Album has unique sound

By MILT HAMMER
Welcome to New York's very own Law and Order, dishing their debut LP album, "Guilty of Innocence," on the MCA Records label.

For the past 2 1/2 years, the four musicians, vocalist Shane, guitarist Phil Allocco, bassist Sean Carmody and drummer Rob Steele, have been pulverizing throngs of fans with their uncompromising, no-frills brand of bluesy hard rock. Banding together when hard, original stuff was thought extinct, the four forged their collective love of genuine rockin' sounds into a unique aural assault of their own.

"The one thing we definitely didn't want to do," says guitarist Allocco, "was put out a typical album with eight heavy songs and two power ballads. With the groups we grew up with, you never knew what to expect — was it gonna be 'Holler Skeller' or 'When I'm 64' next?"

Their tracks on "Guilty of Innocence," recorded at Memphis' legendary Ardent Studios and produced by Joe Hardy, the engineer for ZZ Top and The Replacements, run a gamut much like the above. Full-throttle batters like the thought-provoking "We Don't See God" and "Downtown Suicide" comfortably rub up against the backbeat boogie sound of "Say You Love Me."

Indelibly influenced by the blues, the Law and Order members are versatile in style, enough to dish up their share of acoustic country-blues on tracks like "Delta Prison Blues" and "In the Shelter." In fact, proceeds from "Delta Prison Blues" will go to the Delta Blues Museum in Clarksdale, Miss.

Though they shy away from the term "concept album," the four Lawmen agree that "Guilty of Innocence" is an album meant to be listened to as a whole. "We included 14 songs so

There would be as wide an emotional range as possible," says Carmody. "We wanted it to flow — building going down, then building again."

COUNTY LEADER NEWSPAPERS VOL. 61-NO. 34 - SPRINGFIELD, N.J., THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1990 - 2A TWO SECTIONS - 50 CENTS

Township committee split over ordinance

By DAVE WISE
Republicans and Democrats on Springfield's Township Committee showed their political differences at last week's governing body meeting, as the three Republicans and two Democrats voted 3-2 to approve an ordinance authorizing the Springfield Police Department to add another captain.

With several Springfield police officers in attendance, Officer Peter Hammer approached the podium and defended the ordinance.

"There are captains in charge of the patrol and investigative divisions in every department around us, with the exception of Mountaintop," said Hammer, the vice president of the Superior Officers Association. "This is not a deputy chief position; this is a working position."

Democratic Committeeman Leo Eisen's comments reflected the opinion of those who do not see the need for two police captains.

"I'm sorry to see an appointment of a new captain," remarked Eisen. "By adding a layer of management, we reduce the number of police who can directly serve the public."

Eisen also cited a 1980 state law enforcement study, which recommended one captain for the town, to support his position.

Republican Committeeman Jeffrey Katz, on the other hand, argued for the need of having an extra captain on the force.

"Some departments, smaller than we are, have more than one captain," noted Katz.

Katz later disputed the findings of the law enforcement study performed on the Springfield Police Department in 1980.

"That thing is 10 years old. Things have changed and changed drastically," Katz said. "You will find in that study no analysis of labor law."

According to Katz, the establishment of a second captain post would improve the Detective Bureau because "the captain is not a union employee. He's a management employee. The union ends with lieutenant."

"This is the first step to getting the Police Department organized," Katz added.

The meeting turned into a political debate after Chisholm returned to the podium and asked why "the three Republicans are running this thing."

"This is all a bunch of malarkey," declared Chisholm.

There was a short, heated exchange between Mayor Philip Kurnos and Eisen concerning the merits of the ordinance, and Officer Hammer announced, "I don't want to see this turned into something political."

"I agree with Leo," Democratic Committeewoman Marcia Forman commented, "I feel there was insufficient discussion on the Township Committee. Leo and myself have never been in any meetings on the reorganization of the police department."

Forman used the occasion to criticize the committee's procedure of allowing Katz to vote over the phone while in Florida a few weeks ago.

"It sounded very logical at the time," Forman told the audience. "But it's very easy to take advantage of technology. I question, first of all, whether the procedure was appropriate; I question whether it was legal. If it was not legal, then any vote which was passed by 3-2 — and if it included Mr. Katz — is invalid."

"Our federal government does not allow voting in absentia," Forman continued. "They carry them in a stretcher if necessary. Our state government does the same thing. I really think it was inappropriate."

When questioned later about the use of telephone voting in a committee meeting, Katz defended the practice.

"Yes, it's legal. It's been done for years," Katz replied.

Obviously distressed over the dissection of the ordinance was creating, Kurnos told the committee that "I am really hurt."

