

Lobby renews drive

...redress discriminatory ballot access laws that make it difficult for independent candidates and parties to get on the ballot.

According to Stewart, a major party candidate now needs only 50,000 signatures to get on the ballot, while an independent candidate needs 1 1/2 million signatures.

Another piece of legislation supported by the Rainbow is the National Voter Registration Act, which eliminates state-imposed barriers to voter registration. This bill allows voters to register by completing a simple form by mail or at public agencies.

"The American public is disenfranchised," noted Stewart. "We need a more open, more fair election process."

Stewart, who is a nurse by profession, has been the Rainbow Lobby director for two years. She became interested in the organization after witnessing the decline of health care services in the nation.

According to Stewart, she decided to get involved in the Rainbow Lobby when Democrats and Republican politicians failed to address important issues like civil rights, women's rights and human rights.

The Rainbow Lobby is a non-partisan organization, said Stewart.

"I'll only receive my share," she added. "We have Republicans and Democrats."

"People all over the world — from Beijing to Berlin, from South Africa to the Soviet Union — have been demanding an end to stagnation and corruption, and demanding greater participation," Stewart said.

The Rainbow Lobby, which signs up about 1,000 people per week nationally, is hoping for more success in Springfield this year.

"New Jersey is one of our strongest membership drive states," remarked Stewart.

The Rainbow Lobby has been recruiting college students from area campuses to help in the organization's grassroots effort.

"Young people have a key role to play in building the American sector of the worldwide movement for democracy," Stewart said.

"We're building the pro-democracy movement here in the United States," Stewart continued. "to break down these barriers to participation through Capitol Hill lobbying, public relations efforts, and grassroots organizing."

For more information about the Rainbow Lobby or available organizing positions, one can call 212-397-2101.

Land bill sponsored

A resolution sponsored by State Sen. C. Louis Bassano, R-21, would require a public referendum on a proposal that would encourage municipalities to offer tax exemptions to citizens who dedicate their land for conservation purposes instead of developing it.

Bassano's district includes Springfield.

The legislation, SCR-71, requires a public referendum because it would make a change in the state Constitution. If voters approved the measure, municipalities could then make the exemptions available by local ordinances.

"Residents all over New Jersey are concerned about the lack of available open space and recreational areas. In fact, the environment is the top priority of our citizens. My legislation would encourage more private land owners to earmark their properties for recreational and conservation uses," Bassano said.

"Many property owners feel that keeping their land undeveloped is costing them a lot of money. With the big demand for buildable properties, many owners have chosen to sell out rather than pay taxes on empty fields," said Bassano.

"This bill would encourage municipalities to give landowners an incentive for holding on to undeveloped land. Owners would not have to pay taxes on properties dedicated for open space uses," said Bassano.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH
Dr. Gary Weisman Chiropractor IS YOUR CHILD ATHLETIC?
If your child is athletic, his enthusiasm for sports can sometimes lead to problems. Minor injuries are common enough when two bodies collide at full velocity. But body contact is not the only problem.
Starts and stops at high speed, twisting and turning into awkward positions may cause strains to muscles, limbs, and back. Unrestrained enthusiasm may cause a youngster to try harder and play longer than is good for him. If his body is fatigued, there is greater potential for accidents and injury.
And if he's too proud to complain of minor injuries, how do you find out if there's a problem that should be treated before it becomes worse?
The best answer is periodic chiropractic examinations. These are recommended before the season begins, so he can start in top form. They're also recommended whenever an injury occurs as well as at the end of the season. Any structural defects should get the correction and treatment needed to keep your child in good health.

said he will still "bring his message to the people."

"My opponent has a very large war chest," Bergen disclosed. "I can't match him money-wise, but if I don't take money to put out ideas."

Bergen's campaign has been given early support with Democratic endorsements.

"I've been endorsed by all Democratic organizations in all four counties," said Bergen. "I don't expect any more endorsements until the fall election."

The Seion Hall Law graduate is married and has a daughter. He formerly served as attorney for the Springfield Board of Health and was associate counsel to the Union County Board of Social Service for four years.

Bergen is also past president of the Cranford Rotary Club, and is currently a member of the board of directors of the Union County Legal Services Corporation.

Advocate to speak to township group

Lawrence F. (Pat) Kramer, a leading advocate of the restoration of major cities as "The Great American Living," will be the featured speaker today, April 19, meeting of the Millburn-Springfield Kiwanis Club at the Towers Restaurant in Mountainside.

Kramer served four terms as mayor of Paterson. He was also instrumental in developing many of the programs which have played an important part in that city's rebuilding.

His long-range planning include the New Federal Center, the extension of Route 19 into downtown Paterson, managing-tax advantages to bring new business into the city, and to provide both parking and an atmosphere to encourage downtown shopping.

Kramer also served as commissioner of Community Affairs to Governor William Cahill's Cabinet, and was a member of the committee which developed the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority and Giants Stadium.

While Kramer is not in an elected office at the present time, he is still an avid commentator of the New Jersey political scene and an active participant in community affairs. He still resides in Paterson and is the executive vice president of V. Panulis Associates, a major construction and real estate developer located in Allendale.

Vail-Deane to hold fair

The Vail-Deane School on Woodcres Drive in Mountainside will hold its annual Spring Fair on Saturday, April 28, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the school grounds. The public is invited to attend.

Vail-Deane enrolls students from Mountainside and Springfield as well as other area communities.

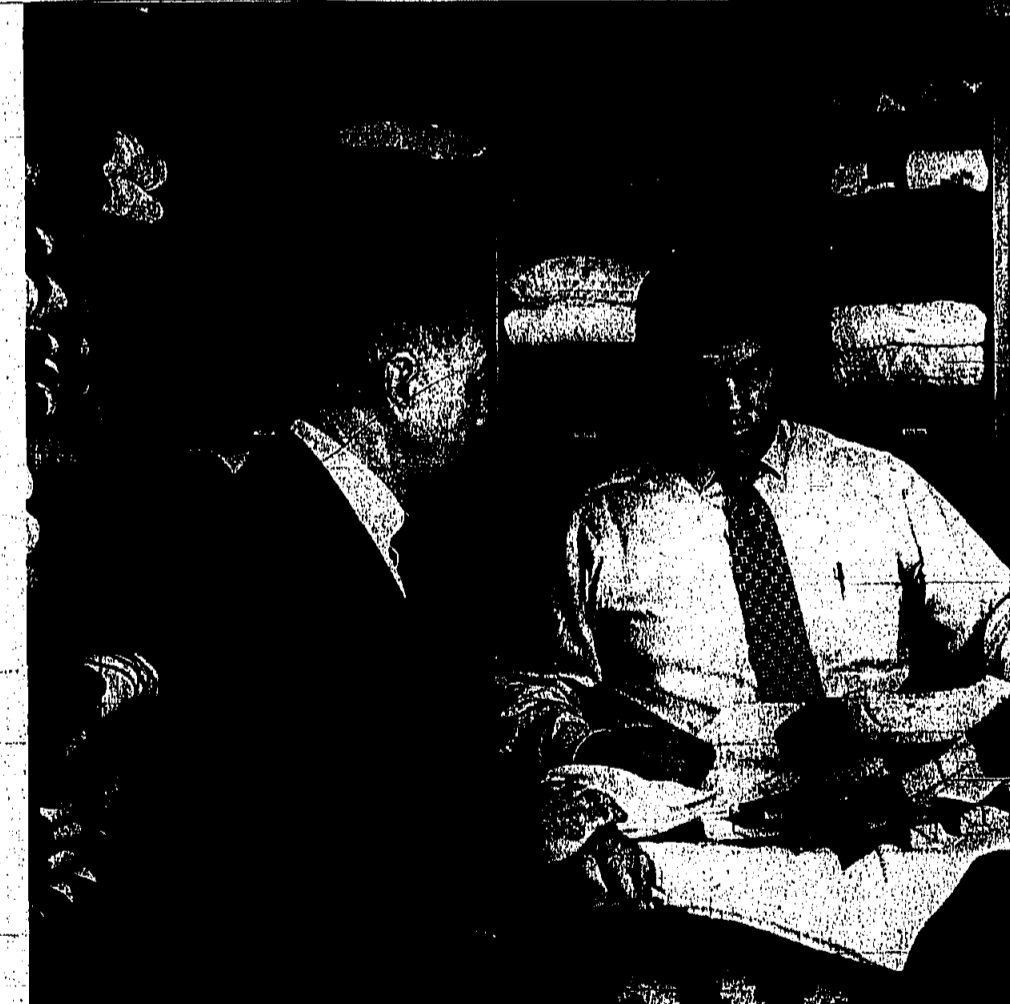

The fair is a family event with emphasis on fun for the kids. There will be lots of prizes to be won at many games of skill and fun, and the children will be able to make various items themselves at several craft booths geared to both boys and girls.

There will also be a photo booth with a costume selection for young and old alike to have their pictures taken.

There will be bagels and coffee in the morning, with soda, hot dogs, hotcakes and pretzels for the afternoon fare. There will also be a bike sale and an old-fashioned candy booth.

More prizes and fun will be found at the different events that will take place throughout the day, including hula hoop and basketball contests, a fortune teller, a tug-of-war, a nail painting session, and costumed characters reading selections from the books on sale at the book and poster fair.

The Vail-Deane Parents' Association is running the fair, and proceeds will benefit several different school projects. If it should rain, the fair will be held indoors. For further information, one can call the school at 232-5502.

