Rescinding of school sale termed 'delightful'

By JOHN A. GAVIN

Even to a casual onlooker, the old Edward V. Walton School building can give an aura of contrasts. The abandoned structure, located just off Mountain Avenue, is on a thoroughfare adjacent to well-kept homes and active shopping areas.

A relatively modern structure, the hazy red brick facade somehow loses its luster bordering the drab plywood that barricades the windows. Also, the empty parking lot and unworn lawn contradicts the setting of past years when school buses tumbled through the driveway and children skipped over the lawn.

However, these contrasts are not the only puzzle that face the 30-year-old structure. The Walton property has been the center of controversy for almost four years, when the school was shut down.

During that span, the fate of the 12-acre tract has been in the hands of the courts through lawsuits and appeals. Last week a three-member panel of the New Jersey Superior Court's Appellate Division rescinded a contract between the Springfield Board of Education and Green Springs Estates, the home development company that purchased the property.

That ruling declared the purchase "illegal" because it violated a 38-year-old restrictive covenant that limits use of the property for public school purposes, athletic, recreation and accessory public functions.

However, last week's ruling is only one of many legal battles that has developed over the past years.

In 1984 the planning board redesignated the tract as residential, however, a lower court in Union County upheld the sale with stipulations that the new owners abide by the restrictions set forth in the covenant. Consequently, Green Springs, through its attorney, Richard Zucker, appealed that decision which required that the property could only be used for public use. However, last week's ruling overruled that appeal and blocked plans of Green Springs principal owner, Frank Racioppi, to build housing on the property.

"My feeling is one of elation," said Yale Greenspoon, the attorney representing the board of education in the case. "There is no doubt that the retention of this school and inventory has the potential of saving the people of Springfield millions of dollars and will also provide room for expansion should that space become necessary."

Greenspoon acknowledged that there had been a decline in enrollment at the time the school closed but said that trend was changing.

"We have more young families moving into Springfield and future developments are coming in," continued Greenspoon. "These younger people have school-age children and there could be a need for more space in the future. As I understand it, we already have some overcrowding at Sandmeier. If that situation gets any worse, we might need another facility."

Greenspoon said that it would be cheaper to use an existing facility rather than build or purchase another one.

Repeated calls to Zucker for his reaction to the decision were unanswered.

Some area residents also expressed delight in last week's decision. Some gave similar reasons to Greenspoon for their feelings.

"I would really hate to see them sell the school when they really don't need to," said a neighbor who requested anonymity. "Because of the logistics and demographics, I would hate to see them sell the school for one amount this year and down the road have to pay 10 times that much to get a similar site."

Time running out at garbage dumps

By JOHN A. GAVIN

With the anticipated closing in July of the Hackensack Meadowsland landfill, time is running out as Springfield looks for another landfill site to dump its garbage.

Except for Union Township, which also uses the Meadowsland facility, all the other communities in Union County dump their garbage in the Edgeboro landfill in Edison. However, those communities have garbage landfills of their own. The Edgeboro facility, which was originally slated to close in mid-summer, will close in January, so early next year all 21 Union County communities will have to find another way to dispose of their garbage.

Obviously, the problem in Springfield and Union is more pressing time-wise and town officials are concerned.

Thursday night, that problem was mentioned by Freeholder Michael Lapolla at the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders' meeting. Noting that he had received a letter from Committeeman Sy Mulman, Lapolla stressed how time was running out in Springfield and Union.

Consequently, the board unanimously approved meeting with Springfield officials. An informal meeting is set for tonight at 7:30 p.m., just before the regular committee meeting, and town officials are hopeful that a solution can be found.

"The situation is critical," Mulman said, explaining why he contacted the freeholders. "There's no place to dump the garbage after July 31. It's the county's responsibility to get us someplace to dump our garbage. We pay our taxes."

Mulman stressed the importance of finding a garbage site quickly and had no apprehension in using the Edgeboro facility until that site closes.

"The question is what is the county going to do with Union and with us," Mulman snapped. "They have to get us in Edgeboro or do something until they get the transfer set. Then everybody will be in the same boat."

In response, Freeholder Chairman Alan Augustine said he was looking forward to meeting with town officials to work out the problem.

"We are trying a fact finding meeting with the governing body of Springfield to see how we can attempt to find solutions to their problems," Augustine explained, "and join them in concern to what viable alternatives can be found for their disposal of solid waste with the closing of the landfill in the Meadowslands."

"If it can continue long enough to help them out or if they can find alternative solutions... You've gotta start by listening, find out what the problem is... identify that problem first in order to attempt to solve the problem."

Augustine said he was aware that Springfield and Union were not dumping their waste in the Edgeboro landfill, but expressed distress at the limited options for those towns.

"I was surprised and concerned to find that those communities have been singled out and not given the same consideration as those other municipalities during this difficult bridge period of solving the problem," Augustine continued. "We have the problem in the rest of county, but we do have some option to reach some alternative, which we're constantly trying to do."

However, until that alternative can be found, Springfield and Union residents will be anxiously waiting to find out what's going to happen to their garbage.

"This (the garbage situation) is no joke," Mulman said. "People had better not think that garbage is gonna go away, because we aren't going to go away."

Regional board OK's drug funding bid

By JOHN A. GAVIN

Union County Regional High School Board members Wednesday approved an application to the state for funding of a drug prevention program for district high schools.

Each school district has been given an entitlement under the federal Drug-Free Schools and Community Act of 1986. Before approval, Dr. Frank Kenny, director of Pupil Personnel Services, explained many of the advantages of such a program adding that, if approved, monies would be utilized to train staff members in the prevention of substance abuse by students as well as to increase community awareness of the problem.

"The funds from that allocation will be focused on enabling a person to be designated as the district-wide counselor to gain increased expertise in those areas related to substance abuse," Kenny said. "That person would train counselors, who are going to have a liaison to increase their level of expertise, to give further training to the key committee members, to aid administrative staff, and also to have a concentration so that all staff members are aware of the existence of this position."

Under state regulations, District

No. 1 is entitled to $6,549 for the program.

The regional board approved the graduation times for the district high schools. All commencement exercises will be held June 17, however, the times will be different. Jonathan Dayton in Springfield will start its commencement at 3 p.m. Governor Livingston in Berkeley Heights, David Brearley in Kenilworth and Arthur L. Johnson in Clark will all start their commencements at 7 p.m.

The board approved the transfer of 11 teachers within district high schools. Those transfers were based on individual tenure and the personnel needs of those schools.

The transfers will be effective for the 1987-88 school year.

Transferred were Catherine Hascher, Helen Hooper, Thomas Kaptor, John Mattson, Joseph Hubert, Karen Rusin, Rose Stoj, Russell Clarke, Henry Hassel, Steven Shohfi and Leslie Vaccarino.

In those transfers, three of the instructors, Hopper, physical education, Rusin, business education, and Hassell, industrial arts, will be moving to Dayton. Both Hooper and Rusin presently teach at Brearley. Hassell is an instructor at Johnson.

Three instructors, Hascher, special education, Shohfi, physical education, and Stoj, special education/business education, will be moving to Johnson. Hascher is now at Brearley and both Shohfi and Stoj teach at Livingston.

Four others will move to Livingston. In that move are Kaptor, English, Mattson, science, Hubert, business education, and Clark, social studies/aviation. Mattson, Hubert and Clark, presently are at Johnson. Kaptor teaches at Dayton.

Vaccarino, a special education teacher, will be moving to Brearley next year. Vaccarino presently works at Johnson.

The board members took the following action:

Approved the sale of athletic discount tickets during the 1987-88 school year. Prices will be the same as last year — $10 for adults and $5 for students.

Approved Henry Hassel, John Ford, Arthur Balshan, John Siano and Mary Ann Kjelsaa as vocational coordinators during the summer. The instructors will work for 10 days during the summer months at a per diem rate based on their respective 1987-1988 salaries.

Approved Susan Blinder of Kean College as a student teacher for the fall. Blinder will teach social studies and will be supervised by B. Hooper and L. Duke, according to the board agenda.