"I'm afraid that we have a political faction here and it's not coming from the Republican party," Kurnos said.

"When I came on board 2 1/2 years ago, the Police Department functioned well, but the morale was really low," Kurnos explained. "Is the morale better today? Yes."

"We have plans, not short-sighted views," said Kurnos. "We came in with a zero budget. Nada. Nothing. And we increased our services."

"This is what angers me," declared Kurnos. "Marcia, I and Jeff put in an average of over 100 hours a month. We are out every night. It's a labor of love."

"The politically charged atmosphere, a reminder of past problems, displaced Kurnos."

"What is the difference — Democrat or Republican — in a small town like this?" asked Kurnos. "This has nothing to do with national politics."

Springfield students join multi-district 'marathon'

By SUZETTE STALKER
Students from Thelma L. Sandmeier and James Caldwell Schools in Springfield were among 60 third and fourth graders from several area communities who participated in a "Mental Marathon" Tuesday at Florence M. Gaudinier School in Springfield.

The event, coordinated by the Union County Gifted and Talented Consortium, was held for students in the Gifted and Talented programs at schools in Springfield, Mountaintop, Kenilworth, Garwood, Clark and Berkeley Heights.

The consortium is comprised of 25 Gifted and Talented Program teachers from throughout Union County, who periodically collaborate on activities involving several schools.

"The students from various school districts were brought together for this program in an effort to promote a good rapport between elementary school students who will be sharing a common high school several years from now, according to Elaine Fass, Enrollment Coordinator at Deerfield School in Mountaintop.

Springfield and Mountaintop youngsters attend high school at Florence M. Gaudinier Regional High School in Springfield, while students from Kenilworth and Garwood go to David Breatley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

Clark students go to Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Berkeley Heights students attend Governor Livingston Regional High School in that community.

The "Mental Marathon" youngsters were divided into teams, with members from different schools, who moved among six separate "stations" between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., spending 20 minutes at each one.

Each station featured a brain-teasing activity involving creative thinking, logic and problem solving, for which every correct answer won a team "mileage" on a special chart. Teams who accumulated 26 miles were awarded certificates of achievement.

Planned activities included such challenges as "tangrams" where students were asked to arrange geometric shapes; picture analogies; and multi-step logic puzzles, according to Fass.

Gifted and Talented teachers participating in the program included Fass, Pam Gray and Sandy Einhorn from Springfield, Doris Anderson from Kenilworth, and Kathleen Sadalack and Mary Norris from Clark.

Schering-Plough, the pharmaceutical company in Kenilworth, donated $100 toward "Mental Marathon" for the purchase of blank "thinking caps" which the student teams designed themselves before the events began, as well as for other supplies needed for the program.

Regional BOE discusses new grading proposal

By SUZETTE STALKER
The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 discussed a new grading policy proposal Tuesday which would change the current system of grading by minors to a letter grade system by the start of the 1990-91 school year.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Breatley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

Jonathan Dayton enrolls students from both Mountaintop and Springfield, while David Breatley serves the communities of Kenilworth and Garwood. The high schools in Clark and Berkeley Heights enroll students from their respective municipalities.

An ad hoc committee established by the district developed the proposal in an effort to achieve greater "clarity" in the district grading system, according to regional district spokesman Thomas Long.

A group of approximately 20 parents and educators who attended the meeting at Arthur Johnson responded positively to the proposed change, which will be further discussed at the regional board's June 5 meeting at David Breatley.

A first reading on the proposal is also expected to take place at that time.

During several recent regional Board of Education meetings, a number of parents had expressed concern over the numeric grading policy, which they felt did not always reflect their youngsters' true rank. They were especially concerned over the way colleges would evaluate the numeric grades.

In other news, the regional board welcomed several incumbents to another term in office last week during its annual reorganization meeting at Arthur L. Johnson.

Regional Board of Education President Natalie R. Waldt was re-elected by fellow board members to her fifth consecutive year as president, while board member David M. Hart was re-elected to his position for the fourth year in a row.

A board representative since 1967, Springfield resident Waldt was elected to her eighth term on the board in 1988. She has served as president of the board since April 1986. Hart, of Mountaintop, has represented his borough on the board since 1979 and has served as board vice president since April 1987.

Each of them will hold their offices for another year until the regional Board of Education's 1991 reorganization meeting.

Incumbent Frederick J. Soos of Kenilworth, who ran unopposed for his third term during the April 24 school elections, was also sworn in during the meeting, along with newly-elected board members Robert Della Sala of Clark and Jonathan H. Miller of Berkeley Heights.

The board announced the appointment this week of Dr. Linda Palumbo as the new principal of David Breatley Joseph Malt Palumbo, 37, has been vice principal of Wallkill Valley Regional High School in Hamburg, Sussex County, since February 1982.

