Springfield budget OK'd; Brinen, Fish, Shanes win

Springfield Board of Education incumbent Ruth Brinen and township resident Robert Fish congratulate each other Tuesday night at Florencé M. Gaudineer School in Springfield after winning two of three available seats on the local school board. Jaqueline Shanes, another newcomer, won the third seat. The Springfield school budget was passed by township voters, though the budget for Union County Regional High School District 1 was defeated. Regional Board President Natalie Waldt of Springfield won her ninth term, defeating challenger Charles Jordan Levy.

Although budgets in several neighboring communities and the Regional District were among Tuesday's casualties, Springfield voters overwhelmingly backed a $9,854,419 tax levy for 1991-92 to fund local schools.

Township residents voted 759-479 in favor of the $7,516,263 current expense budget and, in a separate ballot question, 723-474 in favor of the $374,500 capital outlay plan. The combination of these two elements of the budget, which is the portion that must be raised through local taxes, represents a 6.64 percent increase over last year's levy.

In a third ballot question, township voters approved 810-354 a measure to transfer some $82,000 in revenues from the lease of Edward Walton School to fund capital improvements at the district's schools.

The electorate also sorted through a field of six candidates to fill three seats on the Board of Education. Two-term incumbent Ruth Brinen was the top vote-getter with a tally of 660; joining her for three-year terms on the nine-member panel will be Robert Fish, with 616 votes, and Jaqueline Shanes, who collected 547 ballots. The board will conduct a reorganization session Monday and will select a new president to replace Myrna Waserman, who did not seek re-election.

The totals for the unsuccessful candidates were: Emma Lampariello, 514; Paul Schneier, 401; and Catherine Filepp, 338.

Incoming board member Fish observed Tuesday evening that Springfield voters backed the increased 1991-92 budget "because people realized that components of the budget are tremendously dictated by the state and by contract."

During budget hearings, school officials noted that the spending plan came in at about $700 below the state-mandated cap. Superintendent of Schools Dr. Gary Friedland noted at the time that, due in large measure to the Quality of Education Act, the 1991-92 budget was the first during his tenure to target programs for reduction or outright elimination.

"This wasn't a budget that was padded," explained returning board member Brinen after the votes were in. "This is a testimonial to the support the people of Springfield give to education."

While the local school budget attracted a thumbs-up signal, for the second year in a row the voters from the six communities that comprise the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 collectively rejected the Regional Board's tax levy for its current expense budget. The proposed levy had recommended 1991-92 regional funding of $29,650,073 — an increase of 7.33 percent over last year.

Although Springfield voters backed the Regional District's proposal by a margin of 729-492, the six municipalities combined rejected the plan with a tally of 2,734 in favor and 3,133 against.

Regional District spokesman Thomas Long said Tuesday evening that the municipal councils in Springfield, Kenilworth, Mountainside, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights will review the budget and will convene a meeting with the Regional Board to determine how much the regional tax levy should be trimmed. He noted that this process must be completed by May 22.

Last year the six governing bodies cut the region's 1990-91 "no-increase" budget by $100,000, the spokesman said.

Regional voters also filled three seats on District No. 1's Board of Education. Springfield voters returned board President Natalie Waldt for her ninth term. She received 773 votes to challenger Charles Levy's 417.

Garwood residents gave 415 ballots to incumbent Joan Toth, who was unchallenged for her first full term. And newcomer Carmine Venes, also unopposed, collected 782 votes from Mountainside residents.

The Regional Board's reorganization meeting will take place May 7.

Springfield's Report Card is criticized for 'mistakes'

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

A special Report Card prepared for New Jersey residents by the state's Public Education Institute, despite its favorable profile of the Springfield school system, drew criticism this week from Springfield Superintendent of Schools Dr. Gary Friedland, who does not believe the report makes an accurate comparison among New Jersey school districts.

The report, developed in cooperation with the New Jersey Department of Education and the state's Business Roundtable Education Initiative, was designed to provide taxpayers and educators with an overall profile of how "each education dollar" is spent as compared to "similar district averages," as well as to state averages.

The Springfield public school district, which comprises a total of 931 students, maintains four schools, including James Caldwell School and Thelma L. Sandmeier School, both of which enroll students in kindergarten through grade 12; Florence M. Gaudineer School, which enrolls students in grades 5 through 8; and Edward V. Walton School, which enrolls special education students in various grade levels.

The state Report Card compares education costs and the effect school budgets have upon municipal tax rates, as well as staff quantity in the school district, teacher-student ratio, teacher salaries, number of special needs students and achievement test results — all factors which indicate how well a school district is utilizing its funds to maintain quality education.

Dr. Friedland, however, likened the state Report Card's grouping of New Jersey school districts according to enrollment similarity without considering geographic factors to "comparing apples with oranges," in that all state school districts do not operate the same way for the same amount of money.

Friedland explained, for example, that teacher salary scales in North and South Jersey school districts differ because of the former's proximity to the metropolitan area, among other factors. He maintained, therefore, that comparisons in that category would not be truly valid.

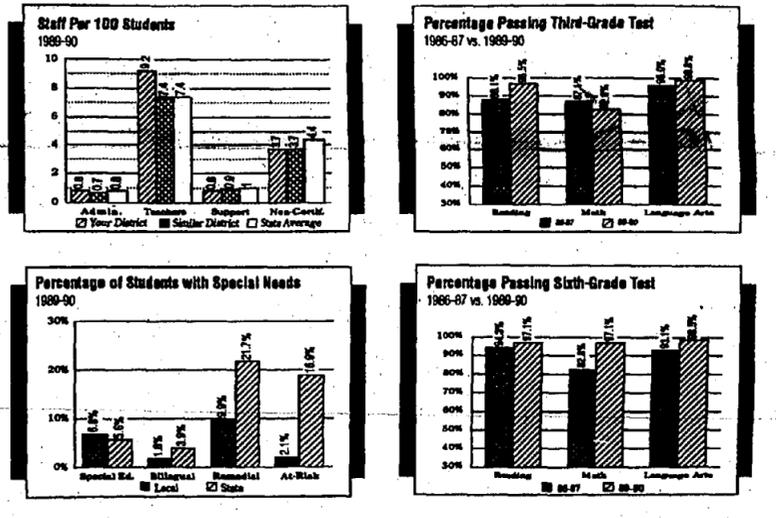

He also said the Report Card contained "numerous inaccuracies" regarding teacher salaries, which were subsequently corrected by the state; the tax rate Springfield residents must pay to support their school district; and scores of achievement tests which are administered annually to New Jersey students in the third and sixth grades to assess their progress.

The superintendent stated that the Springfield school district, despite the Report Card's inaccuracies, still spent its education money well in that the local tax rate was below the average rate for similar districts and students did score well on the achievement tests — though not as high as the Report Card indicated.

He added that the Springfield Board of Education has requested correction information from the state Public Education Institute and the Department of Education to amend inaccuracies contained in the report. The state issued an amended version of the teachers salary scale on April 18 to correct mistakes made in the original document.

Friedland stated that the Springfield Board of Education plans to wait until all the misinformation in the state Report Card has been corrected before releasing the data to the public in an attempt to avoid unnecessary confusion. The Springfield school board released a report card of its own last November.

The charts above were included in the state Report Card recently released to the Springfield school district by the state Public Education Institute and the New Jersey Department of Education. Springfield Superintendent of Schools Dr. Gary Friedland stated that some portions of the Report Card for his school district were inaccurate, adding that the district is awaiting revisions in those areas from the state. He also feels the Report Card cannot accurately compare all New Jersey school districts exclusively by their grade levels because teacher salary scales and other factors differ among regions.

Springfield synagogue honors new sanctuary

The congregation of Temple Sha'arey Shalom in Springfield, which includes 25 Mountainside families, marked a long-awaited milestone last weekend with the dedication of their new sanctuary — the focal point of a yearlong expansion to better accommodate the many religious, social and education programs offered by the synagogue.

Rabbi Joshua Goldstein welcomed approximately 200 fellow congregation members to a dedication service Sunday morning in the newly-refurbished sanctuary, which has been enhanced with new carpeting, cushioned pews and a dividing wall to separate this area from the synagogue's new social hall.

The synagogue, located on South Springfield Avenue and Shunpike Road, actually began its "Weekend of Dedication" on Friday evening, however, with a service at the synagogue featuring guest speaker Rabbi Israel "Sy" Dresner, Dresner, who served as Temple Sha'arey Shalom's spiritual leader from 1958 to 1970, was well known as a civil rights activist during the turbulent 1960s.

On Saturday, a Cantorial Concert featuring four generations of cantors took place at Temple Sha'arey Shalom, including Cantor Mark Biddelman, the synagogue's first cantor; Cantor Emeritus Irving Kramerman, who served the congregation for 25 years; Cantor Amy Daniels, the temple's current cantor; and student cantor Claire Metzger.

The Avodah Dance Ensemble, a repertory group which combines contemporary dance with the ancient practice of dance as a ritual, also performed on Saturday. The group, which comprises four women, also conducts experimental workshops that explore Torah through movement. It is directed and choreographed by JoAnne Tucker.

It was his congregation's desire to maintain the sanctuary exclusively as a haven for "prayer, meditation and a place to find peace" which led to the renovations, according to Goldstein, who said the sanctuary had been used for social occasions, Alcoholics Anonymous meetings and even the temple's annual rummage sale because of insufficient space.

"For many years the synagogue had been juggling programs and doubling up on space in order to accommodate all the programs and events that were happening in our synagogue," Goldstein explained. "We recognize, though, that a sanctuary in a syna-

Rabbi Joshua Goldstein of Temple Sha'arey Shalom in Springfield leads a service of dedication in celebration of the synagogue's newly renovated sanctuary. The event, which was followed by a brunch, climaxed the temple's "Weekend of Dedication," which also recognized the many other renovations which have taken place at the synagogue during the past year.

Did you know that the Legislature carved Springfield Township out of Elizabeth and Newark and that the first record of a township meeting goes back to April 1794?

Were you aware that town permits are required for the installation of central air conditioning units and that the Board of Health does out free rabies shots for dogs once a year? What about door-to-door canvassers? Did you know that they must display police permits?

These morsels of information can be garnered from the fourth edition of "This is ... Springfield," a League of Women Voters pamphlet that amounts to a rendition of everything-you-always-wanted-to-know-about-Springfield — but could never find in one place.

The attractive, informational booklet was released last year and revised and edited by LWV members Ruth gogue really should be uncompromised."

The rabbi reported that renovations to the sanctuary, along with numerous others realized during the past year, was due to the "incredible generosity" of Temple Sha'arey Shalom's congregation, which includes 355 families from Springfield, Mountainside, Union, Millburn, Cranford and several other area municipalities.

Sunday's service of dedication took place almost one year to the day that groundbreaking ceremonies for expansion of the synagogue were held, on April 29, 1990. In another unusual coincidence, the groundbreaking for the original building took place on April 29, 1961, and the dedication of that building occurred on April 28, 1962.

In addition to the sanctuary, the synagogue's facilities now include an adjacent social hall for parties and meetings; a multi-purpose room; a kitchen; three new nursery school classrooms and two new religious instruction classrooms; a youth lounge and new administrative offices.

The floor of the entranceway and several hallways have also been retiled, lavatories have been refurbished and the parking lot and grounds have also been spruced up.

"It's not easy for a congregation of our size, in these economic times, to fund this expansion," Goldstein remarked. "But I believe, deep down, our members know the synagogue is a very precious commodity to us. It's one whose influence we want to extend not just to us but to future generations."

Temple Sha'arey Shalom, which was twice visited by the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., recently welcomed 91-year-old Milly Stanfield, a cousin of author and Holocaust victim Anne Frank. Stanfield spoke to the congregation during the synagogue's Holocaust Commemoration on April 12.

"Sha'arey Shalom has been known as an extremely active force in the cause of social ethics," Goldstein said, noting that synagogue members help feed homeless people at an Elizabeth soup kitchen. "We take pride in the fact that so many of our members have gone on to take leadership positions in the community and we feel a responsibility toward the wider community."

ON THE MARKET — Area residents browse among tables belonging to more than 150 vendors Sunday at the Springfield Rotary Club flea market, which was held on the grounds of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield. The event was held as a scholarship fund-raiser for needy high school seniors who will be graduating from Jonathan Dayton in June.

New booklet on Springfield offers bits of township trivia

Weisman and Myrna Wasserman. It sells for $3 and league officials say they have distributed more than 500 copies.

The pamphlet traces the history of the township, outlines the workings and services of municipal government, and documents new directions in the local and regional school systems, to name just a few key areas.

Weisman explained that the informational booklet has been an ongoing league project and that the first edition came out in 1963. It took about nine months for the co-editors to update the latest edition and in the process they interviewed the heads of every major municipal department as well as local and regional school officials.

The non-profit project took about $1,500 to pull off and it was underwritten in part by several local Realtors as well as the Springfield Elks Lodge.

"Newcomers to town especially find the description of the educational system very important," Weisman said. "If they're interested, they can also find out where to turn to in the community."

The booklet is rife with information and statistics pertaining to virtually every aspect of day-to-day activity in the township. The pamphlet states that in 1990, for instance, the housing stock included 4,486 residential units, including 1,116 apartment units and 137 senior citizen apartment units.

"Today approximately 85 percent of Springfield's land area is developed," notes a section on present land use, "the remaining 15 percent consists of vacant and agricultural land and water areas. Of Springfield's developed land area, about 47 percent is in residential use. Another 43 percent is in publicly owned property (streets, schools, parks and public buildings) and semi-public uses (churches, clubs and cemeteries), with 10 percent used for industrial or commercial purposes."

Weisman, who served for nine years on the local Board of Education, noted that one area that needed major updating since the prior edition was curriculum changes in both the local and regional school systems. "This is ... Springfield" goes into substantial detail in outlining these modifications.

The booklet also acts as a handy reference guide in detailing municipal board and commission meeting schedules and it also provides a list of "useful telephone numbers."

Copies of the booklet can be purchased at the Springfield Public Library, which the publication notes: has "over 81,000 volumes, 3,500 records, over 300 periodical subscriptions, 150 framed art prints, 200 compact discs and 250 books on tape."

Dayton student is cited

Jamie Schutz, son of Karen and Michael Schutz of Springfield, was recently selected as the April "Student-of-the-Month" at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, where he is a senior. The teenager was given the honor based on his academic and athletic accomplishments and work with various organizations.

Schutz has attained a grade-point average of 3.4 out of a possible 4.0 and is ranked 17th academically in this year's senior class at Jonathan Dayton. He also serves as president of Safe Ride/Safe Home of Springfield/Mountainside, a program designed to prevent tragedies which can occur when someone drives under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Schutz is also the student representative to the Springfield Alliance for the Prevention of Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

He is an active member of the Jonathan Dayton Key Club, French Club and Alternatives group, and is serving as an academic tutor to younger students through the school's Growing In Volunteer Education.

In addition, Schutz played four years of basketball at Jonathan Dayton and was co-captain of the Bulldog varsity team during his senior season.

In the past, the "Student of the Month" also found time to compete for the Jonathan Dayton soccer team, participate in the Project I.O.Y. intergenerational program and take part in activities sponsored by the future Business Leaders of America.

After his graduation from Jonathan Dayton in June, Schutz plans to attend Washington University in St. Louis, where he intends to major in either International Business or Economics.

