Board ousts its president

Board stresses unity Adler sees 'deal' made

By VICKI VREZLAND
In a rapid series of events at its meeting June 13, the Springfield Board of Education removed its president and attorney, appointed new individuals to the positions, and accepted the resignation of the ousted president.

The resolution to remove Adler and attorney, Warren Kaps, and to appoint Yale Greenspoon to take Kaps' place, were introduced by board member Pietro Pelino. Adler cast the nine dissenting vote among the nine members on the three resolutions.

Once these resolutions were approved, Adler, who was elected to the board in 1977, read his letter of resignation as a board member to the public. Adler was elected president to the board nine weeks ago in a 6-2 vote.

George Gomes, who served as president of the board last year when the board majority consisted of members backed by C.A.U.S.E., was nominated for that position again by Ken Faigenbaum, and elected by a seven vote and an abstention by Stuart Applebaum.

The near impeachment-like proceeding came as a shock to both Adler and Kaps. Adler said Faigenbaum and board member Dr. Richard Luciani, who were both elected to the board in 1977, read his letter of resignation in April, came to their home the day before the meeting to inform her that the board would be ousting her from the presidency. Other board members had received copies of Pelino's motions one or two days prior to the meeting.

The resolution to remove Adler made 11 allegations about her performance as board president. Some of the charges were that she "unduly and improperly" limited discussion and questions by board members, "created an environment of hostility," failed to adequately communicate with board members, and "used her office to harass individual members of the Springfield Board of Education into disrepair in the community." (Adler's response to the allegations appear in accompanying story)

"They said I was adding disruption to the meetings," Adler said and called the board's pre-planned actions, "a deal." She implied the so-called "deal" was the retention of Greenspoon as attorney, for Gomes' appointment as president.

"I cannot be part of a board that is so full of animosity," Kaps commented. "The funny thing is, the majority had been silent about their feelings until tonight."

Greenspoon, a partner in a Maplewood law firm and attorney for the Springfield Board of Adjustment, remarked, "It is unfortunate that any time two sides agree on something, that people have to buzz. We're asking for a couple of months to see if this works. Everyone up here, including me, has gone through a lot. Some tolerance is called for."

Superintendent Fred Baruchin commented, "I wasn't involved in the board's actions and I would therefore have nothing to say at this time."

Residents and the remaining eight male board members, commented on the evening's actions. Connie Boreca, president of the Sandmeier School PTA, said, "I don't have a personal opinion of anyone on the board, but I feel that it is important to see what was done tonight, sticks."

Debbie Clache, vice president of the Sandmeier PTA, agreed with Boreca's comment.

"I hope it will bring the town together," said Karen Savin, a Sandmeier parent.

Marilyn DeTone, president of the Caldwell School PTA, commented, "I think unity has finally been brought to the board and the town and I hope they all work together for the children in the town, cause that's what it's all about."

Sylvia Wasserman of Little Brook Road added board members have intended to improve the district's affirmative Action employment program, "when you couldn't even get along with the one woman on the board." Wasserman also said that she thought it was unusual that no board members questioned Pelino's lengthy resolutions.

"This is the most serious decision the board has made up to date. If you can't make these kinds of decisions unilaterally, without each other's input, it leaves a question in my mind how other issues will be solved," Wasserman said.

Wasserman noted that for a board that claimed to be "unified," the members were not united. "A B.L.E. and C.A.U.S.E. backed candidates. Gomes asked the board members to change their seats at future meetings to give a visible semblance of 'unity'."

In response to when the eight members decided to make the change in its leadership, Luciani stated, "We have been talking with each other for a while on the goals we all have for the board, and this was the only direction we could go in to bring unity to the board."

"Mrs. Adler was a good board member, but not a good board president," said Applebaum. "We didn't like her coming off from talking. We cannot keep sitting up here and fighting and arguing. This board has not done a damn thing in two months. We need to get on with it. Let's get together. The people have to trust us as board members to do the best thing," he said.

Pelino stated, "We simply moved her (Adler) out of the presidency. We had no intention of removing her as a board member. That was her own decision."

"I believe the vote recalling Mrs. Adler as president was regrettable, but it was necessary. It is my personal opinion that her contribution and service to this community cannot be questioned by anyone," said Gomes, who will be completing the year in his second term as president.

Gomes said he was "knowledgeable about the possibilities of actions that were discussed by individual members of the board, and was willing to consider serving as president on the consideration that the board would truly try to work together in resolving any future problems."

"I think the board is finally going to work together. I think it is obvious we are unified. This board right now has the potential of being the most unified Springfield has ever had," said Lou Monaco.

Joseph Pepe commented, "I feel it is an unfortunate situation, but there is no way the meetings could have continued the way they have for the past two months. I'm going to do my damndest to see that this works. As a resident of Springfield for 40 years, I would like to see people start talking in one another again."

Lee Eisen said, "The actions were difficult to make and parts of them were unpleasant, but they were done with the hope that the board could move forward to solve the town's problems. At least for the children. Some people have attached ulterior motives to our actions, but in my mind, that is not true. Faigenbaum commented, "There suddenly was an instability on the board to move forward. I don't want to place it on one person. I tried to sit back and look at the whole picture and see what we were not able to overcome."

"I think what happened tonight was that we reached a breaking point. I talked to other board members and we felt that we were at a point where there was no light at the end. It was unfortunate, but it was a necessary action," he continued.

"If the right people up here now don't work their hardest, we are going to be open to a lot of chaos from the community. We made our beds, and now we have to live in them. I honestly saw no alternative," Faigenbaum said.

The board authorized Dr. Leonard DiStefano, board secretary and business administrator, to post the vacancy on the board and accept applications for two weeks. The board will then interview applicants.

The new board member must be approved by the board on a 5-1 majority vote. For such an action to occur, at least one board member will have to cross the sides of the equally divided 4-4 board.

If a new board member is not appointed within 30 days, one will be appointed by the county superior court.

Adler sees 'deal' made

Adler, involving him and Seymour Margulies, a former board attorney, Greenspoon had represented board members Ken Faigenbaum and Stuart Applebaum in their claims in Superior Court, filed by the board of education, while Margulies had represented Adler. The claims were recently dismissed.

According to Greenspoon, Adler tried to "blackmail" them by offering board attorney positions in return for the dismissal of their fees. Greenspoon said he went along with all of Adler's propositions, but eventually Margulies eliminated himself as a candidate.

"All I was interested in doing was having the opportunity for the town to see me as an attorney," Greenspoon said. He said he believed the board election campaign had altered his reputation, and he wanted to "let the people see me in a different light. I think they saw me as a political madman."

Greenspoon said he was, "very upset" when the board appointed Kaps as attorney, but finally decided to give up the idea of getting the position. However, in the meantime, according to Greenspoon, "it became clear that Barbara wasn't able to handle the position and board members were upset with Kaps. I was a fair compromise."

