Now is the time to bring back your old flame

Believe it or not, the best time for you to make sure your gas heater will be ready when the fall weather suddenly turns cool is right now.

Waiting could cost you money. After Labor Day and up until October 31, there's a service charge if PSExG has to turn on your unit. Also, you may experience delays in receiving service because of the increased workload during this time period. Of course, if you're a new customer there's no charge for an initial gas turn on and inspection.

Checking your gas heating unit is easy and will take you only a lew minutes. Simply follow the checklist.

If your heater doesn't come on move the thermostat back to its lowest point and call PSExG with your specific problem. You'll find the number on your bill and in the telephone directory.

Baumgartner stops Montville, 6-2

Six is the Magic Number for Post 228

Just because they know they have to win six straight games to stay alive in the state's American Legion baseball ournament, don't think Springfield Post 228 is hanging on the brink of elimination. On the contrary, Coach Harry Weinerman and Co. kind of like the position they're in. "As one of our players said after we lost to Saddle Brook and then came back to win our next two," Weinerman related, "eight seemed like a lot, but six victories don't seem like so many." So six is suddenly Post 228's Magic Number. Six more victories in a row and Springfield is the 1982 New Jersey American Legion champion. One loss and the long summer

The players are obviously aware of the situation 'This team has never lost a game it has had to win, Weinerman said proudly...and confidently. "And now they have to win every one. The kids believe they can win the state championship. I don't have to motivate or pump them

But a 4-0 loss to Saddle Brook followed, as Bob Sudo no-hit the Legion and drove in all four runs with a pair of two-run triples down the right field line. And those were the only hits allowed by Dayton trio Jeff Kopyta, Doug Torborg and Larry Zavodny "Sudo was the best pitcher we've seen all year;" said

Weinerman of the Glassboro State College ace. "He didn't have an overpowering fastball, but he had a great curve And he didn't throw a pitch above the waist all night.' That loss really put the pressure on Post 228 in the doubleelimination tourney. One more loss and the season would be

That made the task what I might call impossible, Weinerman said. We knew we would have to win eight straight games to win the state title " "We got together," he continued, "and I told the kids to search deep, stay together and believe in themselves. And if they did that, I felt we still could be in the state finals." So far, Weinerman's prediction looks pretty good. Post 228 bounced back from the loss to Saddle Brook by pounding with a two-run double. Baumgartner's RBI single Post 228 felt awfully confident entering Tuesday night's showdown with Montville, since John Baumgartner (15-0-) in Legion play) was on the mound. And as usual, Baumgar per came through with a victory, allowing just four hits, fanning nine and fighting his way through nine walks. "It was just a great win for us," Weinerman said, "It was an additional step in the direction we want to go-the state their pitching talents. Springfield-broke open a 1-1 game over, as dependable David Crane-who; as Springfield's only catcher, has been behind the plate 19 straight games-pounded a key triple and Pat Exemplare had a 3-4

Center fielder Tom Ard enjoyed a big, big day when Post 228 needed it most. The Seton Hall Prep star pounded a triple, double and single and drove in three runs. Also driving in runs were Baumgartner, Dave Roche and Vin Cocchia. The big inning was the fifth, as Springfield broke open a tight 2/2 ballgame. Cocchia singled in a run and Ard follow

"We just did a lot of good, good things in that ballgame

Most important, perhaps, was Post 228's laid-back approach to the big game.

"After the game, the Montville coach came over to me and said that before the game, he knew his team was in trouble," said Weinerman, whose Legion team took part in the state tourney a year-ago. "He saw our kids calmly

Which is a big advantage for Post 228 as it goes down the final stretch. Weather permitting, Springfield was slated to play a game last night against either Wayne or Bloomfield and was slated to come back with either Saddle Brook or Paterson tonight. A victory this evening would mean a berth in the Final Four and a chance to pitch Baumgartner again on Saturday. The finals would be Sunday, and Post 228 would need two straight victories against an undefeated foe to claim the state title.
