A taste of Hollywood

By Larry Haber

Being a bright person, this disappointment throws you into the arms of an independent production/distribution company. The indie loves the script and makes a deal to buy it, plus a film credit and a place of the back end. It will probably pay something under $50,000 for the script. It has no money to make the film. Is this a deal or not? Are you up on the proverbial creek? Nope! If the distributor is good at what he does, he will sign an agreement with a director and get a couple of fairly well known actors/actresses to say they will star in the film.

With this ammunition in hand, the independent producer/distributor will sell ancillary rights. What are ancillary rights? They are all revenue producing areas excluding domestic theatrical. He will get 30 percent of the budget of the film from a deal with a home video company, 50 percent from foreign sales, 25 percent to 30 percent from cable and free television. These contracts are taken to banks that lend the producer the money to make the film. Any money from these "pre-sales" in excess of that needed to actually make the film would be spent on prints and advertising. If everyone involved with the project is good, it will take about two years to get the film in a theater near you.

There are some terrific movies opening in October. Check the newspapers for where they are playing. If you are watching your budget, remember certain theaters will give a big discount for matinees!

See you at the movies!

Ben Georgia's "Movement and Color"

Fall art showcase

"New Abstractions," the new fall art showcase at Contemporary Art, 56 Main St., 3rd Floor, West Orange, which opened on Sept. 21, features an array of recent new works by abstract painter Ben Georgia and abstract marble and wood sculpture by Ed Martin.

The opening reception is Sept. 22. Ben Georgia's large oil paintings reveal his continuing exploration and interpretation of the phenomena of nature in exquisitely colored abstract forms, suggestive of open spaces, water and land. In his daring juxtapositions of color, form, veiled surfaces and the sense of light behind the paint, one can, as Kandinsky used to say, "almost hear the colors, see the sounds and feel the light."

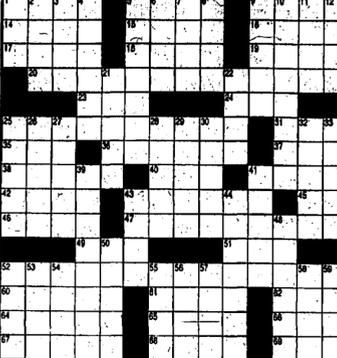

Georgia developed his initial interest in the creative and expressive use of color during his five years of study in the early '70s with Theodore Stamos, one of the "Invisible Eight," that famous group of abstract expressionists which included Motherwell, Rothko, Kline, Guston, Bazukas, Jackson Pollock and Barnett Newman. Georgia has just returned from a successful exhibition in Chicago. He has been painting professionally since 1981 and his paintings are in public, corporate and private collections throughout the United States.

The same formal interests of color and form are found in the work of the abstract sculptor, Ed Martin. His interest in the design of line, surface contour and space are evident. Martin works both in marble and wood; walnut, which he stains black, is his favorite wood medium, while in marble, Carrara, Georgia and Vermont are his choice as to the quality of their individual colors. Martin creates his abstract pieces by expanding upon the natural surfaces and contours of his medium to produce harmonious and suggestive abstract forms. Also on exhibit are the exotic and rich and delicate lithographs by Haruyo of the Japanese Kabuki Theater characters.

Contemporary Art's hours are Wednesday through Sunday, 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The gallery space is adjacent to Ben Georgia's working loft. The show continues through Oct. 27. Call 731-9652 for more information.

RVC bringing the showroom home

"Let RVC Carpets bring the showroom to you," says owner Richard Colucci.

The company, based out of a warehouse in Roselle, is able to do this by providing all of its customers with door-to-door service.

"We try to make it easy for the customer, so they don't have to go out to Route 22," he says. Colucci says RVC uses two vans as sort of a "mobile showroom" in which customers may pick and choose their favorite carpet, linoleum and tile samples without leaving their home.

"You'll go out to one of these stores and try to match a color such as green and see that there are 20 different shades. You think that you have the right shade and bring it home and then find out it isn't the one you wanted and have to go back," says Colucci. "We eliminate all that by bringing the samples to you."

RVC offers all varieties of carpet, including those of top quality at competitive prices because there is less overhead than some of the big name stores, assures Colucci. Items are delivered straight from the RVC warehouse to your home, thus eliminating some of the costs.

Colucci, co-owner of the company, says he got involved in this business by accident. "After finishing school, he started installing carpets for some of the large retail carpeting companies. But Colucci decided that "it didn't make sense" to do work to employ someone else and started his own company, now RVC Carpets. Today, RVC services customers in New York, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Trenton, as well as Middlesex and Union counties.

One of the things which Colucci prides himself in is that his company has a "personal" approach when it comes to its clients. Installers do not walk in the front door with the hand open waiting for a check.

"We don't take the money until the job is done," says Colucci. "The sales people go out later and collect the money. I wouldn't want to pay for something if it weren't fully satisfied."

Right now, the company is running a special on Stainmaster for $12.99/yd. Stainmaster is a protective coating which is sprayed on carpets to protect them from spills, stains and other material.

Michael Riella, left, Taddy Lyons and Jerry Verducci, all of the Springfield Public Works Department, assist in the Clean Communities efforts this week to free up the flow of the Rahway River.

Rahway River gets a clean sweep

By David Brown

Managing Editor

Typically, river water runs. Lately, however, it's been side-stepping.