Brearley student earns honor

Katie Williams, 17, has been named as Student-of-the-Month for April at David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, the school announced this week.

In school, Williams has worked as copy editor and photographer for the "Bear Print," has been involved with the International Club, and Project Joining Older and Younger (J.O.Y.).

She also sings with the chorale, where she is soprano section leader. In addition, she plays junior varsity softball and has run varsity track and field.

Williams hopes to attend the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, where she plans to major in business management and management information systems. "Eventually, I'd like to work for a large corporate firm in New York," she explained.

"I have so many books," said Williams.

"Every achievement I can think of, I am proud of," said Williams. "Being nominated as a Student-of-the-Month, being named as a Homecoming Queen candidate, winning the Booster Club trophy for spring track last year as a junior was a special honor because most of the athletic awards went to seniors."

Williams' nominators praise her as "dependable, ambitious, competitive, self-disciplined and mature. She is also described as both a very good friend and a student willing to share her work and opinions even when they set her apart from others."

Williams ranks 11th in her class and "is a credit to our school and an individual to whom we can point with pride," according to her nominators.

"Each person is in control of their own destiny and holds the key to their future," Williams remarked.

BUSINESS LEADERS — Six students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield recently earned high honors at the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) State Leadership Conference, held in Cherry Hill. They are, from left, Rachel Haine, who earned third place in Keyboarding Applications; Jennifer Gardella, Victoria Campagna, Tania Alzenberg, Dawn Ray and Amy Zidel, all of whom participated in the Parliamentary Procedure team competition and placed fourth in the state. Toni Malloy, faculty advisor to the Jonathan Dayton chapter of the FBLA, is at the far right.

Educator to chair dinner for doctor

Myna G. Wasserman, a leading educator, therapist and innovator in educational research and programs, with offices in Mountaintop and Springfield, is chairperson of a testimonial dinner honoring Dr. Richard Masland, a noted researcher, writer and lecturer in neurology and psychiatry.

The New Jersey Orion Dyslexia Society will be holding a dinner in Dr. Masland's honor on Friday, April 27, at 6 p.m. at the Radisson Hotel at Newark Airport. The event will feature dinner, music, cocktails and dancing.

For over 50 years, Dr. Masland's research and his more than 80 articles and text books have enabled professionals interested in child and adult growth and behavior to identify, diagnose and treat those with dyslexia, a language disability, which affects approximately 15 percent of people worldwide.

Area residents are invited to the event. The donation is $100 per person. Funds received from this event will be presented to the National Orion Dyslexia Society to support research at the Dyslexia Neuroanatomical Laboratory of Beth Israel Hospital in Boston in conjunction with Harvard Medical School.

International and national leaders in dyslexia research such as Dr. Jeanette Jansky, Alice Koomtz, Margaret Rawson and Roger Saunders will be attending.

Dr. Albert Galaburda from Harvard Medical School will be sharing his current research on dyslexia with the group that evening.

Dr. Masland is past president of the World Federation of Neurology and Chairman of the Board of Advisors of the Orion Dyslexia Society. He is the Clinical Professor of Neurology, University of Medicine & Dentistry of New Jersey, Rutgers Medical School and the H. Houston Merritt Professor of Neurology, Emeritus, Columbia University.

Those interested should contact the Myna G. Wasserman Educational Center, 1122 Route 22 West, Mountaintop, 07092, or call 654-7227. The Fax number is 654-7229.

Casino trip planned

The Kenilworth Art Association has scheduled a bus trip for Monday, April 30, to the new Atlantis City Taj Mahal. The bus leaves from the Municipal parking lot on South 21st Street across from the Veterans Center.

The bus will leave at 9 a.m. and leaves for home about 5:30 p.m. The price is $14 and the package includes $7.50 in coins, a $5 food coupon and a $5 deferred voucher. Seating will be on first come, first served, paid basis.

The hands will go to the scholarship and planned programs held by the Kenilworth Art Association. All programs are free to the public at all times. In the event the crowds are so big at the Taj Mahal and the group is turned away because the casino is filled, the group will probably go to the Trump Castle at the Marina.

For further information, one can call Rose Emmert at 276-5482.

graduates

The following Kenilworth residents recently earned degrees from Kean College of New Jersey in Union:

- Michael Louis Capizzano, bachelor of science in management science finance.
- Lorena Rose DeCarolis, bachelor of fine arts in fine arts interior design.
- Anthony Peter DeLuca, bachelor of arts in political science general.
- Richard P. Russo Jr., bachelor of arts in communications.
- Margaret Anne Schalk, bachelor of arts in early childhood education psychology.
- Lynn Halle Wyland, bachelor of science in management science management.
- Keith Curtis Turner of Mountaintop received a bachelor of science degree, magna cum laude, in management science from Kean College.

Dayton pupil is finalist

Tania Aizenberg of Mountaintop, a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, has been named as one of 500 finalists nationwide in the Jostens Foundation Leadership Scholarship Program.

Aizenberg was one of more than 35,000 high school students from throughout the United States who applied for this award. Three hundred $1,000 scholarships will be awarded to those individuals chosen from the pool of finalists.

The recipients of these scholarship awards will be announced later this month. Aizenberg was selected as a finalist in this program based on her outstanding achievements in school and community activities, leadership experience and academic excellence. Funds for the Jostens Foundation are provided annually by Jostens, Inc., a leading provider of products and services for the youth, education, sports and recognition markets.

Bake sale is announced

On Tuesday, April 24, the Mountaintop Deerfield Parent Teacher Association will hold a bake sale outside the Deerfield School All Purpose Room.

Running from 2 p.m. until sunset, home-baked goods and coffee will be available. One can register one's vote in the election and pick up a dessert on the way out. Proceeds will benefit the PTA Enrichment Programs.

Garden program slated

Wildflower experts Betty Benkert Knorr, Ph. D., and F.M. Mooberry will be guest lecturers for a program on "Gardening with Native Plants and Wildflowers" on Thursday, April 26, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Reeves-Reed Arboretum in Summit.

Dr. Knorr, a recognized authority on New Jersey native flora, and Mooberry, author and coordinator of horticulture at the Brandywine Conservancy in Chadds Ford, Pa., will present an illustrated program on wildflowers in residential gardens, sources, wildflower preservation, meadow management and more.

Fees are $21, or $18 for members, with advance registration required. For information, one can call 273-8787. The Reeves-Reed is located at 165 Hobart Ave., Summit.

Blood drive to be held

The Valerie Fund Children's Center for Cancer and Blood Disorders at Overlook Hospital in Summit and the Department of Donor Services are jointly sponsoring a blood drive on Friday, May 4, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday, May 5, 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The drive will be held at the Blood Donor Room on the third floor of the hospital's West Wing. One hundred and eight children are seen at Overlook's Valerie Center each year. During treatments, many of the children require frequent transfusions of blood and blood products. These children rely on members of the community to provide the continuous supply of blood they need.

One can call Overlook's Department of Donor Services at 522-3509 for an appointment to donate blood during the Valerie Center Blood Drive — or at any convenient time.

Sandmeier parents' workshop is set

A workshop will be held for the parents of students at Thelma L. Sandmeier School in Springfield who are receiving instruction in the Basic Skills Instruction-State Compensatory Education Program, on Wednesday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m.

The hands-on workshop is being presented in conjunction with the School-Plus Thelma Sandmeier School Parents' Workshop on the same evening. Participants will share ideas and activities that will extend learning skills in the areas of mathematics, reading and writing. For more information, one can call Blanche Blumenfeld at Sandmeier at 379-5977.

Director appointed

Hanna Praport of Springfield was recently named director of Union County's Industry Business College, which provides local business and industry with customized training and educational programs.

A graduate of Fairleigh Dickinson University with a bachelor's degree in education, Praport earned a master's degree from Kean College of New Jersey in Union.

She previously worked as a teacher and counselor at the Union County Adult Learning Center in Kenilworth, and has spent much of her career in adult education.

Praport is responsible for organizing linkages between the college and the employment sector since advanced developments in the field require a cadre of skilled workers.

Companies are becoming increasingly dependent upon the community college and other educational institutions to provide employees with major education and training programs, as well as consulting services, Praport said.

The Industry Business Institute is unique among local community colleges in that it offers these services either at a college campus or on-site at industrial plants.

Aid to consumers noted

During National Consumer Week, beginning April 22, Springfield Postmaster William G. Daniels plans to join other community businesses and organizations in helping consumers learn to stick up for themselves in the marketplace.

"It's a time for updating our purchasing skills and learning more about the good and services we buy," said Daniels.

For the Postal Service, consumer protection is a year-round activity, according to Daniels.

Glaucoma is discussed

Glaucoma patients and their families are invited to participate in educational seminars provided as a service of the Suburban Eye Institute, located at 169 Springfield Ave. in Berkeley Heights, announced Jordan Burke, MD, FACS, ophthalmologist.

"We have started this educational program to help glaucoma patients understand the importance of medication and follow-up examinations to better control this disease," said Dr. Burke.

"Too often, when patients experience initial relief, they discontinue recommended treatment, a factor which can lead to impaired vision if the disease progresses."

Glaucoma is an eye disease in which the pressure in the eye is too high and causes damage to the nerve in the back of the eye. Glaucoma has been called "the sneak thief of sight" because it destroys side vision without causing any symptoms. It is one of the leading causes of blindness in the United States.

During the educational programs, Dr. Burke shows a video, explains how and why glaucoma is treated, and stresses the importance of regular examinations and side vision tests.