Judith Wickline, principal of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, presents Jamie Schutz with a plaque recognizing his selection as Jonathan Dayton's 'Student-of-the-Month' for April. The high school senior was honored for his outstanding academic and athletic achievements, as well as his extra-curricular activities such as being president of the 'Safe Ride/Safe Home' program.

Children's Specialized given award for ventilator program

The Recreational Department of Children's Specialized Hospital, New Providence Road, Mountainside, was recently honored with the 1991 Excellence in Programming Award from the New Jersey Recreation and Park Association.

The award was presented to the department for its Ventilator Dependent Program, which was developed in 1988 to meet the growing needs of children and adolescents whose activities are restricted because of a respirator.

Coordinated by therapist Donna Provanzano of Stockton, recreational therapy's Ventilator Dependent Program provides a variety of play and leisure experiences for each child to enhance self-growth and development.

It also promotes independence and socialization skills by allowing the child a chance to participate in individual and group recreation activities.

This marks the third time in four years that the hospital's Recreation Therapy Department has been honored with the Excellence in Programming Award.

The New Jersey Recreation and Park Association is a statewide organization of professionals concerned with parks, recreation and conservation. The purpose of this group is to broaden the public's knowledge of leisure time pursuits and to stress the importance of physical and mental well-being.

Children's Specialized Hospital, which is celebrating its 100th year of service throughout 1991, is New Jersey's only comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital. The internationally-recognized facility houses 60 acute rehab beds at its New Providence Road headquarters, plus a 25-bed long-term care wing.

Extensive outpatient and community services are provided by the hospital at its Outpatient Center in Fairwood, and a 30-bed unit is under construction in Ocean County.

In other news, Edwin Ehler of Scotch Plains has been named to the Children's Specialized Hospital Foundation board of trustees for a three-year term. Ehler, a graduate of Columbia University, is president of ETA Travel in Westfield. He serves as director of the Reserve Fund of New York and is a member of the Echo Lake Country Club.

NECK STRAIN

You may take your neck for granted, but you shouldn't. It is one of the most important parts of your body. Composed of seven small bones or vertebrae and supported by muscles and ligaments, your neck must hold and balance a head that weighs approximately 10 pounds.

This makes the neck susceptible to stresses and strains from many sources. It may react traumatically to seemingly minor accidents or falls. Some authorities say the neck is strained more frequently than any other part of the body.

Any misalignments in your neck may cause pain and discomfort because of an interference with the normal functioning of your body's nervous system. The neck is next to the brain, the source of your body's nerve impulses. They travel from the brain through the neck and spinal cord to all parts of your body.

Through gentle manipulation and other therapies, the doctor of chiropractic works to correct any misalignments, restoring your body's structural balance and allowing your nervous system to function unimpeded.

The Lions of New Jersey District 16-E and the Springfield Lions Club will hold a celebration on May 9 honoring the Springfield Lions' 65th anniversary, as well as a testimonial honoring Stanley Grossman, a member of the Springfield Lions who is currently serving as governor of District 16-E.

Time — and Mammography ... Two Powerful Tools In The Fight Against Breast Cancer

The best way to fight breast cancer is to take the time for early detection and treatment and St. Elizabeth Hospital has the most effective tool to provide you with the earliest possible diagnosis — mammography.

St. Elizabeth's state-of-the-art mammography equipment provides the highest quality image while using the lowest possible radiation exposure. And mammography can detect breast cancer even before there's a lump.

The American Cancer Society says that while breast cancer remains one of the leading causes of death from cancer among women, the cure rate is nearly 90 percent — with early detection and treatment.

On Saturday, May 11, 1991, from 9 a.m. - 12 p.m., and again on Wednesday, May 22, 1991, from 6 p.m. - 8 p.m., St. Elizabeth Hospital is joining forces with the American Cancer Society in the fight against breast cancer by participating in the Society's Breast Cancer Detection Awareness Program.

If you are a woman, age 35 and over, who does not have a personal history or symptoms of breast cancer, has never had a mammogram, and who is not pregnant or nursing, you are eligible to participate in this program to reach women who show no signs of breast cancer.

You will learn how to give yourself a monthly breast self-exam, and you will receive an examination from a physician. If indicated, you will be given a prescription to follow up with a mammogram at a low-cost of $40.

The mammograms will be scheduled at future dates.

Pre-registration is required. To register, or to obtain further information, call St. Elizabeth Hospital's Educational Resources Department at 527-5393.

Golfers to aid hospital

The Westfield Jaycees is gearing up for its seventh annual Charity Golf Outing on May 6 at Schackamaxon Golf and Country Club, with the Wheelchair Sports Program of Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountaintide to be the major beneficiary of the event.

Lunch, 18 holes of golf, cocktails and dinner will be included in the day-long event, with registration and practice beginning at 10:30 a.m. The shot gun start will begin at noon.

Individuals who sign up will be assigned a foursome or participants can register as a team. Non-golfers who wish to contribute to the event can join in at the cocktail hour.

Last year, the Westfield Jaycees Golf Outing provided funds to Wheelchair Sports, a leading pioneer program for children who are physically challenged.

"The Westfield Jaycees have demonstrated a commitment to the community and to children through their support of our Wheelchair Sports Program for many years," commented Andy Chasanoff, coach of the hospital's wheelchair sports team.

The cost is $175 per golfer, which includes 18 holes of golf; cart or caddy; practice tee; contests; lunch; awards dinner and prizes. To attend the cocktail hour and dinner only, the cost is $75 per person.

To register or for information about sponsorships, one can call Golf Outing Chairman George V. Cornell III at 232-0340, any Jaycee member or Children's Specialized Hospital at 233-3720, extension 276.

Throughout 1991, Children's Specialized Hospital is celebrating 100 years of service to children and adolescents. In honor of its centennial celebration, Children's Specialized will sponsor the National Junior Wheelchair Championships this summer at Princeton University.

The state's only comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation facility, Children's Specialized houses 60 rehab beds and 25 long-term care beds at its New Providence Road headquarters, and also operates an outpatient facility. The hospital is developing an additional 90-bed facility in Ocean County.

"The Jaycees' on-going support has helped our team's success," Chasanoff noted. "This year, their assistance will aid us as we host over 300 junior wheelchair athletes from across the country at the national competition."

GLAD TO BE HOME — Captain Kevin Russo, foreground, a pilot in the United States Air Force who recently returned from the Persian Gulf, recently visited the Edward V. Walton School in Springfield. Students at the school have been writing and sending packages to American soldiers stationed in the Gulf since October. Russo shared with the children some of his experiences during his tour of duty in the Desert Storm conflict.

Equal funding

A bill that would repeal a 107-year-old law that guarantees funding for municipal libraries was introduced in the Assembly this week. Under the bill, libraries would be forced to demonstrate a need for all funding they request from their governing bodies instead of receiving a proportion of the municipality's assessed property values.

The introduction of the bill has many municipal librarians up in arms, and almost immediately, speculation has ranged from reducing the amount of services in libraries to closing branches in the wake of the anticipated cuts. Some librarians are even charging that our legislators have lost concern for education and are denying the public the ability to use libraries at their convenience.

For two reasons the Assembly should pass the bill.

The current law mandates that funding be guaranteed on a proportional scale with property values. As property values increase in a municipality, so would the library funding. As library funding increases, the amount allocated for other municipal services decreases. No other municipal departments are afforded a similar funding system.

Libraries, like any other municipal department, should be held accountable for their budgets. More accountability does not necessarily result in the need to reduce services. It results in better management of a department and its finances.

Passage of the bill also would make library directors think more in line with applying for grants to subsidize the funding they receive from municipalities.

No municipal library should be without funding, but all libraries must make the same efforts as other departments in creating a sound budget — one the municipality can afford.

Dedicated weekend

The recent "Weekend of Dedication" observed by Temple Sha'arey Shalom of Springfield to present its new sanctuary and other renovations was a truly inspiring three-day event, one which surely will be remembered by every member of the congregation as an important milestone in the history of the synagogue.

The dedication ceremony on Sunday in the newly-refurbished sanctuary was crowded with congregation members of all ages, a symbol not only of the synagogue's longevity but of its members' continued commitment to their temple and community.

It was through members' contributions, after all, that the temple was made an even better place to pray, to learn and to get to know one's friends and neighbors.

Temple Sha'arey Shalom has, for more than 30 years, been an important part of the Springfield community, as well as for congregation members in surrounding municipalities.

We congratulate the synagogue on its latest achievement and extend our best wishes for the continued success and prosperity of its programs and services.

Welfare limitation proposal shows 'courage'

Screening New Jersey

By Steve Aduato Jr.

People have been railing about our system of welfare for years. While growing up in a working class ethnic neighborhood in Newark, hardly a day wouldn't go by that I didn't hear someone make a negative reference to some "lazy SOB on welfare" or a "welfare cheat" who was "ripping off us hard-working taxpayers."

"Why don't they get a job like the rest of us," my friends and their parents would ask. And they were just as tough on welfare mothers. "So she has another baby. What does she care? We're going to pick up the tab for it." Someone went as far as supporting the sick idea of "sterilizing" these women after they had a certain number of babies, an idea advocated by radio talk show host "personality" Bob Grant.

For a moment, let's forget that some of these questions came from people who thought it OK to cheat on their taxes, get unemployment benefits while working "under the table" or "work out a deal" with the local auto body shop for insurance purposes.

While never publicly agreeing with this criticism of welfare, I privately had questions about it. Isn't there good reason to question a system of doling out taxpayer dollars to certain folks who are able-bodied, and women who continue to have children knowing full well that the rest of us have to pick up the tab?

Yes, even "progressive" thinking people have their questions about welfare.

It's one thing to hang out on a corner in Newark, Long Branch, Trenton or Plainfield and complain about welfare, but it's quite another for a prominent black Democratic assemblyman from Camden actually to propose a radical and controversial plan to change New Jersey's welfare system.

That's exactly what Wayne Bryant, the Assembly's Democratic leader did recently when he announced a plan that some believe could discourage welfare recipients from having more children. Under Bryant's plan, a woman who has two children when she gets her first welfare check wouldn't get any additional money if she gave birth to more babies. Right now, the same woman would get an extra $64 in welfare benefits per month for every additional child.

Says the outspoken Bryant, "You can have a fifth child, a sixth child, a seventh child — that's fine. But you know the rules when you go in. I'm trying to get everybody some responsibility."

Currently, one of the things a woman has to do to continue to get welfare benefits is prove that there is no man living in the house, even if that man is her husband, and/or the father of her children. Again, Bryant, who says his proposal is intended to keep families together, says, "Here we have a bureaucracy that says if the husband stays home, you lose your money. Well, any bright person would say, 'I might as well leave my family so they can do better economically.' We've allowed that to go on, and some three generations later, we sit back and say, 'That's a shame.'"

Bryant deserves a lot of credit for having the guts to discuss openly and seriously an issue that for years has been a taboo subject in political discourse. The fact that Bryant is black and from Camden, often called New Jersey's "poorest city," makes his welfare proposal even more intriguing. Odds are, if a white legislator, especially from a middle-class suburban district, proposed the same exact welfare reforms, he or she would be called a "racist" or a "welfare basher." But right or wrong, the fact that the proposal came from Bryant, who has proudly and effectively represented poor inner city constituents, makes his effort even more credible and courageous.

Even with Bryant's considerable clout, odds are that most legislators, especially Democrats, won't be anxious to discuss his welfare proposal openly. Insiders say it won't see the light of day in this session. A lot of advocates for the poor and others are saying neither Bryant nor any other politician has the right to limit the size of a person's family. They'll say poor folks have the same right as rich folks to determine how many children they'll have.

To say Bryant's welfare plan is controversial is like saying Jim Florio has a bit of an image problem. Bryant has opened up a political Pandora's Box that is bound to cause a lot of trouble.

Politicians don't like to take clear stands on touchy issues like welfare. Inevitably, you're going to make a lot of people mad. That's not good if you're trying to win votes.

I hope legislators in both parties take the Bryant proposal seriously and debate it openly on its merits and with a minimum of partisan bickering. Democrats, especially some urban black representatives, should take Wayne Bryant's lead. They don't have to agree with him, but they shouldn't be afraid of candidly discussing the serious flaws in New Jersey's welfare system. Republicans should resist the temptation to pander to taxpayer anger and frustration over welfare. Don't hold your breath.

Finally, supporters of the current welfare system should welcome a meaningful and candid discussion. One way to insure that such a discussion won't take place is by calling critics of welfare "racists" and "bigots." In some cases, that may be true, but in Wayne Bryant's case, it would be a cop-out.

Something is terribly wrong with New Jersey's welfare system. Bravo to Wayne Bryant for recognizing it. Let's hope his legislative colleagues see it too.

Takes Forman to task for absence

To the Editor:

I was once again shocked by the fact that a member of the Springfield Township Committee chose to dishonor the valiant members of our armed forces who served so courageously in the Persian Gulf. I am referring to Mrs. Forman, who did not appear at the combination Earth Day and Freedom Tree dedication ceremonies honoring our returning troops on April 21.

I find it disgusting that an elected official of this community had the gall to vote against a resolution supporting these brave men and women in the first place. But two months later, she appeared at a rally to hand out plaques to the families of Springfield's fighting forces. She joined the rest of Springfield in expressing our support and thanks to the soldiers. I thought maybe she had finally come to her senses. I guess I was wrong.

Her absence from the dedication ceremony was a real slap in the face to all of the people of this community. As a veteran and a member of the Air Force Association, I am greatly upset that Marcia Forman didn't have the decency to come out and join the other members of the governing body to welcome these men home.

Enough is enough. Will the real Mrs. Forman please stand up? What does it take for you to support the men and women who laid their life on the line for this country? I'm embarrassed to live in a community where one of the elected officials refuses to recognize the sacrifices that these brave men and women have made on our behalf. Maybe it's time for the citizens of this town to take a hard look at who we elect to represent us.

Joseph Capriglione
Air Force Association

Judge candidates on their merits

To the Editor:

Myrna Wasserman is an outstanding citizen of Springfield. We are fortunate indeed to have such an exemplary, civic-minded person willing to run for a seat on the Township Committee.

I have known Myrna Wasserman for many years and have been impressed with her intelligence, her dignified yet modest and reserved manner, and her social conscience as expressed in her roles for many years as member and president of the League of Women Voters, member and president of the Springfield Board of Education, and library volunteer, among other community-oriented programs with which she has been involved.

That she happens to also be the sister-in-law of another esteemed, honorable and virtuous leader of the community, Marcia Forman, who has also for many years volunteered her efforts in various capacities, should not prevent Mrs. Wasserman from being elected to the Township Committee.

I find it highly amusing that her accusers on the Township Committee, though not related in a "family" way, are more like clones of each other, consistently voting exactly the same and always of one mind on every issue (especially when it pertains to their relatives). Why, they even boast of this by referring to themselves as "the team." They brazenly make policy among themselves without conferring with other members of the Township Committee. For example, their latest announcement that they are taking back the Springfield Leader as their "official" town newspaper.

This caught Marcia Forman and Lee Eisen by surprise, as it had never been discussed with them. This and many other "team" policy decisions are in violation of the "Sunshine Law," which states that all issues should be discussed and decided by the entire committee.

