Town's engineer gets trial by water

By KENNETH SCHANKLER

Harold Reed didn't have to wait long to discover the quality of flood control facilities in Springfield.

"They got a fair test on Friday," Reed said, referring to the downpour brought on by Hurricane Gloria. "I was pleased with the lack of flooding."

"On the surface, I was very impressed with what's been done in Springfield," Reed said.

Reed, 43, is taking over as township engineer following his appointment by the Township Committee last month. Reed replaced Walter Kozub, who retired after 31 years' service in the department.

Reed, a graduate of the Coast Guard Academy, comes to Springfield from the Park 80 office complex in Saddle Brook, where he was responsible for day-to-day operations.

Prior to that, he served 20 years in the Coast Guard, 15 of them in the civil engineering service. While in the Coast Guard, Reed headed the daily operation of Governor's Island in New York.

"It's very much similar to township engineering," Reed said. "It's a community in itself."

Reed was responsible for the distribution of electricity, securing water supplies, sanitation and contracting for custodial service.

"It's as close as you're going to get to a township without being a township," Reed said.

"Governor's Island is very much similar to Springfield. You have the same types of problems," Reed said. "It's very easy to step from one into the other."

Having stepped into his new job, Reed sees a short-term goal of improving the quality and efficiency of improving municipal services such as garbage collection.

"In the long run," Reed said, "I think the management of the infrastructure of the town, making sure that it's maintained in good condition (is important)."

Reed, who lives in Pompton Lakes with his wife and four children, said that even though his previous experience should carry over to his new job, he still has a lot to learn.

"But that comes pretty fast," he said. "It's getting to know the local functions, the local terminology."

Walton decision near

A decision regarding the ownership of the Walton School in Springfield is due within the next two weeks.

A spokeswoman for Superior Court Judge Milton Feller said the judge had recently received the legal briefs and was in the process of reviewing them.

The suit involves the Springfield Board of Education, Springfield Township and a local developer, Greensprings Estates.

The board last year had agreed to sell the property to Greensprings, which had expressed a desire to use the land for housing.

When a new board took office this year, it decided it did not to sell the property to Greensprings.

Complicated legal proceedings ensued between the board and Greensprings, with the township getting involved as a third party this summer when the board filed a third-party complaint against it. The township, in turn, sued Greensprings.

At issue is a clause in the initial deed turning the land over to the school board from the township stating that the land not be used for anything other than public purposes.

Public purposes, attorneys for the board and township have argued, include a school, a park, a senior citizens' center or similar development.

Hurricane damage minimal

"A very mild hurricane" is how Springfield Fire Chief Ronald Johnson described Friday's heavy downpour caused as Hurricane Gloria stormed through the metropolitan area.

Johnson said the Fire Department received no reports of major damage despite Gloria's heavy rains and high winds.

The department did bring in extra men to handle any emergencies, but sent them home at 2 p.m. after the skies cleared.

The Police Department was called to close off several streets in the area of Dordelant on Route 23 due to flooding. Traffic was also diverted

Murder trial set next month

By KENNETH SCHANKLER

The case of Hanna Ghanem, accused of stabbing and beating a Springfield woman to death in 1982, is expected to go to trial in November.

Ghanem, 33, of Plainfield, was arrested last Dec. 18 as the result of a joint investigation conducted by the Springfield detective force and the Major Crimes Unit of the prosecutor's office.

The victim, Sylvia Karlsberg, 63, of Milltown Road, was murdered in her kitchen Feb. 13, 1982. Her husband, Dr. Herbert Karlsberg, found the body when he returned home from work the day of the murder.

Karlsberg, a dentist, died a month before the Ghanem arrest.

Ghanem, a Palestinian alien, is being held in the Union County Jail on $1 million bail. The high bail was set in part because of Ghanem's alien status, according to Union County Assistant Prosecutor Robert O'Leary. Ghanem, who had come here from Israel several years ago, never received citizen status. He was worked with his six brothers in a carpet installation business.

Mrs. Karlsberg was stabbed several times and beaten about the head, according to information provided O'Leary. A kitchen pot found at the scene is suspected to be one of the weapons used in the murder.

The case will be heard by Superior Court Judge Alexander J. Menza. Assistant Prosecutor Patrick Durning will present the state's case, aided by Assistant Prosecutor Mark Imbriani.

Newark attorney Raymond Brown will represent the defendant.

Ghanem, who is facing a first-degree murder charge, was the only suspect arrested in connection with the crime.

The state is basing its case primarily on forensic evidence.

The trial was initially set for September, but was put off when Ghanem's attorney asked for more time to review evidence.

The Ghanem trial will be heard after seven pending murder cases in county court in which the state is seeking the death penalty.

O'Leary said the Ghanem case does not include the aggravating circumstances that would warrant the death penalty. O'Leary said the death penalty is considered in cases where the murder was particularly brutal or the defendant has already been convicted of a prior murder.

The Ghanem case is one of 16 murder trials pending in Union County courts.

Freeholders dismiss Coletti

By MARK HAVILAND

In a special hearing Tuesday night in Elizabeth, the Union County Board of Freeholders voted 7-2 to oust Louis J. Coletti from his position as county manager on charges of acting "irresponsibly and unprofessionally in the conduct of his office."

The two-hour, occasionally raucous, hearing took place in the board's sixth-floor meeting room in the County Administration Building. Over 125 friends, relatives and supporters of Coletti and other spectators packed the room, spilling out into the hallways.

Coletti was represented by his attorney, Frank Ferruggia of Newark, and both made opening statements to the board, followed by public and individual comments, and finally, the board's vote.

Freeholders Brian Fahey and Alan Augustine voted against the resolution to remove the county manager.

Board Chairman G. Richard Malgrán, in his summary remarks, noted that county managers are hired for an indefinite term, but that they can be removed by a majority vote of the board of freeholders.

"We have the ability to hire a county manager and fire a county manager," Malgrán stated.

Freeholder Charlotte DeFilippo stated that Coletti had failed to live up to the high ideals of his office, and that he was more concerned with county administration through the media.

After the board's hearing, Ferruggia, of the law firm of McCarter and White, criticized the verdict and eventually predicted that he would eventually get Coletti reinstated to the county manager position.

Coletti has sued the freeholders toward that end. Ferruggia will appear, along with his client, before Judge Edward Beglin in Elizabeth on Oct. 11, to seek discovery of the motivations behind their resolution and to compel the freeholders to testify accordingly and undergo cross-examination. Ferruggia and Coletti both speculated that the authority to hire lawyers to handle labor negotiations, questioning whether the county manager or the board had the power to make those appointments. The second matter was when Coletti instigated an investigation by the County Prosecutor's office into the freeholder's handling of fiscal matters primarily related to the 1985 county budget. The prosecutor's office cleared the board of any criminal wrongdoing, but criticized some of its actions and commended Coletti for bringing the allegations to light.

Despite the prosecutor's conclusion, Coletti said incredulously, "It is the county manager who is suspended for fiscal irresponsibility, while the county counsel (Robert C. Doherty), the individual legally responsible for these actions, goes merrily along without censure and, in fact, is then named acting county manager."

"My professional reputation has never been and is not now at stake. I have always acted in the best interests of the residents of this County," Coletti said to the board Tuesday night in defense of his tenure as county manager.

"Louis Coletti was not on trial tonight. The integrity of our elected governing body was," the former county manager contended after the hearing.

"Years ago the county was identified as a clear progressive leader; now we're the laughing stock of the state," Coletti added.

The county manager called the board's charges against him "baseless and scurrilous," and joined Fahey in responding to many of the five charges, and 19 examples of his allegedly unprofessional conduct cited in the board's Sept. 5 "bill of particulars" resolution against him.

Besides the board's general charge criticizing his conduct, the other four charges were: refusal to adhere to the board's legislative directives, fiscal irresponsibility, lack of communication with the board and attempting to "usurp their mandated powers and responsibilities," and actions "destructive" of the county's welfare.

The examples of his conduct included administrative problems with the present Union County Jail in Elizabeth, and its proposed replacement facility, and the Joseph E. Runnells Hospital in Berkeley Heights; and the plans for a new health facility there. Other misconduct citations were listed under categories of general conduct, Coletti's relations with the freeholders, and his alleged refusal to implement the board's directives.

Fahey, a Westfield lawyer, talked for half an hour, challenging most of the charges and examples of conduct cited, often speaking in an irreverent and derisive fashion, drawing laughter from some audience members. He claimed the board was overstepping its statutory powers.

In reply to the many comments critical of the board, Malgrán cited a March meeting in which Coletti reportedly apologized for some earlier improper behavior to the freeholders, admitting that he had been out of line. Ferruggia objected to not being informed of these recorded statements.

Referring to Coletti's remarks, Freeholder Paul O'Keefe said in his statement, "His remarks were eloquent, excellent, and emotional, but I don't believe they were substantive."

Freeholder Michael Lapolla also mentioned the March meeting and criticized Coletti during his 15-month tenure as county manager.

"It's imperative that the county manager work with us, and not in spite of us," Lapolla stated.

Coletti's predecessor, Arthur Gris, resigned his post as manager reportedly before the board could remove him, because he, the freeholders charged that he planned to set up a meeting with a reputed organized crime figure.

Other suggestions that the committee discussed were changing the color of the student course guide cover each year and computer scheduling of course prerequisites. No action was taken, but the recommendations will come to the Education Committee for action in an upcoming meeting.

In other matters, board member Harold Donaldson reported on Monday's meeting of the Education Committee which discussed, among other items, the procedure for ensuring that students meet course requirements for acceptance into the district's Advanced Placement History course. The discussion came about as the result of 12 seniors in three of the four regional high schools who were removed from the course allegedly due to several errors on the part of guidance counselors involving interpretation of course prerequisites.

The seniors were removed from the course after it had started although the fact that they did not meet the requirements was reportedly discovered before classes began.