"This complimentary service is open to glaucoma patients of all ages and their families or caregivers," added Dr. Burke. "We encourage people to take advantage of this opportunity to learn how to better manage this serious eye disease."

Class sizes are limited and advance registration is required. One can register by calling the Suburban Eye Institute, 464-4605.

Nursing program offered

A Nursing Career Day has been scheduled by Overlook Hospital in Summit for Thursday, May 3, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the hospital's Wallace Auditorium.

All area high school juniors are invited to the free program. Those who attend will be given a tour of the hospital and spend some time in a patient care area. They will also be given an opportunity to ask questions regarding a career in nursing through Overlook's healthcare scholarship program.

Juniors who attend will also get to meet other students contemplating a nursing career. Participants will be guests of the hospital for lunch. Those interested in attending the day-long program should call Virginia Martin at 522-4893 or the hospital's Department of Health Education at 522-2963. Registration is limited and pre-registration is required.

Books, music are cause for self-assurance

By BEA SMITH
The combination of being a professional librarian and a pianist has been a key factor in getting Eugene Krautblatt, out of his extremely shy shell. Krautblatt, the assistant library director at the Hillside Library, who admits that he was shy and withdrawn for most of his childhood and into his teen years, says, "I relate to people more now. Talking to the public constantly in the library makes me more personable. In the beginning it was an effort."

"Also, my music helps a lot, especially when I play the piano in local concerts. I've been playing the piano since I was 8 years old."

The Hillside-born Krautblatt, a slim, serious-looking young man, explains that he has been working for the Hillside Library for 20 years and as that assistant director "I am in charge of personnel and scheduling. I am responsible for acquisition of adult fiction and non-fiction, video, tapes and compact discs and serving the public at the reference desk. That certainly helps me get rid of some of my shyness," he grins.

"I also am a classical pianist who plays for his own enjoyment...But," Krautblatt says, "I have performed occasional recitals for The Friends of the Hillside Public Library and local organizations. I took private lessons for 10 years, but now I practice on my own whenever time allows. As a matter of fact," he says smugly, "I actually, 'my favorite composers for the piano are Chopin, Beethoven, Schumann and Rachmaninoff.'"

Krautblatt's father, William, "is a retired educator of the Hillside school system. He was a high school mathematics teacher for many years prior to the 25-year principalship of the George Washington School in Hillside. I went to the same school," he muses. "So, I had to be on my best behavior with my father as principal. But," Krautblatt shrugs, "that was no problem for me. I was very quiet anyway."

Actually, he says he always got along very well with his father. "My father is a musician, a violinist. He used to give violin lessons. He had an upright piano when he first married, and when I was born, he hoped that I would take it up. And I did...at the age of 8. We both belonged to the Hillside Community Orchestra. It disbanded about 20 years ago. Really," he says enthusiastically, "it was a complete orchestra, with a music director and everything. But as the town changed, people lost interest. We used to give a concert once a year...and we played...not professionally, but just for pleasure."

"As I said, I was always a quiet person, shy...and I derived my pleasure from doing things alone. I didn't like sports, so I found music to be a fine outlet to express my feelings," Krautblatt says. "It came home from school every day and practiced the piano while other little boys played baseball."

Krautblatt's father apparently had inspired his son to consider becoming a teacher. "I originally thought I would be a teacher. I attended and was graduated from Montclair State College, where I received my bachelor of arts degree. I was a teacher for a year and I didn't like it, so I decided to go back to college to pursue a master's degree. I received my master's degree in American and British literature from New York University."

In 1963, the young man was drafted into the Army and served for two years in Georgia and Colorado Springs, Colo. "I got out about 1965. I was at loose ends. I started with an advertising agency and worked as a copywriter for two years. I was at Scher in Newark. I don't even know if the company is there anymore. I had reached a dead end," he sighs.

"Before the Army, I had worked at the Hillside Library as a librarian clerk. After the advertising venture, I went back to work at the library. But the director issued an ultimatum. 'Get a degree in library science.' So, I did. I went to Rutgers University for two years and got my degree."

"I always loved to read as a young boy," says Krautblatt. "I was very studious. My music and my books were my companions. Of course, so were my parents and my sister, Lois Brill, a teacher of first grade in a private school in Highland Park. I enjoyed reading the juvenile stories, and I liked my fictional world."

"Now I find by working in the library I do a lot of professional reading, such as publishers' weeklies or monthlies, and excerpts about current books and book reviews. The idea of the whole publishing scene is to get to know your patrons and clientele and know what they're interested in."

The Hillside Library, which is located at Hillside Town Hall on the corner of Hillside and Liberty avenues, "is a medium-sized library," says Krautblatt. "We try to give personalized service. We have Edith Herman, reference librarian and cataloger, who has been at the library for about 35 years; and library director Lotti Smolenski, who has served in this capacity since 1951."

"You know, we started at what is known as the Walter O. Krautblatt School on Hillside Avenue. At that time, we had a little library room in the school, and that was when she started as a director. In 1955, we moved to our present quarters. I worked my way up from the ranks. I was junior librarian, senior librarian, principal librarian and since 1985, assistant library director."

"Actually," he says, "I've been a professional librarian for about 20 years." Krautblatt modestly explains that "I have been honored by the Hillside Education Association with the Alfred Vreeland Award for my working relationship with the students of the public schools in my capacity as a member of the Hillside Public Library staff."

"We've come a long way. We even have a children's department. We're now in the process of becoming computerized. The Elizabeth Public Library, is the central site where the main computer is located. There are only two other libraries that join with Elizabeth—the Hillside and the New Providence libraries are going to be linked up. We'll be able to have the staff spend more time with public reference and with the public. We won't be tied to clerical work. It's very challenging," Krautblatt says excitedly. "We're still a little fearful and apprehensive. We have really come a long way since we've been in the Town Hall."

EUGENE KRAUTBLATT, assistant library director at Hillside Public Library, pursues latest books that come across his desk. He also plays the piano in whatever time he has left over from his position at the library.

There are about 16 to 18 people working in the library, he indicates. "Most of the staff is part-time, however. We have Joyce Goldberg, the children's librarian, and she does the work of a full-time librarian. She runs three children's programs a week. We also have a chief reference librarian, Susan Lipstein, who is currently on maternal leave. We have two high school students, who shelve-books and who are now preparing for computerization."

"And," he smiles with pride, "we have the Friends of the Library, composed of citizens from the township who all are interested in the library and wish to support it with their book sales and cultural programs. We have about 200 paid members. There are about 10 people who are really workers who make the organization really go. Since 1977, when they organized, more than $35,000 was raised. The money went for the purchase of books, to update subject areas, as well as for current fiction...for the purchase of videos and cassettes and library furnishings, stacks, chairs, table dip-lays cases, revolving book stands...And they help to pay for special children's programs and for guests so the children can be entertained."

This Sunday, the librarian reports, the Friends will hold an installation program at 2 p.m. "The featured speaker will be Barbara Girion, who has written and published about 10 novels for teen-agers and preteens. The library has all of her books. Barbara is formerly of Hillside. She now lives in SHOT HILLS.

"During the first week in June, we will have our book sale at the library," Krautblatt explains that in addition to everything the library does for the public, "We try to cooperate with the teachers. For example, Griggs, Barbara Rogers, Willie Beverly and Kim Jones."

INFLAMED ARCHES
By Dr. Michael Eglow

Do you know what the strongest ligament in the human body is? Well, it happens to be the plantar fascia, a ligament that starts on the bottom surface of the heel bone and extends forward-to-the-bottom of the foot to just behind the toes. It acts to maintain the integrity of the foot structure, as well as protecting the softer muscles and tissues on the bottom of the foot from injury.

If this powerful ligament becomes stretched or strained or in some cases actually torn—this is called PLANTAR FASCITIS. The arch area becomes tender and swollen, and will likely cause some pain from the heel through the arch.

This is an injury common to athletes—though by no means exclusive to them—and the key to treatment of plantar fasciitis is to reduce movement of the foot in such a way as to allow functioning while ensuring that it fully heals. In most cases, your podiatrist can keep you on your feet—and running—while treating this condition.

Fish, chips dinner

Grace Lutheran Church, 2222 Vauxhall Road, Union, will hold its annual fish and chips dinner, catered by the Thistle Restaurant tomorrow from 5 to 7 p.m. in the church fellowship hall. Along with the dinner, coffee and homemade desserts will be served. Take out dinners also will be available for purchase. The dinner is open to the public. All are welcome. The Sunday School children of the church will lead a special worship service Sunday at 10:30 a.m. in continuing celebration of Jesus' resurrection. They will act out several of Jesus' post-resurrection appearances and sing several Easter songs.

An invitation is extended to the community. The church has invited children to its Sunday School which is held on Sunday mornings at 9:15. The Ladies Guild of the church will sponsor a Spring Zone rally of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League of New Jersey Sunday afternoon. The featured presentation will be the Bethesda Lutheran Home in Watertown, Wis., a resident home for more than 650 mentally retarded children and adults. Bethesda also has satellite facilities in 10 other states.

Representing Bethesda will be Lay Minister, Rev. Richard H. Smith, of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Holiday services set

The community is invited to contemporary holiday observances which will take place in Congregation Beth Shalom in Union, it was announced. On Sunday morning, the synagogue will hold a religious commemorative service of Yom HaShoah in the sanctuary at 10 o'clock. Members of the congregation will participate by sharing dramatic readings. In addition, the traditional memorial prayers will be recited and six symbolic candles will be kindled.

