TWO SECTIONS — 50 CENTS

Nine police officers are promoted, praised in ceremony at Town Hall

By DAVE WISE
The Springfield Police Department underwent some reorganization Tuesday night when the Township Committee unanimously approved the promotion of nine officers. These promotions are designed, according to Township Committeeman Jeffrey Katz, to enhance "the chain of command," and he called the approved measure "something to celebrate."

Inside the Town Hall, where renovation work is still incomplete, scores of people attended the swearing-in proceedings of the nine officers. With Township Clerk Helen Maguire presiding over the ceremony, as the Township Committee members and audience watched, patrol division Captain James Hietala was promoted to the investigative division at the identical rank; Vernon Peterson was promoted to patrol division captain; Detective Sergeant Robert Mason to patrol division lieutenant; Peter Hammer to investigative division detective lieutenant; Keith Strom to patrol division administrative lieutenant; John Trampler to patrol division sergeant; Peter Davis to patrol division sergeant; and Dan Mailing to crime prevention officer.

Accompanied by their wives, the officers made their pledges while at least a dozen people photographed them in front of the podium. Police Chief William Chisholm, coping with a bad cold, was also in attendance. Chisholm "came out of his sick bed to be here," said Mayor Philip Kumros, who publicly thanked the chief for his dedication.

All of the Township Committee members praised the promotions, which are effective today, and Mayor Philip Kumros labeled the township Police Department "one of the best in New Jersey."

"I know you'll do a good job," Kumros told the newly promoted officers.

Katz said the promotions were competitive, based upon scores that the officers received on their police exams.

Township Committee approves ordinances

By DAVE WISE

When most of the audience vacated Town Hall Tuesday night following the police promotion ceremony, the Springfield Township Committee approved several ordinances, three of which were passed with two abstaining votes.

The first ordinance, a law authorizing various capital improvements for the township, was approved by votes from the Republicans, consisting of Mayor Philip Kumros, Jeffrey Katz and Marc Marshall. The Democrats, Leo Eisen and Marcia Forman, abstained from the voting and each subsequently gave the reasons for doing so.

The newly passed ordinance appropriates $200,000 that was allocated as a budget line item, in order to pay for a number of township expenditures. Some of these expenses include the purchase of new office and emergency equipment, the replacement of school sidewalks, and funding for the Springfield Minutemen football program.

After the votes were taken, Eisen said he abstained because the ordinance authorizes some purchases which may be unnecessary. Forman, who also abstained, said she did not have sufficient time to review the ordinance to make an informed decision.

Another ordinance, in its first introduction, was approved by the three Republicans with the two Democrats abstaining again. This ordinance amends an earlier one that regulates canvassing and soliciting in town. If approved on its final hearing in December, the amendment will require canvassers and solicitors to obtain identification cards from the Township Clerk.

Language in the prior ordinance only requested that individuals apply for a permit before soliciting door-to-door and on public streets. But according to some Township Committee members, the law did not deter scam artists and other thieves who were free to prey upon the community without detection. Katz, for instance, cited a few examples of how residents were duped by robbers who entered their homes with the pretense of being solicitors.

The greatest advantage of the new ordinance, according to its sponsors, is that it requires canvassers to have identification cards "prominently displayed on the front of the outermost garment of the individual such that it would be readily observable." The law, in effect, virtually eliminates the opportunities for fraud since canvassers must show who they are.

The ordinance also stipulates fees and penalties for violating its provisions. Non-profit organizations and those engaged in money-making ventures must pay $5 and $25, respectively, while violators may be subjected to a maximum fine of $1,000 and 10 days in the Union County Jail.

Eisen abstained on the ordinance's vote, claiming the law is too broad as it excludes student solicitors like the Boosters. He proposes to narrow the ordinance's scope and re-introduce it at a later hearing.

Forman too abstained, telling the committee that she didn't have adequate time to review the ordinance.

The committee passed a third ordinance with the Republicans voting aye and Democrats abstaining. This law amended two zoning ordinances which pertain to commercial signs and Planning Board application fees.

The revised ordinance specifies how, and for how long, businesses may hang temporary commercial signs like "banners, advertising flags, inflatable devices, streamers and similar material intended to be displayed."

The ordinance includes such language as: "The temporary sign(s) shall be removed within two weeks of its display for viewing by the general public. However, in no event shall the temporary sign be exhibited for a period greater than six weeks from the date of issuance of the required permit."

Additionally, the law addresses a financial burden that often beset the township when companies or individuals approached the Planning Board. A number of times, after an individual or company submitted an application to the Planning Board, the township was forced to pay for related professional consultation fees.

Now, under the new law, board applicants are required to deposit a minimum technical fee of $250 into an escrow account, which the board may use if deemed necessary.

Eisen and Forman both abstained from the vote, and told other committee members they had little time to review the ordinance.

Forman ended her remarks by applauding the New Jersey Federation of Planning Officials (NJFPO) for its attempt to introduce legislation that would mandate an educational program for members on municipal planning and zoning boards. The committeewoman said all local planning officials should be required to take such instruction.

Kumros closed the meeting with the call for more diligence in solving Springfield's traffic problems.

"We need to form a traffic division in our police department," he commented. "There are still too many accidents and too many people hurt."

Before the session concluded, Kumros reminded residents that his new anti-substance abuse committee, The Alliance, still needs an additional volunteer before it can begin.

Safe rides are offered in town for high schoolers

By DAVE WISE

For high school students of Springfield and Mountainside, there is an alternative to driving home under the stupor of alcohol and/or drugs. Students leaving weekend parties, rather than risk life or limb, can now have volunteers safely take them home.

This opportunity is offered by Safe Rides/Safe Homes, a non-profit organization composed of more than 100 student and adult volunteers from Springfield and Mountainside.

According to one of the program's organizers, Jamie Schutz, a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and Safe Rides/Safe Homes Explorer Post president, the group is committed to helping impaired drivers without making value judgments.

Said Schutz: "Safe Rides does not condone drinking and driving, but rather we recognize that this problem does exist and we provide a solution."

The primary goal of Safe Rides is to reduce the number of fatal accidents that are so prevalent among the young. Each year, thousands of high schoolers die in car wrecks after a night of drinking at parties. Many of these types of accidents are preventable, the only prerequisite is a sober driver behind the wheel.

Ideally, a group of teen-agers at a party should have a designated driver, a person who abstains from all intoxicating substances. Since this option is not always available, Safe Rides "will provide free and confidential rides to those students who are intoxicated or those who don't want to drive with someone who is impaired," said Schutz.

The secondary role of Safe Rides is to highlight the negative effects of substance abuse, not through classroom instruction, but by example. The teen volunteers project themselves as positive clean and sober role models, individuals that others may aspire to emulate.

Although alcohol consumption is prohibited to those under 18 years of age, Safe Rides realizes that some high schoolers will still probably drink regardless of the law. The organization, jointly sponsored by the governing bodies of Springfield and Mountainside, is therefore committed to helping teen-agers as opposed to serving as an informant to parents and police.

Safe Rides was first implemented in Darien, Conn., during 1981, after a fatal drunk-driving accident involving a high school student. The program started at Jonathan Dayton in 1985 following the death of a student, but became inactive for a long period — until last year's graduation.

Springfield and Mountainside passed resolutions last spring to commemorate the program, which was reinstated to provide a safe return home for Dayton seniors leaving from graduation parties.

Headquartered at the Mountainside Borough Hall, program volunteers monitor telephone calls on Friday and Saturday evenings, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Each shift is staffed with four students and one adult on any given night, and volunteers use a car anonymously supplied by a Mountainside resident.

A scenario demonstrating Safe Rides in progress would be the following: On Friday night, a group of teen-agers are at a Springfield party where a few alcoholic drinks are served. Two people, both somewhat intoxicated, decide to leave. Instead of driving off in their present state, however, they phone Safe Rides at Mountainside Borough Hall. After getting their address, a male and female volunteer arrive at the party, pick up the passengers and escort them to their respective doors.