The flow of water in the Rahway River and its tributaries that wind through Springfield has been hampered by tires, overgrowth, shopping carts and other debris — blockage the local Clean Communities program aims to remedy.

"This is something that needed to be done," said Robert McIntosh, the coordinator of Springfield's Clean Communities Program. "Not only is it terrible to see, the debris in the river hinders towns' attractiveness."

To address the problem, funding from the state's Clean Communities program has been allocated, in effect, to sweep the river bed clean.

"There was all kinds of debris in and along there," McIntosh said, gesturing toward the bed of a branch of the Rahway River which runs beneath Mountain Avenue. Branches and vegetation had been cut back cleanly, and all signs of debris and litter gone.

The cleanup project, manned by employees of the township's Public Works Department and paid for by redistributed state funds, collected through fines to environmental violators, began last week and is expected to continue as long as the grant allocation lasts.

All of this work is being done by DPW employees on their own time," said Roads Supervisor Sylvester Boetcher, who is overseeing the project. "This is being done at no cost to the taxpayer. Only the town's equipment is being used."

Several dump trucks, a backhoe, lengths of rope and chains, a couple of power saws, together with some teamwork, have combined to free the sluggish waters of the river.

Because of the sharp slope of the river's bank, much of the debris has been retrieved by hand, or when too heavy or awkward, by the strong arm of the backhoe and a length of rope or chain.

"We've found shopping carts, bicycle wheel rims, that thing over there," said Joe Strillacci, a DPW employee, pointing to a mysterious looking, metal container about the size of an oil drum, though square and flattened.

"Mostly we've taken out overgrowth and fallen tree limbs."

According to Boetcher, the debris retrieved from the river bed will be disposed of in accord with its makeup. Branches and tree trunks will be cut and sold as fire wood. If not sold, the wood will be ground and used as wood-chip bedding in playgrounds and landscaping. Metals will be recycled or marketed when appropriate, and garbage disposed of by the usual method.

"We want to do the best we can here," McIntosh said. "This project was very necessary."

Within minutes of the removal of several items partially impeding one tributary's natural course, the water was once again flowing freely. "I seem to recall the county coming in here and dredging," said Boetcher, a Springfield native who has been with the DPW for 35 years. "But it's been a while. If the town ever did something like this,"

The fight against crime continues

By Glenn Fannick

Staff Writers

Not that there is ever a time when citizens should not be concerned about crime, the National Crime Prevention Coalition has organized Crime Prevention Month as a specific time to unify forces across the nation and continue to mobilize in the fight against crime.

Police forces in every state use this month as a time to publicize awareness toward crime prevention as well as commemorate past actions which have reduced crime and drug use.

"Awareness is the name of the game," said Corporal Dan Maitling of Springfield's Crime Prevention Unit. "Educating the community as a whole and making people more aware can help eliminate the opportunity for crime."

said Maitling, who assumed recently, yet has a number of programs in the works.

Temporary vacation alarms systems, picture I.D. programs for property and kids, and a neighborhood Crime Watch network are all pieces in the puzzle, that, when finally together, adds up to a safe neighborhood — a goal the county, state and nation are also working toward.

Concerned parents protest rumors of school closing

By Dennis Schaal

Some 250 Kenilworth and Garwood parents conducted a meeting Tuesday night that officials from the Regional Board of Education couldn't refuse.

The Concerned Parents of Kenilworth and Garwood, understood that the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 had postponed the meeting with parents until next month, converged on the cafeteria of David Brearley Regional High School at 7 p.m. to express opposition to the closing of any of the four regional high schools.

Parental spokeswoman Janet Glynn indicated after the meeting that the Garwood and Kenilworth parents were generally satisfied with the board response. She said the meeting was published by "word-of-mouth" and that "triple the number" would have attended if the board had not originally postponed the meeting.

Glynn said the parents wanted to find out what they could do to help the district, which also attracts students

Houdaille Quarry lease proposal revised by state to 25-year term

By David Brown

Managing Editor

The future of the Houdaille Quarry remains in question.

A Department of Transportation proposal to lease approximately 93 acres of the quarry to Union County for 99 years at $1 per year has been revised to a 25-year lease proposal.

Officials' and environmentalists believe the 99-year contract term was lessened because of a pending lawsuit filed by a local developer.

Recent reports have attributed the rescission of the 99-year lease proposal to a lawsuit filed by Springfield developer Jerry Pocar, stating he purchased first refusal rights from the Houdaille Quarry Co. when the land was sold to the DOT in 1982.

In 1987, an ad hoc committee was formed to examine possible uses of the tract. The recommendations of the Union County Ad Hoc Task Force on the Houdaille Quarry residential various recreational uses for the land, such as walking, biking and jogging paths, nature areas, playgrounds, sledding and cross country skiing facilities and a par-3 golf course.

A number of similar recreational/preservation uses, including horse-back riding, wildlife preserve, tennis courts, an amphitheater, a pitch-and-putt course and ice skating rink were rejected by the committee for reasons outlined in the study.

During the committee meeting, Schneider questioned the committee's findings. "It was your committee, Schneider said to Marshall, who chaired the ad hoc task force, that stated if (the land) was used for potential residential purposes, negative criteria, meaning incompatible with either the adjacent idle properties or potential future residential use, included things like a wildlife preserve, a bird sanctuary, botanical garden, an arboretum? Your committee

Schneider said during the public portion of the meeting.