This town is tired of the secretive, self-serving and self-aggrandizing members of the Township Committee. We need more dedicated, independent, skilled and respected people like Marcia Forman, Lee Eisen, Myrna Wasserman and Steve Firsichbaum to sit on the Township Committee. The acclaim Marcia Forman and Myrna Wasserman have earned independently in their own right should be the basis for judging their right to be on the Township Committee. Their years of dedication to the community have earned them that right.

Where are our priorities?

To the Editor:

An abortion clinic in Woodbridge apparently was set on fire by an arsonist. Immediately, Assemblyman Neil Cohen (D-Union) urged stiffer penalties for anyone convicted of damaging abortion clinics.

The remedy for violence against such enterprises is not stiffer penalties. The remedy is removing the Cohens and Florios from office for promoting real violence against unborn children through legal abortion.

Gov. Florio does this by saluting abortion by declaring Jan. 22 "Freedom of Choice Day." Assemblyman Cohen does this by trying to restrict the legitimate protest of pro-lifers outside abortion chambers, and by trying to give so-called abortion rights the status of something special and legally permanent.

While it is unwise and illegal to destroy an abortion clinic, no one has died from such activity. On the other hand, 26 million unborn children have been killed since abortion became legal in 1973.

Have we Americans become so desensitized that we value property more than human life?

Chiefs group thanks attorney general

To the Editor:

The Union County Chiefs of Police Association wishes to express its thanks to New Jersey Attorney General Robert Del Tufo. As chief law enforcement officer in the state of New Jersey, Attorney General Del Tufo recently filed a "Friend of the Court" brief in support of Linden Police Chief John Milliano's lawsuit challenging Linden Mayor Gregorio's political interference with the day-to-day operation of the Linden Police Department.

The Union County Chiefs of Police Association reaffirms its total support of Police Chief John Milliano, and we are confident Chief Milliano will eventually prevail in a court of law. We salute Attorney General Robert Del Tufo for his courage in questioning the actions and motives of Linden Mayor John Gregorio.

UCUA addresses incinerator

By Sharon Cates
Staff Writer

In an attempt to dispel myths regarding the proposed Union County incinerator, which is slated to be constructed in Rahway, the Union County Utilities Authority held a conference last Friday afternoon.

During the conference, UCUA Chairman Angelo Bonanno of Hillside explained the Utilities Authority's position on the incinerator.

Bonanno noted that contrary to public sentiment, incineration is an environmentally safe and economical means of garbage disposal.

Joseph Kazar, executive director of the UCUA, noted that the authority is planning to educate county residents about the facts of incineration.

"We know that incineration is safe and we know it is economical, and now we are at the point where we can explain that to the public," Kazar said.

"We have run through three years of extensive studies to be sure that there are no hazards to incineration," Kazar said. "Unfortunately, we have become aware of misinformation and allegations about incinerators that we believe are half truths."

Kazar explained that a newly completed booklet on the county's proposed incinerator, or waste-to-energy facility, will answer many of the questions that residents may have about the incinerator.

The booklet deals with waste disposal in New Jersey; recycling; benefits and financing of waste-to-energy facilities; information on Ogden Martin, the company constructing the facility; and ash management and disposal.

George Lange, manager of project finance at Ogden Martin, explained that the garbage undergoes an extensive screening process before it is burned. He noted that he does not anticipate any problems with the proposed Union County facility.

"Our company is the leader in waste-to-energy facilities," Lange said. "Currently, we have 17 facilities in 16 states which service 13 million people. All of these facilities supply energy or steam. The Union County facility will be selling energy to PSE&G.

"We have never had a facility shut down or threaten to be shut down," Lange said. "The facilities work very well. They work hand-in-hand with recycling programs."

"There are safeguards in the facility," Lange said. "If there is any waste that could potentially be hazardous to the facility, it can be removed from the pit and deposited on a specific area of the tipping floor."

Lange also noted that once the garbage enters the burner, there are a variety of sensors and monitors that track the garbage to ensure that it is being treated properly.

Kazar explained that the county is required to burn 1,000 tons of garbage a day to satisfy their obligation with Ogden Martin. He also noted that if that requirement is considered to be too high, then one of the facility's three burners could be shut down and the garbage obligation would be reduced.

Currently, the UCUA is waiting for approval from the state Board of Pubic Utilities. If that approval is granted, the county will hold a bond sale to finance the construction of the $156 million facility. UCUA officials noted that they are confident that they will receive that approval and speculated that the groundbreaking for the facility will take place during the summer.

Protestors march against burner in Union County

By Sharon Cates
Staff Writer

A stream of county residents marched down Madison Avenue in Rahway on Saturday afternoon. Some pushed strollers or pulled wagons, many held signs that verbalized their cause. All marched a two-mile route to show their opposition to the proposed garbage incinerator, which is expected to be built in Rahway.

The demonstration, which was attended by more than 220 county residents, was coordinated by the Concerned Citizens of Union County. It was held just one day after the Union County Utilities Authority held a conference to dispel myths about the dangers of incineration.

At times the crowd would chant anti-incinerator slogans. At other times they would discuss the proposed incinerator among themselves as they marched along Madison Avenue, down East Grand Avenue, over Irving Street to City Hall.

The Police Department and members from the city's emergency management team were on hand to escort the marchers from the high school to City Hall.

At City Hall several county residents addressed the cheering crowd. Residents from several Union County towns, including Rahway, Linden, Clark, Summit, New Providence and Berkeley Heights, attended the two-hour demonstration.

"We can send a message to the mayor, Jim Kennedy, that it can only be one term if the incinerator comes," said David Brown of Rahway, chairman of the group. "I don't think we should have it and I don't want it."

Brown also reminded residents that if approved, the incinerator will be built within close proximity of a community center, school and a geriatrics center.

Members of the concerned citizens group, armed with scientific findings, warned the marchers of the health hazards from incineration. Bob Carson of Rahway, vice chairman of the group, noted that incinerators put many hazardous materials, such as dioxins, into the atmosphere.

"Some say that the amount of dioxins that come out of an incinerator is very little," Carson said. "Dioxins are controversial. You can find scientists that say any amount of dioxins is too much."

"A lot of people say ash can be dangerous, and it is dangerous," Carson added. "We have enough garbage in our atmosphere right now. We don't need anything else."

"There will be soot that will not be caught by the filters in the incinerator, and it won't be caught by the filters in your lungs either," Carson said. "Soot can cause scarring of the lungs."

Alternative measures

Carson suggested alternatives to incineration, such as recycling and composting. He noted that several counties in New Jersey have successfully implemented alternative measures to dispose of their garbage.

"Incineration is not safe anymore," Carson said. "We must use alternatives. They say alternatives don't work. Well, somebody better tell that to Cape May, Ocean and Sussex counties because they are using alternatives at one-third the cost of incineration."

The Concerned Citizens of Union County have printed a pamphlet outlining why they feel incinerators are

"dirty, dangerous and expensive."

In the pamphlet, the group addresses how incineration poisons the air, earth and planet. It explains why incineration is not the best way to dispose of garbage. It also outlines alternatives and shows how concerned residents can contact political officials to express their opposition to the construction of the proposed Union County facility.

Members of the citizens group can be reached at 388-8323 or 381-7259.

Had enough bad news about oil heat?

A switch to natural gas heat is...

Good News

FOR A CHANGE

Natural gas prices are holding steady.

Natural gas price converted to per-gallon equivalent, based on the amount of natural gas needed to produce heat energy equal to that of a gallon of heating oil.

Source: NJ Board of Public Utilities.

That's good news for a change to clean, efficient natural gas heat.

Had it up to here with unpredictable oil prices? Change for the better...to natural gas heat. Natural gas is produced right here in the United States, so its price isn't dictated by world events. Natural gas prices are government regulated, so you won't be hit with sudden price increases. And you only pay for natural gas after you use it, not "up front," like oil.

Switch to natural gas heat now, at off-season prices.

With the winter heating season just over, now's the time to get the best value on a brand name furnace or boiler.

Get an Energy Conservation Rebate up to $200 (or more).

Choose an energy-efficient natural gas heating system, and you may qualify for a rebate based on the kind of system you install, and the kind it replaces. See your Elizabethtown Gas representative for details.

TOWNSHIP OF SPRINGFIELD
EXPLANATORY STATEMENT
"CAPS" CALCULATIONS

N.J.S. 40A:4-5.1 et. seq. "The Local Government Cap Law" places limits on municipal expenditures. Commonly referred to as the "CAP", it is actually calculated by a method established by the law.
The actual calculation is somewhat complex but, in general, it works as follows. Starting with the figure in the 1990 budget for Total General Appropriations, certain 1990 budget figures are subtracted; including the reserve for uncollected taxes, debt service, State or Federal aid, etc. Take the resulting figure and multiply it by 5% and this gives you the basic "CAP" or the amount of appropriations increase allowed over the 1990 Total General Appropriations.
In addition to the increase allowed above, any increase funded by new construction or improvements is also allowed.
Also, the "CAP" may be exceeded if approved by referendum.
The actual "CAPS" for this municipality will be reviewed and approved by the Division of Local Government Services in the State Department of Community Affairs, but the calculations upon which this budget was prepared are as follows:

'Open house' due

The Religious School of Temple Sha'arey Shalom, So. Springfield Avenue, Springfield, will hold a Shabbat morning "open house" Saturday from 9 to 10:30 for children who will be in grades kindergarten through three in September, 1991 and for their families.

All family members "will be able to observe a primary Shabbat morning service designed especially for the young students in the school." Visiting students will be able to attend part of a class session, and parents will learn about the curriculum and programs of the school, as well as the registration procedure for the 1991-92 school year.

Temple Sha'arey Shalom is a Reform congregation "committed to the value of Jewish education. Students in grades kindergarten through 10 attend religious school classes. Grades K through three meet once a week on Saturday mornings from 9 to 11:45 a.m. Grades four through seven meet Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Classes for students in grades 8, 9 and 10 are held on Tuesday evenings.

Each year as a school, Sha'arey Shalom joins the National Giraffe Project, an organization recognizing people who "stick their necks out" to make the world a better place in which to live. Founded in 1983 by the husband and wife team of Ann Medlock and John Graham, the Giraffe Project grew out of Medlock's journalism background. "So often the media reports bad news. I wanted to find people who were doing something good." We encourage all of our students to be 'giraffes.' Our 'giraffes' are students who understand the obligation to bring to class regularly any amount of money to be collected for those in need (tzedakah) and who participate in class, school and community projects (mitzvot) designed to help those in need.

The current school policy is for one year only. Families with their oldest child in kindergarten or first grade may send their child to the school without becoming temple members, it was reported. "In this case, only nominal tuition fees apply." However, temple membership is required for all other grades. Rabbi Joshua Goldstein is the spiritual leader of the congregation.

For more information, one can contact Irene Bolton, director of education at 379-6646 or 379-5387.

Rabbi is scheduled

Rabbi Aziel C. Fellner will appear in Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, on three Wednesdays, May 8, May 15 and May 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Fellner will discuss Jewish themes in the history of films from the late 1940s to the present. He will show film clips from "Gentlemen's Agreement," "Marjorie Morningstar" and "Cimmas and Misdemeanors."

Fellner is the spiritual leader of Temple Beth Shalom, Livingston, and has served as rabbi in communities in New York and Nashville, Tenn.

He began his career as a chaplain in the U.S. Air Force and was responsible for the religious life of both the military and civilian community of the entire state of Alaska for more than two years. For eight years, the rabbi also was lecturer in homiletics at the Jewish Theological Seminary.

In addition to being a rabbi, he also is a published poet and short story writer, and, together with his wife, produces independently made films and radio scripts. He is a frequent lecturer on the art of film making.

The film series program is under the auspices of the Temple Adult Education committee. Cathy Lasser and Lisa Nehmer are chairmen. A donation of $10 is requested for the complete series or $5 for each lecture.

'Dawgs at 4-1

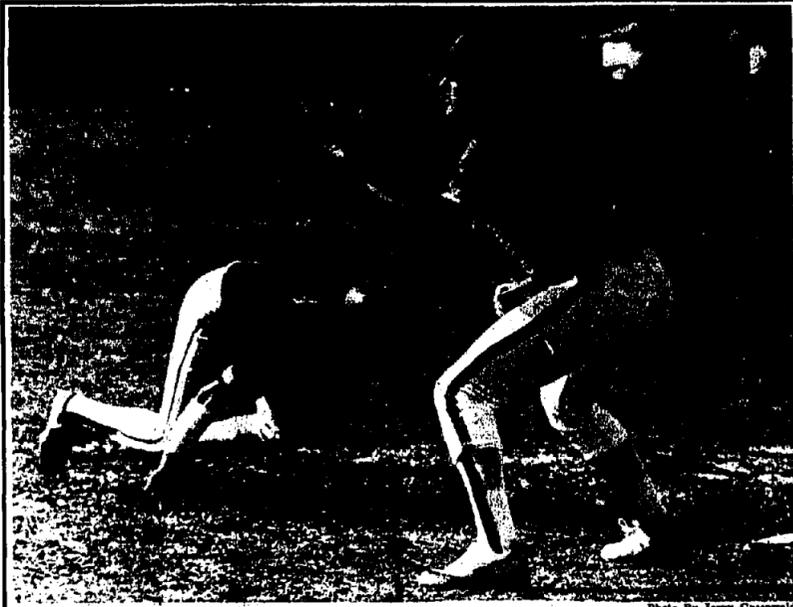

It was a very strong week for the Dayton Regional High boys' track team, which upped its dual-meet record to 4-1 with convincing wins over Newark Central and Brearley Regional, then saw several team members give good performances in the Millburn Relays this past Saturday.

At Millburn, Dayton won three events: the 400-meter intermediate relay behind Peter Keunzel, and Sean and Joe Roughneen in 2:59.8; the shuttle-hurdle relay behind both Roughneens, Keunzel and Seth Eisner; and the 1600-meter relay behind Keunzel, Scott Meissner, Brian Carson and Miguel Rodriguez in 3:37.5.

Against Central, Dayton won 11 events, including the 1600-meter run, where Sean McGrath delivered a time of 4:52. Joe Roughneen came through with efforts of 61.5 and 17.15 in the intermediate and high hurdles, respectively.

And against Brearley, eight events went Dayton's way. That included Kevin Delaney's mark of 10-6 in the pole vault, DeJohn Cataldo's toss of 144 feet, 1/4 inch in the discus, Keunzel's timing of 24.61 in the 200-meter dash, and Brett Wilkins' time of 2:09 in the 800-meter run.

The Bulldogs are slated to face Governor Livingston Regional this afternoon in Berkeley Heights.

BACK IN TIME — Dayton Regional High first baseman Mark Nadzan awaits the pickoff throw from pitcher Clayton Trivett, as Mike Fronzak of Hillside begins his slide back toward the bag in last Thursday's game in Hillside. While Fronzak survived this pickoff attempt, however, he soon was thrown out attempting to steal second base. Trivett hurled a shutout as Dayton, which then beat Plainfield, 11-1, two days later in Union County Tournament play, prevailed over the Comets, 2-0. The Bulldogs will take on fifth-seeded Summit this Saturday at 2 p.m. in Summit in UCT first-round play.

Bears win 3 games

Baseball

The Bears of Brearley High continued their winning ways with three convincing wins last week: an 18-4 blasting of Orange on April 20, an 8-1 win over Arthur L. Johnson of Clark three days later in Kenilworth; and then, perhaps most important of all, a 2-1 win over New Providence last Thursday in New Providence.