BOE appoints Weinberg to vacancy

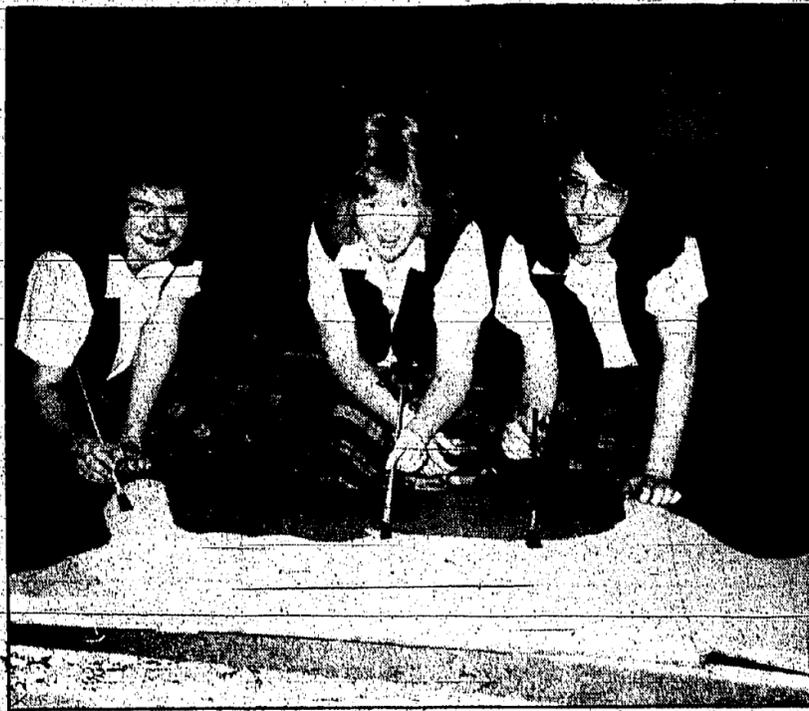

Springfield Board of Education members approved the appointment of Arthur D. Weinberg Monday to fill the vacant spot on the board.

Weinberg replaces M. Donald Davidson who resigned from his position on the board. Davidson, who will be moving to California, was elected to a three-year term last year.

Weinberg is a former vice-president of the Kiwanis Club and a current member of the New Jersey Commerce and Industry Association.

Memorial Day Parade slated Monday

The Springfield Volunteer Fire Department is holding the Annual Memorial Day Parade May 25 at 10 a.m. The parade will start at Short Hills Avenue and proceed down Morris Avenue to the Township Hall. The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Band will participate in the parade. The Grand Marshal for the parade will be Ray Schramm of the Springfield American Legion.

GETTING READY...for the annual spring concert at St. James School, Springfield, are, from left, Kathleen O'Brien, Ellen Jorda and Sandra Zotti, who are putting the finishing touches on a map of the United States, to be used as a decoration during the concert. The theme for the event, slated for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday at 6:30 p.m., is 'Salute to the Armed Forces — Let Freedom Ring.'

Offices closed

The offices of this newspaper will be closed Monday in observance of Memorial Day. All news releases for the issue of May 28 must reach our Union office by 4 p.m. tomorrow.

'Miss Molly' kicks off 1987 telethon

"Miss Molly" of Romper Room and Friends will hold the Children's Miracle Network Telethon for 2 1/2 hours starting at 8:30 p.m. May 30 to 6 p.m. on May 31 over Suburban Cablevision's TV 3 and CTN.

The first telethon was held in 1983 and raised $4 million nationally; in 1986 over $30 million was raised. Locally, in 1986 the Children's Miracle Network Telethon raised over $200,000 for the two New Jersey hospitals. Children's Specialized Hospital used their share to underwrite the cost of state-of-the-art care for children who could not otherwise afford it. Children's Hospital of New Jersey purchased I-MED, LVAC infusion pumps, each priced at $2,500. These pumps administer child-size doses of life-sustaining fluids to children who would die without them.

The Children's Miracle Network Telethon was created by the Osmond

MOLLY MCLOSKEY BARBER, Foundation, the charitable arm of the performing Osmond Family in Salt Lake City, Utah. The goal of the network is to help children at children's hospitals in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Australia and Jamaica.

What makes the telethon unique is the fact that 100 percent of the monies raised in an area stay in the area. The Children's Miracle Network Telethon benefits Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside and Children's Hospital of New Jersey, a unit of United Hospitals Medical Center in Newark.

Sponsored by the Osmond Foundation, the national telethon show will air from Disneyland in Anaheim, Calif., and will feature Co-Chairmen Marie Osmond and John Schneider as hosts with singer Marilyn McCoo and former football star Merlin Olsen as National Co-hosts.

More information on how to help the children can be obtained by calling Pat Messano, Telethon coordinator, at 233-3412.

Police seek robbery suspects

Springfield police are still looking for two armed suspects who held up the Carteret Savings Bank inside a supermarket at 727 Morris Ave. Friday.

Springfield police interviewed several witnesses last week after the robbery, but said they haven't gotten much further than that.

"That's about it," said Sgt. Jeanon, a detective with the Springfield Police Department. When asked how the search was going, "It's still under investigation."

According to reports, one of the suspects approached a customer from behind a teller window at about 10:30 a.m., put his gun to her head and announced the robbery. The other then went through the door connecting the lobby to the teller area and emptied the cash drawers and vault of its contents, police said.

William Winterhalter, a Carteret vice president, said one of the suspects holding the hostage wore a mask, but the other suspect did not. The only description given was that they were two black males.

Police said at least $10,000 was taken, but Winterhalter said he was unable to determine the precise amount stolen. He said only that it was "substantial."

The bank robbery, however, was not the only development keeping local police busy last week. Police reports revealed that 12 Springfield residents were arrested on outstanding warrants and two others for DWI violations.

Police records said that Bruce M. Ales, 39, Troy Drive; Christine C. Deal, 20, Troy Drive; James P. O'Donnell, 26, Troy Drive; Beth A. Barber, 20, Short Hills Avenue; Patricia Barber, Short Hills Avenue; and Steve A. Novich, 25, Meisel Avenue, were arrested on outstanding warrants. Although all six were arrested Thursday, the complaints for those warrants were different. Deal, O'Donnell, and Beth Barber's warrants were issued by the Town of Springfield. Jones was charged by the Town of Chatham and Patricia Barber by Millburn.

Police records revealed that Novich's warrant was issued for two outstanding days, one to Ammandale for $75 and the other to Readington for $50.

In other warrant-related arrests, five area residents were apprehended on contempt of court charges. Those arrested, according to police records, were Debra A. Smith, 28, Battle Hill Avenue; Isaac Lissandrello, 40, Forest Road; Darrin Boyer, 26, Colfax Road; Giovanni Garbaga, 23, Caldwell Place, and Frances Corrente, 19, Parsonage Road. All five were arrested Friday, May 15, at 26 Milltown Road, was arrested Sunday on a traffic warrant. According to police, the warrant was issued by the town of Summit.

Last Wednesday, police records showed two local residents being arrested for driving while intoxicated. Arrested were Victor Marino Vitale, 28, Oakdene Avenue, Cliffside Park, and George F. Lloyd, 58, Kendall Avenue, Maplewood.

JOSEPHINE CUKIER of Mountainside was re-elected chairman of the Polish Festival at Asbury Park, which takes place August 30 at the Convention Hall and Paramount Theater. She has been active in promoting Polish culture for more than 20 years through numerous organizations and has held many posts with the festival committee.

Customer assaulted at drive-thru

Kenilworth police report an Elizabeth man was assaulted at the National State Bank drive-thru window May 15 by a teen-ager wearing a yellow ski mask and carrying a hockey stick, who fled following the attack.

Eduardo Gonzalez was making a deposit for T.R. Shell, by whom he is employed, when the attack occurred, according to the police report. Police also reported:

A woman reported a window was smashed on a vehicle in front of her home between 9 p.m. May 16 and 6 p.m. May 17.

A Union Avenue resident reported his bicycle was stolen from his driveway May 17 by an adolescent male who fled on the bike toward South Michigan Avenue.

A man reported someone put sugar in the gas tank of his vehicle while it was parked in front of his house on North 11 Street, May 15. Police have no further information on the case.

A sanitation department employee was injured at a Kenilworth borough yard when a garbage truck, driven by his brother, a fellow employee, accidentally rolled over his leg. Willie Jones, 26, suffered a fracture of the right leg after Edward Jones, 30, drove forward, thinking his brother was clear of the vehicle, and caught him with the right rear wheels.

Dayton student gets honors

Stacey Byrd, a senior at the Jonathan Dayton-Regional High School in Springfield, received first runner-up honors at the Congressional Art Contest held April 24-25 at Schering-Plough Corporation in Kenilworth.

A resident of Springfield, Stacey has already been granted acceptance to the Philadelphia College of Art for the Fall 1987 semester. The contest, sponsored by Republican Mathew-Rinaldo, featured 42 entries from students representing high schools throughout the 7th Congressional District of New Jersey.

Army ROTC honor for Petino

Pietro M. Petino Jr., a Washington and Lee University sophomore from Springfield, was honored for his participation in the university's Army ROTC Program.

Petino received a bronze medal from the Reserve Officers Association of the United States. He is in the top ten percent of his ROTC class and has demonstrated outstanding qualities of leadership, moral character, and high aptitude for military service.

Washington and Lee University President John D. Wilson presented the award at the Army ROTC President's Awards Day Ceremony in Lee Chapel, April 21.

