Town in Walton case

By KENNETH SCHANKLER
The complex Walton School legal proceedings, which now involve Springfield Township, will be heard by Superior Court Judge Milton Feller July 18 at 11 a.m.
Judge Feller granted permission Friday for the township to be brought into the matter as a third party.
The suit, brought by the Springfield Board of Education against Greensprings Associates, asks that Greensprings not be allowed to purchase the school from the board.
The suit, agreed to by a previous board, is prohibited by a condition of the initial transfer of the property from the township to the board, according to Board Attorney Yale Greenspoon. The township, in the transfer, stipulated that the property could not be used for non-public purposes.

Greensprings, owned by local builder Frank Racioppi, wants to build single-family homes on the tract.
In an attempt to bring several issues into the trial, Greenspoon filed a third-party complaint against the township.
The township, in turn, this week will file a counter claim against the board and a cross claim against Greensprings, according to Township Attorney Anthony D'Alessio.
"There's a restrictive covenant in the deed that said the land was not to be used for anything other than public purposes," D'Alessio said, listing a school or senior citizens housing as two allowable uses for the property.
The township, D'Alessio said, never gave up the right to enforce that condition.
D'Alessio added his feelings that this is a good time to rejoin the case so that it can finally be settled.

"We were a part of the case last year, but for a different reason," D'Alessio said. With that aspect of the case settled, however, the township reduced to the role of spectator until the third-party complaint was filed.
With the township once again involved, all unsettled matters can be put to rest.
"It's good to have all the issues decided at this point," D'Alessio said.
"That's big. That's great," Greenspoon said. "Not only are they a party, but they've come out fighting."
Greenspoon said that once the suit is heard by Judge Feller, the "glorious error" the board made in deciding to sell to Greensprings will be rectified.

Rights case slated for Aug. 9

By KENNETH SCHANKLER
A pretrial conference in U.S. District Court in Newark has been set for Aug. 9 in the much-delayed $12 million lawsuit filed by a Springfield resident against the township and its Board of Health, who claims that his civil rights were violated.
Larry Geller, attorney for plaintiff Philip Wertz, said the conference will be used to present issues that will be discussed during the trial.
The trial has been delayed due to the bankruptcy last September of Ambassador Insurance, the Springfield Police Department's former liability insurance carrier, Geller said.

Wertz received physical harm as a result of the incident, Geller claims, and was hospitalized at Overlook Hospital, Summit.
Wertz was charged with assaulting each officer and obstructing a governmental function. He was later found innocent of all charges.

but the January, 1981 assault complaint will be resolved. The grants will be received. The grants are part of a federal program.
In other matters, the committee appointed current Deputy Court Clerk Jean Keyworth as a temporary replacement for retiring Clerk Keith Olga Murana.
Murana has been with the township for more than 10 years, having worked as deputy court clerk before being appointed court clerk several years ago.
The committee also voted to accept a $10,000 bid from John Jovino of New York, N.Y. for 5-millimeter service revolvers for the Police Department. Jovino's bid, which includes a trade-in of old sidearms, was accepted over several other bids.
A group of residents whose children are involved in a girls' softball league spoke during the public portion of the meeting to express their concern over the way the league was operated this year.
The residents were upset that playoffs for the three-team league were cancelled in favor of a picnic. Additionally, they said, T-shirts ordered for league members were too small.
The residents said it may be too late to rescind the playoff games this year, but the committee promised there would be no recurrence of the situation in the future.

Engine sale postponed

By KENNETH SCHANKLER
The Springfield Township Committee has deferred action on the purchase of the Fire Department's 1958 LaFrance fire engine after receiving only one bid at the committee's regular meeting Tuesday night.
The bid, received from Don Martin of Caroga Lake, N.Y., was for $225, an amount characterized by Fire Chief Ronald Johnson as "quite low."
Johnson told the committee that ads had been placed in the New York Times and other publications, but Fire Chief William Cieri said the ads might not have reached the right people.
"Perhaps these people don't know we have for sale," Cieri said.
Johnson suggested placing new ads in various trade publications in September or October.
The sale of the LaFrance aerial ladder engine follows the purchase of a new aerial ladder engine this spring.
The committee also introduced an ordinance to execute an agreement to modify the interlocal agreement with the county.
The ordinance will allow the township to receive several block grants, including $9,000 for the senior citizens lunch program operated at the Raymond Chisholm School, $8,000 for a bathroom at the Chisholm school and $30,000 for street paving.
Committee member Stanley Kaish said an ordinance of this type is approved by the committee every year as a way of reporting which grants will be received. The grants are part of a federal program.

Dayton's top two begin new adventure

By SHAWN EVANS
and KENNETH SCHANKLER
The highest-ranking students in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's Class of 1985 have left something behind for fellow students to follow.
The importance of responsibility and the fact that there's more to high school than just academics.
Shanaman's valedictory, which pivoted around a two-minute theme pertaining to "The responsibility for the future," was geared not only towards the responsibilities of high school, but also around the idea of "having responsibility for everyone else."
Surprised that he was listed as the highest-ranking student, the 17-year-old Shanaman said that he plans to attend Rutgers University this fall and possibly pursue a career in medicine.
Shanaman, the recipient of a full scholarship to the Rutgers Presidential Scholarship explained that he intends to stay on campus.
"I was notified that I was the highest-ranking student about halfway through my senior year," he said. "It was surprising to me."
"Actually, I think this all came naturally," he said. "I can't lie and say I worked hard — basically that's why I was somewhat surprised."
Former Deputy Superintendent of Schools Shanaman was named a Governor's Scholar last summer, where he attended the Governor's School of Arts for his musical abilities. He said he is "very into jazz" and also enjoys playing the saxophone, and is a member of a rock band.
Before entering into college, Shanaman will spend the rest of the summer working at a full-time job in New York.

He said he didn't really have a particular subject which he would classify as his favorite, because he was "sort of into all of them."
And regarding a favorite instructor or mentor, Shanaman said everyone has helped him a lot, including his parents Peter and Maxine Shanaman.
Cole's salutatory speech held a different twist, as he based it on the idea that "There's more to high school than just academics."
His schedule of high school activities would suggest that he tried to live that statement to the letter.
A tackle for the football team, a varsity basketball player, a shot putter, and discus hurler for the track team, Cole still managed to achieve a 3.8 grade average while at Dayton, second best in his class.
The key to his academic success, Cole said, was organization.
"It hasn't really been too hard," the 19-year-old said. "You just have to keep in mind what has to be done."
"Actually, I was a little disappointed," he said. "I was number one for a long time and then someone else beat me out. Obviously, I will miss my friends."
Cole, who will attend the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, did have trouble with one subject.
"History gave me the most problems," he said. "I don't really know why."
In addition to continuing his football career, Cole's present plans are to major in an applied science, with engineering a possibility.
"I'm pretty excited," he said. "It should be quite an experience."
There is one activity Cole will not be participating in, however, even though he would like to.
"I'm not playing basketball in college," Cole said. "I will miss it the most."
Rinaldo attempted to have the case reopened, but was turned down by Summit Municipal Court Judge Russell Hultizer. The case had been transferred to Summit from Springfield.
As a result, the July 8 hearing will be the first time the teachers' statements on the assault will be recorded.
Once the board's investigation is completed, charges could be certified against the two teachers, at