"I can understand why Mr. Pocar and other developers are thinking, 'Wow, this land is available,'" Schneider continued. "What I'm saying is, you've sent out, since 1986, a signal to developers and builders."

"I'm sure there are developers saying to their sons, okay son, now we have some land put away for the future," Schneider said.

The future of the Houdaille Quarry has been the subject of heated debate in Springfield since the quarry was sold in 1982 to the DOT for $8 million.

In 1987, an ad hoc committee was formed to examine possible uses of the tract. The recommendations of the Union County Ad Hoc Task Force on the Houdaille Quarry residential various recreational uses for the land, such as walking, biking and jogging paths, nature areas, playgrounds, sledding and cross country skiing facilities and a par-3 golf course.

A number of similar recreational/preservation uses, including horse-back riding, wildlife preserve, tennis courts, an amphitheater, a pitch-and-putt course and ice skating rink were rejected by the committee for reasons outlined in the study.

During the committee meeting, Schneider questioned the committee's findings. "It was your committee, Schneider said to Marshall, who chaired the ad hoc task force, that stated if (the land) was used for potential residential purposes, negative criteria, meaning incompatible with either the adjacent idle properties or potential future residential use, included things like a wildlife preserve, a bird sanctuary, botanical garden, an arboretum? Your committee

"We examined the needs of the county — what county facilities were being overused, what county facilities were being underused, and what that land availed itself to meeting the needs of not just Springfield, but the entire county," Marshall said.

"In examining that, the people of the ad hoc committee considered those facilities and uses which would provide an answer to those needs and goals, while still creating an environment that was inhabitable for the people of Springfield, and would enhance the quality of life for the people of Union County second."

As S.C.O.P.E. chairperson, Schneider said the group would "take the 25-year lease at this point, but this suit has caused the state to back down. If we didn't have the developers of the quarry wanting at our doors for this land, we would have had land forever. I think they're playing politics with the environment."

Marshall received support from the city committee to draft a resolution calling on legislators to preserve the 93-acre tract. Assembly members Maureen Ogden, R-Union/Essex, and Richard P. McGowan, D-Union, are among supporters of preserving the quarry as open space.

An organization fighting for the preservation of the quarry as open, undeveloped space, is criticizing the 25-year lease proposal as a threat to the quarry's future residential use.

"Who's going to be in charge in 25 years?" asked Springfield Citizens Organization to Protect the Environment Chairperson Marilyn Schneider. "I think there's something going on here. I think the state doesn't want to give up the quarry. They've been out of it but," Schneider said, "it's too valuable."

S.C.O.P.E. supports the quarry being turned over to the county to be used for preservation and recreational purposes.

Originally, the state had planned to sell the 93-acre quarry to the county in order to reimburse the Federal Highway Administration, which provided 90 percent of the funds to purchase the land from the Houdaille Quarry Co. in 1982, in order to complete the construction of Route 78.

Subsequently, the FHWA agreed to waive the reimbursement on the condition the land was used by a public agency for public purposes.

Schneider, who addressed the issue at the Springfield Township Committee meeting, believes "signals have been sent out to builders in the state that this land may be available for development in the future."

"This (Pocar's) lawsuit is a red herring, it's a phony argument," Schneider said.

"Mrs. Schneider, I bet that at some point in your life, probably you were a very effective fighter with issues in which you believed," Katz said. "Unfortunately, back in April, you telegraphed to everyone in this community, exactly what your intentions were. In April, you went public in endorsing certain candidates for the Township Committee," Katz said, referring to Schneider's support of Democratic candidates Myra Wasserman and Steve Firsichbaum.

"You've made it your business since then to do everything you can to try to cast dispersions on other members of the governing body. The fact of the matter is, that what you do, is you try to take little bits of news and information, you say what's printed in newspapers as a direct quote from the person who apparently said those things, and they're not. What it is, is a quote of the person who wrote the article. You have absolutely no direct evidence of any of these things. If we ever forced you into a court of law you'd leave crying."

"Either you choose not to hear, or you choose to selectively hear," Katz continued. "In 1986 and ever since, you have accused me of telling the freeholders to shut you up," he said, recalling several county meetings.

Quarry issue sparks debate between political opponents

By David Brown

Managing Editor

What began as a television debate over the history and future of the Houdaille Quarry turned into a political debate between two long-time adversaries.

Marilyn Schneider, chairperson of S.C.O.P.E. and an outspoken critic of Springfield's Republican administration, rose during the public portion of the Township Committee's meeting Oct. 7 to address the committee about recent developments concerning the future of the Houdaille Quarry.

The line of questioning, however, soon turned into heated debate between Schneider and Republican Committee member Jeffrey Katz.

"I think it is because you are playing politics with the environment," was Schneider's comment about what has been considered a setback in negotiations over the quarry's future, and the beginning of what would become a heated exchange between the two.

"Mrs. Schneider, I bet that at some point in your life, probably you were a very effective fighter with issues in which you believed," Katz said. "Unfortunately, back in April, you telegraphed to everyone in this community, exactly what your intentions were. In April, you went public in endorsing certain candidates for the Township Committee," Katz said, referring to Schneider's support of Democratic candidates Myra Wasserman and Steve Firsichbaum.

Crime prevention stepped up

(Continued from Page 1) ... The subject matter of this year's campaign "according to Jane Frank of the NCPIC in Washington, "is children caught in the crossfire of violent crime. By that we are trying to motivate the caretakers of the youth — teachers, parents, counselors — to do something about the violent crime's effect on youth."