"This has not been a campaign since last October, for I was thinking of running as a board member myself," Greenspoon said.

He also commented that he didn't send a "road" up to Adler at the victory party, and had no control over the situation if he did. "I find that extremely insulting. I wish I had one-eighth of the energy that I have. These are all professional people involved," Greenspoon said.

The removal resolution charged that Adler had contributed to an unacceptable quantum of disorderliness at school board meetings, "unduly and improperly limited discussions by board members," "caused great embarrassment to the members of the Springfield Board of Education," and "caused a lawsuit to be filed against her, which lawsuit complains of libel and slander."

Adler said she felt the time restrictions she imposed on board members were "reasonable." As president, she conducted meetings by imposing five-minute time limits on each member's questions or comments, allowing two (continued on page 2)

Board seeks new member

Due to the resignation of Barbara Adler, the Springfield Board of Education seeks to fill a vacancy on the board for a nine-month term of office.

Candidates for the non-salaried position must be at least 18 years old, be able to read and write, have been a township resident for at least two years and not be involved in a business which has a current contract with the school district.

Qualified citizens must apply by June 29 at the board's office at 1000 Garden Ave., Garden State School. More information is available by calling 774-0020.

Residents sound off on I-78's noise plans

By VICKI VREZLAND
Whether the state Department of Transportation goes ahead with its proposed sound barrier project designed to reduce traffic noise from Route 78 in Springfield will depend on the reaction of residents, according to Theodore Fischer, Northeast regional design engineer for the DOT.

"The noise barriers will be constructed only if the people want them to be," Fischer said Tuesday night at a DOT meeting with about 75 residents in Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield.

The DOT presented sketches and graphs of the proposed $4 million dollar sound barriers along Interstate 78, and a 15-minute audio display of noise levels with and without the barriers.

The 4 to 4-inch thick concrete-reinforced barriers have been proposed for a 4,500-foot stretch of the highway from Simpson Road to Morris Avenue, to Balsara Way and along a part of Route 24. According to Fischer, the lowest barrier in Springfield is projected at 7 feet, with the highest reaching 24 feet. Fischer said the height of the walls is determined by the terrain.

The DOT has also planned for landscaping projects along the earthen-colored walls. "In areas where we are limited," Fischer said, "we plan to plant climbing vines that would cover the walls in a few years."

The Springfield project, which will be a percent federally funded and 10 percent state funded, came from an authorization from Washington to look into the problems Springfield township had with interstate highways, Fischer said.

The federal highway noise administrative noise abatement criteria provides that where noise levels approach or exceed 65 decibels, the DOT must take measures to reduce the noise.

The existing noise levels in the area range from a low of 54 decibels to a high of 68. The project's noise levels following the construction of the barriers for the whole area will be 65 decibels or below, according to officials. If noise levels had the noise would be in the range of 60 to 74.5 decibels.

Some of the streets in Springfield expected to be affected are:

Residents sound off on I-78's noise plans

noise in addition to those listed above are Lyons Place, Salter Street, and Profit and Bryant avenues.

Mr. and Mrs. G.A. Lindentzer of Lyons Place, who will have a barrier built in their backyard if the project gets the green light, commented that they are in favor of the project, "even if it goes 20 feet high."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stefan of Lyons Place, added they were also, "all in favor."

Eleanor Gural of Springfield, commented, "The noise abatement is nothing like the serenity we had before. We're glad for any small token of lessening the noise, but it's nothing like we have had."

Fischer said that it will be up to the Springfield Township Committee to pass a resolution within the next 20 days to inform the DOT of the public's sentiment.

Fischer said that when the Garden State Parkway was widened from three to four lanes, the DOT had proposed 12 noise barriers for homes bordering the parkway. After getting public input, it was agreed that only five barriers would be constructed.

"The problem is you just can't construct them for the people who want them," Fischer said, "because the noise would go right around the walls." He added that the majority of comments from residents have been in favor of the construction of the barriers.

He pointed out that one of the disadvantages of the walls, in addition to the "eyesore" some consider them to be, is the blockage of sunlight into a yard.

Springfield Township Committee member Stanley Katsch, who attended the presentation, along with Committeeman William Rocco and Mayor Philip Feinstein, said the governing body is preparing to pass a resolution in favor of the barriers, unless residents come forward with extreme objections to the project.

Residents who were unable to attend the meeting may write to the DOT to express their opinions about the proposal. Comments should be sent to the N.J. Department of Transportation, 2 Wynon Johnson, Office of Community Involvement, 405 Parkway Ave., Trenton 08625, to the attention of Frank Lewis.

No word yet given on Grisi's successor

It may be some time before a candidate is named to assume a role as anything other than acting Union County manager, according to Union County Freeholder Board Chairman Charlotte DeFilippo.

After a special meeting of the freeholders Tuesday, DeFilippo said that it is still "premature" to estimate when a replacement will be named for former manager Arthur Grisi, who resigned June 8 under charges he attempted to arrange a meeting with a reputed organized crime figure. He is on leave until Oct. 15, when his resignation becomes effective.

Deputy County Manager Louis J. Coletti has assumed the post in an acting capacity since Grisi's resignation.

DeFilippo would say only that the board has not yet discussed a replacement and "as soon as the board meets I'll have a better time frame."

In the meantime, sources have named several possible successors to the post, including former Union Township Administrator Lou Giacosa, Highway Administrator Joseph Hartnett, West Orange Administrator Marvin Corwick of Clark and Coletti.

Giacosa also was in the running in 1982 when Grisi was appointed to replace George Albanese, who left to become state commissioner of human services. He was edged out by a single vote before board members joined to make the Grisi appointment unanimous.

While the board ponders the appointment, the Union County Association of Office is conducting an investigation into the charge that Grisi attempted to arrange a Newark Airport at the Sheraton Inn at Newark Airport in the presence of a state police officer by state police as the reported head of the DeCavalante crime family. Grisi is business agent for Local 204 of the International Brotherhood of Laborers and Hodcarriers.

Pending the outcome of that probe, Coletti has ordered that Purchasing Director Susan A. Belluscio and Public Works Director Peter Lembo be placed on paid leave. Both county department heads are suspected of participating in the alleged attempt to arrange a meeting with Grisi. Grisi reportedly asked Lembo, in Belluscio's presence, to arrange a meeting with Grisi.

Prior to his resignation, Grisi requested that an investigation be conducted which he said will show no wrong was committed and "the integrity of this office has not been compromised in any way."

Town firemen aid in fight of blaze in Union

SPRINGFIELD—The Springfield Fire Department responded to a three-alarm blaze in Union Center last week that took firefighters four hours to contain in 56 degree heat.