The Bears are now 8-1 on the season and have been seeded eighth for this year's Union County Tournament, which is already under way.

And it is because of that No. 8 seeding that Brearley felt a little sense of satisfaction in defeating a tough New Providence team — which, by the way, is seeded seventh in the UCT bracket(s).

"I felt a little disappointed that we weren't seeded a little higher," conceded Brearley skipper Ralph LaConte at noon Monday. "But you've got to play those other teams, anyway. When the better teams advance, you've got to play them."

Thus, eighth-seeded Brearley will now play host to ninth-seeded Roselle Park in a first-round UCT game this Saturday at 2 p.m. in Kenilworth.

And "more than likely," LaConte said, Chris Carey will be available to pitch against Park, following his strong five-hitter against the Pioneers. Interestingly, LaConte noted, that 2-1 win over the Pioneers was a "replay" of last year's Bears-Pioneers county tournament battle on May 6 in New Providence. Carey, who won, 2-0, last year, this time struck out seven and walked three in besting New Providence's ace hurler, Ernie Schmidt — the same pitcher that Brearley defeated a year ago.

Schmidt, who drew LaConte's respect, allowed just three hits against Brearley last Thursday, while whiffing eight and walking four. But one of those hits was a third-inning double by Carey, which sent Peter Accomando home for a 1-0 Brearley lead. Accomando had reached base by way of a walk.

Then, after the Pioneers had tied it up with an unearned run in their half of the third, Brearley scored the winning run in the top of the sixth inning when Jose Rodriguez delivered a one-out sacrifice fly to center field, plating teammate Mike Archibald, who had singled, moved up on Don Sammet's sacrifice bunt, and taken third on a wild pitch.

Archibald also had Brearley's other hit, which was a single.

Senior pitcher Tim Kaufmann hurled a strong four-hitter in beating Johnson last Tuesday at Ward Field. Kaufmann, who is now 3-0, walked three and struck out nine, and, at one point, was working on a two-hit shutout.

Johnson, which dropped to 1-9 with the loss, averted a shutout in the top of the sixth inning when infielder Matt Bierre led off with a triple to deep right and later scored on a ground out from teammate Curtis Gambin.

Gambin, who took the loss for the Crusaders, was reached for six runs and five hits in his three innings of work on the mound. Leading Brearley offensively was Archibald, who went 2-for-3 and scored one run, while driving in another. Archibald's two hits were a third-inning double and a fourth-inning triple.

Don Dayton, a senior outfielder, also tripled and singled in two official trips to the plate, and scored three times as well.

BEAR TRACKS — Chris Parkhill, who scored once against Johnson, drove in the winning run for the Bears in an extra-inning, 6-5 win at Middlesex on April 16 by following Ron Cagno's double with one of his own. The back-to-back doubles by Cagno and Parkhill came with two out in the top of the eighth inning.

Brearley loses in tournament

By Kim Eagan

With the exception of the first inning, the Lady Bears of Brearley Regional High played well in a 5-0 loss to Cranford in Union County Tournament action Saturday. Senior Joann Checka pitched well, but Cranford's five-run first inning was too much for Brearley to overcome. Erin Malkowski pitched a two-hitter for Cranford.

Brearley lost two other games during the week, both to New Providence and Arthur L. Johnson Regional of Clark. The Lady Bears are now 1-9.

Red Sox defeat Yanks, 4-3; Astros shut out Angels, 5-0

The following is a rundown on Mountianside Little League baseball games through April 27.

RED SOX 4, YANKEES 3
The Red Sox scored three runs in the first inning on hits by Matthew Brasse, Chris Fresco and a triple by Matthew Grett. Grett then scored on a ground ball by Joshua Moss. The Yankees answered back with 2 runs in their half of the first inning on consecutive singles by Jason Guidiciopetro, Tice Gunther, Nicholas Mancinelli and Derrick Whitenour. Then, after the Yankees tied the game in the second on a double by Matthew De Anna and a groundout by John Doorley, the Red Sox pushed across the winning run in the top of the fourth on a bases-loaded single by Michael Lauricella. Matt Grett and Hank Hansen handled the pitching chores for the Sox.

ASTROS 4, ANGELS 0
After Eric Cantagallo of the Astros sared a line drive and doubled up a runner off first base in the top of the first inning, Mike Debbie tripled home two runs to give the team a 2-0 lead in the home half of the first. In the third, Angel pitcher Phillip Sempepos of the Angels struck out the side, but while his teammates got hits from Peter Ahearn, Phillip Sempepos and Nicole Manzano, the Astros answered back on hits by Mark Cantagallo, Ryan Fashion, Tim Britt and Shaun Kroon.

INDIANS 12, DODGERS 5
Despite the hitting of David Weinglass, Lauren Beasley and Joshua Zawislak, along with pitcher David Weinglass's fielding gem early on, the Indians still won, 12-5, in this season opener. The Indians' big hitters were Harris Jacobs, Patrick Higgins, Phillip Statile and Brian Mann. Pitchers Brian Mann and Patrick Higgins held the Dodgers at bay.

CUBS 14, BRAVES 5
What started off as a slow beginning for the Cubs ended up in a nine-run victory, as Adam Benninger, Thomas Tancred, Pat Collins, Shaun Fashion, Jack Hopingarnier, Sal Russo and Jimmy Russo all contributed with big hits for the Cubs. Mark Leyrer hit safely for the Braves, as did Jodi Mastellone, Michael Soulios and David Hassid. Joe Leone and Kevin McDonough played well defensively for the Cubs.

METS 9, PIRATES 7
Jimmy Lopes drove in five runs for the Mets in their 9-7 decision over the Pirates. Ben Jacobs and Larry Chivick led the Bucs' offense. In the fifth inning, the Met defense stood firm after the Pirates had loaded the bases with none out.

INDIANS 5, ASTROS 0
This time, it was the Astros' turn to be shut out, as Indian sluggers Patrick Higgins, Phillip Statile, Harris Jacobs, Brian Mann and Steve Bergeski helped down the Astros, 5-0. The Astros got hits by Eric Cantagallo, Mark Cantagallo and Tim Britt.

CUBS 16, ORIOLES 1
The Cubs wasted no time in scoring four quick runs in the first inning, after which time the final outcome seemed certain. Kevin McDonough, Adam Benninger, Tom Tancred, Shaun Fashion, Pat Collins, Chris Datre, and Sal and Jim Russo all had key hits, especially Fashion, who slugged a three-run homer. Chet King's smart baserunning accounted for the Orioles' only run.

Park tops Mother Seton Softball

By Mark Yablonsky

As in baseball, this year's Union County softball Tournament is being called a wide-open event, with no one team in particular enjoying the team-to-beat status. And of the eight remaining teams, Roselle Park, the tournament's No. 1 seed, has as good a chance as any to prevail — if the Lady Panthers can keep scoring runs in bunches.

Park, which has scored 132 runs in 14 games this spring, advanced to the UCT quarters with a convincing 9-3 victory over Mother Seton of Clark on Saturday in Roselle Park. The win advances Park, now at 11-3 following an 11-8 defeat at Bound Brook Monday, into the quarterfinal round, where the opponent there is eighth-seeded Roselle Catholic. Game time is 2 p.m. at Herm Shaw Field this Saturday.

Park outhit Mother Seton by a 10-4 margin and committed just one error to support winning pitcher Jessica Deluca, who is now 10-2. Kim Harms got Park going with a two-out, two-run double in the bottom of the second inning when Park scored four times to take a lead it never lost.

Harms later singled home another run for Park. Nina Lott scored three times and had two hits, while senior catcher Maura Geoghegan and teammate Allison Placca both drove in two runs.

"We all felt this year's tournament is wide open, and legitimately, any one of the eight remaining teams could win this thing," Lady Panther coach John Wagner explained. "There's a lot of good-hitting teams, and a lot of possibilities this year."

If Park wins, it will advance to the semifinal round the following week at Memorial Park in Linden.

Junior olympics slated

The Springfield Recreation Department will be holding its annual Junior Olympics program this Sunday, May 5, at 1 p.m. at Meisel Field. In the event of rain, the program will take place on May 18. The local junior olympics meet is a part of Hershey's National Track & Field youth program. Boys and girls between the ages of 6-14 are eligible to participate. Events will include the 50-meter dash, 100-meter dash, 200-meter dash, 400 and 800-meter runs, standing long jump and the softball throw.

Union runners 2nd at relays

Justin Malinchak and the rest of his Randolph track teammates may have dominated most of the field events to win Saturday's Randolph Relays, but Union, led by Kahsimo Simmons and Brian Leschinski, dominated many of the track events to send the Farmers home with a well-deserved, second-place finish of 65 team points.

In all, Union won five events — the 400-meter relay (43.7), the 800-meter relay (1:30.8), the 1600-meter relay (3:28.8), the shuttle hurdle relays (1:02.40) and the team long jump (60-0). Also, Union set new school records in two events.

Joining Simmons in Union's record-setting feat in the 4 x 100 meters was Abdul Osborne, Derrick Cannon and Anthony Purcell; and Simmons joined company with Leschinski, Cannon and Cameron Chadwick in that group's UHS record time of 1:30.8.

Then Simmons, Terry Brown, Purcell and Leschinski set both a school and meet record in the 4 x 400 meter relay in 3:28.1.

The shuttle hurdles team of Leschinski, Chris Jackson, Chadwick and Darin Gerdes won that event in a season-best timing of :62.4. And Union's other first-place finish came in the long jump, which Jackson, Osborne and Chadwick won in 60 feet flat.

The javelin team (167-0) of Rob Schiffl, Cliff Sangster and Sanjiv Trivedi placed second with a total of 434-8, while Spencer Mell, Chris Geck, and Jim and Lou Romeo placed fourth in the 4 x 800 meters in 8:36.2. Gerdes, Vernon Thomas and Jason Charles were fifth in the 400-meter hurdles relay.

Malinchak, Randolph's outstanding two-way football player, was involved in the team pole vault, shot-put and team javelin — all of which were won by the host school.

Earlier in the week, the Farmers boosted their dual-meet record to 4-0 with a convincing 82-49 victory over East Side. Simmons won the 100 and 200-meter dashes in respective times of :10.9 and :22.7. Leschinski won the high hurdles in a time of :14.5.

Other Union winners were Nick Karadimas in the shotput, Gorgio Alfano in the discus, Schiffl in the javelin, Cannon in the high jump, Chadwick in the long-jump and Sangster in the pole vault.

Zawacki wins

Tracy Zawacki of Forest, a sophomore at Wake Forest University, recently won the number six singles flight women's tennis championship with a 7-0 record. Zawacki started the season at fourth singles and was moved down to the sixth spot. She helped the Lady Deacons to 5-4 wins over Georgia Tech and Virginia by winning at number six.

Zawacki finished the spring season with a 19-5 record. She was second on the team in total wins with a combined 28-10 record from the fall and spring seasons.

SWINGING AWAY — As Karen Mollach does here, the Union High softball team will look to slug its way into the Union County Tournament semifinals with a win at Westfield this Saturday in the quarterfinals. Mollach, seen here batting against Livingston pitcher Michelle O'Toole last Thursday, contributed a run-scoring single in the first inning of Union's 10-0 win over New Providence last Saturday.

County squads set for UCT's 1st round

By Mark Yablonsky

Baseball

Elizabeth is no longer the top seed, but local baseball fans can be assured of at least this: this year's Union County Tournament appears to be a "wide open" event. At least that's the way many of the county's most prominent baseball figures see it.

"I just believe it's really an open tournament," said Frank Cicarell, the executive director of the Union County Interscholastic Athletic Conference. "I think it's a wide open tournament."

Last Wednesday night in Roselle, the five-member seeding committee selected 22 seeds for the UCT, an annual event that always carries tremendous appeal countywide. Scotch Plains drew the first seed, followed by Union, Roselle Catholic, Elizabeth, Summit, Governor Livingston Regional of Berkeley Heights, New Providence and Brearley Regional of Kenilworth.

The remainder of the seeds include Roselle Park in the No. 9 slot, followed by Westfield, Rahway, Dayton Regional of Springfield, Cranford, Union Catholic, Linden, Hillside, Roselle, Oratory Prep of Summit, Arthur L. Johnson of Clark, St. Mary's, Plainfield and St. Patrick's.

Chaired by Linden High athletic director Joe Martino, the seeding committee included three of the county's longest-serving coaches: Gordon LeMatty of Union, Bill Dolan of Rahway and Paul Miller of New Providence, as well as New Providence's junior varsity coach, Tom Beck.

Many had speculated that Union, having beaten Elizabeth, 3-2, on opening day, might be seeded first, but Scotch Plains, the only unbeaten team in the county as of last Wednesday, took the top spot instead.

"Well, that's where we belong, I think," commented LeMatty candidly last Thursday about his team's seeding. "Scotch Plains is unbeaten. Any one of the Top 8, and probably a few of the unseeded teams, have a shot."

"It's too early to tell. I've been in this now for 32 years, and there's no way to predict a clear-cut winner. The seedings don't mean anything. It depends on who's pitching that day."

As the No. 2 seed, Union cannot meet Elizabeth until the title game itself on May 25 at 7:30 p.m. in Linden — provided, of course, that both teams make it that far.

"There's not as many dominant pitchers in the county as before, and it's probably going to be a hitting-dominated tournament," reasoned Elizabeth coach and athletic director Ray Korn, whose 1990 Minuteman squad carried a No. 1 seeding and the nation's No. 1 ranking into last year's UCT final, where Pat Jackson and his Rahway teammates pulled off a 2-0 upset. "This year, I think it's a pretty even tournament."

This week's question: Now that we know the identity of the first player ever drafted by the Mets, please tell us who that player was traded for early in the 1962 season.

Last week's answer: The first player ever selected by the Mets in the National League's expansion draft of October 1961 was catcher Hobie Landrith, who was plucked away from the San Francisco Giants. As Casey Stengel explained, "you gotta have a catcher or you're going to have a lot of passed balls."

True enough. But Landrith's presence did little to help the Amazins' avoid a plethora of errors and other miscues in that first unforgettable season of 1962 — in which the Mets finished dead last in the new 10-team National League with a 40-120 record, 60½ games behind the pennant-winning Giants.

Surprisingly, Landrith, a lifetime .233 hitter with a total of seven major league teams, hit at a .289 pace for the Mets in the first 23 games of the '62 season. Still, Landrith was dealt to the Baltimore Orioles in May of that year in exchange for — well, we'll let you figure that one out.

Again, as we said earlier, who is that player the Mets received in exchange for Landrith?

Landrith, by the way, only batted .220 in 60 games with the '62 Orioles. Then, after appearing in just two games with the Birds in '63, Landrith soon found himself in the nation's capital, where he batted a lowly .175 in 42 games that season for the new, second version of the Washington Senators to close out his career.

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodi, Kurt Michael Wolf of Linden and Bob C. Dilly of Springfield submitted correct answers.

Announces The New Grinnell Spartan Series

The Grinnell Spartan Series imparts classic European elegance to paved areas with its Old-World surface texture and design. The immediate top surface of the paver, although flat, begins to taper off in a rolled effect, as it meets the normal chamfered edge which is incorporated in all of Grinnell's concrete pavingstones. Grinnell Spartan I & II can be installed separately or the two units can be combined in any ratio or color.