EDUCATIONAL PLANNING — Kenneth Bernabe, on far left, principal at Florence M. Gaudineer School in Springfield, recently met with residents to evaluate Education Week activities. Shown here, from the left, are PTA President Marie Florio, Irene Ficchi, and Rita Conte. During the week, parents were invited to Gaudineer to visit their child's classes while in session. Because studies show the importance of parental involvement in the education of students, the Gaudineer PTA works closely with Bernabe and the faculty to foster such interaction.

ARTISTS IN BLOOM — Every fall and spring, students in the Talented Art Program at Florence M. Gaudineer School in Springfield are given opportunities to draw nature and architecture. Students perform quick on-the-spot sketches, then bring the drawings back to the studio to fully develop them. Instructor Helen Frank, standing, left, helps Michael Greenberg with a sketch while other students draw trees, buildings, cars, passersby, and other subjects. The Talented Art Program is designed for students with proven artistic ability.

Town to celebrate at a holiday gala

Springfield officially enters the yuletide season tonight at 7:30 p.m. when the township holds a celebration at the Springfield Municipal Building to ring in the upcoming holidays.

Township officials, such as Mayor

Philip Kumros, Jeffrey Katz, Leo Eisen, Marc Marshall and Marcia Forman, joined by fellow Springfielders, will participate in a festive evening of caroling and pastry munching. This celebration will include the traditional lighting of the tree and recently purchased holiday decorations which have been placed around Town Hall. Refreshments like hot chocolate and donuts, donated by local merchants, will be served to residents, who are in for a musical treat as well. Local choirs are scheduled to attend this annual holiday, which is open to all who would like to come.

Seminar is scheduled

On Dec. 7, at Down's Hall on the campus of Kean College in Union, the Union County Economic Development Corporation will sponsor a seminar titled "Environmental Regulation and Liabilities: Taking Action."
The cost is $15 per attendee — $20 at the door — and the format is that each registrant will attend two of the three sessions. For further information, one can call Kathi Walker at 527-1166.

Students to be awarded

The New Jersey Hospital Association (NJHA) and its research affiliate, the Health Research and Educational Trust of New Jersey (HRET) have awarded scholarships to two state residents pursuing graduate education in the field of healthcare administration. Bruce Landon of Springfield and Peter Banko of Piscataway were honored recently at the annual NJHA Golf and Tennis Tournament, which helps fund the scholarship program.
According to NJHA President Louis P. Schetta, the scholarship committee chose the two students because it recognized the potential each has to contribute significantly to healthcare in New Jersey. "The caliber of our scholarship recipients was outstanding," he said. "These remarkable young people are deserving of the financial assistance needed to complete their graduate degrees."
Landon also received a $4,000 award from the HRET/NJHA scholarship fund. A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Landon is currently an M.B.A. candidate in healthcare management at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School. "I have always been attracted to medicine," Landon said. "Healthcare administration enables me to explore the business side of the medical profession."
Banko was awarded a $4,000 scholarship for his continued studies at Cornell University. A graduate of the University of Notre Dame, Banko most recently completed an internship at St. Peter's Medical Center in New Brunswick. "The scholarship program is important, as it encourages young people to enter into the rewarding career of hospital administration," he said. "I view this career as a chance to make a powerful, non-clinical impact on the healthcare system."
HRET and NJHA established the HRET Administration Scholarship in 1982, in recognition of the cost of graduate education and increased demand for high caliber healthcare management.

FASHION BENEFIT — Auxiliary members of the Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation raised approximately $20,000 for Kessler's Patient Services Fund during a fall fashion show. Fashioners for the show, which was held at Mayfair Farms in West Orange, were provided by Saks Fifth Avenue. Pictured here, from the left, are auxiliary members Harriet Freeman of Short Hills, Chickie Stevens of Springfield, and Rosalie Joel of Watchung.

FIRST AID LESSONS — Springfield First Aid member Jerry Gebauer, on right, with assistance from Cub Scout Joey Porter, provides a first aid demonstration to St. James Cub Scout Pack 73 at a recent pack meeting.

Funds offered to majors

A $750 scholarship is available for college students pursuing a career in health care, public relations, marketing, journalism, or communications. Qualified students must reside in New Jersey, be enrolled in a four-year accredited New Jersey college or university completing their sophomore or junior year in June 1991 and undertaking a course of study as specified. Forms outlining application requirements for the 1990 scholarship will be available in college guidance offices. The deadline is April 1, 1991. For additional information, contact Lisa Wasser-Berlin at 266-8506.

YMCA holds registration for hockey

Registration opens on Dec. 4 at the Summit Area YMCA for youngsters who want to participate in recreational team play for both Indoor Hockey and Indoor Soccer.
Indoor Soccer League is for boys and girls currently enrolled in Grades 2 and 3 and will be limited to the first 40 youngsters who register. Games will be played on Sunday afternoons between 3:30 and 6:30 p.m. from Jan. 13 through March 3.
The fee for each league is $40 and includes a team T-shirt and equipment. Volunteer coaches are needed. For more information, contact Sarah Spataro, YMCA Physical Director, at 273-3330. The Summit Area YMCA is a United Way Agency serving all members of the community regardless of their ability to pay.

Scout camp announced

Washington Rock Girl Scout Council, which includes Girl Scout troops in Springfield, Mountainside and Kenilworth, has announced the creation of a special Vacation Camp for girls to coincide with winter and spring vacations.
Located at Camp Hoover in Mid-dleville, Vacation Camp is scheduled for two sessions, Feb. 17-22 and April 1-6. Both Girl Scout members and non-Girl Scouts in grades 1 through 9 will be able to attend the camp.
"The Vacation Camp program will offer a variety of activities including hiking, gymnastics, crafts, sports, campfires and horseback riding. Weather permitting, the girls will also have the opportunity of enjoying ice skating and cross country skiing," according to Camp Administrator Peggy Mellors.
Overlooking Swartswood Lake, Vacation Camp will utilize the seven modern winterized buildings at Camp Hoover. Experienced adults will supervise the girls, who will be divided by age in the five large heated chalets, while two large program buildings provide ample space for varied indoor activities.
Teenage counselors will also be on hand to assist in the program. Girls in grades 10-12 may apply to be a volunteer apprentice counselor. Further information about Vacation Camp may be obtained by calling Washington Rock Girl Scout Council at 232-3236.

ONE STUDENT'S OPINION — Kathy McCabe, a student at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, addresses members of the Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 during an annual press conference between the board and regional district students. The event, which provided open dialogue between the two groups, was held this year at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark.

Regional BOE will meet

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 will hold a regular meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 4, at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain Avenue, Springfield.
The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton, David Brainerd Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.
The board is expected to discuss the results of the district's testing of students using the Stanford Test of Academic Skills and the Otis-Lennon Test of Mental Ability.
In addition, the report of the item analysis of the High School Proficiency Test administered last spring will be reviewed by the board.
All residents of the regional district, parents of students attending district programs and teaching staff members at the four regional high schools are invited to attend the meeting. Public comments are invited.

Home hazards exhibited at the library

The meeting of the Mountainside Public Library board of trustees, originally scheduled for Monday, Dec. 17, has been changed to Monday, Dec. 10, and will be held at 8 p.m. in the Emma Weber Meeting Room at the library.
The meeting of the Mountainside Home Hazards exhibit will be held at the library. Many air fresheners contain formaldehyde, a known carcinogen. Alternatives suggested include an open bowl of vinegar, baking soda, or popcorn to eliminate odors.
This unique exhibit includes free brochures describing alternative cleaning products and information about how to dispose of already-purchased hazardous products.

Dennis Giordano of Springfield and Susan L. Aranes of Kenilworth, are among 14 area residents who will be honored on Saturday, Dec. 1, upon successful completion of Union County College's Child Care Provider Program, which certifies them to begin careers in the child care field. Those who will have completed the non-credit program, begun in September, will receive certificates at a ceremony in the College's Cranford campus main lecture hall.
With the certification, sponsored by the American Nanny Academy, the "graduates" will be qualified to become nannies, operate a home-based day care center or become a teaching assistant in an existing day care center.
The Student Government Association at Union County Vocational-Technical School, Scotch Plains, recently elected its new officers for 1990-91 including Michele Murray of Springfield, who was appointed as treasurer.
Anthony G. Amirano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Amirano of Roosevelt Lane, Kenilworth, and a student at Seton Hall Preparatory School, West Orange, has been named as an Edward J. Bloustein Distinguished Scholar.
The scholarship carries an award of up to $2,000 for four years of study at a New Jersey college or university. Twenty-one Seton Hall preparatory students, representing 11 percent of the senior class, have been selected to participate in the 1991-92 Garden State Scholarship Program.

