TWO SECTIONS — 50 CENTS

ROBERT T. WELTCHEK
EX-MAYOR OF SPRINGFIELD

Former mayor is well-remembered

By MARK YABLONSKY
For many years, the name of Robert T. Weltchek was almost synonymous with Springfield itself. And whether it was in his capacity as a four-term township committeeman, an attorney, or later, as the township magistrate, he always seemed willing and eager to help.

But many of his friends and working colleagues also have other fond memories of Mr. Weltchek, who died early this past Friday morning from an apparent heart attack at the age of 65.

Mr. Weltchek, who was also an honorary permanent trustee at Temple Beth Ahm, was first elected to township committeeman in November 1970, along with then-fellow Democrat A. Arthur Caprio. The two joined with Nathan Stokes to give the township its first Democratic majority in nine years, and Mr. Weltchek remained in office for 12 years in all, winning re-election three times afterward.

control — a problem that was at least partly attributed to the construction of U.S. Highway 1-78.

thieves used in this recent theft, Springfield police believe both break-ins are the work of one crime group which specializes in stealing from car dealerships.

Cease and desist order halts a gold-coin pyramid scheme

In the third such action taken in the last two months, Attorney General Robert J. Del Tufo and Division of Consumer Affairs Director Patricia A. Royer announced today that the division's Bureau of Securities has issued a cease and desist order against a company suspected of running a pyramid scheme.

Under any of the company's six different purchase agreement plans, the customer agrees to pay a 15 percent to 20 percent purchase fee on the gold coins and either pays the balance within 90 days or becomes an associate with the potential to earn commissions, part of which goes toward the balance owed on the gold coins.

with pyramid schemes is that they will collapse. And when they do, many people will lose money," said Royer.

DESK WORK DISCOMFORT

If you sit at a desk most of the day, are you sometimes bothered by pains in your back and other muscles? Working in a sitting position for long periods of time can cause postural stress. This problem is compounded unless your chair is designed to give you support where it's needed, and unless you sit with the proper posture.

No one likes to go through life with nagging back pains. After a full day's work you want to be able to come home and relax comfortably with family and friends. And when you get up in the morning, you want to be able to feel refreshed and up-to-the-challenge of another day's work.

If you have a posture problem, if your spinal column is out of alignment and causing painful pressure on nerve centers, you may be able to benefit from treatment that brings welcome relief from pain and other discomfort. Don't let nagging back pain get you down. Do something about it.

Radiation facility is planned

One of the first chemical and radiation decontamination facilities in New Jersey is being installed this month at Overlook Hospital in Summit.

The decontamination facility will enable the hospital's emergency response team to treat an injured person at an accident site and transport the patient to Overlook without contaminating themselves or the equipment.

The facility and an intensive training program for approximately 200 Overlook staff members are partially funded by the Robert L. Mitchell Technical Center of the Hoechst Celanese Corporation and CIBA-GEIGY Corporation Pharmaceuticals Division, both of Summit.

"Overlook is strategically located for this facility because it is near heavy traffic corridors — such as Routes 78, 287 and the Garden State Parkway," said Dr. Keith A. Barston, manager of health, safety and environmental affairs at the technical center. "These highways carry a large volume of chemicals and radiation materials used in instrumentation and other applications of biological research."

Vacation homes are not vacations from tax laws

Your vacation home may be an escape from the daily pressures of city life, but it is not an escape from the rigors of tax law. ## Busy teenager can't tolerate idle moments

By BEA SMITH

Whether she's working in the editorial office in the Union Leader building, dancing in recitals, playing the piano, studying, reading, instructing classes in baton twirling or participating in Torah readings in her temple, Neve Shalom in Metuchen, 16-year-old Carole Irene Smith cannot tolerate an idle moment. She loves to keep busy, in some way, and she is generally rewarded for her efforts.

In fact, the attractive young teenager, formerly of Hillsdale, who resides in Colonia with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, who are formerly of Irvington, was nominated several weeks ago to be included in the 24th annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students." It is an honor reserved for only 5 percent of our nation's high school students each year," wrote Paul C. Crouse, publisher, to Smith's parents, "and I know you must be very proud of Carole's achievements."

The talented young Smith, who has started her second summer at the Union Leader typing and doing small editorial jobs in a part-time capacity, recently took time out from her duties to discuss her activities and her feelings about her latest achievement.

"I was surprised when my parents received the letter from 'Who's Who.' I was honored that I was chosen," she says modestly.

