ROUTE 22 - UNION

1927 - 1980 - 53 YEARS OF PONTIAC LEADERSHIP!!!

CHARGE!—Dayton quarterback Mike Caricato (11) charges past a mass of fallen bodies on route to a big gain in last Sunday's 24-victory over Millburn in Springfield. Dayton, now 7-3, will travel to Caldwell for a 1:30 game Saturday afternoon. For further details of Dayton's victory and a preview of Saturday's game, see the story on page 17.

Committee splits its vote in opposition to Route 78

The Springfield Township Committee wedged another road block Tuesday night in the path of Interstate 78 through the Watchung Reservation. The committee, by a vote of 9-1, passed a resolution opposing Route 78 and asking the state Department of Transportation (DOT) to overhaul its environmental documents outlining the effects of Route 78 in Springfield and other communities.

Democrat Stanley Kaish, William Cieri and Mayor Robert Welch voted in favor of the resolution. Republican Jerry Cohen voiced a strong "no."

Berkley Heights, a community that also will be affected should the highway be completed, recently passed a similar resolution.

Township committeemen Kaish and Cieri said the reason for the opposition was based on the Final Environmental Impact Statement (FEIS).

The FEIS is a five-volume set of documents prepared by the state DOT. It outlines how the highway will affect communities in its path. Federal highway authorities are now studying the FEIS. Approval from the federal government would give the state a green light to finish the 4.5-mile gap in the highway, which cuts through the Watchung Reservation.

Cieri called information in the FEIS "outdated."

Another reason for the Democratic opposition to Route 78 is that one section of the FEIS states DOT will acquire the Houdaille Quarry in Springfield to use as a dump for rock and dirt hauled away to construction of the highway.

It is in acquisition of the quarry where the Democrat and Republican committeemen disagree.

Cohen said he, too, had planned to make the trip to Washington. However, he said, he was not invited because he does not oppose Route 78.

Cohen said completion of Route 78 is "inevitable." However, he said it is possible to finish the highway without the state taking the Houdaille Quarry, which would be sold to a private developer.

"I'd fight like hell to stop acquisition," he said.

The Route 78 resolution was prompted after representatives from Springfield and Berkeley Heights, who oppose the highway, recently attended a conference with the state highway authorities in Washington, D.C.

Kaish was spokesman for the Springfield Township Committee. Cieri also attended the Oct. 22 meeting.

Cohen said he, too, had planned to make the trip to Washington. However, he said, he was not invited because he does not oppose Route 78.

In other business, a Springfield tenant learned that the township committee has no authority to require her landlord to repay a rent overcharge.

In the case, Mayor Welch explained that, although the landlord had pleaded guilty to the overcharge, the rent leveling board and the township committee have "no legal power to direct your landlord to pay this money back to you."

Welch also read a release urging Springfield citizens to conserve water. He stated in the mandatory water rationing plan Gov. Brendan Byrne issued in September. Residents are asked to limit water usage to 50 gallons per person each day.

"The water rationing plans may have been in effect through the winter months so that reservoirs can reach normal levels before next summer," Welch said.

Control of Committee is at stake in election

Two of the five seats on the Springfield Township Council are up for grabs Nov. 4.

Democrat William Cieri and Stanley Kaish are running for re-election in their respective districts against Republican challengers Herb Horn and Ray Condon. Should Condon or Horn win, it would upset the Democratic majority on the township committee.

Springfield residents can watch a televised debate among the candidates.

Cieri and Kaish spent much of their time defending and explaining the Progressives.

Mayor Welch has run with almost no party support. That was indicated by the single general press release which he issued during the campaign—a blast at her own party chairman, Dennis Estis.

There are two other congressional candidates on the ballot—David Lofgren of Westfield, independent, and William Vanderstoep of Alpine, Libertarian.

At the top of the ticket—in the presidential race, voters will have a choice of not only President Jimmy Carter, Ronald Reagan and John Anderson, but also the usual array of minor party candidates—11 of them this year.