This allows the designer maximum flexibility in alternating shape and color in order to achieve a pavement which will complement any structure or area.

The Grinnell Spartan Series are manufactured in all six of Grinnell's standard colors: red, charcoal, multi-color (combination of red & charcoal), brown, buff, and natural gray. In addition, custom coloring is also available.

Award winning performer lights up the Paper Mill

By Bea Smith
Lifestyle Editor

She's a red-headed bombshell, talented, versatile and self-determined, and because of these attributes, it seems that Judy Kaye succeeds in everything she does.

She has audiences at the Paper Mill enthralled as she gives her all to the difficult title role of Hanna in "The Merry Widow." Her powerful voice seems to actually vibrate off the walls whenever she comes forward to sing her numbers or have her say.

Her home boasts of a Tony Award, which she received in 1988 for her Broadway performance in "The Phantom of the Opera," a Theater World Award for her Broadway portrayal of Lily Garland in "On the 20th Century" opposite John Cullum; and a Los Angeles Drama Critics Award for her work in the national company of "20th Century" opposite Rock Hudson. There also is a Grammy Award for her recording of "Arias and Barcarolles," Leonard Bernstein's last published composition, which she also performed with the London Symphony, under the baton of Michael Tilson Thomas, and with the Boston Symphony in Tanglewood with Bernstein, which became his last concert.

"The Merry Widow" marks Kaye's fifth appearance at the Paper Mill, and her second opposite the ever handsome and marvelously talented Richard White.

"We did 'Annie Get Your Gun' together," she said, "and you can't even compare the two plays. This one is a totally different kind of thing...vocally different, totally different. In this one I'm a widow; in the other, a farmer's daughter, and both yearning for Richard's love," she laughed. "Beyond that, the stories are different. One is about Vienna, and the other is about as American as it can be.

"But," chuckled Kaye, in a rich, musical voice, "it's really been lovely working with Richard. He's such a dear man and extremely talented. I like him a lot and he's a great kisser!" Really?

"Oh," she said with amusement, "it's nothing personal, you know. But it seems every woman I meet wants to know what it's like to kiss Richard. So, I tell them."

After all, she is a married woman, she reminded this reporter. "My husband, David Green, and I are celebrating our fourth anniversary this very day," she said.

To Kaye, The Paper Mill Playhouse is like a second home. "I've been out there so much, I'm really very comfortable there. I've made so many friends that every time I come to Millburn, I feel like I'm coming home again. It's a very familiar place. And you know, most of my relatives are from New Jersey.

"The work that they do here at the Paper Mill is pretty spectacular. And," she added, "it's nice to get a chance to do great roles in fully staged plays. And in this one, 'The Merry Widow,' I work so hard — which I love, incidentally — that I do know I have been through something at the end of the week. Come Monday, I recuperate in our home in upstate New York."

Born in Phoenix, Ariz., Kaye said that she enjoyed music since she was young. "I was not a fully fledged musician then, but I was studying music and dancing and acting. I wasn't certain I would go into the theater," she said.

Kaye left Phoenix to attend UCLA, where she majored in theater and continued her musical education. "I learned to read music and even had private voice lessons. And then I started work, and I worked and worked. My school has been in front of an audience," she said.

After she was graduated, Kaye "came east in the early 1970s to feel things out. I did a lot of work on stage and often my work took me out of the city." She played a variety of roles from Broadway to the concert stage, opera, cabaret, recording, film and television.

"In 1977, I came to the Paper Mill Playhouse to do 'Jesus Christ Superstar.' That was before the fire and after I had already done the first national company of 'Grease.' "Kaye also starred at the Paper Mill in "Side by Side by Sondheim" and "Windy City."

"I came to do three months on Broadway in 'On the 20th Century.' Actually, I was Madeline Kahn's understudy. Five weeks later, she left, and I played the role. It was a huge step for me. A huge step! Then I went out with the first national company. Four years ago, I did get another chance to tour with it, and that's where I met my husband, David Green, an actor. He was playing a featured role in the show. We met, and five weeks later, he asked me to be his wife. It was a great thrill," she said.

Another thrilling moment in Kaye's life was when she received the Tony Award for "The Phantom of the Opera."

"The musical theater is my favorite form of entertainment," she said. "Next is the opera, then the musical concert, which I think was why I was put on this planet."

Among the musicals in which she starred were "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown," "A Man of La Mancha" and "Sweeney Todd." Kaye made two appearances at the White House, the first, on the PBS series "In Performance at the White House," and the second, as the solo guest artist at a state dinner honoring the president of Mexico.

After the Paper Mill run May 12, Kaye said she has "a variety of concert and theater and recording jobs that will take me all the way through the fall...and actually through next summer." She will record with conductor John McGlin for EMI.

"I will first work with the Concordia Symphony June 7 in Grace Tully Hall at Lincoln Center. We will be doing a tribute to the late Leonard Bernstein by performing his one-act opera, 'Trouble in Tahiti.' "

Kaye said that she had had "the privilege of working with Bernstein before and with him in his last concert. I was very fortunate to have had even a brief time to know him and work with him. He will certainly be missed by the world."

Kaye, who finds it invigorating to work as strenuously as she does in "The Merry Widow," admitted that an evening at the Paper Mill Playhouse "is an all encompassing evening for me. But I like working hard. It's rewarding.

"And it's a special joy to me when it means so much to people."

Stars return to the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn. Richard White and Judy Kaye are seen in a scene from 'The Merry Widow,' which continues the engagement through May 12. Previously, they appeared together at the Paper Mill in 'Annie Get Your Gun.'

Theater group brings 'The Crucible' to Hillside

By Mark Paris
Staff Writer

This weekend, community theater returns to Union County as the Hillside-based Players on the Hill Community Theater puts on its first production with two performances of Arthur Miller's award-winning play, "The Crucible."

The theater group, which is sponsored by the Hillside Recreation Department, will perform "The Crucible" on Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of Hillside High School, 1085 Liberty Ave.

The play, first performed on Broadway in the 1950s, is an account of the infamous "witch hunts" that took place in Salem, Mass. during the 1600s.

Kathi Paluscio, director of the play and a senior at Kean College studying theater, said that the play provides a sympathetic view of the individuals who were unjustifiably accused of witchcraft and reveals the private motives of their accusers.

"It also has to do with current times," she said. "The play details what happens when people are kept so tightly in control that they have no outlet in which to relieve their frustrations."

"It can be a dangerous situation when people relieve their anxieties in other ways," Paluscio said.

Player on the Hill member Kevin Bohl of New Brunswick said that "The Crucible" is "socially pertinent," because it deals with the idea of censorship of beliefs and ideas, and how "people go along with it just to go along, rather than following their own beliefs."

Paluscio agreed, saying, "If you have a strong belief you will have to stand up for it sooner or later, no matter what age you are in."

Player Jimmy Bascotti of Union said that when the play was originally written, Miller stressed the parallels to the McCarthy era, a time when the nation was gripped in fear of the "communist threat."

"The play describes how people become guilty of something by association and how that can get out of hand," he said. "The witch hunts were a dark period in American history that people should not let happen again."

To Player Larisa Nusser of Staten Island, "The Crucible" is also "a terrific show."

The play concerns two very important issues that people must face everyday, according to Player Audrey McGowan of Hillside.

"The play is about prejudice and ignorance," she said. "Those themes hold just as true for the 20th Century as they do for the 16th Century."

The Players on the Hill took their name from another Hillside community theater group by the same name, which disbanded in the late 1970s.

Finding out that they were interested in resurrecting the inactive Players on the Hill, the Hillside Recreation Department offered to sponsor the group. The recreation department gave the Players funds, and negotiated with the board of education for use of the high school's auditorium.

Paluscio said that if "The Crucible" is successful, other plays, as well as other types of stage productions, will become "a regular thing."

The director said that the Players on the Hill is very much an ensemble group. The cast members, who come from a variety of communities throughout Essex and Union counties, are also producing the play, building the sets and functioning as stage hands.

The diversity of the cast is the group's strong point, according to Terri Muus of New Brunswick.

"We are high school students, college students, secretaries, teachers, all kinds of people," she said. "This is really a community theater. We are people doing this because of a love of theater."

As for future productions, the Players have many ideas and opinions, but said that nothing has yet been decided.

Muus said that for their next production, the Players should explore something modern.

"I think we should concentrate on original stuff, productions that deal with now," she said.

Nusser said she was more inclined to having the Players take on a musical as its next project.

"I think we should do something that agrees to all ages," she said.

Player Nathalie Yafet of Hillside agreed with Nusser, and added that she wanted to try "Kiss Me, Kate," because it is such a "terrific musical."

Citing most plays as having male-dominant roles, Player Melinda DelPizzo of Montclair said that she wanted the group to consider plays that have more women's roles.

Something on the lighter side appealed to McGowan, who said that the Players should follow a serious production like "The Crucible" with a comedy.

The Players on the Hill encourage everyone to attend their production of "The Crucible" this Saturday or Sunday. Paluscio said that admission is free and seating will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

The auditorium will open one-half hour before each performance.

In addition there are 20 mouthwatering house specialties to choose from. The house specials range from $8.55 to $24, with most of the entrees priced between $9 and $11.

If it's lunch you want, there are 20 luncheon specials all priced at $4.25, which includes an entree, fried rice and soup. Lunch specials are served daily from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The Jade Lake offers something to satisfy everyone's palate, from the seafood-lover to the vegetarian. They have a specially prepared diet portion on their menu. Also, there are several "hot and spicy" entrees, seasoned to taste by Sonny, the chef.

On a recent visit, my companion and I started our meal with a PuPu Platter for two. Priced at $9.95, the platter offers six hot appetizers and allows patrons to taste a sampling of the delicious, well-prepared cuisine. The platter includes lightly breaded fantail shrimp, tender mongolian beef, and traditional egg rolls.

For our entrees, we both selected one of the house specials.

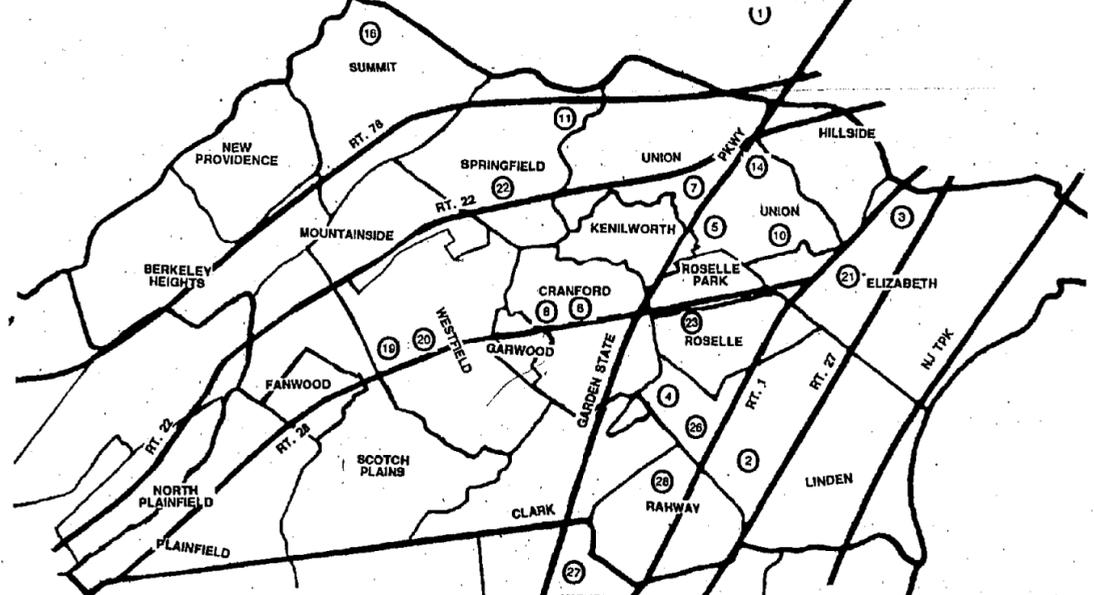

My companion chose the Sizzling Seafood Special. Served on a sizzling platter were shrimp, scallops and crab meat garnished with Chinese vegetables. Placed on a bed of white rice, the meal was moderately priced at $11.95.

For $10.95, I selected the Hunan Market Place for my entree. The meal offered sliced chicken and shrimp with a variety of mixed Chinese vegetables. Both the chicken and shrimp were deliciously tender, the vegetables were crisp and fresh.

The meal was served with the chef's special sauce, which was light and tangy and enhanced the flavor of the food.

For dessert they serve ice cream, sesame banana, fruits and cookies.

The Award Winning Italian Restaurant

Make Your Mother's Day

Ange & Min's proves to be a family affair

Close family ties, a feeling of pride, and the desire to satisfy all add up to the recipe for success that has made Ange and Min's Italian Restaurant, 740 Boulevard, Kenilworth, one of the finest of its kind to be found anywhere.

The owner has the same kind of enthusiasm that runs in his entire family and is a dedicated restaurateur. He took time out from his busy schedule to talk to me about the family operation, saying that they have been at the Kenilworth location for 20 years, and have been serving the public top quality Italian cuisine for more than 40 years. He emphasized the importance placed on serving only the best food at the lowest prices possible. He pointed out the fresh hot pepper salad, which is served on a daily basis at the bar and in the dining room, compliments of the house. We toured the facilities, and I couldn't help but notice the cleanliness of every room, from the kitchen to the bar and even the banquet rooms, which can accommodate parties of all sizes up to 120 people. Never have I been so impressed!

In addition to daily specials, the menu reads like a page out of Gourmet magazine. One of my absolute favorites, Zuppa di Clams, is featured under the hot appetizer portion of the menu along with other favorites like Antipasto, Clams Arraginato, Steaming Mussels and much more. There also are cold appetizers, choice of soups and vegetables and a tantalizing assortment of pastas.

As you turn the page of the menu, there's everything from steaks, prepared the way you like them, to chops, veal and poultry cooked in a wide variety of ways, many in wine sauces. For seafood lovers, there are such items as Filet of Sole Dorre', broiled seafood combination, fried and breaded Calamari and Scungilli Marinara, and that is only part of it. There's more, including fish salads, omelets and bountiful club sandwiches. Choose any one of these fine selections with a glass of your favorite wine, and you will have completed an evening you'll not soon forget!

For those of you who haven't had the pleasure of dining at Ange and Min's, may I suggest you take your loved ones there soon and dine in this warm, softly lighted restaurant with its rich Mediterranean decor. Be sure to tell the owners you read about them in this newspaper. They are open seven days a week for lunch and dinner. Luncheon is served Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dinner is served Monday through Thursday and Sunday until 10 p.m. and on Friday and Saturday until 11:30 p.m. There also is a child-rep's menu.

The search for the perfect Mother's Day gift is on

What to get mom for Mother's Day — that's the great springtime dilemma. Each year sons, daughters and husbands alike search high and low for the ultimate gift for mom. This year, give her something that she won't be expecting; something to pamper and spoil her. After all, mothers like to be spoiled, although they may not admit it.

Whether you have a fortune to spend or just want to make her feel like she's worth one, here are some unique gift ideas. One is sure to be perfect for your mother!

