al Preziosi. He was both a fine runner and passer, and completed 44 percent of his throws. His favorite target was Nick Caricato, who had 21 receptions this season. Captain Larry Irene, despite occasional double-teaming, was a punishing back. Coach Senese and his assistants Ed Tranchina, Robert Kozub, Rick Jacomo, William Kindler, and Rollie Marjoni—will have their work cut out for them next year but there is a lot more to work with.

Tony Cirolli, an excellent defensive back as well as a good runner, will team with this year's leading rusher, Robert Irene, to form a rugged one-two punch. Ken Klebbog will switch from the defensive backfield next year to direct the attack from the quarterback slot. Billy Ventura, who caught his first varsity pass in the loss to West Orange, will be a key receiver. Rob Dooley, a sophomore, will aid the offensive and defensive line now that he has gained substantial varsity experience.

This year's squad dwindled as the season wore down. Lost to injury were starting linemen Lou Hienkalo, Jeff Tranchina, Robert Kozub, Rick Jacomo, William Kindler, and Rollie Marjoni—will have their work cut out for them next year but there is a lot more to work with.

Dayton junior booters look toward 1978

BY MIKE MEIXNER

The Dayton junior varsity soccer team fared slightly better than its varsity counterpart, finishing with a mediocre 3-win and 12-loss log. Moreover, the team gained valuable experience that may assist the Springfield soccer program in the years to come. The team was guided by semiprofessional soccer star Mario Kucwanski, a former lineman in high school who helped develop a potent offense.

Coach Kucwanski expresses high hopes for the future. "The boys really improved their offensive skills," he said. Varsity lineman Marc Meskin, who led the Bulldogs in assists from the left wing position, aided the coach with the younger boys. Meskin is a senior, and his playing and assistance will be sorely missed next year. Head coach Vincenzo Ferrante also expressed pleasure in Meskin's efforts. "He still comes out to the field (the coaches are holding post-season workouts) and helps the underclassmen improve their soccer skills," he noted.

Allan helped the Scots to a 9-1 season and a successful defense of their Ohio Conference Championship. Wooster, which finished sixth in the state rankings, is 1-0 against Ohio Conference foes in two seasons.

Allan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Allan of Oak Tree road, Mountaineer.

Rolls to open for wrestling

Registration for the Springfield Recreation Department's midweek wrestling program will be held on Tuesday from 3 to 4 p.m. at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center, 30 Church Mall, Springfield.

The program is open to all boys in the fourth through eighth grades. A registration fee of $5 will be charged.

The program will consist of physical conditioning, instruction in the fundamentals of wrestling and the preparation for competitive wrestling against teams from other towns. Parents interested in assisting this program in any way were also invited.

Scott Worwick and Paul Commarato are the guesting chores of

Allan's 6 goals paced Wooster

Mountaineer's Robert "Chuck" Allan earned his second varsity letter for the College of Wooster Ohio soccer team this fall. The sophomore, a right wing forward, led the team in scoring with six goals and an assist in 16 games for a total of 12 goals and seven assists in his two years at Wooster.

He was one of only four players to start every game, this season.

"Chuck did a great job for us this year," said coach Bob Nye. "His speed down the sideline made him a constant threat and he was very strong on crosses. He also became very effective on corner kick plays this year. He scored three of his goals on those set plays."

Allan helped the Scots to a 9-1 season and a successful defense of their Ohio Conference Championship. Wooster, which finished sixth in the state rankings, is 1-0 against Ohio Conference foes in two seasons.

Allan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Allan of Oak Tree road, Mountaineer.

A TEST DRIVE WOULD HAVE THE NERVE TO SUGGEST.

Because you can't test drive a BMW 320i on the great race circuits where it was perfected—Le Mans, Monte Carlo or the Nürburgring, for example—we'd like to suggest you put it to almost as perilous a test: the thoroughfares of metropolitan New York.

Whether you're passing eighteen-wheel trucks on a two lane highway, jockeying for the lead position out of a toll booth or weaving nimbly through the traffic and potholes so uniquely indigenous to our area, the BMW 320i—fuel-injected, with independent suspension—reacts with a speed and agility that will spoil you for any other car.

If our offer of an unusual test drive intrigues you, call us and we'll arrange one at your convenience.