On April 29, the community is again invited to a Yom Ha'atzmaut celebration, which will begin at 8:30 p.m. The program will start with a creative Masary service to be followed by a slide-show presentation. The holiday celebration also will serve as an introductory promotion for a special trip to Israel, which will take place in the middle of February, 1991.

Meeting of Havura

The next Havura-Singles, ages 25 to 40, of Rabbi Howard Morrison will meet April 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the rabbi's home, 2227 Vauxhall Road, Union. Each monthly program provides an informal open-house atmosphere for young people to socialize, sing and snack with old and new acquaintances who come from all over New Jersey.

For further information one can call 686-6773.

Rummage sale set

Townley Presbyterian Church, Station Road and Huguenot Avenue, Union, will hold its annual spring rummage sale April 27 from 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. and April 28 from 9:30 a.m. to noon. Admission is free.

A Holocaust project

The Hillside and Union lodges of B'nai B'rith will participate in the international Holocaust memorial project, "Uno Every Person There is a Name." Initiated by the Yaf Vahem Holocaust Institute in Jerusalem, the project consists of reading the names of Holocaust victims at public ceremonies in hundreds of locations in Israel and the Diaspora at the annual commemoration of Holocaust Martyrs and Heroes Remembrance Day, Yom HaShoa.

This year, Yom HaShoa falls on Saturday and Sunday. Over the course of 24 hours, beginning at sunset on Saturday, Jewish communities throughout the world will light memorial candles and erect banners at sites identified with justice and righteousness—courthouses, city halls and houses of worship—and read aloud millions of names.

Benefit event due

The Secular Franciscans, Third Order of St. Francis Fraternity of St. Theresa's Church, Linden, will hold a benefit event tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at 131 East Edgar Road. The fraternity is composed of residents throughout the area of Linden, Cranford, Clark, Roselle, Rahway, Roselle Park and Elizabeth. All proceeds are distributed to the Franciscan Missions. Home-made refreshments will be served.

OPINION

Don't blame kids

Rumblings in Trenton about new state taxes may have put the proposed Springfield school budget in jeopardy. It seems that some township residents see taxes as a monolith, a dragon to be slain. So, even a hint of a tax hike in any area has them unsheathing their swords.

But whatever state taxes come out of the Legislature, Springfielders should remember, when they vote on the school tax increase on Tuesday, that their children and grandchildren had nothing to do with the state's problems. And, certainly, they should not be penalized for them.

The nearly $8 million school budget proposal for 1990-91 came in 8.1 percent over the current year's figure. The resulting 11-point tax increase is far less than those proposed for some neighboring school districts.

Moreover, with the budget for municipal purposes reflecting a zero-percent increase, Springfielders would see their tax bills rise less than they have in years.

But, some ask, why is the school budget going up at all? To start, health-care costs have risen 24 percent. And the district will lose $256,000 in state aid next school year, thanks to the "Kean drain" that wiped out a once-bountiful state surplus that rightfully should now be available to assist local school districts.

Then there are several state-mandated projects, like asbestos removal at James Caldwell School and a fire-system upgrade at Florence M. Gaudineer School, which together added about $100,000 to the budget.

There's no evidence that the district is inefficiently run, so there won't be much fat to cut if the budget is defeated. Even the most penny-pinching school board members say that a budget rejection would save the average household $50 in annual taxes, maximum — or less than $1 a week.

Still, some Springfielders are against the budget simply because higher taxes, in any form, scare them.

We agree that taxpayers should be scared — but not paranoid.

They shouldn't vote "no" on a budget that's as victimized by the mess in Trenton as they themselves are. And they certainly shouldn't show their anger at the folly of adults in Trenton by taking it out on children in Springfield.

The efficiency of the school system is reflected in the fact that the three school-board seats are not being contested. All three candidates, moreover, express satisfaction with the general performance of the Board of Education.

Two incumbents, Kenneth Faigenbaum and Keith Kurznar, are up for re-election, and both have strong financial backgrounds. The other candidate is newcomer Stephen Fischbein, an industrial engineer.

All three have a personal stake in the quality of education in the township, because all three have children in the Springfield schools. And all three are likely to continue the operation of the district in a businesslike fashion. That's fine with us.

Finally, Springfielders on Tuesday will be asked to vote on the Union County Regional High School District 1 budget. The budget is for four high schools in the district, including Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield.

The regional high school district, according to the state, is New Jersey's most expensive academic school district on a per-pupil basis. But lately the regional school board has taken some tough, even draconian, measures to deal with its shrinking student enrollment and underutilized facilities.

The result has been a $33.5 million budget proposal that doesn't raise taxes a dime.

That, we think, is quite a feat, considering that the regional district is losing $873,000 in state aid for 1990-91 — and especially in comparison to nearby school districts where the proposed budgets have grown by 10 percent and more.

The regional school budget, like the township school budget, deserves the support of the voters on Tuesday.

Letters to the editor

School budget OK needed for programs

I'd like to provide some information on Springfield's schools. Springfield's per-pupil cost is less than Summit, New Providence, Scotch Plains, Mountaineer and Winfield Park.

The proposed increase in the Board of Education budget is well under the state cap. Defeat of the budget would save the average homeowner only $40. More than $100,000 of this budget is demanded by state regulations. The Springfield Board of Education budget represents less than a quarter of the property tax burden.

The efforts of teachers and other employees brought us through monitoring with flying colors, which has improved the district's reputation and resulted in attracting tuition-paying students.

The board has wisely decided to rent facilities, and the administration has diligently pursued grant money. The efforts of our teachers, board and administration has brought more than $374,000 into the district this year to offset our taxes.

Our board has been responsible, the administration has sought every available revenue resource, the staff has been dedicated and hard-working. The prestige of Springfield's schools has maintained property values and we've gotten value from our tax dollars.

Maintaining our high standing will cost as much as six trips to McDonald's. We must vote "yes" on the Board of Education budget to keep all of these things, because without our support of the budget, we won't have the programs and staff that make these things possible.

School board should curtail spending

In the past few weeks, there have been news articles concerning the new budget of the Board of Education in Springfield.

According to these reports, the residents will only have an increase of $45. But in the literature sent to the residents by the board, some increases will be over $160. Which report is correct?

The board members have said that if the budget is not passed, the children will suffer, and they have gone so far as to tell the students that they will be without paper and pencils. Therefore, they must encourage their parents to vote "yes."

This is outrageous, and far from the truth. In these trying times, we all have to use a little bit of discretion and curtail some of our spending. It is about time that the board did this. The children will still be given an excellent education. There is no need to order new books and change an entire series every year.

I would like to have an audit done on the board so that we can see where our money is going. It seems our enrollment is declining, but our budget keeps climbing.

With the number of students in our classes, it seems we are running a private school. Is this fair to us?

Support schools; back the budget

As a James Caldwell School parent, I was surprised to find out how low the voter turnout is in our local district for school board elections.

I appreciate what the teachers do for my kids, and how important our schools are to our town. I'm darned proud of our schools.

From what I've been reading, other towns seem to think we're pretty good, too, because they're sending their kids to our schools. I won't quibble. I like our schools bringing in revenue to help pay for their cost.

I'm pleased that tuition-paying students are drawn to our special programs, that grant money is gone after, and that facilities that we aren't using at the moment are being maintained and are earning money. As a businessman, I know good management when I see it.

I know James Caldwell parents support their school. We show it in so many ways.

Now we have to show it where it makes the biggest difference.

We want to keep attracting tuition and grants to the district. We want to maintain our property values. We have to make sure we keep our good class sizes.

We have to ensure that our kids keep getting the most up-to-date instruction.

What was good enough for us is not good enough for our kids; because our kids will be faced with a world that will be changing faster than ours is and will be filled with problems that we can't begin to imagine.

Selfishly, I want to be sure that my kids will be able to handle that world when I'm old enough to be dependent on the decisions they will be making.

Join me in voting "yes" for the school board budget. Let's show how much we really support our schools.

Budget needed to maintain programs

As the people who make your township schools work, you know that all of us in the Springfield Education Association are dedicated to meeting the needs of the young.

But we can't continue to do that without help. We need the Board of Education budget to pass, in order to make sure that we are able to continue properly serving the community.

Yes, we do serve the entire community, because the reputation of the schools is still the biggest factor in supporting property values that draw home buyers and new business to the town.

Furthermore, more than $169,000 comes into the district because our reputation is attracting tuition-paying students from Summit, Chatham, Millburn, Livingston and Warren.

In order to maintain this attraction, we need to support the programs that create the reputation. That support must come in the form of a "yes" vote for the budget.

The board, acting with great responsibility, has prepared a conservative budget which is only 8.1 percent over the revised budget for this year. Capital outlay and state-mandated projects such as asbestos removal, plus fire-code and state Department of Environmental Protection underground tank retrofits, account for more than $100,000 of this change.

The proposed Board of Education budget accounts for less than a quarter of the total tax bill.

Can you spend next year on education what it costs to take your family to McDonald's once every two months?

Are you willing to risk for $40 what we've worked so hard to get? What the average homeowner is likely to save if the budget is defeated is just $40. Is it worth it?

Because you are parents and citizens with a vested interest in Springfield, we ask you to vote "yes" on the Board of Education budget.

BLANCHE N. TRELOAR
President
Springfield Education Association

Education groups support budget

In a joint effort by the three local PTAs, the Special Education Parents and Professionals Organization, and the Community Conference Group of Springfield, we are writing this letter in support of the Springfield school district budget for 1990-91.

We are asking each registered voter to consider the following reasons for their support of this budget.

