Townhouses planned Developer seeking variance from zoners

By KENNETH SCHANKLER
The Springfield Zoning Board of Adjustment is considering an application from a Maplewood builder for a small townhouse development on Maple Avenue between Springfield and Morris avenues.

The developer, Ren-Cent Construction Corporation, is seeking a variance that would allow construction of 14 units, 10 of which would be townhouses. The other four units would be single-family ranch houses, according to Ren-Cent owner Vincent Morrocco.

The proposed development would be located in an area currently zoned for single-family homes, a use that is inconsistent with Morrocco's vision for that neighborhood.

"This area is very transitional," Morrocco said. "I really envision that whole area being a different use."

Morrocco, who made a formal application for the variance at the board's regular monthly meeting Tuesday, said the area would be better used than currently with a mix of residential, commercial and industrial development.

The development, if the variance is approved, will be constructed on a lot with 100 feet of frontage on Maple Avenue that is approximately 280 feet deep.

Each of the 14 units will have two bedrooms, a driveway and a one-car garage, Morrocco said. In addition, there will be outdoor visitor parking spaces.

The 14 dwellings will occupy about 27 percent of the property, with the rest of the land being dedicated as open space, Morrocco said.

Morrocco said he has already built a similar development in Maplewood with positive results, with the best feature being that each unit is owned by its occupant.

"Homeowners contribute more to a community," he said, comparing a townhouse development to what he called a more "transient" garden apartment complex.

The board will formally consider Morrocco's application at its July 16 monthly meeting.

In other matters, the board denied two variances that would have allowed William Posnock of Little Brook Road to add a family room to his home. Posnock proposed adding the room to the rear of the house, but Board Chairman William Halpin called the plan "unesthetic."

The board also voted to grant two variances allowing Dr. Ronald Rozan, a local dentist, to expand the office he operates out of his home on South Springfield Avenue.

One variance will allow the office to take up more than 50 percent of the building. The other will allow Rozan to employ two people at the office. The current zoning ordinance permits one employee at an office like Rozan's.

Flag lowered for hostages

Flags are flying half mast in Springfield and in other municipalities in the 21st district at the request of state Assemblyman Peter Genova of Union.

Genova made the request as a symbol of hope for the American hostages being held in Beirut, Lebanon.

The hostages were taken by members of an extremist Shiite Muslim sect after a Trans World Airlines Boeing 727 was hijacked Friday morning during a flight from Athens to Rome.

Cleanup beginning

A full scale cleanup is under way in the Princess Estates development in Springfield.

"Everything is being done that they said they were going to do," said New Brook Road resident Ned Sambur.

Sambur said a fence is being erected around a nearby catch basin and garbage was being removed from a lot next to his home on New Brook Road.

Developer Frank Racioppi had been directed by the township to begin the cleanup after several residents had complained that the work in the recently completed 3-year-old development was not being done.

Township Attorney Anthony D'Alessio had sent a letter to Racioppi directing that the cleanup be completed or the township would have the work done on its own and deduct the cost from Racioppi's $125,000 performance bond.

In addition to the fence being constructed around the detention basin, another fence will be erected behind some nearby factories to prevent workers from cutting through the yards of neighborhood residents and a gate will be installed to block through traffic on New Brook.

Sambur said he was grateful the work was being completed in the development, in which the last home was finished nearly six months ago.

"It's a little late, but better late than never," he said.

University taps Kaish

Dr. Stanley Kaish, a member of the Township Committee, has been named associate dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences of Rutgers University, Newark. Kaish will be responsible for undergraduate management studies on the Newark campus. The management studies area includes about 2,000 day and evening students majoring in accounting and business.

Kaish, who holds a Ph.D. from New York University's Graduate School of Business Administration and an MBA from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton school, joined the Rutgers-Newark Economics Department in 1963 and was named department chair in 1980. He also teaches at the Graduate School-Newark and is a research associate at the Center for International Business Cycle Research at Columbia University, New York City. He is the author of a textbook on microeconomics, numerous articles on economic and financial topics, and is editor of the forthcoming "Handbook of Behavioral Economics."

Kaish has been a township committeeman since 1978, having been elected three times to the governing body. He served as township mayor for two years and is currently the town's deputy mayor.

DEP: 'Mandatory recycling is coming'

By KEITH A. DRUMBORE
New Jersey can be expected to see "mandatory recycling within a year or two," according to Robert Hughey, commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (DEP).

Hughey, speaking at a recent seminar at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, also characterized the DEP's "Division of Waste Management," Frank Flower, extension specialist in solid waste at Rutgers University's Cook College; Lino Perera, special assistant to Hughey; Richard Gimello, executive director of the New Jersey Hazardous Waste Facilities Siting Commission; Michael Greenberg, professor of urban studies at Rutgers University; and Peter Sandman, professor of environmental journalism at Cook College.

"Garbage and hazardous waste are not unsolvable problems although they often treated as such," Hughey said. "They are real issues, however, and must be dealt with on a factual base."

The facts on garbage, according to Sadat, are that there are currently 10 major landfills in New Jersey that are handling more than 85 percent of the state's garbage.

Of these, four are handling 86 percent of the garbage, according to Perera.

Three of these four sites are already filled to their capacity, however, and are operating under a temporary court order that keeps them open.

"There are about 300 closed landfills scattered in the state," Perera said. "It takes two years to develop a new landfill and in the meantime, we are continuously overfilling the fills we have."

"When you think about how much garbage is produced day to day, just remember that every Burger King in New Jersey creates a half ton of garbage per day," Gimello said.

"We are living on borrowed time with the fills that we have," Perera added.

The solution to this problem, according to Hughey, lies in state-wide mandatory recycling and the building of resource recovery plants.

The resource recovery plants, among its many aspects, would be used to incinerate all flammable and mental and physical health whenever a plant site is proposed for their area," Greenberg said. "But there is more danger in driving your car than in living next to a (hazardous waste treatment) plant."

"In public relations terms, the waste plant is in their community then they will become the waste capital of New Jersey, which is regarded as the waste capital of the Northeast, which is regarded as the waste capital of the universe."

Another subject that Gimello says is often misconstrued by the public is that chemical companies produce the majority of hazardous waste in the state.

Chemical companies are not the major culprits because, while they produce more waste than other companies, they also take care of a larger percentage of that waste," Gimello said. "It is the print and electroplating industries which cannot afford to take care of their waste which creates the problem because they leave it to the state to take care of."

The proposed hazardous waste treatment plant would use incineration methods to dispose of the waste, Gimello said.

Gimello said that because of the public relations problem surrounding these treatment plants, the state may be forced to "sweeten the pot" in order to get communities to accept a plant in their backyard.

Sweetening the pot could include providing the community with additional financial aid for their public school systems, Gimello said.

"Hazardous waste will be the most important issue in the state for the next 15 years," Hughey said.

Super sends class warning

On the eve of graduation ceremonies for the regional high school, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald Merachnik has issued a warning about the dangers that can occur after too much celebrating.

The 215 members of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Class of 1985 are candidates to receive degrees at graduation exercises Monday, at 7 p.m., at Meisel Field, Springfield.

In the event of inclement weather, the ceremonies will take place in the gymnasium of the school.