In addition to working weekends throughout the year in the newspaper office, Smith has had a very busy winter and spring. At Solomon Schechter Day School in Cranford, where she will begin her senior year in the fall, the young student served as advertisement editor for her school yearbook, "The Stepping Stone." Last year, she served as academics editor. At the recent awards assembly, she was inducted in the L'Mat Chapter of the National Honor Society. "I was one of two students selected in my class of 28."

only on the memorization of the pieces, but also on the quality of the legato and the tone. I felt the competition was successful," she smiles, "and I plan on re-entering next year."

Smith and her sister, Natalie Smith, 23, had danced together for the past 11 years at the European School of Dance in Edison. They both started their training in ballet at the age of 5. Natalie had attended the Calvin Coolidge School in Hillsdale before the family moved to Edison and then to Colonia. She was graduated from Douglass College, New Brunswick, at the age of 20, and even as an alumna, she continues to dance with the Hillsdale Dance Group of Rutgers University. She is employed by New Jersey Future, Highland Park, and teaches Hebrew to private students.

Carole, who also is a student at Metuchen Dageo Center, recently performed in an annual recital in two numbers, "2nd Street" and "Lemon Crush." She performed "Lemon Crush" in the Starpower National Championship competition held at the War Memorial Building in Trenton on April 22, and her group—won third place. "We will be performing 'Lemon Crush' in a second national competition at the Trump Plaza in Atlantic City on Aug. 1.

"I'm really looking forward to it," says Smith, excitedly. "Right now, of all the things I've been doing, I like dancing the best, and I'm most excited about Trump Plaza because that's an experience that few teenagers have."

Smith's parents, Leonard and Arlene, are exceptionally proud of their daughters. Her father is a public accountant in Amarama Hess Corp., Woodbridge. Her mother is a legal secretary for Thomas Shalowitz in Metuchen. She also is a Hebrew School teacher in Somerset.

Concerning her promising future, Carole says that she has been considering a number of colleges and universities. "I'm not sure which university I want to attend. I'd like to take up courses in foreign languages, mathematics, law, business and dancing. I'm really interested in being an attorney or a translator because of how I feel about mathematics and foreign languages."

"Then again," she muses, "I like my job so much at the Union Leader, and I'm really interested in journalism, too. It's definitely a good head start to my career in journalism that I might take up in the future."

OPINION

Whose Fault?

Over the past two weeks a federal judge has dismissed claims by three of New Jersey's largest insurance carriers that wanted their current disputes with the state government heard in U.S. courts. These disputes concern the state's demand that the carriers — Liberty Mutual Insurance, Continental Insurance and Allstate Insurance — as well as numerous other insurance companies, pay the state $1.4 billion for abuse of the Joint Underwriters Association, the now-defunct organization that an alliance of state and insurers established in 1983 to handle high-risk motorists denied coverage by private carriers.

The case has now been remanded to the state courts, unless these insurance companies appeal to a higher federal court. The state intends the $1.4 billion to go towards resolving the $3 billion debt the JUA incurred in its five disastrous years; the state claims that the insurers are at least that responsible for the mess. The three insurers mentioned deny the charges and claim they are being made the scapegoats for the state's mismanagement of the JUA.

The pot is calling the kettle black. It is evident that the state and the insurance companies who partook in the arrangement must share the blame for the costly fiasco.

The tale of the JUA is full of abuses of power, mismanagement, avarice and deceit. Yet the legislation establishing the public/private organization passed both houses unanimously, was signed into law by Governor Thomas Kean and welcomed by the insurance industry. Everyone, apparently, believed that this was the answer to the large pool of "assigned risk" drivers in the Garden State.

Kean made the bulk of the appointments to the JUA board, naming individuals from the insurance industry. And it was insurance industry personnel who handled the servicing of the state-wide organization. The state's Department of Insurance intervened in bringing the JUA to birth, was to act as watchdog.

It acted, instead, like a neutered chihuahua that hides under the sofa when no one's home.

The JUA started off by charging "high risk" drivers the same as low risk drivers were paying private companies. This was no way to accumulate a capital reservoir, and it was the state's mistake. It was also the state's error to then permit the JUA — after it had become apparent that its coffers were empty — to begin deficit spending to meet claims. The watchdog should have barked then, but there wasn't a peep. The state just didn't want to admit that the plan was not working, and Kean did not want to be the governor to raise insurance rates — not in 1984, an election year.

Meanwhile, the servicing personnel from the insurance industry were operating the JUA with an extravagance they would never have attempted in the private sector — after all, it wasn't their company's money.

Even more irresponsible was the behavior of a number of insurance carriers. Suddenly people who were in accidents they did not cause were, as never before, considered high risk and informed that they were uninsurable by private firms. These drivers were forced into — which is to say dumped upon — the JUA. It was a convenient way for insurance firms to protect their monies by shunting possible claimants — at, of course, the public's expense.