Staff members honored

Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside recently honored 42 staff members at its annual Staff Recognition Event for service records of five, 10 and 20 years. Trisha Yurochko of Mountainside, who works in the hospital's Education Department, was among those honored for 10 years of service.
"We offer congratulations to all those staff marking milestones this year," commented Richard B. Ahlfield, president of Children's Specialized Hospital. "The 42 people honored, along with all staff members, work hard to make Children's Specialized a caring, special hospital." Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation facility for children and adolescents who have congenital disorders, accident-related injuries and other afflictions.

Skating classes noted

The Summit Area YMCA is conducting its popular preschool ice skating program for four and five year olds at the Beacon Hill Club, 250 Hobart Ave., Summit. Classes are currently being held mid-mornings or early afternoons, Monday-Friday, at the refrigerated outdoor rink at the Beacon Hill Club.

"Ice skating is a wonderful way for children to have fun while exercising and to improve their balance and coordination and to learn a new skill that can be enjoyed throughout a lifetime," according to YMCA staff members.

Class size is limited to 10 children per class. Basic skills such as balancing, gliding, stopping and forward and backward skating will be stressed in the beginner classes. Advanced classes are offered for children who have mastered unassisted skating.

The instructor for all classes is Dawn Cushing, a Gold Medalist figure skater with six years of competitive experience who has been on the Beacon Hill professional staff for four years.

The fee for each five-week season, two lessons per week, is $70. Participants must be either a Summit YMCA member or a Beacon Hill Club member. YMCA annual youth membership is $30.

In addition to the 10 scheduled lessons, each child may attend on practice session per week. Parents are encouraged to join their child on the ice during practice time for $3 per session.

The Beacon Hill Club has a professional shop equipped to meet all ice skating needs. For more information, one can call the Summit YMCA, 273-3330. Only limited space is still available in the first five-week session.

ON STAGE — Kimathi Choma of Roselle, left, and Blake Haggerty of Mountainside, right, who are students at the Vall-Deane School in Mountainside, rehearse for the school's fall play, 'The Diviners,' by Jim Leonard Jr., to be presented Friday and Saturday, Dec. 7 and 8, at 8 p.m. The play is directed by Vall-Deane Upper School drama coach Karl Sikkenga. Tickets may be purchased at the school.

Kenilworth senior citizens organize holiday events

The Senior Citizen Club of Kenilworth has announced that the trip to Radio City Music Hall in New York and luncheon on Tuesday, Dec. 4, has been sold out, but that the following activities have also been scheduled:

- Wednesday, Dec. 5 — Regular monthly membership meeting.
- Wednesday, Dec. 12 — Annual anniversary and Christmas luncheon.

dance to be held at the Town and Campus in Union starting at noon.

The club held a birthday party Nov. 20 honoring five seniors born in November. Club vice president Charles Vitale introduced the following honorees: Ann LaCosta, Stella Lysko, Annette O'Malley, Mildred Rustiniak and Betty Weber.

The party featured a Thanksgiving theme with seniors dressed as pilgrims and Indians. Clara Cherenco, Ann Prosseda, Helen Krynicki and Joe Angen led the sing-a-long, and birthday cake and coffee were served to all who attended.

The club announced that its annual holiday craft boutique held Nov. 16, 17 and 18 was a success, and that there are a few items still available at the Senior Center on the Boulevard for those who missed the boutique.

The club also reported that the dressing of bears for the Retired Seniors Volunteer Program — Salvation Army Christmas party for children is progressing under the direction of club members Miriine Leikauskas and Ann Londino.

Hospital to hold series on lifesaver techniques

Overlook Hospital, 99 Beauvoir Ave., Summit, will be holding several cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training courses next month, which have been designed to instruct participants in techniques which can help restore victims of accidental death to normal, functioning lives.

A 14-hour certification class will be held on Dec. 5, 6, 11 and 13 from 7 to 10:30 p.m. which will teach participants one-person and two-person CPR; infant and child resuscitation and obstructed airway techniques, along with testing to complete the American Heart Association requirements for certification. The fee for the course is $40.

Little Heartsaver classes, a 3 1/2-hour training session for infant and child CPR, will be held Dec. 17 and 20, from 7 to 10:30 p.m., and is especially recommended for parents and babysitters.

The course teaches participants life-saving skills when resuscitating an infant or small child, and covers all types of emergencies. Little Heartsaver is approved by the American Academy of Pediatrics. The fee is $25.

The Heartsaver course, which involves 3 1/2 hours of training in one-rescuer CPR and obstructed airway techniques, will be held Dec. 19 from 7 to 10:30 p.m. The fee for this course is $15. This course will cover risk factors, early warning signs and other practical information regarding heart attack victims and how to handle such emergencies.

Overlook has also developed a course called "Emergency! First Five Minutes!" The two-hour class, which is available to civic organizations, schools and business groups upon request, teaches participants the correct management of various illnesses and accidents until a rescue squad arrives.

Participants in all CPR training classes may purchase for $6 a Microshield Protective device to be used first on the training mannequin and then carried in a convenient and small vinyl case in the event that it is ever needed.

Overlook Hospital made the shields available in response to recent concerns by area residents over possible transmission of the AIDS virus during mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. The shield protects against any transmission of fluids between rescuer and victim.

All of the above classes are held either at Overlook Hospital or local sites, depending on the needs of the group or business. Day or evening hours are arranged according to the convenience of the group and people. For further information, one can call 322-2365.

THE WHOLE TOOTH
The Stain of Tetracycline

It's well-known that infection-fighting antibiotics, the family of so-called "miracle drugs," can produce unusual — sometimes harmful side effects if a patient is allergic to them. Less familiar to the public is the fact that one group of antibiotics, the tetracyclines, can stain children's teeth. The risk of discoloration is present if the antibiotic is taken while the primary teeth are forming.

The critical periods, according to the U.S. National Institutes of Health, are the last trimester of pregnancy and the first three months of the infant's life. Tetracycline administered to a pregnant woman or an infant in those times can stain the dentin of the baby's teeth. The stains can be seen as soon as the teeth emerge.

Permanent teeth can also be affected by the antibiotic. The sensitive period runs from the third month to the eighth year. It can take several years for the stains to appear.

You should not be alarmed if staining occurs. There's no health hazard, and the teeth will function normally as tooth enamel is rarely weakened by tetracycline. Just keep in mind that teeth, with proper care, can last a lifetime.

As with most cosmetic dental deficiencies, the stains caused by tetracyclines can be effectively removed. Preventing their occurrence, however, is by far the better course. Prevention is the ultimate goal of sound medical care generally, so you should not hesitate to discuss with your physician the use of alternative medication during the vulnerable times.

Yule traditions to be featured

Holiday customs of 18th and 19th century New Jersey will be featured at the Miller-Cory House Museum, 614 Mooman Ave., Westfield, on Sunday, Dec. 2, from 2 to 5 p.m. Christmas was not celebrated at this time as it is today, with Santa Claus, Christmas trees and door wreaths.

However, holiday traditions brought to New Jersey by the English, Dutch, Germans, Swedes and French will be highlighted at the museum during December. Dorothy Gars of Westfield will be among the museum docents who will explain various holiday traditions displayed in the farmhouse, which dates to 1740.

In Dutch homes, children placed carrots and straw in their wooden shoes. According to legend, when St. Nicholas arrived, his horse would fill the carrots and straw, and he would fill the shoes with treats.

Balled-thread embroidery will be demonstrated during the afternoon by Marion Martin of Westfield. This special type of embroidery is worked on linen using a heavy thread with both the background and design often in one tone.

Patricia Mason of North Plainfield and Marie Romano of Hillside will prepare a St. Nicholas Day meal over the open hearth in celebration of the Dec. 6 Dutch holiday.