Four Union County races also will be decided on Tuesday—three for the Board of Freeholders and one for sheriff.

Board seeking answer on quarry 'dump' plan

Springfield Planning Board members hope a letter to the state Department of Transportation will clear up a long-debated issue—the fate of the Houdaille Quarry.

At a special meeting of the planning board last week, members voted to ask the township attorney, Edward Fanning, to write state and federal highway department officials asking, specifically, if they intend to use the quarry as a dump during completion of the 4.5-mile gap in Interstate 78 through the Watchung Reservation.

Until the board gets an answer from the state, it will not resume discussion of rezoning the quarry for a planned unit development.

Houdaille Material Inc. officials have asked the planning board to rezone the property from single-family housing to a planned unit development, which would include townhouses, garden apartments, senior citizen housing and a neighborhood shopping center. Until the board approves the zoning change, Houdaille officials can't begin the development.

In a related effort, Marcha Forman, planning board member, and William intends to build the development.

Nathan Stokes, planning board member, called the development a "scheme."

"I don't know that Houdaille has to sell this to a builder. This project is no project, if the state acquires this land," Stokes said.

Before the state can take over the quarry, federal highway officials must approve a Final Environmental Impact Statement (FEIS).

The FEIS is a lengthy set of documents outlining the environmental effects to the Watchung Reservation and neighboring areas should Route 78 be completed.

In the FEIS Summary Report the state DOT recommends two options for hauling 2,000 to 3,000 truckloads of excess rock and dirt during construction of Route 78: "hauling the excess to the inactive Houdaille Quarry, about one mile east of the Balthasar Road in Springfield, and to Fawcett Quarry, which is about one mile south of the project on New Providence Road in Watchung."

During the meeting, some board members questioned if Houdaille really

Board seeking answer on quarry 'dump' plan

They were among nine residents of areas that would be affected—should the gap in Route 78 be closed—who attended the meeting in Washington.

"I am convinced that had we not gone to Washington the highway would have been approved," Forman said.

Forman said the meeting was "encouraging because we learned that the federal officials are not rushing through with their decision."

Kaish told federal officials Springfield was opposed to Interstate Route 78.

Among his objections to completion of the highway were unneeded and unwanted truck and auto traffic, disruption of the Watchung Reservation and contamination of the water supply.

In his objection to the state's acquisition of the Houdaille Quarry, Kaish said the 160-acre quarry is "developable into a potential $100,000 tax rateable and which presently pays some $30,000 a year in taxes."

on the Suburban Cablevision channel TV33 at 5 p.m. Saturday and at 7 p.m. Monday.

At a candidates' night earlier this week at the Florence Gattippeer School, Kaish, Cieri, Horn and Condon mainly argued two issues—rent control and the completion of Interstate Route 78.

In the final weeks of the campaign the rent control issue has become a hot topic after the Springfield Property Owners Association endorsed Cieri and Kaish for re-election. Records show the association is mainly comprised of landlords.

Evergreen's tenants given 'condo' notice

Evergreen Garden Apartments in Springfield will soon become Evergreen Pines Condominiums, tenants were told last week, after the complex is converted to condominium housing.

Richard Falkin, partner of Apartment Realty Association, said the state Division of Community Affairs approved the conversion May 13.

Owners of apartment complexes who plan to convert their property to condominium or cooperative housing must register and be approved by the state department.

Falkin said Evergreen Garden tenants received a public offering statement last week, detailing the condominiums.

In the statement, the 26 two-bedroom condominiums were listed as selling for an initial price of $82,340.

Falkin said the decision to convert the apartment complex to condominium housing was based on the need for "equitable housing in Springfield."

Apartment Realty Association purchased the 1.3-acre apartment complex

Pedestrian, 63, is killed after being struck by car

A 63-year-old Union woman died last week after being struck by a car in the intersection of Morris and Caldwell avenues in Springfield.

Dorothy Mastrarrigo, 673 S. Park Terrace, was pronounced dead on arrival at Overlook Hospital in Summit after a car struck her while she was crossing Morris Avenue, police said.