"CQ FIELD DAY" were the words echoed throughout the Watchung Reservation Saturday and Sunday as amateur radio operators at station NJ2Q participated in the 52nd annual field day, a 24-hour emergency preparedness exercise. Hams from the Springfield, Union, Fanning and Hillside Offices of Emergency Management contacted stations participating in the simulated emergency around the world. All electricity at the site was provided by generators and solar power. New response team forming

By ELIZABETH SEF
Union County firefighters are joining together to form what they believe is the first county-wide hazardous material emergency response team in the state.
The Hazardous Response Team Steering Committee, an offshoot of the Union County Fire Chiefs Association, has held one meeting so far, according to Deputy Chief Harold Mitchell of the Union Fire Department, a spokesman for the group.
About 14 of the county's 21 municipalities, including Springfield, were represented at the meeting, Mitchell said, adding that the group chose Linden Fire Chief Edwin Schuller to serve as chairman. The township representative is First Class Firefighter Kenneth Rur. Those towns that were not represented will be contacted for a future meeting, Mitchell said.
A lack of both materials and experience on the part of individual fire departments to deal with hazardous material incidents prompted the formation of the steering committee, according to Mitchell.
"We're trying to structure an organization similar to the Union County Arson Squad where communities contribute personnel," he said.
With input derived from municipal fire departments that have computers, Mitchell said that the association learned that at least 200 hazardous material incidents are reported in Union County each month.

"We know there is even more than that because some towns don't contribute to the total," he said.
One of the goals of the committee is to form an advisory group of the fire officers with experience to respond to emergencies and lend assistance to the individual fire departments handling the hazardous material incident.
The committee also hopes to receive help from local industry, which he said have chemists and other personnel who could provide expertise in dealing with certain hazardous materials.
So far, the committee has formed (Continued on page 3)

July 4th fireworks set

Once again plans are under way to hold Springfield's annual Fourth of July Fireworks Display.
The fireworks will be held July 4 at Meisel Field, Springfield. The gates open at 7 p.m. and the fireworks will start at 8 p.m. The Fourth of July Committee Co-Chairman Scott Seidel advised that in the event of inclement weather, the fireworks display will be held July 6. People may bring chairs and blankets to sit on, however no alcoholic beverages are permitted on the field.
The Office of Emergency Management, headed by John Cottage, has been running the display for seven years. The Garden State Fireworks Company of Millington provides and sets off the fireworks. A $1 per person donation is collected at the gates to help pay for the cost of the display. The cost of having the fireworks is funded by the gate collections and a mailing to local business and organizations requesting donations. The township contributes about one-sixth of the total cost.
Cottage said that the fireworks program is not a money-making operation. "Our goal is to collect enough from the gates and our mailing to break even," he said. "Should we fall short of our break-even point, we probably will not be able to continue having the fireworks."
Those interested in supporting the fireworks are urged to send donations to the Fourth of July Committee, Municipal Building, Springfield 07081.
Assisting the Office of Emergency Management at Meisel Field will be members of the Jewish War Veterans, Elia Unger Post 273, the Springfield Volunteer Fire Department and the Springfield First Aid Squad. The fencing around the field is supplied by the Road Department.

Assault hearing July 8

A July 8 hearing will go on as planned following a U.S. District Court denial of a request for a restraining order to prevent the Springfield Board of Education from obtaining statements from two teachers charged in February with assaulting a Florence M. Gaudinier school student.
Earlier reports that the injunction had been granted were not true, according to Board Attorney Yale Greenspoon.
Stephen Klausner, attorney for the two teachers, Joseph Blanda and JoAnn Pieper, had asked for the restraining order June 10.
Pieper and Blanda were charged with assaulting a sixth-grade Gaudinier student Feb. 5, but the charges were dropped when Donald Rinaldo, attorney for the plaintiff, failed to appear in court at the trial date.
Rinaldo attempted to have the case reopened, but was turned down by Summit Municipal Court Judge Russell Hultizer. The case had been transferred to Summit from Springfield.
As a result, the July 8 hearing will be the first time the teachers' statements on the assault will be recorded.
Once the board's investigation is completed, charges could be certified against the two teachers, at

FOCUS ON UNION COUNTY - June 20, 1985 - Page 15

Report faults budget process

While finding no evidence of criminal conduct, an investigation completed June 20 by the Union County Prosecutor's Office, law enforcement authorities concluded that there were several areas where county officials failed to act in accordance with required budgeting procedures during a period from 1983 to 1985.

But news of the completion of the extensive fiscal probe was followed by word that Freeholder Charlotte DeFilippo called on the prosecutor's office June 20 to conduct a new investigation into allegations that County Manager Louis Coletti illegally awarded two contracts without competitive bidding under the guise of an "emergency." The county prosecutor's office has not yet commented on DeFilippo's request.

The completed investigation was launched as a result of a request filed by County Manager Louis Coletti with County Prosecutor John Stamer to investigate numerous cases in which the County Board of Freeholders passed spending resolutions without sufficient funds.

"This office cannot state that it is in possession of any evidence of which would suggest that any of the public officials referred to... acted wilfully or knowingly in committing a violation of statutory or administrative Code provisions," the prosecutor's report stated.

The 23-page report, prepared by Assistant Prosecutor Richard Rodbart, said that there was "no basis" for criminal prosecution in the case due to evidence that county officials demonstrated "a lack of familiarity and/or understanding of the specific fiscal affairs procedures noted."

But while the report excused county officials of criminal wrongdoing, the prosecutor's office found numerous instances in which the county either abrogated or ignored state budget mandates. The report decried "a classic failure of communication" between the legislative and executive branches of county government which enabled

"numerous defective financial resolutions to pass through the legislative process."

In numerous cases, the prosecutor's office revealed that the county failed to provide certification for certain resolutions of the existence of sufficient funds; failed to designate expenditures to specific line item accounts; failed to include the dollar amount to be spent in inappropriate documents as the basis for certification; and allowed officials not vested with the proper authority to certify expenditures.

The report also noted that the freeholders awarded some professional service contracts without specifying the amount of the contract or properly advertising the award.

In one of its most stinging criticisms of the county, the prosecutor's report noted that the Police probe break-ins

Springfield police are investigating several burglaries that have occurred during the past week in the township.

A burglary at a Baltusoli Avenue residence was reported to police at 2:45 p.m. June 17. Police said entry was gained by opening a screen in the rear of the house.

Taken were a gold chain, a silver tray, a gold bracelet, a diamond ring, two watches, two cameras and some lighting equipment. Total value was estimated at $4,000, police said.

Patrolman George Hilder responded to the call.

A second burglary was reported at a factory on Fadm Road the night of June 19 or the morning of June 20. Police said the thieves entered the building through a rear door, broke open a safe and made off with $50 cash. Sgt. James Chisholm investigated.

A break-in at Garibaldi Associates on Edison Place was discovered Monday morning when employees returned to work after the weekend, according to police reports.

Police said entry was gained through a side window and a safe was pried open and an undisclosed amount of cash was taken. Police believe the theft occurred Sunday night or Monday morning. Patrolman James Sabol responded to the scene.