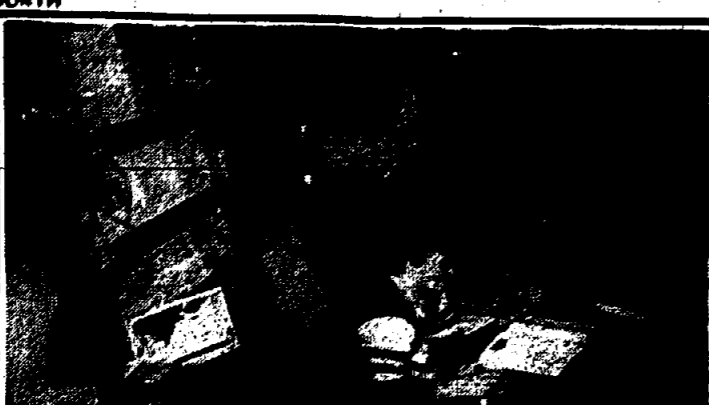

The fire originally broke out about 9:30 a.m. on June 13 in Maxine's, a women's and children's clothing store. It was thought to be under control about 10:20 a.m., but then the fire broke through a fire wall and destroyed three other stores.

Fire Chief Ronald Johnson said the Springfield squad was dispatched by Union County Mutual Aid at 10:15 a.m. for back-up. They arrived at Union headquarters at 10:25 a.m. and were sent to the scene 10 minutes later.

Chief Johnson said that five of the firemen on duty were treated for heat exhaustion. Two hours later, a second crew arrived to relieve the firemen. A total of 17 Springfield paid and volunteer firemen responded to the fire. He added that other firemen were "dropping like flies" because they had no other fire personnel to relieve them.

County budget facts

KENILWORTH — The recently adopted Union County 1984 budget results in an increase cost of $75 per head assessed at $20,000 for residents of Kenilworth. The new budget represented a 10 percent increase over last year and includes allocations for 50 new county positions.

Deer killed in town

SPRINGFIELD—A deer was killed in a freak accident on the Morris Turnpike at about 7:15 a.m. June 18, according to a county road official.

Police said the deer jumped through a window of a Millburn shop, and then crossed the highway and ran into a car. The driver, who was driving at the time, was not injured.

When police arrived at the scene and discovered three windows broken, they suspected a burglary. Instead, they found the deer bleeding to death.

Severe winds, heavy rains and lightning on the evening of June 12, caused brief scattered power outages in town and small fires, the Fire Department reported. The department responded to a number of branches that were struck by lightning and fell onto power lines. Johnson said there were no serious injuries.

The Road Department also responded to fallen tree branches on Highway 22 and Reservoir Avenue.

Two persons were arrested at Bamberger's, Route 22 West, June 12 after they allegedly attempted to steal two video tape recorders from the store, police said.

The pair, identified by police as Jerry Bogar, 24, of Vanhook, and Karyn Johnson, 22, of Union, were charged with attempted criminal theft and conspiracy to commit a theft. Bogar was also charged with possession of less than 75 grams of marijuana.

The arrest was made by Patrolman Peter Davis, Jeffrey Vreeland, and George Hillard.

A Springfield man was arrested June 12 at a convenience store on Mountain Avenue after apparently being involved in a fight with a minor, police said.

The man, John Trenton, 16, along with a Mountainide youth, was charged with disorderly conduct by Patrolman Jeffrey Vreeland.

A computer printer was reported stolen from Summit Plains and Flowers, Route 22, at mid-morning on June 12.

Brunch planned for Hardwick

Friends of Assemblyman Chuck Hardwick (R-21st District) will hold their seventh annual "Shanogue brunch" Sunday at 11 A.M. at the Sheraton Hotel, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The pair, identified by police as Jerry Bogar, 24, of Vanhook, and Karyn Johnson, 22, of Union, were charged with attempted criminal theft and conspiracy to commit a theft. Bogar was also charged with possession of less than 75 grams of marijuana.

Drivers fined in town court

SPRINGFIELD—A Plainfield man was fined $500 for driving while his license was revoked by Judge Malcolm S. Holend in Municipal Court Monday.

The man, Pedro Diaz, was sentenced to an additional 90-day revocation.

Robert Willis, 27, of East Orange, pleaded guilty to being an unlicensed driver and was fined $200.

Earl Jones, 41, of Newark, was fined a total of $225 in penalties and received a six-month revocation when he pleaded guilty to operating an uninsured and unregistered vehicle.

Center named for Vitale

The Union County Regional Board of Education dedicated the David Breyer High School Instructional Media Center in the name of recently retired board member Charles Vitale at its meeting Tuesday.

Vitale retired in April after 12 years of participation on the board, eight of which he served as president. The center was dedicated to the Charles E. Vitale Media Center.

In other business, Breyer held a board meeting on Tuesday. The board agreed to submit an application for $9,820 in federal Chapter 1 funds and for $71,000 in state compensatory education funds. If granted, these funds would contribute to high school Basic Skills Improvement Programs aimed at remediation and support services for students needing such training.

N.J. Chamber taps Apruzzese director

SPRINGFIELD—Vincent J. Apruzzese, president of Apruzzese & McDevitt, P.C., Springfield, was selected to be a three-year term on the board of directors of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce.

The election results were announced at the chamber's recent board of directors meeting in New Brunswick.

Walton ruling is upheld

SPRINGFIELD—A decision by an administrative law judge to deny a suit against the school board of the Springfield Board of Education was upheld by the state education commissioner.

In a June 11 decision, state Education Commissioner Earl E. Wilson said the school board's actions were not arbitrary and capricious.

After careful examination of the documents in evidence and review of the testimony of witnesses, Wilson said he concluded that "the action of the board in deciding to sell Walton School was done in a proper manner."

Center named for Vitale

The board also voted to allocate $482,128 for the purchase of computer equipment at the four regional high schools. Allocations included $48,700 for hardware and software programs for Basic Skills Improvement systems at Breyer and Jonathan Dayton, the purchase of 24 Apple IIe computers for academic departments and 16 Apple Starline Systems for instructional media centers.

The board also resolved to readvertise for bids for the supplying of air conditioning units at David Breyer High School. No bids were received from the first advertisement of this proposal.

In addition, the board passed a resolution approving the participation of staff personnel in summer workshops in the following areas: social studies, business education, algebra 2, computer science, curriculum writing and a workshop for the newly hired teacher Charles Vitale at its meeting Tuesday.

Condo case is put off to July

SPRINGFIELD—An application before the Zoning Board of Adjustment from the Greenbriar Service Cooperation for a variance to construct a seven-story condominium complex at Wilson and Shanogue roads, has been postponed until July 12.

Yale Greenpoint, board attorney, said the postponement was granted because the board had not received full transcripts of the ongoing hearings and a Greenbriar High School. No bids were received from the first advertisement of this proposal.

The July hearing will allow Greenbriar to present testimony from one additional witness before the board takes a new vote on the variance.

