First Aid unit struggling as membership shrinks

The Springfield First Aid Squad is struggling for survival, according to Anita Barnes, publicity director.

The 32-year-old volunteer organization needs day-crew members or it might be forced to close, according to Barnes.

"Without more day-crew members, the squad might be in danger of not having enough persons to continue operating," Barnes said.

"We need as many members as possible to fully provide our services to the town," she said.

"An average crew should be three or four persons, we are down to two or less," Barnes noted.

"New members must commit 12 hours per week of being on call, with the hours arranged to work around a person's own schedule, according to Barnes.

"After a probationary period of one year, the member is tested to see if he or she is qualified to be a regular member," Barnes said.

"When the member becomes a regular member, he or she can drive the ambulance at any time," Barnes said.

The squad has its own training officer to train our new members," Barnes said.

The training officer is Martin Gornstein, certified in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) method and training to be a paramedic.

The squad provides all the equipment for its members, including a first aid kit, jackets and a jump suit.

A babysitting service for members with children is provided by senior citizens.

"The squad's current 35 members are continually trained on the latest and most up-to-date methods in rescue operations," Barnes noted.

"To become a member, Barnes said, a person must be a resident of Springfield, own a car, possess a valid driver's license and be at least 18 years old.

"When a new member comes on the squad, he is not required to do anything right away," Barnes said, noting she doesn't want to scare prospective members.

Besides being on call, members also participate in various training exercises.

"We hold monthly training drills where we are brought up-to-date on what is current and practice what we have learned," Barnes noted.

In the latest drill, held in the First Aid Squad Building last week, squad members participated in a mock oxygen emergency.

"Drills are a very important phase to test members on various emergency procedures," Barnes said.

"Mock-disaster drills are often held to test members on various emergency procedures," Barnes said.

The squad's captain is Jaclyn Hertelinger, an 18-year veteran of the squad.

"The captain is in charge of daily operation, and of organizing the crew's into different shifts," Barnes noted.

Field Officer Lt. Elizabeth Simpson is responsible for night crews, and is in command when the captain is absent.

Field Officer and Lt. Patricia Muskowitz is in charge of day crews.

The squad's president is Gloria Simpson. The vice president is Daniel Kalem, a 25-year veteran. Kalem has been president six times, last serving in 1980.

Byrne lifts water-rationing restrictions

Water-rationing restrictions have been lifted in Springfield, as well as six Union County communities served by the Commonwealth and Elizabethtown water companies.

The rationing ban limited homeowners to 50 gallons per day per person, with the utility companies issuing surcharges to customers who exceeded the quota, according to Jim Staples, spokesman for the state drought coordinating committee.

The ban was lifted Friday by Gov. Brendan T. Byrne after the state received the recommendations from the Citizens Task Force on Water Emergency, which met May 5.

According to Staples, Springfield is under a stand-by plan, and the rationing restrictions could be placed back in effect if the present state water crisis becomes more serious.

"Commonwealth's reservoir system is presently 99-percent filled, and the Task Force recommended rationing, which is controlled by the utility company and can be removed as a regulation," Staples said.

Customers of Commonwealth who have received surcharges on their bills are responsible for payment, according to Staples.

Springfield remains under a non-essential residential use ban prohibiting the washing of cars, watering of in-ground plants, bushes and flowers, according to Staples.

"Enforcement and the power to issue summonses to persons caught violating the regulations are the responsibility of the local police departments," Staples said.

In Springfield, warnings have been issued to persons caught violating the regulations, according to Springfield Police Lt. Thomas Kennedy.

"If a person is caught violating the regulations for a second offense, he is issued a summons," Kennedy said.

The penalty for persons convicted of violating the regulations is a fine of $175 and a possible jail sentence.

"Persons who purchase plants, bushes and flowers from nursery or garden shops may use potable water on them for 150 days," Staples said.

"The general water picture in New Jersey is looking a little better today, but we aren't out of the woods yet," Staples said.