Firstly, our children's education is our primary concern. Continued enhancement of programs such as summer school, evening recreation, residential trips, and instructional materials necessary for classroom management is beneficial to a well-rounded education.

In addition, we need to maintain the high standards that have elevated our school district to the role model that it has become.

This election is critical. A modest increase of 8.1 percent in the budget is a small price to pay for our children's education.

We are asking each and every one of you to go out and vote "yes" for the school board budget on Tuesday, April 24. Polls are open from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Our children deserve the very best education. Only you can make it happen!

Students didn't cause state aid shortfall

I am writing to you in the hope that your readers will decide to support the public school budgets in their respective school districts.

This year is an especially critical one for the education of all of our students. After boards of education spent many days and nights in discussion and deliberation of what was to be included in their school budgets and a tentative, proposed budget was developed, most were told that state aid promises in November would not be honored. Hence, changes, cuts or increased taxation resulted.

This action by Gov. Jim Florio meant that carefully laid plans had to be put aside and budgetary changes made. My concern is that these sudden and last-minute changes could sour residents on educational planning for the next school year.

And, if that occurs, it will mean that students will be adversely affected.

I believe we must all pull together for our students, even at a time when the state Treasury is in difficulty.

Let us not take out our frustrations on our students because of a state shortfall predicted for next year. Our students did not cause this shortfall.

I urge all who read this letter to stand firm for the education of students in their communities.

No matter where you live, consider supporting the passage of your public school budget on April 24. To do otherwise would be detrimental to the education of our young people.

Nurses' group to discuss AIDS

The topic for the Monday, April 23, meeting of the League for Education of Advancement of Registered Nurses (LEARN) will be "AIDS in New Jersey."

The update, presented by Patricia M. Evans, R.N., B.S.N., is the coordinator and clinical manager of the AIDS Team for Community Health Care of North Jersey, Inc.

All members and interested guests are invited. The meeting will be held at 7:45 p.m. at All Saints Episcopal Church Hall, 559 Park Ave., Scotch Plains.

This presentation will be followed by refreshments and door prizes to celebrate LEARN's 16th birthday.

Membership in LEARN is open to all registered nurses in New Jersey. There are annual dues of $25 and a guest fee of $6.

The group's last program for the year will be on May 21 and will be titled "Care of the Ventilator-Dependent Patient."

LEARN's installation dinner set for June 4.

For membership or program information, interested persons may write LEARN, P.O. Box 6, Scotch Plains 07076, or call 232-4190.

Alcohol council offers workshop

A workshop, titled "The Assessment and Referral of the Substance-Abusing Client," will be offered by the Union County Council on Alcoholism and Other Drug-Addictions, Inc. tomorrow, April 20, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the council's offices, 300 North Ave. East, Westfield.

Taught by Catherine A. Ferro, director of admissions and community entry for The Bridge in Philadelphia, the six-hour workshop is $35 and earns participants six credit hours towards CAC/CSAC certification or recertification.

Space is limited. To register, interested persons may call the council's offices at 233-8810.

Litter Day slated at Watchung Reservation

Those interested in cleaning up the environment can pitch in on Saturday, April 28, from 9 a.m. to noon at the second annual Litter Day, a community event to be held in Mountaineer and the Union County-operated Watchung Reservation in Mountaineer.

Sponsored by Eastern Mountain Sports, Litter Day 1990 is a statewide community program organized to remove litter from recreational areas and to heighten awareness of New Jersey's pressing environmental problems.

This year's event will be held at three recreational areas: The Delaware and Raritan Canal in Princeton, Community Park in East Brunswick, and the Union County-operated Watchung Reservation in Mountaineer.

According to Litter Day Coordinator Denise Cox, "Last year we had more than 300 volunteers."

For more information, interested persons may call Cox at 1-609-466-4333.

SAVING FORESTS — Thomas Cimbrillo, left, a professor at Union County College in Cranford, plants a tree to replace one cut down by man's encroachment on his environment. Looking on is UCC Acting President Roy Smith. The tree-planting was conducted as a prelude to the 20th anniversary of Earth Day this Sunday, when the college will hold an environmental fair and open house.

Electrical repairs workshop to be offered

A free workshop on small home electrical repairs will be given by the Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Union County on Wednesday, April 25, at 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Westfield Auditorium.

The class will focus on minor home electrical repairs, including lamps. Interested persons may bring their own lamps in for repair.

Registration is limited to 20. Interested persons must register in advance by calling the extension office at 654-9854.

Instructors will be Vincent Sarnowski and Jerry Clason, master home repair volunteers.

Culinary Hearts' course offered at St. Elizabeth

St. Elizabeth Hospital's "Culinary Hearts" kitchen course, a program of the American Heart Association, will sponsor a course in healthy eating at the hospital, located at 225 Williamson St., Elizabeth.

Registration is now open for the five-week course, to be held on Thursdays from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., beginning April 26, and concluding May 24.

The fee for the course is $60, which will include the cost of food demonstration, the American Heart Healthy Recipes book and two screenings for cholesterol — one during the first session and one during the last to gauge participants' progress.

"Although the course is especially valuable for heart patients, it is designed to teach anyone interested in leading a healthy lifestyle how to select and prepare tasty, nutritious food," explained Poonam Batta, chief dietitian at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Taught by registered dietitians, the course includes basic principles of nutrition, food selection and preparation, including ways to modify favorite recipes to improve nutrition. The special considerations of dining out and entertaining at home are also covered.

For more information about the course, or to register, interested persons may contact Batta at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 527-5066.

Anti-phobia program set

The Phobia Release Education Program (PREP) in Cranford will hold an additional spring session which will begin on Tuesday, April 24.

PREP will meet for 15 consecutive Tuesday evenings from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Mental Health Association, 15 Alden St., Cranford.

The program is open to those who have an anxiety disorder, panic attacks or fears that interfere with normal life.

A pre-registration evaluation is required before acceptance into the group.

PREP can be reached at 272-0303 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Holocaust remembrance events at Kean

The Kean College of New Jersey Holocaust Resource Center (HRC) has scheduled five days of Holocaust remembrance activities from April 22 to April 26 in observance of Yom Hashoah, which falls this year on Sunday, April 22.

All activities are free, and they begin on Sunday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m. with a community-wide Yom Hashoah observance program in the Wilkins Theater at the college, which is located in Union. The program will be co-sponsored by the HRC and the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey.

Speaking on the theme, "Teach Your Children," on Sunday will be Manek and Ilona Wediger of Union and Helena Bokor of Edison, who are Holocaust survivors.

Memorial candles will be lit by other survivors and their children, including Max and Shoshana Greenbaum of Linden, their daughter Miriam Handler and granddaughter Audrey; Henry and Eva Yungst of Union, daughter Iva Kay and granddaughter Stacy; and Regine and Henry Lowenbraun of Union, daughter Shelly Lowenbraun and niece Nicole and Vienna Lowenbraun.

Also during the evening, the winners of student essay and art contests will be recognized.

On Wednesday, April 24, Sister Rose Thering, O.P., Ph.D., executive director of the National Christian Leadership Conference for Israel, will speak at 12:30 p.m. before an audience of high school students in the Wilkins Theater. Her topic will be, "Confronting the Holocaust: A Christian Perspective."

Sister Thering is a professor emerita of Seton Hall University, where she served 20 years in the department of secondary education.

Films will be shown in the HRC's Nancy Thompson Library, second floor, beginning on Tuesday, April 23, at 12:15 p.m. with "Miracle at Moreau."

The film is based on the book, "Twenty and Ten," by Claire Bishop. It tells the true story of Jewish children saved from the Nazis by children in a Catholic school in France.

Another film to be shown on Thursday, April 25, at 4:15 p.m. is "An Royal: Les Enfants" by Louis Malle's autobiographical account of the time his childhood best friend, a Jew, was taken away by the Nazis.

The third film, to be shown on Friday, April 26, at 4:15 p.m. is "Soua," a 30-minute film story of a rare community of Holocaust survivors in the Dominican Republic since 1940.

The film recounts how, of the 32 million meeting at the 1938 Evian Conference, only the Dominican Republic, ruled by Rafael Trujillo, offered Jews sanctuary from the Nazis.

For additional information, the Holocaust Resource Center may be contacted at 527-3049.

Thanks to an initial gift received from the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey, the YM-YWHA of Union County, Green Lane, Union, is able to offer camp scholarships to families who can justify their need for financial aid.

Last year, scholarship requests totaled an all-time high. This year, the Y's Camp Committee projects double the amount of dollars needed, due in large part to the difficult economy as well as to the arrival of a large number of Soviet Jewish immigrants to the area.

The board of directors at the agency has decided to make spaces available for every immigrant who wishes to register in camp, yet the board can only accomplish its mission through community support.

The cost of sponsoring a child in camp for the entire summer is $850, or $550 for half the season. All donations, however, are welcome.

The community is being urged to send donations to the YM-YWHA of Union County, 501 Green Lane, Union 07083, or by contacting Jani Kovacs, camp coordinator, at 289-8112.

Services (NBS) in an effort to ensure that an adequate community blood supply will be available to anyone in need.

NBS must collect approximately 400 units of blood each day to meet the needs of 76 hospitals in northern and central New Jersey.

Each unit of blood can be used to help save as many as five lives. Once collected, each unit can be separated into one of five components, with each component used to treat a specific medical condition.

Anyone between the ages of 17 and 76, who weighs at least 11 pounds and is in general good health is eligible to donate.

O'Meara Auditorium.