Eyes finally opened when the JUA stooped to the infamous surcharge in a desperate attempt to decrease its debt. But, because mismanagement and "dumping" had by then gotten so out of hand, the surcharge only served to infuriate New Jerseyans and lead to the JUA's overdue demise.

We agree with the present state administration that blame-worthy insurance companies should be made to pay the $1.4 billion without passing the cost onto their customers. We do not, however, think that insurance firms that took no part in the JUA arrangement — and there are a number of such carriers — should be assessed, and urge the governor to reconsider the indiscriminate penalty now proposed.

We would welcome any reasonable actions to hold errant officials from the former administration accountable. Considering the "old buddies" network among politicians, such legal actions aren't likely, and would not produce a couple billion dollars even if they did occur. It is the citizens who will pay for the former administration's wrongdoings.

There is a sad irony in this. Citizens, at least those who voted, elected the administration that, in the case of the JUA, let the weasels into the henhouse. We cherish our democratic form of representative government. Yet, apparently, we are far from mastering it.

Animals and experiments

A great deal of controversy surrounds the topic of using animals in scientific and medical research. At one extreme are those who say that there are sufficient research alternatives, and that animals should never be used in experiments. At the other end are those who believe that humans should be allowed a free rein in animal experimentation. The American Cancer Society believes that the proper course lies between the two.

Our national board of directors has issued the following position: "The American Cancer Society continues to support the careful, responsible use of animals in medical research, particularly cancer research, and has long advocated the use of non-animal systems whenever possible. The Society expects its research grants, individuals and institutions to be in compliance with the 1970 Federal Animal Welfare Act. This act provides that these procedures are conducted under supervision of a licensed veterinarian."

Most of what is known about human physiology has come from animal studies. The following benefits have resulted: cancer treatments, development of antibiotics, organ transplantation, as well as vaccination against smallpox, hepatitis, polio and other major diseases.

Insulin has saved millions of lives since it was first produced from the pancreas of cattle and hogs. Vitamin B12, which cures the deficiency in pernicious anemia, is another example of lifesaving substance extracted from animal sources.

Every drug must be tested on several species of animals before its proper dosage and side effects can be determined, and before it can be tested, with reasonable assurance of safety, on man. All of these steps are essential to determination of safety and efficacy in the management of patients having cancer and other diseases.

When the lifespans of animals with leukaemia were increased by the use of certain drugs, these drugs became candidates for treatment of children. However, each drug has to be tested for toxicity levels and for the best way of administering them, singularly or with other drugs. These determinations had to be worked out in animals in order to anticipate adverse effects on the brain, bone marrow, and kidneys.

Without preliminary animal studies, many children would have died in the attempt to find out whether the rationale of using drug combinations was sound. Today thanks to decades of research, childhood leukaemia is now curable in about 70 percent of all cases.

There is virtually no area of medicine that has not benefited enormously from appropriate animal model studies. We might also note that animals themselves receive benefits from animal research. In the course of AIDS research, for example, scientists discovered a vaccine for feline leukaemia.

Often, we can progress more rapidly only to the extent that researchers can find diseases in animals that simulate those in humans. Computer simulation could not replace animal testing, because no computer can predict the unusual reactions of drugs on the organ systems and on the metabolic processes. In some early phases of research, in vitro tests, done in test tubes, are available and are effectively used. Techniques for improving non-animal testing are under continuing development.

"It is not easy to sacrifice living things for the benefit of man," says John Laszlo, MD, American Cancer Society National senior vice president for research. "Scientists are extremely cognizant of their responsibility to society, and are usually among the leading ethicists and conservationists. Together with lay input, it is possible to strike a balance between the needs of humans, to make progress in treatment of human and animal diseases, and the need to protect the sanctity of living things."

I agree wholeheartedly with Dr. Laszlo. We must always respect life. But we must always keep in mind the great advances that have been made when we face this difficult question. In finding the balance, we must decide what will accomplish the most good for all.

Think About It

Which button switches the whatsit on?

By JOHN TARTAGLINO

Is it me?

Suddenly all my appliances are smarter than I am.

OK, so I'm not a Rhodes scholar, but it's getting so you need a degree in electronic engineering just to fry an egg.

Everything you buy is "Multi-Function Programmable," with chips, sensors and logic boards. What? No, it's "One-Function Workable."

For example, my answering machine is supposed to be able to do everything, but fill out my taxes. It took me two days of intense concentration just to figure out how to get it to record my calls. If you think I'll risk all that work to use it, I can get it to do anything else, you're nuts. I'll have to live without experiencing its special "Remote Multi-Functioning Message Re-assignment Capability." It'll be tough, but I'm a strong person...I'll make it somehow.

