Candidates Night sparks dialogue on many topics

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

The Springfield League of Women Voters, in conjunction with the three Springfield PTAs and the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Parent-Teacher-Student Organization, sponsored a Candidates Night on Monday at Florence M. Gaudineer School in Springfield for those seeking election to the Springfield and Union County Regional boards of education.

Six candidates will be vying for three vacant seats on the Springfield board Monday, school Election Day. They include incumbent Ruth Brinen, running for her second term, and newcomers Catherine Filepp, Robert Fish, Emma Lampariello, Paul R. Schneier and Jacqueline P. Shanes.

Union County Regional Board President Natalie R. Waldt, running for her ninth term, is being challenged this year by newcomer Charles Jordan Levy — the first time Waldt has been opposed in many years.

Each of the candidates in both groups was given three minutes to make an opening statement, followed by an extended question-and-answer period with members of the audience and two minutes to summarize. Jean Graves of the Short Hills League of Women Voters served as the moderator.

The first part of the forum, featuring Waldt and Levy, was dominated by audience questions regarding whether the Regional Board — or the candidates themselves — would favor closing one or two of the high schools during the next several years due to the financial crunch created by the Quality Education Act.

Waldt responded that there are currently no plans to close any of the four high schools and that no such action would be taken without a prior survey among residents of the six Regional District communities to determine their feelings. She added that she personally favors keeping four quality high schools open as well.

Levy said that he would also not be in favor of closing any high schools unless the need for such action was "so incredibly obvious" due to financial constraints or declining enrollment that the district had no other choice. In addition, he stressed the need for "flexibility" by the Regional Board when making decisions for the future of the district.

The six Springfield board candidates were asked by one member of the audience what their feelings were regarding whether or not they felt the Springfield Township Committee should have input regarding school board decisions and what kind of role local businesses in the school district should play.

The candidates unanimously agreed that while there should be successful dialogue and communication between the committee and the school board, the governing body should not play a direct role in determining board policies.

They also concurred that interaction between schools and the business community was vitally important in preparing youngsters for the working world.

Each of the Springfield candidates was also asked, if elected or re-elected, what his or her educational goals would be. Brinen proposed further curriculum development through state grants and a greater emphasis on math and science. Filepp and Shanes also called for continuance of a challenging and diverse curriculum.

The candidates discussed their backgrounds and their reasons for running for the board, and fielded numerous questions from the audience regarding the future of education in the district.

Earth Day ceremony honors Springfield's Gulf vets

By Suzette Stalker

Heavy rains could not dampen the spirits of approximately 30 Springfield residents and others who gathered Sunday afternoon at Veterans Park for a special Earth Day celebration which also served as a warm and heartfelt welcome home for Springfield veterans who recently returned from the Persian Gulf.

The highpoint of the ceremony was the planting and dedication of an American beech tree which was donated by the Springfield Rotary Club. A rock obtained from the Watchung Reservation has also been placed at the site, which in the future will bear a plaque honoring Springfield's Persian Gulf veterans.

Springfield Township Committeeman Jeffrey Katz, who served as master of ceremonies, welcomed guests and introduced various dignitaries who had come for the occasion. He was accompanied by Springfield Mayor Marc Marshall, Deputy Mayor Philip Kurnos and committee representatives Philip Kurnos and Lee Eisen.

Also on hand for the ceremony were Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden and Sen. C. Louis Bassano, both R-Union/Essex, whose district includes Springfield. Several Springfield veterans, their families and members of local civic organizations were in attendance as well.

The Springfield Veterans of Foreign Wars provided its Honor Guard for the ceremony, after which elected officials present led the salute to the Springfield resident Rose Baum Senerchia, an internationally acclaimed opera star who has appeared at the Metropolitan Opera, followed the Pledge of Allegiance with a rendition of the "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Following an invocation by Rabbi Perry Raphael Rank of Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield, a presentation of the "Freedom Tree" was made by Ken Scowen, president of Springfield Rotary, to Mayor Marshall. Presentation of the commemorative plaque was made by Deputy Mayor Kurnos to Springfield's Gulf veterans.

Four Springfield veterans of the Persian Gulf attended the ceremony, including Maj. John W. Battagliola, United States Air Force Reserve; Sammy M. Leedy, United States Navy; Capt. Kevin J. Russo, USAF; and Alan Talarsky, United States Naval Reserve.

Russo, who has been flying transport planes back and forth between the United States and Saudi Arabia, had just returned to McGuire Air Force Base in South Jersey — and traveled from there to Springfield still wearing his flight gear in order to attend the ceremony.

"It makes me proud that we had men in the Persian Gulf who returned to Springfield," remarked program coordinator Bob Blitzer afterward. "The families of the veterans were elated. In spite of the weather, it was a very touching, warm ceremony."

Rabbi Rank, who also offered the benediction, spoke about the impor-

Schaible to submit tank removal plan to DEP

By Dennis Schaal
Staff Writer

Schaible Oil Co. confirmed this week that it will soon submit a plan to the state Department of Environmental Protection regarding the removal of five underground fuel oil tanks at the company's one-acre site at 192 Mountain Ave.

Charles Schaible, co-owner of the company, said Monday that he would be meeting this week with a company-hired environmentalist who has formulated a cleanup project. Schaible said they will work on final details of the plan before submitting it to the DEP in the next few weeks.

The action by Schaible Oil seems designed to stem the concerns of township officials and some residents who have expressed fears that the soil at the Springfield location might potentially be contaminated with oil that leaked from the tanks and that some of this pollution may have leaked into a tributary near the property.

Township Attorney Jay Kloud said April 22 that the township has no proof that any contamination has occurred. He said once Schaible submits its cleanup plan, then it will be up to the DEP to monitor compliance with the state Environmental Cleanup Responsibility Act.

Two weeks ago Mayor Marc Marshall announced at a Township Committee meeting that the local oil company had conducted a study on how to clean the site. "We're not displeased to see that they're submitting a cleanup proposal," Marshall said last week.

In an interview this week, Schaible said the company is not aware of any sub-soil contamination at the site, that examination of test wells indicates no substantial tainting of ground water, and that any oil contamination "is of a surface nature" on the lot's concrete and blacktop.

Schaible Oil was established at the Springfield location in 1954. Earlier the Union County Coal and Lumber Co. had operated at the property.

The cleanup controversy gathered momentum in January 1990 when Schaible transferred its motor oil operations, the bulk of its business, to a new location in the Flanders section of Mt. Olive in Morris County. The company still has an office at the Springfield site, and it operates its retail fuel oil division with two trucks on a part-time basis from Springfield.

Charles Schaible, who co-owns the company with his brother, Edward, said, "We were naive enough" not to realize that moving a major portion of company operations to Morris County would trigger ECRA cleanup requirements.

DEP spokesman Jim Staples explained last week that in March 1989 the Division of Water Resources notified Schaible that it was levying a "penalty assessment" of $69,750 for alleged violation of a New Jersey Pollution Discharge Elimination System permit which governs emissions of petroleum products and hydrocarbons into the environment.

The DEP has yet to collect the fine.

Cops may increase patrols around pool

By Dennis Schaal

Township officials indicated this week that they will be scheduling a meeting with the Police Department to consider beefed up enforcement measures near the municipal pool and adjoining softball field.

Township Committeeman Jeffrey Katz, chair of the Public Affairs Committee, said Monday that representatives will meet with the patrol division to consider using radar and possibly video surveillance at the location, which is on an extension of Morrison Road.

Residents have expressed complaints to the Township Committee and Recreation Department concerning alleged incidents of bottle-throwing and vehicular speeding in the street's 10-mph zone. During the evening the softball field, the only illuminated diamond in town, is used largely by the Recreation Department's adult softball league.

Charles Jacques, who resides on neighboring Morrison Road, expressed concerns about these problems during the public portion of the Township Committee meeting two weeks ago. He said April 22 that the problem "is nothing new" and that he and other residents are especially concerned about the speeding cars because of the danger to children and area youth.

Katz stated that Jacques's statement to the Township Committee was the first time the problem had been presented to the governing body, but that other residents have complained to the Recreation Department.

Police Capt. James Hietala confirmed that Mayor Marc Marshall had contacted the department to schedule a meeting. The captain noted that police will be receptive to suggestions for "whatever enforcement we need," but he indicated that police have not received any resident complaints to date about the problem.

Committeeman Katz suggested that authorities will take "strong action" to rectify the problem. He said police may check vehicles for alcohol as

This photograph illustrates how Foobie D. Robot encourages elementary school students to 'Just Say No' to drugs. The robot will be visiting Florence M. Gaudineer School in Springfield on Tuesday beginning at 5:45 p.m. Parents are encouraged to bring their children to see the program, which has won national recognition for its anti-drug message.

Robot to bring anti-drug message to local school

The Million Dollar Machine Program, featuring "spokesrobot" Foobie, will be coming to Florence M. Gaudineer School, South Springfield Avenue, Springfield, on Tuesday from 5-9 p.m. The program targets elementary school students with a powerful, yet entertaining, anti-drug message.

Foobie D. Robot introduces an anti-drug message during a 45-minute presentation. Foobie, "a walking, talking, hugging and occasionally wisecracking 600-pound electric personality" focuses the children's attention on the theme "Just Say No To Drugs." Showtime begins at 5:45 p.m. in the Gaudineer School cafeteria. Community members are welcome to bring their children. The program is especially recommended for children in kindergarten through grade 6.

Dr. Gary Friedland, Springfield superintendent of schools, stated that the school district has arranged with GoWell and Kent Inc. to provide the program to the district's students and the program is funded under a special drug education grant from the Department of Education.

The program is one of 30 superior private sector initiatives which promote the theme of no drug use among elementary school students. It has been cited by numerous educators, corporate officials and even the president of the United States as an outstanding anti-drug education program.

Schaible to submit tank plan

(Continued from Page 1) The state Superior Court, according to Staples, upheld in February the DEP's refusal to grant Schaible Oil a hearing about the penalty because the company had allegedly missed a departmental appeal deadline. Schaible said last week that the Superior Court decision is under appeal.

The township of Springfield, meanwhile, six months ago filed a suit with the Union County Law Division seeking to compel the oil company to satisfy ECRA requirements, according to township attorney Kloud.

Kloud noted that the township is not currently pursuing the suit because Schaible Oil has informed the town about its intentions to clean the site. The suit has not been dismissed, however.

Schaible stated that its cleanup plan, which the DEP would have to approve, would include the removal of five underground oil tanks which have a combined capacity of holding 98,000 gallons of oil. He said one tank, which provides heating oil for the office, will not be removed.

Schaible noted that the DEP will monitor the tank removal and conduct tests on the soil. If there is contamination, he said, then the DEP will outline additional cleanup procedures.

The Schaible owner estimated that the tank removal alone could cost some $50,000 and that the project may not be completed for another six months because it takes several months for the DEP to review a plan.

Schaible's new facility in Mt. Olive, located on a four-acre tract in a rural area, houses fuel oil tanks above-ground, inside a warehouse. Even the concrete floors contain rubber seams to eliminate any potential seepage, Schaible said.

The company spokesman disclosed that even after the tanks are removed, Schaible for the time being will operate the retail fuel oil division out of the Springfield office. The only difference will be that the trucks will go directly to refineries to fill up.

Schaible said that once the company meets the DEP requirements "will we be able to give some thought" to developing or selling the Springfield property.

Cops may increase patrols

(Continued from Page 1) they enter the facility, for example. Katz said that Recreation Director Brian McNary will inform members of the adult softball league "that this type of behavior will not be tolerated." Jacques, meanwhile, seem pleased about the reaction of township officials to the problem. Said Jacques: "At least they're doing something about it."

at the library

The Friends of the Springfield Library, 66 Mountain Ave., has announced that it will hold its annual Lobby Sale at the library on May 3 and 4 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. The group is currently accepting all kinds of salable rummage items for the event with the exception of books and clothes.

The group is especially interested in costume jewelry, which has been popular at past sales. A treasure chest will be placed on the circulation desk to receive donated jewelry.

The proceeds from the Lobby Sale will be used to fund ongoing Friends of the Library projects.

Six Springfield residents have been named to the dean's list at Newark Academy, Livingston, for earning all grades of B or above in each of their courses. The youngsters are in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades at the school, which features programs in academics, athletics and the arts.

Ninth-grade students include Gina Millin, grade 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Millin; Youshaa Patel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yusuf M. Patel; Adam Raviv, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Raviv and Jared Stadlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Salz.

Eighth-grader Andrea Oana, daughter of Dr. Dan Oana and Dr. Agnes Soni and seventh-grader Jonathan Forman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Steven Forman, also made the dean's list.

on a scale of 4.0. Roth, who is majoring in philosophy, will graduate in May of 1992.

Springfield resident Kacy Lissenden, an eighth-grader at Morristown-Beard School, Morristown, is among the students who achieved academic honors during the second trimester. Headmaster Philip L. Anderson has announced.

She was named to the honor roll, which includes those students who have an overall average of at least 85 and with no grade less than 80. She is the daughter of Cathy and William T. Lissenden.

