Pinochle's the game down in the 'dugout'

"We call this the 'dugout,'" Bill Schmidt says as he leads the way down three flights of stairs and into a paneled room where a dozen or so men are playing cards.

The air smells of cigarette smoke. Fluorescent lights flicker above a pool table, cleared of balls or cue sticks or players.

"I've got," says one of the men.

"Four pairs."

"I need that card—I needed a four," another man shouts.

It was pinochle, not pool, played on a drizzly afternoon by the men, Schmidt kids, that have "retired" the dugout is the basement of the Sarah Bailey Center in Springfield. It was meant to be the setting last Wednesday for the township's first senior citizen's pool tournament.

But, as Schmidt says, "You can't have much of a tournament when only two men sign up."

Not that these card players can't shoot a mean game of pool when the mood suits them.

"Playing cards is one thing, Schmidt says, but if you shoot pool long enough with your buddies, you have a pretty good idea of the best players. So why not just choose them?"

That's exactly what the water crisis. They chose Frank Shiel and Jack Lupo to represent Springfield in the Union County Pool Tournament Oct. 17 at the El-Cue Billiard Lounge in Elizabeth.

"I'm just average," Shiel says. His wife is that of a man who shot pool and off for 60 years. He played his first game in West Harlem, where he grew up.

"I try to play a man safe if I feel he's a superior player," Lupo says. Shiel explains, it is to leave his opponent without a shot.

His partner, Frank Lupo, says a good game of pool means playing a lot of positions.

Straight pool, eight-ball and billiards, each game is different. Lupo played them all.

Both men say they shoot pool a couple of hours each day in the dugout. While they think the pool tournament is a good idea, in truth, pinochle is the real game here.

Quarry plan meeting will resume Oct. 22

If Houdaille Quarry owners can convince a planning board to recommend rezoning 160 acres of rocky, lifeless land, and the state Department of Transportation (DOT) doesn't claim that land, then by 1990 the acres could support a lush commercial and residential development.

That was the consensus from Houdaille consultants who presented a detailed report to the Springfield Planning Board last Wednesday night outlining the proposed $85 million development.

The report included plans to install a traffic light at Shunpike and Stone Hill roads to ease an increased traffic load, should the development be built.

A. Fancini, board chairman, continued the meeting for Oct. 22, so that Springfield and Summit residents could question the Houdaille team further about traffic planning, utilities and tax revenue.

Andrew Kintzer, a Philadelphia land planning consultant, told the board building 683 housing units, a shopping center and professional building would generate $1.1 million in tax surplus for Springfield.

The surplus was based on real estate assessed at 100 percent of its true value, Kintzer said.

"Housing prices would range from $55,000 for a senior citizen unit to $150,000 for a three-bedroom, single family residence. Prices were based on today's dollar value. Garden apartments and some senior citizen housing would be rented.

The development would be built on 100 acres between Shunpike Road to the northeast and the Baltusrol Golf Club and housing area to the southwest.

Route 78 would cross 20 acres of the development's northern section. On this section, a shopping center and professional offices, garden apartments, and senior citizen units would be located, Kintzer said.

Noise impact called low, board approves Route 78

By JANE FRUITS

Despite lengthy midweek debate about Route 78's noise impact, the Union County Regional High School Board of Education voted on Tuesday night as not opposing construction of the highway.

The chairman presided a discussion about "drama" athletics" at David Brearley High School.

After examining the state Department of Transportation (DOT) Final Environmental Impact Study, (FEIS), board member Roland Hecker said, "Because the FEIS states Route 78 will have no noise impact at Governor Livingston high school, the board will not oppose construction."

When the highway is completed, Hecker said, the board will test noise levels to make sure they comply with the FEIS. Hecker is chairman of the board's Route 78 committee.

Al D'Emilio, Berkeley Heights parent, requested the board to urge DOT to build a cover to reduce noise over the section of Route 78 parallel to the high school.

Hecker said "covering" the section would not cut noise but was not economically feasible. To curtail noise, Hecker said, DOT has agreed to move two lanes closer and to build them in an 80-foot embankment.

"What will you do if the noise levels exceed DOT's projection at Governor Livingston?" D'Emilio asked.

"We'll close the windows, install air conditioners and sue DOT for the cost of these air conditioners," Hecker replied.

