GOP changes paper and a heated debate ensues

By DAVID WISE

Springfield Committee members vigorously debated Tuesday night the GOP-backed decision, announced at the New Year's Day reorganization meeting, to make the Daily Journal the official township newspaper, a role the Springfield Leader has served for many years.

Mayor Marc Marshall, joined by Committeemen Philip Kurnos and Jeffrey Katz, voted to replace the Springfield Leader as its source for posting legal announcements and public notices, such as the publications of ordinances and Planning Board decisions. Over the dissenting votes of Democrats Lee Eisen and Marcia Forman, the Township Committee appointed the Elizabeth-based Journal as the new official town paper.

During a speech on New Year's Day, Katz enumerated several reasons for discontinuing the use of the Leader, including insufficient reporting coverage and incidents of typographical errors in the legal notices. He also explained that the Journal, a local paper as well, is capable of providing better news coverage and publication of legal announcements.

At Tuesday's township meeting, the Republican measure was roundly criticized by both Eisen and Forman, whose views received endorsements from several members of the audience.

Forman told residents that "deficiencies in local papers" are always present, and in making the Journal Springfield's official newspaper, the committee was "inflicting a hardship" upon the community.

"It makes it difficult for people to get the news," said Forman, explaining that the Journal does not cover the town as widely as the Leader. Residents, it was pointed out, would have to read the Journal for legal publications and the Leader for local news.

The GOP decision to change papers surprised the Democrats on Jan. 1, and Forman remarked that a resolution to any problem with the Leader could have been reached "by discussing the differences." Furthermore, the committeewoman said, "No one from the public has come to me to complain."

Eisen echoed her sentiments, calling the Republicans' decision "a disservice to the public," who will have to "hunt and search for the Elizabeth paper," to which they are "unaccustomed."

Katz then took the floor and admitted that "I guess I'm here to take the blame" for changing the official newspaper. The Republican, however, argued that too many complaints were lodged against the Leader "from parents, coaches, and schools," saying "that they don't get the play."

To support his position, Katz told the audience that a school photo was submitted to the Leader for publication not long ago, and didn't appear in the paper until "a few months after the event."

The Township Committee encountered problems in the Leader's reporting during 1989, revealed Katz, and a discussion between the newspaper's publisher and town officials was held to achieve a solution.

As a result of the meeting, "promises have been made, promises that have been unkept," added the committeeman, informing the audience of recurrent typographical mistakes in the legal notices.

"It's time for a change," declared Katz. "They had a chance to improve. They did not... We made our choice to use the Daily Journal."

Kurnos mentioned that in sports news "nothing gets printed," particularly the names of many student-athletes.

"Somebody had to do something to give" the Leader "a shock," Kurnos said. "They're not the only show in town."

"I'm glad we did it," he continued. "We can always go back."

Springfielder Marilyn Schneider at the podium chided the Republicans, saying the Leader publishes "a preponderance of issues" and called the newspaper's Sports Editor Mark Yablonsky a "splendid" reporter.

"We get tremendous coverage," Schneider concluded. "The newspaper is our eyes and ears."

She questioned whether the GOP's action was politically motivated, since the Leader "did not endorse Kurnos in his last campaign."

Kurnos, agitated by what Schneider said, warned that "those are things defaming to me and my name. If I could sue, I would."

"Be my guest," the resident interjected after returning to her seat.

Some people offer "insinuation and outright slurs," said Kurnos, "to make themselves feel important. It's a shame we have people like that, like the people who destroyed the Menorah."

The Menorah, placed in front of the municipal building during the holidays, was vandalized for the second straight year. Police have not captured the culprits yet, but their destructive work was condemned at the same time.

Regional agency provides the benefits of big consolidation

By DAVID WISE

Budget constraints and state aid reductions are causing the Springfield School Board to make a closer examination of organizations like the Morris-Union Jointure Commission, which provides educational services and programs to 15 nearby school districts, including Berkeley Heights, Mountainside, Summit, and New Providence.

Since 1981, Springfield has been a member of the Jointure Commission, founded 12 years ago to provide instructional services to handicapped students. For an annual fee of approximately $19,000 — almost the cost of educating one handicapped student — the Springfield School system is able to join in a large pool of educational resources shared by neighboring districts, comprising about 20,000 students.

At Monday night's meeting, board members heard Kim Coleman, Executive Director-Superintendent of the Commission, discuss the benefits of being a member of this organization, the only one of its kind in the state.

As a member district, Springfield "cost-shares services" with other schools to "minimize risk" and eliminate the "duplication of resources," remarked Coleman. Participation in the commission saves the Springfield School Board thousands of dollars, just as the consolidation of two separate school systems would. However, all local boards maintain control of their budgets and programs.

Although the state is involved in periodic evaluations, the commission basically retains "control of the quality" of its programs, according to Coleman. Because of its large population size, the commission is viewed more favorably by the state when grants are being considered. The member districts do not compete against each other with regard to particular state grants, and after money is bestowed to the commission, all schools share the funds.

The commission's competition for state grants is thus limited to outside school districts and the private sector, those non-public handicapped organizations seeking state money as well.

Democrats assail the GOP for their policy

By DAVID WISE

Republicans and Democrats on the Springfield Township Committee opened last week's reorganization meeting with a promise of unity, but in this second week of 1991, the town's legislative body is once again showing a schism.

The disharmony was evident at Town Hall on New Year's Day when the three Republicans — newly appointed Mayor Marc Marshall, Philip Kurnos and Jeffrey Katz — using their 3-2 majority, named their personal choices to various township positions, over the abstaining votes of Democrats Marcia Forman and Lee Eisen.

The Republicans made many appointments, including Dominick Florenza and Harry Pappas to the Planning Board, without the approval of Forman and Eisen, who also abstained on the reappointments of Recreation Director Brian McNany and Municipal Court Judge Leonard Zucker.

Following the appointments, Forman remarked that Springfield is being governed in a "fait accompli" manner, and Eisen said the Republicans are participating in "the politics of exclusion." The majority party has retained control of all the important township committees, while allocating only the finance and administration departments to the Democrats, according to Forman.

The feeling of isolation, even on Jan. 1, was apparent to the committeewoman, who observed that the Republicans "do not consider us a part of the group." Forman took exception to the speeches of Katz, Marshall and Kurnos, regarding Springfield's improved municipal services, after years of "decay and mismanagement."

"They refer to themselves," said the committeewoman, "as the only ones who have helped Springfield. They are campaigning all the time."

The Republicans fail to consider the accomplishments of past Democratic administrations, she explained, and the majority members refuse to give credit to the Democrats for helping in the decision-making process.

"It is to our credit that we allowed the renovation work" performed on Town Hall, the Democrat said, adding, "We have never stopped anything that was beneficial to the town." In her opinion, the $1.8 million renovation job on the municipal building, as well as other capital improvements in town, would never have been possible without Democratic consent.

With regard to which party deserves recognition for Springfield's improved efficiency — often lauded by Republicans — the Democrat said, "I'm not trying to say no one else worked for this town."

Despite the current dissension on the Township Committee, Forman said Democrats and Republicans, years ago, had a spirit of cooperation, but "I've never seen anything like this before."

"They're making assumptions that we are here to attack them," she continued. Separatism is causing governing problems, according to Forman, because Republicans are "losing the brains of two-fifths of the Township Committee" by restricting Democratic input. She charges that Republicans "make decisions behind the scenes" and bring issues to the public forum on a "take it or leave it" basis.

The local Republican style of government is confrontational, and the three GOP members frequently make unconstructive criticisms of state officials like Governor Florio, said Forman.

"I'm tired of blaming people," the committeewoman said after the reorganization meeting. "Let's look into our own backyard. We have to look at Springfield, at our own internal organization."

An example of the closed-door policy that limits public discussion is the practice of allowing committee members only a few days to review an ordinance prior to its introduction. Copies of ordinances are offered to committee members the Friday preceding Tuesday's introduction, thus giving officials slightly more than a weekend to review the legalese in the law.

This is not adequate time to thoughtfully consider the legal implications of an ordinance, said Forman, who surmises that the Republicans meet privately to discuss upcoming laws, putting Eisen and her at a disadvantage.

"We need a chance to talk to people," stressed the committeewoman. "I mean with people who have the information."

In these views, Forman is not alone; her colleague is in complete agreement, and even expresses stronger sentiments.

The GOP doesn't "give proper representation," declared Eisen, and in fact, the town is run "almost by cults of personalities."

"They don't like it when we voice our own opinions," he disclosed, but "bringing up points-of-view is what politics is all about."

Disagreement between Democrats and Republicans, often not seen in public, has led to angry words during private Township Committee sessions, according to the Committeeman.

"They have been very abusive, verbally abusive," said Eisen of the Republicans.

Eisen also mentioned how Republicans take credit for the passage of ordinances, sponsored by departmental officials, all the while "creating a climate of fear in town." Municipal employees try to stay in good favor with Springfield's controlling party, in fear of "reprisals" faced by those outside "the inner group."

Eisen cannot cite any specific cases of where someone's job security was threatened, but he said the GOP's political clout is enough to produce a "chilling effect" in town.

Marshall, responding to this serious charge, refuted the claim, saying, "The municipal employees have always had a good working relationship with the Township Committee." The Republican supported his statement by recalling how favorable contract negotiations with the township employees recently went.

"That's not the kind of agreement you get from fear," he added. Springfield negotiated acceptable contracts, with police, fire, and municipal office workers, through "mutual respect and trust."

Songmaker changes his tune for famous singers

By DAVID WISE

While today's rappers casually pilfer lyrics and notes from established recording artists, Professor Frank Leite of Springfield prefers to compose his own songs and offer them to popular singers like Frank Sinatra and Tony Bennett.

Many years ago, Leite sold one song, "Strangers When We Met," to Sinatra and it became one of the "Chairman of the Board's" signature songs and a mammoth chart-buster. If the title doesn't sound too familiar, take the rap singer approach: adapt the words and rhythm to a jazzier beat, and the song becomes "Strangers in the Night."