Tara Ann McGrath, daughter of Marie McGrath of Mountainside, has been named to the dean's list for outstanding academic achievement at the Fashion Institute of Technology, New York City, for the fall semester of the 1990-91 academic year. A student must earn a grade point average of 3.5 or better on a scale of 4.0 to receive this recognition.

Ted Roth of Mountainside was recently named to the dean's list for the fall 1990 semester at John Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md. To be selected for this honor, one must earn a grade point average of 3.5 or higher

During the 18-week course conducted at Surface Warfare Officers School, Pacific, San Diego, Truncalo was taught how to perform as a watch and division officer aboard Navy ships.

He received extensive instructions on the duties of an underway officer of the deck, which included shipman-ding and maneuvering in formation under simulated battle conditions.

He also studied radar detection, tracking and plotting of enemy aircraft, ships and missiles, communications, damage control and shipboard organization.

A 1984 graduate of Oratory Preparatory High School, Summit, and a 1988 graduate of Seton Hall University, South Orange, Truncalo earned a bachelor of science degree from the university. He joined the Navy in February of 1989.

Hospital to present speech and hearing programs

A series of free educational events marking Better Speech and Hearing Month in May will be sponsored by Children's Specialized Hospital, New Providence Road, Mountainside throughout next month.

On May 2, the hospital will present a lecture for parents titled "The Detection and Prevention of Hearing and Speech Problems in Young Children," beginning at 7 p.m. There is no fee to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Professionals in the Speech and Hearing Department of Children's Specialized Hospital will describe the normal acquisition of speech, language and hearing development and signs of potential speech-language and hearing impairments in young children.

The presenters will also outline steps that parents and teachers can take to recognize and remedy these problems.

"If hearing impairment is undetected, the result can be delays in speech and language development," explained Ellen Hansen, supervising pediatric audiologist in the hospital's Speech and Hearing Department. "Both of these factors can affect learning skills and subsequently academics."

Free speech, language and hearing screenings for pre-school children, ages 2-4, will be conducted four Tuesdays during May at the hospital's Outpatient Center, South Avenue, Fanwood. The sessions will be held May 7 and 21, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and May 14 and 21 from 3-5:30 p.m.

Each screening is approximately 20 minutes in length and will be pre-

Rotary flea market scheduled

The Springfield Rotary Club will hold its annual flea market on Sunday from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. on the grounds of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, with more than 150 vendors scheduled to sell their wares.

Food and beverages will be available throughout the day and the Moonwalk will also be there to entertain the children.

Residents of Springfield and surrounding communities are urged to help support the flea market, the proceeds from which will go to fund scholarships for needy seniors who will be graduating from Jonathan Dayton in June.

Several special events will take place during this year's event. First, all the winners of the "Clean Up Springfield" poster contest, also sponsored by the Springfield Rotary Club, will receive their awards.

The Springfield First Aid Squad and Springfield Fire Department are also expected to be on hand, with the Fire Department bringing along its extension ladder trucks, as well as a classic car exhibit. Free blood pressure tests will also be available.

Postal labels instituted

The Westfield Post Office, 153 Central Ave., Westfield, is advising Mountainside residents that in an attempt to more efficiently serve the community, the Post Office is instituting a new procedure which requires customers' cooperation.

Customers are asked that when they generate 10 pieces of mail or more for delivery for Westfield or Mountainside, that they place one of the bright pink/red "Westfield/Mountainside Only" labels on the front of the bundle.

This highly visible label will make it easier for postal workers to identify "Westfield/Mountainside Only" Mail which is processed at the Westfield Post Office for overnight delivery. These labels can be obtained at the Westfield Post Office.

Mail placed in the local box in front of the Westfield Post Office lobby by 7 a.m. will be delivered the same day.

The Post Office is also inviting residents of Mountainside to participate in its Customer Awareness Program, and additionally welcomes any school, civic or senior citizens group that wishes to tour the facility.

A video tape explaining the past, present and future of the Postal Service is being played daily in the main lobby. Collection boxes in strategic areas are being painted to help beautify the community.

Civic Calendar

The Civic Calendar is prepared each week by the Springfield Leader and the Mountainside Echo. To avoid conflicts in scheduling local events, please post dates, times and places as early as possible and send to P.O. Box 3109, Union, N.J., 07083.

The cost is $21 for dues-paid members and $25 for guests. One can forward a check to Beth Tischler, Esq., 652 Lawnside Place, Westfield. One can contact Raquel Romero, Esq., at 820-9770.

Sunday

Trailside Nature and Science Center, Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountainside, will sponsor "Vision Of Flight" at 1:15, 2:45 and 4 p.m. Participants age six and up will learn what the Space Shuttle has accomplished in the past decade and what future achievements are in store.

A program called "Home Sweet Home" will be presented by Trailside at 2 p.m. Each family will choose to be a "Radar-Eared Grass Nibbler," a "Wood-Chiseling Bug Muncher," a "High Rise Nut Maker" or other local residents.

On a meander through field and forest, participants will discover where their animal namesakes live and will discuss how these animals would live if their homes were destroyed.

Monday

The Springfield Board of Education will hold a closed session beginning at 7 p.m. and a regular meeting at 8 p.m. All meetings are held in the conference room in the administration wing in the rear of Florence M. Gaudineer School, South Springfield Avenue, Springfield.

Women Lawyers in Union County will hold its April meeting at the Spanish Tavern, Route 22 East, Mountainside. Cocktails will begin at 6 p.m. with dinner to be served at 6:30 p.m.

The Hon. Miriam N. Span, a Union County judge for the Superior Court of New Jersey, will be the guest speaker. Her topic will be "Criminal Procedure from Arrest to Trial and What Makes a Good Trial Attorney."

Tuesday

School Election Day will take place throughout the state of New Jersey. Residents of Springfield and Mountainside are urged to go to the polls from 2 to 9 p.m. to vote for candidates for their local school boards and for the Union County Regional High School Board of Education. Voters will also be asked to decide the fate of the school budgets presented by each board.

Wednesday

Trailside Nature and Science Center will hold a program titled "Frogs by Flashlight" for participants age seven and up from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Participants are invited to search nearby ponds for frogs and toads using special headlamps and nets.

A Trailside naturalist will serve as a guide as participants search for amphibians that are calling for their mates. Participants are advised to wear wettable footwear. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

The fee is $2 and pre-registration is required. One can call 789-3670 for space availability.

Coming Up

The Parent Advisory Council of the Union County Regional High School District's Basic Skills Improvement Program will conduct a meeting on May 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of David Brearley Regional High School, Monroe Avenue, Kenilworth.

Parents and/or guardians of all students enrolled in the Basic Skills Improvement Program at any of the four high schools are invited to attend this meeting.

JUNGLE BOOK — Students at the Vall-Deane School, Woodacres Drive, Mountainside rehearse a scene from 'The Jungle Book,' adapted from both the original tales by Rudyard Kipling and the well-known Disney movie. The production will be presented at the school May 3 and 4 at 8 p.m. Pictured, from left, are Nadirah Bowers of Hillside, choreographer Trisha Wheeler of Westfield, Kelli Isaksen of Clark, teacher Nigel Whittington; Lindsey Whalen, sitting on Whittington's shoulders, of Springfield; Rajtha Vinakota, beneath Whittington, of Springfield; Brett Irish and Khadijah Quddus of Irvington. Dumping ordinance helps to protect environment

By Sharon Cates Staff Writer

Assemblyman Neil Cohen, whose 21st Legislative district represents Springfield, has reported that a 1990 ordinance against illegal dumping has become the foundation for a partnership between Union County and municipalities regarding violations and protecting the environment.

Cohen, who drafted and sponsored the ordinance in 1990 when he served on the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, noted that the monetary benefits derived from fines charged to violators will be split between the county and communities where the dumping incidents have taken place.

"The ordinance provides for a partnership between the county and the municipalities," Cohen said. "The county provides the prosecution in a town's municipal court. The fines are shared between the township where the incident occurred and the county."

Union County prosecutors were recently busy tracking the person responsible for dumping approximately 40 cubic yards of trash on East Hazelwood Avenue in Rahway last October. The culprit, Kim Qui Paster, 36, of Rahway, was finally located and has now been convicted.

Following a two-month investigation, Paster pleaded guilty to violating the county's illegal dumping ordinance. She now must pay $2,500 in fines and is required to complete 10 hours of community service. It is expected that she will complete her service in an "environmentally sensitive" area, according to Assistant County Counsel Christopher Howard.

In addition, Paster's license was suspended for six months and the 1979 pickup truck used to discard the debris has been forfeited.

Cohen explained that a civil suit may be filed against Paster to recoup the cost of cleaning up the debris. That has not yet been decided, Cohen said.

The former freeholder noted that Paster is the first suspect to be prosecuted under the law, which is the first county ordinance of its kind in the state.

According to Cohen, Paster was charged with violating the ordinance after investigators from the Regional Environmental Health Commission tracked the debris to Paster.

Paster was reportedly questioned about the debris after public health investigators Kevin Monahan and William Sleight found that Paster's 1979 pickup was used to dump the trash.

The Rahway woman informed the investigators that her vehicle was stolen. She also told them that she owned five Union County homes and none of the residences was undergoing any construction. Monahan and Sleight investigated each of the homes. No signs of construction work or renovations were found.

Then Monahan reportedly followed Paster and her husband, Kenneth, to Florence Avenue in Westfield. It was at that site where construction was being completed.

Howard noted that the home was found to be owned by Kim Paster. He also noted that it was not one of the five homes she listed as owning.

According to Howard, the work was being completed by her husband, Kenneth Paster.

Cohen noted that he was pleased with the results of the investigation and the tenacity of the investigators.

"It was nice to see an ordinance that I worked so hard on work so quickly," Cohen said. "The investigators in this case did a wonderful job."

Science fair announced

Florence M. Gaudineer School, South Springfield Avenue, Springfield, will hold its first annual science fair on Tuesday in the school gymnasium between 7 and 9 p.m.

Springfield residents are invited to attend the fair and to view the many projects made by the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth graders at the school.

This project is being coordinated by Jack Willard, Alison Frawley and Joseph Toye, the science teachers at the school.

Workshop is due

Women for Women of Union County will close its series of community workshops with a presentation on handwriting analysis on May 2 in the Guild Room of the Episcopal Church, 414 East Broad Street in Westfield.

Mary Hand, a member of the International Graphoanalysis Society of Chicago, will discuss the role of handwriting in helping to understand oneself and others. Admission free to members and $5 to non-members who may bring a guest free.

Councilwoman will be feted

Councilwoman Marilyn M. Hart of Mountainside will be one of 17 elected Republican women serving in Union County who will be honored at a dinner Tuesday at the Westwood in Garwood.

Sponsored by the Union County Republican Women's Club, the event will also honor Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, Freeholder Linda Lee Kelly, two mayors, 11 councilwomen, an elected township clerk and an elected municipal tax collector.

Hart has served the Borough of Mountainside since 1979, and was council president in 1989. A professor of educational psychology at Kean College in Union, she received her undergraduate degree from Seton Hall University and her master's degree and doctorate from Rutgers University.

Former Attorney General Cary Edwards will be the principal speaker for the evening.

Tickets, priced at $25, are available through the honorees or through club officers Virginia McKenney at 353-4253 or Ginger Heald at 233-0605.

LOCKED UP — Springfield Mayor Marc Marshall goes behind bars to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Union and Middlesex counties, which will be holding a 'Jail-A-Thon' on Tuesday to raise funds for research, patient care and other needs. Marshall's cellmate is poster child Maria Owen. Individuals can arrange the surprise 'arrest' of their boss, friend or other associate by contacting MDA at 750-2333.

Seminar warns about alcohol abuse

By Chris Smith
Staff Writer

"James Bond has a License to Kill/ At seventeen/So will I." — (From a poem written by an anonymous teenager)

The Union County Juvenile Officers Association sponsored a seminar April 10 that sought to heighten the awareness of local teens to the dangers of drinking and driving.

Every year, thousands of teenagers acquire that most sacred rite of passage into young adulthood, the driver's license. Sadly, many young people simultaneously assume the additional pressures imposed by the consumption of alcohol, a responsibility which their age does not merit. Scores of traffic accidents, and more than a few deaths, occur with each passing season as a new generation of youngsters try their hand at managing this potentially dangerous combination.

With another season of proms and graduation parties looming on the horizon, the Association, comprised of more than 75 juvenile officers, school officials, probation officers and court support employees, is increasing its efforts to save young lives and limbs from the debilitating effects of alcohol-related car accidents.

As the school year winds to a close, the potential for alcohol use and driving fatalities increases in direct relationship to the festivities that arise as the young and seemingly invincible become accustomed to new freedoms, such as driving privileges and other responsibilities corollary to burgeoning adulthood, for the first time.

"The idea is to make these magic moments, not tragic moments, for the young people," said Assistant Prosecutor Robert P. O'Leary, supervisor of the Family Court Unit in the Prosecutor's Office.

A presentation made by Officer John McGuinness of the Morris Township Police Department provided the highlight of the program. The Morris Township DWI-prevention program was inaugurated 16 years ago, when local authorities became fed up with the annual traffic fatalities that usually occurred during the party-oriented prom season.