Springfield receives oak tree

By JENNIFER CARPIGNANO
In observance of Earth Day, Assemblyman and Union County Freeholder Neil Cohen, D-21, recently presented Springfield and all other communities in his legislative district, and the Union County park system with an eight-foot red oak, the New Jersey state tree.

"When the first Earth Day took place 20 years ago," stated Cohen, "it marked the start of the environmental movement. The movement has become one of the most significant social, political and educational movements in the last half of the 20th century, affecting every citizen of this country."

"The initial Earth Day celebration on April 22, 1970, which coincided with the creation of the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection," Cohen continued, "evolved from a growing public outcry against pollution."

"The announcement marked by the first Earth Day has led to the enactment of valuable environmental laws like the federal Clean Air and Clean Water acts, and the Superfund hazardous waste cleanup program that New Jersey Gov. Jim Florio authored when he served in Congress," Cohen said.

The red oak trees were donated by the Marcor Paper Mills Company, located in Elmwood Park.

Company officials claim that Marcor, now in its 50th year, has never cut down a tree to manufacture its products.

Members of the Waits Ensemble include: George Henderson, director and lead tenor; Lind Behre, soprano; Anne Pollock, alto; Dorothy Smullen, alto; Eric Rothman, tenor; Mark Lampariello, bass; and Bill Smullen, bass.

The group's name derives from the Watching and Waiting Societies of England.

LOWER BACK PROBLEM

If you've been treated for low-back problems, but the pain and discomfort are still there, you may be able to benefit from chiropractic treatment. If your spine is out of alignment, this may be causing other problems in addition to lower back pain. Because the body's nervous system is closely integrated with the spine, any misalignment can cause painful irritation. Abnormal nerve function may affect whatever organs, glands, or tissues that are supplied by that nerve. The nerves of the lower back, for example, are connected to certain organs and other structures in that area. If lower back spinal misalignment is putting undue pressure on the nerves, you may be suffering from more than lower back pain. It may be having a direct effect on other areas of your body. A thorough examination can disclose exactly where the problem is and how it can be corrected.

AAA offers driving tips to seniors

During May, the AAA New Jersey Automobile Club celebrates Older Americans Month by offering flexibility tips that can help older drivers maintain or improve their driving skills. "Do you have trouble backing your car or checking your car's blind spot? Are you often tired or tense while driving? While age isn't a determining factor in a person's ability to drive, the physical changes that come with age—like reduced flexibility—affect our driving skills," said Paul Kleiblock, the Club's safety manager, and an older driver. "In addition to walking, swimming, and other activities, we can improve our health and flexibility by regularly performing several simple stretches." Although these stretches can be performed while driving, AAA's Kleiblock strongly recommends putting your car in park or pulling to the side of the road.

Ex-politician is now writer by profession

By BEA SMITH
From the Army Air Corps in World War II, to half-lifetime of employment with Exxon in Linden, to municipal and county offices in Roselle Park, to novelist and poet, Robert Arthur Lehr of Roselle Park says he has no regrets. He has enjoyed every phase of his life. "And now, in retirement, he has decided to delve deep into the literary world.

More than two years ago, he completed a weird and wacky novel called "Anything Grows in Brooklyn," which he had published by Vantage Press Inc. of New York City. It was written from yellowed notes and dog-eared diaries that he had compiled during his war years. He is now at work on the history of the Metropolitan Opera, and he also is gathering many of his poems and plans to compile them into a published book.

An over-smiling, jovial, former politician, Lehr explains, during a recent chat, how a man who has lived most of his life in New Jersey can write so knowingly of Brooklyn. "My grandparents came from Brooklyn," says Lehr. They were Andrew and Anna Chesney. They came to Elizabeth with the Singer Manufacturing Co. My mother, who also was the former Anna Chesney, used to tell my sisters, my brother and me all about Brooklyn, so much that I really believed I knew the city. During the Second World War, I met fellows in the service who came from Brooklyn. They said they never wanted to leave it. And what else inspired me was the book "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn."

It all stemmed from World War II, according to Lehr. "You see," he says, "during service when I was overseas, I started to keep diaries. I was stationed in the Philippines as a flight controller in the 5th Air Force. I had spare time and I kept a sort of a diary. "We were the first Air Force troops into Manila, and we helped to clean up the streets of Manila, which had been bombed. We were at Clark Air Force Base, and we helped to straighten out the runways so the planes could land. We made way for advanced ground troops. And we helped to bury some dead Japanese people," Lehr shudders.