Merachnik issued the following message to students and graduates:

"June is here and graduation will take place on June 24. This is the one night of the year that makes me happy, and yet, sad at the same time. I am happy for the graduates and their parents for they can rejoice in knowing that an important part of their education is completed. But I am sad and apprehensive about reading the newspapers the day after graduation. All too often, graduation night parties lead to drinking and automobile accidents.

"I urge all parents to become informed about the plans for after-graduation parties and to make sure that you do all possible to reduce the chances that graduation will lead to an expensive injury that can prevent a child's participation in activities and prevent it from occurring."

'Signing' draws grad's family closer

"Signing" is "all in the family" for township resident Nancy Rioux, who was graduated this month with a degree in applied science from Union County College's interpreters for the Deaf Program.

Rioux's career in interpreting evolved through an earlier mother-daughter sharing of courses they took "just for fun" at the college. Rioux, who is already employed as director of a rehabilitation house for deaf alcoholics, left high school with ambitions of becoming an engineer.

At the end of her junior year at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Rioux had taken all the required courses and could have graduated early. But because she was a major and had many friends there, she wanted to graduate along with them. Her mother, Mrs. Frank Rioux, then teaching at UCC, advised her to take a two basic college courses at the University of Delaware.

Mrs. Rioux dropped her daughter off at high school in the morning and brought her to the college in the afternoon.

When Nancy graduated from high school in 1978, she entered the engineering program at UCC.

"Engineering is a very difficult field for women and the professors let you know that from the beginning. When I had six months to go, I decided to drop out for a semester because of the pressure," the graduate said.

"Mom suggested I take a few 'fun courses' to try out other possible fields. She had always wanted to learn sign language just to communicate with deaf persons for her own satisfaction. So when the interpreters for the Deaf Program were initiated in 1980, we were among the first students," she explained.

They enjoyed studying and working together interpreting for Eileen Forestall, director of the program at Meisel Field, and the interpreters at Governor Livingston High School, Bellevue, where there is a program for the Deaf.

"I became so interested in this field, I left engineering and completed the certificate course in interpreting," Rioux said.

At that time, Mrs. Rioux was working with the Union County Council on Alcoholism in Westfield. Nancy became concerned about members of the deaf community who are alcoholics because they tend to be neglected or abandoned altogether when they become victims of alcohol.

"I was one of the few people in the state who was working with deaf alcoholics," she said.

The family has a vacation home in Cape Code and one summer, they discovered the Stephen Miller House, offering rehabilitation for deaf alcoholics, had recently been founded in Falmouth, Mass. They went to visit it and when the people in charge learned of Rioux's background, they offered her a job there since she was the "most qualified person available."

But she was not ready to leave the family or, she thought, to become a director of such an establishment.

instead, she took a few courses at Cambridge and found she needed credits in psychology and humanities, which she had taken at UCC. Forestall helped her get those credits transferred and, in the meantime, she became eligible for a degree from Union. With those credentials, Rioux felt confident enough to accept the job as director of the Stephen Miller House, and has been in that position for more than a year. She is so enthusiastic about her work that she recently persuaded a deaf gentleman in the township, who repairs TTY's — telephone devices for the deaf — to donate one to her employer.

Interpreting has spilled over onto other members of the Rioux household, she said. Now that her father knows a few "signs," he and her mother communicate with their hands at restaurants or in a group where a whisper would draw attention. Although Mrs. Rioux didn't go into interpreting as deeply as Nancy, she feels good about being able to help a deaf person who might be in a grocery line with her, for instance, her daughter said.

Rioux's sister and her small daughter have picked up some of the signing also. A Brownie leader, her sister had a deaf girl on a three-day camping trip earlier this month. Since the youngster had never been camping before, Nancy was invited to go along. In addition to interpreting for the deaf child, she was hoping to teach the entire group how to "sign" — as well as sing children's songs, such as "Old MacDonald Had a Farm," etc.

While a diploma from UCC is very important to her, Rioux will receive another equally important document in November when she will be married to Thomas Marks, an alumnus of UCC's engineering program, who went on to Rutgers for his bachelor's degree.

The bottom line — for Nancy Rioux and her family — means a great deal more than "sign here." Learning to "sign" has enriched their lives in a variety of ways.

Man is fined for transaction violation

A 35-year-old township man, the owner of a Newark-based bus company, was fined $1,000, placed on two years probation and directed to personally perform 150 hours of community service by U.S. Magistrate Serena Perretti in Newark June 11 on a currency transaction reporting violation, according to Robert C. Roche, chief of the Internal Revenue Service's Criminal Investigation Division.

Under that requirement, banks and other financial institutions must notify the IRS whenever they transmit a cash withdrawal or deposit of $10,000 or more with any individual during a 24-hour period," remarked Roche. "It's intent is to enable the IRS to better track large cash transfers and to discourage money laundering," he added.

The information charged Agathis, who was convicted 15 years ago on a possession of stolen goods charge in Irvington, with using the names of individuals without their authority to obtain three money orders worth about $17,000 in cash. Each money order was for less than $10,000.

Magistrate Perretti rejected Agathis' offer to make his bus company available to meet the community service part of his sentence. Instead, she directed him to perform the service himself.

"I have been increasing penalties to this same charge, there will be custodial (prison) sentences to be given in the future," remarked Perretti during the sentencing hearing.

The unreported transactions were uncovered by special agents of the IRS's Criminal Investigation Division in Newark. Assistant U.S. Attorney Jodi Alpe prosecuted the case for the government.

Men face charges after accident

Several charges are pending against two Newark men following a June 8 accident on Morris Avenue, Springfield, according to township police reports.

Torres was turned over to Essex County authorities to face the charges there.

Camacho was charged with driving under the influence of an alcoholic beverage, driving while on the revoked list, driving an uninsured vehicle, leaving the scene of an accident and having an open alcoholic beverage container in his car.

Patrolman William Sedlak investigated.

A burglary in which $1,071 was taken is under investigation by Springfield police.

Police reports said an office at Metropolitan Life Insurance on Morris Avenue was broken into June 11 sometime after 5 p.m. Entry was gained by breaking a lock, police

Police said Luis Camacho, 26, of Newark was involved in the accident on Morris Avenue when a passenger in the car he was operating, Angel Gravis Torres, 45, also of Newark, attempted to flee the scene.

After Torres was apprehended, police said a subsequent check revealed an outstanding bench warrant for drug charges from Essex County.

Torres was taken into custody and charged with leaving the scene of the accident. After processing at Springfield police headquarters, Patrolman Paul Caron investigated.

A female customer at Sneaky's on Morris Avenue Friday reported her creme colored handbag, containing $35 in cash and several personal items, was missing. In a separate incident, a resident of the South Springfield Avenue apartments reported two white gold rings were taken from her top dresser drawer Friday. The rings carry a total value of about $5,300, police said.

I-78 to have minimal impact on Springfield

A nine-mile stretch of Interstate 78 is expected to be completed by the summer of 1986, but the newly finished roadway will have a minimal impact on Springfield.

"I would imagine it would lessen traffic on Morris Avenue," said Springfield township engineer Walter Kozup.

Kozup, though, said the fact that no new access ramps to the highway are being constructed would indicate that traffic patterns elsewhere in Springfield would remain virtually unchanged.