Staples said rainfall in the state was 3.9 inches during April, down from the average of 5.6 inches for the month.

150 turn out to view endangered home

In an attempt to enlighten the public on the need to preserve a lake overlooking a historical home in Springfield, the members of the Parkland Preservation Fund, a citizens group, was host Saturday to an open house at the 25-year-old home.

"More than 150 persons toured the home, called Sayre Homestead, and received literature on the group's position against the proposed completion of the 5.5-mile-of-Route-78-from-Berkeley-Heights-to-Springfield, Marcell Foreman, spokeswoman for Parkland, said.

The state Department of Transportation's design plan for the highway calls for it to be constructed through the lake property, which is near the historical house, according to Foreman.

"The destruction of this lake will mean an end to the scenic beauty of the area," Foreman said.

Parkland was organized several years ago to help preserve remaining historic and open spaces, according to Elizabeth Gural of Springfield, a member of the group.

"The group believes the preservation of this lake is most important to the scenic environment which surrounds this home," Gural said.

Gural was arrested twice last month by Springfield Police for trying to prevent workers from conducting tests near her home.

Gural was charged with defiant trespassing after she stood in the way of state-hired work crews who were preparing to drill into state-owned property and take rock and dirt specimens.

Gural said she constituted the last human barrier to the completion of the road.

The Parkland group is challenging the highway's completion on the grounds that an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) used by the state to gain federal approval for the highway is obsolete.

"If the road is built, it will be at capacity in 10 years, making it obsolete by 1991," a spokeswoman for Parkland said.

"With the completion of the highway built, our taxes will go up, and it will encourage business to leave Union County, and with those business establishments gone, jobs will be lost, according to a spokeswoman for Parkland.

"We can hold back the ocean if we want," she said.

The group, along with two other citizens groups, Springfield Township and Berkeley Heights have filed a law suit seeking a federal injunction to stop the highway.

The suit, filed January 15 in Newark, asks the intervention of federal courts to halt plans for construction.

Committee to fight shooting range bill

In an attempt to restore autonomy over firearms control in Springfield, the members of the Township Committee voted Tuesday night to oppose a bill pending in the state Assembly that would have the state regulate rules and control sites for local firing ranges.

"The power of control will be taken away from local governments if this bill is allowed to pass and becomes law," Township Committeeman Joseph Montanari Jr. said.

"The bill is designed to reduce local control over issues that deal with the welfare, health and safety of Springfield residents," Montanari said.

The committee is awaiting a decision by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders on the development and use of county-owned Lenape Park in Springfield as a potential site for a firing range, according to Mayor William Cieri.

The county engineering department has drawn up conceptual site plans for the firing range which would also include a skeet and archery range, according to Cieri.

"The freeholders have postponed a meeting with township officials, which was scheduled for tomorrow, and was to have been a discussion on the entire issue of firing ranges," Cieri said.

In other business, the committee deferred, for a second time, a decision on the guilt or innocence of Springfield Patrolman Jeffrey Vreeland, charged with being negligent with his police vehicle and falsifying police reports in an incident in Springfield last year.

"With Township Committeeman William Ruocco out of town on business, it would be unfair for the committee to render a decision at this time," Cieri said.

After an administrative hearing on the charges, April 28, the Committee members said they wanted to listen to the transcripts, and weigh the evidence before making a decision.

During the hearing, Joseph Spagnoli, defense attorney for Vreeland, said the prosecution's chief witness, a 17-year-old juvenile, had an ax to grind against Vreeland, and testified only to seek revenge against the officer.

Vreeland is accused of violating police regulations by leaving his police vehicle unattended with the keys in the ignition and the engine running in the parking lot of a 7-11 Food Store on Morris Avenue.

In his testimony last month, the 17-year-old witness said he saw the police vehicle roll out of the parking lot, travel in reverse across Morris Avenue and strike a telephone pole. The vehicle, the witness said, came to rest against the wall of the Arthur Treacher's Restaurant.