Police believe a theft at the Prudential Insurance Company on Morris Avenue is related to the theft at Garibaldi Associates.

The building was entered through a window at the front of the establishment, police said, sometime Sunday evening or Monday morning.

Inside, employees reporting for work Monday morning found the office had been ransacked and a small amount of cash missing, police said. Patrolman Ernest Vardalis responded to the call.

Chisholm is also investigating the two weekend burglaries.

Students get math awards

MERIT SCHOLARS—Anne Romano, principal of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, announced that four students have been designated as National Merit Finalists for 1985. The students will receive scholarships for their college education. The honorees are, from left, Scott Prager, David Cole, Thea Winarski and Mark Shanaman.

Awards to Jonathan Dayton Regional High School students who competed in the 22nd Annual Joseph J. Solt Mathematics Day have been announced. Students from Governor Livingston, Jonathan Dayton, Arthur L. Johnson and David Brainerley schools competed in the two levels of competition.

The Mathematics Day is named for respected and recently retired mathematics educator and coordinator, Joseph J. Solt. Contestants were ranked according to placement in the school that they attended and were not in competition with those from the other schools.

Ted Roth and Greg Saliceti tied to win top honors in the Level I competition. Kenneth Feng placed second and Brad Krumholz placed third. Honorable mention was awarded to Gary Millin.

Genova sponsors hostage tribute

A resolution sponsored by Assemblyman Peter Genova, R-22, calling for flags in the state to be flown at half-staff until the American hostages from TWA flight 847 return home, was adopted unanimously by the Assembly June 20.

"Someone told me that the flag should be only flown at half-staff when there is a tragedy," said the Union legislator. "Well, it is a tragedy that it (the hijacking) has happened."

"Let this action serve as a beacon to our residents to remind them that while our brothers are held prisoner, we are also held captive," said Genova to his Assembly colleagues. "The flag at half-staff will be our constant reminder that we stand united in our commitment against international terrorism and that our patience, although sorely tested, is a sign of our respect for human life and those things that our flag represents."

"Mr. Speaker, although this is just a token, it fairly represents the anguish we all share, but it serves as a ray of hope for a day that will come when those Americans return. When the last American from the ill-fated TWA flight returns, the flag will be raised to full-staff, just as our collective spirits will be raised, and to that end I ask support for the resolution," Genova concluded.

Summer recreation: activities for all

The Springfield summer recreation program isn't used as much as it was in past years, but Recreation Director Joseph Rapano thinks there are enough activities of interest to make a good program that a large amount of local children will want to take advantage of.

The programs opened for business this week.

"We want to maintain it because in the next year or so you're going to see things start to pick up," Rapano said.

Rapano said the summer programs are seeing less use because there are fewer children of second-grade age and up, but that is about to change.

"There's a lot of kids here, but they're all preschoolers," Rapano said, noting that day-camp enrollment at the municipal pool is high.

Once the preschoolers are old enough, he said, use of the summer programs will increase.

Registration for all eight-week summer programs opened Tuesday, with the exception of the Irwin playground, which opened for registration yesterday. Once the programs begin the Irwin and Raymond Chisholm playgrounds will be open all day with the Alvin Denham and Cohen play areas open for a half-day only. Children under 5 must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Most programs started yesterday. Hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Pool registrants must have identification proving they are residents of Springfield. Membership is $55 per family including the mother, father and all children 22 and under; $165 for a single 22 and up, and $40 for seniors 65 and over.

A pool table, a juke box, video games and snacks will be featured at the teen center when it opens for business. Rapano said the center is expected to be open sometime in July, after roof repairs and work on the gym floor are completed and a center director and assistant director are hired. Future activities there might include basketball, volleyball and other indoor sports, Rapano said.

Rapano said that, in general, summer months have signaled a slowdown in use of recreation programs.

"In the winter months, you have a captive audience," he said. "They're easy to reach."

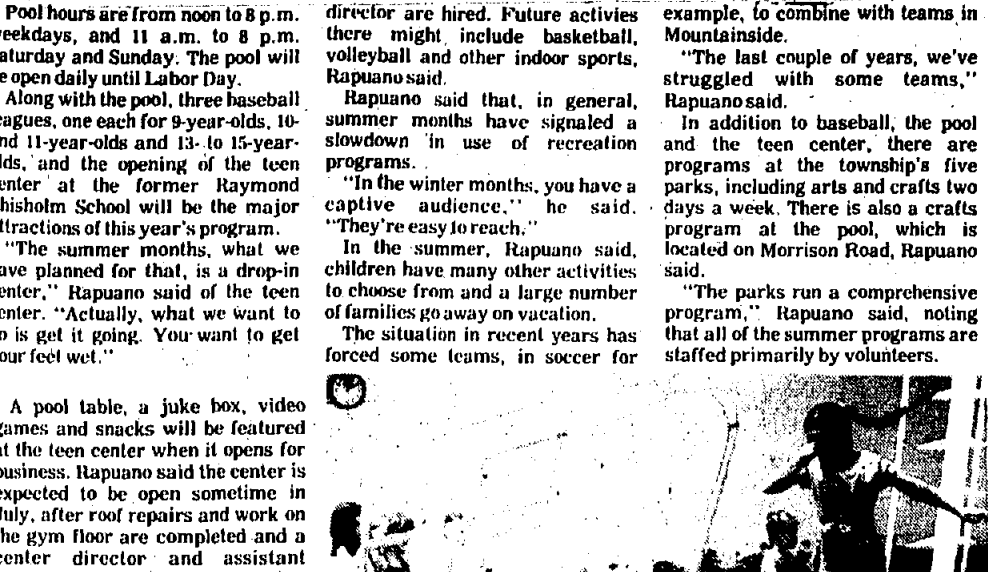

In the summer, Rapano said, children have many other activities to choose from and a large number of families go away on vacation.

The situation in recent years has forced some teams, in soccer for example, to combine with teams in Mountainide.

"The last couple of years, we've struggled with some teams," Rapano said.

In addition to baseball, the pool and the teen center, there are programs at the township's five parks, including arts and crafts two days a week. There is also a crafts program at the pool, which is located on Morrison Road, Rapano said.

"The parks run a comprehensive program," Rapano said, noting that all of the summer programs are staffed primarily by volunteers.

Campaign presses for 'peace budget'

A Springfield-based group is mounting an effort to get municipal, county and state governing bodies to adopt a resolution calling for programs and military aid to defense purposes to "peace oriented" pursuits.

The Jobs with Peace Campaign, according to campaign officer Sylvia Zisman of Springfield, is coordinating this effort with R.L. Sane. The "peace budget" resolution is based on a successful referendum effort that took place in Los Angeles, Calif., in November.

The resolution calls upon the members of Congress and the president to make more federal money available for jobs and programs in education, housing, health, human services, public transportation, rebuilding the civilian economy and conversion of military jobs to peace-time production by reducing the amount of tax dollars spent on nuclear weapons, wasteful military programs and military aid to governments known to violate human rights.

The resolution also calls upon each governing body to "supply all pertinent facts as to what portion of the federal taxes paid by the citizens goes toward the Pentagon budget." It also points to an annual study be commissioned to show the impact on the area "if a percentage of the dollar amount of Pentagon-directed taxes is applied to local 'peace oriented' programs, instead of the Pentagon. Such a study should be made public each year "until the military budget is reduced to at least 1980 levels," states the resolution.