Welcome back

After nearly four years of litigation, the legal battles over the Walton School finally appear to be over, with the Appellate Court ruling the controversial 1983 sale of the 12.24-acre property illegal.

The return of the school and its surrounding property to board of education control is a victory for Springfield and its children.

The sale of the school came as a bitter climax to the town's declining student enrollment a decade ago. Recent signs seem to indicate that while the student population may not reach the heights of 20 years ago, there is actually a growing need for more classroom space. And once the planned unit construction at the southern tip of town is completed, there will be an even larger demand for available classroom space.

The sight of the school in its boarded-up state is a sad reminder of the bitter in-fighting that erupted when arguments were being waged over exactly what school should be closed due to declining enrollment. Unfortunately, this issue split the town in a manner that benefitted no one, least of all the children themselves.

If the building is again used for educational purposes, all students in town will receive better instruction because teachers have more time to work with individual students when class sizes are smaller. All four district schools will have to be operating to achieve this purpose in years to come.

The possibility also exists of using the building as an after-school child care program and for special education services. Whatever the school and its surrounding property is used for, we hope that everyone in town will see the benefit of using it in conformity with the restrictive covenant: "solely for public school purposes, athletic, recreation and accessory public uses."

That's a restriction that will help everyone.

Buckle up

It's so easy. You get in the car, reach for the seat belt and click it on. It takes about two seconds.

Yet, for one reason or another, only about one-third of all Americans is in the habit of buckling up, according to AAA New Jersey Automobile Club, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration—and the New Jersey State Safety Council, all of which are stepping up their safety campaigns during "All American Buckle Up Week" from May 18 through 24.

According to AAA, motor vehicle accidents are the leading cause of death for Americans between the ages of 1 and 89.

If 70 percent of vehicle occupants wore safety belts regularly, says AAA, more than 9,200 lives would be saved and 377,000 injuries could be prevented or reduced.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration says lives saved just from child passenger protection increased from 38 in 1979 when the first state passed a law to 192 in 1984, when more than 1,300 injuries were prevented. All 50 states now have child passenger protection laws.

According to the New Jersey Committee for Safety Belt Use, "the value of safety belts is documented in studies conducted by the United States Department of Transportation which reports that 12,000 to 16,000 lives could be saved each year if all motorists wore safety belts.

If the statistics aren't enough to convince everyone to wear seat belts, ask someone who's been in a serious accident about the value of safety restraints. Chances are, seat belts played a key role in the person surviving the accident. How often have we heard, "If I hadn't been wearing my seat belt..."

Millions of dollars are spent each year on research to prevent death from cancer, heart attack, lung disease and a variety of other ailments over which we have no control.

Isn't it a shame to have to spend some of those dollars to promote a life-saving procedure that costs the average person nothing in time or money? That's what's happening.

New Jersey is just one state which recently received a federal grant of $25,000 to promote the use of safety restraints — to convince people that buckling up is worth it.

Finally, if that isn't enough to convince the most stubborn motorist, just remember: It's the law.

In New Jersey, since March 1, 1985 front seat occupants of passenger vehicles are required to buckle up or face fines and court costs of $30. Since that law was enacted, there has been a 4.6 percent decrease in front-seat fatalities.

Safety groups are confident that this year's campaign, highlighted by two-seater "convincer" machines which enable individuals to experience a controlled collision of about 10 miles per hour while strapped in a seat belt, will be successful in decreasing fatalities and serious injury even more.

That can only happen, however, if more motorists are convinced of the campaign slogan and "Make It Click."

Smile

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars have a request: When you are asked to buy a Buddy Poppy during the coming sale in this community, do it with a great big smile on your face.

Remember that it is the most appreciative gesture you can ever make with your loose change!

During this once-a-year drive, we have the opportunity, by way of a small donation coming from the heart, to thank those who made the supreme sacrifice and those who have been permanently disabled.

Expressing your gratitude to our veterans in this way means more than just lip service. Buy and proudly wear your Buddy Poppy when it is offered by a Veteran of Foreign Wars volunteer.

Memorial Day: For some, a day of mourning

By JOHN A. GALLENÉ
Each year on Memorial Day, Americans gather to pay homage to the men and women who fought and died for our country, and for so many of us, it's one day of the year that's marked by mourning.

We go to the graves of soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines, and we grieve for lives "taken for their prime; children wonder again about fathers they never knew, parents console each other as they recall the son or daughter who looked so sharp and snappy in uniform. So many of us, who are veterans, remember the actual scenes of death. They aren't the scenes of glory that have become so familiar in the movies of today—they're scenes that shake our souls and pierce our hearts with pain.

This sadness and this pain weigh upon us on Memorial Day as American flags snap in a breeze that flies across the fields of lilies.

Yet we often wonder about the grief that overshadows the observance of Memorial Day. It's not that we haven't felt that grief; we too have found in this day a time to mourn.

For veterans, there's more to it than just remembering those among the dead who were once our friends. There are all those who gave their lives for America, like people we never knew, we mourn for them as well. Some died in the American Revolution. Others were killed by terrorists and so many died in the two world wars, Korea, Vietnam and Beirut. Yet, in all of this sadness, we remember what these men and women stood for. As we remember, another begins to grow: It's an emotion that transforms Memorial Day reminding us that there is also something here to celebrate. — aware of the greatness in the human spirit in our country, America, and in the hearts of men and women throughout this land.

That's what makes Memorial Day grow into something new and rich. That's what makes it a celebration of service to this great land of ours.

Those who have died for the United States knew what they were dying for. They don't give their lives in order to be remembered in sadness. They didn't shed their blood to earn the honor we accord them today. They looked death in the face because they knew our country is worth dying for; they died to purchase peace and freedom, not only for Americans, but for everyone. They sacrificed themselves for values they believed to be greater than their individual lives. We "remember them" with fondness and with pride. We were lucky to have known them; they were people who lived out their sense of duty, their sense of honor, and their absolute commitment to the greatness of our nation. They set tremendous standards for us. They insisted on the very best for our country. When we visit their graves today, we recall our comrades who never sought, during their lives, to be mourned. To them, life was a celebration of what could be. They themselves were the best examples of how right they were; a free life can be lived by many so long as the few are willing to fight to preserve freedom, a good and moral life can be led so long as people are ready to stand firm against tyranny and oppression. A rewarding life, as an American can be lived so long as people agree to serve America and sacrifice for her, if necessary.

Cost of retirement package needs studying

The reasoning behind Governor Keane's and Assembly Speaker Hardwick's support for the proposed 20 and out retirement package for police and firemen is supposed to be grounded in the high risk factor of the job for injury and burnout. The Republican controlled State Assembly has already approved the legislation.

On the other hand, the New Jersey League of Municipal Government is opposed to this bill because the League doubts and questions the long term cost impact of this early retirement package, as well as questioning the statistical basis for the risk factor of injury or burnout to police when compared to public works employees.

The League of Municipalities has gathered statistics which disclose that the injury probability of 6.32 percent is statistically greater for public works employees than the 4.38 percent for police. They also question whether in the long term, the Legislature's initial cost calculations are realistic. You said I need to know what to support or oppose.

Police and fire officials may now retire at age 45, after 25 years of work, and receive 60 percent of their salary. Enlisting these workers to retire at 50 percent of salary after 20 years of work by age 45 may indeed be justified, but I believe the Legislature, the Governor and the League of Municipalities should all first agree what the cost to the citizens of this State will be before the bill is brought to the floor of either house for a vote.

Don't let pets get overheated in cars

As summer approaches readers can expect to see dogs left in hot cars at malls across New Jersey.

The temperature in a car on a warm day can reach 160 degrees in minutes. Even parking the car in the shade with the windows partially open cannot protect a pet from heat stroke or brain damage.

The Humane Society of the United States urges readers to leave pets at home this summer. If your dog becomes overheated, get him into the shade and take these emergency steps:

—Apply ice packs or cold towels to the head, neck and chest.

—Don't give an unlimited amount of cold water. Let him lick ice cubes or even ice cream.

—Get the dog to a veterinarian immediately. It could save your pet's life. Make this a safe summer for your family and for your pet.

Domestic violence act: asset or liability

By IRENE M. ROSENBERG
As an attorney practicing family law in nine counties throughout the state, I have frequently asked myself if the Domestic Violence Act is an asset or liability to the citizens of this state.

The Act, passed in January of 1982, affords one resident of a household the right to file a complaint with the county against another resident of the household so as to restrain the defendant from entering the premises or having further contact with the plaintiff.

"If filing such a complaint the Act requires that the petitioner allege one or more of the following against the defendant: 1. Physical abuse; 2. Threats; 3. Harassment; 4. The existence of immediate danger to person or property.