While the controversial highway was the subject of discussion for Berkeley Heights residents, at David Brearley High School, beginning this summer, the board about "drama being shoved aside for athletics."

Charles Vitale, board president, summed up the debate by saying, "I think drama is just as important as athletics."

The parents were protesting a drama room at David Brearley being converted into an athletic equipment storage room.

Vitale recommended that if the drama students couldn't be scheduled into a classroom near the stage, the school should apply to build an additional drama room.

"I would unhesitatingly ask this board to go into capital improvements to correct this problem," he added.

In a program that will affect freshmen in each of the four regional high schools beginning this summer, Dr. Martin Siegel, director of curriculum, said courses must be updated by June 15, comply with the new state requirements for graduates.

The requirements, which include two years of higher mathematics and one year of science, will affect students graduating in 1985.

But the 1985 graduates will be incoming freshmen in 1981, so the regional high schools must update programs this summer, Siegel explained.

In other business, the board approved hiring aides to reduce buses with emotionally disturbed and handicapped students. The aides will earn $5.19 an hour.

State-ordered water rationing doesn't stop flow of comments

The lawyers, like other people, said the water ban was changing their household habits.

In Davis Sobin's house showers have been limited to two minutes, water is kept in the refrigerator, dishes are rinsed in a basin and the washing machine isn't turned on until there's a full load of clothes.

"Everyone has to do their part no matter what the situation," said Sidney Mintzsky. "I'm trying to conserve at home."

But at work people are kidding him a lot lately about saving water. "It all comes with the job," Mintzsky said.

He's a window cleaner.

Arthur Buckner, township clerk, said he was asking employees to conserve water at work just as they'd do at home. But he was surprised to hear a few women employees were helping him pass along the conservation message by turning notices in the women's restroom.

"It's politics," William Lawver said when interviewed in front of the Springfield Post Office. He and his wife, Dorothy, were there to mail a letter to Gov. Byrne about the water shortage.

"The letter cited the Toxic Waste Dump project. The proposed 32-square-mile lake on the Delaware River was formally rejected in 1973 by an interstate commission headed by Gov. Byrne. The Lawyers thought if the dam had been constructed, the New Jersey water shortage could have been prevented.

Commonwealth Water Company is bogged down enforcing mandatory water rationing for its 64,000 customers in 24 towns, including Springfield, Shirley Howell, company spokesperson, said Monday.

Under the emergency rationing plan Gov. Brendan Byrne issued Sept. 27, each water company is responsible for enforcing cutbacks.

Among its problems, Commonwealth officials still can't decide the best way to determine water allocations for each dwelling unit, Howell said. The mandate suggests each water company count the people at each residence by using postcard census, bill analysis or spot checks.

The plan states water companies will issue warnings to customers who don't comply with the rationing plan. If these customers ignore the warnings, the water company will install a flow restrictor in the customer's service line for a 15-day period.

Howell said Commonwealth Water hasn't received the warning forms and doesn't have flow restrictors in stock.

"The problem is the method of compliance and how to go about it," she said. "We just weren't prepared."

An additional problem is asking meter readers to assume law enforcement responsibilities.

"Meter readers wear blue uniforms, but they don't wear badges," Howell said.

The mandate also states nonresidential customers will reduce water usage by a minimum of 25 percent of current levels.

However, businesses that depend on water, such as laundromats and car washes, can file a hardship exemption with the water company.

Although Commonwealth Water has hardship exemption forms, Howell said only about 12 customers have requested the forms.

Passage on 2 issues is urged by Maguire

Assemblyman William J. Maguire (R-District 22) has announced his full commitment to the support of two public questions on the Nov. 6 ballot to ease the property tax burden on New Jersey disabled and senior citizens. He urged voters to pass both measures.

One constitutional amendment would increase the property tax deduction for seniors and the disabled, while raising the maximum increasing qualifications for the deduction.

The second question would allow seniors and disabled persons who live in mobile homes, or who otherwise own the structure in which they live but not the land on which it is located, to receive the tax deductions.

"The current deductions and income limits for seniors and disabled citizens are hopelessly out of date," said Maguire. "Inflation has reduced the value of the $100 deduction, while at the same time pushing social security and four to attend at conference"

Four Springfield educators will be among 300 local school officials from throughout the state speaking at the Workshop 1980, the 28th annual in-service education event for New Jersey's public school leadership Oct. 22 to 24 in Atlantic City.