Summer personnel OK'd by school board

SPRINGFIELD—Personnel for the district's summer school program were approved by the Springfield Board of Education at its meeting June 13. The actions were taken after the board reviewed normal procedures to vote on the hiring of the president and attorney (See Page 1 story).

Also approved was a motion to compensate substitute teachers with a full-day's pay, $25, for coming in to teach for a certified school day.

The issue had been debated by school Superintendent Dr. Fred Baruchin and board members at their conference meeting June 6. Baruchin stated the district had experienced difficulties in obtaining substitutes to come in late in the school day, for emergency situations, for a half-day's pay.

Adler sees 'deal' made

One was an incident where she handed Petino a lollipop in public and told him to "calm himself." The other occurred when Adler questioned the appointment of Paul Giblin as board attorney last year, instead of Margulies, the previous attorney.

Adler said she mentioned that Margulies had successfully defended Petino and other C.A.I.S.E. candidates for the board of education in the November election.

"None of my remarks were libelous or slanderous," Adler said.

"The entire resolution was specious nonsense created to try and justify an action that the eight board members felt they wanted to take," she said.

"I think it embarrassing for me to have a woman for president and that the lone woman would always tell the truth," said Adler. "I feel there were a lot of times when I was intimidated, but I don't think it was sex-linked."

"I will never be a party to dishonest behavior. I have to be an example of integrity for my children. I have never been accused of doing anything remotely dishonest. My family is proud of what I have done, and I am proud of it."

District to pay asbestos fine

SPRINGFIELD—The Springfield Board of Education has decided to pay a reduced fine issued by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for violations of asbestos regulations.

Board President George Connes said the board decided to pay the fine, "because of the legal costs of pursuing an appeal."

The district was originally fined $2,000 in April for a violation of the Toxic Substances Control Act known as "Failure to Warn and Notify."

Attorney Anthony Pasquelli, who represented the district at an informal conference with EPA officials in New York City three weeks ago, said the EPA reduced the fine by 60 percent, the maximum reduction allowed. The reduction brings the original fine to $3,600.

Hot Bombers take first-half divisional flag

Pitcher Rob Hydock's one-hit masterpiece gave the Bombers the first half West Division flag in the Springfield Adult Softball League in 3-0 win in a play-off game against Masco Sports. For the streaking Bombers, who lost their first two games, it was their eighth win in their last nine starts. Harry Kolb's line single to right in the fifth was the only Masco safety.

Righthander Joe Pepe Jr. was brilliant in a losing cause, allowing only six hits. All of the Bomber runs came in the fifth inning with Dave "Pops" Mitchell hitting his fourth home run of the year to right field. Jeff Kronert and Bob Janukowicz followed with singles and scored on sacrifice flies by Lee Kravitz and Frank Phillips.

Ernie Masco Sports ended East Division champ Ehrhardt TV's unbeaten streak with a 10-2 win. Masco broke open a tight 2-2 battle with eight runs in the last of the sixth. Gary Fox, Jim Maxwell, Greg Prussing, Bill Nevins, Ed Crastiano, Joe Pepe Jr., and Harry Kolb hit safely in the big hitting to back Joe Pepe Jr.'s route-going eight-hitter. Art Eberenz and Bob Dempster, with two hits each, led Ehrhardt. Ed Johnson, Joe Polcastro, Brian McNary and Ron Scappellato had two hits each for the Spirit.

Rob Hydock and P.J. Burns matched five-hitters as the Bombers edged Cardinal's Garden Center 4-3 in a tight pitching duel. Red-hot Dave Mitchell, with a double and a triple, and Jeff Kronert, with a triple, led the Bombers attack. Burns added his own right, his second.

A four-run fifth inning rally led Shalross/Creative to a come-from-behind 6-4 win over M&M Automotive. Ben DiPalma, Pat Durante, Lucas Sarvino and Darren Young hit safely in the rally, while Derek Yardone clipped in with two hits. Bill Bohrod, Steve Max and Dave Stromeyer stroked two hits each to lead M&M.

Righthander Jim Fritzen's long-throwing slider led Shalross/Creative to an 8-5 win over Masco Sports. Lucas

Springfield Legion has high hopes for '84 season

Although it is very early in the season, Harry Weiserman, coach of Springfield's American Legion baseball team, is confident that his squad has what it takes to become the best in the county.

"I'm very pleased with our 3-1 county record," said Weiserman, "and I am very pleased with some of our younger players." He has to be pleased also with the comeback of third sacker Eric Kurschus who was hit in the face with a line drive last season and has since undergone reconstructive plastic surgery. So far he is showing no ill-effects of the accident.

Last season, the team put together an impressive 14-7 record in county play and a 22-15-2 mark overall.

"Our ultimate goal is to win the Union County title," said Weiserman, "and we can't do that unless we finish in the top five to get a berth in the American Legion State Tourney."

The team got a busy start, playing 30 innings over the first three days of the season in non-league action. In the season opening doubleheader June 2, the team split with North Arlington, dropping the first game 8-2 before taking the second 7-4.

North Arlington scored four in the second inning and three in the third frame off Springfield starter Richie Russo of Kenilworth before relievers Kenny Griese of Kenilworth and Jonathan Dayton's Richie Polcastro got into the fire. Driving in Springfield's runs were Seton Hall Prep's David Gagliano and Tommy Kitch of Dayton. Also getting hits were catcher Michael Gellaro of Dayton, David Brearley's Dan Klinger and Eric Kurschus of Summit, a student at Morristown Community College.

In the nightcap, Springfield bounced back with eight hits for a 7-4 win led by Kurschus's two-for-two performance which included a triple and two RBI. Gagliano's two-for-three and one RBI and Klinger's one-for-one RBI day. Summit High's Tom Chiego went one-for-three, Kitch, one-for-one, and Dayton's Greg Torborg, one-for-one. The Springfielders scored twice in the top of the fourth on a walk in seven counts by Kenilworth's Mike Mancino and Guthrie, who got the win. Springfield got off to a great start in its league opener defeating arch-rival Roselle 4-1 June 5. Polcastro went the distance with six strikeouts and seven walks. Springfield scored twice in the sixth as Now Providence's Al Niemeia walked and eventually came around on a wild pitch.

Springfield raised its county mark to 3-0 with an 8-4 win over Union. Down 3-0, Springfield came up with four runs in the bottom of the first off of Union's Rich Michael, led by Blackwell's double, and singles by Klinger and Miller. Three more runs scored in the second. Chiego led off with a single and moved to second on a two-out walk to Kirschus. Blackwell hit his second double in a row the ended up with four in a four-for-four performance scoring both runners. Klinger drove him in with a single.

Polcastro survived the rocky first, retiring Union through the next five innings. He finished up allowing six hits, seven walks and striking out nine Union batters.

Blackwell finished the day with three RBI. Klinger went two-for-four with two RBIs. Ferra, Colligan and Niemeia each hit singles in the 12-hit attack.