Kozup said he expected traffic on the interstate itself would increase once it became a through highway, but there would be little increase in industrial or residential development since Springfield is "already pretty well developed."

The project has been spearheaded by the Mountaineire Recreation Commission and Borough Council in cooperation with the County of Union and the Children's Specialized Hospital. The ribbon cutting ceremony is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m.

All contracts have been awarded, "and some have been completed."

Jewish veterans honored

The Ellen-Unger Post 273 Jewish War Veterans of the United States (J.W.V.) presented its coveted award limited to carefully selected recipients over the years worthy of the honor at its recent 40th annual installation in Springfield.

Ellen Kaplan of Fairlawn, past president of the Ladies Auxiliary made the presentations.

The honorees were presented the distinguished award, named the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Memorial Humanitarian Award — which honored past presidents Bobbie Unger Wasserman Eisenberg and past president Ruth Unger Hirschorn both of Springfield.

The two women have carried on the traditions and legacy for whom the post was named.

The Ellen-Unger post has upheld the prestige of the Jewish War Veterans since its founding in 1945.

Vail-Deane science buff granted honor

By SHAWN EVANS
According to his dad, 15-year-old Thomas Palmieri has always been interested in science and particularly intrigued by the human body and how it operates.

That interest and intrigue has earned the young man a place on a list of outstanding New Jersey high school students who have been named Governor's Scholars.

Palmieri, a junior at The Vail-Deane School in Mountaineire, who resides in Kenilworth, will attend the Governor's School of the Sciences at Drew University from July 29 to August 24.

He is the only Vail-Deane student to be named as a Governor's Scholar in the sciences this year, and one of only 13 students throughout the state.

The Governor's School was begun by Gov. Thomas Keen in 1982. Supported by public and private resources, the goal of the Governor's School is to stimulate the minds of the state's most gifted and talented high school students to provoke new and independent thoughts and to foster their creativity.

"Since I was in the second grade, I have always been very interested in math and science," Palmieri says. "I enjoy using my knowledge to solve problems — it gives me a sense of accomplishment," he adds.

His dad, Louis, described his son as "a quiet kind of guy" who always read books on science since the time he was a little boy.

"I'm very proud of him — and he's only 15," Louis Palmieri says, noting that his son skipped a year and moved right into the sixth grade because of his outstanding marks.

He also proudly notes that his son was ranked in the top 50,000 out of some 100,000 students nation-wide who were nominated for the National Merit Scholarship.

Thomas says that he was selected to attend the Governor's School on the basis of two essays which he submitted, explaining why he wished to apply, and also an autobiographical sketch.

When asked if he had positive feelings about being selected, given his past records of excellence, the modest Palmieri says he felt anything but positive about his chances.

"It was just the opposite — I was counting my prayers," he says.

It was evident that his prayers were answered after he was notified about a month ago that he had been accepted.

The young scholar, who aspires to become a surgeon after college, says he simply enjoys using his knowledge to discover the answer to many scientific questions.

"Science intrigues me because I have a need to answer the question 'Why?' I feel good about knowing why the sky is blue or why you pull your hand away from a hot potato," he explains.

He adds, "I would like to pursue medicine and preferably become a neurosurgeon since I am interested in the brain and how it works."

The Governor's School has several objectives. While aiming to broaden scholars' appreciation and knowledge of science, the school also aims to introduce scientific research via hands-on research experience, school officials explain. The subject of career exploration is woven throughout the program.

In addition to the science program, scholars throughout the state are named for their talents in the areas of creative arts-writing and public affairs issues.

The students study the subjects on various college campuses during the four weeks.

"I believe it (the Governor's School) is a unique program, one with great potential for the future of the state and great rewards for the students who attend," Keen has said of the program.

Ask the teacher

How kids can catch up with computers

BY BETH GIORDANO & FRANK SULLIVAN. Q.—Although my oldest child will not start first grade until September, I am very concerned that he will lag behind on computer dexterity because many of his peers' families have personal computers at home. My child's school starts basic computer education at grade two by which time he will have had no hands-on experience with computers while many of his friends will. Do you think I should invest in a personal home computer which he can use and, if so, what type of software should he begin with?—J.R., Union.

A.—Your question is one being asked by many parents as more and more computers enter the classroom. We referred your question to Dr. Jay Sivin of the Education Product Information Exchange (EPIE) Institute at Teacher's College, Columbia U. Sivin stressed that the computer is an assistant and not a necessity. If parents are interested in buying one, they should try to spend time with a family who already has a computer to see what they would be getting into. Sivin recommended Logo software. While Logo is not primarily a children's package, it does have a lower level that children can use fairly well. Computer mania is definitely sweeping the country's school system. Even parents in lower income areas are insisting that computers be included in their children's curriculum. Many parents are buying computers for school use — an estimated one in five, in fact. This interest is matched in home use. This year, parents will spend approximately $500 per child as opposed to $2 the schools will spend. Nationally, parents will account for $75 to $100 million in home educational software. Q.—I just received a notice that my child was referred to be tested for speech therapy. Does having a speech problem reflect his intelligence? Will the psychologist be testing him too? A.—You don't say why your child was referred for speech therapy, so it is hard to say whether or not his difficulty is connected to other problems. Situations in which there is a learning problem are usually identified early, before speech therapy is recommended. If your child has not been so labeled, his speech problem is most likely not to be reflective of his intelligence. Parents whose children have speech problems are wise to avail themselves of therapy at the earliest possible opportunity. Children with speech problems are often perceived as less intelligent.

Into the boardroom

Death and business don't mix. This is the lesson from two trials, one still being heard, involving the liability of corporate executives and their firms when the life of an individual has been lost in some company related incident.

For almost a month, a jury has heard testimony in the trial of Great Adventure and its parent corporation, Six Flags, both accused of aggravated manslaughter in connection with a May 11, 1984 fire that killed eight teen-agers. The victims were overcome with smoke before they could escape the Haunted Castle attraction at the amusement park.

In the second case, three former executives of the defunct Film Recovery Systems Inc., a silver-recovery plant in Elks Grove, Ill., were convicted of murder Saturday, for the Feb. 10, 1983 death of a worker who inhaled cyanide on the job. The trial is believed to be the first of its kind in the U.S. involving corporate officials accused of murder stemming from a work-related death of an employee.

The New Jersey corporate manslaughter case, however, is not without precedent. Case law involving such charges against a corporation goes all the way back to 1917 when the Rahway Valley Railroad was indicted for manslaughter.

While the circumstances were somewhat different, both the Film Recovery and the Great Adventure cases point out that the corporation cannot be used by its executive as a shield against liability. In the amusement park case, Great Adventure and Six Flags, if found guilty, would be subject to maximum fines of $300,000 each, to say nothing of the civil liability to families of the eight victims who have filed civil suits. Although indicted, former and present managers of the park were not required to stand trial. Instead, through a pretrial intervention program, as first offenders, the employees are to perform community service work. In the Film Recovery murder case, a corporation no longer exists, however, each defendant could get 20 to 40 years in prison.

While final decisions in these two cases are probably a long way off — appeals will be filed, no doubt — corporate responsibility, especially where a life is concerned, means more than just a fine for the firm. Responsibility extends all the way to those who are sitting around the table in the corporate boardroom.

