Highway design irks local officials

By MARK YABLONSKY

It is just after 6 p.m. on a Friday afternoon. As cars travel along the just-opened Route 78 interstate highway, the late afternoon sun seems to blend in well with the scenery heading east toward Union.

Close to the 78/24 interchange in Springfield, however, there is a noticeable height variation between the two opposing lanes. Not far from the Houdaille Quarry lays a grass median that slopes gradually, eventually situating the eastbound lane several feet above the westbound lane, without a guard rail or any kind of divider in between. That has some people worried.

Local police and first aid squads are fearful that a driver battling road fatigue who becomes drowsy can come too close to the median and take a downward tumble directly into the westbound lane. Two weeks ago such a mishap did occur, when the driver of a tractor-trailer lost consciousness and had his rig overturn before coming to rest on a ledge below. Police also worry that a driver traveling at a high speed — who may even have had too much to drink — can overrun the eastbound lane and become airborne, leading to an accident of catastrophic proportions on the westbound lane if another car should happen to be in the way.

Some nearby residents are voicing their displeasure with the Department of Transportation as a result.

"I don't think the DOT handled that properly," said Marc Marshall of Tree Top Drive, Springfield, who feels the stretch will become more dangerous during the winter months and also at night. "They should have placed some sort of center or retaining divider there. You will see more and more accidents at that spot. There is no center divider, meaning that anything coming eastbound is going to head into the westbound lane."

Theodore Fischer, however, the DOT's regional design engineer for northeastern New Jersey, says that a number of geometrical factors were taken into consideration for that particular section of the highway, including horizontal and vertical curves, as well as the elevation that is present. Designed to accommodate speeds up to 70 miles per hour, said Fischer, any vehicle "should be able to safely traverse that highway," considering the speed limit is only 55 mph.

"The reason that's done is to provide optimum safety for the vehicles operating at the posted speed limit," said Fischer. "The entire highway has been designed in accordance with interstate highway standards."

Fischer and other DOT officials contend that in order to avoid taking more land — and more homes — than necessary, certain sections of the highway were designed to accommodate the amount of space present. For wider sections, he explained, a "clear zone" composed of grassy medians separates the two opposing directions, while concrete barriers are used in more restricted areas. Based on safety standards from the Federal Highway Administration, the clear zones, including those which are elevated, are safe.

"If we don't have a barrier there, it meets that criteria," Fischer said.

Another thing worrying local police and first aid squads is the smaller number of exits and entrances present on a highway that was designed with just that in mind, in order to increase safety to motorists.

In an attempt to provide proper jurisdiction for local authorities, the first aid squads and fire departments of Springfield, Summit, and Berkeley Heights have temporarily arranged for the three towns to cover both directions of the highway in the event of an emergency. While Springfield will take responsibility for the westbound lane between the start of Route 24 and Glenside Avenue in Summit, Berkeley Heights will answer calls on the eastbound lane between Route 24 and Diamond Hill Road, where the highway ended coming east prior to completion of "the missing link." Summit, in the meantime, is considered to be more of a "floater," covering both directions, although the city will usually join with Springfield for coverage.

But in the event that an emergency is reported, another problem arises. Jeffrey Katz, a lieutenant with the Springfield Police Reserve, says when accidents are reported, they are usually reported by people unfamiliar with the territory. As such, an out-of-town reporting a crash near the quarry won't know which jurisdiction to call. Unless the caller is local, explained Katz, responses will be "chaotic," since each of the three covering towns will try to respond without knowing exactly where the accident has occurred, something that happened in the case of the tractor-trailer overturn.

"So it's really up to us to help people out," said Katz, also a member of the Township Committee. "You want the right emergency services to be dispatched from the right jurisdiction, and you want that to happen as quickly as possible. Because the matter of a few seconds can save lives."

In particular, after a police turnaround in the westbound lane near the quarry, emergency vehicles cannot make another U-Turn until they reach the Diamond Hill Road exit four miles away. Although there is a chained black gate halfway in between, Katz says the state has indicated that the gate is to be closed. Even if it remains available to police, however, Katz believes the amount of time needed to stop, unlock the gate, travel through and then relock the gate still wastes precious time. Also, winter ice buildups render keys useless, he said.

"Turnarounds are a must," agrees John Westerfield, an officer with the Police Reserve. "God help anybody that gets caught in between. In the wintertime, I think we're gonna have a problem out there. I really do."

"If you get a truck fire out there, there's no hydrants," he added. "If you're talking a matter-of-minutes-in-saving-a-life, forget it. That's a long unlimited road access out there. God help anyone that breaks down out there."

"Whenever you start adding additional entrance points, you are increasing the possibility of an accident," argues Fischer. "You want to limit the amount of turnarounds as much as possible so as not to increase the possibility of further accidents because the vehicles are entering and exiting from the high-speed lanes. We felt that the facilities allowed for adequate response time for all the sections of the highway."

Katz feels that a centralized location enabling dispatchers to determine exactly where calls are being placed would help. A system of call-box locations along with the central dispatch location could effectively curtail the "chaotic" responses that exist now, he suggests.

After dark, the highway takes on a different setting, one that has Katz and Westerfield concerned even further. With the exception of the immediate area in and around the 24/78 interchange, there are no lights overhead. There are, however, numerous reflectors in the roadway that give nighttime drivers the feeling of being in "Star Wars," says Katz. When driving, both the reflectors and passing headlights appear to provide enough light to any driver. But when a car stalls and is on the shoulder of the road away from the reflectors, there is nothing but darkness.

Frank Cimone, the DOT's supervising construction engineer of I-78 through Union County, says critics of the project are forgetting that when its completion was in limbo, no one wanted additional land condemnation by the state. So in order to "mitigate" the amount of land taken through the reservation, says Cimone, there are fewer interchanges.

"There is no person that can serve two masters," he explained. "It's only been open two weeks. It's been a long, long time since we've opened anything this big in this area. I think local officials may be overly concerned. As they become more comfortable with the facility, many of these concerns may ease."

"The highway department feels they have the right road out there with all the conditions imposed on them," Cimone added. "But if the department feels there has to be something done out there, we'll address them."

Fulcomer appointment puts recovery facility in jeopardy

By MARK YABLONSKY

The unexpected appointment of Union County Freeholder James Fulcomer as chairman of the recently-created Utilities Authority last week has brought a harsh response from the city of Rahway, putting the planned resource recovery facility's future in jeopardy.

Formed only recently by the Freeholder Board in order to oversee the development of the massive, $10 million project that will burn the county's waste and convert it into energy-producing steam, the nine-member authority opted to select Fulcomer as its chairman instead of Rahway Business Administrator Joseph Hartnett, one of only two Democrats on the authority.

Although Fulcomer — who is one of seven Republicans on the body — is also a Rahway resident, an angry city administration says its original agreement with the county was breached when the freeholder was selected as chairman over Hartnett, who stormed out of last week's authority meeting along with Democratic colleague and Rahway councilman Harvey Williams in protest.

According to both Hartnett and Rahway Mayor Daniel Martin, the Democratic stronghold was to have designated two city appointees to serve on the authority, with one of the choices — which was Hartnett — becoming chairman. The agreement was made for Rahway's acceptance of hosting the facility that is widely regarded as being the solution to the garbage crisis currently affecting both the county and state. While Hartnett and Williams were both placed on the authority, however, Hartnett not being named chairman of the GOP-controlled body was an abrogation of the agreement, the Democratic officials said.

Martin, the city's mayor of 15 years and a candidate for re-election this fall, has said Rahway will notify the state that an "impasse" in further negotiations over the facility has occurred.

"Our position is that we went to the people with the original referendum and that we would have a large amount of control and would always have control over the destiny of the project," said Martin, pointing to last fall's non-binding referendum that saw Rahway residents approve the city as the site for the resource recovery plant.