Holiday shopping can be done in the gift shop fully stocked with items for all ages. Anyone wishing additional information may call the office at 232-1776.

Cultural exchange accepts applicants

Nacel Cultural Exchanges is now accepting applications for homestay programs in France, Germany, Spain and the Ivory Coast. Students may choose two departure dates in July and August as well as travel options before the homestay.

Students depart from and return to JFK Airport in NYC. Starting at $1,195, the program aims to enrich students lives through a new culture and language. "A homestay is a meaningful way to learn first-hand about everyday life by becoming part of a family," says coordinator Mary Mazza. Nacel offers summer study seminars abroad with classes and excursions, including a three-week stay in Dublin for students ages 16-18 where students live with families and study literature and lifestyle; three-week stays in Paris, Madrid or the Soviet Union for teens ages 16-18 with classes and trips.

For more information about the Nacel Cultural Exchange Programs, call Mary Mazza, 609-451-6415 or write to her at P.O. Box 201, Bridgeton, NJ 08302, for information.

Alzheimers help offered

In observance of November as National Alzheimer's Disease Month, the Summit area Association for Gerontological Endovior (SAGE), has announced that help is available in the Summit area for people who are afflicted with Alzheimer's Disease and their families.

According to Carolyn Epstein, executive director of SAGE, "families and victims of this debilitating disease are often unaware of the variety of cost-effective services that are available in the Summit area to help ease their burden."

"Organizations such as SAGE are ready to assist," Epstein said, "with services ranging from support groups for family members to help them cope with the stresses and emotional issues of caregiving, to adult day care, home health aides and meal delivery service for elderly victims of Alzheimer's Disease."

Anyone wishing to obtain more information about care choices are invited to call SAGE headquarters in Summit at 273-5550.

Recycle Pete greets officials

At the 75th annual New Jersey State League of Municipalities Conference, Recycle Pete, a large recycling bottle with arms and legs visited many borough officials there. Recycle Pete is sponsored by the Plastic Recycling Corporation, who assist in establishing local plastic recycling programs, and are funded by the National Association for Plastic Container Recovery and local soft drink bottlers.

OPINION

Watching the Watchers

The Union County Board of Freeholders announced last week that it will seek to cut governmental costs in order to reduce its budget, and will only lay off county workers as a last resort.

Initiating the effort to save money, a hiring freeze has been instituted and Freeholder Chairman Gerald Green is asking the board not to approve any new programs for 1991. Where the cuts in the current county government will take place has not yet been revealed.

One area we hope will come under scrutiny is the situation at the county jail. According to our county government sources, a certain clique of correctional officers has established a simple, effective method for siphoning undeserved money from the county. A group of guards has, reportedly, been jacking each other's overtime by systematically taking sick days when they aren't sick. One guard is making time and a half — the scenario goes — while the "sick" guard is drawing his regular pay plus whatever he takes in from jobs on the side.

A cute little arrangement, but hardly what county administrators understood by "sick days with pay" when they signed the contract with the correctional officers' union. This alleged activity of certain guards amounts to a fraudulent abuse of contract. In as much as taxpayers are footing the bill for unnecessary overtime, the arrangement is a conspiracy against the public.

This is not to say that there aren't honest guards at the Elizabeth facility, or that all the overtime amassed has been unnecessary. Because of overpopulation and understaffing at the jail many overtime hours have been needed. But the whippers we have heard indicate an abuse beyond the call of duty — an abuse that is milking the taxpayer.

We hear whispers, and not angry shouts, because the correctional officers' clique is, reportedly, a powerful one. County officials know what is going on. Green himself has termed this sick day/overtime scheme the "buddy-buddy system." Other freeholders shake their heads and say the situation is incurable. When word circulates that this or that county official is seriously looking into the jail guard predicament, these particular guards allegedly send their nominal supervisors a warning to back off.

For instance, guards can make prisoners angry by means of intimidation. Upset and unruly prisoners can mean that more guards, drawing overtime, may have to be called in. Furthermore, the jail gets bad press, which rebounds on the administrators, who are now more reluctant to point to the guards, et cetera.

Recently, an area newspaper frontpaged a story about the county jail's ceiling falling down. It's true that some plaster fell, but it wasn't much and no one was hurt. It was hardly front page material. But the mysterious Chicken Little who called the newspaper knew the kind of play the tale would receive, and that it would be the county administration and the freeholders who would be made to look bad.

"When a new freeholder came on the board a few years ago, he wanted to go after this overtime waste at the jail," said a county official who desired anonymity. "Everyone told him to forget it, that the guards were like a little Mafia and had a lock on their scam."

Let's not forget it. While the county officials are having their "hard look," let's insist they look at this possible defrauding of the taxpayer at the county jail and act accordingly. A cap on how much money the department of Corrections can spend, along with a revised policy on overtime aimed at the abusers, would be a reasonable way to start. If what is said about a guards' clique is true, then a not-too-pleasant reaction, involving disruptions at the jail, can be expected. It'll be a tough fight, but if the county officials zeroing in on the abuse will plainly and persistently make their case known to the public, the light of day may actually fall on the connivers. Then the guards' ultimate employer, the taxpayers, can force the schemers to a more acceptable level of responsibility.

There are, of course, other areas of county government where cuts will have to be made. Dividing the burden equally among the departments would be, in general, a fair way to proceed. But the kind of manipulative abuse and intimidation alleged about the guards' clique is more than a waste of money. It's an insult to all of us, and must not be tolerated.

Attention, H.S. parents

For more than 50 years high school students residing in Springfield and Mountaineer have been enrolled within the Union County Regional High School District No. 1. These students attend the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Because of the enactment of the Quality Education Act of 1990, which was signed into law by Governor Florio last July 3, tuition programs and services of the Regional District may be in jeopardy. Provisions of this law will have an adverse impact upon the Regional District. Because of this, I feel compelled to make sure that all parents are properly informed about the Quality Education Act of 1990 and its impact upon the Regional High Schools.

As the law is presently written, top flight suburban school districts, such as ours, will be devastated by the school-year 1995/96 due to a severe loss of state school aid and unusually heavy extra costs to be paid for teacher pension and Social Security benefits. The Regional High School District is one of those 146 school districts which will lose all of its foundation aid and be forced to pay for teacher pension and Social Security costs which the state of New Jersey has traditionally paid themselves for the past 35 years. And, those costs are anticipated to rise an additional 10 percent each year.

From 1992/93 to 1995/96 — a four year period — we expect to lose more than $1 million a year. This is due to the loss of foundation aid as well as our obligation to pay for teacher pension and Social Security costs. With the additional prospect of the pension and Social Security costs increasing by 10-11 percent each succeeding year, we shall be in a very serious financial crunch by 1995/96.

While the impact of such a serious loss of funds will be felt by all of us, the strongest part of this scenario may well be that the governor and legislators believe that Springfield and Mountaineer residents are wealthy enough to make up the difference.

The powers that be in Trenton believe that these residents are capable of increasing their level of taxation for school purposes because of their income and property wealth. This is difficult to believe! In light of more federal taxation, higher state taxes on many items, and the need for municipal and county taxation, many parents in this district will not be able to contribute more than their fair share to support the schools. Knowing this, the Regional Board of Education will continue to maintain a policy of quality education with cost containment. As we begin our annual process of budget development, this will be uppermost in our minds.

But, as parents and residents of the Regional District, Springfield and Mountaineer taxpayers have a responsibility to understand how the Quality Education Act of 1990 will adversely affect their high schools in the years ahead. For, if this law continues on its present course without significant changes and the "more taxation" attitude continues from Trenton despite recent election results, they may find dramatically different high schools by the year 1995/96. I urge all residents of Springfield and Mountaineer to become familiar with this new law and the impact on school funding. And, once they take note how this law affects them personally, they may wish to contact their state legislators to let them know about increasing taxation much more than ever before because of supposed property wealth and high income levels. Additional high levels of taxation for our residents is not a realistic option. In our opinion, all voices must be heard if education, as we currently know it, is to survive.