We have a microwave with more buttons than the space shuttle, but what do they do? What's "cook 1" and "cook 2"? I push the buttons, but I can't see any difference. There's also a button marked "probe" that worries me. I don't know what it does, but I'm in no real hurry to find out.

My VCR has exactly 25 functions. One day, I hope to find out if "record" is one of them. The manual tells me I can tape four separate shows on four separate channels on four separate days over a one-year period. The one thing it doesn't tell me is just why I'd need to do that.

A while back, my wife had to rent a car. It came with a radio. At least they said it was a radio. I have to trust them on that since we couldn't figure out how to turn it on. It had 17 buttons. I counted. Not only were there 17 of the "nasty little things," but they were real small because, after all, how else can you stuff 17 buttons on a car radio? Spinal-stem letters on some told me they were named things like "wfe" and "sop." Others didn't even have that. They just stared at me with muzzled, daring me to push them. I knew one of them was for the ejector seat, so I didn't "take the bait."

Incidentally, don't look for any help from the instructions that come with things. They aren't written in English. Oh, it seems like English. You'll find each individual word in the dictionary, but when you put them together they don't mean anything. When a page tells you to "interface" connect alternatively, you're in for

Jews welcome Mandela

Despite some differences over the Middle East, the American Jewish community is welcoming Nelson Mandela as the international symbol of human rights and justice that he became during his long imprisonment.

His clear statement in Geneva to a half dozen American Jewish leaders, that Israel has an unequivocal right to exist as any other sovereign state within secure borders, and that anti-Semitism, like all forms of racism, must be vigorously opposed, has been appropriate and commendable.

In welcoming Mr. Mandela, the American Jewish community, which has consistently opposed the evil system of apartheid, pledges renewed efforts to promote fairness and equality in South Africa.

It is no surprise, then, to note that a recent study of the American Jewish Committee finds that Jews have more positive attitudes toward blacks and a greater commitment to equal opportunity than do other white Americans. The study, titled "Jewish Attitudes Toward Blacks and Race Relations," is by Tom W. Smith, director of the General Social Survey at the University of Chicago's National Opinion Research Center. It finds that Jews are "consistently more supportive of racial integration than whites of any other religious preference," and that there is "no evidence of a Jewish backlash against the role of racial equality or against blacks as a group, either as part of a general movement away from liberalism or a specific result of racial conflicts with blacks."

Relations between blacks and Jews have been a subject of much recent conjecture and discussion. While we all bask in the racial harmony and good will engendered by the Mandela effect, the further evidence of the American Jewish Community study of black-Jewish understanding is very good news indeed.

"Project" a success

Jonathan Dayton High School's recent "Project Graduation" was an outstanding success thanks to the efforts of the P.T.S.O., the school administration and the Westfield Y.M.C.A., and thanks to the support of the many sponsors as well as the mayors of Mountainside and Springfield, and the Westfield police, and especially, thanks to the participation of the Class of 1990.

The P.T.S.O. arranged for all interested graduates to be transported to the Westfield Y.M.C.A. Monday evening following their graduation ceremony. The objective was to provide the graduates with a night of entertainment in a safe environment and keep them out of their cars and off the roads during their time of celebration. Throughout the night, the graduates participated in many activities including volleyball, basketball, racquetball, swimming and dancing to the music of a DJ. There was a constant supply of good food to go along with the non-stop activities. In all, almost 100 of the 144 graduates participated in "Project Graduation." At 6 a.m. the next morning, my wife and I had the pleasure of riding with the "weary, but happy graduates as they were transported back to the school where they were met by their parents to return home safely.

The success of the event resulted from a lot of hard work and close cooperation between the P.T.S.O. and the "Y." Throughout the night, the graduates were chaperoned by the P.T.S.O. and several members of the Westfield Police. Most important of all, absolutely everyone associated with "Project Graduation" was highly complimentary of the graduates. Their behavior was exceptional. The parents, the school and our communities should be proud of the fine adults they helped develop in Jonathan Dayton's Class of 1990.

A special thanks must go to the many individuals and businesses whose generous contributions made "Project Graduation" possible. The sponsors provided much more than a night of entertainment for the graduates. They provided a night of safe celebration free of any accidents that might mar the happy event. I hope there will be a "Project-Graduation '91" next year and that it will be an equal success.

Don't neglect fire safety during the cookout days

If you've ever tasted how delicious a steak can be when it's been grilled over charcoal outdoors, you'll realize why outdoor cooking is such a popular summer activity. But Commissioner Melvin R. Pinyas, Jr., of the state's Department of Community Affairs (DCA), urges barbecue chefs "not to overlook one important ingredient when cooking outdoors this summer — fire safety."