"What we're saying now is that the whole thing has broken down. There's a breakdown in being able to negotiate with one another and to trust one another in terms of what we can construe," he added in reference to the authority and also to the Memo of Understanding, a binding document between the city and county shortly before the referendum was passed. "I don't trust any one of them, either individually or collectively. Not at this point."

"There was absolutely no reason for the authority not to respect Rahway's request, and the commitment made to Rahway other than political reasons," said Hartnett, who was earlier granted a five-year term on the authority. "What's obviously taking place now is that with resource recovery on the actual verge of implementation, certain politicians are looking at it as the goose that's going to lay the golden egg. Rahway and the mayors in Union County want resource recovery to be treated professionally in a business-like fashion and to keep the politics out of it. It's hard to believe we have people in Rahway willing to do this and now certain politicians are going to mess things up."

In addition to Rahway approving last fall's referendum, the city council also passed a similar resolution in early 1981, expressing its intention to officially host a resource recovery plant, Hartnett said. The authority would "float bonds" in order to finance the project, he added.

On July 9, Freeholder Chairman Paul O'Keefe had written a memo to his colleagues recommending the appointment of Hartnett as chairman.

Fulcomer, who is one of only three GOP representatives on a nine-member Rahway city council, claims that while he originally "had no intention" of becoming chairman, he agreed to accept the post after Hartnett's threats to have the city pull out if the agreement was not met, made members of the authority "uncomfortable."

Prior to Fulcomer being named chairman in what was the authority's initial meeting, the city council had sent a resolution to the GOP-controlled body warning that if Hartnett was not given the top spot, "such action will be considered a breach of commitment and good faith and will be dealt with accordingly."

"In my opinion, if he changes his behavior somewhere down the line he can become chairman," said Fulcomer, who will head the authority only until February. "You don't force someone on a group. You ask someone to select you. It's called majority rule and that's a very fundamental principle. You can't force a majority to accept a minority, but they can do it freely on the basis of individual conduct. What they did was they forced me to accept the chairmanship, something which I had no intention of running for or taking over."

Board approves teacher pact

By MARK HAVILAND

The Union County Regional District Board of Education voted unanimously Tuesday to accept the terms of a settlement worked out with the union representing the district's more than 300 teachers.

Membership of the Union County Regional Federation of Teachers, Local 3417, of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, ratified the terms of the settlement Friday following a 12-hour long negotiating session Aug. 25.

Regional Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald Merschnik stated at a meeting of the school board Tuesday in Clark, "I think it was a very fair settlement."

Under the terms of the two-year settlement approved Tuesday, full-time, permanent teachers in the district's four high schools will receive a 9 percent salary increase this school year, and in the 1987-88 school year, Merschnik said. Another issue under contention is the equity of teaching assignments. Merschnik explained that teachers in the academic subjects, including social studies, science and foreign languages, "previously could not be expected to work more than five periods daily, 25 periods weekly.

"Teachers in other disciplines that did not have as much homework, such as art, physical education, home economics and music could be assigned up to 30 periods a week."

Under the terms of the settlement, physical education teachers' requirements will be lowered to 25 periods starting with the 1988-89 school year. During the following school year, art and music teachers will have the same lesser requirement, Merschnik explained. As a "sidebar agreement," teachers in all other low-homework disciplines will have their schedules changed after the contract term.

The only exception will be vocational education teachers who will continue to be assigned more than 25 periods weekly, according to the superintendent.

"This settlement was the product of long, hard hours on behalf of the staff. It took a long time and a lot of hard work," said board member Joseph Vaughn, a member of the board's negotiations and personnel committees.

Vaughn stipulated that the board reserves the right to deny any employee any or all salary increases if the employee does not merit the wage hike.

The federation represents the teachers in the four regional high schools: David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark, and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

On another issue, Vaughn sounded off against state Commissioner of Education Saul Cooperman's proposed recommendation, discussed in published reports early this week, to have the state step in when local districts have failed to meet the requirements in the state's Thorough and Efficient Education program.

"I for one feel this is an unwarranted intrusion on the prerogatives of school districts in this state," Vaughn stated, and suggested that the board go on record in opposition of this proposal. "My feeling is that, not every student is destined to be a mathematician or a scientist."

Tips on protecting children

The Springfield Police Department is cautioning parents about the necessity of teaching youngsters how to deal with certain situations if they are left at home alone for any period of time.

An estimated five to 12 million children between the ages of 5 and 13 are regularly left alone for some part of the day. Leaving children alone always causes some anxiety, but knowing they are prepared to cope with situations that may arise will lessen the worry.

As a parent:
-Be sure your children know how to use the telephone — both pushbutton and dial models — to make local, long distance and emergency calls and to dial the operator.

-Post emergency numbers near all the phones in your home.

-Make sure your children lock the door after they arrive home and then check in with you or a trusted neighbor.

-Teach them to work the door and window locks in your home.

-Tell them what to do in case of fire.

-Tell them they are never to go anywhere with another adult, even one who says he or she was sent by your mother or father.

-Teach them that if they ever feel they're being followed, not to run home but to a store, public place, back to school, or to the nearest "Safe House."

-Teach your children never to get near or into a stranger's car, or to take a walk with a stranger who says he needs the children to "show" him something.

-Impress on them that they always want to be told if anything happens to them while they're away from you.

-Make them feel uneasy or uncomfortable. Children will sometimes phrase this as feeling "funny."

-Tell your children not to go into anyone's house or apartment without your permission and make sure you know the people who live in any home your child wants to visit.

-Get together with other parents and approach your school or a community group about starting an extended-day program. Look into starting a McGruff "Safe-House" program in which neighborhood parents, grandparents or other adults are recruited to volunteer their homes to serve as temporary shelters for frightened or lost children. A special sign posted in the window of these homes tells children this is a place to go when they are confronted with a serious problem. Local law enforcement can help in setting up a sound and effective program.

-The Crime Prevention Unit of the Springfield Police Department, 376-0400, has more information on how to protect children.

Man faces forgery and theft counts

Kenilworth police have charged a borough resident with two counts of forgery and one count of theft by deception.

The suspect, Michael A. Grigsby, who gave 232 N. 9th St., as his last known address, was charged in the alleged forgery of a second-floor apartment at that address. He is currently being held in the Union County Jail in Elizabeth on similar charges filed in this city.

According to the police report, Grigsby was observed on videotape cashing two checks, in $200 and $300 amounts, stolen from that address, and which he forged, at the City Federal Savings Bank branch in Kenilworth. Municipal Judge William Boffa set Grigsby's bail at $2,500.

Kenilworth Police Detective Robert Johns said that he had also charged Grigsby on Aug. 27 for possession and receipt of stolen property stemming from a separate automobile theft on Aug. 21. Grigsby was being held at the jail after the Elizabeth police had also lodged burglary and theft charges against him.

Elizabeth resident Joseph Desanti, 31, was arrested in the parking lot of Buffy's Tavern on Monroe Avenue and 8th Street by Officer Scott Phillips for possession of a controlled dangerous substance under 25 grams. Phillips said he observed Desanti using the substance, which has been sent to a laboratory for analysis. Bail was set at $250.

On Monday, there was a burglary and theft from a North 20th Street residence. Phillips responded, and determined that there had been a forced entry through the front door of the residence and that the bedroom had been ransacked, according to police.

A radicle窃贼 was taken on Sunday from a car belonging to a

Hyde Park, N.J., resident, which was parked at the Holiday Inn parking lot in Kenilworth. The passenger window was smashed to gain entry, police said.

Tires were slashed Saturday, at an estimated $200 cost, on a vehicle belonging to a Union resident, and parked near the intersection of Washington Avenue and 20th Street.

Pressure testing tomorrow

The Mountaineer Board of Health will conduct a free blood pressure and diabetes screening tomorrow from 9 to 11 a.m. in the courtroom of the borough's municipal building on Route 22.

The department says those who should be screened include persons who are 35 years of age or older, anyone who is not under a physician's care for high blood pressure and those persons who have a family history of high blood pressure.