"We were losing at least one kid per year in Morris Township alone," said McGuinness, who has led the "Fatal Attraction" DWI program for the past six years. "We've given this presentation in 75 schools across the state, and in each town, for that year that we give it, no lives have been lost, so I'd say that the program has been pretty successful."

McGuinness' multimedia program consists of a slide projector that is synchronized to an audio-cassette player in a manner that simulates motion for the viewing audience. With this capability, the program takes the audience through the harrowing ordeal of what an actual accident would be like to a passenger.

Prior to this mock tragedy, the audience, compelled to imagine themselves in a moving automobile, passes by a billboard that advertises a popular alcoholic beverage. "When the kids first see it, they always hoot and holler and think of it all as being pretty cool," McGuinness said. "But when we show them the same sign after the accident, when they see someone actually die, you can hear a pin drop."

The slide show also simulates the procedure that a police officer enacts when he goes to the scene of an accident, and the traumatic response that is elicited when an officer must relay to a family information regarding the death of a relative.

"We also show them what an officer looks for when he suspects someone of driving under the influence, so that they will realize the virtual impossibility of hiding the fact," McGuinness said. "We want the kids to know that 95 percent of all arrests eventually lead to a conviction."

Harry Bernstein and Woodbridge Police Officer Jim Thom, representing the Middlesex-Union Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving, also attended the program and provided local school authorities with suggestions on how to implement alcohol-free graduation celebrations.

Some local communities, such as Roselle Park, have already conducted similar events successfully in the past

Our choices

Springfield voters will go to the polls Tuesday to cast their ballots for candidates for the local and the Union County Regional boards of education, as well as vote on the 1991-92 school budgets.

Six candidates are running for three available seats on the Springfield Board of Education this year, including one incumbent and five newcomers. Our choices are incumbent Ruth Brinen and newcomers Robert Fish and Emma Lampariello. We feel that their collective experience in education is particularly vital as the school district faces serious financial uncertainty created by the Quality Education Act and tough financial times.

Brinen, a former teacher, has gained knowledge and experience in the development of budgets and in many other education matters during her six years on the board.

Fish's position as vice president of a firm which specializes in New Jersey tax-free and municipal school bonds makes him ideal for a school board position.

Lampariello is qualified, having taught elementary school for 20 years. She knows the importance of upholding quality education, particularly during a child's formative years.

Of the two candidates seeking to represent Springfield on the Union-County Regional Board of Education, our choice is board President Natalie Waldt.

Finally, we support the Springfield budget of $9.85 million and the Union County Regional budget of $36 million. We believe they represent months of hard work, careful planning and frustration by the school boards as they struggled to control costs in the shadow of the QEA.

Paul Schneier

I am running for the Board of Education because I am interested in maintaining an excellent educational program in Springfield, keeping property taxes at or near current levels, and because I believe I have unique experience which will enable me to make positive contributions to the board.

My interest in maintaining high educational standards stems from the fact that my 4-year-old daughter will receive a public school education in Springfield. Additionally, I recognize that towns that have highly rated school systems are desirable places to live. The result is a demand for housing in such towns and higher or stable property values.

My concern about keeping property taxes in check stems from the fact that I pay property taxes. I don't believe people mind paying taxes, so long as they know that their tax dollars are being spent wisely and are not being squandered. I was pleased to see that the present board and Superintendent Gary Friedland favor exploring and expanding external sources of producing revenue such as rental income, tuition and grants. Alternate sources of funding should play a more significant role in future budgets and the board should aggressively pursue these avenues for producing revenue.

The experiences that I have, which I believe make me uniquely qualified to contribute to the board, are as follows:

1. I am an in-house counsel to K. Hovnanian Investment Properties Inc., the commercial development arm of K. Hovnanian Enterprises Inc. Hovnanian, primarily a builder of residential housing, is the largest residential builder in the state of New Jersey. As such, I am fully familiar with the importance that a good educational system has on home values. My experience in commercial real estate has taught me that certain commercial properties are important to a town's tax base, and I favor interaction with the Town Council, Planning Board and Board of Adjustment to allow a coordinated approach to development so that while controlling a town's growth, non-offensive tax generating uses can exist.

My work with Hovnanian has brought me experience in, among other things, environmental law, and recognizing that the board has budgeted funds for the removal of underground fuel storage tanks located at the various schools, I believe I can help evaluate the alternatives the board faces. The removal, replacement or monitoring of underground storage tanks can be a tricky proposition and must be handled judiciously.

2. I hold a master's degree in education. I am under contract as an adjunct faculty member at Fairleigh Dickinson University in Madison. I am a former teacher in the Elizabeth public school system. I know what education is about, which gives me a unique perspective. I taught industrial arts, including mechanical and architectural drawing as well as woodworking to middle school and high school students in Elizabeth for eight years. I can lend insight to the Springfield schools. My commitment to teach at Fairleigh Dickinson University is a result of my desire to remain active in education.

In conclusion, I am running because I have genuine interest, valuable experience and the desire to contribute.

candidates corner

Ruth Brinen

For the past 10 years, I have resided in Springfield with my husband, Dr. Steven Brinen, and my three sons, Joshua, Aaron and David — two of whom are graduates of our district and one who is still in the district. For the majority of the past 10 years, I have taken an active part in community activities. I am a member and past school board member of Temple Beth Ahm and life member of Hadassah. Before serving on the school board, I worked with the PTA in both Sandmeier and Walton schools and served on the recertification committee in town. For six years, I have had the privilege of serving on the Board of Education. Over this period, I have served on every major committee of the board as well as vice president and president. I have learned the inner workings of the board and gained valuable knowledge in the areas of curriculum, fiscal responsibility and community relations. It is because of the experience I have gained during my tenure on the board, along with a continuing desire to serve our community, which has prompted me to run for re-election.

With the advent of the Quality of Education Act, our district will be entering a period where every decision made by the Board of Education will have an increased impact on our ability to maintain a superior educational system. In particular, the QEA contains numerous provisions which will reduce our state aid and challenge the board's ability to come up with new and creative approaches to ensure and maintain quality education while working with less and less money. By successfully generating revenue to our community in the form of tuition-paying students, rental of Edward Walton School and state and federal grants to fund our programs, we have been able to offset some of the escalating costs.

The factors which affect our district are always changing and every board member must be prepared to deal with those changes. During my six years on the board, the experience I have gained on the various board committees, the recertification committee and ad-hoc committees, such as negotiations and the superintendent selection committee, I have gained the experience necessary to make the difficult decisions that will face our district in the future. By carefully examining each issue to see how it will impact on the entire community, by continuing to search for effective solutions to the economic repercussions of the QEA, by monitoring and overseeing the repairs and renovations to our physical plants and by encouraging the revision and updating of curriculum and programs, we will be able to successfully prepare our children to enter the 21st century.

I am proud of the part I have played during the past six years on our Board of Education. My commitment to Springfield is still just as strong as ever and I want to continue my contributions. I can think of no better accomplishment than to help create a superior school system for our children while recognizing and addressing the financial burdens of our citizens. I hope the voters will enable me to continue to work toward these goals.

Catherine Filepp

The reason that I am running for school board membership is I would like to contribute my more than 10 years of business experience and more than seven years parenting experience to benefit the Springfield public school system. I believe that through my experience I have something relevant to offer as a school board member.

Experience includes my consulting assignment at The Citibank Private Bank (1989-present) where I am responsible for development and management of internal performance and measurement programs, customer communication and surveys, employee incentive/award programs and past responsibility of facilities management programs. This is an extension of the work I did as vice president and director of Customer Communications/Development Programs for Citibank Mortgage Bank (1987-88).

This experience should help me to function as an effective board member in the task of working with the administration to create, develop and implement quality programs in accordance with budget and timeframe considerations.

My experience also includes full responsibility for marketing and customer service programs, budget and contract/vendor management and assignments at Citibank (USA) card division, Chemical (Bank) New York Corporation and at Merrill Lynch.

Principal issue facing Springfield school system/board: The principal new issue is the administration of the QEA. We must find creative and effective ways to maintain and develop the high quality of education in Springfield in the face of state budget cuts. One way to begin to address this is to (again) review our programs/dollars spent to ensure we are most efficient/effective.

My view of the current school system: My "discovery" of the Springfield elementary school took place two years ago. My observation/finding was that the academics are excellent and the teaching staff give more of themselves in time and effort than the usual requirements of the job need expect. It is quite easy to give the bare minimum in any job — what takes effort and commitment is to go beyond what is expected and to deliver an experience that truly attempts to make a difference. The latter describes my experience thus far with the Springfield schools, and I commend the local teachers and administration's efforts to make a difference.

In conclusion, I believe the school system is excellent and I am proud to be a part of it and offer my skills to strengthen and further enhance the programs in any way I can.

Robert Fish

One of the greatest gifts we can give our children is a thorough and efficient education. This is a gift each child deserves and should be afforded to help enable them to become productive and successful members of society. Key elements of this educational process are a qualified staff of professionals, excellent programming, and strong support staff. Behind all of these must be a school board comprised of individuals with the intelligence, resourcefulness and dedication to ensure all of the above.

I have the commitment, the creativity, intelligence and resourcefulness to assist the Springfield Board of Education and school system. I am a product of the Springfield school system. I know it works. I know there are areas that need improvement, yet I have such confidence in our local system that I returned to town with a family of my own to go through the same system. I have a daughter in James Caldwell School and a son who will attend in a few years.

I have already attended several Board of Education meetings over the past several months, so I am informed about the issues currently facing our board. And the fact that I seek election to the Board of Education shows my deep interest and concern as well as commitment to have a hand in the shaping of the educational process for our children.

After high school, I continued my education through the post-graduate level, receiving a master's in business administration from Rutgers Graduate School of Management with concentrations of study in both accounting and finance. I know the value of a quality and thorough education.

My professional experience has been in the upper-managerial level in various capacities. I am presently a vice president with Ryan, Beck & Co. in West Orange; a local firm specializing in the underwriting and sale of New Jersey tax-free municipal and school bond issues. I offer a unique area of expertise relating to the financial aspects of operating a local board.

Most importantly, my reason for running is that I am both a concerned parent and local taxpayer; concerned about affording our children the best education for our hard-earned tax dollars by the most efficient means possible. I work very hard for the money I earn that is paid in tax dollars and see to run our schools. I want to see that those dollars are continued to be spent wisely and prudently.

Emma Lampariello

I am running for the Board of Education because I feel that I have an extensive background which will enable me to enhance our already fine school system. Since I was an educator, I value the importance of teaching. Stop and think for a moment. Would we have doctors, lawyers or carpenters if they were not influenced by committed and dedicated teachers? There is no field of endeavor that is not touched by a teacher. Therefore, I would like the opportunity to further their cause. Many situations which are placed in our system are mandated by the state, and this is what I would like to correct. It will entail changes in our Legislature, but if we are determined, we can do it!

Another place for change is in administration. We need more people, teachers who will deal directly with the children. I also would like to review the budget carefully to see where cuts can be made without adversely affecting our students or their curriculum. In today's recession, everyone should "bite the bullet," and so should we!

My background: 20 years in the Newark school system, where I taught elementary grades. I was appointed to various committees to evaluate reading, math and science textbooks.

I have served on the executive board of the Women's International Bowling Congress. I also have served as secretary of the bowling league and am director and originator of the Rosarian Bowling Tourney, with 96 teams from three counties and 14 cities. I have directed the Teachers Bowling Tourney with 35 teams. My needlework has won several blue ribbons in county fairs.

I was selected as Mrs. Congeniality in the Mrs. America 1990 contest.

I received an award for community service in Mrs. Senior America 1991. At present, I am on the mayor's committee for the aging, the environmental committee, an treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the Springfield library, president of the St. James Church Ladies Bowling League and vice president of the Amico Club, and I serve on its Board of Trustees. All of these organizations are in Springfield.

In addition, I teach an in-service course on origami to Newark school teachers and I teach origami in the Summit Adult School. I have had several origami exhibits in the Springfield library as well as in Summit.

Millburn, Clark, Kenilworth, Man-hawkin and Long Beach Island.

Jacqueline Shanes

I graduated from City University of New York — Brooklyn College summa cum laude with a bachelor of science degree in mathematics and from New York University School of Law with honors with a juris doctor degree.

I am a finance attorney with McCarter & English in Newark, the state's largest and oldest law firm, since 1985 specializing in school finance law.

I have been married for eight years and have resided in Springfield since 1986. My husband is a publishing executive and a volunteer member of the Springfield First Aid Squad.

In addition to my professional experience dealing with school finance law, the Quality Education Act of 1990, the New Jersey Department of Education Division of Finance and working with boards of education throughout the state, I have served since October 1990 as a volunteer citizen member of the Springfield Board of Education's Ad-Hoc Facilities Planning Committee. Since November 1990, this committee has been examining the building and facility needs of the Springfield schools over the next five years and will present its report to the Board of Education. In addition, I have attended every Springfield Board of Education meeting (including public work sessions) since February and therefore I am extremely familiar with the current issues dealt with by our Board of Education.

In light of current economic trends in the state of New Jersey and throughout the entire country, the major issue facing all school districts, including the Springfield School District, is providing a quality education for our children while at the same time facing dwindling state aid figures and rising property taxes. One goal I would like to achieve if elected to the Board of Education is to make certain that the fiscal responsibility toward Springfield's taxpayers is maintained, especially for those living on fixed incomes, while at the same time maintaining the high quality of education that the current Springfield Board of Education has provided for our children.