The campaign is also calling for passage of the federal budget proposed by the House as opposed to the Senate version. The House version, which calls for total spending of $965 billion in fiscal year 1986, would freeze military spending levels at 1985 levels, leaves the student loan program untouched, freezes spending on most domestic programs, including mass transit, at 1985 levels and calls for full funding of Social Security cost-of-living adjustments.

The Senate version of the budget calls for a 4 percent increase in military spending, ends 12 domestic programs while cutting many others, reduces the mass transit budget by 20 percent, cuts student loans by $200 million and freezes Social Security cost-of-living benefits.

"MR. BIN" says...

WHAT HAPPENED TO "SERVICE"

How do you get someone to wait on you when you're in a hurry on coffee or tea? You need something that isn't stuck but is available with a little "effort." Personal service is a forgotten word in this world of big business and little people and big money. You're even paying more to "not be waited on!"

The secret is the "small store"... owner operated for you, not the stockholders. His desire is to please you and give you what help and information you need, not sell you anything "just to make the sale!" BELIEVE ME... the small merchant wants to satisfy you... not just sell you otherwise you won't come back.

Our sales people are here to help you and please... if they don't... let me know!!!!

Allied attack

The battle against teen drinking has finally picked up a strong ally — the New York State Legislature.

Both the New York Senate and the Assembly have approved legislation increasing the legal drinking age from 19 to 21. With Gov. Mario Cuomo expected to sign the measure, the increased drinking age will take effect Dec. 1 — ending a 12-year period when New York's drinking age was the same or lower than New Jersey's.

By the end of the year, those under 21 will have a hard time buying alcohol in the Northeast United States. Massachusetts and New Hampshire raised the minimum age from 20 to 21 this month. A similar law goes into effect in Connecticut in September. New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island already have a 21-year-old minimum drinking age.

With New York's action, a deadly disparity will soon cease to exist. Supporters of a uniform drinking age believe that with a lower drinking age in the Empire State, New Jersey teens take to the bridges and tunnels that lead into the city to legally purchase alcohol. They fear that the ride home of these "crossovers" after a night of partying increases the risk of alcohol-related driving injuries and deaths. Come December, this crossover phenomenon should end.

The end of this phenomenon didn't come about easily. Prior to 1973, one had to be 21 to drink in New Jersey, but only 19 in New York. The legal age for both states was 18 between 1973 and 1980. Since 1980, supporters of the increased drinking age have had difficulty getting a uniform drinking age for New York and New Jersey. That year, New Jersey raised the legal age from 18 to 19, while New York remained at 18. New York raised its age to 19 in December 1982, but in January 1983, New Jersey went to 21.

Much of the credit for bringing about a uniform drinking age to the region has to go to the federal government. Under legislation signed by President Reagan last July, any state without a 21-year-old legal drinking age will lose some of its highway aid. Many New York legislators said that they were against increasing the legal drinking age, but voted for the measure because of the prospect of losing more than $90 million in federal highway aid from the end of 1986 to 1988.

While increasing the drinking age may not completely end the tragedy of teen-age drinking related driving fatalities, it is an important step. The states have done about all they can do. The rest of the effort to stem the tragedy of teen drinking and driving remains in the hands of parents and educators to stress the life-saving message: "Drinking and driving don't mix."

Letter to the editor

Volunteers are life-savers

Words are inadequate to express the gratitude that the Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society wishes to express to the Union Crusaders in the 1985 Cancer Crusade Campaign.

The Crusaders are the volunteers who donate their time to go door-to-door in their neighborhoods, to collect funds and distribute educational literature for the Cancer Society. Their job is not an easy one. Without their help we would not be able to accomplish this tremendous task.

The funds raised through their efforts support: Hospice care, research, education, patient service and rehabilitation. Hopefully, what is being accomplished in research today will save future generations from this disease.

We thank the Crusaders for their time, energy and a job well done. Just a reminder to those Crusaders who have not returned their kits yet — please do so at the drop-off point.

Long journey began at 1947 graduation

By MARTY NOVICH

In June of 1947 in ceremonies at Weequahic High School, Max J. Hertzberg, a famous New York Times book critic, and principal of Weequahic High School in Newark, shook my hand, whispered some words in my ear and handed me my diploma. I had been a poor high school student interested in athletics more than in scholastic achievement. Universities were crowded in those days as ex-G.I.'s and the Pacific enrolled in droves to get a free GI Bill education. My C-minus average couldn't get me very far in the competition for admission. There was no S.A.T.'s — only individual university admission tests in the late '40s.

On graduation from high school, I realized I wouldn't need my old buddies to hang around with and would be alone, for most of them went away to school or went their own way to lead their individual lives. But even on reassembly didn't warm me of the change that was about to take place in my life. College enrollment or not, if a young man does not already have training is not prepared for a free market economic system, either by ap-

How kids can catch up with computers

By BETH GIORDANO & FRAN SULLIVAN

Q.—Although my oldest child will not start first grade until September, I am very concerned that he will lag behind on computer literacy because many of his peers' families have personal computers at home.

A.—My child's school starts basic computer education at grade level, which time he will have had no hands-on experience with computers while many of his friends will.

Do you think I should insist on a personal home computer which he can use and, if so, what type of software should he begin with?

A.—Your question is one being asked by many parents as more and more computers enter the classroom. We referred your question to Dr. Jay Sivin of the Education Product Information Exchange (EPIE) Institute at Teacher's College, Columbia University, who replied, "We know that physical dexterity at that age is just not a problem. They learn to it rather quickly. If the reason (to get a computer) is because of fear, stop being afraid and let it happen."

Parents, he said, should be prepared to spend time with their

Computer, many are definitely sweeping the country's school systems. Even parents in lower-income areas are insisting that computers be included in their children's curriculum. Many parents are buying computers for school use — an estimated one in five, in fact.

This interest is matched in home use. This year, parents will spend approximately $90 per child as opposed to $2 the schools will spend. Nationally, parents will account for $75 to $100 million in home educational software.

I just received a notice that prenticeship, higher education or just plain positive psychological orientation, he is doomed to a life of confusion, bitterness and anger. I was one of the lucky ones, I had my father's plumbing business to get into, but sometimes fate can cast ambitions and plans aside and eight years later, I wound up living in Dallas, Texas, working as a salesman, knocking on doors, selling any product I could, house to house.

I sold home improvements, freezers, and believe it or not, wedding arrangements, fire alarm systems, baby pictures, and even letter-bound editions of the New Testament. I traveled on from Dallas after a year selling my Bibles and home improvements in Las Vegas. In Vegas in the '50s, I saw the famous strip under construction and in North Dakota, I saw missile silos being paired with concrete to house the first nuclear warheads. I forgot that convoy of huge flatbed trucks, carrying long Minuteman missiles covered with canvas. Even my innocence, I knew what had happened in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, but I was awed by the missile's unimaginable authority and nature's power. In Needles, Cal., where the temperature read 104 degrees at 2 a.m., I talked to grape growers. They were rugged men covered with the smell of mud and sweat, not the people who dominate the wine industry in TV fantasy in 1985.

