Bulldogs breeze into sectional finale

By RON BRANDSDORFER

When the Bulldog coaches took a peek at the scouting report of the Warren Hills-North Warren football game, a certain gleam must have appeared in their eyes.

And when Warren Hills walked onto the field Saturday against Dayton's Bulldogs in the same defensive formations that had been charted in those scouting reports, quarterback Dan Cirielli flashed a wide grin.

"We assessed how Warren Hills played their defense to the split and tight sides," explained Bulldog coach Angelo Senese. "So all week we worked with our quarterbacks to watch for a certain defensive look and to run our play to that side."

"Warren Hills came out in those defensive looks," he added, "and we just took it from there."

At least three times Cirielli saw exactly what he was looking for, and he sprinted 65, 34 and 30 yards for touchdowns as them Dayton Dawgs crushed favored Warren Hills, 29-12, in the North Jersey, Section II, Group II semifinals.

It didn't take Cirielli long to make the Bulldog coaching staff look very, very good. On the Bulldogs' second possession and faced with a first and 10 situation on the Dayton 35, Cirielli faked a handoff to fullback Ron Martignetti, zipped around the left side of the line and took off down the sidelines for a 65-yard touchdown.

"The outside linebacker was playing the pitch," explained Cirielli, who used his halfback as a decoy on all three TD's. "And their tackle and middle linebacker were keying on our halfbacks, Joe Roesser and John Apicella. Once I cut inside and outside I was gone. I saw the endzone all the way, and I knew I was going to score."

The Bulldogs added two more points on their patented trick play. Cirielli set up for the extra-point kick, but Dan Ambrose, scooped in, took the snap and tossed the ball across field to Joe Roesser, who walked in behind a wall of Bulldog blockers for two more points.

"I do what I want on punt returns," explained Hudgins, whose talents have earned Senese's confidence. "I saw the Warren Hills player coming at me, but I just put a quick move on him. I expected the blocker downfield. I got those blockers, cut right and then I was gone."

Cirielli considered Hudgins' hoses to be the turning point in the football game.

"Once I scored and they scored, we were down a little," Cirielli said. "But when Kyle scored on the punt return, we knew we had them."

The Bulldogs turned on the defense, stopping the Blue Streaks cold on their next possession and getting the football back on the 29. Fullback Pat Esemplare, who picked up 163 yards and a week before against Spotswood to earn plenty of playing time against Warren Hills, picked up five yards on a run up the middle. And on the next play, Cirielli faked a handoff to Esemplare, cut right, faked the pitch and cruised 24 yards for another TD. His point after kick made it a 22-0 football game.

"Once we had the two-touchdown cushion, we really started to play tough defense," explained linebacker Jack Parent, the team captain. "We knew Warren Hills could get some points back at any time."

The Blue Streaks almost did, but the Dawgs were just too darn tough. The Streaks put together a long drive that brought the ball to the Dawg five for the Caldwell School PTA members Monday discussed further plans to stop the closing of that school—and debated options linked to possibility that their children will be bused across town to the Walton and Sandmeier schools.

George Gomes, a former Board of Education member, said the legal committee of the PTA is investigating a possible violation of the state School Law at the Nov. 4 Board of Education meeting.

He said two points were in question: whether there was ample public notice given of the meeting, at which the board voted, 5 to 4, to close Caldwell, and whether the board had notified and invited if the meeting was supposed to be a conference.

According to Gomes, the meeting was advertised as a conference, and the board should have debated the issue and held the vote until an agenda meeting.

He added, "On this basis the vote may be rescinded," although he explained it may end up just a nuisance tactic and the board would probably hand down an identical vote to the first one.

The legal committee has considered other alternatives, including a petition, which according to Gomes would be too costly, consuming, and legal action, which may be necessary.

"We're pursuing all of the legal options available," by Dec. 14 we will know if we're going or not going in that direction.

Molly Peterson, head of the committee, explained, "It's not our best interest to get too deep into what we're doing right now."

During an audience portion of the meeting an $18,000 bus leasing figure cited Nov. 4 by Dr. Fred Baruchin, superintendent of schools, was challenged by several members as "too low" and unsubstantiated.

Several audience members said they had checked with transportation companies and were quoted prices ranging from $22,000 to $24,000.

Three audience members said they called the Squire Transportation Co., where Baruchin said he obtained his price quotes. Two said they were told the owner that Baruchin never obtained the price quote there, and the third said he was told Baruchin had checked with the company on the leasing cost. An audience debate ensued over who, if anyone, knew whether those figures were correct or had ever been received from that company.