Donaldson reported that all students in the regional district's four high schools—David Brearley, Jonathan Dayton, Governor Livingston and Arthur L. Johnson—will receive in their homeroom each year a copy of the student handbook listing the course prerequisites "as a checkoff system" to see that each student receives one. Reportedly, several of the students who were removed from the course did not receive this year's handbook, which listed the requirement for the first time.

judge might schedule a series of additional hearings in which board members could be questioned.

Prior to Tuesday's hearing, the board had set the ground rules for the proceeding. Although Coletti, Ferruggia and the public were allowed to make statements, they were not permitted to question or cross-examine the freeholders.

Malgrán earlier described the hearing as an opportunity for Coletti to "rehabilitate" his reputation.

Coletti and Ferruggia have both criticized the purpose and format of the hearing, claiming that the freeholders had decided to suspend and remove the county manager during earlier private meetings amongst themselves and that the hearing was a mere formality.

"What happened tonight was a removal of Lou Coletti without cause. This is a railroad job, a kangaroo court operation," Ferruggia said to reporters after the hearing.

Coletti maintained in his opening remarks that the purpose of the hearing was not so that he could redeem his reputation, because there was no reason to do that. He and Ferruggia have maintained that the board's action was motivated by two actions Coletti had taken.

A suit filed earlier this year by him had challenged the board's investigation by the County Prosecutor's office into the freeholder's handling of fiscal matters primarily related to the 1985 county budget. The prosecutor's office cleared the board of any criminal wrongdoing, but criticized some of its actions and commended Coletti for bringing the allegations to light.

News briefs

Recycling urged

Meetings of the Springfield Environmental Commission have been scheduled for Wednesday and Nov. 13 and Dec. 11, at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building.

A major project of the commission is the development of the municipal recycling program for glass, aluminum and newspapers, which is held at the township garage on Center Street weekdays from 7:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The public is welcome at all meetings.

Meetings reset

The Springfield Board of Education has announced the cancellation of both its conference meeting of Oct. 21 and regular meeting of Oct. 28.

Instead, the board will hold its conference meeting Oct. 10 and its regular meeting Oct. 21. The meetings will be held in the cafeteria of the Florence M. Gaudineer School at 8 p.m.

Books for sale

The Springfield Public Library will hold a book sale Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The sale, originally scheduled for last week, is continuing this weekend due to Hurricane Gloria, said a library spokesman.

Free BP tests

Township Senior Citizen Coordinator Theresa Herkalo has announced that free blood pressure tests for all Springfield residents are held on the second Wednesday of each month at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center, Church Mall, 12:30 to 3 p.m.

Further information is available by calling 376-8884.

Assault plea results in fine

A 34-year-old Springfield man was fined $100 in Springfield Municipal Court Monday for his part in a fight that took place Saturday at the Pine View Apartments at Golf Oval.

Police said the fight, which took place at around 4:50 p.m. Saturday, started as a dispute between the township resident, Michael D'Amato, and Anthony Romano, 19, of Livingston.

Both were arrested by Springfield police for fighting. D'Amato pleaded guilty Monday to assault charge. He was fined $100, plus $15 costs and a $25 surcharge to the state Violent Crime Victims Compensation Board.

James and Debra McCormick, both of Linden, were fined as a result of a May 5 incident involving township Patrolman 3008 Levenson.

Debra McCormick was fined $100 for aggravated assault on Levenson, plus $15 costs and $25 to the compensation board. She was also sentenced to a year's probation for possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

James McCormick was fined $100 plus $15 costs and $25 to the compensation board.

A Monday theft netted several thousands dollars worth of foreign car equipment from JMK Auto Sales on Route 22, according to Springfield police.

Police said 10 Alpine BMW radios, seven wire harnesses for radios and six face plates were missing. Their total value was put at $7,200.

The theft was reported at 12:25 Monday. Patrolman Lowell Hardy responded.

Another theft was reported as occurring the night of Sept. 26 or

Students get ready for S.A.T. test

This fall, the nearly 15-million students across the United States who take the Preliminary Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) will have a special opportunity to familiarize themselves with the testing format also used on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (S.A.T.).

On the PSAT/NMSQT, the 110 students taking the test at David Breyer High School, on Oct. 19 at 8 a.m. can "preview" the exam process for the S.A.T. — the prerequisite for many college-bound students, according to Monroe B. Nestler of the school guidance staff.

Since 1969, about 30 million high school students have taken the test, which measures verbal and mathematical abilities.

This year, the PSAT/NMSQT will be offered Oct. 19 or Oct. 22 at almost 20,000 high schools nationwide.

Through the PSAT/NMSQT, students are selected for the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Program, which enables talented students to compete for

Herzlinger and Murphy boost recycling

Mickey Herzlinger and Pat Murphy, Democratic candidates for Springfield Township Committee, issued a statement this week boosting the town's recycling efforts and proposing expansion of the recycling program.

"Springfield's recycling center, like its teen center, is a new initiative undertaken by the Democratic Township Committee. These projects had to wait until 1985 to get started because, for the prior two years when the Republicans were in the majority, they talked about them but did nothing. Of the teen center, the opponent says 'It was a personal goal of last year's Republican candidate, William Ruocco.' She should add that Mr. Ruocco and the Republicans controlled the local government for the two previous years and while they talked about

Katz, Pieper say Dems 'danger' to town

Jeff Katz and Jo-Anne Pieper, Republican candidates for Springfield Township Committee, have issued the following statement:

"The Democrat-controlled Township Committee and our Democrat opponents are a danger to your health, safety and welfare. A recent letter to the editor of the Springfield Leader blasted the Township Committee for allowing unsafe, unhealthy, and disgusting working conditions within the Police Department. We agree, but the writer didn't go far enough. The disgusting working conditions in the Municipal Building date back to 1972. During 10 years of Democratic domination and two years of Republican control, the Township Committee ignored sanitary sewer problems which posed human waste and raw sewage into the police locker and lunch rooms.

"Complaints about these conditions prompted a recent inspection of the Municipal Building by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA). The township was cited for some 30 or Montalaine's squad must cover for Springfield. Delays are unavoidable; those squads must

Plaque, books honor library's vols

The Springfield Public Library board of trustees recently paid tribute to volunteer workers, men and women from the community who give their time and talent to the library.

In recognition of their services, the board of trustees has purchased a plaque which is hung in the inner lobby and lists the names of all volunteers who have contributed more than 500 hours of service to the library. Volunteers whose names are inscribed include Rosa Simon, Winifred Davidson, Dorothy Bunell, Doris Nemlinger, Mildred

Reservations and cancellations must be made two days in advance by calling 376-5814, weekdays between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Lunches are served Monday through Friday from noon to 12:30 p.m.

All lunches are served with bread and margarine and milk.

MONDAY—Swedish meatballs, noodles and chopped spinach, fresh fruit, grapefruit juice and croissants.

TUESDAY—Chicken cutlet, gravy, lettuce and tomato, Russian dressing, baked potatoes, peaches, and vegetable soup.

WEDNESDAY—Pepper steak, rice, cole slaw, pear halves and cream of tomato soup.

THURSDAY—Roast turkey breast, sweet peas, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, butterscotch pudding and chicken gumbo soup.

FRIDAY—Baked fish, lemon butter, Brussels sprouts, potatoes au gratin, plain chowder and ice cream.

Friends tell stories to preschool kids

The Friends of the Kenilworth Library will be sponsoring a story hour for preschool-aged children each Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. each Wednesday through Oct. 23.

The coordinator will be Judy Jones, who also is in charge of the successful summer time story hours. Pre-registration will be required. The children may be registered at the library.

Recycling Backed—Pat Murphy, left, and Mickey Herzlinger, Democratic candidates for Springfield Township Committee, visit the town recycling center. The candidates endorse expansion of the program.

Hassle-FREE Valet Parking at Alexian Brothers Hospital

That's right. At Alexian Brothers, we know you have enough on your mind. So we offer free valet parking for patients and visitors every day from 1 to 9 p.m.

You just drive to our main entrance — we'll escort you inside and park your car in one of our monitored lots. When you're ready to leave, just notify the nurse. Within minutes, your car will be waiting at the front door. No hassle, no worry for you. No long walks, no rain or bad weather.

Sure, valet parking is a little extra work on our part. But, at Alexian Brothers Hospital, we think first-rate medical care includes old-fashioned hospitality.

Keep it clean

The campaign for two Township Committee seats is in full swing, with new statements emanating from both the Republican and Democratic camps on a weekly basis.

As is usually the case, these statements don't always concentrate on the issues. Rather, they get personal, recalling incidents that have little or nothing to do with the day-to-day business of municipal government.

A case in point is a recent statement, issued by Democrats Mickey Herzlinger and Pat Murphy, condemning Republican Jeffrey Katz, a local attorney, for charging the township a fee in excess of $1,000 for defending a local police officer in Summit traffic court.

The officer exercised his option to retain counsel at the township's expense by choosing Katz. In a time-consuming case during which Katz was paid on an hourly basis, the legal fees mounted.

The conduct of Katz and the case was proper, yet the Democrats' appear intent on bringing the matter up as a campaign issue.

The fact that Katz is trying to make a living shouldn't reflect on his ability to hold public office. It certainly does nothing to help the cause of Murphy and Herzlinger if they feel it necessary to concentrate on their opponent's personal life rather than thinking out and developing a platform of issues the voters of Springfield are interested in.

Katz and his running mate, Jo-Ann Pieper, on the other hand, used a recent Sunday to be photographed while pointing out the inadequacies of the township's police headquarters.

Funny they should wait until they are running for office to "discover" the building's deficiencies. We wish it didn't take an election campaign to raise such serious concerns about township facilities. Such issues should be raised year round.

Candidates for public office often step out of character in an effort to win votes. Let's hope that doesn't happen this year in Springfield.

To their credit, though, both camps appear to be moving toward a more substantive campaign. Katz and Pieper have outlined a six-point platform which includes the interesting idea of establishing a "skills bank" of volunteers to help the township provide community services. Herzlinger and Murphy have called for increased efficiency in government, better enforcement of town ordinances and prudent zoning.

An issue-oriented campaign, concentrating on the needs of the town, not stunts or publicity stunts, can only serve the best interests of everyone involved. That's not to mention those who will be most affected by those who are elected — the voters.