The car was driven by Frederick J. Gorman, 1088 Salem Road, Union. Gorman told police he was heading east on Morris Avenue when he saw a distraught crossing the intersection. He swerved to avoid hitting the pedestrian, but failed in his attempt.

Mastrarrigo was knocked several yards on the pavement, Springfield First Aid Squad members attempted to revive the victim, but she was later pronounced dead at Overlook.

Some ways to avoid Halloween dangers

Halloween dangers can be reduced if the little ghosts and goblins know some safety tricks, according to Ellen Bloom, director of the Union County Division of Consumer Affairs, Department of Human Resources. In cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, she has some suggestions for parents.

Most Halloween accidents are related to the potential flammability of costumes, wigs and other paraphernalia. Hazards like steps, uneven pavement or obstacles which may be hard to see in the dark, or motor vehicle drivers who are unable to see children on darkened thoroughfares.

Costumes should be light-colored or bright enough to make them clearly visible to motorists on dimly-lit streets. For greater visibility in dusk or darkness, costumes may be decorated or trimmed with reflective tape which glows in the beam of a car's headlights. Reflective tape usually is available in hardware, bicycle and sporting goods stores. Tags or sticks also should be light-colored or decorated with reflective tape. In addition, children can carry flashlights.

Parents should always look for "flame-resistant" labels on costumes, masks, beads and wigs. "Flame-proof" or "flame-resistant" labels do not mean that costumes will not catch fire. They only mean that the item will resist burning. Mrs. Bloom said. Avoid flimsy materials and outfits with big, bushy sleeves or billowing skirts in hand-made costumes.

Costumes should be short enough to prevent tripping and hems should be tied securely so they will not slip over the child's eyes. Well-fitted shoes, including sneakers and safety shoes worn during school, should be worn during the night. Unless the adult accompanying them gives approval, they should not enter a house or apartment.

Finally, children should be warned to bring their collection of treats home before eating them; this will allow parents to check the items to make sure they have not been tampered with.

Parents with further questions may call the Consumer Product Safety Commission's toll-free number: 800-438-2686.

Parents group plans fund bid

Planned Parenthood of the Union County Area, with the assistance of Bridgeway House, is preparing for its annual fund-raising drive.

Planned Parenthood, based in Plainfield, is seeking funds to continue and expand its family planning services to women in this area. In 1979, the group saw more than 4,000 patients with 700 turned away because of inability to pay.

The clerical staff of Bridgeway House—an Elizabeth psychiatric rehabilitation center—stuffed, labeled and sealed envelopes for the drive. The clerical staff of Bridgeway House will be working on the envelopes for the fund drive.

Boy Scout 'Victory Hike' is scheduled for Nov. 8

"Victory Hike for Scouting" will be sponsored by the Watchung Area Council of Boy Scouts of America. Saturday, Nov. 8 (rain date Nov. 9), starting at Elizabeth and Front Streets, Elizabeth, and covering 10 miles to Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

The route of the "Victory Hike," which will last from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., will cover the area where many Revolutionary War battles and skirmishes took place. Participants completing the hike will be eligible for "Victory Hike" medals.

Proceeds from the hike will support Council Scouting activities. Participants will receive a $25 certificate, 50 cents or a dollar for each mile covered.

—First prize will be a 10-speed bicycle. Second prize is a $25 certificate. The winner will receive a plaque. Information is available from the council at 753-1976.

Program is set with hypnotist

Ruth Selligman, hypnotist, will give a demonstration at a meeting of the Stuyvesant Village Senior Citizens in the YM&YWA on Green Lane, Union, at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

The program was announced by Anne Bloom, who also reported that Dorothy Schroeder will conduct a song and dance class at a meeting of the Good Age Club in the YM&YWA at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Suggestions sought for revenue sharing

The Union County Community Development Revenue Sharing Committee has begun its annual application process for funds available under provisions of the Federal Housing and Community Development Act of 1977.