Dr. Donald Merschik, superintendent of the Union County Regional High School District, will speak on "The Gifted Child: Elementary and Secondary Programs."

Paul Ehrlich, program coordinator for the gifted and talented program at Gov. Livingston Regional High School, and Dennis P. King, program coordinator at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, will speak on "A High School Program for Gifted and Talented Students."

Lenore Born, regional district coordinator for the gifted and talented program also will speak on a high school gifted and talented program.

Condon, Horn assert Dems lack incentive

Ray Condon and Herb Horn, Republican candidates for Springfield Township Committee, this week charged the Township Committee with cutting government services and with taking an inordinate length of time to appoint an independent insurance analyst to review township insurance needs in the face of the skyrocketing insurance costs that have taken place over the last several years.

Condon and Horn stated, "We know budget exceeded that permitted by law. As a result of the failure of the voters to approve the additional funds for the budget, the Democratic-controlled Township Committee was forced to cut public services and they did so in two areas which severely affected public services. Cuts were made in the budget of the Springfield Township government for most of the township's public services."

OPINION

Check home safety

Cold weather is around the corner and, with its impending arrival, it's time to start thinking about putting heating systems in proper condition to guard against "the silent killer"—carbon monoxide poisoning.

Some steps to help protect your family from this potential hazard are worth following as the winter season nears.

Heating systems—furnace, space heater, water heater, fireplace and incinerator—should be checked to make sure they are operating efficiently and that vents, pipes, flues and chimneys are tight. This will also help prevent fires.

Heating devices, especially central furnaces, require a lot of clean-up operation. Make certain that your heating plant is not starved for air. It is wise to check with a heating specialist or fuel supplier to be sure.

No heating designed to be vented should be used until it has been correctly vented, especially the new and popular wood-burning stoves. At all times, follow the manufacturer's recommendations for the use of any and all heating devices.

The advent of colder weather also brings with it the increased possibility of fire. Tragedies traced to fire always seem to multiply during the cold winter months.

As we observe Fire Prevention Week this week, it is an ideal time to get the family together, work out a step-by-step clean-up plan and hold a home fire drill. The family pop-work on fire safety should detail plans for a quick exit in a fire emergency.

Carefully figure out at least two routes to the outside from every room in the house, especially bedrooms. Allow for blocking of stairways and halls by doors.

Make it a rule to close bedroom doors at night. These closed doors will hold back flames and smoke, allowing vital extra time for escape. When escape routes are determined from upper floors, plan to use porch and garage roofs, ladders or even trees as ways down to safety. Be sure exit windows work easily so that even a child can open them—and see that windows are low and large enough to climb through. Along with emergency escape routes, it is absolutely essential that smoke detectors are installed in the home. Install as many of these as you deem practical for the size of your home.

While planning every facet of safety should a fire break out, pick an outside assembly point, well away from the house, where everyone in the family will meet. Emphasize the rules: "Don't play with matches."

The horrible suffering and waste of lives and property can be avoided if one keeps his home as fire safe as possible and free from faulty and defective heating and electrical units. Make Fire Prevention Week a year-round observance for you and your loved ones!

From where I sit The departure of Edith Bunker

By BOB BAXTER

It was a Sunday, about 8:30 p.m., and I sat with my eyes getting red and tears attempting to find their way down my cheeks, the phone rang.

"My god, Bob, have you heard Edith is dead?" My friend, seemed on the verge of collapse.

"Yes," I responded, "I am watching the TV news."

And, as we watched our sets, a friend passed away. She was a faithful and dutiful wife and mother, only on very rare occasions did she ever vent the least bit of anger at anyone; even people who had done her wrong received only a brief, cold stare.

She often pierced our eardrums with her off-melody singing and she would burst into song at the darndest times, much to the annoyance of Archie.

Edith was a kind soul. She was on the stern-tensed seas created by Archie, mother of Gloria and mother-in-law to Michael.

Report by Albanese cites achievements

Union County Manager George J. Albanese, citing the attainment of a "efficient and effective middle level of government," recently presented the 1979 county annual report to the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Albanese, noting that nearly five years has passed since Union County's charter reform, dedicated the 28-page report to the energy and determination of county and municipal officials, employees, business and citizens, "who have helped attain a new government-community partnership which strives to address successfully today's concerns. This achievement alone makes 1979 a year which Union County can truly be proud of."