The Quality Education Act was a statute that was drafted and enacted quickly without fully examining the ramifications of its effects on most New Jersey school districts. As a result, several amendments to the act have already been enacted and additional amendments are already pending in the education committees in the Senate and Assembly.

I also support the efforts of the Board of Education and its teachers and other staff members in attempting to obtain additional grants to help alleviate the costs of providing additional programs for our students.

As a member of the Springfield Board of Education's ad-hoc facilities planning committee and as an observer at the public meetings of the Springfield Board of Education, I fully understand the time commitment required of me.

letters to the editor

SEA urges support of school budget

To the Editor:

As the leading educational agency in the community, we would like to continue to provide some information and perhaps dispel some misconceptions while engendering, we hope, support.

FACT: Springfield's per pupil cost is 45th out of 160 high socio-economic districts in the state of New Jersey with similar communities.

FACT: The 6.6 percent increase over our revised current budget is under the state cap.

FACT: Defeat of the budget will save the average homeowner only $20-$30 on their total tax bill.

FACT: Compliance with mandated regulations for asbestos removal, replacement of roofs and DEP retrofits will consume more than $400,000 of the increase.

FACT: The K-12 budget represents less than one-half of the town's property tax burden.

FACT: The Springfield School District's staff and Board of Education efforts, coupled with the support of parents and community residents, have enabled our school district to be one of the finest in the state. The reputation of the district has resulted in the attraction of tuition-paying students.

FACT: The wise decision of the board to rent facilities to both offset costs, along with administration's persistent pursuit of grant monies, has brought more than $400,000 into the district this year to reduce the operation costs of the district.

FACT: The board has been responsible, the administration has sought every available revenue resource, the staff has been dedicated and hard working.

FACT: The prestige of Springfield's schools has maintained property values and you have gotten value from your tax dollars.

FACT: Maintaining our high standards will be offset this year by the Quality Education Act municipal rebate. The budgets for the schools and municipal government will have a zero dollar tax input.

FACT: You again must vote yes on the Board of Education budget.

Bob Burkhardt

President
Springfield Education Association

Backs the budget

To the Editor:

Our schools serve the entire community because the reputation of the schools is still the most important factor in supporting property values that draw home buyers and new business to the town. This year, once again, our schools attracted tuition-paying students because of their reputation for special education programs and services. This, along with the rental revenue the board receives, came to about $400,000 for the 1990-91 school year. In order to maintain this attraction, our support must come in the form of a "Yes" vote for the budget.

Our board has acted responsibly by preparing a budget which is only 6.6 percent over the revised budget for this year. The K-12 budgets, in fact, represent less than half of the property tax burden in Springfield.

This school year the much-needed repairs to the Caldwell gym were made and capital outlay improvements such as that and others will carry over into the next century. Next year a new roof is needed for the Sandmeier school along with other capital improvements, which as a homeowner I can appreciate.

As a parent, of course, I want the best schools for my children. As a homeowner, I want schools that lift my property value. As a taxpayer, I want the reputation that our Springfield schools carry to continue to attract out-of-town students whose tuition offsets my tax burden. I ask you to join my wife and me in voting yes for the Board of Education budgets so that all these things can continue to happen.

John Tyma

Springfield

To voters without school children

To the Editor:

I would like to ask all the residents of Springfield that no longer have children in the school system to read this urgent message.

On April 30 there will be an election to choose new Board of Education members and to decide the passage of a proposed budget. This letter will address the budget issue.

My husband and I, who both grew up and were educated in Springfield, decided 13 years ago to settle here just as you may have decided many years ago. I'm sure one of your reasons to live here was due in part to the strong school system.

Recently, however, Governor Florio's tax revisions have impacted on us all. No one likes to pay taxes and this last year has been one of the worst for New Jersey taxpayers. Another victim of these recent revisions has been our school system. Our Board of Education and superintendent, Dr. Gary Friedland, have worked very hard to make the necessary cuts and changes so that the budget increase is under the state-mandated budget cap and represents less than a 6.6 percent increase. This increase is more than offset by the "QEA" municipal rebate for property tax relief. Therefore, the budgets for the schools and municipal government would result in a net zero percent increase to your municipal taxes.

I appeal to those of you whose children are grown and have grandchildren elsewhere. We need your vote so that someone else's grandchildren can get the quality education they deserve. Every vote counts and is so important to the kids of Springfield.

Please come out and vote to approve the budget.

Evelyn B. Max

Springfield

Vote yes for the school budget

To the Editor:

The three local PTAs, Special Education Parents and Professionals Organization, and Community Conference Group of Springfield urge the citizens of the township of Springfield to exercise their right to vote.

Collectively our local Parent-Teacher associations have voted unanimously to support the Springfield District's 1991-92 school budget, which reflects sound planning and fiscal accountability.

This year has been an exceptionally difficult year with the implementation of the Quality Education Act. Suburban districts like ours have been faced with restrictive budget caps and reduced state aid in spite of increased costs.

This has caused the Board of Education to prepare a budget that reduces programs and contains costs while trying to maintain the district's commitment to quality education. The budget represents a 6.6 percent increase, which is substantially less than previous years.

We urge your support of this budget because it does maintain a quality education in our school system while at the same time being responsive to the taxpayers during these difficult economic times.

This proposed budget, when viewing the QEA education rebate which is given directly to the township, represents a zero dollar tax increase for both the schools and municipal budgets. The future of the children in our community is dependent upon a "Yes" vote.

This election is crucial. We are asking each other and every one of you to go out and vote yes for the school board budget on Tuesday, April 30. Polls are open for both the local and regional districts from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Our children deserve the very best education. Only you can make it happen.

This letter was signed by Ruth L. Luciani, president, James Caldwell School PTA; Vera Siler, first vice president, Florence M. Gaudineer School PTA; Roxanne Eisen, president, Thelma L. Sandmeier School PTA; Donna Kurtzer, president, Special Education Parents and Professionals Organization; Marie Florio, president, Community Conference Group of Springfield.

Regionalization fits into county's plans

Be Our Guest

By Angelo Bonanno

On March 14, you published an editorial titled "Seek a Partnership" in which you support the concept of regionalizing solid waste incinerators. On behalf of the Union County Utilities Authority, the agency designated to implement solutions to Union County's solid waste problems, I would like to explain to your readers our plans concerning solid waste management in Union County and how regionalization fits into those plans.

The Authority is in complete agreement with the state's new solid waste policy based on a priority system of waste management techniques, namely: source reduction, recycling, waste-to-energy and lastly state-of-art landfills.

The Authority must be innovative and aggressive to reduce the waste stream through source reduction efforts which will become the base for all other waste management programs. Source reduction will be a key component of the Authority's efforts to conserve energy and preserve our resources. We are developing a public education program and will be providing technological assistance to help households, businesses and governmental units reduce the waste they generate. In this way the ultimate cost of recycling will be reduced by eliminating some of the waste materials altogether.

The next priority is recycling. The state of New Jersey recently estimated that Union County is already at a 44 percent recycling level. Our goal is to reach 60 percent through a variety of programs likely to include separation of recyclables at the source (home, business, school) as well as mechanized recycling facilities where construction/demolition waste and commercial waste can be separated into recyclables destined for market and non-recyclables remaining for disposal. Composting facilities for yard waste are also an important component of this plan. The Authority is developing a revised recycling plan to achieve these higher levels and we welcome public comment. A series of meetings will be held to receive this necessary and important public input.

Our third priority for management of the solid waste stream, projected to be significantly reduced by source reduction and recycling, is to develop a resource recovery facility at a site the Authority owns in the city of Rahway. This facility will have the most extensive air pollution control system of any such facility in the country and has passed every environmental and health risk test required by the NJDEP. This facility will safely and economically process most of the solid waste which remains after source reduction and recycling. The significant projected reductions in the quantity of solid waste remaining after source reduction and recycling efforts results in available resource recovery facility capacity for the region. This fully permitted facility is intended to serve the needs of Union County and a neighboring county.

The last element of our waste management program involves landfills for the disposal of inert ash residue and non-burnable recycling residue. Landfill needs will be a fraction of their former requirement due to source reduction, recycling and waste to energy.

Integrated waste management systems of the '90s are coming about due to years of serious effort brought on by demands of an environmentally conscious population. The Authority encourages citizen input to these programs and will work even more diligently to provide safe and efficient systems at the lowest possible cost.

Angelo Bonanno is chairman of the Union County Utilities Authority.

Dedication weekend

Temple Sha'arey Shalom of Springfield has announced that construction on the new addition has been completed.

This marks the first addition to the temple since the original building was dedicated in 1962, it was announced. The original temple was built with members of the congregation performing most of the work themselves, from contracting to masonry to painting. "Notables," says that committee, "such as Martin Luther King, Sen. Wayne Morse and Norman Thomas have addressed the Sha'arey Shalom congregation in this building, giving it significance to Temple members and to the community."

The new wing includes a new 100-student nursery, six new classrooms, a youth lounge, new offices for the administration and the rabbi, a permanent sanctuary with seating for more than 250 people expandable to 800 and a large social room. The temple expects the 250-capacity social room with adjacent kitchen to be popular with the public for catered affairs and parties.

The temple plans a dedication weekend, tomorrow through Sunday to celebrate the completion of the wing. Rabbi Israel Dresner, Rabbi to the congregation from 1958 to 1970 and now of Temple Beth Tikvah, Wayne, who dedicated the building in 1962 will return for a guest speaking engagement tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. Also planned is a performance by the Avodah Dance Ensemble Saturday at 7:30 p.m. The New York-based dance company uses Jewish themes as an impetus for movement.

Finally, a special service of dedication will be held at the Temple Sunday at 11 a.m.

More information can be obtained by calling Beverly Schwartz at 687-7157, or the temple office at 379-5387.

Director is honored

Renee Kahn, director of the Nursery School in Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, will be honored at a Sabbath morning service at the temple May 4 at 9:30. At that time, nursery school parents and children, past and present, will pay tribute to Kahn who will be retiring in June after 12 years as a nursery school teacher and director at Temple Beth Ahm.

A kiddush luncheon and program will follow the service, including a presentation to Kahn. Yoda Fish and Anita Millman, co-chairmen, have invited temple members and others involved in the Nursery School to attend.

Kahn, a certified elementary education teacher. In addition to a nursery school license, her educational background includes a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education from Queens college and a master of arts degree in health, physical education and recreation from New York University. She has been a permanent and substitute teacher in elementary and pre-schools in New York and New Jersey for 34 years.

After a brief respite, Kahn plans to be a volunteer in children's hospital wards.

A pre-Hebrew orientation will be held May 5 at 10 a.m. in Temple Beth Ahm. Parents of children in kindergarten through third grade are invited. Miriam Lagin, religious school principal, Rabbi Perry Rank, and a full staff, will be available to answer questions regarding the religious school program.

Refreshments will be served. For further information, one can call the temple office at 376-0539.

May Fellowship Day

Church Women United Roselle/Roselle Park Unit, will celebrate May Fellowship Day on May 3 at the Church of the Assumption, 113 Chicago Place, Roselle Park at 12:30 p.m.

This year's May Fellowship day experience, "Journey Toward Jubilee" reclaims Church Women United's heritage in this year of its 50th anniversary and heralds CWU's accomplishments as a "major player in shaping the churches' role within the Civil Rights Movement, the Peace Movement, and the Women's movement, since its founding in 1941."

Guest speaker for the event will be Sister Jacinta Fernandes director, St. Joseph's Social Service Center in Elizabeth. Ethel M. Pulley, president of Church Women United Unit Roselle/

Roselle Park, will welcome the group. Jean Hayner is in charge of the program, and the luncheon will be under the direction of the Assumption Rosary Society. The Fellowship Club will have a display table of handmade items. It was announced that there is ample parking. Tickets can be obtained from the Church Women United representatives of the various churches in Roselle/Roselle Park.

May Fellowship Day is a worship even sponsored annually by Church Women United (CWU) that "brings women of faith together from many diverse Christian denominations to build and strengthen bonds of community within an ecumenical environment." It is one of the major events to mark the celebration of CWU's jubilee year. The service was written by Sharon Rezac Andersen of Grand Forks, N.D., with the assistance of an ecumenical group of women from the Houston, Texas, Church Women United unit.

The author drew on her own experience as well as the "rich legacy of the many women who journeyed for half a century with Church Women United living out their faith in action, and their commitment to the continuous struggle for peace with justice, human rights, and Christian unity."

May Fellowship Day 1991 is one of three ecumenical days of celebration sponsored by CWU. The other are World Day of Prayer, the first Friday in March, and World Community Day, the first Friday in November.

Church Women United is the ecumenical movement that brings Protestant, Roman Catholic, Orthodox and other Christian women together into one community of prayer, advocacy, and service. It represents a broad spectrum of religious tradition, race, age, economic status and ethnic background and functions through a national unit, 52 state units, including greater Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico, and 1,750 local units throughout the United States.

Unified by a "common faith in Christ, the women of church Women United work for the elimination of poverty of women and children and issues of peace with justice."