An RCA Corp. executive, listening to Leite perform "Strangers When We Met" at a local night club, could easily tell the song had potential, so the company bought exclusive rights to the tune. RCA rearranged the romantic lyrics, changing a few lines and beats here and there, then forwarded the song to Ol' Blue Eyes, who crooned it like no one else could.

"Strangers in the Night" undoubtedly made millions for the recording studio and Sinatra, but Leite, the unsung hero, walked away from the deal only $400 richer.

Is this an antecedent to the musical plagiarism — a la M.C. Hammer and Vanilla Ice — common in the '90s? Or is it, perhaps, another case of fraudulent misrepresentation, similar to the great hoax created by the lip-synching, photogenic pop duo, Milli Vanilli?

According to Leite, an adjunct English instructor at Union County College, it wasn't an unscrupulous recording agent who robbed him of the huge "Strangers in the Night" royalties. No, it was much more simple than the proverbial story of a talent scout exploiting the naivete of a new artist.

Before he signed the purchase contract, Leite was told that he had to be in a songwriters' union to have legal claim to royalties. Admittance to the union entailed membership dues, amounting to about $2,000, money that Leite, at the time, sorely lacked.

"Strangers in the Night" is a popular song and personal favorite of many Sinatra fans, but no one will recognize Leite on a bus stop, and the professor never sees a check in his mailbox after the Rat-Pack leader performs a concert.

Leite, who co-wrote the song with a friend, the late Manny Medeiros, doesn't regret the missed opportunity for fame and fortune. His satisfaction is derived from the creative process of songwriting, and he is gratified that his "Strangers When We Met" became such an enduring ballad.

The songsmith had another brush with fame, when another tune of his tunes, "Won't You Make Me Happy?" was recently added to Tony Bennett's concert repertoire, following "a rearrangement by the star's personal writers," said Leite.

Bennet's agent had contacted Leite in search of new material and the professor submitted a demo tape of "Won't You Make Me Happy?" and admired the sound.

A Christmas-themed song, "Won't You Make Me Happy?" was performed twice in December by the Orpheus Club men's singing group, one of the oldest of its kind in New Jersey. The Orpheus Club, before a crowd consisting of the Daughters of Israel in West Orange and the Madison High School alumni, sang yuletide carols in addition to Leite's original piece during the holiday season.

Interesting enough, Leite composes most of his songs with a holiday mood in mind. Here is a sample of "Won't You Make Me Happy": "Won't you take a sleigh ride with me, and hear Christmas carols and bells that chime... If you come along with me."

The demo tape handed to Bennett included "If You Should Love Again," Leite's favorite, which was also added to the singer's concert collection.

The professor has a way with short, meaningful lyrics, as evidenced by

Tax list ready

Springfield Tax Assessor Theresa Enright has announced that the assessment list for the 1991 tax year will be available for inspection to any taxpayer on Jan. 17 at the Assessor's Office, Room 206 of the municipal building, 100 Mountain Ave., between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Dems assail the GOP policy

The Republicans implicitly stated their agendas for the new year last week, and the Democrats now would like residents to know their course for 1991.

Recycling, a municipal service "still creeping along," is one of Forman's most "immediate concerns." Although Springfield recycles more of its waste than many neighboring communities, more participation is needed to increase the program's effectiveness, she said.

Given the wide latitude exerted by the "extremely powerful" Springfield Board of Adjustment and Planning Board, Forman mentioned, special instruction should be provided to organizational members to help them fulfill their township obligations.

In opposition to the recently installed computerized parking meter at the municipal lot adjacent to the Springfield Public Library, Forman will campaign for free parking spaces for library patrons.

Finding a suitable purpose for the unused Chisholm School is on Forman's list of priorities.

"It's going to have to be investigated for its potential," remarked the committeewoman, regretting that a feasibility study has not yet been undertaken.

Eisen, on the other hand, is proposing to create an impartial salary review process for township workers.

"Each employee will be reviewed by a fixed set of criteria," explained the Democrat, "rather than by a particular person." As it stands now, township departments have "no formalized" salary review system that would shield an employee from a supervisor's potentially biased opinions.

The Democrats, like the GOP, are trying to get their message across clearly to the public, even as they attempt to institute positive changes in Springfield. Bipartisan support is needed, however, and to accomplish this goal, Forman said there must be a "full sharing of information and an open discussion of all issues."

Township Committee meeting. Schneider returned to the podium, angered by the Deputy Mayor's implication that he had legal grounds to sue her.

"This is not Russia," she said, asserting her right to free speech. "If you are so thin-skinned — like Harry Truman said, 'If you can't take the heat, get out of the kitchen.'"

The Springfielder then related how Marshall tried to silence her during a public meeting a few years ago, and also referred to a misstated letter Municipal Judge Leonard Zucker sent to local voters during the 1988 campaign.

Zucker's letter, in support of Kurnos' candidacy, said the Democrats had rezoned Houdaille Quarry to meet the New Jersey Mount Laurel court ruling that requires municipalities to allocate space for a certain amount of low-income housing.

Consider the ramifications of Zucker's letter, Schneider told Kurnos,

"before you call me names or threaten a lawsuit."

When the discussion was nearly over, the Republicans implied that the Leader's "secondary" status was only temporary, and the newspaper may be restored to its former position if the publisher proves that he "has a commitment to the town," said Katz.

this excerpt from "Love Again": "Here's a love that is new/If you should need a friend; here's my heart, will it do?/If someone calls your name, turn your heart straight to me."

A man of many facets, Leite is a professional tennis player and was once ranked eighth in New Jersey during his undergraduate years at Upsala College in East Orange.

Retiring in 1989 after 31 years of teaching English at Bloomfield High School, Leite began a tenure at Union County College "to expand his horizons."

Although Leite thoroughly "enjoys working with young minds," composing is another avocation that provides fulfillment, and he spends time trying to have people hear his music.

"If You Should Love Again" has been performed by the Chuckles, a Chicago-based group, and Leite has written a still unproduced high school musical. Some of the 33-year Springfield resident's poetry was even published in a national magazine.

A native, he grew up in the East Orange area, went to the same Newark school as singer Sarah Vaughn, and learned about music "hanging around" a neighborhood black church.

Leite may not receive credit for writing much of "Strangers in the Night," but the Springfielder poses a difficult-trivia question for most people: Quick, what was the original title of Sinatra's popular song about spontaneous lovers?

Agency provides services and saves money

About $1.2 million was recently allocated to the agency as "discretionary" aid from the state and federal government, said Coleman.

The Springfield district offers its handicapped students numerous services, such as programs for the perceptually impaired, emotionally disturbed, and physically handicapped. Some district students may be enrolled in certain agency programs, and the board can incur, consequently, large savings through this economy of scale.

The commission provides 85 different types of special education classes, far greater than Springfield, and has non-handicapped programs in staff development, music, and computer services. These instructional services, made available to Springfield, can attract many tuition students and thus generate more revenue for the school district, not to mention the resultant financial savings.

Family Support Network of The American Legion...

Just a Phone Call Away

The American Legion hands military families a line — a hotline stretching nationwide. As U.S. forces lay their lives on the line serving in Operation "Desert Shield" the American Legion is hooking up phone lines with military families at home who need assistance. The Family Support Network of The American Legion, an around-the-clock toll-free number, is the first step in connecting with a nearby Legion Post or Auxiliary Unit. These veterans and their families know first-hand the problems of military deployment. More than four-million volunteers are ready to help meet a variety of needs. Those left at home won't feel alone with The American Legion holding the line.

Homes sought for foreign students

ASSE International Student Exchange Programs is seeking local families to open their homes to high school students from Scandinavia, France, Italy, Spain, Germany, Holland, Great Britain, Switzerland, Japan, Canada and New Zealand who will be coming to the United States for the upcoming school year.

These students are fluent in English and are sponsored by ASSE, a non-profit — public benefit organization, which is affiliated with the Swedish and Finnish Departments of Education. ASSE also cooperates with the Canadian Provincial Ministries of Education and is approved by the New Zealand Department of Education.

Exchange students arrive from their home countries in late August and early September and return home in late June and early July. ASSE students are fully insured, bring their own personal spending money and expect to bear their share of household responsibilities, in return for being included in normal family activities and lifestyles.

The students are well screened and qualified by ASSE. Families may select the youngster of their choice from extensive student applications, family photographs and biographical essays. Students and families are encouraged to begin corresponding prior to the student's arrival.

ASSE is also seeking local high school students to become ASSE exchange students abroad. Students should be between 15 and 18 years old and be interested in living with a host family, attending school and learning about the lands and people of Scandinavia, France, Italy, Spain, Germany, Holland, Britain, Switzerland, Canada or New Zealand.

Students should have a good academic record and the desire to experience another culture and language by living with a volunteer family. Academic year and shorter-term vacation programs are available. For further information or to volunteer as a host family, one can contact Eileen Voorhees of Kenilworth at 276-7514.

DRIVE SAFELY — Marcie Gornstein, left, of Springfield and Tom Cukier, right, of Mountaintide, both of whom are students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, attach red ribbons to automobiles in the school's parking lot to remind motorists not to drink and drive during the holiday season. Gornstein and Cukier are co-presidents of 'Alternatives,' a Dayton student group which aims to make fellow students aware of the dangers of drug and alcohol use. The ribbons were donated to the school by Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD).

Volunteers are needed to aid troubled families

The Union County Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) Program in cooperation with the Family Court will offer training to prospective volunteers beginning Feb. 7 from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m. at Union County College, Springfield Avenue, Cranford, in the Nomahegan Hall faculty lounge.

Trained CASA volunteers are appointed by the presiding judge of the Family Court, Hon. John J. Callahan, to advocate on behalf of abused and/or neglected children that are in placement outside their natural homes. Volunteers come from all walks of life with no special background required.

They must, however, be mature, responsible adults who have the ability to talk with people who are having problems, to care about children and to have the time to commit to this endeavor. Volunteers are selected on the basis of their objectivity, competence and commitment.

Once appointed to a child's case, the CASA volunteer is responsible for finding out as much as possible about the case. The CASA reads the records and interviews as many people as possible who touch the child's life, including parents, teachers, social service workers and others.