If found guilty, Vreeland, a 4 1/2 year veteran of the force, could be dismissed from the department or suspended, according to Edward Fanning, Springfield Township Committee attorney.

In other business, Cieri said he expects the township's municipal swimming pool to open June 7 even though repairs to the pool are still being made.

The committee approved a $110,000 bond ordinance for repairs to the pool.

According to Cieri the original bond ordinance called for $40,000 in repairs.

"Due to an unanticipated leak in the pool, the township had to increase the bond for repairs to the pool," Cieri said.

The committee also approved a 6-percent salary increase for summer employees at the municipal swimming pool.

The committee voted to increase by $50 the Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) township liquor license fees for plenary retail liquor licenses bought from the township.

The new fee is $50, Montanari said.

In other matters, Eleanor Gural of Old Coach Road asked the committee members if there is a way to control and reduce the noise made from moped bikes and their riders.

"I have tried calling the local and state police, with both stating the area where the moped bikers ride the bikes is not their responsibility," Gural said.

39 candidates file petitions for places as district leaders

Thirty-nine Springfield residents, all currently serving as Republican or Democratic Party District leaders, filed nominating petitions last month for the June 2 Primary Election.

In Springfield's 13 GOP voting districts, 30 persons, representing one male and one female for each district, filed petitions, leaving three districts without any representation until an appointment by the municipal chairman of residents is made, according to Diane Romano, GOP municipal chairman.

GOP candidates filing in the First District are Springfield Township Committeeman William Ruocco and his wife, Jane, of 26 Joanne Way.

Springfield's Second and Third Districts were left vacant on the GOP side.

Candidates in the Fourth District are Robert Haarsgaard of 26 Dehan Road and Ely V. Mullins of 91 Forest Drive; Fifth District, Raymond C. Condon and Phyllis Condon of 36A Rose Avenue; Sixth District, Robert Blitzer and Judith Blitzer of 21 Crest Place; Seventh District, vacant; Eighth District, Township Committeeman Joseph Montanari of 41 Laurel Drive and Agnes Affitto of 363 Meisel Avenue; Ninth District, Daniel and Sandra Maulding of 450 Mountain Ave.; 10th District, David Zuraw and Frances Zuraw of 1 Arch Bridge Lane; 11th, Allan Zeller of 897 S. Springfield Ave. and Rebecca Zeal of 721 Mountain Ave.; 12th, Spencer Cannon of 69 Wentz Ave. and 13th, Martin Mannes of 71 Golf Oval and Ellen T. Gabrielle of 421 Rolling Rock Road.

In Springfield's 13 Democratic districts, 19 persons have filed petitions as district leaders, leaving two districts vacant and three others with only one candidate.

"The vacant seats will be filled at the polls with write-in candidates," Nat Stokes, Democratic municipal chairman said.

In the First District, the seats were left vacant.

In the Second, Debra Berger of 6 Berkeley Road was the only candidate to file a petition.

In the Third, the seats were left vacant.

In the Fourth, Ruth Goldstein of 12 Forest Drive was the only candidate to file a petition; Fifth, Janina Mohr of 57 Mountain Ave. and William Halpin of 217 Bryant Ave.; Sixth, Rosalie Berger of 190 Troy Drive; Seventh, Gertrude Spiegel of 1 Avon Road and Anthony

Coalition plans to meet with legislators

The Union County Coalition for Education Association is planning to meet with members of the state Legislature to find a way to save educational programs threatened by a loss of funds for the 1981-82 school year, according to Natalie Waldt, president of the Union County School Boards Association.

The association, at a meeting May 7 in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, requested the meeting next month with the county members of the state Assembly and Senate in an effort to prevent the loss of $47 million cut by Gov. Brendan Byrne from the proposed state budget.