Earth Day '91 seemingly 'lost in space'

This is the final installment of a three-part series dealing with environmental issues affecting the Worrall Community Newspapers area.

Earth Day, observed Monday, has come and gone, and unlike the multitude of events which occurred in 1990 in celebration of the 20th anniversary of the event, only a smattering of citizens were aware of the issue. Television broadcasters ended their news shows with the event, while a year ago, it was the lead story.

An indication of the lessened public awareness can be seen in the brochure listing events scheduled across the state.

Not one event is listed for Union County, nor is a contact provided.

"The bulk of the phone calls I have received are asking what's going on in Union County," Marie Toohey from the Bloomfield-based Earth Day New Jersey office, said. "There is an event at Union County College in Cranford, but we don't know of anything else." There were a few other local events, but nothing near the magnitude of 1990.

According to Toohey, environmental issues are concerns which do not just occur once every 20 years, or once a year. And, she stressed there are ways in which individual citizens may make a positive impact on the global problems.

"I can't believe people are still talking about recycling," Toohey said. "That's an issue which should have been tackled years ago."

Toohey, instead, turns to ways in which a single person can make an impact. She said that people should stop letting water run while they brush their teeth. Instead, use small quantities of water in a cup, and shut off a faucet when it is not needed.

Toohey also said that lawn chemicals are dangerous for the environment and said that homeowners use chemicals which are just as dangerous as those used by farmers if not more so.

Toohey also dispelled some rumors that Styrofoam is not dangerous.

"It's rumors like those that hurt our cause," Toohey said. "Styrofoam and plastics don't break down."

Toohey suggested not using disposable coffee cups at all and recommends glass mugs as the best alternative.

Toohey said that the effort this year was to encourage citizens to make one permanent change and is using the slogan, "Mother needs a favor." The mother, of course, is Mother Earth.

Shoppers can do their part by purchasing environmentally wise products, according to state environmental groups.

The New Jersey Environmental Federation is urging consumers to think before they shop. "Environmental shopping means buying and using products which are, or can be, recycled, which have minimal packaging, which are made in an environmentally safe manner, and which do not produce unnecessary garbage for our landfills," said Deborah Keller, NJEF director.

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders passed a resolution designating this week as "Environmental Shopper's Week."

The resolution reads in part: "... Each time we purchase a product, we are sending a message of support to the manufacturer. Consumers' decisions to purchase convenience items, disposable products, quick-fix household goods and an array of items in non-biodegradable packaging contribute to the pollution of air, soil, and water. The consumer can have a significant impact on the development of less toxic and safer packaging."

Freeholder James Connelly Welsh said the resolution is intended to "make the citizens aware of the fact that when they go to their shopping centers and buy products, they have a choice and can buy in an environmentally safe way."

The federation's environmentally sound shopping guidelines steer consumers away from the use of plastic trash bags, which are made of non-renewable petroleum products and are not biodegradable. Instead, it recommends the use of waxed paper or special cellulose bags made of plant fibers.

Borax and hot water has been suggested as a safe alternative to "all-purpose" cleaning products, which are typically packaged in non-recyclable containers. Also, certain ingredients in these products have been determined to be cancer causing when released into the atmosphere.

One category presenting a dilemma to environmentally aware shoppers is personal care products, such as shampoo. Consumers cannot avoid these items, which are packaged in non-recyclable containers. The federation therefore recommends purchasing these items in bulk to avoid the amount of plastic going into the waste stream.

"We as leaders of the county have to start here," said Tom Moritz, northern region coordinator for the federation's environmental shoppers campaign. "It's really going to be a concerted effort on everyone's part if we're going to make this project work," he said. So far, five counties including Union and Essex have declared this week Environmental Shopper's Week.

The county resolution endorsing

Environmental Shoppers Week offers "eight easy steps" to becoming an effective environmental shopper:

At the checkout counter, you should bring your own shopping bags; canvas bags are best suited.

Choose products packaged with materials that can be recycled in your community and those with minimal packaging.

Avoid polystyrene and single-use disposable products.

Buy in bulk. Choose no, or low, phosphate laundry and general cleaning products.

Avoid aerosol cans — choose pump spray instead.

Buy rechargeable batteries. Make your environmental shopper's preference known to the store manager.

Toohey added that simply purchasing toothpaste in a tube, rather than a pump could make an immediate impact. She said that pumps are bulkier than empty tubes and therefore worse for the environment.

Just a 5 percent dent in a manufacturers market will cause them to change their ways, Toohey concluded.

Houston to chair benefit

Grammy Award Winner Whitney Houston will be the honorary chairperson for the American Diabetes Association, New Jersey Affiliate Bike Ride Plus.

Bike Ride Plus is the major spring fund raiser for the association and is scheduled in six sites across the state.

Reflecting on her participation in the event, Houston said, "I am proud to be the honorary chairperson for the ADA Bike Ride Plus. Money raised from this event will help people all across New Jersey."

The ADA estimates that approximately 14 million Americans have diabetes, 400,000 in New Jersey. It is estimated that more than 150,000 people will die from diabetes this year alone. The ADA is the nation's leading voluntary health organization concerned with diabetes. Its mission is to prevent and cure diabetes and to improve the lives of all people affected by the illness.

The ADA will conduct Bike Ride Plus in the Union/Essex and Hudson Area on June 8, beginning and ending at Union County College in Cranford. Bike Ride Plus will offer 5-mile, 20-mile and 40-mile loops to accommodate all levels of riders. A bike ride party will await riders at the end of the ride.

The Joslin Diabetes Clinic at Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston is the major corporate sponsor of the event statewide. "We are happy to lend our support to this effort," said Ronald J. Del Mauro, president and chief executive officer of Saint Barnabas. "All of us who work with diabetes patients have one ultimate goal — to find a cure for this devastating disease."

The American Diabetes Association urges everyone to take a ride and help put an end to diabetes. For more information about Bike Ride Plus, call the ADA at 908-815-7838.

Kenneth March of PSE&G, left, presents a check to Union County Economic Development Chairman Neil Boyle.

UCEDC is recipient of PSE&G donation

Public Service Electric & Gas in Newark has donated $5,000 to the Union County Economic Development Corporation. An active economic development proponent, PSE&G also provides other contributions to the UCEDC.

Kenneth Marchi, manager of regional plan affairs central for PSE&G, and former UCEDC chairman, said, "We at PSE&G feel a deep sense of commitment to the economic betterment of Union County. Providing funds to the economic development corporation will allow for further development and enhancement in the business community."

He continued, "PSE&G and area economic development groups like UCEDC must work together to make these goals a reality."

The Union County Economic Development Corporation is a private, not-for-profit company whose goals are to stimulate business growth in Union County. It offers a variety of services to the business community including below-market rate financing, a site selection assistance program, a quarterly business property guide, current and projected demographic data, research projects and ombudsman services.

Any questions regarding the Union County Economic Development Corporation should be directed to Kathi Walker at 908-527-1166.

Supporters donate commemorative video in honor of Gulf troops

A coalition of veterans and patriotic groups called "New Jerseys United to Support Our Troops" launched a campaign to donate a commemorative video to New Jersey schools and libraries that honors New Jersey servicemen and women who have served in Operation Desert Storm.

The television special, "NJ Salutes Our Troops," will be airing on Suburban Cablevision's channel 32 on Friday at 6:05 p.m.

The documentary features U.S. Senator Frank Lautenberg, Reps. Robert Torricelli and Frank Guarini, state veterans leaders, families of New Jersey soldiers in Desert Storm and a New Jersey version of "Fire Power" consisting of a seemingly endless convoy of fire trucks from all across the state, all of whom participated in the "Support Our Troops Rally" held during the war on Feb. 9 at Liberty State Park.

RoseMarie Peterkin, president of the American Freedom Coalition of New Jersey, a sponsoring organization, said, "The purpose of the campaign is to keep the memory of the sacrifice of our soldiers and their families alive, as well as to remember how much New Jerseyans pulled together to support our brave Desert Storm soldiers."

"Such sacrifice and unity are things not to be forgotten and exemplify the true American spirit. We believe this TV special records an important part of New Jersey history. We want any returning veteran to be able to go to the local library to see how so many wanted to show their support. And the same for the school children of our state."

The campaign is to be supported by veterans and civic groups, local businesses and the general public. Groups and individuals who would like to donate to the special or to their local schools or library, or seeking more information, should call 325-7776 or write the American Freedom Coalition, 395 Pleasant Valley Way, West Orange, 07052.

GOP women to honor colleagues

Former Attorney General Cary Edwards will be the principal speaker at a dinner honoring the elected Republican women in Union County.

Sponsored by the Union County Republican Women's Club, the dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Tuesday at the Westwood in Garwood.

The guests include Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden of the 21st District, Union County Freeholder Linda Lee Kelly and two mayors, Helen Ryan of Roselle Park and Janet Whitman of Summit.

Seated municipal councilwomen are Jeanne P. Viscito of Berkeley Heights, Barbara Bilger of Cranford, Barbara Morgan of Garwood, Marilyn Hart of Mountainside, Maxine Hirsch of New Providence, Katherine Fulcomer of Rahway, Joan Papan and Irene Schmidt of Scotch Plains, Barbara Allen and Millie Cooper of Summit, and Margaret Sur of Westfield.

Roselle Park Tax Collector Jeanne Decker and Union Township Clerk

Nancy Derr-Isselman are also elected honorees.

"The contribution these outstanding ladies have made to good government on a state, county and municipal level has been impressive," club president Virginia McKeeney said. "Our quality of life has been enhanced by their efforts."

Tickets, priced at $25, are available on an advanced sales basis from the honorees or members of the Union County Republican Women's Club.

County groups gear for walk

Thanks to the support of numerous organizations, WalkAmerica preparations are complete for the annual WalkAmerica for Healthier Babies, scheduled for Sunday.

Volunteers from Union County, including Union County Police, Office of Emergency Management, S.A.G.E., Union Hospital EMT and Plainfield Twin Mother's Club, have confirmed their participation and will be on hand for this year's walk.

This year's WalkAmerica sponsors include Mennen, Leisure Time Spring Water, Airco/BOC, Tuscan Dairy, Union County Employees, Allstate and Garden State Business Machines.

The 20-kilometer, or 12.5-mile, walk will begin and end at Kean College and will travel through the towns of Union, Cranford, Roselle and Roselle Park.

Money raised from the event goes toward March of Dimes programs of public and professional education, medical research and services aimed at defeating low birth weight, birth defects and infant mortality.

For more information, call the North Jersey Chapter of the March of Dimes at 882-0700.

Rebate extension deadline OK'd by committee

Legislation sponsored by Assemblyman Neil M. Cohen, (D-Union), which would extend the filing deadline for the state's new Homestead Rebate until the end of the calendar year, was reviewed and approved Monday by the Assembly's Appropriations Committee.

The Cohen measure would allow New Jersey homeowners and tenants to file their rebate applications until Dec. 31, for tax relief rebates of up to $500.

The appropriations committee released a version of Cohen's legislation along with similar measures sponsored by Assemblymen Fred Scemi (D-Atlantic), John Paul Doyle (D-Ocean) and Assemblywoman Marlene Lynch Ford (D-Ocean).

Under current law, the deadline for filing for the Homestead Rebate is April 15, and even though the rebate applications are attached to the state income tax forms, the extension would apply only to the rebate program.

Cohen observed that the state has publicized the changes in the rebate program, including the new April 15 deadline, but that "any time you institute a new program, some people are bound to be misinformed or unaware of the changes. "We're dealing with the state's first major property tax relief program in decades, and I don't want residents missing their opportunity for tax relief just because they were unaware of the program's requirements," Cohen said.

Cohen said he was particularly concerned about the many senior citizens and disabled people whose taxable incomes are below the state minimum for filing, and "who no doubt missed the deadline simply because they were unaware of the new program's filing procedures."

"These people may not have much taxable income, but they are eligible for and entitled to their Homestead Rebate. In many cases, we're talking about a $500 rebate," Cohen said.

"If they're not used to filing an income tax return, they may not know that the rebate application is on the reverse side of the NJ 1040 form. So if they've missed the April 15 deadline and we don't pass an extension, then they're out of luck. I don't want that. This tax relief program is designed to help everyone, not just those who file income tax forms," Cohen said.

Cohen reiterated that the legislation would only affect the Homestead Rebate program and not the state income tax. He also noted that the extension would only be in effect for 1991; 1992's deadline would remain at April 15.

Furthermore, the rebate program which was passed by the Legislature last year mandates that rebate checks be sent to residents by Oct. 31 each year. Cohen's legislation would keep that deadline intact for applications made prior to Sept. 17, 1991. For applications received after that date, the state would be required to send rebate checks within 45 days.

The legislation will now be considered by the full Assembly.

Drug seminar slated

The Union County Council on Alcoholism and Other Drug Addictions Inc. will present a seminar called "Identifying and Overcoming Enabling Behavior" on May 3 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the council's office at 300 North Avenue East in Westfield.

Taught by James L. Mastrich Jr., a psychologist in private practice in Kingston and an employee assistance program consultant, the course is $35 and can earn participants six credit hours toward CAC/CDC/CADC certification or recertification.