The new PSA's were mailed out this week, Frank said, and they should start to be seen and heard on television, radio and in print by early November. The television and radio spots are 60, 30 and 15 seconds and can be run whenever the television stations want to air them.

The main objective of this year's crime prevention campaign is "to convince caretakers of youth that unless they take immediate action to prevent crime in their communities, they and their children will never be safe," according to information put out by the Ad Council, a non-profit group which works with the NCPIC.

Rahway River swept clean

(Continued from Page 1) ... The cleanup of trash and debris that has been dumped along river beds is neither a new challenge, nor an insurmountable one to McIntosh. "I took part in the cleanup of a 16-mile stretch of the Delaware River," he said. "With 100 canoes and scuba divers, we collected more than five truck-loads of debris. This kind of pollution is a real problem, but we can do something about it."

Bioetcher and MacIntosh said the river bed cleanup would continue until the funds allocated for the project are exhausted.

Springfield's Clean Communities program to date has received more than $21,000 from the state this year. The Environmental Protection Agency has allocated approximately $7 million to cleanup efforts around New Jersey.

Parents react to rumors of closing
Sharon Katz of Springfield pointed out that parents from Berkeley Heights, Springfield and Mountainside are also confronted with unfounded reports that Governor Livingston or Jonathan Dayton regional high schools will be placed out.

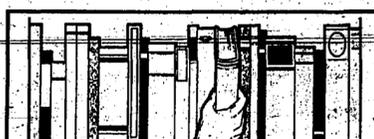

Zitomer also addressed parental concerns that many residents had never received the district's survey on cost containment issues. "The bulk mail done us in," the board president said.

He disclosed that the Eagleton Poll of Rutgers University had granted the district "an extension" for having the surveys completed. Zitomer said the board would not carry out another mailing, but additional copies of the survey would be available from school officials.

Once the Eagleton Poll tabulates the results, Zitomer said, the board will appoint an ad hoc committee of representatives from the six communities to make recommendations. The board has not yet decided how it will choose these representatives.

In other board actions at the regular meeting, Matfield presented a review of the board's policies pertaining to "educational opportunity including school and classroom practices," "employment contract practices," and the district's policy regarding disabled students and ensuring their "equality in education and non-discrimination."

LOWV schedules candidates' night

Two projects to help Springfield voters decide how to vote in the Nov. 5 election are under way by the Springfield League of Women Voters. They are candidate sheets, mailed to township residents this week, and Candidates Night, scheduled for Oct. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the Gaudinier School cafeteria.

"Voters should receive their candidate sheets very soon, if they haven't already," said Dawn Clarke, Voter Service chairman of the Springfield League. "In the sheets they'll find biographical information and answers to several questions from candidates for the N.J. Senate and Assembly, Union County freholder board, and Springfield Township Committee. The League of Women Voters drew up the questions and compiled the responses in hopes that the information would help residents decide whom to vote for."

Candidates Night will feature in-person appearances by candidates running for Township Committee, as well as Senate and Assembly seats in District 21. All candidates will give brief statements about their qualifications and political beliefs and answer questions from the public.

"Candidates Night will be a non-partisan forum, with all candidates held to the same time limits and rules of conduct," Clarke said.

GOVERNOR FLORIO AND THE LEGISLATURE HELPED TO LOWER SPRINGFIELD TAXES MORE THAN ANY OTHER TOWN IN THE COUNTY!

THAT'S JUST INCREDIBLE! HOW CAN YOU BELIEVE THAT?

BUT THE DEMOCRATS' CAMPAIGN LITERATURE SAYS...

HAROLD STOP AND THINK! TAXES WENT UP IN 15 OTHER TOWNS IN OUR COUNTY INCLUDING DEMOCRATIC STRONGHOLDS LIKE LINDEN, RAINY AND HILLSIDE.

THE DEMOCRATS RUNNING FOR SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE SAY THEIR PARTY WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR LOWERING OUR TAXES!

WHAT IS DEAR?

WOW! THAT'S JUST GREAT!

GOVERNOR FLORIO AND MOST OF THE LEGISLATURE ARE DEMOCRATS...

WHY WOULD THEY GIVE SPRINGFIELD A TOWN CONTROLLED BY REPUBLICANS, A BETTER TAX BREAK THAN ANY OTHER TOWN?

BUT WHY WOULD THEY SAY SUCH A THING?

OBVIOUSLY, THEY'RE LYING IN ORDER TO GET ELECTED.

MOMMY SAID PEOPLE WHO LIE CAN NEVER BE TRUSTED!

WHY WOULD ANYBODY VOTE FOR THEM?

Franks-sponsored bill improves land use law

A bill sponsored by Assemblyman Bob Franks that will update the Municipal Land Use Law and make it easier to administer became law recently.

"A number of comprehensive changes designed to streamline the law have been recommended by a special committee that drafted the original statute in 1975 and has monitored its workings ever since," said Franks, R-Union/Essex.

As a result of exhaustive deliberations by the Municipal Land Use Law Drafting Committee, the statute was modified in 1979, 1984 and 1985. The Municipal Land Use Drafting Committee was chaired by Harry Maslow, a well-respected architect and planner from Berkeley Heights.

Maslow said, "Assemblyman Franks has been a strong supporter and has taken a key role in promoting the passage of this important legislation. The new revisions and clarifications came directly from discussions and problems that arose out of input from municipalities all over the state."