MVS awarded motorcycle $

Motor Vehicle Services has been awarded a $8,476 federal highway safety grant to produce an Alternate Motorcycle Operators Skill Test Practice Guide and $7,165 to set up 12 Alternate Motorcycle Skill Test MOST sites statewide, New Jersey Division of Highway Traffic Safety Director James A. Arena announced today.

Currently there is no guide book to help individuals prepare for the MOST test. The booklet will be given to all persons applying for a New Jersey Motorcycle license.

The MOST test will enable safety specialists to more accurately measure applicants' motorcycle riding skills. Applicants will be scored on the skills most critical for accident avoidance — stopping times and distance. "The MOST test will help Motor Vehicle Services staff to accurately and objectively score applicants test results, awarding licenses to the motorcycle operators who qualify, and thereby further improving the safety of our roadways," said Arena.

The federal funds for this project were issued by the New Jersey Division of Highway Traffic Safety.

Additional information on fire safety is available by contacting the Public Education Office, New Jersey Bureau of Fire Safety, CN 809, Trenton, N.J. 08625-0809.

SPRAINS AND FRACTURES OF THE FOOT AND ANKLE
By Dr. Michael Eglow
Sprains and Fractures of the foot and ankle bones are common and can result in long-term disability if not properly treated.
A sprain is a tear in the ligament that takes place when the ligament is stretched too far.
A fracture is a break in the bone that can happen in several ways. The most common break results when a ligament rips away a piece of the bone to which it is attached.
Pain and swelling accompany sprains and fractures, followed by discoloration due to injury to the small blood vessels around the injury. First aid should include application of ice to the injured area and keeping weight off the foot. Early attention is vitally important. Whenever you sustain a foot or ankle injury, you should contact your podiatrist right away.
Remember both you and the doctor are a team working toward a common goal, comfortable feet, so that you can remain active and fit in today's fast-paced lifestyle.

Budgeting for a vacation

A family of four vacationing by car this summer should budget an average of $173 for daily food and lodging plus $26 for each 200 miles of driving, advises AAA, New Jersey Automobile Club.

The $198 total is $6 more per day than last year's $192 suggested average budget.

"A family of two adults and two children should plan on spending about $80 a day for lodging, $93 for meals and $2.40 for each 100 miles of driving," said Michael Schwartz, manager of AAA's Motor Touring Department in Florham Park.

While New York, New Jersey and Washington, D.C. have high average room rates, Hawaii comes out on top at $165.42 double occupancy. North Dakota is the lowest at $90.07.

Average lodging rates used by AAA include a $5 daily charge per child, although some establishments don't charge for children. Dining expenses represent three meals a day and include a variety of entertainments.

"Vacation costs really depend on your family's preferences and budget," said Schwartz. "But be prepared to pay more if you visit an area during popular travel periods. For instance, if you take the family to Williamsburg, Virginia between now and Labor Day, you'll pay peak prices for a hotel room."

AAA's driving budget assumes the family car will average 23 miles per gallon. The budget includes allowances for gas, wear, oil and maintenance. Costs will vary depending on your car's fuel economy.

COUNTY LEADER NEWSPAPERS THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1990 - 2,3,4,5,6*

Stretch drive arriving

By MARK YABLONSKY

Now that the Fourth of July has come and gone, it's about time to get down to serious business in American Legion baseball. Indeed, there are now less than three weeks remaining in the regular season, and from here on in, the results within Union County League play will become more important, and perhaps even more significant.

And one of those games will take place tomorrow night at Rabkin Field, where Roselle and Union will clash for the second time in two weeks, 13 days after Union scored eight times in the top of the 12th inning to come away with a 10-2 win on June 23 in Rahway. The two teams will begin their rematch at 8 p.m.

And Roselle, a team whose only league loss has been to Union, is continuing to play well — and what an understatement. The Post-#28ers won four league games prior to the weekend, beating Westfield, 9-7, Kenilworth, 5-4, Summit, 2-1, and then Springfield, 10-0. In particular, the game with Kenilworth last Wednesday at Aminio Field turned out to be something of a thriller.

At first, it seemed that Roselle, after scoring three times in the bottom of the first inning, had things under control. Chad Hensler, this week's choice as CLN Player of the Week, lined a two-run double to right-center and soon scored himself on Tim Zawacki's two-out single.