Understandably, this law is used most frequently by allegedly abused wives against physically violent husbands. The temporary restraining aspect of the law provides such women with an immediate means of coping with a potentially dangerous and disastrous situation. The offending party can be removed from the household and barred from returning or having contact with the family for a period of 10 days until a full hearing can be held. (He does have the right to apply on 24 hours notice for an immediate hearing to gain re-entry.) When utilized in such an emergent situation, the law has definitely proven to be a much-needed remedy.

The act can also prove an asset when used in situations which are not overly violent, but in which harassment or threats are evident. Such situations may also provide valid reasons for barring a person from the home. A number of years ago, I represented a woman whose husband was calling her vile names in front of their children. He further harassed her by knocking loudly on her locked bedroom door—and frequently shouting at her. I advised that these actions would probably not justify a restraining order; however, when the husband broke into a locked bathroom in which she was bathing so that he could eavesdrop on her, the court found that he had totally overstepped the boundaries of propriety and decency. He was thereafter permanently restrained from the family home.

Not only women are the objects of the law's protective shield. A husband may file against his wife in an asset or liability to the citizens of this state. safeguards are not needed to protect innocent parties ejected from their homes without just cause.

Perhaps an amendment to the act, clearly defining and restricting those instances in which temporary restraints would apply, might diminish the potential for abuse.

Home Health Aides deserve recognition

On Monday, May 18, we in New Jersey had the opportunity to pay tribute to a very special caregiver: the Certified Home Health Aide.

We at S.A.G.E. are eminently aware of two social changes that have increased the need of qualified Home Health Aides. One, the "graying of America," the other, the increasing need for the two-woman family. This particular combination often creates a family crisis when confronted with the task of caring for an aging or disabled loved one. In such circumstances, it is often the Certified Home Health Aide who provides the needed assistance of personal care, bathing, walking, cooking, shopping, and doing laundry for a homebound person.

It's Buckle Up Week

Children need protection

May 18-25 is All American Buckle Up Week and all drivers should focus on the importance of protecting people riding in motor vehicles, by use of safety belts.

Children are extremely vulnerable in a crash, or even a sudden stopping situation. More easily than adults, they can be hurled through the car until they hit the windshield or dashboard, or are ejected from the vehicle. Fortunately there is a readily available solution that now is required by law in all states and the District of Columbia: child safety seats. Child passenger protection laws were enacted because children cannot protect themselves. They are often the innocent victims and receive injuries or are killed in crashes that need not cause such casualties.

A recent study by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration found that the lives saved from child passenger protection increased from 38 in 1979 when the first laws were passed to 192 in 1984. Over 1,300 injuries, hospitalizations, were prevented in 1984. The laws are working as envisioned but some children continue to be injured, needlessly or killed because safety seats required by the laws are not installed or used properly.

Correct installation and conscientious use of child safety seats is an important parental responsibility. Parents and others driving with small children should make sure the safety seat is installed in whatever vehicle the child rides. Older children, generally weighing more than 40 pounds, should graduate to booster seats and, eventually, to the vehicle's safety belts. Finally, it is important for everyone riding in a motor vehicle to be protected and set a good example. Like use of child safety seats for youngsters, regular use of safety belts is a proven lifesaver for older children and adults. They should be worn every trip, even the short hops to the grocery store.

Highway safety has seen dramatic advances over the past years as technological improvements in vehicles themselves have combined with better roads, reductions in drunk driving, and more safety awareness by the American public. But in the last analysis, it is the individual decision to use a safety belt, or strap a child into a safety seat, that can make the difference between a minor injury and a major one, or even death.

The above article was provided by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

New Jersey and the Constituion

The role of Aaron Burr

Two hundred years ago, Aaron Burr was a lawyer practicing in New York. The archetype of the ambitious — some would say unprincipled — politician, he was a New Jersey by birth and the Garden State figured in his life until the end.

Burr was born in the Newark parsonage of his father, the Rev. Aaron Burr, in 1756. Mr. Burr was the pastor of Newark's First Presbyterian Church and the second president of the College of New Jersey, now Princeton.

Within a year, the family moved to Princeton, where death took Burr's father in 1787 and his mother in 1788. Burr became a ward of his uncle, Timothy Edwards of Elizabethtown, where he studied at an academy which Alexander Hamilton would later attend.

Aaron Burr entered the College of New Jersey at age 15 after graduation in 1772. He studied law until the Revolutionary War. Serving as a regimental commander, he took part in the 1778 Battle of Monmouth. During his military campaigning, Burr met Theodosia Bartow Prevost of Hoboken. He married the widow Prevost in 1782.

The talented lawyer entered New York politics and served as an assemblyman and U.S. senator before becoming vice president under Jefferson in 1801. In 1804 Burr challenged Alexander Hamilton to a duel for "saying things improper and offensive" to his honor. The two met at Westchester on July 11. Burr's shot left Hamilton mortally wounded.

Some years later, Burr and a New Jersey colleague, Jonathan Dayton, were tried for treason for alleged intrigues in the West. Both were acquitted. The controversial Burr died in 1836, and his remains were buried at Princeton.

An exhibition, "Thus United Free — New Jersey in the Age of the Constitution," opens Sept. 16, at the New Jersey Historical Society's museum in Newark.

Mrs. Kean to receive citizen award

Deborah B. Kean, wife of New Jersey Governor Thomas H. Kean, has been chosen as the 1987 Citizen of the Year by the Memorial General Development Foundation, according to Louis J. Giacosa, foundation president. Mrs. Kean will be honored by the foundation during a testimonial dinner tomorrow at the Town and Campus restaurant, West Orange.

Donald R. Conklin, group vice president of pharmaceutical operations, Schering-Plough Corp., will serve as general chairman for the event. In addition to Conklin, guests will include Gov. Kean, New Jersey Congressman Matthew Rinaldi, Kenny Hill of the New York Giants, the Rev. Nancy E. Forsberg, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Union, and Ronald Gastano, director of Union Hospital's drug and alcohol program.

"Union Hospital takes great pleasure in selecting Deborah Kean as this year's award recipient," says Victor J. Fresolone, hospital president. "She has devoted her time and talents to enhancing the quality of life in New Jersey, particularly through her deep interest in problems affecting the youths of this state."

Proceeds from the dinner will benefit the assistance abuse program at Union Hospital with special emphasis on its work with addicted adolescents. Additionally, a permanent tribute to Mrs. Kean will be displayed within the hospital.

"Among her many distinguished honors," Mrs. Kean is a member of the governor's Drug Advisory Council and the New Jersey Council for the Prevention of Mental Retardation. She is honorary chairman for both the governor's Commission on Smoking or Health and the National Educational Foundation, and is honorary co-chairman with Sammy Davis Jr., of the National Liver Foundation.

"We have received such a tremendous outpouring of support from all parts of the state," Giacosa says. "With a cause as vital as substance abuse, with an honoree as distinguished as Deborah Kean, and with a general chairman as supportive as Donald Conklin, this event is sure to be a success."

The Memorial General Development Foundation is a non-profit organization which involves itself in a variety of fund-raising endeavors to support the programs and services of Union Hospital as well as for other worthy health care projects.

Information on the dinner can be obtained by contacting the foundation at 688-8554.

Kenilworth AARP elects officers

The regular monthly meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons, AARP, Kenilworth Chapter 3469, was held recently at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Kenilworth.

Officers were elected to serve for the 1987-1988 year as follows: C. Joseph Aragona, president; C. William Gutekunst, vice president; Ann La Costa, secretary; Mary Edna Romaline, treasurer; George Lutz, trustee.

On June 25 the officers will be installed at a luncheon to be held at the Galloping Hill Caterers at Five Points, Union.

Aragona appointed Madelyn Nitschke to be the new assistant treasurer. Marie Cancellieri is the assistant secretary. A trip to Ocean City, Md., is scheduled for June 8 to June 12.

The newly installed officers will attend a spring workshop on June 5 in Metuchen. Assistant State Director Philip Capellup of the American Association of Retired Persons will preside. There will be no executive board meeting in June. The regular monthly meeting will be held on the first Tuesday of June instead of the second Tuesday. The meeting will be held in the Knights of Columbus Hall at 1 p.m. on June 2.

Town swim camp lists schedules

The Springfield Municipal Swimming Pool Day Camp will run this year for children 3 1/2 through 10 years of age. The camp is held Mondays through Fridays between the hours of 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. beginning June 29 and ending August 21.

Camp activities will include arts and crafts, swimming, story time, snack time, games, and special events.

Children must be members of the Springfield Municipal Pool. Registration is held Monday through Friday at the Recreation Department located at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center, 30 Church Mall, weekdays between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Proof of birth must be presented at time of registration.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 378-5884.