All four candidates, who are responsible members of the community, should be up to it. The people of Springfield deserve it.

Who to call

Following are phone numbers at which public officials can be reached in an emergency on weekends or evenings. All other calls will be accepted at the Municipal Building from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Mayor Edward Fanning — 687-0783
Township Committeewoman Joann Tedesco — 376-3175
Township Committeewoman Stanley Kaish — 379-6402
Township Committee member Philip Polinich — 376-1855
Township Committee member William Cleri — 379-9383
Residents with specific problems or inquiries can contact the following township officials at the Municipal Building for information: For questions concerning snow or leaf removal, street lights or potholes, call Harold Reed, township engineer. For information on building permits or requirements, call Matt Clafflow, building inspector.

Letters to the editor

'Community lost a most valued citizen'

When Robert Briggs passed on, Springfield and the community and friends and family lost a most valued citizen, devoted husband and father and good friend. Bob was all of these things, and in his passing, all who knew him feel a great sense of loss.
Bob was all of these things mentioned above, but he was also a part of an era not seen as much today as in his. He placed his marriage and family in high esteem, he believed deeply that one must serve beyond the walls of one's home and therefore, he held community life in high esteem also. As a businessman, he believed in honest, hard work, yet he never became "successful" as to forget what it felt like to need help. His pleasures and hobbies showed that he also held life and nature in high esteem. His garden and being tight close to the natural world around him.
To me, Bob symbolized an American in its truest sense — honesty, industry, community sensitivity, and most of all, a man who regarded family and friends with devotion. This community and this land have lost something very special and yet his heritage has made many lives richer for having been here.
Thanks, Bob.

Candidates' statement raises questions

The article in last week's Leader by Township Committee candidates (Mickey Herzlinger and Pat Murphy) requires a response.
Herzlinger and Murphy complain that children living at a new apartment complex off Springfield Avenue will have to be bused to school or be required to cross impossible traffic intersections. Those of us who reside on Maple Avenue, Alvin Terrace, Warner Terrace, Perry Place and Marion Street, where school busing is not required, are interested in this.

Ask the teacher

By BETH GIORDANO & FRAN SULLIVAN
Q—My daughter is beginning her junior year in high school. She has her heart set on attending a large private university that will cost approximately $10,000. I am worried about how I will pay for her education. Our income is comfortable, but will not cover these expenses. What kind of aid is available?
A—You are smart to begin thinking about financing your child's education.
The financial aid maze is baffling. Getting the right information is an Herculean task. Investigate first in the scope of available scholarships. This form of aid is usually based on scholarship and financial need, although other factors can enter into the award decision.
Begin your scholarship search by contacting local clubs and community organizations such as the YMCA, 4-H Club, Kiwanis, Jaycee, the American Legion, and the Boy and Girl Scouts.
Often employers or labor unions will have programs to help pay college costs for children of their employees.
If your daughter has already decided on her field of interest, you should consider contacting organizations connected with that field to see if there are any scholarship programs available. These organizations are listed in the U.S. Department of Labor's "Occupational Outlook Handbook."
Your local library is a good source of information for both state and private sources of aid. There are also some excellent books available. A partial listing includes "Selected List of Postsecondary Education Opportunities for Minorities and Women," published by the U.S. Department of Education; "A Woman's Guide to Career Preparation: Scholarships, Grants and Loans," by Ann J. Javin; "Financial Aids for Higher Education," by Oren Keenan; "Don't Miss Out," published by Octameron Associates; and "Need a Lift," published by the American Legion.

Both Giordano and Fran Sullivan have combined teaching, research and writing experience. This column is written in consultation with national leaders in education. Readers with questions are invited to write to "Ask the Teacher," P.O. Box 1870, Cranford 07016.

graduate and undergraduate students. Individual award depends on need, amount of money available at the individual schools, and the amount of aid the student receives from other programs.
National Direct Student Loans are low interest (5 percent) loans to both undergraduate and graduate students and are made through the school's financial aid administrator. Find out if the school your daughter is interested in attending participates in this program.
Awards range from $3,000 for undergraduates to $12,000 for graduates and professional studies. Repayment begins six months after leaving school, borrowers have to years in which to repay the loan.
Guaranteed Student Loans/P.L.U.S. loans are low interest loans made through participating lenders. Loans are credit unions, savings and loan associations.
These loans are insured by the guarantee agency in the individual state and repaid by the federal government.
The interest rate for GSL is 8 percent and an undergraduate student can borrow up to $2,500 per year. Repayment begins six months after a student leaves school, with the lender usually allowing 18 months for repayment.
P.L.U.S. loans are supplemental funds for educational expenses. Interest rates are a bit higher (12 percent) and are made through the same lenders as GSL.
Parents can borrow up to $3,000 per year to a total of $15,000 per child. A borrower must begin repaying a P.L.U.S. loan within 60 days, although there are deferment options.

Most federal aid and many scholarships are awarded on a need basis, which is defined as the difference between cost of education and the amount your family can afford to pay, as determined by a standard formula. You will be asked for information from your previous year's tax return to complete the need analysis. If you feel those records inadequately reflect your financial situation, ask the school to consider a Financial Aid Form (FAF) that will allow you to estimate expenses according to your present economic circumstances. The FAF form can be obtained from the College Scholarship Service, CN 6307, Princeton 08541.
You should also contact the financial aid administrator at the university to see what funding may be available from the school. One tip to remember: Try to deal with the same person in the financial aid office, especially for a large university as the one you describe. In that way, your daughter has a better chance of becoming more than a number within the financial aid department.
Q—How can I prepare for parent/teacher conferences? My child will be going back to school soon, and I know these meetings will soon follow. I get so intimidated by teachers that I am speechless around them.
A—When you make the arrangements for the conference, tell the teacher what areas you are most interested in reviewing. In that way she can have all the materials, including school records, readily available.
Questions you should consider are: How is my child performing at this grade level in basic skills? What achievement, intelligence or vocational aptitude tests have been given and what do the scores mean? What are my child's strengths and weaknesses? What can I do to help my child overcome his weaknesses? Aside from your child's academic record, make sure you check on his social progress as well. Does my child relate well to his peers? Is he too shy, or too overbearing? Is he well behaved in class?

Ask too if the teacher has observed any changes in behavior such as sulking or extreme fatigue. This will tip you off as to any medical problems.
Q—We are debating whether to move. If we decide to sell our house, we would move completely out of the area. Our children are young now, but I am concerned what affect our move will have on them.
A—High school appears to be the hardest time for children to make the adjustment of switching schools. At that age, children have already established themselves with a group of friends. They have also gained a degree of status that is hard to duplicate in their new surroundings. Younger children are more homebound and, therefore, are more easily able to make the transition to a new school.
Q—I was unaware that I had the right to review my son's school records until my brother-in-law recently informed me that there was a federal law guaranteeing this right. What is the law and what does it say?
A—The 1974 Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) gives parents the right to inspect their children's school records and prohibits the release of those records to anyone except school personnel unless the parents give written consent. Under the law, parents also have the right to challenge material included in these files that they feel is in violation of the privacy or other rights of the student.

Franks presents Republican platform

Last week, Assemblyman Bob Franks, who represents Mountaineer in the Assembly, presented the New Jersey Republican Party Platform to the Republican State Convention in Trenton. Last month, Franks was named vice chairman of the Platform Committee by Republican State Chairman Frank Holman. Franks commented that the platform defines the legislative priorities for the next two years and addresses the major issues that confront the Republican Party.

Club holds first fall meeting

The first fall meeting of the Kenilworth Senior Citizens Club was held at the Kenilworth Veterans Center. Some 150 members attended the meeting with President Frank Rasinski presiding.
In committee reports, Chairwoman Lillian Lasser reported volunteers for the American Lung Association were: Ann Oles, Joseph Oles and Lillian Lasser, contributing 23 hours in total.
At Memorial General Hospital, the volunteers, Mary Luciano, Josephine Aragona and Margo Kosmetzka, put in 191 hours.
At Elizabeth General, Lasser contributed 88 hours.
R. S. P. Chairwoman Ruth Wayne, of the Cranford Extended Care Center, reported 115 volunteer hours. Donations for Bingo were given by: Esther Airmans, Clara Chereaux, Mary Delema, Catherine Hudak, Stella Rasinski and Ruth Wayne.
Trip coordinator Sophie Strack reported there will be a trip to Hunterdon Hills Playhouse on Oct. 9, and a trip to Atlantic City on Oct. 11. Further information may be obtained by calling 276-1052.

President Rasinski commended the volunteers for their usefulness and humanitarian work, and also urged other members of the club to get involved.
The following persons were honored at the August-September birthday party: Virginia Lupo, Josephine Aragona and Margo Kosmetzka, put in 191 hours.
At Elizabeth General, Lasser contributed 88 hours.
R. S. P. Chairwoman Ruth Wayne, of the Cranford Extended Care Center, reported 115 volunteer hours. Donations for Bingo were given by: Esther Airmans, Clara Chereaux, Mary Delema, Catherine Hudak, Stella Rasinski and Ruth Wayne.
Special congratulations were given to Rose and Sam Vitale, Marie and Harry Sliel and Minnie and Al Leikowak, all of whom celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

Republicans stress tax relief

Council President John Brede and C. Michael Thorsen, Republican candidates for the Kenilworth Borough Council, issued a statement recently calling for wise and prudent use of tax dollars in Kenilworth.
Brede stated, "My primary reason for opposing this year's municipal budget was because of excessive cuts in the budget requests of the Police and Fire Departments as to the provision of salaries for political appointees, all of whom are friends and supporters of the mayor and his administration."
Brede called the recent addition of three policemen to the department, an action which was funded with monies received from the state, a definite plus for the citizens of Kenilworth.
C. Michael Thorsen added, "We must not sacrifice public safety in order to provide salaries to political cronies of the present administration. We must make every effort to obtain a dollar's worth of service for every dollar spent."
Both candidates pledged to be watchdogs of the taxpayers' money and make every effort to maintain a tax rate as low as possible in Kenilworth. The candidates added, "This year's municipal tax increase was caused primarily by the increase in the municipal budget. Every effort must be made to stabilize the tax rate and reduce the burden on our taxpayers."

organizations at three public hearings that were held by the Kenilworth Committee in June, July and August. The platform seeks to use public sentiment as the primary tool with which the Republican Party will work to reshape state government.
Franks, who also serves as a member of the Assembly Revenue, Finance and Appropriations Committee, as well as the Assembly State Government, Civil Service, Elections, Pensions and Veterans Affairs Committee, was the only member of the Assembly appointed to the platform committee. Commenting on the results of the committee's work, Franks said, "Formulation of a party platform is a challenging task because it must be broad enough for all Republican candidates to stand on, yet be specific enough to hold each of us accountable to our constituents."
The three-term legislator noted that under the Ken administration, "we have established New Jersey as a leader among states by creating jobs, stimulating the economy, cleaning up the environment and fighting crime."
The platform cites the many initiatives of Ken administration that have stimulated economic growth and development in the state. These include the phase-out of the inheritance tax and increases in state aid programs that serve to reduce the property tax burden. The platform pledges to support the continuation of these growth-oriented policies.