The committee is soliciting project proposals from public agencies, citizen groups and other interested parties from within the 18 municipalities participating in the program, including Kenilworth, Linden, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield and Winfield. Project submission forms are available at the offices of the municipal clerks as well as at the offices of the county Division of Planning, County Administration Building, Elizabeth. Proposals must be submitted to the county Division of Planning no later than Nov. 14.

The application for which this process is being undertaken represents the third stage of a three-year program which was developed by the committee to eliminate community development problems existing in the participating municipalities. As such, many projects to be considered for funding will be a continuation of activities which were previously funded during the first stage of this community development effort.

Projects which were proposed for funding must be targeted to meet the objectives of the federal community development legislation.

Principally benefit low and moderate income neighborhoods.

Eliminate slums and blight, and brightening influences.

Eliminate other identified community development urgent needs.

All participating municipalities have been requested to hold public sessions at which time the community development program and municipal priorities will be discussed. Dates and locations for these meetings can be obtained from local community development representatives or municipal clerks.

Froehlich cites 'management'

Union County Sheriff Ralph Froehlich, Democrat, running for reelection, said this week that he has brought "sound management techniques" to the operation of the county jail.

"Among these, he said, are separating inmates according to offense, creating risks and personal factors; creation of a law library, and a 'successful battle to provide 'round-the-clock medical care at the correction facility with the assistance of the National Institute of Corrections."

The law library was created with the assistance of federal and state grants, he said. It was "a state statutory requirement that we fulfilled," he added.

Vardalis lists transport plan

Al Vardalis, Republican candidate for Union County Sheriff, said this week that he would institute a county-wide program of picking up prisoners from local lock-ups and transporting them to the county jail.

"Many of our smaller towns have only a few officers working in the evening," he said. "Requiring two officers to transport a prisoner to Elizabeth when they could be providing service to their own community, seems a terrible waste of manpower."

Vardalis added that, as sheriff, he would "do everything possible to provide services to the taxpayer and improve the efficiency of the sheriff's office."

Laffer, a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, is majoring in business at Union College.

New law gives some special income tax edge

The president of the New Jersey Association of Counties, (NJAC), Burlington, N.J., Mayor Henry W. Metzger of Willingboro, is urging each of the 21 counties to thoroughly investigate opportunities to improve municipal government services and reduce the cost of their services.

The NJAC is working closely with director of Local Government, Barry Skoskowski of the Department of Community Affairs, who has prepared all plans and county contracts. His assistant for the deferred compensation program, Barry Skoskowski, is also working with the department of Community Affairs, who has prepared all plans and county contracts.

"I Lost 26 lbs. in 6 Weeks!"
I have tried almost every diet. With DIET CENTER, I lost 26 lbs. in 6 weeks, during the summer months when the kids were eating all those snacks, plus parties, barbecues, etc. But, I made it with the help of many Aunt & Uncle, my counselors. They guided and encouraged me every step of the way, and I lost the weight and kept it off!

Students are taught the creative process

Rutgers University psychologist Howard Gruber thinks about thinking. And one of the ways he does this is by learning about smalls.

"I'm looking at smalls because Piaget (the Swiss scientist) studied them," explains Dr. Gruber, who is writing a book, "Piaget, A Man Thinking."

Jean Piaget, who died last month at the age of 84, is known mainly for his discovery of stages in the development of children's thinking. That discovery radically altered ideas about child psychology and early education.

But Gruber points out that Piaget began his career as a biologist and returned periodically throughout his life to study a bed of smalls he seeded in a Swiss lake in the 1920s.

"You can't understand a person's thinking unless you understand what he is thinking about," says Gruber, who knew Piaget for many years and is co-editor of the authoritative anthology, "The Essential Piaget."

For Gruber, the study of thinking has been a lifelong pursuit. This concern is exemplified by his book, "Darwin on Man: A Psychological Study of Scientific Creativity," which won the Phi Beta Kappa Award for best science book of 1974, was nominated for the National Book Award and was named one of these most distinguished books of the year by the New York Times Book Review.