Mayoral candidate blasts opponent

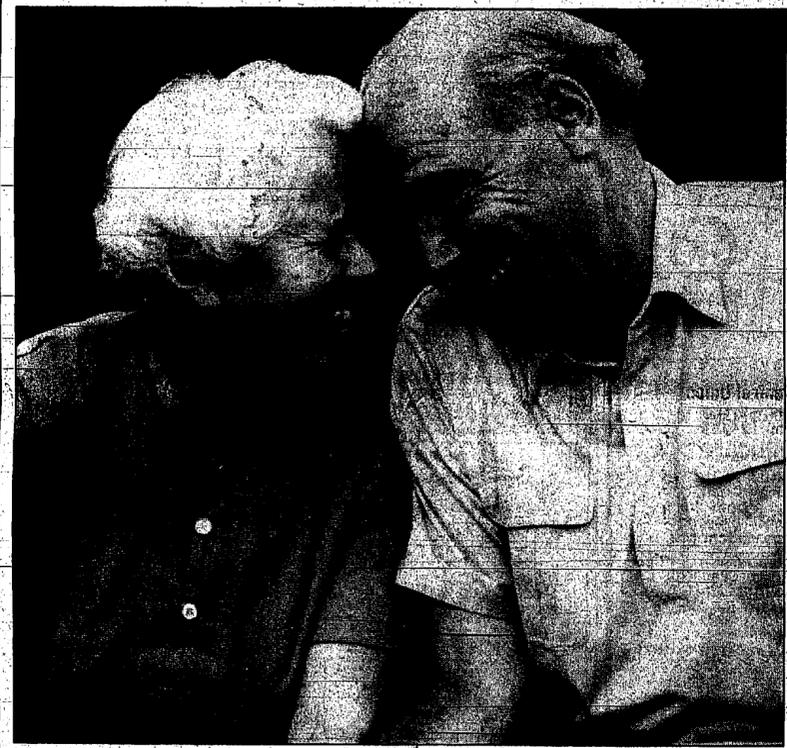

Phyllis Baldacchini, Kenilworth Democratic mayoral candidate, has issued a second statement regarding her reasons for seeking office.

"My opponent's lack of knowledge and experience with respect to taxation and municipal budgets was again made evident when he recently refused to support Mayor Mancini's recommendation to cut $30,000 from the 1987 budget. Similarly, last year, he didn't support the mayor's effort to cut the local tax budget by $100,000, even though his cohort, Mr. Montour, and I voted against that budget. My recognition of excesses in the 1986 budget and my vote against it have been upheld. Approximately $85,000 of the budget went unused and had to be turned over to the town's surplus. This translates to approximately five tax points per homeowner. Yet, having witnessed the results of imprudent budgeting in 1986, my opponent persists in ignoring opportunities to cut back on the budget. According to press reports, he initially agreed with the Mayor's $30,000 cut, but when it came to a vote, he voted against it. For what reason? He claimed the Borough might need these funds as a cushion in the event of an emergency. Doesn't he realize that an emergency appropriation can always be made, but there's no mechanism for returning unspent dollars to the taxpayer? My record shows that I have consistently voted for conservative spending in an attempt to achieve maximum value for your tax dollars, while providing essential services."

Baldacchini concluded, "What is my opponent's rationale for overlooking our homeowners? How will he explain his actions to our residents?"

Rinaldo in Washington, D.C. Includes apartments in plan

Accessory apartments can be included in a municipality's fair share plan for providing low and moderate income housing, according to a recent decision by the Council on Affordable Housing.

Volunteers are honored

Over 100 volunteers were honored May 9 at the Community FoodBank of New Jersey, a private non-profit organization which distributes donated food to groups feeding the hungry throughout the state. The award ceremony took place at the FoodBank's warehouse, located at 75 Stockton St. in Newark's Ironbound section.

Accessory apartments will qualify if a municipality provides zoning for the creation of such units with 10-year affordability controls. However, pre-existing illegal apartment units, according to Douglas V. Opalski, executive director of COAH.

An accessory apartment is defined as a self-contained dwelling unit, including its own bath, kitchen and private entrance, created within an existing home, through the conversion of an accessory structure on the lot or with additions to a home or another structure such as a garage.

Accessory apartments are usually developed in areas zoned for single-family homes and are not group or boarding homes in which the kitchen and other facilities are shared; accessory apartments have separate bathrooms, kitchens, bedrooms and entrances. These are often created for senior citizens who are not able to take care of themselves or for younger people looking for inexpensive housing until they can afford their own homes.

The formula for a municipality to determine the number of units that can qualify is one-half of 1 percent of the housing stock which meets the standards for conversion times six years.

If there are major restrictions such as limiting the residency of the apartments to family members only, the units will not qualify for crediting.

The municipality which institutes zoning for accessory apartments is to provide informational brochures and/or conduct seminars to assist interested homeowners and contractors with the necessary apartment process and policies.

English classes to start

Twelve non-credit English as a Second Language courses will be offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the summer semester.

Offer flags for vets' graves

All deceased veterans families are advised that the Union County freeholders and the Department of Human Services will supply the flags which will decorate the graves of veterans of all wars in all the cemeteries in Union County.

The Union County Flag Guardian Committee, which operates under the direction of Director of Veterans Interments Harold J. Seymour Jr., will be coordinating the distribution and decorating of the graves through the efforts of local veteran organizations.

NJEA sets legislative goals

"NJEA has many goals — and they all center on kids and schools," Dennis Testa, secretary-treasurer of the New Jersey Education Association, told an audience of Union County staff members and lawmakers May 20.

Speaking at NJEA's annual Union County Legislative Dinner, held at the Clinton Manor in Union, Testa outlined legislative programs that need action this year.

NJEA's top priority remains collective bargaining Testa pledged. After working with the governor's office to find a middle ground, "we have an outline of a bill, and it looks promising," he said. "Many legal and technical questions remain to be answered, but we're seeing light at the end of the tunnel. This outline stressed six key steps needed by the state to effectively curtail hazardous waste abuse. In explaining those strategies, Muir and Underwood said an accepted "hierarchy" of hazardous waste management had to be formed to better regulate environmental abuse. They stressed that such an agency should be related to a high level of government and associated with a leading state environmental agency. Also, they said the person heading such an agency should be well respected within the corporate world.

Cites pollution stats as 'grim'

By JOHN A. GAVIN

On a scale of lead between the New Jersey Turnpike and U.S. Route 9, fumes drift continuously from a smoke stack at one of the refining plants near Linden. Slowly, as the smog ascends past the petroleum tanks, vapors can be seen drifting across Route 9 toward residential Linden.

In fact, a report in the "International Journal of Epidemiology" listed New Jersey with one of the largest cluster locations in the nation. A cluster is any community of at least 10,000 people with a cancer rate 50 percent or more than the national average. Linden alone has four clusters.

The other five plants, E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Company in Deepwater, J.E. Halma Company Inc. in Lodi, International Flavors and Fragrances Inc. in Union Beach, Max Marz Color and Chemical Company in Irvington and Scher Rhone-Poulenc Inc. in New Brunswick didn't participate in the survey.

Some local residents say they are physically affected by the immediate environment and want something done about it. Bea Bernzoff, president of Concerned Citizens of Linden, said the hazardous waste problem has escalated to such a degree that she feels it's affecting her health.

"I find myself short of breath and in the evenings I have to go inside the house," explained Bernzoff. "It is more of an effort now for me to speak. I've talked to other people who are saying they have nose problems and breathing problems. It's not bad enough to put us in the hospital, but an everyday thing that you have to struggle with."

INFORM attributes changes in manufacturing, operation and equipment along with product reformulations and chemical substitutions as ways of reducing hazardous waste. Five New Jersey plants in the study, including industries in Nutley, CIBA-GEIGY Corporation in Toms River, Exxon foreed. Registration forms are available at all three Union County golf courses. Further information may be obtained by calling Ash Brook, 757-0414; Oak Ridge, 574-0139 or Galloping Hill, 686-1556.

Testa called upon legislators to meet the state's legal commitment in state funding of schools and county colleges. The governor's proposed budget falls $80 million short.

When the state short funds education," Testa said, "three groups pay: the kids in the schools, the staff members in the schools, and the local property taxpayers!"

Since New Jersey is the nation's sixth largest hazardous waste producing state in the nation, there has been much concern for the health of local residents. According to INFORM, New Jersey has the greatest concentration of organic chemical

BUSINESS OF THE WEEK

SHADES 'N THINGS - Some of the decorative effects that are available at Shades 'n Things at 2064 Morris Ave., Union.

Shades for every window

The following is a conversation between two friends:

"Tallahuh darling, where in the world did you get those floral arrangements?"

"Why, at Shades 'n' Things, of course. The shop is located at 2064 Morris Ave., Union.

"Shades 'n' Things offers the most extraordinary assortment of unusual gift items, including floral arrangements, dolls, brass exotics, wicker furniture, Chinese screens, clocks, pedestals, sculptures, oil paintings - all of the above plus the most complete offering of window treatments.