Baltusrol is 'always accommodating'

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Golf Team recently concluded its fourth consecutive successful season with Baltusrol. The team plays its home matches on Baltusrol's renowned lower course, site of six U.S. Opens. Our ongoing relationship with Baltusrol continues to be one of cooperation with the high school golf program. Even with Nancy Lopez Day on the upper while we were playing a match on the lower, or with Hale Irwin conducting a clinic on Mountain Valley Tournament Day, the club makes adjustments to be accommodating. All our matches were completed even though Baltusrol will be host of the 1985 Women's U.S. Open on the upper course in July. Greens Superintendent Joe Flaherty is always receptive to our team schedule. The pro staff takes an active interest in the team's progress, headed by Bob Ross with assistants Tom Stapler, John Twissel, and Bob Mulcahy. Our thanks to Pro Shop Manager Sue Hyde. Caddy Master George Baker and assistant John O'Connell monitor our team matches. Club Manager Mark DeNoble handles our team schedule and is always available to handle any situation. Ranger Jim McCowan keeps traffic moving on the course. We would like to extend our gratitude to the Governing Board of Baltusrol, Paul Hanna, president, for its approval of our practice and match dates. A special thanks to member Bill Koorn, for playing host to the Dayton team at the annual luncheon and for the gifts presented to the students.

Teachers deserve a 'thank-you'

As another school year comes to an end, I would like to extend my thanks and appreciation to those teachers of the Springfield school system who give so much to our children. We seem to forget the teachers who give extra time when children are absent, who come in at 6:15 in the morning for special help with a project or to help with homework or to prepare for a test. How about that phone call to say, "Your children doing great, or your child needs extra help?" I think they deserve a thank-you note in a while. They care and they do a terrific job. We also should thank PTA presidents who have served two successful years — Connie Blescia at Thelma L. Sandmeier School and Marilyn DeTanz at James Caldwell School, who gave so much of their time to the children to make these memorable years. IRENE A. FICCH, Millburn

Letter to the editor

Support for students noted

As a community coordinator for the James Caldwell School, I recently had the opportunity to work with approximately 300 high school students from across New Jersey who traveled to capital city to participate in the Close Up Foundation government studies program. Over the past several weeks, New Jersey students participated in series of week-long seminars on the issues and processes of the federal government as they questioned members of Congress, political experts, lobbyists, journalists, and policy-makers. The students behaved maturely and responsibly and were always prepared to ask intelligent and pertinent questions of the speakers.

The students were not selected based on academic achievements nor on extracurricular involvement or on ability to pay; the program was open to anyone. Because of the diversity of students, they shared their viewpoints on the issues facing the nation. Through the efforts of the schools, teachers, parents and the entire community, the students had the opportunity to travel to Washington. For many of the students and the teachers, the program would not be possible without fellowships provided each participating school which are supported by Sea-Land Corporation and R.J. Reynolds Industries. The Sea-Land's support of the foundation exhibits its outstanding commitment to citizenship education programs throughout the nation. In addition, many businesses and organizations in your area helped sponsor individual students. I want to applaud everyone whose combined efforts make the program a successful one for the students.

DMV clarifies surcharge reports

Because of recent erroneous reports concerning insurance surcharges that have appeared in many newspapers around the state, I felt it was necessary to write this letter. The Division of Motor Vehicles does not levy an insurance surcharge on anyone for simply forgetting to carry a driver license or insurance identification card. The division has never proposed, nor even considered that failure to carry these identifications should be the subject of a surcharge. Such a surcharge would be ludicrous and would not conform with the content of the Insurance Reform Act. The surcharges are, however, levied on motorists who drive without insurance coverage, without a valid license or while suspended and not allowed to legally drive. Simply forgetting an insurance I.D. card is not driving while uninsured. Driving while uninsured means you don't have any coverage with any insurance never had one in this state or any other state. Driving while suspended means your valid license has been taken away by the court or division for other traffic violations and that you are continuing to drive illegally. These are serious violations of the laws that govern automobile ownership and operation in this state. The surcharges for driving without insurance or while suspended are $250 a year for three years. Operating a motor vehicle without ownership of a valid license is $100 a year for three years. Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to clarify the matter.

Pupils 'kick off' for spinal research

Students at the Pingry Lower School, Short Hills, have literally kicked off a campaign that has raised more than $4,400 for spinal cord injury research. All pupils who attend the private day school, from kindergarten through sixth grade, took part in a soccer kick as part of the school's Annual Field Day. Each student sought pledges from sponsors for each soccer goal they could kick out of three tries; then returned to sponsors to pick up their donations. Participants from Springfield included Apu Mullick, Gregory Stevens, Jennifer Joel, Haley Joel and Randy Schnur. Money raised will help support research sponsored by the Stifel Paralysis Research Foundation.

Fighting 'shadows' in Central America

By ROBE P. SIMON. The following are reviews of books currently available at the Springfield Public Library. INVOLVEMENT IN CENTRAL AMERICA. "Endless War," by James Chace. For 100 years since the Monroe Doctrine was adopted, the policy of the United States in Central America has been dominated by two ideas — one was the fear of revolution; the other was that foreign nations might influence Central America, thus threatening our own security. Chace — formerly managing editor of Foreign Affairs, now senior editor of the New York Times Book Review — asserts that we have never had a successful foreign policy in the region, but have intervened politically and militarily from time to time, always fighting "shadows." Today, the "shadows" are those of Soviet-Cuban expansionism. The author describes the present dilemma as "an old story," citing President Reagan's Cold War approach: using the military instead of an economic or diplomatic approach to resolve the complex issues. As a result, violence has risen drastically, as have general social and political tensions. The situation in each nation is explored, including our responses to changes — usually military build-ups.

Several suggestions are advanced: gradual denuclearization, negotiation of security guarantees, postponement of interest payments (especially for Mexico), the issue of long-term, low-interest bonds, reconstruction of present trade arrangements, some limited economic aid, and permission for Mexico to take the lead in finding peaceful solutions with her neighbors. "The United States must finally learn to distinguish between indigenous revolution and Soviet-inspired subversion," according to the author. We should try to reinforce "democracy where it already exists."

A TROUBLED ADOLESCENCE

"An Angel at My Table," by Janet Frame. This autobiography is the second, her adolescent period, of Janet Frame, the New Zealand poet and novelist. It begins with the long train ride to Dunedin — her first big city — where she would live with close relations while attending the University Training College, studying and teaching. Timid, overawed, extremely shy, she led a lonely, miserable existence, diagnosed as schizophrenic. She was reading, and writing poetry. Her unusual sensitivity and fears came to a climax when she abruptly left her classroom to avoid observation and supervision of her headmaster. Instead of returning to teach, she waited on tables, then attempted suicide, eventually being diagnosed as schizophrenic. She became an inmate of mental hospitals, intermittently, for about eight years. She worked on her own, studied psychology, took mental jobs to support herself, always denigrated herself, visited her parent's home (but not for long), and published her first poems. But her depression increased after her younger sister was drowned, and after her mother became ill. A surgeon, who was about to perform a lobotomy on the young woman, accidentally discovered that Janet Frame had been awarded a prize for her published work. This was a turning point in her hitherto unhappy life. She gives an account of the mistaken diagnoses of the past, the absence of interviews and probes to ascertain her sanity.