According to the board, early detection and treatment of high blood pressure can enable a person to lead a normal life. They emphasize that the test takes only a few minutes.

Officer Richard Wood responded to the call.

A Commonwealth Road residence was broken into on Aug. 28, according to another report, which said that when the owners returned home, they apparently scared the suspects who fled. Jeans said Officer Daniel Rica reported that nothing seemed to be missing.

In the service

Airman First Class Scott E. Eberkrantz, the grandson of Joseph and Jeanette Eberkrantz of Hillside Avenue, Springfield, has been named the comptroller airman of the quarter for the U.S. Air Force Tactical Air Command. The announcement from the Command's Headquarters at Langley Air Force Base, Va., cited Eberkrantz for his "superior performance of duty and significant contributions" toward achieving the command's goals.

Eberkrantz enlisted in the Air Force following graduation from Boca Ciega High School in Gulfport, La. in 1985 and completed technical training at Sheppard Air Force Base in Texas.

He is currently assigned to Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida as a financial services specialist and military pay technician.

Air Force Maj. PAUL A. BAUER, son of Doris H. Bauer of 333 Timberline Road, Mountaineer, has arrived for duty with the 374th Tactical Airlift Wing, Philippines. Bauer is deputy commander for resource management. His wife, Dorothea, is the daughter of Dr. J. Paul Guinther of 10 Woods Hole Road, Cranford.

Course sign-up slated

The Union County Regional Adult School has announced that registration for its fall 1986 semester for all courses offered in its four high schools is in progress. According to John Hutchins, director of Adult and Continuing Education, brochures have been mailed every resident in the regional district, and are available in many area banks, post offices and libraries.

In-person registration has been scheduled for Sept. 16, between 6 and 9 p.m., at the high school offering the course the registrant desires. Courses will be offered in nine different areas of interest, including career development, vocational and technical, the written and spoken word, special interest, health and recreation, music, around the home, arts and crafts, and just for fun. The brochure also describes how to

"Although the State's goal is to have every student remain in school, complete all graduation requirements, and receive a high school diploma, we maintain an educational commitment to those who drop out," he said.

The Adult Learning Center is located at the David Breatley Regional High School on Monroe Avenue in Kenilworth. The center's hours are Monday-Friday from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. For further information, call Carol Beris at 272-2440 or 272-7800.

Diploma courses available

According to the State Department of Education, about 17 percent of New Jersey public school students who enter the ninth grade do not graduate.

For those who did not finish high school at the traditional time, the opportunity to earn a diploma exists at the Union County Regional Adult Learning Center. The adult high school program is based on course requirements established by the board of education. Preparation for the General Educational Development test is also offered. All programs are free.

"Many dropouts who learn about the importance of high school education after they have left school are taking advantage of out-of-school options available to begin a

High-speed chase ends in arrests

Police arrested a 25-year-old Plainfield man on charges of operating a stolen car and several other motor vehicle charges after a high speed chase Aug. 28 which began on Route 22 east of Mountaineer and continued through Springfield, Union and Hillside where the suspect lost control of the vehicle and crashed into the center divider.

Police said Alfred Smith, and a passenger, Roy Brodie of Freehold, were arrested after the chase ended with the suspects' auto crashing into the divider and a Hillside police car.

According to the police report, the vehicle was first observed in the left lane of the roadway where a check revealed the license plates on the 1985 Pontiac Firebird were registered for a 1977 Chrysler.

At this point, police said, the patrolmen turned on their emergency lights and attempted to apprehend the suspect. The suspect's auto pulled into the right lane and began to slow down.

Police said the vehicle's driver increased the speed up to 70 miles per hour as the chase continued through Springfield and that a county alert was issued for additional patrol units to join the pursuit.

The suspect's vehicle speed increased, they said, as it approached Michigan Avenue in Union.

Hillside police reportedly joined the chase in the vicinity of Bloy Street and continued to follow the suspect's auto for approximately a half mile at which time the suspect lost control of the auto.

The report states that the Mountaineer patrol car skidded to avoid colliding with the two vehicles. Smith, who is being held on $10,000 bail in the Union County jail, Elizabeth, was issued five charges in addition to the operating of a stolen vehicle charge, according to police. The suspect was charged with eluding patrol car, operating a unregistered vehicle, driving while unlicensed and driving on the suspended list.

Brodie, police said, was released after both suspects were taken to Mountaineer Police headquarters.

A big choice

Within the next two weeks, the Springfield Township Committee will select a new chief of police to replace George Farsell. It is a choice that must be made carefully, particularly because of the Union County Prosecutor's report which criticized our police department.

Being a police officer carries many responsibilities and demands, but a police chief has even more responsibility. He must be able to make decisions fairly and put the needs of his department and the community above anything else. More importantly, he must be a figure of strength and confidence that people will respect.

We believe the present township police force is in need of a dependable and qualified leader who will restore both public and in-house confidence. A total of 12 candidates have stepped forward to ask for the job.

It must be remembered that once a decision is made, the new chief will hold office for a long time. Barring an unexpected resignation or illness, state law mandates that a chief cannot be removed from office or demoted without good cause — namely, administrative or criminal charges.

We feel that the man with the very best qualifications and ability should get the job. It is imperative, however, that the new chief be able to establish a working rapport with the men of his department. The prosecutor's report made it clear that a lack of proper communication between the chief and the rest of his department played a key role in many of the problems.

With only a few exceptions, the present governing body has shown an admirable tendency to put partisan politics aside and work together for the benefit of the town. More than ever, that asset is needed now for the selection of the new chief. The town of Springfield deserves the best.

Not again!

Here we go again. It's called political squabbling. Last week, the newly-created Union County Utilities Authority, which will ultimately oversee the development of the planned Union County Resource Recovery Plant, selected Republican Freeholder James Fulcomer as its chairman over the favorite, Joseph Hartnett, the Rahway business administrator, one of only two Democrats on the nine-member authority.

Hartnett was recommended to head the board by Republican Freeholder Chairman Paul O'Keefe and was the clear choice of the City of Rahway.

The city had made a deal with the county administration prior to establishment of the authority that two Rahway residents would be appointed to the board, with Hartnett serving as chairman.

But the freeholders, voting along party lines, named Fulcomer.

What appears, then, to have happened is that politics reentered the picture.

Now the Democratically-controlled city of Rahway says it will notify the state that the location of the multimillion-dollar resource recovery plant is at an "impasse." Their reasoning is that Fulcomer's appointment was "a deal breaker."

Considering that the freeholder board has a history of political bickering, it should come as no surprise that a body it creates behaves the same way.

Resource Recovery is needed now. If Rahway was promised certain concessions for accepting the planned facility, then those commitments should be met. On the other hand, it is absolutely necessary for Rahway to add even more fuel to the fire by threatening to scrap the project? Do two wrongs make a right?

We urge everyone to start growing up and acting like the adults they are supposed to be. New Jersey will, within the next two years, probably be out of room to dump its garbage. Every day the project is delayed adds more uncertainty to a crisis that should have been addressed many years ago.

And that's no garbage.

Letters to the editor

Where to draw the line on academic freedom

Where do you draw the line on academic freedom? Listen, for example, to a comment made by a history professor at Texas A & M University who sets no limits on this ambiguous right. "If a student comes into my class and leaves four years later with the same attitude and beliefs that he came in with, then I have failed." The professor continues "I do not believe in the Institute of Marriage. I am an atheist. I do not claim any political party. I am not patriotic toward Texas A & M, the flag or America."

Is this what we pay thousands for, parents?

SCOPE still concerned about landfill

The headline in last week's Springfield Leader stated "Quarry 'out' as dump." We at SCOPE are concerned that the residents of Springfield are being lulled into a false sense of security. Several freeholders have been quoted as stating "There will be no sanitary landfill in Springfield." But do they have the final say?