In the states of Oregon and Washington, I got drunk with the loggers and slipped out of "Mollie's Cafe" in fear of my life when the drunken brawl started between men from rival logging camps. There were a lot of foodies days as I moved from town to town and state to state, a lot of bus rides and hitchhiking, and many of the night I slept in wheat fields or in railroad cars. There were highlights too; breakfast with a movie star of yesterday, John Ireland, who struck up a spontaneous conversation with me in a diner on Hollywood Boulevard in Los Angeles. I shall never forget the dinner with the late David Janssen, the night of his second marriage that was arranged by a former Newarker, who was Janssen's attorney and a friend of mine, Alby Linnick. There was the introduction to Liberae by another boyhood friend who had made good as a character actor in movies, and who was Liberae's neighbor, I revealed in a long conversation with Lucille Ball at the Sportman's Lodge in the San Fernando Valley.

Yes, I was impressed with what success and money could do, and even more than that, what opportunities were all around us. The important thing that all this portmanteau around had done for me was made me realize success was to know and understand the American system, not rebel against it out of ignorance and fear, as I had done in high school and beyond. As I write and remember the pain the anxiety of the life of a transient, it more than nullifies the romance of my travels. I was treated by some people who deemed themselves respectable, as a second class citizen and it was a humiliation and is a feeling one should live without. The traveling starts out as fun, an adventure, something you can tell your children about. The journey ends when you realize you are rootless, cut off from "the respectables," and you see the respectable way of life has meaning. These experiences took place in the '50s, but it was in the late '70s that the turnaround began for me, eliminating in a commodities seminar I did at Boston's famous Harvard Club for business students and the public at large. But even this honor had its share of humiliation, because I was asked by several people who enjoyed the talk what my educational credentials were. Should I have lied? I could have, but that would have been meaningless. No, instead, I told the truth and no one believed it!

Max J. Hertzberg has long passed from the scene, but my attitude toward education and life as a young person was what he summarized to me in a whisper in front of 500 parents and relatives that June graduation day in 1947. "Novich you do everything the hard way — I hope you come out all right." Well, Max, wherever you are, I really don't know if I'm coming out alright, the count isn't in yet, but I'm trying, Max. I'm trying!

Above all, a program designed for better eating habits must be reinforced at home. The benefits of eating healthy at lunch will be counteracted if the other two meals are composed of "junk" foods.

The changing role of Jewish women

By ROSE P. SMON

The following are reviews of books currently available at the Springfield Public Library.

A FEMININE VIEW
"Jewish Female," by Susan Weidman Schneider

One of the founders of "Lilith" magazine has provided us with a book which attempts "to depict the variety and scope of the changes in Jewish women's lives... over the past 15 years," and "to bring a Jewish dimension to some women's issues and to look at Jewish life through a feminist filter." There are

JUDITH LINDEMAN

Grads are all in family

Judith Lindeman of Springfield, a nurses' aide at the Westfield Convalescent Center, graduated from Union County College this month. Receiving her diploma at the same ceremony was her 74-year old mother, the Rev. Lillian E. Lindeman.

"My mother promised her own mother that she would someday get a college education," said Judith, who is a popular figure at the Convalescent Center. "Now mother will fulfill that promise."

The Rev. Lindeman was disabled by polio at age 12. As a young woman, she had to interrupt her education to assume family responsibilities. "Her mother told her that she had lived for all her family and that it was time to live for herself now," said Judith.

Artist exhibits acrylic works

Elhal Shukin, daughter of David and Ethel Benjamin of Newwood Road, Springfield, recently had an exhibition of her acrylic paintings at Gallery 505 in Toronto, Canada.

The artist, who also has experience as a professional decorator, has mixed her love of art with the environment around her. She recently completed a second-floor music room/library/office in her suburban home. The room features a vaulted ceiling with a skylight, large windows and a lot of built-in storage space. The natural light in the room provides Shukin with the ideal conditions under three major sections: "Women and Religious Judaism," "Defining and Transforming Our Relationships and Participation in the Jewish Community," and "Power and Participation in the Jewish Community."

Today, Jewish women are struggling to remain within the tradition, yet not to compromise their identity and integrity as women. Some are rediscovering aspects of Jewish life (studying women in Jewish history); others are redefining certain traditions of Judaism and feminizing them (holding a feminist Passover Seder); still others are transforming traditional Judaism and Jewish institutions to include women.

The author explains the tenets of each branch of Judaism — Orthodox, Conservative, Reconstructionist, Reform — and the women's drive toward greater participation in ritual and custom (ignored by the Orthodox). She covers every facet of Jewish living: observance of the Sabbath and holidays, education, Bat Mitzvah, sexual ethics, abortion, parenthood relationships, singleness, marriage, adoption, divorce, conversion, etc. Also examined are such topics as widowhood, alcoholism, battered wives, homeless women, job discrimination, and much more.

Schneider includes dozens of photographs of people and Jewish objects, a complete networking directory (from Affirmative Action to Youth Organizations), voluminous notes, and a bibliography.

FAME DELAYED
"A Very Private Eye," by Barbara Pym

The Rev. Lindeman formerly volunteered at the Westfield Convalescent Center, and in 1982 was awarded the Volunteer of the Year award from the New Jersey Association of Health Care Facilities.

Going to school together in Cranford from their Springfield home came naturally to mother and daughter. "My mother and I are very close, always have been," said Judith.

"We do everything together," she said. The two went to the same classes and separated only to do homework in private rooms. Both majored in the same field — the one field that tied together Judith's vocation as a nursing home aide and her mother's interest in the elderly. They received associate of applied science degrees in gerontology.

Jackie Baker of Springfield, whose "obsession with collecting funds for Deborah Hospital in Browns Mills," has brought her honor and gratification, stated this newspaper office the other day to display her certificate of merit and a life membership to Deborah. The awards were presented to her from Suburban Deborah at an awards dinner on June 12.

She was always interested in decorating. I did some people's homes back then. I also paint and draw. I still work the territory up," she recalls. "And I still have the same territories. And some of the same."

Although Mrs. Baker is a member of the South Orange Hadassah and Temple Beth Ahm of Springfield (where she "used to be very active"), she's devoting most of her free time now to collecting for Deborah.

"Collecting has become an obsession," she smiles her wide, generous smile. "And I want to continue. God should just give me the strength. I don't hold any office at Deborah. I just collect."

And for that, she was honored at the group's installation and awards dinner in Temple Sha'arey Shalom, Springfield. "For eight consecutive years," reports the organization, "Jackie collected the highest funds during tag weeks which were specific weeks designed for different towns for raising money for the hospital. She was awarded the certificate of merit, life membership award, a fluted gold heart and jeweled crown."

Clubs in the news

THE NEW JERSEY STATE Federation of Junior Women's Clubs has selected as its state project for 1985-1986 Spina Bifida. It was announced by the Spina Bifida Coalition of New Jersey. The coalition is a non-profit voluntary organization "dedicated to making the public, professional and governmental agencies more aware of the problem and assisting parents in helping their children. Spina Bifida (or open spine) is reportedly the most common birth defect and the most common "disabler of new-born children. It can result in a wide range of disabilities including weakness or paralysis of the legs and problems with bladder or bowel control. About 85 percent of children born with Spina Bifida have hydrocephalus, a condition involving improper circulation and accumulation of cerebral spinal fluid which requires surgery to relieve." Additional information can be obtained by calling 549-8683 or the GPWC Junior Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, Union, at 688-2576 or 686-3488.