Her introduction to Frank Sargeson (1884) — an older author — was extremely fortuitous. He helped her to develop her literary knowledge and to restructure her work. Under his beneficent guidance, Janet's works were published. This resulted in a contract which would enable her to travel on the continent. Although still unsophisticated and shy, she was prepared to face the world on her own.

Immediate care center open

Doctors on Duty, the first walk-in immediate care center in the Union area, opened Monday, at 2824 Morris Avenue. Richard L. Siegel, M.D., medical director, said that freestanding emergency centers have been proclaimed the most rapidly growing form of health care delivery over the past decade, due largely to pressures on the profession to contain health care costs.

Doctors on Duty provides a new environment for treatment of minor, non-life-threatening illnesses and injuries. In addition, Siegel said, "Our aim is to provide convenient, cost-effective, quality care to persons experiencing a variety of home, work, sport or recreational injuries and to offer routine physical examinations to the industrial community as part of our dedication to 'wellness'." The facility is fully equipped with state-of-the-art medical equipment including laboratory, ECG and X-ray services.

Siegel emphasized that it is not the mission of Doctors on Duty to replace the family physician, or to dismiss the importance of hospital emergency rooms in life-threatening situations. "Doctors on Duty," he said, "can best be described as an innovative cross between a hospital emergency room and a doctor's office. We try to combine the features of convenient, rapid attention to a patient's immediate needs with a personal atmosphere."

Doctors on Duty will, the physician believes, reduce the non-emergent load on hospital emergency rooms and provide services to the patient who does not have a personal physician. "We will work with the patient and, if the problem is of a serious nature, we will contact the patient's private physician, arrange for a specialist, or coordinate hospital treatment," Siegel continued.

The cost of health care at Doctors on Duty can be up to one-half the cost for the same care in a hospital emergency room. "Preexisting emergency centers," says Siegel, "do not charge 'usage fees' for the facility, enabling us to pass on significant cost savings to the patient and/or the employer."

Siegel is director of Emergency Services at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center (NBIMC), a Fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics and is certified by the American Board of Pediatrics. He is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College and received his degree in medicine from Tufts University School of Medicine. He has been director of Emergency Medicine at both Lenox Hill Hospital and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine prior to joining the NBIMC staff. He is a member of the American

Charity Council installs slate

Charity Council for Cerebral Palsy recently held its annual installation of officers.

The council was organized 50 years ago as the auxiliary for the Young Men's Hebrew Club in Newark, and looking for a cause for which to work, changed its name and has devoted the years to raising money for a non-sectarian organization for the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center of Essex and West Hudson, now located at 7 Sanford Ave.

At a recent dinner, at which 19 active past presidents were honored, the proceeds of this group's fund raising for the year was presented to the center — $39,000 — bringing the total thus far raised for the benefit of the center to more than a half million dollars.

Janet Averbach of Springfield succeeded herself as president. Marion Morris of Caldwell was chairwoman of the installation dinner and Cynthia Greenstone of Irvington was the installing officer. Both Morris and Greenstone are past presidents of this organization of about 150 women who come from throughout Essex and Union counties.

OIL AND WATER DON'T MIX.

AN OIL BURNER GIVES YOU ALMOST TWO PARTS WASTED ENERGY TO ONE PART HOT WATER.

If you're using an oil-fired boiler to heat your water, only a small percentage of the oil you burn is actually giving you hot water. The rest is used just to keep your boiler going 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Then it wastes even more energy by generating excess heat in the summer that can make your home hotter and your air conditioning work harder.

SWITCH TO GAS. IT'S A PERFECT SOLUTION.

With gas, most of your fuel heats your water, not your home. Gas is cleaner than oil, and you never have to worry about running out. That's why we call natural gas a constant source of comfort.

At Elizabethtown Gas, we have a large selection of modern, energy-efficient gas water heaters. And special incentives worth $100 toward purchase and installation of 30, 40 or 50 gallon energy-efficient units.

$50 ENERGY CONSERVATION REBATE.

Install an energy-efficient 30, 40 or 50 gallon gas water heater now, and you'll receive a $50 Energy Conservation Rebate. So before you even start saving energy, you'll save money.

Present this coupon when you purchase your gas water heater, and receive a special bonus discount:

Pharmacy & Your Health

ALLERGIC RHINITIS

Rhinitis is the chronic, allergic irritation and inflammation of the nasal passages. It usually occurs with watery eyes, sneezing, seasonal stuffiness, usually due to a sensitivity to pollen from trees, flowers, grasses and weeds. Rhinitis occurring year round may be due to dog and cat dander, dust, and molds.

Antihistamine-containing medicines help reduce mucous secretions, itching, and swelling inside the nose. These medicines tend to be more useful in preventing than in correcting nasal symptoms. For this reason, antihistamines should be given before an anticipated attack.

The decongestants cause a shrinkage of the swollen membranes in the nasal passages. On a short-term basis they can bring dramatic relief. Long-term use (especially as drops or sprays) can, however, cause congestion to return.

Topical steroids (on prescription) are often effective in treating chronic rhinitis. The steroid, when inhaled through the nose, soothes inflamed membranes. If almost dramatic results are not achieved, some patients are also given antihistamines and/or decongestants.

Rams hoping early season success continues

By WAYNE TILLMAN

What a difference a year makes... Last year, the Union Rams finished with a 16-24 record in the Essex County Baseball League, the worst record in the team's seven year history.

But that was last year. This year's Rams team has gotten off to a sizzling start in the ECBL, winning 10 of their first 12 games, by far the best record in the league. And now they are the team to beat and could be a favorite to win the league crown in August.

What has been the key in the turnaround? Just ask manager Ron Cappizzano.

"It has been because of a little conglomerate of a lot of players," he said. "We have an excellent group of players who are sticking together. And we are strong throughout our lineup, there are no easy outs. Plus we have excellent pitching and strong defense in the middle."

What it has added up to is the best team ever to take the diamond at Rabkin Park, the Rams' home field.

Sports this week

baseball is Anthony Facio, who is currently hitting over .300 and the shortstop is Jim Petrillo, formerly of the Red Sox and considered to be the league's best at his position.

Marty Carbone, who was with the Springfield and Tom Barrett of Westfield.

"Through 10 games, our staff ERA is 1.00, which is excellent," said Cappizzano. "This is an outstanding staff. And our pitching should keep us from losing too many games."

Carbone has been consistent and been getting the key hits for us, while Murray has been especially as a leadoff hitter. He is a leader and provides us with a good outlet and an excellent arm," said Cappizzano.

Union has also gotten contributions from Mark Whitcomb and Mark Casali as the designated hitters.

But the pitching has been the biggest factor in the Rams' success. Cappizzano has four sure starters and two excellent relievers waiting in the wings.

Leading the starters is former A's hurler Hugh McKean, who is 3-0 and recently won his 100th league game. Mike Metzger, also 3-0, from Drew University, Fagan and Dan Borgo.

In the bullpen are lefthander Steve LaManna of Roselle Park and righty John Marcasin of Kenilworth. Also available are Frank Gagliano of Springfield and Tom Barrett of Westfield.

"Through 10 games, our staff ERA is 1.00, which is excellent," said Cappizzano. "This is an outstanding staff. And our pitching should keep us from losing too many games."