Also, several people charged the company leases only vans for transporting handicapped children.

She also said, "The principals of the three schools plan to work out the distribution," but most of the busing questions will remain unanswered until police and school officials determine traffic conditions, bus routes and the location of the children.

Loddy said Baruchin recommended that children be bused if they live more than one mile from their school, and the average time spent on a bus one way would be 20 minutes.

Sandmeier PTA on Dec. 3. Some said the meeting would see the association had conceded the school would be closed.

Loddy countered that the vote not to attend the Dec. 3 meeting didn't mean the executive committee couldn't meet in a private session with Baruchin.

"That process (the school closing) has already begun...we want to have input into the decisions made about the children."

According to Loddy, Baruchin said Caldwell would "absolutely not" be closed before September 1982.

She also said, "The principals of the three schools plan to work out the busing questions will remain unanswered until police and school officials determine traffic conditions, bus routes and the location of the children."

A cease and desist order handed down last week by the N.J. Dept. of Community Affairs has put a hold on the sale of any Troy Village apartments for conversion to condominiums.

The defendant in the order, East Coast Condo Tech Inc., which is attempting to convert the apartment complex to condominiums, said it planned to close Monday on the sale of the Troy Village units. That sale would switch title of the complex from the current owner, Troy Ltd., to East Coast.

However, the mortgage on the property is still open and third-quarter taxes have been paid by landlord David Margolis on only 117 of the 340 Troy Village units, according to spokesmen for the Troy Village Tenants Association.

Leonard Zucker, an attorney for tenants association, said a clause in the complex prospectus stipulates the landlord must pay the existing mortgage before a sale can be made. Zucker, who also represents five tenants who, he said, plan to buy condominiums, added that the outstanding mortgage on the complex stands at $4 million, to be paid over the next four years.

He said the landlord has "poised" some type of security with the title company, Commonwealth Land Title Insurance Company, to protect the title company enough to cover the mortgage," which means the present owners do not have to pay off the mortgage on the closing date.

An open mortgage running for four years could cause problems for condominium dwellers or prospective buyers, said Zucker.

He explained the cease and desist order was given because buyers were unsure that the mortgage would be left open and they were given only one week's notice that the sale would be made. He said this created a situation where there was no time for anyone to examine conditions linked to the closing.

Margolis said he notified all lawyers involved in the sale on Oct. 5, which he said was ample time to examine the closing.

Zucker said the notice was insufficient. "I feel it was done in an underhanded manner."

Margolis added that the DCA informed him that Zucker had made the complaint, but that none of the other lawyers involved with the case had said the time between the notification and the closing was insufficient.

Zucker explained that if more time had been given for buyers to examine the sale and its effect on them, the order may have been unnecessary.

The order charged that "a delay in issuance of a cease and desist order will cause irreparable harm to the public interest."

It also said that East Coast had "dispositively altered the method of disposing of blanket encumbrances" on the closing of the individual apartments, without amending the mortgage clause in the prospectus.

Everyone thought the mortgage would be paid off at the closing," said Zucker.

He said because the mortgage will not be closed, the title company may honor up only to the purchase price on the condominiums. In that case tenants who want to buy condominiums may be told by the title company that the mortgage will be paid off, but they will be refunded their money instead of the property.

The outstanding mortgage may, according to Zucker, "affect the ability to resell" and there is no insurance that the title company will still be in business before the mortgage is closed.

Zucker said he will now ask for a letter of credit to "see if any conditions are attached" that may affect the buyers. The letter will be an amount that represents the amount owed on the mortgage less the security put up by the title company, East Coast.

Zucker also explained East Coast should seek an amendment to the prospectus if the mortgage is to remain open. He said buyers may find it difficult to borrow money for the units unless the title on the property is good, which will be affected by the mortgage.

Margolis said that the amendment to the prospectus should have been brought to the DCA yesterday and added that it should be approved within two weeks.

Dennis Warford, a spokesman for the DCA, explained even if the amendment is approved, the earliest the cease and desist order would lose effect would be Dec. 2. He added if the amendment is turned down, it's left to East Coast what action to take next.

Zucker said no matter what the decision is, "the closing is off for November at least." If the amendment is passed, he explained, a notice will be sent to all buyers, and they will have the right to rescind on the sale.

"The condominium buyers should know about it and have the intelligent right to make a decision," Zucker said. He added that they must be given enough time to make that decision.

Zucker also said if Margolis doesn't close on Monday he's in default, but "he's not giving us what we're entitled to."

"If he defaults, any buyer can hold him responsible."