State We're In

Do not standardize planning regulations

By DAVID F. MOORE

With the present glut of unneeded construction, developers are looking for a more useful scapegoat than a mere recession. Not surprisingly, they have settled upon the development approval process, something they see standing between them and quick profits, to blame for their troubles.

Developers see a handy solution in the form of state legislation, which would give the Department of Community Affairs (DCA) power to standardize local planning processes.

These developers find themselves putting up buildings faster than they can sell them, prices are going down and competition is going up. In this situation, they know that it's to their advantage to take any regulatory short-cut they can.

That's why the New Jersey General Assembly voted last month to approve the Site Improvement Standards Act.

Environmentalists are alarmed by the action, because the bill (A-3098), sponsored by Assemblyman James McGreevey of Middlesex County, would put all local responsibilities for subdivision and site plan standards in the hands of a state review board working under the DCA commissioner. That board would have too much power and a glaring lack of environmental input.

There are lots of improvements that can and should be made to local construction ordinances, but I'm not all sure it's smart to establish one statewide set of standards that controls the subdivision and site plan business the same way in every town of this state we're in.

There's room for diversity in minimum standards. Indeed, one of the problems the environment already suffers from is precisely that kind of standardization. It's why engineers plot the same width roads, all kinds of pipes for drainage, too much pavement, inappropriate stormwater management, too narrow buffering for stream corridors, and so on. And it's exactly the same people who are to sit on the proposed board who will decide what those statewide standards are to be. The legislation specifies four representatives of the engineering fraternity, a local planner, a low-income housing advocate, a housing finance person, and two builders. What happens to the environment with that kind of crew representing business as usual?

What's needed are more environmentally sensitive standards in the Municipal Land Use Law, or better environmental input into the standardizing process.

Because most of the town plans I know about now require farms, forests, mountains, aquifer recharge areas and lots of other environmentally valuable places to be cut up in little squares, each with its own "building on it." This tends to dull the landscape, to make it look like a grid. It's a grid that ignores topographic, hydrologic or geologic conditions, and results in unbridled scatter development spread all over the landscape.

We need design that captures identity, that keeps character, amenity and open space. We need coordinated planning, so that each level and agency of government concentrates its efforts in a common vision for the state as a whole, and obeys a few standardized policies. That's what the state planning process is all about, which now is in midstream.

Somehow I can't envision such good things coming from the group that I just described as being in charge. We've enough wall-to-wall sprawl already.

We need a law that incorporates diversity rather than excluding it. Moore is executive director of the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, a non-profit, environmental organization based in Morristown.

Think About It

Thanks, thank you... thanks a lot

By JOHN TARTAGLINO

Here I sit after Thanksgiving dinner, bloated with turkey and trimmings, thinking about all the things there are to be thankful for.

Maybe it's the warm glow I have from being surrounded by family and good friends. Maybe it's the warm glow I have from drinking half a bottle of Sambucca after dinner. Either way, I sure find myself deep in blessings.

First on the list, I'm thankful that I can still stand after stuffing myself like Jenny Craig's evil twin.

That's not all, though. Where do I begin? Can I finish before I fall asleep on the couch? Probably not, so I'd better hurry.

Who'd have ever believed that I'd be thankful not to be Donald Trump? Poor Donny's gone from "The Art of the Deal" to "Buddy, Can You Spare a Dime?" almost as fast as Governor Jim's gone from "Governor-elect" to "Boy Most Likely to be Pelted with Bad Fruit." Here I was dreaming I'd grow up to be as rich as the Donald, and I find out I already am.

Come to think of it, I'm grateful I'm not Florio, too. It must be sweet to be woken up in the morning realizing the only guy you could beat in an election would be Saddam Hussein.

Speaking of natural disasters, I'm thankful that we got through an entire World Series without an earthquake, avalanche or tsunami, even though the way the A's played has been officially ranked as number 99 on the all-time list of man-made catastrophes.

Under the heading of "give thanks for small favors," I'm grateful that there hasn't been a major oil spill for a week or so... as of this writing, of course.

In a weird way, I'm almost happy that we're finally in a recession. I've been hearing that recession is just around the corner for about 7 years and now the past 5 or so. You've been starting to get a little bored with it. At least now, we can forget about the endless predictors and get down to the more important business of endless finger-pointing. Look, at least it'll be a change. I'm thankful for that.

I'm also very thankful for those intrusive medical researchers who, after working day and night telling me not to eat eggs, drink coffee or come into any physical contact with hot Saran Wrap, now say:

"...never mind."

Tell me, what would we do for a mindless panic and anxiety without our friends in the medical research community?

And call me petty, but one of the minor blessings of my year was hearing that Perrier was strongly suspected of having some traces of icky stuff... Perrier? Who'd it be? A great inner peace descends upon me when I picture the legions of yuppies bouncing off each other in a mad dash to flush out their systems.

I'm really thankful that I'm not Gorbachev. The way things are looking over in Mother Russia, the next May Day Parade may be held in Mikhail and Raisa's living room and consist of three contrabass players mimicking chairs.

I'm grateful that I live in a country where the common guy can curse out his elected representatives with the kind of invective that would earn a prison sentence in many other places on the globe... then turn around and re-elect them all.

Mainly though, as I sit here feeling my chin begin to drop to my chest, I'm thankful for the small things of day to day ordinary life.

Things like the quiet-giggle of a child as she stuffs four rolls of toilet paper down an ancient toilet... the tiny smile of a son as he tells you that he cut up all your socks into puppets for a school project... the soft purr of a cat as he settles himself in for a long winter nap.

Oil prices are following panic, not the market laws

By MATTHEW KINALDO

The credit crunch in the Persian Gulf can be measured by the price of crude oil. Secretary of State James Baker's visit to the Persian Gulf, which has been closely followed by swings in the price of crude, is a harbinger of higher prices. Saudi Arabia and other oil producing countries that have made up for the losses from crude oil on the world market. But there is a shortage of confidence that the supply of crude will not be interrupted by war.

The oil market's leaders of supply and demand are not working as they should. In fact, some American refiners are shipping gasoline abroad where they can obtain higher prices. With so much oil on the world market, prices ought to be falling, not rising.

High energy prices are a drag on everyone. They can cause employment to be curtailed, increase consumer debt, slow down the world economy, and severely impact on poor and middle income American families struggling with tight budgets. It is more than the few hundred dollars added to the home heating bill. Everything from food to medicine to transportation to health care is affected by high energy costs.

Secretary of Energy Watkins has advised the President to tap into the strategic petroleum reserve to the tune of about a half million barrels a day. It would have the effect of sending a signal that the United States is not going to allow speculation and profiteering to ruin the economy.

However, the Bush Administration remains divided over tapping the reserve. The Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of Treasury have convinced the President that the strategic reserve should only be used when there is an actual shortage of fuel.

That is fine, up to a point. Fourteen years have passed since Congress authorized the strategic petroleum reserve. By the end of this year, it will contain 600 million of the authorized 750 million barrels. Under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act, the reserve is controlled by the President. While the law does not allow the President to use the reserve to counteract international price speculation, it does give him the authority to release the reserves to protect the vital economic interests of the United States.

Nonetheless, the existence of the petroleum reserve can be a powerful economic weapon in the hands of the President if he is willing to use it. Certainly if world oil prices start soaring over the $40 a barrel benchmark, the President should be prepared to open the spigot a bit. Releasing half a million barrels a day on the U.S. market would be a strong counter punch to the speculators. But it should be accompanied in advance by strong warnings from the White House that the United States government is prepared to pump more oil on the market if oil hits the $40 ceiling. It might cut down price speculation without actually releasing the oil from the petroleum reserve.

In any case, the White House should not risk the economic damage to the U.S. by closing off this option. A strong public statement by the President that he will begin releasing sufficient stocks of crude oil on a daily basis if oil prices surge on the basis of speculation rather than market conditions would have a sobering effect on the international profiteers.

Any oil companies and speculators that are running up huge profits from soaring world prices, and invading those profits in enterprises not related to the energy business, need to be reminded that Congress will not stand idly by in the face of consumer protests. House and Senate members have already discussed the possibility of an excess oil profit tax. The speculators should heed the warnings.