Carbone has been consistent and

And thus far, only the Parsippany Tomahawks and New Jersey Cubans have handed the Rams their only losses. But the season is a long way from over, and the team knows that.

"Our confidence factor is excellent," said Cappizzano. "The other teams have to catch us. Plus, the Cubans have a tremendous offensive club, while Millburn has good pitching and defense. The Jays are a scrappy team that lack pitching and Crawford, despite its record (10-9) is a strong team."

Are the Rams for real? Stay tuned and find out.

Majors to host tourney this weekend

By WAYNE TILLMAN

It was an idea that came into Betty Zwinger's head in December.

"I wanted to have a tournament in Linden," said the manager of the Linden Majors. "I wanted it to be a big family affair and have some of the area's best teams competing."

Her idea has become reality. The first annual Linden Majors women's fast-pitch softball tournament takes place this weekend at the Memorial Field complex. There will be 21 teams, nine in the Major Division and 12 in the A Division, competing from four states.

And the local teams get the ball rolling tomorrow night, when the tournament, sponsored by Lite Beer, begins. At 7:30 p.m. at Toops Nusse Field, the Linden Artians will meet the Pandoras of New York and at 8 p.m., the Majors tangle with Lansdale, Pa.

Last weekend, the Majors traveled to Washington, D.C. for a tournament and finished third. Outfielder Kathy Starling and second baseman Margaret Niemann were named to the all-tournament team.

In an 8-0 romp over Lansdale, winning pitcher Rose Kalinak was backed by two hits each from Starling, Tracy Buzo and Suzanne Luna. Dori Breen and Donna Brooks also drove in runs.

That was followed by a 3-1 loss to the Bandits of Bucks County, Pa. Eileen Gregory drove in Linden's only run.

A rain washed away Saturday's play. Linden was busy on Sunday.

Taylor an All-American

Former Union High girls basketball star Cheryl Taylor was named second team All-American by Fast Break magazine, a publication that covers women's basketball for the American Women's Sports Federation.

Taylor, now starting at Tennessee Tech and who will be participating in the upcoming National Sports Festival in Louisiana, was named to the second team for university division all-Americans. She joins Pam Gant of Louisiana Tech on that second team, and Taylor was named to the magazine's all-Deep South squad.

Among the players chosen first team All-Americans were Janet Taylor of Georgia, Cheryl Miller of Southern Cal, and Medina Dixon and Tracy Claxton of national champion Old Dominion.

County loop needs sponsors

Sponsors are still needed for the 1985 Youth Baseball League. The League, sponsored by the Union County Baseball Association and the County of Union, Department of Parks and Recreation is for boys and girls ages 8-15.

Sponsorship fees range from $65 per team for 8 & 9 year olds to $125 per team for 14 & 15 year olds.

All games are played at Warnaco Park during June, July and August. Sponsorship fees will be used to defray the cost of uniforms, trophies and umpire fees.

Any individual or organization wishing to sponsor a team should contact Jean Laham, Program Coordinator, at the Department of Parks and Recreation Office at 527-4916.

Berliners star for Muhlenberg tennis

Two former Dayton Regional tennis stars had fine seasons this spring with Muhlenberg College. One was senior Al Bramer, who was 11-9 this year and served as the team's co-captain. He won his third varsity letter and finished 39-15 overall in singles and doubles play at MC.

The other was sophomore Mike Berlin, who went 14-6 overall this season (best mark on the squad). He also earned his first varsity letter this year as Muhlenberg finished with a final team record of 7-5.

Marty Carbone, who was with the A's, is handling the duties at third base and Mike Murray, former Kean College star, is behind the plate. The outfielders are Horn Diaz, another Kean star, in left, Marczak and Frank Furfaro in right.

"Carbone has been consistent and been getting the key hits for us, while Murray has been excellent as a leadoff hitter. He is a leader and provides us with a good stick and an excellent arm," said Cappizzano.

Union has also gotten contributions from Mark Whitcomb and Mark Crisali as the designated hitters.

But the pitching has been the biggest factor in the Rams' success. Cappizzano has four sure starters and two excellent relievers waiting in the wings.

Leading the starters is former A's hurler Hugh McKeen, who is 3-0 and recently won his 100th league game; Mike Melayer, also 3-0, from Drew University; Fagan and Dan Borgo. In the bullpen are lefthander Steve LaManna of Roselle Park and righty John Marcasin of Kenilworth. Also available are Frank Capizzano of Springfield and Tom Barrett of Westfield.

"Through 10 games, our staff ERA is 1.90, which is excellent," said Cappizzano. "This is an outstanding staff. And our pitching should keep us from long losing streaks."

And thus far, only the Parsippany Tomahawks and New Jersey Cubs have handed the Rams their only losses. But the season is a long way over, and the team knows that.

"Our confidence factor is excellent," said Cappizzano. "The other teams have to catch us. Plus, no team in league history has ever won 30 games in a season (in a 48 game schedule). So that's something to boot for."

That, plus some hardware. The Rams have won three division and one league title (1981), but this team is threatening to break plenty of records.

But the question now is: Can they keep it up?

"I hope so," said Cappizzano. "But now that we've played everyone at least once, we will be facing very tough games ahead. And we seem to face the best of every team's pitching staff."

In the South Division with the Rams are the Millburn Atlantes, Newark Jersey Cubs, Union Jayhawks and Cranford Knights. The North Division is comprised of the Verona Twins, Parsippany Tomahawks, Montclair Indians and Belleville Braves.

Verona and Parsippany will give us trouble because they are strong in pitching, offense and defense," said Cappizzano. "The Cubs have a tremendous offensive club, while Millburn has good pitching and defense. The Jays are a scrappy team that lack pitching and Cranford, despite its record (0-0) is a strong team."

The Rams play a major league game at Roselle Park on Monday and Tuesday. Last night, they played host to Belleville. The month's action concludes next week with home games against Verona (June 24), Montclair (June 25) and Belleville (June 26).

Are the Rams for real? Stay tuned and find out.

Sports this week

baseball is Anthony Pucillo, who is currently hitting over .300 and the shortstop is Jim Pettilio, formerly of the Red Sox and considered to be the league's best at his position.

Marty Carbone, who was with the A's, is handling the duties at third base and Mike Murray, former Kean College star, is behind the plate. The outfielders are Horn Diaz, another Kean star, in left, Marczak and Frank Furfaro in right.

Majors to host tourney this weekend

By WAYNE TILLMAN
It was an idea that came into Betty Zwingraf's head back in December.

"I wanted to have a tournament in Linden," said the manager of the Linden Majors. "I wanted it to be a big family affair and have some of the area's best teams competing."

Her idea has become reality. The first annual Linden Majors women's first-pitch softball tournament takes place this weekend at the Memorial Field complex. There will be 21 teams, nine in the Major Division and 12 in the A Division, competing from four states.

And the local teams get the ball rolling tomorrow night, when the tourney, sponsored by Lite Beer, begins. At 7:30 p.m. at Toots Nusse Field, the Linden Arians will meet the Pandoras of New York and at 9 p.m., the Majors tangle with Lansdale, Pa.