Springfield's three-game county win streak came to an end June 14 as it lost to Rahway 5-3 in nine innings. The team got off to a quick 2-0 lead on a first-inning hit by Colligan that was followed by Niemeia's 375-foot homer.

Rahway started a comeback in the fourth scoring one run off of Springfield hurler Paul Gaynor of Summit, who was making his first start. Springfield's lead to 2-1 in the fifth following a single by Torborg, Chiego's sacrifice and Miller's RBI single.

As the sixth began, according to Coach Weiserman, "we let our heart take over for our minds," which he says, "blew the game," as Gaynor ran out of the park and Rahway tied it up. Ed Kitch followed Gaynor in relief, but Rahway scored twice in the ninth on two costly Springfield errors for the win.

Springfield also participated in the 32-team American Legion Baseball Tournament which opened in Berkeley Heights Tuesday night, will take on Westfield Tuesday, at 6 p.m. home at Ruby Field. The team travels to Williams Field the following day at 6 p.m. contest against Elizabeth. Vailsburg will be the foe in a non-league game June 28 at Seton Hall University at 6 p.m. Springfield will take on Kenilworth in an away game June 29, at 6 p.m.

Braves stave off Orioles in Mountainside

The Mountainside Little League moved into the home stretch last week with the Braves holding a slight edge over the Orioles.

The Braves stayed ahead of the pack in typical fashion, relying on the hurling tandem of Jeff Davis and Peter Rosenbauer to fashion a 4-3 victory over the Mets. Davis finished 12 in four innings of work and Rosenbauer pitched five shutouts in his two innings.

Rosenbauer had two doubles including a two-out two-run game winner. Brian Carson smashed a home run and Romel Sanchez, with two home runs and two runs scored, sparked the Braves attack. Steve Matlock played a fine game in centerfield.

The Mets' offense revolved around Eric Rauchenberger, Richie Roche and Mike Shapiro who split six hits among them. Rauchenberger went 11 in the process, with a huge assist from outfielder Peter Gutlich, who made a dazzling catch to keep the game within reach.

A two-run triple by Brian Delaney, followed by a long home run by Glen Nisize broke open a close game and allowed the Orioles to lead the Blue Stars 8-4 and stay within striking distance of the Braves.

Infielders Jimmy Higginson and George Serio, and catcher Elias Georgiada sparked in the field as the Orioles defense contributed handsily to the win. Greg Barisonek delivered a towering home run for the Blue Stars, Chris LaFon had two singles and Charlie Dougherty made three running catches in centerfield to lead the Blue Stars off.

The beneficiary of the Cubs potent attack and was aided by the steady fielding of shortstop Scott Boyd. Grayson Murray had a two-hit, three-RBI effort for the Twins with Dan Chung, Fred Laryge, Dwight Dacknowicz and Chris McGuire each having good days at the plate.

The Mets' bats made things easy for pitcher Mike Shapiro who coasted to a 12-3 triumph over the Twins. Peter Gutlich, Eric Rauchenberger, Dale Torborg and Scott Taylor all had big days at the plate for the Mets. Dwight Dacknowicz was the hitting, of Dave Cook, Brandon Gordon, Doug Sadtler and Dwight Dacknowicz and the defensive efforts of third baseman Dan Chung.

The Pony League Mavericks joined in the Colts 11-2 stay in the running for the regular season title. Steve Baumgartner scored four runs for the Mavericks, he and Joe Castelo, Matt

In play the previous week, Brandon Giordano smashed a grand slam as the hard-luck Twins bounced back from a series of heart-breaking losses to capture their first win of the campaign, a 10-2 breeze past the Blue Stars. Doug Sadtler, Dan Chung and Mike Byrne all contributed offensively with Giordano and Grayson Murray sharing all the hitting honors. Chris LaFon threw a strong two innings in relief for the Blue Stars, but it was the hostess system combination of Greg Melisior and Jason Feldman that earned the plaudits as did Gordon Thompson and Charlie Dougherty in the outfield. Steve Baumaner scored four runs for the Blue Star run producers.

Party boats: a summertime lure

By PHIL HARTMAN
A summer junket to the shore can be more than a beach day for the average north Jerseyan who sails on one of the hundreds of party boats offering ocean fishing from Monmouth, Ocean, Atlantic and Cape May counties. Party boat fishing has long been one of the largest of summer industries and a popular recreational pursuit. For the old-timer and the beginning angler, catching that big lunger or taking in the salt spray can be a thrill.

The Sea King of Belmar, a 65-foot twin diesel captained by Joe Galluccio, is typical of the party boat industry, offering full-day fishing from its departure from the docks at around 7 a.m. to its return to port at 3 p.m. Last Saturday, Galluccio, who has been captaining his boat for 15 years, was out for fluke, the only fish he tracks from late spring through the fall.

The Sea King operates like most party boats: it charges a standard fee of $22 and has available rods and fishing tackle for rent at a nominal fee. Fees will vary from boat to boat. Bait is normally provided free on board.

Since most party boats leave the dock early, it is best for first-timers to arrive at the docks at around 6 a.m. Veterans who come from as far away as western Pennsylvania and upstate New York will maintain that an early arrival is the only way to get a prime fishing spot on deck — either the bow or stern, where the angler rarely has to fish with a line beneath the boat and there is usually the first chance at the larger fish.

It is not unusual for the regulars to arrive as early as 3 a.m., their favorite piece of railing being important to their day of fishing.

At arrival a beginner can expect a large crowd, even that early in the morning. With so many party boats vying for the fishing patrons — Belmar has more than 15 party boats — a carnival scene takes hold, a member of each crew acting as a barker to lure fishermen aboard.

Visitors have a choice of boat and the type of fishing they want. Besides full-day fishing, there are also half-day party boats available at most docks. Summerline offers mostly fluke and bluefishing, the two industry staples from June through October. Fishing for larger fish, for example shark or tuna, is available, although generally left to those who hunt these species as a regular pastime.

Once at sea, the day is full of surprises. On this particular Saturday, although sunny, the wind was strong and the seas sported some tall waves in the morning, causing some slack in the fishing. Of the 50 or so aboard, six or seven fought bouts with sea sickness, including several who were weekend regulars on the Sea King.

By noon calmer waters contributed to more active fishing.

Most of the fishing took place within 100 yards of the beach. Fluke boat captains use a technique of bringing the boat out off the shore and allowing it to drift toward the beach. It is hoped that each drift will bring the boat over a concentrated body of fish.

Captains like Galluccio rarely pick fishing spots at random, using either a depthfinder which detects fish, fishing off landmarks such as a section of beach or building which has in the past been productive, or by using Loran radar, which plots the exact location of the boat by latitude and longitude.

For a $2 fee on the Sea King the mates will also clean and fillet your catch, well worth the price on any boat.