It will now be determined how long the cease and desist order will remain in force and what the conditions of the sale are, according to Zucker.

College honors Dolan with posthumous award

The late Evelyn Aronow Dolan, a former resident who died last April, was honored posthumously with Upsilon College's Distinguished Alumna Award at ceremonies held Nov. 21 at the college in East Orange.

Dolan, who lived in Bordenstown at the time of her death, served for several years as executive secretary to the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. She represented New Jersey at the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals, and earlier this year was appointed state director of the International Year of Disabled Persons. She was a leader in the fight for the passage of New Jersey legislation that requires buildings to be free of architectural barriers to the handicapped.

The Distinguished Alumna Award is presented to Upsilon graduates who bring recognition and prestige to the college. A 1969 graduate of the college, Dolan fought for many causes on behalf of the "handicapped," including rehabilitation, transportation, employment, housing and counseling, and had many articles published on these subjects.

David L. Scott Jr., president of the Upsilon Alumni Association, presented the award to Evelyn's mother, Jeannette Aronow, a township resident.

Police Chief George E. Parsell has advised motorists to be alert to the danger of leaves piled in the streets. He has reminded motorists that small children who may play in the leaves usually are not visible to the driver.

Parsell also stated that vehicles never should be parked over piles of leaves. The exhaust system can ignite the leaves and set the automobile on fire. Fires also have been started by vandals intentionally throwing matches or cigarettes into the leaves.

Parsell urged all parents to warn their children of the dangers of playing in leaves.

Students try hands at poetry

SPRINGFIELD—Students at the Florence Gardner School used their literary talents to create poetry for an assignment given by their teacher, Margaret Genl. The following pieces are examples of the work she received.

FIREPLACE
The fire is bright as light,
It keeps me warm at night,
The dawn of a new day,
How I love to sit and think,
When I'm in front of the fireplace.

The sky is lighting up,
The dawn of a new day,

Leaves are lonely on the green grass.

Your Library: Ruth St. Denis, the mother of modern dance

Following are the reviews of the recently popular books for fall reading at the Springfield Library.

By ROSE P. SIMON
FOUNDER OF MODERN DANCE
"Divine Dance"
by Suzanne Shelton

One must look to the subject of this biography—Ruth St. Denis—to discover the Mother of Modern Dance. Her own mother was the interpretive dance, which freed the body from the limited, traditional movements of the past. Her students (and those of Ted Shawn, whom she married in 1914) developed her technique more radically. Eventually, the most famous of these—Martha Graham, Doris Humphrey, Charles Weidman—broke away to organize their own schools.

Ruth St. Denis used dance to merge her search for "inner unity and harmony"—the self that is divine. Her life began in a New Jersey farm (1862), where she had a limited amount of schooling. She went on to a private career as a vaudeville dancer in New York, then on the road. From David Belasco, she learned much about the theater. Later, in Europe, she was exposed to "the influence of Holmanstahl, Count Kessler, Max Reinhardt, becoming a celebrity. Oriental mysticism remained a lifelong interest, many of her creations indicating this.

Her marriage to Ted Shawn stimulated the weakening interest in her work. He was her match in ambition, narcissist and idealist. They worked together intermittently, founding the Denishawn School, which became a national cultural institution in the 20s. The marriage was ruined because of differences in temperament, professional rivalry and harshness of Denishawn's life. After an inactive period (she taught, lectured) she returned to dance in New York and Jacob's Pillow, "remaining radiant, timeless. She died in 1968.

BOYHOOD IN EASTGERMANY
"Twelve Years"

After Joel's American mother moved to Mexico (having divorced her author's husband, James Agee) she met and married Bobo Uhl, a German exile, also a writer. In 1948 the family (now the everyday affairs, leading to work, children in the kitchen, outdoor excursions (biking, camping), having pets, music and arts, making things, and just being) is recounted in this novel. Landmark Smoker Study:

Merit Takes Taste Honors.

Former higher tar smokers acclaim MERIT "Best-tasting low tar I've tried."

The most rigorous MERIT research to date has just been completed.

Result: MERIT smokers confirm taste a major factor in completing their successful switch from higher tar cigarettes.

MERIT Taste Sparks Switch.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers are glad they switched from higher tar cigarettes. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Beats Toughest Competitors.

In the second part of this study, new tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared with higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Museum offers activities on 'Thanksgiving Friday'

Tomorrow, "Thanksgiving Friday," young people who visit the Newark Museum can enjoy a fun-filled day of free activities ranging from the opening of a special exhibit for children to films, planetarium shows and science workshops.