Hensler then made that 3-0 lead stand up with six innings of two-hit, shutout ball from the pitching, before departing after reaching his pitch limit for that particular evening. That's when things got interesting. For Kenilworth, despite its 2-8 record, has given other teams including Elizabeth and Springfield — trouble as well; in fact, five of the team's losses have come by one-run margins. And Willie Nickel's crew spoiled Hensler's victory chances by breezing reliever George Doney with four runs in the top of the seventh inning, the big hit being a bases-clearing, three-run double from Jeff Barr that put the visitors ahead, 4-3.

But not for long. Doney, the eventual winning pitcher, led off the bottom of the seventh with a long-rod home run that traveled an estimated 400 feet, striking the booth atop the stands in right field to tie the score. Then, after Ed Zembryski singled and Hensler walked, Mike Massaro advanced both runners with a well-executed, 1-3 sacrifice bunt.

Tim Zawacki was walked intentionally to load the bases, but when pinch-hitter Dan Kuzynski couldn't connect on a suicide squeeze attempt, pinch-runner Joe Marretta was an easy target coming in from third base. Like Doney, however, Kuzynski redeemed himself — but by bunting to left field to plate Hensler with the game-winning run.

Against Springfield on Friday at Ruby Field, the #28ers simply put it away with seven runs in the top of the first inning, and then never looked back. There were six hits in the inning, including a two-run single by Marretta, and run-scoring singles from Dave Kahney and Hensler.

Springfield, which had also absorbed a 14-3 defeat in Union two nights earlier, managed two hits, both of them going to catcher Matt Gallaro: a clean single to right with two out in the second inning off of Nick Komen; and an infield off of Zawacki with one out in the fifth.

The game ended after five innings. Last Monday, meanwhile, Kenilworth had batter Clark, 8-6, targey behind the strength of a seven-run outburst in the top of the first inning. Scott Kinney singled home Kenilworth's first run with none out, and the lead soon became 2-0 when Ray Janowski drew a bases-loaded walk-off, 1-3 sacrifice bunt.

Peter Accomando and Kevin Bell both rapped two-run singles, and Chris Parkhill capped the inning with a run-scoring single. From that point on, Clark kept on pecking away at Kenilworth's eventual winning pitcher, Tim Kaufmann, and after six innings, the visitors' lead had been reduced to a single run.

But with one out in the seventh, Kinney walked and came around to score a big insurance run when Mike Archibald doubled to right-center with two on and none out in the bottom of the inning to retire the side and earn the save.

Springfield, finally, has had its share of ups and downs, but always, keeps on battling, despite its two one-sided defeats to Union and Roselle. The week started off favorably for the Post-#228ers when Edgar Utset spun a brilliant four-hit shutout to defeat Berkeley Heights, 9-3, in Berkeley Heights, Utset, who hails from Hillside, struck out 13 and walked just one, while aiding his own cause with a 2-for-4, two-run, two-RBI effort at the plate.

The following night, the #228ers dropped a tough 7-6 decision to Clark in Clark.

WHO'S ON FIRST?

This week's question: In 1971, the Baltimore Orioles had four 20-game winners on their pitching staff: Hall of Famer Jim Palmer (20-9), Dave McNally (21-5), Mike Cuellar (20-9) and Pat Dobson (20-8). Only one other pitching staff in big-league history did the same thing. Can you name the team, the year involved and the four pitchers? A clue: for two of these hurlers, it was their last-ever moment of glory.

Last week's answer: The only major league ever to get at least 35 home runs and 200 hits or more for three straight seasons is former Boston Red Sox slugger Jim Rice, who had 39 homers, 114 RBIs and 206 hits in 1977; 46 homers, 139 RBIs and 213 hits in his MVP year of 1978; and 39 homers, 130 RBIs and 201 hits in 1979. And keep in mind that Rice led the American League in homers in both '77 and '78, and in RBIs in '78. What's more, he hit well over .300 in all three of his record-setting years. Awesome!

And our congratulations go to Kurt Michael Wolf of Linden, who has won another $5 gift certificate to a local sporting goods store. Please have your responses in our Union offices — at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. — by no later than noon each Monday.

Continuing its rapid turnaround, Union Scoreboard of the Essex County Baseball League won two of three games this past week, beating Elizabeth, 10-6, last Tuesday on the grounds of Kean College, and then the Verona A's, 10-2, the following night back on the Union High varsity diamond.

Now at 9-8 overall, Scoreboard has now won nine of its last 11 games since a dismal 0-6 start. And while Union is now batting a collective .286, the team must now try to keep winning without its two of its top starting pitchers, Ken Hyde and Rob Shalhou, both of whom will be out for at least a couple of weeks.

Hyde recently had surgery on his right hand, while Shalhou was hit by a car last Thursday in Linden, suffering a concussion and stitches. He was released from a local hospital the following day.