Also, a beginner on a party boat would do well to bring a cooler well stocked with food and drink. The sun, salt and sport of fishing do wonders for a Union County appetite.

PATIENT GAMES—Three youngsters forget about their ailments as they gather around the stuffed animals in the pediatric playroom at Muhlenberg Hospital in Plainfield. The children are Megan Brown of Bridgewater, left, and Laurie and Katie Sobocienski of Colonia. The hospital recently held dedication ceremonies for two new patients units, one for pediatrics and the other for short-stay surgery.

ALAN CARUBA
As summer holds forth its promise of leisure time, we can all be a bit self-indulgent, enjoying our favorite pastimes. One of mine is films. Another is photography. If these are shared by you, this column will please you mightily.

"The Hollywood Hall of Shame" by Harry and Michael Medved, which takes a look at some of the most expensive flops in movie history ($8.95, Perigee Books/Putnam softcover; $19.95 hardcover), is a wonderful collection of stories about such turkeys as "Dr. Doolittle" and "Cleopatra." The Medved brothers include "Heaven's Gate," but I think it was a fine film, even though the director dropped nearly $4 million for a scene that lasted less than 10 minutes on screen. All in all, lots of fun to read.

In the same vein is "Cult Movies 2" by Danny Peary ($12.95, Dell softcover), which examines 50 films which all have a following of their own, but make you ask, why was this film ever made? Among them, "Barbarella" and "Pretty Baby." For more fun, there's "The Official Hollywood Handbook" ($6.95, Walhaby Pocket Books softcover) by John Blumenthal, which spoofs moviemaking and movie makers.

"Barbara Stanwyck: A Biography" will please her fans, but is fairly standard stuff from Al DiOrio, who has authored two others of these fairly uncritical looks at the famed '40s star, Edward McCanin. Still, her life is surely worth a biography and this is a workmanlike job which relates how she overcame some pretty major hurdles, ranging from being orphaned at age two, bad marriages, and, throughout it all, starred in some classic films. Her talent and her integrity won out over all setbacks.

Stanwyck turned to television after a long career in film and "American History/American Television" ($17.50, Frederick Ungar, hard & softcover) is a thick volume of commentary edited by John E. O'Connor which strives to interpret the effect television has had on our society and the world. It's largely successful in this, but this is more a scholar's book or one for the person with a serious interest in television.

"Kids' TV: The First 25 Years" ($12.95, Facts On File) by Stuart Fischer, starts in 1946 and moves forward to 1973. Along the way, you rediscover a lot of shows you enjoyed or which entertained your kids. Each has a short biography. This is pure nostalgia in the form of a fine reference book.

SAY 'KODAK'
Photography buffs will want to know about the new Kodak Library of Creative Photography, whose first editions include "Take Better Pictures" and "Photographing Friends and Family." These are published by Time-Life Books in collaboration with Kodak and are the beginning of a projected 38-volume series. Each is priced at $11.95 and is lavishly illustrated. Three more volumes, "The Art of Portraits and the Nude," "How to Catch the Action" and "Make Color Work for You" will be introduced in the fall. They represent good, basic information.

"Build Your Own Home Darkroom" by Lisa Duren and Billy McDonald ($14.95, Van Nostrand Reinhold) is a very good softcover, extensively illustrated, on this subject and well worth its price. You will save money and come up with a fine working darkroom if you purchase this book. Then you can put "Creative Darkroom Techniques" to work ($15.95, Kodak softcover) and rival the masters with its fine instructions and advice.

While in the mood, you might even check out "Reader's Digest 101 Do-It-Yourself Projects" ($22.50, Reader's Digest Books) which typically has superb exploded diagrams and step-by-step instructions for dozens of things to enhance the kitchen, bedroom, bath, tend to explore new areas. "This can create a safety problem when you add the extra pedestrians and cyclists to the already crowded roadways," Snedeker said.

"One out of every four deaths on New Jersey roadways in recent years has been a pedestrian," he said. In 1983, 236 of the 932 individuals killed in auto accidents were pedestrians. In addition, 6,884 pedestrians were injured in auto-related accidents, 928 of them seriously enough to be incapacitated for some period of time.

A total of 24 bicyclists and four moped riders were killed last year, while 4,077 bicycle and 1,377 moped operators were injured.

"That is a staggering toll and one that must be reduced if New Jersey is to remain one of the safest highway states in the Union," Snedeker said. "Everyone who uses our roadways must do his or her part to help."

Joggers and walkers should stay off busy roadways. If they must go on the road, they should walk facing traffic and stay as far away as possible from the traffic lanes. At twilight and at night, they should wear light-colored clothing or something reflectorized and try to always carry a light.

"The moped law adopted in April 1983 that requires operators to wear motorcycle helmets at all times has helped," Snedeker said, noting that there were seven fewer moped fatalities in 1983 than in 1982. "But moped riders must still be highway conscious at all times and remember to obey all the laws of the road."

"The same goes for bicyclists. They are subject to the same rules of the road as motorists, even those riders under the age of 17," Snedeker said.

Under a new law that became operational last year, moped operators, bicyclists and pedestrians under the age of 17 who violate the rules of the road are to be treated just like adults, with hearings in municipal court.

They are also subject to the same penalties if found guilty of a violation. That means a youngster riding a bicycle the wrong way on a one-way street or against the flow of traffic on any roadway could receive a fine of $60 or more, Snedeker said.

Bicyclists must always remember to ride with the flow of traffic and as far to the right side of the road as possible. They must obey all traffic signs and signals, yield or stop as required at intersections and signal all turns.

"If we all do our part, this can be a safe and happy summer in New Jersey," Snedeker said.

tomato growers could reap a $1,000 prize along with this summer's harvest if they make plans now to enter the annual New Jersey Championship Tomato Weigh-In, according to state Secretary of Agriculture Arthur R. Brown Jr.

"Now is a good time to start planting tomatoes," he said, adding that those interested in entering the August contest should choose seed varieties known to produce large fruit.

Winning tomatoes usually weigh between 3.5 and 4 pounds, he said, with the record set at 4.634 in 1981. Not discounting a "little bit of luck," Brown suggested would-be contestants place plants deep in soil that is well-drained, easily worked and located in strong sunlight to encourage growth.

This year's contest will be held Aug. 25 at 5 p.m. in Eatontown, where at least 50 people are expected to compete for prizes, ranging from $100 to $1,000, according to contest founder and organizer Joseph Heimbold of Monmouth Beach.

Semi-finals are held the same day from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at 88 "weigh stations" (sponsoring garden and hardware stores) throughout the state. This year, "weigh stations" will also be located in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New York, Connecticut and Ohio, he said.

"The popularity of the weigh-in keeps growing," said Heimbold. "I've had inquiries from all parts of the country. We're the only state that has such a contest."

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Heimbold at (201) 228-2395 or the Monmouth Mall at (201) 542-0211.