Camels, dolphins and a Navajo rain chant are among the subjects of the seven films featured in the third program of "SUPERFLASHSHOW" to be screened at 1:30 and 3 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday, preceded both days by a 12:30 p.m. talk about the animals in the Mini-Zoo.

The Science Department will present a "Mineral Identification Workshop" at 1 p.m., an "Electricity Demonstration" at 2 p.m., and a "Mineral Identification Box" at 3 p.m.

DMV shifts renewals to ease March load

The Division of Motor Vehicles has announced a program designed to reduce the traditionally long lines at motor vehicle agencies and inspection stations during March by rescheduling drivers license and passenger car registration renewals due to expire in March 1982.

The plan will remove an estimated 300,000 drivers license renewals in March to December. These drivers will, in effect, renew by mail between January and March 1982 for a period of 33 months (until December 1984).

A similar number of drivers will do the same thing in March 1983 for renewal in December 1985.

Approximately 300,000 passenger car registrations will be removed from March and rescheduled for renewal over an 11-month period beginning in September 1982. All renewal fees will be prorated on a monthly basis.

The program leaves the month of March almost exclusively to 865,000 commercial vehicle registrations which comprise the bulk of the March transactions at the agencies.

While some immediate relief can be expected in March 1982, the major benefit will occur in 1983 and beyond as the new schedule redistributes the one-year registration and two-year drivers license renewals to equalize workloads at agencies, inspection stations and headquarters.

BALLANTINE HOUSE depicts old Christmas

The lavish and festive spirit of a Victorian Christmas has been recreated in the Ballantine House restoration of the dining room in Newark Museum. The five first-floor rooms of the 19th Century mansion are replete with evergreen garlands, holly, poinsettias and holiday ornaments and decorations of every description.

The Renaissance style home of the Ballantine Brewery family was built in 1866 at the height of Victorian opulence. Like every aspect of Victorian life, holidays were treated as a high art, and Christmas was the ultimate celebration.

"Visitors to the restoration enter through the grand hallway, where evergreen garlands festoon the wide staircase. The hall fireplace, like the fireplaces in each of the other rooms, is decorated with poinsettias, garlands and silken-wrapped fruits.

Gallery talks about Christmas in the Ballantine House are scheduled on Sundays Dec. 20 and 27, at 2:30 p.m. Central Avenue, Administration is free.

DENTURES - HANDLE WITH CARE

When is the most dangerous time in the life of dentures (sometimes called false teeth, but not by dentists)? The most dangerous period is when your dentures are out of your mouth! Dentures should be handled carefully when they're out of your mouth. Dropping them even a few inches into a washbowl can break them. Hold your dentures over a towel or a basin half-filled with water. Then, should they slip from your hand, there will be a cushion to help prevent damage.

When dentures are out of your mouth for any length of time, they should be placed in water or a cleansing solution. If they become dry, they can warp. Dentures should never be placed in hot water. Hot water can warp the plastic.

If your denture does break, do not try to put it together yourself. Solvents found in some glues can damage denture plastics and irritate your mouth. It is almost impossible to precisely align broken parts. If you try, the denture will fit poorly and be useless or, even worse, harmful. Go directly to your dentist for repair.

Social Security fraud convictions reported

The Social Security Administration, which considers fraud against the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program, has stepped up its efforts to curtail fraud and abuse in the federal benefit program, according to John H. McCutcheon, Social Security district manager in Elizabeth.

Six New Jersey residents were convicted and sentenced in the first half of 1981 for violations of the SSI laws, he said. "As a result, $18,838.28 in fraudulently received payments are being recovered under court orders and additional amounts will be recovered under administrative procedures.

Seven New Jerseyans have also been convicted and sentenced for violating parts of the Social Security Act resulting in the recovery of approximately $18,838.28. McCutcheon said that the following information regarding individual cases was being released to warn others who might consider fraud against the program:

Darrell Dotier, 24, of 215 S. Second St., Elizabeth, was charged with making a false statement and concealing the fact that he was fully employed, thereby obtaining unauthorized Supplemental Security Income benefit payments as a disabled person totaling approximately $1,355. He was sentenced to one year probation and ordered to make restitution of his overpayment.

Dorothy Bernard, 47, of 70½ Hanford St., Newark, was charged with making a false statement and concealing the fact that she was receiving Social Security widow's insurance payments, thereby obtaining unauthorized Supplemental Security Income disability benefit payments totaling approximately $3,744.27.