It is a double-elimination affair, and games will be played throughout Saturday and Sunday at the Toots Nusse fields, the main Memorial Field baseball diamond and at Tremley Point. Joining the Majors are Johnny's Jets of Baltimore, West Haven, Waterford and the Astor-Cedar of Connecticut, Albany N.Y., Allentown, Pa. and the Montclair 81's.

The Arians and Pandoras are joined in the A Division tourney with the Clark Wildcats, Bergen County Blue Jays, Colonia Crusaders, North Jersey Shilohs, Cedar Grove Gems, Kelly's Crew of Nutley, Rutherford and the Admired Oilers of Hammonton from New Jersey, Brooklyn, N.Y., and Stamford, Conn.

"It will be a tough tournament. Anything can happen," said Zwingraf. "There are many strong teams in both divisions."

There will be a festive mood this weekend. Linden Mayor George Hudak is scheduled to throw out the first ball tomorrow, and a chicken barbecue is slated for Saturday. That, plus outstanding softball, makes for a enjoyable weekend.

Last weekend, the Majors traveled to Washington, D.C. for a tournament and finished third. Outfielder Kathy Starling and second baseman Margaret Niemann were named to the all-tournament team.

In an 8-0 romp over Lansdale, winning pitcher Rose Kalisak was backed by two hits each from Starling, Tracy Buono and Suzanne Mendel. The Toon Top V.I.P.'s of Pennsylvania ended up winning the tournament.

That was followed by a 3-1 loss to the Bandits of Bucks County, Pa. Eileen Gregory drove in Linden's only run.

A rain washed away Saturday's play, Linden was busy on Sunday.

They edged Johnny's Jets, 3-2, on Bonnie Black's suicide squeeze in the seventh which scored Luna with the deciding run.

In a 5-1 win over the Washington Metro, Kalisak struck out seven and had three hits, while Gregory, Buono and Starling each had two hits. But Linden's hopes of winning the tourney ended in a 2-0 loss to the Bandits. The Toon Top V.I.P.'s of Pennsylvania ended up winning the tournament.

Michelle Smith was unavailable to the Majors last weekend, but will be in uniform this weekend for the tourney.

Taylor an All-American

Former Union High girls' basketball star Cheryl Taylor was named second team All-American by Fast Break magazine, a publication that covers women's basketball for the American Women's Sports Federation.

Taylor, now starring at Tennessee Tech and who will be participating in the upcoming National Sports Festival in Louisiana, was named to the second team for university division all-Americans. She joins Pam Gant of Louisiana Tech on that second team, and Taylor was named to the magazine's All-Deep South squad.

Among the players chosen first team All-American were Juste Harris of Georgia, Cheryl Miller of Southern Cal, and Medina Dixon and Tracy Claxton of national champion Old Dominion.

County loop needs sponsors

Sponsors are still needed for the 1985 Youth Baseball League. The League, sponsored by the Union County Baseball Association and the County of Union, Department of Parks and Recreation is for boys and girls ages 8-15.

Sponsorship fees range from $65 per team for 8 & 9 year olds to $125 per team for 14 & 15 year olds.

Two former Dayton Regional tennis stars had fine seasons this spring with Muhlenberg College. One was senior Al Berlin, who was 11-9 this year and served as the team's co-captain. He won his third varsity letter and finished 39-15 overall in singles and doubles play at MC.

The other was sophomore Mike Berlin, who went 14-8 overall this season (best mark on the squad). He also earned his first varsity letter this year as Muhlenberg finished with a final team record of 7-5.

The former NBA superstar, who led the Knicks to 11 titles in 1959 and 1973, played for the corporate team in the tourney between the company's divisional branches.

Stadium hosts auto show

The Mountaineer Little League crowned a new champion as the Twins eked out a 97 verdict from last year's pace setters, the Braves. The Twins jumped to an early 6-0 on the strength of a two-run double by Peter Gutrich and the defensive play of shortstop Mike Yurochko. Brian Burke, Mike DiBella and Jim Higgins led the Braves offensively with Mike Logio keeping things close with a fine running catch in leftfield. The Twins then celebrated their crown by outdistancing the Mets, 17-8. Colin Gordon with four hits and four RBIs, Peter Gutrich with three hits and four RBIs and Mike Yurochko with two hits and three RBIs made life easy for winning pitcher Chad Oberhauser. Centerfielder Mike Byrne earned defensive honors by gunning a runner down at the plate to complete a double play. Matt Cook, Tony Kasparek and Ryan Pimentel each drove in two runs for the Mets. The American League Indians had a good week, winning two of three ballgames. In the opener Jim Hurley and Bob Gardella combined to hurl a three-hit shutout as the Indians came up with a seven-run third inning to beat the Astros, 10-0. Chris Giannotti, Mark Siefert, Ian Sanchez and Brande Aylward struck the big blows for the Indians. Andrew Weinberg, Brad Walters and Angela Carrelli had the Astro hits. The Indians then spoiled the Braves a four-run lead, then came on strong to top the Brewers, 7-6. John Mennella had a game winning two-run single with Tony Wladky, David Santos and Tommy Roncova hitting the Indians back in the ballgame with key hits. Jimmy Forker struck out the side in an inning of relief to pick up the win. Blake Haggerty, Kevin Barbonek and Brian Anderson each had RBI singles for the Brewers, but Ben Schneider was the Brewer stand-out, with a double, triple and three RBIs. Alan Kennedy and Jessica Schneider played well at the keystone spots for the Brewers. Scott Driscoll pounded out a triple and home run and Alan Kennedy chipped in with two RBI singles as the Yankees brought the Indians win streak to a halt, 6-3. Driscoll and Ryan Davis combined for the pitching laurels with third baseman Carlos Lacey leading ample support with the leather. Mark Siefert, John Mennella and Chris Giannotti produced the Indian runs. The Yankees in turn edged the Astros, 3-2, in a game that was defensive thriller. Matt Bonaventura behind the plate and Blair Gardner at first base combined to choke off the tying run at the plate to pull winning pitcher Andrew Weinberg out of jams. Bonaventura also scored the winning run, coming around from first on a Maailo Carrelli's single. Brad VonderLinden and Gardner had the other RBIs. The Yankees receiver Larry Mistrotenko had an exceptional defensive game while Scott Driscoll, Tom Lyons and David Crosby manufactured the Yankee runs.

Sharks swim squad prepares for season

The Springfield summer swim team, known as the Sharks, will move up into Division II in the North Jersey Summer Swim League. Last year, the team had its best season ever, going 9-1 in Division III and now moves up into the higher division. The Sharks will take on the likes of such teams as Berkeley Heights, Florham Park and Millburn. Taking the reins this year will be Hal Levine, who started his swimming career with the Sharks. "I think we're a powerful team, and if everybody returns, and we get some new swimmers as well, we have a good chance at a winning season," he said. Levine started when he was 11, learning all the strokes from Joyce Pinkava and went on to become a four-year varsity letter winner and captain of the Dayton Regional swim team. He also went to the state championships three out of the four years. Hale Arnold will be Levine's assistant coach, as well as captain for the 1985 season. A veteran of the sport, Arnold has been swimming since he was six. The season begins today and tomorrow from 3:45-5:30 p.m. All Springfield residents ages 6-18 are invited and welcome to participate. Starting this Monday, the schedule changes permanently to 11-18 year olds practicing from 10 a.m.-12 noon and 11 a.m.-12 noon weekdays for those years and under. Further information may be obtained by contact Levine at 467-0623, Pinkava at 273-3276, Arnold or pool manager Greg Ficarra.