In 1984, an "in-house" Freeholder study concluded that Union County had nowhere to place a landfill, including the quarry. However, the state ordered a new study which was prepared by J.C.A. Associates which found that Springfield had the only site in Union County capable of handling prescribable or raw garbage.

The freeholders may be against the use of the quarry as a garbage dump, but it is the state that owns the vast majority of the quarry site and will make the final decision. We accept the freeholders' word that they do not want the landfill in Springfield, but now what are they going to do about it?

What steps will the county take to prevent the state from imposing a large garbage dump in Springfield? Has the county ordered an Environmental Impact Study? Will the county investigate to find alternatives for disposal of county garbage?

Will the freeholders, as stated by Michael Lapolla, "Take whatever steps are necessary to prevent that from happening, including filling suits?"

It is critical for us, the residents of Springfield, to see that the freeholders take these steps.

We urge all residents to attend the next freeholders' meeting on Sept. 11 at 7:30 p.m., on the 6th floor at the Administration Building, which is back of the Courthouse in Elizabeth, to get the answers to these questions.

On the bright side

A final day at a favorite vacation spot

By GERRI DIGESU

On this last day of our Cape Cod vacation, I wanted to spend time at one of my favorite spots — the Mill Pond in Brewster. My two sons protested vehemently. One envisioned a final day of stalking females; the other, roused from sleep under a great protest, proclaimed he wanted to soak up the sun and listen to "heavy metal." City boys are not attuned to "bugs and all that nature stuff you like, Ma." But, good mother that I am, I insisted we spend this day as a family. Only Nancy, 11, was happy. A spider spinning a web fascinated her too.

Once there, the kids disappeared. My husband Rod and I walked by the mill, and the atmosphere immediately changed the tempo of our day. Shifting light and shadow, birds calling to each other, fish splashing reached. My meticulous husband, clad in white shirt and shorts, plopped down full length onto the wooden logs. Moments later, he jumped up and provided a refuge where I could be totally alone.

Schools of small herring circled the pond as if on a merry-go-round. Their parents seemed to be herding the youngsters faster and faster and reminded me of cowboys rounding up their cattle. Groups of fish were forced over the spillway and started downstream on their trip to the sea.

A catfish and his sister, prehistoric-looking fish with evil eyes, whiskers and a nasty look — surfaced to trap some herring in the weeds next to me and snatch them up for lunch. A water bug, his body set high on long legs, skimmed the surface of the pond, imagining himself a hydrofoil. Baetis skittered around in circles like a child's wind-up toy. Next to me a spotted bug splashed down onto the surface, a seaplane making an abrupt landing.

Easy, sunnies, pikevel and perch swam in harmony. Two eels oozed from beneath a patch of weeds, gliding toward the opposite bank. My skin prickled as I watched a water snake slither across the mirror surface.

I heard a rustle behind me and discovered Chris, my heavy metal fan, groping in the water for a large mussel to use for bait. "Hey, look," he yelled. "There's a big frog right by the bridge." Kevin raced over to join him and I chuckled as I watched my two nature haters trying to catch the large bullfrog.

After much maneuvering, they were able to prod the frog gently, but he leaped beneath the bridge, out of reach. My meticulous husband, clad in white shirt and shorts, plopped down full length onto the wooden logs. Moments later, he jumped up and provided a refuge where I could be totally alone.

PROMISES—Township Committeeman Jeffrey Katz and Committee candidate Howard Massler held up last week's edition of the Springfield Leader that said Union County is no longer interested in using the former Houdaille Quarry as a landfill site. Katz and Massler said the Board of Chosen Freeholders had made that promise to them earlier.

Genova bill supports suburban aid

Assemblyman Peter J. Genova (R-21) is supporting legislation which has been introduced in both the Assembly and Senate which will provide $172,903 to the Township of Springfield in state suburban aid.

Show proceeds to hospital

The "force" is with Children's Specialized Hospital. Force Machinery of Union, is sponsoring its third annual woodworking exposition this fall, and, for the first time, Children's Specialized Hospital of Mountaintop, will be receiving a portion of the proceeds. The event is titled "Woodworking: Tools of the Trade: Exposition '86" and will be held at the Westfield Armory, Rahway Avenue, Westfield, on October 10, 11, and 12.

Highlighting the best of the old and the new, the show will feature a collection of antique woodworking tools and machinery, a complete cabinet shop display and operation, and special seminars for which attendees must register in advance. Force Machinery will also display a full line of tools and machinery its distributes to industry, contractors, homeowners and hobbyists.

Genova continued, "To qualify for the additional aid, a municipality would have to meet three criteria: a population density in excess of 300 persons per square mile, a senior citizen population which exceeds 10 percent of the total population and a crime rate which exceeds 25 crimes per 1000 people."

"These bills would help our suburban municipalities address their concerns on crime and over-extended local government services without having to continually seek hefty tax increases. Crime and high property taxes are not limited to the big cities and I believe the state should take an active role to help our suburban communities meet their needs in the areas of police and fire protection, as well as with municipal service," Genova concluded.

On the campaign trail GOP candidates begin drive

Council President Anthony Montuori, Dennis Schultz and Councilman Frank Ferrara, the Republican candidates for the Kenilworth Borough Council cited the accomplishments of the present Republican majority on the borough council in their opening statement of their campaign.

Council President Montuori stated that the majority on council has succeeded in settling the lawsuit against the Senior Citizens Center, hired a new architect, awarded the contract for the construction of the building, and secured $50,000 in state funds for the construction of the building.

Schultz added, "I have been impressed by the Republican 'can do' spirit that, in spite of the obstructive attitude of Councilman Phyllis Balducci and the mayor, has succeeded in getting the Senior Citizen project started and in adding a measure of professionalism to the operations of the borough government."

Ferrara stated, "The Republican candidates remain steadfastly opposed to any efforts to change the residential nature of our town. Kenilworth is a community made up primarily of single family homes and we pledge ourselves to resist any effort to change that."

The three candidates added that they will work together with other members of the governing body to continue what the Republican majority has started — "building pride in Kenilworth."

Katz, Massler cite 'success'

Springfield Republican Township Committee, Jeffrey Katz and Republican candidate for Township Committee, Howard Massler, have celebrated their successful effort in getting the freeholders to help stop a garbage dump from being placed in Springfield.

"The Springfield Leader headline of Aug. 28," said Massler, "proves that we got everything we wanted at our Aug. 7 meeting with the freeholder majority. In addition, we also won a commitment from the freeholders that no amphitheater will be built on county land without Springfield's consent." Township Committee Candidate Stanley Fink said, "With the courageous stance taken by our Republican majority on the county Board of Freeholders, with the assistance of our Republican Township Committee members, we are following through with the Republican state legislators."

Committeeman Jeffrey Katz explained that, "Having won the battle at the County level, we are following through with our state legislature to better protect Springfield's interests. A meeting has been scheduled with Senator Lou Bassano, General Assembly Speaker Chuck Hardwick, and Assemblyman Peter Genova to consult with them on issues of immediate concern to the community. Subsequent meetings," Katz continued, "will include all interested members of the Township Committee and interested citizens groups, such as SCOPE."

Assemblywoman elected to post

Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden has been elected northeastern vice president of the 1,800-member National Republican Legislators Association.

The NRA, founded in 1976, provides a forum for interstate communication and the exchange of ideas among elected republican legislators throughout the country. It also provides staff support and research services.

Ogden was elected during the group's annual meeting in New Orleans earlier this month. During the convention, Ogden held a reception for Maureen Reagan.

New Jersey Assembly Speaker Chuck Hardwick said Ogden "is the perfect choice" for the leadership post. "Maureen, as a fulltime legislator, has the time and the energy to help strengthen the NRA and to become an excellent resource for her Republican colleagues in the state legislature."

Schering files labeling suit

Schering Corporation of Kenilworth recently filed suits against manufacturers of generic drugs in three states to enjoin them from selling their products with labels that simulate Schering's packaging and graphics.