Dora Bellis, 46, of 77 St. Paul Ave., Newark, was charged with making a false statement and concealing the fact that she was fully employed, thereby obtaining unauthorized Supplemental Security Income benefit payments as a disabled person totaling approximately $1,355. Recycling drive to help fund Computer printout Campus. The Center is day, Wednesday and paper and old newspaper add up to dollars for Union during class time Thursday nights from 6:30 College's MATS (Mr. Alphonse Thela), a national high school and junior college mathematics club. The funds will go into mathematics scholarship fund for a sophomore at the college.

The "paper drive," which was begun several weeks ago, was initiated because of the large number of mathematics students taking computer science. One of them had previously worked for a large company whose computer center dumped hundreds of pounds of paper in the trash every night. Realizing that money was literally "going up in smoke," the enterprising young man began salvaging the print-out paper and selling it.

Since word spread that Union College students were willing to take old newspapers off their hands, faculty and staff at Union College have been adding daily to the growing piles of paper in the Math Center.

Individuals who would like to contribute may bring their papers to the Math Center located in the SSI rolls of those who would defraud the system," McCutcheon said.

Superdawgs!

Underdogs? No more. Make that Superdawgs! The Dayton Bulldogs proved that to Warren Hills on the road Saturday, getting three Dan Cirelli touchdowns and another from Kyle Hudgins in a sparkling 39-13 victory over the Blue Streaks. The victory boosted them Dawgs into the sectional finale against Hackensack, a 14-9 winner over Clifford Scott. The Bulldogs did it with deft-fesse, as shown by Chuck Bell's sack of Warren Hills quarterback Scott Rhinehart, and they did it with togetherness and confidence, as shown by team statistician Valery Ragonesse's post-game message to Bulldog coach Angelo Senese. The way it looks right now, the Bulldogs will probably head to Hackensack for the sectional championship, but a date at The Meadows is still a remote possibility.

Two more chances for Dayton Dawgs

Hot dogs for 7-2 Bulldogs after big win

By RON BRANDSDORFER
Hot dogs and cans of soda were hardly fitting a football team that had just won its seventh straight football game and moved another step closer to a state championship. But then again, it would have been tough—very tough indeed—to smuggle a bottle of champagne past Bulldog coach Angelo Senese.

Senese sat at the entrance to a joyous Bulldog locker room, munching a hot dog and winding down after the emotional victory.

"We have 150 hot dogs," Senese belted to his players, who frantically tried to form a line to the post-game goodies. "Just relax. Everybody will get 'em."

A cynic remarked that the Bulldogs had more trouble forming the post-game line than during Warren Hills, and Senese smiled. His thoughts weren't on hot dogs.

"All of this still hasn't sunk in yet," said Senese. "I'll take me about three hours to really wind down and appreciate what we've done."

But no matter, because Senese's players had little difficulty expressing their emotions.

"The reason why we're winning is because we believe in ourselves, our coaches and our program," bubbled quarterback Dan Cirelli, who scored touchdowns of 65, 34 and 30 yards and drilled three extra points for a 21-point day. "We're together like one big family."

"All the pressure was getting into this game," he continued. "We had to win it in a row. We knew if we lost to Spotswood last week, what would we have to show? And in this game, we knew we had come too far to lose. It's in the books now."

While Cirelli and Company took care of the offensive end, linebacker Jack Parent sparked a defense which has allowed just one under eight points per game this season.

"This feels so great," beamed Parent, who intercepted a fourth quarter pass and returned it 30 yards. "This was the best defense we played all year. We really worked hard."

"We weren't really favored in this game," he added, "but we all knew we could do it."

Being the underdog—underdawg?—is hardly a new phenomenon for the Bulldogs, who have just started getting some respect after a long wait. Even when they broke out of a two-game losing streak to open the season and began pulling victory after victory together, many doubters were waiting for the eventual fall.

But that hasn't happened.

"We're good," Parent countered. "We think we can play with almost anybody."

And after seven straight victories, including the all-important stunner over Warren Hills, even the doubters are silent.

Senese hoping to prep Dawgs for Turkey Day

By RON BRANDSDORFER
Forget the glamour of a Thanksgiving Day football game. All the glitter came a tumblin' down on Saturday when Dayton's Bulldogs romped past Warren Hills and into the sectional finals.

On Thanksgiving Day, the Bulldogs will reluctantly put on their hard hats, punch the timeclock, go to work, go home and enjoy a Turkey Day dinner, and then begin thinking about Hackensack and the North Jersey, Section II, Group II championship.

"I've never gotten all caught up in the Thanksgiving Day football game," admitted Bulldog coach Angelo Senese in a wisping and wily Dayton locker room following the big playoff victory. "To me it's just another football game."