"Speaking of window treatments, let me show you my vertical blinds which I just purchased at Shades 'n' Things. I found a tremendous selection of fabrics and an excellent measuring and installation service. The price was right and you know how I shop around!" And, the decorating service is unsurpassed.

"Ellie Ross, the proprietress, will personally show you around the unique shop and, with professional skill, patience and dedication, provide you with the ideas that will make your home a delight to you and your visitors."

"She is a natural when it comes to decorating. Her eye for color and her ability to place objects just give a home a truly decorator look. Why, love, did you think I could have color coordinated this room?"

"But, Tallahuh darling, it must be awfully expensive to shop at Shades 'n' Things."

"Quite the contrary, my dear. Everything is discounted up to 50 percent. Ellie's merchandise is not only unique, it is also well-priced."

"Gift certificates are always available. All gifts are ingeniously packaged in colorful gift bags or sophisticated boxes. I send all my friends to Shades 'n' Things. By the way, I have a birthday coming up in two weeks."

Shades 'n' Things is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday; or call Ellie Ross for an appointment, if more convenient, at 688-9661.

WE REMEMBER MEMORIAL DAY

Our thoughts turn to those brave people of our armed forces who died while serving their country. In times of peace and times of war, these courageous men and women stood ready to defend the very freedom that we so cherish. On Memorial Day, we pay silent tribute to them all. Their deeds shall never be forgotten... they did not die in vain.

County police 'show off' their talents

The Union County Police Department held its annual Police Week celebration May 16 at the Ice Skating Center in Warinanco Park, Roselle.

Representatives from police departments and law enforcement agencies throughout the county, as well as from the State Police, Port Authority, FBI, Secret Service, and the Sheriff's and Prosecutor's offices were on hand.

Visitors had the opportunity to learn about crime prevention, traffic safety and many other areas concerning public safety and law enforcement.

All summer garden color with annuals

BY STEPHEN BACHELDER, county agricultural agent
Plenty of garden color throughout the summer — without time-consuming staking, tying, or spraying — this can be yours by planting certain minimum-maintenance annuals, advise Rutgers Cooperative Extension specialists.

French marigolds and impatiens headed the list of favorite annuals in a recent poll conducted among visitors to the Rutgers Display Garden. For color from planting to frost they are hard to beat. Impatiens is excellent for shade and grows equally well in full sun if fertilized until plants cover the soil.

Begonias also thrive in sun or shade and can be potted as house plants in late summer.

An All-America Selections winner for 1987 is Sanvitalia Mandarin Orange, Sanvitalia, or creeping zinnia, is an excellent summer ground cover.

It is covered with hundreds of small zinnia-like blooms from mid-June until frost.

Two maintenance-free annuals for edging are dusty miller and santolina. The downy white and gray foliage of these neat plants combines well with even the brightest colors.

Annual vinca produces neat glossy-leaved plants which are covered with white or lavender flowers all summer. It is the annual relative of myrtle or periwinkle.

Historic gifts exhibited

Land survey maps, a collection of furniture and equipment from a dental office, and two oil paintings of the nudist colony at Stockholm, are among new acquisitions of the New Jersey Historical Society.

The land survey maps, drawn between 1918-1920, trace original land ownership in the Elizabeth area and were a gift of Conrail Industries of Philadelphia.

A gift of Mrs. Arthur R. and Ernest Clifton Lovel of Mount Holly, a female sunbathing (1832), and a landscape view of nude sunbathers on a beach (undated) at the nudist colony at Stockholm, are two oil paintings by Richard Ederheimer (1878-1920) recently donated to the society by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lewis of Lambertville.

Other new acquisitions include: an acrylic painting of the "House of Prayer," Episcopal Church of Newark, dated 1966; a gift of the artist, Joseph Konopka of Glen Ridge; the papers of Joseph Schlott, documenting the history of the Newark Police Department from 1910-1966; family records and letters dating from 1820-1850 of the prominent Ward-Meeker family, donated by Dr. William Ward of Newark; donated by Alan Seigel of Warren were ledgers from the Rutan markets, Newark, dated 1917-18, and a collection of records and correspondence from the Newark District Church Society and the funeral registers of the Terrill Funeral Home of Irvington.

Two grants have been awarded to the library of the Society for the restoration of 24 historic maps. The awards are from the Institute for Museum Services, Washington, D.C., $8,500.00; and the New Jersey Historical Commission, Trenton, $8,572.00.

Among the grants awarded to the publications department of the Society: from the Union Foundation, $10,000; the New Jersey Committee for the Humanities, $5,500 for the publication of the papers of William Paterson; The Cardinal Trust, $11,131 for the publication of "New Jersey History," the Society's quarterly journal; and the New Jersey Historical Commission, $6,800, for the publication of a bibliography of 20th century New Jersey politics and government.

A gift from Johnson and Johnson of New Brunswick of $5,000, was received in the Society's annual campaign.

Crossword buffs to gather

Registration is now open for the Third Annual North Jersey Crossword Open, which will be held this year at the Riverside Square Mall in Hackensack, June 13 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Co-sponsored by Dell Puzzle Magazines, the American Crossword Federation and the North Jersey Puzzlers League, the tournament gives puzzle solvers the chance to pit their word mettle against contestants from all parts of the country as well as from New Jersey.

This year's winners will share a prize purse of $1,000 donated by Dell Puzzle Magazines, as well as prizes and trophies donated by Riverside Square Mall, Running Press and Merrim-Webster.

On June 12, "cruciverballists" will have a chance to pursue their favorite hobby while raising money for Cheshire Home, a residential community in New Jersey for disabled adults. In this crossword-tournament, contestants will find sponsors who will donate money to Cheshire Home for each puzzle they can complete correctly (out of 50) — the night before the New Jersey Open. Contestants in this "Cheshire Crossword Challenge" can win great prizes by raising the most money for Cheshire Home.

Interested persons can register for either or both events by calling Bonnie Strower, president of New Jersey Puzzlers League at 377-8531, days or 652-5884, evenings.

FAVORED—flower for window boxes is the ivy geranium.

Parent needs to listen

BY BETH GIORDANO-FRANZULLIVAN
Q. My husband's job necessitated a transfer to this area from Toledo last January and my son cannot adjust. His first-grade teacher in Toledo was in the process of advancing him to the second grade before we moved, but this new teacher won't consider it, even though a complete set of records was sent. The teacher in Toledo was much more knowledgeable and experienced and held two master's degrees. This one is relatively young with only a B.A.

I went to the principal to complain and she merely deferred to the teacher. I am quite furious with this school system by now. My son is a bright child — his reading level is nearly at the fifth-grade level, and I believe he's wasting away in the first grade. Now that the school year is in its last months, I have initiated further discussions with the teacher in an effort to move my son to grade three, at least on a trial basis. So far, I've gotten nothing but excuses as to why he should stay at his present level. She agrees he's bright — but says it would "harm" him to push him ahead. I wish to go further with this fight. What would be the best approach?

A. The best approach? Back off. Cease and desist immediately. By now your son is probably a nervous wreck and hopefully that teacher has tuned you out. You can be sure there are many reasons why your son has not been moved — chief among them is the fact that the present school system may be more advanced. It appears your obsessiveness and belligerence has effected the ultimate "communications breakdown" with your son's educators and possibly with your son as well.

When school opens this fall, start out with a clean slate. Talk to the new teacher and resist the temptation to demand a list of his or her degrees before you sit down. Approach the meeting with an open mind and a true cooperative spirit. Explain your enthusiasm for your son's success and ask how you can best help. Is there a gifted program? How can he qualify? What about special projects to work on at home? If it appears your son is intellectually, emotionally and socially ready for the next grade, the teacher will be the first to tell you.

Plants can be 'murderous'

Killer plants? Yes, in a way. But they don't resemble the ravenous man-eater in "Little Shop of Horrors." Some of them, in fact, look positively cheerful.

The sunflower is one of them. It manufactures its own herbicides, exuding them in the soil to keep other plants — mostly weeds — from germinating or growing. Another murderous plant is grain sorghum. Both plants are currently under study at a laboratory of USDA's Agricultural Research Service in Frederick, Md.

Gardeners and farmers have known for a long time that some plants don't get along well together. Sunflowers, for example, can't be used as poles for beans because beans won't climb them.

Strawberries do well in the residue left from a crop of oats, but carrots do pitifully under the same conditions.

And sorghum grows a long list of weeds from growing too close to the plant, where they could compete for sunlight and water.

Some of the herbicides generated by plants are so potent that they ever poison the plant that manufactures them. Farmers in North

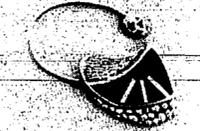

Alumni seek flea market vendors

The Union County College Alumni Association will conduct its 10th annual Flea Market, May 30 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Parking Lot 1 on the college's Cranford campus on Springfield Avenue.