"After reviewing record court decisions affecting land use, including some that were not reported, and evaluating the comments of local officials as well as concerned citizens, the panel has proposed another set of sweeping reforms," Franks said.

The omnibus bill will revamp the procedures certain municipalities must follow when appointing planning board members, approving variances and handling subdivision requests.

In addition, it would permit members of the board of adjustment to serve as members of the planning board when the planning board would otherwise lack a quorum because of conflicts of interest.

The bill will also allow developers to use letters of credit as performance and maintenance guarantees. Municipalities will be prohibited from requiring that a maintenance guarantee be in cash or that more than 10 percent of a performance guarantee be in cash.

Another component of the bill will regulate the transfer of responsibility for the cost of electricity for street lighting from a developer to a municipality.

Torborg comes home to manage Mets

The New York Mets finish under .500 for the first time in eight years and what do they do? They go out and get one of the best managers in baseball.

That man? Mountaineer resident Jeff Torborg. Why did the Chicago White Sox let him go so easily? Did they have enough of finishing in second place? (The White Sox finished second the past two seasons under Torborg.)

Whatever the reason, the Mets general manager Al Hirschowitz credit for wrestling Torborg away from the windy city. Apparently, it didn't take much of a pitch. "Hey Jeff, we need you, your family needs you, want to manage the Mets?"

Torborg, as he put it, was flattered. Not everyone gets a chance to come home, let alone find work there waiting for him.

Torborg's 80-year-old mom lives in Westfield. All three sons, Doug, Greg and Dale, played their high school baseball right here in Springfield at Dayton Regional.

Torborg stresses the team-family concept on the baseball diamond and can now devote more time to his real-life family.

So now all the talk of a Mets decline has been silenced. Torborg's presence as their new manager has given Mets fans hope of a quick revival.

Torborg starred scholastically at Westfield High School and was an All-America baseball player at Rutgers University.

In three years with the White Sox he won 250 games and was a unanimous choice as the American League Manager of the Year in 1990.

He started out his managerial career by succeeding Frank Robinson as the Cleveland Indians skipper (1977-79) and managed Chicago with the Yankees for 10 years — no small feat considering George Steinbrenner's hunger for telling managers and coaches to take a hike.

Torborg couldn't pass up the opportunity to manage Chicago and helped turn a losing club into a winner. That's the part on his resume that Mets fans should highlight.

Now Torborg, who during his playing career with the Dodgers and Angels caught no-hitters thrown by Sandy Koufax, Nolan Ryan and Bill Singer, gets a chance to turn a loser into a winner in his own backyard.

ALL FIVE AREA HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAMS have been playing well as of late and adding to the number in the win column.

Here's a brief look at how each shapes up heading into week five which commences tomorrow night.

BREARLEY REGIONAL — The Bears needed some time but disposed of Bound Brook rather nicely last Friday night 30-14. Brearley Regional's defense held the Crusaders to just 36 yards rushing. Ron Cagno scored three touchdowns and has seven in three games.

The Bears, 2-1, have won two straight and have outscored the opposition 66-14 in those contests following an opening-season 19-15 non-conference loss at home to Hackensack.

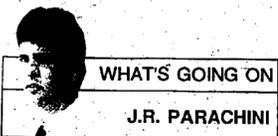

ROSELLE PARK — The Panthers outgained Middlesex 423-151 in total yards last Friday night to post a 19-6 win. Sophomore fullback was the game's leading rusher and scored two touchdowns.

The Panthers, 2-1, have won two straight following a 20-6 loss to Johnson Regional, and have outscored the opposition 58-6 the last two weeks.

DAYTON REGIONAL — The Bulldogs scored two first half touchdowns en route to a 12-6 win at Newark Central last Saturday. For the second consecutive week, Dayton Regional did not yield a point until the fourth quarter.

The Bulldogs, 2-1, have won two straight and have outscored the opposition 33-14 after dropping their home-opener to immaculate 21-7.

UNION — The Farmers opened up their home-opener with a 10-2 win over Westfield Sunday. The Blue Devils had the edge in total yards, 205-184, but could not contain Union's running game in the second half after limiting the Farmers to just 29 yards in 18 carries during the first two quarters.

WHAT'S GOING ON
J.R. PARACHINI

The Farmers, 4-0, have outscored the opposition 77-38 this year, yielding but six touchdowns and one safety.

HILLSIDE — The Comets finally got their first win of the season when they came back to halt Governor Livingston Regional 18-14 last Saturday at home. Kendall Ogle, the team's leading rusher, scored on a five-yard run with four minutes remaining to give the Comets the lead for good.

The Comets, 1-2, have been outscored by a 48-26 margin thus far but have scored 26 points in their last five quarters after being shut out during their first seven of the season.

Here are this week's picks. The record last week was a perfect 5-0 and for the year is 12-3 for .800.

TOMORROW NIGHT

Peddle at ROSELLE PARK (Non-conference): The Panthers will look to make it three in a row against a winless Plainfield. Every game is very important for the Panthers as far as having a shot at a berth in the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 1 playoffs.

Roselle Park 7, Peddle 6

Johnson Regional at DAYTON REGIONAL (Mountain Valley Conference-interdivision): I'm sure both Roselle Park and Brearley Regional will be pulling for Dayton Regional to win its third consecutive game. Now that the Crusaders are a Group 1 school and are undefeated, 3-0, they pose a threat to the Panthers' and Bears' hopes of reaching the playoffs in the section.