"I'm not a biographer," he says. "I'm interested in understanding the creative process. And I think one of the right ways to do it is to take a very long, look at one person at a time."

Gruber arrived at the Institute for Cognitive Studies, which he helped

Agoraphobics get home aid

Home treatment for persons suffering from agoraphobia—the fear of public conditions for two years, now is traveling alone, being in crowded places or leaving the safety of one's home—now is available for those living in Union or Essex counties.

The mental health facility's program is headed by Dr. Robert Kornhaber (762-1077), a clinical psychologist, and Mrs. Esther Chackles, a psychiatric individual and group treatment social worker.

Growing Older

For generations, retirement and old age have older Americans virtually the same creases, so do the prothing to many people. The blens. Retirement brings picture is changing, due in a drastic cut in income, in great part to the fact that fation makes the situation one in nine Americans lo- even worse. Despite, the day have passed their first fast many more older birthday. Look anywhere Americans are earning and you can find these some income, many are socially victims actively unsuccessful in finding working, producing, stay- ing busy, or seeking gain- with us, despite the legislation that has been to the realization that the growing old is in- escapable. There's no way around it. At the same time, we recognize that growing old is but one process in the course of life. We are babies, children, and teenagers, adults—one follows another, as sum- mer follows winter—and the major source of in- come. Continuing predic- tions that the system is in trouble is far from comfort- ing to America's older generation. The system was not designed to meet the full financial needs of retirement living, even in normal economy periods. Date is set for kidney fund's ball

The Kidney Fund of New Jersey's sixth annual Candlelight Ball will be held Saturday, Nov. 22, at the Meadows Hilton in Secaucus.

Since its founding in 1975, the Kidney Fund—an all-volunteer organization has raised $60,000. Fund contributions to improve the renal dialysis units in New Jersey hospitals. Kidney patients depend upon such life-sustaining units to cleanse their blood cells of toxic waste products. Many patients need additional assistance with transportation to treatment centers; some needy patients also require aid for essential medication.

The Kidney Fund of New Jersey strives to meet all these patient needs as well as "prevent" the cause of research.

The Candlelight Ball will begin with a cocktail hour at 7, followed by a gourmet dinner, and dancing to Marty Ames' orchestra. Donation $25.

Those interested in attending may contact co-chairperson Anne Moore at the Atlas Travel agency (233-6100) or by calling 233-0765 in the evening.

Anyone willing to place an ad in the program book should contact Annie E. Venezia at 232-4778 or write the Kidney Fund, Box 384, Westfield 07091. The deadline for all ads is Nov. 19; all contributions are tax-deductible.

All speakers closing any school

By SAM FINNELL

Springfield residents turned out for a public hearing last week to voice their concerns over the possibility that a township school may be closed to accommodate a projected decline in enrollments.

White Board of Education members listened Jan. 23 to residents' concerns. Asked the board to consider or asked the board questions about ramifications of a closed school, such as busing problems, changes in the tax rate, class size changes and problems if population increases over the next few years.

Laura Rosenbaum, board president, said that because the board can't receive state budget cap figures until the end of the month, a decision probably won't be made until sometime in January.

Dr. Fred Baruchin, superintendent of schools, in a speech that summed up the points raised in the hearing, told the audience that unless there is a "massive budget problem, it seems as though it would not be desirable to close a school for the next year."

Some of the possible effects of closing a school, he said, such as larger classes, itinerant teachers and the loss in some cases of "neighborhood" schools, are not desirable.

Baruchin said that the closing of the Raymond Chisholm School a decade ago brought educational advantages whereas the closing of a school for next year could be in response to economic concerns.

In a section of the school reorganization report titled "Alternative Strategies," which was distributed at the hearing, six options, their advantages and disadvantages, are delineated.

The first option entails maintaining the status quo, which would save $34,000 in teacher salaries, obviate the problem of pupil distribution, but leave with the cost of maintaining schools now in operation.