Children today are less physically fit

By DR. LESLIE TADZYNSKI

Children don't know that regular vigorous exercise helps lower cholesterol and high blood pressure and they probably don't care. But kids get plenty of exercise from play, don't they? Don't be too sure.

Recent government studies show that children are less fit today than they were 10 years ago. They are going to need help in learning the fitness skills they will need to become healthy adults. Some disturbing statistics:

- Children are about 10 percent slower on distance-run tests than they were 10 years ago.
- Fifty-five percent of girls and 25 percent of boys 6 to 12 years old can't do a push-up.
- Fifteen to 20 percent of American school children are fat.
- Since 1970 obesity has increased 54 percent among children 6 to 11.
- To run, these scary statistics around, children must switch from being spectators to active participants. As a parent, you can place reasonable limits on television, video games and other non-physical activities, especially if the pediatrician says your child is overweight or has poor muscle tone.
- Children need to be motivated to get active, so don't force them into activities they hate. Be creative in finding activities your kids will enjoy, and include some physical activity in every family outing. Cycling, swimming, walking and dancing are good exercise and fun for family members of all ages.

Help your child set reasonable fitness goals — perhaps a half-pound weight loss in one month — but only if the doctor says he needs to lose weight. Work up to a two-mile walk or bike ride in three weeks time. Offer small but tempting rewards for each goal reached.

WORRALL COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1990-2,3,4,5* SECTION B

JUST IN TIME — Arthur Johnson Regional quarterback Dan Redzinski unleashes a pass just ahead of this rush from Brearley tackle Scott DuBeau during last Thursday's Thanksgiving game in Clark. Down for practically the whole game, the Bears rallied to claim a dramatic 41-35 victory, and finished the season at 8-1.

Bears rally for victory over Johnson, 41-35

By MARK YABLONSKY

In a real, no-holds-barred, Turkey Day football thriller, the Bears of Brearley Regional High thundered back from a fourteen-point halftime deficit and then hung on to defeat Arthur L. Johnson, 41-35, last Thursday on Thanksgiving at Nolan Field in Clark.

The Bears, who finish an outstanding season with an 8-1 record — and are surely one of the best 8-1 teams not to make the state sectional playoffs — received memorable efforts from senior running back Mike Battle and quarterback Don Dayton, as well as the kind of never-say-die effort that is commonplace in Brearley football folklore.

But all in all, everyone on both sides got a memorable Thanksgiving Day game. Period.

"It was a classic game, a classic high school matchup," summarized Brearley head coach Bob Taylor, who now owns a lifetime 110-49-5 record in his 17 years at the Brearley helm. "They just came out and played a great game, and coached a great game. They had us back on our heels a bit, but we came back in the second half."

That's for sure. But it wasn't until Brearley scored the game's final touchdown — a 79-yard dash by Dayton — that the Bears ever held the lead. For up until then, Johnson had held leads of 7-0, 21-7, and even 35-28.

But like a late-season 42-35 win over Marlville in the Bears' 11-0 championship year of 1981, this particular win over ALJ will rank with one of the true unforgettables in Brearley football history.

"We hope that we're teaching kids about life through sports experiences, and what a great experience the kids had yesterday," Taylor commented last Friday. "It's really a credit to the kids when they have the courage to stick together. It's really a credit to the kids when they have the courage to stick together."

'Dawgs fall to G.L. rally, 7-3

By MARK YABLONSKY

Despite his gallant attempt to end a frustrating season on a winning note, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High football team sustained a heart-breaking 7-3 defeat to sister school Governor Livingston in a Thanksgiving Day battle last Thursday at Moisel Field in Springfield.

Leading for much of the way after a second-quarter field goal by Steve Prezimirski, the Bulldogs were able to preserve a 3-0 advantage until late in the fourth period when Mark Carlucci spoiled everything with a 44-yard run up the middle that brought the visiting Highlanders the win, their sixth of the season against three losses — Dayton ends up at 1-8, with the o/g win being a 19-0 verdict at Bound Brook on Oct. 13.

Carlucci's game-winning gallop was the culmination of an 11-play, 96-yard drive that began after Dayton, which was outgained by only a 229-186 margin, had been stymied on a fabulous first-and-goal opportunity at the G.L. two-yard-line.

As poor as Dayton's 1-8 record may be, it should be noted that in four of the losses — 7-0 to North Plainfield on Sept. 28, 7-6 at Hillside on Oct. 20, 7-0 at Immucalata on Oct. 27, and the setback to G.L. — the opponent was held to a lone touchdown.

"It's been that type of year," acknowledged Bulldog skipper John LaDonno, whose four-year record at Dayton is now slightly distorted at 16-20-1. "In four games we gave up only seven points, and lost all four."

"Defensively, we played well. We lost four real tough games... and just a couple of points here or there, and we would have won a couple of more games. But that's the way it goes."

Dayton's big gun of the day, senior quarterback Jeremy Bazydlo, accounted for 104 of Dayton's 186 total yards, running the ball 12-times for 53 yards and completing five of seven passes for 51 yards more. As a result, he is this week's Bulldog Player of the Week, the third time this season he has been so named by LaDonno.

And Bazydlo engineered Dayton's scoring drive late in the second quarter, a 46-yard, eight-play push that began after a punt had given the 'Dawgs possession on their own 45 with less than two minutes to go in the half. Bazydlo contributed runs of 13 and 10 yards during the drive, as well as an 11-yard pass to Mike Reddington.

When the G.L. defense lightened at the nine, in came Prezimirski to boot a 28-yard field goal just six seconds before the half ended.

It remained a 3-0 game through the third quarter, and at the start of the fourth, Dayton, following an exchange of punts, set up shop at its own 25 and drove all the way to the G.L. two in 10 plays, with Andy Huber running the ball six times for a total of 49 yards.

But on a first-and-goal situation at the two, four running plays — three off-tackle tries and a quarterback sneak — could not the 'Dawgs just a lone yard.

Then the Highlanders took over and launched their game-winning drive that culminated with Carlucci's long run. The extra point to put Dayton at the 30, but two incomplete passes later — including a last-ditch Hall Mary heave — it was over.

Defensively, Dayton was led by junior linebacker Jason Muffman and defensive end Neil Lynch.

JEREMY BAZYDLO
Bulldog Player of the Week

Jeremy Bazydlo, for the third time this season, is Dayton coach John LaDonno's choice as Bulldog Player of the Week. The senior quarterback completed 5 of 7 passes for 51 yards and ran for 53 more in Dayton's 7-3 loss to Governor Livingston last Thursday.

Wrestling set

Registration for the Springfield Recreation Department's Youth Wrestling Program will take place this Saturday, Dec. 1, from 12:30 to 2 p.m. at the Florence M. Gaudinier School.

The program is open to youngsters in Grades 3-8. Participants will learn the fundamental skills of wrestling, and will compete in the Union County Youth Wrestling League against surrounding communities.

Practices will be on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Chisholm Community Center, on Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. at Dayton High, and on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to noon back at Chisholm. Jeffrey McCreesh will be the program's supervisor and coach.

B-Ball clinics planned

The Springfield recreation department is sponsoring a series of Youth Basketball clinics for youngsters in Grades 3-6 on the first three Saturdays in December, Dec. 1-15, at the P.M. Gaudinier School.

Instructed by Tom Wisniewski, Andy Henkele and Wendy Smith, youngsters will learn the different aspects of basketball, including passing, dribbling, shooting and other fundamentals. The clinics are for instructional and team selection purposes.

Also assisting will be members of the Dayton Regional High boy's basketball squad. At the same time, the recreation department will accept Youth Basketball registration forms from those who have yet to register.

Also, registration for Youth Basketball will take place this Saturday, Dec. 1 at 12:30 p.m. at Gaudinier.

Further information is available by calling the recreation department at 912-2226.

WHO'S ON FIRST?

This week's question: Mickey Tettleton of the Baltimore Orioles, whose superb season in 1989 nearly brought the Bbirds a divisional title, now holds the less-than-enviable mark of strikeouts for a switch-hitter in one season: his 160 K's in 444 at-bats this past summer broke a record previously held by two others. Who are they? (Note: The record pertains to those with at least 400 AB's in one season.)