The CASA then presents the findings and a recommendation to the Child Placement Review Board as to what is in the child's best interest. The goal is for the child to have a safe, secure and permanent home.

In the training program, professionals from different fields will present an overview of the Family Court system and the various agencies and community services that work with the children and their families. Advocacy, interviewing skills and the special needs of the child will be discussed.

For more information or an application, one can call Linda Jeter or Joyce M. Conrad at 527-4917. The CASA office is located on the eighth floor of the Union County Court House, Broad Street, Elizabeth.

Registration announced

The Christopher Academy, which has branches in Westfield, Cranford and Scotch Plains, has announced that registration is taking place for the 1991-92 school year.

Christopher Academy is a Montessori school and services children ages 2½ through first grade. The academy currently enrolls students from Springfield, Mountainside and Kenilworth, as well as numerous other area communities.

The Montessori classroom is a multi-aged setting which emphasizes individualized education through concrete materials and a prepared environment. The Montessori method is both a philosophy of education and a rationale for child development.

The materials used in the classrooms are simple, attractive and sequenced according to difficulty and degree of complication. Each exercise is self-correcting so that the child can recognize his or her own mistake.

The Christopher Academy offers for 2½-5 year olds either an AM or PM session. The Westfield site also offers an all-day program for 3-5 year olds. The Cranford and Westfield schools have an all-day kindergarten and a first-grade program.

For further information, one can call the Christopher Academy of Westfield at 233-7447, the Christopher Academy of Cranford at 276-4469 or the Christopher Academy of Scotch Plains at 322-4652.

Regional BOE plans meeting

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 will hold an adjourned regular meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 15, at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Westfield Avenue, Clark.

Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

The board is expected to hear a report concerning the district's plans and programs for the use of computer instruction for classroom and administrative tasks. Public comments are invited.

All residents of the regional district, parents of students attending district programs and teaching staff members of the four regional high schools are invited to attend this meeting.

Museum to present spinning wheel demonstration

Several winter activities will be taking place at the Miller-Cory House Museum, Mountain Ave., Westfield on Sunday, Jan. 13, from 2-4 p.m. Mary Salmon of Berkeley Heights will explain how to use a spinning wheel to produce finished threads from woolen fibers.

The winter months provided more time for spinning during the 18th and early 19th centuries in New Jersey. There are three necessary steps for making thread: drawing, twisting and winding. It is believed that the first spinning wheel was developed in India about 1,000 years ago.

Introduced in Germany in the early 16th century, the treadle type of spinning wheel made it possible for the spinner to sit while both hands were free to draw the fiber.

The inventory taken of Joseph Cory's estate in 1802 includes three pairs of wool cards, used for preparing the fibers for spinning, one spinning wheel, a spooling wheel and swifts, used for winding yarn.

Patricia Mason of North Plainfield and Maria Romano of Hillside will highlight an early cooking technique in the main house during the afternoon. Costumed docents will be conducting tours through the furnished rooms of the farmhouse, begun by Samuel Miller for his bride, Sabra, in 1740.

Many new items are available in the museum gift shop, also open from 2-4 p.m. The museum features different crafts and tasks each Sunday and offers group tours by appointment. Anyone wishing additional information can call the Miller-Cory House Museum office at 232-1776.

Poster winner honored

DeAndrea Forbes, a student at St. James School in Springfield, was named first-place county winner in a poster contest sponsored by the Catholic Archdiocese of Newark.

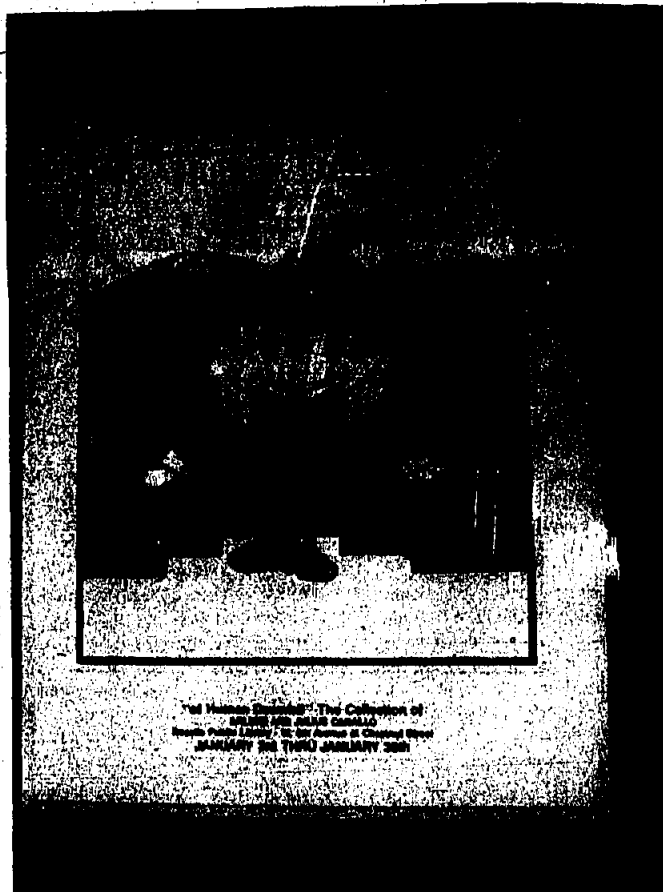

The theme of the poster was "The Catholic School Advantage — Education Plus." The St. James student, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Forbes of Hillside, received a $150 savings bond.

Forbes will go on to compete with other first-place county winners from schools in Bergen, Essex, and Union County for a grand prize of $500.

OF INTEREST TO BOTH CHILDREN AND ADULTS is an exhibit of more than 100 Humpty Dumpty objects. Open to the public, and welcoming display admirers from all surrounding towns, the exhibit will be on view at the Roselle Public Library on West Fourth Avenue at Chestnut Street for the month of January.

Guidance program scheduled

The Guidance Department of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield is presenting a College Financial Aid Awareness Program on Tuesday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. in the high school's Halsey Hall auditorium on Mountain Avenue, Springfield.

All interested parents and students from the four Union County Regional High Schools — Jonathan Dayton, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson in Clark and Governor Livingston in Berkeley Heights — are invited to attend the program.

SCHOLARS RECOGNIZED — Four students from David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth were recently recognized by the New Jersey State Department of Higher Education as Edward J. Bloustein Distinguished Scholars and as Garden State Scholars for 1991, based on their outstanding records of academic achievement. They are, from left, Steven Gaeta, Joann Cheeka, Lisa Moore and Elena DeBella. Through the Garden State Scholarship Program, these youngsters are offered an annual scholarship award of up to $1,000 if they choose to attend a New Jersey-based college or university.

KEAN COLLEGE OF NEW JERSEY

JANUARY 12, 1991

A special public meeting of the Kean College of New Jersey Board of Trustees will begin at 1:00 p.m., Saturday, January 12, 1991 in Downs Hall, Room A. Agenda items will include action on the Five-Year Institutional Plan and consideration of the Report of the Middle States Evaluation Team Site Visit.

An executive session of the Board, if required, will take place after the public meeting to discuss matters relative to building contracts.

Bill would scrutinize hospitals

A bill designed to help guarantee that hospitals are adhering to provisions of the state's Uncompensated Care Trust Fund Law was recently introduced by Assemblyman Neil M. Cohen (D-Union) and John S. Watson (D-Mercer).

Cohen explained that the bill (A-4273) would direct the State Auditor to conduct quality control reviews of hospital uncompensated care audits for 1989 and 1990. The audits are required by a provision of the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund Law, he said.

"We need this review to learn how the Uncompensated Health Care Trust Fund became the fiscal and operational problem it is today," said Cohen. "One area of immediate concern is hospital debt collection procedures. Hospitals must take more aggressive actions to recover bad debts so that the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund can be used for those who truly are unable to pay, instead of those who choose not to pay."

Watson said the bill would require the State Auditor to review a representative sample of hospital audits. However, the audits from the 20 hospitals with the highest uncompensated care costs in the state would have to be included in the State Auditor's review.

The State Auditor would report his findings — and recommendations for improving the system — to the Legislature and the New Jersey Health Commissioner, he said.

Newspaper editor named

Springfield resident Nicole Greene was recently named as being among the section editors for Union County College's student newspaper "The Scroll." The students work under the advisement of Professor Carl Cutitta of Staten Island, who teaches English.

Other Scroll senior staff members are Lynn Young of Cranford, news editor; William Wheeler of Westfield, art director; Jean Pierre of Elizabeth, photography editor; and Gerard Hughes of Westfield, Bridget MacWalters of Maplewood, and Karen Stradford of Union will all be section editors.

Francine Dupre of Westfield, a veteran journalist, has been named editor-in-chief of the college newspaper.

A part-time computer science major who already holds a bachelor's degree from Beloit College in Wisconsin, Dupre is studying desktop publishing techniques for journalistic reproduction.

Dupre has worked for the past 20 years in the journalism field, including work in corporate communications for AT&T and Hewlett-Packard, plus daily newspapers and trade magazines.

A married mother of two, she enrolled at UCC to master a computerized version of manual layout skills she had learned through the industry. Her work as school newspaper editor involves use of the Apple SE-300 computer.

CHRISTMAS WISH — Fifth-grader Melissa Garra, a student at Deerfield School in Mountainside, tells Santa what she wants for Christmas during an annual holiday program which was held recently at the school. Santa was played by teacher Bob Morris. The program featured various performances by Deerfield students in all different grade levels.

SS payments have risen

A 5.4 percent cost-of-living adjustment will increase the amount of 1991 Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments, George Dearness, Social Security manager in Elizabeth, recently stated.

People will see the increase in their benefits received in January 1991, according to Dearness.

The annual increase raises the amount of the maximum Social Security retirement benefit to $1,022 for a person retiring in 1991 at 65. The average Social Security benefit paid nationally is $602, Dearness said.

The full Federal SSI payment goes up in 1991 to $407 for an individual and $610 for a couple. In most states, a supplement increases these amounts. Living arrangements and other income also affect SSI payment amounts.