Because it's Thanksgiving Day and because usually it's the last game of the season, it carries some mystique.

But this time around, there is little the Bulldogs have to prove on T-day when they head to West Orange for a 10:30 a.m. game. In fact, the Bulldogs are simply hoping they can get through the game healthy and then get down to serious business—their quest for a state Group II championship.

"We are going to be cautious," Senese explained. "We are going out to play and win the football game, but we're going to have to make some game-day evaluations as to how we're going to approach it personnel-wise."

In other words, Senese and his assistants are tempted to give their second-stringers a good long look. After all, the starters have had just a few days to recover from Saturday's bumps and bruises.

But the Bulldogs do indeed want to win the football game.

"We have a seven-game winning streak going and we haven't beaten West Orange in three years," said Senese, whose Bulldogs dropped a 187-0 decision last Friday. "The key to the game will be how fast we can recuperate our emotions. We have to fear that we might look past the West Orange game to the state playoffs, but West Orange isn't a team to be taken lightly."

For one thing, the Cowboys have posted a 5-3 record in 1981 and have been ranked as one of Essex County's strongest teams all season long. And a victory over West Orange would quiet the doubters who've attributed the Bulldogs' sudden success to the move out of the Jough Suburban Conference.

But the game can hardly be considered a fair test. The Cowboys will enter the football game with a decided advantage in preparation, thanks to a week and a half of workouts. The Bulldogs, on the other hand, will put on the pads just one prior to the game.

And the Cowboys also have a distinct emotional edge. A victory over the Bulldogs, a state tournament team, would make their season a big, big success.

And the Cowboys can let loose with their entire offensive and defensive attack, since they don't have any next week to worry about.

All of that gives Senese an uneasy feeling.

"Through the state or through the coaches' associations," he began, "we're going to have to do something about these Thanksgiving Day games. The game will be how fast we can recuperate our emotions. We have to fear that we might look past the West Orange game to the state playoffs, but West Orange isn't a team to be taken lightly."

With a state tournament showdown just a week and a half after that!

Gymnasts place ninth in state

By RON BRANDSDORFER
Next year came very, very early for Dayton's gymnasts. Just moments after they put together a ninth place finish in the state all-Groups meet on Sunday at Middletown South High School, head coach Howard Cushnir was saying the 1982 edition.

"As far as next year," said Cushnir, who was thrilled with the girls' performances in the state meet, "that starts today. I'm eager to go already. The girls have to work hard in the off-season."

Not that the Dayton gymnasts need too much improvement. They did close with a 12.2 dual meet record, and they placed second in the Union County championships, second in the sectional meet and ninth in the state.

"All in all, I would say I'm very pleased," Cushnir said. "To say we're the ninth best team in the state of New Jersey is quite an accomplishment."

In finishing ninth in the state meet, the girls scored a whopping 99.60, their best total of the season.

"We just can't get that 100," Cushnir said with a smile.

The girls did edge out Randolph, the sectional champ, Cherry Hill East and exercises, Carol Carpenter on the uneven parallel bars and Joanna Fusco in vaulting. Anagnos finished with a personal best, an 8.15, in the floor exercises, while Fusco managed an 8.0 in vaulting.

The state championship meet was the farewell meet for Carter and Federico, the senior co-captains, but the rest of the competitors will be back next season.

Cushnir and assistant Larry Garino were also pleased with the performance of Dayton's 4-1 junior varsity team. Expected to play key roles on the varsity next season are Rosanne Caiazzo, Jeanne Cirelli, Carmella Carpenter, Lorraine Macias, Karen Wnek, Jenny Karady, Lisa Spatucci, Kim Federico and Joyce Glasen.

finishing as Dayton's top all-around performer.

"All three girls posted good all-around scores," Cushnir said. "I thought it was a fitting way for Paige to go out. She was solid on the beam and very good overall."

Also competing in the championship meet were senior Trish Ferdinon on the balance beam, Linda Anagnos in floor exercises, Carol Carpenter on the uneven parallel bars and Joanna Fusco in vaulting. Anagnos finished with a personal best, an 8.15, in the floor exercises, while Fusco managed an 8.0 in vaulting.

The Mountinside Jet middleweights beat Berkeley Heights, 24-9, for their seventh win of the year.

Mountinside's offense was strong throughout the game as Steve Souders, David Martignetti and Duane Connell scored touchdowns. The offensive line, led by Mike Wood, Joe Castelo, Louis Caiola, Jeff Stoffer, Mark Vance, Matt Garippo, Bart Barre, Blair Milcke and John Sarata, constantly opened large holes for the backs.