Among other notable achievements cited by Albanese last year were those in the areas of finance, grants acquisition and parks improvements.

For the fourth consecutive year, Union County affirmed its financial integrity by retaining a Moody's Investors Service AAA bond rating for long-term financing and, for the third year, an MFPI rating for short-term financing—both the highest attainable rating.

In 1979, Union County continued to pursue a "fair share" of available federal and state dollars. Albanese praised the "professionalism and expertise" of county employees in grants acquisition for the receipt of $20 million, the largest amount to be received in county history.

Renovations in the county parks were highlighted as the most notable physical improvement last year. The county manager credited restructuring of the old Park Commission into the new Department of Parks and Recreation as being responsible for "major repairs to long-neglected facilities" and for enabling the county to establish short- and long-range plans for the upkeep of 3,500 acres of county parks.

Albanese concluded by underscoring the cooperative ties of business, government and community which "leave me confident in the ability of Union County citizens to continue to meet head-on and resolve today's and tomorrow's challenges."

The report was designed and written as part of an educational package to be distributed to the county's high schools and is available at the major libraries in the 21 county municipalities.

Ice skate center set for debut tomorrow

A schedule of ice skating programs has been announced for the Warnanco Skating Center—whose opening now is tentatively scheduled for tomorrow, with a family session set for 6 p.m. and open skating at 8:30.

The semi-enclosed rink, operated by the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation, is in Warnanco Park, Roselle, near the Thompson Avenue entrance.

Information on a definite opening date, lessons, equipment rental and brochures is available by calling 241-3263 or 352-8431.

Registration is open for an eight-week series of half-hour group ice skating lessons, beginning the week of Oct. 18. Qualified skating professionals will conduct "show and practice" classes and personalized coaching and instruction. Skaters may be purchased or rented at the facility. Instructors will place students according to age and skill.

How to tear 23% off your heating bill.

1. Buy a Honeywell Fuel Saver Thermostat. It's that simple. Get a Honeywell Fuel Saver Thermostat and save up to 23% each heating season. Automatically.

2. Set it. Forget it. Just set the timer pins and go about your life. The Fuel Saver Thermostat does the rest. Lowers the temperature at night. Raises it just before you wake up. Then when you leave for work, it automatically lowers the temperature again, raising it just before you return home. Saving on fuel costs... automatically.

3. Sleep cool; Wake up warm. No more wasting heat while you sleep. No cold floors of chilly rooms to face in the morning. Sleep in comfort. Wake up in comfort. Come home to comfort. All the while saving money.

4. Get your money back in savings. The Honeywell Fuel Saver Thermostat could pay for itself in a heating season or so. Depending, of course, on your lifestyle, and Fuel Saver installation cost. To find out how much the Fuel Saver Thermostat can save you, call your heating/cooling contractor. He will probably install it for you. Or do it yourself. Either way it'll save you money.

5. Cut cooling costs, too. Have central air conditioning? With the addition of an optional cooling sub-base, the Fuel Saver Thermostat can automatically save you up to an additional 13% each cooling season.

6. Take comfort in Honeywell. We've been making home comfort and safety controls for over 80 years. And you'll find the Fuel Saver Thermostat is built with the same quality and precision engineering as the world's most popular thermostat, the Honeywell Round.

7. Call your heating/cooling contractor today. Cut your heating bill down to size. Get a Honeywell Fuel Saver Thermostat today.

Bulldogs break victory drought, 15-13

By RON BRANDSDORFER

There was back-slapping galore when the final whistle sounded and Dayton had come away with a thrilling 15-13 victory over Hillside. But once the thrill of victory—the first such Bulldog victory in 18 outings—wore off a bit, there was an eerie silence.

Not even third-year Bulldog coach Angelo Senese was sure what was happening.

"We were quieter on the bus coming home from the win in Hillside than we've been after losses," Senese explained. "It seemed like a very reflective mood. I just don't think it dawned on the kids yet that they had won the football game."

But won they had, and impressively, too. And so when the Bulldogs host Madison Saturday afternoon at 1:30, they'll be seeking to do something they haven't done in years—extend a one-game winning streak.