People can get their questions answered by calling Social Security's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-234-5-SSA (1-800-234-5772). They can speak to a representative 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays. Or, if they wish, they can visit the Elizabeth Social Security Office located at 24-52 Rahway Avenue, Elizabeth, N.J. 07202.

THE WHOLE TOOTH
 Watering Your Teeth

The title of this column is neither a joke nor a play on words, and it doesn't describe a method of making your teeth grow like grass or plants!

It refers to a dental care appliance that has become quite popular in recent years — the water pick, or, as your dentist would more formally call it, "oral irrigating device."

The water pick works on much the same principle as those shower heads that shoot bursts of water at you instead of a continuous spray. It pumps tiny pulsating jets of water against your teeth with more force than your own rinsing efforts could generate, searching out places where a toothbrush and even floss are relatively ineffective.

Another advantage the water pick has is that it can be aimed like a gun at those places where food particles are readily trapped — around the gums, between the teeth, and under bridgework, flushing them out of their hiding places.

Most dentists agree that the appliance is not recommended for small children. Older children with orthodontic bands, however, will find it invaluable in forcing out the food particles the bands invariably collect.

Knowing that the conditions of teeth and gums vary from person to person, dentists have reservations about the indiscriminate use of water picks. Consult your dentist before investing; there may be sound reasons a water pick is not right for you.

Keep in mind one final and very important point. Because they're so effective and easy to operate, water picks may deceive you into thinking you've found the complete answer to the challenge of cleaning your teeth.

This is a dangerous delusion. A water pick removes only food. Don't ask the device to do more than it's intended to do. Use it as simply one part of a total cleansing process and you won't go wrong.

Assembly addresses strip search abuse

The General Assembly recently approved legislation designed to curb abuses of state laws that permit law enforcement officials to strip-search individuals who have been arrested and charged with crimes.

Assemblywoman Barbara Faith Kalik (D-Burlington/Camden) and Assemblyman Neil M. Cohen (D-Union) are sponsoring the bill (A-1182).

Kalik noted that in October of 1988 a series of highly-publicized reports presented evidence of official misconduct by local police officers who performed strip searches. The reports were submitted at that time to the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

Following the disclosure, New Jersey Public Advocate's Office recommended changes to existing law in an effort to address strip search abuses.

"Under current law, it's conceivable that an individual charged with something as minor as a routine traffic violation could be subjected to a strip search if he or she is unable to immediately raise bail," said Kalik.

Cohen noted that recent federal and state court decisions have found that strip searches cannot be performed routinely on defendants charged with non-indictable offenses who have not yet made bail.

According to the legislation, police officers and other persons authorized to conduct strip searches would be required to consider the nature of the offense in determining whether there is probable cause to strip search a person charged with a non-indictable crime or traffic offense.

The bill would also require that persons charged with such offenses who are placed in holding cells pending the posting of bail may only be strip searched if there is probable cause to believe that a weapon, illegal drug or crime evidence will be found, or if there is a belief that the defendant poses a suicide risk.

The bill also directs the State Attorney General to monitor any reported abuses of the law and any related disciplinary proceedings against police officers.

"Law enforcement authorities must use tools at their disposal to fight crime and not criminals behind bars," said Cohen. "However, there can be no tolerance for abuses of authority which violate our citizens' constitutional rights."

The bill, approved by a 69-3 Assembly vote, now moves to the Senate for action.

'Mozart' in church

Commemorating 200 years since the death of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart in 1791, the Choral Art Society of New Jersey chorus and orchestra, under the direction of Evelyn Blecke, will present Mozart's great "Mass in C Minor," Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, Mountain Avenue and Broad Street.

By age 25, Mozart had already written 25 masses. He "specifically composed this Mass as an offering to God for the recovery of his fiancée, Constanze Weber, who was gravely ill. He later married her, but the Mass however was never finished." He completed the "Kyrie," "Gloria," "Sanctus" and "Benedictus," but only half of the "Credo." At its performance in St. Peter's Church in Salzburg in 1783, Constanze sang one of the soprano solo parts. The society will perform those sections Mozart actually wrote.

Handel's "Coronation Anthems," I and II, were selected to complete the program. "History notes that Mozart at a point in time provided the arrangement and instrumentation of four works by Handel, including "The Messiah," it was announced.

Featured will be Rachel Kosales, soprano; Caroline Thomas, soprano;

The series began with a Hanukkah concert featuring folk singers Ilan Mamber and Moti Peleg on Dec. 22. David Broza, an Israeli folk-rock superstar, will give the next concert Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Maurice Levin Theater, Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan New Jersey, West Orange. Broza, born in Israel, spent his adolescence in Spain, where he discovered his family's Spanish roots and his own musical talents.

For Whose Good?

Andrew Jackson, in several respects a great President, did not do the nation a favor by bringing the "spoils system" to Washington. This is the practice wherein the political victors dole out posts to those who supported them, and boot out those who didn't, often with little regard to the effective operations of government.

The law has taken many thwacks at the spoils system over the past 150 years, and has had some success in curtailing some of patronage's more flagrant abuses. But the spoils system has not been eradicated. Far from it. In various forms all over the American political landscape, the practice of putting favoritism and vengeance above good government still exists.

In Springfield, for instance. In November incumbent Phil Kurnos defeated Steve Firsichbaum for the majority-deciding seat on the five-member township committee. He won by a mere 185 votes. At the recent township reorganization meeting, the three Republicans — Kurnos, Marc Marshall and Jeffrey Katz — aglow with their glorious mandate, removed those people who did not support them from every municipal post that had come to term, and replaced these people with political cronies and personal friends.

Among those let go were people with proven governmental abilities, like former Springfield mayor, Stanley Kaish, who was not reappointed to the Board of Adjustment, and Allan Spiegel, who was removed from the Board of Health.

Spiegel is a Republican. He opposed interference by the township committee — which is to say, by Kurnos, Marshall and Katz — in the affairs of the Board of Health. He did his job and, in the process, ran afoul of Springfield's triumvirate. Therefore he couldn't possibly be a good Republican — out he goes.

Another removed official, Richard Amos, who had served on the Local Assistance Committee, had for a time worked with the Republican rulership. But he changed his mind. He disagreed. Bye-bye.

This is all legal, of course. But is it prudent government, or to the benefit of the residents, to remove qualified, experienced personnel simply because they may not agree with you? Marshall, the new mayor, has asked for a more "patient and caring" community. What patience and the care were exercised in dumping Kaish and Spiegel and Amos? What service was rendered to Springfield?

Take the matter of this newspaper. The dynamic trio has decreed that the Springfield Leader will no longer be the township's official newspaper. This means that Springfield will no longer place its paid legal announcements in the Leader. The reason for this turnaround is not far to seek: the Leader endorsed Firsichbaum, so the Leader must be removed.

That's legal, too. And if those three don't like us — so what. But Springfield is required by law to place its legal announcements in a local newspaper. The only alternative to the Leader is the Elizabeth Daily Journal. Kurnos, Marshall and Katz, when not busy complimenting each other, are commending themselves for saving, or planning to save, the taxpayers money. But it will cost Springfield approximately $2,500 more a year to use the Journal as the official paper. Granted, that is not a great deal of money. But do Springfielders wish to foot the bill for petty vengeance?

Moreover, the Daily Journal has a Springfield circulation of roughly 200. The Leader reaches 2,000 residents. Perhaps those residents and their neighbors would like to let their closely-elected rulers know how they feel about the spoils system. The Leader, too, for whatever faults it may have, carries articles about Springfield. The Daily Journal has little Springfield coverage.

But perhaps that is what the glorious triumvirate wants — no coverage. No coverage would certainly go along with no opposition. Imagine — nothing but silence and sycophancy. Nothing to disturb the kids in the candy shop, or keep the weasils from the eggs.

Kurnos, Marshall and Katz do not take criticism well. In all likelihood they will miss our point that acting in their own personal interests, or according to their personal feelings, may not be in the best interest of the community they have taken a solemn oath to serve.

Assuredly, they will not like being called "spoilsmen." But we also have a duty to the community, whether or not we're the official paper, and that duty involves calling a spade a spade.

letters to the editor

Another side

Once again, I am writing to the Springfield Leader to clarify a Township debate, the point of which was completely missed by the reporter. This concerns the proposed purchase of a new vehicle for the Emergency Management Department. The vehicle was first presented to Marcia Focman and me in October as an expense item in the intended bond package for 1990. Upon our questioning and review, there was no rationale given for the purchase of the vehicle at that time and it was removed from the bond proposal. After the bond sale was completed, the vehicle turned up, in its new four-wheel-drive truck version, as an expense against the capital budget. It was quite surprising to find that only a few weeks had changed the demands for this vehicle. Investigating the new situation, it appears that after a review of a Route 28 accident, the Emergency Management Department concluded that a four-wheel-drive vehicle might be helpful in responding to this type of accident.

This Route 78 incident was attended to by 21 separate agencies, all paid for by our taxes. It is interesting to note this seemingly overlapping effort apparently does not bother the majority council members, who usually are quite vocal about county and state bureaucracies. In fact, the proposed truck was stridently defended by Mr. Katz, a member of the auxiliary police which would use the vehicle. Apparently, the Leader's reporter did not notice as he was leaving the Town Hall that there were several police cruisers and the police four-wheel-drive vehicle all parked outside the Town Hall. Nor did the reporter notice that in the lot behind the Town Hall were parked the two auxiliary patrol cars.

In this time of increasing fiscal constraints, it is imperative that we, the elected officials, carefully review each expenditure, asking not only the question "Do we have the money?" but going further and asking "Is the purchase really needed now?" and "What municipal needs may not be met if we spend this money?" Marcia and I do this with each item purchased — such as approving the new command console for the Police Department, which was sorely needed; or approving the new handheld radios for the Emergency Management Department, which were also needed, and many other items. I have no problem trying to provide the municipal departments with the material they need to do their jobs, but there must be a balance between spending every time a new issue is identified and conserving money for future needs. For it is the taxpayer who must bear the burden when politicians cannot come to terms with the ever increasing demands for spending vs. fiscal prudence.