THE CLARA BARTON Auxiliary, American Red Cross of Eastern Union County Chapter, will hold its annual bazaar, luncheon and rummage sale Saturday at the Chapter House building and grounds from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. It was announced by Genevieve Pascuale Di Venturo, president of the auxiliary. The Chapter house is located at 208 West Jersey St., Elizabeth.

FIVE UNION HIGH School seniors were given awards and scholarships by the GPWC Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, Union. A $50 bond was given to Christine Pereira "for achieving the highest average in business subjects;" a $50 bond to Doris Demire "for achieving the highest average in French;" a $200 scholarship to Michelle Curry "to be used to further her nursing studies at Elizabeth Central Hospital;" a $200 scholarship to Michelle Brown, "who hopes to become a dental assistant;" and a $150 art scholarship to Cynthia...

"It inspired Jackie Baker to be so fanatical about Deborah!" "It was my father, Joseph Werber," she says. "He had heart trouble and had to live, he could have the surgery that would have prolonged his life. In fact, it would have been minor surgery. He was only 52... as a young man... and he died because they didn't have then what they have now. So, I give of myself for him."

Broncos, Mustangs, Colts fight for flag

The Mountaineer Pony League entered the final week of the regular season with three teams, the Broncos, Mustangs and Colts fighting for the crown.

Jeff Davis hurled a three-hit, 17 strikeout gem as the Colts ripped the Mustangs, 13-3. Jim Barrett paced a 16-hit Colt attack with four hits while Davis helped his own cause with three hits. Scott Marinelli and Romel Sanchez each had two hits and two RBI's. Rick O'Toole, Peter Rosenbauer and Matt Ventura had the Mustang hits.

The Mustangs came back to keep themselves in contention with a split of a doubleheader with the Mavericks. In the first game, the Mustangs jumped to a four-run first inning lead on five walks plus an error and glided to a 7-3 win behind Peter Rosenbauer's four-hit, 15 strikeout pitching.

Mark Zachieracha had two hits and scored three runs while Brian Delaney and Keith Hagay each had RBI doubles for the victors. The Mavericks scored their three runs in the sixth on hits by Eric Rauschenberger, Mike Price and Brian Carson wrapped around a walk and an error.

In the nitecap the Mavericks got five runs in the first inning and eight in the sixth to overcome the Mustangs, 13-12. Eric Rauschenberger had three hits and picked up the win in relief while Jeff Debbie and Mike Price had two hits each for the Mavericks. Mustang outfielders Keith Hagay and Rick O'Toole each had two hits.

The Mustangs came up with a big win, capitalizing on a nine-run fourth inning to down the Mavericks, 14-7. Justin Toner set the pace for the Mustangs with four hits including a three-run double during the fourth inning uprising. Mike Rinaldo had two hits and two RBI's and Glen Miske picked up the win in relief, aided considerably by the defensive efforts of third baseman Greg Bartonson. Eric Rauschenberger and Mike Jackson played well for the Mavericks.

In Little League play, the Blue Stars combined nine hits with 13 bases on balls to sweep past the Braves, 22-9, to take over second place. Winning pitcher Jimmy Boyd had two doubles and four RBI's in the fifth inning, and Craig Houser blasted a bases loaded triple for the Blue Stars. Third baseman Eric Swartz came up with two dazzling defensive plays to help keep the Braves in check. Andrew Gallagher had three hits for the Braves and Richie Hoche popped a two-run homer.

The Blue Stars then clinched second place as Little League action drew to a close with a 10-6 win over the Braves. The Blue Stars blew it wide open in the fifth inning with a seven-run outburst as George Serio, Chris Chavarelli and Scott Meissner all contributed RBI singles, but it was Jason Feldman's two-run triple which was the crusader. Charlie Dougherty came up with two spectacular catches in centerfield. Matt Gardella, Mike Detella, John Rau and Mike Lago had RBI's for the Braves.

The Orioles won their fourth game in the last five by upsetting the champion Twins, 9-4. It was a near thing, as the Twins scored all their runs in their final at bat, but Oriole freeman Ryan Driscoll came in with the tying and winning runs in scoring position to record the final two outs. Kevin Delaney and Rich Antonacci led the Orioles offensively with two hits apiece and Colin Gordon's three-run double was the key blow for the Twins during their late uprising.

Seton Hall finishes at 44-19-1

The 1985 edition of the Seton Hall University baseball team established season records for most wins and most games played, completing the campaign with a 44-19-1 mark.

The 44 wins eclipsed the previous standard of 41 victories, set during the 1982 and 1984 seasons. The Pirates also played 64 games this season, surpassing the mark of 54 set during the 1982 and 1984 campaigns.

While it was a successful season for Seton Hall, it ended on a disappointing note as the Pirates settled for a second place finish in the Big East Conference baseball tournament. Seton Hall lost to St. John's, 7-6, in 11 innings in the championship game of the tourney, after taking a 6-3 lead into the bottom of the ninth to tie the score, and then won the game in the bottom of the 11th on a solo home run. It was a banner year for the Pirates. They won the Big East Conference's Southern Division with a 15-2 record, and also captured a number of the league's individual honors.

Coach Mike Sheppard, who earlier in the season celebrated his 40th career win, was named Coach of the Year in the Big East. In 13 seasons, Sheppard has compiled a 431-160-5 record, a .720 winning percentage.

Junior righty Phil Cundari (a fourth round draft pick of the Oakland A's) enjoyed a fine season while being named Pitcher of the Year in the Big East. Cundari compiled a 12-2 record, with a 1.74 ERA.

First baseman Martese Robinson of Newark was named Freshman of the Year in the Big East. Robinson hit .394 for the Pirates, knocking in 45 runs while clouting 18 doubles and five homers.

St. John's erupted for three runs in the bottom of the ninth to tie the score, and then won the game in the bottom of the 11th on a solo home

Pick your own crops at farms

By LAURA MICHELSON
With spring and summer comes the promise of delicious fresh fruits, berries and vegetables. Not content to settle for the supermarket variety, many people will seek out fruit and vegetable stands, but there are other — even more industrious — individuals who like to harvest their own nutritious delights straight from the vine, tree or ground.
To accommodate these serious fruit and vegetable lovers, the Cooperative Extension Service of Rutgers University Cook College in New Brunswick published "Where to Find Pick-Your-Own Fruits and Vegetables," compiled by Morris S. Fabian and Frederick A. Perkins, extension specialists in marketing. It's a listing of farms within New Jersey that allows these consumers the fun of picking their own fresh, natural delicacies.
The list contains the names, addresses and telephone numbers of participating farms and the crops they offer by county as well as usual harvest dates for each commodity. A variety of berries, apples, pears, plums and grapes, asparagus, cucumbers, peas, peppers, potatoes, tomatoes, squash and spinach are just a few of the delectable treats just waiting to be personally plucked by New Jersey residents.
Atlantic, Camden, Cape May, Cumberland,

Gloucester, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Ocean and Salem counties have multiple listings of farms offering everything from broccoli, cauliflower and lima beans to sweet corn, beets and eggplant to strawberries, cherries and peaches. But some of the pick-your-own farms closer to home are:

Students sing for the elderly

Concerned students at Union County College have joined together in song to help feed the needy elderly of Union County.