The all-day event will feature the sale of old records, books, plants, jewelry and toys. A professional marketer will be on hand to coordinate the event and announce up-to-the-minute bargains over a public address system.

Coffee and doughnuts will be available for early morning shoppers and the lunchtime fare will include hot dogs, cold drinks and ice cream.

Reservations for vendors can be made by calling Union County College, 275-2600, Ext. 409.

ON VIEW—Kean College master of fine arts candidates are exhibiting ceramics, jewelry, prints and paintings in the James Howe Gallery through June 5. Admission is free and gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays; 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays; 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. on Wednesdays and 10 a.m. to noon on Friday. Union resident Thomas A. Hamilton's jewelry is part of the exhibit.

Members to show

New Jersey Center for Visual Arts, formerly the Summit Art Center, will hold its annual Members' Show from May 31 to June 28.

The exhibition, which will open with a reception on May 31 from 2-5 p.m., will present paintings, sculptures, prints, jewelry, ceramics and mixed media pieces by the center's member artists.

Janet Cook, curator of education at the Montclair Museum and this year's juror, will select works to be awarded Best in Show and other prizes. Awards will be presented during the opening reception at 3:30 p.m. The exhibition and reception are free and open to the public. Most of the art in the show will be for sale.

Gallery hours are weekdays from noon to 4 p.m. and weekends from 2-4 p.m. New Jersey Center for Visual Arts is located at 68 Elm St., Summit. For further information call 273-2121.

Horse club forms

Molly B. Wells, 4-H program assistant, announces the organization of a new 4-H Horsemanship Club in Roselle Park.

Lynn Cortright, 4-H horse leader and horse owner, wishes to share her skills and experience about horses with boys and girls ages 9 to 18. She is seeking new members for her club which will meet every Wednesday from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Interested persons may contact Wells, 233-9366.

Casinos shun 'working stiff's'

BY TONY AUGUST
In one of my earlier columns I made reference to the fact that $1 and $2 dollar craps and blackjack tables are practically non-existent in most of the casinos.

I remember when Bally first opened 10 or 12 years ago such tables were available but because of the tremendous crowds who were lucky to get a seat at any of the tables no matter the minimum. Consequently, the $1 and $2 dollar tables soon disappeared from Bally's and most of the casinos since. Oh you'll find a few scattered tables at odd hours that might be opened in some of the casinos — but for all practical purposes they don't exist anymore, that is except for the Atlantis Hotel Casino.

The Atlantis Casino Hotel is the only casino to my knowledge that is still offering $1 and $2 dollar Blackjack and craps tables and even $5 Roulette on a regular basis. For that they get a "Tony A."

Mama birds keep busy

BY DR. JOHN B. WOLF
May is the month for mothers as the second Sunday of the month is Mother's Day. It's also a month when the birds are busy. Involved in the spring construction boom, the warblers, vireos and wrens don't waste time. These birds, working to build a first-class nest for their young, seldom rest during the daylight hours.

A song sparrow has built its nest a few yards from my front door. While constructing its home, it was being watched by a cowbird. Despite the twigs and string of motherhood, this bird avoids the parental responsibility of building a cradle for its young. Instead, it finds a nest of a small songbird into which it deposits its egg, leaving all family care to others, including the nourishment of its young. The cowbird is aware that most of the foster parents it selects will incubate and hatch its offspring.

For the birds

Two species of cowbirds are found in the United States, the brown-headed in all of the continental states and the bronzed in the southwest, particularly near the Rio Grande River. I've seen the musty-grey, female, brown-headed cowbird remove an egg from a nest to make room for its own. This antic is "FOR THE BIRDS."

and my congratulations to the management. It doesn't matter whether they do this out of compassion for their visitors and guests or because they want to be different than their competition, whatever the reason it makes good business sense.

New I'm perfectly aware that to with the Vegas mentality. They like to fantasize but they're forced to be practical. You see most of them are working stiff's with families. Showboat, the beautiful new hotel casino agrees with me. Their operation is family oriented and I'm betting that they've got the right idea.

Casino confidential

day's accounting whiz kids and sharp young wizards called casino executives figured it all out scientifically and concluded that the larger the wager the bigger the profit. It certainly seems perfectly logical and besides it proves itself on paper. But does it? Is it really the bottom line? I don't think so.

What these figures don't tell is how many millions of dollars aren't coming in because most of the visitors to Atlantic City are not high rollers.

Atlantic City simply is not Las Vegas and until those bright young money counters who seem to have taken over the entire corporate world's thinking, that of the quick kill, smarten up they'll be throwing billions of dollars of profit down the old drain. Even in these inflated times the average person and that includes just about everybody, can't see the obvious. It's a sound on a roll of the dice or a turn of a card. To make matters even worse you can hardly find a $5 minimum table, and if you do it's crowded.

Wake up gentlemen, those creatures you see scurrying about your hotels and casinos are real live people, with feelings and complex psychological gambling hangups and motivations. They just have so much money to play with and they don't want to be wiped out in five minutes. You make a quick kill — and you've killed a repeat customer. They are not just a mass of nameless, faceless robots shuffled with green paper whose only purpose in life is to empty their pockets on your hungry tables and insatiable slots.

Give them a break and at the same time do yourself a favor. You may have to wait a little longer for your eventual profits but the wait will be worth it. Trust me and try it — your visitors might be grateful and bring some of their more cautious friends and relatives. Gambling can be fun, Atlantic City can be fun, and believe it or not most people are prepared to lose their money, they'd just like to have a little fun doing it.

Teen Arts fete in view

The New Jersey State Teen Arts Program needs volunteers to help out at the 1987 State Teen Arts Festival. Festival Coordinator David Crespy is currently looking for responsible people willing to commit their time for this three-day event.

The 18th annual state-wide celebration of the arts takes place from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. May 26, 27, and 28 on the Douglass Campus of Rutgers, the State University in New Brunswick. Volunteers are needed to staff registration desks and assist in performance and workshop sites.

Volunteers can be students, parents, teachers, senior citizens, or others. The only requirement is enthusiasm. Early registrants have a better opportunity to obtain their first choice of assignment.

The New Jersey State Teen Arts Festival is a nationally recognized, noncompetitive arts-in-education event attracting approximately 10,000 students, educators, artists, and the general public. It is designed to identify, promote, and nurture the creative talents of New Jersey's young people. The festival also serves as a springboard for several Teen Arts community outreach projects. Teen-agers, selected from county festivals held earlier in the spring, exhibit and perform in all art forms.

In addition, the festival offers over 50 workshops, critiquing seminars, and career sessions led by professional artists which are open to visitors as well as participants. The success of an event of this size depends heavily on volunteers. Many return year after year and find the festival a pleasurable and rewarding experience.

To become a volunteer, or for more information on the program, contact David Crespy, state festival coordinator, at the State Teen Arts Office, 745-3909.

The New Jersey Teen Arts Program is sponsored by the New Jersey State Department of Education; the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Dept. of State; Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission; Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation Inc.; Mason Gross School of the Arts, Rutgers, the State University; American Hospital Corporation; Forbes Foundation; Ford Motor Company; Franklin State Bank; The Henfield Foundation; The Home News; K. Hovanian Enterprises Inc.; Johnson & Johnson; Koh-I-Noor Rapidograph Inc.; Nabisco Brands Inc.; New Jersey Bell; New Jersey Theater Group; The Prudential Foundation; PSE&G; RCA; Schering-Plough Corporation; Sears, Roebuck and Company; E.R. Squibb & Sons Inc.; Teen Arts Advisory Council; Individuals.

Lone Star singer now in town

By MILF HAMMER
Best of the New LPs: "Lone Star State of Mind," by Nanci Griffith, (MCA Records).

Jaded by the endless procession of incoming talent, the Nashville music community is not easily excited when yet another singer — no matter how good — comes to town. But throughout 1985, there was a growing buzz in the business about "this new singer from Texas."

Her records were being passed back and forth in admiration, and her songs were being quoted as well as sung. Those who had been lucky enough to catch one of her showcases were quick to assure those who hadn't that here was someone the world would soon be hearing more from. Critics were uniform in their praise, hailing both her sensitive singing style and her poetic songwriting. Nashville is still talking about her.

The object of all this adulation is Austin-born Nanci Griffith. Griffith has been singing professionally for the past 10 years and has developed a solid reputation as a performer and songwriter through her frequent tours of clubs and festivals in the Northeast and Midwest.

In 1986, Griffith signed with MCA Records. Her first album for the label, "Lone Star State of Mind," has more than fulfilled her early promise. Like the four independent albums that preceded it, "Lone Star State of Mind" uncovers another corner of an untidy but fascinating world in which the battered human spirit continues to get up, brush itself off and make another run for the good life. It is a world of "cold hearts and closed minds," of "nickel dreams" and of proper ladies who fed up with propriety, pack the kids into the Ford Bronco and escape into the sunset.