Something right

I am writing this letter because I think that your writers are excellent. They cover everything that happens in our town, as well as some neighboring cities. I love to read about the crooks as well as how the police caught them. I think that it is great that you print the honor rolls and the school lunch menu, so keep up the good work!

More sports, please

I am a concerned student of Springfield. I am concerned about the sports section of the Leader. I think you should talk about Springfield more. I believe all you talk about is Union and Kenilworth. I am concerned about your paper. You never print any of the articles on the Springfield Minutemen that we send in. Many of us would like it if you would print more sports articles on Springfield.

What's that smell?

Something does not smell quite right regarding the garbage situation in Union County! There are too many unanswered questions.

The Essex County incinerator in the Ironbound section of Newark had not been able to test properly because it could not get sufficient garbage. Imagine that — from all of Essex County! What will happen when there will be less garbage to burn if the 60 percent recycling figure recommended by the Task Force and approved by Governor Florio is reached?

It has been suggested that Union County send its garbage to the Essex County incinerator for a period of 90 days so that it will have sufficient material for testing purposes. What will happen after the 90-day period?

If the Union County incinerator proposed for Rahway is ever built, there will be less garbage for burning than we now have as we approach the 60 percent recycling figure. From where will the garbage come? Incinerators work on a "put or pay" principle. If enough garbage is not available to cover operational costs, the incinerator or the builder, Ogden-Martin, will not suffer. Who will

State We're In

Places and plans that just aren't

By DAVID F. MOORE
What makes a collection of buildings an identifiable "place" is a puzzle for towns trying to deal with the State Planning Act, for which the title of the first draft plan is "Communities of Place."

It's difficult, for many towns have grown like Topsy, and have become no place at all. Indeed, in a study a few years ago by the New Jersey Conservation Foundation (NJCF), we found that folks in three sprawling municipalities often didn't know what township they lived in. Instead, they named the nearest village or town that had some sort of traditional center.

A few weeks ago, at a seminar jointly sponsored by NJCF and New Jersey Future, a state planning advocacy group, a panel of planners discussed their recent experiences with trying to recreate a traditional town. Does one build new communities from scratch, build on old ones or repair the damage created by sprawl?

A common thread followed throughout; people living in today's sprawl want something else. When asked to design the kind of community they want, people create settlements no longer permitted by any zoning ordinance in New Jersey.

In one program, cited by planner Anthony Nelesen, community preference surveys were held in a score of towns. In every case, people wanted compact town centers, with the chance for different kinds of accommodations to be mixed together, a mix of housing, so that new households, single parents, families and senior citizens can be together.

Not only that, but shopping and support businesses like doctors, dentists, dry cleaners and the like should be mixed in, too. So should apartments over stores, small employment centers and schools.

Karl Kehde, working as a consultant for the Association of New Jersey Environmental Commissions (ANJEC), discovered the same thing in working with ad hoc citizens' groups in a half dozen towns.

Such land-use forums, as they are called, start with a problem. Perhaps it's a suit between a builder and the pay to recover these losses? The county will. From where does the county get its money? The taxpayers, you and me.

It is unfortunate that more time and money were not invested in researching alternatives to incineration before the Essex County incinerator was ever built. Proven processes, such as municipal composting, greater recycling, and source reduction are much, much less expensive and much less dangerous to the environment and, consequently, our health. The air in the metropolitan area is already one of the most polluted in the country. Do we need to increase the pollution unnecessarily by adding more poisons from incinerators?

The Concerned Citizens for the Environment of Rahway commend the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority on its decision to compost and reuse its sludge rather than incinerate it after the March 17 ban on the ocean dumping of sludge goes into effect. The resulting material, just as in the case of composting municipal solid waste (garbage), will be a highly desirable substance with many uses.

Let's hope and pray that wiser heads will prevail and see the folly in constructing these costly, unhealthy "white elephants" instead of utilizing proven methods that are so much more advisable and advantageous.

Free death?

For several years tobacco companies have provided military locations with free cigarettes. These generous samples have allowed non-smoking service men and women, and government employees, to develop the smoking habit. Thousands of these people are among the reportedly 400,000 Americans who die annually because they are addicted to nicotine.

As the number of military personnel deployed in "Operation Desert Shield" approaches 400,000 (note the coincidence) it is reported that the tobacco companies have again offered to provide our service people with free cigarettes. If war erupts in the Persian Gulf our forces would now be in "double jeopardy" — possibly killed in action, possibly killed by a cigarette-related disease.

It is sad to note that the unscrupulous tobacco industry is indifferent to the millions of preventable deaths caused by its lethal product. You might say that they are generous to a fault.

Hope for cooperation

The results of the recent meeting of Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir and President Bush contrast sharply with negative descriptions of previous meetings of the past 12 months.

Agreement seems to have been reached that pursuit of the peace process will move ahead, but not until the Persian Gulf crisis is resolved; that the two countries show similar views on the current campaign against Saddam Hussein; and that the situation of the Gulf crisis will not come at Israel's expense.

Particularly gratifying were Prime Minister Shamir's comments after the meeting that it had advanced further the special relationship between the U.S. and Israel. While matters no doubt will continue to come up that bring on disagreements — it happens with the best of friends — the overall assessment must conclude that the U.S. and Israel, two democratic allies with shared values, stand together in this crucial period in Middle East affairs.

Excuse me, Governor

As usual, Governor Florio misses the point in his "Governor's best wishes" letter in your edition of Dec. 20. He claims to have reduced automobile insurance rates and property taxes. For most people, he has done nothing of the kind. Instead, he has merely shifted costs from one driver to another and from one taxpayer to another.

A major difficulty with the governor's position on both issues is that he has failed to address the underlying reasons for high automobile insurance rates and high property taxes.

Unfortunately, Governor Florio has chosen to play the demagogue with respect to automobile insurance and have us believe that, out of all 50 states, automobile insurance companies have conspired to single out little New Jersey and force us to subsidize drivers in the rest of the country. What nonsense! New Jersey is a costly state in which to write automobile insurance, partially because it is congested and partially because Governor Florio and his friends in the personal injury bar continue to prevent enactment of no-fault legislation with a mandatory verbal threshold, which would prevent expensive litigation except in instances of serious injury. Because there is greater risk of accident in congested areas than in others, New Jersey automobile insurance rates will always be higher than those in more sparsely populated states. Governor Florio may help some drivers living in our own most congested regions by barring geographical considerations from the rate making process, but guess who will be called upon to make up the difference?

Governor Florio has done nothing in the name of property tax reform but divert funds from other taxpayers to those upon whom he relies for his own political support. For every dollar his friends' taxes go down, someone else's taxes go for schools and that the governor has never even attempted to find out whether at least some school costs might be responsibly reduced. Quality schools will never be cheap, but do we really need as large an administrative bureaucracy as we have now? And have we really made serious efforts to distinguish between that which is essential and that which is merely nice to have? Come on, Governor, give us a break!

Bassano answers civilian questions

By C. LOUIS BASSANO

With the Persian Gulf crisis heating up and the chances of more and more United States troops being deployed, it's important for military personnel stationed in Saudi Arabia and their families to be aware of their rights.

For example, while you or your spouse is away, does your home mortgage still have to be paid? What about your car payments? Can you receive any assistance at all on these debts? The answer — that you must continue all payments but your interest rates will be frozen at 6 percent — is contained in a guide-book prepared by the New Jersey National Guard.

In this time of stress and separation, the guide-book, "What's Next? A Guide to Family Readiness," is available for members of the National Guard and their families. This book describes benefits, explains how to get personal business affairs in order, and details how to prepare for times and rituals or active duty. It also includes information on how to cope with feelings of loneliness and anger.

Additionally, there are other places to turn for help. The Department of Military and Veteran Affairs can be contacted at 609-530-460. The legal office at Fort Dix can be contacted at 609-562-2497 or 609-562-3043 or at McGuire Air Force Base, telephone 609-724-3086 for family support information.

Looking ahead, when military service is over, one might need to know about Veterans' Re-employment Rights Assistance and Information program located at the U.S. Department of Labor, Veterans Employment and Training Services, 28 Yard Ave., Room 200-CN058, Trenton, NJ 08609; telephone number 609-292-2930. A 24-hour answering service takes messages for veterans' re-employment rights information, at 609-989-2396.

Under the Veterans Re-employment Rights law, any person who leaves a civilian job in order to enter active duty in the Armed Forces, voluntarily or involuntarily, is entitled to return to his or her civilian job after discharge from active duty if you meet certain eligibility requirements.

This means: it must not be a temporary job, the sole reason for leaving the job must have been due to beginning active duty, the active duty may not be longer than four years unless the federal government requests the added time, discharged or release from active duty must be under honorable conditions, and one must apply for re-employment with the pre-service employer within 90 days after separation from active duty.

Reading this guide-book can assist those with information about important rights, and offices can be contacted for further assistance. These services are meant to help, in return for service to one's country.

Bassano, a Republican, represents the 21st District in the State Senate.

County now has a hotline to curb illegal dumpers

Union County Freeholder Neil M. Cohen, who also serves as a member of the N.J. Assembly (D-Union) has announced that the Hot Line citizens should call to report illegal dumping in Union County is now in place. "As of November, the county ordinance which provides strict measures to halt the illegal dumping that has been plaguing the communities in Union County, has been in place. The law provides for fines of up to $50,000, seizure of the vehicle used in committing the act, and loss of one's driver's license," stated Cohen. "An integral part of the new law is the involvement of the citizenry in catching illegal dumpers. We are asking people who witness anyone illegally dumping trash, construction debris, and other waste materials, to call the toll-free Hot Line number (1-800-235-DUMP). If the information the public provides results in the successful prosecution and collection of a fine, under the ordinance, that person will receive a reward of up to $250 or 10 percent of the fine, whichever is larger," explained Cohen.

Authority, the Union County Regional Environmental Health Commission and the local governments within the county. Cohen further noted that this comprehensive ordinance is the first of its kind on a county level in New Jersey and will serve as a prototype for the rest of the counties in this state.

The rash of illegal garbage dumping in Union County has posed severe environmental and health problems. These incidents include commercial and residential waste as well as construction and demolition debris, and cause groundwater contamination and the blocking of streams and sewers.