"I was honorably discharged on Feb. 12, 1946. Then I had to settle down working at Exxon Bayway Refinery in Linden." Lehr, who was born in Elizabeth, says he moved to Roselle Park in 1918 at the age of 2. "And I've lived there ever since...in different homes, of course," he grins, "but always in Roselle Park."

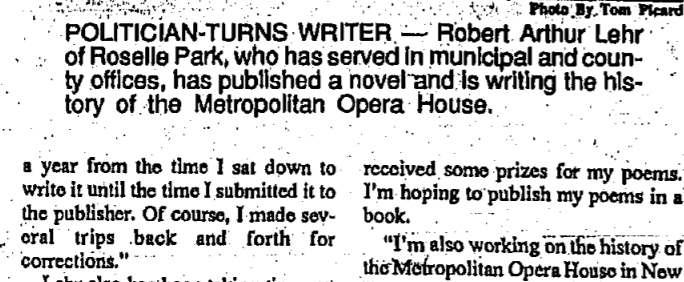

He has seen many changes in his hometown-through the years. "There were streets back then," Lehr recalls, "and horses and wagons. I grew up not just in Roselle Park but with Roselle Park. Homes were illuminated by gas and heated by coal. Meanwhile, I attended and was graduated from Sherman Public School and Roselle Park High School and Union County College, which at that time was situated in Roselle in the old Abraham Clark High School. It was occupied at night by UCC before it went to Cranford," recalls Lehr. "After I attended UCC for two years, I went to work at Exxon, where I had a 32-year career as an accountant."

"I also became active in Roselle Park politics," he says. "I was a councilman for nine years, from 1949 to 1954. And from 1954 to 1960, I served as county coroner. I went back in 1961 as Roselle Park councilman and served until 1963. I was a part-time evening politician," he muses.

Lehr says he watched the expansion of practically everything after the war...from war economy to peacetime economy. There was the great school expansion, and radio had advanced, and computers started to come into a published book.

Lehr also has been taking time out to write. "I've been traveling extensively," he says. "I've been to all 50 states and every continent except the Antarctic. "Right now, I'm determined to become a successful writer," Lehr declares. "I belong to the Book of the Month Club and also subscribe to Fables Magazine and Reader's Digest. I'm writing many poems, and I've a year from the time I sat down to write it until the time I submitted it to the publisher. Of course, I made several trips back and forth for corrections.

Lehr slighs. "There was an expanded population. Old homes were torn down and large buildings complexes went up. All East Westfield Avenue became large apartment complexes. I was on the council then. I was finance chairman in Roselle Park, and we involved in taxes and properties. We converted from a community of single families to multiple housing."

He was active in civic and political affairs all during the time he worked for Exxon. "Exxon encouraged their employees to become civic minded," he recalls. "And all during this time, I served as commander of the Roselle Park American Legion and was a member of the YW of Roselle Park. I'm also a life member and chaplain of the Disabled American Veterans in Elizabeth. My disability was hypertension and mental strain as a result of the war. I lead the prayers. We are a religious veterans organization."

Although Lehr has been retired from Exxon for the past 12 years, he still keeps in touch as president of Exon Amnities Club of Eastern Union County. He also is president of the Rotary Associates of Roselle Park. "I am now vice president of the Roselle Park Community Senior Citizens and also a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Evangelical Church of Elizabeth."

"And of course, I'm president of the Roselle Park Historical Society," "Actually," Lehr says, "I didn't do anything about the book until an incident occurred in 1978. I came across my old, faded yellow notes and diaries. And I was unaccustomed to a lack of activities," he laughs. "I'm used to researching some of the streets. I loved Brooklyn then, and I love it now. I like to walk the streets and talk to the people."

"I have a natural sense of humor," he grins. "So, I began compiling my notes and writing my novel. All the 'Joos' in the book come from the G.I. Joos I met in the service. It took about

Let us build

Since April 6 the state has been bound by Governor Florio's Executive Order 8. This order imposes a moratorium of 120 days on the further construction of county-based solid waste incinerators.

The directive appoints a "task force" to study the trash situation and to consider, principally, two things: ways to reduce the volume of the waste stream by recycling, and the feasibility of regionalizing certain incinerators. By regionalization the governor means that if, for example, Warren and Sussex counties are found to produce an amount of solid waste that does not call for an incinerator in each county, then perhaps one incinerator servicing both counties — or three or four counties, as the case may be — can do the job.

As far as Florio is serious about dealing with our gargantuan garbage dilemma in a rational, economical and environmentally-sound fashion it is difficult to fault him. However, in Union County something else must be considered.

Through the Union County Utilities Authority, the county has already displayed a commitment to rationality, economy and environmental sanity in going through the long, complicated and costly process of obtaining permits for a solid waste incinerator in Rahway. The governor's executive order has stalled this process. The moratorium may stymie the county for no good reason and at great expense to residents.