Inspired by the groups "Band-Aid," and "USA For Africa," which have raised millions for the Ethiopia relief fund, Eric Zipf of Berkeley Heights, Robert Johansen of Westfield, Jerry Heer of Plainfield and Tony Birritri of Elizabeth are producing a record to raise money for the needy closer to home. Together they are "SOHO" (Students Opposed to Hungry Older-people), and their song is "Gift of Life, Gift of Love."

All proceeds from the song will be donated to Meals on Wheels of Elizabeth, Inc. Zipf said. The non-profit organization, funded by the federal government through the Union County Office of Aging, serves meals to more than 1,600 frail elderly a day, throughout most of Union County. Serving out of 17 sites, as well as to 600 individual homes, the program aims "to enable the elderly to continue to function independently."

Joe LaPlaca, executive director, said: "Many home-bound elderly can be kept out of a nursing home because a nutritious, hot meal is being prepared and delivered to them, he said."

At this point, it's a five-day-a-week program. Other community organizations, such as the Lions Club and the Knights of Columbus are helping deliver weekend and holiday meals. "Additional funds would enable us to expand the program," LaPlaca said. About 70 people are on a waiting list now to get on the program, he said.

The average age of the people being served is 78, according to LaPlaca. "Many are in their 80's and 90's, and we celebrated someone's 100th birthday recently," he said.

"We wanted to start a band and do it for a good cause," Zipf said. "Instead of sending money to another country, we decided to look right under our own noses."

The first step they took was to find out if the project was worth doing, according to Heer. They took a poll of about 100 UCC students and all but one said they would buy the record.

"We wrote up a proposal and shot a demonstration video which we showed to Dr. Nunney, UCC president," Heer said.

Dr. Nunney approved the project and with his support, SOHO got off the ground.

"We've gotten a lot of support for the project from fellow students, faculty, and college administrators," Zipf said. "The"

Stargazers can view skies
Visitors to the Sperry Observatory on Union County College's Cranford Campus will be able to see more than the skies overhead when months.

The next slide show topic in June is "Black Holes" tomorrow.

If the skies are clear, guests will also be given the opportunity to look through the 24-inch reflector and 10-inch refractor telescopes housed in the Observatory domes.

The schedule for July Friday night viewings, according to Barry Malpas of Warren, AAU vice president and program chairman, is as follows: "Exploring Earth from Space," July 5; "Saturn," July 12; "Solar Eclipses," July 19, and "Renaissance Astronomy," July 26. Other topics for August and September will be announced later.

HAIL LIBERTY—George M. Dembo of Summit, right, and Jeffrey Eger of Convent, discuss final plans for an exhibition of Liberty Test 1 posters and graphics entitled "Hail Liberty" at Gallery 9 in Chatham. Behind them is the largest poster in the exhibition and sale, a 1928 French design which uses the image of the Statue to promote Haig Scotch whiskey. The exhibit opens tomorrow with a reception and runs through July 20.

Cleaning can save money at tax time

"With spring time upon us, the chore of spring cleaning can be turned into a tax savings opportunity for your 1985 tax return," according to national tax preparation service.

Rather than overburdening the local sanitation department with items you no longer need, call a non-profit organization such as the Good Will Industries (621-9560) or Mt. Carmel Guild (621-7750), who will come to your home and pick up these items.

If you are planning to re-do your office or update your business equipment, don't just throw out what you no longer need, call one of the non-profit organizations.

The correct way to make a contribution of this sort is to accompany your contribution with a letter addressed to the non-profit organization listing the items you are contributing and their fair market value at the time of the contribution.

The IRS defines "Fair Market Value" as the price you, an informed willing seller, could get if you sold the item to an informed willing buyer. This amount is usually difficult to determine. The non-profit organization may have printed guidelines for this determination.

In return, the non-profit organization will send you a letter of appreciation and date stamped on your letter to them. A copy of both of these items should be attached to your tax return to substantiate the charitable deduction.

Concert series for soprano

By RAE HUTTON

Editor's note: This is one in a series of articles on local residents whose talents in the arts have brought them national — and sometimes international — attention.

Former Unionite Linda Heimall-DeCagna has sung operatic roles all over Europe, but since returning to the United States last June, some of her most "exciting" performances have been in front of area school children.

Heimall-DeCagna, who has sung with the New York City Opera, is working on a full concert program of great soprano-mezzo soprano duets and arias — a la Horne and Sutherland or Verrett and Bumbry. Her partner in this venture, which will be launched this fall, is Antonia Katsopoulos of Summit, mezzo-contralto.

She and Katsopoulos previewed their program at a "Garden Matinee" in Summit earlier this month for the Summit Area Chapter of the Friends of the New Jersey State Opera.

Heimall-DeCagna has sung many operas and concerts and has participated in a program, made possible by a Dodge Foundation grant, to bring opera to school systems. Heimall-DeCagna hopes the program will be brought to Union County schools this fall. The soprano notes that the artists participating in this program explained the stories to the children and sang parts of the operas for them. Heimall-DeCagna, a product of the Union school system, hopes the program can be presented there this year.

Celebrity corner

She will sing under the baton of Maestro Alfredo Silipigni, general director of the New Jersey State Opera, at Waterloo and in Atlantic City in August.

Heimall-DeCagna is listed in "Who's Who in Opera" and is a National Society of Arts and Letters Winner. She also is the winner of the Maria DeVarady award, the Mario Lanza Award and has appeared in seven productions with the New Jersey State Opera.

Heimall-DeCagna lived in Europe for a dozen years, singing leading roles throughout the continent. She and her husband, Joseph, a former owner of the Gondoliers in Orange, now reside in Maplewood. She was leading soprano with West Germany's Aachen State Theater and Austria's Graz Opera. A protegee of the late Mme. Maria

Heart unit has exercise tips

Once the warm weather hits, out come the health and exercise enthusiasts. The American Heart Association warns that although exercise contributes significantly to heart health, appropriate precautions should be taken under special weather conditions.

Some easy and worthwhile suggestions are:

- Exercise during cooler parts of the day, such as early morning or evening.
- Drink lots of fluids. No extra salt is needed. There is enough in the foods we eat.
- Wear a minimum of light, loose-fitting clothing.
- Avoid rubberized or plastic suits, sweatshirts and sweat pants. Such garments can actually result in heat stroke.
- Watch for signs of heat stroke — feeling dizzy, weak, light headed, and/or excessive tiredness.
- Do not begin exercise until two hours after meals.
- It is important to exercise at a comfortable pace. When jogging or walking briskly, you should be able to keep up conversation comfortably. If you have difficulty breathing or experience faintness or prolonged weakness, you are exercising too hard.
- Effective ways to avoid injuries: Listen to your level of activity gradually over a period of weeks.
- Listen to your body for early warning pains such as discomfort in joints, feet, ankles and legs.
- Be aware of possible signs of heart problems such as pain or pressure in midchest, left neck, shoulder or arm areas (vigorous exercise may cause a side stitch which is not the result of a heart problem.)
- If wise to check with your doctor if you plan to start a regular exercise program.
- Information on exercise and your heart can be obtained from the American Heart Association, 376-3626.