On the environment, the platform notes the strides in the clean-up of toxic waste under the Ken administration, but states the need "to increase the resources, devoted to and speed up the pace of hazardous waste cleanup in New Jersey and nationally."
The platform also endorses a number of measures, including the development of resource recovery facilities and mandatory recycling, to address the growing solid waste crisis.

The platform makes particular note of the successes of the Ken administration in fighting crime. Under Gov. Keane, the state has expanded its prison system and enacted the toughest drunk driving laws in the nation. These measures have helped reduce the number of deaths and injuries caused by drunk drivers.
Franks said, "The State Republican Platform illustrates the progress we have made under Gov. Keane and more importantly, shows that the Republican Party has a vision of unlimited opportunity for progress for New Jersey and all of its citizens."

Watercolorist is guest

Dolores Anne Ziegler-Powell, who prefers to be called "Dax," will be the guest demonstrator for Monday's meeting of the Kenilworth Art Association at 8 p.m.
A well known watercolorist from East Orange, she received her associate in arts degree from Dean Junior College, Franklin, Mass, and also studied at the University of Wisconsin.
The late Nicholas Reale was one of her private teachers as well as a friend.
Dax is currently a member of the Kenilworth Art Association and is currently a member of the Summit Art Center. The artist is admirer of small boat sailors who have circumnavigated the world and many of his paintings are of the boats that have made that fantastic journey.

Nautical paintings exhibited

The Springfield Public Library is displaying the nautical painting of Springfield artist Robert McIntosh during October.
McIntosh studied art and advertising design at the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn and is currently a member of the Summit Art Center. The artist is admirer of small boat sailors who have circumnavigated the world and many of his paintings are of the boats that have made that fantastic journey.

Cancer conference planned

"When You Have A Student With Cancer," a free program sponsored by the Union County Unit, American Cancer Society Service and Rehabilitation Committee, will be held on Monday, at the Schering Plough Corp., Kenilworth, from 12:30 to 5 p.m.
"Substantial advances have been made in the treatment of various forms of childhood cancer," stated Pam Decker, chairwoman of the Service and Rehabilitation Committee. "These advances, multidisciplinary medical attention, and parents alert to early symptoms are making long-term control of childhood cancer a reality."
A new attitude has emerged among health professionals working with children who have cancer. They are now making every effort to keep children in school while undergoing treatment.
The major concerns for a school professional are communication, organization, emotional problems and physical problems. The educator's role is important in sharing information, planning activities for the absent child, being alert to behavior changes, and recognizing fatigue or difficulty in concentration that results from the illness and therapy.
As medicine makes possible longer survivals and greater hopes for cure of childhood cancers, the role of the school professional is going to be increasingly important. Teachers have a special opportunity to add to the quality of each child's life and most especially those children who have had cancer.
Registration and information about the conference is available by contacting the American Cancer Society, Union County Unit, 334-7374.

Pen pal bill advances

A bill, sponsored by Assemblyman Peter J. Genova, R-21, that would encourage schools to establish "pen pal" programs in which young students correspond with senior citizens who live in their municipality was approved Sept. 12, by the Assembly. The bill, A-3905, was approved 71-0. It now goes to the state Senate for approval and then to the governor for a signature.

"The program would help pupils to better understand and relate to senior citizens and the concerns of older people," said Genova. "It would also be nice for seniors to have a special friend in the school system."

Genova said, "that where possible, students and their senior citizen pen pals would meet for a visit after a period of correspondence." The program would be optional for individual school districts.

"The program teaches students to communicate on paper, with pens and pencils, not with computers," said Genova. "It also gives the students the responsibility of answering correspondence and it makes students work in a functional manner."

"The older people also derive a benefit," Genova said. "In terms of human contribution, this legislation is productive."

Genova said that the understanding promoted between young people and seniors as a result of the program could have some effect in reducing crime against the elderly. He noted that many of those crimes are committed by youths.

Ruotolo backs tax cut

Andrew K. Ruotolo, Democratic candidate for state Assembly in the 21st district, has endorsed a plan for a permanent 15 percent across-the-board cut in property taxes, as proposed by gubernatorial candidate Peter Shapiro.

"New Jersey residents pay the highest property taxes in the nation," said Ruotolo. "Residents must be released through property tax reform from the stranglehold of escalating costs. Without such assistance, Union County residents will be priced out of the housing market."

Ruotolo, who has been campaigning door-to-door since June, said, "In my conversations with homeowners, it has become painfully apparent that many of them are hardpressed to pay taxes on homes they have lived in for years. Elders on fixed incomes have been particularly hard hit."

The proposed plan would reduce the average tax paid by 15 percent or about $225 per homeowner. The funds would be sent directly to each municipal tax collector, who would reduce individual tax bills by 15 percent. The deduction would appear as a separate line item.

Ruotolo noted that while residents have been paying high property taxes, the state's annual budget surplus has been growing tremendously. "One of the cardinal rules of good government is that a state should extract from its citizens in taxes only those monies it returns in protection, services and benefits. The state has flagrantly disregarded this principle as evidenced by the tremendous surplus. The only remedy is the return of monies to the taxpayers."

Prep open house

Seventh- and eighth-grade students and their parents are invited to attend the open house at Seton Hall Prep's new West Orange campus, 120 Northfield Ave., Sunday, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Francis G. Tuohy, director of Admissions and Guidance, will be available along with members of the administration, faculty, coaches and club moderators to familiarize visitors with the new facility and the programs the school has to offer its prospective students.

Karcher speaks on behalf of Mancino, Ruotolo

Legislator Alan Karcher, speaker of the New Jersey Assembly, was the guest speaker at a campaign kick-off dinner held recently for Kenilworth Mayor Livio Mancino, Assembly candidate in the 21st District.

The speaker told the crowd that the 21st District must elect Mancino because of his local experience and his runningmate Andrew Ruotolo for his sincere effort to help the district, charging that those presently representing the district are purely party-oriented obstructionists.

The speaker said, "Livio and Andrew's opponent (Charles Hardwick) from Westfield has voted 'No' on four bills proposed to rid toxic waste sites, and didn't even vote on the bill that would have reduced Union County taxes."

Mancino, in his brief remarks to the partisan crowd, said, "I oppose any change to the name of Newark Airport proposed by Assemblyman Peter Genova. I also take exception to his noble bill, wherein he feels senior citizens should receive special compensation when a crime has been perpetrated on them. We should help all victims who must endure this traumatic experience be it a parent, a son or a daughter and the elderly, with equal treatment for all."

The candidate continued by saying, "When will the two incumbents debate the more pressing issues? It appears that one is just trying to get press by advocating bills not worthy of consideration or by recommending special legislation to help him in this election year. The other avoids all issues which may hurt his voting image, or maybe he doesn't have time to vote because of his federal obligations."

Mancino noted that in the next few weeks he will issue white papers on the important issues in the campaign. "Such issues are: the tax matters, which show something like a billion-dollar surplus, while we pay one of the highest property tax in the country; the toxic waste clean-up that needs no more studies but immediate action; the total mess that exists with insurance, both the personal and business; the safety and welfare issues of our cities, towns and boroughs which prevent people from taking a simple walk or leaving their homes; plus the may other issues that affect people which our present assemblymen don't ever address, and their record shows that statement to be a fact."

The mayor again challenged his opponents to debate the issues and not run for re-election by "riding on the coat tails" of the governor's popularity.

Candidates debate Sunday

A candidates' debate featuring the gubernatorial and Union County freholder candidates will be held Sunday, 2 to 4 p.m., in Downs Hall at Kean College, Union.

County Women's Political Caucus, one of the event's sponsors.

The Democratic freholder candidates are incumbents Charlotte DeFilippo of Hillsdale and Walter Boright of Scotch Plains and challenger Gerald McCann of Elizabeth. The GOP candidates are incumbent Chairman G. Richard Malgrano of Plainfield, and challengers William H. Eldridge of Summit and James J. Falcomer of Rahway.

Both Gov. Thomas H. Kean, the Republican incumbent, and his Democratic challenger, Essex County Executive Peter Shapiro, have agreed to appear, according to the Rev. Evelyn Johnson of Vauxhall, president of the Union

Hardwick earns legislative honor

Assemblyman Chuck Hardwick, R-21, was named "Legislator of the Year," by the American Legislative Exchange Council, at a ceremony held recently in Orlando, Fla.

Hardwick, who is the Assembly Republican leader, was awarded this honor based on his commitment and support of free enterprise and individual liberties through his four terms in the Legislature.

The American Legislative Exchange Council is a nonpartisan, grass-roots national organization dedicated to effective representation in government. Its offices are in Washington, D.C. Hardwick is the state chairman of the organization, and the group membership includes New Jersey legislators from both political parties.

Hardwick was unable to attend the awards ceremony, due to a pressing schedule in Union County. Assemblyman Bob Franks, R-22, attended the meeting to accept the award on his behalf. The award was presented by Edward Rollins, special assistant to President Reagan.