Disc 'n data

More than half the songs on the album, which Griffith delivers with such innocent intensity, are her own compositions. And as a measure of MCA's faith in her musical instincts, Griffith was encouraged to produce the album with studio genius Tony Brown.

Dukakis set in Cher film

Whole Theater Artistic Director Olympia Dukakis will be featured in the new film titled "Moonstruck," starring Cher. In "Moonstruck," directed by Norman Jewison, Dukakis will play the role of Cher's mother. She recently completed eight months on Broadway as the wise-cracking Sophie Groengas — Marlo Thomas' mother — in "Social Security," directed by Mike Nichols. She then went on to the role of Madame Arkadina in the Whole Theater production of "The Sea Gull."

A story about an Italian family in Brooklyn, "Moonstruck" also features actors Vincent Gardenia, Danny Aiello and Nicholas Cage. Jewison's directing credits include "Fiddler on the Roof," "The Russians Are Coming," and "Agnès of God." The film is produced by Patrick Palmer.

The release date for "Moonstruck" is set for sometime this year.

"Yesterdays — 1900-1930: A Personal Glimpse," an exhibition of photographs and other memorabilia of the local Jewish experience at the turn of the century, was presented by the Greater Elizabeth Section, National Council of Jewish Women, NCJW, recently at the Elmira Theater, Elizabeth. It is part of a series of events celebrating the 70th anniversary of the Greater Elizabeth Section.

Sue Marcus of Springfield, co-chairman of the exhibit, has invited participation of "anyone in the community with appropriate memorabilia." We are seeking photographs, newspaper clippings, books, and documents of the period 1900-1930, she said. "These items and other artifacts convey a sense of our heritage, of an established community, a continuity of residence in this area that is very exciting."

Plans are under way to prepare the exhibition for use in local libraries, synagogues and community centers. Memorabilia can be offered for sale in the exhibit by contacting Marcus at 467-0676.

Civil War musical to have premiere Wednesday at Forum

The Forum Theater Group, a professional-stage company in Metuchen, will present the world-premiere of "Banjo Hob and the Blue Ghost" Wednesday to June 14.

The Civil War tale with music will debut at the Forum prior to its national tour.

The new play, written by and starring William Mooney and David Holt, is based on two actual participants in the American Civil War, minstrel showman, Sam Sweeney and Yankee spy, Philip Hensen. Reservations can be made by calling 648-6582. This is the final main-stage presentation at the Forum for the season.

Stars are reunited

Years ago, when actor Henderson Forsythe was beginning his career, he appeared in a play at the Cleveland Playhouse. The play, "Middletown Mural," featured several local children in a crowd scene as extras. One of them was Stanja Lowe. Today, Forsythe is starring in "Other People's Money" at The American Stage Company, Teaneck. Co-starring with him in the world premiere is Stanja Lowe. Although a little girl of 10 at the time of their first meeting, Lowe has followed his career through his years as Dr. David Stewart on television's "As The World Turns" to his performances on Broadway. Among the most memorable, she recalls, was his portrayal of the sheriff in "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," for which he received the Tony award.

Lowe's father, K. Cimo Lowe, was one of the founders and directors of the Cleveland Playhouse at the time of her "Debut." In the 45 years that have passed since "Middletown Mural," Lowe has had a stage career. She made her Broadway debut in the Moss Hart production of "Dear Ruth" and has worked on television, from the days of "The Kraft Theater" and "Ben Casey," to daytime's "All My Children" and "Guiding Light" to "Hometown." She has toured nationally with "Equus" and "Children of a Lesser God." "Other People's Money" is a comedy-drama by Jerry Sterner. The play will continue its run through Sunday. Reservations can be made by calling 692-7744. The American Stage Co. reportedly the newest Equity theater in the state, is in residence at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Teaneck.

ARLENE SMITH, original lead singer of The Chantels, recording artists of the 1950s and 1960s, will appear at "An Evening of Golden Oldies" concert tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the Roselle Park Middle School. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Casano Community Center, Roselle Park, at 245-0666.

Glass Menagerie drama to end run

"The Glass Menagerie," Tennessee Williams' stage drama, will end its run this weekend, tomorrow and Saturday at the Westfield Community Players Theater, 100 North Ave., West.

Jazz tonight

The Kean College of New Jersey Jazz Band will present a concert featuring traditional, mainstream and Latin jazz tonight at 8 in the Wilkins Theater, Union. The public is invited to the admission-free event.

The jazz band is under the direction of Bob Yurchock of Mountaineer, an instructor of music. Selections will include "Ya" and "A Child Is Born" by Thad Jones; a medley of Duke Ellington tunes, the "Finestones"

"IF IT'S AUTOMOTIVE MOST LIKELY WE HAVE IT."

Peter M. Kalellis, PhD

In today's stressful environment, many people find themselves having difficulty coping with their problems. Sometimes, these individuals become depressed and seem unable to deal with simple, everyday tasks. They may feel anxiety but cannot explain why. Their lives may be heading in an undesirable direction, but they seem powerless to change that course. Often, when a divorce occurs, those involved are thrust into a changing or forgotten world.

Many people experience these feelings at some point in their lives. The caring staff at the office of Dr. Peter M. Kalellis can provide professional guidance and counseling at those times of emotional crisis. They have dedicated themselves to the practice of individual, group, family and marital therapy. With many years of experience at helping clients achieve self-acceptance, they will refer to various medical specialists, when necessary, to meet the diversity of client needs. Dr. Peter M. Kalellis is the author of the books Wakka or Wakka?, On the Other Hand: Deciding What to Do About Indecision, and A New Self-Image, which is his best-seller.

When facing such difficulties, give Dr. Peter M. Kalellis a call. You will be treated with care and respect when you contact this leading office. They are located at 138 South Euclid Avenue in Westfield. To schedule an appointment, call 232-6118. They take pride in providing professional care and treatment.

Springfield Chiropractic Center

Dr. Donald Monetti And Dr. David Tannenbaum

No profession has made greater or more rapid strides in recent years than that of the chiropractic. This health profession is being recognized by more and more people as an effective treatment for back pain as well as for muscular and joint discomfort, headaches, sleeplessness, arm and leg palsy, and general physical discomfort.

At the Springfield Chiropractic Center, located at 493 Morris Avenue in Springfield, phone 564-7676, they have been extensively trained and educated to know and understand the nervous system of the human body. The nervous system may be said to be the life line of the body and as long as it functions normally you enjoy excellent health. Many pains and disorders in the body are caused by pressure on nerves and nerve flow blockage along the spinal column. This blockage and pressure results from improper alignment and positioning of your vertebrae and your spinal column.

At the Springfield Chiropractic Center, they are able to locate the place along the spine where nerve pressure exists. With the use of x-ray and proper adjustment, they may be able to restore your spine and vertebrae to their normal position without the use of surgery or drugs. It has often been said, that with the help of a good chiropractor, you can add life to your years and years to your life.

Plans course Do you know Mountainside?

The Career Development School, a division of Schlott Realtors, is offering a morning real estate licensing course at the Holiday Inn at 4701 Stelton Road in South Plainfield. The course, scheduled for three weeks on Mondays through Fridays, begins on June 8.

Covered topics will include real estate law, ethics, property interests and rights, deeds, mortgages, leases, listing agreements, sales contracts, appraising, zoning, and taxation. The Career Development School offers the prescribed 75 hours of pre-licensing instruction for prospective real estate salespersons. Its staff of instructors is composed of broker professionals, each with considerable experience in the real estate industry.

Upon successful completion of the course requirements, students will receive certification, which is a prerequisite for taking the New Jersey licensing exam. The real estate salesperson's test is scheduled monthly by the state.

To register for the course or to obtain more information, call Schlott's Career Development School at 1-800-824-1045 or 765-8920. The tuition includes textbook and all materials.

Older Americans are the most significant block of buying power in the country today.

The 75 million American men and women over 65 years of age control $800 billion per year in after-tax income.

Eighty percent of all savings and loan accounts are held by those over age 65.

IF YOU CAN IDENTIFY this location, come into Rorden Realty, 44 Elm St., Westfield, and you will win a T-shirt.

Two attend conference

Jean Burgdorff, president of Burgdorff Realtors, and Bailey Saeger, manager of Burgdorff Relocation, were among 400 brokers and relocation directors from independent member firms who attended the Equitable Realty Network annual conference recently in Tucson, Ariz. The conference keeps member firms up to date on the latest trends to better serve relocating families.

For Burgdorff, the highlight of the conference was winning the Outgoing Referral Award. The company was judged against the largest brokers in the national network. Burgdorff averaged four outgoing referrals per sales representative, the highest ever recorded.

We have a large selection of one and two family homes available in all price ranges. If you are in the market, call today and beat rising interest rates.

Our professional salespeople are available to help you to realize your dream of home ownership.