A lot of the team's hopes, therefore, will rest with right-handers John Schmeier, Mike Riley and Greg Randazza. Two other pitchers, righties Keesee Hallingse and Cliff Dropp, can help, but as soon as Pete Lima of Westfield returns from an out-of-state commitment, "he definitely will move into the rotation," head coach Rick Matarano said.

"Well, it just seems that the guys who are still around are going to have to do a little more," Matarano said. Certainly, the offense is doing plenty right now. Having scored a total of 28 runs in its last three games — including last Monday's 10-8 defeat to West Orange — Union is showing

LAYING IT DOWN — Springfield batter Clayton Trivett attempts a sacrifice bunt during the second inning of last Wednesday night's Springfield-Union American Legion game at Union. Trivett's bunt was successful, and the also reached base safely on a fielder's choice play at second base. But a double play later killed hopes of a big inning. Springfield lost, 14-3.

Scoreboard wins twice

By MARK YABLONSKY

what kind of team it can be offensively.

And especially in the case of Union's Marc Crisafi, who almost came on to finish up in the sixth.

Whit Crisafi leads the team in RBIs, the team leader in hitting is Dennis McCaffery (.517). In total hits, it is Mike Gallaro, who has 17.

Randazza walked six and struck out six, while permitting three hits over the first five innings to improve his record to 2-1. Dropp and Hallingse came on to finish up in the sixth.

After Elizabeth scored three times in its half of the second inning, the score remained at 9-6 until Scoreboard added a single run in the sixth.

Roselle wins four times

By MARK YABLONSKY

The Roselle Junior American Legion baseball team won four more games this past week, three of them within league play, to increase its overall record to 14-2. Roselle is now 9-0 in league play.

Two of the wins were over Summit Recreation, 5-4 and 4-1, last Monday and this past Saturday, respectively. In the first Summit game, Roselle was down by a 4-3 count with two-out in the bottom of the seventh inning and one man on base.

But after Robbie Szlezak was hit by a pitch, Willie Byrnes delivered a game-winning, two-run double down the left-field line to win it, 5-4, for Roselle. Brian Figliorillo, who came on to strike out the side in the seventh inning, got credit for the win.

Brian Kosiba later hurled a complete-game, three-hitter and struck out 13 to beat Summit in the latter game. Offensively, Steve Lombardi paced Roselle with a 2-for-3 effort at the plate, including an RBI and a steal of home in the top of the sixth inning.

Roselle's other two wins were over Nutley, 13-3, last Tuesday; and over Rahway, 12-6, two nights later.

Summer league begins

The Linden Recreation Department kicked off its summer high school basketball league last Monday, June 25, with some exciting games. Union Catholic, led by guard Dennis Leonard's 17 points, squeaked by Montclair, 36-33. Montclair was led in defeat by forward Robert Mann, who had 10 points. Plainfield, led by 10 points from 6-6 center, Charles Jones, defeated Woodbridge, 37-29. Woodbridge got a solid effort in defeat from Sean Banks, who scored 11 points to lead his team's effort. Linden, led by sophomore sensation Waliy Dixon's 13 points, defeated J.F. Kennedy High School by a score of 56 to 22. J.F. Kennedy got a balanced team effort in defeat. Bishop Ahe defeated Hillside, 54-32. Bishop Ahe got a big life in scoring from Efrin Soils, who poured in 12 points. On Wednesday, June 27, Plainfield, which got 12 points from guard Steve Nelson, defeated J.F. Kennedy, 55-21. Craig Nakbone scored 10 points to lead J.F. Kennedy in defeat. Dixon poured in 19 points to lead Linden past Woodbridge, 71-32, with Rodney Zamir adding 10 points more. Sean Banks and Chris Pichalick led Woodbridge in defeat, each scoring nine points. Union Catholic, led by Leonard, who scored 24 points and currently leads the league in scoring — 41 points; 20 points per game — defeated Hillside, 40-29. Hillside was led in defeat by guard Steve Arrington.

A TOURNAMENT COMPLETE — There was a strong Roselle presence in the recently held New Jersey Knights of Columbus softball tournament, which came to an end with Roselle's Grey team prevailing, 8-3, over the Roselle Red team in the title game at Wan-nance Park. Holding the championship trophy are Union County Freshmen Walter McLeod, middle left, and Elmer Ertl, also Roselle's former mayor. Also shown are Carmen Dilli of Hillside, left, Roselle mayor Sam Colucci, and at the far right, tournament director Mark Szollner.