Options 2 and 3 both propose the Edward Walton School. Option 2 would send the fourth and fifth grades to the Walton School. Option 3 would send the fourth grade to Sandmeier and the fifth grade to Plogensee/Gardiner School. Both options would mean a savings of more than $163,000, but would increase traffic and safety problems. Also, empty space could be rented if the board insures the facility, maintains the building and the parking lot and provides heat and air conditioning. The property also could be sold.

Options 4 and 5 involve closing the James Caldwell School. Option 4 would send the kindergarten through third grade to Walton, the fourth grade to Sandmeier and all of grade five—sevenths from both Caldwell and Walton to Gardiner. Option 5 proposes to send kindergarten through third grade to Sandmeier and grades 4 and 5 to Walton. Although both choices constitute a savings of more than $180,000 and include the real-estate option, they would cause increased traffic and a distraction of about half of all elementary pupils.

The final option is to close down the Raymond Chisholm School building, which now houses the board offices and the classrooms. A projected savings of $74,000 would result and the property also could be sold or rented.

One resident who said he was new in town, asked the board why no advantages for the children were listed. Dr. Thelma Sandmeier, chairperson of the reorganization committee, replied, "The committee is ongoing."

Robert Yager, board secretary, provided the board with figures arrived at earlier that day on estimated tax savings caused by each option. On a same assessed at $100,000, the savings would range from $16 to $60 per year. Yager's report stressed, however, that preliminary figures for 1980 show that ratings have increased.

A Riverside Drive resident expressed a concern that other residents echoed throughout the evening: How will students get to school if Caldwell is closed? Mrs. Rosenbaum said they would have to be bused. Under state law, however, students living less than two miles from school don't have to be bused. If those students weren't bused, they would walk along Meisel Avenue to school. "There's no way I would let my son walk along Meisel Avenue at 7:30 a.m. in the morning," the resident said. He also mentioned the crowded buses and the inconvenience if the students were not bused, and the audience applauded.

Springfield already has enough vehicles to provide busing, Rosenbaum said. Busing costs, though, have not been factored in.

BRAVE PEOPLE—The children in Jo Ann Sheehan's first-grade class at Springfield's James Caldwell School have been participating in a social studies unit entitled, "Our Family Tree." During the study, the children trace their family backgrounds to gain an appreciation of the contributions of many different nationalities to the development of the United States. The children pictured are learning Indian pioneer life. They have earned the leaders in their classrooms by doing good deeds, both at home and school, much in the same way that Indian braves earned feathers for doing brave deeds. The primary focus throughout the unit will be on the food and customs of the various ethnic groups. The safety will close with a fasting party, during which the students will sample foods from many countries.

Town raises compensation for dance fee

By ION BRANDSDORFER

No wonder Howard Cushner is an optimist.

The first-year head coach has seen Dayton's girls' gymnastics team roll to a 21-1 dual meet record and improve from meager to medal. And he watched with pleasure last Friday evening in Millburn as the Dayton girls captured the Suburban Conference Championship for the first time with a stunning effort.

He and assistant coach Steve Penton also know that only three seniors grace Dayton's 18-girl roster.

"They'll all be back next year," Cushner observed, "except for the three seniors. We have 11 freshmen this year, most of whom come to us with some prior experience, either through local clubs or through recreation programs."

"We're fortunate that gymnastics is a popular sport," he continued. "It's also becoming more and more popular. As coaches, Steve and I try to refine the girls and help them put their routines together. They do most of the work."

The system "must be working," because Dayton is getting better and better. The results of the conference championships reflect that.

Five members of the team, which finished the season with a 14-1 dual meet record, were chosen for an all-region team. The girls were selected by Jeff Knowles, Jay Wright and Adam Wright of Springfield, and Elaine and Vicky Saracino in Wallingford.

Those efforts are also part of the reason why Cushner is an optimist about tomorrow's event: the Union County Championships at Johnson Regional in Clark, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

"I'm not surprised with our effort in the conference championships," Cushner admitted. "Let's say I'm pleased. I know we had a good shot at the 11-11, and if we perform well again, I think we have a good chance in the county meet."