AAMH ceremony marking a 'first' in New Jersey

A graduation ceremony will be held Saturday at the First Baptist Church in Elizabeth for 11 client members of the Union County Chapter of the Association for Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped (AAMH) who were in a structured supervised apartment program and now are moving into their own apartments.

Featured guest speakers at the ceremony will be Louis Coletti, acting county manager; Assemblyman Thomas J. Doverin; and Richard H. Wilson, deputy commissioner, Department of Human Services.

The concept of "graduating" into a less supervised setting is the first of its kind in the state. It was designed by AAMH in response to the need for a more comprehensive mechanism to assist handicapped adults in making the transition from a structured program to a more independent lifestyle in the community.

The handicapped "graduates" will be paying their own rent, utilities and food purchases. They will receive much less training and supervision, but will work with AAMH staff several times a week and be provided with 24-hour on-call service through the AAMH.

According to Sidney Blanchard, executive director of the AAMH, the savings to taxpayers is "phenomenal." Previously, Union County taxpayers were paying approximately $45,000 a year for their support. Upon moving into the apartments, they will pay nothing.

The AAMH is a non-profit agency which coordinates community support services and agency programs so that handicapped adults can live as independently as possible in the community. Most AAMH members live in Union County Supervised Apartments are maintained in Elizabeth, Hillside, Linden, Plainfield and Roselle.

In the supervised apartment program, AAMH staff managers live within 500 feet of the handicapped residents. Two staff members are available on a daily basis to train the residents in daily living skills.

The 11 graduates went through an 18-month training period in the supervised apartments and are now moving into a much less structured setting, the supportive living arrangements program (SLAP).

"Within three years, 11 handicapped people will have been removed from the welfare rolls as tax liabilities," said Blanchard. "They are now taxpayers. Sixty-four percent hold jobs; the other graduates are in job training programs and earning wages. They are all fully participating citizens in their community."

"I am very excited for our members and the agency," said Katherine Bowers, manager of the Roselle supervised apartments. "It's a positive step and they have worked so hard in anticipation of living on their own."

The AAMH receives funding from state and federal contracts, various Union Ways, fees-for-services, and contributions.

The graduation ceremony begins at 1 p.m. and is open to the public. A reception will follow ceremony.

Rebecca's forecast

JUNE 21-28
ARIES (3/21-4/20)—The emphasis begins to shift in the coming weeks to matters related to home, family or property interests. Expect to be doing a lot of deep thinking, perhaps reminiscing. Later, you may profit through another's resources. Plan a trip. A change in the direction of your life is imminent.
TAURUS (4/21-5/21)—In coming weeks, the focus is on local travel, communications and activities involving those at a distance. Early in this period, be discreet, avoid jumping to the wrong conclusions and steer away from troublesome people. Later, concentrate on financial matters and firm up existing relationships.

GEMINI (5/22-6/21)—All important financial matters will be intensified in the coming weeks. These may include issues of tax, insurance or joint assets. Many could experience a bit of confusion or cloudy judgment this week. Be careful in long term decisions. Later, your mood is reclusive, career interests prosper.
CANCER (6/22-7/23)—Both personal and professional relationships will be highlighted in the coming weeks. Strengthening important alliances may be your top priority. Later, social plans may fizzle. Catch up with personal obligations. A more reclusive mood prevails. Avoid pushing yourself too hard now.
LEO (7/24-8/23)—In the coming weeks, you may have to devote more time to private concerns, work interests and dependents' needs. Early in the week, you may have to juggle domestic and job priorities. Plan for time away. The tables may turn in personal interests with little warning. You have reason to worry.
VIRGO (8/24-9/23)—The social, romantic and family themes are emphasized in weeks ahead, and new organizational ties are likely. Early in this week, joint assets are aspected. Defer decisions, if possible. Later, people of places at a distance assume importance. Refine goals and deal with elders or professionals.
LIBRA (9/24-10/23)—The coming weeks will intensify matters related to career interests, domestic issues and outside demands. The early part of this period aspects contracts and important relationships. Don't jeopardize your long-term security. Later, a daring move is indicated. Profit through those at a distance.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/23)—The emphasis shifts to people, places or issues at a distance. Expect long-awaited news. Travel opportunities arise and joint finances are boosted. Later, accept social invitations, keep reality in perspective in making future plans or decisions and safeguard against fire hazards.
SAGITTARIUS (11/24-12/23)—Matters pertaining to tax, insurance, pension or estate are likely to assume importance in the coming weeks. Early in this period, you may tackle a pet project; enlist the aid of another, if possible. Later, a personal dilemma escalates and frustration builds to a dangerous level. Relieve pressure!
CAPRICORN (12/24-1/23)—The next few weeks will intensify issues related to both personal and professional relationships. New beginnings or expansion opportunities should be evident. Early in this period, another social theme dominates, children succeed and romance blossoms.

AQUARIUS (1/24-2/19)—Issues related to health, career or dependents' interests will assume more importance in the weeks ahead and favorable benefits are indicated. The early part of this week focuses on travel and local dealings. New neighbors are possible. Later, a down-to-earth attitude yields the best success.
PISCES (2/20-3/20)—The social and romantic themes are aspected in the weeks ahead. Plan recreational pursuits and leisure time activities. For now the emphasis is on financial issues. A mate could prove stubborn. Later, travel plans could hit a snag, communications are touchy and domestic issues variable.

Toresco: Sales at record high

DodgeLand in Springfield has achieved record sales for the fourth consecutive month this year, according to Donald Toresco, board chairman and chief executive officer of Toresco Enterprises, owner and operator of the Route 22 dealership. Toresco said that total vehicles sold in May reached an all-time high of 1,478 cars, trucks and recreational vehicles. May's sales figures exceed all previous ones, including April's record-breaking month, when total units sold soared to 1327 cars, trucks and RV's. According to Toresco, breaking records is nothing new at DodgeLand. In 15 years of sales and service, the dealership has experienced annual increases in sales, consistently breaking its own records and those of the competition. Earlier this year, Toresco was cited by the Chrysler Corporation, receiving an award for excellence in sales performance, customer service, administration, facilities and community relations. More recently, the Chrysler vice president of U.S. automotive sales, E.T. Poppert, conferred on Toresco two performance for excellence awards for 1983 — top retail Dodge dealer and top Dodge truck dealer.

Dining at Tardi's, located at 24 N. 20th St. in Kenilworth, is like stepping into an authentic Italian cafe.

Italian cuisine tastefully prepared

Thomas Wolfe is famous for stating: "You can't go home again!" Thank goodness this does not apply to returning to restaurants. Once you've enjoyed a marvelous meal at a specific spot you must go back, if only to prove to yourself that it really was as good as you remembered it to be. This certainly applies to Tardi's, an unpretentious Italian restaurant located at 24 North 20th Street in Kenilworth. I say unpretentious in appearance, although I did notice some small, subtle changes which heightened the Italian feel of the place. This includes a small canopy stretching across the back wall, complete with a string of tiny lights. The effect is quite charming.