"It really feels good to win," Senese observed. "It's been a long, dry season since our last victory, so this one was long overdue. Certainly, it came before this one deserved it as much."

"I thought we really acted with a great amount of class after the win," he continued. "We believed we could win, we expected to win, and we went out and did it."

The Bulldogs certainly didn't waste any time. Running back Ed Francis took the opening kickoff 51 yards to the Hillside 46, and Dayton had an immediate threat. Quarterback Mike Caricato, the Bulldogs' "Offensive Player of the Game" with a long touchdown run and 65 yards passing, went right to the air, finding Tyrone Hayes open for a 40-yard scoring connection. Francis made it 8-0 with a two-point run.

"That first touchdown gave us a tremendous emotional lift," Senese said. "He started playing first-year football. Things then began to go our way because we were playing hard. When you hustle like that, good things will happen."

That doesn't mean Senese and his assistants were completely satisfied with the day. The Bulldogs could have put the game away early, but errors, particularly penalties, were on the coast.

Dayton kicked off to Hillside following the opening touchdown, and the Comets tumbled the football. Caricato led the Bulldogs down to the three, where a holding penalty stalled the drive.

Moments later, Hillside fumbled again, and soph. Glenn Delany recovered. The offense kept churning, and Caricato hit John Apicella for a TD. But that one was called back because of

ANGLO SENESE and ED FRANCIS

Delany's blocking penalty. Hillside took advantage of Dayton's failure to take advantage and narrowed the Bulldogs' lead to 8-6 with a touchdown.

"We had two touchdowns called back," said Senese, pointing to the Caricato to Apicella TD pass and a Francis run in the second half, "and we had a defensive—and, defensive breakdowns due to physical ability but assignment error. We can't afford to have those things happen when we play the tough Suburban Conference competition. We've got to play very, very well if we want to continue winning football games."

Despite the errors, the Bulldogs never trailed. When Caricato raced 22 yards for a touchdown and Hillside scored to narrow the margin to 15-13, Dayton's defense came in life.

Junior tackle Jack Parent was never better, picking up "Defensive Player of the Game" honors with the following performance: Nine unassisted tackles, 14 assists, one fumble recovery, and a crucial interception in the final seconds.

There were other defensive stars, too. Linebacker Ben Wittro picked up a Hillside fumble, while Danny Creelli and Kyle Hudgins intercepted passes. Defensive tackle Neil Parievechio also played well, making a number of unassisted tackles.

Offensively, Kevin Iatone had another outstanding game, picking up 67 yards on 20 carries. The week before, he had managed 56 yards on 19 carries and was Senese's Offensive Player of the Game. Opening up holes for Iatone, Francis, Apicella and Caricato were linemen Paul D'Andrea and Chuck

Miller. "Madison just has an excellent football team," Senese said. "Coach Ted Monica has developed a tremendous football team and tradition. They're well-coached, well-disciplined and can handle you anywhere on the field. And perhaps more importantly, they can score with their defense as well."

But Senese was optimistic about his Bulldogs out of this football game.

When Hillside did get the football, with just four minutes to play, they began a march downfield. But Parent came up with an interception, enabling Dayton to come up with the much-anticipated win.

"The most encouraging factor that came out of the win is that the kids realize they can play a better football game," Senese said, "and a big weekend matchup with Madison. The win didn't go to their heads. They know it will take a better brand of football to compete in the Suburban Conference."

Dayton will open that conference schedule Saturday when ninth-ranked Madison, the owner of the state's longest winning streak (16 games), comes to town.

"Madison just has an excellent football team," Senese said. "Coach Ted Monica has developed a tremendous football team and tradition. They're well-coached, well-disciplined and can handle you anywhere on the field. And perhaps more importantly, they can score with their defense as well."

But Senese was optimistic about his Bulldogs out of this football game.

Tornadoes score in rec soccer action

Action in the town's Recreational Soccer Program continued with close matches in both the upper and middle divisions last week.

In the upper league, the Tornadoes slipped past the Rowdies as Dirk Schobert converted two penalty kicks to a pair of goals. Nick Hillis and Jason Wosholis controlled the midfield for the Tornadoes, while Barry Kiskiers kept the Rowdies in the game with several key saves. Jimmy Yee drilled home the Rowdies' only goal midway through the third quarter.