Defensively, the Jets recorded their seventh shutout. Leading the defensive charge were Stoffer, Mike Barisonek, Kevin Rogers, Caiola, Wood, Enzo Tomlin, Todd Lischka, Connell, Tom Jackson, Souders, Louis Federico, Castelo and Martignetti.

The Jets, with a 7-1 record, will close their season Sunday when they play the Springfield Minutemen.

With a state tournament showdown just a week and a half after that!

The Floor Hockey League, for youth in grades 1-4, will hold its opening instructional clinics on Dec. 5 at the Y.

A COMPLETE REFERENCE OF FINE RESTAURANTS

Old Mansion offers that rare elegance

By JIM LEAHY

I hate to be accused of being an "old fuddy-duddy," but there comes a time in every writer's life when he must speak out and tell it as it is. This is such a time, because I've found a restaurant that brings back memories of the days when you wouldn't be caught dead taking your favorite girl to a restaurant in a pair of blue jeans. To the days when the gentleman opened the car door for his date and brought flowers for her to pin on her best Saturday night dress. Yes, people readers, to the days when gentlemen wanted their date to have the very best in cuisine and table service in ambiance and elegance, and, at the same time, be ever mindful of the cost of such a venture.

Where, you ask, can such a place still be found? Well, I answer, it's all there at the super-elegant Mansion, Elizabeth, 917 N. Broad St. on the Hillside border, known as Elizabethtown. It's all there and much more; but before I get into that part of the story, let me give you a little of its history.

Formerly known as the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, it was incorporated in 1896 and a club house was erected and formally opened on its present site on March 3, 1896.

On the night of April 7, 1925, the Club House was destroyed by fire. It was reconstructed and re-opened on Oct. 12, 1925. It was the regular dining spot for the elite of the area and many a governor made it "a must" to stop on occasion to honor with the wealth of that period. It also was the site of many debutante balls and other high social events of the day. It was the place to see and be seen. Since Aug. 30, 1981, under the new ownership of—and thanks to the direct involvement of—Jo Ann Festa, it's happening all over again!

One only has to drive up the winding driveway leading to the restaurant, and one knows one is in for a special treat. The Old Colonial structure immediately reminds one of a fine plantation manor from the Old South. When you enter the front door, into a huge foyer, you are greeted by an array of green potted plants and rich silk floral arrangements. A pleasant hostess meets you just inside the foyer to have the very best in cuisine and table service in ambiance and elegance, and, at the same time, be ever mindful of the cost of such a venture.

Old Mansion offers that rare elegance

Now for the cuisine! The Old Mansion has in its employ Chef Arthur Paccoti, who graduated from the Culinary Institute and trained at Pegasus in the Meadowlands. He, by the way, also was responsible for the decor of The Old Mansion. His assistant, Charles Pierra, also is an expert in the culinary arts and graduated from the Culinary Institute.

The food served is continental, with emphasis on French and Italian. There are such delights as: for starters, a soup known as Tortellini en Brodo. It consists of tiny pasta stuffed with meat in a steaming chicken broth. Next you can either dig into a delightful Caesar salad or Arrugula (in season), or meat featuring such wonderful dishes as Fettuccini Alfredo, Tortellini Panna or Linguini with clam sauce.

The entire part of the menu is right out of Gourmet Magazine. It features such exotic dishes as Supreme De Volaille En Croute, a breast of chicken, stuffed with forcemeat, covered with pastry, baked and served with Sauce Maitre. If that doesn't make your mouth water, how about Piccata Milanese, made from tender scallops of veal dipped in a batter of eggs and Parmesan cheese, and sautéed in tomato sauce. It is served with garnish of Tortellini en Brodo. You can get this in truffles. I could go on and on, for each item is different and exciting and is cooked to the specifications of a king.

I have written many a column before, but if this one doesn't arouse your curiosity enough for you to go there, the first chance you get, then I'm going to hang up my spatula and apron—not to mention my pen and leave the writing to the more deserving. Happy Thanksgiving!

A concert planned
The Colonial Symphony will present the second of four concerts for the 1981-82 season on Saturday, Dec. 9 at 8:30 p.m. at the Madison Junior School, Madison Center, Drew University.

Veal's studies began at age 3
By MELV HAMMER
Charles Veal's musical history began when, at the tender age of three, he took up the violin in his New Orleans home. Under the auspices of his mother, a pianist, and stepfather, who did much of the playing and arranging for the young boy, Veal became quite a proficient prodigy. "I was never forced to play," he recalls. "I was drawn to the violin. I practiced eight hours a day. It was like a natural thing to do like brushing teeth."