Dayton Regional 7, Johnson Regional 6

UNION at Newark East Side (Watching Conference): This should be the game where the Farmers break out and wallop someone. Close calls against Plainfield (40-12) — it was 14-6 at the half, Irvington (13-12), Stabazz (14-12) and Westfield (10-2) were the real thing. Union has Elizabeth at home the following week but does not want to look past East Side.

Union 38, Newark East Side 0

DAYTON REGIONAL at HILLSIDE (Mountain Valley Conference-interdivision): The Bears' defense has been tough all season and will have to contain Hillside sophomore fullback Kendall Ogle, one of the more underrated backs in the county.

Brearley Regional 21, Hillside 14

THE ANNUAL UNICO HIGH SCHOOL BOWL GAME will be held tomorrow when Dayton Regional hosts Johnson Regional at Meiel Field in Springfield, 8 p.m.

The Bowl is sponsored by the Springfield/Mountaineer and Clark Chapters of UNICO National. Dayton Regional held the championship trophy for three years and Johnson Regional for two. The two did not play each other last year.

The winning team will be awarded the trophy at the end of the game by UNICO Chapter presidents.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS' SOCCER

ALL GOOD THINGS MUST COME TO AN END and so did the winning streak established by Brearley Regional this year. The Bears led off nine consecutive victories before departing for Berkeley Heights last Saturday morning to face Governor Livingston Regional.

The Highlanders were apparently not impressed with Brearley Regional's 9-0 record and dumped the Bears 4-2.

Jim Favolita, a freshman right wing, scored three goals to lift the Highlanders to the victory. The win improved Governor Livingston Regional's record to 6-3-1.

Phil Ruggiero scored for the Bears and their other score was an own goal.

Brearley Regional remained 7-0 in the Mountain Valley Conference's Valley Division after the defeat since Governor Livingston Regional resides in the Mountain Division.

So the Bears took a 9-1 record into Tuesday's home match against Bound Brook. Today Brearley Regional hosts Johnson Regional. The Bears topped the Crusaders 4-3 in overtime on Oct. 1 in Clark.

ROSELLE PARK AND DAYTON REGIONAL BOTH won matches played last Thursday. The Panthers stopped Bound Brook 4-2 in Bound Brook and the Bulldogs bested North Plainfield 1-0 in Springfield.

John Ricciardulli scored twice on penalty shots and once on a direct kick for Roselle Park in its win.

Matt Isles took a pass from Jason Perle and drilled in a 15-yard shot to give Dayton Regional its victory.

FIELD HOCKEY

ROSELLE PARK DEFEATED BREARLEY REGIONAL twice last week with the second victory coming in first-round play of the Union County Tournament.

Justin DeLucas scored in the first half and Kim Harms in the second to lift the Panthers past the Bears 2-0 last Thursday in Kenilworth.

On Saturday, Roselle Park, the top seed, eliminated Brearley Regional from the UCT with a 2-0 victory.

The UCT semifinals are scheduled for Saturday at the highest-seeded teams' fields and the final will be contested Saturday, Oct. 26 at Roselle Park at 7 p.m.

The Panthers are seeking their first UCT championship.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' TENNIS
DAYTON REGIONAL LISA TAUB was eliminated during third-round play of the NISAA singles tournament held at Mercer County Park in West Windsor Sunday.

Taub went down by a 6-3, 6-1 score to Monica Yurman of Waldwick. Roselle Park improved to 11-0 with a 4-1 win at home against New Providence last Thursday.

THE MOUNTAINEER TORNADES WON TWICE OVER THE WEEKEND in Springfield Recreation Department Lower Youth Soccer League play. On Saturday they blanked the Mountaineer Blizzard 2-0 and then on Sunday shut out the Springfield Fury 5-0.

Saturday's other result was a 0-0 tie between the Mountaineer Hurricanes and the Fury. The Springfield Stars topped the Blizzard 3-1 in Sunday's other contest.

All games took place at Dayton Regional High School with the exception of the Tornadoes Blizzard contest. That match was contested at Mountaineer's Deerfield School.

Chris Fresco, Mike Criscitello, Cash and Collins (twice) scored for the Tornadoes in their win over the Fury. Sarah McDonough was credited with one assist.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Mystery is a masterpiece

on the shelf

By Bea Smith
Lifestyle Editor

A cure for AIDS is just around the corner given the proper funding and research, indicates a trio of research scientists in Harlan Coben's thrilling new mystery, "Miracle Cure," which should be out in the bookstores this month.

Coben, a former Unionite, who resides in Englewood, and whose family owns Club ABC Tours in Union, has topped his first best-selling mystery novel, "Play Dead," with something close to a masterpiece in mystery, "Miracle Cure." It is a book that keeps a reader on the edge of his seat from the moment he cracks open the novel, anxiously, searching turning pages to find, as quickly as possible, the mystery killer and the reason why so many people are trying to keep the "cure" from happening.

The suspenseful novel, brought to the public by British American Publishing and distributed by Simon & Schuster in New York City, has Sara Lowell, a well-known television journalist, and her husband, Michael Silverman, an NBA basketball star and co-captain, whose illness is diagnosed as an AIDS-related virus, involved in a conspiracy to prevent the development of a cure for AIDS. Their close friend, Dr. Harvey Riker, one of the three scientists, is on the verge of revealing his "miracle cure," with the aid of a continuing government financial grant. But it seems that sudden violence-murders take place that subvert his enthusiasm to publicly reveal his discovery.