The Lancers came from behind to shock the Strikers, 3-1. After Tony Graziano scored for the Strikers just eight minutes into the game and Eric Yoss and Pat Caliano began to dominate the game with short passing, the Lancers came back. Kathy Moser led the score with a second period goal. Following intermission, Terry Roberts scored the eventual game-winner and Tom Melner added an insurance score. Gary Francis also played well for the Lancers.

In the middle league, the Fury rolled past the Stompers, 4-2. Len Sais, Charles Weiss and Mike Zuecker scored for the Fury, who received an excellent all-around game from Weiss in the midfield. Len Post and John Campese were the Stompers' top midfield players and Roger Bassini and Greg Byron kept the offensive pressure on Byron scored in the second period, while Tom Tedesco, Ivan Novich and Josh Wasserman scored goals. Ted led the Timbers to a 2-1 victory over the Sting. Kameron Bayrasi and Chris Monaco scored the Sting's goals, while Dan Monaco, Dan Horvath, and Mike Marovich kept the Timbers' potent offense in check.

Jeff Miller drilled in four goals as the Blizzard outlasted the Aztecs, 4-3. Blizzard goalie David Tassy handled the Aztec barrage but couldn't stop scores by Barry Teitelbaum, Eric Schobert and Eric Marko.

Race to 5-0 start

Kelly girls lead Dayton harriers

Just leave it to Kathy Kelly. That's just what Dayton's girls' cross country team has been doing lately and that's one good reason why the harriers are 5-0.

Kelly, who joins with sister Maureen to provide Coach William Jones' team with a potent one-two punch, picked up two firsts, a pair of seconds and one third to lead Dayton to victories over Verona, West Orange, Caldwell, New Providence and Millburn.

The Kelly sisters got off to a good start in the season opener against Verona. Kathy took second, Maureen placed sixth and Dana Levinson, third and Janice Levine (fifth) got sandwiched in the middle. Aid with Kathy Rogers, Beth Mortimer, Alice Barry and Shirley Salomy sweeping seventh through tenth, Dayton ran away with a 23-38 victory.

It was even easier two days later against West Orange in the first half of a tri-meet with Caldwell included. Dayton won that one, 29-46, as Kathy Kelly won individual honors, her six top fourth and Levinson finished right in the middle in third. Then came Levine, in the fifth spot, Salomy in seventh and Mortimer in eighth. Other finishers included Barry (10th), Rogers (11th), Candy Leadski, Amy Kitch, Tracy Spivack and Joelle Haughey.

Things weren't quite that calm for the Dayton harriers in the second half of the afternoon's events. Caldwell put together an one-two finish, but Dayton swept the next four spots for a 27-29 win.

Kathy Kelly placed fourth, followed by Levinson, Maureen Kelly and Levine. Dayton continued its winning ways when New Providence and Millburn provided another tri-meet challenge.

New Providence placed one-three-six to provide a scare, but Dayton's depth was too much. The result was the local harriers' fourth straight victory, 28-32.

The order of events had Kathy Kelly leading the way in the runner-up spot, with Maureen Kelly two spots back and Levine in fifth. Then came Barry, Levinson, Mortimer, Rogers, Leadski, Spivack and Haughey, as Dayton missed just the 11th spot in grabbing seven through 14.

There was never any doubt against Millburn, as a Kathy-Kelly-Maureen Kelly-Janice Levine, one-two-three finish set the tone for a 19-42 romp. Millburn picked off the fourth and fifth spots, and then it was all Dayton. Barry took sixth, Levinson grabbed seventh, Mortimer placed eighth and Rogers finished ninth to insure the win.

Dayton's undefeated harriers will board a bus for Caldwell this afternoon for a tri-meet with New Providence and Caldwell.

Dayton falls in soccer matches

By Robert A. Bruckner

Dayton's varsity "boaters" played seven strong quarters of soccer last week but still couldn't come away with a win to show for their efforts.

First they dropped a 5-1 decision to a good Caldwell team and then came back and played well, but not well enough, in a tough 2-1 loss to Madison.

In the match against Caldwell, a Kirk Veggy goal, assisted by Lenny Giannone and Henry Langley, kept Dayton in a 1-1 tie with potent Caldwell for three quarters. But then the Chiefs exploded, scoring four times in the final 20 minutes to pick up the win.