According to Waldt, if the legislature fails to restore the funds, it might cause partial funding for state-mandated educational programs.

"Certain programs are going to suffer, and we want to exert some pressure on our legislature before a final vote on the budget bill is taken," Waldt said.

Waldt said the loss in aid would affect compensatory aid programs, vocational training, school bus transportation aid, library aid and funding for special educational programs.

"The coalition decided to wait until the state Primary Elections are over with before we schedule a meeting with the members of the Legislature," Waldt said.

The Joint Appropriations Committee voted in March to restore $64 million in state aid to local school districts.

The coalition comprises the 21 members of the Union County School Boards Association, county Council of the PTAs, Superintendents Roundtable, Principals of county secondary schools.

Waldt said the coalition is concerned over proposed federal budget cutbacks to educational programs in the state will result in the loss of programs for the handicapped, and aid to federally funded student lunch program.

President Ronald Reagan's proposed 1981-82 Federal Budget calls for a 25-percent reduction in all federally funded education programs for New Jersey, according to Leonard Baccaro, Union County schools business administrator.

"Union County will lose less than $3,330,000 in federal aid if the federal budget bill is approved by Congress, and signed into law," Baccaro said.

Daniel Schlager wins VFW essay contest

After winning a Veterans of Foreign Wars Post essay contest titled "My Commitment to My Country," Daniel Schlager, 16, of Springfield felt confident his essay was selected over 11 other entrants.

"I didn't think it was good enough to win," Schlager said.

Schlager, a junior at Dayton, is a citizen who according to his written essay, believes, "It is not a fair thing to be critical of the United States."

His essay continued: "As a citizen, I feel that I am committed to obey the laws of this country and to support any decisions which the elected leaders of this nation may make. If, to do this, and my fellow Americans do so, then the nation will be bound together behind a common cause—this will make the country stronger than ever and restore national prestige."

Schlager, along with the other essay contestants recorded their essays on tape, and were judged by three judges on content, delivery and originality, according to Frank Kelly, chairman of the contest.

Judges for the contest included Union County Superior Court Judge John

Biography of Supreme Court judge on shelf

Following are the reviews of the recently received books at the Springfield Public Library.

THE CONTROVERSIAL JUDGE
By James F. Simon

This is not only the story of one of our most controversial Supreme Court Justices—William O. Douglas—but also an account of the behind-the-scenes personalities and activities of Supreme Court members. Simon expresses his doubts about the wisdom of a system which entrusts decisions about controversial questions of policy to unelected life-long members of the court.

LOYALTY OR DISENTHRALMENT
By Alan E. Westin

Whistle-blowers are those employees who try to prevent the corporations for which they work from engaging in unethical, illegal, dangerous, or unprofitable conduct. They may try to do this by reporting to the government or the media, but if they are unsuccessful, they make the charge public by reporting to the government or the media. It is this latter action that is the focus of the book.

"Classic Indian Cooking" by Julie Sahni

Indian food represents the historical development, religious beliefs, cultural practices, and geographical attributes of its people. The fragrances and flavors of their aromatic herbs and spices are the unifying factors of their cuisine.

"Far East Cuisine"
by Elizabeth Andoh

In this carefully detailed procedure, Andoh describes the special equipment required for Japanese cooking with American substitutes, and cooking methods. The latter are primarily grilling, steaming, braising and simmering, deep frying and dry roasting. Soups, rice, and noodles are accessories to Japanese meals.

Hot hitting highlights baseball action

It was an eventful week in Springfield and Mountaineer Little League baseball action, as lots of hitting and some strong pitching efforts highlighted the action.

In Springfield, the Elks picked up a 15-10 victory over Crestmont Savings, taking an early 4-3 lead and pulling away in the late innings. Craig Parker picked up the victory, outdueling B.J. DeRonde, while Brian Cole led the Elks with three hits and five runs in right field. Scott Summers drilled a pair of hits for the winners. Pacing Crestmont were Andy Sadin, who reeled base five times in five at bats, Todd Wasserman with two singles, a home run and three RBIs and Mark Libowitz with two singles and a double.