In addition, Union County College's Department of Continuing Education will grant one C.E.U. for each 10 hours of successful participation in the 1990-91 Alcohol and Other Drug Training series.

Leyrer's HR sparks Dayton

By Mark Yablonsky
 Sports Editor

Laura Leyrer is a sophomore shortstop on the Dayton Regional High softball team, who, in the words of head coach Art Krupp, has "a gun for an arm." It appears as though Leyrer has an explosive bat as well.

Leyrer, who is also a key member of the Dayton swim team, stepped to the plate in the seventh inning of last Tuesday's game in North Plainfield and belted a grand slam home run to deep left field, giving Dayton a 14-13, come-from-behind win. The Lady Bulldogs, whose record jumped to 2-2 with the victory, had been trailing by five runs entering the seventh inning.

Leyrer's blow came after two walks and two singles had accounted for Dayton's first tally of the five-run outburst.

"She really clocked it," commented Krupp. "It was a home run, a legitimate home run. That's probably the best ball she ever hit for us."

Starting pitcher Jen Minieri, who worked all seven innings, got the win, which was her first of the season against one defeat. Dayton's other win was credited to junior Holly Olarczuk, who pitched a complete game in beating Roselle, 20-3, on April 2.

Panthers take 2

By Mark Yablonsky
 Sports Editor

The weather may have postponed Thursday's big baseball game with conference rival Brearley Regional, but the Panthers of Roselle Park High still managed to get in two games this past week. And Park, which is now 5-2, won them both: 11-3 over St. Mary's on Friday, and 7-5 over Cranford the next day.

Against St. Mary's, the Panthers were trailing by a 3-1 score entering the bottom of the fifth inning, but a run-scoring single from Scott Bermingham and a fielder's choice grounder from Dan Serretti produced the tying runs. And then in the sixth, Park broke it open with an eight-run outburst.

In all, the Panthers sent 12 batters to the plate in the sixth and got seven hits and a walk for their efforts. While Mike Baker's two-run single was the one that really made the difference, Serretti and Bermingham made sure by delivering a two-run single and two-run triple, respectively. Jon Price came on in relief of Park starter Chris Hartzler in the fourth inning to pick up the win, his first of the year against no losses.

Price allowed just one hit over the final 3½ innings, while walking out none and striking out three.

And once again, the Panthers put together two strong innings to defeat Cranford. Trailing by a 1-0 count entering the bottom of the third inning

Baseball

Saturday, Park scored three runs to take the lead for good on run-scoring singles from Andres Alarcon and Scott Bermingham, and a steal of home by Alarcon, the team's second baseman.

Bermingham belted a two-run double in the fourth inning for Park, which also got a two-run single from Derek Vanderkooy to make it a 7-2 game.

Bermingham came on to work the last 1½ innings in relief to gain his first save of the year, allowing one hit while walking one and striking out four.

Pop Warner

Registration for the Kenilworth Jets Pop Warner youth football league will open tomorrow, April 26, from 7-9 p.m., and Saturday, from 9 a.m. until noon. Boys from Kenilworth and Garwood who were born after Aug. 31, 1977 and before July 31, 1983, and who weigh between 45-145 pounds are eligible.

Registration will be held at the Kenilworth Recreation Center, located at the Boulevard and 24th Street. Candidates should bring a copy of their birth certificate, two recent school pictures, and also be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The 1991 season marks the 26th year of Pop Warner football in Kenilworth. The Jets field teams in three separate age and weight categories: Junior Pee Wees, Pee Wees and Midgets. The teams compete in the Karitan Valley Conference, which includes teams that also compete at the high school level. Some of the teams on the 1991 schedule include Roselle Park, Manville, Clark and Bound Brook.

All home games are played at Ward Field at David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

Park defeats Brearley, 21-7

By Mark Yablonsky
 Sports Editor

In a game that was dominated by walks and impaired by damp, chilly conditions, Roselle Park prevailed, 21-7, over Brearley Regional in a regular-season, Mountain Valley Conference softball game last Thursday afternoon in Kenilworth.

In all, a total of 27 batters reached base on walks, with Park batters getting 24 of the free passes. Also, a combined total of 14 errors were committed by both teams.

Park, now at 7-1, was trailing by a 4-3 count entering the top of the third inning, but a four-run outburst by the Lady Panthers put them in front to stay. Dawn Skebeck began the rally with a booming triple to right-center field, the only extra base hit of the game. Along with two key errors, Park scored four times, with two of the runs coming in on a single to left by catcher Maura Geoghegan.

Geoghegan, a hard-hitting senior, ended the day with three walks and five RBIs, while teammate Kim Harms, a sophomore second baseman, collected five walks and five runs scored, along with a single and one run batted in.

Park then put more icing on the cake by scoring seven more times in the top of the seventh inning. Brearley, which outhit Park by a 10-8 margin, was led by senior shortstop Kim Eagan, who went 2-for-5 with two RBIs. Teammate Chrissy Davenport went 1-for-3 with a walk, and also scored two runs.

Brearley's first two runs came in by way of a field error in the bottom of the first inning.

The win went to freshman pitcher Jessica DeLuca, who now holds the same 7-1 record that her team does.

McKune takes fly for national crown

KEITH MCKUNE

Keith McKune of Union became the YMCA's national champion in the 100-yard butterfly last week at the Orlando International Aquatic Center in Orlando, Fla. McKune, who represented the Westfield YMCA, was the oldest competitor present at the event, which attracted YMCA swimmers from different parts of the country.

McKune also came in sixth in the 100-yard freestyle event, and was part of the 400-yard freestyle relay that placed fifth in the nation. The relay team also included Union resident Kevin Smith, who later teamed up with McKune and two Westfield swimmers to place fifth in the 800-yard freestyle relay.

Overall, six of the 16 swimmers to represent the Westfield Y were from Union. That includes Carol and Donna Restivo, ages 17 and 14, respectively, as well as Leslie Hendricks and Scott Stephenson.

THE 'TRAY GAME' — When the girls' softball league of Clark resumes play on Saturday, the Major Division teams will once again play for the honor of holding the trophy, 'The Tray,' until the following season. Pictured here from left, Steve Fatula, coach of last year's winning team, Howard Savings, receives 'The Tray' from league vice-president Frank Parrelli and League President Dr. Howard Flisser. The league will host opening ceremonies at the new field complex at the Brewer Municipal Building starting at 11 a.m.

AROUND THE BASES — Dave Mella of Union High heads toward third base in last Friday's game against Kearny in a game that Union won, 6-2. Earlier in the week, Mella had three hits and two RBI in a 16-0 rout of Plainfield.

This week's question: This one goes out to all Met fans. Who was the very first player ever selected by the Mets in the National League's expansion draft of Oct. 10, 1961?

Last week's answer: The goaltender who holds the NHL record for the best goals-against average for playoff action in one season is Tiny Thompson of the 1928-29 Boston Bruins. Thompson fashioned three shutouts en route to an 0.60 goals-against average for the Stanley Cup champion Bruins.

In that era, the Stanley Cup final was a best-of-three event, following a somewhat complex, even bizarre, format in which both first-place champions — of both the Canadian and American Divisions — met each other first, while the second and third-place teams in each division crossed over to oppose each other in a separate, yet related, tournament. Eventually, the winner of that latter event would advance to meet the survivor of the first-place battlers to determine the Cup winner.

By 1938-39, the NHL had reduced itself to just seven teams; and by the 1942-43 season, only six teams remained — and that's the way it stood until the great expansion of 1967-68 added on six new teams (including the Philadelphia Flyers and L.A. Kings) in a separate West Division. Today, of course, that is no longer the case in a 21-team NHL field.

Also, beginning with '42-43, only the top four teams in a single, six-team league made the playoffs; and the semifinal round had the first-place team team opposed by the third-place team, and the second and fourth-place squads meeting as well.

By the way, Terry Sawchuk, considered to be one of the NHL's all-time greats among goalies, had four shutouts and a 0.63 goals-against average in eight playoff games for the 1951-52 Detroit Red Wings. This week, Henry Hascup of Lodi submitted a correct answer.

Park gets top seed for upcoming UCT

By Susan Krakowiecki
Assistant Sports Editor

Roselle Park emerged as the No. 1 seed for the 1991 Union County softball tournament during a seeding committee meeting on Monday in Elizabeth. Play is scheduled to begin this week, and a total of 17 teams from Union County have been ranked for participation in the tournament.

The Lady Panthers of Roselle Park are followed by undefeated Union Catholic in the second spot. Westfield is seeded third, followed by Cranford in fourth, Rahway in fifth, Union in sixth, Johnson Regional in seventh and Linden in eighth.

The rest of the field includes Roselle Catholic (9), Elizabeth (10), New Providence (11), Scotch Plains (12), Brearley Regional (13), Governor Livingston in (14), Dayton Regional (15), Summit (16) and Mother Seton (17).

Mother Seton and Summit will face off in a preliminary-round game this week. The first round begins on Saturday. The winner of the Mother Seton-Summit game will play at Roselle Park.

Other Saturday match ups include: Dayton at Union Catholic, Governor Livingston at Westfield, Brearley at Cranford, Scotch Plains at Rahway, New Providence at Union, Elizabeth at Johnson and Roselle Catholic at Linden.

Quarterfinal round games will be played May 4 at the site of the team with the higher remaining seed. The semifinal games are scheduled for May 11 at Memorial Field in Linden. The first semifinal will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the second at 8 p.m.

The 1991 Union County Tournament final will be played on May 18, also at Memorial Field, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

New relay mark set

The Union High boys' 4 x 200 meter relay team of Kalsime Simmons, Brian Leschinski, Derrick Cannon and Cameron Chadwick won their events and set a new Union record of 1:31.9 on Saturday at the Morris Hills Relays in Rockaway. Overall, Union placed sixth in a field of 21 teams.

Also the 4 x 100 team of Simmons, Chris Jackson, Cannon and Anthony Purcell placed second in 45 seconds flat. The 4 x 800 team of Spencer Mell, Jim Romeo and Chris Geck and Lou Romeo came in second in a season-best time of 8:36.9.

Leschinski, Jackson and Chadwick were joined by Darin Gerdes to capture third place in the shuttle hurdles relay in 64.3 seconds, yet another season best.

Also, Union's 125-5 victory over Kearny raised the team's dual-meet record to 3-0.

Simmons won two events: the 100-meter dash in :11.2, and the 200-meter run in :22.9. Leschinski won the 400-meter hurdles in :62.3 and the high hurdles in :14.8. Purcell took the 400-meter run in :53.4, and Lou Romeo took the 800 meters in 2:09. Field event winners were Giorgio Alfano in the shotput (40-3/4), Nick Karadimas in the discus (121-3), Rob Schiff in the javelin (142-3), Jackson in the high jump (5-8), Chadwick in the long jump (18-7/8) and Cliff Sangster in the pole vault (10-0).

Union netters now 4-4

The Union High boys' tennis team, which saw two scheduled matches postponed by rain last week, is now 4-4, following Friday's 3-2 loss at Scotch Plains.

The Farmers were slated to play Irvington last Monday and then Summit two days later, but wet weather in both instances interfered.

The team's most reliable points have come from the second doubles pairing of junior Jack Mascarenhas and senior Flavio Lourenzo, who are 6-1 to date. Union has won three of its matches by 3-2 scores, and in each of those instances, Mascarenhas and Lourenzo have meant the difference for the Farmers.

In a 3-2 verdict over St. Benedict's Prep on April 4, Mascarenhas and Lourenzo defeated Billy Fox and Louis Periera, 6-0, 6-1; and in Union's 3-2 decision over Kearny on April 10, the Union duo outpointed Chris Smith and Bret Hogan, 6-1, 6-3.

Also, in Union's 3-2 triumph against Roselle Park on April 11, Mascarenhas and Lourenzo prevailed, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1 against Anthony Procopio and Paul Gibault.

And in the loss to Scotch Plains, the Union duo prevailed, 6-2, 6-2, over Jim Dougherty and Amit Dogra.

Malfa, Knox lead Kean lacrosse team

Gregg Malfa and Tyce Knox have been the leaders of the Kean College lacrosse team for four seasons. In that time, the Cougars have posted an outstanding 45-17 record which includes three post-season appearances.

This season, the two seniors are serving as captains of the Kean squad that was the pre-season favorite to capture the Knickerbocker Conference title.

Malfa's contribution to the Cougars' success is easy to measure. In his four seasons, he has led the team in scoring three times and finished third on the squad once. The Cougars' all-time leading scorer, he now has 226 points in his illustrious career.

A two-time, First-Team all-Conference selection and a one-time second-team selection, Malfa has twice been named as Most Valuable Player of the team on offense.

As a freshman midfielder, he scored 34 goals and 12 assists as the team finished 13-6 and received a bid to the ECAC Tournament.

In his sophomore campaign, Malfa led the squad with 24 goals and 36 assists as the Cougars completed an 11-5 campaign, one that was also capped by a bid to the ECAC's.

Last season, Malfa had his best year of all, scoring 42 goals along with 32 assists as the Cougars steamrolled their way to a 13-3 record and the ECAC Tournament crown.