"I am pleased to receive this honor of being chosen Legislator of the Year. Assembly Republicans have always respected free enterprise and individual liberties, and will continue to do so in the future," Hardwick said.

Hardwick is currently seeking re-election to a fifth term in the State Assembly this November, along with his running mate, Assemblyman Peter Genova, and Governor Tom Keen.

Red Cross aids Mexico relief effort

Anthony J. DiGiovanni, chapter chairman of the Eastern Union County Chapter, American Red Cross, advises that the Red Cross is on the scene working to help victims of last month's earthquake in Mexico City. He noted the high visibility of the Mexican Red Cross volunteers and staff, and also that many of the hospitals in the area are Red Cross hospitals.

"I strongly urge that all Americans give, and if not through the Red Cross, through their favorite international charity," he said.

"The need is so great!" Monetary donations for Mexican relief should be mailed to Eastern Union County Chapter, American Red Cross, 303 W. Jersey St., Elizabeth 07202, and the check earmarked for Mexican relief.

Local sponsors essay contest

Local 68 is sponsoring its third annual essay contest for high schools statewide in an effort to boost organized labor studies at the secondary level.

The Education Fund-sponsored contest has chosen "Should Americans Feel Obligated to Buy American Made Goods?" as the subject for the contest.

Entries in the essay contest will be accepted through Dec. 2. It offers a first prize of $300 Savings Bond, along with other savings bond awards and certificates of honorable mention, and teacher awards. The winners will be announced Jan. 15, 1986. Entry forms have been distributed at high schools throughout the state.

"Labor studies are not a part of the curriculum now, and with these essays we hope to work with the Legislature and demonstrate the need for a labor studies program on the high school level," said Thomas P. Giblin, president of Local 68.

"Textbooks used in the state's secondary schools are devoid of reference to modern unionism in the United States," Giblin said.

"When the labor movement is mentioned at all, it's with a reference to Samuel Gompers

Group prepares for summit

Women for a Meaningful Summit, an ad-hoc coalition of national organizations that support a halt to the nuclear arms race, has joined together to urge President Reagan and General Secretary Gorbachev to "seize the opportunity of the 1985 summit to take real concrete steps to obtain global security" through arms reduction.

The group will send representatives to Geneva, Switzerland, next month to meet with high-level leaders of government involved in the talks.

In a meeting sponsored by the Summit/Unilateral Church Social Concerns Committees, individuals will discuss what local activities can be organized to support the goals of the coalition.

The meeting will be held Tuesday, at 8 p.m., at the Summit Unilateral Church, 165 Summit Ave., Summit. Further information is available by calling 376-5929 or 762-3143.

YOUR TAX DOLLAR...

Question: What have the two incumbents (one has 8 years experience, the other 6 months) done to help your tax dollars down in Trenton?

Answer: Nothing!! Check the record.

As your Assemblyman candidate I have taken a position helping to reduce your taxes. I want a balanced budget with a retention of any surplus to be limited by law to no more than 2% of the annual budget, and any excess surplus be returned to the county and local municipalities for the sole purpose of reducing property taxes. I will propose a bill to support my position and I already have supporters.

(This is an excerpt from Livio's first white paper addressing the tax dollars collected and spent by the state)

Sukkoth celebration set Sunday in Union

The Jewish Community Council of Union Township will present a Sukkoth celebration Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. at Temple Israel of Union, 2272 Morris Ave., as host. The Thanksgiving Festival, which begins on the 15th day of the Jewish month of Tishri, commemorates the Israelites' dwelling in frail booths on their journey through the wilderness. Sukkoth also commemorates "the last of three pilgrimages to the temple in Jerusalem, where voluntary offerings are made for the blessing of a rich harvest." In the Jewish home, members of the family eat each meal in the Sukkah. This year's celebration will include a visit to the sukka, discussions led by Rabbi Meyer Korban of Temple Israel, Dr. Edwin I. Kose, rabbi of Congregation Beth Shalom, Union, and music and dancing led by the Hester Street Boys and Cantor Hillel Sidowitz. There also will be additional refreshments. It was announced that there will be no solicitation for funds. Sponsoring organizations of

Ciniglio still makes waves in Linden

By MIKE MARON
You could probably say she is beginning to "make waves" in swimming circles.

Despite her relatively brief career so far, 14-year-old Theresa Ciniglio of Linden is starting to climb the ladder of swimming success. And for a young woman who has only been swimming seriously for two years, it's a success story that will probably continue.

Last season, the personable Ciniglio was the Most Valuable Swimmer for the Cranford Aquatic Club team in the 13-14 age group. Among her other accomplishments, she holds the pool record in her age group with a 57-second mark in the 100-yard freestyle.

Ciniglio started swimming competitively at age 9, began to really get serious three years later, and, after a number of successful performances recently, already has set some lofty goals for herself: pretty high ones, in fact.

"I want to be in the Olympics. I'm going to try hard and practice hard," she said in a recent phone interview. "A coach at the New Jersey Junior Olympics meeting at West Point, N.Y. in August, she took me if I try hard I will go to the (U.S. Swimming) Nationals next winter."

A ninth-grade student at Union Catholic High School in Scotch Plains, Ciniglio is training at the newly named Gator Aquatic Club (the Cranford club merged with another one) five times a week and swims on the team for coach Lou Petrozello, a Garwood resident who coaches the highly successful boys swim team at St. Joseph's High School in Metuchen.

If Ciniglio goes to the Nationals, it will mean a trip to Orlando, Fla., a trip that her coach feels she's going to make. "She's going to make the nationals," Petrozello predicts. Not bad, considering "she didn't know anything about them two years ago."

This past summer, Ciniglio continued to gather acclaim at the New Jersey Swimming and Diving Conference Championships in Bridgewater, N.J., where she won the 100-yard freestyle event for 13-to-14 year-olds with a clocking of 56.21 seconds. In the same meet, she also swam the backstroke leg for the cramps. "This affected our scores, as in cross country, unlike other sports, if you lose your number one man, you don't replace him with number two.

"You move everyone up and replace him with number eight. In cross country, Schmidt who had been our number four man became number two and our other men moved up respectively. If Kraus and Helfant had finished our score would have been at least 50 points less. As it was we finished eighth out of 13 teams entered in the meet," said coach Bob O'Dell.

As for the Bulldog Invitational last Saturday, The Farmers lost Kraus and Helfant during the race due to minor injuries (twisted ankle and

On Saturday, Union will be at Carpenters Mountain in West Paterson for the Pioneer Invitational.

Nets need Dunkers

The New Jersey Nets professional basketball team is conducting a search for junior high and high school students to become members of a special Nets "Dunkers" squad.

"We're looking for several young people in the area who would like to spend a few hours a month working for the Nets," said Phil Dundie, vice president of marketing for the Nets. "These students must be responsible, enjoy basketball and want to be a part of a winning team effort for the 1985-86 season."

According to Dundie, students selected for the Nets "Dunkers" program will be responsible for distributing posters, t-shirts, schedules, brochures, luncheonettes and other public places in their own hometowns.

"In exchange, all students 'Dunkers' will receive complimentary tickets to Nets home games, an official Nets 'Dunkers' t-shirt and the opportunity to meet their favorite Nets players at a special 'Meet the Nets' day at the Meadowlands," added Dundie.

Students interested in applying for a position on the "Dunkers" squad should state, in 50 words or less, why they would like to be a Nets "Dunker" and send it (with their name, address, telephone number, school and grade) to Nets "Dunkers," c/o General Postman, Inc., 855 Valley Road, Clifton, N.J. 07013, by Oct. 14. Selected students will be notified by mail or by telephone.

UNICO Bowl to kick off

On Saturday, the Jonathan Dayton Bulldogs will meet the Arthur L. Johnson High School's team from Clark. This will be the second time that the UNICO Bowl Football Game will be played.

The Springfield-Mountainside and Clark Chapters of UNICO International have agreed to sponsor a UNICO Bowl each year. A trophy presented by UNICO will be held by the winning team until the two teams meet again the following year. When it has been won three times, the winning school will retain the trophy permanently and UNICO will offer another to sustain the rivalry.

Last year the Bulldogs won the first UNICO Bowl with a 27-7 victory. Bill Cieri of Springfield-Mountainside Chapter and Henry Variano of the Clark Chapter of UNICO are joint coordinators of this innovative arrangement and they will present the winning team with the trophy at the conclusion of Saturday's game.

Learn to bowl in Union

The Township of Union Recreation Department along with the Boy's & Girl's Club, in cooperation with the Four Seasons Play and Recreation Center is making available a "Learn to Bowl" program for Union residents, for children ages seven to eighteen.

The program is conducted in four parts on four consecutive weeks, with 1 1/2 hour fire session, National Bowling Council Learn to Bowl Film with one hour practice on the lanes. The program will be conducted by certified YABA instructors. It will be limited to a maximum amount of 20 children for each session, at no charge to the children, the Recreation Department, or the Boy's & Girl's Club. The preferred time for the program is arranged for Saturday morning and afternoon.

Anyone interested in joining these sessions should contact Joe LaGregora, general manager at the Four Seasons at 689-0151.

Courts close Oct. 14

The Union County Parks and Recreation Department has set the closing dates for the tennis courts and at Warnanco Park and the pitch and putt ranges at Galloping Hill and Ash Brook Golf Courses, for the 1985 season.

The tennis courts will close on or about Monday, Oct. 14, depending on the weather.

The pitch and putt ranges at Galloping Hill, Union and Ash Brook in Clark and Scotch Plains, will close on Monday, Nov. 4. Patrons can still use the ranges if they pay the fee at the respective club house and provide their own equipment.

Mayor's Day a success

Monday was a day to remember for all who participated in the annual Mayor's Day Charity Golf Tournament at the Suburban Golf Club, Union, and sponsored by the Union Township Chamber of Commerce.