Schering filed the suits to protect its "Afrin" nasal decongestant spray, its "Clor-Trimeton" and "Polaramine" antihistamines, and its "Inactin" athlete's foot remedy.

The suit against MY-K Laboratories, Inc. of Sun Valley, Calif., involves the simulation of the packaging colors and graphics of Schering's Afrin and "Inactin" products. This suit was filed in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California in San Francisco.

The suit against MY-K Laboratories, Inc. also involves the label colors and graphics of "Afrin."

In addition, this suit charges Baymark with infringing Schering's trademark "Polaramine" by the use of the trademark Baylaramine for a directly competitive product. The suit against Bay was filed in the U.S. District Court of Illinois.

Rockford-Division, in Rockford, Ill.

Schering's third suit, against Certified Pharmaceutical Laboratories of Largo, Fla., and Jewell Drug Co., Inc. of Aberdeen, S.D., involves the simulation of the packaging colors and graphics of Schering's "Clor-Trimeton." It was filed in the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Florida in Tampa.

Schering is seeking permanent injunctions prohibiting the defendants from continuing to supply their products with packaging that simulates Schering's trademarks, and from otherwise unfairly competing with Schering. The complaints also seek treble damages, the recovery of the defendants' profits from the sale of the products in question, an award of attorney's fees and legal expenses.

The filing of these suits follows recent consent judgments obtained by Schering against various defendants for label simulation, trademark infringement, false and misleading advertising, and other acts of unfair competition.

Among the defendants who have signed consent judgments in Schering's continuing campaign to protect "Clor-Trimeton," "Afrin," "Inactin" and its "Fibre Trim" diet aid product, are Thompson Medical Co., New York City; Vita-Fresh Vitamin Co., Inc. of Garden Grove, Calif.; Sharpe Nutritional Co., Inc. of Melville, N.Y.; Pike Industries, Inc. of New York City, N.Y.; Great Life Laboratories of Westford, N.M.C. Laboratories of Glendale, N.Y.; L. Ferrigo Co. of Allegan, Mich.; Weston Pharmaceuticals Inc. of Bohemia, N.Y.; Pennex Products Co., Inc. of Verona, Pa.; Geniek Corporation of Cincinnati, Ohio; and Simpax Corporation of Seattle, Wash.

Schering, a subsidiary of Schering-Plough Corporation of Kenilworth, said that it intends to continue its efforts to enforce its property rights and expects to file additional suits against manufacturers of products whose packaging simulates the trademark of its products, whose trademarks infringe upon the rights of Schering, or who engage in misleading labeling or false advertising.

Emergency health service offered

Overlook Hospital, through Overlook Management Corporation is offering a new home health care service.

Home-bound patients of all ages, whether recovering from illness or injury or handicapped can now be protected at home by the Personal Emergency Response System.

For more than a decade, this professionally-staffed computerized monitoring system has been providing around-the-clock medical emergency alert service to thousands of patients in their homes.

The Personal Emergency Response System is a completely confidential and customized instant alert service consisting of a tiny transmitter carried by the patient. It can be worn as a pendant, on a belt or carried in a pocket for immediate access in case of any type of emergency.

When pressed, this transmitter signals a table-top control unit, also placed in the home, which passes the signal through the client's telephone lines to the response center. This activates the client's individualized file, which contains necessary medical data, address, name of physician, hospital and local emergency response agencies. The information also contains the names of people who should be called during an emergency. At the center, specially-trained operators make voice contact with the home to verify the emergency and to personally reassure the client that help is on the way and that the appropriate people have been contacted.

The Personal Emergency Response System can protect the patient in the home and bring an extra measure of peace of mind to those caring for him or her.

This service is available through Overlook Management Corporation with offices at Overlook Hospital in Summit. This service is transferable and can be taken from house to house and from state to state. Anyone who may benefit from such a home health care service may subscribe; a physician's prescription is not required.

For further information and subscription, please call Overlook Management Corporation's 24-hour answering service at (201) 852-2202.

Firm raises hospital funds

A recent fund-raising car wash conducted by employees of Westwood Computer Corp., Springfield, for Children's Specialized Hospital raised $1,046.

The car wash will become an annual event, according to Lisa Siskinger, a Westwood Computer employee who voluntarily organized and carried out the event with help of several friends.

WHYZ 12.100, a New York based rock and roll radio station, helped publicize the event. The location and use of water was donated by Westwood Computer Corporation, the printing of publicity posters was donated by Charlie Collette of C.M.C. Printing, and high-pressure car washing devices were donated by K.E.W. Hobby.

Siskinger said that she was inspired to put on the car wash out of appreciation for the treatment a 15-year-old friend received at Children's Specialized Hospital as a patient.

All of the money raised will go toward medical equipment for Children's Specialized Hospital.

Center seeks aides

The Union County Rape Crisis Center, a program under the Division of Planning, Department of Human Services, is seeking volunteers to assist in providing various community services offered by the center, located at 300 North Ave., East, Westfield, according to Sandra Plack, center director.

The service opportunities available to volunteers include providing a staff for the 24-hour crisis hotline, 232-RAP2, which fields hundreds of calls each year, offering in-person crisis intervention and support to victims of six crimes, and providing invaluable information to clubs and organizations throughout the county, as part of the Center's Speakers Bureau.

The Union County Rape Crisis Center was established in June 1984 to meet the needs of sexual assault victims, female and male, adults and children. The goal of the center is to provide a support network of free and confidential services including free counseling for victims, their friends and families. In June 1986, the center received the 1986 National Association of Counties Achievement Award, for excellence of programming in meeting a need within the community.

"It was announced that anyone wishing to volunteer receives 40 hours of free intensive training in six crimes intervention. Upon completion of training the volunteer is certified to work for the center. The next training session will be held on Sept. 22 and 30, Oct. 2, 6, 7, 9, and 14 from 6:30 to 10 p.m., at the Westfield location. One can call the center at 232-RAP2, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, to schedule an appointment for an interview, and to complete an application.

A safe walk to school

Will your child be one of the 64,000 entering school for the first time this fall?

The New Jersey State Safety Council urges parents whose children will be walking to and from school to see to it that their children are taught how to get there promptly and safely.

The council makes the following recommendations:

- Children should be taught how to recognize standard traffic signals and how to obey them. If special pedestrian signals are used, they should understand these too.
- Parents should make sure their youngsters know the way to school. Walk through the route with them several times before school starts or for the first few days of school.
- Many schools have student patrols at street intersections. Children should understand that the patrols are there to help them and should follow the direction of the patrol.
- Streets should be crossed only at marked crosswalks or at intersections in line with sidewalks. Impress upon children that cars cannot stop immediately, so they must look right and left for oncoming cars, and check for turning traffic.
- Don't run across the street, a fast walk is better. Go directly to the opposite side without stopping to call or to talk with friends.

Freeholders request work opportunities

"We Republicans want more private sector employment opportunities for the people of Union County," said Freeholder candidate Janet Whitman of Summit recently in a joint statement with her running-mates, Freeholder Chairman Paul O'Keefe of Plainfield and Freeholder candidate Edmund Palmieri of Elizabeth.

"The efforts of President Ronald Reagan, Gov. Thomas Kean, our Republican freeholders under Chairman O'Keefe's leadership, and our running-mate, Congressman Matthew J. Rinaldi, have been impressive in increasing the jobs and economic opportunities in the private sector of our Union County economy, but we intend to do even more in our efforts to utilize every appropriate part of county government to attract even more private sector jobs for Union County," said Palmieri.

Chairman O'Keefe said that through the county's economic development corporation, outstanding programs have been developed to attract and keep business and industry in Union County. He said that through this corporation additional private sector jobs can be developed with freeholder support.

Whitman said that the county committee block grant revenue committee has been successful in improving the appearance of

Book sale planned

A "One For the Books" book sale, featuring more than 50,000 used books will be held Sunday, Sept. 14 at the Cabana Club, 695 Eagle Rock Ave., West Orange, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

The sale, an annual event of the Essex Chapter of Brandeis University National Women's Committee, is one of 69 throughout the country. In 29 years the sales have raised $25 million "to develop the fine libraries and to support the scholarship program" at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass.