For the woman who has little time to indulge in simple pleasures — because she's juggling a career, motherhood, and an active social life — give a little romance. With Scarborough & Company's new beauty and home fragrance collection, Southampton Rose, she can surround herself with the delicate scent of roses, accented by violets and warmed with precious woods. To scent her home, there are perfumed candles and potpourri, drawer lining paper, scented hangers and crocheted sachets. To soothe and scent the body, soaps, bath gel, dusting powder and eau de toilette are also available.

Gardenia is a wonderful new fragrance by Crabtree & Evelyn. She can soften and soothe her skin with scented body lotion, body cream, soap, and bath milk before spritzing on the delicate eau de toilette. The crisp bouquet of white flowers will make mom feel pampered and special.

Something elegant and feminine to slip into on a cool spring night is the ultimate gift for a busy woman. Your mother will feel sinfully indulgent when she slips into luxurious brushed satin loungewear by Fernando Sanchez. Sumptuous shawl collar robes, pajamas, and sexy chemises come in an array of rich colors and jacquard prints.

Beautiful handpainted caftans in 100 percent silk crepe de chine are available at The Forgotten Woman stores across the country. These exquisite cover-ups come in pastel and jewel tones in one generous size. They are so comfortable, mom might finally take some time out for herself.

For the mother who fusses over her home and daydreams about re-doing the living room, give a year subscription to Architectural Digest, the premiere interior design magazine. She can spend hours flipping through the glossy pages that show fabulous interiors from all around the world — indulging her fantasies without spending a cent!

Or transform her bedroom into a space fit for a queen with Revman Industries' beautiful bed linens. Choose from luxurious romantic florals by Josie Natori, bold, contemporary looks by Marimekko and Katja, and rich, opulent designs by the Revman Studio Collection.

For the practical mom who thinks Mother's Day is frivolous, give something to make life a little easier. With warm weather finally here, and outdoor entertaining the preferred option, she will appreciate an array of serveware to make summer entertaining a breeze! Stotter offers a collection of tabletop pieces in durable acrylic. Decorated in a colorful array of patterns — from brilliant florals to whimsical geometrics, these pieces are both stylish and useful. They are an especially good choice for the ecology-minded mom, since they can be used again and again. And they give a festive look to any occasion.

For the mother who has everything, why not an exquisite handbag designed by Judith Leiber? Raisa Gorbachev carries one; so do famous moms Jessica Lange, Barbara Bush and Queen Elizabeth. Why can't your mom? For the ultimate in femininity, Judith Leiber has designed a lavender embroidered snakeskin bag with jeweled details. If you really want to splurge, a pastel pink jewel encrusted kitty cat, or a heart-shaped minaudiere could be the perfect gift — a genuine collector's item.

And for the ultimate Mother's Day gift, why not take mom to New York City for a weekend of shopping and sight seeing? An elegant suite at the conveniently located Mark Hotel at Madison Avenue and 77th Street is the perfect setting for her glamorous weekend. Start your day with a visit to the Metropolitan Museum of Art or take in the contemporary masterpieces at the Museum of Modern Art. Then take her to 57th Street for an afternoon of shopping. Don't forget to stop in Martha and Martha International at Park Avenue and 58th Street. The sophisticated mother is sure to find the perfect outfit at either of these elegant fashion boutiques.

Before you retire to your room to change for dinner, stop by Vera Wang Made-To-Order, located in the Mark Hotel. Vera will design a one-of-a-kind dress perfect for any special occasion. It may cost a pretty penny, but you can be assured that mom will be the "belle of the ball" whenever she wears it! To finish off your Mother's Day, have dinner at the highly acclaimed Mark's in the Mark Hotel. Make sure you have Chef Philippe Boulot's sinfully rich creme brulee for dessert. It's the perfect finale to the perfect day!

Make Your Mother's Day

Cosmetics make mother's day beautiful

There never was and probably never will be a mother who is not beautiful, because the true measure of a mother's beauty is in her heart and mind. That's where American mothers are their most beautiful.

But, the skin and hair sides of beauty are also important to mothers.

Your cue? Give her cosmetics and hair care products. Cosmetics, these days, take on many forms: from costly perfumes to practical, everyday lip-sticks, with many choices in between such as skin conditioners, bath talcs, makeup kits, bath oils, creams and more.

For a good start, give serious thought to a gift of fragrance. Choose from elegant perfumes for special occasions to everyday spray colognes, priced for any budget and scented for any taste. Packaged in distinctive bottles, the containers are almost gifts in themselves!

If her inventory of fragrances rivals that of the cosmetics department, look further into the possibilities of bath oils and powders to pamper her. Body oils and lotions, bath beads and even special scented shampoos add a touch of luxury. If the lotion she normally uses is whatever's on sale in the discount drugstore, she might love a bottle of something more luxurious.

Make it a day
Then you have the option of going all out and giving her a day of beauty. She will love a day with a cosmetologist or hairstylist—getting pampered, rejuvenated and even educated in skin care, makeup techniques or hair care. With your gift or gift certificate she can indulge in a manicure, makeup consultation, pedicure, facial, even a head-to-toe makeover. A new hairstyle or color could make mom feel like a new woman.

Busy women often rely on color-coordinated makeup kits — packaged for easy use at home or on the commute to the office. You can give her one filled with powders, lipsticks, blushers and/or dozens of eyeshadow colors. Cosmetics, in all their rewarding splendor are as close as the local drugstore or department store.

You can choose from high-tech products with designer names, or down-to-earth formulations concocted entirely of natural ingredients. Now you can even buy products that haven't been tested on animals, or that come in recyclable packaging to help her to become more environmentally aware.

Whether you opt for a fragrance, body conditioner, talc, bath oil, or makeup, feel certain that she will appreciate it.

All cosmetics come in attractive packages, ready for presentation, and you can shop as late as Saturday night on May 11, the day before Mother's Day.

How to ease your mom's days

When mom was young, some of today's labor-saving wonders hadn't been invented. Or if they had been dreamed of, they still hadn't been brought to market. And if your mother is like most, she probably holds down a job and manages her household. Seventy-five percent of mothers with school-age children do just that. And most of them are our best workers. Responsibility does make responsible people.

Was there a microwave oven in the kitchen when you were little? Probably not, but today well over 50 percent of all the homes in the country have them. Can you think of any appliance that saves your mom more time and effort and produces such gratifying results?

Once upon a time, making coffee was a ritual. Now it's automatic with the ubiquitous coffee makers that reduce a tedious chore to a mechanical operation that comes out right every time.

From electric can openers to hand-held vacuums that whisk up crumbs in seconds, housekeeping was never easier than in the '90s. These appliances mean an easier life for mothers all over. There are appliances that chop and spin out salads. There are grinders if mom is a coffee lover and wants to make it from scratch. There are blenders for liquifying food or churning up icy cold drinks. There are irons that can be adjusted to work best on blended or natural fiber fabrics. There are electric washers and dryers, with special cycles for easy care fabrics to eliminate the chore of ironing altogether.

There are cooking utensils with non-stick coating to eliminate heavy-duty cleaning. Up-to-date refrigerators don't just cool, they "deep-freeze."

If it takes effort and electricity can be accessed, someone will devise a way to lighten mom's load. Toasters convert into convection ovens. Counter grills working on house current make that barbecue flavor available even if you live at the top of a twenty story apartment building.

Whether your mother works away from home or not, an appliance that will save her steps, time, and energy is a great gift idea this Mother's Day, May 12. It's really tough to buy the wrong thing — unless she already has one!

A labor-saving appliance in these days of working moms could be an electric can-opener, an automatic coffee maker, an electric carving knife, a new iron for easy-care fabrics, a table-top grill, even a microwave oven. Inventors and scientists have dedicated their talents to finding ways to lighten the load on mother, turning home management from a chore into a breeze.

If she'd like a new piece of furniture, here's a tip on how to satisfy her and make dad happy too — a reclining chair to dress up the hearth and warm his heart. And the world of electronics is an infinite source of gift ideas from palm-size radios to pocket-size TV receivers.

There are so many desirable items at so many different prices in so many forms, your biggest problems will be in deciding what at what price.

Remember Mother's Day, Sunday, May 12.

Make Your Mother's Day

Show you care with flowers

Anna Jarvis's first gift idea for remembering mom on Mother's Day was flowers! But Jarvis, who started Mother's Day, was thinking of the wild flowers that flourished so profusely over the hillsides of her rural West Virginia home. That was back in 1908, when all a loving son or daughter had to do was hike out to a nearby field, probably right on the family's own property, and pick an armful. Sure, the telegraph existed 83 years ago, but the flowers-by-wire concept had yet to be born. And there were probably few local florists, stocking every kind of flower from arbutus to zinnia or orchids or roses or anything in between. But mothers sure have changed, and so has the environment and culture and the choice of gift remembrances over these more than eight decades.

These days, a gift of flowers for mother is no further away than your telephone. You can order the flowers of your choice and have them delivered almost any place in the world at almost the speed of sound. So, if you forgot, or just put it off until the last minute, relax! Call your local florist, give him or her the order, and where it's to be delivered; he or she will do the rest.

Even if your mom lives around the corner, she'll appreciate flowers or a plant that will keep giving pleasure all year long. Because most moms love flowers, it's the perfect gift to give. You can pick them up and deliver them yourself (which is a very nice way to give flowers). Or, your friendly florist will deliver them for you. Flowers are a thoughtful Mother's Day gift and are also very affordable. Remember, Mother's Day is Sunday, May 12!

Jewelry for your jewel of a mother

You say you don't know what to get her for Mother's Day! You say she has everything. You say she loves jewelry — and what mother doesn't? Why not buy her a jeweled bauble to make her Mother's Day 1991 truly a day to remember?

You say you're on a budget and that her kind of taste in jewelry just doesn't match your budget. Don't fret, today's imitations are so fantastic that they're hard to tell from the real thing. The people who design costume jewelry today have just as good taste and imagination as those who design for Bellini, Faberge, and yes, Tiffany!

You can find selections in any department or jewelry store. Today's earrings, bracelets, necklaces, rings, chains, charms, and pins look so real it's hard to tell the difference.

As for price, you name it. But one thing is certain, imitation is more affordable.

If your purse is as deep as your love, go for the "real thing" — genuine gold. As they say, you can make her feel as good as gold. And certainly, you know how good that makes you feel.

Jewelry is the perfect answer to mother's yen, and your yen to please. And jewelry is so easy to buy. Whether you pick gold or silver, you just can't make a mistake. There's no chance of being wrong. What woman has ever had too much jewelry?

Just so you don't forget — Mother's Day this year is Sunday, May 12. So go to your favorite jewelry counter while there is still time to select at leisure, to gift-wrap with love and deliver on time.

GOD SAW YOU GETTING TIRED AND A CURE WAS NOT MEANT TO BE
SO HE PUT HIS ARMS AROUND YOU,
AND WHISPERED COME TO ME, WITH TEARFUL EYES WE WATCHED YOU,
AND SAW YOU PASS AWAY.
ALTHOUGH WE LOVED YOU
DEEPLY,
WE COULD NOT LET YOU STAY.
A GOLDEN HEART STOPPED BEATING, HARD WORKING HANDS AT REST.
GOD BROKE OUR HEARTS TO PROVE TO US,
HE ONLY TOOK THE BEST.

Pride puts Sisbarro above the rest

Sisbarro Construction Company of Union Township is a family-owned and operated home improvement business specializing in vinyl and aluminum siding, vinyl replacement windows, and roofing.

After more than 40 successful years in the industry, Sisbarro Construction continues its success by treating customers as "one of the family."

Henry "Butch" Sisbarro, owner of Sisbarro Construction, emphasizes the fact that he personally will visit the homeowner and give a free, no-obligation estimate at a fair, reasonable price.

"I personally guarantee that no homeowner will feel pressured into something they don't want or need," he says. "Customers want to feel that they can trust you, and they can be assured that we value an honest approach."

Through close contact with each and every customer, Sisbarro is able to give the homeowner a fair and reasonable price, guaranteeing quality material and workmanship. This approach, says the owner, has led to many referrals.

The company prides itself on quality materials. Sisbarro says new siding looks fresh, clean and beautiful. It never blisters, peels, swells or rots and it is maintenance-free.

"Besides adding beauty to your home, siding provides new insulation, and increases the value of your home by thousands of dollars," he says.

Vinyl and aluminum siding comes in a wide variety of colors and styles and has a written guarantee for 25 years. Only quality materials are used to ensure an always fresh look to the home.

Replacement windows also add beauty and new insulation to the home by eliminating drafts from old, worn-out windows.

Sisbarro Construction also strives to satisfy customers who need small repairs. They claim that "no job is too small" when it comes to making the customer happy.

That's why Sisbarro offers another fine feature — repair work.

"Sometimes a homeowner needs a repair to his house on siding that has become loose or has blown off — a little job to the company, but a big headache to a homeowner," he said.

"We will repair at minimal cost, and guarantee satisfaction."

If you are interested in a free, no-obligation estimate on the cost of siding your home, replacement windows, a new roof or repairs, call the office at 686-9218 to arrange a convenient time for a consultation.

Buyers will find bargains in real estate market

By Alec Schwartz
Staff Writer

Although the national economy is in a state of recession, and experts say the Northeast will be hit as hard as any part of the country, realtors and other financial experts have recognized improvement in their residential markets for the first-quarter of 1991 and have found that now is one of the best times for the first-time home buyers.

Since the real estate boom which peaked in 1988 and 1989, homeowners have had increased difficulty in selling houses. Many homes have been listed for months, if not years, without any takers, despite constantly decreasing prices.

Neighborhoods are dotted with "for sale" signs in front of every second house. Many new developments are vacant. Some of the older homes are already empty, just waiting to be moved into. Most of these homes are not on the market because they are deficient in any way, but because of economic belt tightening since the real estate boom.

"What we are seeing now is three years of houses all on the market," said Jim Schoening the broker at R. Mangels & Company. "And those houses are priced at an all-time low."

The real estate boom of the late 1980s, which most people talk about, Schoening charts by comparing the average prices of listed area homes for several years. The trend is not shocking, but actually hearing the numbers is certainly sobering.

Schoening said that in 1987 the average price of a listed home in Eastern Union County was $161,000. In 1988 the average price soared to an all-time high of $166,000 where it peaked and leveled off. In 1989 the average dropped slightly to $165,000.

"That was the boom of the real estate market," Schoening noted. "Houses would sell over list price and people would bid against each other."

But in 1990, the average price of a home plummeted to $156,000 and has dropped to around $150,000 during the first quarter of 1991. Schoening said that the average price has not been this low since "at least the early-1980s."

But, Schoening added that the first three months of 1991 were good for the company, and added that March was the strongest month ever. Many people involved in the market think they feel a slight change, he added.

"There has been a lot of activity," Schoening said. "But there are still many houses out there."

However Schoening also said that for the first time in a while he had a situation where multiple bids came in for the same house recently and the home actually sold above list price at $150,000.

"That's a good sign," Schoening said. "That was typical of the boom in the late 1980s."

Schoening added that many sellers are happy to be getting any activity at all and because of the large supply of homes currently listed, a buyer, especially a first-time buyer, is in a position to negotiate.

Schoening suggests that first-time buyers go out and look around. He said that people should determine what price range they are interested and look at homes in that bracket. He added that because most homes are priced competitively, that many buyers are surprised with the value they get for their money.

Schoening even sees buyers who are willing to spend slightly more than originally planned to reach for slightly larger homes. He added that the mortgage rates are such these days that buyers are surprised not only with the low prices of homes, but the low rate of financing they are getting.