And along comes Police Lieutenant "Twitch" Bernstein, a nervous young detective, and a close homosexual, who is assigned to this most unusual case and to solve its mystery. And solve it he does, in one of the most unorthodox methods in the history of mystery novels.

The mystery within the mystery is why a United States senator, a high ranking government official, a popular evangelist and Sara's own father, a prominent physician and cancer specialist, are taking such pains to prevent the revelation of the "miracle cure?"

Coben, who, with his second mystery novel, now ranks among the top mystery writers in the country, has offered strong, believable characterizations in his principal people. Of particular interest are Dr. Riker, a typical overworked, overzealous, self-sacrificing young man, whose whole life revolves around his research project; Sara, wealthy, ambitious, successful, in television and marriage, who has enough going for her to ignore her own major physical handicap; Michael, an extraordinarily handsome, physically appealing young athlete, who is baffled by his sudden debilitating illness; and Bernstein, a rather comical nervous cop, who nibbles in his fingernails, pencils and utensils, but manages to get the work done.

"Miracle Cure" is, as the King of Siam says in the musical "The King and I," "a puzzlement." And try as one can, the parts of the puzzle are so difficult to fit together as a jigsaw. This reader suspected the "real" killer early on in the book, but couldn't put the pieces together to find out why the victims were murdered.

What a TV mystery movie this one would make in an adaptation! But better still, author Coben, how will you top this one?

'Camelot' is next at Paper Mill

"Camelot," the mythical and enchanting musical about King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table, will open at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, Oct. 30. It will run through Dec. 9.

Created by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe of "My Fair Lady" fame, "Camelot" stars James Brennan as King Arthur, Mari Nelson as his wife, Guinevere, and Joseph Mahowald as his valiant knight, Lancelot, whose romance with Guinevere leads to Arthur's ruin.

Robert Johnson, director and choreographer, also will play Mordred, Arthur's scheming illegitimate son, and Larry Grey, is featured in the dual roles of King Pellinore and Merlin the Magician.

Brennan was last seen at the Paper obtained by calling the box office at (201) 376-4343.

Audio-described performances for the visually-impaired are scheduled. For Nov. 27 at 2 p.m., Nov. 30 at 3 p.m., and Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. Storyteller seminars are available before each of these performances. Sign-interpreted performances for the hearing-impaired are slated for Dec. 1 and 6 at 8 p.m.

It is through the support of the Fund for New Jersey Blind, the Paper Mill Playhouse Guild, Warner Lambert Co., Beckton Dickenson Co., Annheuser-Busch Inc., the Essex Chapter of the American Red Cross and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, that the Paper Mill is able to offer these services. It was further announced.

Weisz exhibits at 2 galleries

The work of artist Florence Weisz of South Orange will fill two northern New Jersey galleries in September. The exhibits at Fairleigh Dickinson University will give gallery-goers a fascinating look at two faces of one artist. The exhibits run through Oct. 18.

"Squares of Earth and Saturn," the exhibit at the Edward Williams College Gallery, Hackensack, includes abstract acrylics based on the mysterious nine-part square of Saturn and magical four-part Earth sign. Within those squares, Weisz's flowing, abstract forms become structured shapes, transforming the parts into a larger whole. The result is a fluid geometry of color.

The second exhibit, at FDU Rutherford's Becton Hall Gallery, is "Protestions: Xerographic Manipulations by Florence Weisz and You" and includes framed works, sculptures and an interactive installation. Weisz uses xerographic prints to rearrange, shift and manipulate the familiar faces of George Bush and Ronald Reagan.

"Like politics," she said, "xerography is a mechanical process, predictable, yet capricious. These instant images reflect the media — exposure and over-exposure leading to distortion."

The Rutherford exhibit features a "Basket Flap" and an interactive installation inviting visitors to recreate the face of President Bush. Once visitors see the work of the artist, they are provided with photocopied "face parts" and are encouraged to mix, to combine and to create their own compositions on a large grid attached to the gallery wall.

Both FDU galleries are free and open to the public. Hours are: Edward Williams College Gallery, 150 Korte Plaza, Hackensack Campus, Mon-Fri, 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Sat, 9 a.m.-2 p.m. For more information, call 692-2449.

League being formed for handicapped

The Union Little League is forming a Challenger Division to begin play next spring. Challenger Little League Baseball will be for all youth between the ages of 6-18 who are mentally or physically handicapped.

The division is a result of a 1989 Little League Task Force that recommended a program for children with disabilities. The program is sanctioned by Little League incorporated in Williamsport, Pa.

It's the feeling of the Union Little League that all children, regardless of their physical or mental disability, should have the opportunity to participate in sports.

At the heart of this division are its "buddies," individuals who lend support by pushing a wheelchair, support a bat, and do anything they can to assist their disabled player — except make the play.

In seeking these Challenger Division players, Union has opened up its boundaries to include all communities within District 9 of the Little League. This includes the towns of Union, Hillside, Clark, Kenilworth, sports scene

Millburn-Short Hills, Irvington and the Elizabeth Port area of Elizabeth. Children must reside in these towns to be eligible to play. Level of play will depend on size, age and skill level for the players.

The ball can either be pitched by a coach or player, or hit off a batting tee. A soft, safe baseball will be used. Games are tentatively scheduled to be played on Sundays at noon and 5 p.m. from April through June.