"Caldwell is more physically conditioned and more physically equipped than Dayton," explained Coach Joe Cozza.

The Bulldogs were dealt a major blow late in the game when Giannone, a Caldwell defender and chipped a bone. Cozza said he might be out for the remainder of the season.

"The Bulldogs may have been inspired by the loss of Giannone, because they played very well against Madison."

The top man for Dayton was keeper Andrew Grett, a soph, who made 10 saves. Yeggy had a good chance to score in the first half, but Jeff Schermer, the Madison goalie, made a brilliant diving stop.

The junior-soph didn't have much better luck against Caldwell and Madison, dropping a pair of 2-1 decisions.

John Stivella picked up Dayton's an-ly goal against Caldwell, but it was goalie Jay Rappaport, who was the man of the match, "according to Coach Mario Kawczynski. Rappaport made a number of outstanding saves and had a chance at all on the two Chief goals."

Rappaport's play kept the Bulldogs in the game all the way. In fact, Dayton scored the game, tying the game in the third quarter.

That was not the case against Madison. The Dodgers took advantage of two penalty shot calls against Dayton, converting both for the winning margin. Todd Leonard scored the Bulldogs' only goal, tying the game in the third quarter.

"We played a poor game," Kawczynski said. "We just didn't play up to par. The offense was inconsistent and I know they can play better. There was also some inconsistency on the part of the defense."

Kawczynski was very pleased with the play of Rappaport, the goalie, plus Dave Magnolia and Rick Allan.

"Things didn't go very well for the Dayton team either. Caldwell topped the Bulldogs 2-1 and we lost the day to an easy 5-0 victory."

"We lost the game against Caldwell because of a lack of midfield play and also because we stopped playing after we were ahead," observed Coach William Blair. "That's one thing we can't do if we want to be a championship team."

Blair was impressed with the play of John Begleiter, Walter Clarke, Jarrett Pleicher, Peter Grett and Jack Zotti.

The match against Madison was not a good one for Dayton, Blair said, and the score indicated it.

The varsity and JV soccer boaters will play away games with West Orange this afternoon and Summit Tuesday.

Girl gymnasts capture first five dual matches

Dayton's girls' gymnastics team is off to a flying start...literally.

After stopping Clark, 32-35-70-75, and Westfield, 83-85-78-30, last week, Dayton's record improved to 5-0.

Coached by Howard Cushman, the annual gymnasts received superb individual performances in the two victories. Junior Paige Carter scored a 7.7 for her efforts on the balance beam, while Gina Fashion, just a freshman, managed a 7.9 in the floor exercises.

Carter was Dayton's top performer two days later against Westfield. First she scored a 7.7 on the beam, and then she followed that up with a 7.7 for the floor exercises.

The unbeaten gymnasts have a very busy week coming up, beginning with a challenge this afternoon from Kearny in Springfield. Cushman's team will then board a bus on Tuesday for a 4 p.m. date at Scotch Plains.

Cushman would like his team to continue the winning form, because key matches with Broxley and Cranford are just around the corner, followed by the Suburban Conference tournament and the Union County tourney.

Minutemen B's romp to 27-0 win over Jets

The Springfield vied the blocking and Minutemen "B" team Robert Fusco supplied the wasn't too neighborly in legwork, racing 23 yards to the Jets' 46. The Jets' defense, however, romping the visitors, 27-0.

The Minutemen wasted the extra point game Sprague jumping out on the defense in a scorebookard. Walker

Jackson took a pitch from quarterback Chris Clem change in the second half, and with the blocking. The defense, led by Brian of an Rubin and John Cole, Kevin Bowen, Kenny Lasardi, roared down the James, Anthony Boffa and sideline for a 40-yard Richard Spillane, kept score. Jackson completed a 27-yard pass to the Jets' extra point board while Fusco put the point run, giving the Minutemen, on again.

Minutemen a 7-0 lead. After John Cona in-terrupted a pass, Fusco margin on their next scored his second possession, as Tom Klich touchdown of the game on a 30-yard run up the middle reverse for a TD. Spr-die Clemson attack in for- ingfield-missed the extra point and a 27-0 point, as the lead remain- ed 14-0.

Springfield opened the way it travel to Chatham Boro played the first day.