"Once someone looks at a dozen or so in a price range he knows what is possible and what isn't," Schoening said. "Most people will be happy with what is in their price range now."

"I had a couple that originally came in looking to spend $165,000," Schoening said. "They looked around and then I didn't hear from them for two weeks. Then I got a call and they made an offer on a home for $170,000 and got it."

R. Magels & Company has 15 qualified agents who can help home buyers look around the market. Although the company does some limited work with office buildings and corporate space, the main focus is on residential real estate sales, according to Schoening. The office is located at 3467 Chestnut St. in Union. For more information agents can be reached at 688-3000.

Agents not only can help buyers locate homes, but also can help buyers find financing companies for mortgages and bridge loans if necessary, lawyers for closings, and reliable movers. Agents can help make a purchase smooth from beginning to end, not only for first-time buyers, but for all buyers and sellers.

But now first time buyers can also benefit from a variety of incentive programs being offered by banks in the state as well.

United Jersey Bank is part of a seven-member group offering market rate mortgages which require very little out-of-pocket contributions to a great number of people.

In the Homeownership Opportunity for New Jersey Buyers program, families which earn as much as 135 percent of the median income for an area may qualify for the mortgage. Robert Huether, a vice president and community affairs officer of United Jersey Bank, said that the program would allow a three member family to earn as much as $59,995 and still qualify for the program.

Under the program the qualified party would need only come up with a 5 percent down payment, of which 2 percent may come from a non-secured loan from a family member or even from a housing authority.

Huether said that the seven-member group which includes Carteret, Chemical New Jersey, CoreStates, First Fidelity, the Community Development Corporation and National State Bank, is also offering seminars in several areas during the next few months to help educate homebuyers of their options.

For information about mortgages from United Jersey Bank, call 1-800-932-0811.

River's Edge — quality townhomes at affordable prices

River's Edge, a 28-unit townhome community in Union, is the story of a community whose time has come.

Millburn native Michael Romanelli, a successful builder and Union restaurateur, bought the site five years ago because he believed the trend for the neighborhood was definitely "up." He reasoned the three and one-half acre parcel just off Vanxhall Road, at the border of Millburn, Maplewood and Springfield, would be particularly attractive to first-time buyers looking for affordable housing in a prime location.

Having just sold off Phase I of the two- and three-bedroom townhome community, where units were priced from $134,900, he knows he was right on target with the assessment.

Typical of those it appealed to are stockbrokers Atrayee and Jerry Banfe and lawyer Steve Rosenberg and his wife, Cecilia, a legal secretary in Manhattan, who recently moved into the community.

"River's Edge," Romanelli said, "gave these young buyers the opportunity to purchase a quality home with an affordable pricetag in a location containing all the amenities of an affluent area."

The purchase is also desirable from the standpoint of a solid investment, according to Patrick Appello, a stockbroker who deals in municipal bonds for Halpert & Co., (just down the street from the project site).

"I see a profit of from 10 to 15 percent in three to five years," Appello said. "This is a well-thought out, livable home with an attractive lay out," he continued. "It has fine workmanship, low maintenance and is in an excellent commuting area."

Donna Mills, who will be handling the sales for the grand opening of Phase II of River's Edge this month, grew up in Springfield and knows the area well.

"I was astonished at the changes," she said. "I've lived at the Jersey Shore for the past 20 years, where I see people buying waterfront cottages and tearing them down, then building gorgeous homes next to other old cottages, because the property is so valuable."

"That's what I see happening here," the broker continued. "The location is so prime, so centrally located. . . and with the revitalization of the area, first-time buyers have a ground-floor opportunity to buy these superbly constructed townhomes."

River's Edge, which when finished will include a one and one-half acre park that will back up to a Raritan River tributary, has been planned to resemble a small private community. The homes have eat-in kitchens and large double windows, custom kitchen cabinets and top-grade appliances, energy efficient central and gas heat, ample closets and storage, wall-to-wall carpeting and a convenient upstairs laundry area.

For more information about River's Edge, call 964-6353.

To visit: Take the Garden State Parkway to Exit 142. Proceed on Interstate 78 west to Millburn Exit 50B. Go the third traffic light and turn right onto Valley Street. River's Edge is on the left.

Former Cranford estate turns into family-owned complex

In the midst of a community noted for its lovely private homes, English Village becomes an integral part of a carefully conceived plan to preserve the natural beauty and inherent charm of the neighborhood. English Village is set upon the site of the original Sperry Mansion, approximately three acres of beautiful greenery, a short stroll to the lovely and picturesque Sperry Park on the banks of the Rahway River.

The three- and four-story fireproof brick buildings with gabled roofs and bays form a stately quadrangle surrounding the peaceful and serene courtyard area which is interlaced with paths and flower gardens. . . soft lines of architecture conceal the hidden qualities of the steel and concrete construction. . . the four-story buildings are equipped with self-service elevators — English Village has the Old World atmosphere its name implies. . . English Village . . . an air of complete repose.

English Village is unique in another respect; the Graham family has owned the complex for the last 20 years, therefore, the philosophy of selling differs from a typical builder owned complex. English Village prices do not reflect a retail purchase by builder and builder's profit from purchaser.

The family will even finance the purchase to qualified buyers by offering two different types of mortgages; an "adjustable rate" or "fixed balloon." It is so easy to purchase at English Village — they will tailor a program to suit your needs and once you see the product and location you'll sell yourself!

The location of English Village is ideal — 17 miles to New York; 40 minutes to New York City via Central Railroad of New Jersey or bus, direct to Times Square terminal, Garden State Parkway exit and entrance 132 nearby. Easy access to Interstate 78, the New Jersey Turnpike and Route 22 — less than 15 minutes to Newark International Airport.

Five minutes walk to the railroad station, bus stop and shopping district. . . grade and high schools, colleges and universities and churches of several denominations within a short walking distance. . . theater, cultural activities, golf and the recreational facilities of Cranford and Union County's park system are nearby and English Village is only 45 minutes from the New Jersey Shore.

Skillful planning has resulted in large, splendidly proportioned rooms. . . abundant and roomy closet space, library sized entry foyers, Old World styled wooden floor and ceiling moldings, plaster walls and archways, solid oak parquet flooring separated by concrete decking, and two or more exposures in every condominium home. Suites of three and one-half, four, and five and one-half rooms are arranged in 27 layouts.

Included as part of the standard upgrade renovation is a full appliance package inclusive of refrigerator, range, range hood, microwave and dishwasher. All new hardware in the kitchen; no-wax vinyl flooring; new kitchen and bath lighting fixtures; designer wallpaper coverings in kitchen and baths; refinished tubs/showers; new ceramic tile; mildew resistant vinyl ceilings in bath; mirrored surface medicine chests; new commode; sink and decorator vanities; marble window sills in baths; all new Decora switches and outlets; new Thermolator tilt and clean windows/screens; all parquet flooring refinished.

Additionally, every condominium home will be equipped with an entry security system from the apartment to the front lobby entrance doors and smoke detectors.

Deluxe renovations of some condominiums include all of the above in addition to redesigned kitchens featuring Euro style cabinetry.

Also, there is indoor mail delivery; on-site laundry facilities; garages; all newly wallpapered and painted public halls; all new roofs; all new heating boilers; and newly updated electrical service.

Maintenance fee includes heat, hot water, snow and trash removal; water and sewer charges, common property insurance and maintenance of all common areas.

For information or an appointment, call 276-0370; or drop in on Saturdays from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for a tour of all available units.

Frustrations facing would-be home buyers

Page 5 THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1991 REAL ESTATE BUYERS GUIDE — UNION COUNTY

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Home ownership is becoming more difficult for first-time buyers with every passing month. "The odds against finding affordable housing with affordable financing are stacking higher and higher," it was stated in a recent report from the National Association of Realtors. "And first-time buyers are taking the hardest shot."

However, there is now a record number of new laws in the legislative hopper designed to help first-time home buyers and other low-income families. But the process of moving these proposals into action mode is slow-slow.

The worsening problem of home affordability is bringing some radical ideas and concepts out of the woodwork.

A university professor has proposed a federal "windfall-profits tax" be imposed on home sale transactions that produce a large capital gain (profit) for sellers. The tax funds would be used to help renters buy homes, providing part of the down payment.

A long-time rent control activist now proposes that home sale prices be controlled. He suggests that a ceiling be placed on prices owners can ask for their homes — a ceiling tied to increases in the national average price of homes.

The activist, in Berkeley, Calif., is pushing for an initiative to be placed on his city's ballot in November of next year. If passed, it would lead to a new ordinance limiting increases in the price of homes.

That activist, incidentally, is currently a home renter.

Such new ideas and concepts have little chance of being implemented. But it reflects the high level of frustration being experienced by the large proportion of families who are squeezed out of today's home-buying market.

More realistic are several legislative proposals that have a good chance of passage this year. The new laws would assist first-time home buyers in a variety of ways — from lowering down-payment requirements to subsidizing mortgage loans for qualified families, reducing the schedule of monthly payments.

The most effective help for first-time buyers often comes from non-governmental sources. Home buyers and sellers work out very creative financing arrangements between themselves, often with the help of a broker.

These techniques often involve seller carry-back mortgages or "equity sharing" arrangements. In some cases, the contract calls for substantial "sweat equity" on the part of the buyer — extensive labor to improve the property.

Another innovative non-governmental concept involves unions. One union recently negotiated a contract with a provision that the employer contribute to a housing trust fund, to be used in helping employees with down payment needs.

The pressure is building to provide realistic assistance programs for young families who want to purchase a home of their own.

Q. Is "shared equity" becoming a popular way to purchase and finance a home?

A. In certain markets it's becoming very popular — particularly in the Western region. Shared equity is a home-buying method using a third-party investor to finance all or part of the down payment, and sometimes other costs of home ownership. The investor shares in the property's equity growth.

Jim Sims, a Realtor and author who specializes in equity sharing transactions, expressed this observation:

"Shared equity has suddenly come of age. Our public seminars on the subject now draw standing-room-only crowds."

Sims recently authored and published a book on the shared equity concept, titled "Share and Grow Rich."

For information, write: Jim Sims, 1125 Arbolado Road, Santa Barbara, CA 93103.

Q. I was interested in your recent information about real estate appraisers. How can we know if an appraiser is really qualified to perform competently?

A. First, check his credentials and references. And ask leading real estate professionals and mortgage lenders in the area about his competency.

Also, note the professional organizations of which he is a member. Some have strict educational and experience requirements for membership.

Probably the most prestigious and respected organizational designation is MAI — Member, Appraisal Institute. That means he or she is a member of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. About 23,000 appraisers are members, with 455 becoming new members within the past year.

Inquiries are invited and may be answered in this column. Write James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

Legislation is hurting market

Restrictive and haphazard rent control ordinances, overregulation and restrictive legislation by state and local governments have adversely affected the rental housing market, said executive board members of the New Jersey Council of the Multi-Housing Industry at an address to the media.

New Jersey is home to one of the nation's most unfavorable environments for the operation, development or improvement of rental housing," said Herb Brien, MHI president. "There is a critical need for us to review existing legislation and regulations, and to look into the effects of current rent-control policies, which provide subsidies to all tenants despite need. In general, we believe that we must work for a statewide Housing Policy that establishes standards that work fairly for tenants and owners alike."

The forum was a tune-up for the MHI conference and exhibition, where the state's major multi-housing owners and managers urged legislators to create a statewide housing policy. The conference featured six seminars on problems facing rental housing in New Jersey.

The implementation of rent control was cited as the most negative factor to the future of existing rental housing and the development of additional rental housing in New Jersey. One hundred and fifteen municipalities in New Jersey currently have rent control ordinances. This system is unique to the nation — since only 200 municipalities in the country have rent control, and 23 states have laws preempting rent control.

Do your homework when buying a home

By Art Garcia
and Chris Barnett
Copley News Service

Owning a home, the American dream, is becoming a nightmare for many who are being pushed further and further out of the market in many parts of the country. As prices rise, so does prospective buyer anxiety and that sets the stage for rushing into mistakes.

If you are thinking of buying now for fear of forever being priced out of the market, you need to know how to keep from being run over in an environment of run-away prices.

In hot markets in parts of California, such as the San Francisco Bay area, for example, the median price of a home jumped a startling 10.2 percent — just from the prior month. Even Realtors are concerned. At some point, noted one San Jose realty executive, it becomes impossible for people to afford to enter the housing market.

So if you are considering joining the stampede, it pays to understand the financing and investment options available. There is a mine field of alternatives and you will protect your pocketbook best by knowing what they are and what to look for — and look out for.

As in any investment — and for many, a home is the single biggest investment they will ever make — you need to do your homework, maybe even some leg work. You may save money, time and frustration by working closely with a tax accountant or investment adviser before dealing with a lender.

Keep in mind that many mortgage companies require tax returns to verify income.

"The problem with that is the objective of the tax return is to shelter income," says Jim Palda, president of The Mortgage Group Inc., in Newport Beach, Calif.

Taxable income shown on a return may not be a solid reflection of your real earning power or financial health.

"You can easily walk into a conflict," says Palda. "We recommend that your financial planner or accountant work with the lender."

If the lender offers one of the variations on today's "easy qualifier" loans, then documentation isn't necessary. If the borrower had a good credit standing, an easy qualifier loan probably will be just that. "But the program may not be the most attractive package so look at several plans before you settle with the easy qualifier," Palda cautions.

He believes the adjustable rate mortgages make more sense than fixed 30-year mortgages for many buyers.

"Over the next three to five years, you'll be better off," he predicts.

But Dennis Casey, vice president and group manager for retail lending at $14-billion-asset Home Savings, based in San Diego, isn't so sure. "It varies on a case-by-case basis, and it also varies on the rate environment," he says.

Casey advises prospective home buyers to be cautious about appraisals. Just as the public more and more seeks a second opinion in making important medical decisions, he urges getting a second appraisal on a mega-bucks house.

"If I had any doubts about the value of the appraised home, especially if I thought the appraisal was a little on the high side, I wouldn't hesitate to order another appraisal," he says.

The added cost? Maybe $250 to $350.

"It's cheap, when you consider what you're going to be putting up for a potential down payment," he says.

Casey also counsels shopping the home loan. You might consider working through a mortgage broker, whose role is to do the shopping for you by checking out the available loan market and recommending the best package for you.

If you opt to sign up for an adjustable rate mortgage, do your homework and know to which index the interest is tied. Most rate loans are linked to a "very volatile" index, typically Treasury bills on a one-year index, notes Bob Billings, a partner in the Arthur Young Real Estate Group in Los Angeles. "One-year Treasury bills will move immediately," he warns.

Billings and other real estate experts say a better bet is the rate for your local area Federal Home Loan Bank District funds. These are less volatile because they are a large base. The bank adds up all the various kinds of deposits in all the savings districts and averages the cost of funds. If the cost of money shoots up, these funds will still be averaged by the continuing deposits that have yet to mature over second, third and fourth years.

Another tip: Whether points charged by lenders is deductible may be up for argument, but if you try to deduct them, you must pay them on the front end, rather than having them included as part of the loan proceeds.

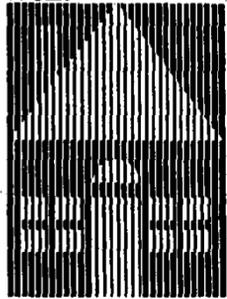

"If you don't have a cash payment for points, you don't have a deduction, it's just about that simple," says Billings.