This season, he has picked up right where he left off. As of April 15, the Cougars boasted an 8-3 record and Malfa again was first on the team in scoring, with 31 goals and 15 assists — numbers that put him on course to either equal or better last season's scoring output.

It is impossible to measure the impact that Tyce Knox has had on the squad with just statistics. As a defensoman, his job is not to put big numbers up on the board.

Knox is the leader of the Cougars and is by far the squad's best defender. Day-in and day-out, it is his job to shut down the opposition's best player and it is rare when he doesn't accomplish that goal.

A four-year starter, he has received the recognition and admiration of his peers. Last season, he was a first-team all-Conference selection and the Most Valuable Player of the team on defense.

Actress, 7½, makes a splash on college stage

By Bea Smith
Lifestyle Editor

Ronit Hasson, the 7½-year-old daughter of Robin Yvonne of Union and Yom-Tov Hasson, can't make up her mind whether she'd like to be an actress or a pediatrician when she grows up. She seems ready for either career.

Ronit, who is in the second grade at the Jewish Educational Center in Elizabeth, and who has appeared in a Purim play in school, a musical skit and a play about Abraham Lincoln, recently found herself performing on stage at the Wilkins Theater at Kean College of New Jersey, Union.

Ronit played Princess Ying Yaowalak, one of the king's children in "The King and I."

"Last month Mom found out that they were auditioning for the musical and they asked me if I wanted to audition for it, and I said, 'Yes.' After the audition, I found out I had the part," she said. "If you saw the play, I was the one who ran between the king's legs during 'The March of the Siamese Children' number."

'I wish 'The King and I' would last for the rest of my life, not just seven days.'

— Ronit Hasson

"I just put the child on stage for the first time," laughed her mother, "and she hams it up. I didn't think they did that anymore."

Ronit became involved in the project when Yvonne, who is a part-time marketing major and communications minor at Kean, took Ronit and her sister, Ya'el, 5, to school with her. "When my drama teacher saw Ronit, he suggested that she audition for the role of Princess Ying Yaowalak," she said.

"Ronit never really expressed much of an interest in appearing in the theater, although she does make up her own dances, you know, just for fun. But my teacher insisted that she'd be perfect for the role," she said. "So, I took her to an audition, and the director, Holly Rhoades-Logue, whom I knew as a communications instructor, had Ronit sing a little. And that was it. Originally, they had picked another girl for the role. So, they switched. Ronit did four performances out of seven, and the other girl did the other performances and the monologue."

"We had a lot of rehearsal," explained Ronit.

Did the rehearsal interfere with her school work?

"Yes, it did, a little," she said. "But my daddy gave me a test today and I got 100 percent."

"Rehearsals started in January on Saturdays. And dress rehearsals were held from 6 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. And during the performances, she had to be at the theater at 7 p.m. for warm-ups. And since she was the last one to get out of her costume, we never left the theater until midnight," her mother said.

"Everything was done so professionally," Yvonne said. "I think they did an incredible job. There were 65 people in the show, and the children's ages began at 5.

"I had to comb out Ronit's hair, braid it and roll it up so she could wear her crown. And it was perfect. They also showed us how to use the eyebrow pencil and makeup so that she would look like an Oriental."

Ronit was very excited about the whole thing. "I was in front," she recalled. "And I wasn't shy, but my heart was beating fast."

She was in three scenes, the "Getting to Know You" scene with Mrs. Anna — "I was the one in the dark purple and black slippers" — "The March of the Siamese Children," and the "Death Scene."

"What I liked about the show was the fan dancer," Ronit said. While the children were backstage waiting to go on, they played games. "And when we got too noisy," she giggled, "they said 'Shut up!' While I waited to go on, I wrote a letter to my Aunt Maria, who had an operation, and I wrote to my Aunt Helen to tell her I miss her."

During the middle of rehearsals, Ronit saw the movie "The King and I," starring Yul Brynner and Deborah Kerr, twice. "It was fun. My favorite scene is the 'Shall We Dance' number, and I liked it when the king told Mrs. Anna that her head had to be lower than his. And I liked the king," she said.

"She more than liked the king," mused her mother. "She had an incredible crush on him. The actor who played the king is Todd Dowdy Sloane, who is extremely talented. I like the atmosphere of this kind of theater," she said. "It's very electric...even in rehearsals. Rehearsals went calmly and the performers were at their professional best."

Ronit, who may even become a choreographer when she grows up, said, "I'm always making up all these nice dances. I see all these dances on television and in the movies, and I make up all new dances. My sister tries to do it, too, but she just makes funny poses. Everybody likes my dances, even Mommy and Daddy and my grandfather and grandmother, Enoch and Shirley Trencher, who live with us in Union."

"Now that Ronit is so interested in the musical theater," said her mother,

"I'm trying to find a workshop for her."

"I said to my mother," Ronit said, "I wish 'The King and I' would last for the rest of my life, not just seven days."

"She's a true extrovert, my daughter," Yvonne said. "And an ambitious one at that."

Forum focuses on tax revolt, freedom of expression

A public forum on the First Amendment and the New Jersey tax revolt will be at Kean College at 8 p.m. today in the Wilkins Theater.

Funded by a grant from the National Bicentennial Commission on the U.S. Constitution and co-sponsored by the Union County Chamber of Commerce, the forum will focus on debate over the proper mechanisms for the expression of popular grievances within the framework of democratic government.

Panelists include two legislators, a representative from Gov. Jim Florio, businessmen, a taxpayer advocate and a professor. The forum will be moderated by Kent Manahan, a news anchorman for New Jersey Network News. The participants are:

□ Harry Busch, chairman and chief executive officer of All-State Legal Supply Co.; past chairman of the board of the Union County Chamber of Commerce; and member of the board of directors for the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce.

□ John H. Dorsey, R-District 25, Senate Minority Leader. He has been active in efforts to get legislative support for initiative and referendum.

□ Kenneth Grasso, professor of political science, St. Peter's College. Grasso is a specialist in the constitutional issues surrounding political protest movements.

□ John J. Finn, assistant vice president of support service, Bellcore. A member of the current Jersey City Board of Education, Finn has a long history of civic and political work in Jersey City.

□ Sam Perelli, founding member of United Taxpayers of New Jersey. A registered Democrat, Perelli has been a leader in the New Jersey tax revolt and advocates limiting the terms of public officials and is a proponent of initiative and referendum.

□ Richard Roper, director of the Program for New Jersey Affairs at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. Roper is active in a number of civic and public interest organizations and is the author of many articles and reports on New Jersey public policy issues.

□ Gerald R. Stockman, D-District 15. Stockman has been active in property tax reform and sponsored legislation to create the State Planning Commission.

A representative of the office of Florio will also join the panel.

Elsa Gomez, president of Kean College and Clifford Peake and president of the Union County Chamber of Commerce, will welcome the guests. Robert Hunt, assistant professor of political science at Kean, directed the project.

Issues such as the nature of deliberative government, populist responses, recall, initiative, referendum and the framing of public policy in the face of heated public controversy will be examined from the different points of view on the panel. The aim is to shed some light on the practical, philosophical and constitutional implications of the New Jersey tax revolt. The broader nature and the limits of populist response to controversial public measures will be a major focus of this forum, including the history of such issues in New Jersey.

The forum is free and open to the public. For further information, contact the College Relations Office at Kean College, 908-527-2371.

Hamilton stars in performance

Maplewood resident, tenor David Hamilton, will sing the role of Don Ottavio in the Westfield Symphony's concert version of Mozart's "Don Giovanni."

Hamilton has won vocal competitions, among them the Paris International Voice Competition and the Eleanor Steber Award, and has appeared with such opera companies as the Metropolitan, New York City Opera, Opera Company of Philadelphia, Opera/Columbus, San Diego Opera, Wolf Trap and Opera Theater of St. Louis. Following this performance, Hamilton will be singing the lead role in "Romeo and Juliet" in Toledo.

Having made the transition from baritone to tenor, this will mark Hamilton's first appearance with the Westfield Symphony. The performance, led by music director Brad Keimach, will include a cast of Hamilton and other American singers and will be presented on Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Westfield Presbyterian Church, 140 Mountain Ave. The program will be preceded by a pre-concert discussion of the opera at 7 p.m. in Westminster Hall. Tickets are $17.50, seniors, $15 and students, $10. For reservations, call 232-9400.

WHERE TO DINE

A Guide to Find the Finest Dining In New Jersey

By Lillian Abbracciamento and Dennis Schaal

It's a testimonial to Fulton Restaurant's new-found success that its two dining rooms, complete with a warm, old world, country-style charm, were bustling with non-stop activity as early as 6:30 p.m. one Saturday evening. Several patrons eagerly asserted their approval with the ultimate compliment, noting they have standing, weekly reservations. Fulton Restaurant, located at 1353 Fulton St. in Rahway, is a continental restaurant specializing in Italian fare. From its heavenly appetizers to its satisfying entrees, the customer will not be disappointed with this gastronomic experience.

Restaurant review

The restaurant opened on this site in downtown Rahway some 80 years ago as a bar that served pasta and sandwiches. Co-owners Tom DiRusso and Lou Mavrookas took over the spot last July and they have managed, to win back a loyal following as everyone is made to feel a part of this big restaurant family.

The owners have brought in chef Peter as the new head chef. He has a classical European training and, among his qualifications, is a stint at Manhattan's world-famous Tavern on the Green restaurant.

Tom DiRusso is without a doubt one of the prime secret ingredients to the new success of this casual, comfortable establishment. As customers stream in — reservations are recommended because the word is getting out — he greets them on a first-name basis. Fathers introduce the owner to their sons, and a new generation takes its place. Hostess Christine continues to charm as she seats patrons in romantic booths surrounded by lace-curtain windows, pastoral pictures and old European-style oak-paneled walls.

The appetizers, including a presentation of tender, fresh shrimp enveloped in the creamiest pink champagne sauce, were exquisite. And the clams casino were the freshest and tastiest we've had in a long while.

One of chef Peter's most interesting preparations was the cheese ravioli Alfredo with filet mignon tidbits in a light bordelaise sauce ladled over the top. Also, the broiled veal chop, a house special, was moist, tender and deliciously flavorful.

All of the seafood entrees we sampled were especially fresh. The broiled seafood combo was brimming with flounder, shrimp, clams, mussels and lobster tails. It was a perfect dish.

The prices of the dinner entrees seemed quite reasonable ranging from $12.95 for fettucine Alfredo to $18.95 for the broiled seafood combination.

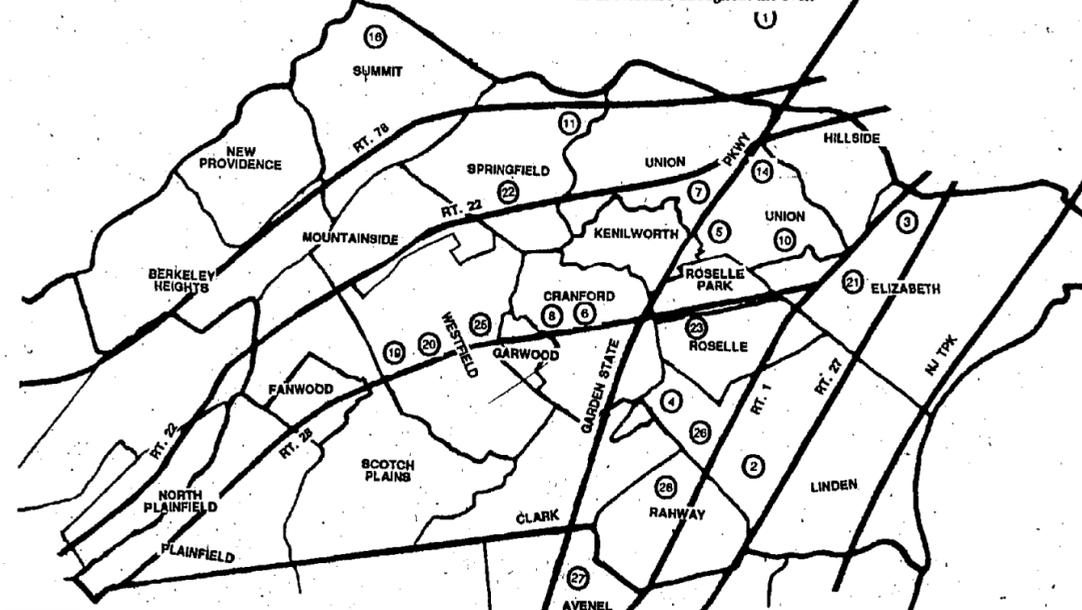

Despite the healthy business that was in evidence throughout the evening, this was not a chaotic scene. From waitress Ann White to busboy Mustapha, the staff was well-trained, friendly and professional.

The desserts were wonderful, but the real icing on the cake was pianist and vocalist Mary Ann, who knew every request from "Ain't Misbehavin'" to "Someone to Watch over Me" — and watch over us she and the staff did. Mary Ann performs Friday and Saturday evenings.

From the food to the people, the soft, warm glow of Fulton Restaurant is suitable for the most formal affair to the most casual occasion. What a treat to discover an 80-year-old treasure hidden away in Rahway. This is a rare gem not to be missed.