Last week's answer: The first non-20-game winner to capture the National League's Cy Young Award was Tom Seaver, who won it with a 19-10 record for the 1973 Mets, come-from-behind winners of that year's NL pennant. For some time, the leading candidate appeared to be San Francisco's Ron Bryant who won 25 games that year for the Giants. But a look at Seaver's statistics reveals he was clearly the better choice.

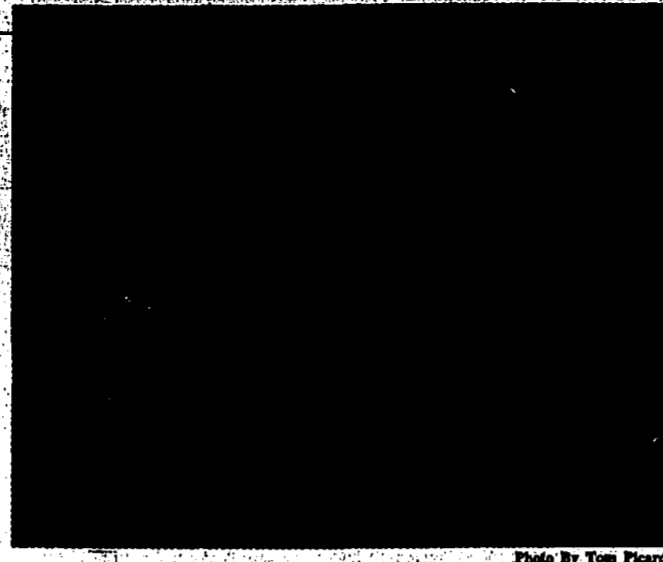

In addition to striking out 251 batters in 280 innings pitched, Seaver's earned run average of 2.38 was better than one earned run lower than Bryant's 3.46. And, it should be noted, three of Seaver's losses that year came by 1-0 scores; and on at least two other occasions, he left low-scoring games with the score either 1-0 or 1-1 at the time — without getting a decision.

Since then, non-20-game, Cy Young winners have become almost commonplace in the senior circuit. Relief ace Mike Marshall of the L.A. Dodgers won it in '74 (15-12), and then came Bruce Sutter of the 1979 Cubs (6-6), Fernando Valenzuela of the 1981 Dodgers (13-7), John Denny of the 1983 Phillies (15-6), Mike Scott of the 1986 Astros (18-10), Steve Bedrosian of the 1987 Phillies (5-3), and Mark Davis of the 1989 Padres (4-3).

Keep in mind that Rick Sutcliffe won the Cy Young in '84 with the Cubs with a 16-1 record, but he had also won four games with the Cleveland Indians prior to a blockbuster trade in June.

Please have your responses on our Union offices — at 1291 Smythway Ave. — by no later than noon each Monday.

Please understand that we no longer are offering a $5 certificate from a local sporting goods store, but rather we are printing the names of all the contestants who answer correctly each week. This week, Bob C. Dilly of Springfield, Henry Hascup of Lodi, Kurt Michael Wolf of Linden and George Rogers of Union submitted correct responses.

BATTLE ON — Brearley running back Mike Battle puts the finishing touches on a 62-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter of last Thursday's thrilling 41-35 Thanksgiving Day win over Arthur L. Johnson Regional in Clark. Battle, who finishes the 1990 season with 975 yards and 17 touchdowns in 152 carries, enjoyed a season-high effort of 182 yards and three TDs in 13 carries against ALJ. That 62-yard run tied the game at 35-35 in the final period, not long before quarterback Don Dayton won it for Brearley with a 79-yard scoring run.

MAKING IT OFFICIAL — Roselle baseball standout Mike Massaro, center, a sure-handed catcher with both Abraham Clark High and the Roselle Post #229 American Legion team, finishes signing his letter of intent to attend the University of Dayton in Dayton, Ohio on a full baseball scholarship for next year. To Massaro's left is his father, Ray, and to his right, his mother Christine. Standing are Roselle High baseball coach Stan Kokie, left, and Roselle Legion coach Bob Catullo.

Massaro to Dayton

Abraham Clark High catcher Mike Massaro of Roselle, one of Union County's best baseball players throughout the past two years, has already made his choice as to what college he will attend next year: the University of Dayton in Dayton, Ohio. The 6-2, 190-pound senior signed his letter of intent with Dayton at his home two weeks ago.

Massaro will receive a full baseball scholarship at Dayton. Massaro, who has earned the catcher's position on the All-Worral Community Newspapers' team for the past two seasons, is considered one of the county's best baseball prospects. And while he is a top-notch hitter, his biggest asset may well be his right arm, which, according to team records, has thrown out an estimated three quarters — or more — of would-be bastealers attempting to grab an extra base.

In the most recent 1990 season, Massaro threw out 20 runners and batted .388 to help lead the Rams into the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 playoffs for the first time in six years.

Reportedly, Rutgers, West Virginia, Villanova and the University of North Carolina were all interested in Massaro's services. "He's just a dynamic kid," said Roselle baseball coach Stan Kokie, who also is the coach of the school's boy's basketball team. "He's another example of a dynamic student-athlete."

Dolls creator is as original as her 'dolls'

By BEA SMITH
The Union Public Library on Morris Avenue is adored this season with more than just Christmas decorations. The entrance on the lower level of the library has an unusual display of original and colorful dolls with wide eyes and wider smiles and teddy bears that beckon enticingly to young and old alike.

The dolls are part of a collection created by Barbara Yaney, an illustrator and designer, who will show her unusual work in an exhibition at the Les Malamut Art Gallery for a whole month, beginning Sunday.

Yaney, a lively, lovely woman, who has been involved in the creation and packaging of dolls for the past 20 years, has done products for the Sesame Street Muppets characters, concept designs for many major licensing agencies, such as Walt Disney, as well as the design of dolls and gifts for many "cause-related" foundations.

During a recent visit to this office clutching a portfolio to show some very beautiful rag dolls in illustrations and books, Yaney explains, "I'm an illustrator who transforms my concepts and designs into products, basically toys, dolls and gifts." She grins and her face lights up. "I can't sew and I can't cook...and I'm not about to learn, but I can create doll designs."

Yaney, formerly of Irvington, who resides in Verona with her two sons, Shawn, 17, and Max, 14, majored in fashion illustration at the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Art and received a bachelor's degree at the School of Visual Arts in New York. She began her career as a designer and graphic illustrator for cosmetic and fashion firms such as Yardley of London and Rayette Faberge.

"My designs are usually geared for children," she explains. "They're very whimsical, free-spirited and have a very delicate, feminine touch. The media that I use are colored pencils, pastels, water color and magic markers. My colors are bold and my characters have continuity in style and in personality. Whether it be rag dolls or plush, my signature is the big, wide-eyed expression, sweet character."

Yaney smiles modestly. "I guess I'm known throughout the industry for the type of dolls I design. I've been doing this for over 20 years." She says she has lived for most of her life, was graduated from Irvington High School. "My mother, Rosie, still lives there, and she really was my inspiration. She's 84 and still delightful...loaded with personality and spirit. My whole family could draw."

free-lance as an illustrator, I found I had a real flair for doing children's illustrations.

"One of my accounts obtained the Muppets license, and I was hired to work on the Muppet characters, and at that time I was very tuned into them because of the children," she smiles. "I did the art work used on toys, accessories and books."

"And later on, I designed the first line of the Sesame Street Plush Babies for Applause. I did it for several years and eventually decided to incorporate and go on my own."

Yaney exclaims, "It's been a roller coaster. I've met a lot of incredibly talented people in this industry. But there also are times of tremendous struggle. There have been ups and downs, but I'm still in the game. And in order to stay in the game," she says, "you have to have a passion for what you do."

Unique, talented Ewing has a hit

By MILT HAMMER
Firs up the mustable and lend an ear to Skip Ewing's new LP album, "A Healin' Fire," on the MCA Records label.

Before Skip made his first record, music business insiders knew he was a complete artist — uniquely talented as a singer, writer and producer, the kind of artist you just turn loose in the studio and let him make great music. His first album introduced his fresh new voice to country music. His second album established him as a major artist. Now Skip Ewing's third album, "A Healin' Fire," captures an artist whose creative juices are on fire.