Shrewd house hunting when prices dip

By Chris Barnett
Copley News Service

Home buyers and investors shut out of the real estate market for the last two years are getting good news: Home prices are dropping.

Not plunging. Just dipping 5 percent and more in some of America's hottest markets — Boston, Orange County (Calif.), San Francisco, Atlanta. And home prices are still soft in Denver, Texas and much of the Midwest.

But one of the nation's savviest property buyers is advising people not to jump at anything touted as a bargain. Wise buyers should still purchase a home using more wits than money, stresses Mark O. Haroldsen, author, investment strategist and publisher of the Financial Freedom Report, a monthly magazine for shrewd investors.

Haroldsen works with "beginning and intermediate" investors, helping them accumulate cash while teaching them tactics for buying property like professionals do.

He tells first-time home buyers who attend his Financial Freedom Seminars around the United States, "You've got to use self-discipline, start at the bottom and learn to save money before you invest."

Haroldsen is not one of those gurus who promise you can make killings in real estate with "no money down." It takes sacrifice, shoe leather and time.

"People, especially yuppies, don't like to hear this," he admits, "but I've seen 15-year-old kids who can systematically save $1,000 to $2,000 on busboy's wages while a 50-year-old man can't save squat."

For home buyers/investors with cash and a real desire to make their money work, Haroldsen tells them to rely on their wits, not just a real estate broker who will show them cream-puff properties that look like model homes.

Instead, he says, "start scouring newspapers, multiple-listing books, talk to people, ask for referrals and look for that dirt-bag property — the $45,000 house in the $90,000 neighborhood. It's out there."

Look for what Haroldsen calls "motivated sellers." As a shrewd buyer you have time, but a home seller going through a divorce or who has another home in escrow and hasn't sold his has no time. The same is true for homeowners who are transferred by their companies to another city.

Sometimes their employers will buy their home, but often the transferees have the house on the market after they've moved. With either scenario, you have a seller who's usually willing to lower a price or sometimes carry a second mortgage or make some other concession that will help you get into that home at a savings, claims Haroldsen.

Another strategy: Sleuth out estate settlements because usually homes must be sold quickly to satisfy will or trust provisions. Still another approach is to check with banks or savings and loans to see if they have repossessed homes for sale. Financial institutions are penalized for properties carried on their books under what is called "real estate owned" and are anxious to dispose of them, often at below market prices.

However, don't attack sellers like Aullia the Hun or with any trace of arrogance, he warns. Haroldsen remembers that his first big purchase — an apartment building — "was sold to me by a guy who had 5,000 units around the country who didn't need to squeeze every dollar and gave me, the kid, a break on the down payment."

Fixer-uppers can be a smart way to double your investment, but make sure you have a realistic estimate on how much cash it will take to turn a dog into a diamond, says Haroldsen. And conservatively figure how much of your time it will take. But if you do fix up a home to sell, don't fall in love with it.

"Trade it immediately," he counsels. "There are too many of us who tend to hold properties too long and we trade into a soft market."

Haroldsen also is a firm believer in diversifying your assets once you get some liquidity.

"As you get your feet wet by buying and fixing up, take a percentage of your profits and buy discounted mortgages and get a 15 percent plus return."

Above all, stay within your investment "comfort level," says the publisher of the $42-a-year Financial Freedom Report. No amount of potential profit is worth sleepless nights, constant worry and non-stop stress. Crapshooting with your hard-earned cash strains marriages and hurts your performance on the job, points out Haroldsen.

"There is no way to get rich quick," he sums up. "There is a risk-reward with every investment, but with real estate investing you don't have to take high risks if you find a neglected property today in a good neighborhood."

Saving energy is a high priority for home shoppers

According to a survey by Response Analysis, an independent research organization in Princeton, 80 percent of those looking for a newly built home in New Jersey believe another energy crisis is likely to occur.

This concern of the homebuyer requires both builders and energy suppliers to take a closer look at energy and its conservation. The Energy Thrift Home program, sponsored by Public Service Electric & Gas Company, works with builders to help them meet efficiency guidelines set by the utility.

ETH builders install high-efficiency heating, cooling and water heating systems, weather-tight windows and doors, extra-insulation, thermostats and other weatherization measures that will conserve energy.

Information about the ETH program is available through PSE&G's Energy Conservation Center. Call toll free, 1-800-854-4444, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

First time buyers are sought at The Towers

First time buyers will be making the most of their nest eggs when they make a down payment on their futures at The Towers at the Mill at Little Falls.

"We make it easy for first time buyers, like newlyweds, to own a home of their own, with super financing packages that feature up to 95 percent, no points and no pmi," said Lisa Marder, director of sales and marketing.

She explained that every qualified homebuyer can choose from a 30-year fixed rate mortgage at 8.375 percent to a 15-year fixed rate at 7.95 percent. "We're also offering a six-year fixed conversion starting at 6.95 percent, as well as a three-year A.R.M. at 6.50 percent and one-year A.R.M. at 5.875 percent," Marder said.

Super financing was the key for newlyweds Todd Frankowski and Janice Garabedian. "All along we were thinking that we could only afford to rent and that was so depressing; seeing our money go down the drain month after month," he said. "But our parents kept pushing us to buy. It wasn't until after we saw The Mill that we knew we could really put the pieces together to do it."

They said that once they realized what their taxes would be after getting married, the value of buying really made sense. Tom Bradley of Essex Fells and Susan Jelly of Caldwell came to the same conclusion.

"We spent months looking for an apartment," said Jelly, a claims supervisor for State Farm Insurance. "We just couldn't see spending so much money on something that wasn't really ours."

They actually walked into The Mill looking to rent, but by the end of their first visit they had worked out the details to own their own home.

"We were really concerned about the resale value of the condominium market today, but The Mill is so unique and it's in such a fantastic location, that we're convinced that we've made a wise investment," said Bradley, vice president in charge of customer service for Waterhouse Securities.

Set back in a country-like setting beside the scenic waterfalls that gave the town of Little Falls its name, The Towers offers the perfect setting for romantic newlyweds. Private balconies offer breathtaking views of the community which include tennis courts, jogging trails, a private picnic area and an on-site pool.

It's a community where convenience and luxury abound, featuring a 24-hour concierge and indoor parking. In addition, residents find its an easy commute to Manhattan, which is just 15 miles away. The New Jersey Transit bus stops right out front and the train station is a half block away.

The two-bedroom condominiums feature such quality amenities as plush wall-to-wall carpeting, individual and community security systems, sound-rated insulation between units for maximum privacy, no-wax vinyl floors in kitchens, ceramic tile floors in bathrooms, spacious closets, laundry/utility rooms with complete hook-ups for washer/dryer installation, and complete appliance packages including state-of-the-art Whirlpool frost-free refrigerator/freezers, self-cleaning ovens, range tops and microwave ovens. Two-bedroom homes are available from $160,000.

Revolutionary changes for 1-family homes

By Herb Lawrence
Copley News Service

Detached single-family homes will go through the biggest revolution of change ever in the next four to five years, according to a real estate researcher.

Sanford Goodkin, head of The Goodkin Group, a La Jolla, Calif.-based real estate research and consulting firm, said the reasons for "this revolution are the changing needs and desires of people plus the things that electronics (high tech) are bringing in."

He said he bases this prediction on the research and extensive studies he has done.

Noting that "smart" office buildings have emerged in recent years, which have computers that automatically control their lighting, heating and alarm systems, Goodkin sees similar systems spilling over into homes.

"I think homes will have computers that will be able to control lights, heat and security depending on the need," he said. "These electronic systems will be able to turn heat on and off and air conditioning on and off when the need is there."

"They will be able to control the overall environment of a home very precisely."

Higher crime rates and the increased incidence of violent crimes have made home owners more concerned about their home's security.

"I think more and more people want good security systems that will make it harder for people to break in," he said. "The security systems will automatically monitor the exterior wall areas and the inside space when people aren't around."

Goodkin said he expects many more developers to build in electronic systems for alarms and "smart homes" while others will offer it as optional equipment.

"We are able to turn on the oven at home by computers with hardware available now," he said. "So with both people working in many cases, one or the other can pre-set the microwave to turn and to start cooking something before they get home."

He said that telephone hookups also can be used for this.

"So a person can pick up a cellular telephone in a car and trigger the starting up of the microwave oven and have something cooked by the time they get home," he said.

Goodkin said with traffic increasing in a number of areas, such a telephone hook-up will become increasingly important.

The desires for such electronic "servants" will cause builders to change the design of the homes.

Some homes, he said, could have built-in video recording machines. More and more people are buying such systems.

"About 1.5 billion tapes that can be used were rented out in the past year," he said. "That's incredible and shows the public demand."

He said homes will be designed more efficiently to get more out of each space, for better heat and cooling and for security.

Goodkin said that living rooms will get smaller since there is less emphasis on the room's use.

Instead, the family room will grow larger and be hooked up with the kitchen area where people now are doing more socializing.

"This already is happening in Texas, and I expect that builders here will follow that to some extent," he said.

The family room, he said, will act as an entertainment center containing a large television screen, video recording machines, stereo and fireplace.

"With the amount of sophisticated and costly things that will go into this room, families will spend more time there to use the various items," he said.

"Consumers usually determine what types of homes we get and these changing tastes are going to demand the alterations," he said.

Goodkin said developers are making more marketing studies to find out just what home shoppers want.

"They will find those changing tastes as we have found and the homes will go through the revolution," he explained.

Also because more women work today, an increasing number of men are spending more time doing things at home.

"That means that men's tastes in design also have to be considered in terms of colors and convenience," he said. "Many designers have based a lot of their work on what women want since in many cases they play the key role in the decision to buy a house."

"But it's a new world today and builders have to be conscious of that."

How to buy your home sweet home

By Debra Cooper
Copley News Service

"There's never been a better time to buy a home."

This phrase is as true now, in the present slow real estate market, as it was when For Sale signs seldom lasted a day.

In a rising market, purchasing a home makes sound economic sense. In a declining market, buyers benefit from lower prices and eager sellers.

Forget the market: You just want a place to call your own — where you can pound nails into the walls, use your own washer and dryer, have a dog, create a garden — and maybe raise a family.

Before your dream becomes reality, of course, you have to afford it — but financing may not be as difficult as you think. And once you start hunting in earnest, the range of housing options will surprise you.

MONEY MATTERS

According to Edith Lank, author of "The Complete Homebuyer's Kit" (Longman Group), you should buy what you can afford immediately — even if it's not your ideal home. When the house of your dreams does turn up, you'll have something to trade in on the deal.

Soak away as much cash as you can for a down payment, and keep your credit record clean. Have your local credit bureau pull your credit report to see if there are any mistakes or items that need to be cleared.

To find out how much you can afford, visit several leading institutions. Based on your income and debts, they will advise you how much mortgage you can qualify for and how much your monthly payments will be.

Although many buyers prefer fixed-rate loans, adjustable-rate mortgages are easier to qualify for and start out with below-market rates.

Expect your budget to be tight during the first few years of home ownership. If you're upwardly mobile, your mortgage burden will shrink as your income increases.

Worried about the down payment? According to the National Association of Realtors, about one-third of all first-time buyers get a cash gift from their parents — and/or have parents co-sign the loan application. Other options include selling personal assets, converting life insurance policies and cashing in retirement plans.

Also, you might look for a seller who is willing to help with the financing, search for a home financed with an assumable loan or consider equity-sharing (several people — perhaps you and your parents — own the property and share the profits when it is sold).

The important thing is to persevere. You may have to compromise — perhaps with a smaller house in a less-than-ideal neighborhood — but eventually you'll have the home of your dreams.

When you're ready to start looking, read the real estate section of your newspaper and visit open houses. Once you select an area and know what you can afford, team up with a good real estate agent.

HOUSING OPTIONS

Put your "Leave It to Beaver" fantasies aside for a moment and consider the very least you need shelter-wise.

If zoning regulations in your area allow it, you might begin by buying a lot and camping out on it — perhaps in a tent, motor home or mobile home. After all, most of the value of your property is in the land, not in the structure you put on it (unless you build a mansion in a wasteland).

If you can afford a lot but not the cost of commissioning a custom home, consider building one yourself. Home plans available from Better Homes and Gardens include a materials list for easy estimating, full outline of specifications and complete drawings (including exterior elevations, foundation plans, floor-plan dimensions and more).

Former President Richard Nixon was born in a home his father built from a kit — and assemble-it-yourself houses are still on the market. One of the most popular of these is a modern version of the log cabin. According to Wilderness Log Homes, a company based in Plymouth, Wis., log homes today average more than 2,000 square feet — and homes in the 4,000- to 6,000-square-foot range are not uncommon.

Another price-cutter for lot-owners is the manufactured home. These factory-built houses average about half the cost of comparable custom-built homes. Though similar to mobile homes, prebults are bolted to their foundations. Delivery time averages six weeks, and installation often takes just a day.

If building — or maintaining — a home is beyond you, consider a condominium. It's an ideal option for the first-time buyer — as well as for people in search of a second or vacation home. Benefits of condo ownership include use of the development's amenities, such as pools, tennis courts and clubhouse or recreation center.

Long for a newly-built house? Developers in many areas are offering homes for as little as 5 percent to 10 percent of the purchase price down, advises Woman magazine.

"They're offering low-interest mortgages, at least for the first few years. Deals can be complicated, but cash savings are excellent."

HOME IMPROVEMENTS — In a slow real estate market, enhance your home's appeal with a fresh coat of paint and well-maintained landscaping.

Realtors say thanks with blood drive

The Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood showed its gratitude for the safe return of many of the men and women from the gulf region by conducting a blood drive among its members. The blood drive's theme, "Give Thanks, Give Blood," was developed in response to the limited loss of life in the gulf area.

Gloria Costello, of Raymond Connolly Realtors, Millburn and board president, expressed her appreciation to those fellow realtors who took the time to contribute blood. "The young people in our armed forces gave freely of themselves to defend our freedom," she said. "The loss of one of them is a great tragedy, but we have much to be thankful for with so many of them returning safely. Giving blood is our way of giving thanks."

The North Jersey Blood Service chose the board's Maplewood Headquarters at 2101 Millburn Ave. as the donation site. A free cholesterol screening was given to those requesting one.

The Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood has been serving realtors and homeowners in Irvington, Livingston, Millburn, Newark, Short Hills, Springfield, the Oranges and Maplewood since 1911.

Tips help make moving easier

Really, it's an adventure: trashing the things you don't need, paring down to bare essentials for a while, "camping" out. You actually can have fun moving if you've planned ahead and organized the ordeal. Here are some tips:

One Month Before

- Fill out changes-of-address cards for friends, relatives, creditors, publicaitons (usually not forwarded by the post office), clubs and organizations.

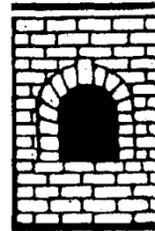

- Close out your safety deposit box and organize all personal records: birth and marriage certificates, mortgage records, insurance papers. Gather children's school records.

- Reserve your time with your moving company or the truck rental if you're moving yourself. (Note that midweek moving can be less expensive than weekend, as can moving in non-peak fall-to-spring months.)

- Contact utility companies before your shut-off date; they'll need your forwarding address.