Tournament winners were: Mariano, men's low gross (73); D. Kolber, men's low net (72); N. Walcott, women's low gross (73); D. Villiere took longest drive honors with a 299-yard drive on the fourth hole. Closest to the pin went to R. Gray on the 18th hole (two feet, five inches). Lou Roselle won a golf bag for the Kickers with a last digit gross score of zero.

Mayor Michael Bono called the day a huge success. One hundred thirty golfers participated in the tournament, which was followed by a cocktail hour, dinner and the awarding of trophies and prizes.

Dayton upsets Pioneers, 7-3

By MIKE MARON
Jonathan Dayton High School coach Tony Policare considered Saturday's 7-3 opening day win over New Providence one of the biggest victories of his coaching career. And he probably feels extra proud that his son, Tony Jr., engineered the winning touchdown drive with 1:20 left in the game.

The win was the first for the Bulldogs over New Providence in 12 years and it marked the end of the longtime rivalry between the schools.

"I'm very pleased," the happy coach remarked. "We were facing a very fine football program. They've been our nemesis for 10, 12, 15 years and getting over the hump was very important."

Dayton's offense couldn't get on track until the final touchdown drive, but that doesn't mean it didn't have plenty of chances. Each time Dayton had the ball in NP territory, it seemed like a penalty or turnover would wipe out the drive.

In the opening moments of the second quarter, for instance, the Bulldogs got as far as the New Providence 35 on fullback Lavant Bayrall's 13-yard run but a holding call forced them to punt. On New Providence's next possession, defensive linemen Chris Debbie pounced on a fumble and Dayton was in business again at the NP 45.

They got as far as the 24, but a motion call on a third-down led to Policare getting sacked two plays later.

"The Pioneers finally broke the scoreless deadlock when sophomore kicker Matt Simpson nailed a 37-yard field goal with two seconds left in the first half.

Similar circumstances beset Dayton on its opening drive in the second half. New Providence picked up a 16-yard penalty and Dayton was inside enemy territory again. After Policare was sacked for a 10-yard loss, Dayton was penalized for 10 more yipping out Darren Iaione's 17-yard burst up the middle. Iaione, who rushed 21 times for 73 yards on the day, coughed up the ball on the next play after a 15-yard run.

While the Bulldog offense struggled for just 113 total yards on the afternoon, the defense was particularly outstanding, limiting the Pioneers to 91 total yards, just 17 in the second half.

The Pioneers were in Dayton's half of the field twice in the third quarter. The first time, the defense ganged up on running back Brent Kaiser on fourth down and two from the 27 and John Linsard pooled the other drive with a sack of QB Craig Horan.

Penalties, however, continued to haunt the Dayton offense, even in the game-winning drive, which started with 5:59 left in the fourth after the defense dropped NP running back Steve Tiboni for a 27-yard loss on fourth down at the Dayton 22.

The touchdown march actually covered 86 yards because the Dawgs were whittled for two straight inceptions without completing play. After the second penalty, Policare scoreless deadlock when sophomore kicker Matt Simpson nailed a 37-yard field goal with two seconds left in the first half.

The young Policare got a break and showed great calm under pressure in his first start, finishing with seven completions in 12 attempts for 67 yards and one interception.

A combination of opening day jitters, turnovers and penalties was the trademark of the low-scoring affair at Meigs Field. The visitors were whittled for six penalties totaling 65 yards and Dayton was caught eight times for 55 yards.

The coach also praised the work of the coaching staff and vowed to work on eliminating mistakes. "You'll see a much better football team from now on," he said.

The touchdown march actually covered 86 yards because the Dawgs were whittled for two straight inceptions without completing play. After the second penalty, Policare scoreless deadlock when sophomore kicker Matt Simpson nailed a 37-yard field goal with two seconds left in the first half.

The young Policare got a break and showed great calm under pressure in his first start, finishing with seven completions in 12 attempts for 67 yards and one interception.

A combination of opening day jitters, turnovers and penalties was the trademark of the low-scoring affair at Meigs Field. The visitors were whittled for six penalties totaling 65 yards and Dayton was caught eight times for 55 yards.

TONY STEWART—Union's All-State halfback scored four touchdowns last Saturday as the Farmers trounced Scotch Plains, 35-0.

Rangers, Raiders win

The Union Rangers, led by Gordon Mitchell's two touchdowns runs and Cameron Chadwick's two touchdowns catches beat Wanauke 28-0 for their third consecutive win on Saturday in the Twin County Football League.

The Ranger offense started off slow until Mitchell scored on a 15-yard run. Mitchell then kicked the extra point. Later in the first quarter, he broke loose on a sweep behind the blocking of Paul Yarusi, Frank Fabio and Robert Jarvik to score on a 33-yard run.

In the second half, Gerald Tobin rolled out to his right and hit Chadwick with a 40-yard touchdown pass. Mitchell then kicked the extra point. The Rangers scored again when Mitchell hit Chadwick with a 53-yard pass.

The defense held Wanauke in no first-downs and was led by Marco Coban and Sharron Wright, who had an interception. Joe Queli, Gerald Tobin and Tito Russo also played well for the Rangers.

FEARLESS FARMERS—Union High School defensive linemen sack the Scotch Plains quarterback during last Saturday's 35-0 Union victory.

MD Golf classic on Saturday

Players from the New York Giants and the NFL Players Association will tackle birth defects by hitting the links in the Second Annual March of Dimes Celebrity Golf Classic on Oct. 5.

The Maplewood-Country Club will host the tournament in which players from the football Giants join guests in competition and a contest for prizes.

Giants players invited to gold 18 holes include quarterback Phil Simms, Lawrence Taylor and All Hall Shields. In addition to current players, many retired players are expected to participate.

A tennis tournament has been added by popular demand for guests who wish to join Giants players on the tennis court rather than golf courses.

Prizes include two 1985 automobiles which will be awarded to the first two golfers hitting a hole-in-one on two designated greens. Additional prizes are a set of irons, golf umbrellas, basketball, soccer and golf balls, putters and plaques for the first place foursomes. A raffle will also be held.

Entry fee is $200 per person and tax deductible. Proceeds benefit the March of Dimes programs of birth defects prevention. Information and registrations may be obtained by calling Tom Greve 882-0700.

High school teams needed

Phillipsburg High School is currently seeking two additional teams for a Christmas wrestling tournament this year. The tournament date is Saturday, Dec. 28 at Phillipsburg High School with weigh-ins from 7-8 a.m. and seeding from 8-8:45.

Schools currently participating, in addition to the hosts, are Long Branch, South Plainfield, Cranford, Brick Memorial and West Milford.

Interested schools should contact Athletic Director George Chando at 484-8400, ext. 283.

200-plus entrants await run 'fun'

More than 200 runners are expected for the second annual Liberty State Park Run "Just for the Fun of It" which takes place on Saturday, Oct. 26, at Liberty State Park in Jersey City. Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey and the Marine Service Construction Co. of Bedford are major sponsors of the race.

The 5.5 mile race, certified by the Athletic Congress, starts and finishes at Liberty State Park's restored Central Railroad of New Jersey train terminal. Scheduled the day before the New York Marathon, the "Just for the Fun of It" run begins at 10 a.m.

Unique formulation builds root systems and keeps lawns dense and green right up to the end of the season. Stimulates the growth of underground tillers and rhizomes which produce a new crop of grasses. Thickens your lawn and protects it against cold winter weather. Turns your lawn green again in the Spring, when it's too cold and windy to fertilize early. Fall fertilizer is great when applying or reseeding!

"FALL" IS ESPECIALLY GOOD FOR TREES & SHRUBS!
Because of its high phosphorus content, Deluxe "Fall" Fertilizer promotes vigorous root systems in trees and shrubs. And, the high potassium content increases their resistance to disease and cold winter weather. It works like nothing else does!

Union Farmers to host Campers this weekend

By MIKE MARON

I consider this the first REAL weekend of high school football action, of course; all the area teams have played at least one game already, but Hurricane Gloria did a number on us last week and forced Athletic Directors to shuffle schedules. Plus, Saturday afternoon football is starting to be challenged, as many schools are playing games on Friday and Saturday nights.

Breary and Irvington even played on Sunday afternoon last week.

This week, however, all area schools get back to traditional Saturday afternoon football. Here's a look at the matchups:

WACHUNG CONFERENCE
IRVINGTON at UNION
TONY Stewart... was simply awesome as the Farmers shut the door on Scotch Plains last week. The senior runner ran for 234 yards, four TD's and kicked all the extra-points. The Campers found a good passing game in QB Jeff Green to receiver Randy Jefferson in a 7-6 loss to Breary last week.

RAHWAY at LINDEY
Linden looked great in their first game last week, shutting out Cranford, 21-0. Bill Orak, Bill Hasko, John Blasigame and the rest of the Tigers looked tough on "D", limiting an excellent Mike Reilly to just one completion. The Tigers have some offensive threats, led by fullback Jim Smith and speedy receiver James Baker. Rahway failed to get in the end zone last week, losing to an improved Westfield club, 7-0. This is a great rivalry.

MOUNTAIN VALLEY CONFERENCE
RIDGE at ROSELLE
The visitors are without senior quarterback Stan Wilson, lost for the year with a shoulder injury during preseason. It showed as the Red Raiders got dumped by Hillside last week, 28-7. Ridge's only TD came on a blocked punt followed by a two-yard run. The Rams got off to a rough end against North Brunswick (a 27-8 loss) but should rebound behind freshman back Corey Nix.

DAYTON at JOHNSON
The Bulldogs rallied behind QB Tony Policare and TB Darren Inlone to beat New Providence, 7-3. Johnson stunned Immaculata, 21-13, with all three touchdowns by special FOOTBALL HERO—Danny Inlone of Dayton scored the only touchdown of the game with just 1:02 remaining to give the Bulldogs a 7-3 upset victory and their first win over New Providence in 12 years.

BY RAE HUTTON
 Calcutta, Bombay, Aruba — sounds like the exotic itinerary of a world traveler. They're also the names of some of the roads down at the Port Newark and Elizabeth Port Authority Marine Terminals — a place that's just as exotic and fascinating as its street names.

This complex on the Newark Bay — the receiving and distribution point for everything from bananas to Toyotas — has become one of the largest seaports in the world.