Said Cohen, "It has been increasingly apparent that due to the high cost of garbage removal, an incentive exists for individuals to utilize our parks, streets, and open spaces for their private, and free-of-charge landfill."

He further stated that this novel and creative ordinance will be a strong first step toward necessary deterrent measures to avoid the catastrophe of the toxic waste dumping era of several years ago. "Our role in government is to prevent a crisis, not simply respond to the aftermath of disaster."

"We realize that the issue of soaring garbage disposal costs must be addressed, but in the interim, we cannot allow illegal dumping to destroy our most important resource — our environment," Cohen said.

UCC library is now computerized

Press a button on a Union County College library computer terminal and you'll find the names of every holding listed before you.

That's the capability of a computerized network now available at each of the four campus libraries is interconnected to provide easy access of available holdings to library users. An automated public access catalog lists whatever books, periodicals, even computerized learning tools that are in the libraries' stacks. There are tape records, videotapes, and much more.

The MacKay Library at the College's Cranford Campus and its subsidiary libraries at the Scotch Plains and Elizabeth Campuses, and Plainfield Center carry a total of 100,000 holdings, all of which may be easily accessed via computer terminal. If a person is not computer literate, a reference librarian will provide instruction for the library user to obtain the information on holding availability.

What's more, numerous seminars are being conducted to properly arm library users with skills necessary to work the computer with ease.

"We have completed a series of bibliographic instruction sessions for students to learn how to use the system," explained Dr. John Farrell, of Edison, associate vice president for administrative systems. There were 65 such sessions last year alone that reached out to some 900 students and faculty members.

Through the system, he said, a person at any one of the four campuses can call up a listing on the computer terminal to see which library would carry a particular volume. This is possible by interconnecting all terminals to a central database.

An interlibrary loan system helps with the delivery of a requested item, often in the same day. In addition, Dr. Farrell said that during the 1989-90 academic year, a series of monthly newsletters was published to include a selected annotated listing of new holdings. Complete listings are to be included in a fiscal year 1991 issues.

Meanwhile, the traditional card catalog will be phased out in 1991, he said, to make way for the more efficient, automated system. Even overdue library notices have been automated.

The automation is in response to a 25-percent increase in inter-library loan activity, attributed in part to an increased emphasis in "Library Across the Curriculum" instruction.

Such instruction appears in the form of projects built into existing curricula that call for hands-on library research activities in all subject areas. These activities, explained Dr. Farrell, would help to improve critical, independent thinking and development of research skills in networking information resources.

Dr. Farrell added that the increased library use also might be attributed to the use of networks between campus libraries.

An Open Letter to the Community from the President of St. Elizabeth Hospital

St. Elizabeth Hospital has received extensive media attention in recent weeks concerning rate increases if the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund is not renewed. I'd like to take this opportunity to review this complicated issue with you.

The extensive publicity generated by the expiration of the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund has created the impression that St. Elizabeth Hospital's rates will go up 64 percent if the Trust Fund is not renewed. The fact is that St. Elizabeth Hospital has just received its rates from the Department of Health and our rates will only increase 19 percent due to the Fund's expiration. Historically, St. Elizabeth Hospital's rates have been among the lowest in this area.

The impact of the expiration of the Trust Fund upon our rates is somewhat higher than one might expect due to the high percentage of Medicare patients that St. Elizabeth Hospital serves.

We are very proud that St. Elizabeth Hospital has become the hospital of choice for senior citizens in our community. Nearly 50 percent of our patients have reached the age of 65. This percentage of Medicare patients is among the highest in the state of New Jersey.

Since Medicare does not pay any uncompensated care surcharge, other insurance payors and patients must make up for Medicare's share of the uncompensated care burden. Consequently, under the current system, all non-Medicare patients pay a surcharge on their hospital bills.

We are hopeful that the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund will be renewed until a more equitable means of funding can be found. But regardless of the outcome of the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund issue, St. Elizabeth Hospital will continue to provide our community with the quality health care services the community has come to expect from us. Although our cash flow will be affected, St. Elizabeth Hospital has a solid financial base and benefits from the strong support of our community.

As a Catholic hospital sponsored by the Sisters of Charity of Saint Elizabeth, we will continue to fulfill our mission to serve all who are in need of health care services regardless of their ability to pay.

BATTLE ON THE MATS — John Petrosky of Roselle Park has the upper hand in this 130-pound bout with Ron Bubnowski of Union during last Saturday night's wrestling showdown in Roselle Park. Petrosky won the match, 14-10, and the Panthers were victorious as a team, 37-26, to stay unbeaten at 3-0.

Bear rallies produce tie, win

By BOB TAYLOR JR.

Following a third-place finish in the Woodbridge Holiday Tournament, the Brearley Regional High wrestling team finished its third week of competition in respectable fashion. Last Wednesday, the Bears overcame a 33-14 deficit to gain a 33-33 tie with Governor Livingston in Berkeley Heights, then defeated Manville, 37-30, on Saturday to push Brearley's record to 2-0-1.

Dom Tripodi led off for the Bears with a pin over Ray Fedeo in 2:44 for an early lead over the Highlanders, but G.L. then proceeded to rattle off five consecutive victories, with the streak finally ending when Ron Cagno drew with Jeff Hamner at 140 pounds.

Senior captains Clint Kaminski and Vic Verno helped bring the Bears back into the match with a fall and forfeit, respectively, then 189-pounder Jose Rodriguez defeated Quinn Greico, 8-5, to make it a 33-27 match. Finally, junior heavyweight Scott DuBeau pinned John Chen at 1:40 of the first period to knot the match at 33.

The Bear grapplers then traveled to Somerset County and challenged the Manville Mustangs. Once again, Tripodi, a freshman at 103 pounds, opened with a victory in besting Rob Willard, 9-1. But the Mustangs took a 24-4 lead by getting three pins, as well as a forfeit win at 119.

Senior Mike Lynch began the Bears' comeback by winning his first match of the year at 135 pounds, pinning Eric Sanson at 1:09 of the first period. At 145, Kaminski touched off a five-match run that brought the Bears victory, and, at 160, Verno, sealed the win with a pin over Dennis Sidorski.

After facing Middlesex yesterday, the Bears will return home to Kenilworth for a match against Roselle Park tomorrow night at 7. Both matches are considered key in Brearley's playoff drive.

Hawks finish 10-2 on season

The Harding School soccer team of Kenilworth recently concluded its sixth season by matching last year's impressive 10-2 record. This year was also the school's largest turnout, with a team of 25 players.

The Kenilworth squad registered two victories over Roselle Park, Mountainside, Fanwood and Winfield Park. The Hawks also tallied single victories over the Orange Avenue and Hillside Avenue Schools in Cranford. The Hawks' only losses came in close games against Clark and an overtime rematch game against Orange Avenue.

Eighth-grader Chris Reino led the team in scoring with a school-record 24 goals from his right wing position. Jaimie Yepe, another eighth-grader and a new student in the school, scored 14 goals from his center-forward position. Playing in his third season, center-halfback Scott Jankunas directed the offense and defense and hit for 12 goals, many from long range. Second-year player Billy Ravaoli contributed nine goals from left wing and occasionally played defense.

Another eighth-grader in his second season was Brian Hart, who showed poise and leadership at left halfback and chipped in with four points. Brian Fecho scored one goal in his second season from his right halfback position. David Rosen played well in his first season, scoring two goals and helping out on defense.

Joe Kratzer and Ryan Hynes, both eighth-graders, played well at fullback in their first season. Sweeper Mitul Patel anchored the defense in his second season.

Vladimir Jacaman, in his third season, played on the forward line and John Voltolino played defense.

Seventh-graders playing in their second season were wing Evan Hutchens, who scored a goal, and Chris Loalbo, who played well on wing. Other seventh-graders who made contributions in their first season were fullbacks Kenny Perkins and Leigh Parciak. Mike Pastor did an excellent job in goal for the Hawks in his first season.

Sixth-graders who turned in strong performances in their first season were stopper Brian Van Buskirk, forward Pat Guida and halfback Steve Goncalves, who each scored a goal. The power forward line of Mike Duda, Brant Krihak and Jon Santos passed and played well. Bobby Turner did a good job on defense.

German Gomez was the manager of the Hawks for the second year. The Hawks are coached by Jeff Kalreider.

Brearley beats Dayton

By KIM EAGAN

The Lady Bears of Brearley Regional High jumped to a quick 19-5 advantage after one quarter of play and never looked back in defeating Dayton Regional, 62-26, last Friday night in Kenilworth in a Mountain Valley Conference girls' basketball match-up.

Three Brearley players — Kim Eagan, Tricia Anglim and Karen Savage — hit double figures in scoring. Eagan had 26 points, while Anglim scored a season-high 17. Savage added 10 more for the Lady Bears, who will face Middlesex tonight and Manville tomorrow.

Panthers down Union

By MARK YABLONSKY

Roselle Park won five of the first six bouts to grab a decisive 15-point lead early on, then maintained most of it throughout the duration of the match to defeat Union, 37-26, in the first big wrestling showdown for both teams this past Saturday night in Roselle Park.

Union, which had become the first team to defeat Park in regular-season activity since the 1986-87 season with a convincing 46-18 victory last January in Union, received pins from its top two wrestlers, Dan Lilley at 140 pounds and Mike Francesca at 152, as well as a forfeit win by its bruising heavyweight, Scott Platt. But the Panthers, after Mike DiMaio's 13-2 decision over Brian Luizza in the opening 103-pound bout, won four straight matches — at 119, 125, 130 and 135 pounds — to claim a solid 19-4 advantage, after Dave Gollins' 14-4 victory at 112 pounds had forced a 4-4 tie between the two local rivals.

At 119 pounds, Bob McCafferty received a win by forfeit, and that was followed by Keith Appello's hard-fought 6-5 decision over Mike Acque at 125. Then John Petrosky outpointed freshman Ron Bubnowski, 14-10, at 130 pounds, before Pat McCafferty decided Ben Williams, 6-4, in the 135-pound bout.