"Thousands of book-lovers from far and wide are drawn every year to the sale to find the fiction they want, the texts and the collectors' items they are hunting for at bargain prices and all in good condition," was announced.

Golfers to tee off Sept. 22

The first annual golf outing of the Elizabeth General Medical Foundation is being held Sept. 22, at the Plainfield Country Club. The day includes 11:30 a.m. lunch, 1 p.m. shotgun tee-off, 7 p.m. cocktails/hors d'oeuvres buffet and an awards ceremony. Proceeds from the event will be used to support patient care services at Elizabeth General Medical Center.

Giants poster now available

A full-color, autographed poster featuring Giants football defensive stalwarts George Martin, Jim Burt, Lawrence Taylor and Harry Carson is being offered by the American Lung Association of New Jersey. The poster, first of its kind offered in the country, is a limited edition and measures 19 by 24 inches, with a 3-dimensional effect. Burt, Taylor, Carson and Martin are volunteers for the Lung Association, and the poster bears the message, "In Defense of Your Lungs...Don't Smoke." Anyone wishing to obtain a poster should contact the American Lung Association of New Jersey at 14-25 Plaza Road, Fair Lawn, N.J., 07410 or 1600 Route 22 East, Union, N.J. 07083. The respective phone numbers are 791-6800 and 687-9840. There is a $3 donation for over-the-counter sales and $4.50 for mail orders. Over-the-counter hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday thru Friday. There are reduced prices on orders of 25 or more. The poster photo was taken on the field at Giants Stadium. It is ideal for framing as a gift for your favorite Giants fan or for someone you want to encourage to stop smoking or reward for kicking the smoking habit.

Charity game rescheduled

After a thunderstorm caused the cancellation of its charity softball game in July, the New Jersey Society of CPAs and the 2-100 disc jockeys have rescheduled the event for Saturday at the Bertiempfel Memorial Park, just off Vauxhall Road in Union, beginning at 2 p.m. Admission is free. Once again, gifts and Atlantic City prizes will be awarded. Proceeds will benefit The Valerie Fund, which supports children's cancer centers in several New Jersey hospitals, and runs Camp Happy Times, a week-long summer camp for young cancer patients. The CPAs will battle Professor Jonathan B. Bell, Captain Kevin and the rest of the 2-100 crew to reclaim the trophy which changed hands during last year's two softball games. For directions or more information, call Lisa Raimone at the New Jersey Society of CPAs, (201) 894-4888.

A $5 entry fee will be charged and will include refreshments for the event which is slated to begin at 9 a.m. Registration closes Wednesday. The round robin format insures each participant will play every entry a minimum of one time. The tournament will be held Sept. 14 at 9 a.m. Members of the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Commemorative Committee will offer souvenir T-shirts for sale in an effort to raise funds to provide a monument for the park. Residents 18 years and older may obtain entry blanks at Dr. King Memorial Park weekdays between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., or at the Recreation Office, 505 S. Wood Ave. Additional information may be obtained by calling 682-0300.

Sevilli returns to Drew team

Peigy Sevilli, a senior at Drew University in Madison and Roselle Park High School graduate, will be returning to play field hockey for the Drew University Rangers this season. Coach Maureen Horan expects Sevilli, an all-MAC player last year who started all 25 games and scored three goals, to lead at the midfield position. The team has been a national force in Division III field hockey and made its first appearance in the "Final Four" at the 1985 NCAA tournament.

Klinger on football roster

Dan Klinger of Springfield is one of 100 players on the preseason roster of the 1986 Union College football roster, as the powerful Dutchman from the Schenectady, New York county prepare to defend their perfect 9-0 record of a year ago. Electric Kiebasas 2
Jednota 1
Kevin Murphy finished the regular season by pitching a five-hitter to win his 19th game.

RB1-hits by Andy Messina and Steve Blazowsky in the bottom of the first gave E.K. a 2-0 lead, which held up.

American Cyanamid 12
Razorbacks 5
Cyanamid launched their 12-run,

20-hit attack with a five-run first inning. Dave Acoun had four hits, including a homer, and drove in three runs to lead the Cyanamid attack.

"Other leading offensive contributors included Bob Walpole, Mike Grossman, Val Augugliado, and Rich Allman.

Tand H 9
Manny's 5
Turtles and Hughes saw their 4-1 lead evaporate in the sixth as Manny's took a 5-4 lead in the top of that inning, but struck back for five runs in the bottom of that frame.

Dennis Keefe and Dean Esposito homered, and Russ Bailey tripled for the winners.

Chris Kazmac and Mike Esposito also had big days at the plate for T and H, and Bill Simo pitched a nine-hitter for the winners.

It was Turtles and Hughes' 16th straight victory.

Blue Hairs 7
After fighting VFW to a draw in

"regulation seven" play, the Blue Hairs arrived for four runs in the eighth inning to gain a 7-3 win. Jim Hickman had a double and two singles, and Dan Dmizak hit a triple and a single for the winners.

Eighth Ward Outlaws 6
Body Craft 5
Gerry McIntyre tripled in the seventh to drive home Kevin Scott with the game-winning run, and pitcher Wayne Clanton went the distance without walking a batter.

Mark Rebetje played errorless defense - league statisticians were still still checking records to see if Rebetje had accomplished this feat before, at press time.

Jednota 8
Razorbacks 7
Jednota emerged as the winner of a see-saw battle with the Razorbacks. Gene Braun's fifth inning single brought home the winning run.

Andy Beno hit a pair of doubles, and Mike Weber smashed a two-bagger for Jednota.

The Hansons just bought a great new house. Here's how.

Finding their dream house was easy. But the Hansons were afraid getting a mortgage would be a nightmare. Until they came to the Howard and sat with their Howard banker.

First they explored all of the mortgage loan options the Howard has available:

- One and three-year Adjustable Rate Mortgages that take full advantage of current market rates.

• Bi-weekly mortgages that can save over 40% in interest payments over the life of the loan.

Then, with the help of their Howard banker, they selected the plan that made the most sense for them.

Like the Hansons, you can count on the Howard to be your bank-for-life. Because we understand the needs and concerns of home buyers today, and the hopes and desires that will come tomorrow.

THE TITANIC—prior to its fateful voyage in April, 1912.

Titanic myths, legends remain afloat

By MARK HAVILAND

Current speculation about raising the great liner Titanic, which struck an iceberg and sank on April 15, 1912, might be in the realm of impossibility, but the facts, legends, myths and legacy of the ship have managed to stay afloat all these decades.

Of the more than 2,200 passengers on board, 1,522 lives were lost only 765 survived.

On April 10-12, 1987, the Titanic Historical Society, an international organization of Titanic buffs based in Massachusetts, will meet in Philadelphia to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the maiden — and final — voyage of the great passenger liner.

The sinking of the ship was the end of an era in many ways, but it was the start of decades of interest in a disaster, which although it may not rival modern day disasters in scope, certainly rides a wave of interest in this historical event, while current disasters all but fade from the spotlight within a year, or after subsequent lawsuits have been settled.

Fascination with the sinking has increased with two expeditions, with American and French personnel, led by Dr. Robert Ballard of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute in Massachusetts to the site of the wreck, which is located in the Atlantic Ocean, some 400 miles southwest of Newfoundland.

The first expedition was in September 1985, from the Woods Hole vessel Knorr, which located the wreck for the first time since the disaster occurred 73 years earlier.

Another expedition in July of this year utilized two deep-sea submersibles, a manned vessel named the "Alvin" and the other an unmanned robot named "Jason Jr.," which was able to probe inside the wreck itself. The wreck lies in two sections, the bow and stern sections apparently broke apart as the ship sank, on the ocean floor around 12,500 feet below sea level.