'Dawgs beat ALJ, 9-2

By MARK YABLONSKY

Because of wet grounds on Monday, the Dayton Regional High baseball team could not get in its planned home game with Immaculata, and the added threat of rain had Tuesday's home game with Governor Livingston in jeopardy as well.

But when the 'Dawgs do get a chance to play, they seem to make the most of their opportunities — as evidenced by last Thursday's 9-2 victory against Arthur L. Johnson at Nolan Field in Clark.

Outfielder ALJ by an 11-4 margin, the Bulldogs increased their record to 2-0 behind the continued hot bats of senior Dale Torborg and sophomore Jason Mullman, as well as the ability to cash in on five Johnson errors. In the meantime, senior Billy Hart was in control on the mound, hurling a neat four-hitter for his first victory of the season.

Through two games, Torborg, the son of the Chicago White Sox manager, is batting .571 (4-for-7) with five runs batted in, three runs scored, and two stolen bases. Mullman, who is the starting centerfielder, is batting .500 (3-for-6) with six RBIs and three runs scored.

"The kids are doing a good job," said Dayton coach Rick Iacono, whose pre-season goal of "winning five of the first 10 games" may yet be exceeded. "We're playing decent baseball and we're hitting the ball."

"I'm very pleased with the way our kids are playing, and I'm very pleased with the chemistry we have," the coach continued. "So far, we haven't beaten ourselves."

"Defensively, if we hold together, we're going to be all right."

As was the case in Dayton's 22-3 thrashing of Central on April 6, the 'Dawgs got going right away in the very first inning. With two out, Torborg and Matt Gallura reached on infield hits, and Mullman reached on an error to fill the bases against Johnson starter Paul Yurovi. Hart reached on another error to score Dayton's first run, and Brian Carson's two-run double to right made it a 3-0 game.

After Chris Fuentes singled in a run for ALJ in the bottom of the first, Dayton scored twice more in the second when Mullman doubled home both Dave Tazaki and Clayton Triven. Fuentes reached on an error in the fourth and later scored on another error for Johnson's last run of the day.

But in the top of the fifth, the 'Dawgs answered right back with three more runs, the first scoring on Andy Huber's fielder's choice, and the final two coming in on a single by Torborg.

Mike Reddington doubled home Huber to close out the scoring in the seventh.

Bad innings hurt Bears

By MARK YABLONSKY

Just as one bad apple can spoil the whole bunch, so can one bad inning spoil the whole ballgame. Just ask the Brearley Regional High baseball team.

Really, despite a 2-4 record — make that a misleading 2-4 record — things aren't going so bad for a younger, somewhat less experienced Brearley team. Only it's that inexperience that seems to be part of the problem.

"The boys are very competitive," explained Brearley skipper Ralph LaConte, whose team closed out a 1-3 week with a 6-4 defeat to Roselle Park early on Monday in Kenilworth. "It's going to take time. It just seems that we get the sixth inning and things get crazy."

"But that's a young team, and until we turn that corner and get that confidence...that's what we need. A little confidence builder."

Not only has it been one bad inning, but lately, it's either a three-run homer — in the sixth inning — or some other late-inning catastrophe that's been hurting the Bears.

•Example No. 1: Senior hurler Chris Carey, one day after hurling 2 1/2 innings of scoreless relief to earn the win in an 8-7 decision over St. Mary's, comes on in relief once again for starter Chris Parent at Bound Brook. But with the Bears leading by a 3-1 margin in the bottom of the sixth, a long three-run homer to left by Bob Hurley — no relation to our Billie Bob Hurley — sinks Brearley, 4-3.

•Example No. 2: This time, Carey pitches a brilliant four-hitter against Roselle — Catholic. Unfortunately, though, three of the hits are homers: back-to-back round-trippers by Chad Horsler and Ed Zembyrsky with none out in the bottom of the fourth inning, and then a three-run shot by winning pitcher Nick Koman with two out in — you guessed it, the bottom of the sixth. Up to that point, Parent, working on a two-hitter, had retired eight straight batters. But a single by Zembyrsky and Tony Mendoza being hit by a pitch set up that fatal three-run blow.

Brearley, incidentally, outhit the Lions by an 8-4 margin, and had twice held leads first, a 2-0 advantage by way of Carey's two-run homer off of Koman in the fourth; and then a 4-2 edge on run-scoring singles from Carey and Don Dayton one inning later.

•Example No. 3: Tied with Roselle Park at 3-3 entering the top of the sixth on Monday in Kenilworth, Molen and Carey are reached for five walks and one hit — a big two-run single by Jim Freeman — as the Panthers jump ahead to stay. Freeman, by the way, worked two innings of hitless relief to save it for starter right-winger Ron Jones.

Brearley had scored twice to tie it up at 3-3 in the fifth on a run-scoring triple from Luis Ahmetsaj, and an RBI single by Jeff Barr. After Don Sammet's leadoff triple in the sixth chased Jones, Brearley scored its final run when Chris Parkhill drove in by hitting into a fielder's choice.

So there you have it. A team of hustling players who stay in every game, but somehow manage to lose in uncomfortable ways.

"We're not taking advantage of our opportunities, and we're allowing our opponents to score in late-inning opportunities," concluded LaConte, whose team will play at Now Providence this morning at 11 a.m. "But we're going to be heard from. We've employed our opponents, we just don't have any 'W's to show for it."

Montanari gets UNICO award

By MARK YABLONSKY

For the past two seasons, the name of Mike Montanari has been a very key one to both the football and wrestling programs at Jonathan Dayton-Regional High in Springfield. Not a name that's stood out in print, but one that has made its mark.

And now, two months before Montanari receives his high school diploma, some deserved recognition has made its way to him. The 6-2, 190-pound senior is this year's choice for the Brian Piccolo award by the Springfield/Mountainside chapter of UNICO, and along with other local region honorees, Montanari will receive his award at a luncheon on Sunday, April 29, at Dayton's in Mountainside.

UNICO, the nation's largest Italian-American organization, has numerous chapters nationwide, all of which select similar award recipients, although not always at the same time of year. The award is named after the late Chicago Bears running back who died of lung cancer in 1970 after a courageous, and later, well-noticed, battle against the dreaded disease. The award goes to someone who is of Italian-American descent.

As has been the case with other Dayton students who have won the award in recent years, Montanari seemed quite surprised to learn he was this year's selection.

"I was shocked," admitted Montanari, who was informed on a recent personal visit by William Clori, the current Springfield/Mountainside UNICO treasurer, as well as its past president. "It came as a shock because I couldn't believe that I could get something like that."

A solid outside linebacker in football since the end of his sophomore year, Montanari had plenty of big plays to make on defense in Dayton's memorable 8-2 season of 1988, in which the 'Dawgs won their first eight games to qualify for the North-Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 playoffs for the first time in four years.

But he also had contributions to make to this year's Dayton wrestling squad — so much so that even with a modest 10-10 record at 171 pounds, Montanari still came away with Honorable Mention status in All-Mountain Valley Conference, Mountain Division criteria.

But he makes no secret as to which sport he prefers.

"I've just always liked football better," Montanari answered. "It's more of a team sport where you can stand out and help the other players."

"Wrestling definitely helped me a lot in football because in wrestling you're on your own, and that helps give you confidence," he added.

Only 17 years of age, Montanari has decided to attend the Peddie School in Hightstown on a post-graduate basis next fall, in order to better prepare himself for college. Wanting to improve on his grade point average, Montanari feels the extra year will be beneficial to his future plans, which also include law school.

Both Lafayette and the University of Pennsylvania are on his list of colleges to attend, depending on "how well I do" at Peddie. Montanari, once he reaches college, plans on majoring in either history, political science, or some other area of pre-law.

"I was reading Sports Illustrated and I got the idea from a football player I read about," explained Montanari.

MIKE MONTANARI has decided to attend the Peddie School in Hightstown on a post-graduate basis next fall, in order to better prepare himself for college. Wanting to improve on his grade point average, Montanari feels the extra year will be beneficial to his future plans, which also include law school.

2 more added to GSG

Two sports with growing institutional appeal, roller skating and volleyball, have been added to this summer's Garden State Games. Their addition brings the total number of sports offered to 30 for this, the eighth edition of New Jersey's Olympic-style sports festival. The regional tryouts for most sports will take place in late spring, with the finals being held from July 5-8 on the campuses of Rutgers University and surrounding facilities. The roller skating competition will include roller hockey, speed skating and figure skating. Roller hockey, which will be an exhibition sport in the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, will hold its Garden State Games tryouts on Sunday, May 20. Further information on any of the Garden State Games is available by calling (609) 292-9787.

Opening day

More than 500 youths are expected to participate in the Roselle Park Youth Baseball League's opening day ceremonies on April 29. Ceremonies will begin with a parade starting at 1 p.m. near the Middle School on W. Grant Avenue. There will be a cake sale. Orders for baseball jackets will be taken. And on Friday evening, April 27, all athletes, accompanied by managers and coaches, will go door-to-door racking boosters to help support the league.

'Cookie' album has rock score

By MILT HAMMER

Soundtrack Disc-Lite. A high-spirited comedy-drama, "Cookie," stars Peter Falk, TV's "Columbo," and Emily Lloyd of "Wish You Were Here" as a father-daughter duo out to beat the mob and the law.

With able support from such screen notables as Dianne Wiest, Brenda Vaccaro and Jerry Lewis, the unlikely pair of Falk and Lloyd make for a starchy, memorable combination. "Cookie" presents two strong personalities who contrast widely in style—Falk's Dino is an old-school gangster, while Lloyd's Cookie is a street-wise punk teen-ager.