And while businessmen from all over the world visit the twin seaports to observe this precise operation that successfully handles one million tons of cargo a month, the average area resident apparently is unaware of just what is going on in his own backyard.

According to Theodore Endresen, assistant manager of New Jersey Marine Terminals, the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey began operating the Port Newark terminal in 1948 and the Elizabeth terminal 10 years later and even though "foreign dignitaries from all over the world come here to copy what we are doing, local people don't know anything about it."

More than 6,500 people are employed at the terminals and 190,000 jobs in the metropolitan area are the result of its operation, according to Endresen.

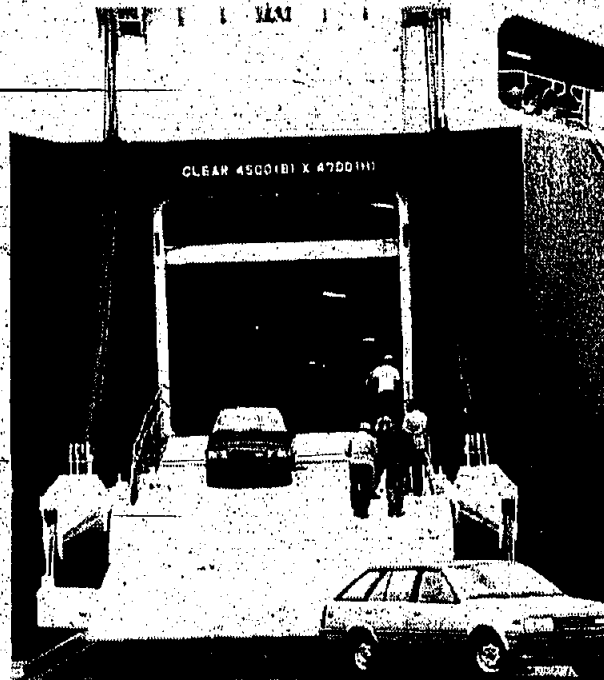

While the twin seaports generally are overlooked by local people, Endresen said that guided tours of the entire facility are available, as well as joint tours with the adjacent Newark Airport. And with all the trucks, ships and other activities, it is a popular spot for school tours.

What these tourists, school children and foreign dignitaries will see on a guided tour of the 2,200-acre seaport is a fast-paced, automated hub of activity.

The Port Authority leases the Port Newark terminal development, located on Newark Bay, from the City of Newark, which opened the seaport in 1915. Since taking over the operation in 1948, the Port Authority has invested more than $230 million to develop the terminal's 930 acres of wharves, deep-water ship berths (about 21,200 linear feet), transit sheds, open storage areas, buildings, roadways and railroad trackage.

Ten years later, in 1958, the Port Authority acquired the Elizabeth Marine Terminal, located on the western shore of Newark Bay in the City of Elizabeth. Since then the Port Authority has invested $344 million, making this facility "America's Container Capital." This terminal is on 1,302 acres and has 19 fully equipped container berths—16,254 feet of wharf situated on the Elizabeth Channel and Newark Bay—providing modern, efficient facilities for steamship lines and export-import shippers. Within the overall terminal are 12 huge cargo distribution buildings with over a million square feet of space, eight cargo buildings and 51 miscellaneous service structures. Seven container terminals, which can each accommodate as many as 6,000 containers on chassis and 3,000 when stacked, are located at the seaport.

SeaLand Service Inc., the pioneer container shipping company, began operations in Elizabeth in 1962 and opened a new terminal there in 1974. Six huge container cranes handle the multitude of container cargo arriving and departing from the Elizabeth terminal are the Puerto Rico Maritime Shipping Authority, the Atlantic Container Lines, International Terminal Operating Co. Inc. and the Maher Terminal, which has a berthing space of 3,150 feet and handles more than 15 steamship lines.

Two of the Elizabeth-Newark complex's major container ship facilities are located on the Port Newark side of the Elizabeth Channel. The Maersk Line and Universal Terminal.

According to Endresen, 75 percent of the cargo headed for New York comes to the Newark-Elizabeth complex. The first container ship sailed from Port Newark to Texas 27 years ago.

"New York piers—finger piers they're called—are too narrow. They couldn't handle the traffic. It sometimes would take a day for a truck to get in and out," he said, adding that nearly 5,000 trucks pull in and out of the Port Authority complex daily. Today, only three companies operate out of New York's East Side, one of which is for passenger ships.

The twin seaports handle 50 ships a week from all over the world. It is the only major seaport in the world which is adjacent to a rail station, international airport and major highways.

On any given day, there are 2,500 longshoremen (and women) on the docks of Newark-Bay, loading and unloading lumber, cars, punice, Belgian block, cement, bananas, steel, motorcycles, copper, sail, scrap metal, coal and general cargo. In addition, about 4,500 clerical, clerical and administrative personnel keep the wheels of the port spinning by processing—all by computer—the assorted paper work necessary for completing the shipping process.

All operations at the port are completely automated and computerized.

Unloading a shipment of bananas from Ecuador, for example, is a completely automated operation with cranes of bananas unloaded from the ship onto a conveyor belt, transported across the docks, and loaded by the longshoremen into waiting refrigerated container trucks and driven to their destination. Three ships carrying between three and four tons of bananas alone enter Newark Bay each week.

General cargo is shipped in containers, which are lifted off the ships by huge cranes and placed on trucks which then carry them out of the port. Each terminal has its own "roadability" building, where trucks are checked for safety. Before leaving the seaport, all trucks are weighed and their seals checked. Some, but not many, containers arrive or leave by train.

Some of the larger materials—cars, lumber, steel—are not suitable for container shipment. Toyotas and Datsuns, for example, are shipped from Japan on a 13-deck high ship containing between 4,000 and 6,000 cars. Each car is driven off the ship by a longshoreman to a lot before being prepared for the carrier which will drive it to its destination. The major car companies have prep buildings on the premises so any damage suffered in shipping can be repaired there. And if any car has sustained a severe amount of damage, it's scrapped. According to Endresen, a total of 339,000 foreign cars arrive at the complex every year. Only a small amount of American cars are shipped out, he said.

Bulk cargo—Belgian blocks from Portugal, rock salt, punice, coal, vermilion, scrap metal—is lifted, uncrated, from the ships to the dock and vice versa. Cargo may remain on the dock up to five days after being unloaded.

Not all the activity at the twin seaports takes place on the docks. The port area is home to a Seaman's Center, run by the Episcopal Church, and a Catholic chapel. There are banks and gas stations and plenty of places to eat. The Port Authority has constructed— for Associated Container Transportation Ltd.—a 60,000-square-foot, temperature-controlled building, which can handle in excess of 60 containers of frozen meat a day.

A multi-purpose bulk center has been developed on a 34-acre site on the south side of the Newark Channel to handle bulk liquid for the warehousing of refined and edible grades of fat and oils. And a warehouse for concentrated orange juice was recently completed.

The complex also is the site of a ship repairing firm and a copper casting company.

The Port Authority has its own police force and, according to Endresen, security is tight.

"You just don't ever hear of a container missing," he said, explaining that with so many containers on the docks, there would be no way of knowing what was in any of them.

Apparently, the only way containers leave these docks is on the back of a truck or train.

'Windy City' blows up a storm at Mill

By REA SMITH
Back in 1928 when author-playwrights Charles MacArthur and Ben Hecht collaborated on "Front Page," their prize-winning play about rough, tough newspapermen, they couldn't have imagined that their vehicle would turn into a musical based on "Front Page." Perhaps it might have crossed their minds that after its first opening in New York, it would have a revival on stage. (It did. At the Royale Theater on Broadway in 1946. And a second one 41 years later. There also were three film versions of "Front Page.")

But a musical? Well, why not. It is 1985, and why shouldn't we have a musical based on "Front Page" called "Windy City" with music by Tony Macaulay and a book and lyrics by Dick Vosburgh? In fact, the new musical now at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, is a fast-moving, entertaining melodic piece of work. It is just as appealing in its new form. Even though the play itself may be somewhat outdated, the show at the Paper Mill is every bit as exciting as a musical recapitulation.

The real star of the Paper Mill production is Michael Anania's three-story set constructed with intertwining catwalks, offices, newsroom, a jail and a backdrop of the city of Chicago.

The play is set in Chicago during the Roaring '20s and is about a sensational trial ending with the sentencing to death by hanging of a man who claims he's innocent, and the news hounds of the city's various papers, who would tumble over each other for "an exclusive" gathered in the press room of the Chicago Criminal Courts Building on the night before the execution.

It also concerns a star reporter for The Examiner named Hildy Johnson, who informs his frustrated editor that he has decided to leave the paper and go to Hollywood with his girl friend to become a screenwriter. When the convict escapes, Johnson finds himself involved in "an exclusive" enough story to keep him from running off to the coast.

The frenzy of the newsroom, provided by veteran reporters, is realistic, particularly when they voice their ambitions...to write the great American novel, to go to Hollywood and become a famous writer or to go to Broadway and write that great play. They are hardheaded journalists, who look to a rosy future, adamantly refusing to acknowledge the fact that they love their work and their low-paying profession. Interspersed with music, rather than doted from its continuity, the play is enhanced by it. The musical numbers, such as "Ten Years From Now," "Wait Till I Get Your Own—Your Own," "Walk—For Mollie," "Never Even Touched Me," "Born Reporter," "The Times We Had," "Natalie," "The Day I Quit This Rag" and "Windy City" seem to flow naturally into the scenes. They are strong numbers, and they are delightfully offered by the Paper Mill leading performers; Gary Sandy (known to millions of TV viewers as Andy Travis in "W.K.R.P. in Cincinnati"), who is wonderful as Hildy Johnson, star reporter; Tony Award-winner Ronald Holgate, who plays his devious newspaper editor (editors aren't really like that anymore), Judy Kaye (last seen at the Paper Mill in "Side by Side by Sundholm") as Mollie, "the hooker with the heart of gold," and the supporting cast including Pamela Clifford, Alan Sues, James W. Sudik, Frank Koppe and MacIntyre Dixon.