With landfills closed and the incinerator not yet built each of the county's 21 municipalities must pay approximately $140 per ton to have the trash trucked out of the state. This, according to the UCUA's Executive Director Joseph Kazar, amounts to about $54 million in costs per year. Kazar estimates that having an operative incinerator would cut that yearly total by $20 million.

The Union County Economic Development Corporation — a private, non-profit organization that has been designated by the Board of Freeholders as the official economic development arm of the county — estimates that it costs the county taxpayers more than $100,000 per day for each day that the Rahway incinerator is not burning trash. The UCEDC also notes, in a recent letter sent to Florio, that more than $16 million has already been spent by the UCUA on planning and permits for the Rahway plant.

The DEP has already granted the necessary environmental permit for construction. The UCUA needs only a few more financial and contractual permits to move to ground-breaking. In other words the Rahway incinerator has been judged to be environmentally safe. Also, its location and construction, according to a 1985 non-binding referendum, has been approved by the citizens of Rahway. Furthermore, the question of regionalization does not — or, at any rate, should not — apply to Union County.

The Rahway incinerator — to be located on a 23-acre site off the northbound lane of U.S. Route 1 — is already designed as a large facility and leaves very little space for expansion. Even in the unlikely event that the state forced regionalization on Union County and, thus, mandated an enlargement of the Rahway facility, the new round of planning and permits which would then ensue, with all the additional costs, would soon negate any marginal savings that such a regionalization might mistakenly promise.

As for recycling, we are in favor of removing whatever we reasonably can from the waste stream. We should go forward with any sound plans for recycling additional items. But we, as a people, are nowhere near recycling the bulk of our garbage. The incinerator will give us a chance to remove both the garbage and a significant portion of the enormous tax burden of county residents.

There is no rational substitute for the Rahway incinerator. We therefore agree with the UCEDC that, although the moratorium is in effect, the harm it might do can be averted if, during this 120 days of non-issuance of permits, the state government will allow the review process of state regulatory agencies to go forward. If this were allowed very little time would be lost. If, however, the regulatory agencies postpone reviews during the moratorium then much time, very costly time, will be lost indeed.

So far, Trenton will neither confirm nor deny whether the review process will go forward during the ban. We join with the UCEDC in urging the governor to allow the review process and to do all else he can to allow the Rahway facility to be constructed as soon as possible. We also urge all Union County's members of the state legislature and anyone else who can turn an ear in Trenton to intercede with the governor on behalf of the people and in the name of common sense.

Let us not build in the wetlands

By DAVID F. MOORE
Is there a long-standing quirk in our society's system of law which only now has faded, indicating a knicker-favorites-for-the-country-over-the-preservation-of environmentally precious wetland areas? The question arises to me and others through action of the New Jersey Supreme Court, which we think may illustrate such a subconscious stance.

If so, it has surfaced because of the near-arrival of the day when every bit of open space is spoken for, and it surely favors short-term private gain over the long-term public interest. This thought follows the Supreme Court's April 9 decision on a case involving the state Freshwater Wetlands Protection Act.

The New Jersey Audubon Society and my organization, the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, contested rules created by the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) to activate the wetlands law.

There were three points of disagreement. One was settled by negotiation. A second point, on which there

Money management

Ways to wisely use a tax return

The New Jersey Society of CPAs urges you to remember that a tax refund is not found money — and most certainly not an open invitation to spend recklessly. Used properly, a tax refund can go a long way toward improving one's financial fitness.

Pay off a credit card bill. Take a look at your credit card balances. If you have outstanding debt, one of the smartest moves you can make is to use your refund to pay off all or part of your credit card bills. For instance, if you owe approximately $1,600 in debt and pay 19 percent interest, that level of debt can cost up to $304 a year. To make matters worse, only 10 percent of the interest, or $30.40, is tax deductible in 1990.

Build on it: If you have already cut your credit card bills, it's time to start saving. But don't settle for an account paying six to seven percent interest. A 90-day passbook CD, for example, will barely keep up with inflation. Instead, shop for an investment that offers the best yield — and the best match for your risk tolerance. With $1,000, you can begin investing in many all-weather, no-load mutual funds. For a more secure return, consider investing in a certificate of deposit with an effective annual yield of at least eight percent.

Build an emergency fund: Finally, your tax refund can be your first step to building an emergency fund. This can minimize the financial devastation of an unexpected emergency. CPAs recommend that you have savings equal to at least six months of living expenses.

Whatever you decide to do with your tax refund, remember that the money you are spending is money you earned by working long hard hours. Spend it in the smart way you would any other hard-earned income — with care and intelligence.