From that point on, Union did win four of the remaining seven bouts, including Platt's win by forfeit to end the match. But pins by Chris Powers at 145 pounds and Dave Patterson at 171 gave the Panthers enough points to seal the victory. Patterson's fall over Dave Periera at the 47-second mark officially clinched the win for Park, which had defeated Ridge, 31-28, two days earlier in Basking Ridge.

"We won the match where we had to," explained Panther coach Sam Appello, whose team will wrestle against Brearley in Kenilworth tomorrow night at 7 p.m. "We won the close bouts, and our boys wrestled extremely well against Union. And on any other given night, Union could have done the same to us."

Park is now 3-0, while Union, which had defeated Cranford, 35-22, on Friday, dropped to 3-1.

'Dawgs give Rams fits

By MARK YABLONSKY

Every now and then, teams that you're used to beating handily can surprise you. Particularly when one or two of your key players are out with the flu.

That was the case last Thursday in Springfield when Dayton Regional gave Abraham Clark of Roselle a competitive showing in local boy's basketball in losing, 55-52.

Dayton, which is 1-5 under first-year coach John Theis, has lost four of its games by six points or less, including two contests — a 47-45 setback to North Brunswick, and the loss to Roselle — by three points or less. The Rams, who were scheduled to face Mountain Valley Conference rival Hillside on Tuesday with two starters at home sick with the flu, eventually prevailed on the strength of 18 points from Mike Fullman and 16 more from Jermaine Baskerville.

But Roselle coach Stan Kokie, whose team won twice over Dayton last year, 97-47 and 77-48, and by similar scores in recent years, did agree that Dayton is progressing, despite its record.

"I see a difference; I see an improvement," said Kokie, whose 6-1 club has lost only to Hunterdon Central — 72-65 on Dec. 27 — to date. "I don't mind close games as long as you win because it helps your ballclub. But I thought Dayton played very well and very aggressive."

"I was pleased with the victory, but I complement them because I thought they played very well."

A three-pointer by Joe Perez from deep range had pulled Dayton to within a 52-50 count of Roselle late in the final quarter, but three foul shots from Fullman in the closing seconds helped seal the win for the Rams. Both Fullman and Eric Magazine, who added eight points against the Bulldogs, are Roselle's leading scorers at about 20 points per game.

Dayton got 17 points from Courtney Benjamin, and 11 each from both Perez and Andy Huber.

Roselle defeats Dayton

This past Thursday, the Lady Rams of Abraham Clark High in Roselle improved their record to 2-3 on the season when they defeated Dayton Regional, 47-32, in a Mountain Valley Conference girls' basketball game.

"We played great in the first quarter, not so great in the second quarter, but then we came back in the third quarter," Roselle coach Bob Giannotti said. "The third quarter was the difference for us. That's when we put the game away."

The Lady Rams led by an 18-14 score at halftime, and then outscored the Lady Bulldogs, 17-8, in the third quarter. Maria Roldan scored seven of her team-high 16 points in that third-quarter run. Palin added 11 points and Shawanna Felton finished with 10 points.

Sherri DeRonde led Dayton with 11 points, and Karen Kaminski added eight more.

Roselle — Fullman 18, Magazine 8, Graham 3, Baskerville 16, Muwakkil 6, Hollins 2, Perry 2.

Dayton — Benjamin 17, R. Huber 9, Perez 11, A. Huber 11, Hauoisen 2, Petino 2, Prezinski 0.

Indians finish third

By SUSAN KRAKOWIECKI

Rahway High School wrestling coach Fred Steuber had hoped for a top-five finish for his team in the Woodbridge Holiday Tournament on December 28. But the Indians exceeded his expectations and took home the third-place trophy. "I was hoping to be in the top five, but the kids wrestled very well and we came away with third," Steuber said. "And we had to forfeit three weight classes because of illness. Had we been able to field wrestlers in those classes, we might have taken second place, or even made a run at first place."

Southern Regional High School took first place in the tournament, followed by host Woodbridge High in second. Rahway's county rival, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, placed fourth in the tournament, which featured 12 area schools.

Individually, the Indians had one winner in Eric Wnuck, who took the 103-pound weight class. Wnuck now boasts a very impressive 5-1 record. Mark Telep placed fourth in the 112-pound class. Frank Castanza finished fifth at 119 pounds. Chris Ott took second in the 130-pound competition. Malik Wilder finished fifth at 135 pounds and Jessie Barrara placed fifth at 140. Keith Wornack took fourth at 152 pounds. Steve Marcanonio took second in the 171-pound class. Gary Jones finished fifth at 189 pounds, and Daryl Purr-Bell finished third in the heavyweight division.

On Friday, Rahway resumed its dual-meet schedule with a home match against Newark East Side. The Indians actually wrestled only one match and won the other 12 by forfeit. In the one division that was contested, the 139-pound class, Rahway's Gary Jones defeated Anthony Melarra 8-5. The Indians won the match by a lopsided 75-0 score and improved their record to 2-2.

Club members compete

With young wrestlers coming in from as far away as Pennsylvania and Maryland, the Union Wrestling Club's recreation members gave a good accounting of themselves at the Middlesex Holiday Tournament on Dec. 30 at Middlesex High School.

Taking first for Union were Eric Swick at 75 pounds and Dave Bubnowski at 85. Ray Fain and Greg Francesca came in second at 85 and 100 pounds, respectively, while third-place finishers included Felice Fabiano at 75 pounds, Jimmy Zirpoli at 105 and Jody Seltzer at 95. Frank Giordano was fourth at intermediate 119 pounds.

Others participating for Union were Gianpaolo Fabiano, Jeff Bubnowski, Anthony Leavy, Daniel Cleary, Ryan Samuels, Daniel Zuena, Kris Pilone, Nick Ferroni and Joe Collins.

Who's on 1st?

This week's question:
It's time to change gears and ponder upon that other sport of the season — basketball. Here's a little brain teaser to get you started. Who was the first player in the history of the National Basketball League to average 30 points per game over the course of a season? (Hint: There were two players, and we need both names for your answer to be considered correct.) Last week's answer: The legendary Maurice "Rocket" Richard of the Montreal Canadiens was the first National Hockey League player to score 50 goals in one season. He accomplished that feat in the 1944-45 season.

The Rocket finished with 50 goals and 23 assists for 73 points in 50 games for the Canadiens, an impressive point total at the time. But Richard didn't win that year's Art Ross Trophy as the league's leading scorer. His Canadiens teammate, Elmer Lach, with 26 goals and 54 assists for 80 points, also in 50 games, took the honors.

The magic number of 50 goals in one season wasn't reached again until the 1960-61 season, when Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion scored 50 in 64 games for the Canadiens. Geoffrion added 45 assists for a total of 95 points, and took home the Art Ross Trophy after that season.

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodi, Stephan Relthinger of Union and Ted Chesney of Linden each submitted a correct answer.

Please have your responses in our Union offices — at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. — by no later than noon each Monday.

Dayton defeats Lions

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High boy's winter track team welcomed a new year with a 47-28 win over Roselle Catholic last Thursday in Springfield, having lost earlier to New Providence, stood at 1-1 entering Monday county relays in Elizabeth.

Several names played prominent roles in Dayton's win, including sophomores Josh Kestler and Brett Cohen, and junior John Schiano, all of whom came through with winning efforts in the two-mile run.

Juniors Sean McGrath and Brett Wilkins were victors in the half-mile run, with McGrath also taking the one-mile. Seth Eisen, another junior, won the shot put, as did sophomore Rob Schwartz. The Roughneen brothers, Sean and Joe, won the 400-meter run.

Speedy Car Wash outshines the rest

It's located in an industrial area on Lehigh Avenue — not exactly the kind of place you might expect to find a car wash; but somehow the Speedy Car Wash has managed to do quite nicely over the past 17 years. "The thing that's been interesting is that there's no other commerce on the street," said owner Gene Rooney, "but there are people who go far out of their way to come to us."

According to Rooney, who has operated the business for the past two years, the customer receives the best possible service at a reasonable price. At Speedy Car Wash, an exterior wash goes for about $1 less than the average car wash, a competitive price in a business where customers can be charged over $5 simply for an exterior wash, not to mention amenities such as hot wax.

Rooney, though, at his totally "brushless" operation, provides more than just a lower price, while providing personalized service in what can be a very impersonal, high volume business. In addition, the Speedy Car Wash offers free, self-service mat-washing equipment, something many other car washes dispense only for an extra charge, as well as coin-operated, self-service vacuum cleaners. Rooney always keeps his equipment up to date, replacing washing equipment as part of an ongoing commitment to giving the best wash for the money. "There's no equipment in the world that will do an absolutely perfect wash," he explained, adding, however, that a little extra effort can produce a superior service.

At Speedy Car Wash, Rooney's employees take time to wash off excess dirt from every vehicle before it even enters the conveyor — and the workers must greet each customer courteously because it is their job to do so.

"I won't permit my helpers to take tips," said Rooney, who can be seen right alongside his workers washing cars. "I want them to do a good job because it's their job, not because they're getting a tip."

Once inside, every vehicle is treated to a wash where every part of the car is cleaned more than once with fresh water and fresh detergent. Each part of the car is cleaned at least twice, with the lower, dirtiest sections receiving four complete wash applications. No detergent or water is ever reused.

When the car wash is not operating, Rooney is still busy keeping all equipment in working order. "We've really done a lot of maintenance on our equipment," he said. "I think that our assemblage of equipment is superior to most other car washes in the area."

Speedy Car Wash is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekdays, from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturdays, and from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sundays.

ENTERTAINMENT

Deborah Lynch is chairman of opera committee

Alfredo Silipigni, general director and conductor of the New Jersey State Opera, has announced that Deborah Lynch, wife of New Brunswick's mayor and president of the state Senate, John Lynch, will serve as chairman of the state opera's 25th anniversary committee.

Deborah Lynch is one of New Jersey's "leading cultural arts and civic activists." A member of the executive committee and board secretary of New Brunswick's George Street Playhouse, she is chairman of the playhouse's special events and endowment committees. She is a fund-raiser for the New Brunswick Cultural Center and is a member of the board of trustees of the Zimmerli Museum. She is honorary chairman of the American Red Cross chapter in Middlesex County and is a volunteer for the Central Jersey Spinal Cord Association and the Valerie Fund.