The Elks weren't as fortunate in their next test, dropping an 11-3 decision to a powerful Keys Martin team and pitcher Paul Nadeau. Nadeau gave up three quick runs in the first inning but didn't allow a run the rest of the way. Cole and Chris Wicham picked up big hits for the Elks.

Mike Gallaro belted a three-run homer to back Ken Garrigolo's pitching and lead Carter Bell to a 9-5 victory over the Elks.

Christian Petino and Darren Marcantuno combined for a two-hitter as Mazon Sports slipped by Keys Martin 2-0. Mitch Friedberg and Ian Scheinman ripped two hits apiece and Jason Westholtz drove in a run with a triple for the winners.

Dan Klinger pitched a no-hitter for seven innings and Mike Graziano gave up just two hits and fanned 13 in a brilliant pitchers' duel between the PIRA and the Lions Club League. The game ended in a 2-2 tie.

Ward and Co. scored once in the final inning to pull out an 11-1 tie with the Kiwanis Club. David Spillane, Barry Teitelbaum, Mike Mancuso and Jim Nadeau were the top hitters.

In Mountaineer, the Braves broke loose for an eight-run first inning and coasted to a 15-1 win over the Twins. Kevin Eversly and Eric Incandella shared hurling honors, with Eversly contributing four hits, and Billy Quandt, Louis Federico and Jeff Stoffer adding two apiece. The Twins received good all-around play from Scott Krumholz and David Nelson.

The Orioles scored by the Vikings, 2-1, with David Blackwell breezing to the win. Blackwell helped his own cause with a two-run homer and Tom Genkinger drove in four runs with a double and triple. Mike Rinaldo starred at second base for the Orioles. Kevin Rogers with a long triple and Jeff Debbie with several sparkling plays at short were outstanding for the Vikings.

The Twins pushed across five runs in their last at-bat to outlast the Orioles, 11-10, as Mark Wance lined a two-run single up the middle with two out, scoring Greg Lopez and Kirk Daniele with the tying and winning runs. Scott Crabtree pitched a strong stint in relief to gain credit for the win. Scott Krumholz played a fine game at first base. David Kadish and Joe Hurley had two hits each for the Orioles and Don Duzczera played a fine game at first base. David Cook, Sean Stevens and Peter Sempeppe were the big hitters for the Astros.

Three teams unbeaten in local softball action

The Mohawks continued to lead the Junior Division of the Mountaineer Softball League with a 4-0 record. The Comanches also remained undefeated at 3-0. In the Senior Division, the Tigers maintained their first place position with a 4-0 record.

COMANCHES 5, SHAWNEES 3
Colleen Delaney was the winning pitcher for the Comanches, receiving strong support in the field from shortstop Laraine Harrison and rover Chris Costello. Kelly Rafter, Meg McCarthy and Julie Terry-Messner sparked the offense. Pitchers Julie Kuntop, Chris Matejek, Jean Perrotta and Janet Wilson all contributed to the Shawnee defensive effort, while Kim Swanson and Monica Schweizer were the top hitters.

NAVYJOS 17, APACHES 4
Leigh Hanigan's grand slam home run sparked the Navyjos. Robin Silver also homered, and Chris Sevak added a double. Apache Chris Ann Venis hit a double.

Gaglio cracks mark but girls place 6th

BRUCKNER Laura Clark also enjoyed the competition, taking fourth in the 100 meters and a surprising fifth in the 200.

As for cross country, teammates Kathy Kelly, Dayton coach Bill Jones and Janis Levine, Kelly was not expecting his placed third in the 400 meter sprint and Levine took fifth in the 1,500.

Dayton also received a fifth place finish from Beth Mortimer, Linda Heckstein, Gaglio and Kelly.