Another winning year for Bulldog golfers

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School golf team recently completed its fourth consecutive winning season with a record of eighteen wins, seven losses and one tie. Super spring weather contributed to some low scoring matches and individual wins. The team qualified for the State Tournament held at Rutgers University and also for the County Tournament at Echo Lake Country Club. The Bulldogs were in contention for the Mountain Division title of the Mountain Valley Conference all season and finished second in the eventual winner Immaculata. Dayton triumphed in the third annual Union County Regional Tournament for the third year in a row. This year's team was led by senior Mike Tomko, winner of the First Place medal in the Regional Tournament. Junior, Mitchell Cohen (80 in the Conference Tournament) and two sophomores, Ken Gargiulo and Gary Gechlik who made up the tournament team. Senior, Peter Vanderlin and junior, Glen Gechlik were the other team letter winners. Backups included senior, Jim Rau, junior, Adam Cohen and freshman, Mark Wance and Kevin Dalley. Cohen and Tomko were named to the All-Mountain First Team All-Star while Gargiulo was placed on the Second Team. Tomko was cited as the team's most valuable player and Cohen was named the most improved player.

Also getting RBIs were Jerry Ragones, Joe Policastro and Frank Zahn. Tom Burke was the winning pitcher and Rob Bohrod took the loss. Reiner led Kean net squad Lossing seasons are never fun. But sometimes they can pave the way for better times, as far as experience and game pressure are concerned. After a 3-11 overall record and a 1-5 mark in New Jersey State Athletic Conference competition, that's what Tony Ochrimenko is hoping for in 1986 for his Kean College men's tennis team. Ochrimenko liked some of the hits he saw. Felix Ochoa, Evan Levine and Basil Newmeyerchik won his second game of the week, beating Fritzen on the mound.

Netters win

The Springfield Recreation Department's women's tennis team opened its seventh season in the Suburban Women's Tennis League by defeating Madison, 3-1, at the Irwin playground courts. Winning players were Lucille Cline and Maureen Hamilton in first doubles, 4-6, 7-6, 1-0; Pat Horvath and Julie Cohen in second doubles, 6-1, 6-3; and Fran Spots and Julie Lam followed with a 7-6, 7-6 victory. Seniors Eng and Marie Morrocco lost in a tiebreaker, 3-4, after splitting sets, 6-2, 5-7.

Katowitz wins soccer award

Dayton soccer coach Joe Cozza, whose team had a fine season last fall, had some outstanding individual performances on the field, but none like the goalie. Stephen Katowitz, a senior, has been named the Class of 1985 Most Valuable Soccer Player Award by the United States Army. This award is in cooperation with the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. Katowitz, who has been a member of the Bulldog boaters the past four seasons and the starting goalie the last two, was also the team captain. In his first two seasons, Katowitz played left wing while Andy Grett, who has been an All-American at Fairleigh Dickinson University, patrolled the Dayton net. Rather than bide his time awaiting his chance in goal, Katowitz looked at his field experience as a chance to improve his goalkeeping abilities—an attitude that is now paying hefty dividends. He also gained notoriety last fall in the state tournament when he shut out Madison, 1-0, but also scored the only goal on a penalty kick. Among the honors that he has won during his high school career are: Union County All-Star recognition in 1963 and second team All-Mountain Valley Conference in 1984. He also was named Cosmopolitan All-Star in 1979 and 1980; New Jersey East Select All-Star in 1981. He has labored in anonymity for a long time. Now Stephen Katowitz is being recognized at last. For him, it couldn't have come at a better time.

For week of June 20 to June 27

ARIES (3/21-4/20) The week ahead will focus on property, family and living arrangement matters. Romantic interests pass for most of this period. Career matters need careful handling and continue to improve your overall health. Later, unexpected greetings brighten your outlook and gossip is reliable.

TAURUS (4/21-5/21) Expect the weeks ahead to generate a lot of activity in local, family and neighborhood matters. This will be a very busy period to be prepared for a hectic though happy period. Later, slick with the tried and true, look forward to career advantages and attend to lingering health matters.

GEMINI (5/22-6/21) Think before you speak during this week. Misunderstandings are likely and you may be feeling more sensitive than usual. Family matters will assume importance. Join in another's happiness. Later, you gain in work matters if you follow your hunches. Finances continue to improve for many.

CANCER (6/22-7/23) Try to keep a light hold on you purse strings this week; count your change and walk away from what appears to be a bargain! Local travel will be on the agenda for many and entertaining those from a distance will be enjoyable. Later, family and romantic ties improve considerably.

LEO (7/24-8/23) You will gain more this week by remaining in the background and attending to personal or private plans, especially during the early portion of this period. Later, expect to be busy as errands and daily demands are accelerated. Important messages or agreements are indicated.

VIRGO (8/24-9/23) You may not be feeling up to par early this week and your anger is easily provoked. Make time for yourself and let others do as they wish! Later, your financial interests improve, private concerns continue to crowd your thoughts and a change of scenery could be in the offing.

LIBRA (9/24-10/23) This could be a frustrating period of delays for some; don't count on anything and you won't be disappointed! Later property, family and financial interests improve and along with this, your mood as well. This is a good time to clear away old or lingering obligations.

Disc 'n Data

By MILT HAMMER
Pick Of The LPs, "The Best of Terri Gibbs," by Terri Gibbs (MCA Records).

Toward the end of 1980, a novel, mournful and soulful voice appeared over the airwaves. At first, biographical facts were sketchy, so much so that it seemed she had come from nowhere. But within weeks, the entire nation knew the voice of Terri Gibbs as her brilliant and powerful vocals carried "Somebody's Knockin'" into the country top-10 and onto adult contemporary radio. It was one of those rare perfect marriages of singer and song that makes music so energizing and exciting.

As we came to know her, we saw a singer, billed since birth, who was sensitive and sincere, and who chose to make an emotional rendition of "Georgia" (in honor of her home state), a centerpiece of her live performance.

Subsequent hits included "Ashes to Ashes," "Rich Man" and "Misty River."

Terri Gibbs was discovered by Ed Penny, who became her manager, producer of her first three albums, and in many cases, her songwriter. Her last MCA album was produced by famed Muscle Shoals producer Rick Hall. The "Best Of" collection is the best of all four albums.

Hildrew work in N.Y. show

Prof. George Hildrew of Brooklyn, a member of Union County College's English/Fine Arts/Modern Languages Department, is showing a drawing in crayon at the School of Visual Arts at 209 E. 23rd St., New York, during an exhibition which will run through June 28.

Prof. Hildrew's drawing, "Better Dining," is part of the exhibit entitled "Starved for Art," featuring a simulated restaurant environment. It will showcase the works of 18 well-known artists depicting the theme of eating out.

Prof. Hildrew, a member of the Union County College faculty since 1976, is a member of the Artists' Choice Museum and has been represented in various traveling art exhibitions which featured his other art works. He was invited to exhibit at Blue Mountain Gallery, the Public Image Gallery and the Artists' Choice Museum in recent years.