The first event was a dinner at the State Theater in New Brunswick recently honoring Gerald Dorf. Lucinda Florio, first lady of the state of New Jersey, will be the honorary chairman.

The entertainment will feature a performance by basso Paul Plishka. Two other social events are planned by the 25th anniversary committee next month. A cocktail party will introduce the State Opera to an invited group of New Jersey corporate leaders, and the season will end with the Grand Ball on May 11.

Other functions are designed for a season of operatic productions. On Saturday and Feb. 2, Carlo Bergonzi will return to New Jersey for a production of Giuseppe Verdi's "I Lombardi." This will be followed by Bizet's "Carmen" on Feb. 24 and March 2, featuring Lando Bartolini in a new production designed by Alberto Alonso.

The season will end with the world premiere of "Frederick Douglass," a new opera by New Jersey composer, Ulysses Kay, April 14 and 20.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the New Jersey State Opera offices at 623-5757. The New Jersey State Opera is supported in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State and by the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

NEWARK BOYS CHORUS

Newark Boys Chorus set for free Summit concert

The Afternoon Music Chamber series will present the Newark Boys Chorus in concert at the Fountain Baptist Church, 115 Glenside Ave., Summit, Jan. 20 at 4 p.m.

"Thanks to the generous support of the Ciba-Geigy Corp., this program will be free to the public," it was announced.

Members of the chorus get their training from the Newark Boys Chorus School, which was founded in 1967. The school offers a complete academic program for 70 Newark-area boys in grades 4 through 8. Teaching is conducted in "a tightly structured classroom environment for 11 months each year. Despite rigorous musical training and a demanding performance schedule, students consistently score two to three years above the national norm on achievement scores."

Most of the graduates continue on to private colleges, preparatory schools and then to major colleges throughout the country. Blair Academy, Newark Academy, Pingry, St. Benedict's, Yale, Stanford, Temple and Harvard are among the schools where the graduates are currently studying.

The chorus has a repertoire that includes African folk songs, Broadway musical pieces, classical music dating from the Renaissance to the 20th century, as well as modern day spiritual, folk, pop and jazz music. This music is often performed with symphony orchestras.

It was announced that singing with the chorus provides travel opportunities for the members. They have performed in Italy and Japan, and have made "an unprecedented 3-week tour of the Peoples Republic of China." They also have invitations to perform in Finland, Poland and the Soviet Union.

For more information about the free concert, one can call 273-3245 or 277-3327.

multi-instrumentalist and twice N.J. Old Style Banjo Champion, will perform at Classy Coffee, 447 Springfield Ave., Summit, Jan. 18 from 9 to 11 p.m.

Litwin's vocal style and range from bass to yodeling high tenor earned him "The Hillbilly Pavarotti" headline in a recent newspaper. In addition to his award-winning banjo performance, Litwin also performs on harmonica, guitar, banjo-ukelele, resonant instruments and jug.

Litwin also serves as co-host on an interview program, "Horses Sing None of It," which broadcasts statewide on CTN at 4:30 to 5 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of every month.

For more information, one can call 273-0068.

WALK ON FIRE

Group has powerful message in debut album 'Blind Faith'

By MILT HAMMER

Worthwhile listening. As their name suggests, there's nothing timid about Walk On Fire's music. This British rock quintet has an expansive, heroic sound that carries a message of struggle, conflict and hope. "Blind Faith," the band's UNI debut LP, is a powerful artistic statement rendered with passion and conviction.

The album's centerpiece is the title song and featured AOR track, a blues-tinged rocker with a brooding spiritual theme. "It was inspired by the hypocrisy of certain American evangelists," says Dave Cairns, the band's keyboardist and chief songwriter. "The subject of preachers taking disc 'n' data

money and living extravagant lifestyles got me thinking. I wrote it in an apartment overlooking a church. The song's a little tongue-in-cheek, but its point is serious as well."

A number of other tracks on Walk On Fire's debut LP reflect a strong social conscience. "Wastelands" is a look at urban deprivation in the UK, while "Caledonia," written by lead singer Alan King, is a lament for Scottish workers forced to leave their homeland in search of opportunity. The CD bonus track "Land Of The Holy" takes aim at religious warfare in Lebanon. Driving these themes home is Walk On Fire's fine-honed musicianship and exceptional melodic sense. From the simmering "Hearts Of Gold" to the soaring LP finale "Close My Eyes," "Blind Faith" displays a rare maturity for a first-time release.

Walk On Fire has crafted a wide-screen sound that draws the listener in, and never lets go. Blind Faith is an eye-opening band worth believing in.

Professor at Kean College named

Dr. John V. Valentine, an assistant professor of recreation at Kean College of New Jersey, Union, has been named to the board, planning an exhibition of Armenian children's artwork in New York City.

Valentine was invited by the Children's Museum of Manhattan to help plan conferences and seminars that will accompany the exhibition to run from March 15 through Aug. 31 at the museum.

The works of the children will be lent by the Center for Acoustic Education in Armenia which is directed by Henrik Igilian.

Valentine, who is coordinator of the urban and outdoor recreation curriculum at Kean, also is a musician accomplished in Armenian and other ethnic music forms. His function on the board, which is an advisory group to the museum, will be to ascertain how to best serve the needs of the arts and education community in New York City with respect to seminars and conferences.

Valentine show

Sheila Nussbaum Gallery, 358 Millburn Ave., Millburn, a showcase for contemporary art, American crafts and fine art jewelry, will present its National Invitational Valentine Jewelry show tomorrow through Feb. 19. The show will spotlight the work of 25 artists from 14 states and more than 300 individual items, offering a variety of techniques and materials.

More information can be obtained by calling 467-1720.

Donors set for program

Two New Jersey corporations and a corporate foundation in New York are the most recent donors to the Westfield Symphony Orchestra, it was announced.

Nutley based Hoffmann-La Roche recently awarded the orchestra $2,500 in support of the orchestra's education program. Also received were unrestricted grants from Elizabethtown Gas Co., $2,000, and the Crane Co. Foundation, $1,000. Meet the Composer has granted $500 in support of the Visiting Composer, Bright Sheng, whose work "H'un-In Memoriam" will receive its New Jersey premiere by the WSO in March.

Earlier in the fall, the Frank and Lydia Bergen Foundation awarded the orchestra's education program, $17,000, a 42 percent increase over last year's grant. The Bergen Foundation has been the major benefactor of the education program "a unique and highly regarded series of concerts and other activities designed to foster an appreciation of the arts among all ages in the communities served by the Westfield Symphony."

Recently, the orchestra launched its first major annual fund campaign, with a goal of $4,000. The annual fund is the direct mail component of the orchestra's development operation, which also includes the subscription campaign, the annual gala, and corporate/foundation solicitation. Those wishing to support the annual fund can call the symphony office at 232-9400 for information.

The orchestra's season will continue with concerts on Jan. 26 in Westfield and the next afternoon in Wilkins Theater at Kean College of New Jersey, Union.

He also has recorded two children's albums of original songs about health and nutrition, which have been distributed nationwide.

Restaurant review

By KATHERINE BROOKS

This is a place to go to not just for dinner, but for jazz entertainment at its best! Trumpets, in Montclair, should be frequented again and again. The food is excellent and live jazz is provided nightly from 8-12 p.m. Trumpets also has a Sunday brunch. The strains of a flute playing jazz riffs is very soothing for morning sleepheads.

For brunch, an a la carte menu is available as well as buffet. I can't wait to attend because I am sure that breakfast will be every bit as delicious as dinner was.

The owner is always on the premises. A lovely woman, she visits every table for a quick chat while offering helpful menu suggestions. It seems as though she truly makes an effort to get to know all of her guests. Anyone experiencing Trumpets will surely become a regular visitor.

A separate lounge area, on the side, is there for those who do not want to eat dinner but have stopped by only to have a drink and enjoy the music. By the way, great jazz bands are booked every night. The dance floor is a beautiful touch for slow dancing.

On first entering the restaurant, one is greeted by a huge, dimly lit, square bar. I think it would be a great place to come after work for a drink, or maybe just a simple nightcap.

The service is wonderful and professional. Our waitress was so courteous. I was never rushed and was able to fully enjoy my dinner as well as the dance floor.

For an appetizer, I loved the baked Brie with fresh fruit and almonds, $4.95. It was a meal in itself, with a beautiful presentation. The stuffed mushrooms with crabmeat, $4.95, were filled with pure crabmeat — no corners were cut here.

Also available are spiced Southern-fried chicken fingers with honey mustard, $4.95, and barbecued shrimp with roasted chile peppers, $6.95.

The Caesar salad, $4.50, was great. Overall, any of the appetizers would make a great snack in the lounge.

Frequenting Trumpets for dinner will be a pleasure. The main courses are well thought out, offering a wide mix of tastes. This is a menu that I would not find boring if I stopped by for dinner every other week.

I chose to have the grilled North-western salmon, $16.95, with a mustard dill sauce. Perfectly filleted, it was heavenly! I also sampled the medallions of filet mignon, $16.95. It was accompanied by a green peppercorn sauce which was very spicy, but a pepper-lover's dream.

The California Cobb salad, $12.50, is filled with grilled chicken, avocado, bacon and blue cheese.

The breast of chicken is sauteed with wild mushrooms at $14.25. The grilled veal medallions is served with an herb lemon butter for $16.95. Sauteed bay scallops are with a shrimp and lobster sauce for $14.50.

Dessert ended my evening on a perfect note. The house specialty is Trumpets' chocolate Jazberry, $4. Consisting of a chocolate terrine that is served with a "jazberry" sauce, it is a rich, dense chocolate delight.

The place is fun. It is delicious. It is entertaining. I really did not want to leave, and I cannot wait until I visit Trumpets again.

6 Depot Square, Montclair. Closed for lunch. Dinner 6-10 p.m. Late night menu available until 12 a.m. Jazz entertainment nightly 8-12 a.m. Casual dress. Major credit cards. 746-6100.