Rebecca's forecast

For week of June 27 through July 4

ARIES (3/21-4/20) Confidential discussions revolve around financial matters. Travel plans or arrangements are hfy and co-workers may offer worthwhile solutions to ongoing dilemmas. Later, tread carefully; domestic explosions are indicated. You feel restless and moody and others are beating the drum!

TAURUS (4/21-5/21) Key alliances deserve careful handling early in this week. Avoid a hasty purchase and be flexible in social or recreational plans. Later, dealings with relatives or neighbors are indicated, and a male or partner's feelings, and a change of residence or living arrangements is forthcoming.

GEMINI (5/22-6/21) Job and health matters continue to see-saw during this week. Keep troublesome alliances at a distance and drop in visitors offer excitement. Later, know when to follow your own hunches; a difficult money situation escalates and people, places or offers from a distance bring needed options.

CANCER (6/22-7/23) You may feel bottled-up at the onset of this period; you need time to yourself. Attend to chores or obligations and unusual or unexpected benefits may emerge. Later, you undermine yourself if you're not careful; intimate relationships are touchy and put money die-putes aside for the time being.

LEO (7/24-8/23) Domestic interests are harmonious early in the week, confidential matters assume importance and fast minute social plans turn out well. Later, another's true motives become more apparent; you are feeling crowded in a work situation and a health concern could alter your daily routine temporarily.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/20) The social frame shifts in the week; see and be seen. Your creativity will flourish in coming months; pictures and photography may assume importance for many. Later, accept a career challenge, work patiently and quietly behind the scenes and settle a financial dispute.

AQUARIUS (1/21-2/19) You may have a career or home conflict to resolve early in the week. Recreational plans collapse at the last minute and steer clear of re-situating old disputes. Later, guard yourself from careless mishaps; keep your plans under wraps for now, and be wary of the competition you can't see!

PISCES (2/20-3/20) This may not be the best week for many. Future plans may need practical revision and community or public matters may cause you some trouble. Later, new organizations assume importance, unexpected obstacles emerge and keenly felt limitations are hard for you to handle emotionally.

'Mask' sound track a variety of moods

By MILT HAMMER
 Pick of the LPs. "Music From the Motion Picture Soundtrack 'Mask'" (MCA Records).

The outlaw world of motorcycle gangs is the unexpected setting of "Mask." Peter Bogdanovich's superb chronicling of the story of Rocky Dennis, a grossly disfigured teenage boy who struggles to find his way in the "normal" world. An important ingredient in director Bogdanovich's evocation of the biker environment and mentality is the rock music that celebrates the lifestyle and its attitudes. The selection of classic tracks that constitute MCA Records' "Mask" soundtrack album range from the blistering, even primitive, catharsis of Little Richard's manic masterpiece, "Tutti Frutti," to the sly, cynical sophistication of Steely Dan's "Dirty Work."

The collection fittingly opens with Steppenwolf's roaring tribute to pharmaceutical recreation, "Magical Carpet Ride." Next is a song from a simpler, more naive era, Gary "U.S." Bonds' irresistibly raucous "Quarter to Three," perhaps the penultimate party song of all time. Two Steely Dan tracks follow: "Dirty Work" and "Do It Again," both from that esteemed band's 1972 debut album, "Can't Buy a Thrill."

Pops concert slated July 14

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Garyth Nair, will be featured at an outdoor summer pops concert July 14 at 7 p.m. The concert will be held on the grounds of Giraldi Farms corporate office park, Laotaka Way, off Rt. 24, Madison. In the "An American Salute," the symphony will perform works by Copland, Gould, Hewitt's "Battle of Trenton," "Grand Canyon Suite," and selections from Jerome Kern's "Show Boat." The gates will be open at 5 p.m. for those wishing to bring a picnic lunch. Additional information can be obtained by contacting the Arts Council of the Morris area at 377-6622.

'Seesaw' a success

By THEA WINARSKY
The Springfield Stagecrafters production of the musical "Seesaw" June 15 and 16 at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield was a rousing success.

The 26 young and talented thespians sang and danced in spectacular production numbers that brought the audience roaring to their feet both nights. Under the direction of Alan Souza, an 18-year-old senior at Jonathan Dayton, the lead players, Carrie Weston as Gittel Meese, and Jamey Bennett as Jerry Ryan, delivered powerful performances. Other outstanding performances were given by Richard Druther as David, who delighted the audiences with his talented dancing and Brian Dalley who was hilarious as a dancing drug queen.

Everyone connected with this production should be praised. The musical was a tribute to the "Gifted and Talented" program conducted by the Union County Regional High School District. This program made it possible for Souza, a multi-talented senior, to mark his debut as a producer, director and conductor of an 18-piece orchestra.

Souza, who is also a talented actor and singer with more than 15 shows to his credit, as well as a talented musician, has capped his high school career with this production. The show, which was his term project for the "Gifted and Talented" program, will be remembered by all as an outstanding achievement.

Editor's note: The reviewer is a student at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

AERRAGE, a Union County based rock and roll group, has signed a personal management contract with Westwood Associates of Edison and recently completed studio tracks on original material written by members Jeff Alaimo, Steven Herb, Rob Pflah and Mike Corso of Hillside and Rich Benigno of Union. The group, which has played area clubs, is negotiating for several upcoming performances throughout the state this summer.

Stuart on stage tonight

Larry Stuart of Scotch Plains will return to the Village Green Seville stage tonight at 8 to present an evening of music and dance. Stuart is the son of singer Enzo Stuart of Scotch Plains. The performance will be sponsored by the Scotch Plains UNICO and Leib, Kraus and Grispin. The audience can bring lawn chairs and blankets, and in the event of rain, the performance will be held at the Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School.

Walter Schoonwald will serve as master of ceremonies. All cultural arts programs are free to the public, it was announced, and will be held every Thursday on the Village Green next to the Municipal Building on Park Avenue.

Glad Rags, a Scotch Plains ragtime band, sponsored by the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Service League, will perform on July 11. Additional information can be obtained by calling 322-2022 or 757-1985.

'Deathtrap' at Rutgers

The Levin Theater Co., a not-for-profit professional theater in residence at Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, and sponsored by the Mason Gross School of the Arts in honor of Janice Levin, who has supported the theater, has listed its summer fare.

Ira Levin's "Deathtrap" thriller will run through June 30. It is directed by Susan Kerner.

Two new plays by Milcha Sanchez-Scott, "Dog Lady" and "The Cuban Swimmer," directed by John Botembender, will be staged July 9 to 21.

Neil Simon's "The Good Doctor," vignettes adapted from the short stories of Anton Chekov, and directed by Edward Stern, July 30 through Aug. 11.

The primary purpose of the Levin Theater Co. is to advance the art of theater and playwriting for the American stage.

Auditions planned by Circle Players

The Circle Players of Piscataway, 415 Victoria Ave., will hold auditions for Neil Simon's comedy, "The Star Spangled Girl," July 8 and 9 at 8 p.m.

Show times will be Friday and Saturday nights Sept. 6, 7, 13, 14, 20, 21, 27 and 28.