The sinking has been the subject of numerous books and films during the decades, including the classic 1955 text by British historian Walter Lord, "A Night to Remember," which was made into a subsequent film that exaggerated or recreated some of the factual details.

"But this year has been a banner one for Titanic materials, with a sequel by Walter Lord, "The Night Lives On" just published and a lavishly photographed book set for November publication by two members of the Titanic Historical Society, John Eaton of New York, the society's historian, and New Jersey resident Charles A. Haas, the organization's president. The Titanic Historical Society was formed in 1963, and is based in Springfield, Mass.

According to Lord's original book, the White Star passenger liner Titanic set sail on April 10, 1912 for its first and only voyage from Southampton, England, bound for New York.

Despite a scene in the movie to the contrary, the ship was not christened with a champagne bottle against the bow. The only other unusual event of the launch was when the pull of the Titanic as it left the harbor almost dragged a smaller liner into a collision with the mighty ship. The quick action of the Titanic's crew prevented a mishap.

Her dimensions were massive for that era. She was the equivalent of 11 stories high, and four city blocks long, and weighed 46,328 gross tons.

Passengers aboard the ship cut across the social and economic of American and European society of the era. They were perceived as representing the last of the Edwardian era — with their wealth, prestige and economic prejudices; and were the celebrities of that time before movies and television. The passenger list was a proverbial "Who's Who," including Archie Butt, a top military aide of President William Taft; John Jacob Astor, John B. Thayer of Pennsylvania Railroad and Arthur Ryerson of the steel family. According to Lord, the collective worth of the elite passengers on the liner was $250 million in 1912 dollars.

One myth that present day scholars have sought to dispel is the image of Titanic as "unsinkable."

In his second book, Lord quotes British journalist Philip Howard who wrote in 1981, "I can find no contemporary evidence that the Titanic was regarded as virtually unsinkable until after she had sunk. With hindsight, we have created the myth because it makes a more dramatic metaphor."

This portion of the article was taken out of context and exaggerated by the sensationalist press of that era, hence the creation of the myth which persists until this day.

There have been numerous other myths which have persisted and are part of the legacy of the great liner. Scholars and Titanic buffs have worked to dispel these myths, but many

Rebecca's forecast

For week of Sept. 4 through Sept. 11

ARIES (3/21-4/20) This promises to be an intricate period for many. You may be forced to examine the basic workings of your daily life and perhaps to face some difficult sorting through. Later you may feel moody or reclusive, and you may be ill-prepared to accept certain realities that are beginning to emerge.

TAURUS (4/21-5/21) You may be feeling the need to start something new, social and creative ventures are highlighted. Assess yourself now, and let others see just how capable you really are. Later, you will need to unravel a money problem, another's promises fall short of the mark and be wary of binding agreements.

GEMINI (5/22-6/21) The choices and subsequent changes many are facing will undoubtedly revolve around residence issues. Responsibilities and independence are dominant issues and some may feel the clock is ticking just a bit too fast. Later, family, future plans and lessons from the past may weigh on your thoughts.

CANCER (6/22-7/23) A change of routine is enjoyed early this week. Short trips are highlighted and important business should be accepted. Later, either clear or controversial topics, job security may be more fragile than you realize and the physical or emotional needs of others continue to pose a burden on some.

LEO (7/24-8/23) Your emotional and material security need careful handling now. Be more conservative to avoid a loss and count on professionals to offer sound advice. Later in this week, another may test your tolerance. Health appointments are on the agenda for some and be alert to another's emotional needs.

VIRGO (8/24-9/23) You may benefit through or connected with others during this mostly upbeat period. Accept offers and opportunities and be alert to changes on the work front. Later, plan time to relax, cultivate new hobbies and revive old talents or interests. Relatives may offer good thought, protect resources.

LIBRA (9/24-10/23) You must be extra careful in health and career matters as hidden troubles may be brewing in either area. Guard against overextending yourself, your schedule is demanding enough at the moment. Later, your judgments see-saw, overreactions are indicated and delays are actually in your best interest.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22) You may be pondering the results of financially related decisions during this period. Partnership matters are highlighted and important changes are in the works for many. Later, you meet with another's disappointment and as a result you may feel irritable and overburdened during this week. Later, the impressions you make on others will assume importance in months ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21) You should anticipate a hectic pace where others, job and family obligations are concerned. Others will demand your time and attention and as a result you may feel irritable and overburdened during this week. Later, the impressions you make on others will assume importance in months ahead.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/20) Crosscurrents continue to be felt, you may feel the need to assert yourself, but in the end, you really know what you're pushing for. Later, strong family influences dominate and their changes touch your life as well. Keep plans flexible and sidestep binding agreements or commitments.

AQUARIUS (1/21-2/19) Matters related to tax, insurance, pension, estate or joint finances will assume importance for many this week. Count on yourself to avoid a loss or disappointment. Later, you are able to take steps to resolve problems in health, job or personal matters. Additional insight paves the way.

PISCES (2/20-3/20) Your charismatic appeal draws other easily during this week. Your confidence is high and you impress others as being able to get the job done. Later, although you're riding a crest of popularity, be advised to keep reality in perspective. Otherwise you set yourself up for unnecessary letdown.

Myths, legends about Titanic

Mysteries remain due to the conflicting nature of eyewitness testimony; other information on the Titanic remains buried at the bottom of the sea.

Despite ice warnings from other ships in the area, the Titanic plowed ahead because the warnings never quite made their way to Titanic Capt. Edward Smith, and no one seemed too concerned about them. When the iceberg was spotted, there was not enough time to avoid the iceberg, which was almost 100 feet tall, according to estimates.

Passengers noted a jarring sound, which although it might have disturbed their sleep, did very little initially to arouse fears that the ship was in imminent danger. There seemed to be a current of confidence running through the passengers, and even some members of the crew, that there was no problem, even when it became increasingly apparent that the ship had struck an iceberg.

Although the ship could stay afloat with between two and four of its watertight compartments flooded, the water gradually exceeded that limit. The Titanic sent out distress signals on its wireless, which was in its earliest development then, although the intensity of the warnings reflected the slow realization of what was happening.

New scholarly research shows there were several ships in the area, including the Californian, which was one of the scapegoats in the disaster. Earlier accounts portrayed this liner as standing by and not making sufficient effort to investigate the Titanic's distress rockets. But, scholars have discovered that the Californian's actual position was much further away from the Titanic, and that there might have been a "mystery ship" between the two liners which inadvertently deceived the crew of the Californian as to the meaning of the Titanic's rockets.

The fact that sealed the fate of most of the passengers was the capacity of the Titanic's lifeboats. There was lifeboat space for 1,178 of the more than 2,200 of passengers and crew on the ship. Even worse, the Titanic was built to hold as many as 3,457 people, and the regulations of the British Board of Trade mandated that the lifeboats only needed to hold 967 people. The shipping line threw in the extra space as a customer courtesy.

Many of the lifeboats were launched with only a fraction of the passengers they were capable of holding for several reasons. The extent of the damage was not readily apparent, and many passengers and crew members stubbornly refused to believe they were in danger. Some passengers, and some of the crew members who were supervising the lifeboats, irrationally refused to allow extra people into the boats when extra space was available. People floundering in the 28-degree water were also turned away.

New, more realistic lifeboat regulations were one of the results of the investigations conducted in the aftermath of the disaster.

One issue that received little attention immediately after the disaster, but has been discussed by scholars in the decades since the sinking is the role of class distinctions.

"Women and children first" is the traditional cliché governing ship sinkings and the Titanic's, but studies of the disaster showed that rule was largely followed, with some notable cowardly exceptions. What actually happened was "first class women and children first."

Lord reveals in his later book that a much higher percentage of first and second class passengers survived, as opposed to third class and steerage passengers who were housed in a lower portion of the ship.

Although it was denied or ignored in the wake of the sinking, there were reports of crew members preventing third class passengers from gaining access to the lifeboats. Many third class passengers were not able to get up on deck until after all the lifeboats were launched.