Congressman tries to shield Social Security funds

In introducing legislation to protect Social Security beneficiaries from Federal income taxes, Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-NJ) said today that over a quarter of a million individuals each year are forced to pay higher taxes because the law doesn't protect them from inflation.

Under the 1983 Social Security Amendments, up to one-half of an individual's benefits are subject to Federal income tax once adjusted gross income (AGI) exceeds a certain amount. The threshold for a single person is $25,000 and for couples it is $32,000. Those figures have not changed since the law was enacted; the Rinaldo bill would index the AGI levels to inflation.

Rinaldo, the top ranked Republican on the House Committee on Aging, pointed out that he had strongly opposed taxation of benefits when it came to the House floor in 1983 and has since defended the Social Security program from being used as a "cash cow" to help bring down the budget deficit.

"Unfortunately, there isn't enough support to repeal the tax on benefits," he said, "but I think my legislation strikes the middle ground and is a matter of simple fairness to retired and disabled individuals."

He pointed out that the Social Security trust fund is in excellent financial shape and is predicted to be able to fully meet expenditures for the next several decades.

Of the 39 million people receiving Social Security benefits, 62 percent are retired workers and 7 percent are disabled. Rinaldo pointed out that the annual cost of living adjustment has been partially offset by increases in the monthly Medicare premiums deducted directly from their checks. The 4.7 percent benefit increase in January boosted the average retired worker's pension by $25 a month.

Rinaldo explained that indexing the taxable income levels to the inflation rate was discussed in 1983, but the House and Senate were under a deadline to bail-out the Social Security system and the bipartisan leadership in Congress and the White House opposed any amendments to the plan, which had been developed by the Greenspan Commission.

University seeking diabetics and anemics for eye research

Diabetics and sickle cell anemia patients are needed by the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (UMDNJ) for research to identify early indicators for an eye condition that can lead to blindness.

All patients will undergo a comprehensive 90-minute eye exam to search for early indicators of vision problems.

"We want to determine what health factors are present in patients who will eventually develop severe cases of retinopathy," said Dr. Monique Roy, assistant professor of ophthalmology at the UMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School. "From there, we can be developing preventive measures to stop the condition early on."

Retinopathy, which affects most diabetics and sickle cell patients in intensities are shined into the eye while a computer records how well the retina transmits light to the brain. Patients will be followed by yearly eye examinations.

In addition, patients will receive blood tests to determine insulin dependency and to obtain genetic information. Other health factors such as blood pressure, body weight and diet will also be assessed. These factors are important, Dr. Roy explained, because they all can be controlled through lifestyle changes or medication.

"None of these eye tests is uncommon in the evaluation of retinopathy," said Dr. Roy. "But the information we are seeking — the common factors among patients with advancing eye conditions — could point the way to earlier diagnosis and blindness prevention."

For more information about the diabetes study, call 268-8036 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. For information on the sickle cell study, call 456-6230 during the same hours.

History group will honor students

The Union County Historical Society will present its 1990 memorial awards for excellence in studying social studies to six high school seniors Sunday, June 3, at the Abraham Clark House, West Ninth Avenue in Roselle.

The winners are: Cynthia Brennan, Union Catholic Regional High School, Scotch Plains; Kyle Williams, Plainfield High School; Christine Lavonia, Governor Livingston High School, Berkeley Heights; Theresa Di Maio of Roselle Park High School; Donald McGuire of Cranford High School; and Jonathan Petersen from the Van Deane School in Mountainside.

This year's presentation concludes the presentation of memorial awards to students. Each year five schools are selected for the annual awards which include a plaque and a monetary gift.

The awards are given in memory of trustees of the society who have died. They will be presented by Michael Szenko of Union and Thomas D. Quinn of Spring Lake, co-chairmen of the event, Elizabeth with Charles L. Aquilina of Roselle. The group will be welcomed by Stephanie E. Laucius Rosello and Charles Shallcross of Elizabeth will lead the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Sidney Olson will give the invocation.

Bassano's bill will foster Lyme disease prevention

A bill that would provide legislative authority to the Department of Health's Division of Community Health Services Lyme Disease Prevention Program was released from the Senate Institutions, Health and Welfare Committee today.

According to the sponsor of the bill, Senator C. Lewis Bassano, R-Union, the legislation makes the creation of the Lyme disease program written into state law.

"The Department of Health already set up a program that addresses the problem of Lyme disease. However, without my legislation, the agency could decide at any time to cancel the program. I think Lyme disease is a much too serious health issue to take that chance. My bill would provide the people of New Jersey with a guarantee written in law that the state will continue Lyme disease education and prevention efforts," Senator Bassano said.