"The local girls were even more impressive in the high and long jumps," said Jones, "Carol Hay and Donna Cammarata tied for third place in the high jump competition, while Clarke placed fourth in the long jump. Elinor Sadin finished third in the javelin."

In all, Dayton picked up 19 points. Caldwell won easily, piling up 59 points, plenty to beat Madison. Summit, West Providence and West Orange also finished in the top six.

A sixth place finish would be just fine with Jones when the girls take part in Saturday's Union County championships in Plainfield.

Softball league debuts with one-run decisions

Action in the Springfield Adult Softball League couldn't have been much closer than last week.

How close was it?

It was so close that three games were decided by one run, two were determined by two, and one game, the matchup between Video Source and Custom Floors, ended in a 6-6 tie.

In the season opener, Ehrhardt TV slipped past Springfield Taxi, 11-4, as the winners took full advantage of their 11 hits. Bill Comstock, James Ehrhardt and John M. Ehrhardt each banged out two hits apiece, while Tom Ehrhardt made two outstanding defensive plays and singled home a run during the winners' biggest rally. Taxi was led by Ben DiPalma with a pair of hits.

Video Source and Custom Floors played to a 6-6 deadlock in a game which will be completed at a later date.

Pete's Trucking scored five times in the first inning and held on to defeat Knights of Columbus, 8-0. Jeff Bland, pitching for K-of-C, settled down after the first inning, and gave up just two runs the rest of the way.

Phil Lambert cracked four hits and Joe Pepe, Jr. added three more as Mazon Sports trounced Master Blaster.

SNAPPER MOWERS CAN EASILY REMOVE AND BAG THATCH BEFORE IT STRANGLES YOUR LAWN.

The optional Thatcherizer quickly attaches to SNAPPER riding mowers and self-propelled walk mowers. The spring-loaded tines loosen the tightly-intervened dead plant material which prevents your lawn from getting the air, food and water necessary for healthy growth. When used with a rear-mounted grass catcher or Bag-N-Wagon, thatch is bagged as it is removed and tedious raking is eliminated. It's another exclusive from SNAPPER. SNAPPER mowers are worth more because they do more and save you time and competitive with other quality mowers.

Disc & Data

W.H. Hammer's
Pick Of The LPs—"Too Cold" by Gold Fire (Capitol ST-1218).

Gold Fire. The name itself conjures images of powerful forces. And powerful forces are at work on Gold Fire's debut LP, the forces of cool jazz streams and blistering funk structures. Even the band is an unusual blend of forces.

Gold Fire was ignited when Ray Towns, a musician and music instructor, overheard the band in which his son was drumming and decided on the spot to infuse them with the wealth of knowledge and experience. He lent his knowledge and experience to the band, which he has since nurtured with charts and arrangements, which were received with the glee of the eager to learn.

Group was leader of the town on a full-time basis, touring with them and playing percussion. Nationwide with following, with Gold Fire opening for top performers Peabo Bryson, Ashford and Beyly, Raydio, Rufus Wainwright, and others. But their first headline performance was in Japan, where the group's attractive appearance and energetic sound rendered their instant favorites. They have since toured extensively in Japan.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the door and cost $5 for adults and $4 for senior citizens and students. Additional information may be obtained by calling 332-2970.

Puppet play is therapy for quiet pre-schoolers

Puppets aren't just for entertainment anymore. They can be used to help nursery school age children talk, according to Prof. James Howe, a member of the fine arts department of Kean College, Union.

Howe taught three- to five-year-old youngsters how to construct puppets from bits and pieces of art materials, articles found in the home or school yard. Children were encouraged to make puppets act out a story their teacher told them, an incident in their lives or an imagined story.

"The child, who may be unwilling or unable to communicate with others, transfers his thoughts, emotions and ideas to the puppet," Howe said. "The puppet says the things the child wants to say."

The program was first used by Kathleen Miranda, now director of the Trenton Children's Center, Newark.