Registration will be held at Union Little League Headquarters, Hall Stadium, on Lehigh Avenue off Morris Avenue, Union, on Nov. 3, 10, 17 and 24 from 9 a.m. to noon.

The cost of registration will be $35 but is not payable until the child is placed on a team. This fee covers insurance provided through Little League Headquarters. More information may be obtained by contacting Terry Brennan at 908-687-9484.

Lamps and illuminating techniques

Debra Lee Baldwin, Copy News Service. It used to be that lighting a room meant installing a fixture in the middle of the ceiling.

Nowadays effective home lighting combines ambient all-over-illumination with task lighting (for reading and working) and accent lighting to dramatize decorative elements.

Your options for light sources range from tall, elegant torches to glittering chandeliers to tiny, bright halogens.

You'll want to choose fixtures that are practical as well as beautiful, that please the eye as well as brighten their surroundings.

Remember, too, the importance of lighting in creating a mood. Install rheostats (dimmers) to soften the illumination in dining rooms, bedrooms and living rooms.

OFF THE BEATEN TRACK Perhaps the most versatile lighting is track lighting. It's basically a series of lamp-holding fixtures attached along an energized track. Early tracks held only one circuit, but today's models can support as many as four, each with its own rheostat.

"More than any other system, track is the go anywhere and do (almost) anything lighting scheme," New York lighting designer Edward Efron told Practical Homeowner magazine.

"You can suspend it in midair as a bold architectural element or conceal it behind a lowered soffit. And the tracks themselves are available in a variety of finishes and profiles to complement almost any home decor."

Efron suspends miniature low-voltage lights from delicate cords in the center of an open-floor-plan kitchen. The result creates intriguing points of light above the workspace.

He also uses track lighting to "graze" uneven surfaces (such as walls paved with stone) to form unusual shadows, and he nestles recessed track lighting between high windows to wash tall bookcases in shadowless light.

Track lighting can be a problem-solver. If your dining room has a high ceiling, it's hard to hang a chandelier. And even if you do, the light may not be adequate.

The editors of Better Homes and Gardens Building Ideas suggest installing recessed downlights instead of a single fixture; each can be focused on a different area.

HALOGEN OR NOT? Because the bulbs are small and low-voltage, halogen lamps take on amazing shapes.

Tiny bulb housings perch on the ends of impossibly slender rods; cantilever lamps move, dip and swivel at the touch of a fingertip.

The Tizio lamp, designed in 1971 by Richard Sapper for Artemide, is featured in the New York Museum of Modern Art.

It is a relief to find that there are still eateries left in the world where you can feast and chat with your companions without having to scowl your chair forward or backwash whenever people pass. Tom Koyas and his wife, Nadine, opened the restaurant in January. They are very kind and truly seem to enjoy the sight of customers loosening their belts one or two notches as they leave. "We came here because there are a lot of businesses in this area," said Koyas. "It's a densely populated area, and we want to let as

Colors of earth and eclecticism

By Leslee Elzeman
Copley News Service

Pine words all starting with an "e" are the primary influences on the color picture for fall 1991.

First, and most importantly, is eclecticism. Carrying over from the last few seasons, it is still the leading color influence. We instantly think of earth tones. Not the ever-present muddled combinations of avocado, rust and harvest gold of the late '80s and early '90s, but a new way of combining those three tones in complex, intriguing ways, a fresh new approach to nature's endless array of beautiful shadings and tints.

Unfortunately, when we visualize eclecticism, we often remember the sea of avocado carpeting, dishwashers and refrigerators of the Naugahyde sofas of 20 odd years ago. It was used so much, that it provided a classic color overkill; most people were so turned off to the color that they never wanted to use it again.

Forget all the old clichés and think of today's avocado. Picture it in a flavorful salad tossed in sweet red poppers and radicchio (purple-red and green is one of the hottest new combinations), and then sprinkle it with some salsa. That same recipe could be applied to a floral print, a needlepoint tapestry or a printed, iridescent combination for a table setting.

For added inspiration of earthy combinations, look at the natural world around you. Did anyone ever spoil Mother Nature for juxtaposing yellow tulips against a blue sky or placing iridescent stripes of gold, violet and green on the wings of a butterfly? Think of tundra brown with eclectical blue and rain forest green. Let your imagination soar with all of the possibilities of the new earth tone mixtures.

The next "e" is ethnic. Many of the new color and design trends reflect the influence of a variety of cultures. Today's country look can range from English country to a blue sky or plaid and radishes (purple-red and green is one of the hottest new combinations), and then sprinkle it with some salsa. That same recipe could be applied to a floral print, a needlepoint tapestry or a printed, iridescent combination for a table setting.

der, celestial blues and aqua combined with the neutral tints of cream, taupe or pearl gray are soothing, nurturing and provide a quiet, non-obtrusive atmosphere.

Eclecticism provides another color theme: the Old World look of hunter-green, Limoges blue, Burgundy red, golden patina, purple wine and carmine. In combinations, these are the deep rich tones, that give instant sophistication primarily in luxurious fabrications.

The final "e" word is one that we hear again and again, Eclecticism. Webster defines it as "selecting what appears to be the best in various styles, composed of elements drawn from various sources."

Eclecticism color combinations can bring together moods and effects that are uniquely yours - not just a prescribed mix of pat colors. It can involve the mixing and matching of various styles and colors.

If this sounds daring and a little intimidating, there is a general rule of thumb. As I recommend in