Tony Tardi continues to operate and prepare most of the food. After his warm greeting he asked if I wanted to leave the choice of meal up to him. I readily agreed knowing that with Tony's meticulous taste I was in for a treat. We began with a hot antipasto which was enough for four. It included stuffed mushrooms, baked clams, shrimp and mussels in a light tomato sauce, fried mozzarella and lightly battered and sautéed zucchini strips. Everything was delicious and prepared to perfection. This, together with a tray of warm, sliced Italian bread crowned the meal for me.

Next, we were presented with Penna ala Maui, a plate of small cut ziti, wreathed in a masterfully created sauce of cut up broccoli, zucchini, peas, onions, parsley, chopped prosciutto and sweet tomatoes. It was light and heavenly.

For our entree Tony prepared chicken and shrimp ala Marino. It was a generous combination of boneless, tender strips of chicken and large shrimp, cooked in a lovely Marsala wine sauce, garnished with mushrooms and parsley. The aroma was fantastic and only surpassed by the taste, which I challenge even the most fastidious connoisseur to find fault with. This was complimented by the arrival of Tardi's famous Arugula salad, which is a dark green Italian lettuce with a sweet yet tangy taste, not very often found in a restaurant salad but a genuine treat. The salad included green and black olives, sliced Bermuda onion, tomato wedges and seasoned with oregano, oil and vinegar. My one and only complaint to much oil and vinegar. Might I suggest it be served with the oil and vinegar on the side?

This sumptuous meal was capped by a cup of satisfying espresso, a completely greatest cannoli this Italian has ever devoured. The filling was creamy & flavored with tiny bits of chocolate & no too sweet. The shell was crisp & flaky, an undeniable attainment its freshness.

In case you think this magnificent meal may be out of your reach financially let me inform you that I could not finish any of our servings due to the generous portions. Therefore, any combination of an appetizer and pasta or entree and salad would be more than satisfying. The appetizers average $5. Our hot antipasto for two was the most expensive at $9.25, but remember, I think it was enough for four. The Penna ala Maui was $7.50 and together with a salad would have been a complete meal in itself. Our entree, chicken and shrimp ala Marino was $11.50 and served two most amply. Both these choices were specials on the night I was there. The homemade cannoli was the most expensive dessert at $2.50, but was worth every last delicious lick! Every entree is served with salad and spaghetti. Additionally, Tardi's offers some interesting side dishes. Have you ever longed for Escarole or Broccoli di Rapa sautéed in garlic and oil? If you've never tried these vegetables prepared in just this way you are missing just how flavorful they can be and at $3.50, quite reasonable.

I found it informative to note, "We cater to house parties," listed on the bottom of the menu, which seems a natural progression. Tardi's keeps extending and improving in order to meet the demands of his growing clientele. They want to serve his lovingly prepared food in their homes to their friends and family!

BYOB to Tardi's where your waiter will be happy to provide ice and glasses. They are open for lunch Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 11 to 3, dinner Monday, Wednesday & Thursday from 5 to 11, Friday & Saturday, 5 to 12 & Sunday, 2 to 10. They are closed Tuesdays. There is free parking on the street. Discover Tardi's!

Disc 'n' Data

By MILY HAMMER
Pick Of The LPs, "The Ravyns," (MCA Records).

When listening to a record by a new act in 1984, it has become necessary to wonder whether the artist or group actually exists, or if the music was created by a producer, a session singer, a lone synthesizer whiz, a nimble-fingered engineer, and a 36-track recording laboratory.

The Ravyns are a delightful exception. With their fresh, dynamic sound there is no mistaking the fact that the Ravyns are a real live rock 'n' roll band. There's not a drum machine or a vocoder to be found anywhere in their vicinity. Instead, they consist of five very much alive young men; two guitar players, a bassist, keyboardist and a drummer. And, more importantly, this hard-working band marshalls this classic instrumental lineup to produce some of the liveliest, most sure-footed new rock 'n' roll heard anywhere in quite a while.

The Ravyns came out of the unusually active club scene in the Baltimore-Washington, D.C. area, where the present members worked in two different (and quite successful) groups. The Ravyns were born because Rob Fahey (guitar, lead vocals) and Kyf Brewer (keyboards, lead vocals) got to know each other and decided to form a new group from the nucleus of Kyf's country-rock oriented band.

The Ravyns played their first gig in 1979, back when the first "new wave" acts were making their initial commercial breakthroughs. The Ravyns were excited by this new direction in pop music, and their sound reflected its influence. Understandably, they surprised more than a few folks in the Baltimore-D.C. area, which is known as favoring more traditional, country, country and blues-flavored rock. Says Rob, "There were quite a few people who didn't understand where we were coming from at first. But for every negative reaction, we got two positive reactions."

Perhaps the most important positive reaction came from Irving Azoff, the former personal manager and movie producer, who is now president of MCA Records. He heard a basement demo tape of "Raised on the Radio" and decided to include the song in the soundtrack album to the film, "Fast Times At Ridgemont High," which he was producing. The Ravyns came to Los Angeles to record the track, and this led to Roger Davies (founder of MCA distributed label RDM Records) hearing the group and signing them to his new label. He arranged for Peter Coleman, who has produced albums for Pat Benatar and Martin Briley, to produce the resulting debut album.

"The Ravyns" is a tough, energetic album full of driving rhythms, sharp ringing guitars and instantly memorable pop-rock songs. The album covers a lot of ground, from the rough, haunting power of the first cut, "Don't Leave Me This Way," to the uptempo joyousness of "Raised on the Radio" to the lush landscape of "Ready for Romance."

"We like to combine good ideas with interesting, fun melodies," says Rob Fahey, who wrote and sang seven of the album's 10 songs in his rich, full voice (which has just a hint of the raw vocal edge of Creedence Clearwater's John Fogerty). Kyf Brewer wrote the other three songs on the album and sang lead vocals on his tunes in an equally distinctive and powerful voice. "We try for the delicate balance of making our songs simple and direct, yet complex enough to keep them interesting," says Rob. "But we definitely don't want to make music that's so complicated that people start thinking about the chord structure instead of getting the feeling of the song."

All of the group members write and plans call for this to be reflected in the songs chosen for forthcoming albums. "We're really a group, and each band member contributes tremendously to our live show and to our recording, either through arrangements or special instrumental ideas," says Rob. He adds, "No one is a 'sideman' in the Ravyns." Completing the lineup of the group are David Bell, guitars and vocals, Lee Townsend, bass and vocals, and Tim Steele, drums, percussion and vocals.

They chose the name The Ravyns for several reasons. Explains Kyf Brewer, "It conveys the idea of 'ravyn' which is so central to the British pop sound that has influenced us so much."