Israeli set at Wilkins
Natan Brand, an Israeli pianist, will present a concert at 8:30 p.m. in the Wilkins Theater, Kean College of New Jersey, Union. It will be the second of the classical concert series co-sponsored by the Kean College Student Organization, Evening Student Council, and Graduate Student Council.

Jewish film
"Image Before My Eyes" is a documentary about Jewish life in Poland from the 18th century to the 1930s. It will be shown Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. of Metropolitan New Jersey, 70 Northfield Ave., West Orange.

Dolara Zajic to sing Dec. 6
Soprano Dolara Zajic will be guest soloist at the Plainfield Symphony Orchestra's second concert of the season for the symphony Dec. 6 at 8 p.m. at the YWCA building, 232 East Fourth St., Plainfield.

Shows at Ritz set to Dec. 11
The Ritz Theater, 1148 East Jersey St., Elizabeth, will stage Nov. 25 at 8 p.m. shows now through Dec. 11.

"Nutcracker" to be staged
New Jersey Ballet's presentation of Tchaikovsky's full-length ballet, "Nutcracker," will open its annual season Dec. 26 at Montclair High School. There will be nine performances from Dec. 26 through Dec. 31. Funding has been made available by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and corporate, foundation and private contributions. Additional information can be obtained by calling 736-5940.

N.J. programs offers fuel cost aid for poor

Human Services Commissioner Timothy Carden said today that applications for Home Energy Assistance, a program designed to help the poor meet rising energy costs, are available beginning today.

Applications for the federally-funded program are available at county welfare agencies or board of social services, Carden said. He urged all eligible low-income people to participate in the program.

"During this time of rampant inflation and federal reductions in other services for poor people, it is important that those low-income people who are eligible for this benefit take advantage of this program so that they are not using money for food, transportation or shelter to pay for rising utility costs," Carden said.

The program, which will be administered by the department's Division of Public Welfare, also assists people during energy-related emergencies such as providing payments for essential furnace repairs, said G. Thomas Ritt, director of the division. Ritt also pointed out that the program provides assistance for cooling during the summer for those low-income persons whose life may be threatened by the heat. Medical proof is required to receive money for cooling.

Carden said the department is still uncertain as to the exact amount of money the federal government will grant. New Jersey for the program He noted that the department received about $63 million for this program last year and he said he expected a similar amount to be appropriated to the state this year. "With this uncertainty, we have not been able to determine the exact amount individual energy payments will be," Ritt said.

Eligibility for the program is based on the total monthly household income. The number of people in the household and the responsibility for the payment of their heating costs. Most recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) will not have to file applications because they will receive automatic payments, Ritt said.

He noted that most low-income people will apply at their county welfare agency, but explained that special arrangements have been made to allow senior citizens and the disabled to complete their applications at home and mail them directly to the county agency. Extra applications also will be available for the elderly at county offices on aging. People who have their heating cost included in their rent are also eligible to apply.

Under the income guidelines and individual cannot have more than $49 a month in gross income and still receive benefits, Ritt said. Other maximum income levels are: $53 for a family of two; $77 for a family of three; $99 for a family of four; $124 for a family of five; and $168 for a family of six.

"Some low-income people will not receive benefits because of their special living arrangements, Ritt said. He explained that people who live in public housing or receive a direct housing subsidy are not eligible. He also noted that households that consist entirely of students who are tax dependents of another household and people living in nursing homes are ineligible.

MORE SEEKING

Applications for asylum by aliens already in the United States have been relatively few in recent years.

In fiscal 1978, for instance, fewer than 3,000 such applications were received, but 19,486 were received in fiscal 1980, and in fiscal 1981 there will probably be 60,000, not including about 140,000 filed by Cubans and Haitians.

10,000 turn out to see festival; entries at all-time high of 266

The "Fest" held off, and the crowds came—estimated 10,000 of them—to see a record-breaking number of exhibits at the eighth annual Festival on the Green in Frisberg Park Saturday. Though the early hours were cloudy and chilly, the day soon warmed up. "The weather was beautiful, and that always sets the tone for the day," said Kathleen Dean, chairwoman for the outdoor arts and crafts event.

Since creating that first set, he has produced hundreds of pieces that include toy soldiers, cars, boats, cartoon and movie characters and real life people. He even has a collection of Jackie Gleason and Ronald Reagan, the latter made in 1958.

NEVER TOO OLD—Art Rachel inspects one of the hundreds of figures he has collected from across the country. Most of the figures were made by the Marx toy company in the 1950's and 60's. He says they were his main collection.