The fast-paced "Windy City" is sharply directed, and smoothly choreographed by David Bell. As a new musical (the Paper Mill plans to offer a new musical each season), it's a real treat for the patrons. It is an appropriate vehicle to open the fall season in Millburn, and it continues in the theater's tradition to appeal to, entertain and delight members of its audiences.

Season opens with musical

The 1985-86 season of the Crossroads Theater Co. opened recently with the Off-Broadway musical, "One Mo' Time." Directed by Rick Khan, the theater's executive director, "One Mo' Time" made its debut performance in New Jersey and in regional theater companies. The show is scheduled for evening and matinee performances at Crossroads through Oct. 27.

Set in the Lyric Theater in New Orleans, "One Mo' Time" follows a 1920's Black vaudeville troupe through its adventures on and off the stage. The show, featuring the works of such legends as Ma Rainey and Ethel Waters and the Charleston, Black Bottom and Cakewalk, had a successful run at Off-Broadway's Village Gate Theater from 1979 to 1983.

Khan and Crossroad's artistic director, Leo Richardson, have transformed the theater's lobby and audience facilities into an "authentic" vaudeville house, with bright lights and ceiling fans with ushers and concessionaires dressed in period costumes.

Crossroads Theater Company, one of the nation's premiere Black Theater organizations, is entering its eighth season under the leadership of its co-founders, Khan and Richardson.

Also included in the 1985-86 season will be "Your Arms Are Too Short to Box with God," "Agnes of God" and three world premieres, "Tame of Horses," by William Mastroianni, a play based on the life of Martin Luther King Jr., and a "new" play to be announced in December.

The 150-seat Crossroads Theater Co. is located at 320 Memorial Parkway, New Brunswick. Additional information can be obtained by calling 746-5500.

'Boy Friend' to open series

The Major Theater series of Montclair State College, Upper Montclair, will present "The Boy Friend." Sandy Wilson's 1920s musical spoof, on two weekends, Oct. 17 to 19 and Oct. 24 to 26.

The season will continue with "The Lark," Joan Anouilh's story of Joan of Arc, Dec. 4 to 7.

William Mastroianni's recent Off-Broadway drama, "Extremities," will be offered March 12 to 15, 1986.

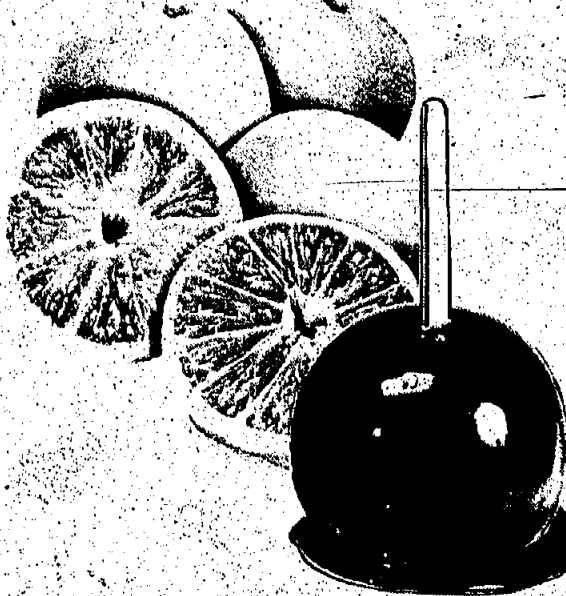

Spring Dance Festival, showcase of new works, will be presented April 10 to 12. Resident, guest and student choreographers will perform a combination of modern, classical and jazz pieces.

The season will end with Moliere's comedy, "The Imaginary Invalid."

All performances will be held in the Memorial auditorium on the campus.

Rebecca's forecast

For Week of Oct. 3 through Oct. 10
ARIES (3/21-4/20) Day to day contacts and activities continue to set a busy pace for many. Domestic differences are noticeable and romantic issues become increasingly favorable for most. Later, don't push money matters; settle new opportunities; and compromise for the sake of co-operation.
Taurus (4/21-5/21) You may have to unravel financial webs early in this week. Appearances count on the work front and a short trip may not live up to your expectations. Later in this period, news may prompt a celebration; attend to family and property interests; and possible job changes are in the air.
GEMINI (5/22-6/21) Emotions are turbulent on the home front; correspondence is likely to offer a surprise or two; and important relationships are soon entering a period of intense scrutiny. Later, you're provoked by those who don't live up to their agreements, and exciting news revolves around children's interests.
CANCER (6/22-7/23) It's best to keep your schedule flexible during the early portion of this period. Daily activities are likely to hit some snags and personal obligations are sure to mount. Later, enjoy a more relaxed pace; out of the blue job offers are possible; and affectionate ties are strengthened.
LEO (7/24-8/23) You may be feeling a bit anxious early in the week. Financial matters could be the culprit and loved ones or those at a distance provoke your concern. Later, you're feeling the need for solitude; attend to private matters; and important emotional support is regained by week's end.
VIRGO (8/24-9/23) The tensions of recent weeks are likely to explode early in this week. Unlabeled are in the air and workable solutions are the result. Later, dealings with community or career interests see-saw; realize you can't keep up this pace forever; and important changes come your way very shortly.
LIBRA (9/24-10/23) A series of perfect starts may hit a snag or two during this unpredictable period. Expect a last minute change of plans and avoid debatable topics. Later, old worries clear up once and for all; friendships may prove a disappointment; and financial concerns continue for many during this week. Emotions run high, and money and friendships are a poor mix now. Later, expect to make an important compromise; dealings with relatives are turbulent; and things finally begin to turn around in your favor at week's end.
SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21) Try to stay out of the limelight during this week. It seems that you will accomplish more from behind the scenes. Your social circle begins to expand; expect an important introduction.
CAPRICORN (12/22-1/20) Pay particular attention to career developments during this week, and be ready to make split second decisions. All your important alliances are lined up and good news is indicated. Later, the right contacts are easily established and a dash of nonconformity works in your behalf.
AQUARIUS (1/21-2/19) There are bound to be changes in your schedule during this week. Make the necessary adjustments and realize it's for the best. Later, your time and energies are in demand; your itinerary is hectic; and important go-ahead's are received. Iron out differences with loved ones.
PISCES (2/20-3/20) Insurance, tax or legal issues crop up early in the period. Others' resources assume importance for many, and those at a distance are likely to play a key role. Later in the week, clear up your agenda of lingering matters, and resolve to make important plans or commitments for the future.

Lung disease topic of Patient Forum

Patient Forum '85, a free, informal educational seminar for adults with chronic lung disease, is being presented on Wednesday, Oct. 9 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Coachman Inn in Cranford. The American Lung Association of Central New Jersey, Linde Home

Health and fitness

Care Medical Systems and the Delaware-Raritan Lung Association are sponsoring the Forum.

Additional topics to be covered will include: Asthma and The Adult and Consumer Information On Home Care Equipment and Services. A comprehensive overview of adult pulmonary rehabilitation courses available in Hudson, Monmouth and Union counties also will be presented.
 Patient Forum '85 is open to the general public; however, pre-registration is required by calling the American Lung Association of Central New Jersey at 388-4556 or writing to the Lung Association at 206 Westfield Avenue, Clark, N.J. 07066.
KICK THE SMOKING HABIT: at Overlook Hospital's Smokeless System program. The nine-session course began this week and will continue on Oct. 7-11, 14, 16 and 23.

This highly structured program does away with the need for will power by teaching participants skills that enable them to quit and prevent the return to cigarettes. It consists of an introductory phase, a treatment phase and a maintenance phase. The smoking habit is viewed from behavioral, psychological and social perspectives.

Two series of classes will be held on the above dates: an afternoon session from 1:30-2:30 p.m. and an evening session from 7:30-8:30. The cost of the program is $140.

The Smokeless System also will be offered at the Watchung Hills Adult School in Warren on dates to be announced. Overlook's Health Education Department, 522-2563, has additional information on registration.

THE YM-YWHA of Union County is taking fall registration for physical education and health classes. Among the 45 new programs are pre/post natal fitness, nutrition, ballet/jazz, after-work "Work-out", trim-time, youth soccer and Green Lane's Sunday basketball leagues. A brochure and more information can be obtained from the "YM, 288-8112. All classes begin the week of Oct. 13.

Two plays set for 5-day run

"Dial 'C' For Coed" and "The Actors Nightmare," two one-act plays, will open Wednesday for a five-day run through Oct. 13 at 8 p.m. at Drew University's Commons Theatre of Madison. Written by Drew student Kevin Ryan and directed by Amy Huggans, "Dial 'C' For Coed" continues the tradition at Drew to produce student-written, original plays.

"The Actor's Nightmare," written by Christopher Durang and produced by Marjann Frazier, is a composite piece to Durang's "Sister Mary Ignatious Explains It All For You," which ran Off-Broadway for several years. Ticket reservations can be made by calling 377-6636.

Brooks, who holds 40 honorary degrees and has received both the Shelly Memorial Award and the National Book Award, has been called "the most exciting and inspirational program presentation on today's campuses."

Waterloo plans Octoberfest

The Waterloo Village will hold its third annual Oktoberfest Saturday and Sunday. Featured will be traditional German fare, sauerbraten, knoekwurst, sauerkraut, potato pancakes, sticking pigs, roasted on an open spit, pretzels, German cheese cake, Black Forest torte and draft German beer, in addition to a freshly baked gingerbread cookie with one's name on it.

After feasting there will be singing and dancing to traditional German music. Werner Hackmann and His Royal Bavarians will feature German favorites from Schuppieter dancing to bell ringing, yodeling and Alphorn playing.

Further information about Oktoberfest can be obtained by calling 347-4700.

KURT VONNEGUT JR., a novelist who targets science, religion and war with satire and black humor, will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 15, in the Wilkins Theatre at Kean College of New Jersey. Ticket information is available at the box office, 527-2337. Novels by Vonnegut include "Player Piano," "Cat's Cradle," "God Bless You, Mr. Rosewater," "Slaughter House Five" and "Deadeye Dick."