Lyme disease is contracted from the bite of tiny deer ticks, that are often the size of a pin head. If left untreated, it can result in neurological disorders and severe arthritis in its advanced stages.

The Commissioner of Health would be required to report to the Governor and the Legislature every year on the effectiveness of the Lyme Disease Prevention and Control Program throughout the state.

"Lyme disease was first identified in this state in Monmouth County in 1978. Since then, cases have been reported in municipalities all over New Jersey. One of the reasons why a Lyme disease program is so vital is that the condition is often misdiagnosed. There are a variety of symptoms and each victim reacts differently to the bacteria that is injected into the skin by the tick bite. The longer a person remains untreated, the worse the condition becomes. Lyme disease is also thought to cause birth defects," Senator Bassano said.

Lyme disease is the most common tick-borne illness in the United States and New Jersey is one of the states in which the disease is most prevalent. About 90 percent of the reported cases of Lyme disease nationally having occurred in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New York, Rhode Island and Wisconsin.

The bill now goes to the full Senate for a vote.

National Sight Saving Month focuses on protective glasses

Nearly one million Americans have a vision impairment due to an eye injury according to Jordan Burke, MD, FACS, ophthalmologist at the Suburban Eye Institute, who calls for increased public awareness about preserving sight during May, National Sight Saving Month.

Injuries are the most frequent, accounting for 20 percent in the 5 to 14 year old age group," says Dr. Burke. The ophthalmologist advises sports enthusiasts of all ages to wear protective eye-glasses/goggles to prevent eye injury.

He also recommends the special eye safety precautions in his work place. "Every day an estimated 3,500 eye injuries occur in industry. With the proper precautions, eye injuries and loss of sight can be avoided in most cases."

"Appropriate use of eyewear and taking eye safety precautions will help to prevent eye damage," says Dr. Burke, a board certified ophthalmologist. The National Society to Prevent Blindness suggests wearing protective face masks or goggles when participating in sports, wearing safety glasses when working around the yard or at the work bench and regularly visiting an eye care specialist to have eyes examined and vision tested.

"Parents should be especially aware that nearly half of all eye injuries occur in the home," warns the physician. "The chief culprits in household eye accidents are the chemicals contained in many cleaning products." He suggests that if eye contact occurs, immediately flood the eye with water and continue for at least 15 minutes. Then see a doctor. Another area where eye safety is crucial is on the game field. Bears defeated, 10-0

By MARK YABLONSKY
The Bearley Regional High baseball team, after a remarkable 9-1-1 stretch, was due to have one bad game. And unfortunately, it came against Westfield in a 10-0 loss this past Saturday in a Union County Tournament quarter-final game in Westfield.

And the Bears, now at 11-7-1 overall, were beaten by the same pitcher who hurled a 9-0 shutout win against them in last year's UCT, that being Lance Partelow. With the state playoffs starting so quickly this year, however, the Bears were hoping to shake off the effects of that loss in time to do well against Belvidere on Tuesday in the North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 playoff opener.

"They had their bad game," said Bearley coach Ralph LaCocle on Saturday. "And I don't think we could have been in any game today the way we played."

"We've got to get back on track. We'll be back on track. It's a young team, and we'll be heard from again."

After upsetting New Providence, the Bears were defeated 10-0, last Sunday in county tournament play, the Bear team defeated Dayton, 9-3, the following day in Kenilworth, with six different players — Jeff Barr (2-for-4), Peter Accomando (2-for-3), Mike Archibald (3-for-4), Chris Parkhill (2-for-3), Chris Carey (2-for-5) and Bill Durso (2-5) — all getting two hits or more. Barr hit a two-run double in Bearley's six-run fourth inning, and Mike Archibald singled in two runs for the Bears in the same frame.

Matt Gallaro delivered a two-run single for Dayton in the seventh.

With the game remaining scoreless entering the seventh inning, the Bears finally broke the ice against Ed O'Mella when Accomando lifted a one-out sacrifice fly to center with the bases loaded, making it a 1-0 game. Joe Newsome's RBI single tied it in the bottom of the seventh for the Cougars.

It all ended with two out in the bottom of the eighth when second baseman Rich Lowanowski singled to right field, driving in teammate Greg Amon with the winning run.

Who's on 1st?

Welcome back to our new sports quiz, running for the second time this week throughout all of our CEN-area towns: Springfield, Mountaintop, Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Linden, Union and Hillside.

Each week, we'll run one question dealing with sports trivia, often about baseball. If you think you know the answer, simply type it on a piece of paper, along with your name, address and phone number, and then have it in our Union County office at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. — no later than noon on the Monday prior to publication. Sorry, no exceptions to this time limit.