To win in Clark, Cushner believes Dayton has to give efforts from all its girls, including senior Donna Alberti, junior Joanne Carzo, soph Karla Talarico, and freshmen Linda Anagninis, Linda Belenets, Lisa Schlanger, Diane Cohn, Donna Comar, Joanne Puzon, Kim Federico and Nancy Gagin.

Whatever the outcome of the county meet, Cushner still has definite goals in mind—like boosting the team's dual meet record and qualifying for the state sectionals.

The dual meet record is 9-1, which includes a 22-26-50 victory over previously-unbeaten Cranford and wins over Governor Livingston, Caldwell, Madison-Johnson Regional, Westfield, Verona, Kearny, and Brearley Regional. The only loss came in a meet at Scotch Plains.

Dayton, which includes Jodi Ruff, Gloria Cantali and Theresa Saracino as team managers, also has several dual meet victories to its credit. Tuesday afternoon at home against Elgin, and Cushner is optimistic about these challenges, too.

County championships tomorrow Carter leads Dayton to Suburban title

By ION BRANDSDORFER

Dayton powered to the team title, compiling a season-high 9-0 dual record to top second-place Madison by three points.

The difference was junior Paige Carter, who took first place in the balance beam, second in vaulting, tied for third with teammate Gina Pasternak in the uneven parallel bars, and third in the all-around competition.

Pasternak also put on an impressive performance, taking first in the floor exercises and tying Carter in the uneven parallel bars.

Cushner was also pleased with the efforts of a number of other Dayton competitors, including freshman Carol Carpenter in the uneven parallel bars, senior captain Sue Paig in the floor exercise, junior Trish Federico in the balance beam, freshman Karen Rose in all-around competition, and senior Vicky Saracino in vaulting.

Those efforts are also part of the reason why Cushner is an optimist about tomorrow's event: the Union County Championships at Johnson Regional in Clark, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

"I'm not surprised with our effort in the conference championships," Cushner admitted. "Let's say I'm pleased. I know we had a good shot at the 11-11, and if we perform well again, I think we have a good chance in the county meet."

To win in Clark, Cushner believes Dayton has to give efforts from all its girls, including senior Donna Alberti, junior Joanne Carzo, soph Karla Talarico, and freshmen Linda Anagninis, Linda Belenets, Lisa Schlanger, Diane Cohn, Donna Comar, Joanne Puzon, Kim Federico and Nancy Gagin.

Bulldogs bounce Millburn, 26-6

By ION BRANDSDORFER

There won't be any surprises waiting for Dayton when the Bulldogs head to Caldwell Saturday afternoon seeking to extend their one-game winning streak.

"Caldwell is probably one of the most physical teams in our conference, and they're usually the largest physically," explained Dayton coach Angelo Senese, who saw his 3-3 Bulldogs handle Millburn and Millburn High last week in a wind-blown 26-6 victory in Springfield. "They'll just roll up their sleeves and come out and play power football."

Senese promises to have some things up his sleeves, too. Like the all-around offensive and defensive effort that left Millburn wondering what happened.

"I did not want to play hard-core football," Senese says his Bulldogs will be ready for the challenge. After all, an impressive victory the week before can go a long way to getting a football team prepared for another tough battle.

What's more important is the way the Bulldogs beat Millburn. Not only did they have to stop Millburn's superb quarterback, Marty Horn, but they also had to figure out a way to nullify a troublesome passing wind.

"That was Senese's job, as the Dayton coach challenged Millburn coach Ed Reese to a game of strategy. And this time, at least, Senese slipped out with a victory.

"When you win, it's a coach's delight," Senese admitted. "But when you lose, it's a coach's horror."

"I did not want to play hard-core football," Senese says his Bulldogs will be ready for the challenge. After all, an impressive victory the week before can go a long way to getting a football team prepared for another tough battle.

Bulldog booters set for county tourney

By ROBERT A. BRUCKNER

Dayton's soccer team will not be in the state tournament this year, Caldwell took care of that last Thursday afternoon, frustrating the Bulldogs' hopes.