The "Cookie" soundtrack, released by MCA, reflects the diversity of the characters and setting of the film with care and imagination. The LP mixes classic and new tracks that stretch from modern rock and country to '50s pop sounds. "In selecting the songs, we chose ones that would underscore the person in the film," says "Cookie" music supervisor Jonathan Brant. "For instance, Cookie herself is 18 and required contemporary rock songs like Holly Johnson's 'Americano' or Jet Vegas' 'Share Your Love.' Her mother's character is stuck in a 1950's time warp, so we chose period songs like "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing" by The Four Aces for her." Much of the soundtrack features upbeat pop/rock tunes by fresh new artists. Holly Johnson, former lead singer with Frankie Goes To Hollywood, performs the Latin-flavored, lyrically witty dance tune "Americano." MCA/UNI group Transvision Vamp, who scored several hits in their native Britain last year, contribute the playfully trashy "I Want Your Love." CCP and Jet Vegas are UK groups new to American audiences. "Never Had It So Good," heard over the film's end credits, is by up-and-coming dance/pop artist Tommy Page.

disc 'n' data

Rounding out the soundtrack is Nancy Griffith's wistful country number "Never Mind," along with a pair of golden oldies, Bobby Helms' "Jingle Bell Rock" and The Four Aces' "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing." Thomas Newman, the in-demand composer, whose previous film credits include "Less Than Zero" and "The Lost Boys," contributes a vignette from the "Cookie" score, "Slammer."

Singer paintings on display

The recent paintings of neoplastic painter Jonathan Singer can be viewed in the Jake Trapp Gallery of the Unitarian Church of Summit through May 10.

Further information can be obtained by calling the church at 273-3245, the artist at 437-2983, or Kathy Wagner at 522-1120.

Kean students on stage

Kean College of New Jersey students will perform "In White America," a docu-drama, tracing the African-American experience from slavery to Little Rock, at 8 p.m. on Wednesday and April 26, 27, 28, and at 3 p.m. on April 29 in the East Campus Theater, Hillside. Tickets can be purchased at the Wilkins Theater box office in Union or by calling 527-2337. Dr. Martin B. Duberman, a professor of 19th-century American history at Lehman College, City University of New York, wrote the play in 1963 when he taught at Princeton University. The play relies on historical records. Deirdre Yates, an instructor of communications and theater, is director. Student cast members include Monica Jones of Linden, Patrick Barnes of Hillside, Nicole M. Petrina of Kenilworth and Paul Turner of Roselle.

Foundation offers grant to Playhouse in Linden

The Janet Memorial Foundation of Elizabeth has awarded a grant of $1,900 to the Linden Summer Playhouse in support of its youth theater program.

The grant will enable the group to purchase equipment needed for the daily operations of the organization.

Acrobatic dance at Kean

The four-member troupe breaks away from MOMX in 1986 and has been performing in the United States, Europe and Japan. It also has created music television videos for rock groups, has conducted television commercials and choreographed fashion-dance spectacles.

40 years of art shown

Thirty watercolors, drawings, collages, oils and stage set designs spanning 40 years are being shown in the James Howe Gallery, Yeaghtin Essex Hall, Kean College of New Jersey, Morristown, Union. The event celebrates the long teaching career of W. Carl Bruger, artist/teacher. Bruger's works are represented in private, corporate, and museum collections. The public is invited to view the exhibition during regular gallery hours Monday to Thursday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. and by appointment. The exhibition will be on view until April 27.

Guitar Day concert due at Kean

Guitar Day, a celebration of the classical guitar Saturday at Kean College of New Jersey, Union, will feature two master classes and an evening concert, all in the Little Theater of the College Center. This is the second year the event is being held at the college. Andrew Schulman, a specialist on the eight-string guitar who records with Centaur, will perform in the 8 p.m. concert. Schulman is an instructor of guitar at Montclair State College. Registration is required and can be completed through the Kean College music department at 527-2107.

Spring Car Care

Oils 'tell' ability to protect today's hotter-running engines

In the old days of hand-cranked, high wheels and wooden spokes, Great Grandpa threw out his auto engine oil every 500 miles. Lasting much longer, petroleum science's modern brew not only provides superior protection for today's hotter-running engines — but also includes special ingredients that do everything from fighting corrosion to helping engine seals maintain a tight fit.

Today's smaller engines produce more power per pound than ever before — by running faster and hotter. Advances in engine oil have kept pace, with new quality ratings based on tougher scientific tests of improved oil characteristics.

The label on the container tells you, the motorist, what quality of oil you're buying. The ratings result from the work of three national industry and scientific societies — the Engineering Society for Advancing Mobility Land Sea-Air and Space (called SAE), the American Society for Testing and Materials, and the American Petroleum Institute.

SAE ratings for viscosity (flowability) and API ratings for oil quality are based on testing developed by ASTM.

For new gasoline-powered vehicles, carmakers generally call for SG oil, a new higher rating defined last year, and SAE 5W-30 or 10W-30 viscosity. "S" stands for "spark combustion," and G is the highest current grade. Many gasoline-powered cars call for SG-CC oil; the CC ratings (the first "C" stands for combustion by compression) were developed for moderate-duty diesel engines. Apparently a CC oil provides better performance at high temperatures in the ring zone in the engine; CC oils keep rings and pistons cleaner. Under latest rating terminology, the SG rating includes the CC rating; in other words, an SG oil is the top-rated oil for gasoline engines but at higher temperatures. Outperforming nature's best conventionally refined engine oils are the "near model" synthetics, like Mobil 1. It's rated both SG and CD, the next higher rating above CC. A good synthetic's built-in ability to provide superior protection results from the way the oil is made, explain Mobil scientists. To make a conventionally refined engine oil, you start with crude oil. A series of refinery processes leaves you with a mixture of several thousand KINDS of hydrocarbons more or less working together; but some are not ideal for lubrication. In contrast, to make Mobil 1, you start with a few pure chemical "building blocks" selected just for their lubricating capability. These you assemble into the finished base fluid. That's why Mobil 1 stays fluid, retaining lubricating capabilities from 35 degrees below zero F.

BOUNCING OVER RUGGED TRAILS in Off-Road races up to 1,000 miles long, Frank (Scoop) Vessels won 1989 series driver championship in two-wheel-drive utility class.

Linde Gases has it all

Linde Gases, located at 43 Commerce St. in Springfield, is a highly technical, state-of-the-art producer and distributor of compressed gases.

Although the company has been operating out of its Springfield location since Oct. 1, Linde Gases has decided to celebrate its grand opening with an open-house this spring. The grand opening will be held May 8 and 9 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and the public is invited to attend.

Linde Gases of the Mid-Atlantic is a subsidiary of the Linde Division of Union Carbide Industrial Gases Inc., which is one of the world's largest producers and distributors of industrial and specialty gases.

For more than 80 years, Linde has kept its customers satisfied by supplying them with quality products at affordable prices. Linde has been in business since 1907, and Linde Gases has been a part of Linde since 1968.

Linde Gases, therefore, offers the resources and stability of a major industrial corporation, while at the same time offering the flexibility and responsiveness of a small, local company. Close contact with its customers allows Linde to cater to the specific needs of each and every customer, while enabling them to put their trust in a company with a strong, respected history of customer satisfaction and dependability.

Linde Gases is a heavily "backward integrated" company. That is, Linde actually produces the majority of the products it markets. This is somewhat unique in an industry where the majority of companies in the field simply repackaged products produced by others. This high degree of backward integration allows Linde Gases to offer not only complete reliability of supply on these products, but also total quality control procedures.

Linde Gases distributes its products via a fleet of 15 delivery trucks and two flatbed tractor trailers from three major locations within the New York-New Jersey area. When customers are in need of a product, they can rest assured that Linde will deliver just what is needed quickly and efficiently.

Linde Gases offers a complete line of products used within the analytical instrumentation market, including carrier gases, fuel gases, oxidizers, argon, helium and oxygen.

In addition, Linde supplies industrial gases for maintenance, repair and general welding, and carries a full line of related welding equipment, including power supplies, electrodes, welding helmets, welding curtains, gloves, chipping hammers and the like.

Preventive maintenance saves consumers money

The National Automobile Dealers Association (NADA) recommends a routine weekly maintenance program and urges consumers to follow money-saving procedures:

- Make sure that fluids such as engine oil, coolant, power steering and brake fluids are at specified levels.
- Check tire pressures once a week to prevent excessive or uneven tire wear.
- Inspect drive belts to make sure they are not frayed, worn or at improper tension levels.
- Check tire pressures once a week to prevent excessive or uneven tire wear.

WINDSHIELD WIPERS ACCUMULATE road grime, dirt, and dust so that eventually the blades do not come in contact with the windshield, according to International Carwash Association car-care experts. This causes the wipers to smear and obstruct the driver's vision. Professional car-wash owners advise their customers to keep wiper blades clean by wiping them off with a paper towel or dry cloth. If the wipers are hard to reach, activate the wipers, then turn off the ignition to stop them in mid-action for easy access. In addition, wiper blades should be replaced every four to six months. For a free booklet: "13 Money-Saving Tips to Help You Protect Your Car's Finish," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Car Care Advisor, International Carwash Association, 1 East 22 St. Suite 400, Lombard, IL 60148.