Restaurant review

Trumpets

By KATHERINE BROOKS. This is a place to go to not just for dinner, but for jazz entertainment at its best - Trumpets in Montclair, should be frequented again and again. The food is excellent and provides live jazz nightly from 8-12 p.m. Trumpets also has a Sunday brunch. This is something the area needs and it should do very well. The strains of a flute playing jazz riffs is soothing for morning sleepyheads. For brunch, an a la carte menu is available as well as buffet. I can't wait to attend because I'm sure that breakfast will be every bit as delicious as dinner was. The owner is always on the premises. A lovely woman, she visits every table for a quick chat while offering helpful menu suggestions. It seems as though she truly makes an effort to get to know all of her guests. Anyone experiencing Trumpets will surely become a regular visitor. A separate lounge area, on the side, is there for those who do not want to eat dinner but have stopped by only to watch the great jazz bands are booked every night. The dance floor is a beautiful touch for slow dancing. On first entering the restaurant, one is greeted by a huge, dimly lit, square bar. I think it would be a great place to come after work for a drink, or maybe just a simple nightcap. The service is wonderful and professional. Our waitress was so courteous. I was never rushed and was able to fully enjoy my dinner as well as the dance floor. For an appetizer, I loved the baked Brie with fresh fruit and almonds, $4.95. It was a meal in itself, with beautiful presentation. The stuffed mushrooms with crabmeat, $4.95, were filled with pure crabmeat - no corners filled out here. Also available are spiced Southern-fried chicken fingers with honey mustard, $4.95, and barbecued shrimp with roasted chili peppers, $6.95. The Caesar salad, $4.50, was great. Overall, any of the appetizers would make a great snack in the lounge. Frequenting Trumpets for dinner will be a pleasure. The main courses are well thought out, offering a wide mix of tastes. This is a menu that I would not find boring if I stopped by for dinner every other week. I chose to have the grilled North-western salmon, $16.95, with a mustard, dill sauce. Perfectly filleted, it was heavenly! I also sampled the medallions of filet mignon, $16.95. It was accompanied by a green peppercorn sauce which was very spicy, yet a pepper-lover's dream. The California Cobb salad, $12.50, is filled with grilled chicken, avocado, bacon and blue cheese. The breast of chicken is sauteed with wild mushrooms at $14.25. The grilled veal medallions is served with an herb-lemon butter for $16.95. Sauteed bay-scallops are with a shrimp and lobster sauce for $14.50. Dessert ended my evening on a perfect note. The house specialty is Trumpets' chocolate Jazzyberry, $4. Consisting of a chocolate terrine that is served with a "Jazzyberry" sauce, it is a rich, dense chocolate delight. The place is fun. It is delicious. It is entertaining. I really did not want to leave, and I cannot wait till I visit Trumpets again. Ratings: Excellent Very Good *Good *Fair

BUSINESS

Elsie Sokol, chairman and president of Central Jersey Bancorp, announced operating results for the first three months of 1990.

Per share book value is $14.83, an increase of 8.5 percent from $13.67 on March 31, 1989.

Central Jersey Bancorp is the parent company of Central Jersey Bank and Trust Company, which has local offices in Mountainside and Westfield.

The board of directors of Schering-Plough Corp. today declared a two for one stock split and increased the company's regular quarterly dividend by 24 percent, from 45 to 55 cents, on the pre-split common shares.

Merck & Co. Inc. has announced that earnings per share for the first quarter of 1990 were $1.03, an increase of 20 percent over the first quarter of 1989.

First quarter net income increased 19 percent to $403.8 million. Sales for the quarter were $1.8 billion, up 12 percent from the same period last year.

Sales growth for the quarter was led by new products, according to Dr. P. Roy Vagelos, chairman and chief executive officer of the health products firm. Both domestic and international operations reported unit volume gains.

Per share earnings were 49 cents, a rise of 4.3 percent. Total shareholders' equity was $284 million. Total assets were $3.8 billion, of which over $2.6 billion were loans. Deposits were $3.2 billion, an increase of 12.4 percent over a year ago.

Local firms win awards

Firms from Union and Roselle won major awards at the annual Asphalt Paving Conference sponsored by the Rutgers University Department of Civil Engineering and the New Jersey Asphalt Pavement Association.

Paving Materials and Construction Company of Roselle won the top award for a Commercial/Industrial New Construction project at Malter Terminals in Port Elizabeth of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

The award-winning project was the resurfacing of Route 130 in South Brunswick for the New Jersey Department of Transportation (DOT). Della Pello Contracting Company was cited for the high quality of its work in the hot mix asphalt repaving of a three-mile section of Route 130.