That loss nullified a 1-0 victory over New Providence two days earlier, because Dayton was unable to meet the 500 standard required by last Friday.

Dayton will get a spot in the county tournament this afternoon when the Bulldogs travel to Governor Livingston High for a 3 p.m. meeting with powerful Rahway, ranked among the state's top teams.

The Bulldogs didn't stop there, getting TD runs from Apicella (seven yards) and Smith (13 yards).

In all, Dayton piled up 294 yards on the ground. Senior fullback Kevin Fontaine was the big gun, piling up 157 yards on carries, while Apicella picked up 52 yards and Caricco scrambled for 40 more.

"The win was really a very positive one," Senese concluded. "We really put it together."

They applied the pressure in the second quarter, and it paid off. Don McKeone got the equalizer by blasting a bullet past the startled Caldwell keeper.

Caldwell turned the game around in the second half, despite several good chances for the Bulldogs. Finally, Apicella scored his second goal of the day at the 8:06 mark, while Todd Panico made it 3-1 three minutes later.

Dayton came back in the fourth quarter, as Hanigan blasted a shot home to make it 3-2.

Minutemen B's roar to 24-8 grid romp

By ION BRANDSDORFER

Springfield's Minutemen "B" football team looked like they were on a roll when they took on the Chatham T-Birds at Victory Field in Chatham.

The Minutemen wasted no time getting on the scoreboard. Two plays after winning the opening coin toss, Walter Jackson scampered 65 yards down the sideline, behind the blocking of John Apicella, Jim Rubani and Christian Polino, to give the Minutemen an early lead. John Lussner kicked the extra point, and the locals led 14-0.

On Springfield's next possession, running back Tom Kisch, on a reverse, raced 57 yards downfield for another score, and with Lussner's kick, Springfield led 21-0.

Aside from the offensive punch, Springfield also played well defensively. John Corio intercepted a pass and Brian Cole, Kevin Dolan, Dave Murray, Gary Bernstein, Frank Sandrini and Barry Salery, Mortimer, Rogers and Amy Kiehl to win, 24-8.

"I'm extremely proud of the girls," said Jones, overlaid with the perfect score of the day.

X-country teams seek conference title sweep

By ION BRANDSDORFER

It'll be the perfect ending to a perfect season if Dayton's girls' cross country team can run away with the Suburban Conference Championship Meet tomorrow afternoon at Warminster Park.

It would be quite an accomplishment if the boys' team, too, can do it again.

That it would be easy for either team, the girls have to be considered the team to beat, thanks to a perfect 13-0 record in the conference. They've won over Verona, Millburn and West Orange last week guaranteed the undefeated season for Coach William Jones' runners.

First to line up, out and rolled over Verona, 21-8. Kathy Kelly, Dana Levinson, Janice Levine and Maureen Kelly grabbed two through five, while Sherry Salery took seventh, Althea Barry placed ninth, both Mortimer and Kathy Rogers 11th, and Joelle Haughey took the 14th spot.

And against West Orange, Dayton received strong performances from Barry Salery, Mortimer, Rogers and Amy Kiehl to win, 24-8.

"I'm extremely proud of the girls," said Jones, overlaid with the perfect score of the day.

Conner's ace contest

By ION BRANDSDORFER

Herbert A. Conner of Holly Hill, Mountaineer, is eligible to win a free trip to Scotland and $1,000 as a result of scoring one hole-in-one at the Forest Hill Field Club.

Conner's ace qualified him for the sixth annual Rusty Nail Hole-in-One Sweepstakes, a national competition sponsored by the Drambuie Liqueur Company of Edinburgh, Scotland.

The winner will be announced early next year.

Hooptrypouts

Trips for the Junior and Senior Mountaineer basketball teams will be held Wednesday in the boys' gym at the P. M. Gardner School. All boys in sixth, seventh and eighth grades are invited to participate. Sixth and seventh graders are requested to report at 5:30 p.m. while eighth graders should arrive at 7:30.