Mysteries and controversies about the Titanic disaster continue to swirl around the legend of the great ship, just as the waters of the Atlantic swirled over—the sinking liner, sealing its fate forever, but not ending the interest of scholars, historians and Titanic buffs worldwide.

Choosing proper seed essential to lawn-care

By JAMES NICHINADOWICZ
Program Associate in Agriculture

The next five weeks mark the ideal time to reseed bare or dead spots in the lawn. For success, choosing the proper type of seed is essential.

Turf that is predominately sunny should be seeded with a mixture containing mostly bluegrass but with fine fescue and perennial ryegrass as well. This mixture of varieties allows for variations in the lawn which a single type-of-grass, pure bluegrass, could not account for.

An area that has moderate shade should be seeded with a mix identical to the above except with a higher amount of fescue replacing some of the bluegrass. This mix often carries the message "for shady areas", on its label.

wrong type of grasses, mowing too close, excess thatch, etc. It reviews the many common causes of lawn deterioration.

For help with identifying and solving your lawn problems write to the Union County Cooperative Extension Service, 300 North Avenue, East Westfield, 07090, or call 233-3688. When calling or writing, also request our pamphlet, "Your Lawn and Its Care." It reviews the many common causes of lawn deterioration.

The Union County Cooperative Extension Service has announced the winner of its second annual garden contest. Mr. & Mrs. Paul Babiniau of Cranford submitted the winning entry. Their garden entitled, "An English Perennial Garden" combined many types of flowering plants on

Garden Spots

Heavily shaded areas can rarely support a solid stand of bluegrass or fescue. Rather than putting in a groundcover, a seeding of pure rough stalked bluegrass may take hold.

Lastly, when purchasing seed, buy the best. A high quality seed will boast the following facts on the label: Less than 1 percent weed seed; less than 3 percent inert matter and a percent noxious weeds. While this seed will cost more initially, the long term savings in decreased maintenance work and increased satisfaction are well worth it.

For more information on lawn seed, write to the Union County Cooperative Extension Service, 300 North Ave., East Westfield, 07090.

If your lawn isn't in the shape you would like it to be, now is the time to do something about it. Mid-August until late September is the best time to renovate an old lawn or start a new one. The cool weather of fall and spring to follow enables the seeds to really take a firm hold.

Before going to work on your turf, consider the reasons why it may have failed. These shortcomings must be corrected or the lawn will cause you grief. Some common causes of turf demise are: inadequate soil drainage, soil compaction, excess shade, insufficient lime, a site that was bordered by their Tudor Style home. For their green thumbing, the winners received $50 worth of garden supplies which had been donated by an area garden center.

The search is on for a woman between the ages of 16 and 21 to reign as princess at the 21st annual New Jersey Flower and Garden Show. It was announced this week by Charles Walkiewicz the show's president.

The 1987 show is scheduled to run from Feb. 28 through March 8 at the Morristown National Guard Armory. The princess, in addition to presiding over the largest display of greenery, colorful flowers and gardens in the metropolitan area, will receive a $50 modeling fee.

Entrants must send their name, address, telephone number, background information and two black and white photographs, one headshot and one full figure shot, to: Fran Mead, 50 Hilltop Road, Basking Ridge, NJ 07020. Entrants should be available for publicity photo in November and personal appearances during the show at the Armory. All entries must be received by October 10, 1986.

Dance groups due at college

Four dance companies will appear at Montclair State College for the 1986-87 season presented by the college's Office of Cultural Programming.

They are Monix, DanceCompas, Nina Wiener and Dancers and Pilobolus.

Opening the season on Sept. 19, Monix is, in the words of its founder and artistic director, Moses Pendleton, "something that refuses to be categorized." The company was formed when, after extensive European touring, Daniel Ezralow joined the duet of Pendleton and Alison Chase to create "Homage to Picasso," a contemporary celebration that was broadcast live and seen by an outdoor audience of 150,000 in Paris in 1981.

The company had its first United States performance at Woodstock in 1982. After expanding to include its present personnel, Monix toured throughout "the world with performances in Italy, France, Spain, Japan, Monte Carlo and the Canary Islands."

This season Monix will undertake its first coast-to-coast U.S. tour with 10 weeks of engagements from New England to the West Coast. The dancers will also return to France and Italy, and make their debut in Holland and Germany.

Dance Compas will perform on Nov. 31. The company which is in residency at MSC, is led by artistic director Nicholas Rodriguez and producer associate, artistic director Sharon Stephens.

A professional New Jersey based modern dance company, DanceCompas made its June 1984 debut at Paterson Passaic County College with assistance from the Inner City Ensemble. The repertoire company principally features Rodriguez's works.

Rodriguez is a New Jersey State Council on the Arts Fellowship recipient and has performed with Ballet Hispanico, Ruth Dance and the Lillo Way Dance Company. Rodriguez and Stephens, who has an M.Ed. degree and has held teaching and administrative positions with the Inner City Ensemble, New York University and The Whole Theater Co., "share a commitment to the importance of educational dance programming and together with company members have designed and presented workshops for students at several local schools."

The Nina Wiener and Dancers will perform Feb. 26, 1987. Wiener, who was born in Arizona, moved to New York where she worked with a number of modern musical theater companies and television dance programs. She formed her own company in 1975, and has toured in the U.S. and Europe, teaching, performing and choreographing. Wiener was given fellowships and grants, including the Guggenheim Memorial Foundation Fellowship, for choreography awarded in 1982. She created "Wind Devil" for the company to perform during the centennial celebration of the Brooklyn Bridge. The company tours with seven dancers and its own technical director.

On The Shelf

Now, Bourne chases through more than 600 pages of danger and intrigue and fascination and excitement with an abundance of war-like incidents under war-like conditions. The extraordinarily talented writer Ludlum who gets better with each book, he writes, including "The Scarlati Inheritance," "The Osterman Weekend," "The Matlock Paper," "The Rhineman Exchange," "The Gemini Conjecture," "The Chancellor Manuscript," "The Road to Gandolfo," "The Holcroft Covenant," "The Matarese Circle," "The Parsifal Mosaic" and "The Aquitaine Supremacy."

And in the nearly 700-page "The Bourne Supremacy," published this year in hard cover by Random House, New York, Webb still has nightmares of his episode as the deadly assassin Bourne, chasing, finding and then losing a notorious killer named Carlos the Jackal throughout the world and throughout the dreaded Asia. With the love, therapy and assistance of his beloved second wife, Marie, Webb has gradually begun to feel more and more like a human being.

That is, until his government desperately needs him again, and goes to intricate pains to arrange for Webb to turn into the killer Bourne again, to return to Asia again and to face the results of a massacre in Kowloon, a city near Hong Kong. It appears that the stability of the Far East and possibly the rest of the world is threatened by a frenzied Oriental leader, who is using his own man, who claims to be Jason Bourne. The only way that Webb, at the mercy of the government, can be persuaded to turn himself back into the key character of Bourne, is if the wife of his wife, Marie, is in jeopardy.

After all-in-the-first book, Webb lost his first wife and children in an accidental explosion-in-Japan, which turned him into a vengeful, acutely dangerous man.

58, when the government kidnaps Marie, using her as blackmail, an outraged Webb, once more on the verge of insanity, becomes the character he had vowed to forget for the rest of his life.

Of all the truly memorable moments in "The Bourne Supremacy," the violent meeting between the two is the most intriguing.

Although it seems that Ludlum has outdone himself with this impeccable sequel, a reader has a strange, eerie feeling that the disquieting madman pretending to be Bourne, the Jason Bourne is not gone forever, and David Webb, the quiet professor, and his wonderful Marie, are only temporarily back to stay.

After all, Carlos the Jackal, who fled "The Bourne Identity," and who did not appear in "The Bourne Supremacy," is still out there. Are you listening Bourne? Ludlum?