Spring car wash and wax makes owners happier

"It's uplifting."
"It's like going to the beauty parlor."
"It makes me feel good."
In a recent survey by the International Carwash Association this is how numerous car owners responded when asked, "How do you feel when you go to a car wash?" With the approach of nicer spring weather, keeping one's car looking good can be even more gratifying, says an association spokesperson adding, "Motorists spend an estimated $2.5 billion annually at some 23,000 professional car washes in the U.S. and Canada. Knowing a few facts about car cleaning and care can increase the life of your car and the pleasure of owning it."
• Check your car for winter damage and touch up minor nicks, especially along door edges and door sills. While doing so, make a resolution to keep your car clean — people respect a clean, well-kept car and are less likely to abuse it in parking lots and at filling stations.
• The most important time to wash your car is after a rain. Modern finishes are made up of several layers of pigmented paint covered with a coat of shiny protective varnish called a clear coat. Rain often carries sulfuric acid which can eat through the clear coat causing damage that looks like water spots, but cannot be removed. To remove acid-rain residue, professional washes use solutions that are monitored constantly to balance the PH, and neutralize the effect of acid rain. Following up with a coat of wax protects the finish from future damage.
• According to the International Carwash Association, professional car washing is gentler. It eliminates possible damage from home washing with detergents and car soap mixtures that are too alkaline. Such soap mixtures may not rinse well and in turn leave a filmy, dull finish or spots. In hard water areas, professional car washes soften, and demineralize the final rinse to eliminate spotting. Car washes adjust the cleaning solutions depending on the season, and in the summer a high percentage of bug-removing solutions are added. For those in water scarce areas, Association officials note that professional car washing uses less water than the at-home, hose and bucket method — 30 gallons versus up to 148 gallons.
• Rust and corrosion: The major cause of cars rusting out is dirt and road grime sticking to crevices. This holds moisture to the undercarriage. Professional car washes offer an undercarriage spray that removes dirt and adds a rust inhibitor to reduce

Court Courier signs pact with Motorola

Court Courier Systems, a regional financial services carrier based in Kenilworth, has signed an agreement with Motorola Inc. for Motorola's CoveragePLUS vehicle tracking and two-way communications service.

CoveragePLUS is the first long-haul vehicle communications system which will feature nationwide vehicle tracking and a real-time two-way voice and data link.

"The CoveragePLUS system is designed to permit dispatchers and drivers to communicate with each other directly by data or voice, providing for operational flexibility and enhanced fleet management."

"We want to provide the best security for our customers in the financial services industry," said Jack McCorkell, Court Courier Systems president. "By enabling our dispatchers to know where each vehicle is, whether it is stopped, and the direction it is moving, CoveragePLUS will reinforce our security system and provide us with more control of our 70-truck fleet."

"In the event of a breakdown or theft, CoveragePLUS will enable the dispatcher to determine the vehicles closest to the disabled vehicle, reroute the one nearest and alert the authorities to the vehicle's location if stolen," he said.

"We also anticipate that CoveragePLUS will increase productivity and lead to substantial savings. Our dispatchers will be able to handle twice as many trucks since they can monitor the trucks' positions via computer and not depend on phone calls. And CoveragePLUS will dramatically decrease long distance phone bills," McCorkell said.

"After looking at all the available communications systems, we chose CoveragePLUS because it is the most cost-effective, and has more capabilities and options than other systems. We can easily integrate our existing computer operations with CoveragePLUS."

The CoveragePLUS system operates through Motorola's existing network of trunked Specialized Mobile Radio transmitters and receivers. When a mobile is turned on, it automatically logs on to the nearest trunking radio system which notifies the dispatcher of a vehicle's location via a Motorola hub. When the mobile unit moves into a new coverage area, it automatically logs on to that system, and the process repeats itself.

Providing nearly seamless coverage for data/voice communications, CoveragePLUS is the first system to offer "real time" position information, as well as a two-way voice and data link.

By late 1990, CoveragePLUS is scheduled to blanket all of the major interstate highways in the United States.

LOWELL A. MONETTE

Tenney Engineering Inc. of Union has appointed Lowell A. Monette to the position of Field Service Engineer in the company's new factory service center located in Powder Springs, Ga., in the greater Atlanta area.

Monette will work out of Tenney's Regional Service Office located in Powder Springs, where he will be responsible for Tenney service activities in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina.

Lowell resides in Powder Springs with his wife, Jerilyn, daughters, Martha and Jennifer, and sons, Jason and Timothy.

Open house at child-care center is a big success

Schering-Plough Corporation recently held an open house at the Schering-Plough Superior Learning Center, the company's new child-care center, located at 410 Clement Terrace, Union.

Parents residing in the area, Schering-Plough employees and employees of other local companies were invited to bring their children to meet the Easter bunny and to participate in Easter egg hunts, according to Nancy Strauss, center director.

Children could also join in games and compete for prizes, including a grand prize drawing, while their parents toured the facility and met the staff, she said. The child care center is sponsored by Schering-Plough and is owned and managed by Ogden Allied Child Care Services, which has contracted to operate more than 20 centers across the country by year's end. Superiors is the child care services division of Ogden Allied Child Care Services Corporation.

"The Schering-Plough Superior child care center reflects the company's 'family-sensitive' policies in its employee benefits and human resources programs," said Kathryn Devos, manager of employee services for Schering-Plough Pharmaceuticals.

"It recognizes the needs of many employee families for competitively priced, professional day care for their children," Devos said.

Located midway between the company's Union and Kenilworth facilities, the center currently provides daytime care for more than 60 children of company employees, their ages ranging from 2 months to 5 years.

"The center also cares for children of non-Schering-Plough families in surrounding communities and can accommodate up to 137 children," Devos added.

"Safety features include a sophisticated security system with entry doors equipped with computerized access controls, large viewing panels between classrooms and corridors, and durable, child-size equipment of the highest quality," said George Tremblay, executive vice president of Ogden Allied Child Care Services.

"Among the hygienic features are antimicrobial carpet tiles throughout the facility to help maintain hospital-level cleanliness, and all infant-care areas are equipped with non-porous countertops and exhaust fans to remove odors and any air-borne bacteria," he added.

The center also provides a stimulating and supportive learning environment designed to further each child's development.

"In addition to traditional pre-school activities, the curriculum, which is delivered by a certified staff, includes art, music, science, dance and physical education. Children enrolled for the summer will participate in Superiors' Passport Program, a unique, exciting 'journey around the world,' and will learn the customs and traditions of five foreign countries," Tremblay said.

Schering-Plough is a research-based company engaged primarily in the discovery, development, manufacturing and marketing of pharmaceutical and health-care products worldwide.

Open house at child-care center is a big success

Schering-Plough Corporation recently held an open house at the Schering-Plough Superior Learning Center, the company's new child-care center, located at 410 Clement Terrace, Union.

Parents residing in the area, Schering-Plough employees and employees of other local companies were invited to bring their children to meet the Easter bunny and to participate in Easter egg hunts, according to Nancy Strauss, center director.

Children could also join in games and compete for prizes, including a grand prize drawing, while their parents toured the facility and met the staff, she said. The child care center is sponsored by Schering-Plough and is owned and managed by Ogden Allied Child Care Services, which has contracted to operate more than 20 centers across the country by year's end. Superiors is the child care services division of Ogden Allied Child Care Services Corporation.

"The Schering-Plough Superior child care center reflects the company's 'family-sensitive' policies in its employee benefits and human resources programs," said Kathryn Devos, manager of employee services for Schering-Plough Pharmaceuticals.

"It recognizes the needs of many employee families for competitively priced, professional day care for their children," Devos said.

Located midway between the company's Union and Kenilworth facilities, the center currently provides daytime care for more than 60 children of company employees, their ages ranging from 2 months to 5 years.

"The center also cares for children of non-Schering-Plough families in surrounding communities and can accommodate up to 137 children," Devos added.

"Safety features include a sophisticated security system with entry doors equipped with computerized access controls, large viewing panels between classrooms and corridors, and durable, child-size equipment of the highest quality," said George Tremblay, executive vice president of Ogden Allied Child Care Services.

"Among the hygienic features are antimicrobial carpet tiles throughout the facility to help maintain hospital-level cleanliness, and all infant-care areas are equipped with non-porous countertops and exhaust fans to remove odors and any air-borne bacteria," he added.

The center also provides a stimulating and supportive learning environment designed to further each child's development.

"In addition to traditional pre-school activities, the curriculum, which is delivered by a certified staff, includes art, music, science, dance and physical education. Children enrolled for the summer will participate in Superiors' Passport Program, a unique, exciting 'journey around the world,' and will learn the customs and traditions of five foreign countries," Tremblay said.

Farinella named builder of year

Farinella Construction Company of Springfield has received the Home Owners Warranty (HOW) Corporation of New Jersey's "Builder of the Year" award for companies with $10 million or more annual sales volume during a presentation of the Building Excellence Awards.

The award was presented at the 14th annual membership meeting and luncheon in Atlantic City. The corporation's Building Excellence Awards Program, which includes the Builder of the Year Award, is designed to recognize New Jersey HOW members for their commitment to quality construction and customer service as well as for their overall contributions to New Jersey's quality of life through well-built and well-protected new homes.

Farinella Construction Company was chosen on the basis of its overall record with HOW, its level of involvement with New Jersey HOW, building industry trade associations and civic and charitable organizations, and the quality and effectiveness of its customer service program. The company, now led by president Mary Farinella-Capozzola, was founded in 1955 by her father, Frank Farinella. To date, the firm has built more than 3,000 new homes and approximately 1 million square feet of office space throughout central and northern New Jersey.