The Fulton Restaurant, which is closed Sundays, is open Monday through Thursday, 11:30 a.m. - 9:30 p.m.; Friday 11:30 a.m. - 11 p.m.; and Saturday 5 p.m. - 11 p.m. Reservations are recommended, especially weekends.

Band scheduled for arts center

The Garden State Concert Band, under the direction of Dominick Ferrara of Bloomfield, will perform at the Union County Arts Center in Rahway on May 19 at 3 p.m.

Featured on the program are three unpublished works for bands by the late Anthony Louis Scarmolin, a resident of New Jersey for many years.

"Prelude, Interlude and Parade Vision," all unpublished works, will be premiered by the Garden State Concert Band at this performance.

Enormously prolific, Scarmolin produced more than 1,000 works. He wrote in many genres, including opera, choral music, chamber music, band, orchestra, art song, popular song, semi-classical and dance music. Throughout his career, Scarmolin won prizes for works in many of these genres. He was married to Aida Balasso and lived in New Jersey for many years, where he maintained a teaching studio and taught in the Union County schools.

The guest artist for this program is Rita Maggio a soprano from Bloomfield. She will be performing "Ah! Je vous vivre" from "Romeo and Juliette" by Charles Gounod and "Italian Street Song" from "Naughty Marietta" by Victor Herbert.

The Garden State Concert Band has premiered several new works for the concert band:

□ 1984 — "Passacaglia, Fugue and Folk Song" by Ellen Spokane.

□ 1985 — "A Tribute to John Paul Jones" by Edward Edelson.

□ 1989 — "Fly Like An Eagle" and "God Bless Our Countrymen" by Kathleen Murphy.

□ 1990 — "Valley Bugle March" and "G.S.C.B. March" by Michael Gaylord.

Tickets are $10 each and can be obtained by writing to: Union County Arts Center, P.O. Box 775D, 1601 Irving St., Rahway 07065; or by calling 908-499-8226.

Box office hours are Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Saturday, noon to 4 p.m. A 20 percent discount is available to senior citizens and students.

Funding has been made in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State and the A. Louis Scarmolin Trust.

For additional information, call the Garden State Concert Band at 338-8140.

Gomez will speak at Brown installation

Elsa Gomez of Cranford, president of Kean College of New Jersey, Union, will be the guest speaker at inaugural ceremonies on Friday, installing Thomas H. Brown as the seventh president of Union County College.

Brown, a resident of Plainfield, joined Union County College on July 7, 1990. Gomez became the 15th president of Kean College on July 1, 1989. She is the first Hispanic woman to head a four-year liberal arts college in the United States.

Gomez, a graduate of the College of Saint Elizabeth, received her M.A. in Italian from Middlebury College and her Ph.D. from the University of Texas. She has also studied at Harvard, Stanford and New York universities. She has received numerous awards and honors, including a graduate fellowship from the Ford Foundation and was a fellow in administration for the American Council on Education.

Before coming to Kean College, Gomez was dean of arts and sciences and director of the graduate program at Lock Haven University in Pennsylvania. She had previously served as director of academic programs for the Massachusetts Board of Regents of Higher Education.

Gomez began her teaching career at the University of Puerto Rico-Mayaguez, where she rose to the rank of full professor, served as director of the humanities department and then was associate dean of the college of arts and sciences.

Strollers wrap up season

The Strollers completes its theater season with Rupert Holmes Tony Award-winning musical, "The Mystery of Edwin Drood."

The show has a joyously rousing musical score, while the script is written to tease the audience into participation. In fact, this "musical with a twist" asks the audience to decide who is the murderer, so that each night the cast must be ready to play a different scene — and sing a different closing number.

The show is directed by Robert Longstreet. Musical director is Jane Erickson. The cast includes Bob Bales, Ross Brochhagen, Kathleen Cogan, Mary Jane Frankel, Douglas Fredman, Judi Gajary, Gale Cross, Janine Guida, Ray Masterson, Bruce Peterson, Thomas Pitt, Fred Sitter, Betty Slevin, Linda Spencer, Marci Yale and Gene Zielinski.

Based on Charles Dickens' unfinished novel, this English Music Hall fare will be presented at the Burgdoff Cultural Center, 10 Durand Road, Maplewood, on Friday and Saturday and May 3, 4, 10 and 11. Evening performances are at 8 p.m. Curtain for the Sunday matinee is at 2 p.m. Ticket prices are $10. Seniors and children 13 and under pay $6. For more information or reservations, call The Strollers at 761-7453.

Student work displayed at Kean art exhibition

Eight fine arts master's thesis candidates of Kean College of New Jersey in Union will exhibit their works in the James Howe Gallery, Vaughn-Barnes Hall from Sunday to May 23 with the opening reception on Sunday from 3-5 p.m. The exhibition will include the works of two ceramic artists, three painters, one photographer, one printmaker and one woodworker.

Patricia Ann Cockburn of Rahway, formerly of Roselle and currently the art teacher at Washington Academy in South Orange, will be the featured printmaker. A 1980 graduate of Rutgers University with a B.A. in art and certification in art education, she has been enrolled in the masters of fine art education program since 1987, where she has been studying in-depth the area of printmaking for the past three-and-one-half years under the guidance of Professor Michael Metzger. Cockburn, whose etchings and aquatints deal with subjects from nature, has put together from her collection of prints a group of works that she feels best represents her style which focuses on using a combination of texture, contrast and detail. The artist intends to continue her work in the area of printmaking after completing her graduate studies in May at Kean.

The Master's Thesis Exhibition, which is made possible by a grant from the Graduate Student Council of Kean College, is the final part of the graduate program of study in the area of fine arts education. Students enrolled in the program, which is made up of 11 courses, concentrate on creating art in one area of specialization, from which they will choose and exhibit works at the end of the program of study. In addition to doing their studio work, the eight students whose works will be presented in the upcoming exhibition have been working together in the advanced seminar course with Professor Zara Cohan, gallery director of the James Howe Gallery, in which they acquire the basic knowledge necessary in order to properly promote and exhibit one's works of art in the future.

Further information on the Master's Thesis exhibition can be obtained by calling the fine arts department at 527-2307/2347.

The exhibition can be viewed Monday through Thursday 10 a.m.—2 p.m. and 5-7 p.m. and on Fridays 10 a.m.—noon. Admission is free.

Gallery talks will be given by the artists on three Wednesdays, May 1, 8 and 15 at 6 p.m.

During June, July and August, a selection of works from Master's Thesis '91 will be on view at the Schering-Plough Corporation, Kenilworth, Building #5.

Valentino film to be unreeled

It is hard for the present generation to comprehend the popularity and adulation enjoyed by matinee idol Rudolph Valentino at the height of his silent film career in the 1920s. The size of the crowd at his funeral in 1926 — an estimated 100,000 (mostly women) — was a measure of it, as is the fact that, to this day, his Los Angeles gravesite remains a tourist mecca.

On Saturday at 8 p.m., the Union County Arts Center on Irving St. will offer an opportunity to discover what all the fuss was about. The 1925 United Artists film, "The Eagle," said by some to be Valentino's best work, will be shown in its entirety with live pipe organ accompaniment — the way most people saw it during its first run at the height of the silent film era. Vilma Banky and Louise Dresser costar.

Accompanying the film at the console of the theater's vintage Wurlitzer pipe organ will be former radio-TV organist and composer, Lee Erwin, who was commissioned in 1968 to furnish "The Eagle" with the new score he will be heard performing on this occasion.

The Union County Arts Center is located at the junction of Irving, Main and Hamilton streets and Central Avenue in Rahway and there is ample parking on the street and in nearby municipal lots.

Tickets are $5 each and can be purchased in advance by visiting the box office at 1601 Irving St. during normal business hours, or by phoning 908-499-8226.

Nix indoor air pollution with steam

Steamatic steam cleaning service, located on East Elizabeth Avenue in Cranford, is a full-service cleaning company specializing in a wide range of services many other cleaning companies do not offer.

While literally thousands of customers rely on Steamatic for steam cleaning their rugs, upholstery and drapes every year, most of the company's business comes from clients who want to improve the efficiency of their home's heating and air-conditioning systems.

Among its many "regular" services, Steamatic offers air duct cleaning service, which helps reduce indoor pollution and improves the efficiency of most forced-air heating and cooling units.

"We're not just a carpet-cleaning business — we do a lot of jobs that many other companies in the business won't touch," says Bruce Goldstein, a partner in the family-owned and operated franchise branch. "Many of our clients are interested in fire and flood restoration, or need their home's air ducts professionally cleaned."

Goldstein, who runs the local Steamatic office with his father, Jack, said the company uses patented equipment to provide their clients with the most efficient service available. The Steamatic company holds nine original patents, according to Goldstein.

Steamatic offers its specialized services to commercial, industrial and residential customers, and offers free estimates for all prospective clients. The company, and its 250 other international franchises, are all fully insured and bonded.

For healthier, dust-free air, interested customers can call Steamatic at 272-8989.

Musical history of the violin is explored

On Sunday at 4 p.m. violinist Mark Zaki will present an unaccompanied violin recital entitled "The Violin: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," at the First Unitarian Society of Plainfield, 724 Park Ave., Plainfield. This program examines the history of the violin, from period instrument performances through the most recent technological advances, and features performances on the baroque, modern and MIDI violin. The program includes the "Partita in E Major" by Johann Sebastian Bach, "Sonata No. 2 (Obsession)" by Eugene Ysaye, and two pieces for MIDI violin and computer Mr. Zaki — "Fables" and Machine "Dances."

Zaki holds graduate degrees in violin and viola performance from Rutgers University's Mason Gross School of the Arts where he studied with Arnold Steinhardt, viola with Michael Tree and composition with Charles Wuorinen. As part of his doctoral work at Rutgers, he presented a lecture recital on the MIDI violin and computer-synthesizer networks with a performance of "Fables."

Presently living in New York City, Zaki is on the faculty of the Westminster Choir College Conservatory in Princeton, and was also a member of the New Haven Symphony for five years. As a chamber musician and soloist, he has performed throughout the United States. This past season, he has returned from his first tour of South America with Nina Bellina and the New York Bach Festival, and from Poland, where he was soloist with Rutgers University's Voorhees Choir. He has also performed with the period instrument ensembles, Clarion, and the Grande Bande in New York City. Zaki is currently a member of the Classical Band, which performed concerts at Lincoln Center's Mostly Mozart Festival and at the Schleswig-Holstein festival in Germany this summer. Plans for this season include presenting a program of music for the MIDI violin, and the tours of the Soviet Union, Germany, Italy and South America with the New York Bach Festival.

The third concert in the Friends of Music Chamber Concert Series, "The Violin: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," is funded in part by a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts. Donation is $6; students, $3. The First Unitarian Society of Plainfield is wheelchair accessible. For further information, call 754-0783.

HELP WANTED

Are you looking for exposure in the journalism field? Worrall Community Newspapers can offer that exposure to you by offering you a non-paid internship with one of our 20 newspapers in Union and Essex Counties. Interested? Call Executive Editor Don Veleber at 674-8000 Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. - 3 p.m. for additional information.

NEWSPAPER POSITIONS OPENING

Did you major or minor in journalism or communications while in college? If you are a recent college graduate, a homemaker who desires to get back into the work force or just plain unhappy or bored with your present situation, we might have a job for you with one of our award-winning newspapers.

We are considering applications for the following positions:

EDITOR/Writers: The need here is for a person with skills in writing, editing and page design. This is a full time position.

REPORTERS: Our need is a person to cover a municipal beat and write features. This is a full time position.

EDITORIAL ASSISTANT: A good opportunity for someone who wants to do a variety of newspaper "chores" such as typesetting, research, filing and even writing feature stories.

SPECIAL SECTIONS EDITOR WRITER: Here's an opportunity for someone to write features on a variety of subjects and design their own section. A fun position with some extra perks. Looking for a full time person.

We're a group of weekly newspapers with editorial offices in Bloomfield, Maplewood, Orange and Union. We offer competitive salaries and full benefits. Now that you know about us, we would like to know about you. Send a cover letter and resume to: Executive Editor Don Veleber, Worrall Community Newspapers, Inc., 425 Main Street, P.O. Box 849, Orange, NJ 07051.

The MEETING PLACE

We reserve the right to categorize, edit and release ads. You may not use your name, initials, street address, telephone number or place or contact information. Abbreviations are permitted only to indicate race, gender, marital status and gender preference. The blind box fee includes the forwarding postage. Replies will be sent each Wednesday to box holders. Box numbers may not be used for sending goods or payments of any kind, nor for the distribution of bulk mail or circulars.

Ads may NOT be placed for another person. We reserve this section for one person to meet another. Therefore, we will not accept personals which involve more than one person or those which involve a business transaction.

We will not accept advertising that has a purely sexual objective or that offers anything of monetary value in exchange for companionship.

Personal ads which offer "financial inducements" to responders such as "wealthy and generous," "all expenses paid" are NOT acceptable for publication and will be edited accordingly.

In the event a reply cannot be forwarded to the boxholder, it will be returned to the sender provided a return address appears on the envelope.

Ads that do not comply with these restrictions will be refused.

Ads will be accepted by mail or in person only, and must be pre-paid by check, money order, cash, Visa or MasterCard.