Midget Minutemen win

The Springfield Midget Minutemen began their season in true championship form this past week by defeating Kenilworth, 5-0, behind a convincing pitching performance by Jeff Miller, who struck out the first 11 batters he faced. Kevin Babernich also fueled the victory with timely hitting. Then, after dropping a 9-8 decision to Mountainside, Springfield faced Kenilworth again and this time won, 15-10, by overcoming two deficits with five big runs in the top of the seventh inning. Ralph Saracino, whose relief work enabled his team to nearly overcome an initial 8-0 deficit against Mountainside, was strong on the mound once again. Meanwhile, the hitting of Eric Fishman, Kevin Kravetz, Jeff Miller and Mark Wasserman led the Springfield attack. Fielding gems from Neil Jesucle and Chris DiCocco helped halt the Kenilworth offense.

'Open gym' in session

Roselle's annual summer "open gym" program is now in session and will run five days a week through Aug. 24. Sponsored by the borough's board of education, this year's open gym program will run in two stages: weightlifting and training are from 8 to 10:30 a.m., followed by drills and skills from 10:30 until 1 p.m. Also, a first-time baseball clinic, sponsored by the borough's recreation department, will run on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 1:15 to 4 p.m. at Arminio Field. Open to Roselle youngsters between the ages of 7-16, the clinic will cover "all phases of baseball," director Stan Kokic said. Further information about either event is available from Kokic at 298-2022.

One of Union County's finest players, Hensler enjoyed a 7-for-12, walk against Brooklawn, Westfield, Kenilworth and Summit, driving in the combined total of nine runs, slugging four extra-base hits, and creating home plate five times. Hensler also threw six innings of shut-out ball against Kenilworth in what became a no-decision for him.

By DEBBI AGINS
I was just telling a friend the other day that I was looking for a good Italian restaurant. The opportunity presented itself in timely fashion when I was asked to try Cortina Restaurant. Cortina is a special restaurant; a place where Old World charm and New York sophistication come together in a unique and inviting manner. The restaurant conveniently has two entrances, with ample parking near the front entrance after 5 p.m. and a large parking lot at the rear. The interior of Cortina is inviting, with fresh, homogenous roses on every table. The lighting is dim enough for a romantic evening, while still light and lively parties. Beautiful paintings by a talented local artist fill the walls. Owners Frank and Janice Romanelli have taken a lot of time and effort to make dining at Cortina a pleasant experience. Immediately upon our arrival, Janice approached my companion and I, introduced herself and personally escorted us to a perfect table. I watched her do the same for every party that came in to Cortina that night. The moment we were seated, Frank approached the table to offer his services. It is rare these days to find service as attentive as the Romanellis provide. While Frank chatted with us, we were brought delicious warm bread before ordering. The selection at Cortina is quite impressive. There is a full page listing appetizers alone, including three different types of soup ($1.95-$3.95) and a Caesar salad for two ($7.95). Since all entrees include a tossed green salad, we ordered appetizers. Mine was the Fragrant Ripient Ai Granchi ($5.75), large mushrooms stuffed with crabmeat and topped with a creamy Bearnaise sauce - delicious and filling. My companion chose the Antipasto Gamberi e Vongole ($6.75), shrimp in a light sauce and stuffed clams. I tasted both and found them to be equally as good as my mushrooms, particularly the shrimp. By the time our entrees arrived, I was slightly more proficient in Italian, and a lot more full. I had chosen the Gamberi Postrofino ($14.95), which, as promised, was shrimp baked in butter, garlic and herbs. There were a number of large, tender shrimp and the sauce was divine. My meal included a side order of either the vegetable of the day or the pasta. Baked ziti was chosen. The tomato sauce was nice and light. My companion chose one of the specials, Gnocchi, which was topped with a choice of marinara sauce or a meat sauce. He was quite pleased with the blend of beef and veal in the meat sauce. Other entrees included Chicken Parmigiana ($13.25), Veal Marsala ($14.75), and a large selection of pasta dishes. Though quite full after our plates were cleared, I willingly allowed myself to be coaxed into dessert. My companion, showing great restraint, ordered the fresh honeydew melon. I, on the other hand, could not resist the lure of the Home-made Chocolate Mousse Torte ($3.75) and was glad I gave in. I consider myself a chocolate mousse connoisseur, and Cortina's was definitely one of the best. Other desserts include Homemade Cannoli ($3.25), Homemade Chococaco ($3.75), and the Cortina Grand Marnier Souffle ($8.50). Be sure to try either the espresso or cappuccino along with your dessert. Before leaving, the Romanellis thanked us for coming, and I assured them we would return soon. We walked out full and content, and the best part is that I can now tell my friend that I found great Italian food at Cortina Restaurant in Cranford.