Though Ewing is still in his mid-20s, his music combines the energy and intensity of youth with a mature sense of true-life experience that some artists never achieve, regardless of age. On "A Healin' Fire," he shows, as a writer as well as a singer, an understanding of the full range of human emotions, from the positively fun to the deeply sad.

His writing branches in many directions, from the childhood love story of "Rebecca Lynn" to the list of personal opinions in "Love's Alright." In ballads which have always been the heart of his artistry, he continues to find fresh new approaches to familiar emotional situations. "The Dotted Line" sets forth a man's second thoughts about a divorce. In "Let's Pretend We're Stangers," he looks for a key to reviving the excitement of new love. And in "Never 'Til I Loved You," his beautiful melody practically defines love without the need for lyrics.

A "Healin' Fire" also showcases Ewing's production skills, as he and co-producer Randy Struicks reach into a variety of styles in order to provide the perfect musical atmospheres for his songs. On "A Healin' Fire," he uses an urgent rhythm to enhance the emotional intensity of the lyric. In contrast, the straightforward message of "I'm Your Man" is carried along on an easy, r&b-flavored shuffle beat. A prominent mandolin part gives "I'm O.K. (And Gents' Better)" a rough, bluesy edge, while "Dancin' to the Radio" paints a realistic picture with a dance-hall boogie feel. A moody guitar combines with a sad affair to make "It Never Would've Worked Out" sound like an all-time classic pop ballad.

The son of a military man, Skip Ewing was born in Redlands, Calif., but he never lived in one town long enough to call it home. Significantly, when asked where he's from, his answer is Nashville. "I'm here now and here's where I'm staying," he says.

Poetry exhibitions slated

An exhibit of books, manuscripts and magazine articles by Rachel Hadas, the American poet who teaches creative writing and literature on the Rutgers-Newark campus, will open today at the campus' John Cotton Dana Library.

Hadas will autograph copies of her latest book, "Living in Time," during an opening day reception, which begins at 4:30 p.m. in the main lobby of the library.

Earlier, at 3 p.m., in a program sponsored by the College Honors Program, Hadas will read from and discuss her poetry in the library's Listening-Viewing Room.

"Living in Time," published this year by Rutgers University Press, consists of a long poem, preceded and followed by essay-length memoirs, in which Hadas explores a lifetime of literary activity.

An associate professor of English on the Faculty of Arts and Sciences-Newark, Hadas has a Ph.D. in comparative literature from Princeton University, a master's degree in poetry from Johns Hopkins University and a baccalaureate degree in classics from Radcliffe College.

The exhibitions, which run through Jan. 4, 1991, are open to the public. The Hadas exhibit is being coordinated by Ann Watkins, the exhibits manager at the State University of New Jersey's Dana Library.

Restaurant The Chestnut Tavern and Restaurant review

Some of the finest authentic Italian food can be found at the Chestnut Tavern and Restaurant, located at 649 Chestnut St., Union. The food is excellent, delicious and plentiful. And the service is splendid, particularly when the owner, Don Waldelich, a lovely woman, will occasionally come by to ask if there is anything she can do for you...

The restaurant, which has been in the family for about 42 years, serves a lot of veal and chicken parmesan. Also very popular are the shrimp dishes, such as shrimp scampi and shrimp parmesan. There are a lot of requests for linguine with shrimp sauce, which is very tasty. And for those who would prefer food other than Italian, there are excellent lobster tails, porthouse steaks, pork chops and broiled flounder.

The prices range from $6.95 for pasta dishes to $15.75 for surf and turf — lobster and filet mignon — and lobster tails, $16.95. Soups are popular, too, and there is a different one every day. Desserts include cheese cake, Tiramisu, which is vanilla ice cream covered with chocolate, and the various ice creams and rum cake.

There is a good lunch crowd too, and a huge variety of foods is offered, such as salads, basket specials, hot platters, sandwiches, subs and even pizza of every variety. And the prices are extremely reasonable.

The Chestnut Tavern has a honey atmosphere, excellent food and splendid service. No wonder it attracts so many different kinds of people. We were told that the owner is renovating the dining room for private parties and meetings. It should be completed by the end of the year.

In the meantime, we looked around the dining room and later the bar dining room, and we saw whole families, young couples, teen-agers and groups of women and men all smiling, laughing and eating with gusto. That's the only way to dine. Enjoy! Enjoy!

Make tracks to Union Tire
Ed Weisman's Union County Tire, located at 1417 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, has been the area's leading tire supply and service company for more than six years.
Specializing in all types of tires, wheels and minor repairs, Union County Tire offers its customers what no other tire company can - a supply of quality merchandise matched only by the company's impeccable service.
Weisman, who has been in the tire business for 26 years, started out selling specialty items to commercial accounts, exclusively. But after living in Union for 35 years, Weisman saw the demand for a company that could service and supply both the commercial and retail markets.
Now we offer a full line of tires for cars, light trucks, 4-wheel drives and recreational vehicles," Weisman said. "We also offer stocks, mufflers and rims, and do oil changes and exhaust work, too."
"We're building up a nice retail business. A lot of people want to customize or upgrade their tires, and we are able to meet the customer's needs."
With winter's freezing weather just ahead, Weisman reminds car owners to have their batteries and antifreeze checked as part of regular winterizing tune ups.
"We wish all our customers a trouble-free winter of driving," Weisman said. "Snow tires should be installed for those who have them, and a winter tune-up will help give drivers peace of mind."

Timberland

SPLASH!

IT'S TIMBERLAND TIME AGAIN.

Why put your feet through the cold, wet misery of bad weather when you can put them in the warm, dry comfort of Timberland boots? Every pair is thoroughly insulated and absolutely waterproof. Some even say they're overbuilt. But then that's why a pair of Timberland boots will last season after season, year after year.

SEASON'S EATINGS
Holiday Dining Guide
PICK OF THE WEEK
Restaurant review
Tiffany's

Mention barbecued ribs and the name Tiffany's and immediately pops to mind. Head chef Louie Alamar takes particular pride in the fact that people journey from as far away as Long Island to devour the tender, succulent meaty slabs of ribs adorned with a secret homemade sauce. In fact, over the course of a week, more than 2,200 pounds of ribs are served in the 120-seat restaurant. With obvious relish, Alamar proclaims, "I love to make people happy. There's nothing like hearing 'Louie, you're the best' to brighten up one's day."

"As a youngster, Alamar enjoyed cooking in his native Dominican Republic, but when it came time to venture out in the business world, he momentarily got distracted — pursuing a career with cameras and television instead.

"I got back into cooking almost accidentally, and worked in South America before coming to the States 10 years ago," explained the 36-year-old chef, who has been affiliated with Tiffany's for five years.

"I guess you could say I started at the bottom and worked my way up at several North Jersey restaurants. I even attended the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, N.Y., for a time," he added.

Tiffany's prevailing appeal is hearty, stick-to-the-ribs fare served in a casual bistro setting. Comfortably co-existing on the menu are juicy, choice ground beef burgers, balanced with more exotic fare such as Quesadillas, which are folded into a crispy tortilla shell and served with guacamole, salsa and sour cream for dipping at $6.95.

For starters, there's a Nacho Platter of crunchy tortilla chips piled high with Monterey Jack, Cheddar cheese, lettuce, tomato, guacamole and sour cream, available in three choices — Plain for $5.95, Spicy Beef at $6.95 and Spicy Chicken, also $6.95.

If dinner isn't dinner without pasta, Shrimp and Scallops Linguine should hit the spot at $10.95, while Pasta Primavera delivers fresh & dense vegetables sautéed into a creamy Alfredo sauce with linguine for $8.95. Incidentally, pasta dishes are served with hot, aromatic garlic bread.

Ideal for family dining, the younger set can feast on entrees like Chicken Fingers, Barbecued Chicken and Spaghetti with Meatballs for $3.95.

Located at 1637 Vauxhall Road and Route 22 East in Union, Tiffany's is open from 11:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday through Saturday, plus 1 p.m. to midnight on Sunday. Tiffany's has a liquor license.
